Mental Health Board to Hear Citizens

County Plans Study Of Mental Health

GRAND HAVEN — Operation of Ottawa County Community Mental Health Services, subject of criticism in recent months, comes up for discussion with citizens and the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioners and the Mental Health Board are to discuss the department Oct. 7 while the Mental Health Board has scheduled a closed meeting with citizens in the evening.

The criticism involved department director Paul Vander Velde's Ph. D. degree, the recent firing of mental retardation services director Jim De Good, reported layoffs in the department and questions in interpretations of mental health codes which allegedly contributed to the death of a Holland man.

Ottawa County commission chairman Kenneth Raak of Holland said the meeting Oct. 7 with commissioners would not involve staff persons from the department.

The mental health board scheduled a closed meeting Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. for individual citizens to appear before it with their concerns about the department operation.

Vander Velde's starting salary in 1974 was $25,000 and came under published criticism when it was reported the school from which the Ph. D. degree was obtained was not accredited and later went bankrupt. Questioned was whether the degree influenced the starting salary level which is paid in part by the state mental health department.

Charges were made that Vander Velde may have been overpaid and the county owed the state $1,500 for overpayment.

Mental health board chairman Lawrence Vredevoogd denied the Ph. D. degree influenced the panel which screened Vander Velde's application and said the salary was not based on the Ph. D. degree.

The finance and personnel committee investigated the matter of the non-traditional Ph. D. degree held by Vander Velde and recommended this summer that the director "secure a written opinion from the State Department of Mental Health concerning the validity of the line entry dealing with the director's salary."

The committee further recommended that "the board then follow the direction of the State Department of Mental Health's opinion."

County officials have not received the opinion from the state board.

Vredevoogd said the finance and personnel committee added that the validity of the degree was of no consequence and that question seemed to center on the institution and not the degree itself.

On another matter, the full time services of Dr. Dirk Scholten, psychiatrist, for the department since 1975, were cut down to about eight hours a week recently and earlier this month De Good was fired.

Days later a letter from Holland Police Chief Charles Lindstrom was read at the board meeting in which he criticized the department for not taking action to help an elderly man apparently dying of malnutrition.

Police reported Henry Vander Brake was found dead in his downtown apartment from complications resulting from malnutrition and Lindstrom said police had been called by neighbors to the apartment on several occasions weeks before his death.

Lindstrom urged those dealing with state mental health codes to work for revisions to allow persons of Vander Brake's incapacities to be committed to institutions for personal welfare and safety.

He said it appeared the mental health department seemed to work with less disturbed people and not with the more severe cases such as Vander Brake's.

Lindstrom said later that mental health did follow through with an earlier complaint from police and the matter was referred to the prosecutor who took the petition to the probate judge who declared Vander Brake was able to take care of himself.

Subsequent attempts through mental health to have Vander Brake committed were fruitless, Lindstrom said.

"We also recognize that the code would have permitted a police officer to take the person suspected of mental illness directly to Kalamazoo and sign the person himself," Lindstrom wrote to Probate Judge Frederick T. Miles.

"In view of judicial review and the requirements for follow up and continued responsibility and absent mental health officials responsibility and our own experience in so doing makes this an unacceptable alternative."

Commissioners received a letter from Lindstrom at their September meeting and referred the matter to the Oct. 7 meeting with the Mental Health Board.

Enrollment At Hope Sets Record

Enrollment at Hope College for the new school year is again at the full capacity of the college's physical facilities.

There is a small increase in the total enrollment with a headcount of 2,290, an alltime high. The enrollment includes 2,056 fulltime and 234 part-time students. Enrollment last year, which was the college's previous high, was 2,275.

"In our long-range planning we have projected a stable enrollment at the present level," said President Gordon J. Van Wylen. "At this size we are small enough to maintain close personal ties and interactions between faculty members and students, yet large enough to offer considerable diversity in our programs. At our present enrollment our physical plant is utilized at its full capacity. Further growth would require considerable capital for expansion of our facilities. There are higher priorities for these resources which will contribute significantly to the strength of Hope College."

There is a slight decrease of six fulltime students from a year ago, but an increase of 23 part-time enrollees. There are 561 students enrolled for the first time compared to 579 a year ago.

The breakdown by classes with last year's total in parentheses are: freshmen 620 (618), sophomores 570 (618), juniors 551 (532), seniors 355 (328) and special students 194 (179). Included among the special students are 43 high school students who are taking college-credit courses.

Twenty-nine students are participating in off-campus study programs during the fall semester.

There are 51 students from 20 foreign countries, including Canada, Chile, Columbia, Cuba, Ethiopia, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Iran, Japan, Jordan, Peru, Malaysia, Mexico, Qatar, Rhodesia, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Venezuela and Vietnam.

ABWA Speaker Gives Advice On Self-Protection

Guest speaker at the dinner meeting of American Business Women's Association at Beechwood Inn last Tuesday was Police Woman Betsy Wackernagel of the Local Community Service Unit of the Holland Police Department.

Miss Wackernagel spoke on "Self Protection for Women" and showed a state police film to illustrate. She said crimes against women are more prevalent today than ever. There are three parts to every crime—the victim, the desire of a criminal to harm someone and the opportunity.

Her advice to women who find it necessary to walk alone at night was to walk on the outside of the sidewalk and stay on well-lit streets or even walk in the center of the street if traffic allows doing this with safety. If one is being followed, she advised seeking a store that is open or enter a phone booth for protection and the opportunity to phone police.

She advised women who work at night to park their cars in well-lit areas preferably away from other cars. In this way, when approaching her car she would see a prowler. If one has car trouble at night, she advised putting the hood up and staying in the locked car. When someone stops to offer help, ask them to notify police or call a tow-truck — do not get out of the car with strangers near.

When a woman is attacked, her best weapon of defense is her finger nails. By scratching, an attacker can be more easily identified by police. She also suggested hitting an attacker in the diaphragm, stomping on his instep or foot and when all else fails, scream — this will deter the attacker and hopefully get someone's attention.

She said spray perfume or hair spray, which many women carry in their purses, is as effective as mace when sprayed in an attacker's face.

Miss Wackernagel is a 1974 Hope graduate and a native of New Jersey.

Vocational speaker was Myra Arnold who works at Slickcraft, a division of American Machine & Foundry Co.

President Marilyn Bultman conducted a brief business meeting. End of the year financial reports were given followed by election of officers for the new year.

Elected were President, Lily Geerts; vice president, Marian Wiersma; recording secretary, Gladys Hartgerink; corresponding secretary, Alma Lohman; treasurer, Frances Van Slooten. All were installed by Miss Bultman except Lily Geerts who was vacationing in Hawaii.

Until then, the public should be wary of extravagant claims and promises of cures. A question and answer period followed his talk.

GETTING THE LID ON

On Nov. 2 the citizens of Michigan will have an opportunity to put a ceiling on state spending. The proposal, "C" would limit state spending to 8.3 per cent of total state personal income. Why should Michigan's citizens find it necessary for their own protection to amend the constitution? Because the experience of the past has been that lawmakers won't do the job. And this is a sad commentary.

There is a limit to what the taxpayer can take, and it seems the Michigan taxpayer has reached that limit. Already Standard and Poor has lowered the rating on Michigan bonds, a situation that reflects what is going on. The rating agency pointed to the actions of the legislature as the reason for its action.

We would expect that the taxpayer will get out to vote on Nov. 2, if for no other reason than to get out of a situation where he has been backed to the wall. But there is another good reason to get this lid on taxation. Michigan may be showing the rest of the country what can be done. And it is possible that this action might even get into the halls of congress. Somewhere the constant upsurge of spending at all levels must be brought under control. And Proposal "C" is at least a step toward some sanity in spending.

Lear Opens New Plant In Holland

Lear Siegler, Inc., opened its latest manufacturing facility in Holland Monday with formal ceremonies for its Mammoth Division at 341 East Seventh St., in a structure that formerly housed its Home Division.

Mammoth has headquarters in Minneapolis and manufactures commercial and industrial heating, air conditioning and ventilating equipment which is distributed in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

The Holland plant will make the most advanced design of water-to-air heat pump equipment used in multi-family housing, schools, office buildings and commercial establishments.

Mammoth has named its unit "The Great American Comfort Machine."

The water-to-air pump reduces heating and cooling energy requirements by at least one-third by extracting heat from the water through boiling a low pressure, low temperature refrigerant which is compressed into a higher temperature refrigerant before passing through an air coil which gives up its heat to the room or space.

By reversing the cycle cooling is accomplished and heat is removed from the room and put into the water.

The economy is derived when water is circulated and carries heat from areas that require cooling and makes it available in those areas where heat is required.

Mammoth was acquired by Lear Siegler about 15 years ago and the smaller water-to-air unit is a new product for the division. The Minneapolis plant continues to make the larger roof top commercial equipment.

The Holland plant employs about 12 persons and can produce up to 60 units a day.

Winning TD Scored By John Hosta

By Leo Martonosi

"We had a lot of fun tonight, especially in the second half."

Those were the words of a happy Holland football Coach Ray Backus after the Dutch opened their league season on a successful note Friday night at Riverview Park by tripping Portage Northern, 12-10.

"Were maturing very fast and the other teams on our schedule better be ready for us," added Backus.

On the way up the noisy Holland team bus, Backus shouted, "Are you happy?" And it almost seemed like the bus shook by the thunderous sound to Backus' question.

Tailback John Hosta, who was running with reckless abandon all evening, scored Holland's winning touchdown at the outset of the final 12 minutes. Mike Hernandez, who had a fine punting game wasn't on target on his extra point attempt but it didn't matter in the end, as the Dutch held on for the victory.

End Steve Van Tongeren set up the winning touchdown by grabbing a 54-yard run and throw bomb from quarterback Dan Molenaar. Hosta ran the ball five consecutive times in the drive before going in for the score behind some outstanding blocking by the left side of the line. Fred Lamb, Linn Boerman and Kevin Beerthuis opened up big holes throughout the drive for Holland.

Molenaar picked off a pass in the dying seconds of the game to send Backus and his team off the field a winner. Holland's 4-4 pass prevent defense was extra tough on Huskie signal callers Henry Thames and Tom Harvey.

Holland's largest marching band—175 members looked impressive in lining up in a block of H moments before the Dutch took the field.

Director Carl Dephouse said that the band is the second largest in the conference and biggest in the area.

A fumbled had snap from center set up Northern's go ahead touchdown in the second period. Standout running back Al Zuidweg, who was injured later in the period, plunged two yards for the TD.

The Huskies moved 21 yards in five plays for the score and led 7-0 as Jim Lockwood's kick was good.

Junior Kirk Emerson thrilled the home crowd moments later by returning a fumbled punt 67 yards for six points.

Emerson, who called for a fair catch on Holland's 40-yard line, dropped the ball but scooped it up like a shortstop and broke a couple of tackles in going the 67 yards for the TD.

"Never in my life have I seen anything like that," said Don Piersma, athletic director.

A 30-yard field goal by Lockwood, the hero of Northern's opening game win in overtime, gave the visitors a 10-6 half-time bulge.

Craig Kuipers saved a touchdown for Holland by catching Jeff Lurges from behind on a long pass-run play. Rich Schutt made two key defensive sacks for Holland in the second half to prevent Northern from gaining a first down or going in for the score.

Molenaar completed his first four passes as Holland used up almost six minutes of the clock in marching down field. Hernandez' 38-yard field goal was wide to the right.

A punt which hit a Holland player gave Northern a first down at mid-field and a bad snap from center followed, as Northern chalked up its lone TD.

Hosta finished the night with 90 yards on the ground while Molenaar hit six of nine passes for 90 yards.

The Dutch host Portage Central next Friday.

West Ottawa Drops First Game, 14-0

By Roger Kuiken

GRANDVILLE — The Bulldogs of Grandville put a "leash" on West Ottawa's offense here Friday night and recorded their first football win of the young season, 14-0.

The Bulldogs definitely came to play as they used a well balanced offense and stubborn defense that held the Panthers scoreless. Ball control was the name of the game for Grandville throughout the entire game. This was not a weak Bulldog team by any means. The defense was big and the running of senior fullback Gary VanderWood was super. Grandville took the opening kickoff and promptly moved 65 yards for a TD with VanderWood driving in for the score. A missed PAT put the Bulldogs ahead 6-0.

It appeared that the lead wasn't going to hold up for long as John Witkowski took the Panthers to Grandville 26-yard line on the second offensive play but the Bulldogs put up a brick wall and stopped the Panthers cold and played ball control the rest of the period.

Brian Shaw intercepted a Palmitier pass early in the second period but again the Panthers couldn't move the ball. Witkowski and Jamie Bloemendaal teamed up for some nice gains but some costly penalties kept the offense in the hole. Grandville's offensive line moved off the ball well and the big defensive line kept the Panthers in tact.

Even with the Bulldogs controlling the game, the best they could do in the first half was to put six points on the board. West Ottawa's defense of Brian Driesenga, Scott VanderMeulen, Tom Knowles, Bruce Patterson, Witkowski, Bloemendaal, Bill Strause, Jeff Van Dyke and Greg Ferrel had to play a lot as Grandville ran several more offensive plays than West Ottawa. This was not the rugged defense that we saw the Panthers play against Holland High last week though.

"Our guys were so psyched up for the Holland game last week that we let up somewhat this week," exclaimed Panther coach Deb Nolan. "Two years ago when our record was 6-2, we beat Holland and then lost the second game to Rockford. We'll be alright and will win more games," he continued.

Actually the Panthers have never beat the Bulldogs in Grandville. Last year was West Ottawa's first victory over the Bulldogs ever. VanderWood scored again in the third period and a run by Palmitier for the PAT was good, rounding out the scoring at 14-0. The Panthers defense got tough with Shaw breaking up some passes in the final period. West Ottawa got to Grandville's 13-yard line but couldn't punch it over, late in the period.

The Panthers are a spirited, close knit group and should rebound back next week in their Homecoming game against Rockford.

Holland Firm Ordered to Pay Back Wages

GRAND RAPIDS — Federal Judge Wendell A. Miles has ordered Warm Friend Inc., a Holland firm to pay $7,000 in back pay found due to 36 employees in a wage-hour case filed by the U.S. Department of Labor.

In its original complaint, the Labor Department charged that the firm had repeatedly failed to pay employees time and a half for overtime, and to keep adequate records of employee wages and hours.

Ebels Helps Holland Set Team Record

Patti Ebels gunned in 38 points as Holland's girls' basketball team set a team scoring record Tuesday night in beating Portage Northern, 70-52 for its first win of the season.

Ebels dropped in 14 fielders and was 10 out of 12 from the free throw lane. Dawn Vliem added 13 points.

Holland took a 15-11 first period lead but trailed at the half, 29-28. The Dutch pulled away in the third period to lead, 52-43.

Vliem was tops in rebounds with 17 in the first league game of the season.

"I'm very proud of all the girls," beamed Coach Virginia Borgman. "The girls have shown steady improvement with each game."

The Dutch reserves dumped Northern, 41-20 for their third win. Leading scorer was Cindy Houtgeerts with 11 points. Top rebounders were Sue Kampen and Jan Mills.

ACS Volunteer Offices, One Of 1977 Goals Set

Establishment of volunteer offices in three other Ottawa County communities is one of the 1977 goals set by the service committee of the Ottawa County Unit, American Cancer Society at a recent meeting at which Marcia Van Eden of Zeeland, new chairman presided.

While the goal may not be fully reached, it is the committee's hope to provide personal contact for patients and others seeking the assistance of the American Cancer Society; to keep records of equipment and dressings used by patients as provided by the unit; provide a pleasant place where such equipment and dressings may be picked up and provide a local headquarters for fund raising, education and service in these communities.

This goal was one of eight proposed by the retiring service chairman, Elaine Groeters of Zeeland. Others included a 15 per cent increase in the number of mastectomy patients visited by Reach to Recovery volunteers; an eight per cent increase in the number of ostomy patients reached by Ostomy Club volunteers. One of the 1976 goals, establishment of an Ostomy Club has been achieved.

The service committee is one of the most active and important committees that make up the volunteer work of the ACS. It supervises all services to cancer patients in Ottawa County.

The unit provides information and counseling; limited financial assistance to those who qualify; transportation to treatment centers; free dressings; free loans of sick room equipment; rehabilitation for mastectomies and ostomies and many other services provided by volunteers. Those needing assistance should register with the unit's office at 211 Lincoln Ave., where information may also be obtained.

New Fathers May Hold Their Babies in Hospital

New fathers may now hold their babies in Holland Hospital.

A new obstetrical unit policy, in effect for about a month, allows fathers to hold their newborn babies provided they scrub their hands and arms for three minutes and put on a cover gown. Then they proceed to the nursery, ask for the baby and wheel it in its crib to the mother's room.

This procedure takes place at 8:30 p.m. but if the father works evenings, he may report at 11 a.m.

If the baby is bottle fed, the father may assist with feeding if he wishes. If the baby is a premature in an incubator in the nursery, he is allowed into the nursery where he can have direct contact with his child.

Nursing personnel in obstetrics circulate through the rooms during this period to assist the fathers or any questions.

This policy was established as a result of many comments by obstetrical patients on the monthly questionnaire. These questionnaires are tallied each month and results are forwarded to department heads for evaluation. Quarterly comments are summarized and presented to the Hospital Board. The hospital is making every attempt to correct problems and institute improvements, Director Fred Burd said.

National 4-H Club Week will be celebrated from Oct. 3 to 9. Highlights of the 4-H program will be featured during the week to make all people aware of what 4-H is all about. There are 4-H posters and bumper stickers in the 4-H Office in Grand Haven if anyone would like them for display or to advertise 4-H, they can write or call the office. The theme of National 4-H Club Week this year is "Room To Grow."

The first scheduled events of the fall season for 4-H will be open house meetings for leaders and prospective leaders. They are scheduled as follows: Tuesday, Sept. 28, Zeeland High School Room 47; Thursday, Sept. 30, Hudsonville High School, Room 3; Monday, Oct. 4, Allendale High School, West Entrance and Tuesday, Oct. 5, Coopersville Junior High, Room G-2.

All of these will be from 6 to 9 p.m. We will have bulletins on display covering the organization of clubs and also the various projects such as sewing, knitting, woodworking, leathercraft, etc. We will also explain how each club will receive a number this year which will be used for district achievement judging in place of a leader's name. We will also answer any questions leaders may have in regard to 4-H and the various projects. We would urge new leaders and first year leaders especially to come and talk about the 4-H program. We will hold a brief meeting at 8 p.m., if enough leaders are present at that time. Grand Haven and Spring Lake area leaders are welcome to attend any of the open houses or to come in to the 4-H Office in Grand Haven to pick up their materials. We are hoping that craft leaders will attend the open houses as we would like to discuss several things in connection with the craft projects.

A Visitor's Impression Of Community Ox Roast

By Emily Warn

My first day on the job, I was handed a ticket to what seemed an odd type of community event. An Ox Roast? Have I unknowingly stepped back into medieval Holland? On Saturday, the day of the event, will I climb into a painting by the Dutch artist, Brueghel, who pictures people celebrating their spirit of community by dancing, downing mugs of ale, seated at long wooden tables laden with roasted meats, vegetables and breads.

Holland's eleventh annual Ox Roast Saturday did in fact turn out to be the twentieth century equivalent of one of Brueghel's paintings. A diverse group of over 3,000 people squeezed onto Windmill Island to help celebrate the good relationship and feeling of cooperation between Hope College and the city of Holland.

College students, families, senior citizens, merchants, musicians, college professors, candlestick makers strolled onto the island pleasantly hungry after Hope's victory on the football field.

After surveying the crowd one man said, "I hope Holland never becomes too big as to make this event impossible to arrange." This is hardly small, I thought, I could only guess at the number of hours spent calculating the correct number of plastic spoons, coffee cups per person, slices of meat per sandwich etc.

And the time it took to arrange and find volunteers to drive the shuttle service, collect the tickets, and serve the food. The event could only have taken place with the volunteered help from all factions of the community, the city workers, the merchants and the college personnel.

On the serving line there seemed to be no lack of willing hands to help the efficient, amiable Saga Food Service workers serve the "650 pounds of cabbage, 50 pounds of onions, 45 pounds of peppers, 360 dozen rolls, 2,400 celery and carrot sticks" and of course the 1,000 pound steer, specially picked for the honor at the Hudsonville fair.

The food was so good that people were surprised when I questioned whether they liked it or not. Although when I asked one little girl what she thought of the food she said, "Nothing," and was only interested in pointing out which animal had given her a whirl on the carousel.

After I finished my shift on the serving line, I walked along with other families across the footbridge to inspect the 200-year-old windmill. The windmill seemed to sum up the afternoon. Its arms were remarkably capable for their age, of the slow, sweeping movement which linked earth to sky just as the afternoon had cemented the link between the college and the city.

I heard one man remark in passing, "I remember all the opposition at first, against spending the money needed to import a 200 year old windmill from the Netherlands, but now it all seems worth it."

A collie dog had a rude awakening while strolling with his master near the animal cages of the Hanneford circus Sept. 21 at Civic Center.

The owner was walking the dog along the sidewalk and the dog was acting pretty cocky until he saw the tigers looking at him.

The animal wilted, tail tucked under and belly on ground. The man finally had to carry the dog away.

Those big cats really are huge!

Jimmy's Carter's stand on amnesty for Vietnam deserters really isn't very new.

A researcher for the Netherlands museum noted an editorial in the Detroit Free Press March 30, 1870, on the subject.

At that time Congress passed an Amnesty Act which removed all disabilities from all Confederate soldiers (except about 500 of the most prominent). Previously in 1865, Johnson had already granted amnesty to all Confederates who took the oath of allegiance, again with the exception of certain groups.

Back in those days, Detroit papers came first by train to Allegan, then to Holland by stagecoach.

The colors are just coming through in Holland, and now is the time to start planning that annual color tour.

One need not go far to find good color locally. There's all of Allegan forest to the south, and plenty of colorful vistas in the farm areas in Ottawa and Allegan counties.

The scenic drive north of Muskegon which goes by the blockhouse is always good.

Newaygo farther north is often referred to as the Switzerland of lower Michigan. And the Traverse City area is always beautiful to say nothing of the Upper Peninsula.

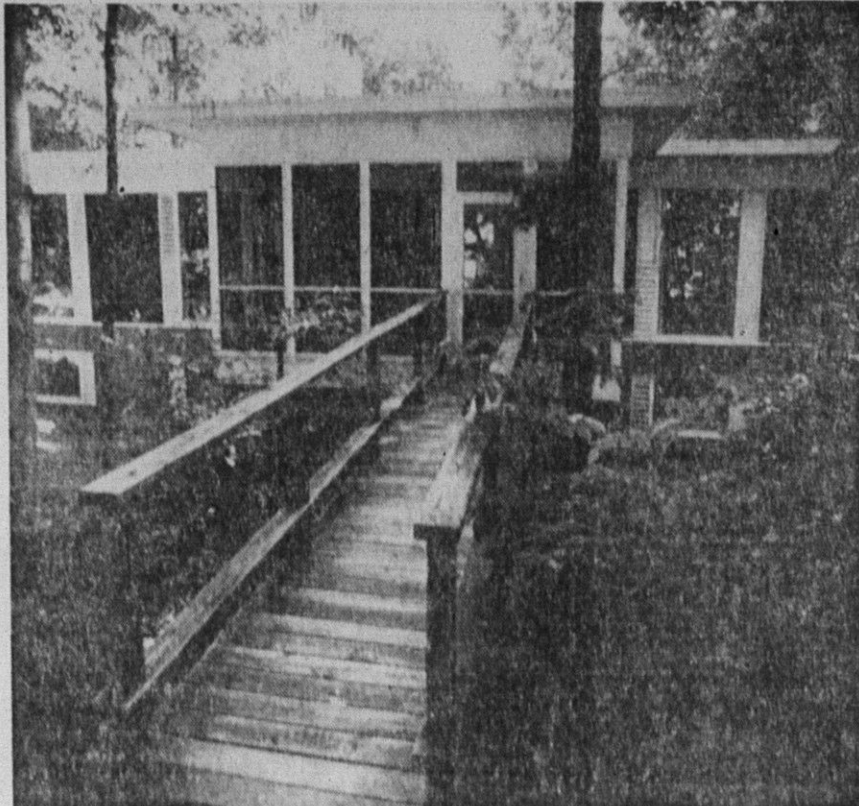

The Michigan Tourist Association has compiled special cards for 24 Michigan color tours, and also calls attention to special attractions in such areas as the color tour and flea market at Harrison Oct. 2, a color cruise abroad the Beaver Islander Oct. 2, 9 and 10 starting from Charlevoix, a fall travel trailer rally Oct. 1-3 at the Coldwater fair grounds.

Others are a Festival of the Forks at Albion Oct. 2, an Autumn Harvest Weekend Oct. 2-3 at Greenfield Village, the red flannel festival at Cedar Springs Oct. 9, a custom van show (Vantasia 76) at Cobo Hall Oct. 1-3 in Detroit, an all-breed dog show at the Michigan State fairgrounds in Detroit Oct. 3, and the National Photography Show at Kalamazoo Oct. 1-17.

Only one of the 24 color tours (tour 10) takes in Holland. The 160-mile tour takes in Muskegon, the causeway, Pere Marquette Park, the blockhouse in Muskegon State Park, Whitehall deer park, Silver Lake sand dunes, Hart, New Era, Hesperia, Twin Lake, Newaygo, Fremont, Twin Lake, Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, Holland with the Baker Furniture Museum, Windmill De Zwaan and Dutch Village, and Grand Haven with the world's largest musical fountain.

Color tour information is available by writing the Michigan Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, 300 South Capitol Ave., Lansing, 48913.

William McCarthy Home, 3153 Lakeshore Dr.

Hallway in McCarthy Home on upper level

Contemporary Design In McCarthy Tour Home

At the request of the Holland community, Junior Welfare League has scheduled an Autumn Home Tour on Oct. 6.

Tourists will find the six homes surrounded by autumn splendor, particularly the William McCarthy residence at 3153 Lakeshore Dr. which is situated on wooded grounds aglow with fall colors.

On the circular sign at the end of the long driveway, which winds through the beech and hemlock trees to the McCarthy's contemporary home on Lake Michigan, are the words "McCarthy, June 1974" encircling a shamrock — a blend of Dutch and Irish, but the spacious aesthetic home, designed in three levels by prominent Chicago architect Fred Keck and built in 1971, is truly modern American architecture at its best.

Although the residence is sizable, 4,600 square feet of living space, the exterior of Danville brick and stained cedar siding makes it compatible with the two and one half acres of wild, natural surroundings.

Situated as it is among the tall trees, the home, newest among the six on the tour, would appear to be dark inside, but the floor-to-ceiling windows, the numerous skylights in the high ceilings, and the airy color scheme make the home surprisingly open and bright enough for Mrs. McCarthy's indoor potted garden to flourish. Plants of every size and description are placed for artistic effect.

Chicago interior designer Marianne Willish consulted with original owners Virginia and William Swett, and the result was a color scheme of earth tones, occasionally splashed with touches of sunny yellow but dominated by light beige on the walls and ceilings and in the plush carpeting.

Impressive in the living-dining area are the Italian provincial furnishings, the solid walnut fireplace wall, the heavy Waterford antique commode, and the small circular rugs used to indicate a traffic pattern or to create an artistic design.

The most notable features of the home are the windows which are used primarily in homes in tropical climates. Each clear-view louver window unit consists of a large picture window, offering a wide view, flanked by two slim combination units of jalousies, insect screens, and inside shutters.

Also, visible from the living room is what appears to be a picture of wooded terrain but is actually a stairwell window overlooking the treetops; the unique quality of this beautiful view is that it changes with the seasons in color and contrast.

The grounds may also be appreciated from the lovely screened porch at the front of the house and through the wide corner windows of the breakfast nook in the contemporary kitchen. A unique corner sink is diagonally opposite the breakfast area. The clean cut lines of the kitchen and its appointments are typical of grandparent's from Fostoria.

Involvement Advocated As Greatest Challenge

Involvement in Community service and in the political sector was advocated by U. S. Rep. Marvin Esch at a Voter Registration of Holland Jaycees Tuesday night at Holland Country Club.

Esch, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate in the Nov. 2 general election, adhered fairly closely to the nonpartisan format of the meeting, and in putting community service as well as political involvement into perspective, reminded Jaycees that individuals grow by contributing — in fact, service to others is the only way an individual grows.

He spoke of the field trips he had taken as a boy at school and expressed the wish that all Americans could take a field trip to the China mainland and to Soviet Russia to realize just what free enterprise means — great nations which boast no unemployment, but "does America want huge masses of people just sweeping the streets by hand?"

Esch spoke of the creeping control of Big Government bureaucracy and its inroads of intruding on the private sector — our homes and our families. He said one OSHA report contains 64 pages on ladders and he felt ladders belonged a bit closer to local control. And he questioned federal government's right to say there should be no father - son banquets, or to integrate boys and girls gym classes.

He quoted the Arthur Vandenberg papers, the turning of isolationist to internationalist, particularly Vandenberg's quote to President Truman that it is far easier to be critical than to be correct. In those days Vandenberg said the U. S. role on the international scene provided no choice — destiny had determined that the United States had to take that responsibility — a responsibility for service.

In meeting the challenge of involvement, Esch said, "You should go out and work for what you believe whether it be Jimmy Carter and Don Riegle, or President Ford and Mary Esch."

He commended Jaycees for their registration project which involves three evenings of telephoning under the direction of Steve Essenburg.

Mayor Lou Hallacy, a former Jaycee president, introduced Esch and traced local Jaycee history and the various projects that had an impact on the community. President Doug Bodenbender presided.
