Citizens Urged To Register Now For Nov. 2 Vote

Several Holland people, about 4,000 according to figures, are going to be disappointed when the Nov. 2 general election comes and they find they are not registered to vote.

The all-important election will include choosing national, state, county and local offices. Also on the ballot will be voting on six state referendums and local issues to be determined.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood said today registrations are slow and suggests that those not signed up call at his office. Registrations close Oct. 13. The clerk's office, on the second floor of the city hall, is open daily from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. except Saturdays when it closes at noon.

Any person not registered before Oct. 13 will not be allowed to vote. Persons who have changed addresses should also make the change at the clerk's office.

Highlighting the Nov. 2 election will be election of a president and vice-president of the United States.

State officers to be named are governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state treasurer and auditor general.

The electorate will also name a United States Senator and Representative in Congress. State senator and representative from this district will also be named.

County officers to be named are: Prosecuting attorney, sheriff, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, auditor, drain commissioner, coroners, county surveyor.

A judge of probate and circuit court commissioners will be selected on the non-partisan ballot.

The following state referendums will be voted on:

1. Proposed amendment to the constitution relative to the order of succession to governor.

2. Proposed repeal of the so-called sales tax diversion amendment.

3. Amendment to the constitution relative to the pay of certain state officers.

4. Amendment to the constitution relative to pay and expenses of members of the legislature.

5. Amendment to section 21 of article 10 of the constitution so as to modify the 15-mill limitation.

6. Referendum of act No. 270 entitled, "An act to regulate and control the operation of foreign agencies acting within the state and to prescribe penalties for violators."

Registered voters will ballot on the question of whether to call a convention to revise the state constitution or not.

There will be local issues on the ballot. However, they have not yet been definitely determined. One is selection of an associate municipal judge and the other will probably be the 20th St. vacating issue.

Nurse's Aides Start Hospital Training Today

High School Seniors On Second Phase of Co-Operative Program

Twelve senior girls of Holland high school today began supervised practice as nurse's aides in Holland hospital as the second phase of a co-operative nursing program carried on by the Vocational Guidance department of which Gerrit Wiegink is director.

The hospital training consisting of 50 hours of supervised work follows 35 hours of formal classes in Froebel school conducted by Mrs. Olive Winter, registered nurse. Equipment for the class work was provided by the hospital and the Red Cross.

After the trainees complete the supervised work in three weeks or less, they will be accepted as paid nurse's aides. Until that time, they are receiving supervised training on shifts from 8 a.m. to noon, 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. Later, their work will be only in the mornings or afternoons.

Hospital training is under direction of the hospital staff, together with Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Jean De Witt. Training consists mostly of making beds, giving baths and feeding and caring for patients. The girls receive high school credit while in training and later as nurse's aides.

The members, all of whom plan nursing careers, are Jackie Carter, Verna Tanis, Lois Kolean, Joyce Knowles, Donna Van Tubbergen, Miriam Gemmill, Edith Bos, Norma Van Dyke, Wilma Wierenga, Dorothy Dykman, Thelma Ter Haar and Donna Brewer.

The class is part of 61 seniors taking co-operative training. There are 27 trainees in office work, 12 in retailing and 22 in trade and industry, of whom 12 are in nursing.

Jaycees Stage Bosses' Night

Prof. Steve Partington of the Hope college education department addressed members and guests of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at their annual "bosses' night" dinner Tuesday night. The event was held at the "House by the Side of the Road," Saugatuck, with President Ernest Phillips presiding.

Speaking on the subject, "World Peace Through Understanding," Prof. Partington stated that this country and others have produced the genius for the making of warfare but have not produced the men who are capable of preventing wars. Good human relations are needed to prevent wars, he said.

Prof. Partington served in the Navy intelligence during the last war.

Employment Up In Holland Area

Employment in the local labor market area continued upward in August exceeding that of the month before by 200 (25 women), a review of employment statistics in the Holland area revealed today.

According to Jacob Barendse, branch manager here for the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission three-fourths of the gain occurred in manufacturing while 50 additional workers were placed on construction payrolls. On Aug. 15, total employment was approximately 12,400 (3,500 women).

Unemployment, estimated at 700 (400 women) in mid-August, does not reflect the full net gain in employment, as about 100 immigrant workers entered this area during the month. The claim load declined by nearly 20 per cent during the month. In the week ending Aug. 28 a total of 364 claims (125 servicemen's readjustment allowances) compared with $38,988 ($7,172 for SRA) in June. A total of 1,429 checks was issued in July, 481 fewer than in the previous month.

Hiring schedules of local employers call for about 400 (100 women) workers by mid-October. Of this number, 150 will be needed for the replacement of students who are leaving the labor market to return to school.

At the end of August, employers had 124 job openings (56 for women) listed with the branch office. Of these, 65 were in factories, 47 in trade establishments, nine in service industries and three in construction.

The branch office had active registrations for work from 339 persons (143 women) on Aug. 15.

Job separations (excluding layoffs) in the area's major manufacturing plants dropped slightly. Thirty-three per thousand workers employed in July left their jobs voluntarily, compared with 35 per thousand in June.

Bank Robbery Rocked Holland 16 Years Ago

Holland was throbbing with excitement 16 years ago Wednesday. That was the day five armed bandits shot their way out of First State bank, (now First National bank) after robbing it of $70,000.

Police Chief Peter A. Lievense was shot in the right side as he traded shots with the bandits. Peter De Jongh, meat market employee, was shot above the heart and was in serious condition for a time. Both were taken to Holland hospital and later recovered. The chief made his way to the Tavern corner and with Officer Dave O'Connor, opened fire toward the rear of the bank O'Connor shot one bandit in the face.

The thugs were halted in the alley near River Ave., as Mrs. Vance Brailey turned her car into the narrow entrance. The thugs made a lightning change into another car, drove through the driveway of a filling station at River and Seventh, sped east on Seventh, then south to 16th and east out of town.

Inside the bank, the leader had ordered Cashier Cornelius Vander

People Will Vote On 20th St. Issue

Holland voters will decide the 20th St. issue at the general election Nov. 2.

This action was taken at a special meeting of Common Council Wednesday night when aldermen voted unanimously to postpone paving of the block between State and Michigan, pending final action in the election.

The special meeting was called after the Society for Christian Education announced plans to circulate initiative petitions calling for the public vote. According to city charter, certain issues may be put on the ballot provided petitions bear signatures of 25 per cent of the voters in the preceding mayor's election.

City Attorney Peter Boter explained, however, that such a course may be used only in legislative matters, not on administrative matters. He said there is some doubt whether vacating a street is a legislative issue and has been unable to find a parallel in the 30-odd opinions he reviewed on initiative petitions.

He defined an administrative issue as a matter of routine and a legislative matter as something considerably larger and more complicated, something involving an overall policy.

He said if council ignored the initiative petition, it likely would be faced by mandamus proceedings on the part of the school interests, forcing a vote of the people. Boter said the Society will file petitions with the required number of qualified signatures by 4:30 p.m. Oct. 6 in order that the issue may be put on the November ballot.

Common Council had voted, 8 to 4, two weeks ago not to vacate the street, and then voted unanimously to pave it.

Mayor Bernard De Pree said council met informally Monday night with Atty. Rolland Allaben of Grand Rapids, legal counsel for the Society in respect to initiative petitions.

Mayor De Pree outlined three possible courses of action for Common Council. They follow:

1. Council may set aside its powers, recognize the initiative petition, consent to the election Nov. 2 and withhold paving operations, pending outcome of the election. (This was adopted unanimously.)

2. Council may disregard initiative petition and proceed with paving.

3. Council may disregard initiative petition but hold up paving, knowing mandamus proceedings will be filed.

Ald. Harry Harrington read a lengthy resolution calling for the public vote. The resolution pointed out that Council felt it was in line with democratic principles for the people to express their views on matters of this type. It also instructed the mayor, city attorney and city engineer to negotiate with the Michigan Colprovia Co. which holds the contract for the paving.

About 25 persons, mostly residents in the 20th St. area, attended the meeting.

The invocation was given by Ald. Raymond T. Holwerda. All members were present with the exception of Ald. Anthony Nienhuis.

Following the unanimous decision of Common Council to place the issue on the November election, the Christian school board of trustees today made the following announcement.

"The board of trustees of the Holland Christian schools extends its appreciation to Common Council for its willingness to place this vital educational and safety issue before the people of Holland for a decision. The board is deeply grateful that this honorable body saw fit to settle this highly important problem in the only democratic way, namely by the voice of the people."

Other states represented in numerical order are Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, California, South Dakota, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Alabama, Montana, Colorado, Florida, Kentucky, Texas, Connecticut, Maryland, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Mississippi, New Mexico, New Hampshire and Washington.

Dowagiac Dinner Honors Whitely, Veteran Lawmaker

Dowagiac, Sept. 30—More than 350 persons gathered in Dowagiac Tuesday night for a testimonial dinner for Harry Whiteley, editor of the Dowagiac Daily News, and Dr. Sherman Loupee, member of the state legislature. Whiteley retired this year after serving 21 years as a member of the Michigan Conservation commission. Dr. Loupee recently completed his fifth term as legislator.

Leading tributes were paid by Gov. Sigler and Harold Titus, member of the game commission. Titus recalled that Whiteley had shaped the commission's program on oil drilling rights—a program that became a pattern for other states. The governor used the occasion to declare that such tributes to the living would encourage the service of other persons to their state. Sigler expressed himself as well pleased with the operations of the Conservation commission.

The dinner was sponsored by the Dowagiac Conservation club. Guests included the Conservation commission, local government leaders and editors of southwestern Michigan.

Among the publishers attending the dinner were Mark P. Haines, Sturgis Journal; W. H. Shumaker and Bob Shumaker, Three Rivers Commercial; Stanley Banyon, Benton Harbor News-Palladium; John Scamehorn, Niles Daily Star; W. A. Butler, Holland Sentinel.

Rahilly, commissioner of Newberry; Harry Gaines, MUCC secretary of Grand Rapids; W. A. Butler, Holland.

Local Man Denies Desertion Charge

Lester E. Bunker of 573 West 22nd St., was transferred from the local police station to Fort Custer, Battle Creek, by military police this noon. Bunker has been in the local jail for the last two days.

He was arrested Monday by Robert Lalley, field agent for the FBI out of Grand Rapids, and local police on a desertion charge.

Bunker claims he was discharged from the Army two years ago. He said he went to Selfridge field recently but did not sign papers or take an oath to re-enlist.

Harry O'Connor, FBI agent head in Detroit, said the FBI headquarters in Washington ordered Bunker arrested. The case is being investigated by the defense department in Washington. The Army claims he re-enlisted at Selfridge field.

Local American Legion officials and others are trying to get Bunker's release through the Defense department. Sen. Homer Ferguson has been called to investigate the case.

Hope Team Trips Michigan Normal In Opening Game

Score Two Touchdowns As Passes Account For Victory Margin

Two lightning stabs through the air were the margin of Hope's 13-0 victory over Michigan Normal in a see-saw game Friday night at Riverview park.

An estimated 3,500 fans saw big "Moose" Holwerda grab Nick Yonker's 30-yard pass on the Hornet's 25-yard line and race over the goal for the first touchdown. The score came with less than a minute left in the first half. The boot for extra point bounded wide of the goal posts.

The Dutchmen set up their second score on the first play of the fourth quarter. Yonker heaved a 33-yard pass to Jim Pfingstel who went up in the air with a Normal player and snared the ball. It was an "almost impossible" catch. Pfingstel was downed immediately on the Normal 21-yard line.

Claus Holtrop banged center for three years and Yonker sneaked to the Normal 12-yard marker. Two jabs at the center were good for a first down by inches on the 11-yard line. Pfingstel took the ball from Yonker and went through a hole between guard and center to score. Holwerda's conversion was good, making the score 13-0.

Outside of the brief scoring thrusts, the game was a see-saw affair. Hope intercepted four of Michigan Normal's passes while the Hornets grabbed three of Yonker's heaves. The locals fumbled three times and the Hornets bobbled four times.

However, the Hornets gained one more yard rushing than Hope and had two more first downs. Hope gained 133 yards rushing and had 10 first downs. Normal gained 134 yards rushing and made 12 first downs.

The Hornets, led by Halfback Bill Smith, piled up three first downs soon after the third quarter opened to advance the ball from their own 34-yard line to Hope's 16. On their third down, with the ball on the Dutchmen's 16, Neil Van Riper was chased back of the line of scrimmage and fumbled. "Ripper" Collins fell on the ball to end the most determined scoring threat by the visitors.

Smith's 13-yard run featured the series of plays. He weaved through the Holland team and was on his way to the goal line when a Hope player reached out and grabbed him.

Coach Al Vanderbush said after the game he was pleased with the first showing of his 1948 eleven. However, he said the Dutchmen missed their break-away runner, Ted Barrett, who was injured this week in practice.

The Hope coaches were proud of the hard tackling by their forward wall. Bruising tackles saved several would-be gains.

Hope's entire team played stellar football. The line play of Collins, Abe Moerland, Gene Campbell and Paul Boerger was outstanding. "Moose" Holwerda was a standout on both offense and defense.

For the Ypsilanti eleven, Center Jack Weiss was the best. Others were Jack Van Wagoner, John Mora and Bob Larsen.

Statistics:	Hornets	Dutch

Monsignor Hyland Of Grand Haven Succumbs at 69

Grand Haven, Sept. 30 (Special)—Funeral services were to be held Tuesday for the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel H. Hyland, 69, pastor of St. Patrick's church, who died at 4:30 p.m. Saturday in the parish house.

Msgr. Hyland, pastor of the church for 37 years, had been in failing health. He had submitted to surgery at St. Mary's hospital, Grand Rapids, and later received treatment at Mayo Brothers hospital in Rochester, Minn.

Msgr. Hyland came to Grand Haven in 1911 and saw the parish grow from 50 families to 450. During the summer, it increased to 1,000.

He was born in Grand Rapids April 27, 1879, and attended Grand Rapids schools and St. Francis college at Quincy, Ill., before going to the University of Innsbruck, then in Austria. He was ordained a priest there after three years of study.

His first assignment was as an assistant priest at St. James church in Grand Rapids. Later he was made an assistant at St. James church in Bay City and in 1909 became pastor of St. James church in Montague. Two years later he came to Grand Haven.

Last April 22 he was conferred the honor of Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor, one of seven priests so honored by Pope Pius XII. At the time, Fr. Hyland said, "I am proud of the honor, not for myself but for my parish and for my city. It has come late in life as I will be 69 years old on April 27."

Eight years ago he was made dean of churches for the section covered by Otsego, Allegan, Douglas, Holland, Byron Center, New Salem and Spring Lake. At the very same time he was elevated to the council by the bishop with the title of "very reverend." Two years ago he was given an assistant, Dr. David Drinan.

Born of a family of professionals, Msgr. Hyland is survived by two brothers, Dr. William Hyland of Grand Rapids and Dr. Robert Hyland of St. Louis, both of whom are well known in the medical and surgical world, and a sister, Anna Hyland, principal of a Detroit school. Another sister, Helene, former Grand Rapids teacher, died last Tuesday in Grand Rapids, and a brother, the Rev. Albert Hyland, priest at Saginaw, died in 1923.

She carried a white Bible topped with white roses and streamers, and an embroidered linen handkerchief edged with lace imported from Paris.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Celia Lambers, wore a blue taffeta colonial gown with matching mitts and a silver choker, gift of the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white pompons and yellow roses.

Dale Brower, the bride's brother, assisted the groom as best man. Seating the guests were Chester Danglemond of Chicago and Junius Kookler of Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. John Brink, Jr., brother and sister-in-law of the groom, were master and mistress of ceremonies.

Miss Lorraine La Huis of Zeeland was organist. She played the traditional wedding music and accompanied Martin Stegink who sang "I Love You Truly." The groom's aunt, Mrs. Rose Dykstra of Detroit, sang "The Love of God" following the exchange of vows.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the Marquee. A blue and white color scheme was carried out. The bride and groom cut the five-tier wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests were present from Chicago, Detroit, Roseville, Kalamazoo, Wayland, Grand Rapids, Byron Center, Hamilton, Benheim and Zeeland.

The occasion also marked the 24th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Michigan Farmers Maintain Sound Financial Status

Prices Skyrocket But Local Banker Reports Few Losses

Even though the costs of things the farmer uses are continuing upward, Michigan agriculture is maintaining a sound financial position, according to Alfred C. Joldersma, cashier of the First National bank.

Joldersma, who represents the Michigan Bankers association as Ottawa county key banker, noted that Michigan farmers are being generally successful in avoiding the dangers of excessive debt during the current inflationary period.

Quoting from a national survey of bank lending made by the Agricultural commission of the American bankers association, Joldersma reported that during 1947, Michigan banks lent $118,029,000 to their farm customers. At the beginning of 1948, the total agricultural loans outstanding in Michigan banks aggregated $69,197,000.

This high percentage of payoffs is indicative of the prosperous condition of Michigan agriculture.

Of the total amount loaned to farmers during the year, farm production loans aggregated $97,665,000, of which $35,033,000 remained outstanding at the beginning of 1948. Loans secured by farm real estate totaled $19,724,000, advancing the amount outstanding in these long term credits to $33,727,000.

Commodity Credit Corporation loans, secured by farm products in storage, amounted to $640,000. Seventy-four per cent of the state's 175,268 farmers were served by their community banking institutions with credit during the year.

While the privately owned and operated banks of Michigan were meeting the financial requirements of 129,580 farmers, the combined credit operations of all of the government-subsidized agencies were used by only 6,804, who borrowed $13,401,000.

Age Can't Stop Tours Of Castle Park Couple

Henry Stibbs, who will be 81 years old Thursday, and Mrs. Stibbs of Castle Park, are telling their friends of the 7,183-mile trip they took this summer in their 11-year-old car through New England and Canada.

The Stibbs were "completely enchanted" with Nova Scotia and the Gaspe peninsula during the trip that started after July 4.

On the return route, the Stibbs left Toronto and drove to Callander, Ontario, the home of the Dionne quintuplets. The Stibbs say most tourists are very disappointed in not being able to get a glimpse of the famous quint. A high fence around their home says "Keep Out" and the only evidence of them to be had is at the store run by Papa Dionne. Pictures and trinkets of all shapes and sizes may be purchased.

Overnight stops in motels, cabins, tourist homes and small hotels usually averaged about $3 for the two of them. Gasoline, however, was much higher priced.

Traveling is nothing out of the ordinary for the Castle Park couple, who go to Mexico in the winter, but the trip this summer that lasted two months, was one of the most interesting.

Halifax, the quaint old fishing village in Nova Scotia, was of special delight to Mr. Stibbs. Also included in their itinerary were Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Cape Breton island and Toronto in Canada and a trip through the New England states.

Speaker Tells of Arabian Missions

Dr. Wells Thoms, Reformed church medical missionary from Muscat, Oman, Arabia, spoke to the Rotary club this noon, explaining how missionaries were instrumental in bridging the gap between America and Arabia, in so far as international relations were concerned.

Dr. Thoms described the work accomplished by Arabian missionaries, and the hardship and privation involved in such an undertaking, telling of the need for more help in that field of endeavor.

An amusing anecdote was told by the physician concerning the time he brought a radio with him, in to the back country in Oman. The instrument made a big impression, and after hundreds had sat and listened to programs from Cairo and London, Dr. Thoms took his radio to his room and prepared to retire.

A native camel driver came into his room, requesting that he be allowed to sleep there. His request granted, he lay down beside the radio, eyeing it curiously. Finally, he looked at Dr. Thoms, and inquired, "When does he eat?"

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with an off-the-shoulder bertha of chantilly lace, net yoke, long pointed sleeves and a pointed basque bodice, buttoned down the back. A lace peplum trimmed the full skirt which ended in a circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a Venice lace bonnet trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and pompons. Her single strand of pearls was a gift of the groom.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Gordon Kiekintveld, sister-in-law of the groom, wore a pink gown with sweetheart neckline, basque bodice and a peplum. She wore mitts and carried a bouquet of pink roses and pompons with a matching head wreath. Miss Bonna Klomprens as bridesmaid and Miss Gadya Kiekintveld, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid, wore similar gowns of blue and yellow, respectively. Their flowers were like those of the matron of honor. Nancy Waldyke, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a white gown with a train and veil and carrying a colonial bouquet of roses and pompons. Dickie Landman, another cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Gordon Kiekintveld was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert Weller and Alvin Vander Ploeg. David Diepenhorst, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles before the ceremony.

FERGUSON ON SOCIALIZED

MEDICINE
Senator Ferguson is against socialized medicine and he does not care who knows it. In a speech in his home state at a Rural Health conference he bitterly denounced the current proposal to make medicine a function of the federal government.

In general all evidence points to the fact that the government an expensive agency in its efforts to run business or professional life. Let any "service" fall into the hands of politicians and it instantly becomes a source of spoils for all sorts of people who rejoice at the chance to get to the pay roll trough. Invariably the "service" suffers.

Senator Ferguson believes that the American health "service" would deteriorate if the politicians got their clutches on this profession, and a very large number of doctors agree with him. On paper it looks fine—make benevolent Uncle Sam responsible for keeping the citizen in good health.
Practically, what such a system would be likely to do is keep an army of office holders in good health. Or at least so the junior senator from Michigan believes.

Leaving this much-discussed argument to one side, there are good reasons why socialized medicine would be more unpalatable to millions of people than some other socialized "services." There is hardly a citizen alive who does not prefer a particular doctor much in the way in which he looks upon the relationship between himself and his minister or priest. Many people would be highly reluctant to delegate to the government this free choice.

The advocates of socialized medicine recognize this human trait and on the surface they provide for freedom of choice, at least in most of the schemes. But almost invariably it is on the surface only. The result of such a system of socialized medicine as England has adopted, for instance, is inevitably a regimentation of doctors and a resulting regimentation of patients. It seems certain that the American people are too individualistic to support a system of medicine that would turn a Washington bureau into a kind of super-doctor.

It may be freely granted by some that the present system is far from perfect and that the American people deserve better health service. But the chances are that much more than Washington planning will be needed to convert them to socialized medicine.

A Library of Religious Literature
Psalm 119:97-105; Luke 1:1-4;
John 20:30-31

By Henry Geerlings

There exists among our young people of the present day a great deal of information and education along certain lines. Not that they are not well informed in many ways, nor that they are incapable of learning. But regarding the history of the Bible from its beginning to its present form, the information is neither as widespread nor as widely known as might be desired.

There is a special reason for studying Bible sources, and for using care in the study. The authenticity, the trustworthiness of the Bible—in truth the whole formation of our Christian faith—depends upon whether or not the copy of the Scriptures we now possess is identical in thought with the original.

The leaders of the church of tomorrow are the young people of today. We should make it a point to place the proper emphasis upon this first of the three vital things in church work—knowledge; and make that knowledge be of the kind that will be most valuable in leading the church in her progress in the years to come.

We must, before we can accept the Christian faith, put the Bible in position of transcendent importance in which it belongs because of its unique nature. We must recognize its unity, its integrity, its trustworthiness. We must learn that the inspiration and authenticity of the Old Testament matters much, because the New depends upon the Old. We must learn to discriminate between the true and the false in the reading or study of the works of presenday writers. For, painful as the fact may be, and disillusioning as well, all religious writers do not accept the Bible as the inspired revelation from God that we believe it to be. And one of the basic fundamentals of their attack on the Word is to try to show that it is historically or otherwise inaccurate and untrustworthy.

It should appear now very clearly that it is a tremendous benefit for the young people of our churches to be well informed and grounded in the facts concerning the beginnings of the Bible and its history up to the present time.
This is one of the most important things that could be considered as we try to learn more about how to build the kingdom of God on earth.

The Bible is unsurpassed as a reference book on spiritual matters. We know that the preacher takes his text from it. The Bible is a daily companion and guide.
If the book were given the place in the lives of the young people of the church that even the cheapest of magazines and papers occupy, there would be a transformation in the lives of many of us. Nothing in fiction, biography, poetry or any other type of writing is half as thrilling as the story of Jesus and His mission among mankind. Let us learn to know and love it. Let us read it with understanding, realizing that the stories of Christ and of His apostles are real stories of real men and real events.

If anything even remotely approaching the wondrous and miraculous character of the doings of Jesus should happen now, every newspaper in the country would give it the front page with big headlines.

If any one thinks that the Bible is out of date and not applicable or effective in our day, he is certainly mistaken. It meets the needs of the modern age. We need the Bible. The book is important to every individual. Christianity, to accomplish its purpose, must become a personal matter. At the very outset, faith must become personal. The lives we live after conversion we live to God personally, not through some one else. In the light of all these things, it is not astonishing that the Bible, from which we gain knowledge concerning salvation, should be made a personal guide, and that it should bring to each one of us a personal challenge to do greater service to the master.

There dwells in every one of us a longing, whether conscious or not, to know something of the supernatural. We want to have a fuller knowledge of the great Creator who has brought into being the vast universe. We strive to find the secrets of nature and of life. We ponder over the question of a life after death. The religious rites of the ignorant savage and the theological ponderings of the doctor of divinity alike point to this inner yearning for a fuller relationship with that which is greater than man. The Bible is the only adequate answer to these desires. Other writings have been produced in an effort to answer them, but they have failed to meet our needs. No writing but the Bible has the proven authority to back it. For another thing, no other writing is universal, no other writing is of mankind as is the Bible. The reason for these things is simple—there is but one Bible, and it is the Word of God.

Vriesland Man Fatally Injured In Auto Crash

Car Hurlled Into Ditch After Tire Blowout; Driver Also Hurt

Zeeland, Sept. 30 — Allyn Jay Van Zoeren, 23-year-old son of a Vriesland veterinarian, died at 2:30 a.m. Monday in Zeeland hospital of a skull fracture received in a car accident 31 hours earlier near Borculo.

Van Zoeren was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Willis, 26, which was hurled into a deep drainage ditch after the right front tire blew out. The accident occurred on 96th St. (Borculo road) about eight miles north of Zeeland. The ditch, 15 feet deep, had 21 feet of water.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Lampen said the blowout caused the car to hit the right side of the road, then skid sideways 123 feet to the ditch where it rolled over four or five times for 72 feet, finally halting with wheels up. Allyn was trapped under the car. A farmer held his head above water.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water said the brothers were taken to the hospital in Yntema's ambulance. He said Willis appeared more seriously hurt and was a stretcher case while Allyn sat in the front seat. He said Allyn provided information for records before lapsing into unconsciousness. Officers said the accident occurred at 11 p.m. The brothers were admitted to the hospital at 11:30 p.m. and the younger brother died at 2:30 a.m. The driver, who received head injuries was discharged at 4:30 a.m.

The Van Zoeren car, a '39 model, was demolished. It was taken to a garage at Borculo. Sheriff's officers were completing their investigation today.

The deceased is survived by the parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Van Zoeren of Vriesland, and a brother, Willis Alvin, at home.

Kiwanians Hear Fishery Expert

Claude Verduin of Grand Haven, executive secretary and field representative for Michigan Fish Producers association, spoke before the Holland Kiwanis club Monday night at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Verduin, who was introduced by the program chairman Dan Vander Werf, told about the commercial fishing industry and its importance in our economic structure.

The world catch of fish runs around 35 billion pounds a year with a value of approximately $75,000,000, Verduin said. Fishermen in the United States are the greatest producers of food with 220,000 fishermen employed in this country as well as 300,000 people working in allied industries.

In Michigan Verduin said the average annual production is 28 million pounds of fish. The production of lake trout is dropping drastically because of the menage in the Great Lakes region of the lamprey eel. Verduin stated that in the last three years the lake trout catches in Lake Michigan have dropped 55 per cent and it is no longer profitable for commercial fishermen to fish for this species. Verduin predicted in the very near future it may become necessary for the public to consume cheaper and less desirable types of fish.

Tony Last, president, conducted the meeting. William Vande Water was a guest.

One Arrest Made After Football Demonstration

Edward Shaw, 26, of Jackson, posted a $15 bond Saturday night with local police officers after he was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge at Riverview park. Since he failed to report for arraignment in Municipal Court on Monday, the bond was estreated. Shaw, a spectator, was arrested as the aftermath of a demonstration during the third quarter of the Holland Hurricanes-Jackson Lions football game Saturday. A near riot threatened as hundreds of fans converged on the playing field after a Hurricane player and a Jackson player engaged in what the football announcer described as "minor fist-cuffs." Referees ejected both players from the game.

Extra Point Tips Holland 13 to 12; 'Canes Swamped

Cougars Touchdown In Final Minutes Ties Thrilling Game

Holland high school outplayed Catholic Central for three and one-half quarters Saturday night but lost out in the final minutes of play when Bob Fitzgerald booted the deciding extra point to win for Catholic 13-12. An estimated crowd of 6,500 saw the game at South field in Grand Rapids.

With one and one-half minutes left in the game, the Dutchmen took the Cougar kickoff and advanced the ball to the Catholic 10-yard line on seven plays. The final play of the march, Kempker's 30-yard dash up the middle, was the last play of the game.

It was a story of Holland's superior line play for the entire game and the hard running of the local backs. However, a fourth down gamble by Catholic was good and the Cougars went on to win.

The game looked as though it was going to be a rout for the locals. They pushed across a touchdown just seven plays after taking the opening kickoff on their own 33-yard line. Appledorn first hit center but was stopped. Kempker then threw a pass to Van Wieren which was good to Catholic's 15. Appledorn, Wlodarczyk and Malchow ran the ball to the one-yard line on the next four plays. Kempker scored on a quarterback sneak. The try for extra point was wide of the uprights.

Holland scored again in the second quarter. The march started after Kempker returned a Catholic punt to Holland's 35-yard marker. With Appledorn, Tasma, Wlodarczyk, Malchow and Kempker carrying the ball, the locals advanced up four first downs and advanced the ball to Catholic's 22-yard line. Kempker then reared back and heaved to Van Wieren who took the ball on Catholic's 10-yard line and raced over for the second touchdown. Kempker's kick was again wide of the goal posts.

Catholic roared back after taking the kickoff on their own 17-yard line. The Cougars put together five first downs with Gerke, Kozminski, and Fitzgerald carrying the ball. After the series, the pigskin rested on Holland's seven yard line with one minute and 15 seconds left in the first half. Four plays later, Gerke scored from the one yard line and Fitzgerald's try for extra point was wide. The half ended one play after the kickoff with Holland leading 12-6.

In the fourth period Catholic took the ball on their own 42-yard line. Two passes and two running plays put the ball on Holland's 36-yard line. On the next play, Schmidt was spilled for a six-yard loss. Koelzer was tagged for another four yard loss.

With fourth down and 22 yards to go, the Cougars gambled on making a first down. There were only four minutes left in the game. Schmidt heaved to Gerke who was downed on Holland's 20-yard line. Schmidt connected to Jacobitz on Holland's eight-yard line. With three minutes left, Gerke hit center and was stopped. Then Koelzer took the ball off the "T" and faded. He whipped a flat pass to Jacobitz who scampered the remaining four yards to score the tying touchdown. The rest you know.

Jackson Capitalizes On Three Misplays To Score 20 Points

An opportunist Jackson Lion eleven spoiled the Holland Hurricanes' home opener at Riverview Park Saturday night when it downed the Hollanders 20-0. Jackson capitalized on three Holland misplays to score three touchdowns in the second half. The defeat was Holland's first in the MIFL, while Jackson's record now stands at two wins and no losses.

The Lions' first score came early in the third period when they recovered a Hurricane fumble on the Holland two-yard stripe. Elwin Rider, fleetfooted Jackson back, ran off tackle for the touchdown on the first play. Brien Charter's conversion attempt was good, making the score 7-0.

Jackson's second marker came on the last play of the third quarter on another "break" in the contest. This time it was Norm Rider, who did the damage. After Jackson had "knocked" unsuccessfully at the Holland goal line, J. Colegrove, Holland half-back, attempted to complete a pass to the 35 yard stripe. Rider raced in, snagged the pass, and sped unmolested for another Lions' score. Charter's try from placement was wide, leaving the score 13-0.

Another local misplay "set up" the final Jackson score early in the fourth period. Bob Wyngarden took the Jackson kickoff to start the fourth quarter and fumbled on his own 32 yard marker, with Jackson recovering. On the first play from scrimmage, Elwin Rider skirted the end for 12 yards. Then after no gain on the next play, Rider moved the ball to the Holland seven on two end runs. After a two yard gain on the next play, Ted Gosciewski plunged through tackle for the score. Charter's kick for extra point was good, making the score 20-0. The remaining minutes of the quarter found Holland trying desperately to score with no success.

The second half was a great climax to a deadlocked first half, which found both squads battling on even terms. Jackson, with the aid of the speedy Mr. Rider had little difficulty gaining ground from the 30 yard line to the 30 yard line, but couldn't penetrate the stubborn Holland line for the remaining distance. On only one occasion was Holland within the Lions' 20 yard stripe. This occurred when Holland recovered a Jackson fumble on the first play from scrimmage on the 17 yard line. After two short Holland gains, Jackson halted the drive by intercepting a local pass.

Holland's defense functioned well in the first half, but couldn't stop the wide end sweeps by Rider which accounted for several long gains throughout the tilt. Stan McClure, Jason De Vries and Jim Schurman stood out in the Holland line. The local backfield looked good on occasions, even though they were unable to score.

A near capacity crowd watched the Hurricane Clinton raiser. They will meet Flint Falcons in a league game here next Friday night.

More Attend Allegan Fair But Spend Less

Allegan, Sept. 30 — Sales tax officials revealed this week that gross business done by concessionaires at Allegan county fair was down more than 20 per cent from last year.

Leo Weipert, collector for the state department of revenue, said other area fairs had reported even greater decreases in gross business. At Hastings the cut was some 35 per cent.

This decrease occurred despite record breaking attendances which boosted the week's total to $60,000. For the first time, standing room was sold Saturday night for the final grandstand revue. In addition, fair officials hurriedly set up planks on the race track beside the new 500-seat section.

Attendees at the gate said a steady line of automobiles poured into the grounds from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday. At times, the ingoing line was several blocks long.

In spite of two soaking rains Wednesday and Saturday, the grandstand show never lost a performance. Races were only slightly delayed.

U.S. Industries Advised to Expand To Small Towns

Factories Must Move To Open Spaces to Avoid Atomic Dangers

From Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (Special)—Central and Western Michigan stand to gain new industry if American manufacturers take the advice of a recent report of the National Securities Resources board calling for a decentralization of industry in this atomic age.

"There is no known military defense against the atomic bomb itself except space," the board stated. "It can be seen how location of industry assumes major proportions strategically."

Industrial plants must be relocated—preferably in small towns and in areas having little other industrialization—for the protection of both the industries and of the nation, the report warns.

Another, and far more destructive, "Pearl Harbor" is a danger America will continue to risk as long as most of her manufacturing wealth and strength is huddled into congested metropolitan areas.

Since it is impractical for large industries to pick up and move after reading the board's report, the board suggested that companies planning to enlarge their existing facilities or build new plants should do so away from areas which are now industrialized.

"EFFORTS SHOULD be directed to development of a progressive dispersion plan built around normal expansion and obsolescence factors," the board said, "making any solution to the problem economically feasible."

The board handed American industrialists some yardsticks with which to measure the vulnerability of their facilities in atomic warfare:

1. Draw a three-mile radius circle about the periphery of your present facilities. In the light of possible enemy objectives, list everything within this circle which you believe would be of interest to the strategic planner of a potential enemy.

2. Think in terms of both peacetime and wartime conditions to determine whether your facilities might be or become a major military objective. (A large aircraft plant, a shipyard, a large aluminum plant, each obviously could well become important to an enemy. Certain basic material plants and many component plants also would be included.)

3. The size of your facilities and others within the area concerned should not be the sole influence in your decision. A small instrument plant, for instance, might be highly critical and the objective of much attention from the strategic planner.

4. The real determining factors are the actual use our military forces will make of the items produced and the amounts of such items which are available in the proper places at a given time, as compared with the actual requirements and possibilities from employing substitutes.

5. Even if your facilities alone would not be classed as a primary objective, the existence of any other facilities within this three-mile radius, which could be so classified, is as much a matter of your concern as if your facilities were directly involved.

"WHILE, OF COURSE," the board commented, "no attempt is likely to be made to knock out single plants with atomic bombs, conventional bombing techniques have improved to a point where such destruction is easily possible."

The board said it plans to issue additional reports in the future which will be directed toward specific branches of industry and specific urban concentration.

There has been a trend toward this recommended decentralization of American industry since 1940.

A recent study of industry by the National Industrial Conference board, showed "There is a trend toward locating manufacturing plants in smaller cities and towns. Cities and towns with 10,000 to 100,000 population are reported to be the most popular places for plants established from 1940 to 1947. Only one-third of the plants built or acquired since 1940 are in cities of 100,000 or over.

For plants established prior to 1940, close to half were in cities of that size. On the other hand, almost 30 per cent of the plants established since 1940 are in towns of 10,000 or less, against only 20 per cent of the plants built before 1940."

THE MOST conspicuous example of industry relocating recently is found when Chance-Vought Aircraft company moved its facilities from Stratford, Conn., to Dallas, Texas "in the interests of national defense."

The board pointed out that studies made to date indicate that areas of industry concentration less than five square miles, or urban concentrations of less than 50,000 people, separated by about 10 miles of relatively open country will be reasonably secure from atomic bomb attack "under all circumstances expected to prevail."

Topography plays its part, too. Deaths at Nagasaki, despite its greater population density, were only one-half those at Hiroshima. Ridges of hills separated areas of Nagasaki into dispersed built-up pockets, whereas Hiroshima was relatively flat and uniformly concentrated.

Mrs. Edwin J. Nieuwma

Beverly Jean Wentzel Wed to Edwin Nieuwma

Miss Beverly Jean Wentzel and Edwin J. Nieuwma spoke their marriage vows Friday night in Central Park Reformed church. The Rev. H. Rosenberg read the double ring service at 7 p.m. before a setting of palms, ferns, white gladioli and candelabra. Gladioli and evergreen marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. L. Peterson, 81 West Ninth St., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Nieuwma of Central Park.

Mrs. T. Frederick Coleman, organist, played the traditional wedding music, and the soloist, Mrs. Blaine Timmer, cousin of the groom, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was lovely in a period gown of imported ivory satin which featured a net yoke, off-the-shoulder shirred flounce edged with net, fitted bodice and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. The full skirt, drawn up in scallops to reveal a French illusion lace covered hood, ended in a long circular train. Her French illusion fingertip veil was held in place with a heart shaped cap covered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pompons and gardenias caught up with satin ribbon entwined with ivy.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Nieuwma, wore a blue taffeta gown fashioned like the bride's with capped sleeves. Miss Patricia Vander Bie, bridesmaid, wore an identical gown of dusty rose taffeta. They were matching mitts and net hats. Miss Nieuwma carried a colonial bouquet of pink flowers and Miss Vander Bie carried a blue colonial bouquet.

Dick Nieuwma, Jr., assisted his brother as best man. Seating the guests were Lee Helmink and Robert Van Dyke.

A reception for 80 guests was held in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. George Heneveld, Jr., were master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Nelis Bade and Mrs. Lee Helmink were in charge of the gift room and Miss Linda Covert and Irene Vander Woude presided at the punch bowl.

Out-of-town guests were present from Detroit, Grant, Jackson, Chicago and Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Nieuwma was graduated from Holland high school and from the Blodgett School of Nursing, Grand Rapids, on Sept. 16. Mr. Nieuwma also is a Holland high school graduate, was graduated from Hope college and is attending Loyola Dental Institute in Chicago.

The bride's going away ensemble was a forest green suit with brown accessories. She wore a corsage of gardenias and a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

After a northern wedding trip the couple will live at 2741 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago.

Small amounts of fluorine in drinking water are believed to prevent tooth decay, although too large amounts cause tooth damage.

The Nagasaki bomb dissipated much of its energy against hills and unoccupied areas, while the Hiroshima bomb achieved its most devastating effect. Industry fared better in Hiroshima. All major factories were reasonably well dispersed and escaped serious damage. At Nagasaki, plants and dockyards at the southern end of the city were left intact, but those concentrated in the valley where the bomb exploded were almost completely destroyed.

The proposal that American industry go underground for the maximum protection is not viewed seriously by the National Securities Resources Board at this time—it's too expensive.

"Resort to this will probably be economically justifiable only in connection with such highly strategic facilities determined by the Armed Forces," the board said.

Christian Society Approves Buying Of School Site

Board Also Authorized To Hand Street Issue To Holland Aldermen

Adoption of three proposals by an expansion-minded Christian school society headlined activity at the annual meeting in the Christian high gym Monday night. A large group turned out to approve board recommendations on the proposed erection of a West Side school and an appeal of 20th St. closing to Common Council for a possible popular vote.

First of all, the group okayed the proposal that "the board be authorized to purchase 14 lots, now owned by Crampton Manufacturing Co., located between Cleveland and Ottawa avenues and 19th and 20th streets, provided, however that the original site, previously purchased be offered for sale". The society, about a year ago, purchased seven lots in the same locality. The group now deems it advisable to dispose of these and buy the Crampton property, thus gaining more space for the proposed West Side grade school.

Members of the planning committee and Dr. Bert P. Bos stressed the need of more ground for building purposes. "It is true we must think of the future, but we cannot afford to wait that long, because our enrollment problem in the elementary grades is already upon us," Bos told the society. The erection of a West Side grade school would mark completion of a three point school expansion program, recently adopted by the group.

In approving a related proposal, the society authorized the board to secure preliminary plans and specifications for the construction of the proposed grade school building. These specifications would then be submitted to the society for final approval before construction. Although no definite date has been set for the opening of the West Side school, the planning committee expressed the hope that it would be in operation by the school year, 1950-51. It is expected that the new building would be similar to the South Side school now nearing completion.

On a third proposal, the group unanimously endorsed the action of the board in which "they have requested the Common Council of the city of Holland to place before its electorate, either at a regular or special election, the question of vacating 20th St., between Michigan Ave. and State St." A Board spokesman briefly outlined the course of action taken so far by the board of trustees in an effort to obtain closing of the street for high school expansion purposes, and to insure the traffic safety of its students.

In other action, four new board members were elected. They are: the Rev. Oliver Breten, Dr. Enno Wolhuis, Richard Plagemars and Gerald J. Van Wyke. Other nominees were Arnold Branderhorst, Harold Vander Bie, Gerald Vande Vusse and Edward Van't Slot.

Supt. Bos also submitted his annual report to the group. In it, he outlined enrollment gains made in the last few years, and briefly outlined the problems it raised. He also honored James Hietbrink, Christian high faculty member, who has completed 40 years of teaching, 23 in the local school.

The Rev. L. F. Voskuil, president of the Board presided.

Here's One—Barber Gets a Close Shave

Rufus Cramer, the barber, had a close shave at midnight Monday. A stake truck loaded with five tons of pants hangers, tipped over on the curve near his house on US-31 at the Butternut Dr. intersection. The truck landed on its side a few feet from Cramer's house.

Driver of the truck, Verno Balden Kuerth of Honor, said something went wrong with the right front steering apparatus on the truck and he hit the loose ground next to the highway and tipped over. A wrecker righted the truck and Kuerth continued on his way after reloading.

The five-ton load of pants hangers were spilled out on the ground. Two Sheriff's officers, Cramer, and other persons attracted to the scene, helped reload the truck and finish the job at 2 a.m.

Meet the champion of the 1948 Allegan fair. He was only a baby last year when a 4-H club youth snared him in a calf scramble at the fair. The youth fed him, groomed him and bled him throughout the year. He strutted before the judges at this year's fair and won the grand champion prize. Then they offered him for sale, at 60 cents per pound. Along with the reserve champion and six other top cattle, he was sold to a Fennville merchant. The eight winners totaled 7,000 pounds. (Penna-Sas photo)

4-H Youths Raise Cattle To Allegan Fair Winners

From stock to steak. That's the story of a prize steer, who won his championship at the Allegan fair.

The grand champion, reserve champion and six other top prize winners were killed at Elmer Nienhuis' slaughter house near Holland this week.

They were 15 and 16-month old calves at the 1947 Allegan fair. 4-H club boys caught them in the calf scramble and were given one year to fatten and "pretty up" the animals. They were judged on their work at this year's fair.

Purpose of the procedure is to teach 4-H club youths how to raise good cattle. The grand champion this year was a 990-pounder. He was judged best on looks, quality and beauty, Russell Culver, address not given, raised the prize winner.

The reserve champion weighed 1,140 pounds and was raised by Clarence Koopman of Overisel. James Van Hartsvelde's bid of 60 cents per pound was high for the grand champion. Van Hartsvelde of Fennville, was also high bidder on the other top winners. The mass poundage of the eight cattle was 7,000 pounds.

Going from stock to steak, the cattle were inspected through the entire procedure to make sure they were disease free. Dr. Robert Arms, Holland veterinarian and meat inspector for the City of Grand Rapids health department, conducts the inspections at the Nienhuis slaughter house.

Dr. Arms looks over the cattle before they are killed to make certain there are no apparent diseases. After the slaughtering procedure begins, Dr. Arms inspects various organs to check for such diseases as hookworm, liver flukes, tuberculosis and any glandular trouble.

If any cow is found diseased, the meat is condemned.

The eight cattle were slaughtered and hung in a cooling room. The Nienhuis house kills 20 cattle an afternoon.

After the two sides are sliced by an electric saw and cleaned, Dr. Arms gives his final inspection and stamps all approved halves. The huge sides of meat are then run into a cooling room where they remain for 24 hours.

At the end of 24 hours, the cattle are moved to a freezing locker for at least 10 days.

Running a County Costs A Bit More These Days

It costs more to operate county government these days. It's probably just a reflection of the high cost of living, but the per capita cost for operating government in Ottawa county in 1947 was $1.05 more than in 1946.

A detailed financial report of Michigan county government, issued by Auditor General Muri K. Aten, reveals that the total cost of Ottawa county government functions in 1947 was $13.32 per capita, or $1.05 more than the 1946 cost of $12.27. These figures are based on a 1940 population of 59,660.

Financial reports of all departments in the 85 counties of Michigan are included in a 35-page booklet compiled by the auditor general's office.

County operating expenses in Wayne county, largest in Michigan with a population of 2,015,623 totaled $17.38, an increase of $1.35 over 1946. Costs in Genesee county, second largest were $10.09, an increase of 23 cents. Allegan county's per capita costs were $19.85, an increase of $3.53. Hillsdale county's costs were $20.88, an increase of 33 cents. Highest per capita costs were in Crawford county which listed $55.58, an increase of $23.59.

During the year in question, Ottawa county received $28,666.56 in fees, licenses and permits; $7,335.70 in court costs and fines; $238,596.08 in taxes; $10,155.80 in general refunds and reimbursements; $16,625.49 in welfare and medical assistance; $414,025.67 in highway state aid; $33,932.50 in welfare and medical assistance (state); $43,460 in miscellaneous county revenue; total, $792,798.19.

State aid to Ottawa county amounted to $447,958.17 or $56.50 per cent of the total government revenue of $792,798.19.

Another table reveals Ottawa county had $195,142 in U. S. securities at the end of 1947 and $5,000 in other investments.

Fire Threatens Farms More Than City Areas

Rural Residents Are Urged to Observe Fire Prevention Week

Rural residents of this area are being urged to observe Fire Prevention week proclaimed for Oct. 3-9.

The United States' record fire loss of $700,000,000 in 1947, the highest in history, was equal to the yearly earnings of all the farmers in Michigan. This shows the terrible toll taken each year by uncontrolled fire.

Sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the National Fire Protection association, the week is observed to help farmers learn to recognize fire hazards and to eliminate them.

Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, points out that statistics show that 90 per cent of all fires can be prevented. Fire always threatens rural residents more than city people. Census figures show that about one-fifth of the people in the United States live on farms while fire records show that one-third of the persons who are killed by fire are farm residents. In 1947, fires caused about 11,300 deaths, 3,500 of them on farms.

Fire hazards are more numerous on farms because farmers keep large stocks of gasoline and kerosene on hand, because farms are in greater danger from lightning, and because farmers use large quantities of combustible materials such as hay, rags, and feed bags. Other hazards are the lamps and lanterns used on farms and the problem of curing hay properly and keeping it dry to prevent spontaneous ignition.

A campaign on each farm to eliminate fire hazards will help to cut the toll of fires on Michigan farms.

Tomatoes Can Be Ripened Late

If you still have green tomatoes left on the vines in your garden, Jack Rose, Michigan State college home gardening specialist, has some tips that will enable you to have fresh tomatoes for Thanksgiving.

If the vines are in good condition, and you have plenty of storage room, the vine with the fruit attached can be pulled and hung in the basement or other protected place. If they are not allowed to freeze, the fruit will continue to ripen.

Another method is to pick the green tomatoes and save only those which are not diseased or injured in any way. Select fruit that has begun to take on a light green, almost cream color. Fruit that is too dark green is too immature to ripen. Badly cracked or bruised fruit will rot before it ripens. Six or eight of the chosen fruit should be placed in a paper bag. Prepare as many bags as necessary. Close them, and hang them by a string or set them on a shelf in the basement. At 55 degrees Fahrenheit they will ripen slowly and as the temperature is increased to about 75 degrees, speed of ripening is increased.

The specialist points out as another method that some straw can be scattered on the basement floor, if it is dry, and the fruit laid out on the straw to ripen. Light is not necessary to ripen the tomatoes.

Safety Council Gives Rules for Corn Picker

Mechanical corn picking has ended the back-breaking and time consuming farm job of hand harvesting, but even the skill of the mechanical picker requires precautions, points out L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent.

Here are three rules from the National Safety council that will check these unnecessary mishaps.

1. Stop the picker—the corn picker has hazardous mechanisms exposed to do the job for which it is designed. Power must be turned off before clearing the machine. Also, remember to shut off the power before lubricating or adjusting any part of the machine.
2. Keep guards in place. Manufacturers furnish convenient shields for power take-offs and other exposed hazards that can be guarded.
3. Watch out for fire—practice good housekeeping around your equipment. Keep manifolds and exhausts free from trash accumulations, avoid leaky fuel lines, and never refuel a tractor with the motor running.

CLEANLINESS KILLS

Poultry disease and parasite control can be simplified by cleaning the laying house before pullets are housed there.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
Nationwide Fire Prevention week is Oct. 3 to 9. Removal of fire hazards pays dividends.

Here are the eight prize-winning steers of the 1948 Allegan fair as they were herded together at Elmer Nienhuis' slaughter house last week. The bulky winners were caught one year ago in the calf scramble at the fair and fattened up by 4-H youths. They were judged this year and the winners named. The eight cattle were sold to a Fennville merchant and totaled 7,000 pounds. The grand champion weighed 990 pounds. They were judged for beauty, weight and quality. Highest bid for the champion was 60 cents per pound.

Survey Includes Ottawa County

Ottawa county is among 11 counties in Michigan which are to be included in a national survey conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture. The present survey is designed to measure important changes that are taking place on farms throughout United States as indicated from about 100,000 farms in 400 counties.

The work in Ottawa county is beginning today and C. L. McNitt of route 2, Conklin, who is well known in this section, has been selected to interview farmers in the communities to be visited in Ottawa county. The information obtained will be treated confidentially and will be used only in combination with that from other states. The final results will be used by government officials, State colleges and agricultural agencies interested in the development of plans and programs for the benefit of farm people.

The survey will obtain information on farm employments, including both family and hired workers and accidents to people living or working on farms. The Department of Agriculture is the Federal agency responsible for information on farm employments and wage rates of farm workers. Wages of farm labor are an important element in production costs. A great deal is heard these days about increased costs of production but very little about increased expenses that farmers have in production crop and livestock products.

The need for accurate and up-to-the-minute data about farm accidents and other farming conditions cannot be over-emphasized. If farmers co-operate in giving the needed information intelligent programs on their behalf can be formulated.

Don't Neglect Noon Luncheon

With the children off to school and no lunch to prepare for them, home makers are likely to get busy with household tasks and decide that lunch is just a bother anyway.

It may be that the tired feeling you notice in the afternoons is the result of that cup of coffee or tea that you called lunch advises Mary E. Bullis, home extension agent.

Many home makers in extension classes, throughout Michigan have discovered that a "snack counter" in the kitchen is a good substitute for that hasty coffee and doughnut. Also is offers less calories than the doughnuts and cookies.

A favorite "lone" luncheon is hot, well-seasoned tomato juice with a cheese sandwich on whole wheat bread and a wedge of cabbage eaten out-of-hand. Very often it is eaten on a tray by the radio. If you make sure you include protein foods—meat, milk, cheese, eggs or fish—as well as fruit, raw vegetable or tomato, you can probably avoid that mid-afternoon tired feeling.

RATS DESTRUCTFUL

On one poultry farm rats have been known to kill 1,500 baby chicks in one night, and to carry off 80 dozen eggs in a week.

Chewing gum was introduced to the U. S. in about 1855.

Arnold Says Demand for Cones Filled at MSC

L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, wishes to inform those who may have intended to harvest conifer cones, that the demand for such has been filled at Michigan State college. Recent news articles stated that purchases would be made at a rather high price.

Anyone having a supply of cones might well contact the department of conservation, Lansing.

Train Five Year Olds for College

Whether your child is five or 15, you fathers and mothers are now preparing him for college and the responsibilities of adulthood.

Your five-year-old may seem a long way from college, but Ruth Highbarger, instructor in child development at Michigan State college, reminds that he is not too young to be taught independence. There's the matter of choosing friends. Parents always fear that friendship with an undesirable child will have a lasting effect. But your child was pretty much yours for those first five years and has copied behavior patterns that will always be the strongest influence in his life. He needs to know a great variety of people so that he will be able to choose friends and later a wife or husband when he is older.

Experience in handling money is important preparation for college. Children can't be expected to understand the value of money if they are given some every time they ask for it. If they are given a very small amount every week when they start to school and this is gradually increased, they will make a good beginning. They will make mistakes—but they'll make them while they're young. As children grow older allowances can be increased to include certain items of clothing. High school boys and girls need jobs independent of the family to develop a feeling of responsibility and independence.

It is likely that you and your adolescent child will have conflicts over choices of friends, places of entertainment and time for getting home. It may be impossible to avoid it—but you can keep it at a minimum by showing affectionate interest and dictating only when necessary. You will frequently have to sit back and hope that the good judgment you have established in their childhood will carry the adolescents past their problems safely.

Directors Will Gather Cones as Seed Source

Directors of the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district hope to gather cones this year as a source of seed for the district nursery in 1949. Cost of seed has been high in past years. Directors hope to locate a good source for gathering of cones, then harvest these and thresh out the seed.

Tree stock in the district nursery has been low for several years. Directors hope to be able to meet demands from 1950 on. Over 3,000,000 seedlings are growing in the 1948 planted beds. Some may be released in the fall of 1949. Many pounds of Scotch pine were seeded as the demand for this species has been great.

The office of state attorney general is an elective one in all but seven states.

Schedule Potato Grading Sessions

Potato graders, loaders, and dealers will have an opportunity to see demonstrations of potato grades and standards in a series of meetings announced by C. L. Nash, extension specialist in farm marketing at Michigan State college.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint those concerned with potato marketing with grading procedures and standards before the heavy shipping season begins.

Annual demonstration meetings were suggested by the governor's potato study committee in 1947. A series of twelve schools last year drew a good attendance. Great interest in uniform grades and standards for Michigan potatoes was shown at the State Fair this year in exhibits which stressed quality.

Demonstrations will be conducted by Earl L. Biddick, federal supervisor for the fruit and vegetable inspection service of the state department of agriculture which is cooperating in the demonstrations. Those attending will see potatoes graded and hear an explanation of why potatoes fail in different grades.

All members begin at 8 p.m. and are scheduled for the following places: October 5, Oakland county; Jack Williams farm, five miles west and one mile south of Oxford; October 6, Jackson, county center building recreation center. Meetings are also scheduled for Boyne City on October 11, Posen on October 12 and Stanton on October 14. A series of meetings in the Upper Peninsula will be held in November.

Seek to Apply Portion of Sporting Tax to Education

Lansing—Conservation department educational representatives of 21 states meeting in Ohio last week-end voted to seek an amendment to the federal Pittman-Robinson act which would apply a portion of the funds raised by a tax on sporting arms and ammunition to education purposes.

Michigan's share of the funds for the current year is $549,031, highest on record. The funds are prorated among the states for wildlife restoration.

Richard C. Gearhart, assistant chief of the Michigan department of education division, was elected vice-president of the National Association of Conservation Education and Publicity. James L. Bailey of the Tennessee department is the new president. The 1949 meeting will be held in Mississippi.

Bean Price Supports Will Help Farmers

Michigan bean farmers will find it to their advantage to investigate the government's price support plans, advises A. B. Love, Michigan State college agricultural economist.

A number of factors have contributed this year to lower the prices farmers receive for their beans. Harvest is earlier than usual and occurring at a time when the canning companies, which normally buy about half of the bean crop, are still engaged in canning fresh vegetables. Army and export needs are reduced. For the first time in many years the major share of the market for the Michigan beans will be through the grocery stores, both as dry and canned beans.

Bean prices, because of readjustments in the market, are lower than last year. The farm paying price has fallen from $13 per hundred weight in February to approximately $6.75 now. The government support prices, which were enacted during the war were unnecessary last year. However, the current price of beans brings this support operation into effect now on this year's crop of beans.

Administration of the price supports is handled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, through the Production and Marketing Administration and the county AAA committees. Supports cover all varieties of beans.

Love points out that farmers can find out the current support price by going to their county AAA committee office. Two plans are available. First, the government will promise to buy beans next May with a purchase agreement. Or, if the farmer is in need of cash at marketing time, he can request what is termed an advance on the support price. Complete details of support prices can be secured at county AAA offices.

Moss Indicates Lack of Fertility

If you've been casting a fretful look over moss growing in your lawn, C. E. Millar, head of the soils department at Michigan State college, has some advice for you.

Some people believe that moss in lawns indicates the soil is acid. But Millar says this is not necessarily true. Moss can grow on soils where there is abundant lime, too. It will come in shady places or in places where there is plenty of sun.

The soil scientist says that the presence of moss generally indicates that the stand of grass is not thick enough. Moss is a good indication of a lack of fertility in the lawn soil.

If a lawn is infested with moss, now is a good time to loosen or remove the moss by raking. Before raking, a good application of complete commercial fertilizer would be advisable. Ten pounds of 10-6-4 per 1,000 square feet of lawn area is suggested. This fertilizer will become mixed with the soil as the moss is raked out. After the raking, the lawn should be reseeded with suitable seed. The lawn should be watered thoroughly after the raking and seed should be kept watered regularly during the early fall.

These measures will strengthen the grass already present and result in a renewed growth. By spring a good turf should be established. With proper fertilization and watering, the lawn can be maintained with little trouble from moss.

First of Hope College Programs Scheduled

Appearance of the American Male chorus, 24 singing veterans who have been acclaimed on two continents, Tuesday morning at 11:10 in Hope Memorial chapel, will mark the first in a series of special programs arranged by the college for students and public.

This unique group, representing almost all branches of the armed forces, was founded by its present conductor, Lewis Bullock, while an officer in the 86th or Blackhawk division. Organized in 1945 in Manila, over 300,000 servicemen in the Orient heard their stirring music before the group was returned to the United States in the fall of 1946 for a tour of Army hospitals. They are now on a goodwill tour, including 85 cities of the United States, which will be climaxed by a concert in Carnegie hall, New York.

Among other attractions this fall at Hope college will be Louise Leonard Wright, director of the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations; Dr. Kenneth Walker, world traveler, writer, physician and one-time prisoner of war; Hedley Hopworth, celebrated English platform actor in a portrayal of Dickens' characters; Robert Kazmeyer, popular news analyst; Camp and Nowak, cello and piano team; and the University of Michigan Symphony orchestra. Local school programs also are scheduled.

Interested people of the city are invited to these events.
