'NATIONAL CELEBRITY' — Mr. and Mrs. Roland Spaek of Holland sent 18 inflation fighting and energy conservation suggestions to President Ford, some of which were incorporated in his nationally televised speech Tuesday night. Spaek, an engineer with the C and O railroad for 33 years who was on a Chicago to Grand Rapids run, was unaware of the speech until a dispatcher at a siding in Fennville called him a "national celebrity." ## 18 Ways to Conserve Energy

Spaek Energy Letter Chosen

By Ann Hungerford
It's absolutely refreshing to talk with Mr. and Mrs. Roland Spaek.

They're people who live what they say and write...and for their writing includes to the President of the United States.

Responding to Ford's recent plea for suggestions on energy conservation and inflation fighters, Mr. and Mrs. Spaek of 1066 South Shore Drive sent a list of 18 suggestions many of which have been a part of their lives during recent years.

On Monday evening a woman, who identified herself and said she was calling from the White House, requested permission to use suggestions in the letter. The President wanted to incorporate some of their ideas in a Kansas City, Mo., speech slated for Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Spaek, deciding the woman "sounded honest" and the call was not a hoax, agreed.

The White House spokeswoman concluded the conversation by adding that the Spaeks "put things in their letter that other people hadn't thought of."

For them the suggestions were relatively simple, common sense ideas, many of which they had incorporated into their lives since the energy shortage which came to light last year.

During the winter they close off two little-used rooms and an upstairs bath, saving 25 per cent on their fuel bill, Spaek, a C and O railroad engineer, reports.

And they take vacations during the winter, turn down their heat to the bare minimum and conserve more fuel. Last winter they visited their daughter, Mrs. Roxie May in Houston.

"But everyone's got to do it," the couple urges. "It's easier for poorer people to sacrifice if they see richer people sacrificing and feeling the pinch," Spaek adds.

Firm advocates of conservation throughout their lives, the Spaeks speak with authority and conviction and an idealism about the country that seems increasingly rare. But they do believe and they endure the publicity to stress their point.

Naturally shy by nature, Mrs. Spaek has literally endured the fame thrust upon them by being mentioned first in President Ford's speech to the Future Farmers of America Tuesday evening.

Already they have received phone calls from New York including a call from one of the networks, major newspapers in the state and radio and television stations.

Spaek encouraged his wife to help the media publicize their ideas because the country really needs to pull together. Despite the numerous disruptions in their lives (including 3 a.m. calls today) the couple says they would do it again but they would "make their suggestions more detailed," Spaek says.

In his speech Ford noted that the Spaeks had trimmed their own household budget and suggested that they thought the federal budget should be pared "to the bone."

Mrs. Spaek watched the President's address on the 1955 black and white television, unable to contact her husband who was on a Chicago to Grand Rapids run.

Spaek also proposed to Ford that schools in the "cold states" stay open in the summer and close down from January to March to save energy.

They keep their own thermostat at 68 during the day, lower at night, and Spaek says that he only had one cold last winter as compared to more in years when they kept the house warmer. "I have warm clothes I can wear," he says.

A Democrat for most of his life, Spaek says that he and his wife admire Ford's policies and adds that if Ford "doesn't bring the country around it won't be because he hasn't tried."

Residents of Holland for 20 years, the Spaeks own a nice but modest home with furnishings to match. "We do more looking than buying," Spaek explains.

One of his favorite suggestions is to use government surpluses to reduce the national debt and not just spend the surplus on something else.

A high school graduate, Spaek analyzes the complexities of inflation with insight and basic common sense and a deep conviction that the situation will be beaten.

Despite inflation the Spaeks still save regularly and live by the premise "a good full day's work for a fair day's pay."

The Spaeks wish that Ford had emphasized more the idea that everyone, rich and poor, must sacrifice. They themselves, epitomize the ideal of voluntary sacrifice.

And should the President phone his thank-you to the couple, it's likely to be a well-kept secret.

Operating Budget Is Presented

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County commissioners received copies of the 1975 proposed county operating budget from the finance committee Tuesday and were expected to discuss the report at the second day of the October session today.

The finance committee was recommending total 1975 expenditures not exceed $5,586,577, up from the $4,860,398 budget for 1974.

The proposed budget lists $3,307,428 in revenue from property taxes with the remainder coming from the state income tax and fees and revenues.

Appropriations proposed include $250,000 for building improvements, $160,000 for county parks, $334,208 for the county health department, $140,120 for the mental health department, $230,000 for social welfare, $135,616 for Circuit Court, $287,137 for District Courts, $130,024 for Friend of the Court, $138,768 for jail operations and $854,217 for the sheriff's department.

Finance committee chairman James K. Dressel of Holland said a public hearing would be scheduled before the budget is given final adoption by the commissioners.

Commissioners also received a proposed budget from the Ottawa County Road Commission calling for expenditures of slightly more than $5 million.

Commissioners elected Robert F. Soule of Spring Lake to a six-year term on the road commission to succeed Neal Van Leeuwen. Soule was among eight persons nominated for the vacancy. He received six votes while Lawrence Vredevoogd of Jensen received five votes.

An additional $19,000 in gas allocation was approved for the sheriff's department to complete the current year.

Gary Scholten, director of the federal manpower programs administered by the county social services department, said he had thousands of dollars in allocations but few requests from governmental agencies to hire persons for public employment.

He said some of the agencies, such as cities and townships, appeared "gun shy" to use the manpower funds because the funds would pay salaries of employees for about one year.

Scholten said of the 47 potential employees whose wages would be funded by public service employment only four requests had been received from governmental units.

Scholten said the county would be receiving allocations to hire about 100 persons with an average salary of $8,000 a year. He added that allocations not used by the county revert back to the federal government.

To Lower Welfare Rolls

County Pushes For Experimental Plan

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Commissioners, armed with support from the state legislature, decided Tuesday to take their battle to Washington if necessary to set up an experimental program for welfare clients.

The program would require welfare clients to participate in certain rehabilitative classes offered by the county department of social services as a condition to receive public assistance. The plan is designed to remove as many clients as possible from the county welfare rolls.

Both the Michigan House and Senate have adopted resolutions supporting a two-year program in Ottawa County but R. Bernard Houston, director of the state department of social services, said the experimental program could jeopardize federal funding for the entire state social services department.

Part of the two-year program would include an appeal board to hear cases of clients objecting to the programs for health or religious reasons.

County commissioners have taken issue with Houston and now plan to carry their battle to Lansing and Washington for direct answers.

Larry Hilldore, director of the county social services department, told commissioners if they "feel we are getting serious about the program we must have the leverage to mandate attendance."

Hilldore said it was costly to set up the rehabilitative programs and have none of the clients show up.

"We feel we can rehabilitate 80 per cent of those persons on welfare with the programs," Hilldore explained.

The programs include testing, communicating, motivating and rehabilitating.

Clients are tested to learn what are their capabilities and desires. Such information is discussed with the clients and the clients are then motivated into rehabilitative action.

But Hilldore said many of the innovative programs are outside the normal social services framework and state officials, such as Houston, appear hesitant to endorse the programs.

State Requires Flasher Devices Be Installed Here

The Board of the Ottawa County Road Commissioners has requested Federal funding under the 1973 Highway Act to cover 90 per cent of the estimated $45,000 cost for flasher installation at the crossing of the C and O Railroad with Lakewood Blvd. in Holland Township.

The Michigan Public Service Commission recently informed the board that railroad flasher protection devices must be installed at the crossing.

The Road Commission is presently reconstructing Lakewood Blvd. to a four lane roadway and the protection was requested for public convenience and safety at the crossing.

Hilldore said 950 Ottawa County families were on Aid to Dependent Children assistance (ADC). In addition another 800 families were receiving food stamps and another 800 were receiving Medicaid.

The total welfare budget in the county this year is about $9 million of which the county provides $250,000. The remainder comes from federal and state sources.

In addition to the welfare funds, the county social services department administers federal manpower funds amounting to about $1 million which are designed to find or create jobs for jobless persons, thereby keeping them off public welfare rolls.

Start Raking Those Leaves Into Curbs

Starting Saturday, city residents are encouraged to rake leaves into the street curbs.

The pickup by street crews will start gradually and increase when leaves come thick and heavy.

The pickup program will run to Nov. 16, with full crews the last two weeks, using four vacuum machines, three loaders and many trucks.

Since vacuum machines are used, only leaves can be picked up. Grass clippings, large branches and junk are not permissible.

Burning leaves is not permitted without a permit from the fire department. In leaf burning, approximately 20 per cent by volume of burning leaves is expelled into the air as particulate matter.

The city's leaf pickup program has been held for 15 years as an adjunct to the park department. Leaves are recycled by using leaf mold in soil preparation for tulip and other plantings.

City Engineer Gordon Start said efforts will be made to pick up leaf piles as quickly as possible.

Meanwhile, cooperation of parents is sought to discourage children from playing in the piles on the street or in other hazardous locations.

The street department has budgeted $18,500 in this year's program for manpower and equipment.

REMEMBER THE GOOD OLD DAYS! — Jack C. Vandenberg (left) who has had a checkered career in journalism and politics since he worked in the Sentinel in the 1940s, chats with an oldtime friend, Jim Stael, a linotype operator, in the Sentinel composing room. ## On Staff of New Jersey Senator

Former Sentinel Employee Returns

By Cornelia Van Voorst
"It's always good to come back to Holland and talk to the people who are basic, forthright and friendly. Somehow, a good share of them seem to have a better grasp of what's going on in Washington than a lot of people in the nation's capital."

This remark came from Jack C. Vandenberg, 46, a native of Holland and former Sentinel employee, now on the staff of U.S. Sen. Clifford Case (R - N.J.) in Washington.

Vandenberg joined the Washington UPI bureau in 1960 and then joined Sen. Case's staff in 1965 with about a year out in 1967-68 to join the presidential campaign staff of George Romney. He returned to Case's staff in May, 1968, after Romney withdrew from the Presidential race.

Vandenberg and his wife left Friday after a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Vandenberg, now living in Zeeland.

Vandenberg's remark on midwestern savvy on what's going on in busy, busy Washington carries a growing conviction among people who are far enough from the Washington merry-go-round to have a clearer view. Washington involvement is such that those living there are carried from crisis to crisis with almost no respite.

Vandenberg was a junior in Holland High School when he started working for The Sentinel, not in the newsroom but in the composing room where he worked the mail and the "dump," receiving excellent training under John Slag. He remembers driving a Sentinel car at the time, an Old Model A Ford, which he regularly took apart to keep it running.

On V-E Day in 1945 he skipped school to help put out a Sentinel Extra and got into trouble. It took intervention by the late Orlie Bishop to reinstate him.

Back in those World War II days, he developed a great friendship with Jim Stael, still employed as a linotype operator. They both joined the Navy around the same time, but their paths parted, Jack going into flight training. He had his sophomore year at Hope College and then took flight training at Pensacola. At the University of Michigan for two years, he switched from engineering to journalism and graduated in 1951.

His first fulltime job was at the Port Huron Times Herald. He became manager of the Lansing UPI bureau in 1956 and went to Detroit as automotive editor for UPI in 1958. In 1960 he joined the Washington UPI bureau, at various times covering the Labor Department, the Justice Department, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the White House.

Time has not dimmed Vandenberg's memories of George Romney and he remembers him for his idealism and his firm religious beliefs which have given him strong convictions. "He's unconventional but thoroughly honest," Vandenberg said.

He chuckled over a recent incident at an international conference in Caracas, Venezuela, which he attended along with Sen. Case. A diabetic, Vandenberg had left his insulin in the refrigerator at home in Falls Church, Va. His wife notified Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's office, and that office sent memos to every one of the 139 delegations at the conference.

Everywhere Vandenberg went, he was greeted by concerned people asking whether he had insulin. "I was the best known man at the conference. Even the Russian delegate offered to share his insulin," he said.

Actually, Jack never did get the right insulin but he did get another type and adjusted the dosage. It all turned out well.

One thing that impressed him in visiting Holland was the downtown mall with its trees and flowers. "People at home just don't realize how beautiful it is," he said.

He was in Holland Friday noon to meet Gov. Milliken, an old friend from his Lansing UPI days.

Walk in Cemetery Results in Death For Youngster

The stone was upset and fell onto the child. The stone was 18 inches wide, 30 inches tall and four inches thick.

The child was taken to Zeeland Community Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival of a fractured neck and head injuries.

TAKES DIAL-A-RIDE BUS RIDE — Gov. William G. Milliken alights from a DART bus in downtown Holland to be greeted by Mayor Lou Hallacy. The governor was in Holland briefly to inspect Holland's DART program which opened last February. ## Milliken Samples DART Bus Service

Gov. Milliken came to Holland today and sampled Dial-A-Ride service, praising the Holland program which is regarded as the best in the state. Holland was one of three cities selected for pilot programs and was the first to initiate service last February.

The governor, whose plane landed at the Tulip City airport, called for his DART transportation from a newly installed telephone in the west entrance of the Warm Friend Motor Inn and traveled to GOP offices on West Eighth St. and later to campaign headquarters on River Ave. He left for Grand Rapids after his brief visit here.

"Holland probably would not have a transportation program today if the state had not taken the initiative nine months ago," he said. "And now local voters will decide Nov. 5 whether to continue the service. The state is eagerly awaiting results." The proposition calls for 1/2 mill for three years to support the DART program primarily used by senior citizens.

Gov. Milliken was welcomed to Holland by Mayor Lou Hallacy and political leaders. At an informal press conference in the hotel, he commented on the fine appearance of the downtown mall, the clean streets, and said Holland could serve as a model for other medium cities in Michigan and out of the state for both public transportation and downtown beautification.

The November ballot also lists Proposal D, a $1.1 billion transportation bond issue which the governor said is as important to Holland as to the rest of the state. It would provide improved rail and air service, cross-lake ferry service, bicycle paths and adequate public transportation in southeast Michigan.

Review Ballot Proposals For Local Literary Club

By Cornelia Van Voorst

An explanation of the four state proposals and one Holland proposal that face local voters in the Nov. 5 general election highlighted the program of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon.

Paul Van Kolken, Holland Evening Sentinel reporter, in reviewing the proposals, refrained from suggesting a Yes or No vote, but his information was such that it was easy for club members to draw conclusions.

The proposals:

State Proposal A — Limiting use of motor fuel tax funds. This constitutional amendment would (1) prohibit the use of motor fuel tax funds by law enforcement agencies for highway patrol purposes, and (2) limit the use of motor fuel tax funds for public transportation to 1/18 of the amount received.

A No vote would allow the legislature to continue to decide to what use gas taxes will be put within the present constitutional limit of highway purposes. Adoption would require no increases in taxes. The present state tax is nine cents a gallon with 8 1/2 cents going to state, county and municipal roads and streets.

State Proposal B — Vietnam and other veterans bonus bonds, in which the state would bond itself for $235 million in general obligation bonds for up to $600 for combat veterans and a maximum of $450 for non-combatants. This proposal is a scaled down version of a $266 million bonus plan rejected by 150,000 votes in 1972.

State Proposal C — Removal of sales tax on food and prescription drugs, which (unfortunately, Van Kolken believes) has become a campaign issue in the gubernatorial race. If approved, the measure would become effective Jan. 1, 1975.

the middle of the state's fiscal year.

Van Kolken referred to several editorials in Michigan newspapers opposing the proposal in view of the fact that there is no accompanying legislation to compensate for the $200 million loss in state revenues with some editors eyeing an increase in state income taxes as the likely solution.

He pointed to legislative action earlier this year providing tax credits for families earning under $15,000 a year. This would be nullified if Proposal C is approved.

State Proposal D — State-wide transportation bonds which would authorize borrowing $1.1 billion for rail, intercity bus, port, non-motorized corridors, urban transit and new transit technology. Impact would be 10,000 new jobs in construction over a 15-year period, and 200 to 300 new jobs annually.

City Proposal — City would levy 1/2 mill for three years to continue Dial-A-Ride system. Currently, Dial-A-Ride carries about 4,800 passengers a month, about 45 per cent senior citizens. Over 60 per cent of the rides are for work, school, medical appointments, and shopping. DART costs about $8,000 a month to operate. The base fare is 50 cents but senior citizens ride for 25 cents. A half mill on city property assessed for $10,500 would cost $5.25 a year.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Paul de Kruij.

Mrs. Ralph Kneisly, president, called attention to a bus tour to the new Woodfield shopping mall in Chicago Oct. 28 (reservations to be made with Mrs. Thomas De Pree); a bridge party Nov. 14 (reservations to be made with Mrs. John Schutten) and an evening guest meeting Oct. 29 with Ed and Lucille Donovan showing slides of their South American trip.

Exchangites Hear Talk On Energy

Dr. James Cotter Tharin, professor of geology at Hope College, spoke on the growing problems of energy, its scarcity and limits, and the diminishing supply of all natural resources at the Monday meeting of the Holland Exchange Club at Holiday Inn.

He was quick to point out that energy consumption doubles every ten years and the population will double by the year 2000, thus creating extreme demands on energy reserves. Africa and the Middle East control 70 per cent of the current oil reserves and even though the United States is finding new oil reserves in Alaska and Mexico, it will not be able to keep up with the demands of the United States, much less the world. If growth rate continues, expected life of natural gas is only 22 years, coal 111 years and petroleum 20 years.

Dr. Tharin noted that the short term solution to the energy problem must rest in conservation of resources, which means each individual must decide on some plans of action to reduce the amount of energy he uses. The longer term solution in Dr. Tharin's opinion rests in solar energy. He pointed out the many drawbacks to nuclear energy and indicated that in six days the earth receives as much energy from the sun as has been used over the past 6,000 years.

In conclusion, Dr. Tharin raised some challenging questions and stated that the technology is ready to cope with today's energy problems, however, the social and economic impacts of these changes are the real issues in implementing such things as solar energy.

The program was arranged by Nelis Bade and Dr. Tharin was introduced by Harold Vande Bunte, vice president. Charles Lindstrom, president, presided over the meeting and Ralf Vander Lee, manager of data processing for Holland Motor Express, was a guest.

VICTORY FOR FLUORIDATION

The Los Angeles City Council's recent decision to fluoridate that city's water supply is a significant advance because, as one medical writer put it, this "marks the end of an eight-year struggle against misinformation and hysteria." Misinformation has been the name of the game played throughout the country by anti-fluoridationists. Happily, they are losing the battle.

The medical writer cited is Julian De Vries, whose column appears in the Arizona Republic in Phoenix. Instead of being harmful to human health as the opposition claims, he tells us, "adding fluoride to drinking water in areas in which it does not naturally occur, or occurs in insignificant quantities, has been shown by careful scientific studies to be beneficial. It reduces the incidence of dental decay, especially in children, and strengthens bones made brittle and fragile by old age. In addition, in some cases in which the three small bones behind the eardrum become soft, causing hearing loss, fluoridation has halted the softening process, thus preventing total deafness."

We offer Dr. DeVries' observations because they so cogently sum up the rationale for fluoridation which medical groups have been stating for years. In opposition one finds unsubstantiated reports, emotional outcries, and a notable lack of scientific data.

Despite strident claims to the contrary, studies conducted by medical and dental schools and well qualified research laboratories have shown that fluoridation of drinking water is not harmful. Communities treatment of their water supplies should do so without delay for the sake of their residents' well-being.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Oct. 20
The Stuff of Living
Proverbs
By C. P. Dame
3:5-8, 13-14; 15:1-4; 23:19-21
The truths contained in the Book of Proverbs of the Bible are just as valid as the day they were written. If they were heeded, people would be happier, holier, healthier all around. God's ways are best in all seasons.

I. Trusting God benefits. The lesson points us to several passages of Proverbs. The first word is "trust" and then the words, "in the Lord with all thine heart" follow. Faith in God is essential to real living. The word "all" appears often in the Bible, a weak faith benefits little and hence the word, all, note.

Today many praise self-confidence. "In all thy ways acknowledge Him" turn the mind upward. We are to acknowledge God not at time but always, never to feel so self-sufficient as to ignore God. This prescription is excellent and promotes health of body, mind and soul. When Vice President Ford was sworn in as President he put his finger upon Proverbs 3:5, 6.

II. Wisdom is valuable. The Book of Proverbs praises wisdom highly which is the ability to skillfully put knowledge to good use. Some brilliant people do not always show common sense. The wise man puts his knowledge to good use. Wisdom is more precious than silver and gold for it teaches how to handle life's valuables aright. Sometimes blessings can become curses.

III. Self-discipline pays well. "A soft answer turneth away wrath." The angry person loses when he replies with sharp words which make tempers hot. A tongue reveals a lot. The wise person "useth knowledge aright" but "stupid men talk nonsense." God is not indifferent to what people do and say; He sees the evil and the good and hears how people talk. Recall some words which appear about the tongue in the Epistle of James.

The last passage of the text refers to one of the nation's great problems, that of alcoholism. Daily we read about the accidents on our highways in which liquor played a big part. "Be not among winebibbers" is superb counsel for this age of permissiveness. Some are eager to obtain the wisdom of this world. The Bible speaks of heavenly wisdom revealed in Jesus Christ who came here, died for mankind and rose again so that men may have eternal life.

Rev. DeVries Speaks At Conference

The annual Fall Missionary Conference, Holland Classical Union, Reformed Church in America, was held Thursday at Bethel Reformed Church. The theme was "Reveal Christ Anew." Dinner was served by the women of Bethel Church under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Reinink and prayer was offered by Mrs. David Kempker, vice president of the Union.

The meeting after the dinner was conducted by Mrs. M. Eugene Osterhaven, president. The year 1975 is the Centennial Year for Reformed Church Women with many projects and celebrations underway, but the largest is their share in Project Philip, the production and distribution of two million scripture portions in the land of India. Rev. De Vries is personally involved in planning and implementing the program and gave a first hand report on what the ministry will mean in India.

In order to raise money for this project a record has been produced exclusively for the Reformed Church Women. It features selections by Reformed Church in America members and agencies. It will sell for $3.50. The cost of producing the record is $1.50. The Reformed Church Women receive $1 and Project Philip receives $1. This is one way in which the women hope to meet their goal.

Rev. De Vries spoke and later showed slides depicting the great needs in India.

The meeting was close by singing the Doxology and prayer.

Amateur Radio Club Has Election At Annual Dinner

The Holland Amateur Radio Club held a dinner meeting Thursday evening in the Warm Friend Tulip Room.

New officers were elected and other business was transacted. The new officers for the ensuing year are Cornie Steketee, president; Doug Elzinga, vice president; and Laryn Lohman, secretary-treasurer.

The retiring officers Ed Comstock, Ned Joldersma and Doug Elzinga were commended for their leadership during the past year.

Among the many achievements was the installation of a radio repeater system located in Zeeland that is capable of picking up one watt signals from mobile, walkie-talkie and base stations, and re-transmitting them throughout Ottawa, Allegan, Muskegon and Kent Counties.

This system serves and is designed for national as well as local emergency communications and also as a day by day communications media using low power.

This system figured heavily in the recent Civil Defense emergency readiness exercise including hospitals in Ottawa and Kent Counties. Basic equipment is also installed in the local Red Cross headquarters to handle emergency traffic should the need occur.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Glenn Timmer, wife of the local Civil Defense Director, showed slides of her recent trip to the Netherlands and adjacent countries.

NOW Told About Operation Of Women's Resource Center

The Women's Resource Center has entered its second year of operation in Grand Rapids and is actively continuing to fulfill its purpose of providing information and counseling to women in nine Western Michigan counties, including Ottawa County.

Ruth Van Kampen, Hope College representative on the Women's Resource Center Board of Directors and a member of the Holland Area Chapter of the National Organization for Women, addressed the local group at a recent meeting in the Red Cross Office.

The Center was originated and brought to fruition by several industrious women who have since received support from nine area colleges and universities as well as groups and individuals throughout the area.

Volunteers, who form the backbone of the Center staff, undergo a rigorous training program before they begin working with women who seek primarily three kinds of counseling — personal, back to school and employment. The Center also offers a variety of personality and aptitude testing and has a scholarship program for women over 25 years of age who wish to begin or resume their education.

Locally, the Women's Resource Center is helping to sponsor a "Women and Work" conference scheduled Oct. 26 in the Holland High School West Unit. Workshops and panel discussions are designed to provide insights for area women who are thinking of returning to work, who are already employed, or who are at the initial stage of making career and educational decisions.

The Women's Resource Center is located at 226 Bostwick, N.E., Grand Rapids, and is open Mondays from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Tuesdays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In preparation for the tribute to Sojourner Truth sponsored Saturday in Battle Creek by Downriver NOW and Battle Creek NOW, Chris Lohman gave a brief history of Sojourner Truth. Born a slave, Sojourner was 46 years old when she felt called by the Lord to sojourn the land to speak the truth to her people. Taking the symbolic name of Sojourner Truth, she was an outspoken abolitionist and feminist who is perhaps best remembered for her famous "Ain't I a Woman?" speech in 1851. She is buried in Oakhill Cemetery, Battle Creek.

Linda Visscher, president, explained the need for a telephone tree to contact individuals who have expressed an interest in the local NOW chapter and will prepare call assignments for distribution at a future meeting. Ms. Visscher also named Rose Kowalke and Lin Klungle to work with her in preparing an informational table at the "Women and Work" conference and appointed Gail Hibbard and Anna Clark program committee chairperson.

Holland Area NOW will hold its next meeting Monday, Oct. 21, at 6 p.m. in the Red Cross Office, 89 West 11th St.

Accidents

At 5:21 p.m. Thursday vehicles driven by Henry Kleinknecht, 61, 105 East 39th St., and Wayne Herscheel Zoerhof, 36, of route 5 collided. The Kleinknecht car was heading west on 39th St. and the Zoerhof car was south on Columbia Ave.

A car operated by Michael Jay Wolters, 18, of 208 Cypress, eastbound on Eighth St., went out of control and ran off the left side of the road hitting three mailboxes before spinning around and hitting a home of Helene Vander Veere, 787 East Eighth St., at 3:24 a.m. today. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Larry Martinez, 30, of route 1, Hamilton, sustained minor injuries when the tanker truck he was driving north along 120th Ave. went out of control at 6:10 p.m. Saturday. One of the two tanker trailers overturned while the cab and the second trailer remained upright.

LONELY AND UNLOVED — This old red brick schoolhouse, abandoned many years ago through reorganization of school districts, appears forlorn today in an autumn setting. It is located on 56th St. (Lincoln Ave.) at 138th St. a mile north of East Saugatuck. Its belfry is crumbling and its bell gone. Yet, it had a prestige of its own in the good old days. It was a two-room red brick school, not a one-room school.

TALL CORN — Mrs. Donald Lee of 835 Paw Paw Dr., stands next to a stalk of corn that grew more than 14 feet from a strain of Peruvian corn. The seeds, about the size of a dime, were given away by radio station WHTC as part of a spring planting promotion and were said to grow ten to 20 feet tall. The corn does not produce ears of corn. Station personnel said this was the tallest corn stalk they have heard about.

Many Items Processed By Council

City Council Wednesday night processed a large number of items covering a wide range of activities.

Mayor Lou Hallacy appointed Jerry Redeker, 1195 Euna Vista, president of Peoples State Bank, to the Hospital Board to fill the unexpired term of Robert Van Zanten.

Council scheduled its next meeting Thursday, Nov. 7, instead of the previous day because of heavy work in City Hall in the Nov. 5 election.

On the matter of removing parking meters on three spaces on the north side of Eighth St. east of College Ave., a matter which had been tabled for 45 days, Council rejected a city manager recommendation to remove the meters. As an alternative, reinstating meters on the east side of College north of Eighth St. was suggested. The manager's report also listed possibilities of making Eighth St. one-way east from Columbia to College and cutting back the sidewalk at a cost of $2,530.

Council declined a VFW request to endorse Proposal B on Vietnam veterans bonus in the belief such decisions should be made by the electorate.

Council granted licenses to the Ottagan Alcoholic Rehabilitation to solicit funds Oct. 29 to Nov. 20 and to Seventh Day Adventist Church to solicit funds Nov. 2 through Dec. 22.

A petition requesting traffic signs at 29th St. and Washington Ave. was referred to the city manager for study and report.

A Liquor Control Commission report on an application from Redders Party Store Inc. for transfer of ownership of a 1974-75 licensed business at 217 East Eighth St. from Harriet De Wilde estate, William De Wilde executor and Robert De Wilde partner, was referred to the city manager for study and report. The communication stated any Council objections should be filed within 30 days.

A letter from Warner, Norcross and Judd advised Council that Mrs. Peter Van Domelen will contest the special assessment on her property on Old Orchard Rd. The communication was referred to the city attorney.

A city manager recommendation to post No Parking at Any Time signs on the north side of 40th St. from Waverly Rd. to the east city limits was postponed to the next meeting.

Council approved an assessment of $4.27 per front foot for water service in a section of Country Club Rd. The Board of Public Works had installed a loop in an area there to avoid future tearing up of a new road. The work was financed by the BPW which established the fee on a cost basis.

By a 5-3 vote, Council denied a request from the Youth for Christ to set up a musical program on the sidewalk in front of Peoples State Bank Oct. 25. It was explained that a study is scheduled later for mail type activities, and ground rules are awaited.

A city manager's report on a request of Mrs. Virginia Klompars for a Class C License for the Old North End Tavern at 22 West Sixth St. revealed several physical deficiencies, and Council concurred that compliance is required before granting such a license.

A Michael Wich's request for reconsideration of his application to rezone property at the northwest corner of River Ave. and 17th St. was received and filed.

Council confirmed a certification by Councilman Vande Poel for purchases by the recreation department from Superior Sport Store of $484.84.

The meeting lasted 50 minutes, one of the shortest meetings in recent years. All Councilmen were present with the exception of Elmer Wissink. The invocation was given by Father Don Downer of St. Francis de Sales Church.

Mrs. J. Wissink Hosts Xi Beta Tau

Mrs. Lloyd Dunwiddie, president of Xi Beta Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, presided at Monday's meeting at the home of Mrs. James Wissink.

A report was given and discussed on the joint cultural program to be held Nov. 18. The chapter has selected to auction a "Basket of Cheer" with the winner to be announced Nov. 18 and the proceeds to be used for Christmas service projects.

The Grey Book review on "Types of Motions" was given by Mrs. Dunwiddie.

"Plants and Flowers" was the topic of the cultural program with Mrs. Russ Hedrick showing pictures of various types of weeds used with flower arrangements and the many types of plants to be used in terrariums.

The hostess gift was given to Mrs. David Cross.

Mrs. Wissink served coffee and cake to the Mesdames Phil Adams, Cross, Dunwiddie, Hedrick, Al Hendricks, Paul Lambert, David Lightfoot, Ernest Wenzel and Dick Raymond.

PURIFIED WATER — A ten-year-old boy drinks pure water piped into his Kenyan village from a centralized water treatment facility which David Mosher, Peace Corps worker from Holland helped engineer and construct. Mosher is one of approximately 200 Peace Corps volunteers (most of whom are nurses and teachers) to work in Kenya, East Africa.

Life and Work in Kenya Lure David Mosher Back

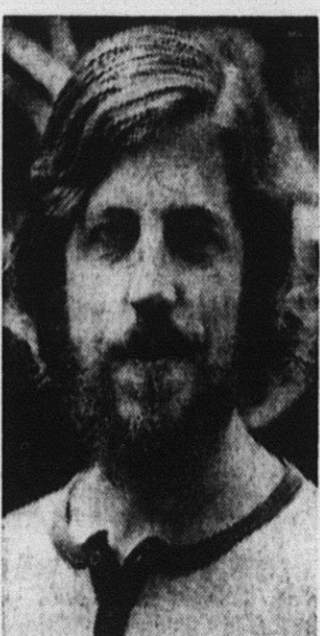

By Ann Hungerford

Simply, he just didn't want a 9 to 5 job.

So David Mosher of Holland joined the Peace Corps, took a crash course in Swahili and put his civil engineering degree to good use in Kenya, Africa.

Now he's home for a few weeks before extending his stay in Kenya a third year.

"The Peace Corps gave me opportunities and responsibilities I never would have had working for a big engineering company," the 25-year-old Holland Christian High School graduate explains. He's the lead Peace Corps volunteer in Kenya to work on a major water project — a dam, water pumping stations and treatment plant near the Indian Ocean coast of Kenya — and he is returning to help finish the work.

Mosher who learned the language in an intensive study course and working in Kenya admits that Swahili is not too difficult a language.

With the completion of the project in the next few months, the University of Michigan graduate who also attended Calvin College plans to move into other rural areas and help with small projects such as village wells with pumps on top.

Throughout his college years, Mosher thought about joining the Peace Corps and frequently spoke with recruiters. "The new director is really doing good things," Dave reflects.

The Peace Corps worker's responsibility, as Mosher defines it, is to go over and fit into what's happening. He discovered that despite his frustrations he had to keep in line with the Kenyan way of doing things which, for him, included learning patience.

A young man always cautious of generalities, David abhors being critical of the country but confesses that the lack of strong work ethics in Kenya frustrates him as far as getting projects completed.

"There is no similar work ethic as in the United States," he explains. "The workmanship is not the best because many Kenyans are not used to preciseness," Mosher adds.

He continues: "And the bureaucracy sometimes slows things down. The philosophy is one of 'if not today . . . then next week, next month or even next year. It makes completing a large and complex project difficult."

Working with a minimum of Peace Corps supervision, Dave along with his Kenyan counterparts directs a crew of 75 Kenyans on the water treatment project which includes 25 miles of pipeline being installed to provide purified water to villages in the area.

During the dry season villagers frequently had to walk seven miles to get fresh water. Now it's piped to villages many miles away. Several similar projects are planned for Kenya and will be supervised by Kenyan personnel.

Counterparts are really the whole purpose of the Peace Corps, Mosher says. Qualified local citizens are trained to maintain or construct new projects and most jobs are open to competition.

"It was very difficult explaining what Kenya is really like to even my parents," (Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mosher, 38 West 28th St.) Dave says. "But they came for a visit last October and now they understand."

"Most people have the wrong impression of the country; it's really been developed," Mosher says. "It has good roads, big cities, electricity, telephones, radio and television stations, industries, railroads and airlines."

Adjusting to the different foods wasn't particularly difficult for Dave who says he can occasionally afford to supplement the starch maize (corn ground into flour and a boiled thick and hard like mashed potatoes) and cassava root (like a potato) diet with beef and fish.

Slightly critical of the growing capitalism and materialism in the country, Mosher comments that many workers instead of spending their increasing salaries for better dietary supplements will save money to purchase material items such as radios.

"The people are losing track of living naturally," Mosher sums up, "because they are imitating Western ways as much as they can. But they are also suffering the burdens of modernization such as crime, inflation and pollution. Yet they do have problems with high population growth and child mortality rates."

A child born in Kenya today has only about a 50 per cent chance of reaching the age of 15, a statistic Dave says is borne out daily as small wooden boxes are carried by families through town.

Fellowship with local citizens has been extended to Dave who frequently shares meals with friends of all ages.

Older people have great authority and respect in Kenya and Mosher, himself, despite his young age, was accorded great respect from the time of his arrival in the country.

For recreation Dave has attended with doctor ceremonies which have extended late into the night. The tribe to which he is affiliated is considered one of the best musically in the nation and is frequently requested by the country's president, Mzee Jomo Kenyatta, to play at various functions.

Currently the country suffers from balance of payments problems, Dave says, but is working heavily on its ever growing tourism with its world famous game parks and resort areas such as Nairobi and the Indian Ocean coast.

Most of the people are poor but a few own European or Japanese cars. Dave himself owns a motorcycle and uses a government owned landrover when working on the project.

A small house in the bush of Kenya with a $170 a month salary isn't exactly equivalent to a bachelor apartment and civil engineer's salary in the United States.

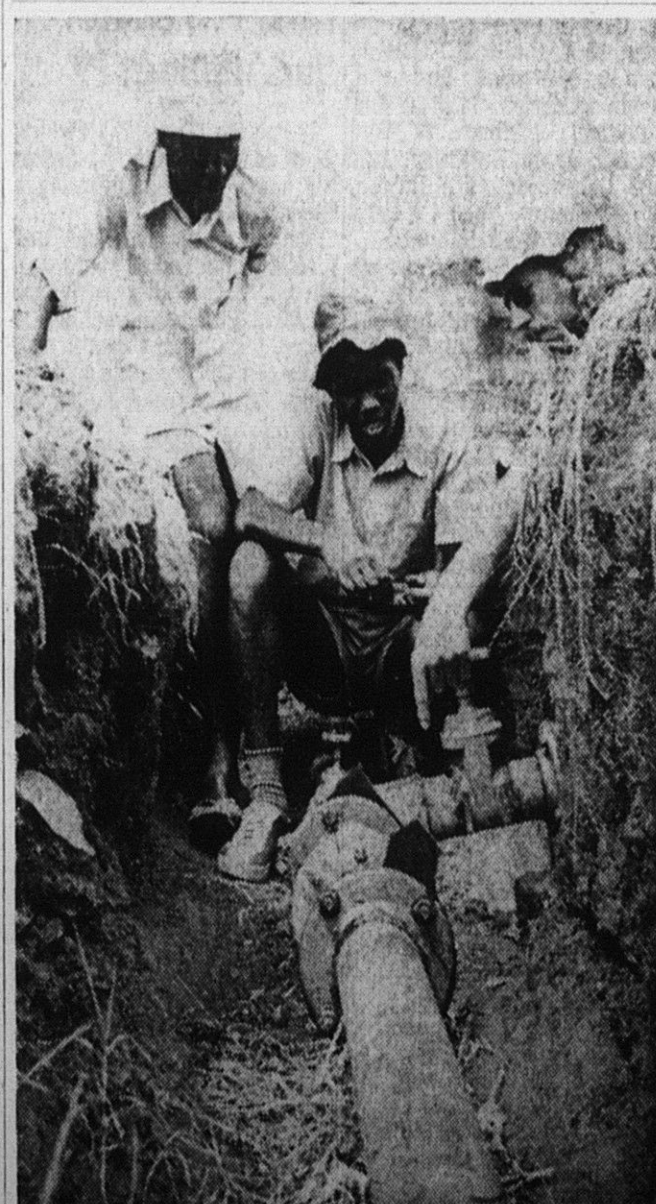

But to at least one former Holland resident it's worth a lot more.

Hospital Notes

Admitted to Holland Hospital Monday were Augusta Wyngarden, 1055 Lincoln; George Veeder, 78 East Ninth St.; Florence Conant, 1801 Ottawa Beach Rd.; Janet Nyland, 4411 46th Ave.; Michael Brett Van Wieren, 8 South 160th Ave.; Robert Fiekema, 565 Locust; Gladys A. Thomson, 5654 Lakeshore; Karrie Keller, Irons; Henrietta Daining, Resthaven; Elizabeth Ann O'Connor, 120 West 10th St.; and Fred Henry Sherwood, Allegan.

Discharged Monday were Eloisa Furest, 2434 Miles Standish Dr.; Edwin Jay Altena, 438 West 30th St.; Allen DeVries, 14837 Berry; Mrs. Gordon De Vries and baby, 15540 Quincy; James Diebold, South Haven; Lila Diemer, 126 Oakvalley Dr.; Maxine Frances Dill, Zeeland; Barbara Masselink, 375 West 20th St.; and Gary Moomey, 79 East 17th St.

WATER TREATMENT PROJECT — David Mosher (right), Peace Corps volunteer from Holland working in Kenya, East Africa, discusses the valves where chlorine will be injected into the water treatment facility he helped build with his Kenyan counterparts. Mosher has extended for a third year and will return following a brief vacation in Holland with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mosher.

12 Police Purchased Cruisers

Purchase of 12 new police vehicles from Ver Hage of Holland Inc., for low bid of $35,011.27 with 12 trade-ins was approved by City Council Wednesday night.

Council also approved low bid of Tennant Co. for a small sweeping machine to be used in the downtown area by the street department at a cost of $5,186. Purchase will be financed by federal revenue sharing funds.

Council set Nov. 7 as date of a public hearing on an ordinance to rezone property for Birchwood Manor Nursing Home on West 32nd St.

This ordinance was received for first reading, along with ordinances for the Michigan Construction code, fee schedule for building permits, demolition and sign permits. A city manager report stated that the state legislature in July of 1972 had created a commission to revise a state construction code, and the new code becomes effective Nov. 6, 1974. Cities have a choice of passing a local ordinance to administer and enforce the state code or select another recognized model building code. Inasmuch as the city has followed the BOCA basic building code, only a few minor revisions are needed.

Transfer of the 1974 tavern and SMD licensed business at 200 East Eighth St. from George Burch to Precision Pettifoggery Inc., was approved.

A city manager report on the traffic and parking situation at Holland Hospital on 24th and 26th Sts., and Maple Ave., revealed most of the problems on 24th St., and the report stated more signs are needed along with yellow markings on curbs.

The report coincided with a complaint voiced by Frank Komarek, 149 West 24th St., who protested an overnight parking ticket on his car when little or no attempt is made to enforce the two-hour parking limit during the day. Mayor Hallacy said he had discussed the parking situation with the Hospital Board the previous day, and expected some plans would be forthcoming next month to improve the situation.

Council accepted the offer of Hope College for curved glass from Marigold Lodge greenhouses for Windmill Island, valued at about $800.

A hearing will be held at next Council meeting on a water main in East 16th St. to service the Tuls property east of Fairbanks Ave.

A letter from Keith Ditch of Model Drug Store extended thanks and congratulations to Council for its progressive action and continuing support of the downtown.

A letter from the Park township supervisor requested a change in the existing Holland City-Park township water agreement to eliminate the established service area and replacing it with a maximum capacity figure of approximately 1,750,000 gallons per day. Purpose of the change is to establish a new water district in Park township south of Lake Macatawa. The letter suggested an engineering firm be hired to determine costs. It was referred to the Board of Public Works for study and report.

The following changes were approved in the traffic schedule: a yield right-of-way sign on Washington at 29th St., and a "no right turn" replacing a "no turns" sign for southbound College Ave., at Eighth St.

The following claims against the city were referred to the insurance carrier and city attorney: William Patterson, 643 Lakewood Blvd., Marjorie Westlund, 12280 James St., Mildred Rutgers, 19 Cherry St., and Ebelink Flowers and Gifts, 238 River Ave.

Eunice Aid Society Holds Annual Supper

The 38th annual Eunice Aid Fellowship Supper, sponsored by the Eunice Aid Christian School Society, was attended by nearly 650 guests Tuesday night in the Holland Christian High School.

Mrs. H. Palmbo, president of the society, welcomed the group and introduced Ray Holwerda as master of ceremonies. The Rev. J. Gunnink of Providence Christian Reformed Church led opening devotions.

Following the dinner and intermission, Holwerda introduced the Staffmen who presented a vocal-musical program. Mrs. H. Vander Linde, accompanied by Mrs. R. Bareman, led the group in community singing.

Following the closing remarks, Holwerda offered the closing prayer.

NOSE Tips

by Leo Martonosi

Wolverines Streak On
ANN ARBOR — Nudity isn't allowed on the football field but there's some streaking going on in the Michigan program that Wolverine supporters would like to see continue.

U-M made it five victories in a row this past weekend here and five straight wins over rival Michigan State University by taking a rather dull 21-7 decision.

This was the 67th meeting between the two rivals with Michigan holding a commanding 42-20-5 advantage. However, since 1950, the Spartans have won 14, lost 9 and tied two of the annual showdowns.

Michigan's Coach Bo Schembechler said to a large group of writers after the game, "I did a bad job of coaching in the second half. We should have done better offensively but I tried to get too fancy instead of running right at them. I'll take the blame for that. It wasn't the kids' fault."

In the losers dressing room Coach Denny Stolz commented, "We were bad fundamentally. We had four or five bad plays that cost us the game in the first half."

"We came out in the second half playing for one big break," added the ex-Alma College mentor.

He continued, "We wanted to score in the third period and that would have put us back in the game. I thought our defense did an excellent job, especially Otto Smith. He is a great ball player."

The Spartans are a much improved team from last year and Bo was very happy with the win.

Said Schembechler, "Anytime you win an emotional game like this, it's a big win. Michigan State is a good team and don't you forget that. They're going to win a lot of games before the year is over."

Six members of the Wolverines spoke about how important Jesus Christ is to them.

Starting fullback Chuck Heater offered, "Many thousands of people saw us out there today but probably most viewed us as only football players. But the scope of our lives extends beyond just football. Myself, along with many members of our football team have to come to the realization in our lives that Jesus Christ is the answer to the contemporary issues of life, as well as our own personal concerns."

"I've seen in my life that Christ can deal with my identity problem of 'Who Am I?' and 'What is life all about?'"

"Christ has put meaning into my life because he has re-established that relationship with God which was served when I turned away from Him and decided to live life for myself."

"I finally realized that Christ has paid the penalty of death for my selfish attitude. I saw that I needed to accept what Christ had done on my behalf and give my life back to God. I have found genuine satisfaction and meaning in my life as I allow Him to make me the man He created me to be."

The other players that spoke out on Jesus Christ were Kurt Kampe, a defensive back from Defiance, Ohio, running back Rob Lytle from Fremont, Ohio, quarterback Jeff Spahn of Steubenville, Ohio, guard Kirk Lewis of Garden City and Bob Wood who hails from London, Ohio. Heater is from Tiffin, Ohio.

YMCA Story Is Told By William J. Grede, Here

By Helen Wright

The role of the YMCA in developing leadership was stressed by William J. Grede, outstanding layman in the YMCA movement in the United States and internationally, in a talk here Tuesday.

Grede spoke at a luncheon for local business, professional and civic leaders at the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club.

YMCA board member Ed Goebel presided at the luncheon and Charles R. Sligh, a member of the association committee, introduced Grede, whom he described as a tireless worker for YMCA beginning in his home town of Milwaukee, where he spearheaded a $3.5 million capital improvement fund drive in 1947, which was the largest successful drive by a single organization in the city's history.

From there, Grede went on to become national YMCA president at the same time that he was president of the National Association of Manufacturers, a post Sligh also held.

The second thrust of Grede's talk was that the YMCA is not an agency, it is a fellowship, a membership organization with people its main concern.

He also stressed the YMCA's role as an adjunct to the church in which Christian principles of living are carried over into everyday life, through activities enjoyed by the whole family.

Grede also emphasized that while the Y does try to make its programs available to people from all walks of life, it is not only concerned with the underprivileged. Boys of any neighborhood need the character-building built into the YMCA program, according to Grede and every community needs the leadership developed by such character-building.

Grede also told of his own satisfaction working on behalf of the YMCA, especially in his travels about the U.S. for NAM, during which he combined both roles.

Grede concluded with the thought that while America is called the "bulwark of freedom," he prefers to think of the country as the "frontier of freedom," by the YMCA part of the "cutting edge" spreading that freedom internationally.

Library October Displays Include Hobby and Craft

Beaded ming trees and flowers are featured in a craft display placed by Mrs. Henry Weyenberg at Herrick Library for October. Some of the beaded flowers are done in the French technique. The unusual bases for the various jeweled trees are vases from various parts of the world — Spain, Venice, France, China as well as Delft shoes from the Netherlands.

Imagination and ingenuity are evidenced in the collection of walking sticks carved and displayed by Richard Yager of Douglas. Various types of wood were used for the carving which have designs of stars, sharks and bands carved into the bark. Many of the sticks end in heads carved in the shape of deer, and antelope, and birds. The long green stick is a snake about to swallow a fish. As Yager says, "This display emphasizes what can be done by anyone with an old stick and a jackknife."

Hope Beats Adrian For Record 11th Straight

By Dave Cole

Hope College won a school record 11th straight football game Saturday at Riverview Park, 30-15 over always tough Adrian, which had previously won three of the last four meetings.

At the onset of the game Hope was to receive the kickoff, but a fumble by freshman John Bonnette turned the ball over to Adrian at Hope's 22-yard line.

Fortunately Hope's defense was able to hold the Bulldogs for only a gain of four yards, forcing Dave Markle to attempt a field goal which was wide. The Dutchmen then took over on the 20-yard line, gained a first down but after quarterback Bob Carlson was sacked attempting to pass, Hope elected to punt.

Hope's punt attempt was its second mistake in the game as a high snap from center put the ball on its one-yard line. Then, some 30 seconds later, Angelo Antonucci sneaked across the goal line, Markle added the PAT and Adrian was ahead 7-0 with eight minutes left in the first quarter.

The Flying Dutchmen then received the kickoff and Bill Blacquire ran it out to the 36-yard line. Hope then put on a fine drive down to Adrian's 10 where Jim Miller later kicked a 26-yard field goal, putting Hope's first points on the board at 7-3.

No other scoring occurred for the rest of the first and the entire second quarter as both defense stiffened, with both sides having to punt several times.

Even though Hope was down by 7-3, the statistics show Hope with nine more minutes of possession and 18 more offensive plays.

As the second half started Hope kicked off to Adrian where they started at the 35 following the return. Four plays later they punted as Hope took over on its 47.

Hope then started a fine drive and with the help of two penalties had the ball at Adrian's 18 yard line. Then Hope's third big mistake of the game occurred when Bob Carlson threw a pitch-out wild to Kurt Bennett, handing the ball over to Adrian on its 28.

Hope's defense held for three plays, but a roughing the passer call on Dave Yeiter gave Adrian a first down. However, Hope held again and Adrian punted four plays later.

Then a 52-yard drive by Hope resulted in an 11 yard pass play from Carlson to Dave De Zwaan for a touchdown giving Hope a 10-7 lead with 4:19 left in the third quarter.

Then as in last week's game Hope came on strong in the final quarter with 20 points. Chuck Brooks scored first on a one-yard run at 13:29, the kick failed as the score stood at 16-7. Later, with 5:27 left Carlson tossed his second TD pass, this time to Gary Constant, for 14 yards. Miller added the kick making it 23-7.

Antonucci ran in from one yard out for Adrian's final score of the game. And with 37 seconds left on the clock, Bill Blacquire ran 45 yards for a touchdown. Miller added the PAT making the final score 30-15.

Standouts for the Dutchmen were Yeiter with two sacks of the Adrian quarterback and a blocked punt and Carlson with two touchdown passes. Also Bennett with 138 yards rushing.

Hope will host Albion Saturday at 2:15 in the Homecoming game.

The New Lubbers Humanities and Social Sciences Center on Hope College Campus

Renovated Building Honors Lubbers

Renovation of the former science building on Hope campus into a new Humanities and Social Sciences Center will be marked with a testimonial dinner Friday night in Phelps Hall in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Irwin J. Lubbers. Dr. Lubbers served as seventh president of the college for 18 years, starting in 1945.

The new Lubbers Center housing six departments of the humanities and social sciences is expected to be completed in time for the second semester.

When Dr. Lubbers assumed the presidency of Hope in 1945, the enrollment was 312 and within three years it grew to more than 1,200. The Lubbers era brought new dormitories, a central heating plant, a music hall and modernization of Carnegie gym and Graves Hall.

In the early years when students were housed in barracks and an ancient remodeled junior high school, the GI bulge had occurred with such rapidity that the organization of a makeshift campus required a high level of ingenuity and practicality.

Dr. Lubbers was quick to realize that while new buildings were an impossibility, fresh paint and trimmed lawns were a virtue.

"If we don't have a campus of unusual splendor, let's at least make it clean!" Those Lubbers words are remembered today.

One of his main goals, however, was to provide a first-rate campus to meet students' educational and living needs. The Korean war brought enrollments down temporarily, giving the college a chance to catch her breath and assess immediate and future requirements.

The late 50s and early 60s heralded a second enrollment rush as "war babies" reached college age. A major program of physical expansion brought residence halls, a fine new library and remodeling programs.

Realizing that fine buildings were not the only student need to be filled, Dr. Lubbers established the college's first health center. Long before the days of a counseling center, Dr. Lubbers opened his office door to students, whether their needs be individual or communal.

To tune in on campus feeling were the popular Presidential luncheons where a cross-section of the student body could communicate needs and opinions to the president. These sessions were very informal, the only rule of order being "No one may quote anyone else!"

The great increase of students necessitated hiring many new faculty members. Dr. Lubbers believed the key to success for an educational institution should be a combination of tension and tolerance; tension being the spirit of individually leading to creativity, and tolerance the tempering attitude which permits the acceptance of ideas from others.

He also believed that informed and loyal alumni could be a source of great strength to the college, resulting in the appointment of a director and secretary of alumni relations and a quarterly alumni magazine.

Dr. Lubbers also wanted to strengthen Hope's ties with the church, a challenging goal in a period where many churches were questioning social practices such as campus dances. An apt public speaker armed with anecdotes as well as convictions concerning Hope's importance, Dr. Lubbers was often able to persuade even the most skeptical audiences.

During the Lubbers era, stronger ties between the college and the city of Holland developed. Every morning, despite his busy schedule, Dr. Lubbers strolled downtown to a local restaurant and shared coffee with Holland citizens. These simple relaxing kietzes often provided unique opportunities to share the college's needs with interested businessmen.

Other accomplishments were the community council, the Michigan Colleges Foundation, accreditation from the National Association for the Accreditation of Teacher Education and the AAUW, and several honors in academic ratings. Although Dr. Lubbers shared the college's enthusiasm over these honors, he responded by posing the question, "On a pedestal or on the spot?"

Even as Dr. Lubbers was preparing to leave Hope he was planning for the future of the college through design and the ultimate construction of a new Physics-Mathematics building. The building was dedicated in the fall of 1963.

Upon his departure from Hope in 1964, Dr. Lubbers was elected president of the Iowa Association of Private Colleges and Universities. The Lubberses make their home in Des Moines, Iowa.

Rated St. Phillip Trips Dutch, 19-6

BATTLE CREEK — It takes two halves to win in football, as Holland found out in losing to a highly touted Class C Battle Creek St. Phillip 19-6 here Saturday evening.

"We dominated them in the first half but just were not mentally ready to play football in the second half," stated Holland mentor Ray Backus.

The "Fighting Tigers" were held to minus yardage in the first half and finished the evening with zero passing yardage.

"Those two long runs did us in," added Backus.

Holland took its opening drive into Battle Creek's end zone. Rick Elzinga capped the 12-play drive with a one yard touchdown plunge. The extra point attempt failed, as the center had a bad snap.

It looked as if the Dutch were about to score again early in the second quarter, as they moved to the one of Battle Creek but two illegal procedure penalties moved the ball back and Dan Bartlett's fake field goal pass just went off Chuck Modders' fingertips.

With Holland leading 6-0, St. Phillip's Tom Ferguson completed a 63-yard drive by bulging his way two yard for a score in the third period. The long drive was aided by three penalties.

After another bad snap from center, Ferguson broke loose to rumble 41 yards for his second TD with 1:05 left in the period. Holland came back to drive to St. Phillip's 24 with two minutes left in the game but the Dutch were stalled and the winners took over on downs.

With the Dutch in a gap defense in hopes of causing a fumble, Ken Brutsche sprinted 65 yards for a touchdown on a dive play with some 1:05 left in the tilt.

"We had some good blocking, especially in the first half," Backus replied. Elzinga ended with 118 yards in 24 attempts.

The Dutch, now 2-3 for the season, will meet Grand Rapids Christian Friday night in their homecoming.

Scott Tubergan Stars In 40-8 Homecoming Win

West Ottawa Ups Season Mark to 3-2

By Leo Martonosi

Boy! What would Scott Tubergan, West Ottawa's outstanding back, have done if his back was 100 per cent Friday night?

It was hard to believe that the Panthers' star, who resembles big John Brockington of Green Bay, by the way he runs over and around people and did all of this despite missing three days of drills this week.

Tubergan, the best running back this writer has seen all season, was a one-man gang at the outset, as he intercepted a pass on the Rogers' 40-yard line and after carrying the pigskin the next seven times, the last three yards into the end zone, the Hawks might as well have called it quits, as homecoming was going to be a happy occasion at Panther hand.

The final score was the vastly improving Panthers 40 and Rogers 8.

"Scott was in the whirlpool all week but it was hard to tell wasn't it," sighed West Ottawa trainer Harold Van Wieren.

Tubergan injured his back in drills Monday and didn't practice the rest of the week but don't try telling that to Rogers, they just wouldn't buy it.

The modest Panthers flash said after the game, "I really didn't do as well as I should have. I felt kind of flat out there."

All Tubergan did was rush for over 100 yards again 133 to be exact and scored two touchdowns on runs of one and six yards. But in-between that he was treading yardage all night to the delight of the large homecoming crowd.

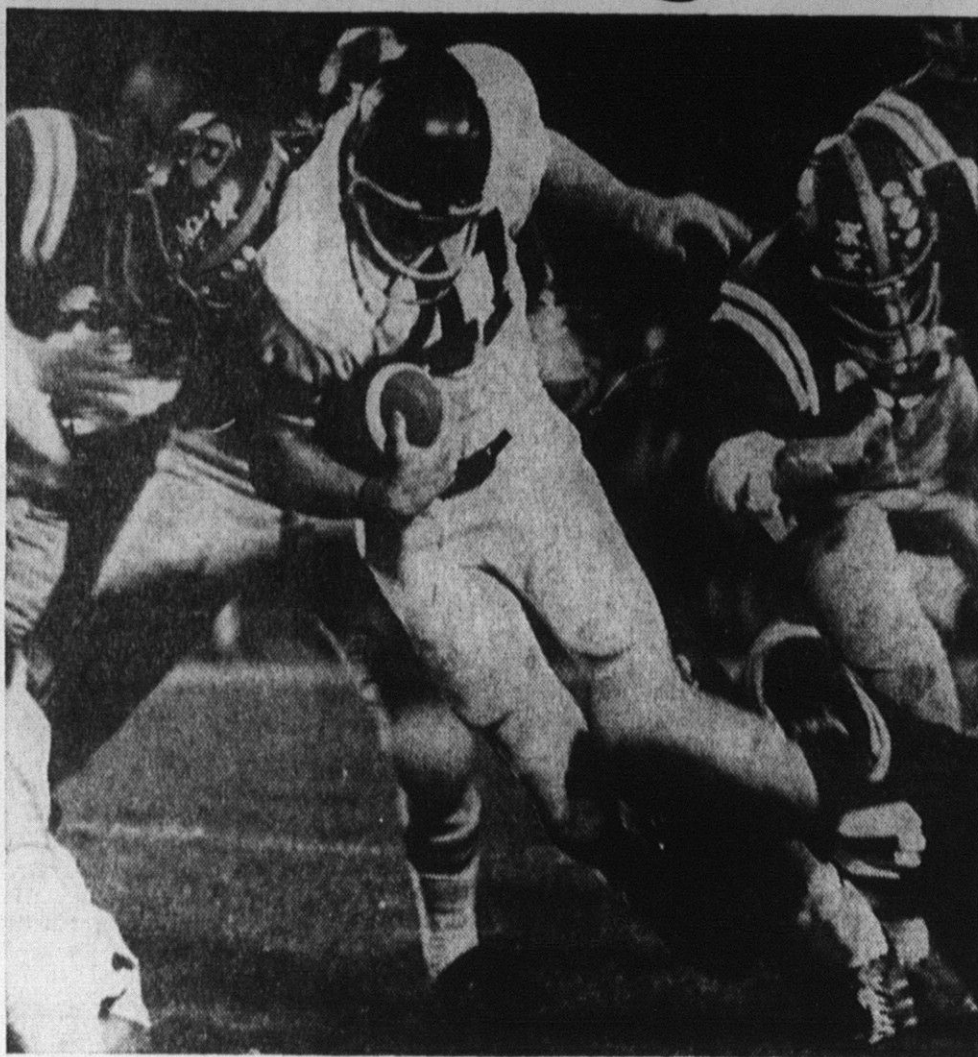

Jack Murdoch couldn't have thrown a better pass on his first attempt, as he hit Dave Beckman on a beauty that covered 65 yards and a touchdown just a few minutes after Tubergan did his thing to give the Panthers a 12-0 lead. Ken Hamstra threw a fine block to spring Beckman for the score. Sam Angell booted the extra point.

Murdoch came back moments later to hit Jim Carson for a 20-yard gain and on the following play, Tubergan bulled his way six yards into paydirt. Murdoch passed to Carson for the conversion and increased the Panthers margin to 21-0 with still some 7:19 left in the half.

Hamstra picked off another Rogers pass on the 47 and eight plays later sophomore Jamie Bloemendaal, who was late in showing up for the game because of a wedding, tallied his first varsity TD on a one-yard plunge.

The Panthers fans really had something to cheer about, as Angell's kick closed out the first half with their favorites on top, 28-0.

Senior end Jeff Kreun had the honor of crowning Queen Fran Porter at the intermission.

WEST OTTAWA STAR — Scott Tubergan (41) of West Ottawa was the workhorse in the Panthers' 40-8 homecoming football win over Rogers Friday night. The Panther junior rushed for 133 yards and scored two touchdowns even though he was slowed down by a bad back.

Boss, Chix Edge Out Northern, 3-0

FORREST HILLS — Thanks to the talented foot of Brian Boss the Zeeland Chix chalked up their third victory against one loss and a tie of the season, beating Forest Hills Northern, 3-0, in football action here Friday night.

Boss' 30 yard boot which wound up to be the game winning points came in the second quarter with 5:01 left on the clock.

Even though the final score stood at 3-0, there was plenty of action to worry Coach Bob Larsen and crew as with five minutes left in the third quarter, Forest Hills was threatening on the Chix 25-yard line, until Tim Barkel picked off one of his two passes for the night ending the threat.

Later in the third quarter with some two minutes left Mike Zuzerink coughed up the ball for the Chix on a fumble at Northern's 18-yard line. And to give coach Larsen even a few more grey hairs, Northern was threatening on the Chix 17-yard line with just 36 seconds left in the game when Doug Wabeke picked off Northern's third interception of the night, ending the possibly game winning drive.

Barkel and Joe Sneller were credited with outstanding games coming up with 15 and 13 tackles respectively.

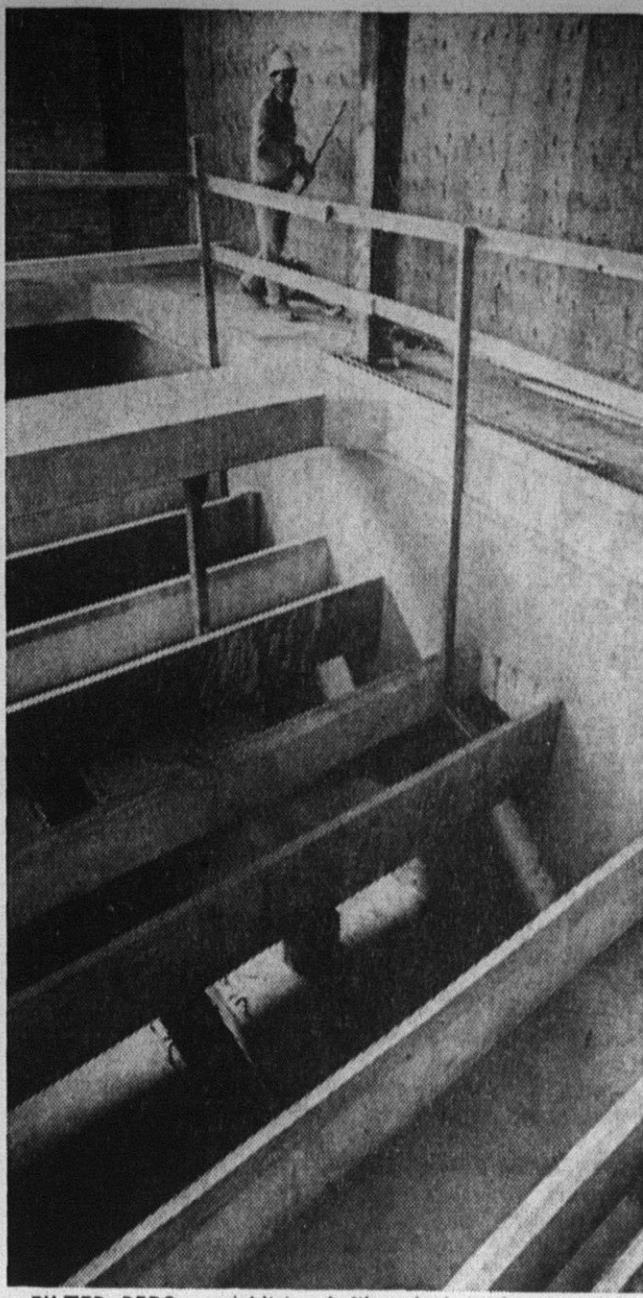

The Chix, now with a 3-1 record for the season will travel to Kenawa Hills Friday.

FILTER BEDS — Additional filter beds with a capacity of seven million gallons daily are being constructed in an addition to the water treatment plant. When completed the beds will have a base of coal and rocks through which water is filtered to remove sediment and other debris. The water level itself will be about eight feet. The filter beds can be backwashed to remove the sand and sediment collected. The runoff is sent to the reclamation wells for removal of sand before the water is returned to Lake Michigan.

Half-Way Mark Reached at Plant

Construction of an addition to Holland's water treatment plant, designed to boost the daily capacity by seven million gallons, is about half completed although the completion date is November, 1975.

But Board of Public Works general manager Ronald L. Rainson said a delay may be experienced in shipment of mechanical equipment such as pumps and motors.

The plant, built in 1957, has a rated capacity of 14 million gallons a day and that capacity has been surpassed during peak summer uses.

Total cost of the addition is $1.8 million and includes additions to the settling basins and filter basins and a reclamation well required as an environmental safeguard for water being returned to Lake Michigan.

The settling basins are located to the north of the existing water plant building along Lake Shore Rd. opposite Tunnel Park and are underground vault-like structures.

The filtering basins are located in the water plant building and water is filtered through layers of rock and coal to remove sediment and other debris.

The filter beds are backwashed periodically to wash away the collected sediment and sand and this runoff now must be treated in the reclamation wells to remove the sand before returning the backwash water to Lake Michigan.

Rainson said an additional transmission line to Holland is in the planning stages but its exact location has not been determined. One possibility is to tap off the Zeeland line at Lakewood Blvd. and 120th Ave. and run a line into Holland along Eighth St.

An alternate route might be a crossing of Lake Macatawa in the Macatawa Park area. No expansion is necessary to

Eagles Lose Tight Game To Wayland

HUDSONVILLE — After driving out to a 12-6 lead after three quarters of football action Friday night, the Hudsonville Eagles had the floor fall from underneath them as Wayland came up with 13 points in the final quarter to win, 19-12.

Tom Perrin, who gained 155 yards in 14 plays, ran 58 yards for the first Hudsonville touchdown in the first period. No scoring occurred for the remainder of the first quarter and all the second, making the half-time score, 6-0.

Wayland scored first in the third quarter, as John Lubberts ran in from seven yards out, the PAT failed making the score, 6-6. The Eagles came back later in the third quarter as Bill Brinks tossed a 10-yard TD pass to Ron Van Dam, making the third quarter score, 12-6 in favor of the Eagles.

As the final quarter started, then came Hudsonville's troubles, as twice Brinks tossed interceptions which went the distance for Wayland. First when Paul Cochran grabbed it and went 83 yards and finally when Cochran took his second steal, 29 yards. The two touchdowns by Cochran and a PAT conversion gave Wayland a 19-12 win over Hudsonville who now holds a 3-2 record which they will take to Middleville Friday.

4,000 Tour Prince Corp. Open House

Prince Corp., which started in 1965 with six employees and now has 319, hosted close to 4,000 people in their first open house Saturday in their modern plant on Windcrest Ave. in the heart of Holland's south-side industrial park.

While mechanically-minded men may be impressed by huge machines designed mainly for the automotive trade, women were completely fascinated by a ham deboning machine which removes the bone of a ham up to 46 pounds in seven seconds with less than seven ounces waste.

Women also were captivated by the Prince illuminated vanity mirror, a car visor with built-in mirror in which milady can check her face or (with added illumination) read a map in the dark. These luxury visitors were developed three years ago, mainly for GM, Ford and some Chryslers.

Besides machine tools, some of 25 tons costing in excess of $400,000, the company also designs machines for plastic castings and moldings, as well as considerable production work.

The phenomenal growth of Prince Corp. has seen 10 additions in eight years. It operates in two large buildings at the foot of Windcrest Dr. and is viewed from US-31 bypass between 24th and 32nd Sts. It was founded by Edgar Prince, a Holland native who holds an engineering degree from the University of Michigan. Before founding Prince Corp., he was chief engineer for B & T in Holland for 13 years.

Vice presidents are John Spoelhof and Konrad Marcus. Plant managers are Brian Koop and Wayne Alofs.

A machine demonstration in the plastics division spewed out pocket combs in great profusion, all free as souvenirs to take home in any quantities desired.

The open house was mainly for employees, their friends and families and representatives of other industrial plants in the industrial park. A scheduled sky diving demonstration by four jumpers of the West Michigan Sport Parachute Center of Grand Rapids was cancelled because of high winds and low ceiling but the company's corporate plane Papa Charlie (the PC for Prince Corp.) made a demonstration flight piloted by Dick Parrott.
