Holland Christian Schools Will Take Up 4-H Club Work

Supt. Bert P. Bos has given the "go ahead" for local Christian Schools to participate in the 4-H Club program. Bos studied the entire program and conferred with other school officials and 4-H leaders at several meetings.

In line with the announced policy, Mrs. Louis Damstra, general chairman, has scheduled a meeting Friday night from 7 to 8 to enroll parents in the program. The session will be held at Holland Christian High gym.

Mrs. Damstra will meet with women to explain the club sewing and knitting programs and Dave Scripsma will meet with the men to explain the handicraft and electrical projects.

Principals of the four local Christian schools—Winfred Karsen, Central Ave.; Raymond Holwerda, Junior High; Edward Ver Maat, South Side, and Gerrit Klinge, West Side, also will attend the meeting to help explain the program.

Approximately 376 students enrolled in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are eligible to participate in this year's program. Neil Zuidema, member of the Ottawa 4-H Council, will attend the meeting to help organize new leaders. Zuidema and Mrs. John Derks, from the Waverly 4-H Club, will show completed projects for first year handicraft and electrical sewing and knitting respectively.

The leaders also will tell of their experiences in an effort to get 43 persons who are interested in directing the 4-H program in Christian schools.

Last Sept. 22, Mrs. Damstra, Mrs. H. Faber and Mrs. J. Hoekstra attended a leaders conference at Bostwick Lake. They received information about the program and are anxious to pass it on to interested leaders.

Hospital Starts Nursing Study

Wednesday, Holland Hospital has embarked on a five-day study of all types of nursing personnel to determine exactly how much nursing time actually goes into patient care. It is not a study of the quality of any individual person's work.

Observers identified by arm bands will be on hand on the first floor study during the five days, not necessarily on consecutive days. It is essential that during the course of the study that everything proceeds as normal, and it is important that the observers are not interrupted in the course of their duties to explain the program in progress. Hospital Director Fred Burd said it is the first time that smaller hospitals have undertaken a project of this nature. Holland Hospital is one of 11 hospitals in the country participating in this study. The hospital staff hopes the study will result in better utilization of nursing personnel, therefore leading to better patient care.

Holland In 1917

(The following news was taken from articles appearing in the Holland Daily Sentinel more than 35 years ago.)

Up to the present about 20 Holland high school boys have pledged to contribute $10 each to the Army YMCA fund and will work for the money, according to an article appearing in the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1917.

Thursday at Grand Haven the 21 directors recently elected at the annual meeting of the Ottawa County Red Cross held in Holland, will organize and the officers will then be chosen for the year.

County School Commissioner N. R. Stanton is calling attention of the various schools in Ottawa County to a system being carried out in one of the smallest rural schools in the county in the hope that others will follow this plan. The problem of the noonday meal for the pupils in the rural schools has always bothered authorities. Pupils living one or two miles away from the school take their noon meals with them in dinner buckets, but the cold meals are frequently unappetizing. But Miss White, teacher in school district No. 7 of Robinson township has solved the question by making each noon a cup of cocoa for each pupil in the school.

Fillmore school boys are a patriotic lot. Those from school district No. 5 deserve special mention. Pupils hired out to the farmers in the neighborhood, some digging potatoes, others pulling carrots and several gathering wood and making themselves generally useful. The money thus earned was brought to the teacher with instructions to send it to the Army YMCA committee at Holland. The boys deserving special mention are Henry Kuipers, Eddie Scholten, Freddie D. Voss, Harry Hamburg, and Arthur Kok. One of the patriotic farmers was J. Buscher who hired all the boys he could get.

Escorted by 12 different organizations in the city, 59 new soldiers from the second district of Ottawa county will march through the streets of Holland tomorrow noon before boarding the train that will take them on the first lap of their journey to Camp Custer. This news story appeared in the Tuesday, Nov. 20, issue.

All ministers of the Christian reformed denomination in this part of the state will be given an opportunity to see camp life at first hand and to do some religious work among the soldiers. The plan is to have each minister spend at least a week in Camp Custer to assist the Rev. Leonard Trapp, formerly of Zeeland, now resident pastor among the soldiers.

Principal Jesse B. Davis of the Grand Rapids Central High School will be the headline in this evening at the mass meeting to be held in Holland High School in the interest of the Boys' YMCA campaign.

The Social Progress Club will meet this evening at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Van Peursem. R. B. Champion will read a paper on the subject "Public Service and the Consumers."

The Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Warnhuis have announced they will sail from Vancouver for China, Dec. 22. They are now in the east and will spend a week in this city before leaving for the Orient.

Word of the safe arrival at Bordeaux France, of Mary Carter Nelson, former visiting nurse for Michigan and well known in Holland where she worked several seasons. She sailed Oct. 29 to engage in work for the Rockefeller foundation in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Tardiff of the North Side who moved to Holland Tuesday to make their home here were given a farewell surprise by their friends of the North Side Monday evening.

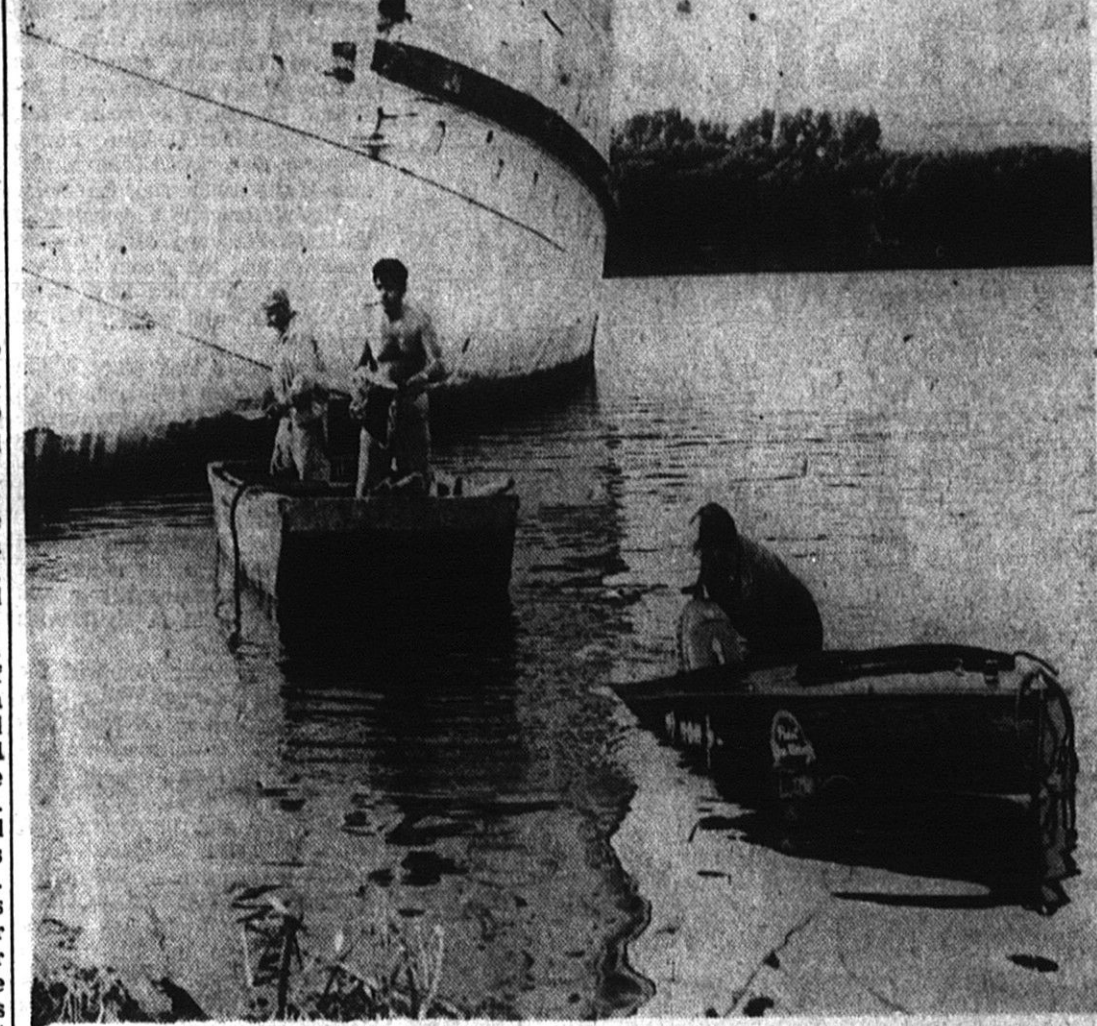

The relations between public service concerns and the consumers was the theme discussed by R. B. Champion in a paper given before the Social Progress Club Tuesday evening when it met at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Van Peursem.

An aftermath of the Holland-Grand Rapids football game of last Saturday came Tuesday evening between 7 and 8 when Peter Stekete paid off a bet that he made with Gerrit Eding on the game. Accompanied by some buglers and a host of delighted small boys and older boys, Stekete wheeled Eding in a wheelbarrow from the corner of Eighth and River to the corner of Eighth and Lincoln.

Home Economics was the subject of Tuesday's program at the Woman's Literary Club. Living on the budget plan was discussed by Mrs. A. C. Van Raalte who told how a family of from 3 to 5 could live on a salary of $1,200 a year. Mrs. D. G. Cook explained how the same family could live on $2,500 a year and Mrs. Nystrom provided for the same number on a family budget of $3,500.

The roster on the steeple of the old Van Raalte church has just received a new coat of feathers in the form of gold paint. The weather cock has withstood the blasts of winter and heat of summer for 60 years and is always facing the music. The roster was made by the late E. Vander Veen in his tin shop more than a half century ago.

The Komforter Koton plant has installed an electric cutting machine. This firm is now doing all the cutting for the Red Cross charging only the actual cost of electricity and labor of the operation.

RESCUED FROM LAKE MACATAWA — Howard Huer, 27, (right) from the South American, pushes his water filled boat ashore near the North and South American docks after he and his boat were brought in by two fellow crew members, John Abraham and Judy Proctor (left). Huer went for a ride late Wednesday afternoon in his 14-foot outboard and it turned over after making a sharp turn, a few hundred feet from shore. Huer was uninjured except for a soaking in the chilly lake.

Holland Crushed Before Union, 28-7

Two Hawk Backs, Van Dyke Put On Running Display

"Mr. Inside" and "Mr. Outside" invaded Holland Friday night in the persons of Grand Rapids Union's fullback Dick Green and left halfback John Johnson. The duo accounted for 363 of Union's 454 yards picked up on the ground. Green scored one touchdown, Johnson ran for two others and passed for a third as Union defeated Holland, 28-7 before 3,500 at Riverview Park.

Green, All-City fullback, pounded the Dutch line with spinner plays, driving into the Dutch secondary on every play. Johnson skirted the ends and ran in and out of the Holland tackles. Green picked up 201 yards rushing while Johnson gained 162.

Coach Dale Shearer called Green the "best back we've ever faced." But not to overshadowed by the Union one-two punch, Holland's Ron Van Dyke, left halfback, turned in a great performance.

The 175-pound halfback picked up 67 yards rushing, gained 53 on a pass play and ran back three kickoffs 105 yards.

Green was first heard from four minutes after the opening whistle. He broke off guard from his own 28 yard line, through the entire Holland team, to score. Union had received the ball after guard Jim Van Eas had recovered a deflected pitch-out thrown by Dutch quarterback Henry Visscher. The fumble occurred after Holland had moved the ball to the 28, on 45 yard kickoff return by Van Dyke and four line plays.

Holland tied the score on the first play of the second quarter. Visscher, on the Holland 47, flipped a short pass to Van Dyke at midfield and the left half was off to the races. He skinned the chalk marks and sped down the sidelines, picking up speed as he outran the last Union defender. Van Dyke's extra point kick matched Union's Bob Kelley's boot. Kelley made four extra point kicks.

After Holland kicked into the end zone, Green moved the ball ten yards from the 20, where Johnson took over. He broke for the sidelines on the next play and aided with downfield blocking, including key blocks by Roger De Boer and Dick Droski, went 70 yards to score. The two touchdowns were made in one-minute and ten seconds.

Dick Den Uyl took the next kickoff on the five and moved to the Holland 30. Four plays later the ball on the Union 49, where Visscher's fumble was picked up by Dave Vander Laan.

Johnson and Green carried to the Holland 25 in two plays but a 15 yard penalty pushed them back to the Holland 40. Green hit the Holland line again for 20 and Johnson swept the end for the remaining 20. Van Eas and Tom Tweddle, three important blocks, knocking out would be Holland tacklers.

The final scoring play was tallied in the second quarter. This came ten seconds before the half. Holland punted from their own 46 to the Union 15, where Green took over. In three plays he moved the ball through the center and off tackle to the Holland 49. Dick Droski picked up 11 and Johnson three to the Holland 34. Johnson tossed a pass to Tweddle, on the Holland five, but the big end dropped it. Then Johnson pitched to his other end, Bob Kelley, who took the ball on the seven and ran over for the score. Klomparsen, in trying to block the pass, got in front of the Union end.

In the third quarter Holland pushed the ball to the Union 25 but lost it on down. The Red Hawks came back and in seven plays, again behind Green and Johnson, had the ball on the Holland 15 at the quarter's close.

Coach Milo Sukup sent in a complete junior team in the fourth quarter and fans got a chance to witness what Union will have next year. The quarter may have proved costly for Holland. Gerald Boeve, starting left end, received a neck injury while being tackled after catching a pass. He may be lost for the season. X-rays were to be taken today.

In the final quarter neither team threatened. The Union reserves threw five incomplete passes. Holland had several reserves in the contest during the final minutes.

Holland co-captain guard Carl Ver Beek did not play in the contest and his loss was felt. In summing up the contest Coach Dale Shearer said, "Our fumbles hurt us and we were out charged."

Solution Sought For Study Halls And Music Rooms

Junior High Annex Suggested as Best Solution to Problem

The Board of Education of Holland's public schools held its first informal meeting of the new school year Monday night in Junior High School to discuss possible solutions to shortage of space for music facilities and lack of study halls.

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper, board president, presided, and Arthur C. Hills, head of the music department, explained problems in the music program carried on in one music room and the cafeteria in Junior High School. The general feeling was that the Junior High annex which houses the metal working shop and a few class rooms would make an excellent music wing and the two rooms now used by music classes would make adequate study halls.

Other solutions discussed were the possibility of renting commercial space for the machine shop, or adding rooms on second or third floor levels above the first floor wood-working shop in the Junior High School. Whatever the answer, Supt. Walter W. Scott indicated funds would not be available for full-scale changes this year, but the board should be ready to move on the best solution in time for the 1955-56 school year.

There was a general feeling that whatever solution is reached in the current crisis, the Junior High annex west of the girl's gym at 16th St. would make an excellent Junior High music department after a new high school campus is developed on the 24th St. site, perhaps in six years. The metal working program is a high school program and would be moved.

Before the informal supper closed, the board and guests toured the music rooms, wood and metal working shops, other rooms in the annex and the locker rooms of the girl's gymnasium where extensive remodeling is in progress.

Several members of the Band Boosters Club, an organization of parents of band members, were present.

Furnace Company Sells Plant No. 4

Steketee-Van Huis, local printing house, has purchased from the Holland Furnace Company, the factory building on Fourth Street, known as the furnace company's Plant No. 4, according to joint announcement by both parties. Steketee-Van Huis will take possession Oct. 1 and will immediately prepare to move their printing operations to the new location from their present building at 9 East 10th St.

In commenting on the sale, P. T. Cheff, president of Holland Furnace, said that the expansion and modernization of the main factory which was started several years ago has made possible the concentration of all manufacturing within the enlarged quarters, thereby releasing plant No. 4 for other use. In canvassing the local situation it was felt that the Steketee-Van Huis printing firm could use the building to best advantage, and negotiations to that end were initiated.

C. Neal Steketee, Jr., speaking for his associates, John Van Huis and Louis Steketee, expressed appreciation to the Holland Furnace officials for their interested cooperation in making the building available to them for their progressively growing business. The present 10th St. quarters have been enlarged to their limit, and there has been a pressing need for further expansion. The new building provides ample ground floor area for the growth and needs of the printing firm.

It will also permit the addition of several new pieces of printing equipment, and the broadening of their customer service.

The Steketee-Van Huis printing operation currently employs 29 people, which total will be increased considerably when the move is completed. Announcement of an "open house" will be made as soon as the new plant is ready for operation.

Zeeland, Klampt Stop Otsego, 14-0

ZEELAND (Special) — Zeeland High, behind the stellar running of Art Klampt, stopped Otsego, 14-0 Friday night here at the Athletic Field. The game, played before a capacity crowd, watched the Chix halfback pick up 160 yards.

The Chix scored two points on a safety early in the game. With the ball on the Otsego one, three Zeeland linemen broke through and dumped the Otsego ball carrier Marc Stoughton in the end zone.

Following the kickoff, Zeeland began to move down the field. The drive was climaxed by Art Klampt's 45 yard run around end for a score. Just before the first half closed, Klampt took the ball at midfield and romped to Otsego two yard line. Eugene De Jonge, Chix quarterback, took the ball over on a sneak.

Gerard Wigers and Keith Nyenhuis stood out defensively for Zeeland along with Frank Boonstra. Klampt stole the offensive show. Bob Howrigan was Otsego's top running back. Caruthers looked good on defense.

Zeeland picked up seven downs, mostly around end and through tackle. Otsego made four first downs. Zeeland picked up a total of 185 yards rushing while the Bulldogs collected 40 yards. The Chix hit on one out of five passes and Otsego three out of nine and had two intercepted.

The new electric scoreboard, purchased and installed this past summer, was dedicated at the game.

Monday Is Last Day to Register

Monday, Oct. 4, is the last day for registering in order to vote in the Nov. 2 election, City Clerk Clarence Greengood said today.

Qualifications for registration require that the voter be 21 years old by Nov. 2, that he reside in the state six months and in the city 30 days.

Persons desiring to register should call at the clerk's office on the second floor of City Hall up to 5:30 p.m. any day and up to noon on Saturday. The office will be open Monday, Oct. 4, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the convenience of those registering.

As a further convenience for non-registered citizens, City Clerk Greengood will tour the city in a sound car Saturday afternoon. However, he urges that as many persons as possible register at his office to avoid possible tie-ups. The sound car service which also is employed in Holland and Park townships is sponsored by the Young Republican Club. It is, however, a non-partisan promotion.

Greengood also said persons who have moved to other locations in the city should correct the addresses. This service may be accomplished by telephone since it requires no new signature.

the gas filled kitchen to get the man's gun. Seconds later Nieuwsma reentered the house to bring out the struggling man. Nieuwsma is shown at lower right with Ver Schure behind him. Deputy Bernard Gryzen is crouching and De Kraker is just ahead. The two men at left were not identified. The hour-long fracas ended about 9 p.m. Tear gas fumes can be seen pouring out at upper left.

Half-Blind Man Threatens Riders, Motorist With Gun

Elderly Recluse Captured After Hour-Long Siege

Ottawa county sheriff's officers resorted to tear gas Thursday night to smoke out an 81-year-old farm recluse who successfully held off capture more than an hour in his barricaded home on a little-used rural road about 12 miles north of Holland.

John Polansky, half blind and half deaf but in otherwise excellent physical condition, was a quiet "guest" in Ottawa county jail in Grand Haven today, a sharp contrast to the drama Thursday when he stalked his property with a single-barreled 12-gauge shotgun in hand and shot at a neighbor besides threatening four horsemen.

Getting the aging confused man from his home required the services of a dozen officers, countless confabs and finally a tear gas bomb which caused more discomfort to officers involved than to the man in question. After the bomb exploded in the kitchen, the man refused to come out and officers had to go after him. With gas so thick no one could see, the old man put up a big fight and it required four men to carry him out.

The quiet of the otherwise calm rural area on 112th Ave. about 1 1/2 miles north of M-50 was broken in the late afternoon when Polansky was seen walking about his yard with his shotgun. When he fired two shots at nothing in particular, officers received a call from the Raymond Breutzman home located just south of Polansky's rambling two-story home. A little later four riders reported that the aging man had pointed a gun at them and then fired into a nearby stream. The riders were Homer Kraeger, Erna Hackstock and Francis and Fanny Rider, all of Grand Haven area.

Then at 7:25 p.m. came a call from Carl Lutz. He had been standing at his car at the Breutzman home when two shots were fired. The second splatter of shot was close and one pellet hit him over the left eye. It did not penetrate but raised a wound. Distance involved was about 250 feet.

The alarm drew deputies from all over the county and officers from Holland, Zeeland, Grand Haven and Hudsonville converged on the scene in short order. By that time, Polansky had holed up in the big frame house where he had lived for several years.

Deputies lined their cars in front of the house and turned on their lights, then some went to the rear to try to detect some movement in the house. When this maneuver brought no results, they turned on flashlights in an attempt to get the old man to shoot. When nothing happened, they finally went to the kitchen windows.

It was Undersheriff Harris Nieuwsma who detected the man, gun in hand, standing at the back door. Officers kicked in the back door, but Polansky slammed it shut. After this happened several times, officers broke a kitchen window and threw in a tear gas bomb.

They could hear the old man coughing but the man did not come out. After about five minutes, officers broke more windows and kicked in the back door. With the wind in just the right direction, they were met by a cloud of tear gas and there was weeping all around.

Undersheriff Nieuwsma crawled through the back door on his hands and knees and found the gun on the floor. He tossed this outside, and then returned for the old man. He found Polansky sitting on the floor, his back against the wall and his dog in his arms. But once Nieuwsma tried to get the man out, Polansky put up a fight and screamed and struggled. Other officers entered as Nieuwsma neared the back door and it took four husky officers to get the old man to a cruiser. The dog, described by one officer as a "small-sized mutt," left the house on his own power and obligingly sought refuge in Deputy Leonard Ver Schure's car. Officers took the dog to jail too, and it was quite content to remain with its master in a cell. The dog seemed unharmed by the smarting gas.

En route to Grand Haven, Polansky, now more calm, told officers he tried to shoot the people at the window, but the gun just wouldn't go off. Officers believe he put a spent shell into the gun or otherwise some mechanical defect rendered the gun useless.

At Grand Haven, four officers were treated by a physician for tear gas troubles. They were Deputies Leonard Ver Schure, James Brooke, Bernard Gryzen and Burton Borr. The latter, a member of the Holland police department reported with Sgt. Isaac De Kraker and Patrolman Edward Kampen in the emergency. All local police officers are deputized. The trio were off duty at the time.

Officers said Polansky apparently had a fixation that some one was trying to take his property away from him and they had investigated complaints on two occasions within the last few months.

Nieuwsma said he would petition Probate Court this afternoon to take custody of the man. Probate court probably will send the man to a mental hospital or to a convalescent home, depending on his condition.

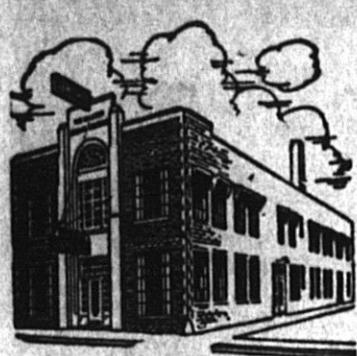

Officers said the tear gas bomb was particularly potent in the kitchen of the low house since Polansky had "sealed off" the rest of the house and had planned to live in the kitchen for the winter.

Sheriff Goes Home

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek, who was injured in a crash of two sheriff's cars Sept. 9, went home to Grand Haven Saturday after spending more than two weeks in Holland Hospital. His chief desk man at the jail, Vernon Conant, who also was injured in the crash, resumed work this morning on a part-time basis at the jail. Conant was a patient in Holland Hospital only a few days. He was driving the sheriff's car at the time of the crash.

How far north or south that whales go during the changes of season has never been determined.

GOOD POLITICAL INTENTIONS

In signing a pledge to refrain from mud-slinging in the campaign the Republicans and Democrats probably promised more than they can live up to. A super-critical campaign, such as this battle is, without political mud would be one of the wonders of the age.

But doubtless in both parties the intentions are good, and that is something. Each party would like to keep the campaign clean—both because in the main each party is made up of men and women of good will, but also for the prudential reason that those who sling mud are likely to have mud slung at them in return. Self-interest may have motivated the pledge.

It seems certain that the political speakers alone cannot carry out such a pledge. Their audiences, we the people of the United States, bear an even greater responsibility than the leaders. If America's millions refused to accept political dirt in the place of arguments and facts, little mud would be thrown. We the voters are not skeptical enough.

There was a time in our history when a still more critical campaign was waged almost completely in terms of argument. Toward the close of the eighteenth century the battle was fought to secure the adoption of the Constitution—surely the most important political battle in our history. The arguments that were used in that struggle are still in print and may be read by anybody. They are completely without mud.

Men like Hamilton, Jefferson and Madison circulated printed arguments now known as the "Federalist Papers." There were no campaign speeches in those days as we know them today, for the simple reason that people had to come together on horseback through forests and swamps. So printed arguments that could be nationally circulated served as a substitute.

Those "Federalist Papers" created the nation as we know it today. They were straight argument expressed in dignified eighteenth century English. They were addressed to an educated audience, for with a limited franchise the American voting population of that day was many degrees better educated than the voting population is today.

It would be wholesome for the Republicans and Democrats who signed the pledge for a clean campaign this year to take the trouble to read the "Federalist Papers" as a sample of a clean campaign. Still more wholesome if the voters did the same thing. At the very least it would give all of us a clearer idea of what is meant by the phrase "a clean campaign."

Sunday School Lesson

October 3, 1934
Job's Struggle to Understand Life
Job 1:1; 19:7-10; 23:3-10
By Henry Geerlings

The time was when it was customary to speak of the Book of Job as the oldest book in the Bible, and Jewish tradition makes Moses the author. There have been those who held it belonged to the age of Solomon, while still others placed it among the later books of the Old Testament. The fact is both the authorship and the date of its composition are uncertain.

It opens with a very brief statement of Job and his family and his great possessions. It also tells us of the moral integrity of the man in the assembly of the angels held in the presence of God. Satan, who was present without an invitation, also appeared. He made himself conspicuous by declaring before God that Job had a reason for being pious, and that he feared God for no other purpose than that God had prospered him with every material gift.

Then he added that if God were to strip him of his property and put forth his hand and touch him with affliction, he would renounce Him to His face. It is after this that the story unfolds, for he gives Satan power to bring manifold afflictions on Job. Satan proceeds to destroy Job's property, slay his family and to lay physical distress upon the good man's person. Yet in all this Job did not sin.

There is a vast deal of suffering in the world. No home escapes it for very long. It is one of the most prominent topics in the Bible. Our newspapers are filled with it. A characteristic of our age is that of mourning, as it has been of every age that has preceded. That individual who has not suffered is rare. How to think of suffering and how to deal with it is an art, and may I say that in the finest sense it is a Christian art.

I wonder if there is any other one thing to which so much time and thought are given as suffering. There is suffering of the body, suffering of the mind, and suffering of the spirit. We meet it at every turn. It lays its hand on the fairest as well as the foulest thing we know. It is here, and it is all around us, and we must learn how to deal with it.

Have you ever observed how good and godly persons suffer while the wicked often go scot free? When God declared Job to be an upright and perfect man, that is what he meant. But was any suffering quite like his suffering? It would be difficult to find in the dictionary words that could depict in darker colors what he had to bear. You feel when you read of his condition that much has been left unsaid, and for no other reason that it could not be expressed in human speech.

The Lord in the opening chapter of the book made it clear that the calamities were a test and by no means evidence of divine displeasure. Their explanation lies in the use of trial and affliction as a means of deepening spiritual life. Without them the highest type of character is not attained. David was prepared to become Israel's greatest king by a life of danger, hardship and struggle. Greater battles than his contest with Goliath was he compelled to fight before he became the faithful leader of the nation. He struggled with the lion and the bear to protect his little flock on the hills of Bethlehem before he shepherded successfully the greater flock of Israel.

Solomon, on the other hand, knew almost nothing of hardship before he was called to sit upon the throne of his father. He was born in luxury and later years revealed that he lacked kindly sympathy for the people, the bonds of mutual love that might have been forged by sharing the hardships of his subjects.

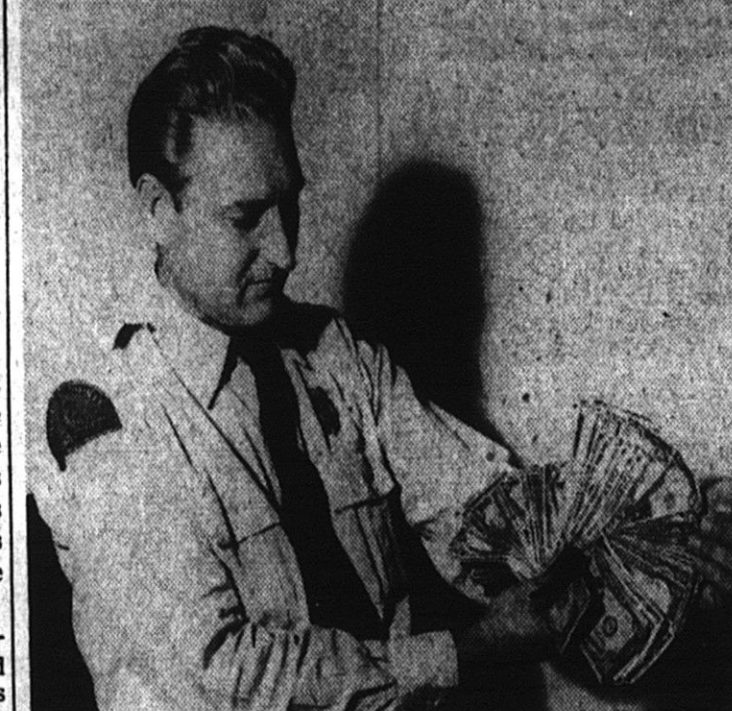

Who knows but that when we are beset with difficulties, followed by misfortunes, calamities, bereavement and failure of health, when we are sinking lower and lower under the burden of the flesh, if we maintain our faith in God, we are acquiring sturdy, massive strength of character such as will richly reward us in the world to come? This truth Job had not yet learned. But the divine light dawned upon him before his afflictions were ended.

Faith gives us the victory over our struggles. When we speak of the victory of faith we have in mind the source of strength we have in God. Believing in oneself may make one strong, but believing in God makes one stronger still. Faith in God is not something cold and futile. It is the transmitting to us the strength that belongs to God alone. To trust in the mercy of God is to find sure victory in our lives.

A FISTFULL OF CASH — Undersheriff Harris Nieuwma holds $2,050 in currency which was found hidden at the home of 81-year-old John Polansky, route 2, Grand Haven, late Saturday afternoon. Deputies took Polansky back to his home after receiving reports there was money hidden in the refuse-littered home. A total of $1,400 in $10's and $20's was found in a two-quart fruit jar on a shelf and $650 was underneath shelf paper in the pantry. The cash was wrapped in old newspapers and pieces of leather. Some of the papers were dated 1935. Polansky was taken from his home Thursday night after deputies were forced to use tear gas to drive the aged recluse out. He had fired a shotgun at a neighbor earlier that evening. Polansky, along with his dog, remained at the Ottawa County jail Monday while Probate Court officials studied the case. (Sentinel photo)

After discussion they all promised to return Saturday and work out what would normally be fines. They all arrived at 9 a.m. and spent the entire day raking leaves, picking up branches, paper and other refuse around the park and at the beach.

Two others, Stanley Kleeves, 22, local hotel address, and Leo Rievera, 19, of 58 West First St., were arraigned in Allegan Municipal Court and held in lieu of $2,000 bond each.

The roundup which started last week was the result of concentrated work by Ottawa County deputies and Probate Court officials which started last July.

Deputies said a half dozen others have been questioned and further arrests probably will be made in the near future.

The girl was taken to the Kent County Juvenile home to await disposition of the cases.

DeJongs Arrive From Arabia

The Rev. and Mrs. G. E. DeJong, missionaries to Kuwait, Arabia, arrived in the United States last week on furlough. The DeJongs first left the U.S. in 1926 to begin their work in Arabia.

At the morning service Sunday in First Reformed Church in Grand Haven, Rev. DeJong was guest speaker and his son, Keith, was soloist. Also attending the service were Mrs. DeJong and their youngest son, Gerrit Edward, Jr., who is a freshman at Hope College. Another son, David, now a senior at Hope, played piano selections at a Vacationland Hymn Sing this summer when his brother, Keith, appeared as soloist.

The DeJongs will live in Holland while on furlough.

A "surprise" at the Grand Haven morning service was the presence of the Rev. Harland Steele, who has been ill for several months. This was his first appearance in the church since the end of July. He hopes to preach at one service next Sunday.

Rev. DeJong also spoke at the evening service.

Vollies

Know what's involved in canning 18 gallons of blueberry jam for school lunches?

It's part of the hot lunch program at Beechwood school where 400 youngsters are fed each day. Five cooks and three volunteers work each day.

The jam program was a real project. It took 11 mothers 2 1/2 hours on the morning of Sept. 21 to pick 11 pails of blueberries. Each pail had about 12 pounds of berries for a total of 132 pounds. Pickers were Mesdames John Gras, Paul Brower, Ted Van Oosterhout, Chester Nykerk, Herman Stiel, Marvin Vanden Bosch, Nelson Hoffman, Ray Vander Weef, Calvin Nykamp, Charley Overbeck and Marvin Nienhuis. The berries were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brower.

Another crew made the jam in the afternoon, necessitating about 100 pounds of sugar. These volunteers included Mesdames Russell Van Til, Hans Knutson, Robert Eshelman, Darvin Van Oosterhout, Harold Kuite, J. Highstreet and Alvin Schulling.

In case you think that's all, you're wrong. Two days later, Mrs. Henry Koop and Mrs. Paul Brower headed a group of seventh grade girls to pick grapes donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horner on their property at the Moorings.

Then another crew canned 9 1/2 gallons of juice to be used later for jelly making. These workers were Mesdames W. Ball, Oscar Vanden Dooren, Robert Greenwood, C. Scott and Harold Kuite.

The only reason they couldn't make jelly right off was because sugar supplies were low — small wonder in view of the amount used for blueberry jam. And the funds were low too. So there will be another jelly making bee later.

Our sympathies to Clarence Boone, who we understand, got locked in the Peoples State Bank entry for a short period last Saturday afternoon.

Clarence was headed for an upstairs office. He heard the elevator in operation so decided to climb up. The elevator was being used by the building janitor who had just checked to see if the offices were empty.

By the time he got down, the front door was locked. He finally got the attention of some one he knew who in turn called the janitor.

But in the 20-minute interim, we heard some of his "good" friends gathered outside to smile their consolation through the windows.

Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen was a bit out of patience with a 68-year-old offender who appeared before him on a drunk charge.

"What would you suggest I do with you?" he asked.

"Hang me," came the mournful reply.

Paul Bagwell of Lansing, the Michigan March of Dimes chairman, was quite the envy of all men present at a county polo meeting in Allendale Sept. 16.

During the counting of the ballots, Paul told some of his experiences in helping judge the Miss America contest in Atlantic City. One point of the program involved meeting the girls at breakfast two or three days and rotating among the tables.

One man interrupted, "Did they come to the breakfast table with their hair combed, or did they look like some women I know?" There was a laugh all around and Paul assured the men that the 50 entrants were as beautiful in the morning as they were in the evening. He also pointed out he was accompanied by his wife and two children.

He said one lady by the name of Edna caused more concern than all 50 beauty entrants. After the disastrous hurricane called Carol swept New England, the eastern seaboard really braced for other hurricanes. Dolly failed to give any trouble, but Edna was headlined as a real blow. And she did hit Atlantic City. Hotels lost shutters, windows were broken, and guests "hung on" for three hours.

"We decided the bathroom was the safest spot," Bagwell said. But after three hours, Edna blew herself out and the contest went on.

Bagwell added that Michigan's Jan Somers was a tremendous audience favorite. As he was leaving Atlantic City, he said Jan was about to be tested for some TV programs for next January at the Tournament of Roses where she will ride on the Big Ten float.

Laff for the day:

"She told me," a woman complained to a friend, "that you told her the secret I told you not to tell her."

"Well," replied her friend in a hurt tone, "I told her not to tell you I told her."

"Oh, dear," sighed the first woman, "Well, don't tell her I told you that she told me."

Trygve Lie Will Speak in Holland

Trygve Lie, first Secretary-General of the United Nations, is coming to Holland under the auspices of Hope College on Nov. 2.

Mayor Harry Harrington has suggested that the city hold over its celebration of United Nations Day and combine these two occasions. The mayor, in making the suggestion, said that he had been asked by the state chairman of the U.N. Day committee, to plan a city-wide observance of the day to be observed throughout the world on Oct. 24.

Inasmuch as Lie is an outstanding U.N. personality and is to be here 10 days later, Mayor Harrington said to combine the two occasions would be practical and timely.

Lie is one of the world's top-ranking international citizens. He was selected by the world's leading statesmen to pilot the largest international organization in history, a task described as almost superhuman. He is a rare combination of statesman, administrator and humanitarian, whose major concern is for the welfare of the world's 2 1/2 billion people.

Associated with the United Nations from its earliest days, Lie, a native of Norway, headed the Norwegian delegation at San Francisco and in London where he was elected Secretary-General. He served in this responsible and difficult job for seven years. Recipient of numerous honorary degrees and titles, Lie received the World Veterans Federation first International Peace Award for his efforts to promote the cause of international peace and to uphold the charter of the United Nations.

Lie's book "In the Cause of Peace" is just off the press. It is his memoirs of his seven years as one of the world's foremost international citizens.

All citizens of Western Michigan who are interested in the United Nations and World Peace are invited to keep Nov. 2 open to hear Lie at Holland's new Civic Center.

Comets Tally On Two Passes, Run; Hope Scores First

OLIVET (Special) — A fired up Olivet College eleven scored once in the second quarter and twice in the third period to hand Hope College its first MIAA conference defeat and second of the season here Saturday night. The score of the game was 20-6.

The Comets last two touchdowns were made on pass plays. Effective through the air, Olivet completed 10 out of 18 passes for 140 yards. The Hope defense gave up 116 yards on the ground. Hope picked up 145 yards rushing and 70 passing. The Dutchmen completed only three out of 10 aeriels. Olivet made 11 first downs and the Dutchmen seven.

Hope opened the scoring, with less than three minutes of play gone by, and appeared to be on the way to a rout. Tom Carey taking a pitchout from John Holmlund, quarterback, streaked down the sidelines 65 yards to score. The touchdown came the second time the Dutchmen got the ball. Don Van Hoven's extra point attempt was no good.

The Dutch had received the opening kickoff but failed to gain and punted. Olivet followed the same course with John Adams catching the Comet punt on his own 30 and returning it five yards. Carey made his dash on the first scrimmage play.

Olivet started its first touchdown drive, taking a punt on the Hope 40. Led by Rolland Wahl, sophomore quarterback, the Comets moved the ball 40 yards in nine plays. Wahl climaxed the drive with a five yard run and score. The extra point attempt was no good.

Thirty seconds before the first half ended, Hope scored again but the play was called back because of a clipping penalty. A Mert Vander Lind to Lynn Post pass had set up the scoring chance. The Grand Rapids freshmen hit the Holland junior on the Olivet 45 and Post carried to the Olivet 30 where he was dropped by the safety man. The play started on the Hope 30.

The second time the Comets got the ball in the third quarter they scored. Two passes brought the score. J. Brubaker made a switch and passed to Wahl, who had been doing the Comet's throwing. The play covered 26 yards and was completed to the Hope 36.

The touchdown pass went from Wahl to end L. Compton. He got a step behind John Adams, Hope defender, on the Dutch 10, took in the pass over his shoulder and dashed into the end zone. Ed Bryant, only senior in the Olivet backfield made the extra point.

After an exchange of downs, Olivet got the ball on the Hope 40. Holmlund went back to pass, was rushed, and the ball was knocked out of his hands, and three Olivet men fell on the fumble.

Suggests Cover To Prevent Decay

If you have one of those basementless houses, now is the time to crawl underneath it to cover the soil.

That's the warning from Arthur Bell, Michigan State College extension agricultural engineer.

With cold weather coming the moisture from the soil will condense on the floor boards and joists. Before long wood will start to decay.

Bell points out that the remedy is simple. The cover, laid on the wet soil under a house, acts as a barrier against the rising moisture. The cover may be asphalt coated paper such as roll roofing, laminated papers with a water-proofing material, or thin metal foils. He advises lapping the cover two or three inches.

When the soil is covered under the house, it is possible to safely close the ventilating spaces on the foundations in cold weather to conserve heat. Bell said. He also suggests nailing a one-inch insulation on the bottom of the joists underneath the house.

Local Exchangites Hear Ambassador

Don Jacobusse, Holland's fourth Community Ambassador who spent the summer in Spain, spoke at a luncheon meeting of Holland Exchange Club Monday noon at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Entitling his talk "The Great Tomorrow," Jacobusse described the Spanish people as the friendliest on the continent. He said they possess an inborn happiness which colors their whole existence.

Spain is a country in which there is no separation of church and state, Jacobusse said. The bishops are in the legislative body, and on the front wall of every school room hang two pictures, Christ on the Cross and Generalissimo Franco.

Although many people, especially the poor, dislike Franco, all are thankful to him for two reasons — he kept Spain out of World War II, and so far has kept out communism. All Spaniards hate communism with a spiteful hate, he said.

The speaker said that Franco has done nothing to lift the poverty or improve the educational system; the press and radio are rigidly censored, and wages are exceedingly low.

Jacobusse, who spent most of his visit in and around Madrid, is a senior at Hope College. He was introduced by Exchange Vice President John Van Dyke. President John Hagans was in charge of the meeting.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water

Dropped up to Muskegon a few nights ago and chatted with Jim Coscarelli, self-named No. 1 Muskegon Heights football fan. His lunchroom at Pere Marquette Park in the Muskegon Oval is a popular hangout for Muskegon sports followers. Harry Potter and Oldie Johnson long-time heads of the Big Reds and Tigers grid teams are frequent visitors. "Tiny" Redmond, former Muskegon coach, drops in along with other school principals and city officials.

While sipping a cup of coffee and listening to Lake Michigan kick up a fuss, we discussed football. Didn't take long and the talk got around to the once-powerful Southwestern Conference, now almost defunct with three schools, Muskegon, Muskegon Heights and Benton Harbor.

"Can't see why Holland doesn't get back into the conference," Coscarelli said. "The Muskegon-Holland game has always been a natural only 35 miles, a nice ride." "And attendance-wise," Coscarelli continued, "Muskegon will always bring a thousand down to Holland and vice-versa." After all the fans are what make the game.

He continued. "Muskegon has scheduled games with Alpena, 259 miles, Flint Northern, 144 miles and Emerson High, Gary, Ind., 160 miles, just a few people will make these trips.

"The popular belief why Holland dropped out was because of consistent football beating handed them by Muskegon, believed partially because of the school's size," Coscarelli said.

"Muskegon and the Heights lost many athletes to Muskegon Catholic Central High School," he continued.

Glancing at Grand Rapids Catholic Central, Union and Battle Creek on the Holland schedule, Coscarelli pointed out that the schedule hasn't weakened and the large schools still appear.

"Kalamazoo Central has joined the Six-A conference and it would be difficult to get them back in the fold, but Grand Haven, following an unbeaten season in '53 might be persuaded," we added. The Big Four conference, made up of Niles, Dowagiac, Buchanan and St. Joseph voted to stay together as a football and basketball conference through 1958.

A meeting was held this week to decide. Since Niles is a Class A school, it was thought the school's might want to discontinue the league.

The Niles principal said, "These schools would rather beat Niles than win almost any other game. This spirit leads to a wholesome relationship and stimulates a good deal of crowd interest."

As we were leaving Coscarelli said, "Every school in the conference should have a strong football team. It's up to the parents to instill in the boys the 'will to win.'"

Bill Hinga and Abe Moreland, coaches of the Holland High and Grand Rapids Union reserve teams matched wits last Friday afternoon. The two were former teammates at Hope College. Hinga played quarterback during the 1948 and 1949 teams while Moreland operated at guard.

With hunting season just around the corner, veteran sportsmen throughout the area have suggested a few tips for beginning hunters. Aside from learning the proper manipulation of firearms, sportsmen say to try out the gun before going hunting, observe the state game laws, receive permission to hunt on the area before trespassing, have an experienced hunter along and take prompt and proper care of the game killed. Above all, learn and observe the safety rules.

SPLINTERS: Two bowlers in the Business Men's league at the Holland Bowling lanes recently qualified for American Bowling Congress awards. They are Lee Koopman who rolled a triplicate—three identical games of 195 each—and George Althuis who got a seven and 10 pickup. They will receive patches from the ABC.

Bill Hinga and Bob Connell, Holland high reserve football coaches, report the "spirit" on the Holland team is great. Both coaches reported they really enjoy working with the group. There are 46 boys battling for posts on the reserve team, one of the largest groups in history. An interested spectator on the Union bench Friday night was Coach Milo Sukup's son, about nine years old, the youngster followed three steps behind his father during his treks across the field. Irwin (Buster) Wolosky, Kalamazoo halfback, was an All-American scholastic football player. He played at De Witt Clinton High School in New York City and also was named All-New York City, All-Borough, and All-Metropolitan. Wolosky stands five-foot seven and weighs 180 pounds.

Allegan Agent Has Seen Changes Galore During 25 Years on Job

ALLEGAN (Special) — A man who has witnessed an "agriculture revolution" in Allegan County is marking his 25th year this week as Allegan County Agricultural Agent.

He is A.D. Morley, who was hired for only a year in September, 1929, because the Board of Supervisors wasn't sure it wanted an agricultural extension office.

Through the years, Morley has seen many changes. Twenty-five years ago, a few hens kept the farm wife in "pin money." Today poultry is a $4½ million business in the county centered around Hamilton where the cooperative alone grosses more than $3 million in eggs and eating chickens. Morley has watched the tractor and other power tools replace the horse as the prime mover on farms and he has seen 4-H Club activity expand from a program for only a few farm youths to one attracting some 1,500 youngsters from farm and city alike.

The post-war years have brought almost as many changes as all the preceding years together. In Allegan county the demand for more meat plus lower milk prices resulted in substantial increases in the number of beef herds. Small fruit—especially strawberries and blueberries—has become a major crop.

Truck farming is another newcomer to the Allegan farm scene with the county first in the state in the production of cauliflower and slicing cucumbers.

Although the county was a part of the state's big fruit belt when Morley arrived, the years of his service have seen the end of the home orchard. Today's big orchards produce more and better fruit.

Morley played a big part in yet another phase of Allegan's agricultural revolution. Together with D.E. Alcock and T.R. Ward, he was instrumental in the beginnings of the state forest. The plan was started to get farmers off sub-marginal land in the western half of the county. More than 300 hundred families on farms in that area were on relief. The federal government bought most of the land for $14 an acre, helped the residents to locate on better land, then turned the nearly 20,000 acres over to the state.

Loses Both Hands In Press Accident

Mrs. Ernest Lohman, 32, of 553 South Shore Dr., was in good condition today at Holland Hospital after she lost both hands at the wrist in a punch press accident at 3:45 p.m. Friday at Davis Die Casting Co., Inc.

A fellow employee, Ken Casemier, quickly grasped Mrs. Lohman's wrists to make a human tourniquet and accompanied the woman to Holland Hospital in a car driven by another employee. The hospital said Mrs. Lohman spent a fair night and described her condition as good today.

Another woman employee, unnerved by the accident, ran from the factory and a search was organized for her. Later it was learned she went to the home of a friend who took her to her own home. Deputy Leonard Ver Schure had considered calling in the National Guard for a search in the area, much of which is wooded.

Friday's accident was the second bad blow to employees at the company. On Tuesday three women employees of Fennville were killed in a train-car accident at the 24th St. crossing. Funeral services were scheduled Friday and today.

Ford Addresses Local Jaycees

U.S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford spoke informally about the problems facing Congress during the past session at the annual "Bosses Night" of the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night in Cumerford's restaurant. About 65 members and guests attended.

Referring to the external threat of communism, he emphasized the vital need of maintaining a continuance of a sound military strength. He referred to the present era as "the golden age of technological advancement." He described the national aid program to states for land transportation facilities and spoke of the importance to Michigan of the St. Lawrence Seaway bill.

He said fiscal responsibility is as important in government as in business or individual life and explained plans for reducing the national debt with the ultimate result that individuals will retain more for themselves and pay less to the government in taxes.

James Braddock of Grand Haven, vice president of the Michigan Jaycees, introduced President Paul Baldwin of Howell who spoke on Jaycee activities. Since its beginning in St. Louis in 1920, the organization has grown to 160,000 members in 2,500 clubs in this country. Baldwin said through projects aimed at community improvement, a Jaycee member gains leadership training and an education in community affairs.

The No. 1 national project this year is SAL—Starting America's Leaders, a project aimed at solving the delinquency problem. Holland Jaycees are sponsoring such activities as junior golf, junior tennis, Voice of Democracy contest, and Teen-age Rodeo.

Currently, the Jaycees are working on a civic betterment project, the theme of which is "Help Put Christ Back Into Christmas." The club is seeking financial support from churches, clubs and individuals in the area to raise $1,500 to purchase a life-size nativity scene to be placed in Centennial Park during the Christmas season. Contributions may be mailed to Nativity Scene Fund, c/o postmaster, Holland, Mich.

Stored Grain Should Be Examined for Insects

ALLEGAN (Special) — Stored grain should be examined often, cautions A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent.

Extension Entomologist Ray James of Michigan State College has warned that early fall can be a time of great insect damage to stored grain—as long as the weather stays moderate.

Fumigation is the only method to control the grain pests, he said. Check the upper portion of the grain to see if it has matted. If so, treat that area carefully because damage is being done by moths. He adds another precaution — be sure sides and bottom of grain bin are tight before fumigating.

Plans for Lakeview School Forest were adopted by the Lakeview Parent Teachers Association at its first meeting of the season Tuesday evening.

Parents voted almost unanimously to purchase land and begin the school forest under guidance of Holland Tulip Garden Club. Work will be started at once, with clearing and planting beginning within the next two weeks on property located in the Gibson area about 1 1/2 miles from Lake Michigan.

Mrs. J. Donald Jencks, representing the Garden Club, explained the club's part in the project and offered club member's cooperation and guidance in the plan.

Unlimited cooperation also was offered by Harold Bakker, representing the State Soil Conservation Service. He pointed out the many advantages of such an undertaking which can serve to unite the group and even earn money, but mainly, he said, will teach the children to respect the soil and how to care for trees and other natural resources.

Lakeview School To Vote Tuesday On New Addition

Voters in the Lakeview school district will go to the polls Tuesday, Oct. 5, to vote on bonding the district for $40,000 to erect a new addition calling for a new kindergarten room and two additional classrooms. Polls will be open from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Plans call for erecting a new 56 by 68-foot addition just west of the last addition. Current enrollment of the school is 204 and the school board has permission for this year only to house one class in a basement room. With increased residential building in the area, a larger enrollment is anticipated.

Tuesday's vote will not raise the tax rate. Because of increased valuation in the district, the school board has been able to pay all interest and principal due on the present bonded indebtedness. In addition, it has been possible to retire $13,000 from the balance. The original bonded indebtedness of $22,000 has been reduced to $4,000, at the same time maintaining the necessary reserve. Present millage for bonded indebtedness is 8 mills of assessed valuation.

The school board has been authorized to reduce the present 6 mills to 4 mills which will adequately pay principal and interest on current indebtedness. Assessment of a new 4-mill rate will be adequate to cover the new indebtedness, all of which means that the old and new bond issues can be retired at an assessed millage of 8 mills which is the current rate.

Voters will cast votes on two propositions. All qualified voters may vote on the millage proposal but only property owners or wives or husbands may vote on the bonding proposal.

Women With 'Hurricane' Names Can Stir Up Almost as Much Fuss as Blow

by Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON (Special) — Why are hurricanes named for women?

The U.S. Weather Bureau here is being swamped with complaints. Does the choosing of such names imply the feminine sex is more destructive?

An outraged lady named Barbara has written her Congressman that she has sisters named Edna and Alice, and if the government doesn't stop naming cyclones for all three of them, they will campaign him out of office.

Such a storm has been kicked up over the names of hurricanes that the Weather Bureau has announced it will "consider" changing the names before the 1955 blows start.

The Weather Bureau has a good reason for tagging hurricanes with names—to make radio conversations clear to pilots of the U.S. Navy Air Force and Air Weather service who are checking on storm movements from the air.

This became necessary in 1951 when there were three hurricanes underway in the same area at the same time. It caused considerable confusion.

The Weather Bureau tried naming them A.B.C. But this didn't work because they sound too much alike. So they switched to the military communication alphabet with Hurricanes Able, Baker, Charlie, Dog, etc. Meanwhile, the international communicators were working up an alphabet which went Alpha, Bravo, Coca, Delta, etc.

But the U.S. Weather Bureau in 1953 decided to get its own and that's when the trouble began with women named Alice, Barbara, Carol, Dorothy, Edna, Florence, Gilda and Hazel. The list goes through to "W" for Wallis, inspired by the Duchess of Windsor no doubt.

The idea of using feminine names for weather situations probably was started by the Navy and Air Force during world war II to identify typhoons. A typhoon is a Pacific hurricane. Maybe the Navy and Air Force were inspired by George Stewart's naval "Storm" in which the storm was named Maria.

Meanwhile, women named for storms are having a stormy time of it.

One New England woman writes it'll be a long time before baby girls are named Carol or Edna along the coastline where the hurricanes of those names left such a wake of destruction and death.

Shoulder Injury Sidelines Carey, Hope Halfback

Injury, the word coaches fear most, hit the local football camps this week. Hope College and Holland High coaches reported their teams have been weakened and will be only at limited strength for weekend games.

At Hope College, Tom Carey, first string halfback, fell during Tuesday's drills and a diagnosis revealed the junior speedster received a shoulder separation. He will not make the Carroll trip. Coach Al Vanderbush hopes the shoulder will heal quickly so as to use Carey in the next MIAA battle against Alma Oct. 9. The 5'9" 160-pound right halfback scored Hope's only touchdown against Olivet last week.

Ron Wetherbee, 5'10", 170-pound Zeeland freshman, will get the starting right half call. e has been No. 3 halfback this season. An outstanding griddler at Zeeland High, Wetherbee was selected on the All-Ken-New-Wa league team last season.

John Holmlund, starting Hope quarterback against Olivet, reported a rib injury this week. His practicing has been limited and Vanderbush reported that the 25-year-old veteran will see only limited action against Carroll.

The quarterbacking burden will fall on freshman Mort Vander Linde, backed up by freshman Del Grissen.

Warren De Witt, received a double blow this week keeping him out of practice one day. He first reported a cut chin requiring stitches and then came down with a heavy cold. De Witt, experienced tackle, will be ready to go against Carroll, however, the Hope coach said.
