G. H. HAS AN EPIDEMIC OF BIKE AND TIRE STEALING

OFFICERS FOLLOW THIEVES TO WOODS IN DUGOUT WHERE GOODS ARE FOUND

Walter Hyde of Grand Haven arrested Tuesday in connection with the auto theft for which Fred Williams was arrested recently took Officer Klumple to a spot in the woods near Pott-atomie where he claimed there were a number of tires hid. Deep in a woody place, in a pit lined and covered with boards they found six tires, all comparatively new and in good condition, according to the officer. Hyde claimed it was Williams who did the stealing and Williams claimed that Hyde assisted. Hyde was arraigned yesterday afternoon. The tires belong to Grand Haven people who from time to time have been reporting their losses to the officers.

A bicycle belonging to George Fett, 823 Franklin st., Grand Haven, was recovered Wednesday morning by Officer Klumple from George Mechecki, aged 13 years, living in Robinson. This bicycle was taken from the shed of the Fett home on Sunday night. The two boys Max Schepers of West Olive and George Mechecki were out together and when they came home it is charged they had a bicycle strapped to the side of their car. Mrs. Schepers, seeing the bicycle, asked the boys where they got it.

Mechecki replied it is alleged he had bought it for a dollar and she was satisfied that this was so. The officers got track of the theft and

STATE OFFICER IN OTTAWA TO HELP DAIRY PEOPLE

OBJECT IS TO HELP POST MILK DISPENSERS ON NEW CITY ORDINANCE

E. J. Friar, state milk inspector in Ottawa county co-operating with the dairymen in learning and understanding the milk ordinance which was recently passed by the city of Grand Haven which incorporates many of the suggestions of the state inspector. It is also advising the dealers just how they can best comply with the law and what tests they themselves can make so they may feel safe in carrying on business.

The Grand Haven city council will appoint in the near future a man to take charge of this department who is already on the city's payroll. He is also being instructed in the demands made by the ordinance and given help as to how to best conduct his inspections.

After Mr. Friar gets thru with Grand Haven he no doubt will call on Holland dairy men who have been selling under a satisfactory milk ordinance for many years. Inspector Henry Bosch has already handled this situation in Holland.

When they came to her for some information on the case, she was very much surprised. Mechecki said he did the deed and took all blame, the officers state.

Klumple gave the boys a severe talking, took the bicycle and warned them if they were ever in that kind of a scrape again they would be severely dealt with.

HARD WORK TO GET DEPOT FROM RAILROAD CO.

GRAND HAVEN WINS AT LAST IN A LONG FIGHT FOR STATION

Holland knows after thirty years of fighting and dickering that the old Pere Marquette depot in the form of a depot is to be torn down and a new one erected. Holland knows just how its sister city feels having gone thru thirty years of fighting and dickering. Finally the heads of the road came thru with a fine depot and now that the paving is all down the new structure is one to be proud of.

Any way after many futile attempts had been made to persuade the Pere Marquette Railroad company to provide a new station to replace the old one which long ago was outgrown, the Grand Haven chamber of commerce, during the past year, decided such a station was a necessity and determined to sell this decision to the railroad at all costs.

Last fall, therefore, Charles A. Gross, secretary of the chamber, together with a booster party made up of chamber of commerce members, met with Frank A. Alfred, president and general manager of the Pere Marquette and other officials of the road and proved by means of statistics that Grand Haven was more than entitled to a new station, quite beyond the realization of the Pere Marquette officials themselves.

After the conference a communication was received sometime later from the Detroit headquarters to the effect that Grand Haven would have a new station to meet its growing needs.

Mr. Tuthill and Mr. Black of the engineering department at Detroit met with Grand Haven contractors at the chamber of commerce headquarters on Thursday, Sept. 9, at which time bids were taken for the erection of a new station, work on which was to be started as soon after Sept. 21 as possible. The new station will in every way conform with the splendid public buildings already built in Grand Haven.

The new station will measure 126 by 24 feet, which does not include the loading platforms to be located on both sides of the building. A waiting-room 23 by 24 feet will have terrace floor with tiled waiting-scooting. One of the pleasing features of this building will be an exclusive women's rest room on the first floor. There will also be rooms for the various Grand Haven officials of the company, a large baggage room and a freight room.

The building will be entirely of cement and brick and will enclose all of the features of a large city station. As the Pere Marquette company owns the adjacent plot of ground, this will, through co-operation of City Manager Paul Taylor and Dr. Hofma, be transformed into a beautiful park.

The popular and efficient freight and ticket agent, Harry E. De Marso, of Grand Haven, who through his splendid personality and willingness to assist shippers and other patrons of his road is fast gaining a reputation for himself, has been an important factor in the very development of the company's business at this point. It is largely through his efforts that the Pere Marquette controls a large part of the freight shipments that come to that prosperous port by rail.

WHEN THERE WAS OODLES OF GAME IN OTTAWA CO.

OLD PIONEER OF FOREST SAYS FOLK WERE HAPPIER IN EARLY DAYS

Put on Skates in Winter and Made Way To Grand Rapids Over Ice On Grand River

In spite of the hardships they encountered, the pioneers who carved out the commonwealth of Michigan from the forests were happier and more content with their lot than the generations which today reap the benefit of their labor, believes J. Dennison Pierson, who will be one of the most interested spectators of the centennial celebration to be held in Grand Rapids this week.

Mr. Pierson's father, the late Ebenezer Pierson, was a contemporary of Rix Robinson, and one of the earliest settlers in Ottawa county.

"My father and mother came to Michigan from their home in New York state after their marriage in 1835," said Mr. Pierson. "The first vote my father cast in his new home was during the dispute between Ohio and Michigan over a strip of land on the Maumee river."

"They lived in Lawrence county for two years and then moved to Ottawa county, in 1838, on a claim about a mile north of Grand river, near Lamont, then called Steels Landing. In making the money to pay for his home, my father made shaved shingles and sold them in Grand Haven for from $1 to $1.25 a thousand."

"The woods, and all Ottawa county was practically a forest, abounded with wild game in those days, bear and wild turkey being plentiful. There were many fur-bearing animals and part of our income was derived from the sale of pelts, caught in a dead-fall trap. Grand river was the 'highway' of that period. Mr. Pierson may 'there being from two to four boats between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. In the winter my father put on his skates and skated to Grand Rapids or Grand Haven for the family necessities."

"They were quite accommodating on the boats, customers being limited. I remember one occasion upon which my father, engrossed in his conversation at the dock, allowed the boat to steam away without him. He halted, and while the captain cursed him for an idiot, he brought the boat back just the same."

"We built a horse-car railroad to draw logs to the river, and then made a raft of them and floated them down to Spring Lake, then called Mill Point, and sold them for from $2.50 to $3 a thousand feet."

"Our house was built in the midst of a forest of innumerable kinds of timber and between Indians and wolves one did not dare venture outside of the house at night. For protection from the wolves at night, we carried a torch made of blaxing pine knots, lighted from the other as they expired."

"My father grubbed trees from the middle of the old river road from Grand Rapids to Grand Haven, in the township of Allendale, his home."

"This was the next step in transportation, adding a bit of flour so that it would stick better."

"We found our way to school by following the trail blazed through the woods by chipping bark from the trees. But all in all, although pioneers experiences were severe, we seemed just as happy, if not more so, than the folks I see around me today," concluded Mr. Pierson.

LOCAL POLICE NAB AUTOMOBILE JOYRIDERS

STEAL CAR AT GRAND RAPIDS; ARE INTERCEPTED BY LOCAL POLICE

Young Boy of Nine is Also Caught Robbing From Automobiles on the Principal Streets

At 2 o'clock yesterday Chief Van Ry received a telephone message from hief arrol of Grand Rapids, to look out for a Nash sedan which was stolen at Grand Rapids. The Holland chief detailed Officers Bontekoe and Hunkes on the case, they took the police car, went in the direction of that city, parked along the highway east of Zeeland where they waited for the car in question. They didn't have long to wait, for they soon saw a Nash sedan tearing down M51 towards Holland. They stopped the machine and arrested Charles Lockman aged 16 and Howard Bjorkman also 16 years old.

The boys admitted the theft, said they had no money but were out for a joyride and intended to steal another car when the gas ran out at Holland.

They were taken to the detention rooms at the city hall and Detective Blensen of Grand Rapids called for them this morning. Police say that the young men have been in difficulties before.

Police have another vexing question to deal with, and that is a case of a nine year old boy. The lad is simply unmanageable. Parents have told the police that he continues to run away from school and they can do nothing with him. The little fellow enters automobiles and steals all the small stuff inside.

The police collected 15 flashlights as part of the booty taken by the kid.

There were also notebooks, women's hairpins, chains, small tools and a ladies diary. Officer Bontekoe is on the trail of four other little fellows, between the ages of eight and eleven, who are also accused of stealing automobile accessories.

These are vexing cases for the police as they are mere children under age and these matters must be taken up by the juvenile court, presided over by Judge James Danhof. As a rule conviction means a term in the Reformatory school.

Wisdom of Modern Rules For Eating Is Questioned

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 30—The wisdom of modern dietetic rules was questioned today by E. H. Barnard, president of the American Institute of Baking, speaking before the American Hospital association. The science of nutrition was one of the best organized and appreciated, he said and even the wisest scientists hesitated to lay down definite rules for eating. "There are elements of truth in all the theories," he asserted, "but the sound scientific work of hundreds of real chemists and biologists is taken at no greater value than the amazing nonsense hashed together by self-appointed apostles of the biologic life."

"Tomorrow, some other obvious fact about our food will be separated from the fellows driven to a corner, the science of nutrition, the entry of common sense, and another food cult will spring into being, convinced that its teachings alone will save the long suffering world from dietetic ills."

Leo Balvoord of New York is visiting at the home of Miss Henrietta Doorn, W. 8th St. for an indefinite stay.

NEXT S. S. CONVENTION MAY COME TO HOLLAND

GEORGE SCHULLING ELECTED PRESIDENT FOR SIXTH CONSECUTIVE TIME

Holland Man Donates Cup for the Best Sunday School Instructor Attendance

The Ottawa Co. Sunday School convention held at Coopersville yesterday, was an unusual success. Nearly one thousand delegates filling the capacity of the 1st Reformatory church of which Rev. Harry Hoff, formerly of Holland, is pastor.

George Schulling of Holland, was unanimously named president of the association for the sixth consecutive time, and Anthony Nienhuis, also of Holland, was re-elected secretary and treasurer for his fifth year.

These men were given a full measure of praise for their untiring efforts during these years of faithful service.

The Van Raalte Ave. Sunday school again won the cup for having 100 per cent attendance present. The village was out in force, about one hundred per cent and naturally there were not enough cups to go around.

Dick Boter of Holland, promised however, that if there was a tie, he would donate a second cup, which he graciously did. The little Van Raalte Ave. Sunday school must win for a third time, in order to retain the cup for good, and no doubt they will make the effort.

Coopersville folks proved to be royal hosts. They had the city all doiled up with flags and bunting, and the village was out in force, welcoming the delegates, and the refreshments served were par excellence, delegates say.

The program carried out during the three sessions in the way of speaking, surpassed anything ever attempted by the officials of the Ottawa County Sunday school association.

It was decided by the members of the convention that a new department of education should be added to the other departments. Professor Robert Winter of Hope college was made head of this department, taking up the question of Sunday school teacher training, daily Bible school work, and religious instruction.

Hon. Albert L. Huls of Zeeland was re-elected to represent Ottawa county on the State Sunday School board, for a term of two years.

The place selected for the next county convention was not definitely decided and is a matter for the executive committee to take up.

The general feeling was however, that next year Holland should be the place of meeting.

The Ottawa Co. Sunday School association is joined by 77 churches and has a membership of approximately 11,000.

This evening at the prayer meeting in Trinity Reformed church, three seminary students, Mr. Prime, Mr. Hoogeboom and Mr. Roos, will briefly tell of their experiences in their summer religious work.

Next Sunday evening the pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Rev. C. P. Dame, will give the fourth sermon of the series "The Man Everybody Ought to Know." The title of Sunday night's sermon is "His Enemies."

MEN'S CHORUS OPEN TO ALL IS ANNOUNCED

A new men's chorus, known as the Maple Avenue Men's Chorus, has been organized. While the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church took the initiative in organizing the chorus, any man in the city who wishes to join is eligible. There is a great deal of interest in men's choruses and the opportunity to join such an organization is rather limited. So the people of that church have taken the initiative and are making the invitation as general as possible.

Mr. William Brouwer, well known chorus leader, will be in charge. It is expected that the chorus will be a very successful one as it will draw on a wide range of musical talent.

The Past Noble Grand club will meet Friday, Oct. 1st at the home of Mrs. Wells, 238 W. 16th St. A district W. C. T. U. convention, comprising five western Michigan counties, will be held in Allegan October 14 and 15.

It is not necessary to use a hook and line on Hamlin lake to catch fish. Matt Walker, vice president of the Hamlin Lake Association, was on Hamlin lake, near Ludington, in a motor boat, when a two-pound pickerel jumped four feet out of the water and landed in the boat.

Mr. Walker drove to a landing and exhibited his catch to the reporters.

GRAND HAVEN STORM SUFFERERS MUST COOK OUT OF DOORS

A letter received by James Johnson from Chauncey Clark of Grand Haven by friends stating that Mrs. Clark was not coming north as was first reported but has decided to stay in Florida regardless of the hardships every one is going through due to the terrible storm. Food is very scarce and water equally so.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE WRITER TELLS OF HOLLAND'S CHARM

Declaring that no single newspaper story could tell "a like of the fascinating and memorable things there are to be told about the old Dutch pilgrim town of Holland, Mich.," James O'Donnell Bennett, in Tuesday's Chicago Tribune gives an article to this city in which he said he is only hitting the high spots. The article follows: Holland in Michigan is one of the hero towns of Chicago.

It was founded seventy-nine years ago by Dutchmen who had said to two brave but stupid and willful kings, "You shall not tell us how and when and where we shall worship God. We defy you, and will meet for prayer and praise when and where we think fitting."

"In that case," replied the kings, and bureaucrats, and bigots, and busybodies generally, "We shall have to fine you one hundred guilden, and upon repetition of your offense the fine will be heavier. Contained infractions of articles—familiar to you—plainly printed in the Code Napoleon, which our conqueror embedded in the law of this kingdom and which his brother left with us after his inglorious reign, will compel us to lock you up."

Neither defiance nor infractions ceased. Penalties made and provided followed in due course. King No. 1 in this familiar routine of tyranny was William I., ruler of the new kingdom of the Netherlands which, in the long view of affairs, has proved to be the one of the goodly fruits of the Napoleonic debacle at Waterloo. He had fought at Jena and Wagram with the allies. The present ruler of the kingdom, the Netherlands, Queen Wilhelmina, is his great granddaughter.

King No. 2 in this matter of telling honest people their business was William II, who was a kindly person with a special genius for granting reforms just when they would be too late to placate the reformers. He had fought with the allies at Waterloo. Her present comfortable majesty of the Netherlands is his granddaughter. She has assimilated several important facts about human nature and elemental human rights which her two predecessors never were able to digest. Consequently she, in a time of monarchs discarded and thrones unsteady, is loyally loved and she holds on her throne.

If it is to drive out of your realm thousands of the most industrious, thrifty and god-fearing men and women in it is to win a victory, then William I. and William II. may be said to have been victorious over the desperate and unbending schematics who in 1847 tearfully departed from the Netherlands and never fully founded on our shores the Mous town of Holland, Mich.

In a few years they, and their followers into self-imposed exile, succeeded in making that area of mud blossom like a rose.

It continues so to blossom. All the royal victory continues to present to the eyes of 1928 certain doubtful aspects.

What I mean is that the city of Holland, Mich., with a population of 15,000 and with three banks containing 7,000,000 worth of deposits made by laboring men and women alone, and with 47 "diversified industries," and with 24 churches attended four times a day on Sundays, and with a municipal water and light plant out of part of the profits of which the people are building a $250,000 hospital, and with a college that needs missionaries as far afield as China—what I mean and maintain is that such a community would make a tidy addition to great-granddaughter Wilhelmina's inheritance.

Not to speak too flamboyantly, it might shine quite gemlike in her royal diadem.

That it might have, and does not, to one of those agreeable ironies of history which are palely inserted to the youth of a land out of stodgy books—with the result that the youth are not as amused and edified by the irony as they ought to be.

But there is nothing pale about the veritable town of Holland. I call it one of the most enlightening lessons in history to be found anywhere in the world.

It sedately shouts victory at you—victory over bigotry and over greed.

Mainly it shouts it with flowers. Its keynote is floral color.

Every month of the year that is not a snow month it is bursting with flowers.

Flowers everywhere. On balconies, on veranda railings, in dooryards and backyards, in sunken gardens, in the middle way of streets, on the bits of oval street corners, on the tables in the best small-town hotel in the United States, and in the graveyards.

This floral riot culminates where it often does—in the center of the town.

There is Centennial park, so named because good Pastor Albertus Christian Van Raalte, premier founder and pilgrim of Holland—whom men still living used to address as "Your Excellency"—gave it to his city in the year of the hundredth anniversary of our country's independence.

In the center of it is an obelisk of green spouting water and sprouting flowers. Around this obelisk extend two city blocks of tiny lagoons and pools edged with flowers, and flowers floating on their surface.

And golden playing flame-like flowers beneath their surface. Two or three blocks away another square full of crimson and gold and blue and green.

And what's this?

WESTERN MICHIGAN TO CHANGE TIME OCT. 2

Most cities in Western Michigan will make the change in time next Saturday night, Oct. 2, when Muskegon turns back the clocks. Grand Rapids and Holland made the change Sunday, but owing to the fact that Grand Rapids was undecided about the change, the cities in the Muskegon section of the state decided to follow Muskegon. As a result Grand Haven, Fremont and other towns have taken action providing for the change in one week.

MARGARET ADDISON GETS APPOINTMENT IN LOS ANGELES

According to a Los Angeles newspaper, Miss Margaret E. Addison, well known former Grand Haven woman, has been appointed librarian of the research department of the First National Southwestern bank. She succeeds Miss Alice M. Sheek who becomes principal of the Hollywood public library. Miss Addison is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Addison of Grand Haven.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union resumed its bi-monthly meeting Friday after the summer vacation. "Christian Citizenship" was the topic of the day. Mrs. H. Van Ark, superintendent of that department, gave an instructive talk on an intelligent, effective use of the ballot by women especially. She stressed the value of one vote, of encouraging officers who enforce the law by words of commendation, getting information to the press, and studying local conditions. She read extracts from statements made by Lord and Lady Astor that they favored the outlook for prohibition very favorable, after a few months' visit to America.

Eight pupils from Longfellow school, members of Mrs. Boslik's Sentinal Prohibition Guards, gave a drill, including songs, yells and a temperance pledge. Miss Karsten, chairman of the program, presided. A piano solo, "Venus in Love," which Mrs. Van der Linde and committee served tea during the social hour.

CELEBRATE THE 75th ANNIVERSARY OF TWO LODGES

Friday evening was a big mark in Rebekah Odd Fellowship when over one hundred members gathered to celebrate the 75th year of the founding of that degree. Sister Sargent, chairman of the program committee, had a very fine program prepared, one of the main features being the rube band, in which 15 Rebekahs furnished the music. Judging by the applause of the audience it scored a big margin ahead of the I. O. O. F. orchestra. After the program, refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed by all, the music being furnished by the I. O. O. F. orchestra that donated its services free. This meeting is only the beginning of the lodges' activity as they are planning some real live social times for the coming months and all members are urged to attend the meetings and make this banner year of Rebekah Odd Fellowship.

sollicitous as a servant and as expeditious as a soldier. He, as his garb is, might be continental—might be a pageboy in a hotel in Amsterdam or The Hague, where the hotels are run for the convenience not of the help but of the patrons.

He escorts you into the six story structure. It is quiet, dignified, but cheerful withal. Vaulted ceilings; a fireplace in the lobby that you could roast an ox in; a spinning wheel beside the fireplace; over it a magnificent deer's head, with such a spread of antlers as you will hardly see nowadays outside a museum; broad, deeply upholstered divans and arm chairs in front of the fireplace; richly draped windows admitting shafts of temperate light.

No glare anywhere. The dark hues of the lobby's woodwork drink up glare.

Soft stepping servants moving about. No clash of bells and no shouting by page boys.

You begin to wonder whether you have, like Mr. Goldsmith's overconfident young sparks in the play, mistaken somebody's villa for an inn.

No; it is all right. For you step into a room opening off the lobby and manifestly it is a cafe.

Not so manifestly that grave looking person, who comes forward to show you to a table is a waiter. And yet he must be, for a white napkin is draped over his arm. But, by the token of his mid-Victorian whiskers he might be a Protestant bishop.

Assisting him in the business of laying the table, bringing silver and fresh napery, is a veritable posy. No mistake about that.

A young woman whose yellow hair is partly hidden by a Dutch head dress and the rest of whose costume also is Dutch. As pretty a posy, you would say, as any of those in "His Excellency's" park.

You begin to get it at last. You recall the "stepped" effect in the frontal architecture of this tavern. You observe the Dutch frescoes on the walls of this cafe—canals, windmills, tulip gardens, and Dutch fishing vessels.

Yes, now you have it! You are in a town which has a feeling for its illustrious origins; and cherishes and touches to life again its dear and ancient memories.

You are in Holland, Mich. And I give you my word you are going to have two delightful and instructive days.

HOSPITAL PLANS NOW IN HANDS OF THE COMMITTEE

The plans for Holland's new hospital arrived in the city on Friday and steps were immediately taken by the hospital committee to advertise for bids. Although this is technically a matter for the common council to do, it is understood by that body that the plans are and the committee will not lose time by waiting until the council meets again. The aldermen are not scheduled to meet for about two weeks and meanwhile valuable time would be lost. Hence steps are being taken to advertise for bids immediately with a view of having the council formally pass on the action as soon as it meets. The plans were drawn by Pond & Pond, Martin & Lloyd, Chicago architects. They were to have been ready the first of September, but because the architects were working on important public building in various parts of the United States, there was a delay of about three weeks. Four draftsman have been working on the Holland plans for the past three weeks to a finish because the Holland committee pointed out that Holland is very much in need of a new hospital and that no more delay is desired than is absolutely necessary.

The committee is not disposed to rush things at the expense of the best possible building that can be secured for the money, but it is anxious that the building shall be erected as soon as is practicable. They have given the architects as much time as might be needed to take care of all the needs here for some years to come and they have taken time to make their plans carefully. But now that the planning period is over they wish to make all possible speed so that the actual work of erecting the building can begin as soon as the contract can be let. Necessarily this will take some weeks but it is hoped that the work of building the hospital can be begun soon enough so that it will be in full progress when snow begins to fall.

THIS SECTION IS NOT LACKING IN HISTORIC APPEAL

James O'Donnell Bennett, The Chicago Tribune's word painter, has discovered, during a tour of the east shore of Lake Michigan, unique shrines and historic points of view, which few inhabitants of the region are acquainted. At Muskegon he has found the grave of the man with the branded hand, whose experience as a friend of the slaves inspired Whitler's poem. There, too, he has found huge pine forests buried beneath the shifting dunes, and at Saugatuck he has seen a glimpse of the story of old Singapore, a lumbering town, which now is buried beneath the dunes. Bennett counts these places of strange history a part of the attraction of Western Michigan. He is right; and he has only half told the story.

At Port Sheldon yet may be seen the shattered remains of the Port Sheldon building, a city built by visionary Eastern capitalists. Their dream didn't materialize, and even the mammoth hotel became a ruin. On the north side of Grand river at its mouth is Dewey hill, a mighty dune, beneath which is buried the original town of Grand Haven. The railroad once entered the town, perched on a hill at this point. But the sand encroached; Grand Haven moved across the river, the railroad with it. Near Grand Haven is Five Mile hill where an ancient river bank—so says tradition—buried its rich plunder. Nobody ever has found the plunder, although many have dug for it; but the story still is alluring.

Old Rossmund, between Grand Haven and Holland, has its story. Farther North there is Sleeping Bear, an ominous moving dune near the many-storied Manitou islands. Ludington and the Pere Marquette river valley are of rich history with the lore of Father Marquette. Near Baldwin are the grim foundations of what was once the boom city of Mariborough with its elaborate hotel and gardens in which a fairy fountain played.

All of these are a part of Michigan's resort assets. Yet we forget them. Only at Michigan's best given proper prominence. The history of the British landed, lover's leap, etc., all have their stories readily recalled for the interest of visiting tourists. When the Michigan Tourist and Resort association meets in October, next month it might, with wisdom, appoint a committee to unearth these ancient shrines and traditions and catalogue them for use in coming summer seasons. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ten of Los Angeles arrived in Holland Friday night, having made the trip from Los Angeles to Holland in six and a half days, camping all the way. They are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Rutgers, 559 Michigan avenue, 555 miles, following the Old National Trail. They drove a delayed somewhat in Kansas by floods, some of the cities being four feet under water.

FLOOD OF RAIN DRIVES THE CAMPERS TO A HOTEL

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Boss and their dog, who left Thursday for an auto camping trip to Los Angeles, are encountering a great deal of rain according to a report that Dr. Boss sent to Austin Harrington. It was mailed from Joliet, Ill., and Dr. Boss writes that the rain drove him to a hotel the very first night he was out.

Dr. and Mrs. Boss expect to spend quite some time in the petrified forest in Arizona and then will go to Los Angeles where they will spend the winter. Dr. Boss has one of the best camping outfits ever seen here. He has been working on it off and on most of the summer and he has things arranged in such a way that he can pitch his camp and have his best ready for the night in about five minutes.

GETS LETTER FROM RELATIVES IN FLORIDA

Mrs. Albert Diekmann, West 16th street, has received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pfantstiel sent from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, vividly describing the Florida storm. Mrs. Pfantstiel writes as follows: "Fred and I got thru the storm better than most people living here. Our little house is blown down, furniture is scattered all over the Semole forest. Just got some of it in time before the crash came. People living in one of our little houses got out just before the crash came."

"We had to leave here and sleep at the neighbors, for our rugs, bedding, clothing are all water soaked. The roof blew off, the house was a mess. We are sleeping at the best we can on a kitchen floor but we are lucky and thankful, considering so many lost their lives. "Fred and I just came from town (Fort Lauderdale) where house after house was found blown down."

"My very story is damaged. All of Progress, little town near here, is blown away. We have no water or light yet and there is a foot and a half of water all over Semole forest and the same condition prevails all over the city. So many cars have blown away but both our Hup and Ford are still here. I am writing a few lines now. Don't worry. We are all right. We may be down."

Mrs. A. J. Wilkie, formerly Miss Sena Wellington of Holland, in a letter, tells graphically what the Wilkie family went thru in the recent storm in Florida. The Wilkies live in Hollywood and Mrs. Wilkie writes her mother in Holland:

"This is Sunday evening but I have forgotten the date but, dear mother, how thankful we are that I can be writing this letter to you. We hope and pray you got the telegram O. K. All we have here is the Red Cross busses going up and down, bringing in the dead and wounded people and to think we are all together and safe!"

"We left our place at 2 o'clock Friday morning and it was a wreck at daybreak. We came over to dad's, got into one of the small garages about 3 o'clock, and, mother, there are houses wrecked all around us."

"Our clothes are mostly all spoiled, but think of it, we haven't seen or gone thru anything compared with others. I just prayed all night long. "Strings of bodies just went rolling over the streets. We had 41 dead here last night. I can't write anymore. We have things to eat and the place is being taken care of by government troops. If money runs out, or anyone hasn't any, the government pays for it."

"It was the worst hurricane they ever had; the ocean came within five blocks from us. Andy and dad, everyone is working on the wreckage. Mother, I can't think but we must all pray for everybody over here."

"One big building downtown is full of dead bodies, but they are caring for the wounded first. They have 25 doctors from West Palm Beach and Red Cross nurses giving medical aid."

"Will write more later. I am dead tired now. Tell them all about it as soon as you can. I don't know if they will rebuild here or not. If they don't, we may have to send for money to come home."

The taxi men in Grand Haven have put in a protest because there are so many owners of automobiles who accept fares who are not licensed and regulated by law, but the heads of two taxi companies in that city are offering $25,000 reward to any person who will furnish them with information that will result in the arrest and conviction of anyone who is illegally operating their automobile for hire. A number of cars are being operated in that city which carry no bond insurance they claim, nor license and it is seriously injuring their business. Any violations which are brought to their attention will be vigorously prosecuted they state.

RURAL CARRIERS HOLD MEETING AT THE COUNTY SEAT

A meeting of the Ottawa county rural carriers association was held at Grand Haven in the chamber of commerce hall, with the carriers of Grand Haven post office in charge of arrangements. Holland carriers were represented by G. Rutgers, John Brinkman, Marius Koe, J. Woldring, Simon De Boer and G. J. Heetderks. Zeeland also had a large representation present, as did practically every postal district in the county.

State President W. G. Armstrong of Niles, Mich., was present and gave a full and comprehensive report of the national convention held at Philadelphia, William Tibbets of Hudsonville gave a report of the State convention recently held at Adrian.

This meeting comprises members of Ottawa county and the purpose of the association is to co-operate with the post office department for improvements in the service and the welfare of patrons and carriers.

Problems such as the obstructions on the roads and highways, the rail fences, brush and weeds, which all cause huge snow drifts, blocking the roads and delaying the carrier and the patrons were discussed. Many times these blocked roads cause extreme hardships on the carrier and make it impossible to complete service daily.

By co-operation with the township officers and patrons themselves, these causes are removed and remedied, they in return get better service and mail delivery is as prompt as it is scheduled.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered the Chamber of Commerce for the use of the rooms, and the good will toward the carriers association.

Miss Margaret Hoffman, 54, died Friday morning of apoplexy as she was returning to the home of her sister, Mrs. Miles Vanorman, 1270 Pine st., Muskegon, after a five weeks' visit with relatives in Coopersville.

Two nephews, playing near the McLaughlin school, saw their aunt coming down Catherine St., and ran to meet her. Before they could reach her side, however, she had fallen to the sidewalk and was dead.

Miss Hoffman had lived in Muskegon 38 years. Mrs. Vanorman and Mrs. John Bryce of Grand Haven, a sister, are the surviving relatives. The funeral services were held at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the Clock funeral home, Rev. McCurdy of the First Baptist church officiating. Interment was in the Oakwood cemetery.

An inquest in the death of Mrs. Frank Dornan, who died as the result of being struck by an auto Thursday on M-11 near her home, eight miles southwest of Fennville, will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday morning in the I. O. O. F. hall in Ganges.

Witnesses of the accident say that Mrs. Dornan had just alighted from her husband's car and was following her three-year-old child Allen across the road when an auto driven by Arthur J. Karpino, 35, of Chicago came along. Karpino, witnesses aver, suddenly threw on his brakes, the car slewed and struck Mrs. Dornan, who was thrown 30 feet. She received a fractured skull and died shortly after.

Karpino suffered several bruises and other injuries and was cared for in a South Haven hospital. He reported to Coroner Clay Benson. Funeral services will not be held until after the inquest.

The purchase of the Ravenna and Conklin Light and Power Co., of Ravenna, by the Southern Michigan Light and Power company has been announced. The Ravenna concern was taken over recently by Arthur E. Kusterer, an investment banker of Grand Rapids, and it was Mr. Kusterer who made the sale.

It is expected that the Southern Michigan Light and Power company, a subsidiary of the Commonwealth Power company, will put the Ravenna plant in operation. It has been idle since the break in the dam more than a year ago.

The Ravenna company was organized as a community project and the damming of the Crockery creek and construction of the plant was the realization of a dream of years. The company met with financial difficulties from the start. The portion of the dam gate way and operations had to be suspended.

The company purchased power from the Consumers Power company for a time and resold it. However, this plan did not prove profitable. The power was finally shut off and five towns furnished electricity placed in darkness. The plant was then taken over by Mr. Kusterer and the resale was then announced.

The company furnished electricity to Ravenna, Conklin, Marne, Walker station and one other town.

Mr. Lucas Smith, River ave., has returned to his home after a visit to Yellowstone Park and to his children, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sturwald, at Neerlandia, Alberta, Canada. Mr. Smith is enthusiastic over his trip through Yellowstone Park. He spent nearly a week there and he saw all the important features of that place.

In Canada Mr. Smith traveled about 600 miles north of the U. S. border. His son-in-law has taken up a claim there. Conditions are still so primitive that one morning Mr. Smith stood in the doorway of the house and shot at a big timber wolf, missing him however by a narrow margin. When he left the Sturwalds there was six inches of snow on the ground.

PARENTS HELD ON CHARGE OF AIDING AN ESCAPE

Prosecutor Fred T. Miles caused the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. LaMore of Spring Lake charged with giving aid to their daughter, Edith LaMore in making good her escape from the Girl's Training school at Adrian. Miss LaMore was committed there some time ago and in some way made her escape. The proper amount of help and assistance was not given by parents it is alleged by the officers. In fact it was felt that they were assisting her in getting away.

This is the cause for arrest and when brought to the court, they told the prosecutor a sad and sordid tale. They demanded an examination which was set for two weeks hence today. The daughter while not located as yet is supposed to be in Milwaukee.

Blind Student Gives A Talk About the Blind

The teachers and officers of the Van Raalte Avenue church Sunday school were greatly entertained and instructed Friday evening when Peter Kulken, the blind student at the Western Theological seminary, gave a talk on the education of the blind in America. The quarterly meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Lam. Mr. Kulken not only gave a very interesting talk but he also demonstrated how the blind read and write.

Lucy Klamuts of Robinson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Klamuts, recently decided to take things in her own hands, not wanting longer to remain in school, so she quietly disappeared from home.

She is fifteen years old, and she says she shall remain in school until sixteen. Lucy, who is a good girl and had worked faithfully all summer, wanted to keep on but the law, and her parents insisted that she go to school.

She suddenly disappeared and the sheriff's department set out to find her. They intercepted her journey to Chicago, at Benton Harbor, took her to the police quarters of that city, where she remained until her parents came and got her.

Although somewhat rebellious, she understands that she must obey both her parents and law and has gone back to the school. She has had determined to go to Chicago to get a job and to perfectly capable of holding on if she could get to the city.

Her parents were much disturbed at the time, fearing something untoward had overtaken her. The officers' quick work may have saved her from unforeseen difficulties. When the daughter of Marie Lehman, 19 year old girl from Robinson, who disappeared two months ago, is still unknown and everything that the officers can do has been done to locate, if possible, this girl.

Pictures have been sent to many of the leading papers in the country and through the Salvation Army, but one thing has been found that would lead to a definite clue.

A possibility exists that she may have gone to California, and word has been sent to several places describing her. Up to date nothing has been found.

Young Lad has Better Chance To-day than Ever

THE YOUNG PEOPLE of today have greater and more opportunities than their grandfathers, but, nevertheless, they must be prepared to take advantage of them.

They must Make the Proper Start!

A savings account and the promotion of thrift not only gives the young man and the young woman the proper start and the courage to accomplish greater things, but it makes happier and healthier homes and better citizens.

The Age of Opportunities

Most of the financially successful are not backward in admitting that they learned to save because they simply had to. Our young folks today, did circumstances make the same demands, would respond just as faithfully. But seldom are they required to.

However, today, financial success is very directly proportionate to your ability to control expenditure, to save not only money, but time — to conduct your financial affairs judiciously.

Holland high's peppy inexperienced eleven swung into action Saturday afternoon and took a 12-0 verdict from the Hartford team. Like a new machine which needs to be driven slowly at first, carefully and with a few adjustments the squad will blossom out into a pretty looking outfit. Hinga gave a number of lads an opportunity to show their skill and for the most part the showing was favorable.

Coach Hinga announces his starting lineup against Hartford to be as follows:

Hartford will come here with a good record and a brand new coach which will surely present a fighting team. The boys are a little green as Holland's players will be, but a good test for both crowds is assured. Last year Hinga had known quality and the boys ran away with the easy games but no games on the schedule appear easy this year. Kalamazoo Central went down in the initial try last year, Nettling's field goal beating them, 3-0. Kalamazoo Central comes here next week and the local coach who had an opportunity to look them over last week is anything but confident of a victory over them.

Should Hinga find easy going Saturday he has a flock of substitutes to run in and the game may see many new faces on the Holland eleven. Coach Chapman will run two squads against each other in the curtain raiser which is scheduled to start at 1:30.

Local fans have been looking forward to this game and the crowd will be stunned when they see the boys in their brand new suits which are so loud that they speak for themselves. These bright colors will make the light eleven look very powerful and this will aid in scaring the enemy. Hinga will hold on to all his material until a few games have been played and then the regulars will be chosen. The way competition has been going at the practice field is enough to warrant a good Saturday as the boys know that the first impression that they make in a game will go a long way in showing whether they have the goods or not. Big game starts at 2:15.

Although football practice has been in progress at Hope college for more than a week, it was not until yesterday afternoon that anything but condition was stressed.

The squad, numbering over 40, was divided into two sections. Coach Jack Schouten took the freshmen under his wing to develop practically an entire new forward wall. Only one veteran, Capt. "Egg" Fell, has returned this season.

Walter "Red" Cornwell, ex-Grand Rapids Union and Western State Normal star, made his appearance on the local gridiron as assistant football coach, and he took charge of the "Reds". His task will not be as hard as that of Head Coach Schouten.

Sport fans are getting quite a bit of enjoyment gazing at the unique window display at the Superior cigar store. In the display are pictures of nearly all of the Holland football aggregations dating way back to 1899. The teams of 1899 and 1900 show many familiar faces such as Pete Steketee, Jack Schouten, Jim De Free, Joe Borgman, Bradford and Dawson. These teams did not play a large schedule but played teams out of their class and records show they gave the city a real name for football.

In 1918 there was no team representing the city but the 1917 squad came very near winning the state title. Only one aggregation beat this crowd and that was Grand Rapids Central which boasted of Frank Steketee, later All American full-back from the University of Michigan. Cappon led Holland that day at the old Romona Park ground and Holland went down, 20-0. Grand Rapids Central lost to Detroit Central 6-0 for the state championship. But Buss was then coach at Detroit, Dinnie Upton at Grand Rapids and Drew at Holland high. Below is the record of the 1917 team which garnered 520 points to 30 scored by their opponents.

Holland—137 Pennville—0
Holland—60 Kalamazoo Central—0
Holland—0 G. R. Central—20
Holland—81 Grand Haven—0
Holland—32 G. R. Union—3
Holland—104 Kalamazoo Normal—0
Holland—20 Traverse City—7

When Holland beat Kalamazoo Central 50-0, Coach Bud Hinga, now Holland high coach, was playing end for Kalamazoo and spent the afternoon chasing behind a Hollander named, Cappon.

The following players were on the team: Bill Eiferdink, Pete Van Dornen, Cappel Cappon, S. Boyd, Harold Ennis, Nick Japina, Earl Knutson, George Hoek, Fred Boyce, Len Kuite, Churchwinski, Larry Ingham; business manager Arthur Van Duren.

Ranking high every year, with an exceptional team last season, Holland high stands out very prominently in the gridiron sport. Many of the last year's stars will be seen in action with Hope college, while the new 1926 squad at the high school is the lightest yet fastest to represent the school for many years.

Mrs. J. F. Warner and niece of Chicago were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Ry.

Mrs. A. J. Wilkie has returned to Holland from Hollywood, Florida.

Rev. G. Timmer of Orange City, Ia., has accepted a call extended to him by the Reformed church at Jamestown.

No time is being lost on the gridiron this week where coach Hinga is busy smoothing out the rough spots that showed up in the initial encounter. Hartford taught the boys a lot of football and no damage was done as the Holland crowd came off with a victory. But when Kalamazoo Central comes here a very different story will be told. Unless the boys play a regular game the score is going to be against them and they realize that they must show all their wares Saturday.

Central has won one and lost one and they are out to gain a win as they figure that Holland is beatable. The same old spirit is prevailing at the local camp where the boys eager to learn are hard at practice and the local mentor who can put them in fine condition is surely working hard.

Brunson center looked good until the second half last week and he has his faults all checked up so he should go great. De Weerd and Exo may be shifted around a little where they can get in a little more of their deadly work.

Tyse also may get a chance at the ball carrying job as the backs were a bit weak in circling the ends and the elongated end showed his heels to many Saturday as he returned punts. Elenbas must forget a few faults and gain his confidence, as must Tans, who bids fair now to be another Nettling.

Paulus will again take care of the punting and the extra practice is making him look a lot better in this department. Tibbitts will be seen again at guard, while Breen looks like a fixture at the helm.

Plenty of fight is around the camp and Kalamazoo will meet a tartar. The fans will be out in mass to this game as no other schools book such big games early in the season. A prelin will also be played.

Grand Haven high defeated Zeeland, 21 to 0, in the opening game of the football season at Grand Haven Saturday afternoon before a good crowd. Grand Haven ran up their 21 points in the first half and Zeeland held them scoreless in the final period. Coach Cohrs used all of his substitutes in the final half.

Grand Haven's first touchdown came in the first four minutes of play when Stuka went yard after yard around right end for a counter. Spies made the second touchdown on a line plunge and Stuka made the final. Dirks played a fine defensive game and Stuka and Spies were the best bets on offense.

Flewis of Zeeland and Capt. Bouwman at fullback went much ground for Zeeland while the Zeeland line had the edge on the Havenites most of the time.

Western Michigan cities and towns are expected to be well represented Wednesday night at the banquet which will precede the state Democratic convention, to be held in Muskegon Thursday. Assurances have been given the Muskegon committee that a big delegation will be looking for from the west side of the state. The Detroit motor caravan leaving the auto city at 10 in the morning will arrive in time for the banquet also.

The banquet program calls for addresses from William A. Comstock, candidate for governor; Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris and other prominent Democrats. It is likely to bring a first hand reiteration of Mr. Comstock's demand for an accounting of the expense of making Fred W. Green, the Republican nominee for governor, and other plans to be used in the Democratic platform. James Schermerhorn of Detroit, will be toastmaster. Kollowski's orchestra will entertain.

The state central committee will meet at the Occidental hotel immediately following the banquet to elect a successor to A. R. Canfield, its secretary, who died recently.

The district caucuses will be held Thursday morning and the convention will be called to order at 11 o'clock. As harmony appears to reign within the state ranks, it appears that the session will be short.

The ninth district will probably advance a candidate for state treasurer having in mind Milo A. White and C. L. very both of Fremont. Both are bankers there.

The Women's Democratic club of Muskegon county also is active, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Farmer, and will entertain the women delegates and visitors, being assisted by the Woodrow Wilson club of Grand Rapids. Miss Farmer is chairman of the executive council delegation to the convention.

Physical handicaps are not preventing John F. Fu of Cleveland from advancing in Scout rank. The boy, who has only one leg, recently secured his first class degree. Among the requirements for winning the first class badge is hiking 14 miles and swimming 50 yds. The boy accomplished these feats. Since he has been very interested in Scouts, these titles him to the rank of Star Scout.

DIEKEMA HEADS COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS AT G. O. P. STATE CONVENTION TUES.

Ottawa county, and especially Holland, took a prominent part at the Republican state convention held in Detroit. It was a gathering that will not soon be forgotten, although the anticipated riot expected did not materialize.

Mayor Smith had prepared for any emergency. He had at least 600 police in front of the building and distributed thru the interior and on the stage. Uniformed men were almost as thick as delegates, and one of the largest contingents of police had a truck load of tear-gas bombs in the alley back of the large Cass Technical school, near the heart of the city, where the convention was held.

Police and committee men at the door were strict, allowing no delegates in unless they had the proper credentials, and guests were not allowed in the galleries at first. But when the convention was in full swing, those who held guest tickets were admitted, and shortly afterwards the public was allowed to take seats.

The Ottawa county delegation was given the best seat in the house, being right near the platform; however, with the loud speakers installed, all the deliberations could be easily followed anywhere.

Early Tuesday morning the Ottawa county delegation held a caucus in the rooms of Mr. Diekema at the Book-Cadillac hotel to form plans and later a joint meeting was held with Kent county delegates at the same hotel. William Hutton of Grand Haven was made chairman of this meeting and it was unanimously decided by the delegates of both counties that G. J. Diekema should be placed on the credentials committee, a very important job on this occasion.

After the caucus, delegations began to congregate and at 11 o'clock "Denny" Alward, who was temporary chairman, called the gathering of 1000 delegates to order. The different committees were appointed by the one important committee was the credentials committee, eleven in all, one from each district. Of this committee G. J. Diekema was made chairman and it was apparent from the first that there would be trouble, no matter which of the two delegations were seated.

Instead of going over the credentials at the convention hall as usual, the committee was ordered to one of the large rooms in Book-Cadillac hotel and Mr. Diekema demanded, as did the other members of the committee, that the Wayne county delegates be seated first.

Representatives present to set forth their claims. They complied, were heard, and the committee came down with what they claimed was documentary evidence.

There was so much of it that it would have taken the committee a week to go thru it, but there was enough to show that the selection of both sets of delegates so that the committee became disgusted and decided to teach Wayne county a lesson, that for a long time they had coming to them. Wayne county has always come to the convention with a chip on its shoulder and the committee, as well as the rest of the state, felt that the time had been endeavoring to be the dog long enough. They therefore voted that both delegations be seated and that the rest of the state go ahead with the convention activities without Wayne county.

When G. J. Diekema arrived on the platform with the report and read the decision of the committee, a great approval came from the thousands of at least 1000 upstate delegates and Wayne county will know from now on that their 150 delegates are not the best of the state, but must come clean in the future if they want to take a part in other Republican state conventions. The action of the committee naturally forestalled any trouble on the floor of the convention, since none of the Wayne county delegation was allowed in the hall.

It took more than an hour and a half for this committee to settle this question and in the meantime there was a flow of oratory, every living ex-governor being present in person on the stage contributing to the speaking program.

Chase S. Osborn especially made brilliant speech and he let it be known that no Republican convention needed police to keep it straight, but the members of the convention could govern themselves as decent American citizens even though there were a few who kicked over the traces. The results that followed would indicate that Mr. Osborn was correct.

Charles H. McBride also played a prominent part at the state convention. As a member of the Republican state central committee Mr. McBride was in charge of all the tickets of admission, more than 1,000 of them, and not a delegate in the state chosen from the different counties could enter the hall unless his ticket entitling him to his seat was countersigned by the McBride man. It was stated that Mr. McBride sat up almost the entire night before the convention, signing his name 1000 times.

The Wayne county delegation even went so far as to enjoin the Republican state convention from deliberating unless the legally chosen, as they claim, Wayne county delegation was seated. The supreme court of the state of Michigan put a stop to this high-handed method short of the convention, vacating the order given by the lower court thru a Detroit judge, and it was evident that the supreme court felt that a party as a whole was master of its own deliberations, and a majority in the convention had a right to seat which delegates were legally named.

It was pointed out by the nominee for governor Fred Green, that such high-handed tactics, if allowed to go on, could even be carried

ALLEGAN COUNTY'S $30,000 FIRE STARTED BY "FIRE BUGS"

Two general stores and a garage at Kendall, 17 miles south of Allegan were burned at 3:30 Wednesday morning. The fire is reported to have been of incendiary origin.

The Allegan chemical truck with five men made the run in 25 minutes and saved adjoining property. Loss is estimated at $30,000.

SHERIFF ASKS STATE POLICE TO REMAIN

Sheriff Kamferbeek is circulating a petition asking for the permanent location of the state police in their quarters at Grand Haven. The sheriff feels that these men are of great assistance in keeping the highways safe and comfortable for most travelers.

These men are friends for themselves in the co-operation with the city and county officers, have made splendid officers and by their diligence have given the highways a patrol that could not help but be felt. They have also used judgment in arresting individuals and when driven on an open highway with no cars coming the state police realized there was no real cause for action, but the driver that cuts in and out of traffic is the menace that these officers are trying to eliminate for the highways.

While traffic is not so heavy in the winter, each year sees more and more and more of it and with the snow removal from the side roads and main highways it will be the effort of more drivers to keep their cars running all winter as most folks do in the city. The officers, if retained, will doubtless find many things to assist the motorists in all year and it is the hope of many in the community that they be made a permanent institution.

ried to the national convention and a succession of injunctions could put a convention on one technicality or another, which would prevent the nomination of even a president.

It was already evident shortly after the convention that Detroit will be good in the future and not endeavor to dominate the entire state of Michigan.

Nominee Fred Green was given an ovation when he appeared on the platform that lasted fully three minutes, and his speech, which was short and to the point, left a favorable impression. He even hinted that incompetent public officials would be done away with and that dishonest ones, if there were such, would be punished. He even talked about turning the "leaves of the books back," stating that no official of the past, present or future was going to be behind the skirts of the Republican party.

Arthur Vandenberg, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, and former senator William Alden Smith also contributed to the speaking program during the intermission.

The usual recess for dinner was not allowed and the delegates worked straight thru until 3:30 and all the work was completed and the convention adjourned and the army of police could go about their business without having made an arrest. Mayor Smith of Detroit was also ushered to the platform, during the meeting and was given an ovation. He responded with a short speech of welcome.

That the Republican state convention which showed nearly 100 per cent for Green, did not gather there for the purpose of ousting former Groesbeck adherents is evident from the fact that the convention unanimously voted to return E. A. Snow of Saginaw to the Supreme court. Mr. Snow is an able man and has the respect of all who know him in Michigan.

When the Detroit forces attempted to tie up the convention through injunction, Judge Snow, together with the other members of the supreme court signed the order to annul such action.

Secretary of State DeLand, also one of Groesbeck's right-hand men, saw the handwriting on the wall and did not allow his name to come up before the convention, and John S. Haggerty of Detroit was unanimously named in his place. Mr. Haggerty was at the head of the delegation from Wayne which the Groesbeck forces endeavored to unseat thru injunction.

It was apparent that the up state delegates were ugly over the Wayne situation for years. The Republican state convention has had trouble because of factional fights within their own ranks, and when Detroit was set down on by unseating both delegations, the glees from upstate delegates was apparent. They simply bubbled over and a prolonged demonstration followed when Mr. Diekema had finished his talk and had given his reasons.

The delegation from Holland seated in the convention were: G. J. Diekema, J. B. Mulder, Frank Bieve, Mrs. G. J. Diekema, Charles K. Van Duren, Thomas N. Robinson, E. P. Stephan, S. L. Henkle, Emory P. Davis Ben Mulder, and Charles H. McBride.

The Woman's Relief Corps will hold its bi-monthly meeting at the home of Ray Kardux Wednesday afternoon. Members are asked to meet at Mrs. Miller's West 9th St. at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Abbie Minz, who has been conducting a beauty parlor at her home on West 16th street, has moved to 56 West 13th street where she will be pleased to make appointments after October 1st.

SAUGATUCK MAN GIVES REPORT ON THE GREEN EXPENSE ITEM

W. R. Takken of Saugatuck, treasurer of the Allegan county "Green-for-governor" club, filed with the county clerk a report of the receipts and expenditures during the '26 primary campaign. The total receipts were $301 and were derived from the sale of banquet tickets.

Total disbursements, consisting of banquets stationery, printing postage telephones and telegrams, were $230.95.

PUBLIC TO BE GUARDED AGAINST DISEASED BIRDS

A warning was issued today by City Inspector Van der Werf that close watch will be kept from now on in regard to the sale of diseased poultry in Holland. This is the time of the year when the city inspector usually has the most trouble with this nuisance and he is on the lookout.

More trouble is expected this year than usual because of the wet, damp weather. The poultry on many farms is improperly housed. The fowls are allowed to roost in the open and they become wet and chilled. Disease results and some farmers are irresponsible and try to sell these diseased fowls in the city. Last year a number of persons were arrested on this account and this year the watch will be stricter than ever. The city inspector will make every effort to protect the public and the ordinance, which is strictly enforced. There will be frequent inspection of fowls brought into the city and if diseased birds are found among them, arrests will follow.

COLLEGE PULL ENDS TUESDAY; HONORS EVEN

In one of the most peculiar and unsatisfactory pulls ever staged by two classes at Hope college, the Frosh and the Sophs battle Tuesday afternoon to a regular no-count decision. Being a regular Friday afternoon affair, the Tuesday crowd was small and the usual list of visitors from nearby cities was lacking, as few knew when the event was to be staged.

However, with the high school students on deck at an early hour, the spectacle was witnessed by a fair audience. After the two teams, consisting of twenty men on each end of the rope, Captains De Free and Bo Cook, had dug in, the whistle for the first hour tug-of-war was blown by Mr. Schouten. When the whistle for the try at pulling while standing up-right was blown, both teams seemed to ignore the rules and remained sitting. Pulling until exhausted, the Frosh seemed to have gained about ten feet of rope, but the rope, terribly tired, were waging a useless battle, as it was evident that no victor could be declared.

Time was called out while both sides took care of the knock-outs and the referee called the teams again to action in a minute rest. Again the great rope tug-of-war was blown by Mr. Schouten. When the whistle for the try at pulling while standing up-right was blown, both teams seemed to ignore the rules and remained sitting. Pulling until exhausted, the Frosh seemed to have gained about ten feet of rope, but the rope, terribly tired, were waging a useless battle, as it was evident that no victor could be declared.

The Frosh got the rope and the Sophs got the best of the banner fight, which ended with the first year crowd taking home a badly battered affair. The usual ducking of the heroes who tried to carry off the opponent's banner, took place, much to the amusement of the crowd. No-count decisions are bound to make for further warfare and perhaps a football game will be the means of deciding who is who. Further pulling might have resulted in bad injury to some of the contestants.

The high wooden sign placed by the Ottawa county road commission at the point where the new highway branches off from the old road that leads over the old Spring Lake bridge was completely demolished recently. It is supposed that some motorist became confused or lost control of his car in some way banging into the post supporting this sign and breaking them off as clean as an axe cut. The sign of course, came down and if it had struck the car or an individual most certainly could have been the cause of serious injury.

No reports as to who demolished the sign had been made and the road commission is looking for the parties that were mixed up in the affair. The commission is now erecting a steel post to take the place of the wooden one with the hope that it will withstand the knocks of the traveling public. This sign is a necessary one telling the public of the change in M-11 and the commission is not fond of spending money on repairing things of this kind. Whoever had the misfortune to break off this post must have suffered much injury to his car, but the police had nothing to report on it.

Jurors for the October term of court at Allegan have been drawn. They are to attend on the second day of the term which will be Monday, Oct. 11. They will be: John W. Stegman, city clerk; Lloyd Krum of Allegan township; L. A. Symonds of Casco, Arbie Herriman of Cheshire, Rudolph Giesert of Clyde, Henry De Vries of Dor, Gerrit J. Schuman of Fillmore, Edw. Olser of Ganges, Frank J. Heath of Chaplains, Geo. Japink of Heath, Chester Adams of Hopkins, Henry L. VanHuls of Laketown, Herman Hess of Lee, Matthew Parker of Leighton, Henry Kool of Manlius, Edward Oliver of Martin, Earl Roberts of Monterey, Augustus Engle of Otsego, Earl Wood of Otsego township, John Schap of Otsego, Campbell Moore of Salem, A. HOLLAND BANKERS ATTEND MEETING IN LOS ANGELES

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winter of the Peoples State bank and Mr. and Mrs. Wynand Wiechers of the First State bank left Tuesday for Los Angeles where they will attend the annual convention of the American Bankers association. The convention will be held October 4 to 7.

Oscar Wells, president of the association, has issued the following statement about the importance of the convention: "Effective methods have been developed for quelling bank bandits, the control of branch efforts by banks along lines suited to their circumstances and these will be fully discussed at the convention. The rapid extension of special banking functions, such as those having to do with savings, fiduciary services and investments, by classes of banks formerly engaged in these activities has created a need for more complete interchange of experience related to these subjects and this will be fully provided through the various technical discussions at the convention."

The present is fraught with much interest among bankers in subject of legislation and particularly federal legislation dealing with the extension of the charters of the twelve federal reserve banks. The extension of the charters, the equalizing of rights between national banks and state-chartered institutions, and the widening of the provisions for lending money on real estate under the laws governing the conduct of national banks. Bankers attending the annual conventions of the association are afforded splendid opportunities for knowing how other bankers regard these things. Also another question of prime importance to every banker is the growing movement for more equitable state taxation for banks and the discussions at the convention will suggest means for this end in your state.

"In the broader view of general business, there is the problem of installment selling, the underlying conditions of business, the subject being subject to much uncertainty and questioning during the year and other equally important subjects which will add to the profits of attending this meeting."

About fifteen members of the Spanish War Auxiliary, Post No. 27, met last night at the home of Mrs. Hattie Hunkin, R. F. D. 1, where a birthday tea party was enjoyed. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. B. Hamm and Mrs. B. Harbin. Consolation prizes were won by Mrs. E. Mooney and Mrs. B. Van de Water.

During the course of the evening a short business session was held. Ways and means were discussed about buying dishes and silverware for the new cupboard which the men donated. It was also decided to postpone the meeting of the sewing committee for one week as it will not interfere with the banquet Friday night given by the men.

The banquet committee wishes to give a last warning that the banquet Friday evening will start at 6:30 sharp and all members of both organizations and their families are invited. A good speaker has also been secured for that evening.

After the business session dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Hunkin and her committee.

SAYS FLORIDA COMING BACK AFTER STORM

Under date of Sept. 22nd, Miss Kate Pfanstiel received the following letter from her brother's wife, Mrs. Fred Pfanstiel, about the Florida storm. The Pfanstiel live in Fort Lauderdale:

"Just a line to let you know we are all right. We have a roof over our heads again, sleep in dry beds, have food, also water to drink, and ice too, so you see we are all fixed up. The city water is not turned on yet so it makes it very inconvenient but we get along the best we can."

"We have four extra people with us—one couple from Davis; they lost everything they had, money, house and clothing. So we are doing what we can for them. The other couple are the people who lived in our cottage; they of course lost their home and all their effects were blown away."

"We are lucky to be alive. Fred did not have any sleep until last night. He has worked so hard. He is head of the sanitation department, very important, has 40 plumbers working under him. You know how good he is, always wants to help everybody. The state man said Fred was just the right man to have charge of that work."

"Palm Beach friends brought a load of food for us in their Marmon car; also 5 gallons of water, which we were very glad to get, as that is what we needed the most. All we fear now is an epidemic, but Fred and I will take the serum; we are doing everything to keep well."

"Miss Talbot is in the hospital. She and her mother were under wreckage from 5 A. M. until 11 A. M. after their house blew away."

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN IN MUSIC

A great deal of interest in music in the Sixth Reformed church of this city is manifested. Every Friday evening from 30 to 35 young people come out for rehearsal although only 15 can sing at the church service for want of platform space.

Besides the regular choir, this church has a fine Junior choir, a quartette and a double male quartet at the regular church services at different times. John Van der Veld is the leader of the mixed choir.

HOLLAND FARMER PAYS PENALTY IN A SOUTH HAVEN COURT

George Burg of Holland was arrested Monday by State Inspectors Mary B. Shur and Ernest Stevenson for selling potatoes that were not properly marked in accordance with the state law. When the offender was brought before Judge Holmes at South Haven, he was given a fine of $10 and costs or spending some time in the county jail. He paid the fine.

The state inspectors are keeping after the offenders in the matter of properly marking of fruit and vegetables and there will be no leniency shown anyone who is found trying to get away with inferior grades when they are marked otherwise.

Holds Court For Judge Cross

Judge John VanderWerp of Muskegon was in circuit court at Grand Haven on Monday called to hear a civil case in which Judge Cross could not act, being connected with the institution involved in the law suit. The case was that of John Osterhof of Ferryburg vs. the Grand Haven State bank. Hugh Lillie appeared for the bank and Charles E. Misner for John Osterhof. The plaintiff claimed to have signed a trust agreement with the officers of the bank of which he did not realize the import. He wants this agreement set aside as the agreement gives the bank the power to hold the money from which he can have the income. The case will be argued on briefs.

GREEN TELLS THE CONVENTION WHAT HIS PURPOSES ARE

The following are some of the high lights in the speech given by the Republican nominee for governor Fred W. Green, at the Republican convention Tuesday:

Hinted an investigation of state departments would be made. Voiced his belief in the administrative board theory, but favored an amendment giving the board veto power over the governor. Promised that the auditor general would do the people's accounting. Pledged himself to keep state books open to the people. Made it plain he would strive for tax reduction by economy. Promised to carry out a "scientific" good roads program.

Favored revision of the state primary election laws and will ask Democrats and Republicans alike to help him in this matter. Announced his aim to keep policies out of conservation. Promised to limit paroles and pardons to those actually reformed. Green's program was indorsed in resolutions adopted by the convention.

The Nominees
Secretary of State—John S. Haggerty of Detroit.
State Treasurer—Frank D. Mc Kay of Grand Rapids.
Attorney General—William W. Potter of Hastings.
Auditor General—Oramel E. Fuller, of Ford River.
Justice of the Supreme Court—Ernest Snow of Saginaw.
Renominated.

PRIMA DONNA FIRST ON HOPE LECTURE COURSE

Edith Mason, prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera company, is a woman of high ideals and superlative courage and the courage of her ideals and some of her first experiences are interesting. For instance, her first opportunity toward a career came in Boston where she was asked very unexpectedly to sing Nedda in Pas-toretto with the Boston Opera company. She sang, and acquitted herself so well that she was immediately offered a contract for the following season, which she refused, because she did not feel that she was ready to make her best impression. How many young singers would have had the courage to refuse? Yet she was right, for after further study she was offered a contract at the Metropolitan Opera House, that Mecca of all artists.

There she remained for two years, sing a role that did not suit her voice, the singer who was to have appeared in the role being ill. Although the powerful directors requested that Miss Mason sing it, and even insisted, she stood her ground with dismissal staring her in the face rather than lower her standard. However, fortunately the artist who was scheduled to sing it recovered at the last moment and saved the day all around. After this she went to Europe to further perfect herself in her roles.

During her stay at the Metropolitan she met Maestro Polacco, whose admiration for the young girl's pluck quickly turned into something warmer. Speaking of him, Miss Mason said: "His influence on my professional work has been very strict; at rehearsals he has often driven me to tears, because his ambition for me was so high that he worked me too hard.
He insists that I shall sing only as a great artist shall sing. Sometimes we have worked on two or three phrases for hours at a time, until it seemed to me that I never could reach the goal for which he aimed.
Then the tears would come and I would be ready to give up. However, with a few hours' rest, common sense would return and I would begin again. His help and direction have made me the artist I am today, and I can never be grateful enough. My husband is hall, October 22nd, as the first number in the Lyceum course, and her concert is looked upon as one of the greatest musical achievements of the season.

Van Grove, a great Dutch pianist, is to accompany her.

Miss Mason will sing at Carnegie At one time she was called upon to a great man and it is an inspiration to be with him, and hear him no matter who is singing, and thus the great operas have become my second self as it were, I am conduct. I never miss a rehearsal familiar with them.

THE PASSING OF THE TROL- LEY CAR

(Recently an item appeared in the papers suggesting that the Holland Interurban might be junk-ed. Mrs. Jeannette Hughes R. Brumbaugh, of Jenison Park, was inspired to write a poem as a result of the item. "I have been very much interested in the possible junking of the Holland Interurban line," she writes, "and visions of the past kept presenting themselves to my memory. I can never forget the excitement when the first car came through to Macawau Park. It was as if Blinding Brothers and all the menagerie were going to pass through on parade. I often feel these days that we who are motor-mad should realize the great service the interurban line has given us in the past and patronize it with a better spirit of co-operation." Mrs. Brumbaugh's poem follows:

The favorite pastime years ago
Was buggy riding, with your beau,
You slowly drove your horse along
And sometimes sang a little song.
Around the curves and by the stream,
You sauntered on to spoon and dream.

Then finally you said, good night,
And gently closed the door so tight.
Soon horse and buggy went too slow,
And when a-courting you did go
You took the interurban route,
And spent an evening full of folly.
You rode so fast o'er hill and plain
You almost beat the fastest train.
Oh! here's a spot to stop and ramble
By hawthorn bush and thru the bramble.

The days of trolley rides are past,
And now we motor twice as fast.
You whiz around the awful turns,
As your auto engine hums and churns.
You dash along the highway faster Never noting the golden rod, or trolley.
Just rush and grumble all the way
Instead of having a holiday.

A car comes up and bangs your fender,
And then you have to stop and stand 'er.
The trolley is "busted" and you try
To fix the thing as the cars fly by.
An hour or two you fix and sputter (And oh! the awful words you mutter).

You speed your engine for loss of time
Has put you back, and you've lost a dime.

Your gas is out! you forgot to fill
The tank before you left, and still
You fret and fume and feel awry, Forgetting the comfortable trolley close by.

It used to be "Goodbye to the horse".
But now the condition is very much worse,
For our dear old friend, the trolley too
Is passing on, and it makes me blue.

The toot of the whistle, the clang of the bell,
At night, thru the windows, the lights look so well, There's something about the days of the trolley
That makes country riding, no safe, sane and jolly.

I send these few verses, so you may know,
How I'll feel when the trolley cars
all have to go.
Goodbye, dear old cars, I'll miss you, you bet!
And wish you'd keep running, until out of debt.

STATE COLLEGE NOT FAIR WITH POULTRY MEN

A large delegation of poultry men from Holland and Zeeland and other poultry localities of Ottawa and Allegan counties was at East Lansing Friday and Saturday attending a meeting of the Michigan poultrymen held at M. S. C.
There was more doing than at first appeared upon the surface for Michigan poultrymen, long silent, made their wants known to the Michigan state college Saturday.

A committee from the Michigan
Poultry Improvement association called upon President Kenyon L.
Butterfield Saturday morning and placed before him a list of recommendations as adopted Friday at a meeting of poultrymen and hatch-erymen from all parts of the state.

They want the poultry industry of Michigan placed on a par with other branches of agriculture in the institution's extension, experimental and research program.

They want the state board of agriculture to include in its next college budget a request for funds for the erection of a new poultry administration building, for the establishment and equipment of a poultry disease research laboratory and for the construction of a practical, up-to-date commercial poultry plant.

President Butterfield, in welcoming the poultrymen to the college Friday, encouraged the poultrymen to break their silence and tell him what they wanted and expected from the college in the way of service and assistance. He intimated that he had heard some rumors but it was doubtful that he knew how much the "chicken men" were carrying under their hats until a committee called at his office Saturday morning with a typewritten report.

Dr. L. E. Hensley, formerly of Holland now of Grand Rapids, president of the poultry association, accepted President Butterfield's invitation to make the poultrymen's "wants known" and before he had completed his talk to the "chicken men" in the presence of the college executive, he evidently the poultrymen felt the college was neglecting one of the leading branches of Michigan's agriculture.

Dr. Hensley based his talk upon the investigations of a committee appointed several weeks ago. It was sort of a comparative statement on the economic importance and relationship of the poultry industry to the other branches of agriculture. He quoted statistics from the 1919 agricultural census to show the poultry crop in this state had a value of $47,048,585 compared with $26,129,723 for the fruit crop and $71,074,727 as the total value of dairy products produced. Since 1919 Hensley said the poultry industry has expanded by leaps and bounds until now the value of poultry crop, including hens, eggs, baby chicks and chickens is estimated at $72,500,000.

Hensley pointed out the college is trying to serve this $72,000,000 industry with equipment costing only $8,500, while the state's $26-000,000 fruit industry is being served by equipment costing $400,000 and the $72,000,000 dairy industry by equipment costing $65,000.

The poultrymen also quoted figures from the annual report of the state board of agriculture to show the experiment station was neglecting the poultry industry. It was shown the station was spending $55,000 a year on dairying (not including salaries), $24,000 on horticulture, $8,290 in bacteriological work, but not a cent on the poultry industry.

In the face of this report Hensley cited the tremendous losses to poultrymen from diseases in their flocks. He said 20 per cent of all commercial chicks die with what owners term bacillary white diarrhea, representing an annual loss of $390,000. He estimated 320,000 hens, valued at $1 each, died of chickenpox in Michigan last winter. Approximately 6 per cent of all hens in the state were said to be infected with avian tuberculosis, representing a further loss of $960,000 a year. Other diseases, worms and insects were estimated to be causing losses approximating $1,000,000. The total losses from all causes are estimated in excess of $2,500,000 a year, yet the college was said to be doing little to overcome these losses.

The poultry industry has outgrown the pin money stage and the poultrymen were looking to the college for assistance in fighting their battles, Hensley told Dr. Butterfield.

The president informed the farmers there were certain limitations, particularly in funds, but assured them their requests would be given due consideration by him and members of the state board of agriculture.

The second annual meeting of the Michigan Poultry Improvement association was closed at East Lansing Saturday afternoon with the election of officers.

A miscellaneous shower was given Monday evening in honor of Miss Fannie Postma at her home.
Miss Postma is to be married on Thursday evening at Cadillac.
Twenty-seven guests were present.
A two course luncheon was served and games were played. Miss Postma received many beautiful and useful gifts and a good time was reported by all.

The men's glee club at Hope college has been reorganized with Mrs.
W. J. Fenton of Grand Rapids as director. Its membership has been limited to 16. The officers elected are: president, Kenneth C. Mook; business manager, John J. Soeter; treasurer, Lester J. Kuyper, and secretary, Peter Scholten.

Several hundred Sunday school teachers and officials from the different churches in Holland are attending the Ottawa county Sunday school convention at Coopersville.
George "The" chairmen and Anthony Menhuis, Holland, is secretary of the association in this

FORMER LOCAL MAN GIVES VIVID DESCRIPTION OF BIG FLORIDA HURRICANE

Henry Koolker of this city received a letter from his son, Rev. Gerrit Koolker, today giving a vivid description of the hurricane that swept over Florida. Mr. Koolker is pastor of a Presbyterian church at Boynton, Fla., and he was an eyewitness of many of the terrible scenes. The letter is dated Sept. 20, and reads in part:

"We have just passed through a terrible tropical storm. People that have lived here all their lives tell us that they never witnessed such a storm before. It was terrible here, although we did not suffer a loss. Several roofs all around us went off, and roofing and shingles blown off so that the roof leaked. But ours stood the test. I put on my bathing suit and so did Lee and we walked boards over the cracks and where it began to tear away. But several garages in our neighborhood rolled right over and went all to pieces. We could hardly stand the beating of the rain and it was almost impossible to hold a little board even, to nail it down. Even a tin can with nails blew right out of my hands."

RECORD DAY AT FENN-VILLE FRUIT EXCHANGE

The largest day's receipts of fruit ever known at the Fennville Fruit exchange was the order Saturday. There was a total number of 500 bushels received, the greater portion being peaches. 5-365 bushels being received. Crabbles made 433 bushels and regular apples 238. In addition there were 32 bushels of pears received. J. A. Barron, manager, states that of the amount taken in there were eight cases shipped out.

FIVE HUNDRED STILL SUBJECT TO DIPHTHERIA

Between 500 and 600 immunization cards were passed out in the schools in Holland by the city department of health with a view of finishing the work begun a year ago and making Holland very nearly a one hundred per cent city as far as immunization against diphtheria is concerned. These cards the pupils take home to have them signed by the parents in case they consent to having the children immunized and thus protected against the dreaded children's disease. The consent of the parents is necessary before the work can be done by the health department. The immunization treatment is free and is furnished by the city in an effort to protect all the children. Last year over 90 per cent of the school pupils in Holland took the treatment. Since then however a new crop of children has arrived in the kindergarten. Quite a few also have moved into Holland from other towns. All these make a company of between 500 and 600. It is confidently expected that the most of these will secure the required permission from their parents to have the work done. The date for the immunization work will be announced later.

Miss Edith La More, who has recently been confined in the industrial school for girls at Adrian and got away without knowledge as to her whereabouts, is now in Milwaukee. Sheriff Knudsen had word Saturday morning from Milwaukee saying they had the girl in custody. The sheriff got in touch with the Adrian officials, and she will be taken back to the school immediately. Her parents who were recently notified, are now in cooperation in giving information as to her whereabouts have an examination set in about two weeks. They are living in Spring Lake.

TO MAKE A DRIVE FOR A COUNTY TB SANATORIUM

What may very well be the first step in a concerted drive to secure a tuberculosis sanatorium for Ottawa county was made Thursday noon at the regular luncheon of the Holland Rotary club when that organization went on record in favor of a sanatorium. The Exchange club will be associated with the Rotary club in making a drive for a sanatorium and that organization was represented at the meeting Thursday by its former president, George A. Pelgrim. Four members of the Ottawa county board of supervisors were also present and they received a first-hand impression of how the two important men's luncheon clubs of Holland regard the movement.

The club passed a unanimous vote instructing the president to appoint a committee that shall cooperate with a committee of the Exchange club and with committees of other organizations in Holland in an effort to secure a sanatorium for this county. This joint committee will appear at the October session of the board of supervisors and will point out to the county solons the need of such an institution.

Attempts have been made repeatedly in Ottawa county to secure a tuberculosis sanatorium but all of them have failed so far. Plans to erect a joint county sanatorium have also failed. The health department of Holland has more than once gathered statistics about tuberculosis in Ottawa county and has again and again urged the great need of a sanatorium. Ottawa is not taking care of its tuberculous persons as it should, according to those who have made investigations and as a result the disease is killing far more citizens than is necessary. At present the county has an arrangement with Muskegon county to take care of the patients from here but at best it is only a makeshift. An Ottawa county sanatorium is regarded inevitable sooner or later and the Rotary club thinks the time has come to make the effort.

The guests at the meeting Thursday included: Rotarian Tom Faust, president of the Holland, Ont. Rotary club; R. P. Clark, president of the Rotary club of Johnson City, Mo.; Rotarian C. Clay Benston of Allegan; President Geo. W. White of the Allegan club; Elmer Osmun of Allegan; the city nurse of Grand Rapids, and the Ottawa county nurse, Miss Nello R. Lemmer.

Fred William of Grand Haven township was arrested Monday on charges of grand larceny. It is alleged he stole three batteries and tools from several cars in that vicinity, the thefts occurring since July 5th.

TAKES POSITION AS ATTORNEY FOR FORD CO.

Wallace Visscher who has been serving as assistant United States district attorney in the eastern Michigan district for the past two years, has resigned to become assistant general counsel of the Ford Motor Co.

Visscher, who has handled the civil cases in the district attorney's office during his term, was born in Holland, Mich., and received his general education at Hope college, where he was graduated in 1912. He took his law degree at the University of Michigan in 1918 and began practice in Detroit, where he also served as law instructor on the faculty of the University of Detroit before entering government service.

GOOD MUSICIANS AT THE SEMINARY

With the coming of the new class at the Western Theological seminary, musical talent at the dormitory took a big leap ahead. Five or six piano players now keep the hall ringing with melody during the hours not set aside for study. They are Olet, Van Dyk, Roos, Pennings, and Kots. Violin music also is available, a new student, Van Dyke, being very accomplished in this art.

George Kots with the clarinet and Max Frey with the cornet add greatly to the musical entertainment, while Ungersma with his accordion and Norman Vander Hart and his cello complete the list. The quartet composed of Hinckamp, Hellenga, Neevil and Van Zoeren will soon be ready to add to this talent and no doubt the seminary men will have plenty of music this winter.

"Consecration will be the general theme at the annual synodical conference of churches connected with the particular synod of Chicago in the Reformed Church in America, which will convene in this city Oct. 12 and 13. The subject will be divided into three parts: Consecration of self in the individual life consecration of self in the home and consecration of self in the church.

Dr. Lane of London has been booked as one of the principal speakers and is scheduled for six addresses. Other speakers will include Rev. Gerrit J. Heekeren, Grandville, President E. D. Diment of Hope college, Dr. P. J. Kriekgaard of Grand Rapids, Rev. P. Stenneberg of Fulton, Ill.; Rev. Harry J. Hager of Hope college and C. Dosker of Grand Rapids.
