GOAL, BUDGETS OF CHEST DRIVE IN HOLLAND SET

Fourteen Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars Will Be Sought

Nine Organizations Will Benefit in Campaign in October

A goal of $14,500 will be sought in Holland's annual Community chest campaign Oct. 23 to 27, it has been announced by O. W. Lowry, president of the chest board.

Nine agencies have been selected to share in the funds to be derived from the five-day drive.

The agencies and their approved budgets are as follows:

Goodfellow's foundation, $1,000; Salvation army, $3,900; Michigan Crippled Children's society, $700; Boy Scouts of America, $3,500; Camp Fire girls, $1,200; City Rescue mission, $2,400; Michigan Children's Aid society, $450; Civic Health committee, $750; and Lions club blind-aid committee, $250. In addition $350 has been budgeted for the contingent fund.

The Council of Social Agencies recommended to the chest board the amounts to be appropriated to each participating organization. In most cases, the amounts recommended by the council through its chairman, the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp, were approved. Some requests were reduced to assure all participating organizations at least minimum needs.

Cornelius Vander Meulen and A. W. Tahaney were appointed to draw up contracts to be signed by participating agencies, accepting their quota and agreeing to meet the rules and regulations set by the chest. It was pointed out that an over-subscription would make available additional funds which could be drawn on by participating organizations at the discretion of the board.

The Red Cross informed the board that, owing to a national policy, they would be compelled to secure funds in a roll call separate from the chest campaign.

Peter Van Domelen, Jr., campaign chairman, at a meeting of the board on Sept. 20 when the goal was set and budgets were approved, asked the board to co-operate in organizing the drive.

THREE INJURED AT SAUGATUCK

Holland Car Plunges Fifty Feet Over Embankment Near Bridge

Saugatuck, Sept. 28 (Special)—Three Holland residents were reported to have suffered injuries about 11:20 p.m. Saturday in an accident on the US-31 fill at Bridge St. when the car in which they were riding failed to make the turn onto Bridge St. off the highway and plunged over a 50-foot embankment.

Henry Dorn, Jr., was said to have suffered a fractured nose. Gerrit Jongma and a third occupant whose name was not learned by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Schreckengust, who investigated the crash, suffered minor cuts and bruises.

The officer said the automobile was coming from the north and when it failed to make the curve plunged over the embankment. Officer Schreckengust said the car must have gone 50 feet into space before landing.

The trio was given medical attention here. The badly damaged automobile was removed to Holland by a wrecker from that city. The car is reported to have been longed to Jongma who was driving.

Dorn resides at 591 State St. The city directory lists Jongma as residing at 255 Ninth St. alley.

Solon of Allegan Opposes Repeal of Arms Embargo

Hoffman Asserts Congress
Should Solve Problems Within U.S.

Washington, Sept. 28 — Cong. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Allegan, Mich., said last week that "many of us would like to aid England and France, but I cannot see my way clear to do something which will lead to the sending of our young men across the sea to fight their battle."

Referring to President Roosevelt's appeal Sept. 21 for repeal of the arms embargo and substitution of a cash and carry policy, he said:

"The president's opinion seems to be that we can aid Great Britain and France by furnishing them munitions without arousing Germany to a point where her submarines will destroy our shipping. The sacrifice of American youth, the saddling of our nation with the burden of pensions is altogether too high a price to pay for war profits and the making of a few millionaires.

"The president said in effect that we should insist upon the right to ship goods to foreign nations and then added that we should keep Americans themselves out of the danger zones on the high seas. There is no logic in this."

Mr. Roosevelt also said, Hoffman continued, that as he asked for "no other authority from congress" he saw no valid reason for considering other legislation at the special session.

"He apparently has forgotten that the wage-hour law and the Wagner law are doing much to retard prosperity, to destroy civil liberties of hundreds of thousands of citizens and to drive smaller businessmen out of existence. While we are here these two laws should be amended."

Hoffman said the president "would do well to bring about peace between the AFL and CIO and between labor and industry before trying to insure peace among warring nations more than 2,000 miles away."

He charged the president with denying Americans the right to work at jobs which they may procure by his support of "the NLRA, the NLRB, the department of labor and the CIO," with "accepting the support of Earl Browder, Communist leader who would destroy our government by force."

YOUTH FREE IN CRASH DEATH

Zeeland Driver Found Not Guilty at Trial in Grand Haven

Grand Haven, Sept. 28 (Special)—Chester Grassmid, 19, route 1, Zeeland, was found not guilty by a jury in circuit court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of negligent homicide. The jury deliberated 40 minutes.

Grassmid was charged with causing the death of Roy Hinkley of Hartford July 7 on M-50 at Allendale where Grassmid's car struck the Hinkley car when Grassmid attempted to make a left hand turn. Grassmid stated a third car obstructed his view of the Hinkley car.

Attending the trial was Harry R. Hewitt, son of Mrs. Hinkley, who was formerly attorney general of the Territory of Hawaii for six years, under Governors Farrington, Judd and Poindexter. The position is an appointive one made by the governor. Since May 1, 1935, Hewitt has been in private law practice in Honolulu. Hewitt came here to be near his mother during the time she was confined in a hospital in Grand Rapids and during the trial Wednesday.

SUITS FACED BY LOCAL DOCTOR

Northfield, Mass., Couple Is Asking Judgments
of $75,000

Grand Haven, Sept. 28 (Special)—Dr. Rudolph H. Nichols of Holland was named defendant today in two suits which, filed in Ottawa circuit court, ask damages totaling $75,000.

Mrs. Isabel Smith of Northfield, Mass., is asking $50,000 damages by alleging malpractice on the part of Dr. Nichols. Her husband, Munro Smith, of Northfield, is seeking a $25,000 judgment. Mrs. Smith, who was formerly employed by the Michigan Youth hostels and allegedly was earning $2,500 per year, was injured Nov. 7, 1938, a short distance south of Holland in an automobile accident. She was taken to Holland hospital and treated by Dr. Nichols.

She alleges she suffered tetanus poisoning which necessitated her removal to Battle Creek sanitarium where she had "innumerable shocks" and remained there for two months, involving great expense.

Mrs. Smith asks $25,000 for loss of income and future loss of income, as she claims it will not be possible for her to continue her work, and $25,000 for "pain, suffering and humiliation." Her husband asks damages for loss of income while he was with his wife at Battle Creek, for doctor bills and expenses. He claims permanent injuries to his wife will result in future doctor bills.

PARKING METER MOVE ASSAILED AT LOCAL MEET

Only Few at Public Meet
Favor Plan; Opposition
Points Cited

Council Is Due to Shelve
Proposition on Basis of Sentiment

Parking meters received virtually no support Tuesday night when a representative group of Holland's merchants and citizens responded to a call of common council to attend a public meeting in the city hall to express their opinions on whether the meters should be installed in the downtown business district.

After hearing discussions from various persons, Ald. William C. Vandenberg, chairman of common council's special "parking meter committee," said he would recommend to council that no action be taken in the matter. Mr. Vandenberg said council at the present time did not even consider the problem a "hot one."

About 75 businessmen, manufacturers, citizens and aldermen were present. Those of the common council who were present at the meeting included Ald. Vandenberg, Ben Steffens, Bruce Raymond, members of the special committee, Henry Ketel, Frank Smith, Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., James A. Drinkwater, Albert P. Kleis, Martin Oudemool and Herman Mooi.

Among those who expressed themselves during the meeting were John Van Tatenhove, William Nies, William Brouwer, Wallace Kuite, Arthur Van Duren, Raymond L. Smith, William Wishmeier, William Visser, Henry Brink, William Jekyl, Albert Faas, Bert Slagh, Theodore Kulp, John Koiker, Earl Price, Bert Gebben, Henry Zwemer, Andrew Stekete, Laverne C. Dalman, William Brusse, John Ter Beek, Herman De Neut, Andrew Hyma, John Vander Ploeg, Mayor Henry Geerlings and members of the council who were also called upon for expressions.

Almost everyone who spoke was flatly against meters. A few said they had not formed an opinion. Meter opponents declared that meters would drive rural trade to other towns and city customers to business centers outside the downtown area, that meters meant "another tax," were "undemocratic" and would be a burden for drivers of limited means.

Many said they did not consider meters as an "issue" at the present time. Others contended that even if meters were to be considered for Holland, this city should not be pioneer in a meter movement among smaller cities.

Only two who spoke gave unqualified support to meters. Another favored penny meters. Advocates contended that meters would accelerate changes of cars in parking places and thus increase the number of potential customers downtown. They said lack of parking space downtown tested tempers and kept many from stopping to make purchases.

Ald. Raymond said the city faced a parking problem and suggested the meters might be installed on a trial basis. He outlined the plan which Kalamazoo has adopted through purchase of a lot, capable of handling 400 cars, the lot being paid for by various tax assessments against the merchants according to the benefits each receives from the lot which is offered free to citizens.

Holland Man Appeals Case to Circuit Court

Grand Haven, Sept. 28 (Special)—An appeal has been made from justice court to circuit court in the case of Gary Riphagen, 27, 300 West 17th St., Holland, who upon his plea of guilty before Justice George V. Hoffer Sept. 16 on a drunk driving charge was assessed a fine of $50 and costs.

The basis for appeal is that as the defendant claims he was arrested five or six miles south of Holland in Allegan county the case was not within the jurisdiction of a Grand Haven justice. The arrest was made in the early morning of Sept. 16 by state police as Riphagen was approaching Holland.

Twins to Cause Hope Double Trouble

Three pairs of twins on Hope college's 1939 freshman squad are expected to offer double trouble in more ways than one.

Graduates of Holland Christian high, where they started in basketball, they never played football.

Mike and Carl Krompotic, Grand Haven high graduates, are two of the most promising of this year's frosh. They both are guards, and have shown aggressiveness and ability in scrimmage with the varsity.

The Whelan twins, Jack and Bob, were members of last season's Holland high school team. The pair reported for drills at the college on returning from summertime work at Murray's Inn at White Lake.

NOTED LOCAL GRAD VISITS IN HOLLAND EN ROUTE TO MEET

Dr. James Poppen, one of the country's leading brain surgeons, was a visitor in Holland Sunday on his way to attend a meeting of the Society of Neurological Surgery at Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Poppen was graduated from the Hope college science department, which is now conducting a drive for funds to build a new classroom and laboratory building on the campus.

He came to Hope college from Overisel, and now is a surgeon at the Lahey clinic in Boston, Mass.

He and Mrs. Poppen visited Mr. and Mrs. John Schouten at 157 East Ninth St. Sunday. He lived with the Schoutens while he was a student at Hope college.

Dr. Poppen stopped here on his way to Rochester from Atlantic City where he delivered a lecture to the International Cancer congress on "Surgical Technique for Tumor of the Brain."

During his four years at Hope, Dr. Poppen's main ambition was to be a big league ball player. He played both basketball and baseball at Hope, and after his graduation he pitched for the Baltimore Orioles. Had he not entered medicine and surgery, he would have been sold to Pittsburgh.

He is a member of the American College of Surgeons, of the American Society of Neurological Surgeons, and of the Harvey Cushing society. Cushing is called the father of modern technique in brain surgery.

While the band marked time before the reviewing stand in Soldiers Field, engraved wooden shoes were presented to dignitaries by the Holland post. Announcement of the presentation was made over the amplifying system installed in the stadium.

BLAZE CAUSES BIG FARM LOSS

Barn and Chicken House Near Saugatuck Are Destroyed

Saugatuck, Sept. 28 (Special)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn and chicken house on the farm of Herman Kotman, one-half mile east of the Saugatuck townline, Monday at 7 p.m., causing an estimated loss of approximately $5,000 which was partly covered by insurance.

Local firemen responded to an alarm and made the run to the Kotman farm in 10 minutes. The firemen succeeded in saving other buildings.

Included in the loss were one calf and 115 chickens. A horse was badly burned but is expected to recover.

Mr. Kotman and his son discovered the entire loft in flames while they were carrying out the evening farm chores. They succeeded in freeing all animals except those destroyed. The heat became so intense while Mr. Kotman was attempting to free the horse which was burned that he was forced to flee from the barn to save himself.

The horse made its own escape from the barn which was somewhat unusual as horses are known to have tried to return to burning buildings.

The intense heat blistered the point on a nearby garage which had been recently constructed.

Second Local Boy Given University Appointment

The ability of Holland young people to assume collegiate positions of trust was demonstrated for the second time this week with the appointment of Robert Vandenberg, University of Michigan senior, as business manager of the University glee club. Victor Cherven, also a Holland resident, has been made president of the university band.

Vandenberg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaudie Vandenberg, 73 East 16th St. He has been prominent in music activities throughout his college course as well as during Holland high school days. He has recently returned from a summer bicycle tour of Europe, where he had numerous interesting experiences following the declaration of war.

RAYMOND CITES FLAWS IN CASH AND CARRY IDEA

Says in Address to Lions That Credit Is Part of Embargo Repeal

Declares Neutral Trading Will Involve America in World War

Dr. Bruce M. Raymond, head of the department of history at Hope college, predicted Tuesday a course of war for the United States in the event congress changes present neutrality to proposed cash and carry neutrality.

Speaking to members of the Holland Lions club in their meeting in the Warm Friend tavern, he said the proposal to repeal the arms embargo and enact a cash and carry measure has two flaws. "In the first place, 'cash and carry' is a misnomer for the proposed plan," he said. "The proposal provides that the ships of any nation may pick up American goods, but it does not provide for an immediate cash payment. The bill requires that the goods may be paid for in 90 days, and that longer term credit may be given in the case of a transaction between merchants of some other nation and the private merchants of America."

In the second place, he said, proposed neutrality "would not keep us out of war, because, as I understand it, it does not prohibit American vessels from trading in neutral ports."

This presents danger of entanglement following regulation of trade among neutrals by belligerents, he pointed out.

Using the history of American neutrality to support his contention that both points will inevitably bring America to war, Dr. Raymond predicted that short term credit will eventually mean an extension of that credit when warring nations are short of cash. He also said that neutral trading presents a danger of entanglement, because of war-time regulation of trade among neutrals by belligerents.

He pointed out that in the World War the United States loaned American money to aid the allied cause, and then found that because the Germans still held an upper hand, "we had to go over to bail out what we already had put into the war. It cost us much more than if we had let it go."

He said that as a neutral in the World war, the United States attempted to carry on trade with other neutrals. The belligerents, however, set up a trade commission to regulate trade among those nations, and ships were stopped and searched. "It got us into action finally," he declared, "and when we became a belligerent we sat on neutral trade heavily."

DEATH CLAIMS G.R. MINISTER

President of Hope College Board of Trustees Is

The Rev. Nicholas Boer, 67, pastor of Third Reformed church in Grand Rapids since 1918, died unexpectedly Friday night in his home in Grand Rapids. He had attended the convocations of Hope college and Western seminary the past week and had conducted a funeral Friday afternoon.

Dr. Boer, who received his doctor of divinity degree from Hope college in 1932, was president of the board of trustees of Hope college since 1931 and had been a member of the board since 1919. He was born in Drenthe March 21, 1872, and was graduated from Hope college in 1897 and from Western Theological seminary in 1900. He was licensed by the classis of Holland.

HOPE SEEKS TO MAINTAIN EDGE OVER G.R. TEAM

Has Eight Wins and Two Ties as Promoters for Fifteenth Tilt

Junior Fans Bring Signs in Advance of Clash Here Friday

Grand Rapids Junior college, whose partisans already have sent a scouting party to leave taunting signs on the Hope campus, invades Riverview park Friday to meet Coach Bud Hinga's Dutchmen in the third night game between the two schools at 8 p.m.

This fracas will be the 15th between the clubs since 1918.

In that time, Hope holds eight victories, Junior holds four, and two were ties. In recent years, Hope has a record of five consecutive victories, marred only by the scoreless game of 1934.

In the night games, the Dutch won 12-0 in the first clash here and won again last year, 24-14.

As Hope's team tapered off this week to meet the Junior college crew, Coach Hinga sent his club through a pass defense drill. Bob Montgomery, junior college recruit to the Hope squad this year, still is unable to play, but his two mates, Bob Hudson and Bob Idema, were named by Hinga as probable starters.

Hudson will pair with Bill Haken, another Grand Rapids boy, at the guards, flanking Bob Powers at center. The tackles will be Bill Tappan, at one, and either George Vander Hill, who started last week, or Marly Bekken. Ends will be George Heneveld and Ken Honholt.

Idema will pair with Lee Brannock at the starting halfback posts and Marv Den Herder, who crashed across for one of last week's touchdowns, will be at fullback. If it is possible for Bob Vander Laan to see action, he will be at the quarterback post. If he is not in shape, Ted Cimock sophomore, will fill the blocking back and Brannock will call signals.

As drills closed Wednesday, Coach Hinga used Honholt to punt. With Montgomery on the sidelines, it has been necessary to rely entirely on Brannock for the kicking, and the local mentor is looking for an understudy in that department.

Coach Mike Steele is expected to bring a capable team from Grand Rapids Friday, including several dangerous veterans.

"The game will be one in a series of increasing rivalry. Junior college students stormed Hope's campus Tuesday night to leave taunting signs. One said, 'The MIAA will send Hope back to the Southwestern conference.'"

Holland Drug Firm Is Fined in Federal Court

Grand Rapids, Sept. 28 — The De Pree Co. of Holland was assessed a fine of $200 by Judge Fred N. Raymond in federal district court here Tuesday afternoon for alleged misrepresentation of an insect repellent.

Willis A. Diekmann, company president, entered a plea of nolle prosequere (do not contest) for the company. Mr. Diekmann explained the case resulted from a technical misrepresentation on the label of the company's product, "Insect," which is a greaseless toilet cream used to repel mosquitoes. The label, he said, advised users to repeat the application every two to four hours but the food and drug administration contended that the ingredients would not keep the mosquitoes away that long. Mr. Diekmann stated that the label should have read "repeat application when necessary" and the product would meet the administration's approval.

WIN SOFTBALL LEAGUE TITLE

A 5-3 victory over the Dykema Tailors in the second of a scheduled three games to decide the Allegan Recreational league softball title awarded the championship Wednesday night to the Steffens softball team.

The local club, which opened the championship series with a 5-2 victory over the Dykema Monday night, clinched the title in the minimum of playoff games. The title was to go to the club winning two of the three games.

The Steffens team was presented a gold trophy by Weldon Rumery, league commissioner. It is mounted on a black base, and has the gold figure of a softball player at the top.

In the winning Allegan Recreational Tri-County softball championship, the champs lost but three scheduled league games all season. Ten teams were entered in the league, including non-league games, the record for the Steffens during the season was 32 victories in 41 starts.

Pres Bos pitched Wednesday allowing the Dykema six hits. The Dykema scored twice in the second inning when hits by Vryhoff and Jansen scored Oosting and C. Dykema, but the Steffens club scored Vodyke, Weender and Cramer in the last of the same frame to take a 3-2 lead.

In the third, Woldring singled for the winners and Driesing batted in the run.

Still leading, 4-2, as the last of the sixth got under way, Weender clouted a homer to move the count up another notch. The title was won despite the fact that Vryhoff doubled and scored on Jansen's single in the first of the seventh for the Dykema.

The Dykema had won the first round of play in the Allegan league, and the Steffens were undefeated in the second round.

TO BEGIN CARP SEINING SOON

With the purchase of a scow and net, the Holland Fish and Game club plans to do its own seining for carp in Lake Macatawa, instead of having it carried out under private contract as has been the custom in past years.

Jacob Lieveuse, club president, and George Vrieling, a member of the board of directors, will supervise the work when it begins about the middle of October.

A club representative explained today that by doing its own seining, the club will be able to realize larger profits from the sale of the carp and other noxious fish which are taken from the lake. No estimate of the increased profits could be given because of the variation in fish prices.

The representative said that he anticipates increased prices in fish will result this winter because of the present condition in Europe.

The scow, 20 feet long and eight feet wide, was purchased from the Dombros Fish Co. of Grand Haven and the net, 1,900 feet long and 22 feet deep, was bought from a Chicago firm.

School Exhibit Scheduled
Authorities of Zeeland public schools are planning a special kind of school fair this year. It is to be a part of an entire school exhibit, November 6 to 10, during American Education week which is sponsored by the American Legion.

The general theme of this week this year is "Education For The American Way of Life" and the theme of the exhibits will be "Making Our Best Better." Pupils will show by demonstration how this is done. For example, in agriculture, one of the objectives is producing a better grade of potatoes. Some of the boys will demonstrate how to grade potatoes which will instruct the farmer about the new grade regulations as well as inform the consumer what to call for at the store. Thus far, 14 demonstrations have been assigned in agriculture.

Since the date is so late, this will be largely a grain and potato show. All members of the three agricultural groups, the all-day, part-time and adult, are asked to select a half bushel of seed corn, half bushel of potatoes, and two quarts of small grains and one quart of grass seed or other small seeds.

Genius may conceive but patient labor must consummate — Manna.

To Holland residents who remember the days when River Ave. was still unpaved and Holland post office was still a dream, the above picture will bring back memories.

The picture, owned by Miss Georgiana Lugers, 4 West 16th St., is of the Scott-Lugers Lumber Co. mill which before 1911 was located when construction of Holland post office was started in 1914.

The oldest local lumber company still in operation here, the Scott-Lugers company was incorporated by Miss Lugers' father, Luke Lugers, and B. L. Scott in 1897, but it had many years of history before it was organized under that name.

Originally at that site, Rein Workman and William Ver Beek owned a planing mill in operation for farmers in this vicinity. It was called the Phoenix Planing mill when B. L. Scott and G. J. Schurman purchased and operated it under the name of Scott and Schurman.

Mr. Schurman sold his interest to Mr. Scott and in 1897 Mr. Lugers joined Mr. Scott to form the corporation under its present name.

In 1910, the property was sold for the post office site and Mr. Scott, then the main stockholder, sold his interests to G. John Kooiker, William Brusse and Mrs. D. B. K. Van Raalte, Sr.

Soon after that, when Mr. Lugers became a state senator, he also sold his interest to the remaining stockholders.

Mr. Kooiker was made manager at that time, and has headed the company in that capacity ever since. He is one of the men long connected with the firm.

A number of the men in the present mill have been with the company for more than 25 years. John Harmsen has been in the employ of the plant for 40 years, and the late Arend Bosman was associated with the company many years.

In the above picture, the building is shown as it stood in the years after the formation of the Scott-Lugers company until it was removed to make way for the post office. It is not the picture of the original mill that stood there, but one of a mill erected following a fire which destroyed the old mill just prior to the formation of the Scott-Lugers company.

It is possible to see in the picture part of the name Phoenix Planing Mill, which was at that time still painted on the building. The man with the bicycle, standing directly below the "N" in the word "planing," is Mr. Kooiker. Others are farmers from East Overisel, who had come in with teams for lumber.

To complete the picture, Centennial park at that time was already established in the block to the south of the mill. A grocery store owned by Henry D. Workman, was located on the north-west corner of 10th St. and River Ave., and a residence, owned by James Huntley, which was later used by Nellie Churchford in her work, was located on the south-west corner.

Just directly south of the Huntley residence, Mr. Huntley operated a planing mill. Just north of the Workman grocery store, the Scott-Lugers company maintained offices and a store-room.

The company built its present mill in 1911 after the above building was sold so the site could be used for the post office, and at that time lake boats were still able to come into the natural channel of Black river, which recently was dredged to allow resumption of such traffic.

Lumber at that time came by boat from Manistee and Frankfort. Some Holland persons can remember the huge piles of shingles and lumber piled from the lake boats to the Scott-Lugers dock on Black lake. The office was moved to the new mill site during 1912.

Grand Haven, Sept. 28 — Enrollees in the Company 4612 CCC camp at Camp Grand Haven have been reduced from 200 to 178 by the enlisting of two in the marines, about six in the coast guard and the return of several to private employment, according to Capt. Arthur M. Niemz, commanding officer.

Of those in camp now 130 go into the field daily in the west Ottawa conservation district. The original tent camp brought here during construction has been dismantled and the prefabricated buildings erected during the summer are in use. Besides the barracks, they include mess hall, canteen and recreation room, the library and class room building, hospital, headquarters office, soil conservation office and bath building. The grounds have been graded and seeded, concrete walks built to connect all buildings and a gravel road built to and around the camp.

Capt. Niemz, who was on leave, returned to duty Sept. 12. Lieut. Walter H. Heldt arrived from Camp Silver Creek Sept. 19 to replace Lieut. Wayne Gallup as second in command. Lieut. Gallup has returned to civilian life in Grand Rapids. Lieut. Ivan Miller who was in charge during Capt. Niemz' leave, has left for Camp

Waterloo near Jackson, where a new camp is being built.

Dr. Thomas W. Cogger arrived Sept. 1 to replace Lieut. Casimo Castro as medical officer. He has charge of the camp hospital, equipped with a complete first aid room and four bed hospital room. The educational facilities of the camp are being developed by M. E. McGeehan, educational advisor, who, with the aid of enrollees, is furnishing the library and class rooms. A woodworking room is equipped with several power machines and classes are instructed by Peter C. Ver Duin of Spring Lake.

A new four-bladed controllable propeller, to be used exclusively by the U. S. army corps, has been developed.

CHASE OSBORN AT NEAR-80

Chase S. Osborn's home town of Sault Ste. Marie is getting ready for a "Chase S. Osborn Day." The home people want to make sure that they will have a part in celebrating their most distinguished citizen on his eightieth birthday, so they have decided to do it publicly, as a community project, several months in advance of the date.

There is a good reason for this early celebration. The former Michigan governor, who spends his summers in his log shack on Duck Island in the St. Mary's river at Sault Ste. Marie, spends his winters in an equally modest shack at Poulton, Georgia. He has done this for so many years that it has become a routine for him; and the people of Georgia have become so used to his visits that the newspapers in that state claim him as a citizen. His eightieth birthday does not come until January 22, and as the town of Sault Ste. Marie could not very well celebrate with the honored guest absent in Georgia, the celebration is to be staged on October 4.

In a way it will be a celebration not merely for the people of Sault Ste. Marie but for the whole state of Michigan. For Mr. Osborn is not only one of the most distinguished citizens Michigan has produced during its more than a century of statehood, he is also one of the state's most picturesque citizens. At nearly 80 years of age he still frequently goes hunting and bags his own meal. Wise in the ways of the forest, he is better able to take care of himself than most men of 50. He chops wood for his own fires, and both in Michigan and in Georgia lives a life of Spartan vigor and simplicity that would make most young men gasp. Though he is nearly 80 by the calendar he is still young in spirit.

Only a month or two ago he brought out a book, and he is always working on one or two others. He is still actively fighting for the Mackinac Straits bridge, and he is engaged in a battle with the United States government to get parts of the Great Lakes officially recognized as Michigan territory. He is up to his neck in public projects of all sorts, and he is always on the lookout to advance the interests of the state of which he was once governor and whose history he once wrote.

The people of the home town have the right idea in wishing to hold a "Chase S. Osborn Day." The people of the whole state of Michigan might well join with them in the project.

When the cost of living was high we could at least make a living.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchen

THE panic is over and it is realized that hoarding is and will be unnecessary. Several commodities have already dropped from top levels. Some foodstuffs normally rise at this season, notably eggs, butter and poultry. Meats are considerably cheaper except for smoked meats which are now reflecting the earlier prices for fresh pork. Potatoes and dried beans and peas are higher. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and inexpensive. Other vegetables show little if any change.

The apple crop is large and ample supplies are coming to market. The grape season is beginning. Peaches, pears and fresh berries are plentiful.

The Infancy of Jesus
Matthew 2: 13-23

By Henry Geerlings

Jesus was the most interesting baby for he was the child of promise and the child of destiny. The ages had been waiting for him and hoping that he would come. The ages are still concerned about him as the greatest figure of all time and they are not yet able to understand him. He is too great for the measure of our minds and he fills to overflowing our hearts. We just said that the ages had been waiting for him. Of course we do not mean that all people knew about this promised child and had an understanding of what his coming would mean to the world. Only a few devout minds and faithful souls were waiting for the consolation of Israel and yet there was a mind of the world that hungered for deliverance and some indescribable satisfactions of the deepest longings of the soul.

But on the other hand this child was born into a very cold and indifferent and cruel world. The capital of his own nation was not prepared for his coming. The last kind of a person Jerusalem wanted was one who would save them from their sins. They were sons of luxury and selfish indulgence and servants of the senses and children of a lifeless and unspiritual religion. Along with Herod they were troubled, worried, perhaps panic stricken, when news of the strange child came to them. A newly-born king that might mean many things that would spell trouble and a new difficulty for them. A newly-born king that stimulated their imaginations to send all kinds of ghostly fears a-dancing across their souls. A newly-born king that might mean nothing else than more revolutions and more trouble with Rome. It seemed anything but good news to Jerusalem. Little did they say, frivolous, pleasure-loving citizens of Jerusalem appreciate the babe of Bethlehem. They knew nothing of the glowing possibilities of a new life for them that lay in the mind and heart of this newly born king.

And there is no wonder that Herod was troubled when he received the news of the newly born king. King that had an ominous sound to him and especially so when he learned from the high priests and the scribes as to where the Messiah was to be born. At once he had visions of a rival and of losing his throne and power. His mind was made up what to do. But he was clever enough not to show the real emotions of his heart. He must be diplomatic and shrewd. He must manifest a like interest with the magicians from the east. For a moment he paints his black soul white on the outside; his visitors may see that and count him a reverent and a good man. He sends them to Bethlehem to make diligent and careful search for the child and then return and report to him that he, too, may go and worship the newly born king. He was as wicked a hypocrite as any one who ever dared play the role of what he was not. If this were a chance world unguided by a divinity that steps into the human scheme of things then Herod might have won.

One shudders at the very thought of the cruelty and heartlessness of Herod. But a wicked man with consuming ambitions will stop at nothing to compass his ends. What mattered if there were a few less baby boys in Bethlehem and thereabouts and a few more broken-hearted mothers than usual, if his keen-edged sword could only find the new born king. What cared he for weeping mothers and slaughtered innocents? What does any bad man anywhere in any age of the world care for human suffering as long as he does not need to suffer? Bad men are strangers to mercy. They do not have the milk of human kindness in their souls. Herod was one of the monsters of human history.

Over against this terrifically black background stand the wise men from the east, these searchers after the truth, these great men on the quest of the babe who embodied in his own great soul the truth for which they were hungry. They seem to rise up out of this night of the world as those who had caught a vision of the great light. They stand forth as men who want to know and who would make any sacrifice to seek and do honor to a babe who had within him the potentialities of a new order of things. To them this child spelled hope in large letters.

Appalling Lake Michigan Disasters of Yesteryear

Artist's conception of the steamer Alpena in the storm that brought disaster.

Drawing of the steamer Alpena. Picture furnished by 'Mat' Pellegrom of the Holland Furnace Co.

By Ben Mulder
Part Three

The sinking of the steamer Alpena has been told so repeatedly that we are giving only a brief statement of the foundering of this ship in the fall of 1880. Former Chief of Police Frank Van Ry of Holland was possibly the last man to see the Alpena afloat. He was sailing mate on a small schooner, which was tied up on the inside of the Grand Haven harbor pier. There was a dead calm, and Lake Michigan was as smooth as glass, but a dark sky was creeping up, and the large sidewheeler came out of the channel with Capt. Nelson Napier standing on the wheelhouse of the Alpena. Frank and Captain Smith, the lightkeeper, waved to him from the pier as the Alpena plowed through the channel towards Lake Michigan.

Smith cupped his hands and called to Napier, "Captain, the barometer is falling fast. Believe we will have a bad night. Better point her straight to Milwaukee." Captain Napier called back, "I think we will be alright, Smithy, we are going to Chicago."

The boat was out less than an hour when a stiff gust of wind out of the northwest began to ruffle the calm waters. By midnight the storm broke in all its fury. There was considerable excitement in Grand Haven since there were many well-known people from there aboard. Storm warnings had been flown, but the captain of the Alpena, as well as the skippers of other ships, made regular schedules. It is apparent that the ship went down with captain, crew, and all the passengers, quickly, since none had time to write a message of any of the details telling of the tragedy dropping it into the sea.

The only message from any of the victims was a hastily scrawled note pinned to the molding of a stateroom. It was so water-soaked, it was practically illegible; however, a professor at Hope College with the aid of a magnifying glass made it out to read as follows:

"This is awful. The Alpena is breaking up, and I am on board. Frank Connel. Mariners differ as to where the Alpena sank. The general belief at the time was that it went down near Kenosha, Wisconsin. Holland music lovers knew Mrs. Squires and daughter Maude well, the former being an artist in voice, while the latter was an able pianist."

There were many people on the dock that night as the ship got away, no one realizing it would be the last time they would see the ship majestically streaming down the river, or of the loved ones aboard.

Not one person survived to tell the horror that struck. Since nearly all of the victims that came ashore were clad in night clothes boat, which are now added to the collection in the local museum. A lifeboat of the lost ship was found at Saugatuck, and the beach all along was littered with Alpena wreckage.

The supposition of marine men at the time of the foundering of the steamer Alpena was that Captain Napier held on his course too long and then attempted to bring his boat out into the wind. When the vessel swung into the trough of the waves, he believed the force of the wind would prevent it from concluding the maneuver, throwing one of the paddlewheels out of the water and pushing the other far under.

While the wheel out of the water was vibrating under the sudden release of the tension, the roll of the boat would throw the wheel suddenly under water and jerk the other one out. The vibration could easily snap a wheel free, he believed, and the resulting uneven pull tear the engine apart and cause an explosion of the boiler.

Other marine men pointed out that the fact that no marks were found on the bodies that came up on the beach indicated that an explosion did not occur. They were inclined to the belief that the vessel, of a heavy super-structure, was turned over by the wind striking at just the moment the vessel was trying to rise over a huge wave.

The Alpena, a sidewheeler of 645 tons, was regarded as a staunch, seaworthy craft, having been built in Marine City in 1856 specifically for Lake Michigan service. It had been purchased by the Goodrich line to replace the Sea Bird, which had burned at sea.

Besides the passengers and crew the boat had a freight of eight carloads of shavings for stuffing mattresses. Lake Michigan shores in this vicinity were literally covered with apples that came in with the other wreckage.

Grand Haven folk are especially reminded each year as the anniversary of the sinking of the Alpena occurs.

The ship left on a calm moonlit night. The only warning that a storm was brewing was the fact that the barometer was rapidly falling.

Because the ship left earlier than scheduled saved the lives of the late Dr. Arend Vander Veen, formerly of Holland, and his wife and their daughter, Mrs. William Dube, for the doctor was on a call and missed the boat. Before his death recently, he frequently referred to the night as his lucky one. Mr. Vander Veen was a pioneer of Holland, related to the Vander Veen family of this city, and as a young man was a graduate of Hope College and later surgeon in the Civil War. His career as a doctor of the old school was interesting. He married a daughter of Manly D. Howard, one of the founders of Grace Episcopal church here and owned practically the entire north side, now partly owned by John Dunton, who also married a daughter.

There were many Grand Haven people aboard, among them Heber Squire, a prominent citizen, whose wife before her death became very well known because of an unusually beautiful low contralto voice. She was widowed with three little children and for years earned her livelihood in the George D. Turner abstract office at Grand Haven. Holland music lovers knew Mrs. Squires and daughter Maude well, the former being an artist in voice, while the latter was an able pianist.

There were many people on the dock that night as the ship got away, no one realizing it would be the last time they would see the ship majestically streaming down the river, or of the loved ones aboard.

Not one person survived to tell the horror that struck. Since nearly all of the victims that came ashore were clad in night clothes

It is supposed the ship foundered in the night.

The late Peter Schoon, at one time a tanner, but who as a young man sailed before the mast, was in that storm on the schooner A. Plucker of Holland, captained by Baas Van Rij, father of Frank Van Ry. The schooner was laden with pine lumber headed for Chicago. Harry Raffenaud, father of the Raffenaud boys, of this city took the watch. Mr. Schoon always said that he and Mr. Raffenaud were the last to see the Alpena afloat. The Goodrich liner was making good time out of Grand Haven harbor, when "French Harry" spoke out, "I wish she had our line," figuring that he would be in Chicago the following morning. Mr. Schoon said the wind, which was moderate, kept gradually increasing and at 11 o'clock there were under full canvas. At two o'clock they had to "rief" her and at 5 o'clock everything was tied down. He said the wind was so intense that an extra rope was stretched around the ship for the safety of the sailors.

The wind blew so hard that it was impossible to face it, and the waves swept the full length of the ship, and the deckload of lumber began to float overboard. Much of it got tangled in the extra rope. They slipped by Holland harbor, they could not enter, they swept by Saugatuck harbor, where entry was impossible.

At last the schooner A. Plucker made port at Michigan City. The schooner crew of the A. Plucker had seen during the storm was the White Cloud, which arrived in Michigan City six hours afterward. When Captain Coats of the White Cloud and Capt. Van Rij of the A. Plucker met, they burst into tears, thankful for their deliverance.

Another Holland man on the A. Plucker was Charles Boyinga, well-known here for many years. Mr. Schoon in his article some years before his death gave his experience in nautical language, and it was really a refreshing interview, filled with sailor terms and language from the man who had sailed before the mast when windjammers were practically the only means of navigation for hauling freight in and out of Holland.

The flag of the ill-fated Alpena was recently found by Miles Colfer of Muskegon county. Colfer had picked up the flag as a boy had forgotten about it until he found it while rummaging through his old effects.

Retired Pastor Tells Club of Big Crater in Arizona

Dr. Edwin Bishop, formerly pastor of Park Congregational church in Grand Rapids and of Plymouth Congregational church in Lansing, spoke to members of the Holland Rotary club at their meeting in the Warm Friend tavern last Thursday noon.

Dr. Bishop, who with his son, David R. Bishop, of Lansing, are annual summer residents at Eagle Crest, is spending his first "September vacation" here. He is retired.

The local club members were interested in his talk which described the crater left by the fall of a large meteor in Arizona approximately 1,200 years ago.

He said that at the rim of the crater, which is three miles in circumference, earth was piled up 150 feet high.

Dr. Bishop pointed out that nothing is known of its fall, but he described the scientific investigation of the fall of the second largest meteor in Siberia in 1908.

"It was not until several years later that the meteor was found buried in the frozen earth of the Tundra."

"For 15 miles, the meteor had scored a path where it passed near the earth," Dr. Bishop said. "On each side of the path, trees were laid over like corn, and the upturned roots were burned."

"Although there are no trees in Arizona, the force of the fall must have been very much like that in Siberia, forcing up the 150 foot rim of the crater."

He said that the crater in Arizona is 700 feet deep, and that engineers are seeking to find methods by which to get out iron, nickel and platinum that are in the meteor. It contains 90 percent iron, eight percent nickel and two percent platinum, he said. Because the meteor came from the north, it was found half a mile deep, under the south rim of the crater. It weighs about 12 million tons, he said.

He said students recently discovered the cave homes of original tribes in that area, and that the bodies of the inhabitants had been thrown against the walls of the cave by some great force. He said that it is thought that the force of the falling meteor caused their death.

"Twenty million meteors reach the earth every day in form of dust," he said. "If a big one came again, what would happen to those in the vicinity of its fall?"

Dr. Bishop had a sample of the iron from the meteor to show club members.

New State Traffic Law to Go in Effect Friday

Autoists and Pedestrians Who Are Prudent Will Have no Trouble

Michigan will have a new traffic law Friday and state residents today had only one more day in which to become accustomed to a new uniform traffic law affecting pedestrians as well as automobile drivers.

For the driver and pedestrian who has been using highways and streets prudently, the law contains little that is new or likely to cause trouble.

The speed limit for Holland business districts will remain 20 miles an hour, Chief Antles said. In the next month the state highway department will erect signs indicating graduated speeds of a higher rate on routes into the city, it was said, but speeds on these highways will be 25 miles per hour except in the business district, until these signs are erected. The speed for residential streets off the state trunk lines will be 25 miles per hour.

Drivers in all Michigan cities except Grand Rapids, Flint and Saginaw—where a city ordinance previously prohibited turning right on the red light—must cease making right hand turns against the red, unless there is a positive indication by green arrow on the light that such turns are permitted.

Although Holland drivers are accustomed to turning right on the red, they will have to cease here on trunk line intersections. Police Chief Ira A. Antles said today. No change in equipment (such as equipping traffic lights with green arrows on the red) is planned here. Action to place green arrows on the red lights would have to be taken by common council through recommendation of the police board.

Fifty miles per hour is the speed limit set for trailer combinations when the towing vehicle is a passenger car.

It is unlawful to straddle lane lines on three and four lane highways or to drive into the far left lane of a three-lane highway or to cross the center line of a four-lane highway.

Two wheeled vehicles shall not be ridden more than two abreast. Packages must not be carried which prevent the rider from keeping both hands on the handlebars. No person shall be carried upon a bicycle or motorcycle other than upon a firmly attached regular seat.

Hitching to other vehicles by those bicycles, sleds, roller skates, coasters or toy vehicles is unlawful.

Pedestrians should cross streets on green light, although they may cross on the red if they do not interfere with traffic. When crossing on the green they have the right-of-way over turning vehicles.

Pedestrians must walk on the left side of rural highways, facing on-coming traffic. When sidewalks are provided, it is unlawful for pedestrians to walk on the main traveled portion of the highway.

Twenty-five miles per hour is the legal speed in both business and residential sections in cities and villages unless signs indicate the speed has been changed by local authorities. The old rule, however, that any unsafe speed is illegal still holds.

"Stop" signs mean STOP!

In The Good Old Days

(The following items were taken from the Ottawa County Times, published in Holland nearly a half century ago.)

The report of the fire department shows that they have 3850 feet of hose on hand in good condition, an article in the May 4 issue of the Ottawa County Times published in 1894 by M. G. Mantling stated. The chief calls attention to the need of a bell or whistle in the west part of the city as the firemen there can not hear the waterworks whistle and arrangements should be made with some factory to blow their whistle in cases of fire. Attention is also called to the need of another pump at the water works to be used in cases of large fires as the pumps at present can only supply six streams, not sufficient for large fires. The chief also recommends that a team be purchased by the city to do city work during the day and that team be kept in the engine house at night and also on dry, windy days, with a driver and two firemen to be ready to respond promptly at any alarm.

The report of the chief of fire department for the year ending May 1st shows that there were nine fires. The total loss on buildings was $1,014.29 and on goods $424.20. The total insurance on property was $2,500 and the total amount of insurance paid was $928.49. Of these fires four of five were of incendiary origin and two the cause unknown. The greatest losses were on the barn of Mrs. Cook, July 23, $222.90; barn of Mrs. Thompson, Aug. 9, $275; barn of R. Vik, Nov. 11, $119.29; house of M. E. church, Dec. 28, $150; house of G. J. Van Duren, Dec. 29, $551.30.

The report of John Kramer, superintendent of the water works, shows that we have 80 hydrants and about 11 miles of water mains and that the whole number of taps inserted is 305. He calls attention to the fact that the supply of water is insufficient in dry weather and recommends that the board of public works take immediate action to secure a better supply.
