A consolidation of all the furniture factories in the Northwest is contemplated. This gigantic scheme has for some time been projected and of late the plan has taken more tangible form and a committee has been in conference with leading managers to ascertain their views. For years past there has been a very small margin of profit in the furniture manufacturing industry. The plan is to consolidate the companies under one general head by which the output can be controlled, territory fairly distributed and expense of management decreased. The expense of placing goods on the market is a large factor in their cost and one object of the consolidation is to reduce this to a minimum.

Another veteran of the civil war has passed away, Gen. Ellska Mix, of Allegan, who died on Monday, aged 80 years. He came to Michigan in 1843, erected a sawmill at Manlius on the Kalamazoo river, and engaged in lumbering. In 1852 he was elected county surveyor and surveyed most all of the western part of Allegan county. After the war, he went to Wyandotte, where he founded the agricultural works, remaining there two years. He went to Pennsylvania and Connecticut, engaging in different kinds of business for about ten years, when he returned to Allegan and has resided there ever since. At the outbreak of the rebellion, he raised a company and was commissioned captain in the Eighth cavalry. In May, 1863, he was promoted to be colonel of his regiment. He was in 52 engagements and was wounded twice. Gen. Mix was taken prisoner in 1864, exchanged and mustered out in September, 1865. Prior to being mustered out, he was commissioned brevet brigadier general.

The people will go to the polls in November to register their indorsement of the way the affairs of the Nation have been managed by the party which they had put in power by their votes of two years before. The proposition to raise a monument to the memory of Lafayette by subscriptions from the schools didn't meet with favor with our board of education and as far as the public schools of this city are concerned the project will not be entertained. A number of years ago, says the G. H. Tribune, the vaults in the old court house in Allegan were blown open by robbers one night and $10,000 secured. Every window in the building was broken. The thieves grabbed up all the money they could, it being in bags, ran to a wagon in waiting, and drove north right through the village and out into the country on what is known as the Monterey road. The awakened citizens heard the rig driving over the hard road when two miles away. The robbers were never captured. Some years ago an attempt was made to rob the National Bank of Allegan and the thieves drove off pell mell over this same Monterey road. It is believed in Allegan that some farmer living north of that town is in league with professional crooks and carries them away and hides them after their robberies. No one was caught in either instance. It is possible that the same parties blew up the Zeeland bank, as it is near by.

"Three years ago," said an Ionia farmer, "I sold a small flock of 24 sheep for an even $30—less than $1 a head. Today sheep of the same quality are worth $8 a head. The things the farmer has to sell, particularly cattle, hogs and sheep, have greatly increased in price under President McKinley's administration. The price of wheat is a little low, but the present price is more satisfactory than the 45 cents or 50 cents a bushel that we were receiving three years ago."

Y., under the auspices of the women's branch of the board of domestic missions of the Reformed church. The collection taken up Sunday evening amounted to $45.

GIVEN A ROYAL WELCOME.

The President Arrives in Omaha and Is Warmly Greeted by Vast Throngs of People.

HIS JOURNEY A CONTINUOUS OVATION.

Enthusiastic Crowds Cheer Him All Along the Trip—Talks to the Multitudes at Cedar Rapids and Other Iowa Cities—Elaborate Peace Pageant at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 12.—The arrival of the presidential train and the army and navy special in Omaha at 9:35 last night was the signal for an enthusiastic demonstration. Thousands surrounded the depot, while vast throngs were along the line of march. It is estimated that 200,000 people witnessed the coming of the president.

From the time the special bearing the distinguished guests had passed into the city until the president entered his quarters for repose an hour later he received a continual ovation. His route was through an ocean of human faces, and the vast throng stretched out into the side streets as far as the eye could see.

The Carnival Pageant.

Arriving at the city hall the party of 200 official guests hastily marched to the grand stand that had been prepared for their reception. The festivities opened almost immediately, consisting of a parade composed of 40 floats, mostly of a historical, allegorical and mythical nature, all lighted by myriads of small electric lights.

A Remarkable Scene.

A most remarkable scene was witnessed at the presidential stand when a magnificently decorated float, containing busts of the naval and army heroes of the nation, passed. The float contained busts of Dewey, Sampson, Schley, Hobson, Wainwright, Shafter and some of the lesser lights of the late war. The shouts of the crowd were tremendous and the people surged around the float as if they would carry it away by main force. President McKinley arose with uncovered head and saluted the float. This gesture was the signal for even greater applause.

Enthusiasm Reaches Its Limit.

When the float labeled "The Nation's Chief, Our Guest," presenting a magnificent bust of the president, passed the reviewing stand the enthusiasm of the crowd reached its limit. The cheering was continuous and did not cease for ten minutes after the float had passed out of sight. Then the official party broke up, and, followed by the great multitude, the president's party was conducted to the Omaha club by the knights and the citizens' committee.

Speech at Cedar Rapids.

Carroll, Ia., Oct. 12.—The president left the train for the first time at Cedar Rapids. A platform elaborately decorated stood near the track and from here, President McKinley delivered an address which brought cheers from 10,000 lusty throats. He spoke as follows, after being introduced by Mayor Cousins:

"Ladies and Gentlemen and Fellow Citizens: It gives me very great pleasure to meet with the people of Cedar Rapids as we journey to the great western city, whither I go to celebrate with the people of the trans-Mississippi states the triumphs of their skill, their genius and their industry. It is a fortunate situation that this people while engaged in war never neglect the industries of peace, and while the war was going on and we were engaged in arms against a foreign foe the industries of the people went on and their progress and prosperity were in no wise checked. I go thither also that I may celebrate with my fellow countrymen of the west the progress of the war thus far made, the protocol which has already been signed, and the suspension of hostilities, and that you and I enter into that in the final settlements the treaty may be founded on right and justice and in the interest of humanity. [Applause.] This war that was so speedily closed through the valor and intrepidity of our soldiers will bring to us, I trust, blessings that are now beyond calculation. It will bring also burdens, but the American people never shirk a responsibility and never unload a burden that carries forward civilization. We accepted war for humanity. We can accept no terms of peace which shall not be in the interest of humanity.

Cause for Gratitude.

"That hostilities have ceased upon terms so satisfactory to the people of the United States—cause for congratulations and calls forth sentiments of pious gratitude to Divine Providence for those favors which He has manifested unto us, and of appreciation of the army and navy for their brilliant victories. Such a celebration cannot but be helpful. It will encourage love of country and will emphasize the noble achievements of our soldiers and sailors on land and sea. War has no glories except it achieves them, and no achievements are worthy having which do not advance civilization and benefit mankind.

Greatest Victory of the War.

"While our victories in battle have added new honors to American valor, the real honor is the substantial gain to humanity. Out of the bitterness and woe, the privations and sufferings and anxieties of the past five months, will flow benefits to the nation which may be more important than we can now realize.

"No development of the war has been more gratifying and exalting than the complete unification of the nation. Sectional lines have been obliterated; party differences have been buried in the great chorus of patriotism which has been heard from one end of the country to the other. "To the executive's call for volunteers no prompter response was received than came from the patriotic people of the south and the west, and none were more patriotic than the people of Iowa. And when the orders were given to advance into a foreign territory every soldier was disappointed to find that the war was not in the order to march. All were anxious to be with that portion of the army which was first to meet the enemy. Our gratitude is boundless to these brave men, and the nation will hold them in perpetual memory.

Praise for Brave Women.

"In paying tribute to the patriotism and valor of the men engaged in the war we must not fail to give deserved praise to the nobility of the women. As in the war for independence and for the union, they never hesitated nor murmured, freely offering their best beloved on the altar of their country. Husbands and sons went from every walk of life, even at personal self-sacrifice, in the struggle for support, and were not held back, but encouraged to respond to the sacred call of duty. Alert, generous and practical in providing relief work, ministering where disease and death were most frequent in the camps and at the front, tenderly resigned and sublime in their submission and faith when death claimed the dearest of their household, the women of the United States, in all the nation's trials through which we have passed, have placed the government and the people under a debt of gratitude that they can never repay. They have added new glory to the race and exquisite qualities of American womanhood. I thank you all and bid you good afternoon."

Shore stops were made at Belle Plaine, Tama, Marshalltown and Ames, and at each point the president said a few words to the people. Tama is in the home county of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who introduced the president to his neighbors. Cadets from the state agricultural college were at the depot at Ames and repeated their college yell time and again for the benefit of the president.

Political Notes.

President McKinley has written a cordial letter of congratulation and good wishes to Colonel Roosevelt on his nomination for governor of New York. Speaker Reed has taken similar action, coupled with an offer to do anything in his power to assist the colonel in his campaign. Neither letter will be made public. In returning the compliment the gallant colonel has this to say: "I should ask the people of this country to support the administration of President McKinley, if for no other reason than because, say what you like, the victory at the polls of the men who are opposing and denouncing the administration in this election will be interpreted abroad as meaning, on the part of America, a repudiation of the war from which we have just emerged triumphant. It will strengthen the hands of every hostile power which views with jealousy our victories in the Antilles and the Philippines; it will mean that the nations that now secretly and enviously wish to clip the wings of our pride will be emboldened. It will result in the partial undoing of what our army and navy have accomplished. It will mean the chance of great complications and also of our meeting obstacles when it comes to reaping the fruit of our triumph. Above all, we must do nothing to give the feeling that we may reverse our attitude on the question of a sound and stable currency. If by your votes you put in power men who fail to meet this issue—and to dodge it is quite as dangerous, and very much meaner than meeting it in the wrong way—you will have struck a heavy blow at your own well being; you will have done all in your power to set back the return of prosperity, and you will have only yourselves to thank if you suffer in consequence."

Ex-congressman W. D. Bynum, of Indiana, late chairman of the sound money democrat national committee will stump Iowa for the republican congressional candidates. He does not believe in killing the cheap money folly by degrees, but will endeavor to make a clean and thorough job of it. He is quoted as saying:

"It is my intention to give to the republican candidates my earnest support. There is no other course open for sound money democrats. The democrat party has passed into the control of those who, rather than have it succeed by a return to sound politics, are determined to wreck it. It has become narrow, intolerant and prospective. Even those who were for sound money before the Chicago convention, but afterward submitted to its action, are continually charged with treachery to the organization. The party has become so impregnated with populist ideas that the conservative element remaining in it has been forced not only to swallow its heresies, but to say they like them. On the other hand, the republican party has grown more liberal. It has not only taken a firm stand in favor of sound money and currency reform but by its progressive action and spirit has elevated American citizenship to a most enviable position. American citizenship now means something, and in the future a passport in the possession of a citizen traveling in a foreign country will be respected. President Mc-Kinley's liberal and philanthropic course in the management of the war merits the indorsement of the people irrespective of party, and I believe will receive it. Our net imports of gold last year exceeded $100,000,000, our balance of trade was over $600,000,000, and the gold reserve in the treasury is now the greatest ever known. To elect a congress adverse to the administration would be to entail on the country another period of doubt and uncertainty, and paralyze business, without the least hope of any remedial legislation."

The sound-money Democrats are in accord with the Republican party on every issue except the tariff. They are mostly free traders, and they will not as yet indorse the principle of protection. They hesitate about declaring openly for all Republican politics because many of them think the free-currency theory has about run its course, and they predict that it will not be heard of in the Democratic national convention of 1900. They are of the opinion that the socialistic element which now controls the Democratic party will be repudiated by the mass of the voters of that party on account of the defeat in 1896 and the disorder which awaits them this year. Then the old-line Democrats will be ready to take their places in the party they left in 1896. The gold Democrats are ardent admirers of President McKinley, and they desire to prevent the increase of the silver Democratic representation in Congress, as such an event would be disastrous to business and be construed as a reversal by the country at large of the judgement it pronounced in 1896.—Ex.

The Massachusetts silver democracy in convention assembled, besides indorsing the Chicago national platform and the "peerless Bryan," adopted the following as a part of the state platform:

The military administration during the recent war has been a stigma on the history of the republic and a disgrace to civilization. The army which sprang into existence has been made the prey of incompetents and favorites, who have fattened on the sorrows of American soldiers. The brave young men who fought our battles in the West Indies were left without adequate food, medicines or surgical assistance. They were put under incompetent commanders and were left to suffer and die with undressed wounds and burning fevers. And hundreds of their comrades, who have returned alive, have come back emaciated and ghostly, to stagger through the streets as living witnesses against those who were responsible for their sufferings. We demand that a thorough investigation by congress, not by an administration committee organized to acquit, shall expose the guilty and drive them mercilessly from the office which they have disgraced.

This arraignment of the present administration recalls the fact that the democrats of another New England state, the good old state of Maine, in the year 1864, about eight months before the end of the civil war, passed the following resolution arraigning the administration of President Lincoln:

Resolved, That the administration, by its corruption and ineptitude, has shown itself incapable of a successful prosecution of the war, and from its levity, tergiversations, and its bad faith, is manifestly incapable of negotiating an honorable peace.

The Massachusetts democrats of 1864 have not improved upon the work of the Maine democrats of 1864. They have simply repeated with more verbosity what events proved to be an infamous slander.

Justice Leonard J. Hackney of the Indiana supreme court and M. F. Healy the noted Iowa lawyer, former chairman and late member of the Iowa democratic state central committee, are two very distinguished bolters from the party of free silver. Judge Hackney at one coup resigned from the supreme bench, got out of the democracy and returned his nomination by the recent state convention, refusing to run on a silver ticket. Mr. Healy resigned in disgust from his membership in the state central committee of Iowa, and published a letter predicting eternal and merited defeat for his own party. The Indiana judge for years has been one of the most eminent lawyers in the democratic lines in the west. Mr. Healy favors territorial expansion, and was howled down in the state convention when he tried to induce it to declare for that principle. He is one of the ablest lawyers and politicians in his section of the state. Seeing the drift of sentiment in all parts of the country he tried to save the democracy of Iowa the disgrace involved in trying to stop the will of the people, but he failed. He is now practically out quite out of the party altogether.

Board of Supervisors.

The board met in annual session Monday, with F. J. Fox in the chair. All the members were present. Chas. K. Hoyt, the clerk, being ill, his place was filled by Chas. Christman.

A communication was received from the secretary of the state association of supervisors, asking that delegates be sent to the state meeting in Lansing in January.

Messrs. Glerum, Sheldon and Mokma were appointed a committee to fix salaries of county officers for the coming year.

Leonard Reus was re-elected a member of the board of county school examiners, receiving 12 votes to 8 for Mr. McCrossen.

The flag pole committee reported that the cost of the pole and erecting same was $189.55.

County drain commissioner Whipple made his annual report, which was referred to the committee on drains.

With reference to the continued use of the county jail by the city of Grand Haven, as a city lock-up, the following communications were exchanged:

Grand Haven, Oct. 12, 1898.
To the Honorable, the Mayor and City Council:
Gentlemen:—The committee on buildings and grounds of the board of supervisors of Ottawa county, to whom was referred the disposal of the old jail and sheriff's residence are of the opinion that the board of supervisors would be willing to let the city of Grand Haven have the cells and grate bars in windows of said jail, provided the city would be willing to remove said cells and lower ground floor under cells at least thirteen inches below grade line of court house square, providing the city would use the same for a city lock-up.
Respectfully submitted,

E. Froim,
Jacob Glerum,
C. E. Stearns,
Com. on buildings and grounds.

To which the common council adopted the following rejoinder:

Resolved, That the council of the city of Grand Haven is advised and believes that the city is entitled to the use of the county jail for the confinement of all persons liable to imprisonment, under the ordinances thereof, and does not need any city lock-up, and respectfully declines the proffer of the cells and doors and window gratings of the old jail and that a copy of this resolution be furnished by the city clerk to Enno J. Froim, Esq., chairman of the committee on public buildings and property of the board of supervisors of the county.

The action of the common council is based upon a provision of the general city charter act which allows cities the use of the jail of the county in which it is located for the confinement of prisoners under the city ordinances.

War Notes.

With reference to the investigation now being made into the conduct of the war by the commission appointed by the President, the Free Press makes the following observation: "Gen. Wheeler, good, gray patriot and hero, has run over the whole course of the Cuban invasion and the conduct of the recuperation camp at Montauk Point. Gen. Boynton a veteran of excellent standing in military and newspaper circles, has presented a plain unvarnished tale of the camp conditions at Chickamauga. Gen. Lee, a popular and appreciated figure in our adventure with Spain, has testified freely concerning the site, supplies, sanitary precautions and discipline of his camp at Jacksonville. Gen. Greene who gallantly led one of the divisions of the United States troops at the battle of Manila, has described the experiences in camp on the Pacific coast, aboard transports and at Cavite. The secretary of war has deposed and answered the questions put to him and Gen. Sterenberg has likewise furnished information concerning the administration of his department. And yet it does not appear that the conduct of the war was "criminally inefficient" or that its directing spirit is a "murderous monster."

Gen. Shafter, while in Kalamazoo last week, in speaking of the war in investigation before the commission, talked freely. The testimony of Gen. Wheeler before the commission, he says, is very forcible and convincing, but the stories of the line officers will not be as cautious as those of Gen. Wheeler. They will tell a story that will not only corroborate Gen. Wheeler, but will go farther. Perhaps the commission is not legal, as Gen. Miles claims, but the testimony it is bringing out will satisfy the public that the stories which have been published throughout the land about the neglect, starvation and needless suffering of the troops at Santiago have been exaggerated greatly for political purposes. The general said that he knew his men must get sick and it was useless to get the men to the highlands. Of course there was a great deal of sickness. He said that he was never interfered with during the whole campaign. He was to capture Santiago and drive Cervera's fleet out and he thinks he succeeded.

The Zeeland Bank Robbery.

The neighboring village of Zeeland was all torn up on Tuesday morning when they learned that during the night their bank had been looted. The robbery must have occurred at an early hour that morning, and although accompanied by three explosions, it was not discovered until the wrecked condition of the front entrance to the bank building drew the notice of passers-by. The bank has a brick vault, with a supposed burglar-proof safe inside. This safe is further provided with a money-chest. The door of each of these was blown off, with the aid of nitro-glycerine and a time fuse.

The burglars no doubt got a fair amount of plunder, variously estimated at from $4,000 to double that sum. They appeared to have decided preferences on the money question, inasmuch as they limited their call loan to gold and paper currency, positively refusing to take any silver, of which there was some $800 on hand.

The bank is a private one, founded, owned and managed by Hon. Jacob Den Herder, with his son Christian J. as cashier. It has been in existence about twenty years and during that period has enjoyed the confidence of the people, developing and growing up with the locality in which it is situated, which it will continue to do, notwithstanding this unpleasant interruption.

The burglary was performed in a masterly way and gives evidence of professional skill. The tools used in the operation were abstracted from one of the blacksmith shops in the village. How the burglars came in and went out of town is a mystery, even the rain coming to their assistance in obliterating all tracks and traces. The evening before a stranger had stepped into one of the stores of the village and bought several pairs of round, hollow shoestrings. In examining the bank wreck it was found that the hollow shoestrings had been used as time fuses, in blowing open the vault.

The loss to Mr. Den Herder is not heavy, inasmuch as his insurance policies also include losses against robbery. Business was again resumed that day, the banks of this city and Grand Rapids standing ready with whatever assistance might be needed.

Sheriff Van Ry happened to be in this city Tuesday morning and soon reached the scene. Whatever clue there was thought to be was closely analyzed, but it did not amount to much, until on Tuesday afternoon, while out hunting near the Vriesland marsh, Drs. Baert and Heasley, both of Zeeland, came across three suspicious looking characters, one of whom was hidden behind a log and the other two in a bush. Due notice was at once communicated to the officers, a searching party organized, and the woods and swamps thoroughly explored, but without satisfactory result and at this writing there is no clue to the whereabouts of the burglars.

He Wants to Buy Cheap, You Know.

About two months ago, says the Coopersville Observer, a number of salesmen were in the vicinity, selling steel ranges to the farmers, making, so we are informed, a number of sales. They charged about twice as much for a stove as one could be bought for anywhere else, but it seems that the bigger the fraud the quicker some people will bite.

A slick salesman with a neat wagon load of ranges drives up to a farmer's house and contracts to sell a range for $60 to $65, takes the farmer's stove for $10 to $15, and makes a contract signed by the salesman, reading:

"I agree to board with (name of buyer) not to exceed $25, allowing him $2 per night for myself and team and further agree to allow $1.50 for each day he rides on the wagon with me."

Signed by salesman.

The range is left and a contract made in accordance with the above, guaranteeing the range in all particulars. This the buyer signs without looking at the back of the contract, which is on a pad back down. On the back the company has a "special notice," forbidding any erasures or endorsement on notes, and cautioning buyers that no receipts or endorsement will be allowed unless endorsed on the note, and expressly stating that "no old stoves will be taken in part payment."

Then comes the note which the buyer is asked to sign after being told by the salesman that he will keep the note in his possession and endorse the board, and time the buyer puts in, on the note, as fast as earned.

And here the fun of the buyer comes in. The salesman doesn't come back for board, nor to give the dupe a chance to "ride on the wagon," but sends the note to headquarters, where it is sold to a "third party" before it is due and the job is done. The purchaser has a range for which he has a given his note for a big round sum, which he will find in the hands of an innocent purchaser when due.

Moral for the farmer: Buy of your home merchants, and especially those who ask for your trade in the columns of your local paper.

Moral for the merchant: Advertise the year round in your home paper and let the people know what you have to offer in the way of bargains.

The series of formal receptions and social parties to our returned volunteers wound up on Friday evening with an entertainment and banquet by the Women's Relief Corps in the G. A. R. hall. The invitations to this festive occasion had been extended also to the veterans of the civil war and the S. of V., which swelled the number of guests to about 150. The spread, like everything else that is undertaken by the worthy members of this organization, came up to the highest expectation, and paved the way for the success of what was still to follow. The tables having been cleared Commander

D. B. K. Van Raalte took charge and, after welcoming the boys to their home city, called upon a number of those present for impromptu remarks. Mrs. G. J. Van Duren responded in behalf of the W. R. C., and Dr. J. A. Mabbs for the Sons of Veterans. Anthony Rosbach read an original poem, and Miss Christina Van Duren had a humorous essay appropriate to the occasion. Miss Lena Boone sang "Marching to Cuba," while Frank Hathaway entertained the company with some reminiscences about prison life in Andersonville. Dr. F. J. Schouten gave vent to his patriotism in the Holland language. Among others that were heard from are Lieut. J. Kramer, A. J. Ward, Chas. F. Hiller, G. Van Houte, Capt. M. De Boe, Jno. Nies, George Mooney, Lieut. John Schouten of Grand Rapids, William Kieft of Grand Haven, Corn. Boone of Zeeland, and a score of others. The brief addresses were interspersed with music, and the program closed with an enthusiastic rendering of "America."

The annual meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church was held in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon, with 20 member and 10 visitors present. Reports from officers showed the following: Amount raised during the year, $130; 29 meetings held with a total attendance of 380; total membership 36; society in flourishing condition. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. J.
Elferdink, Jr.; vice presidents, Mrs. C.
Cugshall, Mrs. Looyenroed; treas., Mrs. E. Ballard; secretary, Mrs. I.
Reeve. Tea was served from 4 to 5 o'clock, and as the meeting adjourned the members were full of courage for another year of successful work.

The meeting held last Saturday evening to decide upon the work of the Y. M. C. A. during the coming winter was attended by a number of boys, with a representation of the churches and business men. It was decided that Holland must keep the rooms open, and give the young men of the city a pleasant place to spend the winter evenings under good influence.
To do this, and to maintain the reading rooms, gymnasium and Sunday meeting logs, will require the addition of one hundred paying members to the society. A committee was appointed to solicit members and report at a meeting to be held on Monday evening, at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The committee consists of the following persons: Henry Geerlings, Henry Van Der Ploeg, Peter Takken, John Roost, Jr., Cornelius Hoogenstyp.

Paul P. Davis of Grand Rapids was in the city yesterday, to arrange for a class in elocution. "Owing to the fact that he has charge of a play to be given at Powers Opera House next Thursday evening for the benefit of the army fund and also of the shows to be given during carnival week, it will not be possible for him to start a school of instruction in Holland until Thursday, November 3. On that date he will come here and give his first lessons. Quite a number of our young people, who are interested in the art of expression, have signified their intention of joining the class. As Mr.
Davis is an instructor of state reputation and wide experience we have no doubt that this movement will meet with success. Persons who contemplate joining can obtain information regarding terms, etc., from Nick Whelan, at City Hotel.

AMERICAN LANTERNS.

They Are Carried Wherever Lanterns Are Used All Over the Civilized World.

American lanterns are exported to all the countries of the world where lanterns are used. Many are sent to South Africa and to South America, to Australia and New Zealand, and some are sold in Asia. Few, proportionately, are sent to Europe, says the New York Sun.

Kerosene oil is now commonly burned in lanterns all over the world.
There are no lanterns made nowadays for candles only, but there are exported to South America some lanterns made so that either candles or oil may be burned in them. These are provided with a candle socket, which may be set down in the oil reservoir, the wick holder having been removed. By removing the candle socket and screwing in the wick holder the lantern is made ready to burn oil. Excepting railroad and other lanterns for special uses, substantially all the lanterns made nowadays are of the kind known as tubular, first introduced about 30 years ago, and now made in various modifications as to detail, the tubular part of the lantern being designed with a view to producing better combustion and a brighter light. The lanterns made for ordinary uses are produced in about 40 styles.

The American lanterns are the lightest, the slightest in appearance and the best adapted to their use, and are sold cheaper than lanterns of equal quality produced elsewhere. There are large establishments in this country making lanterns only. It is probable that more lanterns are now exported from this country than from either England or Germany, and the exports of American lanterns are increasing.

EARTHQUAKE PROTECTION.

How the Japanese Construct Their Pagodas So They Will Not Fall.

When the traveler in Japan looks at some of the tall pagodas to be seen there he naturally wonders why they are not shaken to pieces by the earthquakes which are so common in mikado land. The only structures in Japan which seem to be earthquake-proof are the pagodas, which are erected before the temples. There are many which are 700 or 800 years old, and as solid as when built. There is a reason for this, and it lies in their construction. A pagoda is practically a framework of heavy timbers which start from a wide base and is in itself a substantial structure, but is rendered still more stable by a peculiar device.
Inside the framework and suspended from the apex is a long, heavy timber two feet thick or more. This hangs from one end, and to the other end are bolted at each of the four sides four more heavy timbers, and if the pagoda be very lofty still more timbers are added. The whole forms an enormous pendulum, which reaches within six inches of the ground. When the shock of an earthquake rocks the pagoda the pendulum swings in unison and keeps the center of gravity always at the base of the framework.
Consequently the equilibrium of the pagoda is never disturbed, and this is the explanation of the great age of many of them, when from their height one would suppose them to be peculiarly susceptible to the effects of an earthquake.

ARTIFICIAL ALBUMEN.

There Is No One Who Believes That
It Will Revolutionize Practical Food Questions.

The alleged discovery of the means of producing albumen in a chemical laboratory still excites widespread attention among chemists, physicians and the general public. Prof. Lillen-feld declines to disclose his secret until he is protected by patents. Meantime the London Lancet says:
"If the synthesis of albumen has actually been accomplished that alone will be a fact of immense importance in physiological chemistry. But that such an achievement is going to revolutionize practical food questions no physiologist or sensible man will be prepared to accept in the slightest degree as probable.

"Pure albumen is already manufactured on a large scale and fairly cheaply, and though the manufacture has been going on for years albumen pure and simple has not found a decided place in dietetics, nor has it been proposed to substitute it for ordinary articles of food.

"It is absurd to think that the time will come when we shall carry about a complete meal or dietetic outfit for a day in the shape of a thimbleful of powder. Animal economy requires other things and attributes besides the mere elements concerned in making good the waste tissues in the body."

Making Oyster Shells Green.

Occasionally fresh oysters show up green in the shells. Many persons think the color is caused by contamination from copper or some other metal or substance, and that the oysters are not wholesome. The national fish commission has recently made an examination of green oysters, and announces that the color is caused by vegetable matter which serves as food for the oysters, and that it does not in any manner detract from the healthfulness or flavor of the bivalve.

Chinese Imperial Ceremony.

On the accession of a new emperor of China he goes in solemn rite to the Temple of Heaven, in Peking, and formally announces to his imperial predecessor the new titles and dignities which he has assumed. These ancestors are then dutifully invited to the banquet of commemoration, where seats are duly reserved for them.

The big hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Peirce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent.
"You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred disrangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine. Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps

Calumet Baking Powder

has turned the tables on high price baking powders. The directions on High Price cans are the same as on Calumet cans, viz.: a teaspoonful to a quart of flour, but they say that one can of High Price will go three times as far as any other. Can any claim be more ridiculous? The frantic cry of adulteration, danger and poison made by the high price baking powder people is a blind to intimidate the public and induce them to pay fancy prices for their goods—also to divert attention from this defect in their own goods.

Calumet Baking Powder is safe. Food baked with Calumet is absolutely free from Rochelle Salts, Alum, Lime, Ammonia or any injurious substance.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Mrs. George to Answer to Grand Jury on Charge of Murdering Saxton.

Canton, O., Oct. 12.—Mrs. George was held to answer to the common pleas court at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing, and her case will be investigated by the next grand jury. The presiding justice of the peace, in passing on the case, said there was sufficient circumstantial evidence connecting Mrs. George with the crime to justify holding her for the investigation of the higher courts. She is held on the charge of murder in the first degree and cannot be admitted to bail.

BATTLE IS FOUGHT.

Rumor of Conflict Between Miners and Negroes at Virden—Governor Again Refuses Troops.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—Gov. Tanner received a final appeal from Sheriff Davenport, of Macoupin county, for troops at Virden. The sheriff wired that about 2,000 strikers were parading the town and vicinity, and he was wholly unable to control the situation. The sheriff stated that it was his last request for troops.

The governor replied that he had not changed his policy and that no troops would be sent to assist the mine owners or protect miners. Troops would only be sent to suppress riot and prevent bloodshed, and until there was danger of such no troops would be sent.

Telegrams to State President Hunter of the Mine Workers of Illinois say a battle has been fought between striking miners at Virden and negroes im-

PEACE EMISSARIES HEARTILY RECEIVED

Battle of a Week Ago Alluded to by

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 12.—A Walker (Minn.) special to the Dispatch says: The Bear Island or Pillager Indians will surrender and war has been averted. It only remains for the terms to be arranged before the hostiles will come into the agency. Father Aloysius Homanutz, Gus H. Beaulieu and Chief Gay-Cwa-Che-Way-Bimung, the three peace commissioners who left on the Flora Tuesday evening for the hostile camp, got back at four o'clock in the morning. They got to the camp at Black Duck point, at the north of the Boy river, at nine o'clock Tuesday night. Indians on watch responded to signals, and the three peace commissioners went ashore in a skiff, carrying flour, bacon, sugar, rice, tobacco and canned goods. They met a large number of the Indians back in the woods and were given a cordial greeting. Hands were shaken all around and the battle of a week ago was talked over. The Indians alluded to it as a "little fun." They asserted

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taking internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease,

ITINERARY OF THE COMING VISIT OF THE GERMAN EMPEROR TO THE HOLY LAND.

In the baggage cars, many of them of immense size, and containing dresses of the empress. One enormous box, which does not leave the emperor's vicinity, is in charge of a high functionary. It contains valuable gifts and diamond decorations, valued at 4,000, 000 marks, for oriental officials.
Only six horses were taken, and they are for the emperor's personal use. The sultan of Turkey bought 30 carriage horses in Berlin for the use of the empress of Germany and her suite. The sultan also bought in Berlin all the uniforms and weapons needed for the ceremonies, which has caused the merchants to rejoice.

MARTIAL LAW AT HONOLULU.

Court-Martial Will Follow the Wild Conduct of Two Volunteer Officers.

Honolulu, Oct. 5, via San Francisco.
Oct. 12.—On the night of October 3, Second Lieut. Merriam, U. S. A., and
First Lieut. Wheelock, New York volunteers, declared martial law in Honolulu. Wheelock was provost marshal in charge of mounted infantry. For two hours things were lively. Citizens were ordered off the streets. Orders were enforced by mounted men under Wheelock's command. Sailors were chased aboard their ships, and two captains and a customs officer had to scramble for safety. Gen. King was very ugly when he heard what was being done. The two officers will be court-martialed. Lieut. Merriam is a son of Gen. Merriam. It is stated that both men were under the influence of liquor. Private Clarence H.
Porter, company H, First New York, died at the military hospital Sunday night. The dead man's brother, Fred, is now in a critical condition at the hospital with pneumonia.

Winter Settles Down.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 12.—News is received from Alaska that Lake Bennett froze over about a week ago. A few days later the ice went out and the steamers continued to run. The river is getting very low, and will soon freeze for the winter. But one more steamer is expected at the lakes from Dawson. There will soon be a cessation of outward travel until the river is sufficiently frozen to enable people to come out over the ice, and many will come out then.

Veteran Editor Dead.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Charles L. Mac-Arthur, the veteran editor of the Troy Northern Budget, died at his home in this city shortly after midnight, aged 74 years.

that none of their number were killed or wounded. Bug-Ah-Mah-Ge-Shig was not in conference with the peace commissioners, but his greetings were shouted back and forth across the little bay between him and the commissioners. He waited all day for the emissaries to appear, and left for his house across the bay soon after dark.
When the boat got in sight the Indians sent up skyrockets. After landing, a big fire was built and a conference held for three hours.

The Indians were familiar with every movement of the troops and marshals and nothing told them was new. They asked why newspaper men had not come out, and said they expected them.
When it was explained that it was thought advisable for only a few people to go out, the hostiles laughed at the fears of the people, and invited the correspondents to go out Wednesday. A report in writing to be made to Indian Commissioner Jones was reserved until a later hour Wednesday. The emissaries refused to make public their report until submitted to Commissioner Jones further than to say that the Indians will come to the agency when a reply is sent back to the statements in the report of the commissioners.

Arrange a Conference.
Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12.—The Journal's staff correspondent at Walker wires: There will be no more fighting. Father Aloysius and Gus Beaulieu returned Wednesday morning at four o'clock after a long conference with the hostiles and made this welcome announcement. They refused to say anything further until a conference had been held with Commissioner Jones. It is understood that Mr. Jones will go to the hostile camp with the priest and Beaulieu and have a formal conference.

Want Food.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12.—The Journal's staff correspondent at Cass lake wires as follows: Quiet continues. Fewer Indians are seen going south to Leech lake and the Indian villages are filling up. Councils held at central points almost without exception declare for peace and ask for grub.
The thrifty Chippewas are thus making the best possible use of the occasion.
Stage communication with the interior has been resumed and work has been started on the Great Northern extension to Park Rapids.

them. He sent the following dispatch to Acting Secretary of the Interior

HOLLAND ENDORSEMENTS IS WHAT COUNTS WITH THE HOLLAND PUBLIC.

You can't fool the public all the time. They will find you out at last. Every time a man is fooled. Another skeptic is made. Many the remedy that makes the skeptic.

It fails to keep its promise. Doan's Kidney Pills bring renewed faith.

They cure the skeptic. Plenty of proof of this at home. Holland proof for Holland people. Our citizens say they cure headache. Cure urinary disorders. Cure sick kidneys. Experience has taught them this is so.

Conviction for every sufferer. In the testimony of friends and neighbors.

Read this case:

Mr. Garret Kopenka, living five miles so. east of Holland, Farmer, says: "I have been subject more or less all my life to attacks of kidney pains and backache. If I caught cold or strained myself from doing any unusually heavy work I was sure to be laid up for a time. The attacks came on at intervals and were very severe so that it was almost impossible for me to bend over and if in a stooped position I could scarcely straighten up again. I tried a great many different remedies and wore plaster after plaster but could get nothing to remove the trouble until I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and went to J. O. Doesburg's drug store in Holland and procured them. My back was troubling me severely at that time but it required only a few days treatment to relieve me and in a short time the aches and pains were entirely removed, and I have had no return of them since."

THE BLAIR STATUE.

occasion was the presence of Maj. Gen. Shafter, who received a great informal reception before the exercises of the day began.

Veterans of the civil war demonstrated their affection for the governor who was their devoted friend throughout the dark days of the civil war. They were present by thousands. Many of them marched in the parade, an impressive feature of which was the torn and blood-stained battle flags which were brought out of the state-house for the first time since deposited there.

The parade was reviewed by Gov. Pingree, Gen. Shafter, Department Commander Patrick, of the G. A. R.; members of congress and of the legislature, and other distinguished guests.

The statue was presented to the state by Gen. W. H. Whittington, of Jackson, Gov. Blair's home. It was formally accepted by Gov. Pingree.

The oration of the day was delivered by ex-United States Senator John Patton, Jr., of Grand Rapids.

[The bronze statue is eight and a half feet high above the pedestal. It weighs nearly a ton and a half, and when mounted on its pedestal is 18 feet in height. The statue represents Michigan's illustrious war governor in a characteristic attitude—the body slightly bent forward and the right hand resting on a pedestal draped with the American flag. The pedestal is in four sections, of Vermont granite, the largest stone weighing ten tons. On the front side of the section on which the statue rests is this inscription: "Austin Blair, War Governor of Michigan, 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864. He gave the best years of his life to Michigan, and his fame is inseparably linked with the glorious achievements of her citizen-soldiers."]

But out west nobody dreams of getting married without a camera; it is regarded as indispensable, as much a part of the performance as the clergyman, certainly as much so as the bridegroom. In these days of rampant amateur photography it is hardly necessary to call in a professional operator upon these occasions.

Some half-dozen members of every bridal party are sure to be camera fiends of the first water, and it requires much diplomacy to decide which one shall be asked to bring along his or her camera. In nearly every instance some one's feelings are sure to be hurt. Sometimes two cameras are present at a marriage ceremony, but more than this is not considered good form in the west.

In every house the photographs of the bridal party form a prominent decorative feature, as is but natural when they have been obtained under such auspicious conditions.

A Perfect Cure.

Perhaps there is no man better known in the city of Lawrence, Kan., than Mr. G. H. Snyder. He came to this city in 1854, six months after the first business house was located here. He now lives at 1310 Louisiana Street, is a well-to-do carpenter and owns a fine farm in Jefferson County, across the river. To a Lawrence Journal reporter Mr. Snyder related a wonderful story. He said:

"I am now seventy years of age. About three years ago I experienced a coldness or numbness in the feet, then creeping up my legs until it reached my body. I grew very thin in flesh, my appetite was very poor and I did not relish my food. At last I became so bad I was unable to move about. I consulted several distinguished physicians, one telling me that I had locomotor ataxia, another that I had creeping paralysis. I took their medicines but they did me no good and I continued to grow worse.

"One day nearly a year ago, a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I immediately commenced their use, throwing all other medicines away. Before I had finished my first box I found that they were benefiting me. I used twelve boxes in all and was perfectly cured. Although it is over six months since I used my last pill there has been no recurrence of the disease. My appetite is now good and my general health is better than it has been for many years.

"Yes, you can say that my cure was effected through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, which I consider the most remarkable medicine on the market. You ask if I have any objection to your publishing this interview. None whatever. I am only too glad to let others know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have done for me, and I hope my story may be the means of restoring to health others afflicted as I was."

The power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, in the vast number of diseases due to impure or poisoned blood, has been demonstrated in thousands of instances as remarkable as the one related above.

These pills build up the blood by supplying its life giving elements, which nourish the various organs, stimulating them to activity in the performance of their functions and thus drive disease from the system. No one who is suffering can rightfully neglect this way to restore health. Physicians and druggists consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People a potent remedy and large quantities of the pills are used.

RED UNIFORMS HARD TO HIT.

It Has Been Proven a Fallacy That Scarlet Is Particularly Obtrusive.

Scarlet, it has always been supposed, was the worst color possible for the purposes of the battlefield, says the Army and Navy Gazette. It has been said so with such frequency, indeed, that nobody of late years has cared to dispute the fact. We owe it to some very practical experiments carried out in Germany that the question has now been put on a more satisfactory basis. A squad of ten men, two dressed in light gray, two in dark gray, two in scarlet, two in blue and two in green, were lately ordered to march across an open country. Their movements were closely watched. The first men to disappear from sight were those in light gray, immediately afterward the scarlet, then the dark gray and finally the blue and the green.

Here we have all well-known theories upset. Experiments carried out on the rifle range showed that our national color gave the worst mark for the rifle. Twenty men, all good shots, were used for the purpose of the experiment. After they had fired a given number of rounds it was discovered that scarlet was far the most difficult color to hit. For every miss at the other colors there were three in favor of scarlet. We will not assert that these experiments were conclusive evidence in favor of our national color, but they certainly go a long way to justify its retention. There is much to be said in these days of quick-firing guns in favor of a uniform which is difficult to hit, and in this particular scarlet undoubtedly will hold its own against all other colors.

HUNGRY EUROPEANS.

In China Their Only Variation from Pork and Rice Is Rice and Pork.

There was a painful lack of variety in our food. Men dying of thirst spend their last hour in thinking of iced champagne, sherry cobbles, cocktails and draughts of beer, whiskies and sodas, dead horses' heads or whatever their particular beverage may be. We gastronomically fooled ourselves to the top of our bent. "I think," one would say, "when we get to the Hotel de Paris to-night we'll have a nice little French dinner of six courses, with coffee and green chartreuse to wind up with." "Well," another would remark, "I should be content with some soup, a little fish, a slice of beef and some tart." "Chops and tomato sauce for me," murmured a third, oblivious of the fate that befell Mr. Pickwick, who had a similar desire, says Travel. Then we would reach a slimy, begrimed village, creep into a smelling hut and make our dinner of pork and rice, or rice and pork when we desired to vary the menu. But one night at a spot called Taiping-Pu, when we called for the perennial pork we were informed that we could not be supplied. "No pork!" we exclaimed, "no pork in China? Why, Chinamen are three parts pork." Then we were told we were in a Mussulman village, where swine were an abomination, but we could have salt beef. We jumped joyfully at the salt beef, so called, though we knew perfectly well it was nothing else but stale, unprofitable, sinewy wild roat.

BRAVE CORRESPONDENTS.

Admiral Sampson's Tribute to the Valor of American Newspaper Men Under Fire.

One particular class of hero of the late war--the newspaper correspondent--has been almost overlooked in the blaze of glory that greeted the home-coming of our victorious troops, but Admiral Sampson has written the following tribute of praise to the gentlemen of the press. The valor of the American newspaper man, as exhibited in the late war, has rightly excited universal comment. The old-time war correspondent, who remained with the commander in chief, miles behind the firing line, has been conspicuous by his absence in the most recent war. The chronicler of battle preferred to march where the fiercest of fighting was in progress, risking his life for the sake of duty as nobly and readily as the soldiers. The world has wondered almost as much at this heroism of modern newspaper man as it has at the reckless bravery of the soldiers and sailors who carried Old Glory so impetuously to victory. Admiral Sampson writes:

"It gives me great pleasure to reply to your question regarding the behavior of newspaper men under fire. 'I take it for granted that newspaper men are not more fond than other mortals of being under fire; but I have yet to see one who did not behave in the best manner possible. They seem prompted by a sense of duty to obtain all the news without regard to any personal exposure. 'I know of many cases where they have sought to gather news first hand under circumstances which could be explained in no other way. Yours very truly--W. T. Sampson.'"

HARNESS REINS.

They Are Always Made from the Stoutest of Leather--A Word About Handholds.

The reins of a set of single harness are each about 13 feet in length; those of a double harness about 15 feet. For business, harness reins are made of leather, tanned black; the reins of carriage harness are made of russet-colored leather.

Reins require to be very stout, and they are almost always made of steer hide, the leather of which traces are made, these, however, being of more than one thickness. Occasionally lines for light or for cheap harness are made of cowhide, but not often; as a rule the best of leather is used for the reins, even in cheap harness. There can be obtained from the hides of leather suitable for reins strips from seven to nine feet in length, so that reins are always of necessity made in two pieces.

The loops, or handholds, often seen on the reins of track or road horses are commonly made of lighter leather stitched together and then sometimes stitched to the reins, but more often secured to them in such a manner that they can be shifted on the reins to suit the convenience of the driver. The three-loop hold, which is called the Boston handhold, is commonly used for track driving; the single loop is the one used by most drivers on the road. There are patent handholds made of metal. The wooden buttons sometimes seen on reins, used as handholds are made in pairs, one button of each pair having a stem with a thread out on it which goes through the rein and is screwed into the other button of the pair on the opposite side.

TOOK MEDICINE IN WATER.

Irishman Followed the Literal Meaning of His Physician's Instructions.

Professional humorists of the past 50 years and more have told as a fanciful joke a little incident which actually happened a few days ago, says the Philadelphia Record. Teddy Claherty, of Leipserville, Delaware county, was not well, and so consulted a Chester physician, who gave him a simple remedy. "Now, remember," said the doctor, "you are to take a teaspoonful three times a day in water." Teddy answered: "All right, sorr, and departed. Several days later George Leiper, the well-known quarry man of the town, meeting the physician, asked him what new-fangled ideas in medicine he was practicing. When asked to explain, Mr. Leiper said Teddy Claherty had gone to Ridley Creek three times a day, and taking off his clothes, had waded into the middle of the creek, where he had poured a liquid into a teaspoon from a bottle and drank it. "I watched Teddy wade out in the morning," continued Mr. Leiper, "and when he repeated it in the afternoon I asked him what he was doing, and he said the doctor ordered him to take the medicine in water, 'an', be gosh, sorr, I'm mindin' the directions, but I can't swim a stroke, but I'm tellin' ye if it's the death o' me, I'll kape it up." The doctor made an early call on Teddy, who now drops the medicine in a glass of water and takes it that way.

The Jaffa Gate at Jerusalem.

The archaeological world is thrown into a state of great perturbation over the approaching visit of the emperor of Germany to Jerusalem. It would seem that the Sultan in his zeal to make things agreeable for his august guest threatens to pull down the Jaffa gate and a part of the ancient walls, so that the Kaiser may make his entry into the Holy City on horseback. The Jaffa gate, although very ancient and picturesque, is exceedingly narrow, and quite inadequate--at least to the mind of the Sultan--for the occasion in question.

Chairs for Soldiers on Picket. The Haytian government is very considerate of the comfort of soldiers. Every picket is supplied with a chair.

SPORTING TERMS IN FRENCH.

Some Odd and Amusing Adaptations of the English Expressions Relating to Wheeling.

It is well known that the French language is so deficient in all words dealing with sport that they have to be borrowed from English, and they often undergo curious modifications in transit. A distinguished Frenchman named Saint-Maurice has lately published a book with the delightful title of "Le Recordsman"--an individual who is, no doubt, closely related to the "Yachtman," of whom Pierre Loti has written, and is possibly husband of the "Cyclowoman," who also figures from time to time in the Parisian sporting press. If the author of "Le Recordsman" is to be believed, cyclomania is a disease which has attacked the French nation in a far more acute form than that with which we are familiar, and in particular he has a good deal to say about the enthusiastic admiration excited by holders of distance records in the eyes of the fair sex.

Perhaps the most affecting story in the book is that which relates the death of a distinguished "pedaleur," who is followed to his grave by his heart-broken widow, mounted upon her steed of steel, and arrayed in a black silk blouse and "pantalons de deuil." The idea of "mourning knickerbockers" suggests the nonsense verse:

There was an old man of the cape,
Who always wore trousers of crepe;
When asked "Do they tear?"
He replied "Here and there."
But they keep such a beautiful shape!"

LAND FORCE OF NO AVAIL.

Naval Force Now the Defense of Great Nations--The Armies of Different Nations.

The peace establishments of the French, German and Russian armies are at least 1,850,000 men, and perhaps may be 2,000,000, all highly organized. Their war establishments might amount to totals from 6,000,000 to 8,000,000 men. On the other hand, the peace establishment of the British empire amounts to 1,000,000 men--a part of which is equally well, and another part not equally well organized with the European armies. The possible war establishment of the empire has never been seriously estimated. The peace establishment of the United States is under 30,000 men, doubtless well organized. Like the British people, the Americans have never reckoned their possible war establishment, but evidently they could, if so minded, raise it to a mighty strength, says the North American Review.

But neither British nor American leaders will, under the existing circumstances, consider land force as a dominant factor in any world-wide problem. Their thoughts will mainly be turned to sea force. They will anxiously inquire whether the sea force of an Anglo-American combination would or would not compare favorably with that of a European combination. It were needless to stop and show that all the European land forces would be of no avail against an Anglo-American combination, if that combination really possessed the mastery of the sea.

A RETIRED BURGLAR.

He Tells About a Curious Mistake About a Man That Cost Him a Night's Work.

"When I looked into the dining-room of a house that I was in one night," said the retired burglar, "I saw a man sitting in a chair perched up on the dining-room table. That seemed a singular place for a man to sit to, drunk or sober, but I thought I'd have to give him a chance to get tired of sittin' there and go to bed before I begun, for if I didn't he might wake up any minute and interrupt things. So I took a seat in a big leather chair in the library, next room, and waited for him to wake up. When I'd waited what I thought was a reasonable time without hearing from him, I looked in again, and there he was, still sittin' there, just the same.

"But this time, even in that light, there was something peculiar about him, and I ventured to turn my own light on him now, and then I saw that it wasn't a man at all, but a suit of clothes, with a hat on top, set up there to dry after being wet in the rain. The man that had worn them had been abed and asleep for hours, but his clothes had served for a scarecrow mightily well, for I'd set there waiting for 'em to go to bed so long that it was now too late for business."

Safety on Fast Trains.

Thirty years ago, when the average speed of passenger trains was very much less than at the present day, accidents were of such frequent occurrence that people declared that, to insure greater safety, it had become necessary to "hang a director." In 1895, out of upward of 1,000,000 passengers carried on the lines of the United Kingdom, only five were killed--one in 200,000,000--whereas the number of persons run over and killed in the streets of London in a single year was 25, or about one in 1,000,000 of the population of the metropolis. Supposing that each individual of the 5,500,000 of Londoners walked abroad each day in the year, that would give a total of 2,207,500,000 walkers against 1,000,000,000 travelers by railway, and produces the remarkable inference that, for every mortal risk incurred by a railway passenger, the walker in the streets has to encounter 12 chances of violent death.

Temperature of Comets.

As far as calculations can decide, the temperature of comets is believed to be 2,000 times hotter than that of red-hot iron.
