FINANCIAL PROSPECTS.

The great financial panic has expended its fury, and for a time we may expect that the business of the country will assume its legitimate channel and the people be relieved of a moneyed oppression. Confidence is being slowly restored. For this happy escape from the misfortune which so recently threatened us, we are indebted to the sober, conservative policy of the government, the banks, and the solid men of the country.

The past few days has tested the character and actual strength of the Wall street gamblers, who conducted their business upon principles which defied the maxims of prudence, honesty and experience.

It may be the time has arrived—as we fervently hope it has—when pretenders and speculators will have to take back seats, and the substantial business men of the country be promoted to the task of conducting the commercial interests of the country.

Had the President adopted the advice of the soulless speculators of New York, momentary relief may have been afforded to the depression in the stock market, but it would have deranged the whole finances of the country, and would have injured every legitimate enterprise.

The lessons learned from the experience of the past ten days are full of significance to the capitalists who have weathered the panic, and have helped the country to weather it. The truth is now being made manifest by the most startling illustrations that speculators are not to be trusted, and that speculation does not pay.

The fortunes so easily won through the pernicious system of stock gambling are like soap-bubbles, the least ripple of the financial atmosphere, and they are worthless.

Our currency has proved insufficient against stringency and panic, and we can see no permanent relief from the causes which produce these black days only from a system of free banking, with a resumption of specie payment. This would give relief precisely where it is most needed. With the gold hoarded as it now is, we are forced to import it from Europe to move the crops, and with the difference remaining in favor of it, it will soon be bought up and placed in the vaults of stock brokers, where it will be used for speculative purposes to the detriment of producers. Government should sustain no system of business unless conducted upon settled rules of experience, with industry and integrity as motives of action. All else should be discountenanced as a cheat and mockery.

Financiers inform us that they now can see their way out within a few days; but whether a favorable reaction upon the market may be expected in so short a time we are not informed. The present perplexing difficulties are being rapidly solved, and we hope for a season of unlooked for prosperity in the West, where crops are abundant, and the demand for them so important as will insure a large and immediate influx of currency to secure them.

GRANT AND THE MONEY KINGS.

The conference of President Grant at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, with the leading bankers and brokers of that city reminds us of his famous council of war after the battle of the Wilderness. The battle had been a fierce one. Although it resulted in his holding the field, the victory had been dearly bought. The prospects for a forward movement looked gloomy. A tremendous pressure was brought to bear upon Grant to retire across the Rapidan and await reinforcements. He called a council of war listened to the opinions of his generals; said very little himself; gave to each sealed instructions, to be opened at a certain hour on the following morning, and bade them good night. The general impression was that the instructions received were for a withdrawal of our forces, but to the surprise of nearly all they were found, when opened, to be orders to advance. The result of the campaign which followed is well known to all. Lee was forced from every position, and at last, locked up in the defenses at Richmond, he was held with an iron hand, until he was forced to surrender. So at the Fifth Avenue hotel. The President listened to the advice of the money kings of Wall street, resisted a pressure such as few officials have been called upon to stand, weighed the arguments advanced for a sudden inflation of the currency by the release of the legal tenders in the vaults of the Treasury, then made up his mind not to do what the stock gamblers and anxious brokers wanted him to do. The result shows the wisdom of his course. The panic had reached its height, speculation had reacted upon itself, and the release of currency by the purchase of bonds was all that was needed to restore confidence and protect the mercantile interests from the sudden pressure. As a general, Grant takes rank with the most renowned soldiers of history. This latest exhibition of his sagacity and wisdom, in the presence of an impending financial crash, will go far toward placing his name among the leading statesmen of the past and present.

GERMANY'S WAR WITH THE CHURCH.

Signally successful as the German Government has been in its temporal policy, it is decidedly unfortunate in its spiritual. By the passage of the famous "ecclesiastical laws," it has provoked, not only the defiance and disloyalty of the ultramontane episcopate of the country, but the political opposition of an important and influential portion of the Protestant Church. This will be seen from the following resolution, passed at a recent session of the Evangelical Lutheran Conference, held in Berlin:

This conference considers it its duty to take part in the constitutional elections, so as to counteract the destructive tendencies which characterize the present policy of the State.

In addition, the conference took special exception to the civil marriages which the government means to introduce, and emphatically protests, in an address to the Emperor William, against the attempt to legalize this "disreputable" institution. As the Berlin statesmen are not very likely to pay attention to this remonstrance against the course they have deliberately adopted on the religious question, the government must be prepared to encounter at the next elections, the radical elements of the two leading churches.—Inter-Ocean.

A NOBLE PHILANTHROPIST.—For some time our papers have spoken of the undertaking by David Preston, of Detroit, to raise $60,000 from the people, toward a fund for Albion College, there being a gift of $50,000 dependent upon raising that amount. Mr. Preston took hold of his work with an energy and earnestness that seemed to infuse the people with enthusiasm, and began a task that under the circumstances, looked almost too great for any person to successfully accomplish. He was no laggard, but he put his whole soul into the work. He set the example by heading the list with a magnificent donation, and then had all the members of his family donate. He went about the State and most eloquently set forth his project. He talked grave and prayed. Scarcely a family but heard his appeal. He had till September 15th to raise the amount. September 9th there was still $6,000 to be raised. He did not despair, but worked; and on the 14th raised the last dollar, and his victory was won. Albion College will hereafter have cause to be grateful to Mr. Preston, and we congratulate him upon his final success. He never faltered or lost faith, and his reward will be all the sweeter to him to know that during the whole time he never thought of abandoning the scheme. Nobly done, David Preston.

EDUCATIONAL FOLLIES.

Unless parents exercise unusual care, and judicial authority in preparing a solid foundation, those whose task it is to educate the young, are like those who are wasting their whole lives in the vain endeavor to discover perpetual motion, or some other equally fallacious idea.

There are many causes of inefficiency which interfere with and obstruct the ends of education; the most palpable one of which is a tendency to force upon ordinary minds a task to which they are unequal. Our grand-parents must feel somewhat amazed in looking over a school circular of the present day, to discover the difference in quantity between what they used to learn and what children are now expected to be taught.

It may appear that in general, intellectual and scientific progress is increasing, and new truths being daily brought to light, knowledge of all kinds is added to the store we formerly possessed; and this increase of information necessarily raises the standard of education. The students of to-day are obliged to know more than those who have preceded them; but in crowding their minds with new material, teachers should remember that whatever extra exertions may be required to keep pace with the demands of the age, there is no corresponding increase of time to be devoted to it. The day is no longer now than formerly, and just as much of it required for rest and recreation; therefore, the attempt to multiply the branches of learning without being able to secure an increase of power and time, is simply absurd, and has caused many a brain to be hopelessly injured.

What is necessary, then, is to be able to discriminate between the essential and the non-essential elements in a course of study, which would secure perfection and ultimate success. The student should be taught that it is far more important to know a few things, and know them well, than to attempt to force so much upon the brain that it has but a vague idea of any. To cram many things at once is a sure way to take a strong hold of none. A recent writer on this subject says:

"Adding to a programme of studies on one hand without reducing it on the other by removing less important parts and making room for more important ones, can only result in a general and useless smattering, and will fail to qualify any man or woman for the serious duties of life."

Education deals with facts, and a knowledge of facts takes time; it is, therefore, highly important that we should have due regard for the laws that govern the mind and body in securing it. A system of instruction to meet with our views would aim in imparting a general knowledge of what is essential for every man or woman to know. The intelligence of the masses is quite adequate for these acquirements. It is desirable, then, that a careful and judicious selection be made from the different branches of learning, giving precedent to the most useful, and selecting for each student that which is best adapted to him, and most calculated to simulate his peculiar talents. We would venture to say that the greatest talent ever bestowed upon a parent or teacher is the art of finding out what studies are by their nature, best adapted to the pupil. It is the only way to fit them for their future positions in the world.

A uniform course of study for a variety of talents may be kept up for some time with benefit, or at least without much inconvenience; but if carried beyond certain limits, the tax upon many of them becomes too great, and they are finally forced to give up their studies with their education but half completed, which calamity might have been averted had a well-balanced system of instruction been furnished for them. Nothing is ever gained by forcing upon the young more than they are able to do, or obliging them to apply themselves to a course of study for which they have neither taste nor abilities.

A WORD TO WORKING PEOPLE OF BOTH SEXES.—Mechanics, artisans, factory hands, and people who labor for a living, find it very difficult if not impossible to keep the hands free from stain. Hand Sapollo will not only remove every particle of stain, and what is called "grained in dirt," but it will also keep the skin soft and pliable, rendering the muscular action as quick and easy as is the case with those who do not perform hand labor. It is only ten and fifteen cents a cake, according to size. Every mechanic should use it constantly in place of all other soaps.

The Adrian Press announces that Miss Mary Hapgood, formerly a well-known teacher in the public schools of that city, and the only lady in the last graduating class of the University, has become principal of the Mankato, Minn., high school, at a salary of $100 per month.

The submarine divers, in the employ of Mr. C. W. Perry, were unsuccessful in their search for the tug M. J. Mills, in Lake Huron, and have returned to Detroit. They descended 90 feet and searched the bottom for some distance, but the lost steamer was nowhere visible.

A Kent county man recently committed an aggravated assault on a young lady, and had to settle the matter by marrying the girl, and giving the father $700 as a pledge that he would care for her.

The Allegan Journal was awarded the first premium at the State Fair, for a file of the best arranged (and printed local newspaper printed in the State of Michigan. This is a deserved compliment to the Journal, but the awarding committee might have further said, that it was one of the best, if not the best local Republican journal in the State. We have ever looked upon the Journal as one of the main vertebra in the back-bone of the Republican party; ever ready for reform, and earnest in advocating the right; willing to attach itself to any enterprise that the interest of the people demanded, from the Credit Mobiliers windle to a Ship Canal, and refusing all attachments of a personal character.

Wood's Household Magazine, for October, has thrust its cheery little self into our presence. It brings to us the treasures it has been gathering the past month, and all are deserving of notice. Each has its peculiar value, and "Maggie holds up this, that, and the other literary gem and archly seems to say, "What do you think of this?" and "Isn't this nice?" and "Look at that!" And we glance at them all and say, "Yes! Yes! All are good!" There is also a pretty engraving of the chromo YOSEMITE, which the publisher is offering as a premium—which it would be well for all our readers to examine—as it gives a very accurate idea, save in size and coloring, of what chromo Yosemite is. Price of the Magazine, One Dollar a year—with chromo, One Dollar and a Half. Address

Local News.

Dr. T. D. Powers has removed to his new office building, on M. D. Howard's lot, corner of Eighth and River streets.

The residence of William Herkima, just south of the city limits, was destroyed, with nearly all the furniture, last Saturday evening. Insured in the Michigan State, of Adrian for $300.

Rev. C. Van der Veen and family left this week for a year's absence in Colorado. Mr. Van der Veen has been in feeble health for several years past, and he leaves with the hope of regaining it.

The Secretary of the Treasury gives the very gratifying assurance that the Government "does not lose a cent" by the failure of Jay Cooke & Co., with whom it has had extensive dealings during the past four years, in the sale of bonds, etc.

About the 4th of this month, a new paper, to be called the Saturday Evening Post, will be issued at Grand Rapids, by D. N. Foster, as editor and proprietor. We shall welcome all such new enterprises, and wish for them the best of success.

The Michigan Lake Shore R. R. and the Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore R. R. have recently had placed upon their mail trains, Westinghouse's air breaks, which will stop a train at a moment's notice. These roads surely mean to do all that is possible to prevent accidents.

We learn from the Muskegon Chronicle that the vacancy in the constitutional commission from our district, occasioned by the resignation of Hon. L. G. Mason, of Muskegon, has been filled by the appointment of Hon. Wm. M. Ferry, of Grand Haven. A most excellent appointment.

Our city banker, Mr. Nathan Kenyon, is pursuing the even tenor of his way, paying in currency all drafts upon him, and is prepared to do so to the end. Depositors can get their money whenever wanted. It is gratifying, in such times, to have a reliable institution among us.

J. E. Higgins is paying the highest market price for wheat and hay, and is also prepared to furnish coal at bottom prices, in any quantity to suit purchasers. Wheat was worth, yesterday, $1.30 per bushel; hay $10 per ton. Notwithstanding the panic, Mr. Higgins is ready to pay cash for all wheat and hay offered.

On Tuesday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, Mr. John Harm Hartger, a well-to-do farmer, residing near Graafschap, fell dead in his field. He had a short time before left his home in his usual health. He was one of the pioneers in this part of the country, and an estimable citizen. He leaves a large family to mourn his sudden death.

Our readers will not forget that the Ottawa, Muskegon and West Kent Agricultural Society will meet at Berlin October 7th, 8th and 9th. We hope the farmers in this part of the county will be on hand with some of their fat cattle, horses, agricultural products, etc. Our manufacturers should also be prepared to show their work, and carry off some of the premiums.

While in Muskegon, a few days since we took occasion to drop into the Sanctum of our friend Rice, of the Muskegon Chronicle, and found him alive to the interests of Muskegon and to the Chronicle, notwithstanding the hard words he has received from the press, relative to his position in the Canavan case. He gets up a live paper, is fearless and independent, and the people of Muskegon and vicinity know how to appreciate his ability and energy. Long may he wave.

Edward Beane, the freight conductor on the Chicago and Alton Railroad, whose negligence caused the late disaster on that road, has been indicted for murder by the Cook County Grand Jury.

Precisely at half-past nine o'clock on Tuesday morning, Sept. 16, 1873, the last German soldier stepped off French territory, and left France free from the hateful presence of the German Army of Occupation for the first time since the close of the Franco-Prussian war.

The condition of the United States Treasury is pronounced by treasury officials to be excellent. It is predicted that by the 1st of November, when the quarterly interest on government bonds falls due, there will be a balance in the Treasury of about $103,000,000 in coin, and even after deducting that interest, amounting to about $15,000,000, there will be as large a coin balance in the Treasury as has been shown any time during the year.

Every person who has the material interest of this place in view, and would substantiate them, must remember that we have first class manufacturing establishments, where everything can be bought as cheap as the cheapest, and every dollar paid them helps to strengthen us all. In times like the present, it is necessary to protect our home industries, and we hope that no money will be sent abroad to purchase any article that is manufactured at home.

CITY OF HOLLAND, October 1.

The Common Council met at the Council-room.

All of which were referred to the committee on claims and accounts.

The Clerk made the following report:

To the Mayor and Common Council, City of Holland:

MANHOOD: HOW LOST. HOW RESTORED.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Sutherland's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Erysipelas and Fevers, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in a sealed envelope only six cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps.

Morphographies.

BY PROF. J. D. BUTLER.

On the 12th day of May, 1806, Lewis and Clark, heading the first party of whites who ever crossed the continent in our latitude, held a council with the Chopunnish Indians, far up the Columbia river. Half the day passed before they could convey much information, for, said they, "In the first place we spoke in English to one of our men, who translated it into French to Chaboneau, he interpreted it to his wife in Minnetaree, and she put it into Shoshonee, and a Shoshonee prisoner explained it to the Chopunnish in their own dialect."

At length, however, the pale faces bethought themselves of the universal language, and drew a map of America, showing the situation of its parts and places on a map with a piece of coal. The difficulty of communication was half gone, and the vividness of impression doubled.

The age of pictures completes what the age of printing began. It rises upon it "like another morn risen on midnoon." The Harpers alone have produced more pictures than all the presses in the world had yielded before their time. In our most voluminous dictionaries, the illustrations outnumber the pages. In Honolulu I met with an editor, who, during our rebellion had four-folded his circulation by glorifying each of his issues with one or more block prints which he bought of the Harpers for a trifle.

On a solitary ride throughout the jungle and lava up the volcano of Kilauea, I came to a Kanaka "grass house," ten miles from all other dwellings. The owner hearing my horse's hoofs, stood at the entrance with a narrower girdle than Father Adam ever wore, and beckoned me in. I had some little fear of cannibalism, yet accepted the invitation. As soon as I entered the savage pointed admiringly to a London paper with a full-page illustration tacked on the inside of his door.

On an Oriental tour from Dan to Beersheba, I daily marveled at one of my Yankee fore-runners, who, though doubtless ignorant of all languages but two, namely, English and profane, had left on every ruin, "an epistle known and read of all men." How could that be? He had carried in his pocket a stencil plate, showing a locomotive bearing a flag with stripes and stars, and by that bit of copper and a little red paint, he had made his meaning intelligible to all nationalities.

But photography rivals the pictorial fertility of the press. It may well be doubted which of these two sisters will prove the most prolific. Of the one hundred and one pilgrim fathers of New England, who landed at Plymouth no single one has left us his portrait, while we have those of every individual of their descendants, who composed the congregational council, which was lately photographed at the rock of landing—the Yankee Barney Stone.

As to this matter also, the Catholic is more than a match for the Puritan. He tells us that before Raphael painted he who would behold the Madonna must go to Heaven—that after Raphael's time, one could see her by going to Rome; and that now, thanks to photography, a few dimes enable all who will, to set up as their household God, a not unworthy presentment of "our tainted nature's only boast." No wonder then a poet sings: "Be mine to praise that rare mechanic's skill. Which stamps, repeats and multiplies at will. And cheaply propagates to distant climes. The fairest products of the noblest times."

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The Burlington & Missouri River Railroad Company are in nothing behind the age; in matters pictorial they are before it. They have obtained views of all that chiefly interests a traveler who surveys the Missouri slope, both in Iowa and Nebraska, the valleys of the Platte and the Three Blues, villages like Red Oak, Ashland, and Crete; cities like Plattsmouth and Lincoln, with characteristic specimens of the agricultural country throughout the South Platte region, rolling prairies bottom land and timber skirted streams, where three thousand buyers of railroad land, and more than ten times as many homesteaders and pre-emptors have lately found, and founded new homes. Some of these views illustrate that is, bring into lustre, the letter-press of the B. & M. railroad land circulars, "six hundred thousand more" which have just been issued from Burlington and Lincoln.

From thus showing his land, Land Commissioner G. S. Harris, will find letters so multiplying that he will need more clerks than ever in each of those cities. "The eye affecteth the heart."

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the omens of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints. In young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout. Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Inter-mittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

For Skin Diseases. Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Bores, Scabs, Pimples, Pustules, Bolls, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.
