HOLLAND FARES WELL ON DELEGATION AND COMMITTEE
APPOINTMENT

Wynand Wichers Made Chairman of Convention and Delegation
At Large

The Republicans of Ottawa county, 200 strong not including many visitors, gathered in the Court House at Grand Haven for the purpose of electing 21 delegates and one delegate-at-large to the State Convention to be held next week Tuesday in the Civic Auditorium at Grand Rapids. To say that it was an enthusiastic meeting is putting it mildly.

There was an optimistic tone prevailing through all the deliberations and when a call was made to adjourn after more than two hours of conventioning, the delegates were loath to go. All in all it was an eventful Republican meet. The highlight being the voluntary resignation sent in by "Bill" Hatton as chairman of the Republican County Committee.

William Hatton has held this position for 18 yrs. and has twice been delegate to the national convention and once as an alternate. He has always been a supporter of the Republican party both with his time and money. Genial "Bill" was given a rising vote of thanks for his services by the convention Tuesday. Mr. Hatton acknowledged the ovation by rising which was the signal for further and prolonged applause.

The convention was called to order by Mr. Hatton who retired this year and he turned the gavel over to J. M. Sweeney of Spring Lake, new committee chairman. Mr. Hatton made a brief valedictory address as chairman in which he said he "had never had any personal axes to grind but had always served in the interests of good government.

With the "on to victory" spirit running high in speeches and resolutions pledging support to Alfred M. Landon and Frank Knox as nominees for president and vice-president of the United States, Ottawa county Republicans got under way with a "bang."

Wynand Wichers, president of Hope College, who by the way was made the chairman of the convention, spoke eloquently and forcefully on the need for men in all walks of life to direct their efforts to the election of the Republican nominees that this country may return to the precepts laid down by the Continental fathers and continue the principles of true democracy upon which this nation has risen to the topmost level of development and prosperity such as no other nation on this globe has yet known, and much less experienced.

Jack Sweeney, elected head of the Ottawa County committee Monday night, said he was mindful of the duties and responsibilities imposed by the county leadership, and he only hoped he might be as successful as his predecessor, William Hatton. "He has done a marvelous piece of work, has been untiring and unselfish in behalf of the Republican party. My ambition and entire interest is to bring Republican victories to Landon and Knox and all other Republican nominees on the state and county ticket.

"American people have arrived at the cross roads of progress in this nation. They must choose the direction along which they will travel in the future on Nov. 3. If they take the road of the past three years it may change our whole form of government.

"The Republican party has been one of construction, conservatism, and stable government with strict adherence to the Constitution. Republican victory is not a one-man job. It is a call to all men and women gathered here today. We must have loyalty and a willingness to work," he said.

William Hatton, for 18 years chairman of the county committee, spoke briefly on his association with the Republican leaders in the county. "Although I have resigned as the chairman of the county and have stepped back in the rank, I am still in the harness and I will continue to fight and do my part to gain the ultimate goal of returning this country into the hands of the Republican party in the nation.

"I have been signally honored by my party in that twice I was sent to national conventions to assist in naming Republican nominees for the highest office in the land."

It was after Mr. Hatton had finished his brief talk that the delegates arose and gave "Bill" a well deserved hand. The old gentleman was visibly affected as two large teardrops trickled down his cheeks.

Points to Danger

In an eloquent plea to heed the danger signals of things wrong in the nation, Mr. Wichers continued, in his opening address, to point to reasons why this country was being led into a government far from the ideals of the founders of this nation.

"I would not have considered being chairman of this group 10 years ago, but it is now time for men who fear the future of this land to jump into the fray and devote themselves to the goal of Republican victory in November.

"Many sense that something is wrong and those of us who have gone through years of patriotism and loyalty to the United States know that something is radically

The autumnal Equinox (autumn begins) took place at 12:26 A. M. Eastern Standard time, Wednesday September 23. The wind was in a south-westerly direction, which weather prognosticators have often said will be the prevailing wind until seasons change again. If this is true then it's warm weather generally speaking until official winter begins which is December 21. We still leave "Indian summer" to our credit also.

Zeeland city council submitted to the Allegan city council a few days ago, for approval a proposal whereby by Zeeland would lease a two-sixteenths interest in the Allegan hydro-electric plant with the water rights.

The proposed contract provides that Zeeland build and maintain a transmission line to the Allegan municipal dam. A provision in the contract stipulates that Zeeland will have a 10-year lease with the option of renewal for two similar periods.

The approximate yearly payment to Allegan is set at $6,500, giving Zeeland the right to lease additional rights from Allegan up to a two-eighths interest in the hydro-electric plant with water rights.

The Allegan city council has the proposal under consideration, with City Atty's Pearl Fouch and Leo W. Hoffman studying the contract. The negotiations were first started in June. Shortly after that Holland was brought into the picture with the proposal that Holland would provide emergency stand-by service for Zeeland and Allegan and that Allegan do the same for the two other cities. Holland has been asked to extend its lines to the site of the proposed Allegan-Zeeland line.

Zeeland recently completed a distribution system and if the proposed action is taken will be able to start distribution about Jan. 1.

A special election will be necessary in Allegan and Zeeland before definite action can be taken on the proposal.

Tells Of The Evolution Of Rubber

EXCHANGE CLUB MEMBERS
NOW KNOW WHERE McINTOSH, A RUBBER COAT
GOT ITS NAME

At least 85 members of the Holland Exchange Club gathered for luncheon given at the Tavern Monday noon. It was rather a diversified meeting and chairman, Joe Geerds handled all matters with quickness in dispatch.

The Holland Exchange Club has become very well known throughout the state as being a real live organization, its average attendance by its membership has been high. For six consecutive years the local club has been recognized as the leader in number of attendance on the size of the club and the size of the community. Because of this record a fine gavel was presented to the club during the Silver Anniversary held in Detroit, Michigan some time ago. At that time the State Treasurer of Exchange Clubs, Lyle Broughton, presented to the Holland delegation this gavel, emphasizing the fact that their average attendance had been 76.6 which is indeed high in an organization of approximately 100 members.

When Joe Geerds opened the meeting he called on Prof. Garrett Heyns, Superintendent of the Holland Christian Schools, who opened the meeting with devotions. During the short business meeting Attorney Vernon Ten Cate, who attended the Detroit National Exchange Convention, gave a review of what transpired there and he stated that the keynote of the convention was Americanism. He said this spirit pervaded every member present and it is a wholesome, reassuring indication that patriotism and love of country is still strong in the hearts of the people.

During the luncheon Gene Van Kolken gave several numbers on the piano that were indeed pleasing to the ears. The young ladies were Mary Jane Vaupell, Thelma Kooiker, and Gertrude Young, their able accompanist was Miss Barbara Lampen, who presided at the piano.

Before adjourning, the Grand Rapids Exchange Club invited the Holland Exchange Club and the members of other cities in the vicinity to visit the Grand Rapids Airport for a dinner in one of the hangars of the Pennsylvania Air

YOUNG MEN JAILED FOR THEFT FROM FRUIT GROWER

William and Maynard Edwards, ages 18 and 21 years respectively, living in Mendon, Allegan county, are in the county jail for stealing about 20 bushels of pears from Albert Koning, fruit grower living near Fennville, formerly of Holland.

The brothers had gone to Mr. Koning's farm to buy pears last week during the day and returned during the night and helped themselves to more pears.

Mr. Koning suspected the pair and the sheriff's office upon investigation located the boys and when arraigned before Justice Volney W. Ferris they pleaded guilty to the charge. Besides serving 20 days in the jail, they must pay a fine of $5.00 and costs and make proper restitution for the pears before released.

Clark Bliss, 41, of Middleville, Paul Delp, 18, of Monterey, Archie Brainard, 41, of Allegan and Jimmie Hope, 61, all pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct when arraigned in justice court and paid fines and costs.

STILL HUNTING AT 87 YEARS

The first small-game hunting license issued by Conservation Officer Arthur G. Greer in Calhoun county went to one of the few Michigan hunters who can say he hunted wild turkeys in this state. The applicant was Albert Graham, who will be 87 years old Oct. 30. In 1869 Graham and his brother shot the last deer in the vicinity of Marengo, but he says his experience in hunting wild turkeys stands out in his memory. His greatest hunting disappointment came after he had stalked a flock of turkeys and his gun failed to fire, he relates. Graham distributed 40 bushels of grain to feeding stations for game and song birds last winter.

CLARE HOFFMAN PLEDGES AID TO AGED SECURITY PLAN; SWEEPS ELECTION

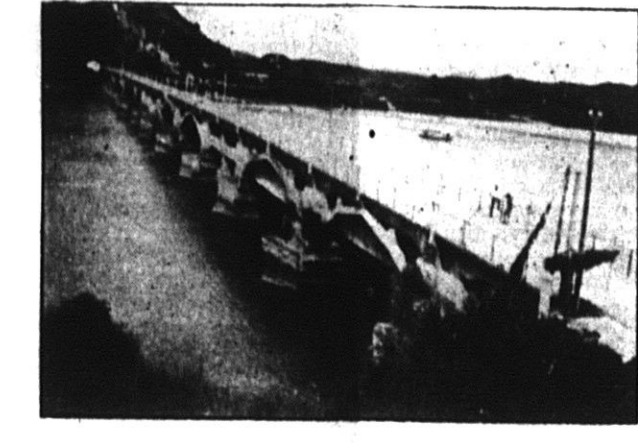

Clare E. Hoffman, of Allegan, piling up 8,910 majority over Felix Racette, Townsend indorsee, in race for 4th district Republican nomination to congress, repeated Wednesday his determination to work to improve and extend present system for old age security and expressed hope that "in the coming campaign, the real question, that is, whether we shall continue the American form of government, may be brought before the people unobscured by a sham issue." Hoffman added that Michigan primary results bore out original Townsend contention that the plan and organization should not be used to further any individual's political ambition.

Anthony Westerhof, Art Horning, Lloyd Steggers and Ed Bos, left Monday morning for Texas. The car in which they are making the trip is equipped with sleeping cots. They are to visit Fort Worth and Dallas and will deliver a message to the mayor of Dallas telling the people to Holland's Tulip Time. Bos will return by train in three weeks but the others expect to stay six weeks or more and may return through Florida and the southern states.

City Treasurer John Steggers, reported that $288,653.56 had been received up to this week in payment of the summer taxes. This leaves a balance of $51,844.23 yet to be collected.

Mr. David Bertsch showed us a curiosity this week in the shape of a beechnut burr in which were six perfect nuts instead of the usual four. The burr grew on a tree near his residence on the north side of the bay. Note: Her husband was manager of the "sole leather tannery" for many years. Mrs. Bertsch conducted a millinery store in the Aarendsborst building on College Ave. and 8th St., under the name of Mrs. M. Bertsch. Frank Bertsch of Beechwood is a son.

Last Wednesday night, September 22, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. De Roo were made happy by the advent of a little baby girl in their family. Note: Mr. De Roo was a prominent citizen, a flour mill owner, mayor of Holland and member of the Board of Public Works. Mrs. De Roo was prominent in social life of that period. The hobby of Mr. De Roo was trap shooting at "clay pigeons." Holland had a large club at that time.

The building of the Panama canal was well under way 25 years ago.

The barn of T. Vande Vusse, two miles north of Holland, was set fire by a lightning bolt. Three other buildings were consumed by flames besides two horses, two cows, one calf and eight hogs. The farmer also lost eight tons of hay, a large quantity of grain and farm implements. The loss is $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

The Hyslop crabapple crop from the orchard of Henry Mead of Mack's Landing, Allegan county, will amount to 800 barrels and the owner expects to receive $5.50 per barrel. There are 700 well developed trees on the farm.

Scouts get Allegan invitation

Ottawa county Boy Scouts have received an invitation to take part in the Boy Scout Day to be held at Allegan Saturday in conjunction with the Allegan fair. A parade will be held at 1:30 p. m. in which all scouts of the various councils will take part. The Kalamazoo council drum and bugle corps and the Grand Rapids Sea Scout band will be represented. The factory of the Charles P. John Billings, of Sacramento, Cal., rode a "fiver" for a little over two weeks in order to reach Michigan to get to the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Billings of Saugatuck Saturday. The couple have been married 60 years. After the celebration, Mr. Billings says he will ride back the same way to the "land of everlasting summer." Note: If the Billings folks of Saugatuck are still living, which is doubtful, a "diamond wedding" anniversary is in order.

Saturday night Francis Deto discontinued giving lessons in swimming at Kollen's park. There were an average of 300 young swimmers at the beach daily during the warm weather and Deto gave lessons to at least 600 youngsters. Note: Francis Deto is today in the Great Lakes life saving service and has recently been promoted. He started his coast guard work at the Holland harbor station.

Mrs. Charles March of Lansing and the new baby are visiting her parents, Contractor and Mrs. Frank Dyke, 78 West 15th St. The work left the little boy at the Marsh home in the state capital six weeks ago.

Albert Hoeksema, principal of Holland Business College, states that he is starting a night school in the Peters building for all those who have no opportunity to study during the day time. This surely is a fine opportunity.

The Hitch Hike China Visitors Have Returned

BELETED LETTER TELLS OF CHINESE TEMPLES AND CUSTOMS IN CHINA WHICH
THEY ALSO FOLLOWED

Ray Boot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boot of Amoy, China, and Charles D. Bertsch, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Bertsch, U.S.-31, Park road, Holland, have returned to this city after "hitch hiking" from Holland to San Francisco and back and working their passage on steamships to and from the Orient. They will continue their studies at Hope college next week. The boys left for China early in April and their experiences have already been told in part in other letters appearing in the Holland City News. The following beleted letter is by Mr. Bertsch, one of the students who made the trip.

(By Charles D. Bertsch)
Letter from Luaiang, China
Monday, July 20, 1936.

Dear Folks:
At any moment we are expecting Lotto, one of the Britishers, to call with his Chinese teacher to take us over to Amoy, where we shall visit some temples.

We never know what to wear, when we go out with subjects of the king. The other afternoon Ray and I went over to have tea at Lotto's and at J. H. P. Anderson's. Knowing that the English here have an almost reverent respect for the institution of tea-bibbing, we went, carefully and thoughtfully dressed—ties and all, painstakingly adjusted.

Our hosts appeared in shorts, sleeveless shirts, and no ties. If Lotto is going to show up in a few minutes in shorts we wish to be similarly clad and comfortable; clad, however, if he wears trousers we don't wish to be barelegged. Ray and I have planned a way out of the dilemma. Ray has gone downstairs to await Lotto's coming; I remain in our room, pantsless. If our British host is in shorts, Ray will call, "Here's Lotto, Charlie!" If trousers is the order of the day, he'll say, "Chuck!" and into one or the other waiting garments I'll pop and, on our way rejoicing.

Here's Lotto, Charlie!" (It's shorts.)
For a week or more, I have been keen for an opportunity, when sun and tide are just right, to take a snapshot of an interestingly mysterious cave at the edge of the bay. Saturday, conditions were just right. It is desirable to have a figure posed at the mouth of the cave, so I asked Ray to come along. I was at first disgruntled that he refused, having something or other of more interest to do.

I had heard of taking pictures with the help of a string attached to the shutter lever. So with a length of cord I set out to find the cave, doing so without much difficulty. Scrambling over big stones, on a rocky beach, passable only when the tide is way out, I came upon a carving in the rock, "H. M. S. ACORN, 1858, '59, '60." It is above the mouth of a small cavern, in which the stone was so formed that there is a natural bench just inside the shelter of the cave and crude steps of stone, rising to the mouth, which is some four or five feet above the beach level. A place is far back in a tiny cove, around which the rock rises sheer on three sides. Near the top, trees and vines hang over the face of the cliff so that, looking up, one sees the sky only through a bushy hole.

Inside, the cave is about fifteen feet long and not quite high enough to allow one to stand erect. I placed the camera about two-thirds of the way to the back wall, pointing it toward the opening, and piled rock around and on the camera to keep it steady. Rigging the string was no cinch either; the floor was rock and I could not drive a stake to guide the string and instead, used a bit of rock for that purpose.

When the contrivance was apparently ready I sat myself down near the mouth of the cave so that a figure would be silhouetted against the glare outside. Posing that way and trying to trip the shutter, all of a dozen times without success. Each time some weakness of the crazy setup had to be strengthened—the camera fell off the rock, the string slipped its hold on the shutter-trip, or the rock, around which the string traveled moved. On the thirteenth desperate attempt, with the wobbly contraption on the verge of toppling and the camera skewed—luck came at last—the shutter clicked—I got the picture.

There was a typhoon predicted for Tuesday morning. It got shunted off in another direction, happily. So we bestirred ourselves at 5:30 and journeyed up to Chang Chow. It is quite a way inland, and a center of unrest. It was at Chang Chow that Rev. Boot's family formerly were stationed, before the Communists chased them out, in three successive springs. Two years ago, at Christmas, sixteen planes bombed the town. We visited the caves where the students of Calvin college took refuge during this attack, and Gerrard Veen-scholten offered me an unexploded aerial bomb for a souvenir. Much as I would like to have taken it, it had to be refused; it was too heavy to tote home. I did take a bomb fragment for a keepsake, however.

The Veen-scholten has rented "bikes" for us. We pedaled all over town, threading our way in and out between rickshaws, water buffalo carts and human burden bearers. We visited the college and climbed over parts of the ancient city wall with its old moat; the place was fortified much like a medieval European city; we even stumbled upon a cumbersome old muzzle loader, buried in the sand. It had a four-inch bore—used to shoot bullets about the size of mother's blouses.

We wogled our way past the sentry and in through the great gate of a big and ancient temple, and went all through it, guided by

DUTCH TO PROTECT BULB PURCHASERS

The Dutch government is taking steps to protect prospective customers in the United States from supposedly advantageous offers from firms in The Netherlands to supply tulip bulbs, according to information received Monday from the Dutch legation in Washington by Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids, Netherlands consul for western Michigan.

Persons receiving these "advantageous offers" are urged to contact either Dutch diplomatic or consular offices, or the department of agriculture and fisheries at The Hague, to determine the responsibility of the firms purporting to be engaged in the tulip bulb business.

ZUTPHEN FARMER IS BADLY HURT BY AUTO

Casey Rynebrandt, 50-year-old Zutphen farmer, is in critical condition at his home of injuries suffered when the hayrack on which he was riding was struck by an automobile driven by Louis Van Rhee, a neighbor. The hayrack was demolished and one of the horses so badly injured that it was necessary to kill it.

Rynebrandt was sitting on the edge of the rack when Van Rhee's car struck it.

ZEELAND MAN HURT IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Cornelius Van Dyke, 55, Zeeland furniture manufacturer, was in serious condition in Huizenga Memorial hospital Wednesday night following a head-on crash of his car with a truck driven by Henry Wynegarden, 45, Vriesland string butcher. Mr. Van Dyke who was thrown clear of his auto, a head striking a gasoline pump, suffered severe lacerations and a skull fracture.

Mrs. Wynegarden suffered lacerations on her legs and head. She was taken to her home.

HOLD OPEN HOUSE

Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Blekkink will keep open house on Tuesday, Sept. 29th, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. They will be pleased to see their friends in the afternoon and evening at their home 303 College Ave.

OPEN AIR CONCERT IN JAMESTOWN

The Hudsonville High school band under the direction of Bert Brand of Holland, will present an outdoor concert in the business section of Jamestown, Saturday night, September 26 at 7:45 P. M. They will appear in their new uniforms.

A native priest.
And we came upon a street theatre and watched it for a while. I was quite disappointed at not being able to get a queer, two-stringed instrument, about a yard long, for Fritz. It had a head like a herring keg, and I could have bought the precious thing from a member of the orchestra for 20c, Mex., but the clumsy thing would have taken up the space of half a suitcase!

On both trips, going to, and coming back from Chang Chow, we crossed a stone bridge that was old beyond history when Marco Polo arrived some time ago. The comparatively modern super-structure rests upon the ancient masterpieces of the bridge builder's art. Some of the stones in the ancient bridge must be 70 feet long and 10 thick. With characteristic Oriental patience, the original builders floated these enormous blocks down the river on barges, then waited for flood waters to lift them into place.

Last party given by Mrs. Hollema at night, Miss Evelyn P., daughter of the customs official here, said that by the thirtieth there will be eighty Japanese war vessels in the harbor; several are already there. The Chinese, even as far inland as Chang Chow, are quite panicky about it. Amoy is China's third most important seaport.

Lovingly your son,
"CHUCK"

After leaving China the two Holland students took a "peep" at America's far eastern possessions. In a later letter written on board the S.S. Anking in Manila harbor Mr. Bertsch said, "Capt. Miller of this ship, on which we came over from Amoy, is kindly allowing us to stay on board, thus saving us our shore expenses. Tomorrow morning we have to leave, though, as the boat is going back to Amoy."

After getting passage arranged for a trip to Hong Kong, Bertsch and Boot inspected Manila. Speaking of the old Spanish city wall, Bertsch said, "Seen from a distance, it doesn't look very impressive, but when we got close we could see that it is still a considerable fortification. The moat is filled, the guns removed and the whole works grown over with grass. The city keeps the grass neatly cut, so that the wall is like a strip of park—ten miles long."

"We took our initial trip around the town in a rig drawn by a tiny Philippine pony. The driver sits on a stool at the feet of the passengers. Our driver was very voluble and very Latin. He gesticulated with all parts of his body—especially his whip hand—and endangering passengers and bystanders alike."

Speaking of a night spent at the Manila "Y" in a center room from which a flag pole stuck from the window sill, he said, "The crazy idea of running our sweaty shirts and rain-soaked garments up the hallways to dry suggested itself forcibly."

Hearing of the docking of their boat, he concluded, "She sailed Monday for Hong Kong, where I will get my last mail. Then a week in Hong Kong, Macao and possibly Canton—and then the 23-day hop across the Pacific."

Bees Too Like Hollander's Sweet Meats

DETROIT FREE PRESS "PLAYS
UP" THE LOCAL CANDY
FACTORY

If Holland doesn't know it has a large candy factory, managed by live business men, the bees surely know, judging from an article in the Detroit Free Press this morning. The Hollander Co., Inc., starting from a humble beginning, has developed to such an extent during the short time since its inception, that it was compelled to seek added quarters in the large and only empty factory building on West 10th Street. This building has been turned into a modern candy mill and the transformation that has taken place there in a short time is marvelous—but that's another story.

The Hollander Company makes fine candy and a lot of it, in fact the demand is so great that the company talks in terms of millions pounds. Apparently "sweet tooth" about the country like this Holland-made candy. However, it also appears that the bee too knows good product judging from the following clipping taken from the Free Press.

TODAY'S PROBLEM—

Holland—Christmas is coming, which in itself is no problem, yet. But Holland has a candy factory and Holland people keep bees, and it's a tough problem, taken all together.

The Hollander, Inc., which is the candy factory, has a million pounds of candy, a capacity supply, getting ready for Christmas.

One-Term Presidents

An interesting theory was put forward recently by a shrewd political observer, who predicted that we are in for a series of one-term Presidents. Thus: "The panic of 1837 was in preparation during the Jackson Administration, just as the stock market break of 1929 was in preparation during the Coolidge era. The one wrecked Van Buren, the other Hoover. The protest vote elected Harrison in 1840, just as the protest vote elected Roosevelt in 1932. But the nation was normally Democratic in the 1840's, just as it is normally Republican today. So in 1844 it swung back to regularity with Polk, and this year it will swing back to regularity with Landon.

"But Polk was not popular, and the Mexican war produced a hero, Zachary Taylor, who was nominated by the Whigs just to win the election, winning in spite of the fact that he was charged with owning a slave-operated plantation in Louisiana, as opposing propagandists would have it. He died soon after his election; Fillmore got into difficulties with the strong men in his party, and in 1852 the people went back to the Democrats. By that time the Whigs were so riddled that they couldn't win an election; but there was also a fissure in the Democratic party, and Pierce couldn't be renominated. It was not until a national crisis occurred that parties became united and strengthened, and a President could be re-elected.

"We had the same condition after Grant, and no President succeeded himself until the free silver crisis made the Republican party once more dominant."

It is certain that the defeat of Hoover in 1932 was not accomplished by the Democrats, but by the desertion of their ticket by Republicans. It is equally certain that large numbers of these Republicans will return to the fold this year, and will be assisted by Democrats who don't like the "New Deal" policies. But if Landon is elected, a second term in 1940 will depend, we believe, on how wisely he conducts himself in office.

If the conducting of affairs as governor in his own "prairie" state of Kansas, where he has used same methods, augmented with common sense, is any criterion, then he will make an able chief executive of the nation. The state of Kansas is a model for economy and understandable legislation, heartily endorsed by the voters of that state.

Going to College

Only about 100,000 young people went to college in 1900; this fall a million or more will be undergraduates. No such increase in popular interest in education has been recorded since the 13th century, says a bulletin issued by the New York State College of Agriculture.

There are many evidences that American Youth is entering a cycle of seriousness. Economic conditions effect profoundly the outlook for all young people. Lacking the background by which to focus perspective, they are prone in times of depression to explain, "What's the use? There is no opportunity for us and never will be."

But there is a tone of optimism now in the air and young people sense that the future beckons to to big enterprise. The approach is by way of education. The uneducated man or woman in days to come will be peculiarly at a disadvantage.

Fortunately the way is made smooth for those who are willing to make the effort to educate themselves. And it is gratifying that so many young people are eager to avail themselves of the opportunities offered. A million or more added undergraduates will prove a worthy increase of the nation's assets.

R. De Vries of Overisel.

Spelling Contest

The first series of spelling contests for rural schools in the northern part of the county will be held Saturday, according to County School Commissioner, Gerrit G. Groenewoud. The contest among the later elementary schools is being sponsored by the United Rural Teachers' club of Ottawa county for the sixth year, while as a new feature this year, a Junior spelling contest is being held among the fourth and fifth grades. Under the rules of the contests, when a school enters the competition the entire class must enter rather than just one or two individuals. Awards are then made to winning schools as well as individual winners. A list of 800 words from which contest words may be taken has been prepared for the upper grades while a list of 320 words is ready for the junior contestants. No contest of this nature is held in the southern part of the county.

Lines. Holland had eighteen members present and from all sources there were nearly 100 present. Holland members were among those who had the moral courage to "take a flyer", not in oil stocks or gold mining, but in blue sky, but not the kind prohibited by Michigan law. Many of them got a good view of Grand Rapids from their high perch.

An interesting feature at the luncheon was the "Romance of Rubber", the topic stressed by the speaker of the day, Mr. K. S. Markens, of Grand Rapids, who represents the Goodyear Tire Co. Charles Van Zyl, a member of the club for a long time, was called upon to introduce the rubber man with whom he has been acquainted for many years. The speaker stated that in the early days not much was thought of rubber and very little experimenting was done with it until Charles Goodyear, "Bill" McIntosh, after whom the celebrated rubber coat was named, and Sir Henry Wickham, of England had made several experiments. It was the work of these three men that had done a great deal to elaborate on the uses of rubber, the possibilities there are for the rubber industry and the methods that enable the supply of rubber to be maintained. The speaker, in his review, entered into the making of tires for vehicles. It was an evolution of tires and the revolution of vehicle wheels that brought this tremendous demand for rubber, not counting the endless other uses that rubber is put to. He harked back to the solid tire "bike", then the cushion tire, the pneumatic tire, then reverting to motor-driven vehicles, the early fire tire, followed by the cord, the balloon and the air-wheel tire. He said, "Today in one rubber industry alone, 120,000 persons are employed and the annual payroll is $127,036,000."

"We find as early as 1690 a book written on the subject of rubber, but it remained for the Scottish scientist, McIntosh, to find a method of dispensing this product with natural gas.

"Then, with a crude rubber solution, McIntosh began the manufacture of rain-coats, but they had two faults—they "ran" in hot weather and cracked in cold weather.

"Goodyear accidentally struck upon the principle of vulcanizing, when a solution of rubber he was heating fell in sulphur. With the problem of vulcanizing perfected, a market for rubber was created.

"Production of plantation rubber began through the efforts of Wickham who started production in East India. Today 95 per cent of the rubber used in manufacturing is plantation grown," the speaker said.

Rubber was first used for the manufacture of tires by John Dunlop in a practical bicycle tire. Cord automobile tires were first made in 1914, and were later improved to modern balloon tires.

An interesting fact pointed out by the speaker was that 50 per cent of the tire tread is zinc oxide and lamp black. Today the Goodyear company is experimenting with sand.

Rubber industries lead in work and wages, it was pointed out. In 1908 a tire worker received 40 cents an hour and paid $35 for his tire; today he receives 88 cents per hour and pays an average of $8 for his tire.

"Modern motorists would be getting 200 miles per gallon of gasoline if the development of gas had kept pace with the rubber industry," Markens observed.

"The development of the rubber industry has been phenomenal—it has gone hand in hand with the motor-driven vehicle industry," the speaker said.

In 1906 there were only 107,000 registered automobiles in the United States, for which the rubber industry was needed to supply tires and tubes.

"Today, thirty years later, the number of registered passenger cars and trucks has increased to 26,000,000, which are equally dependent on rubber.

"Tire production during the same period has increased from 800,000 units per year to an estimated total of 52,000,000 this year.

"With the advance of the rubber trade a skilled army of workmen has also been created—workmen who must know rubber, who must make lasting products and such men demand a well-filled pay envelope.

"High wages and large annual earnings of employees have characterized the tire industry, with its need for skilled workmanship, for many years and are accepted facts today. In the Akron plant of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., for example, the average hourly wage in 1935 for all workers—skilled and unskilled, men and women—was 94.5 cents.

"In 1935, also, approximately 80 per cent of all Goodyear employees in Akron worked full time.

"In 1935, finally, the average annual income of all these Goodyear workers was $1510.

"Yet notwithstanding high wages, larger taxes, and more expensive raw materials, notably crude rubber, which has mounted in price from less than 3 cents a pound in 1932 to 16 cents a pound in 1936, America's rubber industry produces tires that cost the automobile owner only one-fourth as much and last ten times as long as they did before the war.

"At the present time, as in every year since 1910, motor vehicle tires are the important product of the rubber industry. Tire production accounts for more than one-half of the total value of the industry's annual output."

Chief of Police, Frank Van Ry said that the racket usually consists of going around selling cheap glasses at a high price to unsuspecting persons. Mrs. Ben Vandenberg of 189 W. 13th St., was approached by a man, Saturday, representing himself as an "eye specialist."

In a program of entertainment which preceded the main address, educators and their wives attending the banquet of the Michigan superintendents' conference at the Warm Friend Tavern, Friday night, were given a surprise examination which consisted of a series of questions put to the audience by Supt. E. E. Fell of Holland. Special prizes were given out by Van Vollenberg representing the Holland Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Vandenberg was also in charge of prizes awarded for golfing of the afternoon. Music was furnished by William Vander Ven, of Holland, student of Western State Teachers' college, who sang three selections and was accompanied at the piano by Miss Sarah Lacey of Holland. Selections were also heard by a trumpet trio by Julian Arendshorst, Frank Lievensse and Chervien, with Miss Trixie Moore at the piano. Both Supt. Fell and Mr. Vandenberg extended greetings to the conference followed by a message from Mayor Geerlings and the address of the evening by Dean J. B. Edmonson.

There will be weekly rehearsals in preparation for the annual presentation of Handel's, "Messiah" in December. The chorus rehearsed several numbers during the evening.

More complete co-operation between high schools and universities was under discussion here Friday as the superintendents' section of the Michigan Education association opened its annual conference. S. R. Phillips of Alma presided at the session. Speakers included Dr. Clifford Woody and Dr. George Carrothers, both of the University of Michigan.

Dr. Carrothers noted the increasing attention to youth on the part of society leaders and the increasing efforts of educational associations to study the problems of youth with an aim to improve education.

Dr. Woody pointed out that a redefinition of education calls for a broader scope of presentation and reorganization of the curriculum.

In the afternoon the delegates enjoyed a social afternoon which included a program of golf, fishing and sight-seeing, with a banquet at night.

ZEELAND ELEVEN WINS OVER WAYLAND, 19-0

Playing their initial game of the season, the heavier and more experienced Zeeland grid team defeated the Wayland eleven, 19-0, here Saturday afternoon.

Murro scored the first touchdown early in the first quarter after his teammates had brought the ball down to the 2-yard line.

Van Vollenberg scored Zeeland's second counter of the game, diving over the goal line from the 3-yard line. The last touchdown came late in the final period as Van Ommer blocked a punt and Van Vollenberg made the conversion.

WOULD MAKE IT EASIER TO MEET HOLLAND TAXES

The Holland city council will take under consideration at the next meeting the reduction in collection fees and extension of the penalty period on the taxes in Holland as advocated by City Assessor Peter VanArk, following a report that the ways and means committee of the council and City Attorney Elbern Parsons will make after a study of local conditions.

VanArk desires a number of changes in the charter governing the collection and assessment of taxes. Under the present provision a 4 per cent collection fee is added to taxes not paid by Aug. 15. The penalty period extends to Sept. 1. The change sought by VanArk would reduce the fee to 2 per cent and extend the period to Sept. 10 for penalty payment.

Another provision requires that taxes not paid by Sept. 1 be reassessed and that an interest fee of 4 per cent to cover from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1 be added, as well as a collection fee of 4 per cent. Van Ark asked that the collection fee be reduced to 2 per cent and the penalty period extended to Jan. 10.

He also requested that a change be made in the payment of board of review members. Instead of reading "shall receive $3 a day," the charter under the assessor's plan would read "shall receive compensation."

Alma to Face Hope Gridders

(Detroit Free Press)

The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association begins its round robin schedule next week-end as six grid teams open a drive for the 1936 championship with conditions so altered that almost anything can happen.

Instead of five games, or four as has been the case in the last few years, the teams now will be playing eight M.I.A.A. contests with outside games coming after the close of the season late in November. Each team will play three teams twice and the other two just once.

So far the M.I.A.A. elevens have not reported any serious injuries and the coaches right now are expecting that their teams will be at full strength for their opening games. Two title contenders are sent against each other with the first whistle—Hope and Alma, at Alma.

Kalamazoo College will meet Albion under lights at Kalamazoo Friday night. The Hornets, apparently as strong as last year as a result of the infusion of several strong sophomores, are favored over Albion, a team that displayed a stubborn defense but no offense last year. The Britons are somewhat stronger but still lack drive, which Coach Dale Sprankle will succeed in injecting as the season progresses.

The Hope-Alma battle at Alma Saturday is a tossup and will go with the breaks, while an improved Hillsdale aggregation is not expected to be troubled greatly by Olivet in a Saturday night contest at Coldwater. Olivet's team, being rebuilt after having been out of M.I.A.A. play since 1931, is not expected to be a strong contender this year.

A song service led by the Rev. J. Vanderbeek opened the program which was followed with devotion by Eunice Bennett. The first contest was a well-coming and handshaking affair with the members getting auto-graphs. Winners were Miss Alma Vanderbeek and Gary Hoffius. Games and stunts also were conducted. The Spread of Christianity in Western Asia—Review.

Henry Geerlings

The spread of Christianity not only in Asia, but in a large part of the world, is a most interesting and challenging fact. One wonders how from an insignificant country, a religion with such humble and socially inconsequential followers could make such headway in the world. But the marvel of it is that it did.

In the first place we must note that it was helped by persecution and not hindered. One would think that severe persecution would put a stop sooner or later to the propagation of this religion. One would suppose such awful terror would be born in the hearts of the disciples at the very thought of the persecuting powers that they would be only to glad to cease preaching and teaching. But it is not so. On the other hand it seems that persecution makes men bolder and more determined to make their cause victorious. They seem to get a firmer hold upon the truth which they champion and they seem to see an increased value in it. And there seems to be something in human nature which rebels against the force that would interfere with the sovereign rights of conscience and with the free exercise of one's own choices. When men say to their fellows that they must not insist upon their views of the truth then they swear by the grace of God that they will hold to their views of the truth. Never in all the annals of history have men been ultimately successful in compelling belief. You may torture a man and seek to frighten a man and build fences around a man, but you may not be able to bind his soul. His mind may still be free and through him the truth may find glorious expression and expansion.

When Saul of Tarsus went on the warpath against the hated Christians, he only helped the cause he was trying to suppress. He drove Christians out of Jerusalem, but they took their religion with them and talked about it and lived it and it had its mighty influence. The more furious in his hatred he became, the more intensity he added to the flame in the souls of those who were of Jesus' way of life. The more Christians he drove out of Jerusalem, the more centers of Christian influence he established in different places beyond the great city. And the more persecuted the Christians, the more he called attention to them and their cause. Persecute a man and soon other men will want to know why you are persecuting him and what the nature of his cause is.

After all there is some sympathy for the under dog. Persecution never pays in the long run. It never gets what it goes after. And finally the processes of persecution got the great persecutor himself—Saul of Tarsus. It was while he was in this wicked business of making other people suffer for their beliefs that he himself was arrested on his mad way and was made to see what a great fool he was making of himself. It seems that nothing could stop Saul but divine interference. As some one has suggested, it was God's last way with him and he won. No man can go against God and finally win. The odds are against him. He must surrender somewhere along the line of his mad going. It was not because Saul was easily turned from a purpose, or that he ever was ready to show the white feather, that he gave up his zeal against Christians and transferred his virile soul to the side of Jesus.

We must note again as another factor in the spread of Christianity the fact that there as in the souls of the early Christians a great passion for their religion. It meant a vast deal to them. They believed in it with all their might. They were convinced that Jesus was the Son of God and the Savior of all men. It took some of them a long time to come to this latter conviction, but finally they arrived, there was no earthly force that could turn them aside from their purpose to give this religion to their fellowmen.

One reason why the kingdom of God does not grow more rapidly today is that so many of us Christians do not believe in our religion with all our might. We lack the passions of the early Christians. We let the fires on the altars of our souls burn low. We do not care as much as we might. We are not fully persuaded that the greatest of the world is Jesus Christ. We are not willing to die for our religion. We are not willing to live a vigorous life for our religion. We are not too sure that we are responsible for giving our religion to all men. We are enamored of this doctrine of today that all peoples have a religion and therefore why not let them have their religion and we will ask them to let us have ours. We are not fully persuaded of the rightfulness of the Christian religion. There is good in all. But we need a revival of the passion for their religion and the fervor of the early Christians. We need their daring for Jesus.

Ottawa G. O. P. Confident, Show Victory Spirit

There are 3,000,000 idle acres that lie fallow while at the same time foreign importations are taking the place of what we as a nation can produce. Under the present administration large business and small enterprise is held back by doubt and uncertainty. Tradesmen, farmers, laborers are no different than they were years ago except that they are now in a maze.

"The present administration has arrayed class against class, preached strange ideas all tending to retard our good government. Intelligent men and women realize that all is not as safe and sane as under other administrations.

"Repudiate this method of affairs by going to the polls and voting the Republican party back to power. We want relief for business, large and small, for farmers, for laboring men but it must be done with common sense methods. The present ones are costly and will lead to the undoing of the nation if allowed for any length of time," he declared.

Said Mr. Wichers in conclusion, "Sane and just business methods from big or small institutions create a power for good that are the mainstay of the nation's well-being. The President would not dare to call Henry Ford, who has employed thousands at a high wage, has made many a home happy, a royalist. He would not dare to call the heads of thousands and thousands of small enterprises which dot the nation a class of royalists. He would not dare to call the large and small merchant, who through their stores and mercantile enterprises are the outlet for what is produced in the factory and on the farm, royalists and in this class there are thousands more, who collectively, after all, constitute the "big business" of the nation. Exploiting in business should be penalized and the big honest business should not be punished for the shortcomings of a few who can be reached by law."

Mr. Wichers was elected delegate-at-large to the state convention. Henry Geerlings, Mayor of Holland, gave a stirring Republican speech telling why we should elect Landon and Knox for president and vice-president. The writer at that time was doing committee work and failed to get the talk but judging from the prolonged applause it must have been good.

Miles Gives Reasons
Judge Fred T. Miles forcefully pointed out why he was opposed to this administration. He said, "The administration, he believes, should not have called a bank moratorium at the time and the way it was done in 1934 for it brought the country to still greater despair. They associate some of the heads of the administration with socialistic tendencies, I am not saying this is true but the trend of the administration, to tamper with the Constitution cannot help but breed communistic tendencies. Depressions always bring 'all cures' and many fallacies from many dreamers. Naturally, as a ray of hope they also bring followers but when better times come again these utopias evaporate and are as if they had never been. Class hatred is not conducive to good government and it should not be engendered by any party. Governor Landon, the Republican candidate, is an honest, plain business man. He is not much on flowery talk. However, in his own state he has used common-sense methods, the kind that all can understand. The State of Kansas, as far as the administration is concerned, stands as a monument to his credit. Landon and Knox will apply this same rule of common sense in national affairs."

An unusual concert has been arranged for Nov. 10 when two celebrated piano artists will appear on the same program as duo-pianists. They are Vera Gillette and Vincent Micari of Chicago.

"The Messiah" will be given Dec. 15 by the Holland Civic chorus under direction of Kenneth Osborne, director of the College of Music at Hope college. The artists that will assist are Hilda Ohlin, soprano; Edna Swan Verhaar, contralto; Stanley Deacon, baritone, and Earle Tanner, tenor.

One of the highlights of the winter season will be the appearance of Margery Maxwell, American prima donna, Jan. 26.

The date has not been set for the final concert number which will be given by the Little Philharmonic orchestra, composed of 14 highly trained musicians under direction of George H. Shapiro, worldwide known conductor.

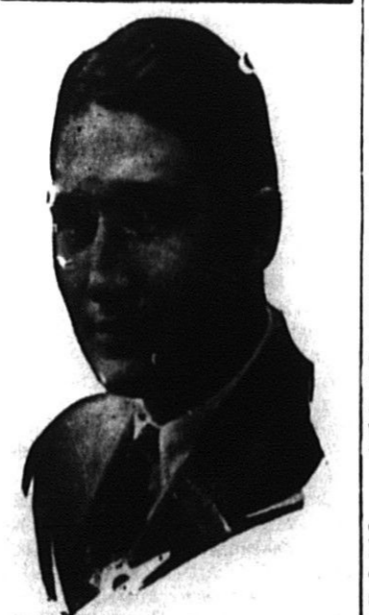

The union sponsoring the concert numbers was organized about one year ago under the inspiration of the late W. Curtis Snow, musical director of school of music at Hope college.

HOLLAND POLICE FIGHT THE LIGHTLESS BIKE "EPIDEMIC"
Holland has a new "epidemic" that of youngsters riding bicycles at night without lights and it is causing the local police department much concern.

Police Chief Frank VanRy stated Friday that two bicycles had been taken away from youngsters for a period of 30 days for violating the police regulations. The police will continue to place the "bikes" in storage if a youngster is caught riding without a light.

The dangerous practice must stop, Chief VanRy stated.

The local police contend that the parents are as much at fault as the youngsters, although no arrests of parents can be made.

I Fully Appreciate

Allow me to thank you through the columns of the Holland City News for your splendid support in renominating me for the office of Prosecutor of Ottawa County. The vote was indeed gratifying and I feel deeply grateful for this support. I feel that I can ask for your further consideration at the polls in the November election. Thanking you again I remain,

Gratefully,

John R. Dethmers,

Presenting Attorney of Ottawa County.

who would undermine the foundation of our government, strangle the right of individual liberty, and the right of each man and woman to follow the dictates of his or her own conscience in life, and in the pursuit of happiness. We commend these candidates to the voters and look forward to the happy day, when the electors shall call them to active duty for the welfare and preservation of the nation.

Undoubtedly the committee on resolutions, in speaking of both candidates and their war record, had in mind that Mr. Landon was a World War veteran and that Mr. Knox was not only a veteran of the Spanish American War but also the World War. This fact was emphasized at the Ottawa County convention when a letter sent of the convention by a friendly World War veteran recommended the election of Landon and Knox, stating that this would be the first time that a World War veteran had been advanced for this high office.

Smith was to be enjoined from further obstruction of the water course, providing also that the plaintiff should not increase the natural flow of water.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The Fall schedule of meetings has begun and the next meeting will be on Wednesday, October 14th. A program committee will be named in plenty of time to have some entertainment for us that evening, and by the way, each committee, this year, will also provide the refreshments. Further particulars will be stated in a letter to each appointee.

The Auxiliary meets next Monday night in the City Hall, September 2-nd at 7:45 p.m. to elect their officers. Each member is urged to be present to decide on their leaders.

The House Committee has been instructed to take steps toward conditioning our new quarters and if everything goes well, we will meet there next meeting, but watch the paper for announcements.

Our meeting last Wednesday brought out several strangers including Maj. Heinie Geerts, who we understood was missing in idleness during the Oak Grub Army maneuvers.

Several reports on the National Convention were heard and it appears that Cleveland went the whole way to make it pleasant for the crowd.

The membership, to date, comes very near to surpassing that of last year, and we have been working but a few days.

Have you heard any new "KNOCK-KNOCKS" lately?

All labor was donated and everyone feels well repaid. As a result of this celebration, Hamilton can boast of a splendid community auditorium and gymnasium as any town of its size can offer. Thankful

Even in Defeat

Despite the fact that I was defeated by a small margin in the September primaries, I feel I would be remiss in my duties if I did not thank the voters of Ottawa County for their loyalty in giving me two terms as Sheriff. All during my regime in office you have been splendid and helpful to me and I take this opportunity through the columns of this newspaper to thank you all for everything. Further, I want to be a good sport and help in the November election the man who received the majority of votes on the Republican ticket.

Sincerely,

Sheriff Ben Rosema

Adjournment of Convention.

"WE NEED GOD," AL SMITH TELLS HOLY NAME MEET

Asserting that one reason for the convention of Holy Name societies was "to keep God in our national life," former Gov. Alfred E. Smith said Sunday in New York, "I don't see what we're going to do without him."

Speaking before a group of 50,000 Catholics from all parts of the country at the closing session of the convention, Smith added:

"I don't see any solution of our problems. I don't see where we expect to get without Him. Without Him we're going to face chaos, revolution, disorder and eventually complete and utter ruin."

"Look at Russia, Spain and Mexico, where civilization has been at naught — because without God there can be no civilization. What have we? We have the caveman's law — the law of the sharpest tooth, the law of the angry growl and the law of the greedy man."

OTTAWA COUNTY BOY AWARDED TRIP TO WASHINGTON, D. C.

Merton Henry, Ottawa county's leading 4-H club boy, won a trip to Washington, D. C., an honor attained by only four other club members in the state, as a reward for his work at eliminations at the Detroit state fair.

The trip to Washington is regarded as the highest honor a club member may attain.

Ottawa county's crop judging team placed first as a team in competition with teams from Michigan's other counties. Allan Hambleton of Coopersville, who was second individual high, will go to Chicago in December to compete for national honors. Others on the team were Evandale Andrews and Reinhard Roman, both of Coopersville.

The Ottawa county teams earned $160 in monetary rewards on crops, handicraft and needlework. The Frank Hambleton club took many blue ribbons, placing first in corn and beans. The club earned a $6 award for group entry. Ten garden club members of the Hambleton club won a total of $18 in premiums and the entire club will divide $48 in winnings. Five boys in the Westrate potato club will divide $19 in winnings.

The forestry exhibit of Allan Hambleton and Laurence Schmidt won $14 in premiums. Seven Ottawa county club girls exhibited work in Detroit and two, Arlene Parrish and Shirley Garter, won blue ribbons and $16 in premiums.

Leo R. Arnold, county club leader, announced that Ben Westrate and Howard Irish, both of Coopersville, were to enter Michigan State college this fall. Merton Henry, Edward Avery and Allan Hambleton expect to enter next year. Harry Sutter of Marne is to take a short course in preparation for a four-year course.

Missionaries From Holland Guest Speakers

MRS. HAKKEN FROM THE ARABIAN FIELD, DRESSED IN ARABIAN GARB WITH VEIL, APPEARS AT ZEELAND GATHERING

Rev. Bernard Hakken, who has been connected with missionary work in Arabia since 1922, was guest preacher at the evening service at First Reformed Church recently.

He told about the Arabs, who he said were the first to worship the Christ-child. Historians state that the wise men came from that part of Arabia where the stations of the Reformed Church are located and gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh found in Arabia, were presented the Christ.

Rev. Hakken described the Arabs as being very religious, using God's name continually in their daily life. Especially is this true in times of trouble when they experience sickness or plagues. A description was given of an Arab wedding which is a very religious ceremony which is repeated every year.

The opportunities of doctors in Arabia was discussed. Missionaries repeatedly tried to enter the station of Kuwait but were not able, until Dr. Bennett through medical service won the approval of the sheik. Dr. Paul Harrison and Dr. L. P. Dame also accomplished wonders with the Arabs in the interior through medical services.

Rev. Hakken spoke of the wonderful work of Dr. W. Wells Thoms and his family in Arabia. Dr. Thoms was recently chosen as the missionary of the First Reformed Church of this city and as eye specialist has won the hearts of the Arabs. He is stationed at Bahrain, the same station where Rev. and Mrs. Hakken are. He received his education at Hope College and the University of Michigan and is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Sharon Thoms who were pioneer missionaries in Arabia.

About a hundred women of First Reformed Church gathered in the church parlors on Tuesday evening for an interesting meeting of the Mission Circle and Mission Guild. A song service, in charge of Mrs. H. Van Dragt, opened the meeting and devotions conducted by Mrs. Van Dragt and Mrs. H. Derks.

Arabia was the theme of the meeting and Mrs. Henry Borst sang an Arabian hymn, "His Love to Him."

Mrs. Bernard Hakken, who is in this country on her second furlough after serving in Arabia fourteen years, was guest speaker. She was dressed in the Arab robe including the veil which is worn by women, especially in the presence of men.

Mrs. Hakken spoke of the splendid work of Dr. W. Thoms, who is supported by First Reformed Church. She spoke encouragingly about marked progress brought in Arabia through Christianity and discussed the customs and traditions of the Arabs, telling about the need of improved methods of cleanliness. Mrs. Hakken before her marriage was Miss Elda Van Putten, River ave. and 14th st., Holland. She received her education at the local public school and Hope College.

Travelogue on Interesting
European Trip

By Mrs. Mae Van Dreuer Bush

July 29th,
Berlin.

Dear Ones:

We arrived in Berlin at midnight on Saturday. Even at that hour the streets were filled with people. I have never seen such crowds. We left Vienna at 10 o'clock in the morning and rode all day through Austria, Czechoslovakia and Germany. The peasants were busy in the fields harvesting their crops. A soil expert in our group said he had never seen anything like these crops. The first part of our journey was very hot—the hottest weather we have encountered—but we realized how little we knew of hot weather when we read your letters and heard of the terrific heat in America. At Prague we had rain and were very comfortable for the rest of the journey.

The Olympics begin on Saturday, the day we leave for Poland. But in a sense, the Olympics have already begun. Great crowds of people have already arrived and each train brings more. Then the whole atmosphere is festive. Under the Linden is gay with color. At intervals of 25 to 30 feet, each side of the central walk, are great red banners with a swastika in the center of each. There are at least 50 feet high. Each side of the walk are great medallions on which are painted pictures of German leaders. Directly over each one is a banner with the coat-of-arms of the city. All posts are thickly twined with oak leaves and pine. Everywhere are flags and banners, making the city gay with color.

Great preparations have been made for the Olympics. Forty million dollars have been spent in preparation. Of course they do not expect to get that much in return, but we were told by a famous correspondent that they considered it a great chance to propagandize. They consider this a great opportunity to show the New Germany. This great journalist told us that all have been made aware of their high position during the Olympics. Maids and charwomen in hotels have been trained to tell what a wonderful country is this new Germany. They have been drilled just how to answer every question they think foreigners will ask. Interpreters have been drilled twice a week.

There has been a great deal of building done for the Olympics much of it permanent. The huge stadium is of stone and seats 100,000 people. They have also built a village for the athletes accommodating 7,200 people. These buildings will be later used for officers' barracks. Special railway stations, subways and street car lines have been extended to the stadium to accommodate the 3,000,000 visitors expected during the games. There are several exhibition buildings near the grounds where all kinds of German products will be on display. It is on a gigantic scale.

All this building has helped employment here. One journalist told us Hitler said he would give people work if he had to build pyramids. The athletes are arriving every day and are received as only Germany knows how to receive guests—with great pomp and ceremony. We have seen two groups arrive. A band is at the station and plays a program of music. Soldiers and officers are everywhere. Then, after entering autos and buses, headed by a squad of motorcycle police, they parade to the city hall where they are officially received before being taken out to the village. We saw the athletes from Holland arrive. Ben and I stood on the sidelines and cheered lustily.

It is almost impossible to get tickets now. Fifty dollars is being asked for a seat. I am told they were all sold last February. The anti-Jewish feeling is very keen. You cannot escape it. Many of their signs such as "Jews and dogs not allowed here" have been removed from the parks during the Olympics. There is a newspaper published weekly, devoted entirely to defaming the Jews, that is being continued, however, in spite of the fact that thousands and thousands of people from all over the world will read it and take it home to show their friends.

Yesterday we were entertained at the Carl Schurz House at a very beautiful tea. Ben and I sat at the table with Dr. Bauer—one of the four great economists of Nazi Germany—a young American, studying the Nazi system, and most enthusiastic, and the German representative of one of America's largest banks. He was a thoroughgoing aristocrat—wearing a monocle and all the accessories. They all expressed themselves very frankly on the question. I asked Baron whether they did not regret losing a man like Einstein. "No," came the answer, "I hate him. I hate him."

There is no doubt about their liquidating the Jews. Their condition is a little better during the Olympics but people who know Germany say further persecutions will probably begin in the autumn. What a tragedy! There seems to be much greater persecution in smaller towns, so many Jews are fleeing to large cities. There are four rabbis in our group, but they hardly dare see their Jewish friends. The Jews are now excluded from the universities. There are about 600,000 of them in Germany with no hope for the future. You are counted as a Jew if only one parent is Jewish.

Please excuse this hasty scrawl. We have been so busily occupied attending conferences that there has been little time for letter writing or sightseeing. Tomorrow Miss Unger, head of the Foreign Department of the Women's Movement in the Nazi Party, is taking us to a work camp. I inquired what foreign department meant and learned it was propaganda. Miss Unger is a charming—youthful, attractive, an artist at speech-making, and a member of the Nazi Party. You know there are only about 34 million members and no more are taken in. The ranks will be filled by young boys and girls, trained in the Hitler Youth Organizations. Members wear a little red button with a swastika upon it.

I must say good-night. I am happy you are all living in a free country. America is a great country and we shall return with joy.

Lovingly,
Mae.

"Central, what is wrong with our telephone?" That was the cry of more than 40 patrons of the Zeeland exchange Mon. and Tues. when the parties on 15 or more lines on the west side of the city could not get any response from their phones.

Late Tuesday afternoon Jacob VanHoven, inspector, found the reason. Rats or other rodents had eaten through the lead cable guard on a telephone pole about two feet from the ground.

SCHOOL TAKES HOLD OF FAIR AT ZEELAND OCT 8-9

The sixth annual school fair will be held in the high school gymnasium, Oct. 8 and 9, under the sponsorship of the Future Farmers of America. The agricultural, commercial, home economics and manual arts departments of the school are co-operating to make the fair bigger and better than its predecessors.

The fair committee has selected "Our Community" as the subject upon which to build this year's vocational exhibit. It is planned to show Zeeland citizens conditions as they exist in Zeeland. Features already developed include charts comparing crime in Ottawa county with the entire state. The increase in crime in the state during the depression was 18 per cent, while Ottawa county had a decrease of 23 per cent and the Zeeland area registered no change. Church membership also being compared with that in other counties. Zeeland boasts that 88 per cent of its population is church-going.

Exhibits on farm management will be shown and the cattle situation in the county will be charted. A farm account exhibit and a discussion of farm accounts is planned.

Officers in charge of the fair are: General manager, Wallace Schilstra; secretary, Jay Janssen; advertising, Gordon Fris; police, Maurice Schaap; department heads, field crops, Willard Rooks; horticulture, Kenneth VanderMeulen and Jason Schrotenboer; home economics, Florence Bouwens; manual arts, Fred Hietje and Nelson Dykema; 4-H clubs, Milton Roelofs and Raymond DeVries. Otto Pino, agriculture, and Smith-Hughes instructor in the local schools, is general sponsor of the fair.

The first to benefit under the Lion's club blind program in Holland were five blind persons, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ten Cate, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelly and Miss Eva Burton. They were presented with white canes for greater safety while on the streets and extended use of the "talking book" for greater enjoyment in their homes, at the regular meeting of the Lions club in the Warm Friend tavern last Wednesday noon. Mr. John Kelly, chairman of the blind committee, presented the canes and Mr. Ten Cate, speaking for the blind persons present, expressed thanks and appreciation. Mr. Fred L. McGill, who is connected with the state blind school at Saginaw, and director of employment of the blind in the state, gave a demonstration of the "talking books," which are really glorified phonographs. Alderman George Damson explained that under the new ordinance blind persons using the white canes have full right-of-way at any intersection regardless of whether the traffic light is green or red. Mr. McGill was introduced by Bernard De Pree, president of the Holland club, who presided at the luncheon session. The next meeting will be Tuesday, September 29th.

He was arraigned before Justice John Galien last Friday, where he had previously been arraigned on another charge of leaving the scene of an accident. It, however, was discovered when he was to have been arraigned in circuit court that he had stopped at the scene of the accident, which consequently lessened the charge. Seif was given the maximum sentence of 90 days in jail, $100 fine and costs and his driver's license is to be revoked. He was not charged with drunk driving but this entered into the consideration of the sentence, Justice Galien said.

OTTAWA COUNTY MONTHLY FARM CONFERENCES RESUMED

Monthly county agricultural agent conferences were resumed this month after a vacation during July and August. The September conferences were held in Grand Rapids Sept. 21st and was called for a discussion of the new farm program for 1937. The Ottawa county committee on the soil conservation program accompanied Mr. Arnold to this conference.

The farm program for 1936 is a national one. In the future each state will write up its own program. As state programs will vary in character, and in order to meet the problem a state planning committee was formed, also county planning committees. These committees made close studies of the various problems in counties and states. Data gathered and recommendations made will have considerable to do with the state farm program. It is quite conceivable that a farm program will be written in which the county will be considered the unit as no two counties have exactly the same problems and in some cases, conditions are not similar at all.

Under the new set up each state will be allotted a sum of money for a farm program. The state committee which has made a study of all conditions will formulate a program. No one knows what it will be as yet. Past farm programs did not fit so well in Michigan due to the great diversity found in this state. For this reason the programs were not so universally popular as in many other states. Under the new plan Michigan will have much to do in writing its own farm program.
