McLean Chosen To Conduct CPT Screening Tests

Examination for New Pilot School Here Is Given on Wednesday

With plans under way for an expansion of the civilian pilot training course at Hope college Prof. E. P. McLean of the college has been officially appointed local psychologist to conduct the screening tests for CPT applicants.

The first screening test was given in room 15 of Van Raalte hall on the Hope college campus at 2 p.m. Wednesday, according to Dr. Bruce Raymond, Hope college professor who is serving as coordinator for the entire program.

The next eightweek class, which will start Oct. 12, will be composed of 22 recruits—more than twice the number who completed the initial course this week and departed for Roswell, N. M., for army glider training.

Only 10 youths comprised the class which started last July, but operations were so successful that the federal government has authorized the increase in the number of students, Dr. Raymond explained.

Hope college is asked to recruit as many local youths as possible for the October class. For this school, young men who have failed in previous CPT screening tests are eligible to try again.

In addition, the test Wednesday also was open to those who wish to start pilot training in two later courses—one to start Dec. 10 and the other to start Feb. 8 and each to comprise 22 recruits.

As soon as an applicant passes his test and is sworn in, he receives a reserve rating and is beyond the jurisdiction of the selective service requirements. All youths passing tests are sworn in immediately and placed on reserve status even though some of them will not start training until December or February, Dr. Raymond explained.

Young men who have failed to pass the army aviation screening test by less than 15 points or have failed to pass army physical examinations for certain reasons, and are between the ages of 18 and 27, are eligible to take the CPT screening test. All men between the ages of 27 and 37—beyond the army air corps age—are also eligible to take the CPT test.

The pilot training includes actual flying and ground work that covers navigation, meteorology, mathematics, physics, civil air regulations, aircraft identification, radio code, general service of aircraft, military science and athletics.

Prof. McLean was named to conduct the tests by the National Psychological Research council in Rochester, N.Y., to eliminate the necessity—as in the past—of sending results of local examinations to Rochester for inspection.

Car of Jail Breakers Found in Cincinnati

Grand Rapids, Oct. 1.—With recovery of a stolen car in Cincinnati, O., FBI agents have shifted their search to that city for the two federal prisoners who escaped from the Ottawa county jail at Grand Haven Friday morning.

The trail led to Ohio after information had been received that a car stolen here presumably by the fugitives, was found in Cincinnati late Monday night.

Evidence indicated that the wanted men, Leo Dawson, 19, of Grand Rapids, and Charles E. Glancy, 24, of Muskegon, first stole a car owned by Albert Bolles of Ferrysburg, abandoned Bolles' car on the Pearl St. bridge here, and took a car owned by Mrs. Florence Anderson.

The Anderson car was located in Cincinnati.

Dawson and Glancy escaped while awaiting transfer to penal institutions.

Large Sum Is Handled In Junior High Project

A total of $250 was handled this fall by officers of the Junior High school republic, who operate the annual book exchange under the supervision of Miss Beatrice Denton, teacher at the school. This service is performed as a service to the students.

President of the republic this year is Robert Stoppels; vice-president, Maurice Schepers; secretary, Rose McCormick; treasurer, Mary Jean Van Appledorn; chief of police, Kenneth Dykstra.

This group, under the direction of Peter Veltman of the faculty, has sold $21.55 worth of defense stamps since the opening of school.

Make Attempt to Reopen Armory

Permission Needed To Use Building for Basketball Contests

Major Henry Rowan, chairman of the armory advisory board, has revealed that the board is endeavoring to obtain permission to reopen Holland armory for public use during the winter.

In past years, the armory has been used by Hope college, Holland high school, Christian high school and the city league for basketball games, the Businessmen's league for volleyball games and by various organizations for banquets. There has been no change in an order to close the armory for public use until further notice, Major Rowan said, hence if permission to reopen the armory is not obtained it will have to remain closed to these various functions.

He said letters have been sent to all members of the state military board and to the adjutant general's office, requesting permission to use the armory this winter for these events. No answer to the communications have been received.

"Even if we get permission to reopen the armory, it will be necessary to curtail the public schedule of its own use because of the military training being carried on there. If we do not obtain proper permission, it will be necessary for the college and schools to use their own gymnasiums. However, we realize the predicament which they and other past users of the armory are facing and we are doing our utmost to obtain this permission. Yet this is war and the armory was constructed primarily for military training," Major Rowan said.

Other members of the armory advisory board are Don Zwemer, recorder, and First Lieut. Hoare H. Troost.

Takes Charge Of Camp in G.H.

Lieut. Disbury at Head Of Three Hundred at Coast Guard Center

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special)—Lieut. Gordon S. Disbury assumed charge of the Grand Haven district coast guard training station today, replacing Lieut. Robert M. Wadewitz of the coast guard reserve who will be executive officer.

Lieut. Disbury has been on captain-of-the-port duty in Chicago the past two years. Accompanying him was Lieut. Charles Sweeney who will be stationed at Muskegon to assume captain-of-the-port duty there. His jurisdiction will extend from Ludington, south to Saugatuck.

Lieut. Sweeney, a reserve officer, was called to service July 1. His home is in Maryland. He has left for Muskegon to organize his new district.

Lieut. Disbury, veteran of World War I with the U.S. navy, served in Russia, on the Asiatic station, in Hawaii and in Nicaragua during the rebellion there. He is a native of Rhode Island and has had 23 years service with the coast guard. In July, 1941, he was commissioned chief boatswain, and a lieutenant (jg) early this year.

There are about 300 men at the training station most of the time and instruction is planned in anti-sabotage activities, captain-of-the-port duties, guard duty and boarding vessels. The station also will condition men for active service.

Lieut. Ray P. Gallivan, Whiting, Ind., who was called as a reserve officer in July, 1942, came here with Lieutenant Disbury as a morale officer. He played football under Bob Zupke at University of Illinois during the "Red Grange" era.

Commissioned personnel at the training station, besides those named above, include Dr. W. J. Rothrock and Dr. R. J. Toft, both junior grade lieutenants, the first being training center doctor and the latter training center dentist, and Chief Boatswain E. J. Clemens of Holland.

Holland Will Have Surprise Daylight Alert Next Week

Test Will Determine How Defense Operates In Business Hours

Alfred C. Joldersma, civilian defense commander for Holland, reports that he has received approval from Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state commander of the U.S. citizens defense corps of Michigan, and the sixth service command of the U. S. army to hold a daylight practice alert in Holland.

While the exact day and hour of the alert remains a secret with Mr. Joldersma, he said it will be held sometime between Oct. 6 and 10 and between 8 a.m. and noon. The daylight alert will continue for 20 minutes.

Purposes of this daylight alert is to learn how Holland's civilian defense program will operate during business hours. The "mocking bird" whistle will sound the alarm as was done when a night blackout test was held recently in Michigan.

Mr. Joldersma said the practice alert will result in the halting of all traffic, and pedestrians will be requested by auxiliary police officers to keep off the streets. During the blackout, they were permitted to view the city's blackout from the streets.

A meeting of all auxiliary police officers and senior air raid wardens will be held Friday, at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion club-rooms when general instructions will be issued but they will not be told the time of the coming daylight alert.

Glider Work Is Halted for Time

Hundred and Twenty Five Persons Here Affected by Order

The Holland Chamber of Commerce has been advised by John De Wilde, superintendent of Baker Furniture, Inc., in Holland, that production work on principal parts for army gliders has been halted for the time being in that section of the factory where this work has been in progress.

The stoppage affects about 125 persons, Mr. De Wilde reported. However, furniture work and work on other war contracts has not been effected, he advised the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. De Wilde did not know for what reason the work had been halted but he felt it would be only temporary.

Baker Furniture, Inc., is associated with Grand Rapids Industries, Inc., and President Frederick H. Mueller announced in Grand Rapids Friday that production work in 15 Grand Rapids factories had been halted.

Cessna Aircraft Co. the prime contractor through which the subcontract had been negotiated for local manufacturers after they had organized the Grand Rapids Industries, Inc., ordered suspension of production, Mr. Mueller said.

While the extent of the contracts awarded here was never revealed, their scope was indicated in the 3,500 workers employed for the program.

Mueller said it was indicated the program here would be delayed until the army reorganized its glider program and attributed the stoppage to the inability to acquire vital materials.

First Church Extends Call to Rev. Kruthof

The Rev. Bastian Kruthof, pastor of First Reformed church of North Paterson, Hawthorne, N.J., has been extended a call to become pastor of First Reformed church here, according to Charles Kuysers, vice-president of the consistory. Action was taken at a congregational meeting Monday night in the church.

Rev. Kruthof was elected on the first formal ballot with more than a two thirds majority. A trio, recommended by the consistory, included Rev. Kruthof; the Rev. J. Dykstra, pastor of Central Reformed church, Grand Rapids; and the Rev. Franklin Hinkamp of Schenectady, N. Y.

Devotions were conducted by the Rev. Seth Vander Werf and a period of prayer preceded the voting. Mr. Kuysers closed the meeting with prayer.

Rev. Kruthof would succeed the Rev. Nicholas Gosselink who has accepted a call to become missionary in the Gray Hawk, Ky., station.

ASSESSED FINE

Albert Brink, 57, 255 Lincoln Ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving on arraignment Tuesday before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith and was assessed a $25 fine and costs of $4.15 which he arranged to pay. The charge results from an accident last Sunday morning on Eighth St. in which Brink's car was involved with two other cars.

Bonds, Stamps For Kid Prizes

'Chain of Dimes' Drive Arranged Saturday to Raise Fund for Party

This year's Halloween party for Holland kiddies, an annual event of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, will carry a patriotic gesture. The committee in charge of arrangements has decided that prizes for the various contests will be war savings bonds and stamps.

In past years, bicycles have been awarded as the grand prize for the best costume but war restrictions have limited the sale of bicycles. The awarding of the bonds and stamps as prizes will be in cooperation with the retail merchants' stamp drive.

The JCC's annual "chain-of-dimes," to raise money to defray costs of the party to be staged Saturday night, Oct. 31, in River-view park, will be held all day Saturday. The "chain-of-dimes" to which all Saturday downtown visitors will be asked to contribute will start in front of Yonker's drug store, 20 West Eighth St. In past years, this drive has been successful.

One division from the stamp and bond prizes will be a trophy which the JCC will present to the school having the best amateur act in a contest to be held at the park, Oct. 31. This trophy will become a permanent possession of the school which wins it.

"Let's all cash in our dimes to show the kids a good time and the Axis a tough time," will be the JCC slogan at their "chain-of-dimes" drive Saturday.

Boy Scouts Named as Beneficiaries in Will

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special)—The will of Hulda C. Robinson, who died in Grand Haven Aug. 28, 1942, which is being probated, provides among various items that the following receive benefits from the proceeds of her estate:

First Church of Christ, Scientist and First Presbyterian church, both of Grand Haven, and the Ottawa-Allegan Boy scouts council. No appraisal has been made of the value of the estate which is dependent upon the value of the estate of Mrs. Alma Harbeck, Mrs. Robinson's sister, who died two weeks before Mrs. Robinson and whose estate was left to Mrs. Robinson.

Woltman Returns From Iceland to Take Officer's Training in Georgia

After six months service with the U. S. Army in Iceland, Corp. Irvin John Woltman is spending a 10-day furlough with relatives in Holland before leaving for Fort Benning, Ga., to take up officer's training.

He arrived in Holland last week and will remain here until later this week when he will leave to report for duty at Camp Croft, S. C., from where he will go to Fort Benning.

Of the news which he brought home, a large part of it was for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Notier, 76 West 16th St., whose son, Robert Notier, is still in Iceland with the U. S. army. While letters from their son are not so numerous, Mr. and Mrs. Notier were glad to get all the news they could from Corp. Woltman concerning their son.

Army activities in Iceland are a vital military secret, thus Woltman was unable to say anything about his experiences on the island. Concerning life in Iceland, he said that one doesn't appreciate life in the United States "until you've left the country and have returned."

Woltman and Notier have been "buddies" ever since they were drafted together. They were inducted together, were in the same platoon at Camp Wolters, came home together, recalled to service at the same time, landed in the same convoy in Iceland and bunched together in the same army barracks. Woltman said he hated to leave his "buddy" as much as Notier hated to see him leave.

But imagine a copy of The Sentinel showing up in Iceland. Woltman said that he and Notier came across two copies of their local newspaper while there and they gleaned it carefully from front page to back page for all the "hometown" news they could find.

"It certainly felt good to read the hometown paper again for we certainly missed it after leaving Holland," Woltman said.

Woltman was drafted into the army June 4, 1941, and sent to Camp Wolters, Tex., where he remained until Oct. 28, 1941, when he was discharged from the army. He was recalled to service Jan. 29, 1942, and left for overseas service by convoy April 2, 1942, for Iceland.

Beet Harvest Is Hit as Mexicans Leave for Texas

Local Plant Assured That Workers Need Not Fear Gas Ration

Alarmed over the large number of Mexicans which have left Michigan sugar beet fields for Texas because of the expected gasoline rationing and the fear they would not be able to get home, the Lake Shore Sugar Co., which plans to begin its 1942 run here Oct. 5, has received assurance from U. S. Sen. Prentiss Brown that workers who migrate to Michigan from southern states and Mexico for the sugar beet season will be given enough gasoline to enable them to return to their homes at the end of the season.

This promise of alleviation of the sugar beet workers' problem was made by officials of the gasoline rationing section of the OPA to Sen. Brown. C. V. Ballard, chairman of the advisory agriculture committee for the state defense council, revealed in Lansing today of Mexicans leaving for their Texas homes.

The Lake Shore Sugar Co. began harvesting its 1942 beet crop Wednesday, Sept. 23, but resulting rains halted the harvest until yesterday when it was resumed. It has not been determined as yet whether the southern migration of Mexican field workers, a number of whom have left, will cause a labor shortage although the sugar firm office gave assurance that the crop will be harvested.

Plan Bond Drive In Rural Ottawa

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special)—B. P. Sherwood, chairman of the Ottawa county war savings bond drive, has launched a renewed drive in rural Ottawa county in cooperation with the county war board.

First he met with the chairmen and secretaries of the 17 townships and next with the 600 war workers in four different parts of the county. His next step in the program is to schedule 14 public meetings at which speeches will be made and musical entertainment provided.

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, reports the war workers did a fine job last spring in the bond drive. In this coming program, no house to house solicitation will be conducted nor has any goal been set for the county.

Mr. Sherwood revealed that when he acted as chairman of a liberty bond drive, 25 years ago, the county exceeded its goal and he feels that citizens will respond when they realize the seriousness of the situation.

There were 50 different standard times in use in the U. S. until the zoning act in 1880.

Rev. Vanderbeek Accepts Call to Ebenezer Church

The Rev. John Vanderbeek, pastor of Sixth Reformed church of this city the past 13 years, announced to his congregation Sunday morning that he had accepted the call extended to him a few weeks ago by the congregation of the Reformed church of Ebenezer, located a few miles southeast of Holland.

In a brief message following the morning sermon, he stated that it has been his ambition for many years past to complete a series of Bible study books for catechetical classes. He began this work 17 years ago and completed five of the eight graded books, revising them as he used them in his work among the children. Due to increased activities occasioned by the growth of his church during the past few years he had been unable to do anything along that line. He expressed the hope that in a smaller congregation he might find time to complete the series.

When questioned later, Rev. Vanderbeek stated that he was gratified to be able to leave his present charge in a flourishing condition. There were 96 families when he came here and at present there are 180. The church debt which stood at $15,000 has been greatly reduced. Enlargement of the church building to meet the increased demands is a necessity in the near future. The church is well organized in all its departments and the outlook is encouraging.

The Vanderbeek family came to Holland in the spring of 1929 from the Reformed church of South Blendon of which Rev. Vanderbeek was pastor. He held previous charges at Prairie View, Kan., Maurice, Ia., Pipestone, Minn., and Oak Harbor, Wash. He was graduated from Hope college in 1902, and from Western Theological seminary in 1905. He is the second pastor of Sixth Reformed church which was founded a little over 25 years ago.

The Vanderbeeks have six children, five of whom are married. One of the sons, Bernard E., was graduated from McCormick Theological seminary in Chicago last May and was installed pastor of the Presbyterian church of Deerfield, Ill.

No definite plans have as yet been made for the departure of the Vanderbeeks to their new charge but it will probably be about Nov. 1.

Search for Driver Who Took Eight Hand Sleds

The Ottawa county sheriff's department conducted an unsuccessful search Wednesday night for a green colored sedan with Illinois license plates whose driver is reported to have taken two bundles of hand sleds which fell from an Interstate truck on US-31 near West Olive.

The two bundles of sleds, four to a bundle, together with two cartons of piston rings, fell from the truck when a rear door came open and the driver failed to notice it.

A Holland resident, en route home from work in Muskegon, stopped and was picking up the cartons of piston rings when the other car stopped. Its driver grabbed up the two bundles of hand sleds, with a remark "these are good for me," gave the Holland resident 50 cents and told him to "keep your mouth shut" and left. In placing them in his car, the driver covered them with baskets, the sheriff's department was informed.

The sheriff's department authorized a state police radio broadcast later in the evening to have the car stopped but apparently no trace of it was found.

Old Bell, Cannon Given By North Muskegon

North Muskegon, Oct. 1.—Reverence for North Muskegon's past has given way to the nation's greatest need of today—metal scrap for war industries.

The old school bell which called to many in past decades, now leaders of the community, will be turned into a grim salute to the Axis, and the old Civil War cannon in Custer park will be buried with scrap, all to be melted for munitions.

Contribution of the cannon signals a new phase in the North Muskegon scrap campaign, and persons driving from the Northside to Muskegon are urged to leave scrap materials at the cannon in Custer park.

Airport Project Will Be Studied

Ottawa Supervisors Will Meet in Special Session on Tuesday

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special).—The Ottawa county board of supervisors will meet in special session Tuesday at 2 P. M. to consider the proposed development of the Park township airport near Holland into a county airport.

In Holland, the airport committee held a meeting to consider the proposition and it will submit its report to the board at this special meeting for the supervisors' consideration and action.

Complete details of the proposed development of the airport have not been announced although consideration is being given to enlarging the airport and providing additional facilities there, not only for the duration of the war but for increased air travel after the war.

Increased use of the airport is seen in the fact that Hope college's student pilot training program is being increased, beginning Oct. 12, when a class of 22 recruits will begin their eight-week course. Three classes of 22 recruits each are scheduled to receive training under the college program between Oct. 12 and July 1, 1943.

Hopes Ottawa to Have Delegate

Grand Haven, Oct. 1.—On the basis of their showing at the recent 4-H club show at Michigan State college, County Agent L. R. Arnold today said he hopes Ottawa county clubs will have at least one delegate at the National 4-H Club congress.

Due to the war, Michigan's representation at the congress will be limited to 20 club members whose names will be announced soon.

Under ordinary conditions, Ottawa's successful members at the state show would be delegates to the national event.

Titus Van Hattema, Jamestown township, won a place on the state dairy judging team, a high honor as there is greater competition in dairy judging than in any other contest. Titus placed second in dairy judging. The state team competed with other state teams at the Waterloo Dairy congress. The Michigan team placed eighth in the national contest. Titus has carried on 4-H dairy projects for five years. The first place member on the Michigan team scored 882 points at the state show. Titus was a close second with 871 points.

The Ottawa team placed eighth at Michigan show, scoring 2,420 points as against 2,494 for the first place county team. In all, 29 county teams competed at the state show. The Ottawa boys who judged on the county team were Titus, Dennis Shoemaker, Forest Grove; and Marvin Hollemand and Edwin DeKleine, Jamestown.

Marie Geerlings, daughter of Jacob Geerlings, Zeeland, made the state poultry team. Marie has been outstanding in poultry work for several years.

Earl Hambleton, Coopersville, placed on the state crops team. He is a member of the United club at Coopersville which has placed many members on state teams in the past and has always been strong in crops projects. Earl was first member on the state crops team.

The Ottawa county demonstration team in dairy foods was awarded second place. The two members were Norma Meengs and Helen Moll, Zeeland.

It is LIBERTY IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR, IT IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR. BUY WAR BONDS.

Collect 203 Tons Of Scrap in Rural Ottawa Campaign

Twenty-Two Trucks Used in Extensive Roundup of County

Ottawa county's rural scrap collection campaign which got under way last Friday and ended Wednesday has netted 406,050 or slightly more than 203 tons, Carl E. Bowen, Ottawa county surveyor, reported today in Grand Haven.

It would have required one man 387 man hours to make the collection. However, with 22 trucks and about 50 men, the collection was completed in five days with a total of 430 truck hours. These trucks drove 3,428 miles. The roundup cost the county road commission $981.48 in labor and truck rental, Mr. Bowen said, explaining that this expense was the commission's donation to the war effort.

The collection figures by township in number of pounds showed: Allendale, 21,850; Blendon, 28,110; Chester, 18,655; Crocker, 28,460; Georgetown, 24,670; Grand Haven, 15,740; Holland, 35,810; Jamestown, 21,800; Olive, 37,510; Park, 38,520; Polkton, 12,585; Port Sheldon, 6,940; Robinson, 17,750; Spring Lake, 28,300; Tallmadge, 8,220; Wright, 12,160; Zeeland, 48,990.

These figures do not include collections from cities or villages. Mr. Bowen estimated that another four or five tons will dribble in later. Two truckloads came in Wednesday night and had not been weighed out when the report was compiled, he said.

In separate drives, Holland and Grand Haven residents have turned in at least 66 tons.

Unable to promise any future collections, Mr. Bowen requested farmers who might have been overlooked in the roundup not to call the county road commission but to notify their township supervisor who in turn will notify L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agent, who is in charge of the county scrap drive for the war effort.

The county trucks may be able to pick up some major items of scrap, but will not be able to make any roundup of small amounts, he reported.

Included in the scrap collection was a two-ton cannon from Allendale's town hall yard. In various places, windmills were dismantled and added to the scrap collection. In their roundup, the county trucks gathered up "everything under the sun" from household items to heavy farm equipment.

The Ottawa county road commission is sponsoring a WPA project to remove in Coopersville rails of the Grand Rapids-Grand Haven electric interurban which was abandoned about 15 years ago. Equipment to remove the rails is being obtained and it is expected that work will start soon.

Six places throughout the county, Hudsonville, Zeeland, Holland, Marne, Coopersville and Ferrysburg, served as the depositing centers. Each truck load of scrap was weighed at cooperatives or coal dealers who donated their services for this work.

Informed of the scrap collection results in Ottawa county, Simon Borr, chairman of the Ottawa county civilian defense council, praised Mr. Bowen and his co-workers for their work in collecting scrap at the government's request to aid the nation's war effort.

Man Faces Charge for Stealing Micrometer

Theodore (Ted) Harmsen, 36, of Hamilton, charged with larceny from a factory building, waived examination on arraignment Wednesday afternoon before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith and was bound over to Ottawa circuit court for arraignment Oct. 5 at 10 a.m.

He provided $500 bond for his release. In a complaint, sworn to by Sheriff William M. Boeve, Harmsen is charged with taking one Sterrett one-inch micrometer belonging to the Holland Precision Parts Corp. on or about Jan. 15, 1942. He was picked up Wednesday by a sheriff's officer and first taken to Grand Haven for questioning.

Capacity Crowd Attends Service and Hymn Sing

First Reformed church was filled to capacity Sunday night when the Rev. Nicholas Gosselink delivered his farewell sermon before leaving Wednesday with his family for the mission station at Gray Hawk, Ky. Loud speakers were placed in the basement for those who could not be accommodated in the upstairs auditorium. It was estimated that between 800 and 900 persons were present.

Record Season Is in Prospect At Sugar Plant

Three Shifts Will Be Employed; Factory Improvements Made

As one of Holland's principal seasonal industries, the Lake Shore Sugar Co. whose plant is located at the west end of 14th St. is completing arrangements for what is expected to be a record run for the local plant.

C. L. Bohannon, plant superintendent, has estimated that approximately 15,000,000 pounds of beet sugar will be processed from between 60,000 and 65,000 tons of sugar beets. In addition to the sugar, the plant also expects to produce approximately 3,000 tons of dried beet pulp which is used in coast and southern states as cattle feed and approximately 2,500 tons of molasses from which no additional sugar can be removed and which will be used in the manufacture of alcohol for the government's war effort.

Mr. Bohannon said the start of the 1942 run is scheduled for Oct. 5. The opening date has hinged on weather conditions. The recent rains have halted the harvesting of the sugar beets temporarily, he reported.

When in full operation, the plant will run 24 hours a day, seven days per week until the harvest from 5,800 acres which the company has under contract has been processed. The company will provide employment for approximately 225 workers in the three shifts and for the first time in its history will use women on the first and second shifts for work in the laboratory. A test run, now being made, will be completed Saturday night.

C. F. Dickman, assistant agricultural manager, returned Thursday night from the Chicago area where he spent several days inspecting the beet harvest. Estimates are that the yield in that area will run as high as 15 tons to the acre since it did not have the rain experienced in these sections.

Mr. Bohannon said that about 80 per cent of the sugar beets will be received this year in railroad cars due to the truck tire situation. Concrete flumes at the plant have been extended an additional 65 feet each to take care of the beets. No beets have been received at the plant and it is anticipated that operations will not start until at least 2,500 tons have been received to offset bad weather conditions or a shortage of railroad cars. Mr. Bohannon said.

Anticipating a 100-day run, various improvements have been made and the plant placed in first class condition for the run. In addition to extending the flumes, the smokestack has been repaired and made waterproof which accounts for the clean white appearance.

All sugar warehouses have been air conditioned to keep the sugar in a free running condition and from becoming hard or lumpy due to weather conditions. The main floor of the mill has been painted, the ceiling receiving its first coat of paint in 35 years, and new fluorescent lighting installed.

To carry the mill through its 1942 season, 11,000 tons of coal, 4,500 tons of limestone and 500 tons of coke were stored in stockpiles during the summer months so as not to tie up railroad cars during the fall when they would be needed to transport the beets here.

The government set aside a certain number of looms to weave duck filter cloth which is used at the plant in making of sugar. Mr. Bohannon also reported the plant has received an adequate supply of sugar bags.

This will be Mr. Bohannon's first year in the capacity of superintendent. In past years, he has served as assistant superintendent under Byron J. Paschal who was transferred sometime ago to Fremont, O., and Mr. Bohannon was promoted.

Working under Mr. Bohannon as new assistant superintendent will be Ford Weeks who was transferred here from the St. Louis plant. Mr. Bohannon is married, the father of two children. He and his family reside at 299 West 15th St.

Other personnel of the plant include two new beet-end foremen, Theodore G. Friege and Bernard Poppema. Charles Lewis has been named custodian of sugar to fill the vacancy created by the sudden death in Detroit on Sept. 14 of George McCulloch who had held this position ever since the sugar plant opened here.

Mr. Bohannon reports that if any of the employees of previous years intend to return to work this year they should contact the company by not later than Sept. 28.

Womens Federation Is Entertained In Church

In a talk entitled "Building Home Defenses," Dr. R. J. Danhof, pastor of Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church, told members of the Federation of Women's Adult Bible classes Friday night that "we could win the war and yet lose it spiritually. We should make our defenses in our homes," he said. "Our homes build the church and the church builds the state. If we do not make good Christian homes we will have no Christianity in our churches and our state."

Dr. Danhof said that 51 million citizens in the country are indifferent about religion. The other 60 million have their names on church rolls and do little about it. The meeting, the last of the fiscal year, was held in Bethel Reformed church. The Rev. C. Stoppe, church pastor, led in devotion and Mrs. Ralph Van Lente presided.

Jeffrey Wiersum, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Peter Wiersum, played "God's Way is the Best Way" as a violin solo. Mrs. Kryn Kalkman sang "My Task" accompanied by Mrs. C. Weststrate. The reports of the secretary, Mrs. Ben Boeve, and the treasurer, Mrs. C. De Koster, were given.

Considers War Relief Requests

The Holland war chest council of the Community chest has considered requests of the different war relief agencies who want to solicit for funds for inclusion in this year's Community chest drive.

Recommendations to the board of directors of the Community chest as to which agencies should be included as far as Holland city is concerned have been drawn up for submission to the board.

At a recent organization meeting, Alfred C. Joldersma was elected chairman of the council and the Rev. D. H. Walters was elected secretary. Other members of the council, which was appointed sometime ago to scrutinize and determine which agencies should be included in this year's annual Community chest drive, are A. W. Tahany, Dr. William Weststrate, John De Wilde, Peter Paulus and Ben Steffens.

Mr. Joldersma said any donations which citizens wish to make to these war relief agencies can be made through their Community chest contribution or can be made directly to the Holland war chest council at either the Holland State bank or Peoples State bank.

It's Time to Bring State Constitution Up-to-Date, Bruce Raymond Asserts

Having voted in favor of submitting the question of a constitutional convention to the Michigan electorate at the Nov. 3 election, Dr. Bruce Raymond of Hope college, a member of the state constitutional study commission, today explained why he favors the convention and why he believes the state constitution should be changed.

According to reports from Lansing, 17 members of the 32-member commission voted to hold a convention, six voted "no" and nine were undecided.

Dr. Raymond's principal reason for rewriting the state constitution is that Michigan is still operating under a document similar to one that was adopted back in 1854 and to which numerous amendments have been added. The present constitution requires a vote every 16 years on the question of holding a convention to rewrite the constitution but there has been no such convention since 1908.

A study of the minutes of that convention will convince any one that the constitution is practically the same as the 1854 document. Because of that fact, the provision requiring a vote every 16 years to hold a constitutional convention was adopted in 1908.

"However, a vote to hold a constitutional convention was rejected in 1924 because no efforts were made to point out the existing defects of the constitution," Mr. Raymond said.

While governor of Michigan, Frank Murphy appointed a non-partisan commission, known as the commission on reform and modernization of government, of which Joseph R. Hayden was chairman, State Sen. Ernest C. Brooks of Holland was vice-chairman and Arthur W. Bromage was secretary.

In December, 1938, this commission brought in a report making specific recommendations for revising the state constitution but the proposal was dropped with the defeat of Murphy for reelection as governor.

In 1941, the state legislature approved a $10,000 appropriation for the appointment of a study commission but Governor Van Wagener vetoed it on the grounds of economy. Later, Van Wagener appointed a 32-member commission whose members attended various meetings throughout the state at their own expense to make a study of the state's constitution.

According to Dr. Raymond, George E. Bushnell of the state supreme court considered the commission a representative body. It took the report of the Murphy commission and made a complete study of it.

Sen. Brooks was a member of this latter commission but he later resigned to be replaced by Dr. Raymond who served on the elective franchise committee and was vice-chairman of the local government committee. Other committees of the commission were the following: Declaration of rights, finance and taxation, legislative department, executive department, judicial department, education, corporations, eminent domain, miscellaneous, and schedule (boundaries and seat of government).

Dr. Raymond pointed out that the commission had no authority to make any changes in the constitution but only to study it with the thought that "if anything is wrong, the commission would say so and then decide if they should submit it to a vote of the people on the question of holding a constitutional convention."

"If the electorate decides to hold a convention, it will have something to work on. If the proposal is defeated, organizations will have something to work on for future amendments to the constitution," Dr. Raymond said, adding that the majority of the changes to the state constitution are of minor nature.

In explaining why he favored the holding of a constitutional convention, he said:

"At first thought, I felt the war was no time to take on an additional burden but after hearing the reports of the 12 committees with their recommendations, I became convinced our present constitution was so archaic and cumbersome, owing to its age and large number of amendments, as to be almost unworkable."

"The next thing is that when the people vote in November, if they vote for a convention, they must wait until the legislature appropriates the necessary funds and sets the date for the election of members to the convention which would be made up of three delegates from each senatorial district."

"Thus the earliest possible date, a convention could meet would be in September, 1943, and then it would work from three to six months, so it would be the fall of 1944 before the electorate would have the privilege of voting on the results of this convention. Thus it would be approximately Jan. 1, 1945, before a new constitution for Michigan could be made effective."

"From this angle, many of us felt that there would always be reasons why any time isn't a good time to change our constitution. We feel that since it will take so long to revise the constitution, we would at least give the voters a chance to get started on it."

"While the commission made various recommendations, they have no effect on the constitutional convention as they can be ignored entirely although this is not probable," he said. Justice Bushnell is scheduled to address the Michigan Municipal league Oct. 2 at its convention in Detroit on changing the state constitution.

Dr. Raymond believes that the greatest amount of work was done by the two committees of which he was a member and by the finance and taxation committee. Because it was the most controversial, he said he was most interested in the question of what to do with county organizations such as the county board of supervisors. The committee which studied this matter brought in a report of three recommendations which follow: (1) To leave intact the present system of supervisors for those counties which wish no change; (2) to give the legislature power to set up bylaw, optional forms of county government which the people can vote to come under; (3) a plan whereby counties not satisfied with either of the above may be authorized to adopt charters for local self-county government somewhat on the basis of home rule cities.

The recommendation also was made, he reported, that cities would be assured a more effective home rule. A provision also was adopted to allow the state to deorganize counties where there has been a decrease in population to create into larger areas to lighten the tax burden of the county administration.

Dr. van der Plas first told of the initial conditions of the country, its people, their customs, religion, education and character of the people. He pointed out that the Indonesians are a people in the making, in analyzing the differences between the Netherlands Indies and the surrounding countries.

"The Indonesians' basic idea is a desire for harmony. Therefore, though deeply religious, they are extremely tolerant. Spiritual oppression is intolerable to them, a quality they have in common with the other man's side and they are chivalrous."

He said that their national movement was at first regional but that it has gradually adopted the truly national philosophy of R. A. J. Adnan Dewantara, the founder of Indonesian national education. As far back as 1913, Dewantara distinguished between "holy nationalism," contributing the best one has to be a brotherhood of nations, and "evil nationalism" of egotists and antithetics, he said, adding that in 1938 at a national congress Dewantara said the aim of national education was to teach the people to live in harmony with other people, so the aim of nationalists is no longer the "old fashioned" dependence but the building off a higher unit in the Indies where all the varied Indonesians, the Dutch, the one and one-fourth million Chinese and the Arabs will "feel at home."

"Their country, as a partner of Holland, must be a champion for world justice and world brotherhood."

"The aggression of Japan against China disgusted them. In East Java since 1926 there was close cooperation between the nationalistic cooperative associations and the government against Japanese economic penetration," Dr. van der Plas said in pointing out that it was the plan of the Japanese to "be masters of the situation and to oust the other man."

As war clouds began to appear, the Indies in 1936 began to rearm but from 1938 it became impossible to buy arms in any quantities, he related, with the Indonesians clamoring for arms but unable to receive them. As telling evidence of real attitude of the Indonesians, Dr. van der Plas told of the creation of an Indonesian militia in 1941. Although only able to arm 6,000, the government called for 38,000 selectees with a result that nearly 146,000 volunteered. He said that the home guards of some 30,000, although it was impossible to arm all of them, were mostly Indonesian volunteers. The air raid precaution staff consisted of 37,000.

He told of the work of the Indonesian volunteers in the air raid precaution services and how students from the ages of 17 to 22 had struck to their radio warning posts, even on distant islands, while the Japanese were attacking. He also related how more than 50,000 Indonesians carried out the scorched earth policy under technical supervision despite the threat of reprisals from the Japanese.

"Part of the militia, though insufficiently trained, insisted on fighting and fell to the last man. Indonesian civil servants went around their district with the enemy a few miles away to exhort the people to fidelity and to passive resistance."

"Dutch and Indonesians are still united in underground activities which the Japs admit by shooting them indiscriminately. The troops still fighting against incredible odds in Borneo, Timor and, at least until shortly, in Celebes."

"The protection, help and feeding of westerners by the Indonesians is a moving story."

He told the important part in which the women played in the war, how they drove cars, acted as censors, served in Red Cross work, worked in the air raid precaution services and performed other numerous jobs.

"I am convinced that the Indonesians are in accord with our cause and are trying to help the western Allies to win this war."

Dr. van der Plas also related how the Indonesians carried out the scorched earth policy under technical supervision despite the threat of reprisals from the Japanese.

Says East Indies Is Set for Revolt

Van der Plas in Talk Here States Country Waits Allied Offense

In an address delivered Tuesday Sept. 22 in Hope Memorial chapel, Dr. Charles O. van der Plas, former governor of East Java, expressed belief that when the United Nations move to retake the Netherlands East Indies the Indonesian peoples will revolt against their Japanese oppressors.

"Then the people will return to their harmonious and peaceful way of living. I deeply trust that the strongest nation in the world, the United States, will come to win a just and lasting peace," he said in speaking on the "The Javanese and the Japanese Invasion."

He presented a number of anecdotes and incidents which occurred during the Pacific crisis and the invasion of the Indies to show that the hearts of the Indonesians were devoted to putting up the best possible fight.

Triumph Bake Shop Redecorated

The Triumph Bake Shop, owned and operated by William Du Mond, has been located on the corner of 16th St. and Central Ave. for the past five years. Its motto is "You Specify, We Comply."

Handling a complete line of baked goods, this well-known Holland bakery specializes in only the best ingredients for its pies, pastries, cakes, cookies, bread and rolls. The shop has the most modern equipment in the state. It has been newly redecorated and equipped with the latest wall cases for the convenience of the customer and has also installed built-in refrigeration.

Mr. Du Mond announces that the store will be closed every Monday due to difficulty in securing sufficient help.

Series of Lectures on Books Is Planned Here

Plans for the monthly series of eight lectures on "Books and Total Victory," to be presented in Holland this winter by Olive Deane Hormel of the University of Michigan extension service, were discussed Thursday night at the first meeting of the season of Holland branch, American Association of University Women, held in the summer home of Miss Adelaide Dykhuizen on the Park road. The branch will sponsor the series jointly with the Woman's Literary club.

Miss Hazel De Meyer, A.A.U.W. chairman of the project, explained the working of the plan which is expected to prove exceptionally popular with the men and women who find their reading time continuously diminished with their increased activity in war work. Enrollments in the new series may be made any time before the first lecture on Oct. 13.

Mrs. James Brierley presided at the meeting and chairmen of the various departments gave their reports. Mrs. R. D. Eash stated that the next meeting, Oct. 15 will be a membership meeting in the home of Miss Dorothy Heinke when prospective members of A.A.U.W. will be invited.

Mrs. Brierley urged members of the branch to attend the state round table to be held Saturday in Port Huron. Mrs. W. S. Merriam, state vice-president of A. A. U. W. was to leave today for the conference, and Mrs. Brierley also planned to attend. Canadian branches are to join with Michigan groups in a discussion of the day's problems.

As an interesting feature of the program, Mrs. Edward Donovan presented a review of the book, "No Retreat," by Anne Rauching, wife of the former president of the Danzig Free State, in which is told the gripping story of the Rauching family as they struggled to keep intact their ideals of Christian life in the Nazi-dominated state. Mrs. Donovan declared the book to be a tribute to American and American school children. Members of the Rauching family are now living in exile in this country.

ON VISIT HERE

Second Lieut. James Rose and Mrs. Rose visited Holland Monday and Rose addressed members of Co. 305, Michigan State troops, at their drill Monday night in Holland armory. Having completed his training at Camp Lee, Va., Rose is on a five-day furlough and will later report for duty at Boston, Mass. He is a former captain of the home guard company here.

Hold Meeting on Health Problem

The board of health, in special session at 10 a.m. Monday in the council chambers of the city hall, considered a proposal which calls for a consolidation of the city health department with the county and state health departments.

No action was taken by the board, although it was decided that the county and state health departments should prepare its proposal in writing whereby the city would retain a certain amount of its authority in health matters. The board will consider the proposal at its meeting next Monday.

It was the consensus among local health board members that they are not quite ready to give up all authority on health matters. The city charter provides for the local health board and city health department.

If the city department is consolidated with the county and state departments, the county board of supervisors would create and appoint a county board of health to control health operations throughout the county.

Dr. Wallace M. Chapman, assistant director of the bureau of local services, state board of health, advised the board that the state department encourages such consolidation which has been effected in other counties of the state.

Among those present at the meeting were Dr. Chapman; Dr. Ralph Ten Have, Ottawa county health officer; Louis H. Osterhaus, a member of the county supervisors' health committee; Mayor Henry Geerlings; Dr. Rudolph Nichols, Otto P. Kramer and City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker, member of the local board of health; Ben Wiersema, city inspector; E. E. Fell, superintendent of schools; and City Clerk Oscar Peterson. Mr. Lokker also is a member of the supervisors' health committee.

Osborne Vos Promoted To Second Lieutenant

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vos, 97 West 19th St., received a cablegram last week from their son, Osborne Vos, with the U. S. army in Australia, advising them of his promotion to a commission of second lieutenant by direct appointment.

He formerly was a staff sergeant. Vos left Holland in October, 1940. He advised his parents sometime ago that he was taking his examination and had successfully passed them.

Orders Dismissal of Reckless Driving Count

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special) — Judge Fred T. Miles in Ottawa circuit court has ordered the dismissal of a charge of reckless driving against Andrew Scott, Jr., 24, of Coopersville, the court ruling that the complaint did not set forth any crime.

The case was an appeal from justice court where on Aug. 26 Scott had been sentenced to serve 30 days in jail and pay a $100 fine and costs of $4.85 as the result of an accident to a state police car in an attempt to evade officers. Officers alleged that Scott was responsible for damage done to the patrol car.

Training Methods Are Discussed in Address

Speaking on "War-time Training Methods," Roger Johnson, representative of the war production board headquarters in Jackson, explained to members of the Holland Rotary club last Thursday noon in the Wann Friend tavern the methods of training employes for work in war plants.

Mr. Johnson said he was a tool and die maker and, having been voted by the Jackson Foreman's club for the job, was loaned to the WPB by his concern. He outlined how the plan operated and how it has been put into effect in Grand Rapids and Muskegon industries.

Under the foreman plan, foremen meet and discuss methods of training employes.

Contractor for Past 40 Years

W. De Leeuw and Sons, general contractors, located at 271 West 17th St., have been in business for 17 years. Mr. De Leeuw himself has been a contractor for about 40 years, 32 years of his work being in Holland. He came to this country from The Netherlands around 32 years ago. His sons are Gerrit De Leeuw and Warner De Leeuw, Jr.

Along with all kinds of remodeling of old homes the firm has a complete business in new homes including plans, financing and building. Mr. De Leeuw says he hopes some of the building restrictions will be lifted so that more people may build new homes.

Several homes in Holland and vicinity have been built recently by the De Leeuw contractors, including the beautiful lake front home of J. Fris, a couple of homes in Ganges, and at present a home being built in Grand Haven.

MANUFACTURING A JOB

There are people who, like Macnab, are forever
"waiting for something to turn up." There are others who set their wits to work to make something turn up.
It is largely because Americans have for the most part belonged to this second class that America is the dominant nation it is today. As a type Americans are inventive and ingenious.

A curious illustration is found in a west coast man whose profession, that of an army engineer, took him to Panama, where he has been making his home for the past couple of decades. Interested in botany as a hobby, he hit on the idea of becoming the four-leaf clover king of the world.
With true American practicality,
he reasoned that the almost universal sentimentality about the luck of the four-leaf clover could be turned to practical account and could be made to yield him dividends.

So he set about collecting four-leaf clover plants. When his collection had become large enough he set about propagating these plants, cross-breeding them, and doing all the things botanists do to produce a new plant. During all the years of the great depression this four-leaf clover enthusiast worked at his hobby, giving all the time to it he could spare from the job by which he made his living. For 17 years he worked before he had produced a seed that could be depended upon to grow plants that would produce nothing but four-leaf clover stems.

Meanwhile he had begun to commercialize his product. He had hired a group of native workers to press the four-leaf clovers and to put them up in such a way that they could be sold and shipped. His business grew gradually. He had not miscalculated as to the demand for such a product. Millions of people are willing to pay out hard money to help along their luck, and the superstition of the four-leaf clover is so deep-rooted that it is proof against all the arguments of reason. Also, nearly all races and tribes share in the superstition.

In any event, this four-leaf clover king has turned the belief to good account for himself. The chances are he does not share in the superstition himself. But the four-leaf clover has brought him luck in the only way in which any clover or horseshoe can bring luck; he has helped the luck along by using his wits in the good American way. There is such a thing as luck—if it is properly cultivated and nourished. Luck is composed largely of brains and sweat.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

A sceptical scientist of great renown has written to a friend who like himself recently met a sorrow in his wife's death: "My dear boy, this life after all is but a short affair and it is full of sorrow and misery. Believe me, I know. But we have to take it and must keep a stiff upper lip in spite of hell and high water.
I often wish I were religious so that I could flee to the Church which after all is right when it comes to human tragedies. It is the only consolation there is to be found. We scientists just have to take it and that is not so good.
I wonder if science is worthwhile."

Dear Sceptical friend, by your own words, the Church is worth while. Why don't you and every one else accept the invitation and come to church next Sunday?

Faith in Christ as Our Personal Savior

Act 16:13-15; Romans 5:1-11

By Henry Geerlings

The New Testament is a book of life rather than a book of thought. It provokes thought because it is a record of things that happened. Among the recorded happenings many others might have been chosen for this lesson but, perhaps, events at Philippi were singled out because Paul entered a new province which later became significant as a part of Europe; the odds were least favorable to the gospel there, since there was no synagogue at Philippi, but only a small prayer group; and because so much was accomplished amid adverse circumstances Christianity as a demonstration precedes Christian explanations. At Philippi there was demonstration.

Arriving in this city sometime before the Sabbath, the missionary party, composed of Paul, Silas, Luke, and Timothy, put up at an inn and waited for the Sabbath to come. The interval gave them time to see that there was no Jewish quarter in the city and no synagogue, although they must have seen the prayer-place down by the side of the river Gangites, a mile west of the town. Such a location was a general rule for a prayer enclosure. A place of prayer was an enclosure simpler than a synagogue in communities where the Jewish population was small, located, if possible, on a stream bank or an ocean shore.
The need for such a location was found in the abolitions accompanying Jewish worship.

On the Sabbath it was to this place of prayer by the river that they went on the hour customary for synagogue worship. There they found, in answer to the promising vision of the man of Macedonia in the night, a handful of women. Not a very auspicious beginning for an ambitious missionary enterprise.

This small company of women was composed of Jews and God-fearing Gentiles. These latter were non-Jews who had been attracted to the Jewish religion and, in many cases, they understood proselyte baptism and became ceremonial Jews. The language used seems to indicate that Lydia was a God-fearer but not yet a proselyte. As one who had been attracted away from the pagan cults toward the Jewish religion she was receptive to a message that incorporated the best of Judaism and then went beyond it to completely satisfy her hunger of spirit. There may have been in her mind some questions about the Jewish faith which were keeping her from becoming a proselyte. These questions found their answer in the gospel Paul preached. At any rate, her mind was open and her spirit receptive.

Lydia was a wealthy widow whose native city was Thyatira, an Asiatic city later mentioned in Revelation as the seat of one of the seven churches. Thyatira was a city whose chief industry was the making of dyes. Lydia apparently acted as the agent of this industry in the Roman city of Philippi where, gathering about her a considerable household of servants, she became influential and wealthy.

The name Lydia, was one frequently used for slaves and it may be that this distinguished first convert in Europe was a former slave, a freed woman.
The practice of being baptized after hearing the gospel is uniform in all the work of Paul, but the baptizing of a whole household strikes us as singular. We discover, however, that it is a natural heritage from patriarchal life in which what the head of the family did became the action of the whole family, the action of the head was the action of the whole family, wives, sons and servants. Lydia as a widow would assume this patriarchal function. Mass conversions in modern India give us some clue to this communal solidarity which is so foreign to our western individualism. We discover also that the baptism of the whole household of a convert followed in the case of Cornelius and of Crispus.
Many other cases have occurred.

Lydia's conversion did become a great turning point in her life.
She guaranteed that by inviting the missionary party to become her guests, that she could extend such hospitality as an evidence of prosperous circumstances.
It was in the home of Lydia that the church of Philippi gathered and, no doubt, her home was the stopping place of Paul and his fellow workers on all their visits to the city. Lydia herself was probably responsible for the gifts of money that were sent by the Philippian church to Paul when he was in dire straits at Ephesus and Rome.

For Lydia, the gospel of Christ supplied what was lacking in Judaism, and the advent of Christ so revolutionized her life that she became the center of a church that grew up in her own home and which, from the thankful tone of Paul's Philippian epistle, was the most congenial, the most

Dutch, Lancers Play in Rain Here To Scoreless Tie

Hope Eleven Shows Offensive Weakness; Fumbles Mark Clash

In a game highlighted by fumbles, due to a steady downpour that commenced in the first quarter, the Hope college football team battled to a scoreless tie with the University of Grand Rapids in Riverview park Friday night.

The game was by no means listless, however, and on several occasions both teams were in scoring position.

The Dutchmen showed a definite offensive weakness, and chalked up only four first downs, three of which were gained by passes. Although the Lancers earned but one more first down, they definitely played a better running game, consistently battering through the weak tackle and guard positions of Hope's forward wall.

What chances Hope did have of scoring through the air were washed out when the downpour came, and the remainder of the tilt saw few passes attempted by either team. Hope's biggest chance for scoring came in the first quarter when, after a succession of punts, they emerged with the ball on the Lancers 7-yard stripe, and a pass from Higgs to Nieusma was dropped in the end zone.

Parolee Is Held In Jacket Theft

Arrested about 1 a.m. Sunday when he was detected wearing a stolen leather jacket, Ralph Meusen, 26, 39 East 16th St., pleaded guilty to a simple larceny charge on arraignment before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Meusen admitted to the court that he is on parole from Southern Michigan prison on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

The alleged theft of the jacket, owned by Al Klinge, 119 East 24th St., occurred about 10 days ago. The sheriff's department reported that Klinge left his motorcycle parked on 16th St. near the high school building because of a flat tire and the jacket was taken from one of the carrying bags.

While Klinge was walking with some companions near the post office, he recognized the stolen jacket on Meusen and notified Deputy Sheriff Edward Browner who chanced to be mailing some letters. Meusen was given opportunity to return the jacket but he claimed he had purchased it from Gerrit Frens who told officers he had sold a coat to Meusen about a year ago, but not this kind.

Questioned by the deputy and local police about a pair of gloves which were still in the pocket, Meusen contended he had found them, according to the deputy, but Meusen later admitted having stolen the jacket.

Other Cases Disposed Of in Circuit Court; Four Await Penalty

Grand Haven, Oct. 1 (Special)—Darwin Behm, 25, route 2, Grand Haven, was sentenced Monday afternoon in Circuit court to pay a fine of $25 and costs of $7.50 or serve sixty days in the county jail. The fine and costs were paid. On last Sept. 15, he pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile, without intent to steal. Behm was arrested Aug. 31 by city police who alleged that on Aug. 26 he took a car belonging to Kenneth Boyd which was parked in front of the Vyn Co. building, where Boyd is employed.

A number of other cases were disposed of Monday.

Richard Zeckler, 18, of Coopersville, was placed on probation for two years, required to make restitution of $60 within three months and pay $3 a month costs. Conditions of his probation also provided that he leave all intoxicating liquors alone and put 25 per cent of his earnings into war bonds. Zeckler pleaded guilty Sept. 15 to a charge that he took $20 from the till of the Coopersville Flour and Feed mill last March. Zeckler was formerly employed at the mill. Investigation revealed that previous to the alleged offense he had taken $40 from the home of Sherman Verplank when Mr. and Mrs. Verplank were away from home.

Frank Sniegowski, alias Frank Snow, 24, Muskegon, had his probation revoked and was sentenced to serve from two to five years in Southern Michigan prison. He was placed on probation Feb. 8, 1941 for two years, required to pay $48 costs and make restitution of $8, on a charge of larceny from an automobile.

He claimed he could not get a job in Ottawa county so his case was transferred to Wisconsin, where he worked until last June 15. No word was received as to his whereabouts for a while and on Aug. 16 he was arrested in Muskegon for drunk driving and was assessed a fine and costs of $103, in default of which he was to serve 90 days in the county jail at Muskegon.

On Sept. 19, Probation Officer Jack Spangler gave the sheriff's department of Ottawa county a warrant for Frank's arrest, charging him with violating his probation, the offense for which he was placed on probation alleged that on Dec. 15, 1940, he, together with William Edman, stole a blanket and some tire chains from an automobile belonging to Miss Florence Miller, which merchandise he traded for some gasoline. Spangler informed the court that Frank had never reported and never paid any costs, although he did make restitution of the $8.

Dr. R. D. Lillie, 52, veterinarian of Coopersville, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense, and was placed on probation for one year, required to pay a $50 fine and $3 a month costs. His driver's license was revoked and he is required to leave all intoxicating liquors alone. Dr. Lillie was arrested Sept. 7 by state police after his car is alleged to have sideswiped a car driven by John Henry Winglar of Grand Rapids on US-16 in Crookery township, causing considerable damage to both cars. The first offense occurred Feb. 11, 1938, when he paid a $75 fine, $7.65 costs and served ten days in the county jail.

Olie Solem, 33, Spring Lake, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly, fourth offense, and will be sentenced later. The last offense against Solem occurred in Grand Haven city last Sept. 19. He was previously convicted Aug. 10, 1941, and Feb. 7, 1942, in Justice Peter VerDuin's court in Grand Haven, and on April 18, 1942, in Justice George V. Hoffer's court in Grand Haven.

Richard Reed, 44, route 1, Grand Haven, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny, third offense, and will be sentenced later. It is alleged between last May 1 and Sept. 19 he took 705 pounds of brass from the Dake Engine Co., where he was employed. On Dec. 22, 1925, he served a year on a burglary charge and in 1934 served 44 months on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time. Both previous convictions occurred in Muskegon county.

Mary Busies, 22, route 5, Holland, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny from a store and will be sentenced later. She is alleged to have taken a hat valued at $1.29 from the Little Miss Shop in Holland Sept. 22.

Robert Weinrick, 18, of Conklin, whose home is in Howard City, pleaded guilty to a charge of breaking and entering in the night time and will be sentenced later. Weinrick, who has been working in Muskegon for the past four weeks, is alleged to have taken $41.22 from a tavern of George Bleckley in Conklin Sept. 24.

Twenty-four young men were added Tuesday afternoon to Holland's contingent which is now serving in the nation's armed forces when they left here by train to report for army duty at Fort Custer.

Although it is not of their own choosing, they are taking a tremendous step, he said.

"It is a noble thing to do. You are willing to do your part in the flight to preserve our democracy. You realize the importance of the struggle because we are fighting a religious war as well as to preserve our democracy."

Pointing out that the soldiers will meet many temptations in camp, he urged them to read the Bible which the Gideons presented to them often "for they contain the rule and guide for your life." Mr. Slager also urged them to select the right companions and "don't be ashamed of Christ as he is your friend who can help you in times of need."

He reminded them to remember their homes and to write often to parents. In turn, parents and friends should write often to the boys in camp. Mr. Slager contended, John Junior Jipping offered prayer.

Mrs. Edward Donovan, representing the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, outlined the services which the Red Cross offers to the soldiers in army camps and urged them to take advantage of these services. She and Mrs. Lloyd E. Heasley distributed a candy bar, a package of chewing gum and a letter to each selectee.

Says Educators Needed in War

Speaking on "Our Schools in War Time" at the meeting of the Holland Exchange club Monday noon in the Warm Friend tavern, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, stressed the need of educators in the nation's armed service.

"Men are needed," he stated, "who can use mathematical formulas, who can write concisely and who can think clearly."

He pointed to the high number of men who have been rejected by selective service board because of illiteracy.

Another important role that the schools will play in this war will be to make the populace conscious of the fact that this is a total war. In connection with this, the public schools will sponsor a scrap drive Oct. 5. Citizens are urged to cooperate by contributing scrap.

In conclusion, Dr. Elliott emphasized the urgency of buying war bonds, stating, "We must hasten to the concept that this is total war."

Several hundred reasons for investing 10 per cent of an individual's income in war bonds were presented by the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp. Each reason was in the form of a picture of a Holland young man or woman who is serving in the active service of the country.

The Telephone Minutes YOU SAVE Help War Production!

To GET things done for war

MOUNTAINS OF SCRAP WILL SAVE THOUSANDS OF LIVES!

Stockpiles like this are needed all over the country so that our Government can plan our armament program—and our mills and plants can deliver the fighting tools!

Get in on the drive now on. Get the unused metal out of your cellar, your attic, your garage, your place of business. Without this scrap the Nation's steel mills must shut down, for all new steel is 50 per cent scrap, and the mills have not enough for even 30 days more.

And one more thing. Help to stop the story --- spread by innocents and ill-wishers alike --- that there is lots of scrap already on hand. They point to junk yards, auto graveyards, and salvage depots that have not been cleaned out, as proof that there is no shortage. Kill This Talk Before It Kills Our Boys!

WHOSE BOY WILL DIE BECAUSE YOU FAILED?

In spite of the terrible lack of scrap, here is why you may still find full junk yards and scrap depots --- and why they must be kept that way!

1. All scrap must be sorted, stripped, and broken up by scrap dealers before it can be used. Their yards are full because they are BUSY—preparing your scrap for the mills as fast as they possibly can!
2. Auto graveyards strip autos, keep the usable parts and junk the rest—turning out 450,000 tons of scrap in a typical month. Each must scrap within 60 days as many cars as he buys—that is the law!
3. Scrap collections sometimes have to stay around because the dealers can't handle them all immediately. Even if they could, the mills could not store it all. The local salvage depot is a stockpile—where your scrap is available for instant use as soon as it's needed. And it WILL be needed!

Remember of these places become empty, the mills shut down --- and we lose the war!

So get out your scrap and help your neighbors with theirs. It's the greatest single contribution you can make right now to win the war!
