Community Chest Drive Is To Start Oct. 31 to Nov. 5

GET NOW BEING MADE
APPLICATIONS FOR AID
ARE BEING CONSIDERED

A special meeting of the Holland Community Chest Board Wednesday evening the week of October 31 to November 5 was set as dates for the annual campaign. William Tahaney, campaign chairman, announced that he had outlined the following board members to act as a campaign committee and to assist him in the planning and general direction of the campaign. The committee follows: Chairman, Mr. Tahaney; C. Vanderulen, Prin. J. J. Riemersma, "Bill" Lowry, and Clarence Jalag. This committee will meet on Tuesday, October 31, at 4 p. m. in Mr. Vander Meulen's office to formulate the general campaign plan and appoint the personnel to head each of the major divisions and committees of the campaign. It was pointed out by Mr. Tahaney that in nearly every city which conducts a Community Chest campaign, a procedure is followed and that it is especially necessary this year or him to have a committee to assist him due to the fact that there is to be no outside, paid campaign manager as there was last year—the only additional help which will be required will perhaps be the services of one girl for clerical work during the campaign and immediately before and after the campaign. The County Welfare Department has agreed to furnish without charge the services of a girl for half days from now until the campaign begins, in order to prepare cards, etc. Mr. Tahaney also announced that the firm of Malhofer, Moore and De Long, through its resident manager, Mr. Cornelius Kratt, has offered to audit all of the books of the Community Chest as well as those of all its member agencies, without charge. The firm of Sketstee-Van Huis has offered to do all the necessary Community Chest printing at no charge.

The following organizations have made application for inclusion under the Community Chest for the coming year and have submitted budgets to the board: Boy Scouts of America, Michigan Children's Aid Society, City Mission, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls, Civic Health League and Good Fellowship Foundation. These budgets are being given careful consideration by the budget committee and several of the agencies will be called in during the coming week to detail their requirements. The committee will report to the Chest the full amount required for the coming year, as well as the individual estimates of each agency. Its regular meeting next Wednesday, September 30, is expected to be included this year as it is the Board's intention to make this drive all-inclusive so that anyone who makes an ample donation to the Community Chest need feel no obligation to donate to any other charitable or social organization during the year.

SURPRISE GIVEN ON FATHER

A pleasant surprise was carried out on E. Boes of Borculo, Friday evening, Sept. 23, by his children, at the home of John Koop in Bauer. The occasion was Mr. Boes' birthday anniversary.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Elenbaas, Hudsonville; Mr. and Mrs. William Koop and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koop; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Boes, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kruthof, Muskegon; Mr. and Mrs. John Koop, Peter Kraak, and twenty-two grandchildren.

Refreshments were served and Mr. Boes was presented a fine gift.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Dick Borchers, 77, resident of Holland for the past nine years, died unexpectedly Wednesday morning at the home of her son, William, in Mansfield, Ohio, where she had gone to spend the winter. Surviving Mrs. Borchers are three daughters, Mrs. Charles Bohn of Plerson, Mrs. Clarence Baker of Kalamazoo, and Mrs. Charles Cree of Los Angeles; three sons, Carl of Kalamazoo, William of Mansfield, and Peter of Holland; nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. Harn P. Harns, Mrs. Henry S. Harns and Mrs. Eugene P. Becker entertained the Ladies Aid Society of Hope Church at a luncheon yesterday. A group of young people of Hope Church Intermediate Chorus enjoyed a steak roast at Ottawa Beach Tuesday evening.

HAILWOOD WINNER ON PULLING OF STRAWS

It appears that the two candidates for congress on the Democratic ticket for the first district, who ran a tie, pulled straws to see who would be the winner, and the result has been that Rev. James W. Hailwood of Grand Rapids drew the victorious slip over former mayor Tunis Johnson, also of Grand Rapids. But this is not all of the battle. It is understood that Mr. Johnson has asked for a recount in 40 out of the 171 precincts in this district. Thomas I. Fry, State Treasurer, held the box that contained two slips, one was a blank and Hailwood drew the winning slip, which was "elected." Now it will have to be seen who will get the most votes after the recount has been held. There is some question as to who will pay the price of holding the recount. The winner in the end will oppose the Republican congressman, Carl E. Mapes.

REP. NELSON A. MILES TO SPEAK AT PTA

Rep. Nelson A. Miles, Ottawa county representative in the state legislature, will discuss the work of that body before the opening meeting of the Spring Lake PTA Oct. 12 at 7:30 p. m. in the school building. The speaker will be the president, Mrs. Clifford Taylor. Rep. Miles is a nephew of Judge Fred T. Miles of the Ottawa-Allegan circuit, and has a law practice in Holland.

The program will also include vocal numbers by a quartette composed of Mrs. Gail Oiger, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bolthouse and Dr. Kenneth N. Wells, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Vander Kolk. A social hour with refreshments will follow the program with the executive committee, headed by Mrs. Taylor, in charge. The program committee is Mrs. J. M. Sweeney, Mrs. Harold Vander Kolk and Lester Drovers.

HOLLAND BOY WEDS IN MONTANA

Miss Ruth Shanahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Shanahan of Libby, Montana, became the bride of Mr. Jerald B. Van Faasen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Faasen of 376 College Avenue, Holland, Michigan at a ceremony which took place in Glasgow, Montana at four o'clock, Saturday afternoon, September 24, 1938. The service was read by the Rev. Will Le Drew Bennett at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. McQuire of Fort Peck, Montana, friends of the bride and groom, were the attendants.

For the ceremony the bride wore a street-length dress of burgundy with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses and sweet peas.

The bride is a graduate of Libby high school and for the past three years has been employed in the finance section of the U. S. Engineer Office at Fort Peck, Montana.

The groom is a graduate of the Holland high school and of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton. Mr. Van Faasen is a registered professional engineer in the State of Michigan and is now employed in the U. S. Engineer's office at Fort Peck, Montana, on the construction of the Fort Peck dam.

SEXTON CONTROLS SQUIRRELS MENACE

Carl N. Gasahl, sexton of the Montague cemetery, Montague, Mich., believes that he has made a discovery that will aid other sextons. Most cemeteries are overrun with red squirrels and they cause much damage and annoyance, but Mr. Gasahl finally has discovered a way to eliminate them.

A year ago Mr. Gasahl shot and killed more than 50 squirrels, but the number did not seem to decrease to any extent. They continued to eat the buds of the spruce trees. This year he shot 25 squirrels and he left the bodies where they were killed. As a result, all the squirrels disappeared.

At the Fremont cemetery and also at the St. Mary's cemetery in Muskegon sextons received complaints that flags were being carried away. At both cemeteries it was discovered that the flags were being taken by squirrels. Now Mr. Gasahl says that if the squirrels are killed and the bodies left in the cemetery the others will leave.

MID-WEST SUNDAY SCHOOL
ASSOCIATION BRINGS
MANY TO HOLLAND

Yesterday the Christian Reformed churches of Holland were hosts to the delegates of the forty-second annual convention of the Christian Reformed Sunday School Association of the Middle West. The morning session was held in the Fourteenth St. church, and the afternoon and evening sessions were held in the Central Avenue church, because of lack of room. There were over 400 registered out-of-town delegates and visitors present, while the total number of delegates from Holland and vicinity together with the out-of-town delegates numbered 700. The meetings were in charge of Dr. G. Goris of Grand Rapids.

At the morning session Rev. J. Dolfin of Muskegon gave an appraisal of the Sunday School. Devotions were led by Dr. R. Danhof, pastor of the Fourteenth St. Chr. Ref. church of Holland, while Mr. C. J. De Koster directed the song service. Other music was furnished by Mrs. H. Palmboos and Mrs. C. Vos.

Both the afternoon speaker, Warden Heyns of Ionia, and the evening speaker, Dr. J. C. De Korne, newly appointed mission director of the Christian Reformed denomination, urged the teachers to make a study of psychology. In his afternoon address Dr. Heyns treated the subject, "The Teacher and His Class." He pointed out that there are certain things a teacher must do if he or she is to make a success. The first is that the teacher must "like and understand the age group with which he has contact." He went on by saying that "a teacher is doing more than teaching Biblical facts—he is creating a personal contact; therefore, if you do not like the age level you teach, it is a 'shame' you are teaching."

Dr. Heyns showed also that a teacher must be an example; he, too, must inspire confidence. "A Sunday school teacher must be in a position to help them (his pupils) and unless you have their confidence, they will not come to you," Dr. Heyns said.

He also reminded the teachers that an intimacy is established in the Sunday School, so a teacher should talk on the level of the pupils. "Teachers," he said, "should know their 'stuff,' which includes more than the lesson. He must know and study the mental reaction of every person to whom he is speaking. Above all, a teacher must take his 'job' seriously. He must be willing to take time for self-analysis."

The public exercises at the evening session in the large Central Avenue church, which was filled to capacity, at least 1,300 attending. Dr. De Korne gave an address on "Stones for the Temple." He drew an analysis between stones and the human heart. "As sculptors," he related, "you are co-laborers with God." He said, "There are two things a sculptor must know—the material with which he is working, and the form he wishes it to take—and so with the Sunday School teacher. He must know the material and he must know what is demanded of that material."

Music at the afternoon session was presented by Edgar Holkeboer, who gave a marimbaophone selection, and by the Javeling-Brouwer quartet. Devotions were conducted by the Rev. D. Walters. Mr. William Brouwer led the song service. An address "The Teacher and His Lord" was given by Prof. H. Schultze of Calvin Seminary. Following this meeting sectional conferences were held for the study of "Beginners," "Intermediates," and "Delinquents."

Dinner and supper were served to over 600 guests in the Holland Armory by the Christian School societies.

The city of Muskegon was chosen to be the host to the Mid-West conference next year.

Officers elected were: President, Dr. George Goris of the Fuller Avenue Christian Reformed church, Grand Rapids; secretary, the Rev. Marinus Arnooy of the East Leonard Street Christian Reformed church.

CHIMES AND ORGAN RECITAL AT RESTLAWN

Weather permitting, an interesting program will be given at Restlawn Cemetery, east of the city, next Sunday at 3:30 o'clock. Besides the playing of the chimes, Mrs. Ben Plasmann will give some appropriate vocal numbers, and Miss Wilma Gebben will preside at the organ. These programs on Sunday afternoon have proved not only to be very interesting but have brought out many people on different occasions on Sunday.

Poet Tennyson is an incessant smoker. He uses a clay pipe of the old fashion brand with a stem a yard long, and smokes common Virginia "pigtail" tobacco. He never uses a pipe the second time. Note: The great poet has long since passed to his reward. The incense from his beautiful contributions will last longer than the incense that curled up from his "pigtail" tobacco pipes.

Prince Henry of Netherlands is described by a German newspaper as one of the richest princes in the world. He is said to derive a royal income from a silver mine in United States. Wilson Harrington, it is reported, raised 72 bushels of rye on 38 acres in Olive township. Corp. Henry Boeve, Zeeland, 126th Infantry in France, is at the base hospital recovering from a gas attack he suffered at the hands of the "Huns." Corp. He also states he saw the falling of a bomb at a short distance of six yards from him where a moment before four American soldiers held their places.

When looking again the place was vacant, the men had disappeared, undoubtedly blown to pieces. Note:—Shortly before our own Willard G. Leenhouts, oldest son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts, paid the supreme sacrifice. No wonder Holland folks and Americans all over the nation went wild with happiness—first when the report of the false armistice arrived and again on the happiest of all days when it was really found to be true. Fathers and mothers, some old in years, you all remember were crazed with joy and mumbled "Not a word more until far into the night—tireless it seemed. Old folks as well as young brought into play devices and noise makers until the din was ear-splitting. However it was the din of happiness because their loved ones were coming back from the front—that is some loved ones. We know of some in Holland who looked on with eyes brimming with tears and faces drawn with sadness. They knew the faces of those who could not be seen in the returning columns. The name of Willard E. Leenhouts will always be honored as a fallen hero through the local Legion post and by the same token the Zeeland post is honoring Gilbert Karsten and also Henry Walters honored by the V. F. A Most Pitiful Story Of Ninety Two Years Ago

THIS RELATES TO HEART-RENDING HAPPENING IN NORTH OTTAWA IN
PRIMITIVE DAYS

The Holland City News continually gives Holland history in all its phases, some important, some unimportant articles, but nevertheless interesting. The other day J. G. J. Van Zoeren, R. R. 3, Zeeland, brought in a Coopersville Observer, yellow with age, printed on January 18, 1895. This publication, 43 years ago, published a story, printed in the Chicago Recorder 49 years before that time, or today 92 years ago. It had to do with Ottawa County pioneer life, and the pathetic instance told in this story conclusively show that health measures and aid to the sick and contending with communicable diseases absolutely did not exist. Folks were superstitious and afraid of small-pox and mob psychology prevailed in a most heartless way. However, there was one brave heart who was filled with Christian charity and with humane impulses, and he backed this up with a shot-gun. However, the story is better told under the following caption:

AN OTTAWA COUNTY PIONEER STORY

The recent death of John Nickerson, of Denver, recalls to the minds of the remaining pioneers of Ottawa county the many kind acts of his uncle, William Nickerson, known to the early settlers of the county as "old Bill Nick."

By profession "Bill" Nick was a hunter and trapper, and fifty-nine years ago came from St. Lawrence county to the shores of Grand river and built himself a small log cabin in the forest, near the spot where the Ottawa county poorhouse now stands at Eastmanville.

Old Bill's cabin was located on the only thoroughfare between Grand Rapids and Grand Haven—a winding trail through the forest and about half-way between the two places—and many a weary traveler found a plain but welcome meal and night's lodging in this lonely spot by the roadside.

Forty-nine years ago this winter, the Rev. Thomas Carlton, with his wife and three children, a baby aged 8 months and two little chubby-faced, golden-haired girls, aged 6 and 3 years, respectively, left eastern New York, bound for Grand Haven, Mich. They encountered nothing unusual for such a trip in those days until they arrived at Grand Rapids. Here Mrs. Carlton was taken down with smallpox and in a few days she died. After the burial expenses were paid Carlton had but $2.50 remaining, and the people of the village were exceedingly anxious to have him move on with the balance of his family. With the $2 of his $2.50 he engaged a man to drive him through to Grand Haven with a yoke of oxen and sleigh. The snow was deep and the road at best was well-nigh impassable. The undertaking was a fearful one, but it was the only thing he could do under the circumstances.

He made calculations to stop at Eastmanville, a small Grand river settlement about half-way on his journey, with a minister of his denomination whom he had known for several years before in New York. They reached Eastmanville about 9 o'clock that night, cold and worn out, and the children nearly famished. The news of their having been exposed to the smallpox had preceded them, and instead of giving a kind welcome, the brother minister met them at the head of a mob that ordered them to continue on their journey.

The oxen walked on through the snow to a point three miles west of the village, followed at a safe distance by the mob, when one of the oxen gave out and Carlton and his men gave up all hopes of keeping the children alive through the night. Fortunately they had stopped near the cabin of old Bill Nick, who, in spite of the protests of the settlers that it might be the means of spreading smallpox in the settlement took the party to his humble home, threatening to shoot the first man who interfered with the proceeding. The ox died during the night and Carlton was unable to proceed on the journey. The teamster returned home with his remaining ox. Carlton and the children were soon taken down with smallpox and old Bill Nick watched over them for weeks without a soul to assist him. The little boy died and Nick carefully buried the body back in the forest.

Then Carlton died and old Bill was obliged to lie alone and to bury his body by the side of his child.

Under old Bill's careful nursing the little girls recovered and were in the spring sent back to their people in New York, where they grew up; one marrying a young man who afterwards became a prominent New York merchant, and the other is today a prominent widow of Denver. Old Bill Nick put in the balance of his years—his humble cabin was not many—at his burying place and he died in the vicinity of it when he died.

For many years the grounds have been within the enclosure of the Ottawa county poorhouse, and for years the exact spot where he was buried has been unknown. But even though chattering idiots and raving maniacs may wander aimlessly over his forgotten grave, it will be many generations before the traditions of old Bill Nick's heroism on the occasion above related will cease to be repeated with interest.—Chicago Recorder, 1846.

Likes Services; Says Holland is a

John L. Weber revisits Holland after an absence of 32 years, and what he has to say is largely complimentary and gives the other side of Holland not so often spoken of; however, it is a very substantial side which makes for good citizenship, a law-abiding citizenship, a God-fearing citizenship. This is what Mr. Weber has to say:

For many years it has been my wish to visit Holland, Michigan. As early as 1906 I already passed through the city. It was a dark November evening, waiting for a steamer to Chicago. At that time I did not see anything of the town. At last, in June of this year, I came over from Chicago and spent two very interesting days in Holland. On Sunday I attended the historical "Van Raalte" church, now Ninth St. Chr. Ref. Church. I was very much impressed with the fine old edifice, erected in 1856 and in good condition. But what a surprise to see the large church crowded. I was just in time and lucky to find a seat in the gallery. I like the new order of service of the Christian Reformed Church. The reading of the Ten Commandments and the Apostles Creed have a place in divine service. And what great singing we find in the Reformed churches—the old hymns and the old old Psalms. I believe it would help our sister churches to study the singing in the Holland Reformed churches.

"Sunday afternoon I attended the Holland service in Central Avenue Christian Reformed church. Despite the hot weather a large crowd was in attendance. I enjoyed the service, but did not understand much. I can understand Low German, also read the Holland language newspapers, but the spoken word is different. In the evening I again attended church—Third Reformed Church, a fine large church, a good crowd, splendid sermon, and fine singing by the audience, and one song by the vested choir.

"In Holland, Sunday is the Lord's Day. I am sure more people attend church in Holland than in any other small city in the United States. Hope College is the biggest attraction in Holland—fine buildings, beautiful campus, and the new memorial chapel. I don't think there is a college of the same size that has a chapel as large and beautiful as Hope has. I sent a few postal cards of Hope College and two copies of the Holland City News, containing articles about the graduation, to a dear friend in Germany, who was one of the speakers at the dedication of the memorial chapel in 1928.

"While in Holland, I saw all the nine Reformed Churches and the six Christian Reformed Churches. I saw the fine high school and the many grade schools and the many schools for Christian education.

GO THROUGH TERRIBLE EX-PERIENCE IN THE EAST
WHILE ON TRIP

In a letter received here by Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Schadeles, from Rev. John Walkotten of Paterson, N. J., formerly pastor of the 16th St. Christian Reformed church of this city, he told of a harrowing experience he had gone through during the recent eastern hurricane. Rev. Walkotten, his wife, and a few friends were on their way to Whitesville, Mass., but they never reached their destination.

"Never before have I witnessed such appalling destruction, waste, and damage," he wrote. "We were very fortunate to get back unscathed."

Rain fell throughout their trip Wednesday, he related, culminating in the "hurricane" outside of Hartford, Conn., which made continuing an impossibility. "The highway was flooded, and blocked with fallen trees," he wrote. "The water was nearly four feet deep in some places. Police stopped all motorists and warned them that further progress was out of the question, and that a week might be required to clear the highway."

"We went back to Hartford, but were unable to get there, finally becoming 'struck' on a country road. Trees were falling all around us, and the rain kept beating down incessantly. Parts of houses, barns, and trees were strewn all over the landscape."

They eventually managed to get their car behind a gasoline station which served as a windbreak, he said. They were fearful of leaving the car because of the strong gale that threatened to overturn it.

"We stayed inside, holding down the car against the wind," he continued. "We were in an open spot behind the gasoline station with no trees nor wires to harass our safety."

HOPEFUL WISHERS

There is an old superstition attached to "wishing wells," and that is that if some article of value is dropped into the well and a wish made at the same time, the wish will be granted.

When National Park supervisors ordered the wishing well in Lehman Cave in Nevada, cleaned out, over 700 objects were brought to the surface and foremost among them were 218 hairpins, 231 bobby pins, 33 safety pins, ten wads of chewing gum, a watch crystal, 15 broken pencils and four pennies.

One wonders how a wishing well patron could expect a wish for a million dollars to come true when it has been asked for in exchange for a bobby pin, or just what one might expect for a wad of chewing gum.

Hours and Wages 400 Years Ago

Regulation by law of hours and wages is no new thing. When the President's Commission went to England to study British Labor legislation, they no doubt found a statute enacted in 1562, the fifth year of Queen Elizabeth's reign, which worked so satisfactorily that it stood unchanged for 200 years, when the modern factory system began to develop.

All artificers and laborers being hired for wages by the day or week, it was enacted, "that, hereafter, the month of March and September, be and continued until their work and not depart until betwixt 7 and 8 o'clock at night, except it be in the time of breakfast, dinner or drinking, the which time at the most shall not exceed two hours and a half in a day, that is to say, at every drinking half an hour, for his dinner one hour, and for his sleep when he is allowed to sleep, the which is from the midst of May to the midst of August, half an hour; and all the said artificers and laborers betwixt the midst of September and the midst of March shall be and continue at their work from the spring of the day in the morning until the night of the same day, except it be in time after appointed for breakfast and dinner, upon pain to lose and forfeit one penny for every hour's absence, to be deducted and defaulted out of his wages that shall so offend."

There were other compensations for the workers in the Elizabethan statute, besides the frequent half-hours of time off for drinking. Employment was by the year, and wages were regulated by frequent meetings of justices, in order, "to yield unto the hired person both in time of scarcity and in time of plenty a convenient proportion of wages." There were provisions regulating the terms of contracts between workers and employers, with the rights and obligations of each minutely set forth.

Washington might learn something by studying history.

Sensational Tree Planting

Some of the CCC boys have been hanging up rather sensational records in the tree-planting business lately. Happy Days, the jolly national weekly newspaper which is published by the CCC, reports that with the help of an improved planting bar the men of company 720, S-58, Wilton, Minn., set up a spring planting record of 1,112,115 trees. This is a tree-planting record at the rate of 785 trees per man per day.

The lads of camp S-98 have so put into the ground more than 5,000,000 trees on 2,336 acres. In 1936 this camp was awarded a shield for planting the greatest number of trees during three consecutive seasons. Yet it was only in 1936 that it really began to step out. For it was in that year that Project Superintendent Samuel Lee invented the planting bar that does the trick. That year, the number of trees per man-day was 997. Don't ask us how this planting bar works or what it looks like. But the American inventive genius is evidently not yet dead.

They Were Unanimous

Criticism of the Michigan Merit System in civil service is best answered by the fact that in the recent primary election, no candidate for Governor proposed repealing the law. Each of the three leading candidates, while perhaps suggesting that improvement might be made in details, accepted the basic principle of the system as acceptable and established.

The meaning of that is that no division of public opinion exists on the subject.

Suggested "Tulip Time" Change Favored

WORK OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND OF TULIP FESTIVAL SHOULD BE DIVIDED, SECRETARY-MANAGER STATES

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting on Sept. 23rd, called by the President, at the request of the Secretary-Manager. A very decisive and forward action was taken in the future development of the Tulip Time Festival. The Secretary-Manager read the following message to the Board, which met with the full support of its members and was unanimously adopted:

"The Tulip Time Festival has reached a point where it ceases to be an adjunct to the Chamber of Commerce. It is an institution by itself and should be so considered in its future development. No one man can successfully manage both. The Tulip Festival has become of so vast importance to our city, and is so well recognized by the country at large, that it is somebody's job to give all year round attention and consideration. This conclusion is not open to controversy. I am therefore submitting the following suggestions for your consideration: Tulip Time should be controlled by a committee of 20 members, to be comprised of the Mayor, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Secretary-Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of the Common Council, Board of Public Works, Park and Cemetery Board, Police and Fire Board, Public Schools, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ladies Literary Club, Rotary, Expositors and Lions Clubs, to be appointed by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

"This Committee to hire a Tulip Time manager, just as the Board of Public Works hires its superintendent, the Park Board its superintendent and the Chamber of Commerce its Secretary-Manager. This Tulip Time manager to have headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office. All expense in connection with the Festival to be charged to the Tulip Time Fund.

"The Tulip Time Manager to have duties as follows:

To work under the Tulip Time Committee and to refer all major matters to it for decision.

To plan for a long-term program for the continuation and improvement of the Festival.

To plan for the financial support of the Festival to the greatest possible extent.

To prepare for the reception of visitors as far as housing, feeding, traffic movement and parking, toilet facilities and other comforts and needs are concerned.

To work with the Park Board in the matter of tulip plantings.

To work with, and assume the proper carrying-out of the work of the sub-committees in charge of the several days' activities.

To arrange for the greatest possible amount of desirable publicity.

To prepare a printed program that shall vary from year to year and give an appearance of quality.

To do all in his power to maintain Tulip Time at its present high standard, free from all commercial and carnal activities.

To keep minutes of committee meetings and a proper record of all expenses.

"The Committee appointed is as follows: President of the Chamber of Commerce, Vandie Vandenberg; Secretary-Manager, E. P. Stephens; Ben Steffens, Common Council; Ed Brouwer, Common Council; Joe Geerds, Board of Public Works; Ben Brower, Park and Cemetery Board; Andrew Hyma, Police and Fire Board; E. E. Fell, Supt. of Public Schools; Vernon Ten Cate, George Damson, Eugene Heeter, Wm. J. Brouwer, Jim Boter, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. J. E. Telling, Mrs. Arthur Vischer, Mrs. Lloyd E. Heasley, Mrs. Don J. Zwemer, Mrs. Geo. A. Pelgrim, Mrs. Peter Van Dornen, Jr.

"This committee will meet some time next week for organization, and appoint a Tulip Time Manager.

"It is generally conceded that this is a move in the right direction as Tulip Time Festivals are beginning to be of such national magnitude that it takes the undivided thought of some man and organization that can give it undivided thought and attention. There is hardly a day goes by that there is not some inquiry about Tulip Time, letters coming in from every part of the U. S. It was only a few years ago that Holland was little known; today auto travelers report that wherever they stop in a rooming house or gasoline station, if they are from Holland, Michigan, they are at once given a reply, 'Oh, that's where they have Tulip Time,' and express the desire to see it some day."

CHURCH DEDICATES CHRISTIAN FLAG AND FLOWER PEDESTALS

Mrs. C. Hodge has given the Saugatuck Congregational church a silk Christian flag, complete with base, staff and brass cross.

Mrs. Charles Whitcomb of the same church has presented the church with two flower pedestals to be placed in front of the chancel in memory of the late Charles Whitcomb.

The flag and pedestals were dedicated during the morning service last Sunday.

Dr. Bruce M. Raymond, president of the board of control of Athletics at Hope College, will also serve as secretary of the board in the absence of Prof. E. P. McLean who has been granted a leave of absence for the first semester.

THEIR civil service to be administered according to the merit system. It appears to their common sense that standards should be established in choosing public servants and that those proving capable and worthy should be retained that public service generally may improve through experience and stability.

Friends of the merit system know that nothing is to be feared from the coming election, as there is an assurance that the next Governor will be a supporter of the civil service law, and will give serious attention to getting good results from it.

BOY FINDS FREAK FROG IN LAPEER

RAINBOWS CAUGHT IN HIGGINS LAKE

According to Mrs. William H. Aubrey, of the Higgins Lake State Forest, rainbow trout are being caught in that lake for the first time. "While sitting on the lake shore recently," said Mrs. Aubrey, "we noticed a number of fish jumping in the water apparently feeding on flies. One of our party got out his fly rod and baited it with grasshoppers and in a short time landed five nice rainbows. These are the first ever taken from Higgins Lake and after this occurrence several more were caught in the same manner by resorters.

Records reveal that 9,000 three-month-old rainbows were planted in Higgins Lake in 1937, and these fish might come from this planting.

One ballot was found with the vote cast for both candidates.

And so the little white hen laid another egg, and won top honors in the egg-laying sweepstakes of 1938 at East Lansing.

The hen, a white Leghorn owned by R. O. Wagemaker, of Grand Rapids, won by a two-egg margin from the little red hen, a Rhode Island Red owned by the Hamilton Poultry farm, of Hamilton, in the annual Michigan State College egg-laying contest. Percy Osborne of Holland won third.

The chickens, leading the field for individual honors, were in a nip-and-tuck race yesterday, the final day of the 52 weeks' competition. The little white hen ran her total to 319, while the red hen failed to produce, finishing the race with a total of 317.

FULL HOUSE AT GRAND HAVEN JAIL; 21 FEDERALS HOUSED OVER SUNDAY

It's full house this week-end at Ottawa county jail, at Grand Haven, designated as the federal jail for this district.

Twenty-one federal prisoners, sentenced in the Grand Rapids court Friday by Judge F. M. Raymond, filed into the jail last night to overflow the cells' capacity.

Twenty regular county prisoners are housed in the jail, making a total of 41 prisoners jailed. The jail can accommodate 37 prisoners. "Doubling up" was necessary to take care of the prisoners.

This was the largest number of prisoners ever housed at the jail. This week the federal prisoners were taken to federal prisons at Leavenworth, Kans., Chillicothe, O., Milan, Mich., and the women's prison at Alderson, W. Va., so that relieved the situation somewhat.

Use Jawbreaker to Kill Borers

Use of a chemical with a jaw-breaking name—paradichlorobenzene—was advocated this week by Ray Hutson, Michigan State college entomologist, to control peach tree borer which annually takes its toll in peach tree plantations.

The insects are the larvae of moths and tunnel between bark and wood of the crown, trunk and upper roots of the peach and some other trees. The ground should be prepared for the chemical treatment by removing weeds, grass and debris from around the crown of the tree. Do not loosen the soil, however, but remove most of the gum which may be present.

Distribute the crushed crystals, which may be obtained at any drug store, in a narrow row about the crown, not nearer than one inch nor further away than two inches from the crown, Hutson suggests.

The rate of application is one ounce for each well grown tree. Use less on a tree under six years old and about one-half ounce on smaller stock. Cover lightly with soil, being careful not to disturb the ring of crystals. The chemical is not so effective when the soil temperature falls below 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Trees especially susceptible to peach tree borer are those that have become weakened from some cause as winter injury, sunscald, dry weather or adverse soil conditions. The larvae enter the bark near the surface of the soil and develop rapidly in the spring and do their most damage then.

Following applications for building permits have been filed with City Clerk Oscar Peterson: Alton and Esther Kooyer, 548 College Ave., remodel interior and exterior of home, frame construction and asphalt roofing, $350; Jeanette Westveer, 206 College Ave., remove part of rear of home and attach garage, 12x18 feet, frame construction and asphalt roofing, $125.

Hope "Goose Eggs" Ferris 20 to 0

Coach Bud Hinga's Dutchmen turned back the Ferris Bulldogs Friday night at the Riverview stadium in the opening game of the season, 20 to 0. The game was featured by long end runs, passes and trick plays of the Hope club as the stubborn defense of the Bulldogs displayed in the final quarter was also a feature.

Hope went into the lead early, when, after an exchange of punts in the first quarter, Lee Brannock cut through tackle on a reverse and ran 22 yards to the goal. In the third quarter Marcus threw a pass to Brannock for the second touchdown. The third touchdown came in the third quarter when Hope recovered a fumble deep in Ferris territory. Vanderlaan, former Grand Rapids Union quarterback, carried the ball over after a series of power plays. The last scoring was a safety in the fourth period when Pape and Vanderhill dropped LeSeney behind the goal line.

Hope displayed a very fast offensive team as well as a strong defensive team as the locals collected 13 first downs to the Ferris team's seven. Marcus at fullback was outstanding and the defensive work of Powers, Pape and Honholt was excellent.

Fifty-five players were used in the game by the two schools.

Hope meets Albion next Friday in the first conference game under the lights.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS are not the product of the wisdom of man, nor the result of the reflection and the experience of the human race. They are the revelation of God. They are sublime proof of the fact that God's thoughts are higher than our thoughts. They were spoken by Him and had their source in Him. They were written by Him on tablets of stone lest they be lost or forgotten.

HIGH, WIDE, AND HANDSOME

Allegan County Game Reserve
Opens Oct. 6WILL REAR ANIMALS, BIRD AND FISH THERE, IS PLANGovernment Spent Nearly One Million Dollars for Wildlife in Alle-
gan Oak Grub District

Few Holland folks realize that right at their door, a half hour's ride, is a game reserve that is to be opened Oct. 6 costing thousands and the old "oak grubs" in Allegan county, considered almost a barren waste, has been converted into a haven for wildlife and fish. There hasn't been much publicity on this matter. The News has given a few stories, but the project nevertheless is one of tremendous proportions and will be available to all in this vicinity. It simply means another show place to motor to among the many others in these environs.

The federal government plans to dedicate its $900,000 Allegan land utilization project to wildlife, forestry and recreational purposes Oct. 6.

The ceremony will be sponsored jointly by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Department of Conservation, which ultimately will administer the 35,000-acre preserve.

The Allegan project was begun in 1934 as a demonstration of uses to which land which is not fit for agricultural purposes can be put. The area is rolling, sandy and well-wooded and contains numerous lakes and marshes.

Farmers there failed to make a good living, because after the timber had been cut off, the light and shallow topsoil blew away after a crop or two, leaving only sand. These sand blow-holes in turn became menaces to adjoining areas.

$568,000 Spent by U. S.

The federal government has spent $568,000 in the last two and a half years restoring the area to other uses. Fifteen hundred acres have been planted to provide feed and cover for wildlife. Ducks, geese, pheasant, woodcock, ruffed grouse and shore birds and the migratory wildfowl in particular have found it a haven. Squirrels, raccoons, rabbits and deer have multiplied.

All the lakes have been stocked with fish, and fish-spawning ponds have been built at one point.

The State Conservation Department has established a 500-acre wildlife laboratory in the area, known as the Swan Creek Experimental Farm.

Dam and Dikes Built

The most extensive changes have been made in the distribution of water. At Swan Lake a concrete dam has been built creating a ten-foot head of water, a 1,500-foot dike has been built at Swan Creek and a 3,000-foot dike at Crooked Lake. These structures have raised the water table in the area, providing storage for flood control, and water for the Kalamazoo River in dry years, as well as encouraging wildlife.

Streams have been improved, gravel spawning beds, rock riffles and deflectors to deepen streams at sluggish points have been built, bank cover and food have been planted and aeration provided for. Seven lakes in the area now cover 900 acres, in addition to the 1,500-acre Lake Allegan, which forms one border.

Camping Areas Constructed

The water developments have played a part, too, in creating the recreational facilities which sponsors expect to become widely known and used. Camping areas have been built at Swan Lake, Ely Lake, Lake Allegan, Silver Creek and Swan Creek. At Ely Lake in particular there are now a bathing beach, pier, diving board and other swimming facilities.

In the files of forestry, WPA crews have planted nearly 5,000 trees, mostly pine, and existing timber stands have been improved and protected against fire hazards. Two fire towers have been built, in addition to miles of fire lines, telephone lines, truck trails, foot trails and roads to open every corner of the area to fire-fighters and the public. It is expected that timber crops in future years will provide substantial revenue, with lumbering carried out on a sustained-yield basis.

Tackle Erosion Problem

The project staff also has tackled the problem of wind erosion experimenting with brush fencing, pine seedlings, brush covers and other ways to control the blow-holes. Methods developed here are expected to be of use throughout the sandy areas of Michigan and Wisconsin.

Dr. A. G. Black, director of the Agricultural Economics Bureau, has been in general charge of the project, one of 100 now being developed in 39 states. L. E. Sawyer, of Milwaukee, is the regional director, and Melvin L. Moore, project manager.

For a number of years the licensed raccoon hunters of Michigan have been endeavoring to interest our Conservation Department game men in rearing raccoon for liberation in our game covers in order to improve and make the sport more attractive. This request has been denied them up until the present. The Conservation Commission members at their last monthly meeting authorized the start of a research project on raccoon immediately and Michigan, like Ohio and Wisconsin, will now embark on a game animal production program that eventually should greatly in-

A SKUNK CAN BE A GENTLEMAN

Proof that a skunk can be a gentleman when treated properly can be observed at the Ludington state park at Ludington.

Among permanent residents of the park are about a dozen skunks and seven raccoons, and Harold Gwinn, superintendent, reports that none of the animals have yet violated any rule of correct conduct. Each evening the animals make a round of the camps in the park. The skunks have become so tame that they go right into tents and pick up crumbs that drop under the tables. The raccoons feed at the garbage cans placed at each camp site.

New visitors to the park follow the animals around in the evening, using flashlights to observe their activities.

SQUIRREL GRAFTS
TWO PINE TREES

While squirrels help along the cause of reforestation by scattering seeds, rarely have their activities resulted in natural tree graft. Yellowstone National Park's instance of such occurrence is, therefore, of unusual interest.

On the nature trail, near "Old Faithful" Geyser, the forked root of a large lodgepole pine became a squirrel's cache for the seed of a whitebark pine. This seed, germinating in the root of the lodgepole, pushed out in an angular direction, seeking light.

Year by year, as the whitebark grew, increased pressure resulted between it and its neighbor-lodgepole. Consequent irritations and lesions, caused by the trunk movement, swaying in the wind, has now brought about a complete fusion of the woody material of both trees.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Weaver have returned from French Lick, Ind., where they attended a convention of New York life insurance representatives.

The First Reformed church of Zeeland was the scene of an inspiring meeting last week Friday night. A large number of the congregation gathered to greet Dr. Wells Thoms, their missionary to Arabia. Dr. Thoms, who is in charge of a hospital there, told of the need of trained men and women to serve the Arabs. "The hospital is filled, and doctors, nurses, and assistants have more work to do than can be done efficiently," he stated.

The morning service, Sunday, as well as the Sunday School service, was also in charge of Dr. Thoms, dressed in native Arab costume, presented to him by the king, for services rendered to the king's family.

crease the coon population of the state.

The funds for this work will come from a federal appropriation made the state under the Pittman-Robertson Act, which diverts the 10 per cent excise tax on arms and ammunition to the Federal Bureau of Biological Survey for co-operative projects in the various states. The distribution to the states is made on the basis of the state's area and the number of hunting licenses sold each year. Michigan receives the limit of $45,000 and will match this with $15,000 of state money. Only $3,000 of this will be used at present to start the raccoon project and the balance will be used to purchase game lands in Tuscola county and around Rose Lake, near Lansing.

Project O. K.'d

In commenting on the raccoon situation H. D. Ruhl, chief of the state's game activities, said, "Considerable research has been done by our Game Division and educational institutions of the state on game animals, but no one has given serious attention to our raccoon problem. The raccoon is an important game and fur-bearing animal, and recently there has been considerable demand by sportsmen in different sections of the state that we do something about the raccoon. So it is proposed that a raccoon research project be carried out on the Allegan project, in Allegan county, since that area seems better adapted for such study than any other.

The necessary laboratory will be available as Swan Creek Farm there, and the habitat is a favorable one. To carry out such a project it would be necessary to provide both personnel and equipment, and we are asking approval to spend $3,000 to start this work." This was approved by the Conservation Commissioners and Ruhl was ordered to start the work immediately.

That coons can be reared in captivity has been demonstrated many times both by fur farmers and game breeders in many states. The average litter is five or six young a year, coming in later winter or early spring. They are polygamous animals but occasionally a male and female will pair off alone.

Raccoons are omnivorous creatures and thrive on almost any food. They are particularly fond of fruits, vegetables, eggs, raw or cooked meats, poultry, mice, frogs, crayfish, mussels, melons and corn. In captivity they are extremely easy to feed. Their greatest enemy is pneumonia and when kept in damp quarters this usually proves fatal. Very few other diseases bother them.

Dog Training

Now that the coon hunters have at last been recognized in this respect the next move will be to have the dog training hours in Michigan changed so that coon dogs can be trained at night. The law now confines training to the hours between sunrise and sunset. The hunters plan on presenting the amendment to the next legislature so that they will have a chance to train their dogs as well as the bird and rabbit hunters.

Scarecrows at Spring Lake

New Device Shooes Away Crows

The scarecrow, which served for so many years in keeping crows and blackbirds from gardens and eating other crops, is being forced to give way to more modern methods at Spring Lake, Ottawa county. In fact, farmers in recent years have found that even the best of scarecrows are proving ineffective. In fact, a farmer in Ottawa county discovered a crow roosting on his scarecrow.

Sam Rymer, Spring Lake farmer, has invented a device of his own to keep birds away from his crops and it is proving effective. Hundreds of blackbirds along Grand River have caused great damage to crops annually and farmers have made every effort to scare the birds away. Mr. Rymer apparently has succeeded.

Mr. Rymer sent for a noise-making device and it proved effective. He needed another one, however, and so he decided he could make it. The result is that he worked out a device which has proved more effective than the manufactured one. It uses the carbide gas explosive method so familiar to boys who have made carbide cannons to celebrate the Fourth.

Suspended from a pole, the device is composed of a water tank with drip feed to a carbide can and lantern. The gas keeps the lantern lighted and provides the flame for the explosion, which can be regulated.

Recently, several complaints were received that ducks were being shot out of season on Spring Lake. Conservation officers discovered that it was the Rymer blackbird eliminator which was causing the complaints.

Commencing with Oct. 1 Miss Grant, the librarian, will only be at the Saugatuck library on Saturday afternoons from 1:30 to 5:00 for distribution of books. Again Mrs. P. D. Konold has remembered the library with a gift of two books: "Hafi Baba of Ispahar" by James Morier of Random House; "Pepita" by V. Sackville-West. Mrs. G. B. Miller has also given "Long Remember" by MacKinlay Kantor.

SURE, RABBITS SWIM
IF THEY ARE PRESSED

Contrary to general belief, rabbits can and will swim. True enough, most of them don't like to, and with the exception of the swamp rabbit they swim as little as possible. When they have to go into the water to elude pursuit, they usually give a tremendous leap to carry them as far out as possible, so they won't have to swim any more than is necessary.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce
Starts Out Well120 SIGN PLEDGES FOR MEM-BERSHIP; JIM BOTER MADE
PRESIDENT

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of the city of Holland starts off very auspiciously. Mr. James Boter, newly elected president, stated that there were at least 120 who had pledged themselves as members. The organization was perfected Tuesday evening at Warm Friend Tavern at a meeting in the main dining room of that hotel.

As temporary chairman, Mr. James Boter presided, and read a telegram of congratulations from the Grand Haven Junior Chamber. A delegation was expected from there, but for some reason did not materialize, but sent the telegram. Mr. Boter in turn introduced the different speakers, the first being H. R. Marquand, president of the Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce, who came with a delegation of four. He offered the cooperation of the Muskegon club, together with the congratulations of their entire club. Vaudie Vanden Berg, president of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, extended congratulations, and in speaking termed the new organization as "fellow workers." He stated that it won't be long before the young men are in the harness, pulling along by side for Holland with the members of the older Chamber, and doing things which Holland has been endeavoring to do for a long time back. Mr. Vanden Berg stated that if ever we needed the help of the youth it is now, as Holland was making strides forward.

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce is very important to this city and to the senior organization. The Junior Chamber cannot help but be a potent factor in the enlarging Tulip Festival which has grown way beyond all expectations," Mr. Vanden Berg said. He predicted that jointly the two organizations could do great work in behalf of our beloved city and its environs. Ray Bonini of Grand Rapids, vice president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, pointed out the benefits which young men of the city will gain through an organization of this type. He stated that the members eventually will become self-reliant. It instills initiative and pride in accomplishing something. Mr. Bonini gave a history of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, stating that in 1931 when it was first recognized by the United States Chamber of Commerce, there were only 85 chapters but that today the list totals 485, not only in the United States but in all parts of the world.

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce is nothing but the banding together of the young man power of a city for civic betterment," he stated as he named the three principal purposes for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, namely: To promote a young man's success in his own business; to promote and teach civic responsibility; to express a young man's point of view.

George Rozeberry of Grand Rapids, state secretary-treasurer, told of the work of the state organization and how it cooperated with the national and local groups. He said there were 15 Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters in Michigan. Mr. Rozeberry extended an invitation to the Holland chapter to attend the state convention in Detroit Oct. 21, 22 and 23. He ended the aid and cooperation of the Grand Rapids club to the Holland club.

Mr. Boter, the new president, expressed the club's thanks and appreciation to Howard Lillard, manager of the Warm Friend tavern, for extending the facilities of the hotel to the club for its organization meeting and also for previous meetings at the hotel. He said Mr. Lillard had extended the full facilities of the hotel for any future meeting and that if a permanent office is established he will provide room for its location in the hotel gratis.

Following the speaking program, the group was formally organized. Announcement of the new officers was made by Mr. Bonini after the board of directors held its first meeting upon election.

Refreshments of coffee, cookies, and doughnuts were served while a committee completed its work of tabulating the ballots.

In organizing the new group, the following 12 men were elected as directors: Harold Yonker, Harold Klaassen, Louis Wood, James D. Boter, Mickey Cavanaugh, Robert Kow, Melvin Van Tatenhove, Ray Kronmeyer, Russell Klaassen, Earl Goosen, George Heeringa and J. C. Wallen. The first six will serve for two years and the last six for a one-year term.

The board of directors, in turn, elected the officers as follows: President, Mr. Boter; first vice president, Mr. Kronmeyer; second vice president, Mr. Yonker; secretary, Harold Klaassen; treasurer, Mr. Van Tatenhove. Constitution and by-laws of the organization also were adopted.

Miss Jean Vander Wege who left for California soon after her graduation last year, has returned to her home in Zeeland.

Gratifying
Announcement
From Local BankPEOPLES STATE BANK TRUST FUND TO MAKE SECOND
PAYMENT TO THOSE
HOLDING CERTI-
FICATESLikely There May be a Third Payment Later, Trustees State

Some time ago the Peoples State Bank of Holland paid to depositors 50% of their deposits when the bank was closed in 1932. In an announcement made some three months ago, the Depositors Corporation, in charge of the remaining participating certificates, made known that some time this fall another "substantial payment" would be made.

Five years ago the Peoples State Bank before its reorganization submitted a plan to the depositors which was then approved. According to the terms of this depositors' agreement, the period is up and could not be renewed. Consequently, the trustees were confronted with a problem of disposing of the trust assets which remained unliquidated. Negotiations began last spring through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a government agency, asking for a loan against these trust assets in order to secure as large a payment to depositors as possible at this time. After considerable negotiations and thorough appraisals covering several months, this government agency offered to advance the sum of $156,818 against a pledge of all the trust assets.

It appeared, however, that the government required that the trustees obtain the approval of the Circuit Court of Ottawa County for this loan, and Judge Fred T. Miles was called upon to pass upon this matter and gave his approval. It seems that in order to get the proper legal machinery going, the holders of participating certificates are entered into a friendly suit; but since there are nearly 3,000 of these, living not alone here, but throughout the country, it would have been physically impossible to get service on so many, and the expense would have been prohibitive, not alone to these depositors but to the trustees of the trust fund as well. It was, therefore, permitted by law to select twelve of these certificate-holders, two holding amounts ranging from $1 to $1,000; two, from $1,000 to $2,000; two, from $2,000 to $3,000; two, from $3,000 to $4,000; two, from $4,000 to $5,000; and two, of $5,000 and over. The bank authorities through their attorneys, Lokker and Dan Herder, made it plain to these defendants, emphasizing that this was only a friendly suit, brought only for the purpose of satisfying the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and that the trustees, through the Judge's decision, had the authority to borrow this money in accordance with the terms of the depositors' agreement.

In order to conform with the plans as given above, Saturday morning, in Ottawa County Circuit Court, Judge Fred T. Miles granted permission to the trustees of the segregated assets of the Peoples State Bank under the terms of the Depositors' Agreement to sell the Frozen assets of the bank to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $156,818 which will in turn be paid to depositors holding certificates of participation in the reorganized bank. In making the payment, it will represent 24% of the 50% still due them on deposit according to court proceedings.

Some three years ago the bank paid the first 50%, and as soon as possible the added 24% will be paid. This, however, is not all of the story according to bank officials. As soon as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation takes over these assets it is understood that this organization will endeavor to further liquidate those assets upon which a loan was made. It is the contention of the trustees of the trust fund that in due time there will be a third payment made, the amount of which will largely be in accordance to what extent the government agency liquidates the remaining assets. The newly-organized Peoples State Bank, has nothing whatever to do with the liquidation or the paying of certificates. The present bank was put on a solid footing some five years ago and is operating under the government act which is a guarantee to depositors of an amount of up to $5,000 for each depositor through Depositors' Insurance which is

The reception was held in the parlors of Hope church. After greetings and introductions there was a short program. Dr. Albertus Pieters presided and spoke briefly, after which Dr. E. J. He spoke on the training of Chinese Christian workers, which has been his special work for several years past. There was a note of sadness mingled with the pleasantness of the occasion because of the absence of the former professors, the late Dr. Henry Hoopers and the late Dr. S. C. Nettinga, who had been present, in apparently good health, at last year's reception. After the program a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served to about 90 persons by the women of the Aid society of Hope church, with Mrs. N. Dykhuizen as chairman.

After spending three and a half months in The Netherlands, Walter De Vries and his daughter, Marjorie, returned to their home at 187 East 18th St., Holland. The De Vrieses came to this country 16 1/2 years ago. Mr. De Vries went across in 1931 to visit his eldest son, who still lives in Old Holland. However, this was Miss De Vries' first trip across since coming to this country. Both reported a fine journey except for a day's storm on the return trip. They also took an active part in connection with the huge celebration commemorating Queen Wilhelmina's 40th anniversary as queen, which the two local persons described as a very impressive and joyful event. Miss De Vries played the part of Princess Juliana, and her cousin, a native of The Netherlands, played the prince in a parade commemorating the event in Smilde, province of Drenthe, about a month ago. Mr. De Vries and his daughter traveled through the entire country, covering much of the distance on bicycles. They were impressed by the popularity and large number of bicycles in that country. Miss De Vries said that The Netherlands looks like one beautiful flower garden. Both trips were made aboard the Stendam. For their return trip, Mr. De Vries and his daughter were accompanied by two weeks before they could get reservations as many tourists were anxious to return to America, due apparently to the European war scare. In regard to the possibility of a war, not much is said in The Netherlands, although the country is mobilized, they said.

Plans are already under way for the Armistice Banquet. This will be held as usual on November 11th, Friday, about 6:30 P. M.

Comrade Ernie Brooks, State Senator (D.) Holland, came up and gave us some dope on the new relief bills and a few other subjects. Ernie doesn't get up to see us as often as we would like but when he tells you something, you know you've been told.

Comrade Joldersma and family have returned from the National Convention on the West Coast, tired and smiling which is evidence of a good time.

We have not as yet seen anything of Van Tongeren who was also beyond the Rockies. Report has it that he was last seen trying to trade a ten-cent windmill for a navaio blanket down in Arizona—even up.

Something was said about a "house cleaning" a few days ago, but nothing has happened in that direction; but then, the light is not perfect and we can't see much across the room.

Among the strangers at the last meeting were George Ver Hoef, John Kobes and "Dutch" Hank.

Violin of $35 Discovered To Be Priceless

For eight years, a Mr. Jaruga, proprietor of a music store in Detroit, has had a three-quarter size violin lying in the rear of his showcase, awaiting some music student with $35 in his pocket. For that modest sum this violin could have been taken out of the store without any regrets on Jaruga's part.

Now, however, the price has gone up, for experts have proved the instrument to be a genuine Guarnieri, made in Cremona, Italy, in 1720.

Just why it took eight years and the visit of a violin teacher to the store to teach Jaruga that he had a treasure on his shelf remains a mystery.

"I guess I just never examined the instrument closely," he said. "I took it to be an ordinary violin and accepted it as part payment on a $250 violin for a young student eight years ago."

"One day a man came into my store—I don't know who he was—and told me he wanted to purchase a violin for his son, who was studying the instrument. I had a number of violins in the store at the time and one of them, valued at $250, I offered to this customer."

"He agreed to take it and, as an afterthought, suggested that I take a three-quarter size instrument he had at home in part payment."

"He asked me how much I would give for it, sight unseen. As part of a trade-in, I offered him $50 for it. He went away and brought back the violin and told me that it had been given to his father by some people in England for whom he had worked."

"That was eight years ago. Then, about two months ago, a member of a symphony orchestra, who was also a teacher, came into my store and asked if I had any three-quarter size violins, as he had a pupil who wished to purchase one. I gave him the little violin, and left him to try it out while I waited on another customer."

"When I returned to him, he was playing the violin and shaking his head. Then he handed it back to me a little ruefully, saying, 'You've got a valuable violin there. I know my pupil can't afford as valuable an instrument as that.'"

Called on Experts
"This aroused my curiosity and so I got several experts, including Michael Bodak, the famous violin maker in Detroit, to look at the instrument. They all declared it was a genuine Guarnieri, one of the only two three-quarter size instruments he ever made."

Had Jaruga stopped to examine the violin carefully when he first obtained it, he would have seen a printed slip inside which read, "Giuseppe Guarnieri, fecit Cremona 1720 J. H. S." This was the trademark of the famous violin maker.

Jaruga received a letter recently from Henry Ford's secretary asking him about the violin.

Jaruga now spends considerable time going over every violin in his store minutely, hoping to find another stray Guarnieri or perhaps a Stradivarius.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY, Director of A&P Kitchen

LOWER meat prices characterize this week's markets. Pork loins, many beef cuts and lamb are perceptibly lower. Young chickens and ducks are reasonable and new crop turkeys moderate in price.

The storms of last week severely damaged much of the produce remaining to be harvested on the northeast coast. For inexpensive vegetables we must turn to so called hardware or less perishable items, cabbage, carrots, onions, potatoes and turnips.

Barlett pears, fresh prunes, Damson plums, crabapples and Concord grapes are still seasonable. New crop grapefruit are plentiful and cheap. Here are menus made up of seasonable foods.
