Natural Gas Due In Holland Area Early Next Year

Gas Line From Texas Will Be Tapped Here From Near Hamilton

Natural gas will be available to the Holland area in early 1950, according to Charles Madison, local manager of the Michigan Gas and Electric company.

Madison made the conclusive announcement this morning through the Chamber of Commerce and Common Council, who have been co-operating to get federal power commission approval.

Company engineers are surveying local mains with a view of making the changeover without inconvenience to consumers, Madison said.

He assured chamber officials that gas will be available for commercial and residential users. Gas for home heating, however, won't be ready until the fall of 1950, he said.

Gas into Holland will be piped from Texas by the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co. In a matter of days, the main line from the Texas field will be completed in the Big Rapids area. Holland will be tapped in 12-miles south of the city, near Hamilton.

According to present plans, a survey of gas-using equipment will begin in the Holland area Nov. 1, Madison said. It is aimed at finding out what materials will be needed for reconversion.

Any additional mains or repairing that is necessary will be completed before the changeover.

After a conference last May 18, chamber and city officials appealed to the power commission to okay the application for natural gas in Holland. The bid was made by Michigan Gas and Electric company. After the initial boost from local company officials and chamber and city officials, approval was granted.

Madison explained the piping of natural gas to the area will not affect employment roles at the local plant. It is possible, he said, that additional staff members will be needed later.

Homecoming Fete Slated at Zeeland

Zeeland, Oct. 6 (Special)—Coach Joe Newell's Zeeland high Chix will have an added incentive to win their game this week besides trying to keep an undefeated season intact.

It's homecoming week-end at Zeeland.

Highlighting the week-end will be the Zeeland-Coopersville football game Friday night at Zeeland athletic field.

The student body elected Esther Van Den Heuvel to reign as queen over homecoming festivities. She will be crowned before the game.

Queen Esther has been active throughout her high school career. She was freshman class president and a member of the student council and athletic sisters in other years.

Her court includes Eleanor De Kleine, Patricia Veneklasen, Joliet Silvernale and Arlene Bussis. A snake dance, led by the high school band, and a pep rally on the school grounds kicks off homecoming festivities Thursday night.

Ken De Jonge will lead the pep rally.

An all-time Zeeland high football team will be introduced to fans at half-time of Friday's game. After the game there will be a coffee kletz for the old grads in the high school.

Newell is getting his team to shy away from all the excitement of homecoming and concentrating on the big game. He put his squad through a rough drill Tuesday and promises another dose this afternoon.

The Chix were jolted this week when an old head injury came back and forced Jack Miller out for the rest of the season.

The Chix are brushing up on their loose pass defense and blocking.

Coopersville is expected to bounce back this week from a 12-0 drubbing from last week-end.

The visitors come to Zeeland with a record of a 6-0 win over Marne and that loss to Hudsonville.

Following a joint investigation by Reynolds and E. J. Friar, department of agriculture, a complaint was signed against Thomas O'Hara, Sr., owner of the plant. Pleading guilty in Judge Ervin Andrews' municipal court, O'Hara paid $25 fine and costs.

Driver Demands Exams On Homicide Charge

Grand Haven, Oct. 6 (Special)—Carl Holmes, 55, of 1600 Bridge St., Grand Rapids, demanded examination on a negligent homicide charge when arraigned before Justice Howard W. Erwin at Coopersville Monday afternoon. Examination has been set for Thursday at 2 p.m., at the court house in Grand Haven.

The charge arises out of a fatal accident Sept. 25 involving cars driven by Holmes and Benjamin Hoffman, 73, at the intersection of county roads 653 and 452 a mile south of Jamestown.

Mrs. Jane Hoffman, 71, Grand Rapids, wife of Benjamin Hoffman, was killed and eight persons injured.

Man Found Dead Near Power Plant Tuesday Evening

The body of a man found late Tuesday evening near the Fifth St. power station was identified positively Wednesday as Adam Rybicki, 53, of South Bend, Ind.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water attributed death to exposure and believes the man took a whiff of ether, went to sleep or passed out, and died. Indications were that death came sometime Monday night, Vande Water said. The body was reported to police Tuesday evening. An uncorked bottle of ether was found about a foot away.

John Moll of 52 East Sixth St., was running his dogs in the swamp Tuesday morning just west of the old power plant and stumbled on the body. Moll thought the man was sleeping.

However, he returned Tuesday evening, saw the body, and called police.

The body was identified by a social security card, issued in Detroit, that was found in a pocket.

Rockford state police located relatives of the dead man within an hour. The family called Vande Water at 2 a.m. this morning. He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Laura Davison, Mrs. Eleanor Szafrak, Mrs. Carrie Johnson and Mrs. Marian Miller, all of South Bend, and his 91-year-old father, Andrew.

The family will come to Holland Thursday for funeral services at the Dykstra funeral chapel at 2 p.m. Burial, under the auspices of the American Legion, will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery, in the World War I plot.

His family reports they haven't seen him in 10 years.

The Rev. George Trotter of City Mission, will officiate at funeral services.

Car Somersaults After Driver Loses Control

Hubert Jaradosky, 31, of 56 West 13th St., escaped serious injuries early today when he lost control of his car on US-31 about 2 1/2 miles south of Holland. The car crossed the road, skidded along the shoulder to a culvert, then turned a complete somersault and finally came to rest against a tree. A large branch 10 feet from the ground was knocked off.

Jaradosky told Allegan Deputy Earle Tellman that the steering apparatus of his '37 model car failed, causing him to lose control. The car was virtually demolished. Jaradosky received a bump on the head and a shoulder injury. He went to Holland hospital for a checkup.

Governor Coming Here Next Week

Governor G. Mennen Williams will be in Holland Wednesday, Oct. 12, to participate in events being arranged in honor of Dr. Elco N. van Kleffens, Netherlands ambassador to the United States, it was announced today by Willard C. Wichers, director of the Netherlands Information Bureau.

Plans call for Gov. Williams to attend a dinner in the Ambassador's honor and to participate in a special Hope college convocation at which Dr. van Kleffens will be presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree. At the convocation Gov. Williams will convey to Ambassador van Kleffens official greetings of the State of Michigan.

Gov. Williams is expected to arrive in Holland during the afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Williams. His party will include Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Brooks of Holland. Brooks is the commissioner of corrections for the State of Michigan.

The Youth for Christ band of Holland under the direction of Roland Van Dyke will play at a 3 p.m. musical Sunday at Grace Temple church, Allegan. Miss Eleanor Klunge of Holland will be soloist. The church choir will sing and Casey Vander Jackt, evangelist, will speak.

Karsten Elected Head of Zeeland Chamber for Year

Amendment Approved That Alters Make-up Of Executive Group

Zeeland, Oct. 6 (Spec.)—Cornelius Karsten was elected president of the Zeeland Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Tuesday evening in Bosch's restaurant.

Karsten succeeds George Van Eenennaam, who was elected to the board of directors.

Clarence Yntema was elected vice president and William Baron was voted treasurer. Clinton Bennett was the other member named to the board of directors.

Two amendments proposed by the chamber board won unanimous approval.

The first changes the make-up of the executive committee to include two city officials, to be appointed by the mayor. Five other members of the seven-member executive committee will be elected by the chamber board, according to the new amendment.

The other new amendment approved vests power of appointing a chamber secretary-manager in the executive committee. The chamber board formerly named the secretary-manager.

The first amendment marks the first step toward chamber and city co-operation for community welfare projects.

A budget of $2,400 was approved for the coming year to carry on chamber activities.

In other business, members voted to contact public utilities in an effort to get trains to stop at Zeeland. Also it was voted to try and get the express office reopened. The express office at Zeeland was closed last Friday, thereby making it necessary to do express business through the Holland office.

Members consider the discontinued train service and express facilities a serious blow to Zeeland business.

Marvin Lindeman spoke on "Your Chamber of Commerce." Lindeman has been a member of the Holland chamber executive board many years.

Warrant Issued In Fatal Mishap

A warrant charging negligent homicide has been issued to Carl Holmes, 55, of 1600 Bridge St., Grand Rapids.

The charge grew out of a two-car wreck Sunday evening in which Mrs. Jane Hoffman, 71, of Grand Rapids, was killed and eight persons injured.

The accident occurred at the intersection of county roads No. 653 and 452, one-mile south of Jamestown.

According to the charge, signed by Deputy Clayton Forry and issued by Ottawa county Prosecutor Wendell Miles, Holmes "did drive and operate a motor vehicle in a careless, reckless and negligent manner, but not wilfully or wantonly."

It further charges that he didn't stop on road No. 653 at the stop sign, and entered the intersection without looking out for other vehicles.

Benjamin Hoffman, 73, husband of the dead woman, was driving the other car. He remains in a "serious" condition at St. Mary's hospital in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Hoffman was killed outright when she was thrown out of the car by the impact and rolled down a 16-foot embankment. Meanwhile, Miles is continuing his investigation with Coroner Gilbert Vande Water of the fatal accident on US-31 last Friday. Norman R. Baggett, 19, of Grand Haven died early Saturday morning in Holland hospital from injuries received in the accident.

2 Die in Holland Grade Collision

Tiny Rhonda Lee Thompson, who weighs only three pounds, 13 1/2 ounces, sleeps on, oblivious to the fuss her mother and Nurse Cornelia Vander Ploeg are making about her. And it's no wonder she's the center of attention at Holland hospital. Besides being an attractive miss, even at her age (she's four days old), she's the tiniest "full-term" baby born at the hospital this year. Hospital authorities add that although there were smaller babies this year, they were all premature. Rhonda Lee's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Thompson of 333 Howard Ave.

Fall Vegetables Cheap and Good

Cabbage is one of the few vegetables which give us cheap valuable vitamin C besides supplying minerals and roughage, says Mary Bodwell, agricultural economics department food specialist at Michigan State College.

In vitamin C content, cabbage is classed with citrus fruits and tomatoes. With less citrus fruits than usual this year, Michigan homemakers will be wise to take advantage of the good cabbage crop.

The cabbage we are now finding in good supply in stores is a different type from spring and summer marketed cabbage, Miss Bodwell explains. "Winter" cabbage heads are heavier for their size, whiter in color inside the head, and keep longer than the "domestic" cabbage sold earlier in the season.

Top quality cabbage heads are firm and heavy. They should be closely trimmed, with most of the wrapper leaves removed. Guard against such defects as decay, yellow leaves, and worm injury.

To preserve quality, first run cold water over the head to wash off the surface dirt. The water also aids in crisping if the head is then wrapped in wax paper and refrigerated or put in the hydrator without wrapping.

Huge Commercial Pack Resulting From Fruit Crop

Allegan, Oct. 6 (Special)—This year's bumper fruit crop in Southwestern Michigan is resulting in the largest commercial pack in history, according to a representative of the area's canning industry.

Pears particularly are being bought heavily, with baby food manufacturers and other canneries making a market for between 75 to 80 per cent of the area's crop. An estimated 650,000 bushels are being processed.

Peaches were second in packing quantity, with about 400,000 bushels going into cans and jars for institutional, home, and baby food use.

Prices have fallen below average due to the heavy crop, though one packer thought farmers for the most part are making up the loss with quantity of produce. Pears are bringing about $37.50 per ton at the canneries, compared to a normal $50 to $60. Peaches were $35 a ton, about $15 less than usual.

Other notes on the packing picture:

Cherries were lighter, with about 20 per cent less packed in this area than last year.

Tomatoes were 65 per cent of the 1948 crop for canning.

Beets and string beans were above average in bushel-per-acre. Earlier, asparagus, berries, especially blueberries, were packed heavily. In another two years, blueberries are expected to become a most important packing crop from this area.

Produce from this area finds plenty of market, with Michigan Canners, Inc., having plants in Benton Harbor, South Haven and Fenwick; Gerber Products in Fremont; and smaller plants in Plainwell, Paw Paw, Keeler, and Lawton.

Farm-to-Prosper Trustees to Meet To Plan Roundup

The five-county board of trustees of the West Michigan Farm-to-Prosper Contest association will meet Wednesday night, Oct. 12, to make preliminary plans for entertaining members of a record number of participating organizations at the Roundup Dec. 29.

The board will meet at the Occidental hotel in Muskegon.

Prior to the board meeting the committee to which was referred the question of whether to change the name of the contest will meet in The Chronicle conference room to decide its recommendations. There is sentiment both ways. It is recognized that the name does not accurately describe the purposes of the contest, which are advancement of rural community life and furthering of rural-urban community interest.

On the other hand it is recognized that the name Farm-to-Prosper has become well established in the thinking of the people of Western Michigan through a decade of publicizing.

Last year a large number of suggestions as to a new name were submitted by competing organizations.

The name committee is composed of county agricultural agents and association vice presidents in the prospective counties. These by counties are, Harold J. Larsen and John Butz, Mason; Carl H. Knopf, Muskegon; Clarence C. Mullett and Merrill Eady, Newaygo; Harvey J. Elliott and Edwin O. Bankert, Oceana; Leo R. Arnold and W. A. Butler, Ottawa. There is no vice president for Muskegon county, inasmuch as C. D. McNamee, of Muskegon, is president.

Gov. Williams and Director of Agriculture Figg have promised to be present at the Roundup, when in keeping with tradition, the Governor will award prizes to the winning organizations.

Figg as well as the governor recognize the Roundup as one of the big farmers' meetings of the state.

Auditorium and cafeteria facilities of senior high school in Muskegon, were reserved last May, to make sure of their availability for the Roundup.

It is expected the after-program lunch which has proven popular at previous Roundups again will be served.

A number of new organizations will be turning in reports to their respective county agricultural agents this year.

Reporting for the first time in Ottawa county, thus far, will be North Holland Farm bureau, White School Mothers club, Chester Heights Farm bureau, Bell Community Farm bureau.

Reporting last year and expected to report again are Ferrysburg PTA, Conklin grange, Coopersville grange, Marne PTA, Ottawa grange, North Chester Farm bureau, Junior Farm Bureau, Huyser Farm bureau.

United Fund New Agency for Local Community Chest

Michigan's United Health and Welfare fund is the newest organization to be included in the Holland Community Chest campaign which opens Monday, Oct. 17, and continues through the week.

United Health and Welfare fund is in itself a Community Chest which combines in one package the budgets of 25 national agencies in the same manner as the local chest combines 13 member agencies.

The fund was organized two years ago by a citizens' sponsoring committee from all over the state and fund raising for 25 social agencies was combined into one joint appeal. Each organization's budget was carefully screened by an admissions and budget committee.

Many communities are holding separate drives for the United fund, but the Holland Community Chest board, convinced of the necessity of supporting these causes, incorporated the fund as part of its annual campaign and thus has eliminated the expense of a separate campaign.

Charter participants in the United Health and Welfare Fund are the American Epilepsy league, Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, National Multiple Sclerosis society, Michigan Heart association, Michigan Society for Mental hygiene, American Federation of International institutes, American Hearing society, American Social Hygiene association, Child Welfare League of America, Family Service association of America, National association of Legal Aid organizations.

National Child Labor committee, National Council of Camp Fire Girls, National Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood centers, National Organization for Public Health Nursing, National Social welfare assembly, National Travelers Aid association, National Urban league, The Epileptic Club, Leader Dog League for the Blind, Michigan Welfare league, National Foundation for Cerebral Palsy, Roscoe B. Hit-Skip Driver Fined

John Timmer, 61, of Holland, pleaded not guilty Thursday in municipal court to a charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident. However, he changed his plea to guilty this morning and was assessed $25 fine and $5.30 costs or must serve 15 days in the county jail. He was given, until Saturday noon to raise the money. Roderick H. Jellema, 22, of Grand Rapids, paid $15.70 on a speeding charge.

George Zuverink will report to the Cleveland Indians baseball team next spring. The Indians have purchased his pitching contract from the Oklahoma City Indians. He won 16 games while losing just seven last summer with the Texas league team and says he received "a lot of polish." George says the Oklahoma experience taught him the finer points of pitching.

Army Friendship Started Zuverink On Road to Major League Baseball

George Zuverink got his first break in baseball while serving with the Army Air Force overseas in Australia.

The Cleveland Indians have purchased Zuverink's contract and he will report to the major league club next spring.

That break from sandlot baseball to organized ball came in Townsville, Australia. George was pitching for a service team. Vic Teatreault, a minor league player and property of the St. Louis Cardinal farm system, also was playing on the team.

Teatreault put the bug in George's ear and also wrote to Sam Breadon, then owner of the Cards.

One day after Zuverink was discharged from the service in the spring of 1946, he was signed by the St. Louis team and assigned to the Fresno, Calif. farm. His career included hurling for the Flying Dutchmen, Spartanburg, S. C. teams, a Panama Canal Zone nine, and Oklahoma City.

George said they put the final polish on him last summer at Oklahoma City. With Manager Joe Vosmik and Cleveland Coach Mel Harder teaching, George says he learned the fine points of major league pitching.

His tutoring paid off. The 195-pound former Holland high athlete won 16 games while losing only seven last summer.

In a season-long "star of last night's game" contest at Oklahoma City, George was the winner with 25 points. The sponsoring radio station presented him with a $150 wrist watch.

He batted .163 for the Indian class AA farm team last summer. Zuverink played basketball and baseball at Holland high and later played basketball with the city league Pure Oil team that won the local title in 1946, and the Grand Rapids crown in 1946-47. He played one game with the Hurricane five last winter before going to Panama.

George considers his break as "quite an honor." Right now, he and his wife are living in an apartment on the north side of Lake Macatawa and he works at Holland Furnace plant No. 5. After work and during other free periods, George can be found fishing in front of his house.

He spoke with most of his prospective future teammates before and during the Cleveland-Detroit Tiger games at Detroit last weekend.

If Zuverink makes the majors next spring, he will be the first native of Holland to ever play on a major league team.

The immortal Neal Ball claimed Holland as his home town after reaching the majors. He originally hailed from Kalamazoo.

Ball came to Holland to play with the local Independent ball club, then one of the strongest teams in Michigan. Ball went to Cleveland and was the first major league player to make an unassisted triple play.

"Lefty" Henshaw, former Chicago Cub and Detroit Tiger flinger, called from Fennville via Chicago. He is presently pitching for the St. Joe Autos. Henshaw originally went to the Cubs from the University of Chicago.

Albert Bronkhorst, a Holland product, had his big chance with the Cubs in 1945, but came home after a few weeks when he developed arm trouble. Previous to that time he pitched for Indianapolis and Shreveport ball clubs.

The Rev. John Benes read the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Baskets of chrysanthemums, ferns and candelabra decorated the altar for the exchange of vows. Lighted candles were placed in the windows and white satin bows and flowers marked the pews.

Jay Weener, soloist, sang "Because" and "I Love Thee," preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Ben Altena, aunt of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer," while the couple knelt at the altar. Traditional wedding music was played by the pianist, Mrs. Floyd Hosink, sister of the groom.

Her lace-edged fingertip veil was held by a matching lace tiara. She carried a white Bible, gift of her parents, topped with lavender orchids. Her jewelry, a rhinestone choker and bracelet, were gifts of the groom. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Bell wore an aqua taffeta gown and Miss Elzinga was gown in rose taffeta. The gowns were styled identically with bertha collars, full skirts and bustle backs. They wore triple strands of pearls and carried mixed colonial bouquets.

A reception for 140 guests followed in the church parlors. Tables were decorated in blue and yellow. Mrs. Jay Weener and Miss Norma Bomers were in charge of the gift room and Miss Marilyn De Cook and Mary Monetta presided at the punch bowl.

Township Cancels Pact With City

The Fillmore township board is cancelling its contract with the Holland fire department for fire protection.

This boils down to the fact that the local fire department will not respond to calls from Fillmore township residents.

The Holland association of insurance agents, at its regular meeting this noon, noted the effect of this action on the part of the township.

The insurance men said in view of recent purchases of fire fighting equipment and the cancellation, it means:

"1. In conformance with the national fire board point system, the fire fighting efficiency will be reduced."

"2. All township residents and content rates on property located within 1,000 feet of a city fire hydrant will be increased approximately 67 per cent (45 to 75 cents per $100 insurance for three years)."

"3. All mercantile and industrial risks located within 1,000 feet of city fire hydrants or having other approved water supplies will be obliged to pay 10 to 20 per cent higher rates. And where customary co-insurance applies, the present credits ranging from 15 to 30 per cent will be reduced to a flat two per cent."

Cleveland Indians Purchase Contract Of Local Pitcher

Although he hasn't been informed officially, George Zuverink of Holland, will report to the Cleveland Indians baseball club next spring.

Through Sentinel queries in Cleveland this morning, it was learned that Zuverink's contract with the Oklahoma City Indians has been purchased by the parent club for an "unannounced sum" and Pitcher Will Hafey.

George received a questionnaire from Cleveland Monday asking for background information. However, at press time, he hadn't received the official contract.

Zuverink, a pitcher, had a 16 win, seven loss record with Oklahoma City during the recently completed season. His team finished third in the class A Texas league.

During the summer of 1948, he had a record of 18-12 with the class B Spartanburg, S. C. team. And last winter he had a 6-0 record in the Panama Canal zone league. During the summer of 1947 he won 13 games without a defeat for the Flying Dutchmen and in 1946 he won 11 while losing 13 for the Fresno, Calif., St. Louis Cardinal farm team.

He presently is employed by Holland Furnace Co. and lives with his wife, the former Lorraine Hendricks of Zeeland, off Howard Ave.

Woman's Literary Club Hears Noted Lecturer

America's position of world leadership gives sound reason why Americans should maintain an active interest in European affairs, Robert Kazmayer told the Woman's Literary club at its first fall meeting Tuesday in the club house.

The speaker, who has lived in every "headlined European" nation, said he believes the key to Europe's recovery is Germany, where still persist the seeds of nationalism that gave rise to Hitler.

France was destroyed by living with a philosophy of more money for less effort, England is magnificent and will likely recover, but the mercantile class that made Britain great and kept her great is discouraged by government interference, he said. Russia probably doesn't want war, but she will advance her objectives as far as she can by all measures short of war, the speaker warned.

Of America, Kazmayer told the audience that substitution of security for opportunity can lead to tragic consequences. He accused American women of being "politically lazy and stupid."

"If America fails, there is no other power on earth to bail her out with a Marshall plan," he said.

Mr. Kazmayer's lecture followed a luncheon at the Warm Friend Tavern. Mrs. Clyde Geerlings, president, welcomed luncheon guests and introduced Mrs. Marion De Velder who gave the club collect.

Luncheon arrangements were made by Mrs. Joseph Moran and Mrs. Harold Klaassen. Mrs. Sidney Tiesenga and Mrs. Peter Bote were in charge of table decorations. It was announced that the club now has 505 members, 14 of whom are on leave of absence. Twenty-eight are new members.

Mrs. William Winter announced that H. L. R. Chapman will address public landscape clinics scheduled for today and Thursday. Prof. Chapman was scheduled through the efforts of Leo Arnold of the conservation department, Mrs. Winter said.

Following the lecture, Mrs. Geerlings thanked Mr. Kazmayer for his "stimulating" speech.

Tuesday morning Mrs. Kazmayer spoke on "The Challenge of a Changing World" at a Hope college student assembly in the college chapel.

Record Crowd Sees Stupkamen Score, Then Defend Lead

Bob Tasma Intercepts Tiger Aerial and Runs 60 Yards for Marker

It happened. Holland beat Muskegon Heights 13-0.

It was the first time a Holland high team has defeated Muskegon Heights since 1937. And it broke the Tiger's unbeaten string against Southwest conference opponents that dates back to the Muskegon-Muskegon Heights classic in Nov., 1944.

The history making game at Riverview park established another record. Upwards of 6,000 persons, estimated by school officials, was the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Holland. Spectators crammed every available space at the local field Friday night.

Holland scored on two lightning jabs in the second quarter, then settled down to defend its lead. And what a defense. Muskegon Heights didn't get past Holland's 45-yard line throughout the game.

Although the Tigers had a one-sided 9-3 advantage in first downs and a 167-72 yard advantage in rushing, Holland's defense kept the opponents offense bottled up.

Right Halfback Joe Fendt crossed the double stripe midway in the second quarter for Holland's first score on a plunge through tackle from the one-yard line.

Bruce Van Voorst set up the score a few minutes earlier when he landed on a fumbled ball on the Tigers 20. Paul Vander Meer had punted to the Heights. Backs Ed Cole and Frank Bernard both had their hands on the ball but it slipped away and Van Voorst recovered. Tom Carey crossed around end to the four and Fendt pushed it to the one-yard line on an off-tackle smash. Then came the score.

Vander Meer's extra kick sailed through the middle of the uprights to make the score 7-0.

Tasma kicked off for the Dutch and Bernard ran back to the Heights 30. Coach Ole Johnson's lads began to roll. Paul Bailey, Dan Feloski, Francis Mitchell advanced the ball to Holland's 45-yard line. However, a 15-yard clipping penalty moved the ball back.

Two more downs put the ball on Muskegon's 45. With third down and eight to go, Paul Bailey faded to throw a pass. He let the ball go toward a loose man in Holland territory.

However, alert Tasma stepped into the picture and plucked the ball out of the air on a dead run. He caught the ball on Holland's 40 and raced 60 yards down the south side of the field to score standing up. Not a Heights man touched him. Ivan Immink caught up with Tasma and threw a perfect block into the closest Tiger player.

Vander Meer's try for the extra point was blocked.

That ended the scoring for the evening.

Both teams played hard defensive ball. Holland pinched off the Tiger passing attack completely. The Heights didn't complete a pass in seven tries. However, two or three were close as they barely missed intended receivers that had outraced Holland backs.

One of the features of the game was Vander Meer's superb punting. He kept the Tigers with their backs to the wall. Early in the fourth quarter he dropped back from Holland's 41 and booted a crazy bouncer that rolled out of bounds on the Heights seven-yard line. However, Holland was caught holding on the play and penalized back to its own 27.

Again Vander Meer faded and booted a long punt that rolled all the way back to Muskegon's nine-yard line where John Kruid fell on it. The punt played covered 73 yards.

Tasma was head and shoulders over any player on the field. His all-around ability—running, blocking, tackling, pass defense play—served notice that he must be considered by the all-state pickers. His alert pass defense antics scored one of the touchdowns and missed another possible score by a mere few steps.

It's hard to single out any other man on Holland's team. The backfield and line blocked viciously. From end to end, Kruid, Jack Hoback, Don Sprong, Jay Vander Sluis, Jack Kuipers, Roger Hill and Immink were pillars of strength on both offense and defense. Joe Fendt was a workhorse on defense and offense. His blocks paved the way for many long gains. Bruce Van Voorst, playing only offense, did an uncanny signal-calling job.

Holland's team was simply an All-Star outfit Friday night. Their blocking was a feature of the exciting game.

Guards Ron McKenzie and John Sweet were the best defensive players for the Heights while Bailey, Bernard, Cole and Feloski were the best on offense.

The loss was No. 3 this season for the Heights. It's was Holland's first conference victory in two years and its second this season against one setback.

This cream-colored brick home with its two-foot thick walls and cupola on top represents security and peace to a large number of Allegan county folk who call the county farm their home. Built in 1883 following a destructive fire, the three-story home has remained sturdy and seems good for many more years. Back in 1883, supervisors allocated $10,000 for a new building capable of housing 90 people and "large enough for 50 years to come." The trip "over the hill to the poorhouse" is less of an emotional tragedy today to those left destitute and sick in their later years. This is shown by some who return by choice after leaving to try to make out on old age pensions.

Allegan County Farm Represents Peace and Security to Older Folk

Allegan, Oct. 1 (Special) — On a frosty February morning in 1883 fire broke out in the furnace room of the county's poor house and while employees and nearby farmers concentrated on saving the inmates and a few possessions, the building burned to the ground.

It was a bad time for the county to have to rebuild the institution. Both the courthouse and jail had been condemned and would have to be replaced.

But two days after the dreadful holocaust, county supervisors voted to put up a new $10,000 building, capable of housing 90 people—according to the old records, "large enough for 50 years to come."

Plenty of room was a prime necessity, for at that time the county cared for its own insane, orphans and improvident people at the 160-acre farm.

Today, Allegan county's forgotten poor, aged, and sick are still housed in the three-story 1883 building and a modern-equipped hospital built later. The early supervisors apparently knew what they were about, for the building has remained sturdy the allotted 50 years and seems good for many more.

Acknowledged as one of the best institutions of its kind in the state, county officers who are in charge of the county farm are proud of the well established. With a few minor recommendations, it passed a recent state inspection with flying colors. It is one of the few county farms showing a profit on its farm crops over the food used by the staff and inmates.

Steady improvement, especially the last few years, has made the trip "over the hill to the poorhouse" less of an emotional tragedy to those left destitute and sick in their later years. This is shown by some residents, leaving to try to make out on old age pensions, return by choice for the remainder of their lives. The inmate with highest seniority has lived there 40 years.

About 50 men and women live in the '83 infirmary and 38 are in the nearby hospital. The farm is supported on about $55,000 of county funds per year, plus proceeds from the crops and livestock. The meals, except for some staples, are provided entirely from the grains, vegetables, fruits and berries, chickens, pigs and cattle raised there. An addition of 80 acres was acquired some years ago.

The place is unlikely to undergo another fire as in 1883. With its own well, pumps, hydrants and hoses, a blaze could be brought under control quickly to.

Inside, the rooms are clean, airy, and provided with essential comforts. Mealtime is an event three times a day. The weekly food consumption runs about 25-30 gallons of milk, 10 quarts of cream, 50 pounds of butter, 50 dozen eggs, 300 pounds of pork, 10 bushels of potatoes, plus 50 pounds of chicken for Sunday dinner.

Ten of the men work on the farm, while many of the women help with preparing the mountains of food for cooking, canning, and freezing.

Those temporarily ill or invalided are cared in a hospital supervised by a nurse under conditions as good as any city hospital. A physician visits them all twice a week and in between when needed.

Responsible for the operation of the farm is Leon Godfrey, manager, Ted Hicks, as director of social welfare, and Mrs. Mabel Day, as matron. They encourage "surprise" visits from outsiders.

For the patients one of the big days of the year has just past. Those able to get about well, attend the county fair each year and have a wonderful time. Those who work get $2 spending money, the rest $1.

The cream-colored brick home, with its two-foot thick walls, and cupola on top represents security and peace.

Those in charge have one more aim toward erasing the ignominy associated with moving to the county farm. That is the same of the place itself. Inspiration for a new name abounds in the surrounding hills and valleys, shaded lawns, and quiet atmosphere. A new address in name only is an inexpensive gift many of the people want the most.

Zeeland Gridders Defeat Wyoming For Third Victory

Zeeland, Oct. 6 (Special) — Coach Joe Newell's Zeeland high football machine clicked off its third straight win of the season Friday night at Zeeland by rolling over a scrappy Wyoming Park team 13-6.

The small but speedy Parkites made a fight of it all the way against the heavy Chix.

One of Bern Raterink's aerials set up the first Zeeland score midway in the second quarter. Raterink connected on a 20-yarder to Wyoming's one-foot line. On the next play, Herm Nienhuis hit pay dirt and Raterink plunged for the point to give Zeeland a 7-0 lead.

Following the kickoff after the score, Wyoming drove all the way to Zeeland's two-yard line. However, a five-yard penalty on the next play moved the ball back to the seven. The half ended before Wyoming Park could score.

The third quarter was a repetition of the first—no scoring. However, in the final period, Wyoming Park completed a 30-yard pass to the Zeeland 10. Two plays moved the ball to the three from where Hersey went over for a score.

The vital extra point boot was no good making the score 7-6. With six minutes remaining in the game, Zeeland took the kickoff and marched to Wyoming's 30-yard line. Raterink sprinted off tackle and reversed his field and outran the defenders to score standing up. The conversion failed.

Don Bouman choked off Wyoming's determined last-minute scoring drive when he intercepted a pass.

Paul Van Koeveering and Denny De Haan were outstanding on defense for the Chix while Raterink was the offensive genius for the third straight game.

Hersey and Hoekema were tops for the losers.

Newell was gratified with the improvements in blocking, but rapped "lack of pep and quarterbacking."

YEAR-TO-YEAR PROGRAM

When Republican strategists pleaded their cause before the nation's farmers at a recent convention in Sioux City, Ia., they were told to concoct a "permanent" farm policy if they wished to harvest the nation's farm vote.
"We are tired of year-to-year programs," the spokesmen for the farmers declared. Farming is not a year-to-year business, although many people ignorant of rural economy are under the impression that it is. The typical Washington politician, Republican or Democrat, thinks that the farmer simply has to begin thinking about the season's crop about April and that all his worries are over when the last corn or wheat has been harvested.

The farmer knows better, any farmer who is the real thing. He understands that he has to think several years ahead, sometimes even decades. When the Republican political policy makers were told to forget "temporary" measures they doubtless were mystified. So would their opposite numbers in the Democratic ranks be.

That at least is true if action is evidence of policy. Both parties have become acutely conscious of the farmer's troubles during recent years because they have learned that there is something uncomfortably real about what they call the "farm vote." But neither party has come up with an answer on a permanent basis.
The best answer has been to provide "price support"—so obviously a stop-gap temporary measure that the farmers themselves have now classed that among the "temporary" means of coping with farm surpluses.

The Republicans of course applauded the farmers' criticisms of the "year-to-year" program, because that program has been initiated by the Democrats. But it was initiated by them for the very simple reason that they have been in power since 1933 and they had to do something to keep the farm vote in line.

The Republicans before them did not present a permanent program, and if they had been in power since 1933 it is doubtful if they would have come up with anything better than a "year-to-year" system. Like the Democrats, they are interested in the farm vote rather than in the farm problem. Being interested in votes rather than in real issues is the nature of the political beast, Republican or Democrat.

But it is a good sign that the farmers themselves are getting disatisfied with nostrums that masquerade as solutions. The "farm problem" is infinitely complex. It has baffled the politicians of both parties. Perhaps the American farmers could come nearer to a real solution if they should tackle it on a non-political basis.

The Moral Basis of True Worship
Isaiah 1:11-18; Jeremiah 7:3-7

By Henry Geerlings

The charge brought against Judah was in respect to the sacrifices they brought. They observed Jehovah's places and times, as well as the requirements of the law in their sacrificing and offering. They were not charged with any irregularity or compromise in these respects.
Their guilt was that they attempted to cover their sin and wickedness with a show of piety.

They had a religious system given them by Jehovah and it was a good system. But religious systems, with their creeds and forms and ceremonies have a tendency to coldness and deadness. So it was with Judah. They had perverted the sacrificial system in which they gloried and dissociated it from the moral laws, to which Jehovah intended it to be only a supplement.

It is obvious that their system of religion had lost its original purity and freshness. The sacrificial system was perverted in an attempt to cover corruption by a show of piety. The state of Judah was shameful and deplorable. The Jewish people had come to look upon offerings as an end in themselves. They had come to think that it did not matter how they lived if only they were faithful in offering sacrifices. They thought God did not care if they cheated their neighbors, oppressed the widows and orphans, exercised injustice in all their dealings if only they would bring Him the lamb and the rams and the bullocks as specified in the law.
That was their great mistake.

There are people just like them today. They are quite careful to observe religious forms but not to let their religion have any influence upon their lives. It is possible to contend for an orthodox faith without letting that faith affect one's life. Neither sacrificial giving nor the scrupulous observance of special religious seasons has any value in the sight of God as an end in itself. All such things are but vain obligations.

And now the Lord comes to the people of Judah by His prophet urging them to repent and reform. The appeal is to meet in a conference, and the promise is one of the free and full forgiveness. They were to break off from their sin and evil by a thorough repentance. They had become defiled by their sin and were told to wash themselves and to make themselves clean. They were to put away, not only the evil that was before the eyes of men, but also that which was before the eyes of God, the secret desires and habits of sin. This is God's unvaried exhortation to his people in every age.

They were also exhorted to learn to do well. This was to be the positive side of their repentance and reformation. They were to be doing that which was right;
not only to cease from doing evil, but then stand idle. They were to inquire what is right and just that they might do it. They were to relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widows, both classes of which were weak and helpless and therefore easy prey of those who were greedy and heartless.

It is interesting to note how much stress is laid in the Bible upon justice in treatment of fellow men, relief of the poor and oppressed, righteousness and kindness toward the helpless and widowed. God is delighted and honored when His people act justly toward their fellowmen and charitably toward the poor.

The prophet Jeremiah was under covenant with God to obey Him. He was pledged to go where God directed and say what God said. He was to be the courageous spokesman for God. The place where he could best reach the people was near the gate of the house of God. Here the people would see and hear him. He was to be there and was to continue telling the people God's message.
He was to call the people of Judah as they entered the gate and exhort them to listen. That meant that he was God's mouthpiece, His prophet, proclaiming the will and law of God. There was no doubt in the prophet's mind that he had God's authority back of him. The people could not doubt that when he spoke he was speaking for God. The sad fact was that the people heard him, knew with what authority he spoke, but went on in their in-iquities.

The heroic prophet took his stand and began his urgent plea.
He demanded a change of way, a new manner of conduct before God. He assured them that by so doing they would have the guarantee of dwelling in that favorite place, Jerusalem. But he hastened to expose the folly of confidence in the unshakable foundations of the temple as being steadfast and safe were declared to be misleading. Even their regular performance of religious rites was not to stand between them and destruction. These without a right manner of life would not count with God.

Jeremiah outlined the practical manifestations of right living which they must follow daily. He uses the word "if" several times and each time enumerates what they must do to be sure of securing God's protection. They must become just in all their dealings.
They must not tolerate any forms of idolatry. All these evidences of their faith in God must be manifested if they wanted to realize on God's promises that He would dwell in their midst.

just a slogan; it is a vital reality if there is to be freedom of any kind. And newspaper writers bear in mind constantly the deep implications this privilege carries.

In the news room where drama is commonplace, ever watchful reporters follow established policies geared to freedom of the press and the protection of the common man.

Freedom of the press means freedom for the people to learn the things they ought to know about government, business, education, in short life, national and international life.

Most persons do not realize that far more news streams into a newspaper office than can possibly be printed. Some of it is too trivial to be published. All local news is given careful consideration and there are days when a hot run of both local and wire news keeps the staff humping from morning to press time.

The Sentinel carries United Press service. UP news is published in about 50 nations and territories in 21 different languages.
In the United States alone, it leaves some 154,000 miles of telegraph wires to connect its numerous bureaus and the newspapers it serves.

Hurricanes Beat Ypsilanti Team For Initial Win

Jack Westerhof Figures In Both Local Scores; Cane Defense Holds

The rejuvenated Holland Hurricanes applied all their offensive polish Saturday night to post their first victory of the season. The Canes dropped Ypsilanti 14-6 at Ypsilanti.

Jack Westerhof figured in both local scores. He heaved a 40-yard pass to Ed Boeve for the first tally in the second quarter. Boeve took the ball on the Ypsi 10 and raced over the double stripe.

Westerhof capped a Hurricane drive in the third quarter when he ran 15 yards for a touchdown. He cut around end, was hit once but spun away and hit pay dirt.

The Canes set up the first touchdown by recovering an Ypsi fumble at midfield. Westerhof faded back on the first play, cocked his arm and threw the long pass to Boeve.

Guard Mort Wright split the uprisings after both touchdowns. Ypsi scored its touchdown on a sustained drive down the field in the closing minutes of the game. A 15-yard run off tackle put the ball in the end zone.

Defensive Center Jim Schurman broke through and blocked the extra point kick.

The victory was costly for Holland. Ted Bos, Laverne Boeve and Red Hulst were hurt. Bos received a fractured rib. Boeve was hit in the knee and Hulst twisted his ankle. Westerhof had two stitches taken in his hip.

Coaches Jay Van Hoven and Ed Damson called off practice this evening because too many players are hurt.

In Saturday's game, it was a matter of the Canes brick wall holding Ypsi on defense and local

Little Dutch Lose To Tigers

Coach, Carroll Norlin's Holland high reserves received a 26-0 defeat at the hands of Muskegon Heights here Friday afternoon.

Muskegon Heights blocked Frank Van Dyke's punt in the end zone and scored their initial touchdown. The conversion attempt was good.

Holland succeeded in playing heads up ball the rest of the first half and held the Tigers to a 7-0 lead.

Holland received a setback when Frank Van Dyke, Dutch mainstay in the backfield, injured his hip.

Muskegon Heights began a drive that started on the Tiger 49 and was climaxed by a drive off guard by Garland Hall, from the one yard line. The conversion was good on a line plunge.

Muskegon Heights tallied their third score as Lenore Plichta dashed off guard and scampered 44 yards to pay dirt. The run for extra point was no good.

The final Tiger touchdown again was scored by Plichta who succeeded in going through the Dutch defenses for 46 yards and the fourth Muskegon Heights touchdown. The extra point kick was short, making the final score Muskegon Heights 26, Holland 0.

Holland's next home game will be played against the South high reserves at Riverview Park next Saturday afternoon.

backs ramming the way to victory on offense.

Jason De Vries was back in the lineup after a layoff because of injuries. And he played top notch ball as he repeatedly spilled Ypsi runners.

Holland drove all the way to Ypsi's nine yard line after taking the opening kickoff. However, a penalty stopped the drive. A few minutes later the Canes drove to the opponents six-yard line but the Ypsi defense held and punted out of danger.

The home team drove to Holland's 13-yard line in the second quarter but couldn't dent the Canes defense.

Standouts for the locals were Ed Boeve, Lawrence McCormick, Schurman, De Vries and George Botis. Howie Peterson's signal calling was a highlight of the local offense.

The Canes play Jackson Saturday at Riverview park.

Cabin Cruiser Razed by Fire

The 31-foot Chris-Craft cabin cruiser Friendship II was gutted by fire of unknown origin on Lake Macatawa Saturday evening.

It is owned by Fred Cochran of Grand Rapids.

The boat was tied to its mooring, about 200-feet out in the lake from Fileman's boat livery on the south shore of the lake.

Stanley Easter, who lives nearby, first saw flames in the forward cabin. He called Coast Guardsmen and then went out to the boat with a hand extinguisher. Peter Dreyer aided.

However, the fire had "too much headway" and soon spread to the rest of the boat. Coast Guardsmen arrived to aid the fight. They went back to their station and returned with a fire pump that soon put out the flames.

The boat was burned down to the water line and was declared a total loss.

It is estimated that $7,500 would be needed to replace the boat at today's prices. The 12-year-old craft originally cost $5,000 and had an estimated $1,000 worth of equipment and furnishings.

'Read for Fun' Theory Governs Reading Habits

Allegan High Students Past Point of Reading Books Just for Credit

Allegan, Sept. 30 (Special)—The old practice of reading a book whether you liked it or not just to get a high-point book report is practically passed at Allegan high school.

With the school's first full-time librarian starting her second year, students are more and more falling in with the "read for fun" theory. Mrs. Miriam Cronenwett, librarian, has one of the busiest rooms in the building.

Added to the 3,000-volume library this year are 375 new books, including fiction, travel, history, and "how-to" subject. The public library, through Claxton Helms, provides books which are still missing from the collection.

It's a far cry from the days a decade ago when shelves of beat-up encyclopedias and obsolete text books at the rear of the assembly room made up the school library. There was little guidance for the young people's choice of reading material.

Students this year will use a reading design pamphlet in which they will list 60 books of all kinds for a well rounded reading diet. It runs from mysteries to natural science subjects to the Bible and everything in-between.

On Oct. 26, pupils will participate in a book display, when they will be allowed to name their choices for further purchases, for the library is under a constant process of weeding out little-used volumes for replacement with up-to-date recommended selections. By keeping a record of requests, Mrs. Cronenwett follows the trends of high school interests.

"The library enriches the school curriculum," the librarian explains, "but most of all we are trying to set up a reading program that will carry through adult life."

Jackson All-Stars Come to Holland Saturday for Game With Hurricanes

The injury riddled Holland Hurricane football team, hepped up by its first victory of the season last Saturday, entertain the Jackson All-Stars Saturday night at Riverview park.

"Our offense got clicking for the first time this season against Ypsilanti last Saturday night," backfield coach Ed Damson said. The Canes won that game at Ypsi by a 14-6 score. However, injuries took their toll of the local team.

Right Halfback Red Hulst received a leg injury but is expected to be back in the lineup for the Jackson tussle. Laverne Boeve was hit on the side of his knee and listed as a doubtful starter Tuesday night.

End T Bos fractured a rib, but may be able to play if the injury is taped and protected. Passer Jack Westerhof had a couple of stitches taken in his lip after the Ypsi game but will be okay for Saturday.

End Steve Stromeyer was absent from Tuesday's practice because of a "mild" flu attack.

Coaches Jay Van Hoven and Damson lauded their team for the showing against Ypsi and believe it indicates the Canes are finally on the march after suffering three straight defeats in their first three games.

Holland Fights Against Letdown Before GR South Contest Friday

The hot and cold Holland high school football team plays host to the scrapping South high school Trojans of Grand Rapids Friday night at Riverview park.

Coach Bob Stupka and his aide Curley Wiegier are fighting hard to prevent a letdown similar to the Ottawa Hills showing two weeks ago. The job is tough after Holland's history making showing against Muskegon Heights last week-end.

It will be more than South high coming to Holland Friday night. Donald J. Schriener, a Hope college graduate in 1947, is head coach at the Grand Rapids school. And Don is more than anxious to make a good showing before a Holland crowd.

His Trojans battled Saginaw to a 19-19 tie in their opener three weeks ago. Next, the south ends returned to Grand Rapids and absorbed a 19-13 licking from Central. And last Saturday night, South trampled the Creston Polar Bears 20-0.

It's difficult to name a favorite for Friday's game. The crazy medium of comparative scores doesn't help matters any.

The Canes defense held Ypsi scoreless until the final minutes of the game Saturday. Meanwhile the backs, led by spunky Don Leeuw and Red Hulst were ripping off sizeable gains around the ends. Although the Canes couldn't dent the center of the Ypsi line, they geared their offense to end runs and passes.

Westerhof pitched a 40-yard aerial to End Ed Boeve for one score and ran around end from the Ypsi 15-yard line for Holland's other marker.

Van Hoven praised the vicious blocking of his new offensive guard Doug Mills of Muskegon for clearing a path for backs. While Holland was winning its first game, Grand Rapids dumped Jackson 13-7 by scoring the winning touchdown in the final 45 seconds of the game.

Holland football fans will get a chance to see one of the best backs in the Michigan Football league Saturday night in Elwyn "Rabbit" Rider, triple threat Jackson back and a deadly tackler.

Rider carried the offensive burden for the All-Stars against Grand Rapids and proved he can run like a "rabbit," pass, punt and tackle.

The Canes have scheduled a scrimmage this evening to iron out a few flaws in their offense.

Monmouth Scares Hope Grid Team, But Locals Win

Yonker Aerial Connects For Lone Touchdown In Second Quarter

Hope college's football team fought off a savage fourth-quarter drive by Monmouth Saturday to eke out a 7-0 victory. The win was No. 2 in as many games so far this season for the Dutch.

Monmouth scored a touchdown on a short pass play after the game had ended. Head linesman Wendell Emery said the game was over before the ball was snapped.

However, Monmouth players didn't agree with the ruling and spectators and players from both sides swarmed onto the field as coaches broke up the melee.

Hope scored the one touchdown of the game toward the end of the second quarter. A six-yard pass from Nick Yonker to Clair DeMull capped a 80-yard Dutch drive for the score.

Moose Holwerda booted the extra point for Hope.

The touchdown drive started after a Monmouth thrust to Hope's four yard line. With third down, Monmouth had four yards to go for a touchdown. Jim Feehley cracked into center and the ball oozed out of his hands and into the end zone for an automatic touchdown.

Hope took the ball out on its own 20 and began to march. The Dutch rolled up three first downs, all three on pass plays, to set the ball down on Monmouth's seven-yard line. A Yonker to Holwerda aerial put the ball in the Fighting Scot's 17. Little Eddie Leverette circled end to the nine. Ted Ryenga crashed through guard to the six for a first down.

Leverette was stopped at the line of scrimmage on the first play. Then Yonker hit DeMull in the end zone.

That ended the scoring for the afternoon.

The most serious Monmouth flurry came late in the game. Hope had fumbled a handoff and the ball was recovered on Hope's 35. A penalty advanced the pigskin to Hope's 25. Henry Glidemeister faded and flipped an aerial to the end zone. Officials ruled that Jim Pfingstler interfered and the ball went to Monmouth on the one-yard line. Two plays put the ball on the one-foot line. On the third play, the whistle had blown to end the game but a Monmouth flip was good into the end zone. The play didn't count and Hope won the game 7-0.

The Dutch drove deep into Scot territory early in the first quarter but lacked the final scoring punch. Coach Al Vanderbusch's charges rammed all the way to Monmouth's 11 before a fumble interrupted the drive.

After the Dutch took the ball on a punt, they drove to the Monmouth 16 and lost the ball on downs after three of Yonker's aerials missed. Monmouth had its turn in the second quarter after recovering Eddie Leverette's fumble on the Dutch 17. The Scots drove to a first down on the Hope four. Then Hope's vaunted forward wall stiffened. Two plays at the line put the ball back one yard. Jim Feehley cracked the center on third down and fumbled into the end zone. Hope recovered for the automatic touchdown.

Hope threatened again in the third quarter after recovering a Scot fumble on Monmouth's 25. The Dutch drove to the six and on fourth down a lateral pass play lost four yards and the ball.

Monmouth was every bit as good as the Hope eleven. However, the powerful Dutch line was the difference.

Hope's standouts were DeMull and Collins on the line. Yonker with 14 out of 25 passes completed for 194 yards, was the offensive star.

The game was proof that Hope lacks scoring punch. However, such backs as Leverette and Zwemer indicated they must be watched. Yonker's passing arm kept the Hope offense rolling when the ground attack bogged down.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Apple Harvest Bruises Can Be Cut With Care

Close Supervision of Picking Operations Necessary Beginning

Apple bruising can be reduced in every step of the harvesting and packing process, scientists say, but the greatest opportunity for bruise reduction is in the apple packing house.

Roy E. Marshall, Michigan State college horticulturist, cites a recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study to find ways to cut bruise losses.

Close supervision of picking operations is listed as a necessary beginning. Another important point is the handling of apple boxes on pallets — wooden platforms on which 24 or 30 boxes of apples are placed for mechanized handling. Only one-fifth as much bruising was found when apple boxes were handled on pallets as when the boxes were handled separately. Bruises incurred during storage of loose fruit was also found to be less with apples handled on pallets.

Researchers found bruising damage greater after apples were taken to the packing line than in the combined operations of picking, hauling, and handling. Dumping, dropping from one level to another on conveyor belts, and hitting various parts of moving equipment accounted for the greatest number of bruises. Apples dumped into a water bath showed fewer bruises than those carefully dumped on a canvas belt as it passed over a solid surface.

Studies now under way in Michigan by H. P. Gaston, MSC horticulturist, are showing similar results.

The apple authorities also emphasize the importance of having the various parts of moving equipment accurately timed.

State Potato Loan Rate Set for 1949

Loan rate for Michigan potatoes has been set at 70 cents per hundredweight, advises Dale Hathaway, Michigan State college marketing specialist.

This was reported as part of the USDA announcement concerning loan rates to producers or dealers on 1949 late-crop Irish potatoes. Loan rates in other states range from 55 to 95 cents. Rates are about 75 per cent of the September bulk - at - farm support price.

Loans will be made on U.S. No. 2, one to one and seven-eighths inches minimum diameter, or better quality potatoes.

Hathaway points out that the loan program is voluntary, and will not affect eligibility for other price support. The loans can provide ready cash for harvest-time financing, as a supplement to price support.

To get a loan, a producer must be certified as eligible to participate in the potato price support operations. Producers must have planted within acreage goals to get eligibility certificates. Dealer eligibility provides for payment of at least support prices for eligible potatoes purchased from eligible producers.

All loans will be made through county agricultural conservation committees in counties where the potatoes are stored. Loans will be available from Sept. 15 to Dec. 15 in Michigan, and will bear interest at three per cent per year. They will mature on demand, but not later than April 30.

Hathaway suggests that detailed information on repaying the loans, and other terms and conditions be obtained at local county agricultural conservation committee offices.

Avoid Drastic Changes in Wheat Seed, Agent Says

One continual question arising every year is "What variety of wheat to plant?" New varieties are mentioned in farm journals and the farmer thinks he is missing a good bet.

Many inquiries come in about Thorne wheat. This was developed in Ohio. In tests in Michigan it has not shown up better than some other red varieties such as Vigor and Fairfield. It did not outclass Butler, another red wheat. The Thorne seems to do well in a few southern Michigan counties.

Most wheat in Ottawa is of the white varieties. L. R. Arnold, agricultural agent, advises against making drastic changes. The Yorkwin, Cornell and Banner have proved to do well. At present time it is best to stick to seed which has proved to do well in the county.

L. R. Arnold Urges Fall Conservation Practices

L. R. Arnold urges some fall conservation practices. He believes that many Ottawa farmers are watching carefully to avoid bad practices.

Among the things Arnold stresses is that of not leaving bare open ground subject to wind or water erosion. Unless there is an urgent necessity, do not practice fall plowing. Leave crop residues on the surface of the land as much as possible. Corn stalks, straw stubble, sod and even weeds offer good winter cover. Check lime needs now. If a legume is to be seeded next spring getting lime on the ground several months ahead of seeding is important.

Arnold suggests establishment of a good definite soil and water conservation plan for any farm in the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district, the sooner the better.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Taking Cuttings From House Plants

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

MANY houseplants are being moved indoors after a summer vacation outdoors, and now is a good time to take cuttings from them.

Geranium, coleus, impatiens, begonia, jade plant, lantana, petunia, lemon-verbena, nasturtium, heliotrope, pansy, snapdragon and marigold all root easily.

Geranium cuttings are made from the tip end of growing shoots. Cuttings should be about six inches long. Make a clean cut with a sharp knife or razor blade at the base immediately below a joint where a leaf grows. Roots start easily when the cut is made at a joint. When the cut is made on the stem between two joints the cutting is apt to rot.

The accompanying Garden Graph shows a nasturtium slip planted in sand and a heliotrope cutting that has rooted.

Tip cuttings of coleus, begonia and impatiens should be about three or four inches long. Cut with a sharp knife to avoid crushing or bruising the stem. Take off the lower leaf or two to leave a bare stem for insertion in the sand.

Ivy cuttings can be made either from the tip end of growing shoots or whole strands can be made into several cuttings, leaving two or three leaves on each piece. Put the bottom or butt end down into the rooting medium.

When the roots on a cutting are about one-half inch in length, transplant into a three-inch pot filled with two parts sharp sand, one part loam and one part humus or leafmold.

Danger of Fires Greater on Farm

Danger of Loss of life by fire is greater in a farmhouse than in a city home, says the National Fire Protection association.

That warning was coupled today with an announcement of the NFPA's program for Fire Prevention Week, which has been proclaimed by President Truman for Oct. 9-15.

On the basis of fire fatalities reported during a 15-year period, the NFPA estimates that at least 25 per cent more lives were lost in dwelling fires in rural areas than in similar fires in urban districts.

For children, the per cent difference between rural and urban areas was even greater. The same NFPA study shows that at least 80 per cent more children lost their lives in rural dwelling fires.

Blaming "human carelessness" as the underlying cause of virtually all fires, Percy Bugbee, general manager of the NFPA, says, "Although some of the great loss of life in rural areas can be attributed to lack of organized fire protection and to the greater number of fire hazards on farms, it is equally true that too many rural residents fail to practice common sense in their daily living habits."

The worst of the situation is that most of these deaths are unnecessary. The National Fire Protection association, sponsor of Fire Prevention Week being observed Oct. 9-15, says 90 per cent of rural fires are caused by fire hazards which could have been eliminated—but they weren't.

All of the principal farm fire hazards could be removed. These hazards are: negligence in handling matches; careless smoking habits; defective chimneys and heating plants; sparks falling on flammable wooden roofs; lack of adequate lightning rod protection, and accumulations of rubbish in closets, attics, basements and other places.

The greatest hazard of all is the indifference to fire which breeds carelessness concerning the causes of fire. The program for Fire Prevention Week is not only to learn what to do, but to do it and keep doing it.

Two Allegan Tots Burned to Death

Allegan, Oct. 6 (Special) — Two children who had been taken to safety by their mother were burned to death Friday afternoon when they re-entered their blazing home.

The victims were Mabel Darlene Caswell, 3, and her brother, Richard, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Caswell.

Fire started in one room of the modest frame two-room Caswell home. After trying unsuccessfully to fight the flames with water, the mother took the two children and a younger child, Floyd, seven months, outside.

The two older children returned to the house and the mother burned her arm trying to get them out of a window. Their bodies were found on a bed. The entire place was ablaze by the time firemen arrived. The home was located on Hooker road near the city limits. It was described as a total loss.

Fire broke out at 3:30 p.m. while the father was at work in Osego.

Soils Specialists Advise Early Fertilizer Orders

Thinking ahead is one of the big jobs of farming and anticipating fertilizer needs is one of the most important.

Michigan State college soils specialists say that planning your order and taking delivery as soon as possible saves time and trouble. If you truck fertilizer to your own farm, you'll avoid long line-ups that sometimes occur in peak seasons.

Name Spray for Chickweed Use

CHICKWEED in strawberry plantings can be killed by spraying with a new weed control chemical, says R. F. Carlson, Michigan State college horticulturist.

Chickweed often becomes a serious problem in Michigan strawberry plantings, particularly on the lighter soils. Many plantings become completely overrun with the weed.

Chickweed seed germinates in September in Michigan, Carlson says. The plant grows vigorously during fall and winter, producing a seed crop the following spring. Because the weed creeps among strawberry plants, becoming a solid mat both in and between the rows, it is impractical to remove it by hand or mechanical tillage.

Carlson has found that IPC (Isopropylphenolcarbamate) at the rate of 10 to 15 pounds per acre, applied in September, October or early November, will control this weed. IPC is available as a 50 per cent wettable powder. Twenty to 25 pounds of the 50 per cent material should be mixed with 50 to 100 gallons of water and applied as a spray. The material does not injure the strawberries but effectively kills the chickweed.
