The convention resolutions also commended the state's war governor, Murray D. Van Wagoner, for the cooperation of the state government with the war program. They endorsed the nomination of Herman Wierenga, party nominee for fifth district congressman, and "we especially commend the more than 63 per cent of Republicans who voted against our present congressman."

The work of State Sen. Earnest C. Brooks of Holland in the state legislature was commended.

"Finally, to the commander in chief, the president of the United States, we pledge ourselves, our wealth, our moral and spiritual strength to uphold his hands throughout the war and until a just peace shall be insured."

Fennville, Sept. 24 (Special)—Mrs. Ethel Gregory, 45, was killed and four other persons were injured at Harrington's corner, two miles northeast of Fennville at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday when a taxi driven by Harold Crowner and a fuel oil transport truck driven by John Dubreuil collided.

Crowner, who was driving east, said he did not see Dubreuil, who was northbound. Crowner's taxi struck the truck back of the cab. The truck rolled over twice and landed right side up.

Dubreuil crawled out of a window and was the only one able to give assistance. He aided Crowner and Smith, who were thrown clear of the wreckage into a water-filled ditch. ## Rotarians Told To Go Further

The Rev. Samuel Noble Oliver, pastor of First Congregational church of Muskegon and district governor of Rotary International 151st district, visited the Holland Rotary club last Thursday and spoke on the theme, "Going Further."

He told the club and their guests, "Prepare to live, even though we die later; use the Rotary idea in your vocation, prepare to go further in your vocation; along with Rotary, go further in your own field."

Dr. Oliver cited one mining company that went an appreciable distance in the Yukon gold field and quit. Another company bought the holdings and struck pay dirt a few rods away.

"A challenge to any man's mind is to get ready to proceed, never backward. Go beyond tradition, beyond hatred to intelligent goodwill. Don't use hatreds, use positive principles; never negative. Rotary is an island of intelligent goodwill."

"Go beyond selfishness for Rotary stands for service and unselfishness. Elevate our patriotic ideals of national life to the boon of mankind. Devotion to the Christian way is the way to better life."

Dr. Oliver presented Rotary plaques to four new members, Maurice B. Flood of Macatawa and Edward J. Bouwma, Joseph Arnold and William P. Telling.

President Dick Miles announced that pins will be given to any member showing 52 weeks of continuous attendance, starting at any time, instead of the beginning of the club year.

By keeping telephone lines clear for war calls, you are making an important contribution to the speeding up of war production. War calls crowd the telephone lines today—especially Long Distance lines to the places listed at the right. We can't add enough new lines to handle all the increased traffic, because materials are more urgently needed to equip our fighters. But all of us can do our part by making the most efficient use of present facilities.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN HELP

1. Make only the most essential Long Distance calls, and avoid these crowded lines especially.
2. Keep all your conversations as brief as you can.
3. When possible, give the number of the distant telephone you are calling.

And please don't call information for a number when it's listed in the directory. The telephone calls you save help speed delivery of the weapons our soldiers need!

"IT"

Dr. Robert M. W. Kempner, exlled German government official and judge, now a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, says that he once recommended the deportation of Adolf Hitler. Kempner was at that time a judge in Munich, and Hitler was hardly more than a street hoodlum. With others he was arrested, and the Munich police suggested that he be deported.
If that suggestion had been carried out, Dr. Kempner thinks, all the troubles that have come upon the world since would have been avoided.

"IT"—short though it is, it is in some ways the biggest word in the dictionary. This experience of the former German judge recalls the experience of the American Frazier Hunt. In his autobiographical book, "One American," he tells the story of how he had a talk with Hitler in a hotel room, at the time when Hitler was trying to get started.
Hunt describes the Hitler of that day as a confused, hesitating fanatic who did not seem to understand what was going on. So poor an impression did Hitler make on Hunt that the latter didn't even bother to send a story to his newspaper about the interview.
In the retrospect he sadly comments, "I missed the boat." That interview could have been the best feather in his journalistic cap. Again "IT."

And that recalls a theory about Hitler that a recent book on the subject of Hitler's invasion of Russia sets forth. The book is by a European who has been driven into exile by the Nazi conquest, and who has as much reason to hate Hitler personally as anybody could possibly have.
Yet he asserts bluntly that Hitler is not the real villain but the Junker class in Germany. The Junkers, who have been a kind of closed military corporation for more than a century, especially since the days of Bismarck, are merely using Hitler as their super-salesman, he thinks. In the beginning they dressed up Hitler to put their ideology across on the German people; he was on their payroll and he did in effect what they wanted him to do. He was the window dressing that they used to get the German people to back their militaristic schemes.
And to this day, he holds, the war is between the Junker class in Germany and the free peoples of the world; the Junkers (like von Bock and Rommel) are using Hitler and the Nazi party to keep their class in power.

At least so this knowing European thinks. And it follows that if that theory is correct, much the same kind of thing would have happened even if Hitler had been deported in the early twenties.
"IT" is a nice little word to play with, but not much of anything can be based on it.

An Example of Forgiveness—

Genesis 45:1-15; 47:11-13

By Henry Geertings

Joseph's forgiveness of his brothers is the culmination of his life story. It was the greatest thing he ever did. Service to his father in early life, successful resistance of temptation, interpreting the dream of Pharaoh, building up a food supply for the lean years, and changing the land system of Egypt—all are worthy of note. But viewed from a spiritual point of view, nothing else matched his magnanimous act of forgiving persecutors.

Pardon is fundamental to life.
Social mingling is based on good will. Two cannot walk together unless they agree. Associates in business, education, commerce, government, or any other enterprise which brings people into close contact, must be bound together in friendly association. Efficiency is decidedly lowered by friction. Errors will be made, temper will flare on occasion, judgments will go wrong, but a broad view and a readiness to overlook wrongs will adjust differences if that goodwill has a Christian basis.

Forgiveness is essential to living. Personal, individual life alone cannot continue with any satisfaction if there be hatred, rancor and a thirst for revenge in one's soul. Such attitudes will color thinking, obscure facts, prejudice judgments and, in time, affect even physical health. We can safely indulge in only one great unrelenting hatred, and that is against sin.

It is often said that revenge is sweet. David did not find it very sweet when his army killed his son Absalom. Revenge has brought people far more remorse than satisfaction. Even children, when they have paid back an insult or injury, are usually ashamed of what they have done. Was David ever sorry that he spared Saul, even though Saul repeatedly sought his life. There is no passion of the human heart that promises so much and pays so little as revenge. Only a hard, unimaginative creature can wreak revenge upon a fellow human being and to any extent escape the bitter pangs of resultant anguish.

In matters of policy in doing things together, or alone, we have a right to stand firm until convinced of the right of another position. We have a right to maintain our point with vigor if we can do so in a courteous manner. But an open mind is essential. In the moral realm we cannot be compromisers. We dare not bow to the wrong. We should be careful to be right, and then remain firm. But even then we owe consideration and politeness to those with whom we disagree.
We have to remember that personality is sacred, and never knowingly violate it.

We are bound, however, to bend low to ask forgiveness when we have offended, to amend our way of living, and to forgive those who have transgressed against us. There is no point at all to maintaining a stiff neck and a stubborn attitude when it is clear that we have erred or owe a Christian's obligation of granting pardon.

We are to forgive and forget.
We can by the grace of God forgive others, but it is more difficult to forget. In fact, it is almost impossible to forget. Forgetting and forgetting are not matters of will or attitude. They are psychological and neurological matters. When an event, word, idea or sentiment is once written into brain tissues, we have no power to forget no matter how badly we wish we could.
Every one of us would love to blot out the memories of unpleasant experiences, but that is impossible. Of course some things are recalled with ease, whereas others are difficult or impossible to bring to consciousness. Active repetition makes recall easier at a later time. What we use we keep. What we do not use we tend to lose, at first rapidly, then more slowly, until many get to a point beyond recall. But when it is said that we should forgive and forget something different is meant. It is advice not to remember against. It is a matter of morals. Christian ethics does not sanction remembering offenses against people, but the question as to whether an offense persists in memory or not is outside the moral realm completely. If our attitudes are Christian, the persistence of a memory becomes meaningless.

Pardon is a condition of pardon. If we forgive men their trespasses the Father will also forgive us. Pardon of others is a condition of our own forgiveness. But it is not the basis of forgiveness. The basis is the atoning death of Christ on the cross.
The person who comes to Christ in penitence and gives himself to him without reserve will love him and his fellow men so fully that he will be ready to forgive. But if he has not that spirit he puts himself outside the pale of Christ's pardon.

This is a difficult test. It is often hard to bring oneself around to a readiness to forgive. Men will invent every conceivable subterfuge to evade the necessity of granting forgiveness, and still justify themselves. Often enough they deceive themselves. But God is never deceived.

Directors Cite Need
Of Retaining Leaders
For Wartime Activity

Officers of the Holland Chamber of Commerce were reelected for another year at the board of director's organization meeting Monday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Freight Train Cuts Fire Hose Into Three Pieces

The Holland fire department suffered a heavier loss at 7:55 a.m. Friday than did the Michigan Gas and Electric Co. at its gas plant, 200 East 12th St., where the firemen had been summoned.

Iron oxide in one of the purifying boxes caught fire, apparently from spontaneous combustion, Manager Earl Goon reported, although there was no resulting damage.

However, firemen laid a line of hose from the fire hydrant near the Charles R. Sligh Co. plant, across the Pere Marquette tracks to the gas plant. A northbound Pere Marquette freight train came by and, although it was flagged, was unable to halt in time to keep from running over the hose, cutting the 50-foot length into three pieces.

Decides He's Guilty As Court Summons Deputy

The youth had pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea when the deputy was called for the opening of a trial. He not only paid the $15 but also a balance of $5 on a fine and costs of $10 assessed against him in June for speeding.

Holtgeerts was arrested by deputy sheriffs about 1 a.m. Friday following a short chase on Park road from near Fisher's point to near the Federal bakery, 400 West 17th St.

Two Youths Are Given Sentences

Grand Rapids, Sept. 22 — Two youths charged with splitting $5 bills and backing them with $1 bills after which they attempted to pass them at the Berlin fair at Marne in Ottawa county, were sentenced Friday to serve 18 months each on three separate counts and were given three-year suspended sentences on a fourth count with probation periods of five years each.

Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond passed the sentences in federal district court here. The youths were Bobbie Earl McCord, 23, and George Henry Van Driel, 18, both of route 1, Belmont, who pleaded guilty to federal grand jury indictments on previous arraignments. The indictments charged them with tampering with United States currency with intent to defraud.

John L. Hysell of Spring Lake was sentenced to serve three years for failing to notify his draft board. Ottawa county board No. 1 at Grand Haven, of his change in address. He also pleaded guilty on a previous arraignment after being indicted.

Most severe of the penalties were imposed on Leo Dawson, 19, formerly of Wellsville, N.Y., and his companion, Ada Dexter, 19, formerly of Cedar Springs.

The two, arrested here a month ago in their return from the east, were indicted on three counts, alleging kidnapping and Dyer act violations. They were accused of slugging John Vander Molen, 18, of Byron Center, when he picked them up while they were hitchhiking, and forcing him from his car in Ohio, after which they stole two other vehicles in the east before returning here.

On the kidnapping charges, Dawson was given a six-year prison term and a two-year term was imposed on his companion. Sentences of five years each were suspended on the other two counts for Dawson, with a probation term of five years imposed, effective on completion of his prison term.

Ada Dexter received concurrent sentences of three years, which were suspended. She likewise received a life-year probation term.

Judge Smith Addresses Safety Patrol Leaders

Judge Raymond L. Smith spoke to the patrol leaders from the elementary schools and representatives from junior and senior high schools, on Friday in the court room.

Judge Smith stressed three main points. "You should wear your belts proudly and realize your responsibility as leader and your duty in helping children to cross streets," he said. "Give all your attention to your job. Stand where you may be seen by motorists, pedestrians and children. Remember not to stand just to be seen but to do the seeing yourself so that children can rely on you to get them across streets safely."

Drivers of cars and pedestrians should realize that patrol boys are standing on corners near schools for a purpose and should slow down, Judge Smith said.

This meeting was the first in a series of projects sponsored by the safety council composed of representatives from all local organizations, outlying schools, elementary schools, junior and senior high schools and parochial schools.

Ottawa's Fire Protection Setup Is Near Completion

With the appointment of Holland's fire chief, Andrew Klomparsen, and the county agricultural agent, L. R. Arnold of Grand Haven, to the Ottawa county rural fire committee, the county office of civilian defense has reported that the entire county fire organization will soon be complete under the new wartime program.

As the general fire protection plans were worked out by the conservation department upon the basis of its experience, the Michigan OCD has suggested that the county conservation officer be chairman of the new fire committee.

As chairman, Ottawa's officer, Forrest Lavoy, has done much preliminary spadework. A tentative plan calls for division of each township into four areas with a general chairman assisted by a committeeman from each area. Each area in turn will be divided into nine sections each one mile square. Each of the sections will have a resident auxiliary fireman.

Supervisors will automatically be members of the township committee. First consideration of the groups will be a survey to determine the need of new equipment. Such needs to be submitted to the township board for procurement.

According to conservation officials, the war-induced awareness of fire dangers among farmers has made the new program exceedingly popular. Residents of rural areas previously relying on nearby municipal equipment are beginning to realize that a city fire truck is a long time coming and cannot come at all if busy with a fire in the local community.

Officer Lavoy said Robinson, Crocker, Grand Haven, and Port Sheldon township boards have already ordered additional equipment.

A total of 48 pack pumps have been ordered. These are water pumps carried upon a man's back. The pumps are standard equipment with many fire departments. They have been used for years by the conservation department in forest and brush fires. The department reports excellent results in this method of saving threatened farm buildings.

Holland Piles Up 11 First Downs to Two For Creston Team

A not too experienced Holland high school eleven opened the 1942 football season Friday night with a clear-cut 14-6 victory over Grand Rapids Creston on Houseman field in Grand Rapids.

With a couple of breaks, the Dutch could easily have scored two more touchdowns.

Up until three minutes before the final gun, Holland had chalked up eleven first downs to one for the Creston Polar Bears, and the end of the game revealed 11 firsts for Holland compared with two for Creston.

When a team with a reputation for losing games, such as Holland pulls a fast one, such as Friday night's tilt, some reason must be attributed. But a survey of the game reveals more than one explanation. A team with spirit such as displayed by the Dutchmen in their opening tilt, will never be beaten; a team with drive and stamina, even when the chips are down, has to come out on top; and a team with tricks and new plays for every occasion just cannot be defeated. The first two reasons are assets built up by the players themselves. The last can be attributed to the coach, and Coach Malcolm Mackay deserves the credit for a fine offensive.

When the shoke had settled after the game, two names seemed glued to the mouths of local football followers. Gene De Witt proved his worth in the backfield starting lineup by his constant off tackle gains, and beautiful footwork in wide end runs, the result being Holland's second touchdown. On the line, Capt. Lloyd Heneveld again lived up to his reputation, and saw action in the majority of tackles, besides playing a bang-up offense.

Holland lost the toss, and kicked off to Creston, Joe McGee, flashy back, carrying the ball to 45. After three futile plunges at the line, McGee booted to the 25 and Post ran it back to the 35. De Witt fumbled on the next play and Holland was forced to return the punt. Creston taking over on their 48, Harrison and McGee plunged into the line for a couple yards, then got off a quick kick, and Holland took possession of the ball on their own 20. After a quick return of punts, Holland again had possession of the ball on their own 20, and this is where they started on that first touchdown drive.

De Witt plunged through right tackle for a first down, and on the next play carried the ball through the same weak spot for a 25-yard run, stopping on the Creston 45. Two line plunges brought Holland another first down. With but five seconds remaining in the first quarter, Ploegsma faked an end run, fell back and threw a beautiful 25-yard pass to Nienhuis in the end zone, who jumped over the first touchdown. Capt. Heneveld, hitherto unknown as a kicker, booted the extra point.

The second quarter saw both teams fight to a standstill, with McGee and Ploegsma returning punts. It was in this quarter however that Holland baffled the Creston eleven by emerging with the famous T formation, and ran the ball down to the one-yard line where three line plunges failed to crack the Bears' forward wall. The half ended with Holland in possession of the ball, and the score reading 7-0.

The second half, Holland started with the same lineup: Heneveld and Milewski at ends; Kempker and Weller, guards; Vander Kuy and Klinge, tackles; Scholten, center; Post, quarterback; Ploegsma, right half; Wheaton, left half; and Kingston in for De Witt at full.

Holland received the kick and play started on their own 30-yard line. Ploegsma fumbled and Allen of Creston recovered, this setting the stage for Creston's only touchdown. Harrison and McGee ripped through tackle for a first down. At this point Miller replaced Calkees at quarter. An incomplete pass and an end run left Creston with the ball on Holland's 20. Harrison got the ball on the third down and started around his own right end, but threw a beautiful pass just behind the line of scrimmage to Freiburg in the end zone, and the score read 7-6. Harrison's kick going wide. The next few plays saw an exchange of punts, an intercepted pass by Harrison, but offside ruled it no good, and Holland emerged with the ball on their own 40. Ploegsma's kick was fumbled by McGee and, in two beautiful off tackle runs, De Witt scored again. Heneveld's kick was perfect and the quarter ended.

The last quarter was scoreless, both teams battling, Holland more or less on the defensive, trying to prevent scoring and keeping possession of the ball. It was in this quarter that Heneveld blocked Harrison's kick and set the stage for another touchdown march, but another down for Holland was flatly refused by the Bears, and the game ended, the latter in possession of the ball.

This first game revealed a solid front wall in the Dutch lineup, and a fast and shifty backfield. Besides De Witt and Heneveld, outstanding performances were given by Post, who has definitely taken over the quarterback position; Ploegsma, Wheaton and Kingsley, as passer, plunger and stepper respectively; and the entire forward wall which held up brilliantly, even when second stringers were in, revealing a possibly strong reserve strength, something upon which Coach Mackay didn't bank too heavily.

A Better Looking ROOF

...for Less Money

A roof of RU-BER-OLD Tex-Tab Shingles looks a lot more expensive than it really is. These colorful shingles are charmingly textured, with wood-like graining. The natural-colored mineral granules make them safely fire-resistant. The heavy asphalt coating over tough felt provides durable waterproof protection with minimum maintenance cost. The comparatively small tiles make RU-BER-OLD Tex-Tab Shingles practically windproof. Here's a lot of roof for little money. Inspect our samples and learn how low our prices are.

Gives Report on Child Welfare

In his annual report covering welfare work for 1941 by Michigan Exchange clubs, Dr. William Westrate of Holland, state committee chairman, reported that $19,487.49 had been spent and 11,307 children served during the past year.

The Holland club expended $1,800 in caring for 100 children, his report shows. Of the other clubs, Grand Rapids spent $1,400 for 381 children; Kalamazoo, $3,900 for 2,500 children; Muskegon, $25 for 10 children.

Dr. Westrate submitted his annual report at the state convention held over the week-end in Lansing. In accepting it, the convention voted to send a copy of each Exchangeite in Michigan.

Dr. Westrate who has served as committee chairman for the past five years asked to be relieved of his duties and Al Outhbert of Lansing will assume the chairmanship of the committee.

Dr. T. I. Bauer of Lansing was elected new state president, to succeed Jacob Fris of Holland.

Thirty-eight clubs out of a possible 51 in Michigan submitted reports to Dr. Westrate on their child welfare work of the past year.

"Our committee sincerely hopes and recommends that child welfare work will continue to constitute your first line of endeavor and will continue to be a favorite project. The probability is that the aftermath of this World War II will call for a greater effort on the part of service clubs and Exchange will always be at the front, showing its willingness to alleviate suffering and distress," Dr. Westrate's report reads.

Series of Lectures on Books Is Planned Here

The Woman's Literary club and Holland branch of the American Association of University Women will offer a valuable war-time service to the community this coming season in a series of eight monthly lectures on books as related to the all-out victory effort. It was announced today by Mrs. George A. Pelgrim and Mrs. James Brierley, presidents of the two groups, respectively.

The talks will be given by Olive Deane Hornel, special lecturer for the University of Michigan extensive service on the second Tuesday evening of each month at 8:15 p.m. at the Woman's Literary club beginning Oct. 13 and ending May 11.

An outstanding feature of the University's noncredit extension program for the past four years, Miss Hornel's course on "The New Books and Plays" has been well known throughout the state. Retitled for the duration, "Books and Total Victory," this popular series enters its fifth season closely keyed throughout to the victory effort, and is designed above all to serve those men and women whose reading time is continuously diminished as they become more deeply involved in war work.

Lectures will cover the various "fronts," ideological as well as geographical. Where controversial matters are handled, both sides of major issues will be summarized compactly as presented by their leading protagonists in print, with the idea in view that the people of a democracy must learn to consider themselves uneducated if they are unfamiliar with the various aspects of major issues. There will also be monthly comment on the best in "escape reading," with the realization that a balanced ration is more necessary than ever in wartime reading.

Miss Hornel will have the close cooperation of publishers, assuring unusual timeliness of subject matter and freshness of presentation. Her October lecture will be based on "Basic Books for Background."

Miss Hornel is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Illinois, where she studied and taught in the department of English under the late Stuart Sherman. She is the author of a successful novel and a number of magazine articles. Last year, 23 sections of her course were conducted in 20 different centers.

Co-chairmen of the local committee in charge of enrollments are Mrs. Marvin Lindeman of the Woman's club and Miss Hazel De Meyer of A. A. U. W.

Dr. J. T. Hoogstra, church pastor, presided at the program which was held in the school gymnasium. Opening with the reading of scripture and prayer, Dr. Hoogstra gave a brief welcome. He spoke of Mr. Boer as a son of the church, declaring that the work he represents should be a matter of pride to the congregation. "He symbolizes our interest in all the boys and girls in service," he said. Such service is a patriotic duty.

Following several musical selections by the Mencken sisters, Mr. Boer talked informally of his work, and showed how as chaplain he will have an opportunity to bring the gospel to the men in service. The chaplain is everyone's friend and helper, he explained.

The Nation's steel mills are running out of scrap. They haven't enough on hand for even 30 days more. When this is gone they may have to shut down--for all new steel is 50% scrap. Get your scrap ready to turn in now!

WHOSE BOY WILL DIE BECAUSE YOU
FAILED?

THINK about it as protection for our fighting men — something you, yourself, can do to bring as many as possible home alive.

But think about it now — for the scrap in homes, farms and factories has got to be moving to stock piles within the next few weeks OR IT MAY BE TOO LATE!

Maybe you don't know what it means to have production fall off. Maybe you can't imagine how it feels to be hunkered down in a foxhole wishing for just one more clip of cartridges. Or to see the enemy rolling through your lines because you didn't have just a few more tanks!

OR MAYBE YOU DON'T CARE!

We think you do. We feel that our whole community is ready to rise up and bring in the scrap as soon as you get a chance. So you're going to get that chance!

This week we're starting the biggest drive you've ever seen, to get in this precious material. And you're going to pitch in, too, because this situation is serious.

Start collecting your scrap today. If you've got a son in the service, do it for HIM. Do it for the neighbor's boy — for those fine young chaps you just passed, out on the street.

Above all do it for your country . . . and do it now!

Watch this paper for details of the big scrap drive and what you must do to help
