Audience Keeps City Council Busy

The business of City Council progressed in a fairly routine manner Wednesday night until Mayor Nelson Bosman reached No. 12 on the agenda, "Communications from the Audience," and then council became embroiled in discussions for more than an hour.

First to speak was Ed Gamby, 138 Fairbanks Ave., again protesting truck use of Dykema Ct. which adjoins his side yard. He presented a snapshot of the "alley" which he said was taken about 10 years ago and "now it's three times as wide." His protest was an aftermath of Council action some weeks ago when after more than a month of study it closed a portion of Dykema Ct. to allow Home Furnace Co. to expand. Now Gamby and his wife again expressed concern over the safety of children in the neighborhood, both in truck traffic and other traffic. Gamby said he feared for the safety of the children and would hold Council responsible if there were a death.

Edward A. Papp, 134 Fairbanks Ave., said trucks had run over stakes and nearly knocked down a fence in his front yard which he had set up for the safety of his children.

City Manager Herb Holt explained that his staff is working to solve the problem but it cannot be accomplished overnight. He explained this involves surveys of property descriptions which do not match and has necessitated checking of records at the abstract office. He said disputed property lines must be resolved and facts must be absolutely right before a program can be adopted which would encompass plans for a road adequate to serve the industry.

Next to address Council was Henry Strabbing, partner in Reliable Garage, who protested action of Council two weeks ago when it awarded a truck bid to a Grand Rapids concern only 7 cents lower than the Reliable Garage bid. He read the Sentinel article on the subject which appeared Sept. 24, and outlined considerable technical data with emphasis on alternate bids.

Holt said there was some misunderstanding, that only base bids were considered, not alternatives which can become most complex. It also appeared Strabbing was not aware he could have been present for the public opening of the bids about 10 days earlier. Holt explained the policy of not releasing recommendations to Council in advance, but that there is no cause to hold back reports of bids submitted.

Holt explained that in this particular case, only the base bids that met specifications were reported to Council, that normally the alternatives are not recorded in the report.

At that point Strabbing thanked Council and sat down. Twenty minutes had passed.

Then Councilman Morris Peerbolt reported on an informal meeting Council and the Board of Public Works had held with Holland Township board and its engineers in connection with water for the township, and Council approved his motion to refer the engineering report to the Board of Public Works for study with instructions to report to Council.

Councilman Harold Volkema then returned to the Strabbing case and suggested a meeting of Manager Holt, the city engineer, Mr. Strabbing and perhaps his associates and if desired representatives of the Grand Rapids firm which had received the contract for the truck.

Councilman Eugene Vande Vusse heartily approved Volkema's suggestion, citing a similar case on car bids earlier in which he said he was informed that the low bid must be accepted. Councilman Richard W. Smith did not agree and felt Vande Vusse was mistaken. "You can always vote the way you want to," Smith said.

From then on the discussion continued for another half hour, reviewing bid openings, garages services, alternate bids, different truck bodies.

Volkema's motion carried. In all, some 50 minutes had elapsed.

Surviving besides the parents are two sisters, Mrs. Howard Vugtveen of Grandville and Kathy at home; four brothers, Bernard, Jerry, Calvin and Douglas all at home; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bosch of Holland.

Carter Brown Praised For Efforts On Windmill

Carter Brown of Castle Park, the "man who started it all," received a standing ovation when he was introduced at ceremonies aboard the Prins Willem van Oranje in Muskegon Monday night when the Dutch windmill De Zwaan was officially turned over to the people of Holland, Mich.

As honorary chairman of the Windmill committee, Brown presented framed scrolls to Ship Capt. Aart Schuijjer who will deliver them to persons in the Netherlands who had been particularly helpful in negotiating for the exchange.

They are Arie de Koning, windmill restoration expert who visited Holland, Mich., two years ago to survey sites and make general recommendations; David Hofmeijer, director of the Netherlands Emigration Service; Frederick Stokhuyzen, president of the Windmill Society; G. J. de Jonchere, managing director of the Oranje Lijn, and F. P. Rohling, head of the department of Ministry of Education, Arts and Sciences which is charged with protecting all national monuments and nature areas.

Brown spoke of the long "fight" for a windmill for Holland but mentioned only briefly the many discouragements which the committee faced. Paying tribute to the perseverance of the group, he said, "if it hadn't been for Bill Wichers and Henry Maentz, this might not have come to pass, and we all are very, very grateful. The mills in the Netherlands are sacred to the people, and even though this city 'bought and paid for' this mill, it is in every sense a gift of the Dutch people, and the people of Holland will appreciate it more and more as time goes on."

No ceremony involving the Dutch is complete without flowers, and three beautiful floral arrangements (no tulips) were on hand for Monday's ceremony. The flowers were presented to ship Capt. Aart Schuijjer by Cindy and Shelly Padnos, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Padnos. The girls wore Dutch costumes. The flowers were provided by Ebelink's, Shady Lawn Florist and Warm Friend Flowers.

K. Vink, chief engineer aboard the Prins Willem van Oranje, has previous happy memories of Holland, Mich. He was apprentice engineer aboard the Prins Willem IV when that ship, also of the Fjell-Oranje line, steamed into Holland Harbor in August, 1947, at the time Holland was celebrating its centennial.

At that time, the ship brought the barrel organ which was a gift of the people of Amsterdam to the people of Holland, Mich., a Frisian chaise and other gifts for the Netherlands museum here, and some Dutch delicacies including herring, cheese, sweets, etc., which were served at a luncheon of service clubs.

Vink remembered participating in some of the centennial events and the open house aboard ship. He said the Prins Willem IV is still operating. It is a considerably smaller ship than the Prins Willem van Oranje.

It was a pleasure hearing from the Rev. Father Jan Verkuyl, visiting professor of theology at Nazareth College in Kalamazoo, who had spent much of his youth in the neighborhood of Vinkel, the Netherlands, where the windmill De Zwaan (The Swan) had stood for more than 80 years.

Father Verkuyl was born within a mile of the windmill, had celebrated mass there on several occasions, knew the miller and knew the people of Vinkel.

When he arrived in New York on July 22, he read in a Kalamazoo newspaper that the Vinkel mill was being taken to Holland, Mich., and immediately felt some apprehension over it. In the Netherlands, a windmill is a personality and is referred to as "He," and the good Catholic father wondered if "He" would be happy in a new land.

"But after 2½ months here, I am happy to say I have changed my mind and am happy that the Vinkel mill will be restored in Holland, Mich. I'm sure 'He' will be happy in this great country of yours. Be kind to 'Him' and let his presence be symbolic of the friendship between the people of Vinkel and Holland, Mich."

The Prins Willem van Oranje has scheduled several more stops in the United States before returning home to the Netherlands. Capt. Aart Schuijjer said from Muskegon the ship goes to Chicago, then to Milwaukee, and back to Detroit with stops at Toledo, Montreal and Quebec before heading across the Atlantic and "home" in The Hague.

The captain who was presented with a pair of wooden shoes said he and klompers are old friends. As a boy he often wore wooden shoes and at times preferred them to other footwear.

The two 80-foot sails of the windmill De Zwaan are the largest single pieces of the huge dismantled mill. To transport them to Holland, William Mokma prepared a rig which loaded part of the sails above the cab thereby shortening the load and making corners more easily.

The 80-foot sails presented no challenge. Recently, Mokma moved some beams from a Catholic school in Grand Rapids several blocks involving six turns. The beams were 105 feet long and were not mounted above the cab. A single sheriff's escort was all that was needed.

Mayor Victor Yurick of Muskegon seemed to enjoy Monday's ceremonies aboard the Willem van Oranje as much as anybody. He said Muskegon was happy to contribute in some small way in the windmill project and after reading many newspaper stories about the windmill was anxious to see it. He termed it a real asset not only to Holland but to the entire state.

"Now we'll tell our visitors to go south . . . we'll still tell them to stop at the Musical Fountain in Grand Haven, but we'll suggest they go on to Holland and see the windmill."

Mayor Nelson Bosman of Holland countered with a special invitation to the Muskegon mayor to be Holland's guest when the windmill is completed.

The "buffet" aboard the Prins Willem van Oranje was something to behold . . . a real work of art . . . plates and platters of delicacies in colorful patterns.

Chief Stewart Jan Worst described it as a "cold buffet" with cold chicken, beef, pork loin, smoked salmon, rolled herring, molded salads, sea foods, deviled eggs, relishes and huge mounds of rolls and pastries. Typical Dutch foods were the raisin buns and almond pastries, plus the herring and smoked salmon.

The assembled people were guests of the Fjell-Oranje Line with arrangements by Capt. Aart Schuijjer and H.M. Holden, president of the Great Lakes Overseas, Inc., agents for the Dutch shipping line in Chicago.

Monday's ceremonies saw the introduction of three "titles" among the participants. Okie Johnson, who represented Gov. Romney in the ceremony by reading a telegram from the governor, was introduced as "Mr. Coach." Carter Brown of Castle Park who originated the idea of an imported windmill for Holland was introduced as "Mr. Windmill" and John Beukema, long-time head of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce until his retirement 11 years ago, was introduced as "Mr. Seaway."

Willard C. Wichers of Holland, the man who probably did more than anybody else to get a Dutch windmill for Holland, served as master of ceremonies for Monday's events aboard the Prins Willem van Oranje. Although Bill was singularly modest about his own accomplishments, there were more than a few kindly allusions to the part he had played in the program which started through a suggestion of Carter Brown three years ago that Holland "spruce up" Tulip Time by means of an authentic Dutch windmill.

8:30 a.m. The huge crane (far left) started unloading the windmill about 9:30. Ceremonies are scheduled aboard ship for 5 p.m. today for the formal presentation of the windmill to the people of Holland. (Sentinel photo)

Stuck Elevator Injures Youth

Grand Haven Gets Large Settlement

GRAND HAVEN — The Board of Light and Power which operates Grand Haven's Municipal Light and Power Co. expects to recover $195,000 following a settlement Wednesday in an anti-trust suit in a U.S. district court in Philadelphia, Pa.

The local board today announced that a settlement had been reached with the Elliott Co. Division of Carrier Corp. in a suit started last December in which the Grand Haven board charged certain price fixing in connection with the sale of two steam turbines purchased for the new steam generating plant in June, 1959.

The settlement figure of $292,222 is reported to be the highest percentage recovery yet received by a plaintiff in some 1,700 similar suits now pending in the United States.

The Grand Haven board expects to recover about $195,000 after legal expenses. Plans call for using the funds to replace obsolete equipment and power lines now in use.

Meanwhile, suits against six power equipment companies brought by Holland city officials in similar price-fixing allegations currently are pending in the higher courts. The suits refer to heavy electrical equipment for Holland's James De Young power plant and its distribution system which were purchased from 1950 to 1959.

Man Waives Examination On Assault Charge

Billy Joe Wray, 27, of Peru, Ind., waived examination at his arraignment in Municipal Court Wednesday afternoon on a charge of assault to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

Wray was bound over to Circuit Court where he will appear October 12. A bond of $10,000 was not furnished and Wray will be taken to the Ottawa County jail.

Holland police arrested Wray early Wednesday morning after he allegedly stabbed Billy Breedwell, 28, of East Saugatuck in a quarrel at Eighth St. and Columbia Ave.

Miss Mary Slag, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Slag, 126 East 39th St., recently pledged Alpha Alpha chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. Miss Slag is a freshman in the school of speech at Northwestern. She was graduated from Holland High School in June.

Frost Hit City Twice Last Month

Dennis Van Wieren, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Wieren of 101 East 33rd St., underwent emergency surgery for a badly mutilated left ankle and injuries of the left arm at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids Wednesday evening after being trapped for almost 45 minutes in a freight elevator at Jack's Restaurant, 380 Ottawa Beach Rd.

The youth was freed from the elevator by rescuers who cut a two-foot arc out of the ceiling of the elevator with an acetylene torch. He was taken to the hospital where he was reported in good condition this morning.

The boy, who is employed at the restaurant as a dishwasher, was trapped while attempting to move the elevator stuck just below the first floor of the kitchen.

Van Wieren reportedly stamped on the floor of the elevator and was caught when the elevator fell about six feet. The ankle and arm were caught between the roof of the elevator and the first floor, Arthur Vannette, co-owner of the restaurant said.

Dinner guests and employees of the restaurant aided the youth. He was freed from the position when Marinus Jansen, an employee of the Roamer Boat Co., got an acetylene torch and cut the section out of the roof.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies, Carl Myrick and Robert Dykstra, the boy's physician, Dr. William Winter and Holland Township firemen assisted in freeing the boy.

Cameramen Get Scaffold

A 20-foot high scaffold for motion picture photographers is being constructed at Riverview Park and will be in use for the Hope-Alma College football game.

Hope athletic director Gordon Brewer said today a platform holding the photographers will be five by seven feet. Construction is by the Elzinga and Volkens Co. of Holland.

Brewer said Hope College is playing for the scaffold. The scaffold is being built on the 50-yard-line behind the temporary bleachers on the south side of the field.

Brewer said it was decided to build the scaffold because of the MIAA schools have decided to furnish each other with game pictures. The films had been taken out of the press box windows but poor camera angles made photography difficult.

Hope will furnish Alma with game pictures of the Saturday contest. Kalamazoo College furnished Hope with films of the Hope-Kalamazoo game in Kalamazoo last Saturday.

Holland had frost on two occasions in September, a check of weather statistics compiled by Lynn P. Wheaton revealed today. On Sept. 28 the mercury dipped to 30 and on Sept. 29 to 31. In general, the month was a bit cooler than usual and precipitation was just under normal.

Average temperature was 61.5 degrees or 1.7 degrees below normal. Precipitation totaled 3.54 inches or .42 inch below normal. This was in direct contrast to the September rainfall of 1961 when 9.23 inches fell, close to an all-time high.

Port Sheldon Leases Land For New Park

PORT SHELTON — Consumers Power Co. officials signed an agreement Tuesday evening at the Port Sheldon Township Hall leasing about five acres of the company's property on Lake Michigan to Port Sheldon Township for development of a park.

Company officials and members of the township board signed a five-year lease on a strip of the company's property with 900 feet of lake frontage. The future park will be located between Margaret Ave. and Lake Michigan just south of the company's discharge channel.

The agreement calls for leasing the land at the rate of $1 per year. Township supervisor Edmond Meason said that the lease would be renewed on a year-to-year basis after the five years. The agreement also includes a provision giving the township the option to purchase the land if the company decides to sell it.

Township officials said that they hope to have the park in operation by next summer. The 300 feet of frontage just south of the discharge channel will be used for parking as it is too close to the channel for swimming. The other 600 feet of beach will be available for swimming. The township also plans to put in picnic tables, sanitary facilities and a bathhouse. The township recreation board under Chairman Gerrald Groenewoud will be in charge of working out details of the park development.

Robert D. Allen, vice-president of Consumers Power, said after the signing of the agreement that the company was "fulfilling its original promise to the people of the township in providing the land for recreational use."

The Port Sheldon Township board approved the agreement at its meeting last month after negotiating with Consumers Power Co. for the land for about two years.

Barking Dog Saves Man

GRAND HAVEN — A fire late Thursday night caused an estimated $6,000 in damages to the home of Leslie Quinn, 62, 14915 17th Ave., Grand Haven township.

Quinn experienced difficulty in breathing and vision and was taken to the Grand Haven Municipal Hospital.

Quinn, asleep when the fire broke out, was aroused by the barking of his dog. He attempted to extinguish the flames, but failed to do so. After calling the telephone operator for assistance, he fled from the burning house.

The fire was brought under control by 12:30 a.m. today by the Grand Haven township and the Spring Lake fire departments. The blaze broke out about 11:00 p.m.

Quinn said he believed the fire was caused by cigarette ashes he had left in the living room while watching television.

Township Water System Studied

Representatives of City Council and the Board of Public Works met with Holland Township Board of Trustees Wednesday night in the township hall on 120th Ave. to review an engineering report on water needs in the township as compiled by Black and Veatch, consulting engineers of Michigan and Kansas City, Mo. This firm designed Holland's water system and also drew plans for Zeeland's pipeline.

Dan McKim of the consulting firm was present to explain details of the survey authorized about a year ago. The plan lists three possible sources of supply: Wyoming City pipeline, Holland City pipeline and possibilities of the township's own well supply system. Establishing a distribution system would be a separate venture in any case.

The report was referred to the Board of Public Works for study and report to City Council.

West Shore Company Receives Paving Pact

GRAND HAVEN — West Shore Construction Co. of Zeeland was given the contract Thursday by the Ottawa county road commission to resurface 64th Ave. one mile, from Riley St. to M21 in Zeeland township. The low bid was $9,273.50. The work will be done this fall or early next spring.

Three plats were approved by the commission, the Sheridan subdivision in Allendale township, the Heather Heights No. 2 plat in Georgetown and River Bend No. 1 in Tallmadge.

In the announcement of the engagement of Wilma Boeve to Robert Simmons, the name of the latter's parents should have been given as Bert Simmons of Nunica and Mrs. Virginia Magwood of Muskegon.

Windmill Is Trucked To Holland

The dismantled windmill De Zwaan of Vinkel, the Netherlands, has completed its long journey and arrived in Holland late Tuesday aboard seven trucks.

Once in Holland, the mill will gradually take shape in its new garden setting on the banks of Black River, and will be ready for the 1965 Tulip Time festival next May.

Tuesday's parade follows official ceremonies in Muskegon Monday night aboard the Prins Willem van Oranje, the Dutch ship which brought the dismantled mill to Michigan.

Willard C. Wichers of Holland, who had made two trips to the Netherlands to arrange for the sale of the mill, served as master of ceremonies. Ship Capt. Aart Schuijjer presented the document in which the mill is turned over to the people of Holland to Mayor Nelson Bosman. Mayor Bosman in turn presented wooden shoes, the city's traditional gesture of welcome to distinguished guests, to Capt. Schuijjer and to H. M. Holden of the Great Lakes Overseas Shipping Line.

Mayor Victor Yurick of Muskegon welcomed the guests and Oscar E. (Okie) Johnson of Muskegon Heights, representing Gov. George Romney, read a congratulatory telegram from the governor.

The blessing and benediction was given by the Rev. Fr. Jan Verkuyl, visiting professor of theology at Nazareth College in Kalamazoo, who had spent much of his youth in the neighborhood of Vinkel. Fr. Verkuyl said he was disturbed when he first learned that the Vinkel mill was going to America but after 2½ months in America (there's no place in the world like the United States) he is happy the mill is having a new home and is sure the people of Holland, Mich., in time will love it as much as the Dutch people.

Netherlands Vice Consul John Steketee of Grand Rapids said few people in this country realize what it means to the Dutch to part with a windmill and Holland is particularly fortunate since this is perhaps the last time a windmill will be allowed to leave the Netherlands. He likened it to Boston parting with the Old North Church.

Carter Brown, who originated the idea of an imported windmill for Holland, presented five framed scrolls of appreciation to Capt. Schuijjer who will deliver them to people in the Netherlands who had been particularly helpful in negotiating the exchange.

"It is just three years ago this month that we had our first windmill committee meeting. Plans underwent many changes, some of them disheartening, but the committee persevered, and if it hadn't been for Bill Wichers and Henry Maentz, this might not have come to pass," Brown said.

Capt. Schuijjer presented a Dutch flag to fly with the American flag over the mill, and Cindy and Shelly Padnos presented flowers to the captain.

The mill will be unloaded Wednesday at the new street department warehouse in the vicinity of Fairbanks Ave. and 11th St. The next step in the program is taking bids for a parking lot at the meeting of City Council Wednesday night. At a later date, bids will be taken to dredge canals to be completed before winter.

Included in the dismantled windmill is a miniature mill some 12 feet high. There was no explanation of the small mill's presence, but Wichers believes it may have come from Arie de Koning, technical expert who supervises windmill restoration projects. De Koning had such a mill in the yard of his home and on one occasion quipped to Wichers that when he moved he would give the mill to Holland, Mich.

Two Persons Injured In Two-Car Collision

GRAND HAVEN — Two persons were injured Tuesday when cars driven by Phyllis Helen Olsen, 47, and Melvin De Witt, 32, both of Grand Haven, collided near the intersection of Waverly and Friant Sts. in Grand Haven about 4:40 p.m.

Ruth Mae Conley, 35, of Wyoming, passenger in the Olsen car was taken to Municipal Hospital and admitted for cuts, bruises and shock. Mrs. Olsen received cuts and bruises but did not require medical attention. De Witt was not injured.

Grand Haven city police issued a ticket to Mrs. Olsen for failure to yield the right of way. City police said the Olsen car went out of control about 100 feet from the intersection, started to go off the shoulder, swung onto the road and into the path of the De Witt car.

Views From The Campus

(James Malcolm joined the Hope College faculty as instructor in speech in 1963. He holds a B. A. degree from Wheaton College, a B. D. from Fuller Theological Seminary, and a S. T. M. from Union Theological Seminary. For three years Malcolm studied acting with Lee Strasberg and Sanford Meisner in New York City. In addition to teaching speech courses, Malcolm is Director of Theatre for the college. Editor's note)

By James Malcolm

During the summer I had the chance to see three hit plays on and off Broadway.

If I'd been a Broadway Angel looking for a sure-fire show to invest in, only one of the plays would have looked like a possible money maker. Of the three, it was the only play with any rating on the usual investment guide of sex and sensation, the two ingredients which supposedly guarantee the success of a popular Broadway play.

Nevertheless, thousands of people pushed through the bums and beatniks of Bleeker Street to a broken down theatre, across from a broken down flop house, to see a two thousand year old play about the meaninglessness and men's waste of men's warring together.

Uptown, across from Shubert Alley, while several musicals were wilting in the summer heat, tickets were hard to get for a play written sixty-four years ago about the unfulfilled longing of three sisters for freedom from the monotony of their circumscribed lives.

And if audiences were drawn to the third play, either for a look at the brilliantly designed temporary theatre of the Lincoln Center of Performing Arts, or for a look at the private life of Marilyn Monroe, they were sent away instead with a serious vision of man's inability to heal the deep disorders of another man's soul.

Audiences were not drawn to any of these plays merely for diversion, entertainment, or escape. Nor did they come just to hear a message, or have something done to them, as if they were naughty children in need of a scolding. The involvement of author, actor, and audience the nights I saw "The Trojan Women," "Three Sisters," and "After the Fall," was deeper than that. It was touched with an awe we usually associate with worship. If we were not being made more cultured, intelligent, or pious, we were being made more alive, and that is the high test of good drama in any age. Mysteriously, each play brought us face to face with ourselves.

During several gruelling scenes in "After the Fall," the woman sitting next to me groaned and gripped her husband's arm for support as if the sight of herself on stage were more than she could bear. I couldn't resist saying, "Shhh — you're giving yourself away." Her answer was, "Shhh — so are we all!" And so we were. Three hours in that theatre said more about total depravity than ten thousand books — and without any cold, juridical, I-told-you-you-were-no-good gleefulness. How could it? This was not someone else's depravity. This was our own.

Certainly there is too much tinsel and tripe in the commercial theatre. There always was and there always will be. Of course, some producers will keep trying to make gold out of garbage by taking the public pulse before producing a play. Every art, and every institution, including the institution of the church, is plagued by self-centered exploiters, panderers to the popular demand, those who destroy life while pretending to serve it.

But this self-centeredness isn't the whole truth of the theatre, any more than it is the whole truth of the church. Good drama has always done more than shock and entertain. Good drama, to use the words of Tom F. Driver, "finds and releases the audience's primitive instinct for life, reality, and vitality — There is one common message to all good theatre: things matter, you cannot sleep forever. A dramatic performance is a reveille trumpet. The audience comes, half asleep perhaps, but longing to hear the sound of Gabriel."

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss
County Extension Agent, 4-H

This is the week we are celebrating the National 4-H Club Week. The theme of this year's program is "Join a 4-H Club." Ottawa County has not taken a very active part in the general participation in an over all county program because of the large number of enrolled members we already have. We would, however, call to your attention that there is going to be a football excursion this Saturday for 4-H members; an open house was held on Sept. 28 in Hudsonville and on Sept. 29 in Coopersville at which time 4-H Club leaders could come in and pick up their materials for fall enrollment; a potluck beef banquet is being held today.

Nature Center Important Mohr Tells Garden Club

"Holland is one of the 100 communities in the United States and Canada to be far sighted enough to preserve an area of natural beauty for a nature center," Charles E. Mohr said on Thursday afternoon at the Holland Garden Club meeting which was held in the Woman's Literary Club. Mr. Mohr, educational director of the Kalamazoo Nature Center, spoke on "Wild Life Near at Home," using slides to illustrate his topic.

The speaker told of the necessity for maintaining an easily accessible spot for adults and children to keep in touch with the unspoiled beauty of nature, where there are flowers, trails, birds, trees, nature, rocks and wild life. While everyone has the capacity to be interested and inspired, children are particularly benefited when there is available an undisturbed area where they can explore, be instructed and just listen to see how many new sounds they can hear.

The nature centers have many ways in which they utilize their centers for the maximum enjoyment and educational aspects. Children are taught to see the various layers of nature from the tallest trees to the smallest plant and the different conditions existing in each layer. Some cities use "on the spot" biology and science lessons; a canal can be used to teach an engineering lesson or a farm operation, if the center is large enough, to show how to vary planting of crops.

"In preserving for the future this heritage from the past," said Mr. Mohr, "Americans must see that choice nature spots with wooded areas and water are not destroyed." Such areas are needed so that our children can enjoy the beauty of nature; where they can see and hear many kinds of birds; where they can study animals and insects.

He closed by showing slides of the new building at the Kalamazoo Nature Center and invited his audience to visit there.

Mrs. William C. Vandenberg Jr. presided at the meeting and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Edmond Jonoski, conservation chairman. Mrs. Jack Glupker, ways and means chairman, announced that Christmas trees will be sold at the Dec. 3 workshop.

Mrs. Richard W. Ambrose, Mrs. Forrest McClaskey, Mrs. Leif Blodde, Mrs. Cornelius Dees, Mrs. J. Russel Bouws, Mrs. Robert Lichtenheld, Mrs. R. Michmerhuizen, Mrs. James B. Brown, Mrs. Will J. Scott, Mrs. Jack Lamb, Mrs. L. J. Pratt, and Mrs. Robert Schoon were announced as new members. Mrs. Edward Brolin, membership chairman, made their tokens of welcome.

Zeeland Mulls Plans for New Middle School

ZEELAND — The first meeting of the special study committee exploring the possibility of forming a middle school in the Zeeland educational program was held at Roosevelt School last week.

The meeting was directed by Cornelius Hoezee, Elementary School principal. About 60 people were present for the first meeting.

The Zeeland School Board has authorized the formation of the special study committee upon recommendation of a Michigan State University survey team that conducted a study last year on the needs of the Zeeland Public Schools. The study revealed that by 1966 Zeeland will have 730 pupils in 5-6-7-8th grade. This includes students from the sending areas.

Hoezee revealed that these projected enrollment figures show a pressing need for more classrooms in both elementary and junior high school and for this reason it was decided to consider a school made up of grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 or a school made up of grades 6, 7 and 8. This new division would be called the middle school. Such a school would be designed to take care of the entire needs of the grades included in its plant.

At the meeting held last night Hoezee outlined the purpose of the group. A question and answer period was given in order that the study group be completely informed as to the task ahead of them. Some of the problems facing the committee will deal with what curriculum should be taught, the philosophy of the school, the changing educational methods resulting in revising curriculum and the size and facilities needed in such a physical plant.

The study group will meet each Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. for six or eight weeks. The next meeting will be held on October 8. Any interested citizen may be present at these meetings as well as the study group.

At the October 8 meeting the study group will hear Dr. George Mills, University of Michigan Educational Department, keynote an address to them.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

This is the time of the year when an extra effort is made to clean out all of the many accumulations that have again built up in many homes, factories, public buildings and in fact almost every place where people are.

The fire departments over the country as well as the chiefs of State Police fire marshal divisions are urging people to make an extra effort during Fire Prevention Week. Last year our state had 273 fatalities, 64 more than 1962. The total fires amounted to 86,845 up to 1962. Almost a third (29,943) resulted from acts of carelessness, most of them from burning rubbish, in smoking and in the use of matches.

Here are some fire safety guides for homeowners and others. School family members in fire safety practices. Have an emergency evacuation plan for the family. This can be one of the most important family programs especially since many fires start at night. Keep matches and other fire-creating devices out of the reach of children. Do not overload electrical circuits and keep electrical appliances in good repair. Promptly and properly dispose of combustible waste materials. Make regular inspections of home and building heating equipment.

Take precaution to properly store paints, oils and other inflammable liquids. Be especially careful in using tobacco and matches are out when you discard them.

There are many other rules that everyone can use. So take a few minutes of your time to check against fire hazards. A few minutes all year long can save time and lives.

Sunday School Lesson

Salvation for Sinners
I Timothy 1:12-17;
I Timothy 2:1-2
By C.P. Dame

Two words, "sin" and "salvation" belong together. When the word "sin" is overlooked, the word "salvation" is slighted. Man needs salvation because of his sins and his sinful nature.

I. A religious experience is a blessing. Paul had a remarkable conversion on the road to Damascus. He was in the ministry because God called him. Paul always marvelled that the Lord called him who was at that time a blasphemer and a persecutor and an insulter to preach the gospel. It is hard for us to trust a person who has once sinned against us.

The Lord is different. Paul was deeply conscious of the fact that the Lord had appointed him to serve. This was a proof of God's mercy. We ought to stress the word "service" more in our churches. How much better a church member serves when he knows that God has put him where he is serving—put him in the consistory, in the choir, in the teaching staff, in the Ushers' Club, or in some office in the church.

II. Jesus came to save sinners. Five times the phrase, "This is a faithful saying" appears in the pastoral letters. The fact that Jesus came to save sinners is reliable and deserves acceptance. The word "came" speaks of the Lord's pre-existence. Jesus came from heaven to this sinful world for the special purpose of saving, that is rescuing sinners from the power, presence, and penalty of sin.

Man is born a sinner. He has a sinful nature. Paul confessed that he was the foremost sinner. The older he got the more he realized his sinfulness. Growing Christians become more conscious of their sins.

The memory of past sins keeps a person humble. It brightens the flame of gratitude. Unwise it is for a converted person to talk always about how bad he once was. It is better to tell others that God can save a person regardless how sinful a life he lived.

III. Intercessory prayers are a power. Christians should pray for all men—those in and those outside of the church. The word "all" is very comprehensive. Paul refers especially to those in authority. There are three good reasons why we should pray for those in authority. The first is that we may live a peaceful life. The second is that godliness may prevail amongst us and the third is that public decency may be promoted. Christians should be concerned about society and the state.

IV. Jesus is the only Mediator. There is but one God and but one Mediator and he is Jesus Christ. A mediator is a person who stands between two estranged people and seeks to bring them together. Through his atoning death on the cross Christ proved himself to be our Mediator.

The gospel is the good news that God through Christ makes forgiveness possible. Paul was deeply conscious of having been called to be "a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity." A Christian who is sure that God called him to serve is able to do a great work for the kingdom.

'Julian' Review Proves Provocative Experience

Gathering in a newly decorated clubhouse, members of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon heard Herbert Duonow review Gore Vidal's best seller "Julian," an historical novel of the last of the anti-Christian emperors dating back to 681 A. D.

The reviewer, who previously appeared before the club March 21, 1961, to review Harper Lee's "To Kill a Mocking Bird," gave a provocative dramatization of the current best seller in which arguments are presented in defense of the Greek Hellenistic World as posed against the Christian faith which was then sweeping the Roman empire.

"You may find parts of this book disturbing because many of the arguments sound convincing," Mr. Duonow said in his introduction. At the close he quoted some of today's great biblical scholars, pointing out that all religions are profoundly affected by other faiths, and that Christianity cannot be blamed for what politicians do in its name. "What we do puts us under the judgment of history and the judgment of God," he said.

Julian, a nephew of Constantine the Great, regarded as the world's first Christian leader, was five years old when his uncle died, and was profoundly affected when his cousin Constantius had Julian's father be-

Holland Native Saves U.S. $2,399,000 In Taxes

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Mrs. Betty Schepers, a native of Holland and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hurlbut of 242 Pine Ave., has saved American taxpayers $2,399,000.

Mrs. Schepers, a civilian employee at Kelly Air Force base in San Antonio, Texas, is inventory manager for the B-78/B-70 Systems Support Management Division in the Material Management Directorate of the U.S. Air Force. She is responsible for the ground equipment which supports the supersonic B-58's.

Since the B-58 is a first-line aircraft, and must be ready for immediate service at all times, new modifications in its bomb-navigational systems necessitated prompt new electronic tests of these systems. According to the "Flying Times," it takes five different types of expensive electronic AGE test sets, plus supporting equipment, to make a complete check of the B-58 bomb-navigational systems.

Mrs. Schepers prevented the unnecessary purchase of additional testing equipment. Instead of buying new test sets, she obtained approval to use stored devices set aside for a program planned for the future. While preventing the purchase of expensive new equipment, this action jeopardized neither program.

Likewise, she provided the second B-58 Bomb Wing with test sets by utilizing equipment stored but not used by another Air Force unit. When the wing was moved to Arkansas, an additional test set was needed for the training of new personnel. Mrs. Schepers located a set at the contractor facility, which was then sent to the training detachments.

By prompt action Mrs. Schepers avoided the purchase of new test sets and saved American taxpayers nearly $2½ million.

Tigers Score 27-0 Victory Over Dutch

BENTON HARBOR — Scoring twice on the ground and twice in the air, Benton Harbor's football team rolled to a 27-0 win over Holland before 5,200 fans in Flitstrup Field here Friday night.

The LMCA defending champions made it two straight league victories as they punched home three touchdowns in the first half and then added a final tally with 2:07 to play in the game.

For Holland it marked its second conference defeat in as many starts and left the Dutch with 1-2 overall record. The Dutch again had trouble getting an offense going. However in the second half Holland was able to grind out 83 yards rushing and complete two of three passes.

Twice the Dutch were on scoring marches in the last two quarters but were stopped by an intercepted pass and a rumble. The pass interception on the Tigers 19, with the scrimmage on the Benton Harbor 30, squelched the first try. It came on the last play of the third quarter.

In the final period, the Dutch had driven from their own 20 to the Benton Harbor 35 in 11 plays but a fumble ended the drive. Four plays the Tigers scored their final touchdown on a 54-yard pass play from Mickey Stewart to Richard Anderson.

Holland's second half play was much improved over the dismal first half. Jim Morse pounced on Benton Harbor's fumble on the Dutch 43 to start the first drive while a few plays earlier Rob Zylman had caught Dave Mack from behind to head off a touchdown. Mack had hiked 40 yards before he was caught.

Offensively, the Dutch managed to out together six first downs and junior quarterback Paul Prins completed two of his three passes for 12 yards. Most of the rushing yardage was gained by Rog Woltman, Brian Hill, Perry Cornelissen and Ben Phillips.

But in the first half it was a different story. The Tigers held the Dutch to only 18 yards rushing while piling up 124 including Steve Mitchell's 40-yard touchdown run around end with 5:15 to go in the second period.

Don Lewis scored Benton Harbor's first touchdown on a one-yard plunge four plays after Bruce Joslyn had blocked Holland's punt on the Dutch nine with 7:07 to play in the first quarter.

Joslyn caught a 20-yard aerial from Stewart 42 seconds after the second quarter started for the second touchdown.

The touchdown pass was one of six caught in 10 first half tries for 81 yards. In the second half, Benton Harbor tried three and completed each one including the scoring pass.

The Tigers had all kinds of trouble with penalties and were assessed 11 times. One of the nine five-yard penalties cost them a touch down in the second quarter after Mack had galloped 43 yards. Mack's 40-yard run was the only significant rushing yardage by the winners in the second half as they gained only 77 yards.

Cornelissen's punting again impressed as he booted five for 165 yards and a 33-yard average. Mitchell's two punts gave him a 37-yard average. He also converted after three of the touchdowns.

Holland hosts Grand Haven next Friday night. The Bucs stopped Grand Rapids Union, 7-0 Friday.

Panthers Lose, 14-6 To Pioneers

East Grand Rapids capitalized on West Ottawa errors Friday night and then fought off the fired up Panthers for three periods of play to take a 14-6 victory before a crowd of 2,681 at the West Ottawa Athletic field.

Alertness was East Grand Rapids main attribute. It did little on the attack. The Panthers made only five first downs with one in the second half to 13 first downs rolled up by the Panthers. East accumulated only 115 yards rushing, all of them on the ground compared to West Ottawa's 165 yards with 18 through the air.

East Grand Rapids was able to hold the Panther team at crucial moments. It stopped Panther threats in each quarter.

In the first period it looked as if the Pioneers were going to run the Panthers all the way as East controlled the ball for the first six minutes and 45 seconds of play.

East finally was forced to punt to West Ottawa. The Panthers proceeded to fumble on the first play from scrimmage on their own nine yard line. Halfback Tom Conway then swept wide around end and scored without anyone touching him. Bob Binder added the extra point and it appeared as if East was going to give the Panthers all they would care to handle for one evening.

But the West Ottawa Panthers clawed back with Vizithum passing to Dave Farabee, and Lynn Bakker and Larry Diekema picking up sizable amounts on the ground.

The Panthers drove down to the East 1 yard line where Dave Vizithum was thrown for a nine-yard loss by "red-dogging" Pioneers and West Ottawa was forced to turn the ball over to East on the five-yard line the next play.

In the second quarter, it was West Ottawa's game as they drove down to the East 15 yard line with the hard running of halfback Roger Zeh. Once again East foiled any hopes the Panthers had of scoring by picking off a Vizithum pass on the seven yard line.

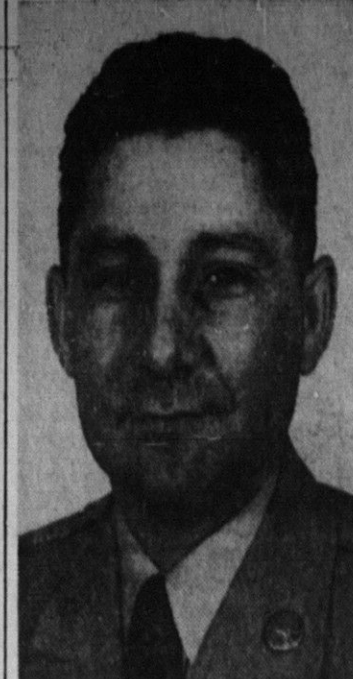

Four downs later the Panthers again began a drive that ended on the East 10-yard line when Kutchinski of East picked off a Panther pass to end any threat for the rest of that period.

West Ottawa began the second half with Frank Houting and Zeh lugging the ball down to the Pioneer 15 only to have a costly penalty bring it back to the 30 where the Panthers found their attack stifled again.

The West Ottawa defense, put in stride by Bob Houting and Rozeboom, held the Pioneers and big Arvin Visser intercepted a Conway pass on the East 29 yard line giving the Panther's another opportunity. Zeh barreled down to the 18 where Houting smashed to the 10. On a pitchout from Craig Van Dyke, Farabee passed to Vizithum who was brought down on the three yard line. On the next play Farabee scored. John Oonk's attempt to add the extra point was wide and East led 7-6.

The Panthers, who had not scored against East in three previous games were now determined. With one minute and 30 seconds left in the game the Panthers on fourth down were going for a victory as Farabee attempted to pass. Tom Dennis of East picked it out of the air on the 26 and streaked into the end zone for the second East score. Bob Binder again kicked the extra point making it 14-6 East.

Even though the final score was 14-6 in East's favor a slight shift of the tide could have made it West Ottawa's game. West Ottawa was stopped in each quarter when they were deep in Pioneer territory ready to score. However, they either fumbled or had a pass intercepted

Vows Read in Brighton

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. De Boer

Marriage vows between Miss Jacquelyn Joyce Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carney of Brighton, and Jerry L. De Boer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kuipers of Holland, were exchanged in a double ring ceremony performed Sept. 5 by the Rev. Robert Brubaker in First Methodist Church in Brighton.

Mr. Carney escorted his daughter to the altar which was decorated with candelabra and vases of white and blue gladioli and chrysanthemums.

The bride was attired in a floor-length sheath of peau de soie topped by lace appliques. The controlled-skirt in the back was covered by a chapel-length train of French lace which was attached to her removable princess styled jacket. Her silk illusion veil fell from a crown of satin petals with lace appliques and seed pearls.

She wore an heirloom diamond in a contemporary setting which was a gift of the groom and carried a longline cascade bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums.

Bridal attendants were Miss Susan P. Wilson, maid of honor;

Miss Judy Patriarche, Mrs. John White and Miss Nina Adams, bridesmaids, and Miss Charlotte Carney, junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore teal blue floor-length sheaths featuring trains held in place by a Dior bow at the waist. Matching Dior bows served as the headpieces. The junior bridesmaid was attired in a floor-length gown of white embroidered organdy over a pale blue taffeta slip. Her headpiece was a crown arrangement of white flowers. Each attendant carried bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Attending the groom was David G. Dobbins as best man. Ushers were Wayne De Vries and Phillip Miller, both of Zeeland, and Keith Rigterink, Richard Esposito and Donald Carney Jr.

The couple greeted the guests at a buffet luncheon served at the American Legion Post.

Following their wedding trip through Canada, New York and Eastern States, they reside at 1614 A, Spartan Village, East Lansing.

Busy Concert Schedule Set by Hope Musicians

The Hope College orchestra and symphonette have planned a busy concert schedule for the Holland area as well as appearances in a number of eastern and New England states during the concert season of 1964-65.

The orchestra will open the Holland series with a concert on Nov. 12 featuring pianist, Charles Aschbrenner, as soloist in the performance in Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The symphonette will make its first Holland appearance on Tuesday evening, Dec. 15, in a performance of the Scialotti "Christmas Cantata" with Joyce Morrison, soprano, appearing as soloist.

Robert Cecil will join the symphonette as horn soloist in its winter concert and the same program will be repeated on the Oakland campus of Michigan State University shortly after the first of the year.

March will bring a performance of the Faure "Requiem" with the Hope Chapel choir and orchestra on Sunday, March 7. The spring tour of the symphonette will include concerts in Michigan, Ontario, New York, New Hampshire, and New Jersey, covering a two week period beginning on Monday, March 29.

On April 29 the orchestra will join the band and the Chapel choir in a performance devoted to the work of Ulysses Kay, America's most celebrated Negro composer, who will appear as lecturer on the Hope College campus that week.

The final concert of the year by the orchestra is scheduled for Thursday evening, May 13, as part of the Tulip Time Festival with a guest soloist to be announced at a later date.

All symphonette and orchestra concerts are under the direction of Dr. Morrette Rider of the Hope faculty and are presented in Dimment Memorial Chapel on the Hope College campus without an admission charge.

Herbert Coburn, retiring chief. Seventeen fathers and sons were present. The tribe decided to meet the second and fourth Friday nights of each month.

YMCA plans call for organizing more Indian Guide tribes which consist of 10 to 16 fathers and sons, the latter of ages 6 through 8. Meetings are usually held twice a month in homes of members. The Big Brave (father) and Little Brave (son) do everything together and neither can attend the tribe meeting without the other.

Extra activities may include trips, educational tours, overnight camping, ball games, etc. Further information may be obtained by calling Chief Vander Sluis or the YMCA office.

Dutch Drop MIAA Game; Third Defeat

KALAMAZOO — Breaks make the difference many times in football games and Kalamazoo College got its share here Saturday as they whipped Hope, 39-6 in the MIAA opener for both schools before 3,000 fans in Angell Field.

With the romp over the Flying Dutchmen, the Hornets established themselves as a contender for the MIAA crown which they held last year with Hope and Albion.

Kalamazoo took advantage of every opportunity Saturday to turn in the one-sided win even though the statistics were within a yard. Hope outgained the winners, 159-158.

From the opening horn the breaks went against Hope. Coupled with this was the absence of seven regulars who had played in the opener two weeks ago. All were sidelined with injuries, the latest being senior guard Paul Bast who injured a knee Thursday.

Two early game Kalamazoo punts kept Hope in the hole. The first rolled out on the four and this was followed by a 53-yard boot that dribbled out on the Hope one.

Against the wall, Hope punted but only to the 22 and five plays later Egils Lode cracked the center for the final two yards. Rick Russell converted with 1:48 left in the first quarter.

Three plays later Ron Creeger intercepted a Hope pass on the Hornet 32 and Russell's five-yard "wrong hole" run climaxed the 15-yard drive. The conversion failed.

Two minutes later with 4:31 left in the first half, Hope failed to make a first down on its own 35 and the Hornets needed seven plays to score with Lode knifing the guard for the last yard. A pass failed on the extra points.

In the third quarter after Hope had punted into the end zone, the play was called back on a penalty and this time Bob Sibilsy took the punt on his 20 and cut for the sidelines.

His running, almost in slow motion as he allowed his blockers to form in front of him, was the games highlight as he threaded his way 80 yards to score. Russell passed to Mike Gohl for the two points and 5:33 remained in the third period.

After a Hope punt to the Hornet 35, the winners benefited from a pass interference penalty to the Hope 31 and six plays later Dennis Steele cracked tackle for the final two yards. A pass for two points failed.

Midway in the fourth period, Hope got the ball on its own 42 and began a 58-yard six-play touchdown that resulted in Hope's first tally this season. Hudsonville freshman Keith Abel, starting his first game, scored it on a one yard dash with 5:37 left in the game.

Harlan Hyink, who fired 28 times and completed 10, connected three times in four tries during the drive. He hit his favorite target Bill Hultgren for 28 yards, then flanker back Bruce Menning for 18 and Menning again for 11 to put the ball on the one. Hyink's run was stopped for the extra points.

Guard Mike Saxby, with the clock showing one second to play, intercepted a pass on the Hope 49 and ran for the final score. A drop kick extra point try failed.

Saxby's interception was one of five Kalamazoo made. Hope intercepted six passes, five in the second half but couldn't convert any into scoring drives.

Keith Abel led Hope rushing with 41 yards in 16 tries but other losses left Hope with a net 10 yards on the ground. Freshman Gohl had 47 yards in 11 tries while Lode picked up 43 in 18 carries. Holland freshman Vern Plagenhoef fired four passes and completed one as Hope lofted 32 and completed 11 for 140 yards.

The Flying Dutchmen, 0-3 overall and 0-1 in the MIAA, host Alma Saturday at 2 p.m. The Scots lost to Olivet, 14-13 Saturday.

Hope Stops Goshen, 6-5

GOSHEN, Ind. — Hope College's soccer team jumped to an early 3-0 lead here Saturday but then dropped behind and had to battle back to score a 6-5 win over Goshen College.

The victory was the first for the Flying Dutchmen over a varsity team and gave Hope a 2-0-1 record. Hope plans to play Michigan State University, Oakland branch Saturday during the half of the Hope-Alma football game in Riverview Park.

Hope scored twice in the first quarter, despite a strong head wind. Alan Griswold, left inside forward, scored the first goal on a pass by Jim Pierpoint, right inside forward. Jaime Zeas, forward center, and Hope captain, set up Bennett Ametefe, right wing, for the second goal.

Left wing Pierre Sende scored in the third quarter after Bennett played the ball free. Then Goshen scored five straight times in the next 10 minutes. Pierre Sende took advantage of a Goshen fumble and scored Hope's fourth goal late in the period.

In the fourth quarter, Ametefe brought up the ball, passed three defenders and fired the ball 30 yards into the net. Pierpoint scored the winning goal after getting a fine pass from Sende.

Hope's defense consisted of Brian Bailey, goalie; Dave Yntema and Bean Bao, fullbacks and Cornelius Agori-Iwe, Ray Cooper and Gibson Dallah, halfbacks.

Miss Winabelle Gritter and Mrs. Elsie Feimster will be speakers for the afternoon meeting at the Zeeland Women's Missionary Union meeting next Thursday, Oct. 8, at the First Christian Reformed Church.

Miss Gritter is home on furlough from Taiwan after having completed her first term of service there.

Last spring after the typhoon struck Taiwan she took charge of distribution of food and clothing issued by the Christian Reformed World Relief Committee. Prior to that she taught in the mission school in Zuni for five years.

Mrs. Feimster, a graduate of Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., has been employed in Harlem, New York City for the past two years. She is also an accomplished vocalist.

The evening speaker will be Gordon Kuik, who has been working in Baissa in Nigeria as evangelist and teacher of the evangelist's training course. He will also show slides about his work. He is a graduate of the Reformed Bible Institute.

Music in the afternoon will be provided by Allendale I and in the evening by Jamestown.

The afternoon meeting will begin at 1:30 and the evening meeting at 7:30.

The Zeeland School Board, at a special session, has authorized the formation of a special study committee to explore the possibility of forming a middle school in the educational program.

Names of the special study committee have not been revealed, but will meet each Thursday at Roosevelt School at 7:30 for the next six or eight weeks. At the first meeting the scope and the purpose of the group will be discussed. Following meetings will outline the thinking of the group for the necessity and character of a middle school program.

The meetings will be under the direction of Cornelius Hoozee, elementary school principal. The committee will be composed of citizens of the community, teachers, consultants and board representatives.

Hoozee revealed that projected enrollment figures show a pressing need for more classrooms in both elementary and junior high school and for this reason it was decided to consider a school made up of grades 5, 6, 7 and 8, or a school made up of grades 6, 7 and 8. This new division would be called the middle school.

According to the Michigan State University survey that was completed the past year, such a middle school will have between 600 and 800 children by 1966. These figures include children from our sending districts.

The purpose of the study committee is to determine the educational program for the new middle school.

Studies will be made of population figures, present and proposed curriculum, and a philosophy of education for such a program.

Hope Students Ask for Union

Shouts of "We want a Union! We want a Student Center!" shot across the Hope College campus from over 200 Hope students last Saturday night.

The crowd moved to the campus from the temporary Student Union on the ground floor of Durfee Hall. The one-room Union had been "stuffy, crowded and hot," said a junior coed. "I couldn't see people eight feet away!"

Union chairman Preston Marling called for students in the Union to join with him in an orderly but purposeful demonstration. "We need more room for recreation and activities," Marling said. "We have to tell people that we do."

At 10:30 p.m., the group followed Marling to the front lawn of the President's home. Dr. Vander Werf greeted the chants of "We want a Union" by announcing, "I want one too!"

er, designed to automatically clean surgical instruments and tubing.

Prior to development of this type of machine it was necessary to hand scrub to remove material from crevices. Tubing was especially difficult to clean by hand, a brush being forced back and forth through the tubing being the most accepted method.

With the advent of the ultrasonic cleaner these jobs are being done faster and better. The lustrous finish and smooth action of surgical instruments are maintained by this new cleaning method.

The sonic cleaner produces high frequency sound waves, a water bath and an instrument spray. Surgical instruments are placed in a tray, lowered into the water bath, treated to the high frequency sound wave which in turn causes the washing action.

This washing action reaches hidden parts as well as outside surfaces of the instruments cleaning them thoroughly. In a matter of three minutes hundreds of articles can be cleaned and readied for the sterilizer.

The sonic cleaner contributes to the ever present battle of infection controlled by properly cleaning instruments and minimizing contamination and cross infection. Local hospital people regard this as the ultimate unit in instrument cleaning.

Zeeland Kiwanis Club met Tuesday night at Van Raalte's Restaurant under the leadership of Ted Vanden Brink, president.

After the regular meeting a board meeting was held at which Dave Krombeen was accepted into membership. Krombeen is employed at Vanden Brink agency, is married and resides at 58½ West Washington Ave.

The club is having a membership drive and for a speaker at the October 13th meeting Ken Folkertsma will show his slides of his recent trip to Europe.

Capt. Bill Stuart of the Salvation Army addressed the Zeeland Rotary Club Tuesday and told how the Salvation Army is working with the senior citizens of the Zeeland-Holland area. Stuart called this "The Golden Age Club."

Capt. Stuart was introduced by Rotarian Jud Hoffman who also gave the invocation.

Guest Rotarians, Bill Stuart of Holland and Dr. P. L. Fritz of Pigeon were introduced.

"I recognize that your desire for a Student Center is earnest and justified," Dr. Vander Werf told the students. "Do not think that the Board of Trustees is opposed to this idea."

Demonstrators cheered Vander Werf's words. Several volunteered to discuss building needs with the president.

At the group's invitation, Dr. and Mrs. Vander Werf visited and inspected the limited conditions of the present Union. Vander Werf and student leaders began defining the college's need of a building to house theater, music, publication and recreation facilities.

Vander Werf plans to present the request to the Hope College Board of Trustees. Holland area residents who are board members are Dr. Donald J. Brugink, Mrs. George Pelgrim, Dr. Henry Ten Pas and Mr. Willard C. Wichers.

The First Michigan Bank and Trust Company of Zeeland has applied to the State Banking Commission for approval to establish a branch bank on Center Street in Douglas. The proposed site, it is reported, would be between Tyler's store and Post Office.

George Allen, Julius Schipper and Robert Bennett were elected to a three year term according to the secretary. They will replace Melvin Boonstra, Wendell Bonnama and John de Vries whose terms expire. Other members of the Board are: Howard Kalmink, Hannes Meyers, Roy Post, Bruce de Pree, Glenn de Pree and Leonard Vanden Bosch.

The Chamber Board meets the first Thursday of every month.

The Chamber's annual banquet will take place Oct. 20.

C. Karsten was reappointed secretary-manager of the local Chamber of Commerce by the Board of Directors at their last meeting.

Karsten begins his fifth consecutive year as secretary of the organization. He also served as secretary or president for 10 years, from 1937 to 1947.

Kenneth J. Folkertsma, United Fund drive chairman said that division chairmen are presently recruiting section and zone majors to assist in developing the campaign organization.

Solicitation in the industrial division will get under way on Oct. 5 one week in advance of the official opening date of the drive Oct. 12.

Robert Bennett, division chairman pointed out that this is necessary to provide ample time for the solicitation of employees which will be carried out on an individual "in-plant" basis.

As in last year's campaign, special emphasis is being placed upon securing pledges to be paid over a period of time through individual firm payroll payment plans.

This provides the opportunity of giving throughout the year an amount not possible if the gift is dependent on "out of pocket" funds, Bennett said.

The public school of this area will close October 22-23 for the annual Michigan Education Association regional teachers conference. This year's meeting, to be held in Grand Rapids, is expected to draw more than 8,500 teachers and school administrators.

One of 12 in-service training programs being sponsored by the MEA this fall, the Grand Rapids conference, will bring the latest in teaching techniques and theory to local educators.

A. R. Gale, president of Weatherhead International, will keynote the conference. His address, "The United States' Position in World Trade: A Guided Tour Through a Golden Jungle," will be given at the general session, Thursday, Oct. 22.

Other general session speakers will be Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, and Russell Jones, MEA president and principal of Grand Rapids' Burton school.

MASON WORK BEGINS — A mason of Hazewinkle Bros. of Grand Rapids is shown laying a row of brick shortly after mason work on the three-story base for the windmill "De Zwaan" began last week. Each tier of brick slopes downward toward the outside of the mill's base, and each of the walls of the eight-sided base will

Women Seeking to Get Old US-31 Back on Map

SAUGATUCK — "Get us back on the map!"

This is the rallying cry of a group of Saugatuck-Douglas women who have formed a committee seeking to restore the name US-31 to former highway US-31, now called Blue Star Memorial Highway.

At first glance, the issue of naming the highway doesn't seem very important, but these women contend that it could mean the difference between life and death for a large number of small businesses located along the highway from Holland to Benton Harbor.

Since the completion of interstate highway I-96, between Benton Harbor and Holland, the former US-31 has been handed by the state over to the counties through which it passes. And here the trouble arises.

On the official Michigan Highway Department road map, the old US-31 is shown as simply another nameless county road. I-96 and the new US-31 now bypass dozens of small businesses that depend on the tourist trade for their very existence.

Because most tourists follow clearly marked and numbered highways on the map, they drive on by the business places, restaurants and motels located along old US-31.

By getting the highway's old name back, and giving the state and federal governments the responsibility of its care, the group is hoping that it will again be clearly shown on the map and that tourists will then make use of the businesses along its route.

As an example, one of the women on the committee who is a motel owner said that rentals at her motel were down 64 for the month of August. On an average of two persons per rental, this would mean that all businesses in the Saugatuck area were out 128 potential customers.

Another committee member said that because highways were inadequately marked, many people who had made reservations for her motel either took US-31 south from I-94 at Watervliet and ended up in Niles, or else they stayed on I-94 and ended up in Kalamazoo.

The trouble actually started about two years ago, the committee said, when inadequate highway marking made it difficult for tourists to find their way on US-31 from freeways in the southern part of the state. Since then the woes of businessmen from Holland to Benton Harbor have increased with the completion of I-96 and the dropping of old US-31 from the map.

The Saugatuck-Douglas Chamber of Commerce took up the fight to protect their businesses at this early stage, but when they got nowhere, they formed the present all-woman Road Committee in August to get them back on the map.

The women started by getting signatures of 68 small businessmen along old US-31 from Holland to Benton Harbor who claimed that their businesses were suffering because they are not on the map any more. Taken together these businesses represent an investment of some $20 million, the committee said.

The committee women have shown great enthusiasm for a job which appears to have been too much for their husbands. They have written piles of letters to state and county road commission officials, representatives and senators, the State Attorney General and even Gov. George Romney requesting that old US-31 again be made a federal highway and listed on the map.

They have met with little success so far. The State Highway Department has referred their case to the County Road Commission, and the county back to the state. They are waiting for reply to their letter to the governor.

But with each disappointing reply they receive, the committee becomes more determined to fight.

When informed that there cannot be two federally supported roads paralleling each other in the same area, they pointed to US-24 and US-25 which parallel I-75 south of Detroit.

When their fight appears to flounder in a legal bog, the women take up the fight on what they consider to be a moral issue. "The state stole US-31 from us," they said.

US-31 represents the only access to the Saugatuck-Douglas area besides Lake Michigan. With I-96 bypassing the two resort communities and the old US-31 now an unmarked county road on the official highway map, their tourist industry, which is a main source of income in the area, suffers greatly.

What further incenses the ladies is inadequate marking of freeways showing the Saugatuck-Douglas area. They pointed out that the Douglas exit on I-96 is marked Ganges. They further pointed out that old US-31 is called by at least three different names on the highway markers on I-96.

At Holland it is called Washington Ave.; in the Saugatuck-Douglas area it is referred to as Adams Rd., and it also goes by the name Blue Star Memorial Highway.

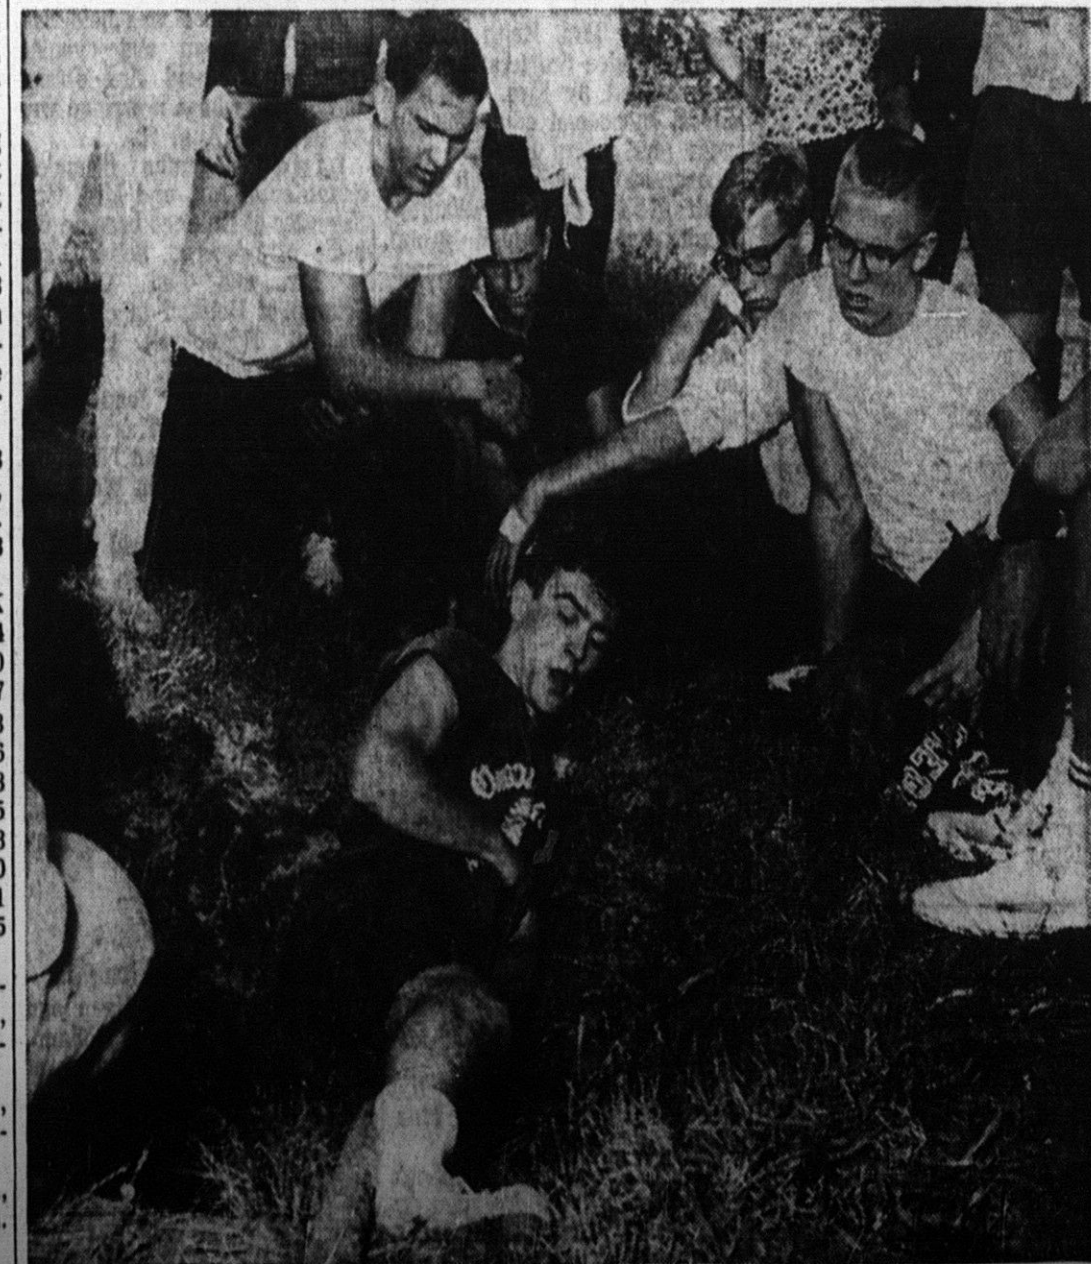

In the midst of all the confusion created by a new stretch of modern, fast highway, all that the women are asking is that the old name, US-31, be given back to their road and that it appear on the official highway map in 1965.

What's in a name? To some people it may mean the making or breaking of their means of livelihood.

City Council Processes Many Items

Two recommendations of the Traffic and Safety Commission were referred back to the commission for study by City Council Wednesday night.

One had recommended that parking be eliminated on the north side of 13th St. for a distance of 220 feet west of Maple Ave. in the vicinity of St. Francis de Sales Church. Council was concerned whether stores in the neighborhood shopping area had been informed of such a move in advance.

The other had recommended that yield signs on 10th St. at College Ave. be changed to stop signs. City Manager Herb Holt read a communication from Hope College concerned with slowing traffic on College Ave. in view of the many students crossing the avenue to go to Van Zoeren Library or the new physics building. Council felt the two problems should be studied at the same time.

A third recommendation to deny a request of Donnelly Mirrors Inc. to remove a section of curbing on the west side of River Ave. just north of Duffy Manufacturing Co. was approved. Even this involved considerable discussion, but there was a general feeling that parking should be discouraged on River Ave. not increased.

Received as information was a communication from Gov. Romney's office advising Council that the three proposed charter amendments to be voted Nov. 3 are legal and proper and have been approved.

One involves removing the one-mill limitation for library services. Another would limit service of appointive members to the Hospital Board, Library Board and the Board of Public Works to two five-year terms.

The third would increase salaries of mayor and council. The present charter provides $5 for meetings attended plus $100 for the mayor, for a maximum of $280, and $5 for meetings attended for Councilmen for a maximum of $180 a year. The new amendment would set the mayor's salary at $1,500 a year and councilmen at $500. The governor's report pointed out that the city would be prohibited from increasing the salary of any public official during his term of office.

Letters from Dale Fris and Robert Strabbing submitting their resignations as members of the Traffic and Safety Commission were accepted with regret. Fris pleaded the press of other activities and his work, and Strabbing is now with Zeeland Christian Schools. He had been an appointee for Holland Christian Schools.

Later in the meeting, Mayor Bosman appointed Gary Vreeman to succeed Strabbing whose term expires June 30, 1965, and Herbert Bulthuis to fill the term of Dale Fris which expires June 30, 1967. Council concurred.

The city clerk reported on an election among city employees for a delegate and alternate to attend the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal Employees Retirement System to be held Oct. 20 in Lansing. The election named Paul De Vries of the Hospital as employee delegate and Marvin Mokma of the fire department as alternate. Representing the city will be City Auditor John W. Fonger as delegate and City Clerk D. W. Schipper as alternate.

Copies of the past audit as prepared by Dwight D. Ferris for the fiscal period ended June 30, 1964, were distributed. A summary will be prepared for the Holland Sentinel.

Council approved transfer of $1,972.53 from the contingent account to the Park account to finance sanitary sewer special assessment for the Maplewood playground at College Ave. and 35th St.

Holland Rotary Club was granted permission to sell football tickets on the streets Oct. 9 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Applications of Walter Deitz for a permit to move a house and garage from 707 Washington Ave. to 220 West 30th St. was tabled until the next regular meeting.

Oath of office of Jacob De Graaf as a member of the Tulip Time board was ordered filed.

Council approved a Board of Public Works recommendation to sell a parcel of BPW property in the vicinity of 28th St. and Washington Ave. to William A. Sikkel Jr. for $1,500. The parcel which measures 32½ by 132 feet will be used for parking for a business establishment there.

Council approved the renewal agreement of the Library Board with Park Township Board for library services for a one-year period.

A liability claim against the city filed by Michigan Mutual Liability, subrogee of Gra-Bell Truck Lines, was referred to the city attorney and insurance carrier.

Mayor Bosman presided at the meeting which lasted two hours. All Councilmen were present with the exception of Henry Steffens. The invocation was given by the Rev. Donald Houseman of Park Christian Reformed Church.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! — Mrs. John Wiggers, a patient in Holland Hospital for five months, received several surprises on her 72nd birthday Wednesday. Shown here with Miss Betty Berkompas of the nursing staff, Mrs. Wiggers displays the decorated birthday cake sent up from the kitchen and enjoyed by visitors and nearby patients. She also received 165 birthday greetings. (Sentinel photo)

165 Greetings Plus Cake Make a Happy Birthday

It was a happy day Wednesday for Mrs. John Wiggers, route 2, who has been patient in Holland Hospital for five long months.

It was her 72nd birthday anniversary and just about everybody who knew her sent her a card. By the end of the day she had received 165 greetings, and she completed opening them shortly before noon today.

On top of that, the hospital kitchen sent up a decorated birthday cake as a surprise in the afternoon. She shared it with her visitors and with patients on the second floor.

Five months ago Mrs. Wiggers received multiple fractures of the legs, hip and pelvis in an automobile accident which also resulted in serious injuries to her husband. He was released after about two months and has made a fairly good recovery.

But Mrs. Wiggers remained in the hospital, and it is only about two weeks ago that she was taken from bed and put in a wheel chair. She now spends short periods three times a day in her chair, and it was during the second period of the day Wednesday that she was surprised with the cake.

Being in the hospital is nothing new for Mrs. Wiggers, but not as a patient. For several years she was employed as a cook in the kitchen and reached mandatory retirement age two years ago.

One hint explaining the tremendous response in greetings came from a suggestion in Bethel Church Sunday when the minister announced she would be celebrating her birthday.

The mail started Tuesday when she received some 30 greetings. There were 10 more on her breakfast tray Wednesday morning, and 101 in the morning mail. More mail in the afternoon brought it to a total of 165.

"I haven't had so much excitement for a long time," Mrs. Wiggers said. "I loved every minute of it."

Other stops will be in connection with the Hop Bros. farm enterprise featuring soils, tile draining and conservation planning. Annually this tour has approximately 500 to 800 persons involved.

We have visited with most of the conservation clubs. Most of them are off to a very good start and have indicated that they will be closing out their activities around the first part of December, with an open house and display of exhibits to the general public with special invitations to special schools.

Yugoslavia Described Vividly by Vander Werfs

"The Iron Curtain is cracking. Satellite countries — Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania — have real aspirations to be free; they long to be friendly to the United States; they have an unbelievable thirst for education and for peace."

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Vander Werf coupled hopeful phrases like these with less optimistic words about our own tragic record of linguistic illiteracy, which, they convinced their audience, is all important for the present struggle is for men's minds, and the United States, whether it wants it or not, has been cast in the leadership role for the free world's survival.

Their illustrated presentation of the two week Seminar on Higher Education in Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, which they attended this summer, gave listeners an intimate view of the colorful personalities who attended the conference, students and delegates alike.

Fifteen papers were read in the Institute of History Building during the formal session. The topic of the first week was Democratization of Education, the second week it was Higher Education and the role of World Peace. Headphones and interpreters gave delegates a choice of listening in one of four languages: English, French, Serbo-Croatian, Russian.

It became apparent very rapidly that the eastern bloc was deadly serious about trying to dominate the conference, to use this occasion for a propaganda mill. It was no place for amateurs. Their eagerness to surpass all others was even apparent in the sporting events, especially in the volleyball matches where their own championship standing was contested.

The Vander Werfs found it easy to identify themselves with the Yugoslavian people, whom they found to be good-natured and beauty loving. Their pictures of the gardens, terraces, villas, beaches, walls of the old city had great charm.

Out of the 19 million people in Yugoslavia, only one million are communists. Although most of the workers earn about $30 a month, there is some free enterprise. One may employ up to five others without being thought to "exploit" the working class. When asked what they think of Russia, they reply "Today it is fairly good, tomorrow, who knows?"

Mrs. B. G. van Leuwen, club president, welcomed the 96 members and guests. She presented the Community Ambassador, Bruce Masselink, who has recently returned from Cairo, Egypt.

She introduced the four new club members, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome E. Counihan, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rietberg, and Mrs. Martha Robbins who has been elevated to Honorary membership by unanimous vote of the members.

Members of the program committee worked with Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Rider on arrangements for the dinner.
