Popular Young Business Man Passes Away

VICTOR W. CHERVEN,
HOLLAND FURNACE ENGIN-EER, DIES AT 44 YEARS

Floral Tributes Are Sent from All Parts of The Nation

Mr. Victor W. Cherven, age 44, and chief heating engineer of the Holland Furnace Company, died Saturday morning early at Batté Creek Sanitarium. Despite his illness of nearly a year, which took a more serious course during the last two months, his death came as a shock to his many friends and associates in the Holland Furnace Company family group. Mr. Cherven had been with the Warm Friend enterprise for the last 19 years. He was of a mechanical turn of mind and before coming to the Holland Furnace Company he was associated with the Illinois Central Railroad in the engineering department and was stationed at Chicago for seven years.

While with the Holland Furnace Co., he spent the greater part of a year in government service at Washington, D. C. during the World War, and was in charge of engineering in several soldiers' camps where he did valuable service and thorough work. After the Armistice was signed, he returned to the Holland Furnace Co. and was elevated to the position of chief heating engineer, a responsible place which he held up to the time of his death. This early experience in the railroad engineering department stood him in good stead to the local heating enterprise when he accepted a place in their engineering department here.

Mr. Cherven was an authority on heating and was the author of books that had to do with hot-air heating engineering, that were ready reference to all those who were interested in these problems. His department also fitted him to instruct others and he set up a school of instruction at the local plant as heat units and the other requirements necessary to more heating and the heating of more pretentious buildings. Mr. Cherven had all heating plans scientifically figured out and the success of his department stresses the fact that he was an engineer of real ability.

Mr. Cherven might be called a self-made man. He was born in Budapest, Hungary and came to this country three decades ago. The family moved to Holland where the father quickly obtained employment. They adjusted themselves to all things the community stood for, took their part in the upbuilding of the city. As a lad Mr. Cherven received his fundamental education at the Holland public schools. After his schooling had finished he struck out for himself, trying his fortunes in the city of Chicago. While being employed in the day time he spent his evenings at a Chicago night school, studying engineering in which he appeared deeply interested. His rapid development along these lines brought him responsible positions, first with the railroad and then with the local Furnace Company. It can truly be said that Mr. Cherven, from a plain immigrant boy, developed into a staple local, industrious, American citizen; and through it all he remained popular with all his associates and his many friends.

The funeral of Mr. Cherven took place Tuesday afternoon with short prayer services at the home on Maple Avenue at two o'clock, where the immediate family and very intimate friends gathered.

The public funeral was held at 2:30 o'clock at the Third Reformed church where Mr. Cherven was a devout member, with Dr. William J. Van Kersen, District Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, officiating. Mr. Van Kersen was in full charge of the funeral at the home, at the church and at the grave.

The floral tributes were beautiful—indeed words of art. The church rostrum was hidden completely by the amazing flower pieces, artistically banked in the foreground. The casket was virtually covered with blankets of roses and these tributes came from practically every point in the United States where Mr. Cherven was well known by the hundreds of Warm Friend branch firms and other dealers. The local Furnace Company employees and their respective organized groups contributed beautiful flower pieces and the garlands came in such large numbers that it was difficult to place them all. The scene was made more impressive at the church when a soft light from the ceiling of the edifice shed its gleaming ray over the entire floral setting.

Miss Trilxie Moore, director of music in Holland schools, rendered two favorite hymns of Mr. Cherven, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" by Pearis and "The Old Rugged

CHEST CLINIC NEXT TUES.

The monthly free chest clinic will be held on Tuesday, October 13, from 1 to 4 o'clock in the old hospital annex on 12th and Central Ave. Dr. H. Bartlett of Muskegon and Miss Alma Koertge, local city nurse, will be in charge. Children should be accompanied by their parents or guardians.

EXCHANGE CLUB PAYS TRIBUTE TO CHERVEN

Exchange club members paid tribute to Victor W. Cherven who died last Saturday in Batté Creek, as "an immigrant boy who made good," in a brief memorial service conducted by the Rev. W. J. Van Kersen at the club's luncheon in the Warm Friend tavern Monday. Coming to America from Budapest, Hungary, Mr. Cherven realized his ambition to win a place in the industrial life of America by taking advantage of every opportunity offered him. The speaker lauded especially his ability, and friendly, affable character.

"We pay tribute to Mr. Cherven as a gentleman who always realized the benefits of politeness. He was highly respected, honored and loved by all his associates. He believed in the ideals that the Exchange stands for—you have lost a fine member," he said.

In civic activities he was a member of the Exchange club, Knights of Pythias and the Masonic lodge. He also was a member of the Third Reformed church.

Concluding the service, Rev. Van Kersen read Tennyson's "Crossing The Bar," after which all the Exchanges rose and bowed their heads in a moment of silent tribute to the memory of the departed member.

In the absence of Henry Weyenburg, who was scheduled to give the principal address, Exchangee Clarence Jalving entertained with a colorful description of San Francisco where he had visited recently while attending a national Bankers' convention.

Special entertainment was furnished by Richard Keeler who accompanied by a violin solo accompanied by Miss Sarah Lacey of the Hope college music department. Honored guests present were Rex Chapman of the High School Chemistry department and Irwin Hanson of the Holland high school history department.

An open meeting of the Knights of Pythias was held, Thursday evening in the lodge rooms on the third floor of the Holland City State bank building. Plans for the coming season were reported at the meeting.

Cross" by Rev. Bennard. Miss Moore's beautiful rendition of these hymns added to the solemnity of the occasion. Mr. Kenneth Osborne, Hope College director of music also accompanied Miss Moore on the piano.

The office staff of the Holland Furnace Company, the heads of the departments, and several of the employees occupied a place in the large church edifice, which was filled with relatives, friends and business associates.

The body lay in state at the home on Maple Avenue Sunday and Monday allowing friends, citizens and associates of the Holland Furnace Co. to pay their respects during that time. Many availed themselves of this opportunity.

Mr. Gilbert Vande Water, associated with the Dykstra Funeral Home, went to Batté Creek after the death of Mr. Cherven, and brought the remains to this city. Interment took place in the family plot in Pilgrim Home Cemetery. Practically the entire space on and around the grave was banked high with floral tributes, indicative of the esteem in which this young man was held by many.

Theodore Cheff, general manager of the Holland Furnace Co. and its vice president in an interview stated that Mr. Cherven was not only a fine engineer but a much beloved and highly respected citizen, a loyal friend, and a pleasing business associate. Mr. Cheff stated further that the death of Mr. Cherven is a distinct loss to the Furnace Co. not alone, but to the entire heating industry and that his many friends will feel deeply his passing.

The active bearers were: Stanley Curtis, William Schnippers, Lester Smart, Paul Barthold, Henry Wynberg and Al Kolm.

The honorary pallbearers were: Theodore Cheff, Andrew Klompar, A. W. Tahaney, Henry Boersma, Mat Pellegrom, Vernon Ault, Mr. Cherven is survived by the widow Mrs. Cherven; a son, Victor W., Jr.; three daughters, Anita, Alma and Donna; his father, P. Cherven, all of Holland; two sisters, Mrs. C. F. Eigelbach of Chicago and Mrs. J. Vander Wege of Holland; and two brothers, Frank of Holland and John J. of Chicago.

Those from abroad who came to attend the funeral are the following: Mr. and Mrs. Steve Jakubik and son Joseph from Gary, Indiana; Mrs. Suzie Ristich of Indiana Harbor, Ind.; Mrs. Sophia Strelli and daughters, Irene and Frances; Mrs. Celia Strelli; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Newhof and Mr. and Mrs. John Newhof—all from Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. John Cary and sons and daughters, Irene, Helen, Frank, John, of Nunica, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fabian; Mrs. Helen Koteler; Mrs. Schiller; Mrs. Helen Forensick; Mrs. Mary Olah; Mrs. Helen Santos; Mrs. Mroz; Mrs. Susan Gebnar, all of Muskegon Heights, Mich.; Mrs. Antonette Day and children of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Ann Canera of Saugetuck, Mich.; Mrs. Mary Magordy of Chicago, Illinois; and Mrs. C. F. Eigelbach, a sister of Mr. Cherven and Mr. Eigelbach; Mr. J. J. Cherven, brother of Mr. Cherven and Mrs. J. J. Cherven; Mr. and Mrs. Felix Klemeschky, brother-in-law of Mr. Cherven and Mrs. Klemeschky, all of Chicago, Ill.

Man's Personal Experience In Fire Of 1871

LETTER WRITTEN ON DEC. 30,
1871 REMAINS UNPUBLISHED
UNTIL NOW

Today, Friday, October 9, Is 65th
Anniversary Of The Burning
Of Holland

The Holland City News has written a great deal about the fire of '71, when fire swept into the city from the South where dry woods at the edge of Holland had been burning for weeks. A heavy wind took the embers from the burning forest, dropped them into a marsh below what is now hospital hill, and the dried-up swamp grass burned like tinder and nothing could stop the onslaught of the flames which swept North on what is now Pine Ave. and 8th Street and was halted at an old house on the site of the Holland Theatre and burned itself out to the edge of the swamp North of the city. This story has been repeatedly told.

Today, Friday, marks the 65th anniversary since the time the city has been built—a city that tells a story of progress and many prosperous years. Each year we see about us newer indications of continued advancement, and progress is constantly being made even during this stressful period. Holland is abundantly blessed, founded on a location that would be difficult to surpass. Future years can bring to this community only greater blessing—the fruits of an eventful past.

But coming back to the fire of '71, on October 10 of that year, just two days after the great Chicago fire, when Mrs. O'Leary's cow made history by kicking over the lantern in a barn, we have a new story to tell about the Holland fire, which has never been published up to this time.

The Holland City News recently received a letter from Margaret C. Post of South Bend, Indiana. She was the daughter of the late Charles F. Post, brother of Henry D. Post, Holland's first postmaster. Among the Post keepsakes, the daughter discovered a letter written by her father on December 30, 1871, nearly three months after the fire. It must be remembered that Holland folks were destitute, families were without shelter, many without clothing, and an appeal was made for relief. Folks were generous and while the neighbors stood by loyally, help came from all over the nation even as far away as Dedham, Massachusetts, and by the way, that Massachusetts town is the shrine of all the Fairbanks folks of the nation, including our Holland family tree, also late vice president Fairbanks and other notables, but now we are digressing—the story is better told by the following letter written 65 years ago by Charles F. Post, a pioneer in this vicinity, who in later years lived on a farm North of the City of Holland. This new contribution, published for the first time, follows below:

DEEDHAM, MASS
Mr. Editor:—At the time of the great fire at the West, the ladies of the East part of this town collected and sent to Senator Ferry of Grand Haven, Michigan, some twelve or fifteen barrels and three large cases of clothing for distribution among the sufferers. Several parties wrote notes and pinned the same to articles, asking the recipient to write and give a description of the fire, etc. The following letter, just received, I send you for publication, thinking it may be of interest to the many (not only of Dedham, but throughout the County,) who have so liberally contributed to the relief of the suffering people in the West.

Highlandville, December 30th, 1871.
Mrs. —Dear Madam:—As I changed to be the receiver of the bed quilt sent by you, among other things, for the relief of the sufferers by fire in this place, I found a note pinned to the quilt requesting the receiver to write, giving an account of the fire. This seems like a very small request, and yet it is something of a task.

The fire that swept away two-thirds of our young city was, in respect to description, like a great battle-field, each one engaged in the battle can tell what he saw, but cannot give an account of the whole scene. Thus I can only tell what I saw, which will be but a small part of the whole scene in detail, though it may apply as a general view.

Imagine, then, our town lying lengthwise East and West. On the south were cultivated farms, pieces of woodland, fields of fallow timber, piles of old logs, tree-tops and stumps, bordering on the southern limits of the city, all in the process of being cleared up and improved. Several weeks before the fire, some farmer, south-west of the city, had, in the process of clearing his land, set some fire. No rain falling, the fire had remained in the stumps and old roots, smoldering all these weeks. At last the fearful wind of Oct. 8th fanned these sparks into flames, and catching fences on fire, was carried on the wings of the wind; buildings were soon on fire, some low, swampy ground, ordinarily fire-proof, but now dry as tinder, next came in the way. The heavy smoke enveloped the city; the people went out to see if there was any danger to the city. With any ordinary wind there would be no danger but what would be met and overcome at a moment's notice. At the speed that the fire was then making it would not reach the city's limits before Monday evening. So many returned to their houses; I returned to mine, but I could not rest, so I got all the palisades, and with water, I then took

Council Notes

Mayor Geerlings opened the meeting with prayer. The mayor generally does. Aldermen Prins, Oudemolen and De Cook were unavoidably absent.

The Standard Oil Co. requested a permit asking the privilege to remodel and enlarge their service station on Central Avenue and 9th St. at a cost of $900.

Dog Catcher Kole was given a raise to $15.00 a month. There was considerable argument as to whether there should be a pond-master in the winter time. Alderman Bulman wanted to know if it was necessary. City Attorney Parsons stated that the agreement was only from month to month and the job could be dropped any time by the Council. The City Attorney got a big laugh when he said that Kole was a good dog catcher since the Parson's dog had not yet been caught.

John Knapp, who will open his new service station now nearly completed on River Ave. and 11th St., asked if he could use a sound wagon announcing the opening which will be October 23 and 24. The privilege was granted.

A change in the charter relative to the reduction of interest rates on delinquent taxes as suggested by Assessor Peter Van Ark and fully given in the Holland City News before will be deferred until the spring election since it was too early to place it on a ballot for the November election. The alderman, however, approved the change.

It was announced that the Bay View Furniture Co. has complied with the city's request to connect the factory with the sewer system. Alderman Vogelzang stated that their request had been fully complied with.

City Clerk Peterson announced that delinquent light and water bills and sewer payments should now be taken up and Common Council ordered that these be assessed to the property of the delinquents and the proper steps taken.

Vandenberg Bros. was given sanction of the appeal board to move their "windmill" station from US31 to the fork where Michigan and Washington Avenues join the new highway to Saugetuck. The council sustained the appeal board's action and the windmill station will be moved subject to the compliance of the fire limits ordinance.

Harold White also asked for a permit to install a gasoline pump in the yard of the White Flour Mill on East 8th St. It was granted.

County Clerk, William Wilds sent information to the Common Council that he would hold a school of instruction for election inspectors at the court house on October 15, and inspectors from Holland and the townships would be privileged to attend that school on that evening. It is a big election and undoubtedly such a school will be helpful.

Alderman Kalkman made a plea that no more dumping be allowed on 12th Street in Lake Macatawa West of Kollen Park and that further dumping be prevented on College Ave. in the swamp near the water works. Special police will watch for any further offenders. Alderman Drinkwater stated that truckloads go in late in the night and deposit their refuse. The alderman stated that if it wasn't stopped he would get the names of some of them and announce them in the council. Mr. Drinkwater lives in that vicinity.

The general election inspectors were named with the exception of the third ward. Neither of the aldermen being present to name their man, the place was left blank. Other inspectors are Dick Brandt, John Wolman, William Lawrence, Peter Damstra, G. W. Kooyers, and Herman Steggrda.

The sidewalk committee, to whom was referred the petition of property owners on 21st St., asking the common Council to rescind their action ordering sidewalks constructed on the South side of 21st St. between Cleveland and Harrison Avenues, recommended that the time be extended for laying the walk to June 1, 1937 with positively no extension beyond that date.

The Michigan Gas & Electric Co. brought in a very satisfactory report which as usual was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Motorists going East to West have a terrible time swinging into or crossing River Avenue because of the constant stream of travel. Mr. Geerlings feels that we ought to have another through street parallel with River Avenue to divide the travel, or we should have more stop lights on River Avenue allowing motorists a chance to cut into River Avenue. The new Saugetuck highway augmented the travel considerably it seems, anyway, the matter is going to be taken up further by the police board, street committee and later by the Common Council. Relief is certainly very much desired.

Holland has three wooden shoe signs across the main arteries of the city, East, North and West. They are a great advertisement to Holland. Now we want another wooden shoe sign at the entrance to Holland where it meets the new Saugetuck road in other words, U.S.A. Ben Steffens, chairman of that committee states that the State Highway Commission refuses to allow a sign over the middle of

Council Not Ready To Buy Tannery Lot

APPEAL BOARD DOES NOT APPROVE REZONING RIVER
AVENUE WILL COME TO HEARING

Some time ago the matter came up of rezoning River Avenue from 12th to 17th Street changing it from a residential district to a commercial district. This attempt to rezone has been agitated for several years. Some four years ago an attempt was made to build a drug store on 15th Street and River Avenue, in fact, there were several attempts but all failed since property owners and others as well as the appeal board felt that this should not be put in a commercial zone, that Holland was not ready to take this step. Argument was also put forth that it was too near a public school. Just at the time when this matter came up the depression was the heaviest and there were many vacant stores down town, and some of the aldermen advanced the thought "why build new stores when there are plenty available?" Anyway, the matter of a hearing was left to the appeal board and they are still frowning on the rezoning but they will take part in a hearing on the matter which has been called for the next regular meeting of the Common Council two weeks hence.

The reopening of the rezoning was largely brought about when the new trunk line from Saugetuck entered Holland by Michigan Avenue and River Avenue. This spring a part of Michigan Avenue was put in a commercial zone and service stations are already lining that thoroughfare in several places and more are to follow. Property holders who have vacant property that has been lying dormant believe placing River Avenue in the commercial zone will make the property more saleable and some of the aldermen feel that the entire street should be commercialized. Be that as it may, there is going to be a hearing when everyone can have their say, property owners, Common Council and the appeal board, and from this hearing future action undoubtedly will come.

A matter that brought a little excitement in the Common Council chamber came from Alderman Kalkman who often runs into a climax and then again in a lull. "Casey" wants to buy the tannery property between Pine and Maple Avenues, a whole block of it. It is owned by the Mosser Leather Co. and Mr. Kalkman presented a letter from the company offering the property to the city for $13,000 and another tract across the street North near the West Michigan Furniture Co. for $3,000, a total of $16,000. Mr. Kalkman feels that it is "a buy," the price being even less than the assessed valuation on the tax roll. Mr. Kalkman put it as a motion to have the matter be voted on at the November election. He said, "If the city owned the property, the unsightly spot could be cleaned up by W.P.A." The motion, however, was not supported but many of the aldermen argued that possibly the property was worth the money but the city had no uses for the property at this time and it was rather unbusinesslike to take taxable property from the tax roll and have it lie idle. Mr. Kalkman suggested several enterprises and buildings that might be erected there and also mentioned a recreation field but the aldermen remained unconvinced.

The Mosser Leather Co. in making the offer stipulated that the city should come to a decision by December 1 in order to retain this price. The matter finally came to a vote and Kalkman's proposal was lost, aldermen Huyser and Vogelzang, Bulman, Huyser and Vogelzang voting "no," aldermen Kalkman, Drinkwater, Smith and Damson voting "yes."

The News has always felt that this centrally located property would be a good purchase at that price by anyone, no matter whether that be organizations or public property, eventually it would seem that this whole block of property would become a real asset, however, that's a matter of opinion.

The highway but that these should be put at the side of the highway. The department holds that the sign in the middle of the highway detracts the driver and therefore constitutes a hazard. Drivers around Holland have had different experiences. The wooden shoe cause drivers to slow up since they are immediately aware that they are at the limits of the city where rapid driving is prohibited. Anyway, the matter is given to "Bill" Connolly of the Chamber of Commerce to iron out with Murray D. Van Wagoner.

The Council decided last evening to keep the polls open on election day from 7 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M. An appeal will be made to voters to vote early and thus help the election inspectors who will have to put in a hard, grueling day at best.

No action was taken by the city council Wednesday evening on the $25,364 PWA paving of VanRaalte-ave., as no details of the federal government specifications were given in the telegram of approval received by City Clerk, Oscar Peterson.

Tax collection showed that 87 per cent of the taxes have been paid for the current year, the best showing the city has made in several years. This collection is on both school and city taxes. Delinquent light and water bills amount to $1,400.69, a third less than a year ago.

Gerard Cook, former farm produce merchant on River Ave., is confined to Mayo hospital, Rochester, Minn. after an operation.

FIRE PREVENTION INFORMATION

The Holland City News, on the next two pages of this issue, prints several announcements as these relate to Fire Prevention Week. There is a message from the Mayor, a proclamation from the Governor, some hints as to electrification from the State of Michigan and much other information and pictures that stress the importance of the week. The State Fire Marshal also has his say and Chief Blom and two fine crews of "fire laddies" say their's with faithful, efficient service the year around, the best fire prevention Holland has ever had. Remember fire prevention is not for one week. Fire Prevention Week simply stresses those facts and abuses that should be eliminated throughout the year. Be careful—no careless with fire—"man's best friend and worst enemy." Turn to the next page for Fire Prevention Week information.

BLOSSOMS IN OCTOBER

While picking snow apples on the Henry Schwallier farm east of Coopersville, Roy Peck discovered blossoms on the trees. He also noticed that the new fruit had already set on some of these new blossoms. Another evidence of some of nature's peculiarities this fall was seen Saturday morning when Mrs. Bertie King brought to the Observer office a deep red rose which she had picked in her yard. This was not a monthly rose, but even had been beguiled by the "summer weather" and fall rains.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES CAME HERE

Four leading candidates on the state Democratic ticket visited Holland Tuesday. The Jeffersonian club sponsored the appearance of the group.

The candidates were Rep. P. N. T. Brown of St. Ignace, senatorial candidate; Leon D. Case of Watervliet, candidate for secretary of state; Atty. Raymond W. Starr of Grand Rapids, candidate for attorney general; and State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry of Fremont, who is seeking reelection to a third term.

The group spoke in the street at Baker Furniture and Holland Furnace Co. and a later speech in front of the Masonic Temple. Rain in a measure interfered with the later meeting.

MUCH WHOOPING COUGH

Whooping cough was the "king" of the contagious diseases in Holland in September, Health Officer Ben Wiersma disclosed Wednesday. There were 25 cases reported to his department. Contagious diseases totaled 34, of which 4 were chickenpox and 5 mumps.

WOMEN'S LITERARY OPENS WITH BANQUET

An inspiring address by the Rev. John B. Hubbard, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Park Ridge, Ill., was heard by one hundred and sixty-five women, members of the Woman's Literary club at the Warm Friend tavern, Tuesday. The address followed the opening luncheon of the season. Mrs. Charles K. Van Duren, club president, presided and introduced the speaker, whose subject was "Building Inner Control." The main dining room of the tavern, where the luncheon was held, was artistically decorated with fall flowers. Flowers were arranged by Mrs. L. G. Stallkamp and Mrs. A. A. Visser. Mrs. H. D. Ter Kuurst gave the club collect as an invocation. The next meeting will be held in the club house Tuesday. It will be a joint meeting with the Holland Music club. Kay Powell, distinguished singing artist of Chicago will give a program of characterizations in costume song groups.

Mr. Charles Ash of 166 West 19th St. and Mr. and Mrs. James Kenneria of Saugetuck near Ganges, in an auto accident near Ganges last Saturday as they were returning from a visit with friends in South Haven. Mrs. Kenneria was in Douglas hospital suffering of a head laceration. Mr. Ash and Mr. Kenneria escaped with minor injuries. They were also treated at Douglas hospital and were released immediately. The accident occurred on a sharp curve near Ganges, according to Mr. Ash, who was driving the car. He stated that he had misjudged the curve and that the car went into a ditch and hit a tree. The car was slightly damaged, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Van Zanten and Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Stekete have returned from a motor trip to Cleveland, Ohio where Mr. Van Zanten attended the National Hospital Convention. Mr. Van Zanten is a trustee of the Holland Hospital Board and he stated that this convention was indeed educational and he derived much benefit by attending. The meetings Mr. Van Zanten attended were Administration, Legislation, Public Relations and Finance.

The condition of John A. Overway, 176 West 21st St. was reported better by attendants at a local hospital. He underwent a major operation at the hospital about ten days ago. Alvin Brandt, who lost four fingers of his right hand while operating a machine, Monday, is still in the hospital but his condition was reported to be good.

A "buzzing bee" to gather wood for the winter was held last Saturday by the sons and daughters of Mrs. M. Van Slooten, of West Olive, who is blind. Those included in the affair were, Frank Van Slooten, Mart Van Slooten, George Hymiga, John Hymiga, Henry Shoemaker, Oscar Winters and their respective families and Chris Van Slooten.

HOLLAND GIRL IN WEST FOR WINTER

Miss Dorothy Mae Mulder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Mulder, East 13th Street, has arrived in Portland, Oregon where she will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Van Koken for a few months. Miss Mulder graduated from Holland high last June.

FIRE STORY TAKES PLACE OF OTHER FEATURE

The "fifty years ago" column was omitted this week to make room for the Charles Post letter written 65 years ago, vividly describing the fire of '71. The anniversary falls due today. The "fifty years ago" feature will appear as usual next week.

REPUBLICAN TEA SATURDAY

The Republican women of Holland will attend a tea given by Miss Ruth Nibbelink at her home on West 12th Street. Tea to be poured from 3 to 5 p. m. Saturday of this week when all the "On-1 victory" canvassers and friends are invited.

Mrs. J. Klinge, who underwent an operation a few weeks ago for double goitre, at Butterworth hospital, Grand Rapids, is in an improved condition. She has returned to her home on East 24th St.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Steffens, 300 West 14th St., were honored at a surprise party Monday evening at their home on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Congratulations were received from many relatives and friends and they were presented with several gifts. Those honoring Mr. and Mrs. Steffens were Mr. and Mrs. W. Visser, Mr. and Mrs. L. Visser, Mr. and Mrs. H. Knoll, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wolters, Stephen Speet, Miss Bertha Visser, Miss Helen Visser, Mr. and Mrs. John Steffens, Ed Steffens, Mr. and Mrs. William Barth, Miss Anna Visser, Leonard Steffens, Miss Dena Speet, Miss Ann Dorn, Miss Eleanor Steffens, Miss Corlyn Steffens and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Phillips.

OLD AND MUCH LOVED PIONEER OF THIS VICINITY PASSES

In the death of John J. Rutgers, age 76, this vicinity loses an old pioneer who has been well known for many years by practically everyone. Mr. Rutgers was born in Graafschap, Allegan County, where he made his home with his parents, receiving his fundamental education in the rural schools. Having gone through the grades he became a student at Hope College and later returned to the village where he was born. For some time he managed the Graafschap Creamery and after several successful years he became part owner in the largest general store in the village. His firm name being Rutgers and Tien. The post office was also in the store building and Mr. Rutgers was the postmaster for a number of years. He was at the head of the store for a score of years, when he sold out to Mr. Tien and came to Holland to become the first cashier of the Peoples State Bank, organized in 1905. After eighteen years of faithful service he retired as cashier and was named vice president of the institution and remained actively engaged at the bank for ten more years. While connected with the banking institution he saw it grow from a very meager beginning to a strong banking house and from a rather small bank building he saw it housed in one of the most beautiful structures in western Michigan. The bank building is unique because of its Italian architecture, in fact, different from anything in the city. Mr. Rutgers remained in active service of the Peoples State Bank until four years ago when he tendered his resignation at the age of 72 years.

Mr. Rutgers was of a rather quiet disposition, notwithstanding he was loved by all with whom he came in contact. He was always very considerate of others and whether at Hope College or at a creamery, in a country store or head of a bank, he was always the same modest, self-effacing, but friendly and constantly making friends.

During his stay in Holland he was a devout member of the Central Avenue Christian Reformed church and was an active member in church and Sunday school for many years. He served in official capacities for a long time. He was treasurer of the "Classis of Holland" Christian Reformed church for a number of years and held that office up to the time of his death. Mr. Rutgers was considered by his many friends and associates as a fine Christian gentleman.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. from the home, these services being private; and at 2:00 p. m. from the Central Avenue church where he was a member. Rev. L. Veltkamp, the pastor, officiating. Burial took place in the Graafschap cemetery near the village where he was born and where Mrs. Rutgers was laid to rest some two years before. Mrs. Rutgers' maiden name was Miss Lavina Du Mez.

After the death of his wife, Mr. Rutgers made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Alex Van Zanten, 35 West 18th Street, where he passed away late Sunday. Mrs. Van Zanten is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rutgers.

Surviving are his daughter, Mrs. Van Zanten; two sons, Gerrit A. Rutgers of Lake Bluff, Ill., and Andrew of Holland; seven grandchildren; two brothers, George of Holland, and Gerrit J. of Graafschap, and a sister Mrs. Grace Reijnd of Holland.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The pallbearers were: Ralph Bouwman, Dick Grevenoged, James Brink, Henry R. Brink, William Dornbos and Nick Toppen.

Holland Gets Next Sunday School Meet

WILL BE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF ASSOCIATION BIG PLANS TO BE LAUNCHED

George Schulling Is Again Named
President For The 18th Time

The Ottawa County Sunday School Convention yesterday closed the most successful annual session in the history of the county. In the evening the Coopersville church was crowded to over capacity by more than a thousand who endeavored to get into the edifice. The registration of delegates was larger than usual the number being 402, which is at least 100 more than before.

It is Holland's turn to be host to the convention in 1937 during the month of October, and it is quite a coincidence that it will be the 50th Anniversary of the Ottawa County Sunday school organization, and Holland, because of its advantages and fine places to meet with musical talent and instruments, will be ready to take care of a large convocation of that kind when the half century mark is being celebrated.

The resolutions passed at the convention authorize the holding next year of a two-day session in Holland. On Tuesday afternoon there is to be a large parade of floats and marching delegates, in which Holland undoubtedly will do its part. A large public meeting, with a suitable program, is to be arranged for Tuesday evening, which will undoubtedly be in beautiful Hope Memorial Chapel, at least the committee appointed for that purpose will confer with President Wichers and the college authorities asking for the use of the building at least for the public meeting.

George Schulling, President of the Ottawa County S. S. Association for 18th Consecutive Year.

arranged for Tuesday evening, which will undoubtedly be in beautiful Hope Memorial Chapel, at least the committee appointed for that purpose will confer with President Wichers and the college authorities asking for the use of the building at least for the public meeting.

On Wednesday, when the convention proper is being held, with a morning and afternoon session, one of the local churches will be selected, the place to be made known later. Another large public meeting will close the convention on Wednesday night and undoubtedly this too will be held in Hope Memorial Chapel.

It is eminently fitting that George Schulling of Holland be re-elected for the 18th time for President of the organization. This is a long term that has been received by any other president, either in Ottawa County or in any other church in the state. It will be rather a crowning recognition to our energetic George, who has been untiring in his labors in behalf of this organization, to be the president during the half century anniversary.

The resolutions not only thank the president and his associates, but also the local committees and all those who have contributed towards the success of this outstanding convention. Every member present was enthused and are looking forward to the biggest of all events to be held in Holland next year. The Ottawa County newspapers also came in for praise in the resolutions. Resolution 4 reads as follows: Be it further resolved that we convey to the public and secular and religious press in the county our

MAKE A DATE FOR YOURSELF

Do you think you can spare an hour or two between Oct. 4 and 10 in the interest of saving your property from destruction—and perhaps saving your loved ones and yourself from horrible deaths?

If you can, make a date with yourself now to take advantage of Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed between those dates.

Read the material that will be published during the Week—in pamphlets, magazines and newspapers—and learn of the common fire hazards and how to eliminate them.

Possibly experts will speak on fire prevention in your town—if they do, listen to them and remember what they say. It will be simple and understandable.

If you want further information, go to our local fire marshal or fire chief—Cornelius Blom. He will be more than glad to help you with any fire prevention problem.

Thoroughly inspect your property for hazards, from cellar to roof-top. The National Board of Fire Underwriters, 85 John street, New York, has prepared a form to aid you in this, which is free for the asking. And when you find the hazards, correct them at once—don't wait for a tomorrow that may never come.

Remember that repairs to electrical apparatus, heating plants, etc., require special knowledge and should be made by a qualified expert. Amateur work of this kind may create new hazards instead of correcting old ones.

Remember the date—Oct. 4 to 10. You can spare the few hours that will serve to make your home safe from fire—and you'll sleep better nights when the job is done.

Do Insure! BUT..

1. Don't permit rubbish or waste paper to accumulate; burn it, but not near any building.
2. Don't keep matches where young children can get at them.
3. Don't be careless with cigarette or cigar stubs—or matches.
4. Don't leave oily rags or mops in corners where they may start a fire. Keep them in closed metal containers, or wash and hang out to dry.
5. Don't use worn electric cord, or leave electrical appliances connected when finished using them.
6. Don't store gasoline in your house or use it there for cleaning.
7. Don't use kerosene to start fires.
8. Don't use leaky gas hose or connections.
9. Don't fail to place sheet metal under stoves and on woodwork nearby.
10. Don't neglect cleaning and repairing flues and chimneys.
11. Don't put ashes into wooden boxes or cartons. Keep in metal cans.
12. Don't fail to protect open lights and to screen open fireplaces.
13. Don't thaw frozen pipes with open flame; use only rags wet with hot water.
14. Don't look in clothes closets with lighted matches.

Fire: Mankind's Best Friend and Worst Enemy!

Fire out of hand is the most destructive of all elements that destroy.

It takes annually a terrible loss of life and loss of property—it brings the most poignant despair ever suffered by human beings.

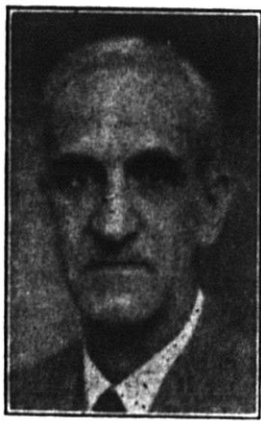

Still, on the other hand, fire under control is the most useful element that enters into and is part of our very existence.

Use fire! Don't abuse fire!

There are many reasons given on this page what, and what not, to do with fire.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE ON FIRE PREVENTION

The President of the United States and the Governor of our State have issued a proclamation designating the week of October 4 to October 10 as Fire Prevention Week. This is a very timely message and every citizen should be vitally interested in it. We need to be reminded of it constantly because we are not always as careful as we ought to be. There have not been any large fires in our city during the past few years and yet a thoughtless act on the part of any citizen may cause a great conflagration. Our fire department responds quickly to any call. Its members are alert and never shirk any responsibility. A fire in nearly every case is a waste and if we can prevent them we are rendering a real service to the community. I should like to impress upon the mind of every citizen the need of constant vigilance.

Failure of Kenneth J. Cairns, 22, surfman at the Holland coast guard station to return to Holland station, Sept. 22, has resulted in his being declared a deserter by Capt. E. J. Clemens, officer in charge at the local station. Cairns was transferred here from Thunder Bay near Alpena in May and served until July 15 when he underwent an operation at the marine hospital in Chicago. Following his hospital discharge, Sept. 1, Cairns was to report back to the Holland station, Sept. 22. He faces possible court martial trial on a desertion charge if returned. A $15 standing reward has been posted for his return here. Capt. Clemens said, Chicago headquarters have been notified. Cairns is said to have a wife living in Port Huron.

Fire Prevention Week For Michigan All of This Week

This week is Fire Prevention Week and Michigan's state fire marshal asks that all cooperate, not only during Fire Prevention Week, October 4-11, but the year around, in eliminating the terrible loss which annually occurs in the state of Michigan. Last year's loss amounted to $7,955,598.

The following are some safety rules which the fire marshal's division of the Michigan department of insurance advocates.

Place stoves, furnaces and pipes far enough from walls and woodwork to avoid overheating.

Cover the nearest wooden surfaces with asbestos board, sheet iron or tin; if iron or tin is used, leave an air space behind it.

Where stoves or heating pipes pass through walls, enclose the pipes in galvanized iron, double-walled, ventilated thimbles at least 12" wider than the diameter of the pipes.

Never pour kerosene into a coal or wood stove, even when the fire is out.

Never put ashes into wooden boxes or barrels; have a strong metal can.

Study the drafts and dampers.

Keep children from playing too near the fire, screen or no screen.

Be careful not to use stove polish on a hot stove; wait until it is cold.

Don't allow rubbish to accumulate anywhere in the home.

Always remember that you must take no chances with gasoline. It is one of the most dangerous substances in common use. It must always be kept in tightly fastened cans; never in glass bottles.

Do not use it for cleaning; get a safe cleaning preparation.

Gasoline is quantity should be kept in underground tanks.

Make sure lamps, stoves, heaters that burn gas, and all pipes and connections are well made, tight and free from leaks. When you smell escaping gas, first open doors and windows, and then find the leak at once. Never look for a leak with a lighted match, lamp, candle or flame of any kind. Use an electric flashlight.

Remember that the human body is a conductor; do not touch wires, rails, or anything which may be charged with electricity.

Do not have wiring done or connections made by anyone but an expert and careful electrician.

Never drop a match, cigar, cigarette or anything with a spark or flame in the woods, fields or along the roads.

In case of fire, know where to find the nearest fire alarm box and study the directions in advance.

Always save life before property.

While insurance repays to the owner the value of the property destroyed, it cannot replace the property itself. When the wood that is used in buildings is once burned up it takes years for trees to grow and more lumber to be produced.

But the real thought back of fire prevention is bigger even than this. Insurance companies, as well as the state fire marshal, are urging carefulness and common sense because America already suffers heavily by fire. No amount of insurance money can take the place of the thousands of buildings that must be replaced every year; while the money spent in replacing them could be spent so much better for the development of new enterprises which would help America. Doesn't that seem logical?

That is why all Americans are asked to fight fire before it starts—by learning what causes fire and then removing these causes, one by one. Support all engaged in this great work and you will perform a patriotic service for America—the country of your home.

Electrical Inspectors Stress Fire Safety

It has been 65 years since Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern that started the biggest fire in modern times, but this week—Fire Prevention Week—we may well stop to consider the destructive power of fire that can result in such a conflagration. Each year Fire Prevention Week includes October 9th, that fateful day in 1871 when the fire started which was destined to reduce the city of Chicago to ashes.

In an interview today with Mr. Looman Electrical Inspector of the State Inspection Dept. stressed the fact that fire prevention, like prevention of disease, is a community responsibility, for carelessness on the part of one individual may endanger the life and property of his neighbors. The fire department and the electrical inspection department can point out hazards to be avoided, but the actual application of safe practices during every day of the year, must be an individual responsibility. Education as to why certain practices may result in fires is the most effective fire-fighting weapon.

Mr. Looman's chief interest in fire prevention centers in the misuse of electricity, and he says that if a few simple rules are observed electrical equipment can be perfectly safe. The first rule is to disconnect appliances when they are no longer in use. Probably more fires are caused by overheated flatirons than any other electrical devices. The surest way to know that flatirons are disconnected is to remove the attachment plug. Next in order of hazard are wires and cords. When wiring is first installed in a house, the work is usually done by an experienced electrician and is examined and passed by an electrical inspector. This part of the wiring is not so apt to cause trouble as the changes and extensions that are sometimes made later. Additions and repairs should not be entrusted to inexperienced handymen but should be made by competent electricians.

Special attention should be paid to the selection and care of flexible cords, said Mr. Looman. These cords naturally are subject to hard usage and become worn, sometimes exposing the conductors and constituting a fire and shock hazard. Cords of sub-standard construction, which will not meet the safety standards of Underwriters' Laboratories, have given electrical inspectors considerable concern during the last few years, and these inspectors have done their utmost to advise the public of the desirability of making sure that cords purchased, either separately or as parts of appliances, be of good grade. They have strongly recommended the purchase of cords bearing the label of the Underwriters' wrapped around each length of cord.

Warning is given, too, in regard to the use of fuses. The public should be made to realize that fuses are the safety valves of the electrical system and should never be tampered with. When a fuse blows out the trouble should be found and remedied before a new fuse is inserted. In general, fuses should be rated not more than 15 amperes unless some competent person has advised that the wires are of larger size than usual, and can be fused at a higher value.

Because she fluently speaks the Holland language as well as English is one of the reasons Miss Van Oss was engaged to take charge.

Man's Personal Experience In Fire Of 1871

a large sprinkler, and carried water upon the house-roof, and wet it thoroughly. As the sun went down the wind increased instead of decreased, as is usual, and soon the tolling of the church bells told of danger. People hurried to the "front", and fought the flames inch by inch, yet still it advanced. The wind blew a fearful gale, carrying coals far over the heads of those who fought. Flesh and blood could not longer stand the heat and smoke. Buildings were already on fire, so each one fled for their home to save, if possible, something. I had returned to my house before the unequal contest was given up, and was on my house top when the flames from the south-west swept in. My house is in the southern part of the city, about midway East and West. As I stood on my roof the fire swept nearly all west of me, moving from south-west to north-west, so that it passed me by. It seemed as though the fire leaped from roof to roof, from house to house, faster than a person could run. The truth was it rained coals of fire and huge fire brands clear through the city after the first buildings were on fire, from these the fire sprang up at every point, so people had to flee for their lives, there being no time to save anything. My wife, with her little ones, had fled to the north-east part of the city to her sister's; she soon returned to me to know where next to go, as that place did not seem safe. I directed her to go to a place farther east. No building had burned there as yet, and I thought we were safe, though the heat and smoke were so great as to be unbearable almost. As I still carried water upon my roof, I turned my eyes South. I saw a large field of timber, hitherto untouched by fire, but now just caught; the flames leaped from tree to tree, and rolled in vast sheets over the dry timber on the ground; soon, two houses and a barn were on fire, and the flames blowing directly from them to where I was. I saw no chance to save my house now; I was almost blinded with smoke, so I gave up and went in search of my wife and little ones. I found they had reached the place I directed, which proved to be a place of safety, though it had been a hard struggle. Baby was about eighteen months old; she had been ill during the summer; my wife carried her, though the wind was so strong that several times she had to throw herself on the ground until the fury of the wind had passed, and then struggle on. Walter is a manly little fellow of five years. His uncle had given him a nice little wheelbarrow but a few weeks before;

this he would not leave behind, but kept it till he came back home. Once the wind took both the boy and his wheelbarrow clear from the ground, and carried them some little distance; still, Walter would not let go the handles, though his hat was gone and his eyes full of sand. Here with my family I waited for a while, when, hearing from one who had fled later, that my house still remained, I tried to go back, but found so much fire burning old stumps and fences between where I was and my house, and the heat and smoke so great, that I could not get through. I waited again for a while, then taking another route, I reached my house and found it safe, although my barn, a little southwest on the same quarter acre lot was burned, and the fence burned to within forty feet of the house. The house had been on fire, but some who had no families to look after, had stayed and extinguished the flames, as the thorough wetting I had given the roof made it slow to burn. My forethought in wetting the roof and leaving plenty of water standing ready for use, saved my house, and not mine only, but at least two-thirds of the one-third of the unburned of the city, as my house was the key to the greater part of the rest of the town.

Still not until the next day could I bring my family back, so great was the heat and smoke. This was my personal experience, others had a still more trying one. One old lady carried out of her house some things, and returning for more, was caught in the flames and burned. One woman, whose husband was sick, and whose child was even dying, was obliged to flee from her house, carried the child (which died in her arms,) and dragged her husband to a place of safety. All of that terrible night she sat, holding her dead child in her arms.

Many, when they saw the danger, buried their beds, clothes and other valuables in the light sand of which the soil is composed, but the wind blew the sand off, and the goods were burned. Clothes and beds put in wells were even burned down to the water. It does not seem possible that fire could have sought out and burned as it did in so many apparently safe places.

After the smoke and heat of the fire had cleared away, what a scene of desolation and sorrow was presented. Where was food and clothing to come from? Our sister city of Grand Haven answered the first question by sending a car load of cooked provisions. Other towns near were but a little behind her. Never did plump loaves of bread, and pans of baked pork and beans look more tempting. The hungry were hardly fed before boxes of clothing began to arrive, and from week to week came until our wants were supplied. We organized, and began a systematic distribution of clothing and bedding. For nearly sixty days I worked in the committee room of the clothing department.

Our fire was a great and terrible one, but the great and noble response to our cry for help, from all parts of our country was equal to the emergency. When I was a boy, and for the first time unfurled the "Stars and Stripes" for a Fourth of July celebration I felt proud of being an American; when, in later years, at my country's call I enlisted in the army, I was proud of my nation. Now, when I see the prompt and noble response of a whole nation when suffering people cry, I feel a higher, deeper and holier pride in my nation and my people. We Americans have the name of being devoted to the "Almighty dollar", as it is called, but this occasion shows that dollars can be given freely when suffering humanity cries for help, as has never been given by any other nation.

Many of those whose dwellings were unharmed, lost their most valuable beds, clothes, etc. Others who saved house and contents, had business or employment cut off. So all are sufferers to a greater or lesser extent. With food and clothing we are supplied, I think, for the winter.

I have sought for a comparison by which to compare the magnitude of the gifts to us, but never could find one. Today I see the gifts to Chicago compared to the Saviour feeding the five thousand with a few loaves and fishes. I think the same comparison applies here, too. May God bless the donors as freely as they have given us. I shall prize the quilt that I received from you, not only for its use and comfort, but for its great beauty. May God bless the kind lady who made it, and so useful a life as hers must be, be spared yet many years. As the note on the quilt contains a promise to write to the one who receives it, in reply to this letter I hope to receive a line from you. With many thanks for your kind gift I am

Yours very respectfully,

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

MOVING DAY IS AT HAND. All hands and the cook are directed to be at the City Hall, to move all of our worldly goods to the new quarters, at 7:00 o'clock Friday evening. It won't take long if a good crowd shows up.

Don't dress up, don't be late and if your hands are subject to the common garden variety of blisters, wear a pair of gloves. Our next meeting will be held in the new place next Wednesday evening, October 14th, at 7:45.

Charlie Miller and his committee consisting of Doc Westrate, Al Van Lente, Heinie Geerts, and Al Joldersma will furnish entertainment and refreshments. We are expecting big things from this group and disappointment will run high if they fail us in the least of things.

A Bridge party held by Mrs. Jack Barendse's division at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Meeuwesen was a huge success. There were 16 tables and prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Klomprens and Ed Slioter, for whom the cards ran very nicely indeed.

There are a large number of new families in town and among them are some ex-service men. If you become acquainted with any of these folks, let us know and we will make Legionnaires out of them.

The Fifth District Auxiliary
CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity through the columns of the Holland City News to express our sincere thanks for the kind consideration given us during the protracted illness and death of a beloved husband and father. We wish to thank the Holland Furnace Co. officials, the different organized groups in that institution, the office staff and the employees in general. They have been wonderful, thoughtful and most kind. We wish to thank Dr. Van Kersen for his loving kindness and his kind words and his thoughtfulness at all times during the sickness and death of Mr. Cherven and during the funeral rites, and also Miss Trisxie Moore and Kenneth Osborne for their beautiful sacred music rendered at the church. We wish to express our appreciation for the many floral tributes from home and abroad, for the several kind friends who donated their automobiles and for the many neighbors and friends who were so helpful during the time of our bereavement. We feel very deeply all these things and words cannot adequately express our thankfulness.

Mrs. Victor W. Cherven and children.

25,000 BLUE GILLS ARE PLANTED IN LOCAL WATERS

The Grand Haven branch of the Holland Fish and Game club planted 25,000 blue gills in local waters today. A group of local members of the club went to Holland with one of John Casemier's trucks and dipped the fish from the tanks of the Holland club. The fish were planted in Pottawatomie, Lloyd's Stearns' and Petty's bays. Conservation Officer I. A. Antles supervised the planting.

FISHERMEN SAVE DUCK FROM TURTLE BUT DUCK LEAVES ONE LEG BEHIND

If, at a future date, you encounter a wild duck minus one foot, don't rush to wire Ripley about a new species.

Here is the explanation, as vouched for by Felix Pupel, of 938 Davis st., N. W., and Frank Pospiek, of McReynolds ave., N. W. The pair, employees of the Grand Rapids Paint and Varnish company, were fishing in Cranberry lake, near Wabasis lake. They heard a flapping of wings against the water accompanied by the cries of a wild duck in distress.

Going to the scene they discovered the bird had fallen prey to a huge snapping turtle. The snapper had the duck by the leg and was preparing for a tasty dinner.

The fishermen were compelled to use the oars of their boat to beat off the reptile. When it finally released its grasp, the duck's foot was missing.

After binding up the bird's wound and observing it apparently was in as good condition as could be expected, they released it and it left immediately for parts unknown—presumably for a region free from snapping turtles.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDER FOUND ON FARM IN OTTAWA COUNTY

A "Black Widow" spider bite of which is claimed to be almost as poisonous as that of a rattlesnake, was found recently on the Deremo dairy farm outside the city and identified by the high school biology department. Dr. Ralph Ten Have, county health commissioner, in whose custody the spider was placed, has looked up data on the spider. Reports say it is becoming more common in sections of the country. An antitoxin for its poison is being developed.

FLINT RESIDENT FINED ON CHARGE OF DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

(Zeeland Record)

Anthony Pfaff of Flint was lodged in the Zeeland jail from Saturday night until Monday being apprehended by Officer Benj. Kolkman of Holland on M-21 driving his car while under the influence of liquor.

Pfaff passed through Holland and the deputy was notified by drivers that had been troubled with his driving. He was soon overtaken but he had approached this city before Kolkman found a safe opportunity to pass him in order to bring him to a halt. Upon being stopped he showed some fight before he was brought in. He was accompanied by another young man from Flint.

On Monday morning he was arraigned before Justice Henry Huxtable when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while drunk and was assessed a fine of $50.00 and costs amounting to $6.15. His driver's license was also revoked for a period of one year. He experienced a little trouble in raising the assessment but his friend managed it for him.

MUSKEGON PLANTS 1,000 PHEASANTS

Around 1,000 pheasants have been released in Muskegon County as a result of the campaign inaugurated by the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce. Close to 3,000 pheasant eggs were obtained, but the Chamber had rather unfortunate success in the hatching. The first big hatch came about the time of the extremely hot weather in July, and many of the baby pheasants died.

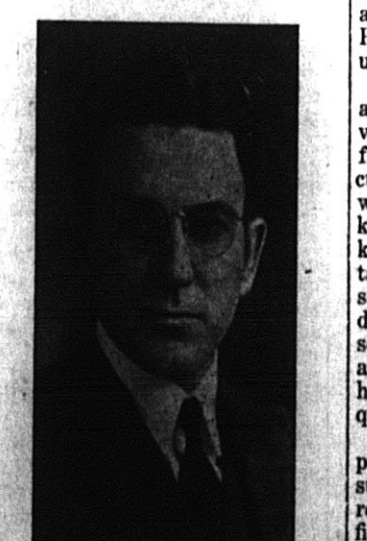

The 4-H clubs of the county joined in the effort and many of the boys and girls raised pheasants. All these pheasants now have been released.

In addition to the birds raised in the county, the Chamber of Commerce obtained 300 young birds.

The conservation committee of the Chamber plans to continue planting pheasants annually until Muskegon County is well stocked.

The pastor and members of the church extend a cordial invitation to all to attend these services which will continue each evening except Saturday, until Oct. 18th.

Michigan Is Beautiful as Leaves Turn

THIS DISTRICT WILL BE WORTH TRAVELING ESPECIALLY ALONG THE SIDE ROADS AND BY-WAYS

October, the Moon of Falling Leaves, is a month of unrivaled beauty throughout Michigan, a month that sees fields and forests, swamps and uplands, dunes and marshes decked in a matchless livery of russet and scarlet and gold.

The pageant of color begins to unfold in the upper peninsula before October arrives. Late September sees the hardwood forests north of the Straits turning red and yellow, sees northern peninsula highways bordered with the flaming hues of autumn.

From its northern stronghold the color pageant marches swiftly southward with the shortening days until by mid-October it has touched every section of the lower peninsula, and trees and shrubs of countless kinds are lighting their autumn flares in farewell to the waning year.

To the outdoorsmen of Michigan and to those of other states who cross our borders this month October is by no means renowned for its beauty alone.

This is the month that brings the fall hunting seasons, luring a huge army afield, and also the month that sees some of the best fishing of the year, a fact not too commonly known outside of a select circle of confirmed and experienced anglers.

Of the gunning seasons, that on ducks and other wildfowl is first to get under way this year. The 30-day waterfowl season will open October 10, and the wildfowl army will take to the marshes in full force on that date.

Next on the nimrod's calendar come the seasons on pheasants, grouse, rabbits, squirrels, woodcock and prairie chickens, scheduled for October 15. This is one of the major outdoor events of the year and will call close to 400,000 gunners into the woods and farmlands this fall.

To the canny fisherman October is one of the red-letter months of the year. With the arrival of cooler weather fish regain their appetites and pike, perch, walleyes and many other species are on the prowl this month. Even bluegills and bass often display keen readiness to take the right kind of bait at this season.

Holland folks need not "hit" the upper peninsula to see most of these things and enjoy the sports. We have the bluegills here, propagated, the pike, black bass, perch and other fish that are so sporty in local waters.

We have ducks and pheasants too but what is more, we have all that colorful nature can give, when "Jack Frost" has used his paint brush on our forest foliage.

All our resort towns will soon be a riot of color. At Waukegon's virgin forest the leaves are already turning beautifully. Port Sheldon, Williams Wood, New Richmond, the "fruit belt," in fact any wooded spot large or small will turn out to be a model that even an artist of note with brush and palette could not do full justice to. Next Sunday, take out your family in the "family bus" and drive quietly and peacefully, not on the trunk lines, but in the by-paths. Next Sunday be a "pathfinder"—that in itself is interesting.

For the next few weeks nature will be sublime, in fact divine.

WILLIAM ELPERS, 63 OF N. HOLLAND DIES

William Elfers, 63, died at his home in North Holland Sunday morning. The widow; a son, John, at home; two daughters, Dorothy, at home, and Mrs. George Veldheer, also of North Holland, survive.

A lifelong resident of the community, Mr. Elfers had been a member of the North Holland Reformed church consistory for 25 years and a teacher in the Sunday school 45 years. The body was taken to the Baron funeral home.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 1:30 at the home and at 2 o'clock at North Holland Reformed church. Burial was in North Holland cemetery.

GETS TEACHING FELLOWSHIP AT CARNEGIE

Leon Oscar Winstrom of Holland, Mich., has had his teaching fellowship at the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, Pa., renewed for the coming year and has enrolled in the department of chemistry to continue his graduate work. Winstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Winstrom, Park township, Holland, is a graduate of Hope college.

There is a reason why fresh fish are so popular with the summer visitor. Most of the resorters come from inland towns where it is difficult to obtain fresh perch, trout and whitefish. When they reach Muskegon or some other lake town they know that they will be able to obtain fish fresh from the lake, and so they look forward to a fish dinner. The summer visitor also soon learns the eating houses that are noted for their fish. Friends have told them or they make inquiry.

The demand for fish by eating places was so great during the last summer owing to the tourist and resort business that commercial fishermen were able to supply only the fish necessary for the local demand. Fresh fish also forms an important item of diet for local residents, while in inland cities where fresh fish are difficult to obtain, few fish are sold.

Mrs. G. D. Ver Steeg of Waukegon, Ill., is visiting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Engelman, Mrs. Ver Steeg is a sister of Mrs. Engelman. Rev. Engelman, who suffered a stroke four weeks ago, is improving.

What You Must Do to be Able to Vote in the November Election

In order to vote at the election November 3rd, it is necessary to be registered properly.

If you have not voted at any election since November 8, 1932, or if you have never voted in Holland, you must apply in person at the City Hall on or before Saturday, October 17th.

If you have moved since you last voted in Holland you must transfer your registration to your new address.

OSCAR PETERSON, City Clerk.

STONE IS THROWN THROUGH WINDOW IN GRAND HAVEN

A large stone was thrown through a window at the home of John Cameron, Grand Haven. One pane of glass was broken, but the police reported no damage from it. No arrests have been made as investigation of the police has not revealed the possible identity of the person or persons who had anything to do with the case. The Camerons when approached, would make no statement as to what occurred at the home or who might be responsible for the act.

Last week some property was destroyed and some homes painted with the word "scab." It is not thought that this stone throwing has any connection with the other misdeeds, but was possibly a stray stone thrown by some careless person.

HOLLAND SPEAKER AT KALAMAZOO

Among the speakers to be heard at the two-day synodical inspirational conference to be held at Kalamazoo, Oct. 20 and 21, by the Reformed churches of the Chicago synod, are three local Reformed clergymen, Dr. W. J. Van Kersen, secretary of the Reformed church house; Dr. S. C. Nettinga, president of Western Theological seminary, and Rev. T. W. Muijenberg, Rev. J. E. Schortinghuis, pastor of the Ebenezer Reformed church, will also appear on the program.

Other speakers include Dr. John Westwick of Wichita, Ill.; Rev. T. A. Lamman of Oostburg, Wis.; Rev. Marion Nollen of LaFayette, Ind.; Rev. H. Van't Hof of Byron Center, Rev. William Gouloze of Grand Rapids, Rev. A. Karrenman of Waukegon, Wis.; Rev. Leonard Greenway of Grand Haven, Dr. Nicholas Boer of Grand Rapids, Rev. Henry Flipse of South Blendon, Rev. J. R. Euwema of Grand Haven, Rev. H. C. Jacobs of Fremont, Rev. H. B. Scholten of Grand Rapids, Rev. R. E. Becker of Gary, Ind., and Rev. J. C. Bovenkerk of Muskegon. The Rev. H. Vander Naald of the Westside Reformed church, Cicero, Ill., is president of the Chicago synod. Conference sessions will be held in the Bethany Reformed church at Kalamazoo. Last year the conference was in Oostburg, Wis. The theme of the conference will be "Things That Please God."

WILLIAM HATTON MARKS 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF ARRIVAL IN U. S.

William Hatton of Grand Haven, chairman of the board of the Eagle-Ottawa Leather company, will observe the 50th anniversary of his arrival in the United States Sunday. Mr. Hatton came on an emigrant ship from Manchester, England, arriving in New York, Oct. 4, 1886.

Mr. Hatton has been in the leather business during his residence in the United States, as workman, salesman and in Grand Haven since 1910 as head of an organization that claims to be the largest producer of upholstery leather in the world. Mr. Hatton has enjoyed remarkable success as a salesman and despite his age, more than 70 years, he still takes to the road to sell leather.

Ben Bos, of 514 Central Avenue, spent the week end in Chicago.

A New Movie Theatre for Coopersville

(Coopersville Observer)

After a lapse of a good many years, Coopersville is again to have a motion picture theatre. Old residents may remember that the last theatre was in the building formerly occupied by the Hillman Sales Co. This was in the days of the silent moving picture.

Announcement of the opening of the new theatre was made this past week by Albert Hefferon, who for the past six years has managed the Owl Theatre in Grand Rapids, and who will manage the new theatre in the Ottawa county town.

After much consideration, the site selected for the theatre, which is to be called The Lynx, was the building recently vacated by the Tink and Tink lunch room and confectionery on the south side of Main street. Work has already begun on an addition on the south end of the present building, and when completed the theatre will have a seating capacity of 200.

Mr. Hefferon is installing the very latest type of talking picture equipment, which includes a wide range high fidelity sound system which will bring out all of the bass and treble notes, both in the speaking and music. The projectors will be of the latest design, giving the finest and clearest pictures available. There will, of course, be two machines, which will eliminate any pause between reels. The best type of screen designed especially for sound production, will be used.

The comfort of the patrons is to be one of the principal considerations in the construction of the theatre. The 200 seats will be of spring-bottom, leather upholstered construction, similar to those found in the larger theatres. A blow-in also being installed so that complete and comfortable ventilation may be had at all times.

FRESH FISH LURE TOURISTS

Increased tourist and resort business means an increase in the consumption of fish. The tourists and resorters want their fresh fish and the eating house proprietors in Muskegon and at other Lake Michigan cities say that fish is the favorite item on their menus with the summer visitors.

Hope vs. Alma

HOPE BREAKS OLIVET JINX AT HOLLAND

The combination of Fred Jappinga and Bud Roberts, flashy Hope college backs, together with nine other fighting "klompen" boys, removed the Olivet football jinx from the Hope campus Friday with a 28-0 victory at Riverview Park, after waiting five years to do it. It was the first game Hope has won from Olivet on a local field.

Starting a drive in the first quarter Hope went over for a touchdown on a pass from Thomas to Roberts for the first score. Olivet had kicked to Hope and the locals drove the entire length of the field with line plays to the 20-yard line when the pass was unblocked.

In the second quarter after an exchange of punts the locals pushed Olivet into a hole and a punt by Morvilius was partly blocked and recovered by Hope on the 15-yard line. A series of line plays placed the ball in scoring position. Jappinga made the second tally. Buys kicked the extra point.

The third quarter saw the two teams fighting on a par with neither team able to get within scoring distance. In the final period Coach Bud Hinga substituted Fred Jappinga passed 15 yards to Thomas in the end zone for a counter. Schaube kicked the point. The final touchdown was secured after a series of laterals in which Substitutes Van Domelan and Heneveld featured. Jappinga tossed an 18-yard pass to Heneveld for the final touchdown.

FREMONT CLUB TO RELEASE 200 PHEASANTS

The Fremont Fish & Game club has decided that it will not release the pheasants raised this year until next spring. The club has more than 200 pheasants in its own brooder and they will be kept until next spring, while those raised by members of the 4-H clubs in Newaygo county will be released this fall.

The local organization has been raising pheasants for the last few years and has done much in stocking Newaygo county. The club believes that by holding the young birds until next spring they will escape slaughter by hunters this season. Another factor in the decision was the opening of the county to deer hunters. The club believes that with the opening of the county to deer hunters, the woods will be filled with inexperienced hunters, who will show little regard for the game laws.

ATTEMPT TO REMOVE STING FROM BEES

The breeding of a race of bees that will sting only upon extreme provocation has been announced by scientists working at the Clifton Zoological Park, Bristol, England. Efforts along the line of "pacifist" bee breeding are being continued at the zoo in the hope of producing an even milder strain of these insects.

Ralph Smeenge of this city, who has been confined to the University hospital in Ann Arbor for several weeks, arrived in Holland last Friday to visit relatives. He submitted to an operation on his left foot which had been affected by infantile paralysis. He is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smeenge. He will return to Ann Arbor after six weeks for more treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrick Hanchett have returned from Atlantic City where they attended the Baking Industry National Conference and exposition.

Gordon Mulder of 125 East 18th st., pleaded guilty before Justice John Galien, Wednesday, on charges of knowingly authorizing and permitting his automobile to be driven by an unlicensed person in Holland and was assessed fine and costs amounting to $30. He has until Monday to pay. As an alternative to the fine and costs he was given a 40-day jail sentence. A recent accident in which Mulder's car struck a guy wire and pulled down an are lamp in the city caused the complaint which was signed by Chief of Police Frank Van Ry. Henry Wieling arranged, Wednesday, before Justice Galien on a charge of assault and battery, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Tuesday at 1 p. m. The complaint was made by Frances Wabake of Holland.

Edward Sager paid a fine of $10, while fines of $5 each were paid by Carl Smeitkop, Howard Preston, Olin Rookledge, John Heldema and John Schuurman. Addresses of those who paid fines were not given.

The parents of Anthony Westerhof, Edwin Bos, Lloyd Steggers and Arthur Horning received word that their sons had arrived safely in Dallas. They left for Texas last week.

Rats! No Mice! Killer To Come To Ottawa Co.

WILL VISIT ALLEGAN COUNTY, TOO. TREES WILL BE SAVED THROUGH EDUCATION

Mice baiting is going to be a profitable game and industry practiced in orchards this fall where the mice population again indicates possibilities of excessive winter damage from riding and girdling. A campaign to educate tree owners in baiting rodents is to be conducted in the principal fruit producing sections of the state this fall by H. D. Hootman and T. A. Merrill, extension horticulturists of Michigan State college.

In Ottawa county a rodent control demonstration through cooperation with the county agricultural agent is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 19; Allegan county, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 27 and 28. The extension men hope to prevent a recurrence of the excessive damage incurred last winter when heavy snows covered feeding grounds and rabbits and mice found the most available food was the bark and lower branches of fruit trees.

Danger from underground injury can be lessened by removing the soil from the trunk of the tree to a distance of eight to ten inches and to a depth of six to eight inches, filling in with coarse cinders and then working fine soil into the cinders. The use of wire netting, veneer and paper collars to a height of 18 inches and cleaning out nearby weeds and growth aid in preventing injury.

"All of these methods have proved relatively effective," says Hootman and Merrill, but it usually pays to actually reduce the infestation or population of mice. Baiting is done in station, such as a crimped tin can, rolled paper, piece of tile, to which mice have access but which do not permit pets or livestock to get the bait. The tablespoon of poison bait is put in the station near at least every other tree in an orchard and covered lightly with grass, straw or weeds. Rebaiting once or twice in winter and even in early spring are advised where the mice are numerous.

COACH CAPPON IS LAID UP WITH BACK INJURY

A week ago Coach Henry Kipke of the Michigan grid team announced to Whitney Wister, all-American tackle of 1933 and now assistant line coach here, that scrimmaging for him was out—not because he feared that Whitney would injure his charges but because experience had proved that it was the coaches who took the ride.

Evidently overlooking Coach Kipke's announcement and warning, Head Line Coach Franklin Cappon of Holland now is suffering the consequences. Showing his tackle charges a defensive trick, Cappon invited 210-pound Ed Greenwald to charge him.

Greenwald did. Now Cappon is confined to his home for a week with a bad back strain, a recurrence of an injury suffered while in school.

Cappon's coaching duties are being carried out by Harvey Emery, former Princeton star and one-time assistant line coach here.

Later—Principal Riemersma of Holland High School stated that his brother-in-law, "Cappy," was again on the job this morning.

Mrs. Emma Young, 97-year-old resident of Martin township, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murford Eldred, were the first white settlers in the township is still active and able to read without glasses. She does tatting and makes quilts and still makes some clothes for herself. She can relate many interesting incidents of pioneer days. The first trip by wagon from Kalamazoo to Grand Rapids was made by her father and she venture took four days. ....

ZEELAND

Announcement was made of the marriage of Miss Marie Peuler of Grand Rapids and Jerald Yntema of Zeeland. The marriage took place at the First Reformed Church in that city and many friends from Zeeland, Hudsonville, Forest Grove, and Holland attended.

Mrs. Gerrit Yntema of Zeeland entertained with a miscellaneous shower at her home on East Cherry St., recently in honor of Miss Peuler, who became the bride of Jerald Yntema Saturday evening. The guests included Misses Alice and Jane Peuler of Zutphen; Mrs. Z. Vande Bunte, Mrs. H. Yntema and Mrs. J. Shoemaker of Forest Grove; Mrs. Herman Telgenhof, Miss Lillian Telgenhof of Hudsonville; Mrs. John Yntema, Mrs. R. Vander Wall, Mrs. John Verecke, Mrs. James Verecke, the Misses Juletta and Henrietta Yntema, all of Zeeland.

Miss Kate Shoemaker has moved from the old Shoemaker residence on South State St. into her newly constructed residence adjoining it, and Ray Shoemaker has leased the residence vacated by her. He expects to move there from the residence of S. Grasman on West Cherry St.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schram of Fennville called on Mrs. Frank Huizenga, Tuesday. Mrs. Schram has just returned from visiting relatives in New York, Hartford, Connecticut, and other cities in the east, and will now in a few days leave for Hart, Michigan, where she and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, will visit their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. De Putter. They will leave for Florida to spend the winter. Mrs. Schram, Mrs. Reynolds and Mr. De Putter are former residents of this city, children of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. De Putter of East Main St., the homestead now occupied by Mrs. S. Brower.

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Kok, Peter Kok and Mr. and Mrs. L. Sharpe left Monday for Lebanon, Iowa, and Rock Valley, Iowa. Mrs. Anthony Breen of Lynden, Washington, who is visiting here, is caring for the Kok children while the parents are away.

Zeeland High eleven shut out Grandville to the tune of 7 to 0 Saturday at Johnson Park. The Grandville gridmen appeared to be undergoing a decided letdown after their good and courageous battle against Muskegon Heights the Saturday before.

Miss Dilette Buter, a bride-to-be, was honor guest at a miscellaneous shower given at her home on West Cherry St., Zeeland.

An interesting meeting in the form of a reception for Mrs. H. De Pree, a returned missionary from China, and the teachers of the local school, was held at the Second Reformed Church, Zeeland, recently. The high school brass quartet furnished special music and Mr. George Meengs was in charge of the program. The pastor extended a welcome to the teachers and Mr. Isaac Van Dyke welcomed Mrs. De Pree, who recently came to this country to make a home for her children in Holland. Mrs. De Pree was Miss Kate Everhard of this city before her marriage and is a charter member of Second Reformed Church. Dr. Henry De Pree also lived in Zeeland formerly and is a graduate of Hope College and of Princeton Seminary. He is president of the South Fukien Christian Church seminary on the island of Kulangsu, an international settlement. Dr. and Mrs. De Pree have been missionaries in Amoy, China, since 1907. Dr. De Pree will have a furlough in two years when he will join his family in Holland.

Mrs. De Pree gave an inspirational talk about religious conditions in China, telling of a great awakening and renewed interest in spiritual affairs. About three years ago a native Chinese preacher held a series of religious meetings resulting in this revival and the renewed interest, she said, has continued to the present time. Mrs. De Pree told of enthusiastic religious meetings attended by about 8 or 9 thousand people and of Christian endeavor meetings attended by many, all eager to give their testimony for Christ. The secret of this revival, Mrs. De Pree said, was largely in the slogan of the movement, "In Me." This slogan was adopted by thousands of Chinese people who continued real sincerity in their life. She also described revival of interest in Bible study and organization of hundreds of witnessing bands whose purpose was to witness for Christ.

Dr. John Lavan, health officer at Grand Rapids, spoke on the subject of baseball, to Zeeland high school pupils, Thursday afternoon. Dr. Lavan played in the World series about 20 years ago. He described many amusing peculiarities of players and told interesting incidents of the lives of baseball heroes.

Gilbert Plasman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Plasman of this city, left for Ann Arbor last week, where he will take a course in dentistry at U. of M. Mr. Plasman is a graduate of Zeeland high school and also of Hope College, class of 1936. Funeral services were held Wednesday, for John W. Morren, aged 79, who died, Sunday evening, at his home near North Blenden. Services were held at the home and at the North Street Christian Reformed church, of Zeeland. The Rev. H. E. Oostendorp of Zeeland and the Rev. G. Gritters of North Blenden officiated and burial took place in Zeeland cemetery. Surviving are the widow; two sons, Henry and William of Holland; four daughters, Mrs. John Schutte of Beaverdam, Mrs. Peter Offringa of Grand Rapids and Miss Cora at home; 13 grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. George Schipper of Holland.

NOORDELOOS
Rev. S. Fopma exchanged pulpits with the Rev. Personaire of Eastmanville Sunday. The congregational meeting will be held next Monday evening, Oct. 8 in the local church.

Mr. William Elfers who resided a mile west of Noordeelos, passed away at his home Sunday morning at the age of 63 years of a lingering illness. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and three children, John Henry and Dorothy and Mrs. George Volther. He was for many years a faithful Sunday school teacher in the North Holland Reformed church. The funeral services will be held on Thursday at the home and at the North Holland Reformed church.

Mr. and Mrs. Peersma and four children of Holland have moved into the John Kooyers farm home which has been recently vacated by the John Wierda family.

Bible classes for the younger children will again be resumed Saturday morning.

HAY FEVER

Those who are susceptible to Hay Fever and its after effect of Asthma will be glad to learn that after three years of laboratory study and clinical research a method of Inhalation Therapy has been perfected which can be reliably depended upon for immediate relief. The base of this treatment is volatile iodine, combined with other soothing and antiseptic agents, which serves to nourish the mucous glands and to relieve the irritation of the sensitive membranes in the upper respiratory tract. Besides giving the relief so much desired, its continued use strengthens the entire mucosa and builds up a normal condition which resists the poisonous pollen attacks.

An attractive, safe, and convenient inhaler makes application of the treatment easy and pleasant, with absolutely no harmful reactions. The treatment is known as VOL-Iodine Inhalant, and can be procured from Model Drug Store under a money-back guarantee.

Travelogue on Interesting European Trip

By Mrs. Mae Van Drezer Bush

Poland.

Dear Ones: While Ben is downstairs being interviewed and photographed by some Polish newspaper, I'll begin a letter. We are about to start on a tour around the city, and later a few of us are motoring into the country to see the palace of Count Sobieski.

We left Berlin at ten yesterday. Ben and I slipped over to Unter den Linden for a farewell glimpse of that interesting boulevard. I shall never forget it. The sun was shining brightly, and in the breeze floated endless banners and flags. Long red streamers waved gaily and red banners of gold metallic cloth glistened in the sun.

About noon we reached the Polish border and there we had the usual custom formalities. They did not examine our baggage. A letter from the American consul obviated that little formality, but we had to spend quite a bit of time at the German border reporting our money. Before entering Germany now, you must declare all of your money, cash or money orders or express checks. They count it carefully and give you a receipt. When you leave the country they again count your money and woe be unto you if you have not told them correctly in the first place, for you cannot take out more than you have brought in. It takes quite a long time. Another thing: to stimulate travel and spending in Germany, you can buy outside of Germany "registered marks" for 26 cents a mark—the Reich mark being worth 40 cents in Germany. With that reduction we found things cheaper there than in any other country in Europe.

Things are very expensive in Poland. We felt we had to have a map of Russia and paid $1.30 for a simple one. Post cards are 8 cents apiece and stamps for them 8 cents. A small bar of chocolate costs 30 cents. Naturally we are not buying much.

But I am anticipating. We were very much interested in riding through Poland. The character of the country changed almost as soon as we left Germany. The roads were narrow and rough; just dirt roads, and one could imagine a wagon sinking to the hubs in rainy weather. The peasants were busy harvesting their crops. Most of the work was being done by hand with scythe and cradle. Men and women worked side by side in the fields, most of the women being barefooted. There were no fences anywhere, and whenever you saw cattle, there was usually an old man or woman watching them. One thing made me realize the great poverty of the country: in every field where the grain had been reaped, old women wandered, picking up here and there a head of wheat.

Of course you know Poland is an agricultural country—70 per cent of the people work in the fields. I believe Poland means fields. You sense even today the great devastation caused by the war. Eighty-seven per cent of Polish territory was a battlefield. Only one-seventh of French territory was battlefield but 87 per cent of Poland! She was overrun by retreating Russians and invading Germans. In 1920 the Bolsheviks swept over the country and terrorized the people. They were stopped only 10 miles from Warsaw. Fifteen-year-old boys fought in the trenches—so desperate were the Poles.

But I must tell you about the air raid. We arrived about eight in the evening and Mr. Super, head of the Y. M. C. A., met us. He urged us to hurry to our hotel as there was to be an air raid at nine o'clock. It sounded rather shocking. We soon learned that once a year there is a practice air raid and last night was the chosen night. We drove pell mell to our hotel in taxis. The hotel clerks rushed us to our rooms. Every window was carefully closed—the outside shutters down and heavy drapes drawn. We were warned not to turn on any lights from 9 to 1 o'clock.

I hurriedly located things so we could find them in the dark and rushed downstairs again. At nine the lights began to go out—first street lights, then store, then hotel. Even the moon went under a cloud about nine o'clock. Street cars went by with only small green lights. The motor lights were also green. There were few people on the streets. You cannot imagine how strange a modern city looks all dark. It is quite weird. The streets were like dark caverns. Soon airplanes circled the city. They really were very pretty. I know I wouldn't think so if it were real war.

We finally retired. As we entered the hotel, inch thick curtains covered the door. Only dim candles burned in the lobby and corridors. It was very spooky. Our room was as dark as a tomb; we stumbled around blindly. Finally the maid told us we could put a dim bedroom light on if we promised not to open the windows. So to the sound of an occasional airplane we fell asleep. I couldn't help but think of the awfulness of another war with gas bombs, when cities will be destroyed in a few hours.

This morning we asked about the practice raid. One speaker said it had been considered a success from the angle of darkened streets and buildings, but that the green lights on motors, buses, etc., were a failure.

Five of us drove about six miles into the country to see the palace of Count Sobieski. It is a beautiful spot. The palace itself is not too large and I am sure must have been a very comfortable place in which to live. That is more than you can say for most places. The park is altogether lovely—beautiful vistas everywhere.

We returned rather late and walked about some before dinner. Ben thought he would like to buy a pair of rubbers. It was quite impossible. One man offered to make him a pair. Such experiences make one realize one is living in quite a different world. Soldiers are everywhere. Officers in dashing uniforms are always in evidence. They are quite striking in their long circular capes. This morning at seven we were awakened by a band. We stepped out on our balcony and watched about 2,500 soldiers pass on the way to their "summer exercises." You cannot get away from a military atmosphere in Europe. Every country is afraid of war and all are arming to the limit.

I must say good-night. We leave early tomorrow for Russia. We travel all day and night in a comfortable train, so do not worry. Mr. Sweetman, manager of the group, is taking lots of oranges, grapefruit and lemons in with him. You know it is difficult to get citrus fruits in Russia. Ben bought four bottles of lemon juice and sugar to take with us. Everyone is taking fruit, chocolate, etc. We all will look like peddlers. Ben and I left two suitcases in Berlin which we will pick up on our way back.

Love to all of you,
Mae.

Becoming a Christian—Acts 16: 22-34.

Henry Greenings

One girl with a wrong notion in her head can cause a good deal of trouble for good people. It matters not what peculiar ideas or powers people may have, it is the ends and aims of their life that count. This female centrist and fortune teller proved to be a great annoyance to Paul, and in a wave of great feeling, he turned upon the maiden and commanded the strange spirit to go. Whatever her powers were she then and there lost them. They had been commercialized by a money-loving group of men.

It is a terrific commentary on the kind of men they were. But there always are those kinds of cheap humans who greedily seize upon any strange powers or people with which to make money, no matter how the gain is made. But note the reaction of this young woman now. When the owners of her saw that she was no longer commercially profitable they turned upon Paul and Silas and dragged them before the city officials. They put an air of great patriotism when they charged these two apostles with wrongdoing. They first appealed to the race prejudice of the praetor, and the mob. That is usually a successful move in many places of the world. It stirs the smouldering hatred and passions of many. An American mob can be provoked to the most serious outbreaks of feeling if its race hatred can be sufficiently aroused. And then these owners of the girl piously asserted that customs were being introduced into their city which, as Romans, they could not observe. One would think, as it appears on the surface, that these men were the most noble guardians of the moral and social welfare of the city. They never could stand for such contaminating influences as poured forth from these peripatetic Jews. They were too proud of their city and its fair name to think of allowing these traveling missionaries to be at large.

We recognize the insincerity of all this. It is just what men do in all generations when their source of gain is taken away from them. The gambler suddenly becomes interested in the name of his city when his revenue or the means of getting his revenue are taken away from him. He never thinks of saying that he is opposed to reform because it robs him of his unrighteous income. The war lords at the thought of doing away with war suddenly become patriotic, too, and call attention to the plight of the world would be in if there were universal disarmament. They also do not think of coming into the blaze of day and confess that they are more interested in war than in peace because it takes away their business. And the fact of the matter is that we are afflicted more or less with this attitude toward life. We have to be very strong to keep the personal equation out of our philosophy of life. Our attitudes are often built out of that lumber we call "how it affects us." Do we gain or do we lose by certain happenings and certain legislation and certain principles? This determines often times what we do and what attitude we sustain. Possibly we all had better think a second time before we are too severe with the owners of the girl. What would we have done if we had been they? What do we do when our incomes are cut down? What attitudes do we sustain toward certain proposed betterment programs for our city and state and nation, when we will be adversely affected?

Big business sends lobbyists to Washington when proposed legislation will hurt big business, no matter how much it may bless the common people. Special interests seek to influence lawmakers against the enacting of laws that will promote the interests of the general public. So if we give serious and searching thought to this whole matter we will be amazed to see how much we are in danger of pot calling kettle black.

Paul and Silas got rough handling for bringing a blessing to a poor girl. Human values have hard going against economic values. Men are less than money. Ideals are less than incomes. But even so Paul and Silas were not frightened out of their idealism. A horrible prison did not check their enthusiasms for their cause. Nor did it crush the life out of them. With a remarkable self possession they rose above their unhappy surroundings and sang at midnight. They were singing Christians when weeping was justifiable. They were the conquerors of their circumstances. They were freer than the people who put them in prison. You can jail a body but you cannot jail some souls. The spirit of Christian liberty will not dash out its life against iron bars. That affects only the physical. There is a composure under wrong that makes one a conqueror. It comes with confidence in Christ.

Mrs. Blanche Burrows was hostess last Friday afternoon at her home on West 8th street to members of the Past Noble Grands. Mrs. Kate Herrick presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Edith Mooney won first prize and Mrs. Grace Thompson, second prize in the game of 500. Mrs. Margaret Lindberg and Mrs. Clara St. John will assist Mrs. Herrick, who will entertain the club in November. There will be election of officers.

A surprise kitchen shower was given last Friday afternoon by Mrs. William Modders and Mrs. Roy Harper at the Modders home at 187 West 18th street in honor of Miss Mary Jane Modders, who will become the bride of Leslie D. Hill this month. Mrs. H. Johnson and Mrs. J. Oonk were awarded prizes in the games played. The rooms were decorated in orchid and gold. A two-course lunch was served.

Miss Mary Weaver, whose marriage to Richard Van Eyck will take place this fall, was the honored guest at a surprise kitchen shower held last Thursday evening at the Harry Deters home on rural route No. 5. Hostesses were Mrs. Gerald Rutgers, Mrs. Henry Weaver, Miss Wilmina Bos and Mrs. Harry Deters. Games were played and prizes awarded to Misses Gertrude Beltman, Gertrude Velthof, Gertrude Deters and Bertha Vander Bie. A two-course lunch was served.

John Schuitema, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuitema of Hudsonville, and Donald Hoezee, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hoezee of Hudsonville are in the Zeeland hospital following a collision with the car driven by H. Fred Oltman of Grand Rapids Saturday evening. Oltman, chairman of the traffic commission of Grand Rapids and employed by the Peoples National bank, is in Butterworth hospital, where he was taken by ambulance. Oltman is suffering from a broken knee cap and face lacerations. Mrs. Oltman also was injured, receiving broken ribs and lacerations of the face. The accident occurred on M21 two miles east of Zeeland. Schuitema is suffering from rib fractures. Hoezee received severe scalp lacerations. Grant Edson, 17, driver of the car, and Maynard Gryzen, 21, both of Hudsonville, were slightly injured. The accident occurred when Edson's car skidded across the path of the Oltman car as Edson tried to bring it back on the pavement after one rear wheel had left the concrete. Edson's car was traveling west and Oltman's east. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hardy have arrived in Grand Rapids after a two weeks vacation in Memphis, Tenn., and other points south.

Raymond Boot, a student at Hope college, was a week end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Boon. Mr. Boot, with Mr. Charles Bertsch, has just returned from a five-months' vacation in the Orient where he visited his parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Boot, who are missionaries in China.—Grand Haven Tribune.

A pretty wedding took place, Saturday afternoon, at Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church, when Miss Marie Alyda Ver Hove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ver Hove was united in marriage to Harri Zegerius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zegerius of Racine, Wisconsin. The Rev. Daniel Zwier officiated. The double ring ceremony was used. Vows were spoken at 4 o'clock before an altar decorated with ferns, palms and gladioli. The bride gown in white satin and white tulle veil carried a bride's bouquet of white roses and pink snapdragons. Mrs. Melvin Dole of Peoria, Ill., the maid of honor, wore a blue organdy, with a shoulder corsage of pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Caroline Hillard and Margaret Tibbe of Holland, were gowned in blue and pink lace and wore shoulder corsages. Ring bearers, in white linen suits, were Roger Nichols of Racine, Wis., nephew of the groom and Roger Kragt, nephew of the bride. The bride's little cousin, Norma Ver Hove, of Grand Rapids was train bearer. She wore white crepe. Chester Ver Hove, brother of the bride was best man and the ushers were Carl Marcus, Bob Marcus, Cliff Marcus and Gradus A. Aalberts. Presiding the ceremony, Miss Elina Dalmann sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." The wedding reception was given in the parish house for 100 guests. Harold Ringenbult was master of ceremonies, and Miss Dorothea Van Saun was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Edith Walvoord was in charge of the wedding supper, and waitresses were the Misses Audrey Beckman, Beatrice Timmer, Gertrude Goulds and Ruth Ver Schure. Others to assist were Mrs. Cornelius Marcus, Mrs. Jack Marcus, Mrs. Al Van den Elst and Mrs. S. Holkeboer. Following the supper a program was given by Richard Keeler, violinist, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Beach, with readings by Miss Esther Bultman and a brief talk by Gradus A. Aalberts, Wis. They will be at home after the middle of October, at Muskegon, where Mr. Zegerius has charge of a Reformed church. He is a graduate of Hope college and Western Theological seminary.

Miss Katherine Toppin was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given, Tuesday evening, by Mrs. Donald Greengood, Miss Fannie Vroom and the Misses Margaret and Mabel Steinkamp at the home of Mrs. Greengood. Miss Marguerite Brink, Louise Unema, Helene Toppin, Lydia Brink, Katherine Toppin and Mrs. Gerald Smeenge were awarded the prizes for games played. Refreshments were served and the bride-to-be was presented with many beautiful gifts. Guests were present from Holland, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

OTTAWA COUNTY NEWS

The stork has been winging its way over Borculo. The wise old bird finds even the smaller places. A son arrived to gladden the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. John Vander Heyvel and a little daughter made happy the family of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bouwman.

Several Sunday school teachers of Borculo attended the state convention at Fremont last week and not a few went to Coopersville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roelof Dragt, of Allendale, will hold open house Friday afternoon and evening on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. They were born in The Netherlands and were young when they came to this country. Mr. and Mrs. Dragt were married in Allendale and have resided in this vicinity since 1881. They live on a farm one and a half miles east of the village. Both are in good health. They have one son and one grandchild.

Mrs. Cornelius Schut died early Monday morning at her home in Hudsonville. Funeral services were held Thursday at the home and at the Hudsonville Protestant Reformed church. The Rev. John De Jong conducted the services and burial was in Georgetown cemetery. Surviving are the husband; two sons, Jim and Lawrence and two daughters, Teresa and Cobie, all at home; her mother, Mrs. L. Mesbergen of Jensen; a sister, Mrs. Louise Mesbergen and three brothers, William, Peter and Bert, all of Hudsonville.

Joyce Van Lente and Joyce Bouwman who both celebrated their fifth anniversaries, Saturday, were honored by a birthday party given at the home of the latter in Central Park, Saturday afternoon. Elmer Don Tiesink was awarded first prize in racing and Jack Schurman won in the peanut scramble. The little guests seated around a table decorated in green and yellow crepe paper with pink candles were served refreshments by Mrs. V. Van Lente and Mrs. R. Bouwman. The guests included Jean De Pree, Annabelle Stygstra, Iris Bouwman, Betty Sandy, Elmer Don Tiesink, Dickie Nieusma, Jack and Dale Schurman, Max Doolittle, Edwin Sandy, Gerry Bracksmith, Gladys Bouwman, Joyce Bouwman and Joyce Van Lente.

Miss Marian Van Dam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Dam of Drenthe, was united in marriage to Frank Klomprens of Holland at the parsonage of Drenthe Christian Reformed church the Rev. B. J. Danhof, pastor, performing the ceremony. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after the ceremony. They will make their home in Holland.

Announcement is made by Mrs. James Boyce, Sr., of Gibson of the marriage of her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Robert Murray Pratt, Jr., Friday, Sept. 18, at East Lansing. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will make their home in Keokuk, Ia.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions—
By ANN PAGE
WITH meats and butter more favorably in balance with her pocket-book, the housewife can plan and buy her meals more easily. This week fowl and chickens have come down considerably. Prices are rising only on large size Grade A eggs. Medium and small eggs are fairly plentiful and moderate in price. Local grown produce is plentiful and moderate in price. Lettuce is still high but cabbage, escarole, romaine, spinach, celery, tomatoes and cucumbers are very reasonable. Grapefruit is becoming plentiful, apples are an excellent value and grapes, pears and peaches are generally available. Here are three menus planned for different budget levels.

Low Cost Dinner
Braised Chuck of Beef Potatoes Onions
Bread and Butter Jellied Fruits
Tea or Coffee
Medium Cost Dinner
Fried Chicken Sweet Potatoes Buttered Onions
Bread and Butter Lemon Meringue Pie
