Heart Balm Case Brings Jam In Court Room

WESTRAT-VAN HARTES-
VELDT ALIENATION SUIT
COVERS THREE DAYS'
TRIAL

Holland is much in the limelight at Grand Haven with one of those deplorable cases that seem to bring crowds of listeners because of the nature of the case.

The case in point has to do with Dr. William Westrate, local physician, who was charged by Philip Van Hartesveldt with the alienation of Mrs. Van Hartesveldt's affections, all of which is alleged to have occurred while the Van Hartesveldt couple were living in a flat on East Eighth street, where Dr. Westrate also had his office on the same floor.

The case has gone on now for three days and scores upon scores of witnesses have been introduced by the defense and by the plaintiff.

Judge Miles yesterday instructed the attorneys that they must finish the case Thursday.

At least 200 from Holland have been making the trip from this city.

DID NOT FINISH

SUIT TODAY

The alienation suit was not complete today as was expected—in fact it would appear that another day will be necessary before the matter is given to the jury. Judge Miles adjourned court at 5 o'clock this evening to be called into session again at 9:30 Friday morning.

The Holland City News refrains from reprinting large part of the testimony given at this trial. True or false much of the testimony of witnesses in cases of this nature we feel is not elevating material for the youth to read in a home paper. We are also mindful of those near and dear to the complainants and defendants, but who are entirely apart and innocent in the matter. Because of these proceedings they are the ones to suffer most regardless of what the verdict may eventually turn out to be.

to Grand Haven for the past three days. Zeeland, Grand Haven and other parts of Ottawa county are also well represented—in fact from the first day the courtroom has been jammed to capacity. Spectators stand in window sills of the courtroom, some find places in the committee rooms, and the crowd also overflows out of the large doorway from the courtroom into the lobby. Within the rail, space was also at a premium, all places being occupied by witnesses, relatives, reporters and attorneys.

During the long days of trial mixed with the alienation testimony some rather funny remarks were made by witnesses relating to the case at hand that brought boisterous laughter from the spectators. The court officer rapped for order repeatedly and Judge Miles threatened to clear the courtroom if there were any more demonstrations of that kind. He stated that the case was not a comedy, but a very grave matter that was occupying the attention of the court.

With the opening of the court on the forenoon of the first day Dr. Westrate was not present.

Philip Van Hartesveldt, the plaintiff, was present.

Ethelyn Koeppe, a former student of Hope college, now living in Wisconsin, was one of the chief witnesses Tuesday morning. She claimed to have lived with the Van Hartesveldts in an apartment in Holland in the building where Dr. Westrate has his office. Cornelius Hoffius, former Kent county prosecutor, and Clarence Lokker of Holland, attorneys for the defense, grilled the young lady severely as they cross-examined her testimony concerning the actions of Dr. Westrate and Mrs. Van Hartesveldt.

Merlin Shanteau, detective from Grand Rapids, testified having been hired to uncover the source of some unusual letters that had been sent to Dr. Westrate last year. James Marcus, Albert J. Matzen, deputy sheriff of Kent county, told of their connection with the case relative to getting evidence, family.

The major portion of the morning was taken up selecting the jury agreeable to both sides and the introduction of the first witnesses. The majority of listeners remained in their seats during the noon recess in order to be assured of a seat and this procedure continued throughout the trial for the past three days, not a few munching pocket sandwiches to sustain them.

Mrs. Anna Ver Merlen testified that she attended two house parties at Holland and Grand Haven, which both Mr. and Mrs. Van Hartesveldt attended, but they came to the party separately.

Louis Van Hartesveldt, father of the plaintiff, told the story of the Van Hartesveldt's married life which began in 1923. They lived happily, he stated, until they went to live at the downtown apartment, where he noticed the difference in Mrs. Van Hartesveldt's attentions to her husband.

He stated that on occasions he had found her in Dr. Westrate's office and that she neglected her little child and home.

Mrs. Van Hartesveldt stated that she disapproved of her actions and her association with another family in Holland, naming the family in question. The father, Louis Van Hartesveldt, at intervals was so overcome that he burst into tears and it was difficult to calm him.

Dr. William Westrate has been the family physician for a great many years and it is alleged that when he called, the calls were purely of a professional nature.

Wednesday defense counsel severely cross-examined Philip Van Hartesveldt, principal in the $25,000 suit.

DO NOT FAIL TO READ

Do not fail to read the lecture given by State Senator Gordon Van Eenennaam at the Holland Merchants' association on the amendments we are to vote for on election day. At least two of these amendments, the Holland City News believes, should have the most earnest consideration relating to property tax. Unless the authors of these tax proposals can "show us" otherwise, we believe, if passed, these amendments will be damaging to our tax structure in more ways than one, not even exempting our school system.

Turn to page two and read Senator Van Eenennaam's discourse and, while he does not advise what to do, he surely gives a lot of information that News readers should know.

TWO HOLLAND SCHOOL MEN ON GRAND JURY

The United States Grand Jury members drawn from western Michigan include two men from Holland. These men are to serve on the Traverse or trial jury.

Rather a co-incidence that two Holland high school men should be drawn from this city at the same time. They are Principal J. J. Riemersma and Leon Moody.

The traverse jury tries the cases after the grand jury has passed "true bills" on federal offenders such as post office robbers, liquor violators, narcotic offenders, counterfeiters, etc. Five of the latter are to be tried at Grand Rapids. The jurors chosen must serve and only sickness will excuse them. Anybody it is an interesting experience for one who has not served before. Thirty years ago your editor was secretary of the grand jury. The jury is to convene in the Federal building, Grand Rapids, in November.

Marries In Grand Haven Theatre

Miss Nathalie Nadiger of Muskegon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Nadiger of Manistee, and Dudley Miller of Muskegon, leading man of Capitol Players, a company of actors and actresses who have been playing two nights a week at the Crescent theatre, Grand Haven, were married by Dr. Chas. A. Bowler Monday night at 9 p. m. at the theatre before a large audience. The stage was beautifully decorated with fall leaves and flowers forming a trellis from which hung a huge white bell made of flowers. Tall palms on both sides made a lovely setting. Before the ceremony "O Promise Me" was sung and Miss Elizabeth McCracker played the wedding march as the party advanced down the aisle, the bride on the arm of her father preceded by her bridesmaid, Les O'Brien, another player preceded Dudley Miller as his best man.

Little Betty Sandeen carried the ring on a pillow. The bride was charming in a blue satin gown made long and fitting. She wore a beautiful white veil and carried an arm bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was also dressed in blue, her dress being made of crepe and was also long and fitting. She carried a bouquet of roses. After the ceremony a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home in Muskegon.

SUPERVISOR BECOMES ILL

Gradus Lubbers, Zeeland township, is critically ill in the Zeeland hospital from a ruptured appendix and was unable to be present at the supervisors' session at Grand Haven. His condition was reported to be rather serious.

GIVE MISSIONARY $135

Rev. and Mrs. Gerrit D. Van Peursem, who recently left Holland on their return trip as missionaries to Arabia, were the recipients of a check of $135 from joint organizations in the Reformed church at Sonerville, N. J. A large box containing a number of packages, one to be opened each day on their trip, was given them by the C. E. society.

OLD DRAIN COMMISSIONER CELEBRATES

Henry Siersema, former county drain commissioner, was in the city. He will observe the fiftieth anniversary of his wedding on Monday, Oct. 17. The News extends congratulations to the happy couple and may it be a diamond wedding later.

Stadium Filled With Spectators

The dedication of the new stadium at Riverview park surely brought out a large gathering, filling the big structure to capacity. Two colorful bands, one led by Director Fox of Kalamazoo, and Holland High, under the leadership of Eugene Heeter, brought about an inspiring sight as the two bodies of musicians marched over the principal streets to the football field.

The Holland aggregation was augmented by bevy of girls and young men in Dutch costumes, including the wooden shoes, holdovers from Tulip Time.

Both Superintendent E. E. Fell and Principal J. J. Riemersma were present at the dedication, speaking words of commendation and gave their hearty thanks to the mayor and aldermen who were specially invited guests, and to the citizens of Holland for being so generous and thoughtful in providing such recreational advantages to the school students of this city.

The two large bands united at one time and furnished music at intervals under the direction of both leaders. Such demonstrations make one feel like old times and the more often, the better it will be for our city.

Eye Witness Tells of Burning of Holland in '71

NEWSPAPER MAN FROM NEIGHBORING CITY WAS HERE WHEN HOLLAND WAS SWEEP BY FIRE

Article Not Entirely According to History; But Description During Turmoil Well Given

The editor of the Holland City News came across an old copy of the Hartford Day-Spring printed in Oct., 1871, where the editor from the city to the south of us, undoubtedly long since gone to his reward, happened to be in Holland when the fire of '71 broke out, which destroyed the greater part of our city at that time.

This week it is just 61 years ago that Holland was laid in ashes when a fierce forest fire was swept into it by a heavy wind, entering the city in the then swamps back of the Third Reformed Church.

There are no Holland newspaper stories of reviews given by eye-witnesses, since all the newspapers in the city, small as they were, had their plants destroyed, and it was weeks before material and money was available to start over again. The article from the Hartford Day-Spring was the only newspaper account of the fire, where the editor was on the ground to write about it. Being a stranger here, the Hartford editor, in the confusion that followed, did not get all names and details correct as our fire history gives it and as repeatedly published in the Holland City News.

The editor, however, surely gives a vivid description of this conflagration chronicling as he saw it, the greatest crisis in our history.

Upon Holland's ruins a new city has been built. Our streets, parks, public buildings, beautiful homes, industries and business districts speak for themselves.

On the whole it has been sixty years of substantial progress, in fact so substantial that it should instill confidence in ourselves to meet any crisis of less import. Surely our troubles today are but minor compared with the crisis of '71 when Holland folks had no money, no home—with an outlook upon blackened ruins and smoke-filled skies.

Our forebears had grit enough, had perseverance enough, had confidence enough in themselves and in their city, that with religious faith and guidance they plodded on their way to greater and better things, resulting in the Holland we now behold.

We if we follow the path of those who have gone before—future years cannot help but bring to us and posterity greater blessings, the fruits of an eventful past. It is rather a co-incidence that fire prevention week throughout the nation comes during the anniversary week of the great Holland fire. Fire protection in the early days was practically unheard of. That's why folks were careful, for fire meant destruction.

Fire prevention has been one of Holland's greatest developments, and might be added the achievements mentioned above.

The News prints below the article from the Hartford Day-Spring in '71.

INCIDENTS OF THE BURNING OF HOLLAND CITY IN 1871

The following description of the burning of Holland is from the Hartford (Van Buren County) Day-Spring, whose editor was eye witness of the terrible conflagration which swept away one of the most enterprising places in our state:

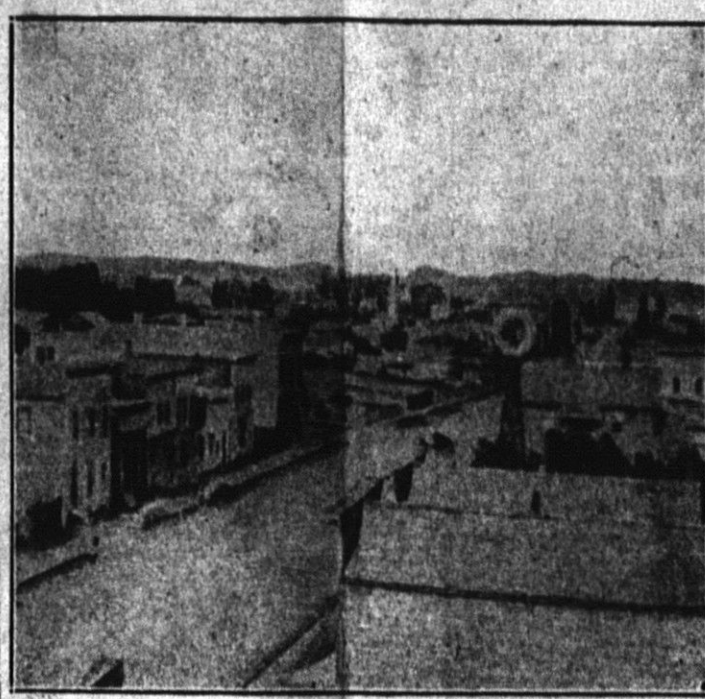

About two o'clock on the morning of the 9th of October the terrible conflagration commenced that destroyed the pleasant city of Holland. Most of the bells of the city, which had sounded the cry for help since early Sunday, now sounded their plaintive call and the inhabitants of the doomed city shrieked for succor and protection as the flames from the burning church and dwellings in the south part of the city lit up the heavens above. Soon the second church and the Methodist Episcopal were on fire, now the City Hotel and the finest stores on Main street. Here the fire became terrific and women, men and children fled the city in panic-stricken horror. H. D. Post and family were aroused just in time to wrap their night-clothes around them and hurry away, leaving their beautiful home and fine property, which it had required twenty-five years to accumulate, to the greedy, ravenous flames. At two o'clock a young woman died and her husband took her alms body in his arms, and by the humanity of Mrs. Boswick, it was watched and cared for in the open air in the outskirts of the city, until daylight came, when it was buried. One old lady, delirious with despair, rushed into the swamp and was mired up to her body, but was rescued by her children before the flames had reached her. A poor woman whose infant lay a corpse in her parlor, strapped the stark body and ran frantically to the woods. The next day she visited the blackened site where stood her home, still carrying her dead baby which she refused to have buried, saying it was all she had left. One woman who was under the doctor's care, arose from her bed for the first time in twenty-four hours and saved herself by flight and, strange to say, has been well ever since. An old lady, who lived alone, was burned in her cabin, she probably not having awakened until the flames reached her body. Mrs. Vervens, a widow lady, who buried her husband in May, grasped her two small children and involuntarily found refuge in the cemetery, a mile away, and was found about noon of that day wallowing over her husband's grave, calling his name piteously in that hour of her great disaster.

The magnitude of this great fire is without a parallel in Michigan history. Sixty-seven stores were burned, forty-seven of which were never entered after they closed on Saturday night. Six churches, three hotels, three printing offices—the Gazetteer, Grandview and De Holland—two large tanneries, two stove factories, the large City Grist Mill with a number of thousand bushels of wheat, two banks, two art galleries, four lawyer's offices, five saloons and over two hundred dwellings with their entire contents. Four hours after the fire struck the city the last of the structures lay prostrate in smoking ruins, and the rising sun looked down upon the smoldering homes of nineteen hundred persons. Many a sturdy pioneer, now aged and grey with the toils of the last quarter century, in rearing a home and gathering around them a competence for old age, were reduced from their hoarded thousands to paltry hundred dollars. One aged and infirm old lady could only be induced to leave her burning house by actual force, while scores rushed frantic for a place of refuge, in paths lit up by the fagots of their burning homes. Six refugees from the annihilated city walked to the city of Grand Rapids before they stopped to rest. The heavy bell in the Third Church kept up its piteous warning cry, until the wild flames had climbed the spire and burned in twin the rope high in the belfry. For miles around the heavens were aglare with the light of the burning city, and vessels tossed on Lake Michigan on that eventful night, were lighted toward the port of Holland, full fifty watery miles away.

Editor's Note—Undoubtedly the old lady mentioned as being burned to death in her cottage was Mrs. Tolk, who is known to have been burned in her small cottage, then located on the north side of Ninth street just east of Pine avenue.

The Hartford editor was correct in stating the course of the fire, that started back of Third Reformed church. It burned everything in its path along the east side of Pine avenue (then Pine street), swept to Black lake, burning everything between Pine and the public square, now Centennial park. The public square saved that part of the city directly north and east, but with a change of the wind the fire continued on River avenue to the lake and swamp, consuming everything on Eighth or Main street, as it was then called, and the fire stopped finally at a small dwelling where the Holland theatre is now located. It naturally burned itself out at the large swamp now on Fourth street.

An Old Timer

The above picture is a view of West Eighth street taken about ten years after the great Holland fire of '71. Wooden sidewalks, gravel and clay streets, an apple orchard and windmill on the Post property at the corner of Eighth and River is plainly evident. Just beyond the windmill you can see the H. D. Post store and residence where the Model Drug now stands. The buildings on the south side of Eighth street are located from the Bloom building west to the Corner Hardware.

The enclosures just across the street on River avenue are supposed to be bill boards covering up the ruins of what was once Kenyon's hall, a three-story structure with an opera house on the second and third floor, and bank, book store and jewelry shop below. This building burned 53 years ago.

FRESHMEN WIN HOPE PULL

As the News goes to press we see the Freshmen of Hope college marching down Eighth street victorious, having pulled the Sophomores into Black river, which meant a ducking. It was the annual Hope college pull staged every year at this time.

EVANGELIST AND "ALL MUSICAL" FAMILY AT ARMOYR SUNDAY

Rev. Edward Vander Jagt and his "all musical" family will be at the Immanuel church in the Armoyr Sunday. Mr. Vander Jagt is a well known evangelist and is accompanied by his entire family who take part in the musical program. Mr. Vander Jagt came to fill the place of Rev. J. Lanting, who is conducting meetings in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Olthuis are planning to celebrate their fifty-second wedding anniversary Oct. 15 at the home in Montello Park, near Holland's west limits. Mr. and Mrs. Olthuis were born and married in Germany and came to America in 1891. They since have lived in Holland and vicinity, having spent 25 years on a farm at Hamilton. They are, respectively, 82 and 73 years of age. Their children are Mrs. Henry J. Looman, Mrs. Edward Hossink, Mrs. H. Hamelink, Mrs. Albert De Maat, John Olthuis, all of Holland, and Mrs. Frank Rennie of Detroit.

Miss Florence Pelon, former student of Holland High, was married to a Japanese graduate of Hope college, and sailed for Japan as Mrs. Tsuda. They expected to reach "cherry blossom" land in about weeks. Miss Pelon will now be a Geisha girl.

OTTAWA COMMISSION SUGGESTS $25,000 BUDGET THIS YEAR, REDUCTION OF $50,000

The annual report of the Ottawa County Road Commission was given to the board of supervisors yesterday suggesting the budget for this year as $25,000. This is a reduction of $50,000 over last year's budget. The general reduction of $41,000 on covert taxes this year, together with the slash of $50,000 will effect a cut of $91,000 from the road costs of this county. The reduction of $41,000 on state taxes is another large item which totals a cut of $152,000 which is in sight before any of the appropriations or salaries are fixed. The $40,000 cover reduction is in anticipation of the McNitt act passed at the special session last spring.

Last year $45,783.74 was spent by the local board for welfare labor. This was divided throughout the county so that the relief money spent in some sections far exceeded the road taxes in those sections.

The report comments on the fact that after a conference with members of the county welfare board, the road commission decided to take no hand in employing welfare labor this year. The report states that cost of construction and improvement has been so closely figured that only the use of road equipment and skilled labor on all projects will allow the commission to remain within the budget allowance.

The contract for maintenance of trunk line roads in this county with the state has been made. Another 228 miles of township roads will be taken over next year, with no increase in office force but with some additional equipment which is absolutely necessary. Last year 228 miles was added to the county's duties.

The $25,000 appropriation proposed will cover the completion of the road connecting the Getz road or rather Lakewood Boulevard along the north side of Black river to M-21 to cost $4,000; reconstruction of the last part of the town line road, which has always been a very dangerous highway due to deep ditches is planned to cost $3,000; Chester road, one mile north of Reno, will be constructed to cost $3,000; the Port Sheldon road, opening that resort territory, will be completed at $4,000; and a bituminous top dressing will be spread on highways running through the villages of Hudsonville, Jamestown, Marne and Coopersville, each project to cost $3,000 with the exception of Coopersville which will cost $2,000. This improvement has been promised for several years. The top will relieve a dust and mud condition through the year which has long been a detriment to these communities.

Doctors and Their Wives Meet at Tavern

The Ottawa County Medical society meeting in the Warm Friend Tavern Tuesday noon was addressed by Dr. Merrill Wells of Grand Rapids and Dr. Luther Gabe, radiologist, who is on a salary, with no extra cost to the county.

Sheriff Steketee admitted this to be possible as did Mr. Cramer of Holland, providing there was co-operation between the justices of the peace and others having to do with these cases. The special deputies solicit these offices for jobs of the kind, said the officers. There is no way to check them, said Mr. Cramer, as he has never been authorized to appoint others than himself to do this work.

Chief Levenside said it would be a mistake to take away a special deputy at Holland as it was important there be a sub-head at Holland.

Holland should not be deprived of its special deputy; at least this city is entitled to something considering the amount of taxes it pays.

If the system is wrong and a paid deputy can do the work, then right the system out and give this city and lower Ottawa at least one official head with authority from the sheriff's department to co-operate with our local police department.

AMENDMENTS DISCUSSED AT LINCOLN SCHOOL MEET

The Parent-Teacher association of Lincoln school met Tuesday evening in the school gymnasium. This was the first meeting following the summer vacation. Louis Dainman, president, was in charge of the business session.

Fred Beuwick, president of the board of education, gave a short talk. The proposed amendments were discussed by Attorney Nelson Miles, George Wolrding, Neil De Ward and Peter Wiersum. Special music consisted of three selections by the Christian Endeavor quartet of Sixth Reformed church, composed of Edward Scheerhorn, Raymond Van Voorst, Bernard Vanderbeek and Arthur De Ward, accompanied by Lewis Verburg; selections by a trio from Holland high school, consisting of Miss Thelma Koolker, Miss Alma Vanderbeek, Miss Marjorie Klompars, accompanied by Miss Lois Vrieling and two numbers by Misses Dorothy and Nellie Plagenhoeft and Madeline Parker.

The program was in charge of Rev. and Mrs. J. Vanderbeek, Mr. and Mrs. W. Strong and Mr. and Mrs. F. Zant.

Refreshments were served by the social committee.

A feature of the fortieth wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. G. Schiele of North Polkton, Ottawa county, was the return of the wedding ring. The ring was lost 35 years ago when they lived at Madaryville, Ind. A nephew plowed it up the last summer and brought it to the celebration, none the worse for its long burial.

Holland had its first snow flurry Monday with here and there a flake.

SEE APPLE TREE IN BLOOM

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Erickson and daughter, Mildred, West 14th St., have just returned from an automobile trip through Indiana, visiting South Bend and Plymouth. At Plymouth they saw an apple tree in full bloom, while at the same time ripened fruit of this season was nestled amongst the apple blossoms. It surely was an unusual sight.

Asks Funds to Finish Soldier History

William O. Van Eyck of Holland gave to the board of supervisors a detailed report on the information he has accumulated on the Civil war enlistments of Ottawa county. He has made an exhaustive study of this with no compensation. He told of the work remaining and asked the board that they provide the funds to complete the work, which has been done over a period of years. Many interesting facts were told of the number of men enlisted, the regiments to which they belonged, where they are buried and the details of their service. The information was collected mostly from old files which had been tossed haphazard into one of the vaults and Mr. Van Eyck was given permission by the board to make a complete record.

A. D. Swain of Grand Rapids appealed to the board for the usual appropriation of $700 to the Michigan Children's Aid Society. He cited the great demands made by present conditions. The matter was referred to the finance committee. A report of the tuberculosis fund was given; the treasurer's report was submitted by John Den Herder.

Holland Men Explain Deputy Fee System

The board of supervisors meeting Tuesday saw an attack on practice of spending $2,500 yearly to maintain a full time deputy sheriff in Holland.

The board requested the clerk to have Sheriff Cornelius Steketee, Chief Peter Lievens of the Holland police, Deputy Rufus Cramer of Holland, Ed Brouwer of the Holland Police Board and the justices of the peace at Holland be present to aid in deciding the problem.

The investigation was started by motion of Dave Cline when the officers named were asked to appear, which they did.

Rufus Cramer was appointed a special deputy for the southern part of the county at a salary of $2,500 under Sheriff Del Foreney's regime some 10 years ago, Cornelius Roenraad reported. This was done to protect that part of the county, the most densely populated, said Sheriff Steketee. There are also many special deputies who are paid only by collection of fees.

Complaint has been made, said Peter Damstra of Holland, that much of the business done by these special deputies could be handled by the chief deputy, who is on a salary, with no extra cost to the county.

Sheriff Steketee admitted this to be possible as did Mr. Cramer of Holland, providing there was co-operation between the justices of the peace and others having to do with these cases. The special deputies solicit these offices for jobs of the kind, said the officers. There is no way to check them, said Mr. Cramer, as he has never been authorized to appoint others than himself to do this work.

Chief Levenside said it would be a mistake to take away a special deputy at Holland as it was important there be a sub-head at Holland.

Holland should not be deprived of its special deputy; at least this city is entitled to something considering the amount of taxes it pays.

If the system is wrong and a paid deputy can do the work, then right the system out and give this city and lower Ottawa at least one official head with authority from the sheriff's department to co-operate with our local police department.

Rev. and Mrs. A. Keizer of Holland were guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. Fryling, Zeeland, Wednesday.

A group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dyke gathered at their cottage near Tunnel Park, last week and enjoyed a sociable time and a picnic on the beach. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hend Dyke, Miss Joan Krole and friend, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kroll and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dispenhorst—Zeeland Record.

A marriage license application has been received from William Brower, 24, of Zeeland, and Wilma L. Kasten, 21, of Holland.

Former Mayor Earnest C. Brooks submitted his annual report as the president of the Michigan Municipal League at the annual convention which opened yesterday at Lansing in joint session with the Michigan League of Publicly Owned Utilities, of which Charles Vos of the Holland board of public works is secretary-treasurer. Holland is represented by Mayor Nicolaemus Bosch, City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker and City Clerk Oscar Peterson.

Henry Roels and daughters, Alice and Martha, of North Holland, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Krug and children spent Wednesday with relatives in Moline.

Mrs. Egbert Gerritsen of 538 Central avenue submitted to an operation at Holland hospital Saturday morning.

Zeeland Puts On Republican Rallies By Score

REV. BOUMA AND GOV. NESTOS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT WEEK—MAPES TONIGHT

Republicans at Zeeland are waking up, in fact have been awake for a week or two. The newly organized Republican club has already had Prosecutor Bartel Jonkmans of Grand Rapids there for a real vigorous talk and tonight (Thursday) Congressman Carl Mapes and other speakers from Grand Rapids are at Zeeland. Both meetings were largely attended and much enthusiasm prevailed.

The citizens of Zeeland are fortunate that on next week Thursday evening they will be privileged to hear Prof. Clarence Brouma of Calvin College, Grand Rapids, who will speak on the present obligations of voters at the Zeeland high school auditorium.

He comes under the auspices of the Christian Voters League, who believe the Christian voters of every community have certain obligations to fulfill with respect to the national political campaign and the welfare of our Christian living.

The topic for his speech has not yet been announced, but Mr. Brouma always has a pertinent message. His latest day speech at Hamilton is still being talked about. At that time he came out for President Hoover and Governor Brucker in a very forceful address.

The Republican Club of Zeeland has secured a real head liner in the way of a "spellbinder." They have been very fortunate in securing a Republican campaign speaker for next Monday night in the person of ex-Governor R. A. Nestos of North Dakota. A man of eloquence and well posted on national issues, which assures those in attendance of both a profitable and pleasurable evening.

Mr. Nestos will arrive in Zeeland early in the day and it is probable that he will address an afternoon meeting at Hudsonville at three o'clock next Monday.

A man of Mr. Nestos' qualifications will certainly draw a large audience and for that reason the rally will be held in the high school auditorium.

From Zeeland Mr. Nestos will fill an appointment at Newaygo on Tuesday evening.

ZEELAND HAS GAME TODAY

Zeeland High school's grid team will travel to East Grand Rapids today for their second of four consecutive games on the road. The game will be played at Ramona Athletic Park and is called for 3:15. As there is only one more home game, scheduled for the season's final, Zeeland fans are urged to travel the short distance to the next three games which will be played with East, Grandville and Coopersville.

PROSPECTIVE BRIDE IS HONORED GUEST

Mrs. Herman Brinks of Zeeland and Mrs. Ed Van Lier of East Saugatuck entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the former's home here in honor of their niece, Miss Edith Van Lier of Zeeland, last Thursday evening.

Among the other guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Brinks and Mr. and Mrs. William Westhof and daughter of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brinks and daughter of Jenison; Miss Johanna Van Lier and friend, Messrs. Edward and Richard and Mrs. Cornelia Van Lier, all of East Saugatuck; Mr. and Mrs

A Queer Case

Dissolution of the organization known as the Advocates of Justice for the Heirs of Anneke Jan Bogardus in the Grand Rapids Federal Court puts a period to a queer episode. Anneke Jan Bogardus lived in 1663 on a farm now the heart of the New York financial district. Within the last decade, Willis T. Gridley, a New York attorney, persuaded tens of thousands of citizens, who could trace descent from Anneke, to back him with money in a legal campaign to obtain title to the land or damages, either from the State or the present owners. Queer aspects of the case are:

That so many persons, estimated at 70,000, could claim descent from one individual.

That these average, well-meaning citizens could persuade themselves an injustice had been done to them.

That they could believe the courts could afford to recognize such a claim, since it would unsettle half the real estate titles in the East.

That they would contribute an amount estimated at nearly $1,000,000 to Mr. Gridley, and be angry when Federal Courts convicted him of swindling them.

Holland Women

Are Prominent at

Muskegon Meet

MR. KOLLEN SPEAKS ON MISSION WORK IN KENTUCKY; SEVERAL MISSIONARIES FROM ORIENT PRESENT AND SPEAK

Holland has not been host to the Women's Missionary Union for the last two years at least and next year the conference will be held in Grand Rapids. This was decided at the convention held at Central Reformed Church, Muskegon, when the 34th annual conference was held. Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore of Holland, who is honorary president, could not be present because of ill health; however, the gathering remembered her as usual with their kind words and prayers.

Mrs. John A. Dykstra of Grand Rapids, wife of the pastor, was re-elected president and the 1935 meet will be held at the church where he is pastor, namely Central Reformed church.

Mrs. Cornelius H. Spaan and Mrs. John N. Trompen, both from Grand Rapids, were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Other new officers are Mrs. Martha E. Kollen of Holland, first vice president, succeeding Mrs. Clarence P. Dame of Muskegon; and Mrs. J. C. VanWyk of Muskegon, second vice president, succeeding Mrs. J. W. VanKersen of Holland; Mrs. J. A. Veldman of Grand Rapids, third vice president, succeeding Mrs. Arthur Maatman of Grand Rapids.

The last evening of the conference, which was also for the general public brought a gathering that packed the auditorium of the church. They came to hear the address of Mrs. Gerrit DeJong, returned missionary from Arabia, speaking on "It Is Not Like This," and to see the missionaries present.

All of the missionaries present were called to the platform for remarks. These missionaries were Mrs. George Laug from Japan; Mrs. Henry Poppen, from China; Mrs. H. E. Veldman, of China; and Mrs. Harry VanKerkhoff, from Dulce, N. M.

Mrs. DeJong stressed contrasts existing in both religious and social life in America and Arabia. Religious intolerance and fanaticism there makes missionary work slow and difficult. The social position of women in Arabia needs great improvement, and there is abundant opportunity for accomplishing a great reform in that nation, the speaker said.

The pageant, "The Light of the Cross," was given by a group of women and children from Fifth Reformed, Unity, Central, and First Reformed congregations under the sponsorship of the Young Women's Missionary Union of Muskegon. The pageant was directed by Mrs. J. C. VanWyk.

The characters, garbed in costumes of the various countries and districts where the R.C.A. is carrying on foreign and domestic mission work, depicted some salient mission features, accordingly.

A musical background was provided by the choir and the organ, and the reading was conducted by Miss Celia Banninga.

The afternoon session was divided into two sections, about 200 persons attending the overflow meeting for which the Rev. Henry J. Veldman, formerly of Holland, now of Muskegon, conducted the devotion, and Mrs. John W. VanKersen of Holland presided.

Speakers alternated between the two sections.

Mrs. George Laug told of missionary work in Japan where the spiritual needs of the people offer great opportunities for missionary support for America, she said.

Rev. J. Denton Simms of Dulce, N. M., reported on his work there, saying that great improvement in the physical and spiritual conditions of the Indians had been realized. At the time mission work was started there, the Redmen were dying like flies, but the efforts toward raising the standard of health, has arrested the death rate. Last census registered a population gain of 150, Rev. Mr. Simms said.

The government is co-operating with the mission and maintains a sanatorium towards helping the Indians on the road to health, the speaker said.

The devotion commemorating the golden anniversary of the Board of Domestic Missions, was conducted by Mrs. Clarence P. Dame, formerly of Holland.

Mrs. James Wayer of Holland spoke during the opening session on the history of foreign mission work in the Reformed church, including China, Japan, Arabia, and India.

Mrs. Martha Kollen of Holland discussed the mission activities of the board of domestic missions in the Kentucky mountains, among the colored people in the south, the Indians in the southwest, and amongst Italian immigrants.

The Mission officers received amounted to about $800 and will be used in furthering the program of the two mission boards.

State Senator

Explains Eight

Amendments

MERCHANTS NOT IN FAVOR OF NEW TAX LEVIES WHICH TWO AMENDMENTS WOULD BRING

State Senator Gordon Van Eenennaam was the speaker at the first meeting of the Holland Merchants' association held at the city hall Monday evening. After the secretary, Charles Van Zyl, had read the different reports, and President William Brouwer had quickly gone through the business at hand, your editor was called upon to introduce Gordon Van Eenennaam, who spoke at length upon the eight proposed amendments that will appear upon a separate ballot on election day, Nov. 8.

He explained the proposed liquor amendment, the reapportionment of legislative districts, the amendment curtailing the power of a governor's pardon and parole on life first degree murders, and other amendments not so important.

Two amendments, however, that should be defeated. The News believes, are the ones having to do with tax exemption and the merchants certainly are alive to the danger if these amendments should pass.

One proposed amendment would inaugurate a 15 per cent limit on taxes. The proposal reads:

"The total amount of taxes assessed against property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed one and one-half per cent of the assessed valuation of said property, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal on obligations heretofore incurred, which sums shall be separately assessed in all cases: Provided, that this limitation may be increased for a period of not to exceed five years at any one time, to not more than a total of five per cent of the assessed valuation, by a two-thirds vote of the electors of any assessing district, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation: Provided further, that this limitation shall not apply to taxes levied in the year 1932."

This much-discussed proposal was placed on the ballot by a petition of ten per cent of the voters, largely in the rural sections, Mr. Van Eenennaam said. There are four main objections to the plan:

One is that assessing officers would attempt to increase assessments to absorb the limit that this amendment allows.

Mr. Van Eenennaam also contended that there is doubt as to what department could levy taxes on such property first. It is supposed that the state would be the first to get theirs, the county second, and if there was anything left the city third. At best it would immediately cause a hopeless mix-up and possibly court proceedings.

It will also prevent cities from making public improvements or at least handicap such a proposition. Today a public street in Holland is paid for in ten years. Under this new proposal such a project must be financed in five years.

In many instances cities would be unable to finance improvements over so short a period.

A fourth complaint is that the proposal is not confined to real estate and that the inclusion of personal property in the limitation would mean a loss of about 40 per cent to the primary school fund in reductions in taxation of railroads and other utilities from which the fund is derived.

In discussions following the address, it was brought out that new sources of revenue for schools would be needed and in some instances would mean the probable consolidation of school districts, especially in the rural regions. It also would increase the educational burden of municipalities, it was stated.

Another proposed amendment which would precede the plan for tax limitation by providing certain exemptions before the limit became applicable was explained. The proposal in part says:

"All assessments hereafter authorized shall be on property at its cash value. To the value of $1,000 the household goods, provisions, live stock, tools and stock of his trade, owned by any household, shall be exempt from all taxation other than to pay public debts heretofore incurred; and the household owned and occupied by any household shall to the extent of $5,000 be exempt from all taxation heretofore incurred, and for the special benefit assessments for ways."

"Until 30 days after any assessment roll is completed, filed and the fact announced in the newspaper any persons having an interest in any property assessed may determine the assessed value of such interest by depositing with the assessing officer a duly executed offer to sell such property at any named price, which price shall thereupon become the assessed value of such interests."

But remember anyone could buy that property for that figure at will where the price is filled.

The plan would reduce the assessed valuation of the state from 35 to 60 per cent, Senator Van Eenennaam stated. In a discussion it was brought out that the amendment would encourage building of homes under the $3,000 maximum to escape taxation. He said the attorney general had declared the system would throw the state into confusion. The senator believed the legislature should be the body to lower or raise taxes and expressed the opinion that the legislature would be able to reduce levies to the $15 per thousand limit as set out in the one plan without the amendment. He told of the real estate tax cut of from $20, 000,000 to $23,000,000 and of returning $10,000,000 in weight tax to the counties.

The state has evolved a plan whereby practically all departments are self-sustaining, he said.

With the loss in revenue by the limitation on taxes it is anticipated that counties would be forced to create their own tax resorts with levies on gasoline and the like, resulting in a patchwork over the state, it was stated.

The News believes that the passing of any of these amendments would create a stagnation in home building and there would be a tendency to build small shacks costing less than the tax limit in order to escape taxation.

Holland property is taxed between 50 and 60 per cent. The assessors, if the tax money was necessary, could levy 100 per cent. There is no doubt that the man with a home of $3,000 and over, if these amendments are passed, would have to carry along the extra burden of the taxes we should get on less valuable homes.

Money to run the city must be gotten from somewhere and if part of the source is cut off it will have to be levied on other properties and that naturally in a city like Holland would be on the better homes, the vacant property, the business districts and the manufacturing, and you may be sure that taxing our industries more will mean driving them out of our city and state, as is said to be going on in neighboring state.

A large part of the Michigan press is seeing the danger of these two tax amendments and are vigorously pointing out what might happen to our whole tax structure.

Senator Van Eenennaam did not venture an opinion one way or another further than explaining the objections he had heard. One thing is certain, however, if small residence property is largely eliminated will have to pay the "shot." Whether that be heavier taxes on better property, income tax on wages and earnings, sales tax, separate gasoline tax in cities or what not time will tell should these two amendments pass.

Readers should study them over very carefully for "monkeying" with the tax structure is dangerous business.

KROGER MANUFACTURERS' SALE TO HASTEN PROSPERITY'S RETURN

Co-operating with a number of leading food manufacturers within the nation, the Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, operators of 5,000 stores throughout the middle west, this Friday begins a one-week's manufacturers' sale.

In announcing this merchandising event, President Albert H. Morrill of the Kroger company, said yesterday that it is another step in his organization's program of doing everything possible to bring back prosperity to America.

Large quantity purchases from a number of manufacturers whose plants are situated in various sections of the country, Mr. Morrill said, will mean the return of many workers to their jobs. The resulting increase in buying power will help to improve conditions in all lines of business.

Fundamentally the nation is as sound as ever, is the opinion of Kroger's president. The present difficulties are the result of a lack of confidence and the paralysis of certain channels of trade, due to withdrawals of money because of this fear.

Once the men and women of the United States become convinced that it is safe to spend, recovery will be only a matter of months. The Manufacturers' Sale, said the president of the Kroger company, is being held not only to start the wheels turning in the many industries, but likewise to induce people, through the exceptional values offered, to begin spending once more.

The manufacturers' sale follows closely upon another Kroger "return-to-prosperity" event which was widely discussed in the American press and featured in news reels in many leading theaters in the country.

This was the placing last week of the largest single order for merchandise of its kind ever shipped in this country. The order, requiring 40 fully loaded freight cars, is now being filled by the Marinette, Wisconsin mills of the Seminoles Paper company.

To place the order, President Morrill of the Kroger company, journeyed to Marinette, where he was met by Mr. R. J. Cullen, president of the Seminoles Paper company, and Gov. Robert LaFollette of the state of Wisconsin, both of whom congratulated Mr. Morrill for his organization's work in helping to revive the nation's trade.

The Mayor also took this occasion to thank the Police Chief and various officers who participated in securing the necessary evidence to bring about the closing of a local establishment.

Mayor's Message

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Holland, Gentlemen:

Our city has just undergone an experience of lawlessness which has shocked and stirred every citizen. The story of how these bandits held up our First State Bank will linger long in our memories, but the story of how our loyal citizens responded to the call and their exhibition of valor and undaunted courage will never be forgotten. I wish to pay my tribute to all of those who so fearlessly fought these outlaws and risked their own lives to register protest against such banditry. That their efforts could not have been crowned with success is lamentable, but surely their unselfish bravery is commendable.

As Chief Executive of this city, I want to express my sincere admiration for our Chief of Police, whose devotion to duty stamps him as a true hero; this admiration extends to every police officer who responded to the call.

I am reminded that a short time ago a notorious place in this city was padlocked and the proprietor effectively dealt with. In this connection I wish to thank our Chief of Police and the various officers who by persistent effort, slowly but surely gathered the evidence to accomplish this laudable result. The general public do not know, nor is it expedient that they should know, all the plans and maneuvers necessary in bringing about the apprehension of wrongdoers. I was in close touch with the Chief of Police in this matter and felt with the Licensing Board and members of the Common Council that the investigation should not be hampered by putting the proprietor on his guard. I feel that the good citizens of Holland will endorse my judgment in the matter and agree that the end has justified the means. I appreciate the faith that was kept in this affair and expect the same co-operation in all future problems of the city.

Criticism of the city officials by anyone not completely aware of the facts is very unfair, and is apt to destroy the confidence necessary in the administration of city affairs. In the face of such destructive criticism, let us not be remiss in our duty, but let us continue with renewed courage to work together for the moral and spiritual progress of our community, and safeguard the interests of the City of Holland.

Respectfully submitted, NICODEMUS BOSCH.

On motion of Ald. Prins, seconded by Kleis.

Resolved that a committee be appointed to draft a suitable resolution in response to the Mayor's message.

Carried.

Mayor appointed as such Comed that the Council and all City Boards be their guests on this occasion, and expressed an earnest desire to have them all present to witness the game and dedication ceremonies.

Heartily accepted and the Council requested to attend in a body.

000 alienation suit against Dr. Weststrate. The defense endeavored to break down the picture that the young man gave in a direct examination relative to a ruined home life and dwelt at some length on the parties the young man was attending not accompanied by his wife, but where his wife was also present.

On the witness stand Van Hartesveldt told of the confession made by his wife in which she alleged that the doctor had won her love although they were happily married four years ago, and he stated that Dr. Weststrate was the family physician and attended the birth of the two children, a daughter of two years and a son of seven months. He stated that he noticed the lack of affection shortly after living in the downtown flat and that at last the separation came when she told of her regard for another.

On cross-examination Phillip Van Hartesveldt admitted that he wrote letters to his wife, and his wife to him, relative to parties that were to be staged. Photographic copies of these letters were placed in evidence. He also claimed further that he still loved his wife.

The defense called in his witnesses, several Holland and Grand Haven women, who brought in testimony favorable to Dr. Weststrate. Attorneys Clare Hoffman and Carl Hoffman showed in most instances that these were former patients of the defendant.

Mrs. Helen Jarvis, mother of the plaintiff's wife, and Louis Van Hartesveldt, father of the plaintiff, testified to the devotion of the Van Hartesveldts up to the time the young couple had taken an apartment in the same building where Dr. Weststrate had his offices.

The witness the spectators were largely waiting to hear was Mrs. LaVerne Van Hartesveldt, who was called to the stand and testified amid tears about her love affair with Dr. Weststrate. She also explained her presence at the different parties in Grand Haven and Holland and the conditions which brought about the suit for divorce between her and her husband.

In questioning Mrs. Van Hartesveldt, Attorney Clare Hoffman brought out that she had real affection for her husband prior to moving to the downtown apartment, which was in March of last year, and there were no strained relations between the couple until after the first child was born in May, 1930. She then also related over what period this affair was going on.

Plaintiff's counsel rested at 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, following the questioning of its last witness, Mrs. LaVerne Van Hartesveldt, wife of the plaintiff, who was on the stand from the time the afternoon session opened until the plaintiff's counsel rested, a matter of more than two hours.

A half dozen witnesses were called to testify on the last day of the trial.

Mrs. Martin Van Meurs, Holland practical nurse at the second Van Hartesveldt baby's birth, testified she saw no intimacy between the doctor and the plaintiff's wife as charged by a previous witness.

Attorney Clarence Lokker, representing Dr. Weststrate, opened the case for the defense and told the jury he intended to show that the doctor and Mrs. Van Hartesveldt never had any intimate relationship and were nothing more than friends, he in the role of a landlord and as her family physician, and that her presence in his office was purely for professional reasons and that the doctor was never aware that a suit was instituted against him by the Van Hartesveldts until long after she had left the apartments.

He claimed that the wife had never shown affection towards the doctor but that it was purely a case of extortion.

The jury who is to pass on the guilt or innocence of the defendant are the following:

The attorneys for Van Hartesveldt are Clare Hoffman of Allegan and Carl Hoffman of Holland.

Attorneys for Dr. Weststrate are Mr. Hoffius of Grand Rapids and Clarence Lokker of the firm of Lokker & Den Herder of Holland.

CENTRAL PARK

Born to Mr. and Mrs. John Bowman Sunday morning at their residence on the Park road, a daughter, Celeste. Mother and child are both doing well.

The Central Park store building received a rather severe jolt last Thursday evening when a car driven by Tony Rutgers of Graat-schap smashed into the corner of the building to avoid collision with another car. No one was seriously hurt but it took two carpenters a day to repair the building.

The Golden Rule circle of the aid society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John L. Van Huis. Mrs. Ben Kole was the assistant hostess and there was a splendid attendance.

After wandering about the country since Sunday morning the cow belonging to Fred S. Bertsch was finally found near Graatschap on Wednesday.

OLIVE CENTER

A penitence prayer meeting was held at the South Olive Christian Reformed church Thursday afternoon.

The recent copious rains are proving very beneficial to fall sowing. Pastures also are showing signs of new life and growth.

Miss Henrietta Shoemaker is employed in Zeeland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harsevoort.

Large truck loads of lumber are being transported to Zeeland daily from G. Moeke and Sons saw mill. This reminds one of the old days of the eighties and nineties when lumbering was the chief industry in this community. In those days, however, transportation was slow, all the hauling being done by oxen.

Mrs. Eva Brady and son, Billy, were in this vicinity several days last week.

Gordon Prins underwent a very serious operation at his home for gangrenous appendicitis. His condition is improving, though he is still very critically ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brower of North Holland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Knoll Friday.

Mrs. Myron Veltheer and daughter, Dolores Gayle, of North Holland visited her mother, Mrs. J. Kraal, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Redder and Helena Ruth visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Redder Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Hipma and children of Holland visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bartels.

Tom Murray had a new roof put on his home the past week.

The home of Ben Jacobsen has undergone extensive remodeling and is now nearly completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kraal celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary last Sunday. They entertained their children and grandchildren at dinner in honor of the occasion.

Ottawa Solons In Their Long Fall Session

CONTINUANCE OF OTTAWA HEALTH UNIT AND FARM AGENT TO BE BATTLE CENTERS

The October session of the Ottawa county board of supervisors which promises to be rather a stormy one, started at 10 a. m. on Monday.

Contests within the board on retaining the health unit, county farm agent, and demonstration agent and on appointive offices were indicated as the supervisors were called to order by the gavel of George Heneveld, chairman.

William L. Stribley, secretary of the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce, reported on tourist and resort activity on behalf of the Michigan Tourist and Resort association. The board of supervisors contributed $600 to the association last year.

The financial report of the county clerk was given the board. There was some sentiment to receive and place on file but the report was tabled for further study upon motion of Supervisor Peter G. Damstra of Holland.

C. P. Milham, Ottawa county demonstration agent, made his report for the year indicating the extent of his work and comparing it with previous years. This report was printed in The News last week. William M. Connelly, county road commissioner, advised the board his term in office expired Dec. 31, 1932. Mr. Connelly is secretary of the road commission, employed full time, as well as secretary of the county park board.

The annual report of the department of health, Ottawa county, was the most important one given by the board of supervisors at the second day's session.

Dr. Ralph Ten Have, head of the Ottawa county health unit, cited in a comprehensive report the extent of the health work in this county, including the school activities, maternal hygiene service, handicapped children, afflicted adults, laboratory tests, sanitary supervision, and educational program; also the number of communicable disease cases, chronic disease, tuberculosis activity, venereal disease, immunization as conducted in this county.

There are 630 children given three doses of toxoid; 3,440 children given the Schick test for diphtheria; 870 vaccinated against small pox; 11 children given the Dick test for scarlet fever and 2 scarlet fever treatments.

There were 25 tuberculosis clinics held, with 486 attending. There were 13 new cases found, 104 cases returned, 235 contacts examined and 349 home visits made.

A tuberculosis testing campaign is being planned for the school children of Ottawa county which is designed especially for the high school group. X-ray tests of all suspicious cases will be given with out charge through a service given by the Michigan Tuberculosis association. Dr. Ten Have reported.

There were 1,206 school visits; 534 home calls in behalf of school children; 2,569 children given physical examinations, with 1,333 defects found, viz.: eyes, teeth, tonsils, hearts. There were 218 defects corrected.

In the maternal service 219 calls were made, 34 obstetrical kits given out and 34 layettes. There are 31 handicapped children under supervision and 254 afflicted adults looked after.

There were 24 health meetings held with an attendance of 2,237. There were 1,778 bulletins distributed.

The ten principal causes of death in 1931 were: Cerebral hemorrhage, 60; heart trouble, 55; cancer, 53; inflammation of the heart, 32; hardening of arteries of heart, 29; automobile accidents, 16; chronic nephritis, 16; influenza, 15; diabetes, 11, and premature birth, 11.

State Aids In Support. The state contributes $1,250 to the support of the county health unit; the United States public health service $500, and the Rockefeller Foundation $375.

Measles was the most prevalent disease with 1,051 cases; whooping cough was second with 208; mumps 126; chicken pox 99; scarlet fever 87; infantile paralysis 5; typhoid fever 2, and diphtheria 2.

The financial health reports: This report showed that the total receipts of the county health unit, including the rebate from the state and the United States government, was $6,499.94. The expense paid, including one doctor, two registered nurses, and one clerk for full time services and the entire office expense totaled $11,850.23. The entire cost, then, of the county for this service was $5,350.29.

The total expense for the agricultural agent and clerk was $3,924.40. The amount paid out to the home demonstration agent was $1,470.21. Four hundred dollars of the amount above included in the expense for agricultural agent and clerk in reality belongs to the home demonstration department as they pay one-third of the clerk's salary but the books include the whole amount in the agricultural department.

Among the other interesting items included in the disbursements shown by this report are: State sanatorium, $464.39; Kalamazoo State hospital, $2,865.97; University hospital, $7,904.95; widow's pensions, $48,122.50. The total receipts by the county as shown by the report are $1,445,778.88 and the total disbursements are $1,293,675.77.

A notification was read from O. B. Fuller advising the board that the tax for state purposes of Ottawa county this year is $190,553.44.

A report from the state unemployment commission was read calling attention to the fact that Governor Brucker desires that all

May 13 1880

-- William Alden Smith --

October 11 1932

Holland was shocked Wednesday morning when the Grand Rapids Herald announced the death of former Senator William Alden Smith.

This newspaper is the one "Bilby" Smith peddled papers for as a kid and was the foundation of his entire career. Later, when he became a business man and entered into politics, he became part owner of the Grand Rapids Herald and just before the time of his death he was elected president of the Herald Publishing company.

Pages could be written on the career of William Alden Smith and the metropolitan press of Michigan and the nation is devoting many columns to his life's work.

Holland knows him better, first as a congressman, later as a senator. He has always done a great deal for this city and was the father of our great harbor project that brought this port its new piers and breakwaters, costing upwards of a million dollars.

No one will forget William Alden Smith as a campaign orator in the earlier days. The campaign was never complete unless William Alden made the closing addresses at Holland, Zeeland and West Olive. Many of these campaign speeches were made during the torchlight procession days which carried with it red fire and Roman candles.

The center of political attraction in those days was Lyceum opera house on East Eighth street, located where the Knitting Mill store is now, burned a quarter of a century ago.

Although a Grand Rapids resident "Bilby" Alden has spent a great deal of time in Holland. He has been a summer resident here except when official duties took him to Washington for the last 35 years. The greater part of this time was spent at his cottage at Ottawa Beach.

However, for the past 15 years Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been living in a home on Lake Michigan on the George F. Getz estate, Lakewood farm. He made daily visits to Holland to shop or call on his host of friends.

William Alden Smith had a faculty of making friends and never forgot a face or a name after he had been introduced. This is a rare gift and undoubtedly many were surprised when months or years afterwards Senator Smith, when meeting casual acquaintances would call them by their first name.

Mr. Smith was a pillar of strength in the business world as this relates to Grand Rapids. He was closely identified not only politically but industrially and financially in that city. He was president of one of the largest banks there and has done a great deal to promote the civic interests of the Furniture City.

He was closely associated with the present Senator Arthur Vandenberg. They were pals in the newspaper game as well as in politics, more as father and son as it were. Many tributes have been paid to Senator William Alden Smith during the past few days, coming from all over the nation. The one nearest home comes from his old friend and neighbor, George F. Getz.

"No death has shocked me more than Senator Smith's. He was with me for a few days here in Chicago last week and seemed to be in the best of health. In his passing I personally feel that I have lost one of my most loyal and true friends, one whom I have always looked to for advice and sincere and mature judgment. I mourn with all Grand Rapids and his many friends throughout this country and abroad. I have lived closely to him, both in private and business life. For fourteen summers he has been with me at Lakewood farm and for many years I was associated with him in business affairs. I pay my tribute to one of the greatest statesmen of his time. This country can ill afford to lose a man of his type during these troublesome times. His place cannot be filled."

The funeral of William Alden Smith took place this afternoon at Park Congregational church, Grand Rapids. The family bade last farewell in the quiet of the home he so dearly loved. The services at the home were at 11:30 this morning, after which the body was taken to Park Congregational church and lay in state until 2 o'clock this afternoon when public funeral services were held, attended by Gov. Wilbur Brucker and his staff and by a large body of thirty-third degree Masons, R. D. Mr. Smith being a member of that order. Rev. Charles W. Merriam and Rev. James W. Fifield, Jr., officiated.

The pallbearers represented William Alden Smith, Jr., chapter, Disabled American Veterans, the Army and Navy club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, United Spanish War Veterans, American Legion. As the body was borne from the church it passed between lines of a uniformed guard of honor composed of members of the Army and Navy club, of which Senator Smith was one of the two honorary members, Clay H. Hollister being the other.

The services at Woodlawn cemetery were private. The American Legion furnished a firing squad and a bugler blew taps while an aviator flying above dropped flowers.

Frog Leg Season Nearly Over

The thousands of boys and almost as many adults who find their sport and a source of food in hooking and spearing frogs have but two remaining weeks before the close of the 1932 frog season.

The frog season, which opened June 1, closes Tuesday, Nov. 1. Under the state's regulations, frogs, if imported from outside of Michigan, may be kept in possession from the close of the open season until March 15. However, it is not legal to have any edible frogs in possession, whether taken in Michigan or from outside the state, between March 15 and June 1.

governmental units of the state responsible for the care of the needy and distressed to apply to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for financial aid, when their finances are exhausted. Another communication was read relative to relief for maternity cases.

The Florence Crittenton organization and the University of Michigan hospital were pointed out as refuges for needed care. Another communication was received from the state relative to assistance to needy. Suggestions were made to use the unemployed for planting shade trees, cleaning up cut-over areas for fuel for the needy and preventing fire in undergrowth.

The state board of aeronautics requested the board appoint a committee to co-operate with the state aviation commission to make a study of present activities, and establish suitable instruction in the fundamentals of aviation, to encourage the use of indigent labor on airports.

Peter Damstra, Holland, moved that all reports be presented to the board by Friday.

FACTS ABOUT FIRE

During 1931 fire destroyed approximately 10,000 lives.

Nearly one-third of these were children under ten years of age. Two-thirds of the total were burned to death in homes. The total economic loss was $464,633,265.

In order to visualize these facts compare with the following: The annual fire bill is about equal to 75 per cent of the interest on our national debt.

The new excise and miscellaneous taxes recently imposed on us will produce, in a year, very little more than the annual fire bill. Over 80 per cent of all fires are easily preventable.

Fire is the great destroyer—not only of lives and property, but of employment, business opportunities, community and industrial progress. Of every hundred industrial establishments burned in the last five years, 43 were not rebuilt. The waste was complete and absolute.

The conquest of fire is simply the conquest of public ignorance, laxness and indifference. Each of us owes the community a duty—to eliminate the hazards on our property. We cannot afford the "luxury" of fire.

GAME WARDENS WILL SELL RAT PERMITS

Muskrat trapping licenses will again be distributed through local conservation officers, it is announced by the department of conservation. The licenses will be placed on sale about Oct. 15, two weeks prior to the opening of the season in the first of the three zones. The cost of muskrat trapping licenses is unchanged from last year; $2.00 for 20 traps and 10 cents for each trap over 20. Not more than 100 traps may be used.

OTTAWA S. S. GROUP INVITED TO MEET AT G. H.

Grand Haven will probably be the location for the annual Ottawa County Sunday school convention in 1933, it was indicated by those returning from Holland, where this year's convention took place Wednesday. More than 1,500 people attended.

VIGILANTES OF OTTAWA COUNTY PLAN MEETINGS

Meetings of the district organizations of Ottawa county vigilantes are being planned to discuss preparations to avert any repetition of the recent Holland bank robbery in the county. Vigilantes from Zeeland, Hudsonville and Jamestown are meeting in Jamestown tonight and Corp. Roy Shields of the state police is to be present. A similar meeting is planned shortly in Holland and John Lindemulder of the Grand Haven Vigilanti reports a meeting will be held locally. At the Grand Haven meetings, delegates will be chosen to a county meeting later.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS FROM GRAND HAVEN, HOLLAND, MUSKOGON AT HAVEN

Grand Haven Tribune: Officers of the Sergt. Alvin Jonker Post, No. 2326, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were elected for the ensuing year at a fish fry held last night at Felix's on Pottawatomie bayou. There were 40 members from the Holland post, besides a large representation for the local post. Clarence Austin was chosen post commander; Joseph Snyder, senior vice commander; William Fawcett, junior vice commander; John Schlukehr, officer of the day; John McCarthy, quartermaster; Peter Smith, adjutant; Harry Baggett, chaplain; Martin Luloffs, trustee for 18 months.

Tomorrow Will Be Zero Hours For Ring Necks

NOT A FEW WERE PLANTED AROUND HOLLAND SOME YEARS AGO

The dawn tomorrow—Saturday—will see lower peninsula hunters shift their front from the duck marshes to the open fields as the season opens for upland game birds south of the Straits of Mackinac. Saturday the season opens for ring-neck pheasants, ruffed grouse, prairie chickens and woodcock. The 1932 season for fox squirrels and rabbits opens at the same time. There have been quite a number of pheasants planted near Holland during the last few years. At least three lots were sent here by the conservation department and were liberated in several clumps of woods and undergrowth north and northwest of this city by Game Warden Dick Homkes, Attorney Tom Robinson and your editor.

Present Conservation Officer Maurice Kulte has also planted many during his term of office and the results have been apparent since pheasants are often seen in the open on the main trunk lines. A few were also observed within the city limits. A beautifully feathered cock bird wandered in the editor's back yard two years ago during a storm season—we thought we were "seeing things."

The fox squirrel season will be the first to close, October 24. Upland birds may be killed until October 26 inclusive. Rabbits may be taken until January 31st. No changes have been made since last year in the regulations governing the taking of any of the birds or animals for which the seasons open Saturday, according to the Department of Conservation.

Bag limits are as follows: Pheasants (male) 2 in one day, 4 in possession and 4 in the season. Ruffed grouse, 5 in one day, 10 in possession and 10 in the season. Prairie chickens, 5 in one day, 10 in possession and 10 in the season. Woodcock, 4 in one day, 8 in possession at one time and 16 in the season. The fox squirrel limit is 5 in one day, 10 in possession and 15 in the season. Five rabbits may be taken in a day; 10 may be in possession and 50 may be taken in the season. It is not lawful to have any upland game birds in possession more than 10 days after the close of the season. More than 4,200 ring-neck pheasants raised this year have been released in the pheasant areas of southern Michigan; about 1,000 more cock birds will be released at the close of the open pheasant hunting season; and 500 of the 1932 birds will be distributed next spring.

In past years the Conservation Department released all hen pheasants during September and the cocks after the close of the hunting season. A new type of leg band, believed to be more secure, has been placed on all cock birds raised and released this year and it is hoped that all hunters who have shot birds will look for bands and report them.

A report submitted by Donald Lamont, superintendent of the state game farm at Mason, shows that during the spring of 1932, 1,030 hens laid 45,340 eggs. Of these eggs, 27,785 were distributed through the state; 10,000 were included in the game farm settings; 1,500 were set at the Wolf Lake Hatchery; 1,000 were exchanged with a commercial breeder and 6,555 eggs were unfit for hatching. As a result of the game farm's first hatchings last spring, 1,625 cock and hen birds were released in various parts of the state; and 1,300 birds are being held for next year's breeding stock.

Of the second hatch of birds, 1,600 hens were released last week, 1,000 cock birds will be released at the close of the pheasant hunting season and 500 cock birds will be held for release next spring. In addition, 436 birds resulting from incubator-brooder experiments at Michigan State College were released. Included in the second hatch of birds at the game farm were 141 birds obtained through eggs sent to the state from Oregon.

DETROIT NEWS VICTURES MISS VANDE WATER

The Detroit News of Sunday devotes a half column and a picture to Miss Cora Vande Water, Republican nominee for Probate Judge. A great deal of the writup is well known by Holland City News readers from the campaign matter published before the primaries. The article is pleasingly written—tells of the tremendous vote received by Miss Vande Water, almost as many as all the other candidates together, and there were six in the race.

TANNERY HORSE IS DEAD

"Dick," one of the horses employed at the Eagle Ottawa Leather company, Grand Haven, for the past 20 years, was shot yesterday when it was found that he was no longer able to "carry on." For years he had been driven and tended by Emerson Hicks and was a general favorite of the men. His death was met with real tears on the part of some of the employees and there was a sadness about the tan bark yard, where he had worked, that was very genuine.

MORE EMPLOYED AT GRAND HAVEN

The Grand Haven chamber of commerce directors meeting was told that 2,126 people in Grand Haven were gainfully employed at the present time. The estimated number employed under normal conditions is 2,400. E. J. McCall, A. E. Colten, and W. L. Stribley were appointed a committee to confer with the welfare board of the city, on starting a man's work plan campaign. William M. Connelly and F. C. Holt were appointed a committee to study the proposed new bank amendment and its effect on Grand Haven.

Robert Hyink sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Ella Hyink. Several members took part during the open meeting. Judge Fred T. Miles will speak on "What Attempts Have Been Made to Solve the Liquor Problem, With What Result?" at the meeting next Sunday.

Pleasures of Table Dear to German Heart

With the possible exception of Chile, Argentina and Brazil, individual food consumption is greater in Germany than in any other country.

The Teuton is not content with one breakfast but must have a second one, usually about eleven o'clock. This is indulged in by everybody from street cleaner to banker. I have had conversations with outstanding financial and industrial figures interrupted at the sacred hour of the second breakfast by the arrival of a waiter with a tray of sandwiches or fruit.

Apparently the Germans never stop eating, which explains, perhaps, why there are so many German waiters. When they are not hard at food they are drinking coffee in the innumerable cafes. If you look inside the leather brief case that nearly every German of high or low degree carries you will find that its principal content is a bundle of sausage and waffles.—Lance F. Marzesson in the Saturday Evening Post.

Dr. Brower Continues his Word Picture on the Holy Land

From time to time Dr. A. J. Brower has sent in to the Holland City News contributions of the Bible Lands of yester-year making comparisons at the time when Christ was still on earth, contrasting that period with the Holy Land of today.

Worshippers washing hands and feet. Notice the shod feet for all ground is considered holy here.

The altar was not dispensed with but a better place of worship was instituted. Paul, we read, was a tent builder by occupation. Then comes David with a suggestion to do better and build a temple, but since he was a man of blood, the Lord told him it was good of him to have this in his heart, but Solomon, his son, who was to follow him on the throne, would be a man of peace, and he was to be the one to do this. So Solomon built the first temple of Jerusalem.

Before Solomon built the temple the people worshiped in high places. They worshiped on mountains or high spots like Abraham did when he was to offer Isaac. Moses went up Mt. Sinai when he received the Law—Christ's transfiguration was on Mt. Tabor.

Elisha on Mt. Carmel settled the question of supremacy with the prophets of Baal. The Ascension took place on Mt. of Olives and so on. Even today as we drive through hilly countries we notice crosses and shrines in high places.

First Kings: "Only the people sacrificed in high places, because there was no home built unto the name of the Lord until those days."

At many places did we see the ruins of temples, to confirm their one-time existence. We saw them at Jerusalem, Karnak and Luxor in Egypt, Thebes at King Tut's tomb, Memphis on the Nile, Acropolis at Athens, Carthage in Northern Africa and the Forum in Rome. Then came the Synagogue, a Jewish place of worship. These came after Nebuchadnezzar destroyed the temple at Jerusalem, and carried all to Babel in captivity. Every Jewish colony built places of worship and called them synagogues. We read that Jesus often visited the synagogues. I went through a good many of them. They are plain buildings, and much on the order of churches of today.

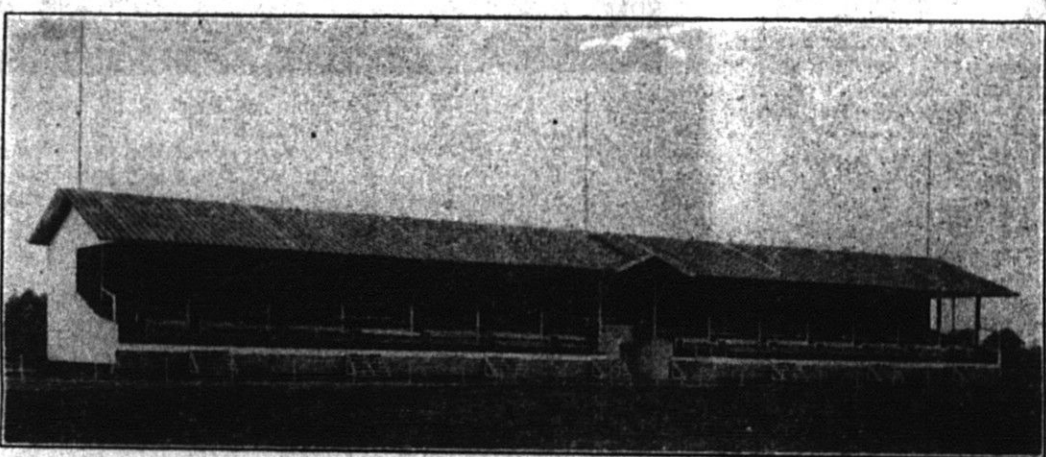

Lastly we have the church, both elaborate and simple.

The oldest of all churches today is the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, built in 330 A. D.; then comes the Mosque, the most beautiful of these is Saint Sophia, Constantinople. This mosque was one of the most beautiful sanctuaries of Christendom before it was converted into the faith of Mohammed. The Moslem religion started in the sixth century, A. D. Then comes the Mosque of Omar, at Jerusalem. The Alabaster at Cairo, then the cathedrals, St. Peter's of Rome, the largest and most beautiful in all the world. Then Seville, Spain; St. Paul's Cathedral (Episcopalian), of London, England; the old and new churches of Amsterdam, Holland, of 1400 A. D. Old Trinity on Wall street, and St. John Divine with its many chapels in New York City, and so on to our own community. I visited all of them. Thus we could trace the initial place of worship, the altar, down to the present-day House of God.

Holland's New Stadium, Riverview Park

The Holland High stadium, which was completed this fall, has been highly praised by neighboring towns and cities. It is the only one of its kind in this part of the state having individual footrests and also a roof covering the complete seating department.

The field is being continually re-sodded in the spots which appear to be dead. Fred Scheerhorn, who is caretaker of the local park, waters it every night to keep the playing field in the best of condition.

Three flag masts have been placed on top of the grandstand, and at every game the flag raising ceremonies "take" and add much spirit and color to the football games.

Bleachers have been placed on the side of the field opposite the grandstand for the visiting teams. However, if the weather does not permit open air spectators to be comfortable the grandstand is large enough to hold cheering sections of both schools, and at the same time everyone can enjoy the football game.

A special compartment has been built on the 40-yard line for the telephone booth, which is connected with the scoreboard, which brings to spectators information on all plays. This box is also large enough to seat all reporters, who write up the games.

Old Helpful Spirit
Still On the Farm

Just one month after fire destroyed the old barn on the farm of Ben Velthous, two miles west of North Blenden, a crew of seventy-five men and boys, comprising his neighbors, erected the frame of a new barn in the form of the good old-fashioned style of a "barn-raising bee" with all its adjuncts of a good time, except the inevitable "leg of beer."

The timber, beams, posts, girders, braces, plates and rafters were all in readiness, having been prepared and laid in order by the contracting carpenters, John and Peter Lamer, who bossed the job of raising the frame, which proved a happy and successful event.

The old barn, which stood the test for thirty-three years until the unquenchable enemy of farm buildings, fire, on last July 22 took its toll, was built by H. Ten Broek, now a resident of Zeeland, in 1895, for Mr. E. Kars, now of Holland, then owner of the farm, which he sold in 1913 to his son-in-law, Ben Velthous, the present owner.

A plentiful supply of lemonade was provided by the "water boy" for the men who did the work, while the ladies assisted Mrs. Velthous in preparing the bounteous feast that was served in the form of a supper laid in the spacious farm yard where one hundred and thirty-five sat down to the delightful repast.

YOU NEED SHOCK,
SAYS JUDGE, AND PRISONER GETS ONE!

Recorder's Court Judge Arthur E. Gordon of Detroit spoke sternly to Milton Atkins, 25, of Van Dyke, Mich., before him on a larceny charge.

"What you need," the judge said, "is a good shock. I doubt that probation would do you any good."

Atkins startled the courtroom with a yell and a frenzied leap. He had touched an imperfectly insulated telephone wire on the clerk's desk and there was nothing figurative about the shock.

Judge Gordon granted him probation.

Things Worth Knowing

Can fruit juices without sugar and make jelly from them in cool winter weather to save time, effort, and expense during the fresh fruit season.

Attractive pictures, poems, stories, and pages of paper dolls cut from current magazines and pasted on large sheets of wrapping paper of uniform size may be fastened together to make fascinating scrap books for the children on rainy and sick-a-bed days.

Cottage cheese may be kept for several days without souring or molding, if it is set in a cool place in an earthenware jar.

Old damask tablecloths can be dyed to make rich draperies. A pinch of brown sugar in soup that is too salty will overcome the salty taste and give no taste of sweetness.

By attaching one end of the shoulder strap to the body of the slip with a button and making three button holes on the strap, a slip can be kept the right length for any dress.

STATE PEDDLES 198 CANS OF MALT IN AUCTION AT GRAND HAVEN

The state of Michigan went into the malt business the other day, setting up a stand at the county clerk's office at Grand Haven.

Fred C. Ehrmann, acting for the secretary of state, sold at auction 198 cans of confiscated malt and eight cans of confiscated wort. Several Grand Haven merchants purchased quantities and one individual bought two cans. Of course the malt was destined to be used in baking and other legal enterprises according to the terms of the sale. The state tax was on it, although the cans were unlabeled as they were when confiscated.

The malt and wort was confiscated by the state upon the arrest of A. J. Scheffer of Chicago Aug. 30. Scheffer and a companion, Arthur Angus, were taken by city police on a tip off and malt and wort upon which the state tax was unpaid were found. Several gallons of alcohol were also taken resulting in the two men being convicted on liquor law violation. Apparently Grand Haven is out to do a lot of baking or stewing.

Man Likened To Driftwood On Life's Stream

OUR HARDSHIPS TODAY DO NOT COMPARE WITH THOSE OF OUR FATHERS

The Men's and Women's Bible classes of Ninth Street Christian Reformed church held a joint meeting in the church parlors last Friday evening, with Mr. Al Vetter, president of the Men's Bible class, presiding.

The classes conducted their business sessions separately, after which they enjoyed a social hour together. A program was rendered as follows: Singing by the audience; a playlet rendered partly in the English and partly in the Holland language was most humorous although the moral was not lacking. Those taking part were Mrs. Ben De Boer, Mrs. George Arts, Mrs. Louis Por, Mrs. Clarence Stietler, Mrs. Raymond Nykamp and Messrs. Isaac Kleis, James Muijs and James Nienhuis. Two selections were then given in a most pleasing manner by Miss Myrtle Weener and James Wiersema, violinists, and Robert Weener, cornetist. They were accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Frank Weener.

The address of the evening was given by Mr. Sidney Stuk, instructor in history and economics at the Christian High school. Mr. Stuk chose as his subject "Driftwood." He pointed out that today as never before, people everywhere are assuming the "I don't care, I can't help it" attitude, having no aim, no definite goal in life, merely drifting about, just driftwood.

Said Mr. Stuk in part: "This being just driftwood is the case with many socially, politically, economically and spiritually. What attitude are we adopting toward these folk who are just 'driftwood'? Surely we have a responsibility toward them. Socially there are those who are trying to come back after having done the unconventional. It's a hard struggle. Are you giving them a hand or are you helping to push them further down the straits of life until finally utterly discouraged they give up—become only 'driftwood'."

"Politically many folks at this critical period are saying, 'What's the use of voting?' Politics is corrupt to the core. My vote won't make any difference anyway; why should I bother? Just drifting when we should be up and doing, striving to do our part to bring this glorious country of ours back to the standard of yesterday. Economically and spiritually we all realize that industrially we are passing through a trying period. But if through this depression we learn to more wholly trust in Him who rules all, then we may be thankful that this time has come. Our forefathers came to this country to seek religious freedom. They passed through many hardships, but felt assured that because they were seeking first His Kingdom, all else would come in due time. We should come back to the faith of our fathers."

A song by the audience was followed by prayer by Dr. Garret Heyns. Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Dainig, Mrs. Bert Jacobs, Mrs. Isaac Kleis and Mrs. Ben De Boer.

Jay Hadaway was seriously injured at Ganges by a bull last Monday night while leading him to the barn from the pasture. The animal became furious and gored Mr. Hadaway's face in several places, dislocated his collar bone, and made other bad bruises about the body. Dr. Goodrich dressed the wounds and the patient is getting along as well as can be expected. Much credit is due to their collie dog who fought the animal to a standstill and but for the brave dog Mr. Hadaway would have been killed. The bull was shot.

Rev. Tysie of Holland conducted services at Dunningville Sunday.

Saturday at midnight Fennville went back to central standard time. This was in compliance with the action of the council taken a month ago.

William H. Bradley, 60, Battle Creek salesman, was in Holland hospital today as the result of the slippery pavement caused by the rain yesterday. His car turned over twice in the accident. A passing truck rushed the injured man to the local hospital. Reports from the hospital today stated that Bradley was in condition to be released late this afternoon.
