Driver Assessed Fine After Two Cars Collide

Cars driven by William D. Barense of 642 Michigan Ave. and C. R. Trueblood of 91 West 15th St., collided at the crossing of Pine Ave. and 10th St. Wednesday at 12:20 p.m.

Barense was issued a summons for failing to yield the right of way and paid $3 in municipal court this morning after pleading guilty to hit charge.

Witnesses were Paul Mupider of 343 Washington Blvd. and Dorothy Boat of Kalamazoo. Damage to the Trueblood car was estimated at $300 and damage to the car Barense was driving was estimated to be $100.

Income Payments In Michigan Are Up 144 Per Cent

State Payrolls Note Increase Greater Than National Jump

From Our Washington Bureau
Washington, Sept. 23 (Special)—The dollar volume of income payments to Michigan workers has increased 144 per cent from 1929 to 1947—an increase greater than the national jump of 130 per cent.

This is one of the findings of an article on long-term trends in income payments appearing in the September issue of "Survey of Current Business," an official publication of the Department of Commerce.

In 1929, Michigan payrolls totaled $3,543,000,000. By last year they had jumped to $8,641,000,000. New York state incomes were the highest in both 1929 ($14 billion) and 1947 ($25 billion). But the increase was only 77 per cent, the lowest reported from any state.

In contrast, New Mexico had the lowest income payments in 1929 ($161 million). But the payments increased 256 per cent over the last 22 years—the greatest increase reported.

The New York and New Mexico increases and similar small and larger increases in those areas are indicative of a pronounced relative shift of income from the New England and Middle Eastern regions to the South and West, reflecting the industrial, commercial and population growth of the newer and less developed parts of the country, Commerce officials pointed out.

The share of the nation's total income payments to individuals received by the New England and Middle Eastern regions declined from 42 per cent in 1929 to 35 per cent in 1947. The proportion of all income received by the Southeast, Southwest, Northwest and Far West increased from 29 per cent to 37 per cent. The share of the large Central region—taking in Michigan—changed little, from 29 per cent to 28 per cent.

Michigan per capita income payments increased from $745 in 1929 to $1,424 in 1947. That's up 91 per cent—not as great an increase as the national per capita income, 95 per cent. But the per capita income in Michigan last year was $101 higher than the national average.

Lowry Statement Erroneous, Says Red Cross Head

Chapter Executives Make Point-by-Point Answer to Charges

Accusations leveled at the American Red Cross by O. W. Lowry of Holland are erroneous and misleading, according to a statement released today by the Rev. William C. Warner, chairman, and the executive committee of the Ottawa county chapter of the Red Cross.

Lowry is a member of the state board of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, Inc.

The derogatory statements to which the chapter referred was issued after the Red Cross had declined to take part in a joint fund raising arrangement sponsored by the United Health and Welfare Fund. Three charges dealt with the handling of Red Cross funds. A fourth was concerned with its service to veterans and the fifth questioned value of the Red Cross Blood Program.

Allegation was to the effect that the Red Cross "demands quotas far out of proportion to its needs and that it builds excessive reserves." According to the chapter leaders here, the Red Cross program has required more money than has been received from the public every year since the end of World War II. They pointed out that a sound business-like plan for using up wartime surplus was adopted in 1945 and it is anticipated that these surplus funds will be nearly depleted by 1951.

Michigan residents last year subscribed the total amount this state's 84 Red Cross chapters sought. Program requirements, however, the chapter's statement reveals cost over $500,000 more than Michigan's citizens were asked to contribute.

Another claim was that World War II veterans had unfortunate experiences with the Red Cross during service and, therefore, do not wish to contribute to it.

Red Cross leaders here were quick to agree that the organization has made mistakes. They reminded their critics that no organization was infallible but for every mistake made, Red Cross workers have performed many helpful deeds and services.

In Michigan alone the Red Cross now holds over 25,000 powers-of-attorney granted by veterans in their claims for government benefits. Each month in Michigan, 250 additional veterans turn to the Red Cross for such aid and guidance in their claims. Michigan's 84 Red Cross chapters helped more than 70,000 servicemen and veterans in personal and family problems during the last year.

This, the chapter pointed out, is 10 times the amount of service requested of the Red Cross by this group before World War II.

Another allegation stated that "many people agree with the American Medical association that the Red Cross blood program is contrary to public policy."

The chapter here stated that the American Medical association has twice endorsed this program and as recently as last June voted to enlarge its committee because "in a program of such national importance, even greater effort and co-operation is needed in the future to attain desired objectives."

Finally the criticism involved Red Cross leadership everywhere by implying that "unwillingness to take part in joint fund raising raises doubts as to the proper administration of Red Cross funds."

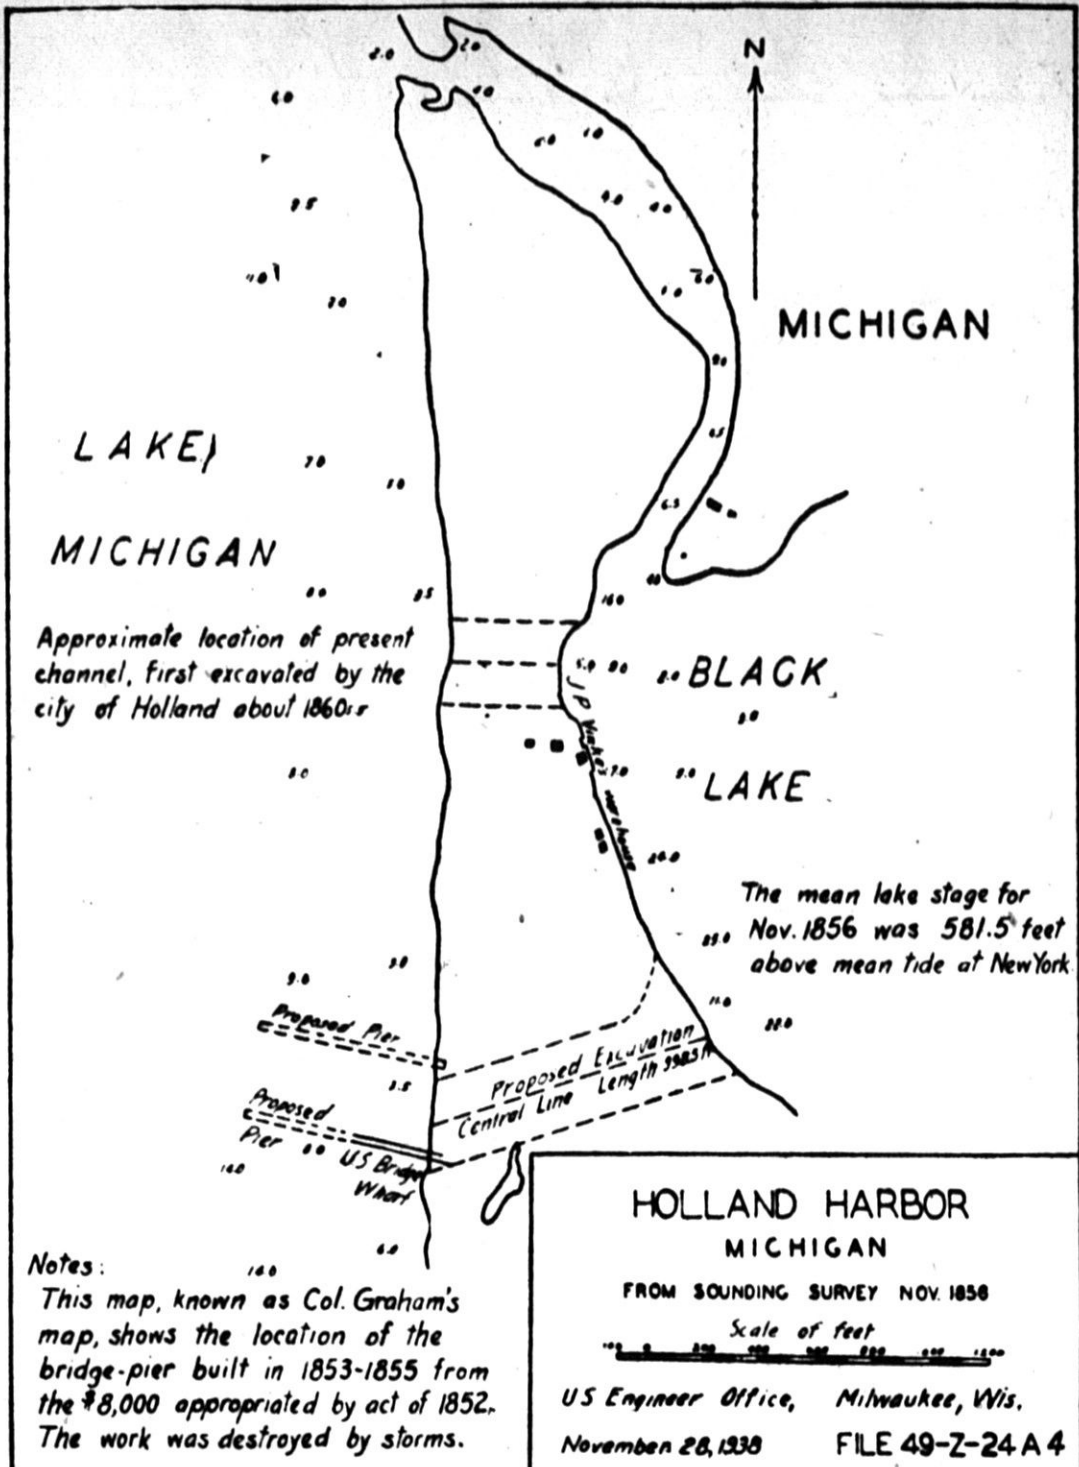

Thousands of leaders of the Red Cross are, also, community leaders, the chapter here reminded the organization's critics. The board of governors in which Congress has invested the powers of its direction and management is composed of 50 outstanding men and women, 30 of whom are chosen by the chapters, 12 by the board itself and eight by the President of the United States. The board is composed of community, state and national leaders from various parts of the nation having varied pursuits but similar records of service to the people. Two of these board members are residents of Michigan. These are Mr. Arthur Vandenberg of Grand Rapids and Herbert T. Trix of Detroit.

It was explained that a finance committee of this board recommends the national fund campaign goal of the Red Cross. The committee findings based on careful study are taken from local chapter budgets and from the amount voted by the national organization to give professional service to its chapters or to carry out programs of the organization. Quotas for funds are made up by individual chapters like this one, plus the amount needed by the national organization to meet its chapter obligations.

The national accounts of the Red Cross are subject to three audits, including an audit by the Department of the Army which files its report with Congress.

The American Red Cross, the local chapter's statement concluded, is entirely willing to leave the decision of its support in the hands of the American people.

Notes: This map, known as Col. Graham's map, shows the location of the bridge-pier built in 1853-1855 from the $8,000 appropriated by act of 1852. The work was destroyed by storms.

Coffee kietzers will talk about other topics now since the dispute on the original location of the local channel has been settled. This War department map shows the original channel, at top, the present channel and the proposed channel which was never cut. The drawing was obtained by M.G. Manting, considered as an authority on early Holland history.

Local Channel Dispute Settled by Official Map

The original channel between Black Lake (now Lake Macatawa) and Lake Michigan definitely lay north of the present channel, this official map of the chief engineer's office of the War Department shows.

Arguments on the location of the original channel have lived-on coffee kietzers for a long time, but now M. G. Manting, a local historian among other things, submits definite proof of his statements on original channel location in an article in the Sentinel's 1947 Centennial edition.

This reproduction of the War department map shows the original channel considerably north of the present channel, crossing what is now Holland State park at Ottawa beach. The map also shows the present channel and the proposed channel. No cut was ever made in the proposed channel.

Lt. Gen. R. A. Wheeler, chief of engineers, says: "In 1860 local citizens financed and dredged a channel from Black Lake to Lake Michigan, maintaining it until 1867 when the federal government took over the improvement of the harbor. This new channel was about 1,800 feet south of the natural outlet from the lake, and about 1,400 feet north of the proposed channel where no channel was ever cut. Relative locations of the channels are shown on the accompanying map."

Manting says this proves his contention that when the Hollanders came here in 1847 the only connection between Black lake and Lake Michigan was the one shown on the map.

Volleys From Ambush

Rumor has a way of getting around, and one of the functions a newspaper performs is to kill off rumors by printing the truth. For instance, there is a current rumor that an American flier had purchased a car in England for several hundred dollars less than the same car would have cost in the United States. The Sentinel asked for an explanation and from F. J. Urquhart, regional manager, received a reply that the story was only partly correct, although an original story had quoted the flier's father.

Urquhart didn't take the trouble to deny the story; he just sent along a clipping from a newspaper that clears up the whole matter. Following is the story:

If you think you can get a new car cheaper in London or Buenos Aires than in your home town, forget it.

This idea got around recently when a story about an airline pilot and his new car came to light. But the story had some missing elements—and they make the whole thing considerably less rosy for frustrated would-be new car buyers.

This was the first story: The pilot, Dick Wells of Lake Orion, Mich., was reported to have ordered a Studebaker in this country more than a year ago.

Then during a stopover in London, he talked to a dealer there and was able to make arrangements to get a car, with delivery to be made in South Bend, Ind.

The price, so the story went, was to be $1,820 as compared with the $2,387 tag on the car he had ordered in this country. He picked up a can after he returned to the United States.

Here are the missing details as supplied by the Studebaker Corp. The car, ordered by Wells in London was a sedan in the company's least expensive line. It sells at $1,803.70 in South Bend with certain specified equipment and accessories. Wells actually paid $1,817.70, the extra $14 covered charges in export sales transactions.

The $2,387 was the price for a convertible in a more expensive line with stipulated equipment and accessories.

The pilot gave a London hotel as his address in placing the order there and the English dealer accepted it with the provision that the car would be brought to England. Shipping agents estimate that would involve a little item of about $600 including ocean shipping charges, boxing and marine insurance.

The Ambassador is indebted to the Rev. C. A. Stoppes for the following story, illustrative of the time of year. In the fall, ministers of the Reformed churches usually schedule their house visits for the winter season. And in the Stoppes' household several years ago such a program was being drawn up.

And at school the teachers were planning for PTA meetings and one teacher told her children they should urge their parents to attend. As an added inducement the teacher told her class the parents would "probably welcome a chance to go out in the evening." Whereupon one of the Stoppes children volunteered his parents probably wouldn't. "We're glad when daddy has a chance to be at home one evening a month."

And the story reminded the Ambassador of another he heard sometime ago. A congregation was making heavy demands on the time of a young minister and his popular wife. Finally an influential member of the church asked the minister's wife how long it had been since they had spent an evening together. Shocked at the reply, the parishioner got together with another man in the church and the two demanded that the minister and his wife appear at a certain obscure function together.

When the minister and his wife arrived, the two conspirators handed them a pair of tickets to a play, tickets on the commuters train and shoved them aboard, telling them not to worry about their children, because the two had engaged a reliable baby sitter.

The gratitude of the minister's family was such that the arrangement was continued on a monthly basis for several years before anyone else found out about it. Ashamed of themselves, the congregation now stipulates that the minister and his family must have certain days to themselves.

This actually happened in a New England Episcopal church.

Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg is really feeling good these days. And it's all because he beat Sipp's "utman's record while" sea fishing in Lake Superior a short time ago. During the two-day trip Smallenburg caught 10 fish and Houtman and Bill Winstrom caught only five between them.

What's more, Smallenburg said he had to tell Houtman on one occasion there was a fish on the line—not a snag. It turned out to be an eight-pound trout which Houtman landed with his usual finesse.

Houtman admitted the "snag" story and credited Smallenburg's big catch to "beginner's luck."

Plans were made and fall projects were discussed by the group. Herbert L. Vander Ploeg directs 4-H handicraft activities at the Lakewood school.

But there wasn't a trace of "sour apes" when he said it.

CREDIT FAN Cornelius Van Loo with being about as interested a sports spectator as you will find in Holland. Van Loo, who was 72 years old Sept. 14, never missed a baseball game the Flying Dutchmen played at home this season.

Now Cornie has purchased a season ticket to the Holland Hurricane games. He started following football two years ago and now he ranks the game high in his list of interests.

Perhaps some signal recognition should be accorded by managers of the teams Van Loo follows so closely.

Polkton township (Coopersville area) is the most progressive township in the county. It is the only precinct that has voting machines. What's more, the people there think they're grand. Instructions are given on a small working model before the voter enters the booth.

Political wags spent part of the morning trying to link Tom with Jerries for a November slogan. Tom, of course, is presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey. The Jerries are Vanderbeek and Ford, both successful in Tuesday's primary in Ottawa county. Best headline advanced was "GOP Will Get Tom and Jerries in November."

The Scouters' hoe-down at Allegan last week-end brought some unusual demonstrations in food preparation. These included preparation of turtles, beans cooked in a hole, preparation of dehydrated foods, charcoal cooking and jackknife cooking. There was even apple pie baked in a tin can oven supervised by Bill Filkins. That ought to be handy little trick in case the oven in the kitchen breaks down.

Consider Feed Supplies Now

Checking up on what your feed supplies will be like this winter is good farm business. A little extra thought to feeding problems is recommended by A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college.

Grain fed to cows now that grain is more abundant will pay off in terms of keeping cows in condition to produce effectively, he believes. A grain mixture of 400 pounds of oats, 200 pounds of wheat, 200 pounds of corn and from 100 to 150 pounds of protein concentrate is recommended. Such a mixture fed at the rate of at least one pound for each three and one-half pounds of milk produced is suggested for cows milking over 20 pounds of milk daily.

It's also very important to store an abundant supply of roughage in the forms of hay and silage. Additional silage may be stored in temporary or pit silos.

Baltzer says that farmers who filled the silo with grass or molasses grass silage in June have a splendid source of feed which is adaptable to meet conditions facing dairymen at the moment.

Fortifying the feed situation by having grass silage fed during the early fall pays off. It is expected that more and more farmers will plan to fill silos in 1949 with grass and molasses grass silage to maintain higher levels of milk production.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

WHAT IS THE queerest great book in American literature? Some enterprising publisher might make a killing proposing that as a subject for discussion.

My own guess would be "Moby-Dick." I say this on the basis of a recent rereading of Herman Melville's celebrated classic. It is almost exactly a hundred years ago now that Melville began work on his book: "Moby-Dick" was published in 1851. But a century has not been long enough time to take away the sense of strangeness from his more talked about than read opus.

Not least strange is the fact suggested in that phrase, "more talked about than read." For that is literally true. Almost any literate person will make a casual reference to "Moby-Dick," but ask any group of college graduates how many have actually read the book and you will frequently not get a single hand, or at the most one or two. "Moby-Dick" is a very famous book—by reputation. In that it differs from "Huckleberry Finn" and "The Scarlet Letter" and other books of that type.

Another ingredient in the strangeness of "Moby-Dick" is the fact that nobody knows how to classify it. Is it a novel? Is it a handbook on the whaling industry? Is it a disguised autobiography? It is an allegory, like the "Book of Job," as Lewis Mumford suggests? There is no answer. When recently Somerset Maugham chose it as the single American representative in the list of 10 great world novels he admitted that there is no answer, although by including it in the list he seemed to say that it is a novel.

But like all others who have faced the question, he simply steepled the issue. "Moby-Dick" is usually classified as a novel for no better reason than the fact that the classifiers do not know what else to call it. Public libraries, for the same reason, place it on the fiction shelf.

Then, as an element in the strangeness of "Moby-Dick" there is the question, "What does it mean?" Any number of commentators, from Lewis Mumford years ago to Ellery Sedgwick within recent years, have hazarded answers. But again, Somerset Maugham, in his recent re-appraisal, suggested that he learned next to nothing from all those guesses; he felt that an intelligent reader might much better approach the book without such interpretations.

If "Moby-Dick" is a novel, it is so thin in plot that the whole of the action could be summarized in a few printed lines. Captain Ahab has his leg bitten off by a white whale called Moby-Dick. He organizes a whaling expedition for the express purpose of finding and killing Moby-Dick. After a search of a year or two he does find the whale, engages him in combat, but is destroyed by him. And the whale destroys the whole vessel and all its crew, with a single exception—the man who tells the story.

That is all—hardly enough for a short story. But the book is a long one of some 600 pages. The bulk of the volume is taken up with descriptions of whaling operations: how whales are harpooned, how their blubber is tried out, what weapons are used to capture them, how they are lashed to a vessel while their oil is being removed, and a thousand, rather than ten, other facts. Melville leaves nothing about whaling unsaid.

Perhaps it is the strangest book in American literature. Also one of the greatest. It frequently finds a place among the "six greatest books produced on this continent."

HCL Bother You? Look at Salaries of Yesteryear

Persons concerned with the high cost of living (and who isn't) might appreciate a look into incomes in Holland more than 50 years ago.

A collection of city clerk's records in July, 1896, contains canceled checks listing amounts for services and purchases which today would appear ridiculous in the face of HCL.

Length of time for services is not always included in the explanation. One check listed $1 for Fred Kammerbeek for cleaning the city jail and $10.67 for his salary as deputy marshal.

Two checks for the Board of Public Works listed $3.20 for the light in the tower clock and $5 for water at the two engine houses.

Several checks are written for sidewalks. One man received a for $1.50 each for laying sidewalk in front of certain lots. Another check was for $1.92 for nails for sidewalks. On man received a check for 75 cents for burying a dog. Another check for $5 was written for 14 cords of field stone.

Special policemen were paid at the rate of 20 cents an hour and several checks were issued for $3 apiece for 15 hours' service. Another man received $32.50 for 26 days of labor. Another check was for $56.80 for 26 days of labor and 12 yards of gravel at 40 cents a yard.

One man was paid $18 for nine days' service copying first district assessment rolls. Another was paid $2 for 100 oak stakes.

The largest check was for $250 as part payment on contract for map, plans, etc., for the general sewer program. All checks were signed by James De Young as mayor and George H. Sipp as city clerk. All were drawn on "Treasurer of the City of Holland" rather than on a bank but they were cashed by Holland City State bank and First State bank. Few checks had endorsements.

Archers, Gummen Will Overlap In Allegan Area

Buckshot Season Will Conform to Regular General State Times

Lansing, Sept. 23.—Shotgun and rifle hunters will get their chances at Allegan county deer this year, and archers will have to compete with them in hunting during portions of their season.

But the bowmen will get a 45-day jump on the gunners in Allegan, and bows and arrows may still be used on both bucks and does for 15 days after the close of the regular season.

The conservation department points out that the Nov. 15-30 buckshot season in southern Michigan counties will also apply to Allegan, which has had a bow and arrow season since 1941.

To clear up some doubts about the Allegan season, the conservation commission has specifically provided a buckshot season for Nov. 15-30 for bucks with three-inch antlers, to conform with the general season.

A bow and arrow season on deer of either sex from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15 this year in Allegan was previously provided by the commission. Archers may also take either bucks or does from Oct. 11 to Nov. 15 in 17 other counties, which were opened to this type of hunting last year.

In a special controlled season Dec. 1-10, 500 hunters may shoot antlerless deer with firearms in a 35,000-acre area in the vicinity of Hamilton in Allegan county. Archers may also hunt at the same time.

Applications to hunt in the special season must be received by the game division by Oct. 5, and the drawing of names will be Oct. 11.

Last year, 300 hunters were allowed on an area of 24,000 acres in this county. Farmers' reports of deer damage, particularly to celery, have been numerous in the area specified for the special antlerless season this year.

William Appledorn, Jr., Weds Miss Lois Timmer

Mr. and Mrs. William Appledorn, Jr.

Miss Lois Marjorie Timmer and William Appledorn, Jr., spoke their marriage vows Saturday at 4 o'clock in a charming double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Marion de Velder in Hope church. White gladioli, palms, ferns and candelabra decorated the chancel.

The bride is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Albert H. Timmer, 697 Maple Ave., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Appledorn, Sr., 267 West 15th St.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a period gown of ivory slipper satin featuring a net yoke, an off-the-shoulder shirred flounce edged with net, long pointed sleeves and fitted bodice. The full skirt was caught up to reveal ruffled flounces and extended into a circular train. ## Garden Club Holds First At Home Flower Show

The attractive homes of Mrs. Otto van der Velde, Mrs. Ervin Schneider, Mrs. Robert Runnells, Mrs. Herman Pleasant, Mrs. Peter Van Dornen, Jr., Mrs. William Tahaney and Mrs. Charles R. Sligh, Jr., all on South Shore Dr., became focal points of beauty Thursday afternoon as the Holland Tulip Garden club presented its initial "At Home Flower Show" under the direction of Mrs. Herman Harms.

Garden club members and their guests toured each home and were impressed by the wide scope and artistry of the various classes. They were taken from the formal "line arrangements" to the informal "out of the kitchen," from bold "porch arrangements" to delicate groupings in antique containers; from the elegant "books and flowers" to the simple "berries and foliage," and a grand finale of the colorful "harvest theme."

Each home was further beautified with artistic arrangements for mantle and dining room that conformed with the furnishings and decorations in that particular home. These were non-competitive and invitational for previous blue ribbon winners of the 1947-48 spring flower show.

Those who carried out this feature under the chairmanship of Mrs. Egbert Gold were the Mesdames John Good, C. M. Selby, Frank Lackie, John Bowman, J. Lang, Chester Van Tongeren, L. W. Stallkamp, Annie S. Perkins, Thad Taft, Claude Lamoreaux, O. W. Lowry, E. Heuvelhorst, Paul Fredrickson and Robert Vischer. An additional feature was a charming tea at the home of Mrs. Pleasant, under the supervision of Mrs. Harold Jensen, Mrs. Victor Watkins and Mrs. Selby. Honorary members of the garden club poured.

Corsages worn by the hostesses and chairmen were made by Mrs. Van Tongeren and Mrs. Watkins. Winners in the various classes are listed:

Class I, Mrs. C. B. Stewart, chairman, (arrangements in antique containers)—first, Mrs. Thad Taft; second, Mrs. H. M. Jensen,

A nuisance on Central Ave. between 14th and 15th Sts. whereby water collects on sidewalks during heavy rains and spring thaws was referred to the Sidewalk committee. A representative in the audience said the surface between the sidewalk and the curb is too high and drains water onto the sidewalk instead of the curb.

Ald. John Beltman said he felt this would be the responsibility of the property owners but in case of city-owned property, the city is responsible.

A proposal to resurface the brick portion of East Eighth St. from the railroad tracks to Fairbanks Ave. was referred to the Street committee.

On resolution of Ald. Harry Harrington, the city was authorized to replace street markers that are down and repair others.

A suggestion of Gerrit Jongma to widen 24th St. between College and Central was referred to the Street committee. Jongma said cars often park there for activities in Longfellow school and the street is too narrow to allow cars to pass between parked cars.

A suggestion from John Koopman to restore the 6th ward polling place to the city building at 19th and College was passed from committee to committee and finally referred to the two 6th ward aldermen, William Meengs and Peter Kromann. MORE SMART THAN DIGNIFIED

To the impartial mind a petty interchange of repartee by Congressman Clare Hoffman and Webb Magnor, at the recent Aero-quip strike hearing in Grand Rapids, was more smart than dignified. Magnor is the international representative of the CIO and he was being questioned by the Allegan congressman.

As reported in the newspapers
the question of the educational equipment of the congressman and the witness came up—rather irrelevantly, it would seem, at least from the point of view of the public concerned only in getting at the actual facts of the Jackson strike. "I got through college without the help of the government," wisecracked Hoffman, as reporters quoted him.
"Yes," the witness shot back, "but you got your help from the government later"—meaning that Hoffman has for years been getting a salary as congressman.

That reply by the witness was obviously unfair. A congressman
no more "gets help from the government" because he draws a salary than does a CIO official who is paid a salary by his union. The assumption is that a Congressman gives full value for the money he draws from the public treasury. If he does, there is no call for the sneer that he is getting charity from Uncle Sam. He is earning his way and he is under no other obligation to the government. He can hold his head high as a self-respecting citizen who works for what he makes.

But in this case, it would seem,
the fiery Allegan congressman got after what was coming to him. After all, he was the aggressor, and the witness was within his rights to answer sneer with sneer. "I got through college without help from the government,"
left the implication that the witness did not. How Mr. Magnor got his education the report does not say, but his youth would suggest that it was through the G. I.
Bill of Rights. If Mr. Hoffman was reproaching the witness for getting his education in that way,
the Allegan man deserved to have his nose tweaked.

No one who got, or is getting,
his education in that way at the expense of the government, is under obligation to feel that he has been the object of governmental charity. He is merely getting what he has richly earned. He has as much a right to self-respect as the congressman.

This little interchange of satirical remarks was unworthy of both of the men involved; all the more so because it was irrelevant. But in this case the reproach falls chiefly on the congressman. After all, he is the older of the two and should know better, and he was the representative of the nation. A certain degree of dignity might reasonably be required of a public man who represents all the people.

Sunday School
Lesson

September 26, 1948
Eunice, Lois and Timothy
Acts 16:1-5; 15:13-15;
2 Timothy 1:13-14

By Henry Geerlings

Timothy came into Paul's life
during the first Galatian mission,
when he visited the little colony called Lystra, which lay in the seclusion of a glen about eight miles from the main road. There an earnest lad of about fifteen,
listened to the message of Paul and Barnabas, which fitted so marvelously with the scriptural lessons of his mother. It was to his mother, Eunice, and his grandmother Lois, that Timothy owed the molding of his character.
There was never a time in his whole experience when the majestic words of psalmist and prophet were unfamiliar to his ear.
The book was no less a part of the growing lad's daily life than the sky above him and the earth beneath his feet. He had inherited the religious instinct from Eunice, and through her influence he remained true to it.

Timothy looked for a Messiah.
Now he heard of Jesus as the Christ. He saw the lame man healed, and the excited heathen priests preparing divine honors for the two visitors. He heard the eager remonstrances and caught the sullen mutterings of the disillusioned mob which culminated in attempted murder. Paul, the chief speaker was left for dead
and thrown out side the gates.
But he recovered consciousness and it is probable that the injured missionary was carried to the house of Eunice and her mother Lois and tenderly nursed.

Thus it seems to have come about that the son of the house, who all his life showed signs of missing a father's care, expanded into filial love for Paul and a reverence for Paul's Master. A few weeks later the Apostles revisited the little country town to strengthen their followers. And from this time on Timothy was a Christian.
Paul's heart, still sore for Mark,
yearned for youthful companionship, and was drawn to his recent convert. He carried the memory of the lad with him in his absence,
and recalled to him long years after how the day of his serious injuries was the time when their path first interfused.

So remote a colony as Lystra
must have had educational disadvantages. But there is an enormous educational force in the Bible. Eunice's careful training and Lois's shrewd comments gave Timothy a foundation which made him thoroughly equipped for his good work. There were, however, certain handicaps. His father had no objections to his learning the old Hebrew scriptures but he had drawn the line at circumcision.
The apostle felt, however, this was an unsatisfactory position for the mission field and Timothy was circumcised. The young man of twenty made a noble profession
of faith, before many witnesses
and in a solemn service of prayer and dedication was set apart for his work.

Timothy was now fairly started on his new calling. The quiet of the glen was exchanged for the bustle of the road. He held a subordinate place in the little company of four—Paul, Silas, Luke, Timothy—and perhaps the finest element in his training was contact with men greater than himself. After Paul and Silas were released from prison in Philippi, Timothy remained with Luke.
Soon after he rejoined Paul in Thessalonica as the bearer of gifts
from Philippi, the first help of the kind that came to the apostle in his great enterprise. Timothy and Silas remained in Berea when Paul fled to Athens, but he sent word for them to follow him.
Timothy apparently went to Athens, but was sent back to Thessalonica because of disturbances there. Timothy and Silas later went to Corinth with more gifts from Philippi and also from Thessalonica and Berea.

His life after this is full, but difficult to trace for a little time.
By inference we gather hints of a troubled visit to his old home
and a report to Paul at Syrian Antioch which led to the vigorous Galatian epistle and a completely victorious visit afterwards.
We hear of work in Ephesus and his neighborhood. There is evidence of at least one visit to Corinth. Then comes a deputation with Erastus to Philippi, and the other Macedonian stations, in connection with Paul's great financial fund for the poor Jews.
Timothy was made representative of his own city in presenting this at Jerusalem.

Paul's sudden arrest blurs our knowledge of Timothy's doings
at this point. The next clear view we get of him is in Rome, where after several years he is seen alleviating Paul's captivity by his thoughtful attentions. He was faithful when others flickered.
Timothy probably lacked genius but he had goodness. He could be counted on to the limit. That is loyalty is probably the fundamental trait in character.

In this lesson we have a grandmother, mother and a son. There's was a noble family relationship.
In the home people learn to practice the virtues that should be followed in society as a whole.
We can never have Christian attitudes in business, statesmanship,
recreation, or even in the church,
unless we learn them in the home.

Holland
In 1915

John Shoemaker miraculously escaped instant death when riding his motorcycle at about 40 miles an hour when he struck an auto, began a story in the Saturday Sept. 4, issue of the Holland
Daily Sentinel published in 1915.
He was thrown 40 feet through the air and landed in front of another machine escaping from being run over after his fall by about four feet. The accident happened last evening about 9 on the Park road near Dan Bertsch's residence.

The clergy and church heads of Holland are preparing a royal reception for Dr. S. M. Zwemer,
F. R. G. S., and the Rev. James Cantine, D. D., who are well known as the founders of the Arabian missions, who will be in Holland Wednesday.

The closing meeting of the "Mother's Council of 1915" was held in the Woman's club house
on Friday afternoon with a large number of women present. For the last two years, during July and August, the mothers of Holland and vicinity have met weekly to discuss affairs pertaining to the home, giving considerable attention to the subject, "The Training of Children" and the exchange of experiences and ideas has been most helpful to young mothers. Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. and the personal direction of Mrs. C. S. Dutton the council has so grown that to accommodate those who wished to attend this last meeting the Woman's building was secured.

Tomorrow the Hope Reformed church will observe the third anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. A. F. Bruske.

On Labor day the last celebration of the season will be given at Jensen Park. The park management has arranged for a different attraction than ordinarily given and this will be in addition to the bands and the regular park attractions.

Ottawa county's share of the primary school fund this year amounts to $113,259. The state's tax paid by the county amounts to $132,080.

The Rev. McCreery of the Wesleyan Methodist church will preach his farewell sermon Sunday, Sept. 5.

This morning at 8 o'clock the first bell rang and at 8:30 a.m.
some 2,300 students were in their places in the various school buildings in the city of Holland, according to a story appearing in the Tuesday, Sept. 7, issue. All the high school teachers that were here last year with the exception of Miss Belcher are back for the present school year. John J. Riemersma, former Hope college student and a 1915 graduate of the University of Michigan, takes Miss Belcher's place as teacher of mathematics. The other high school teachers besides Principle C. E. Drew are Harvey P.
Pettit, mathematics; Albert J. Es-selsky, physical science; Lida
Rogers, natural science; Lida

Unexpectedly but calmly and peacefully, surrounded by his family—that is how death came to Dr. G. J. Kollen, president-emeritus of Hope college, Sunday
at 8:30 a.m. at his home on West 11th street.

On account of the broken up condition of the highway to Lakewood farm owing to the building of the cement road, it was thought at first that the George Getz exhibit at the fair might not all be placed on exhibition this year.
But some way will be devised to get all of it there. It is the intention to take the Lakewood outfit to Ottawa Beach and load it on a scow and in that way take it to Holland and to the fair grounds.

The Rev. Y. P. De Jonge of the De Jonge is also considering a call from a church on Fifteenth St.

the "at days" here, returned to

Marathon Gas, Oil Sold by Harrison

Marathon gasoline and motor oil are sold by Ray Harrison at the Harrison Super Service station, 677 Michigan Ave. He has operated the station for 12 years.

VEP motor oil also is sold exclusively by him. This oil has magnetic-like film that clings to vital engine parts, preventing damaging "dry" starts. It "stays put" at high temperatures and protects the bearings against corrosion.

The constant cleaning action of the oil keeps the car's motor clean, valves and rings free, oil holes and lines open. It's triple-plus film strength means more than three times as much protection as ordinary oil against shock and pressure.

Mr. Harrison also sells a car wax called Mac's-It. It gives your car a ten carat sparkle and toughness the finish to last for years. It is a revolutionary idea in car protection and is made with synthetic resins in place of the usual wax base. Many Mac's-It users go over their job with Mac's Super Gloss polish every 60 to 90 days. This light cleaner does not remove the Mac's-It finish but keeps the surfaces clean.

Let Ford Dealer Service Your Car

It is necessary to keep your car in perfect running order, for although new cars are being received, production still is far behind demand. That is the opinion of John Vrieling, local Ford dealer.

He maintains an excellent service garage at 159 River Ave. Genuine Ford parts are sold at the garage and you will always get the best mechanical experience, finest materials and guaranteed fullest satisfaction at Vrieling Motor Sales. It's wise to remember there's no place like home for Ford service—your Ford dealer knows your Ford best. Experienced men will service your car at the local Ford garage.

Al Bouman, who has had many years of mechanical experience, is in charge of the service department. Irvin Vrieling and Ben Lanning head the parts department where an adequate stock is kept of genuine Ford parts.

Scotlen Will Try For Senate Again

Dr. Adrian H. Scotlen of Portland, Maine, unsuccessful candidate on the Democratic ticket in Maine for a seat in the United States Senate, intends to run for that office again. In a letter to The Sentinel he writes, "Two years from now I expect to run for Congress in the first district and four years from now, I expect to run again for the U. S. Senate against Senator Brewster or whoever may be my opponent."

Dr. Scotlen lived in Michigan for 18 years and is a former Holland resident. He attended Hope college and worked in Dr. Abraham Leenhouts' office while here. Scotlen was defeated in the recent election by Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, a Republican who is serving her fifth term in Congress. Her election in Maine won national recognition because it marked the first outright election of a Republican woman to the United States Senate for a full term.

The Scotlen generation has been attending Hope college for many years. Dr. Scotlen attended Hope for two years and two of his brothers are Hope graduates, the Rev. George Scotlen of Neshanic, N. J., and the Rev. Walter Scotlen of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Health Official Reports X-Ray Survey Results

Advocates Repeating Picture-Taking Unit Every Three Years

Dr. C. Dale Barrett, head of the Ottawa county health department, recently reported that 55 cases of tuberculosis were uncovered in the county last spring by the chest X-ray survey. Of the 55 found, five were discovered before the 17,506 chest X-rays were taken.

"Although the results of the survey may be considered satisfactory as indicated by the 50 new cases discovered among a 34 percent sample of the adult population, the 1948 survey was but a demonstration and points the way to what can be accomplished by a total community participation in future chest X-ray surveys," he states.

"If the survey could be repeated annually or at least every three years, essentially all of the active and infectious cases of TB would be found and the disease might well be eradicated in this country in 20 years or less," Dr. Barrett further emphasizes.

Grand Haven had 15 cases discovered, which leads the list of cities including Holland with 13 and Zeeland with 4. In the rural areas there were 21 cases and two were non-county residents. Spring Lake township had eight; Grand Haven township one; Crookery township one and the balance in other townships.

There were five old cases detected all of whom needed hospitalization and these persons became voluntarily patients and are all hospitalized now.

Of the total number of X-rays taken about 500 were non-county residents which leaves approximately 17,000 residents in the county that were X-rayed. Thus 34 per cent of the entire adult population, based on an estimated 50,000 over age 14, were X-rayed. Out of the total there were 250 suspects; 153 were found with suspicious cases of cardiovascular disease, two suspicious tumor cases and 583 abnormal X-rays. The total X-rays was 17,506 of which 16,923 were found normal.

A definite pattern of diagnostic procedures was recommended for a more precise evaluation of each TB suspect as found through the tuberculin test, large film X-ray repeat, laboratory examination of sputum and patient conference with a chest consultant.

There have been 63 new cases of tuberculosis from the county reported to the health department so far this year. Last year there were 27 new cases; 15 in 1946; 16 in 1945; 19 in 1944 and 35 in 1943. Mr. Barrett says that this increase is predominately due to better and more intensive case finding methods and the X-ray survey has been largely responsible in bringing these cases to light.

It now costs an average of $7 per day to hospitalize TB patients which totals $2,555 per year per patient. The present hospital load of 22 patients costs the taxpayers $56,210 per year.

The proper and sound approach to reducing our expensive hospitalization for each case prevented saves the taxpayer about $2,500 per year. This saving alone is nearly equivalent to the annual cost of a public health nurse who is of immeasurable value to the community in the prevention of the disease.

In addition to hospital costs there are incidental costs for surgical operations and streptomycin.

There are 186 persons in Ottawa county known to the health department who are afflicted with TB. All but five have TB of the lungs. Of the 186, 43 have an active form of the disease, 89 have an inactive disease and 30 are persons with TB whose disease activity is yet undetermined. There are 22 patients now hospitalized in various sanatoria. There are 12 additional patients for whom hospitalization has been advised but who have refused this care. All of this group are under closest surveillance of the health department, states Dr. Barrett.

Holland Brand Covers Several Market Areas

Friday, two visitors in town, F. A. Jorgenson, of Champaign, Ill., and Louis Nielson, of Galesburg, Ill., brought with them an interesting item out of the past.

Back in 1869, George W. Linn and Sons, of Chicago, began buying butter which was made in Holland, shipping it around the countryside from their business establishment in Chicago, thereby originating, "Holland brand butter."

For their trademark, the Linn company adopted a picture of a Dutch boy and girl, in Netherlands costume, and the slogan, "Always fresh and sweet, try it." In 1920, the Pioneer Creamery, an Illinois corporation, bought the Holland Brand Butter company, and marketed Holland brand butter over a larger area than before, extending this product about the New England states and along the eastern seaboard as far south as Washington, D.C.

1928 brought about the consolidation of the Pioneer company with the Beatrice Creamery company, which later changed to the Beatrice Foods company, of which Nielson and Jorgenson are representatives.

At this, the Holland trademark became property of the Beatrice company, and has been used on much of their butter since. "Although distribution of this butter 'of Holland,' has been confined to a smaller area in past years, it still is sold in the east, mostly in the Boston area, and in and around Chicago.

Nielson and Jorgenson are vacationing in the mid-west, and included Holland on their list of stops, as they always have been curious to see the Tulip City, and the place where one of their brands originated.

Two Badly Hurt In M-21 Crash

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kuipers of Grand Rapids were in serious condition today in St. Mary's hospital following an accident at 9:45 p.m. Friday in which Kuipers' car crashed into a truck almost crosswise in the road on the east-bound road of the M-21 divided highway three-quarters of a mile east of Hudsonville.

The accident occurred as Don Westrate, route 2, Holland, sought to make a left turn off the east-bound road to go to his truck loaded with onions which had stalled earlier on the westbound road. Westrate had gone to Hudsonville to borrow a truck from Vande Bunte's yard to re-load the onions.

Sheriff's officers said Westrate attempted the turn on a narrow private crossroad, and then backed up when he could not make the turn. The Kuipers car approached at a time when no lights were visible and the driver told officers he did not see the truck until he was about two car lengths away.

Kuipers then swerved to the right but the car hit the right rear corner of the truck, tearing out the entire left side of the car and wedging the car under the truck. Kuipers was thrown under the truck and his wife was thrown to the floor of the car against a broken steering wheel.

Kuipers received severe back injuries and injuries to his left arm. Mrs. Kuipers injuries were not determined immediately but she is believed to have fractured ribs and internal injuries.

Kuipers told officers the truck driver got out of the cab and raised his hand but it was too late for the car to stop.

Officers planned to question Westrate today.

Grand Haven opened the scoring. After taking the initial kickoff, they moved down the field to the eight-yard line when John Butcher went around end for John Swartz was good making the score Grand Haven 7, Holland 0.

Extra Point Is Winning Margin For Hurricanes

Locals Capitalize On Costly Fumble By Grand Rapids Team

Holland's Hurricanes grabbed a fumble in early moments of their game with the Grand Rapids All-Stars and rang up seven points. The Canes then successfully protected their lead and went on to win 7-6 before 3,500 shirt-sleeved fans at Grand Rapids South field, Tony Kutchin's place kick went wide in the third period, to leave the Hurricanes out in front.

The Hurricanes capitalized on a Grand Rapids fumble soon after the opening kickoff. After Holland had kicked-off to Grand Rapids, Dick Gibson smacked the Hurricanes line for three yards. On the next play the All-Stars fumbled and Frank Garzelloni recovered on the All-Stars 28-yard marker. Rudy Belik hit center for four yards and M. Alyworth picked up five yards on two plays. On the next play, Alyworth flipped a pass to Vern Vande Water on the All-Stars 11-yard line. Holland was offside on the next play, moving the ball back to the 16-yard line.

Vande Water took the ball on the "T" and tossed a flat pass to Don Leeuw who scampered over the goal untouched. Vande Water's kick for the extra point was good and Holland took a 7-0 lead.

Grand Rapids scored its lone touchdown late in the 3rd quarter. With the ball resting on Holland's 14-yard line, Ronald Klampert took a low pass from center and booted the ball. Dick Pins, All-Star center, broke through and blocked the kick. Frank Wronko scooped up the loose ball and ran it over the goal for the score. The extra point try was no good.

Each team threatened to score at other times during the game. Most determined bid was by the All-Stars in the first quarter when they moved the ball to the Hurricane's two-yard line. However, the Hurricanes held and punted out from their own one-yard line.

The Hurricanes made 10 first downs to nine for Grand Rapids. The local eleven attempted 15 passes, completing seven, and one was intercepted. Grand Rapids tried nine passes and completed three while one was intercepted. Each team was penalized 45 yards. Play for both teams was spotted with ineffective blocking and tackling throughout the second half. Several times the defensive team was able to spill offensive runners for substantial losses.

Outstanding players for the local team were Jason De Vries, Rudy Belik, Frank Garzelloni, Alyworth and Jim Schurman.

Scores of Holland fans were at the game.

Origin of the fire is not known. Mrs. Nelson, who had not been feeling well, was working in the kitchen when she felt a dizzy spell coming on. She fainted. When she came to, the room was in flames. Firemen were called and stayed on the scene for a half-hour. The fire occurred at 7 a.m.

Mr. Nelson had already left for work and a daughter, Norma, was in another part of the house at the time.

Observers said there was a small kerosene stove in the kitchen and an oven. Building Inspector George Zuverink said the kerosene stove could not have caused the fire.

Sprays Tested on Apple Trees for Pre-Harvest Drop

Naphthalene Acetic Acid Found Effective After Careful Check

East Lansing—Pre-harvest drop of apples may be effectively controlled with concentrated applications of naphthalene acetic acid. So say three Michigan State college horticulturists, A. E. Mitchell, Walter Toenjes, and C. L. Hamner. The specialists conducted their tests at the Graham Experiment station during the 1947 season.

Applications of the hormone varied in concentration from 10 to 100 parts per million and were made during the early evening hours when there was only a slight breeze. A careful check was made on the number of apples dropped prior to harvest by the trees of each treatment, as well as those dropped by the untreated trees which served as controls.

Results showed that concentrations of 37.5 and 100 parts per million of naphthalene acetic acid applied as aerosols using different types of airblast sprayers were as effective as the conventional concentration of 10 parts per million applied with the conventional hydraulic sprayer. Dry dusts were not effective on dry foliage, but dry dust may be applied to wet trees or wet dust may be applied to dry trees.

Concentrated spray applications should save both time and labor for the orchardist since the spray tank will need refilling less frequently. Work is already under way to develop a means of applying concentrated sprays for the entire growing season that also will be effective in controlling insects and diseases on fruits grown under Michigan conditions.

Rusted Tools Can Be Brought Back To Good Condition

Have you ever had trouble with tools rusting? There are few people who haven't accidentally left a saw in the wet grass over night or had a favorite hammer grow rusty.

Carl F. Albrecht, agricultural engineer at Michigan State college, points out that prevention of rust is easier than getting rid of it but that a few steps will help bring tools back to good shape again.

If just a light coating of rust has formed on the tool, the chances are you'll be able to rub practically all of it off with a rag soaked in kerosene or light oil. The oil will also act as a seal and prevent further rusting.

But for the real bad ones, rusted so severely that they're pitted, more drastic steps are needed. Albrecht advises starting with a mild abrasive—pumice stone and oil, for example. If that doesn't do the job, he recommends about a 240 grit emery cloth and oil. It's possible that you may need even coarser material such as a rotary wire brush, then 180 grit emery cloth and oil, then 240 grit and finally pumice and oil to complete the job and give it a smooth, shiny finish.

Preventing rust is easier in the long run, he says. For long time storage, tools should be coated with heavy oil or light grease. For ordinary shop storage, see that tools are in dry cabinets, never near salts, alkalies, or acids. Keep a rag and some light oil handy to make it convenient to apply a little oil to the tools occasionally. Don't forget to keep the rags in an air-tight container to prevent fire.

Campaign Planned for Fire Prevention Week

Ask yourself this question: Considering the costs of fire in losses of lives of property, lives, and food, can anyone afford to allow fire hazards around the farm?

National Fire Prevention week will be observed this year beginning the week of Oct. 3. A nationwide campaign for the elimination of fire hazards is planned for this week.

Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, cautions that the best defense against fire is alertness. Check your farm now for possible causes of fire. Do your part to help cut the annual toll of 100 million dollars and 3,500 lives lost in farm fires in the United States.

Some butterflies, like flowers, have fragrance. These smell of sweet grass, jasmine, syringa, mignonette, orange blossoms or balsam.

Good Care Makes Farm Buildings Last Longer

Agricultural engineers at Michigan State college say that it's wise to keep buildings in good repair and adequately painted.

They cite a study in Missouri to find out whether or not the life of farm buildings is increased by painting. Specialists there made a survey of a number of wood buildings and found that the average life of buildings never painted was 37 years. For buildings painted only at the time they were built, the average life was 46 years.

The real difference was in the buildings that were painted when they needed it—their average life was more than 53 years.

Two Old Farming Problems Solved With New Machine

Two old farming problems—transporting disc harrows and controlling the penetration or depth of the harrow in the fields—have been solved by the application of hydraulic power.

A national marketing organization for farm equipment today announced a new, rigid-frame, lift-type, tandem disc harrow designed to operate with the hydraulic control of the tractor.

The new disc harrow eliminates the flexibility of gangs by attaching them rigidly to a steel frame. Disc gangs are permanently set at the most effective working angle, 20 degrees, thus saving the field time ordinarily required with conventional harrows to adjust discs for varying soil and terrain conditions, and the loss of cutting efficiency often resulting from failure to make these adjustments correctly.

Raising and depth setting are done hydraulically. All discs cut to the same depth and because of the positive alignment between front and rear gangs, the rear discs cut centers without the use of special levers, springs, snubbers, etc.

If shallow discing is desired all that is necessary is to keep the implement at the desired depth with the tractor's hydraulic control. Because the harrow is attached to the tractor and is carried by it, all one has to do to transport the implement is to raise it by hydraulic power and drive away.

The "lift" feature is also important at the end of the field, where turns can be made virtually on an "about face" basis as compared to the wide circular sweep required by the conventional pull-type harrow.

Due to the rigidity and the simple functional design of the disc, it does a superior job of pulverizing and leveling land. Where a flexible type disc would tend to ride over the high spots, the new rigid type cuts through them insuring better leveling. A simple screw type adjustment readily positions the rear gangs with respect to the front ones to overcome riding and/or trenching.

Production now is underway on four models.

Treatment Found For Fence Posts

An inexpensive method for treatment of many non-durable native woods for fence posts and other farm uses without the use of heat or pressure has been developed.

Tests have been under way for over 10 years at the department of agriculture forest products laboratory, and at many other experimental stations, according to Al Phillips, Thumb area farm forester.

Solutions containing pentachlorophenol in an oil solvent are used. The equipment required consists mainly of a leak-proof tank of sufficient size and strength to accommodate the completely submerged material. Welded oil drums may be used. If a stock tank is used, it should be cleaned carefully before reuse.

To obtain satisfactory results by the cold-soaking method, the material must be well seasoned and free from outer and inner bark.

The wood should be cut to final dimensions and all boring or framing should be done before treatment. Incising aspen and posts of some other species by gassing them near where the ground level will be, improves penetration.

Smaller posts can be used since treated posts do not rot readily.

A concentrated solution of pentachlorophenol can be bought. The best way to purchase it is about 10 parts of a cheap distillate or fuel oil to be mixed with one part of this solution. An average sized fence post costs about 15 cents to treat.

Ukrainian Immigrants Can Be Placed on Farms

A total of 45,000 Ukrainian immigrants will be admitted to the United States during the next two years under the recent D. P. act. L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, has received a letter inquiring about the possibilities of some of these being placed on Ottawa county farms.

These prospective immigrants are described as good, honest, law abiding, anti-Communists and God-fearing workers. They are good farmers as well as industrial workers. The immigrants have been carefully selected by U. S. authorities for character, health and ability.

The extension office has forms for filling out in case anyone can find a place for workers or for an entire family. One of the difficulties is in finding living quarters.

Any farmer who needs a year-around worker or who has a farm for rent can fill out a form, this form to be sent to the state headquarters.

Top FFA Groups In State Honored

For the fourth consecutive year, Future Farmers of America chapters at Midland and Alma high schools are winners of the Michigan Best Chapter contest and will represent the state FFA in the National Chapter contest at Kansas City in October.

Three other chapters—Cassopolis, Sandusky and Williamston—are also gold award winners in the competition.

Silver award chapters, winning $25 each and silver plaques, are Barryton, Ithaca, Fremont, Grand Blanc and Cedar Springs. Winners of bronze award plaques and $10 each are Flushing, Owosso, Wayland, Marlette and Ovid.

"The remarkable records of the Midland and Alma chapters are based on well-developed teamwork and 100 per cent participation of chapter members in FFA, school and community activities," said Harry Neuman, state FFA adviser.

The FFA is part of the vocational agricultural education program functioning in secondary schools of Michigan, he explained, adding that "this contest is part of a nation-wide program to improve and upgrade FFA chapter activity."

The Midland chapter, headed by Lynn Heatley, adviser, has 50 members. Its accomplishments include selling $700 worth of garden seeds, establishing a chapter nursery, planting 3,000 trees, earning $1,338 and recording during the year a labor income of $761 per member.

The Alma chapter, headed by Maynard Christensen and with 85 members, has a co-operative orchard project, a pig exchange, owns a chapter boat, planted 3,000 trees, recorded a chapter income of $615 and a labor income per member of $424. Both chapters won silver awards in the national contest last year.

Michigan's 198 chapters, comprising 7,532 boys, are eligible for next year's contest.

Dry Weather Increases Irrigation Inquiries

Damage from recent dry weather is causing many farmers to consider irrigation. L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, has had several inquiries pertaining to this subject.

Martin Stephens, Conklin, can demonstrate what irrigation will do. He has three acres of melons under irrigation and is harvesting a large yield of delicious melons. He also has a wonderful field of tomatoes.

Without added water neither of these crops could have come through as well. Stephens spent about $500 in putting in his irrigation plant. It has more than paid for itself in the first year of operation.

Good Diet Is Needed For Firm Egg Shells

Is your flock producing eggs with firm shells? Cracked or checked eggs bring less money, points out J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college.

The specialist advises that eggs shells can be improved by providing the birds with direct sunlight (not through glass). In the fall, the birds should have plenty of fish oil or other vitamin D supplement.

Calcium carbonate as found in oyster shells and limestone must be present with the vitamin D to make good egg shells. Moore believes poultrymen should encourage birds to eat plenty of this material.

Zeeland Loses First Game, 14-0

Grandville, Sept. 23—Grandville high school's Bulldogs defeated Zeeland's Chicks, 14-0, in a Grand Valley opener at Grandville Friday night.

Grandville started strong. They held the Chicks on downs after the opening kickoff and then went to work. Eight plays later they crossed the Zeeland goal for the first score of the game. Gordon Reyburn made the touchdown and Jim Westbrook plunged for the extra point.

The Bulldogs scored again in the second quarter. After forcing Zeeland to punt from their own three yard line, Grandville took over on Zeeland's 30-yard mark.

Art Klawiter scored the second touchdown three plays later. Zeeland was picked to win the opener by Grand Valley observers but were held under check by the scrappy Bulldogs.

Holland Smothers Polar Bear Team In Grid Opener

5,000 Fans Jam Park To Watch Local Eleven Dominate Offensive Play

Coach Bob Stupka's 1948 edition of Holland high football froze out a stubborn Grand Rapids Polar Bear eleven, 13-0, at Riverview park Friday night.

The largest opening game crowd in the history of Holland high, estimated at 5,000, watched the local team outclass Creston high school.

Holland only scored twice but the Dutch piled up 233 yards rushing and held Creston to 28 yards gained by rushing.

Frank Wlodarczyk went through center for the first touchdown from Creston's two-yard line in the second quarter. The score was set-up by a 15-yard penalty against the Polar Bears for unnecessary roughness. The penalty moved the ball from the 17-yard line to the two yard line where Wlodarczyk scored. Kemper's extra point kick split the uprights and made the score 7-0.

Early in the third quarter, Ron Appledorn took a lateral from Kemper on his own 44-yard line and scampered all the way to Creston's 12-yard line before he was caught. Tasma bulled his way to the eight-yard line and Wlodarczyk went through center to score standing up. The try for extra point was wide and the score stood at 13-0.

Creston was limited to 23 offensive plays for the entire game while Holland repeatedly drove deep into Polar Bear territory only to be stopped short of the goal. Holland pushed to the Creston seven-yard marker and a first down just before the first quarter ended. They worked the ball to the Creston two-yard line in four plays but were unable to score.

Just before the gun went off ending the first half, Ron Appledorn took a lateral from Kemper on his 39-yard line and ran all the way to Creston's 25 before he was stopped. The half ended before the Dutchmen could advance the ball.

Creston never advanced past Holland's 34-yard line. The local team repeatedly held the Furniture City team and forced them to punt.

The final gun sounded with Holland on Creston's 10-yard line. The locals had pushed the ball from their own 20 yard line to the 10 yard marker on 12 plays.

Holland's entire lineup played good football and the play of Wlodarczyk, as guard on defense, Howard Van Voorst, Hobeck, Kemper and Appledorn was outstanding. For Creston, Kuleck, Weaver and Terpening were the better players.

STATISTICS:

	Creston	Holland
First downs	2	10
Yard gained rushing	28	233
Yards gained passing	59	56
Passes attempted	11	6
