The McClintocks of Chicago, assisted by the Sons of Veterans, rendered the military drama, "On Southern Soil," in Lyceum Opera House, for three successive nights, to good audiences. The play will be reproduced at Saugatuck, Saturday evening, with the same caste.

Those interested in vocal music have a fine chance offered them of perfecting themselves in the "divine art." The G. H. Tribune is still muddled in regard to that comparative statement of taxes between the two cities, Grand Haven and Holland. That special taxes, such as for street improvements or sewers in cities, or drain taxes in townships, cut no figure as a rule, in the relative tax rate or aggregate of taxes is a proposition too remote for the Tribune to grasp. We will leave the matter on the table until such time as the tax-rolls of the two cities are placed in the hands of the tax collectors, and may perhaps refer to it again at that time. The facts which these figures will elucidate, will probably bring the object lessons they teach within reach of our esteemed contemporary's comprehension.

The "Holland Furniture Company" is the name under which the new furniture factory of this city will hereafter be operated. For the HOLLAND CITY NEWS.

Graafschap vs. Overisel.

In last week's issue of the Allegen Journal appeared the following as "Graafschap news":

Our students (at Hope College) are also "in it." F. Van Anrooy and M. Van der Helde have been appointed registrars of their respective classes; a great sign of their punctuality and honesty. We have also learned something of interest to our citizens that not one from Overisel was appointed, which does not agree with the statement of that orator (?) who said at the last school meeting in his district that the children and students there were smarter and more honored than ours, wherefore, he said, we also ought to abolish Dutch from our schools. The real reason undoubtedly was that he himself can hardly read Dutch, and has a wife from Overisel. Since he was defeated at the meeting he is attempting to sue the district for using primary money for that purpose. The idea! Our people are seeing that he has had the law books in his house too long already. A warning for his own good would be to "shut up."

I cheerfully say to the good people of Graafschap, and also to the Overisel students, not to be alarmed. This local verisimilitude, that vomited forth so much fire and mud in the columns of the Journal, is again in its normal state. Only low murmurings and smoke issue from its open-mouthed crater the last sign left of a recent internal disturbance.

In justice to the Graafschap students I will say that I never mentioned Graafschap students in my address at the school meeting.

I only compared Overisel students with graduates from the Dutch department in our district school. If my memory serves me right the correspondent of the Journal is the only person at the college from Graafschap that ever graduated with honors from our juvenile department in Dutch. He is one out of a faction in our district that asserts that if a person knows the rudiments of the Dutch language (Kees had eens een kat geplagd etc., etc.) he is then much better able to master English, and far in advance of others that know no Dutch.

It is evident that Correspondent thinks he has secured a great prize, in being appointed registrar of his class. Judging by his bluster it will be probable that his next promotion will be to the president's chair, now occupied by a former Overisel student.

In his last item correspondent infers that undoubtedly "that Orator" was against Dutch because he could not read a word of it himself. I will frankly admit that I am not above the average Dutchman in reading the language, but I would also gently remind Mr. correspondent that in his contributions to newspapers there is ample room for improvement.

In regard to those law books he makes mention of, I advise him to buy a set for himself. It will save him the trouble of scaling hedge fences and crossing back lots to borrow them. Graafschap, Mich. H. S.

A Reading Circle for Farmers.

A very interesting circular has been issued by the faculty of the agricultural college of Michigan, in the interest of agriculture and kindred pursuits in this state. The aim is to establish farm home reading circles.

In December, 1892, the faculty appointed a committee to prepare a course of reading especially adapted to the requirements of farmers, gardeners, fruit growers, stock breeders, etc. The course was outlined and circulars issued. So many expressions of appreciation have been received, that the managers have been encouraged to carefully revise and take steps to widen its scope and increase its influence. The state Board of Agriculture have made provision for the printing, correspondence, postage, etc., connected with the course, so that the only expense to members is for books.

The primary object is to promote agriculture. The circle offers a systematic course of reading. It furnishes books through the secretary at greatly reduced prices. It acts in a limited manner, as a bureau of information on agricultural subjects. The aim has been to supply a course which shall furnish practical information and assist those who desire to secure some knowledge of science as applied to agriculture. It is believed there are many who are ready to embrace the opportunities offered by such a course.

The course is not limited as to age or occupation. All persons interested are invited to join. Farmers' boys and girls are especially urged to undertake systematic reading. You are surrounded by a great laboratory. The fields, gardens, orchards and meadows are your class rooms. Interest your fathers and mothers. Ask questions. If you are unable to find an answer by consulting the index of your book, write to the secretary and he will refer it to the proper authority. No one is too old to join the circle.

While it is recommended that granges, patron's lodges, alliances and farmers' organizations form circles for reading and discussion, yet the great value of the course will manifest itself to those so situated that reading in circles is impossible. As the name implies it is a "Farm Home Reading Circle." Do not let the coming winter season pass without taking up the work.

Five classes are offered: Soils and Crops, Live Stock, Garden and Orchard, Home Making, and Political Science. These classes were outlined by men prominent in these special lines, and so far as it is possible, are arranged progressively. It is urged that the course be taken up, as recommended, and finished. However, if for any reason books further along in the course are desired, they may be ordered and credit will be given for their completion. No requirement is made as to the order in which classes shall be taken up.

For full information address F. B. Mumford, secretary, Agricultural College, Lansing, Mich.

This a Nation.

The fundamental idea of the Republican party is that we are a nation, and not a mere agglomeration of states, sovereign by themselves. Hence a Republican, in using the word, writes it with a large N.

This was the idea that sustained and inspired it through the deadly strife of the late rebellion.

This was the idea that impelled it to full and free forgiveness of the conquered South and complete restoration of the rebel states to their civil rights—not to disintegrate the NATION.

This principle underlies the national bank system.

This grand theory sustains and justifies the protective tariff.

The Republican party has always considered protection in its relation to national industrial independence. It has devised its tariffs, therefore, upon lines which ignored sectional preferences. It has given to the Southern cotton mill, the Southern iron furnace and the Southern sugar plantation the same protection that has been given to the Northern industry, notwithstanding the fact that Southern political influence has always been cast against protection of any kind. It has resisted the argument that manufacturers might prosper more with free raw material; it has stood bravely by the miner of iron ore, the miner of coal and the miner of silver, while giving protection to the American who owns the mill.

The benefit of Americans of all classes has been the persistent and consistent purpose of the system and of the party that represents the system. It had no favorites.

Don't wait until next week. You cannot afford to miss it. It's as great an educator as a trip around the world, and the expense is insignificant compared to such a trip. You won't have another such chance in your life-time to see such a wonderful show, and even if you have to scrimp along for a while and go without something else—don't miss seeing the "White City" and its multitude of exhibits for all the world.

As an additional incentive to get you started, the C. & W. M. Ry will sell tickets on Oct. 13, 17, 19, 21, 23, 25 and 27 at one way fare for the round trip.

These tickets are good ten days including date of sale, and are sold via all-rail routes as well as via St. Joseph and steamer.

Our Agents will be glad to give you full information about trains and anything else which you may want to know (so far as they can).

The crowds are going now; lots of people just waking up to the fact that they will be way behind the times if they miss seeing the World's Fair. Don't wait until the last week and then get caught in the final rush, but go now.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

If subscribers order the discontinuance of newspapers, the publishers may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.

If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their newspapers from the office to which they are sent, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the newspapers are sent to the former place of residence, they are then responsible.

CONCERNING DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS:

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can have arrested any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused" and to send a postal notifying the publisher, lays himself liable to arrest and fine.

JOY FOR SILVER MEN.

SENATE FINALLY TIRES OUT AND ADJOURNS.

After Being in Continuous Session for Forty-three Hours a Quorum Cannot Be Found and at 1:45 Friday Morning Voorhees Ends the Test.

Bad for Repeaters.

Washington correspondence: The Senate slept with its boots on Wednesday night. The much advertised contest of physical endurance had begun, and the wily Senators seemed determined to sit it out. All day long there were evidences of preparation for the fight. Few Senators were in the chamber, but a glance into the cloak rooms and a peep into the committee rooms showed many of them sleeping on the couches and sofas, husbanding their strength for a siege which they appreciated would test most severely every energy which they could muster. Forces on both sides of the battle were divided so as to be able to give each other relief by taking up the defense of their position in turn. The great number of employees of the Senate were likewise separated into relays, in anticipation of continuous work.

The first round of the struggle, at 8 o'clock in the evening, was marked by a challenge from Mr. Dubois and by a notable speech from Mr. Voorhees, in which he defended his management of the repeal bill and declared a question greater than silver or gold had now appeared—the question whether the majority or the minority was to rule in this country. Mr. Butler, of South Carolina, made a vehement appeal to Mr. Voorhees to throw himself "in the breach," and by returning to his early love, free silver, put an end to the contest. The Senate settled down to an all-night siege.

As the evening wore on it became apparent no one in the chamber had any idea the test of endurance would result in anything but failure. The maneuvering appeared to be solely with putting blame upon the other side. The Republicans, though taking credit to themselves for having offered cloture and a legal, orderly way out of the difficulty, were still loath to leave the chamber and thus lay themselves open to the charge of having broken the quorum. The Democrats, repeaters and anti-repeaters alike were actuated by the same desire. They stuck to their seats or to the cloak-rooms near by, determined that the quorum should be broken, if at all, by the disappearance of Republicans. It was a case in which two doctors appeared to be sitting up with a dying patient, each determined to be in at the death and to charge responsibility therefor upon the other fellow.

The Senate Adjourns.

All night Wednesday night, all day Thursday and until nearly 2 o'clock Friday morning the stars and stripes floated from the flagstaff at the top of the big dome of the Capitol, indicating that the "dignified branch" of Congress was still in session. At 1:45 o'clock Friday morning, after a continuous session of forty-three hours, the Senate adjourned, on motion of Senator Voorhees. The end had been foreseen for three hours, as one Senator after another abandoned the Senate from sheer exhaustion. At midnight a roll-call disclosed three short of a quorum. It took forty minutes to secure the necessary three. They were Palmer, Berry, and Blackburn. Ten minutes later the quorum was broken again, and this time it took an hour and ten minutes to find a sufficient number for business.

During the long wait Voorhees said that he would consent to a recess, but he would not yield to adjournment. His admission was taken to mean that the fight was lost. No sooner had a quorum been secured than it was broken for the third time. This time Sergeant-at-Arms Bright made written report to the Senate that at the homes of sixteen absent Senators it was reported that they "were not in." He specified many other excuses of absentees. It was only too plain that the Sergeant-at-Arms' report was designed as a pretext to make adjournment natural and necessary. The last word of the report had hardly left the clerk's lips when Voorhees was on his feet. "Mr. President," said he, in a voice without tremor or emotion, "there need be no comment on the meaning of that report. It tells its own story. I move that the Senate adjourn." The vote was put and carried without a dissenting voice and the fate of the silver repeal bill was sealed.

What will next be done is difficult to tell. The silver men have now shown their ability to dictate terms, and it is thought the end will be a compromise on the lines of the Harris amendment.

Mr. Harris' Amendment.

The amendment introduced by Mr. Harris provides:

1. For the coinage of all the silver bullion in the treasury, representing the government's ownership, into full legal-tender dollars at the rate of 3,000,000 per month.
2. When the said silver shall have been coined the Secretary of the Treasury shall purchase each month bullion sufficient to coin—dollars, and to coin the bullion into legal-tender dollars.
3. That all paper notes or certificates of less denomination than $10 shall be redeemed and not released, and that national bank notes of less denomination than $10 shall be redeemed and the national banks required to substitute notes of that denomination.
4. That the $2.50 and $5 gold pieces shall no longer be coined, but when received at the treasury shall be received as eagles and double eagles.
5. That the holders of standard 1-er dollars shall be able to exchange such dollars on presentation for notes of the same legal-tender quality as such silver dollars, which shall be paid for their redemption.

THE California Chinese Convention resolved that President Cleve and his Cabinet be censured for non-enforcement of the Geary act and that Congress be called upon to refuse an extension of time for registration.

MARCUS KOENIGSHEIM, a wealthy pawnbroker, San Antonio, Tex., was found murdered. The crime is supposed to have been committed by burglars, as the safe was rifled.

THE training ship Enterprise, with a large battalion of naval cadets on board, arrived at Boston from a European cruise.

PERSONS who took part in the Czech demonstration at Prague are being arrested daily and will be severely punished.

TUCKER BILL PASSED.

BIG MAJORITY FOR THE MEASURE IN THE HOUSE.

By a Strict Party Vote the House Repeals the Laws Fixing Elections Under Federal Control—How the Fort Wayne "Limited" Was Wrecked.

Democrats Cheer the Result.

Washington special: The Tucker bill to repeal all existing Federal election laws was passed by the House by a vote of 200 to 101, party lines being strictly drawn. Senator Hill (N. Y.), who is the author of a similar bill in the Senate, was on the floor while the vote was being taken. Quite a demonstration was made by the Democrats when the result was announced. The Republicans, finding that the Democrats had their own quorum present, were stopped from filibustering by the ironclad order under which the House was operating beyond demanding a yeas and nays vote on the Burrows and Lacey amendments. The Democrats admitted that the bill was defective in that it failed to repeal statute 3528, which inferentially permits troops at the polls, but the modification could not be made under the order, and the correction will have to be made in the Senate. Some of the Republicans claimed that in defeating the Lacey amendment the Democrats repealed all laws to prevent bribery and ballot-box stuffing at elections for delegates in the Territories, but the Democrats claimed that the Legislatures of the Territories had all enacted laws for the punishment of offenders against the purity of the ballot in the Territories, and Mr. Tucker called attention to the fact that Section 1848 of the Revised Statutes provided that after the first election each Territory should make laws to govern its elections. Delegate Smith also called attention to the fact that some of the Territories like Arizona operated "like most of the progressive States," under the Australian ballot law.

Attracted a Full House.

The fact that the vote on the Tucker bill was to be taken attracted a full house. The benches on both sides were filled and the galleries were crowded. Some routine business occupied the morning hour.

The Speaker took the chair. The special order bringing the Tucker bill to a vote and the pending amendment by Mr. Fitch, Mr. Lacey and Mr. Burrows were read. Mr. Burrows explained that he would not demand a division on his amendment if the House would permit the five statutes his amendment sought to save to be read at the clerk's desk, that they might get into the record. They are the section providing for free registry and vote of citizens irrespective of color or previous condition, and providing for the punishment of those who prevent, hinder and delay registration and voting, and giving United States Judges jurisdiction in such cases. On a rising vote the amendment was defeated, 81 to 193—a strict party division. The yeas and nays were demanded and the roll was called. The roll-call resulted—yeas, 100; nays, 198. The vote demonstrated the fact that the Democrats had a margin of nine in excess of a quorum.

The vote then recurred on Mr. Lacey's amendment providing for the punishment of crimes against the ballot in Congressional and delegate elections, and Mr. Lacey demanded a yeas and nays vote, claiming that the defeat of his amendment would give bribery and ballot-box stuffing free rein in delegate elections in the Territories. The Lacey amendment was lost—96 to 196. Mr. Fitch withdrew his amendment, and the vote was taken on the final passage of the bill. The bill was passed—yeas, 200; nays, 100—a strict party vote. When the Speaker announced the vote the Democrats broke into a cheer, and then, at 2:45, the House adjourned.

CAUSED BY A MISPLACED BOLT.

How the Fort Wayne "Limited" Was Wrecked at Whiting.

A misplaced bolt derailed the first section of the east-bound Fort Wayne "limited" at Whiting, Ind. It was a Pullman vestibled train and was crowded with Philadelphia Fair-goers and speeding along the stretch of track from South Chicago to Valparaiso at its highest speed. The passengers escaped destruction only by the courage of Engineer Jack Christy, who set his brakes in the teeth of death and went down with his train as their sacrifice.

The train of eight Pullman coaches, with dining-car and mail-car, was making its best time, in charge of James Breen, conductor, and Engineer John Christy. At Whiting the Fort Wayne Road crosses the Calumet terminal belt line. The crossing is guarded by the interlocking system of switch signals, controlled by an operator in a tower. A bolt at the switch was taken from its place, the mechanism failed to act, and while the signals showed white and clear, the derail switch still lay open, though all unknown. As the ponderous engine No. 202 reached the obstruction it turned like a flash and with a roar buried itself deep in the sand of the ditch on its side, with engineer and fireman buried beneath it. The tender followed, the mail car reared high in the air, and followed the engine and tender. The passenger coaches kept the track, and the strong steel frames of the Pullmans refusing to tele cope, the passengers escaped uninjured.

Rescuers hurried to the scene and found Fireman Werner dying from his wounds under the engine. Before pick and shovel could be raised in his behalf death had released him. Engineer Christy was taken out as quickly as possible and removed to a neighboring room, where he will probably die from his scalds and a fractured skull.

"Me Scare!"

Some of the uninitiated Canadians bring with them into Maine a lively apprehension of personal peril. Being strangers in a new land makes them nervous, perhaps. A Somerset County farmer who lives well up on a hillside tells a story of his hiring through an interpreter a Canadian who could speak no English to work for him. The farmer is rather a large, stern-looking man, and just after the Frenchman arrived at his house he stepped into the pantry and came out with a large butcher knife in his hand whetting it on a sharpener as a preparation for cutting some meat for supper. He at the same time began to make some talk in English to the Gaul, whose eyes opened wider and wider in alarm as he watched the whetting of the knife. He evidently thought murder was intended, for as the farmer came nearer him, he bolted out of doors like a deer and ran across the fields and down the hillsides. His only answer, as the farmer ran after him, endeavoring to call him back, was, "Me scare! Me scare!" The employer had to go to town and have matters explained by an interpreter before he could induce the Frenchman to return.—Lewiston Journal.

The World's Fair!

Take it all in all the world is fair. That is, its judgments are pretty generally just. No doubt it has formed many incorrect conclusions from the time the caravels of Columbus appeared off the shores of San Salvador to the present year of celebration, but there are instances of its fairness which can be cited unquestioned. It has, after comparative tests, given its award to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for efficacy in cases of malarial, rheumatic and kidney disorder, dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervousness and debility. Among "positive facts without any doubt" this verdict deserves a prominent place. The experience of a generation justifies and the concurrent testimony of hosts of eminent physicians bears out its truth. Give the Bitters a fair trial and verify it.

The Difference Defined.

On the bridge the other day a couple of lexicographers were arguing respecting the definition of words. "Bah!" says "Buck" Gardner. "What do you know about defining words? You don't know the difference between an accident and a misfortune." "Define them," demanded Kid Miller. "Easy enough," retorted Gardner. "If you were to lean too far over this bridge and fall in, it would be an accident. But if some durned fool were to pull you out, that would be a misfortune."

A terrible railroad accident occurred on the Grand Trunk this (Friday) morning early, at Battle Creek. Two passenger trains collided, all loaded with World's fair passengers. The collision was followed by the burning of the coaches. Twenty-five bodies had already been taken out at noon. It is feared as many more will follow. Forty others are severely if not fatally injured. Those killed and injured were all on the west bound train. The first reports place the responsibility for the accident with the east bound train, the conductor or engineer not complying with orders to stop at Nichols' crossing.

In viewing the legislative deadlock at Washington, which presents the anomalous condition of a minority in the U. S. Senate preventing a majority from acting, it is evident in the first place that there is something wrong about the parliamentary machinery—in plain words, the rules—of that body. It is this condition of affairs against which Speaker Reed contended and which gave him and his "Rules" celebrity. This is one wrong.

Next, on the face of things there appears to be a large majority in either House of Congress in favor of the unconditional repeal of the law providing for the purchase of silver for coinage purposes. That these majorities have been obtained by the judicious and effective use of "patronage," as it is termed, would perhaps be hard to establish in a law court, but nevertheless it is universally surmised and believed. This is another wrong.

Under these two wrongs we behold a case of the pot calling the kettle black.

The minority in the Senate insists that unconditional repeal shall not pass, and for that purpose they avail themselves of all the privileges afforded by the present rules, as an offset against the "influences" of the administration. It is evident that the Senators opposed to the Sherman law will resolutely maintain their uncompromising attitude. Supported by the sentiments of their constituents and fortified by the rules of the Senate, which forbid anything approaching cloture, they are confident in their ability to command a compromise that will recognize the claims of silver as one of the great money metals of the Republic.

Whatever course President Cleveland may pursue, the American people, by an overwhelming majority, are for the use of silver as well as gold as a standard of values in this country. They insist upon a currency that shall be American, not British. They demand that the prosperity of the west shall be safeguarded equally with the east. They want the two great metals maintained at a parity by just and enlightened statesmanship. Bimetallism is the fixed financial doctrine of the American people.

County Affairs.

The board of supervisors concluded its session on Monday.

Tuesday they visited the county farm and infirmary. Everything was found to be in excellent order. The farm itself always has been, and will be a sort of elephant, both as to location and quality of the soil, but the management of the infirmary is good, and the treatment of the inmates very satisfactory. Most of them are aged people, and they are given as comfortable a home as the tax-payers of the county have a right to demand that they should have.

The report of the committee on equalization was adopted after a futile effort to reduce the total valuation of the county $350,000. The aggregate is $9,828,700 as against $9,470,000 last year.

The printing of the proceedings was awarded to the G. H. Courier-Journal. At the special session in June a committee on forestry was appointed under the following resolution introduced by supervisor Kerkhof:

Resolved, That in order to awaken an interest in forestry in this county, a committee of three be appointed by the chairman of the board, and that said committee investigate and report to this board at its October session, and that Mr. Rogers of Holland town be chairman of said committee.

As such committee the chairman appointed Messrs. Rogers, Thurston and Pruim. The following is their report, and it is worthy of the careful consideration of the citizens of Ottawa county:

To the Honorable the Board of Supervisors of Ottawa County,

GENTLEMEN:—Your special committee appointed at the June session, to whom was entrusted the matter of devising some plan or way to awaken and interest the people of Ottawa County as to the necessity and importance of giving some of their time and attention to forestry, beg leave to report and wish to call the attention of this board to a few facts compiled in considering this subject:

I. In a few years our forests will be a thing of the past, unless something is done to preserve what we have, and create a way to increase tree culture.

Whoever preserves a fair proportion of original forest is in a degree a public benefactor. While the tree has been an obnoxious enemy, and has rendered to ax and saw, directed by human power, so we have to battle now against prejudice and ignorance to restore a certain percent of them to their original state.

We have rung the changes of the water protection of our state until the old tune has no satisfying variation. In fact we find that our climate is gradually undergoing a change, in spite of our surrounding waters, by the removal of our forests.

The people go on denuding our country of its protecting mantle and nature's canopy, not considering what they do, because the change is so imperceptible, at the same time thanking divine Providence that they do not live in a State where tornadoes and cyclones visit their habitations; not realizing that they are paving the way for these terrible storms.

II. We live in a noble State—let us try and make it attractive, and particularly our immediate surroundings, by establishing emblems which will teach and stand as records of the thoughtfulness of some public benefactor.

We confine ourselves nowadays more especially to streets and highways, nevertheless it is a fact that the culture of trees in the field becomes equally as necessary and important as planting along roadsides. At a small expense two pct. of the cultivated land can be planted to trees. Maple seedlings can be obtained after a heavy rain in the fall, at small trouble and cost. By planting them 2 feet apart we can place 9000 trees on an acre, making a fine nursery, sufficient to plant between 50 or 60 acres of maple orchard.

Imagine two places: the one is decorated and embellished with trees and groves; the other we find barren and in a general unkempt condition. The first demands a good price and is enhancing in value; the other is depreciating in value and below par. Is it not worth our time and money to push absentmindedness into oblivion? Who will begrudge the time spent in planting a few trees on highways and streets? Their functions are not limited to acting as screens for sunshunning wayfarers, but they temper the heat and serve as screens and protectors from dust. Also the evaporation from their leaves tends to keep the surrounding air cool and moist.

Trees also have great sanitary and commercial value, and our highways are too often barren of everything except weeds, grass, and ugly looking fences.

There is much need of preaching up on the beauty of shade trees. Many towns have but a few shade trees, and the number of homes and schools that have none is almost limitless. It costs so little, under ordinary circumstances, to plant shade trees; and they are so beautiful when grown, that the neglect to provide such ornaments for our streets and yards is simply a mysterious trait of character. We do not realize that these little adornments give us real comfort and happiness.

The question for us to-day is: Shall we drift along doing nothing but discuss the forestry problem in a sort of dramatic way, hoping that our fears will not be realized. This idea must not and can not be fostered for a moment. Something must be done to create interest with the people. Therefore we would recommend that committees be appointed by this board, in each township, city and village, if necessary, who shall be requested to hold meetings and procure men who are willing and able to impress all this upon the minds of the people; to get them interested; and see the necessity of forestry; and, if such committees should deem it necessary and prudent, to form tree-planting societies and ask the governor or legislature to encourage them in this noble work.

While we have legislation upon this subject—that a man has a rebate for every tree planted along the highway, not to exceed one-fourth of his highway labor tax—it has not accomplished what we desire. The work itself cannot be done through legislation. We venture to say that not one-fourth make use of this law, and especially the roadmasters are very lame in protecting and cultivating the few trees planted. It should be urged upon them that it is their duty as much to protect and care for the trees as for the beds of the road.

Respectfully submitted,

LUKE LUGERS.

ENNO PRUIM.

B. THURSTON.

Committee on Forestry.

Supervisor Van Loo of Zeeland offered a resolution abolishing the distinction between county and township poor. It was rejected by a vote of 9 to 12.

The storm of Friday proved fatal to several of our fine maple shade trees.

As the reports of the late storm began to come in during the first part of the week, the number of disasters increased. The loss of vessel property is large. The list includes—Steamer Dean Richmond, founded off Dunkirk $110,000; steamer Wooten, founded Lake Erie, $75,000; schooner James D. Sawyer, stranded Charlevoix, $84,000; schooner Minnehaha, stranded Onkama, $33,000; schooner Hunter, stranded, New Buffalo, $14,000; schooner Volunteer, stranded, Port Crescent, $3,000; tug Acme, founded, Lake Huron, $2,500; yacht Enterprise, stranded, Georgian bay, $1,000; schooner Falcone, ashore, Lake Ontario, $5,000; barge Knight Templar, stranded, Cheboygan, $4,000; schooner John B. Merritt, ashore Drummond's Island, $20,000. To this list must be added two schooners which are not yet identified. One is sunk on Lake Erie, and the other is sunk four miles north of the Parisian island on Lake Superior. Only the top of the masts of both boats are above the water, and it is likely that their crews, numbered six or eight men for each, were lost. This will make the total numbers of lives lost fifty-four. The aggregate losses on boats stranded but which may be rescued, and cargoes damaged by water, will exceed $300,000. To this must be added losses of not less than $50,000 for minor damages, any of which will never be reported, in print. This grand total of fifty-four lives and $676,000 of property will add the storm of October 14 to the list of historic gales on the great lakes.

Saturday it was rumored along the east shore that the stmr. City of Racine, of the Grand Haven and Chicago line, had foundered off St. Joe. Upon inquiry at the home office however it was learned that she had safely reached Chicago Saturday forenoon.

The stmr. Wisconsin, which had left Milwaukee for Grand Haven, was obliged to return after being out 20 hours trying to reach the latter place. She received a bad shaking up. Her after-canvas was torn and life boats carried away.

Handkerchiefs Among the Ancients.

The Greeks and Romans had no pocket handkerchiefs, but merely a cloth called "sudorium," to wipe perspiration from the face, which was usually carried in a fold of the tunic or loosely tied about the neck. The Athenian and Roman swells, the men about town, inaugurated the fashion of carrying one such "sudorium" in the hand and another in the girdle, but these were never used as we use pocket handkerchiefs. The ancients had a profound respect for absolutely clean noses, but only children and old persons were allowed to blow their noses in public. For a gentleman to do so would have been considered a breach of good manners, and for a lady to appear in public with a handkerchief was sufficient for her to forfeit all claim to respectability. Husbands could divorce wives who were compelled to use a pocket handkerchief.

REBEL VESSEL SUNK.

MANY LIVES ARE LOST ON THE URANO.

France Sorrow for the Death of MacMahon—Another Fatal Wreck on the Fort Wayne—Confidence Men Are Condemned—Insurance at Omaha.

Insurgents Lose Heavily.

The Brazilian rebel steamer Urano made an attempt Sunday to make the run out of the Bay of Rio. The guns of Fort Santa Cruz fired on the steamer and did such good execution that the vessel was sunk in a surprisingly short time. Many persons on board the Urano were killed outright by the fire from the fort and a large number were drowned when the steamer went down. The French steamer Oranque picked up all those who succeeded in keeping afloat after the Urano had disappeared. Afterward the rebel steamer Pallas, laden with provisions, tried to enter the bay. She was fired upon by the guns of Fort Santa Cruz and her reception was so hot that she had to put about and give up the attempt to enter. She was badly crippled and came near sharing the fate of the Urano. The government has organized a fleet of six ironclads and is purchasing more vessels as fast as they can be obtained. The rebel war ships Aquidaba and Trajano have suffered grave injuries in the last few days from the shots landed aboard of them by the forts. The Trajano is so disabled as to be useless for the present.

THE TABLES TURNED.

Two Chicago Confidence Men Are Very Cleverly Trapped.

Officers Burke and Dwyer, of Chicago, disguised as farmers, were accosted by two well-dressed men. Each represented himself to be an agent for a New York clothing firm, and said that in order to introduce a new cloth they were giving reputable visitors to the Fair a suit made of the new goods. The officers accompanied them to a room over the Denver saloon, where they spread a lot of samples on a table. Then they explained to the officers that each was to lay $10 on a sample and draw a card from the pack which they had, claiming that, in the 100 cards, there was only one blank and that each card represented a certain design of cloth for a suit. Burke laid down $10 and drew a blank. Dwyer was more lucky and drew a card calling for a blue suit, but the men objected, stating that he had cheated. One of the men seized the money and the other started to leave the room, saying that he was going for an officer. They were tremendously surprised at finding officers so handy. Later in the day they were arraigned before Justice Porter and fined $50 and costs each.

WRECKED ON THE FORT WAYNE.

The New York and Chicago Limited Collides with a Freight.

The second section of the New York and Chicago Limited going east on the Fort Wayne Road was wrecked near Wellsville, Ohio. The engineer and fireman of the limited engine were killed and the clerk of the postal car fatally injured. The wreck was a complete one. The cars behind piled up and fell over, broken and wrecked. The engine went through the rear car of the freight, splitting it in two, and climbed part way up the second car. The postal clerk was caught in the broken timbers of this car, and when taken out was found to be crushed and fatally injured. The passengers were thrown from their berths by the shock, but escaped with slight bruises and a fright.

DEATH OF MACMAHON.

The Famous Field Marshal of France Expires at Paris of La Grippe.

Field Marshal Maurice de MacMahon, ex-President of the French Republic, and one of the most renowned soldiers of the empire, is dead. The immediate cause of death was la grippe. Born on July 13, 1868, MacMahon was in his 86th year. His death had been expected. In May last he was attacked by la grippe and he never recovered from the effects of it. He had been slowly but steadily failing since the beginning of autumn. The death of the old warrior and statesman has spread genuine sorrow throughout France, and will doubtless subdue somewhat the extravagance of the demonstration caused by the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon.

Omaha Fire Rates Go Up.

An advance of 20 per cent. on fire-insurance rates in Omaha and South Omaha has gone into effect. The reasons assigned for it are the inadequacy of fire protection and the existence of the valid policy law, which provides that a man may insure property for nearly its full value in many companies and collect from all in case of loss. Insurance men claim that this law puts a premium on incendiarism, and is causing some companies to retire from the state.

Emma Goldman Sentenced.

At New York Judge Martin sentenced Emma Goldman, the anarchist, to a year's imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Sent Fake Reports.

A few days after the attack by the Riffs upon the Spanish garrison at Melilla a large number of newspaper reporters started for that place. Some of the reports sent to the newspapers outside of Spain were colored, and in consequence of this fact, and for no other reason, a censorship has been established at Melilla upon all telegraphic dispatches sent from there.

Rich Gold Mines Are Found.

Rich gold discoveries have been made in the region around and above Idaho Springs and Cripple Creek, Col. The Pioneer, Melton and Gold King mines have shown a vein of 3,000 feet, and without side, foot or hanging wall, so great is the body of ore. The ore runs from $100 to $300 per ton.

A Gardener's Awful Deed.

Count Blucher and Countess Blucher have been murdered by their gardener in Berlin, who was angry at the dismissal from the count's service of a pretty servant girl with whom the gardener was in love.

GREAT SPEECH RECORD BROKEN.

Allen Holds the Senate Floor Fourteen Consecutive Hours.

During the all-night session of the Senate Wednesday night Senator Allen held the floor, interrupted only by an occasional ill-tempered colloquy or a roll-call which dragged the sleepy Senators to their seats. The gray dawn found Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, holding the fort in the great struggle against unconditional repeal as he had been when darkness fell from the wings of night more than twelve hours before. He had broken all previous records. The longest time a Senator had previously occupied the floor was on the occasion of the election law fight in 1891, when Senator Faulkner remained on guard for twelve hours. The West Virginia, however, had a two-hour's breathing spell during the absence of a quorum. Senator Allen held the floor during the entire night Wednesday night, and quit the scene at 8 a. m. He was in good voice at the finish. The Nebraska Senator is a huge physical specimen, six feet in his stockings, with a voice like a fog-horn, that did not tire throughout the night but roared in the ears of Senators seeking to doze in the clock-rooms like a howling night wind on the Nebraska prairie.

REGARDING ALIEN PENSIONERS.

Commissioner Lochren Replies to Inquiries in the Senate.

The Secretary of the Interior has sent to the Senate a letter of the Commissioner of Pensions in response to an inquiry relative to the payment of pensions to pensioners whose postoffice addresses are in foreign countries, and if any pensions which accrued prior to July 1, 1893, had been suspended. The act referred to provides that from July 1, 1893, no pension shall be paid to a non-resident who is not a citizen of the United States, except for actual disabilities incurred in the service. The Commissioner says the eighteen pensioners were directed to suspend payment in every case where the address was known to be outside the jurisdiction of the United States and that at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, they were ordered to transfer such pensioners to the rolls of the Washington (D. C.) agency. The Washington Agent was directed to transfer the lists he had received of such non-resident pensioners to the Pension Bureau.

To Go Out in Glory.

The last day will be the climax. It will not be attended, probably, by the gayeties and festivities of the fete days at the Fair, yet it will eclipse them all—Chicago Day. In the history of the Exposition it will be known as Columbus Day—a final tribute to the memory of the old admiral. On Friday afternoon the directors began preparations for Columbus Day. They were in monthly session, the last regular meeting of the board before the close of the Fair. This resolution was adopted: "That this board deems it fitting that the closing day of the exposition should be made an unusual event in its history, and therefore recommends to the council of administration that the said day be termed Columbus Day and that arrangements for its celebration be made on a scale befitting its importance." The first step to make the closing of the Fair an imposing event was taken a moment later, when a second resolution was adopted, urging President Cleveland and his Cabinet to come from Washington and take part in the solemnities of Columbus Day.

All Ready Seated.

When the 2,500 passengers of the whale-back Christy or Columbus set their feet on the dock at Van Buren street, Chicago, Friday morning at 12:30 o'clock they were a grateful lot. For more than six hours they had been tossed about by the waves of Lake Michigan in the densest fog that has prevailed on the lake for many months and most of the time in total darkness. Not a person who was on board will ever forget that ride from Milwaukee to Chicago. Hundreds had never been off land before, and the tossing of the vessel, together with the almost frigid fog, and fear of going to the bottom produced scenes that were far from reassuring. Several times a wild rush was made for life preservers, and only the sternest orders from the ship's officers could restrain the almost panic-stricken crowd.

Indianapolis Election.

Complete but unofficial returns from Indianapolis' election for city officers and members of the Common Council give Denny, Republican candidate for Mayor, 16,127 votes, and Sullivan, Democrat, 12,973, making the Republican majority 3,154. Two years ago Sullivan carried the city by a majority of 2,722. Out of fifteen wards the Democrats carried but five. The candidates for minor offices on the Republican ticket are all elected, but by smaller majorities, and the Council will also be Republican, thus giving that party control of the city.

Four Were Killed.

A pitched battle took place near Two Medicine creek, on the east slope of the Rockies near Kallispell, Mont., between five train robbers who held up the Northern Pacific passenger train near Livingston and the Blackfoot Indian police under United States Marshal Jackson, in which three of the robbers and one Indian were killed and another so badly wounded that he will not live.

Family Poisoned by a Neighbor.

News comes of the wholesale poisoning of a farmer's family near Jericho Springs, Mo. The poison was placed in the well. The mother died in a few hours and no hopes of recovery are entertained for three of the children and two others not members of the family, but who took dinner at the house. It is supposed the poisoning was done by a neighbor who tore the family a grudge.

The Cup Will Stay.

For the third time the Vigilant has passed the Valkyrie, and the American cup will stay in this country for another year. With plenty of wind, with a splendid sea, and an almost ideal day for yachting the beautiful white boat passed the Britisher Friday, and amid the blowing of whistles and the cheering of men, while women waved their handkerchiefs, the Vigilant won.

Systematically Stole Bank Funds.

Since the arrest of Cashier Jacob Arnold, of the Merchants' Bank, Lockport, N. Y., for forgery, District Attorney King finds that the greater portion of the money stolen by him was taken during the last year, and the shortages were covered up whenever the bank examiner put in an appearance by forged notes covering the losses.

Treasurer Is Short.

There is a shortage of nearly $600,000 in the accounts of Green McCurtain, Treasurer of the Choctaw Nation, and it is not known what became of the money.

Two Boys Poisoned.

Harry Evans and Johnnie Davis, each 13 years old, drank what proved to be horse medicine from a bottle they found at Alliance, Ohio, and will die.

COLLEGE DESTROYED.

UNIVERSITY BUILDING AT VERMILION BURNS.

Eighteen Lives Lost by the Foundering of a Lake Erie Steamer—Many Vessels in Trouble—Hungry Indianapolis Office-Seekers—Ripsey Is Guilty.

South Dakota's Loss.

The main building of the South Dakota State University burned at Vermillion, Sunday morning, entailing a loss of $100,000 or more, without insurance. The building had only recently been provided with complete fire appliances on each floor, but the halls were so filled with smoke that they could not be reached. The secretary's records were all saved and those of the President. The mineral cabinets and valuable books of the library were saved. A student named D. Wallace, from Elk Point, received injuries by jumping from a window. The whole east wing seemed nearly free from fire when an explosion, caused by the escape of heated air, blew out the stone gable at the south end. Ernst Fisher was struck upon the temple and shoulder by rocks and seriously injured. Others were slightly hurt. Nothing was saved in the museum, where there were many valuable specimens that cannot be replaced.

EIGHTEEN LIVES LOST.

The Steamer Dean Richmond Goes Down in the Storm.

The steamer Dean Richmond foundered off Dunkirk, N. Y., Saturday night, with all on board. Three bodies were found on the beach Sunday morning mingled with a large quantity of wreckage. The bodies had life-preservers on, and the men evidently had been killed on the rocks after having succeeded in reaching port after a hard fight with the sea. The beach is strewn with timbers for miles on each side of the city, and many barrels of flour have come ashore. The identity of only one recovered body could be discovered. It was that of Andrew Dodge, whose residence is unknown. The crew of the vessel numbered eighteen. It was toward the close of a most terrific storm that the Richmond went down. The entire system of great lakes was swept by it, and on Sunday morning no less than fourteen lake vessels were reported in trouble—some ashore, some waterlogged, and some stripped of spars and rigging. Many lives were lost.

LARGER IN VOLUME.

Business Transacted Shows Some Increase.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"The country has been waiting. While uncertainty has prevailed men have not known what to do with safety, and so have done as little as they could. Industries cannot always wait, and in them an arrest of improvement generally means some reaction. Merchants who have obligations to meet cannot always wait, and for some there has come misfortune. Speculators and traders wait because they have no substantial basis for a judgment. The volume of business transacted increases some, because the longer people go without clothing or food, or other necessities, the more certain their demand is to revive. Government crop reports have not helped speculation because they are not in harmony with prevailing judgment."

MOB DEMANDS OFFICES.

New Mayor of Indianapolis Is Besieged by Applicants for Places.

A mob of fifty or sixty impatient office seekers crowded around the door of Mayor Denny's private office in the Indianapolis city hall, and when they found that a guard had been stationed at the door with strict orders not to admit any one their anger knew no bounds and threats of kicking the door open were frequently indulged in. There are now 900 applications on file for places and 1,583 applications have been filed on the police and fire department forces.

Blow for Minnesota Trust Companies.

Attorney General Childs, of Minnesota, rendered a decision that trust companies cannot do a legal banking business. This is a serious blow to the trust companies of Minnesota, more than half of which have been taking deposits and paying from 5 to 7 per cent. interest upon them. It is stated that the case was pushed by the banks, which were losing business rapidly because of their refusal to pay over 4 per cent on time deposits.

Mining in Mexico.

Considerable mystery surrounds the reported important gold discovery in the State of Hidalgo, Mexico. Several large capitalists are interested and have experienced prospectors all through that region where gold is said to have been found. It is generally believed that the discovery is one of much importance. Gold prospecting is going on all over the republic stimulated by the great appreciation of that metal.

Wesley C. Ripsey Is Found Guilty.

Wesley C. Ripsey, the old and eccentric stock gambler, who shot and nearly killed John W. Mackay at San Francisco last February, was convicted of an assault with a deadly weapon. Ripsey was recommended to the extreme mercy of the court. The maximum penalty is two years' imprisonment and the minimum six months with a fine.

Attacks His Mother and Sister.

John Anthony, a respectable and well-to-do young man 29 years old, who lived in Kasson, Minn., with his mother and sister, in a fit of insanity struck both women with a club, inflicting serious injuries. Then he went into the barn and blew out his brains, discharging the gun with his toe.

Must Answer for an Old Crime.

The grand jury is now in session at Blakely, Early County, Ga., and has found true bills against B. R. Lawrence, Ben Taliaferro, all white, and Jim Foster, colored, for the murder of Saborn Segersfield, which occurred several years ago and has until recently remained enshrouded in mystery.

COAL STRIKE IN PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Asquith's Course May Lead to Trouble for Mr. Gladstone.

According to London advices the Gladstonean policy is likely to be face to face with a political crisis immediately upon the reassembling of Parliament. A large number of Liberal and Radical members of the House of Commons have agreed to support a resolution condemning Home Secretary Asquith for his action in permitting police officers from London to be sent to Yorkshire, Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire, where the strikes of coal miners were in progress, for the purpose of directing and assisting the local force. The Government is also to be attacked for the shooting down of striking miners by the military at Featherstone a few weeks ago. It has not yet been decided whether the resolution will take the form of a vote of want of confidence, but it is believed that the Unionists and many members on the Tory side of the House will support whatever resolution may be presented. It only for the purpose of embarrassing the Government.

SHOCK FOR ST. PAUL SOCIETY.

Frank B. Bass, a Social Leader, Sued by an Angry Husband.

St. Anthony Hill, St. Paul's fashionable residence district, was given a shock on Wednesday afternoon by the announcement that Frank B. Bass, one of the social leaders, had been sued for $10,000 for alienating the affections of Mrs. Jennie Crane, a beautiful woman of 23, and wife of Eugene Crane, of Stacy, Minn. About three years ago Frank B. Bass purchased 500 acres of land near Stacy and placed Eugene Crane upon it as overseer. The story goes that Mr. Bass very soon became infatuated with the fascinating wife of Mr. Crane. In the course of time Crane was discharged by Bass, and Mrs. Crane went to live with her relatives at Hammond, Wis. Mr. Bass is pretty well along in years, and lives with his wife and children, in a fine residence. Mr. Bass' attorneys say the case is blackmail.

Say a Big Sum Is Missing.

It is said that an investigation is being made of the affairs of the Stearns Ranch Corporation, California, which owns large tracts of land in California. It is claimed that its manager, Col. R. J. Northam, a member of the Governor's staff, has diverted $100,000 of the company's money. The affair has created a profound sensation, owing to the social and commercial prominence occupied by Col. Northam.

Crushed in a Wreck.

Two sections of an excursion train to the World's Fair were in collision at the east end of the Michigan Central yards at Jackson, Mich., Friday morning. The first section was at a standstill when the second section plunged into it from behind, telescoping the last car, dismantling the next one forward and tearing off the platform of the third. Twelve killed and twenty-five injured is the result.

Newspaper Wins a Libel Suit.

The Michigan Supreme Court has reversed judgment in Randall vs. The Detroit Evening News Association, wherein Randall got an $11,000 verdict against the newspaper for charging corrupt practices as a legislator in the interests of plaintiff's real estate ventures in Detroit.

Poisoned Food Victims Die.

THE NATION'S SOLONS.

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Our National Law-Makers and What They Are Doing for the Good of the Country—Various Measures Proposed, Discussed, and Acted Upon.

Doings of Congress.

When the Senate met Wednesday only twelve Senators were present to hear the chaplain's prayer. The repeal bill was taken up and Mr. Cockrell of Missouri resumed his speech against the bill. Mr. Cockrell said the opponents of repeal stood to-day, and would stand throughout the struggle, ready and anxious to pass the pending bill with amendments. When the House met Mr. Hunter of Illinois introduced a joint resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Rules, to take a recess that members might attend the World's Fair. Mr. Bricker of Wisconsin secured the passage of a resolution authorizing the State of Wisconsin to erect in Statuary Hall a statue to Pere Marquette, the missionary.

After a continuous session of forty-two hours, during which absolutely nothing was accomplished, the Senate adjourned at 1:40 a. m. Friday because no quorum could be mustered. The House is in session, but nothing is being done. The Senate met Friday at 11 o'clock, and, though badly demoralized by its forty-two-hour session, proceeded at once to the discussion of the silver issue. Notice was given by three Senators of the introduction of as many amendments to the repeal bill. In the House a bill was passed increasing from 75 to 100 the number of army officers who may be detailed for military instruction at educational institutions.

The session of the Senate Saturday lasted only six hours. Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, denied having ever intimated that he would vote against unconditional repeal as proposed to the Voochess substitute. Various important amendments to the rules were offered, which propose to forbid reading by Senators of speeches, either written or printed; to permit the counting of Senators present and not voting; to disqualify Senators interested in national banks or national bank stocks from voting on any bill affecting coinage or currency; to provide for closing debate on any bill or resolution by the same arrangement as is now in operation in the House of Representatives. The silver-purchase repeal bill was taken up, and was under discussion when adjournment was taken. At no time during the day were there more than 103 members present in the House, and the discussion of the bill for the suspension for six months of the provisions of the Geary exclusion act was rather dreary and uninteresting. Without disposing of the bill the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

The Senate met with large attendance Monday morning, but the opponents of repeal so managed matters that no vote could be taken. The House resumed the discussion of the McCrary bill to amend the Geary Chinese exclusion act. The first amendment called up was that offered by Mr. Geary defining a Chinese merchant and containing the photographic feature. It was agreed to with practical unanimity, the vote standing 129 to 10. An amendment was agreed to providing that no Chinese person heretofore convicted in a court of the United States shall be permitted to register. The question then returned on a lengthy subject offered by Mr. Mahon (Rep. Pa.) the purport of which is that it shall be the duty of the master of any vessel carrying all Chinese or other alien immigrants to receive a statement from each passenger. Lost. The question was then upon the final passage of the bill, and on a standstill vote there were 167 in the affirmative and 9 in the negative.

Tuesday was a day of sensation in the Senate. Senator Sherman and Senator Hill were the central figures, each speaking in the same line, and each arraigning the Senate for its dilatory action. Their remarks effectively awakened every member, and it is believed some action is now close at hand. The House resumed consideration of the House banking bill. A substitute was offered by Mr. Cox including directors with salaries of officers of national banks within the operation of the act. It was agreed to, 78 to 45.

THE SMALL-CHANGE POCKET.

It Breeds Profligacy and There Should Be a Crusade Against It.

"A 'Congress to Abolish the Small-Change Pocket' would be an appropriate way in which to wind up the series of meetings under President Bonney," remarked a sad-eyed man at Chicago. "There is nothing in the world that tends more in the direction of profligate expenditures. The Sherman law has had the major part of the burden of hard times laid upon its shoulders, but no greater evil to the prosperity and financial well-being of humanity exists to-day than the little receptacle on the right-hand side of a man's coat, where the stray nickels, dimes, quarters, and halves find their way when a large bill is changed. From the moment the coins drop into the pocket they might as well be charged up to dead loss, for the owner loses their identity right then and there, so far as value is concerned. It is so easy, when passing along through the streets, in the shops, or the many places where there are opportunities to spend money in little dribbles, to dip into this pocket, and it is cleaned out before one has any notion of it. To the change-pocket also I lay the blame to a considerable extent of the increase in the drink habit. Many a man has indulged himself in a cocktail simply because he had the price so handy, whereas had he kept it in a purse he might have thought twice before drinking. I might go on enumerating the evils growing out of the small-change pocket system, but I have told enough to show that the time has arrived to take up the cudgel against it and begin the crusade for its abolition."

Egyptian Mummies.

It is estimated that the number of bodies embalmed in Egypt from B. C. 2000, when the art is supposed to have been first practiced, to A. D. 700, when it ceased, amounted to 420,000,000. Another estimate places the total number of mummies at 741,000,000, but this is based upon the extension of the beginning of the practice to a much earlier date.

Should Fight Before Breakfast.

A prominent Western specialist declares that a man shot in the abdomen when his stomach is empty has a far better chance of recovery than if he had recently eaten heartily. Applying his theory to soldiers, he says, they ought to do their fighting before breakfast.

No Chimneys in Ancient Times.

Chimneys were unknown to the ancients and are not mentioned by any Greek or Roman architect. A hole in the roof let out the smoke.

NEURONANCY UNVEILED.

Palistry an Absolute Requirement of Every Magician.

Another reason why I can afford to surrender the outlines and explanations of the following tricks is that I am not afraid of anyone who reads this article becoming my rival. Theory is one thing, writes A. Hermann in Lippincott's Magazine, practice another, and it would require weary months for the quickest-witted and most dexterous-handed to attempt in public the performance of these tricks and illusions, even when the methods are minutely explained. Even should any of my readers, visiting my receptions, proclaim in public my methods, discovered by this article, I am prepared to confound them by proving their mistake, for I perform the same trick in a dozen different ways. Therefore the skeptical may rest assured that the explanations here given are accurate.

I must first premise that palistry is the absolute requirement of every magician. By this term I mean the manual science illustrated in the appearance and disappearance of coins, cards and small articles, and their reproduction again in the most unlikely places, such as the ears, hats and pockets of the spectators. No defined rules that have ever been written will make one a skillful palmer. Natural aptitude, quickness of eye and motion, certain formations of the hand, and constant practice are the necessary qualifications. I have taught many amateurs this art, and several of my students give a creditable parlor entertainment. While it would be simply impossible for anyone to become a neomancer without a knowledge of this science, the perfection of it is but the beginning of magic. Tone, touch and brilliancy are the qualifications of a good palmer. They are acquired only when the laborious practice of exercises and scales has been exhausted. So the magician is evolved from the practice of palistry. With this understood, the explanation of sleight-of-hand illusions will be best appreciated.

SERPENTINE CUCUMBERS.

A Singular Product of Some Maryland Gardens.

Down in Miles River Neck, Talbot county, there is a spot where the average Chinese would delight to dwell. It is a place where Chinese cucumbers grow to an enormous size. This vegetable, however, assumes sometimes a shape which frightens the natives of the neighborhood. The cucumber grows long and slim, and at times twists itself into coils resembling a snake. A man going from Boston the other day to Miles River Ferry, in passing a little clearing in the woods, noticed a green-looking object in a patch of vegetables, and he got over the fence to make a closer examination. He almost fainted. Another citizen came along soon afterward. The first man had revived and was leaving the patch at a Nancy Hanks gait. When accosted he said to his friend: "Been bit by a snake; woods full of 'em." Citizen No. 2 persuaded the frightened man to go back, and upon examination the snake proved to be a Chinese cucumber about twenty-seven inches long, which in the course of growth had twisted itself up in the form of a snake. The cucumber was perfectly snakelike. The Chinese cucumber is not eaten to any extent in this country except by Chinese and a few foolish cows. The former, however, import them in a dried condition from their native land, as they do stale eggs and other odorous luxuries. The Chinese like to see cucumbers grow and they often cultivate them in their yards in the cities over here. The snakelike appearance of the vegetable does not frighten the slant-eyed foreigner, as he would eat with a relish a green garter snake if he didn't happen to have anything else handy.

SEDITION IN DOLL'S CLOTHES.

Consternation Caused in Alsace by the Gay Dress of a Baby's Plaything.

The little province of Alsace has had a hard time in many respects since it was conquered by the Germans, says the Youth's Companion. Every possible precaution is taken to guard against any demonstration of the French national spirit, and though the children are allowed to learn the language of their ancestors they are not allowed to be taught it by French governesses. The following story shows the extent to which the government formerly carried on its practice of watching the people. A few years ago a little girl was seen playing with a doll which was dressed in red, white and blue. The suspicions of the officials were aroused, for it certainly was dreadful to see the power of the German empire so badly threatened. The child was tracked to its home and there the officer found that the doll was a present. He went immediately to the lady who had given it to the child and obtained the address of the store where the dangerous plaything was bought. It was a modest little place, but the officer found it at last, and then discovered that the doll had been made and dressed in Leipzig. This was a surprise, but the matter did not end here, for the manufacturer in Leipzig was officially requested not to send any more red, white and blue dolls to Alsace.

The Omnivorous Cow.

The goat has long been regarded as the most omnivorous animal that roams, but modern investigation may rob that sportive animal of its laurels and transfer them to the broad brow of the humble cow. The men at the various slaughter houses and abattoirs have learned to regard the cow's stomach as a veritable prize bag. It is no uncommon occurrence to find the most curious things in them, and sometimes there is a vast collection of bric-a-brac in its mysterious folds. An animal recently killed at the West Philadelphia abattoir had a masonic mark, a door hinge and a part of a rat trap in its stomach, while another had a small medicine bottle and part of a croquet ball.

THE GIANT OF PLANETS.

Mighty Jupiter in the Splendor of the Spring.

Our most eminent astronomers do not pretend to give us exact reckonings on the great floating worlds outside of our own solar system, but within that monstrous aggregation everything has been reduced to certainty. The kingpin of this solar system is Jupiter, "mighty Jupiter, the colossal giant of all the sun-kissed worlds." His diameter is about 88,000 of our miles, being about 11 times that of our own globe; the circumference 275,000 miles at the equator, which would give the giant a volume exceeding that of the earth by 1,334 times. Were it possible to bring the earth and Jupiter so close together that the distance separating them would be no greater than that which now separates the earth from the moon—about 240,000 miles—what a wondrous sight would be in store for the residents of our little globe! The world of Jupiter would appear to us to have a diameter 40 times larger than that of our usual mighty attendant, and the surface of his disk would occupy a space greater than that of 1,600 full moons. And this giant of planets is removed from the sun by a distance of 460,000,000 miles; has an orbit more than 1,000,000,000 miles in extent, and makes a circuit of its celestial track once every 4,333 days. Thus it will be seen that a year on Jupiter is equal to 11 years 10 months and 17 days on our globe. The immensity of the world of Jupiter and its orbit may be approximately measured by this comparison: In order to complete its orbit in the time given above it must speed around the sun with a velocity of 700,000 miles a day, or a little more than 8 miles per second!

BURIED IN THE SEA.

Two Ancient Submerged Cities Which Have Just Been Discovered.

On the coast of Portugal is to be found the submerged city of Cetobriga, or Troia, as the Portuguese of to-day call it, and which is said to have been built by the Romans on the site of a town founded by the Phoenicians. It was only by accident at the beginning of the century that the city was discovered. A fisherman pursuing his avocation along the coast was astonished to see the walls of houses partially standing and well-paved streets under the water of the Bay of Sines, and he soon communicated the wonderful news to the inhabitants of Setubal. On examination they found a city in part submerged and running in toward the land. A society was formed under the protection of government to make investigations. They found that the city had stood on a strip of land nine miles long by three wide, bounded on the south by the Bay of Sines, on the north by the river Sado, and opposite it was Setubal. Every old record was searched, and at length it was surmised that the newly-discovered city must have been Cetobriga or Cetobriga, from chance notices by old writers, but nothing was known of its history or fate. Another city submerged by the sea for one thousand years has just reappeared above the waters. The town of Haigen, north of Ning-po, in China, was completely overwhelmed during the Sung dynasty, and lay buried till quite recently, when the sea gradually receded and exposed the remains of buildings.

PLAYING WITH AN ICEBERG.

The Remarkable Experience of Some French Sailors.

A few years ago a French man-of-war was lying at anchor in Temple bay, and the younger officers took it into their heads to amuse themselves with an iceberg, a mile or more distant in the straits. They would have a sumptuous picnic on the very top of it. All the warnings of the brown and simple fishermen went for nothing with these gentlemen who had seen the world.

It was a bright summer morning, and the jolly boat with a flag went off to the berg. By twelve o'clock the colors were flying from the top, and the wild midshipmen were revelling on the ice mountain. For two hours or more they hauled it and clambered over it. They frolicked and feasted, and laughed at the very thought of danger on this solid ice.

When, like thoughtless children, the young men had played themselves weary, they descended to the cockpit-shell of a boat and rowed away.

As if time and distance had been measured on purpose for the men to view the scene in safety, the great iceberg lay silent until the boat was a certain distance off. Then, as if its heart had been volcanic fire, it burst with awful thunder, and filled the surrounding water with its ruins.

Awed and subdued by the scene of destruction, and thrilled at their narrow escape from death, the picnickers returned to their ship. It was their first and last day of amusement with an iceberg.

PROTECTED BY HIS DIAMONDS.

It Doesn't Do for the Broker to Stop Wearing Them.

During the worst of the recent hard times two Wall street men were discussing matters in a lawyer's office. On parting one of them said:

"If I can manage to hang on to my diamonds, I guess I can pull through."

Later, the lawyer was asked what the remark signified. He laughed and said:

"It means that a diamond is not only a valuable but a conspicuous article. If a man is in the habit of wearing this sort of ornament his associates are bound to notice it. In a time when men are going to pieces all sorts of signs are looked for by business men that will indicate the financial standing of a customer. If they notice that a man who has been in the habit of wearing expensive jewelry suddenly appears without any of his usual jewels, they are apt to conclude that he is being pushed so hard that he had to realize on personal property, and his credit goes down."

ONOKAMAUGA GULCH.

A Beautiful Canyon with a Tragic Tradition.

Within cannon shot of Chattanooga is a canyon of a different sort, a noteworthy rival of those on the Yellowstone. It is locally known as Chickamauga gulch, and was cut by the "River of Death" on its way from the summits of Walden's ridge to the Tennessee river, the "Big Spoon," as its Indian name freely translated means. The sides of the gulch are, in places, one thousand feet high, precipitous on either hand. The little stream makes many pools, which are filled with speckled trout, and where something like a valley is left bear and deer are found, within sight of a city of fifty thousand people. The Cherokees were a tribe singularly rich in tradition, and of course so wild, gloomy and remarkable a spot was not without its legend. The descendants of the expatriated semi-barbarians believe to this day that in ages gone a great serpent made its den in the gulch, and that yearly he demanded of the red men ten of their most beautiful maidens as a sacrificial offering. Fearful of extermination, the demand was always complied with by the tribe amid weeping and wailing by the women. On the day before the tribute was due the serpent announced its presence by a demoniacal hiss, and the next morning the fair ones who had been chosen to save the tribe were taken to the summit of a cliff and left to be swallowed by the scaly Moloch. The wonderful gulch is as wild and primitive now as when the Cherokees were supreme here, and once between its rocky walls it seems impossible that nineteenth century civilization's triumphs can be seen from their tops.

A JAVANESE TIGER FIGHT.

Dangerous Sport Indulged in by These Dismal People.

The tiger is set down in a trap in the center of the allon-allon, or great square, and is surrounded by a triple or quadruple line of spearmen, about a hundred yards distant from him. When all is ready, a Javanese advances at a very slow pace, to the sound of soft music, and sets fire to the trap, at the same time opening the door at the back part of the cage, which, by the way, is too narrow for the tiger to turn in. As the fire begins to singe his whiskers, he gradually backs out. The man, as soon as he has opened the door, begins walking toward the crowd at a slow pace, and the slower he walks the more applause does he gain. The tiger, meanwhile, having backed out of his burning prison, is rather astonished at finding himself surrounded by hundreds of people, each pointing a spear at him. If he is a bold tiger he canters round the circle, almost touching the spears; finding no opening, then he returns to the center, fixes his eyes on one spot, and with a loud roar dashes straight at it. He is received on the spears, and though he crushes many, as if they were mere reeds, in half a minute he falls dead, pierced by a hundred weapons. In some instances, however, the roar and charge are too much for the Javanese, and they give way. The "sport" then becomes rather dangerous to the spectators.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Allegan County.

Supervisor Klomprens of Fillmore was re-elected chairman of the board of supervisors.

Judge Philip Padgham was in Hastings last week holding court for Judge Smith, who in turn is expected to preside in circuit court at Allegan in a week or so.

Mr. Germain, of Watson, has been elected drain commissioner, and Mrs. Pursell of Plainwell a member of the county board of school examiners.

Geo. Oliver Jr. is elected county superintendent of the poor. He succeeds Chauncey Calkins, who has held the office over twenty years, and whose retirement is due entirely to his advanced age and infirmity.

Fennville yearns for a canning factory in which it may work up its inferior peaches.

Allegan has a "Girls' Ministering League," the members of which devote their spare time to making quilts for the poor, instead of spending two hours daily curling their front hair.

Every fruit grower arrested in Allegan county for violating the new yellow law has been discharged through technicalities, and there is an abated suspicion that the law is worthless.

Ducks are more plentiful on the Kalamazoo river marshes this year than for several seasons past.

George House of Otsego was bitten on the hand by a rat the other day, and is in a dangerous condition from blood poisoning.

Fifteen hundred bushels of cull peaches were purchased at Fennville, by the Benton Harbor canning factory. The price paid was from twenty to forty cents per bushel.

Grand Haven.

Last week the clothing store of F. Van den Bosch was visited twice by thieves, during the day time, and sundry articles of clothing taken.

Tramps are becoming more numerous.

The electric light plant has finally passed into the hands of A. J. Emlaw and Geo. W. Miller, who will operate it hereafter.

T. W. Kirby has now over 60 men in his employ in the fish business.

Rev. J. J. Van Zanten preached his farewell sermon, Sunday, and has moved to Muskegon.

A dangerous bar has been forming off the harbor during the recent storms.

Dr. J. Mastenbroek has decided to locate in this city. He will also open a drug store on Washington street, in the Sanford building.

Monday forenoon there was an attempt at suicide in the county jail. Geo. W. Brown, convicted of stealing at Van den Bosch's clothing store, tore his bed blanket and made a suitable rope of it, putting a noose in one end.

He then tied one end of the blanket to the top of the cell, put the noose around his throat and jumped from the top of his cot. His fall of two feet broke the rope, and the other prisoners gave the alarm. Dr. Reynolds was called and soon had the man on his feet. The terrible strain rendered him unconscious for a time.

Brown was sentenced to Ionia prison for 90 days for larceny. His pal, Joseph Washer, received the same sentence for a like offense, the day before Brown did. Sheriff Keppel took Washer to Ionia and was informed there that no more prisoners could be taken to Ionia. Hence when he returned he informed Brown that he could not be taken to Ionia, but should serve the time in jail. Brown worried over the fact that he could not join his pal at Ionia, and also being a victim of epileptic fits, probably decided to rid himself of the world. When he revived this forenoon he was discharged from custody.

On each 12th day of October, until the church debt is wiped out, a "Feast of Ingathering" is held at the First Reformed church. Last year the magnificent sum of $1,200 was collected. Last night, when the date of another ingathering became due, $800 was subscribed, and to this enough was added to-day to swell the total to $1,000.—Tribune.

The saw mill at the yards of the Ship Building Co., was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The origin of the fire is a mystery, but it broke out suddenly, probably caused by a passing locomotive. The mill and the mill machinery is a total loss. It was valued at about $2500 and insured for $1000.

Rev. C. R. Clarke of Spring Lake, has a letter on which is a private stamp of the kind in vogue in the colony days. The imprint on the stamp shows it to have been sent by the Earl of Warwick, of Rhode Island, and is dated March 14, 1643.

Olive Centre.

Wm. D. Pierce and daughter visited at Grand Rapids, this week.

Dr. Brunson, formerly of West Olive is now a resident of this place.

E. D. Watson is painting his new house.

The Grangers and Maccabees have their new barn nearly completed.

Mrs. P. Nilsson is visiting relatives at Holland.

A shadow social will be given at B. W. Weltons, Ottawa Station, Tuesday evening, Oct. 24, for the benefit of the church. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Gilman of Grand Rapids was in this place this week, looking after property belonging to the Scott estate.

Bert Carey of Lowell, formerly of this place, visited relatives and friends here this week.

Miss Cora Goodenow, county school commissioner, organized an "Education Circle" here Tuesday evening, with John Vinkemulder and Miss Maud Powers as teachers.

Ottawa Station.

Mrs. Harriet Bush, for many years a resident of this place, died on the 5th inst. She had been quite ill for months, though feeling better at times until she went from home, remaining for some little time with members of her family, hoping to improve her health. The funeral took place on Sabbath morning, and was largely attended. Most of her family, including the children from abroad, were present. The services were conducted by Rev. M. J. Badger, of Holland. She had for many years been a member of the W. M. church, was a good wife, a loving mother, and a kind neighbor, and will be missed by a large circle of relatives and friends.

Mrs. S. J. Rhoades, in company with her brother of Grand Rapids, attended the World's fair the last week in September.

John Tackleberry, who has been seriously ill, is said to be improving. Hopes are entertained for his recovery.

A. Conner and family of Grand Rapids are the guests of Mr. C's mother, Mrs. E. A. Rhoades.

Mrs. Jesse Fletcher and friends are spending this week visiting the World's fair.

Port Sheldon.

Mrs. C. B. Cook and Miss Matilda Schroder went to Holland Friday afternoon, intending to take the boat for Chicago. Owing to the storm that arose during the afternoon the boat did not go, so after being on board all night and the storm not abating, they took the train the next morning.

H. Goodin has commenced putting up his new shingle mill on the north end of the bridge. We all wish him success in his undertaking.

Chas. Garbrick is putting up a new barn on the new Pigeon road. It is 44x64, and a great improvement on the old one.

The big blow of Friday closed the mouth of our harbor, which made the water rise on the swamp 9 or 10 inches. The highway commissioner let the job of opening to C. B. Cook, and at the present writing he is at work on the same.

Chas. Owens has sold his place on the Lake Shore road, south of the bridge, to some Chicago parties. They are soon expected to take possession.

Trappers are out in full force on our river and meeting with middling success in the rat line. However, there are too many of them to make a living, but some do nothing else, hence they must subsist on rat pie.

Wood cutting has commenced early this season. Leonard Klyne, Jr., and Ryan Baker have taken a contract to cut for John Olman, and have put up another shanty for the winter.

The weather has been all the farmers could wish for. The fall grain looks well all over. There has been more wheat and less rye put in this year than last.

Abraham and Martin Alys, with C. B. Cook, are taking in the Fair. They took the steamer at Holland Wednesday.

WOMEN AND MICE.

A Member of the Fair Sex Gives Her Views on the Subject.

There is a most interesting article in the London Woman on "Why Women Are Afraid of Mice." The writer is a woman, a lover of animals, and a student of natural history, and she admits that women are afraid of mice. She says that the fear is never assumed; that in the absence of the "tiny, harmless, graceful little creature" (these are her very words) women are heartily ashamed of their terror, but that when the mouse appears they shriek and grow cold with fear.

"I remember once," she tells us, "reading a story about a coterie of strong-minded women who gave a series of lectures upon female virtues in an old country town assembly room. One of their number was chosen to deliver the lecture on valor, and selected for her subject the history of Joan of Arc. She was discoursing upon the valor of her sex, when a mouse ran across the platform, and the lecturer and her strong-minded sisters jumped on to their chairs, clutching their petticoats in a manner not altogether picturesque." Most of us have heard this story, and there is no doubt that if the mouse appeared the rest of the story is true. The writer adds that "Joan of Arc would probably have clutched her petticoats in precisely the same manner. [But Joan, the heroic, did not wear petticoats. However, she might have shrunk in her armor.]

"A mouse in the chamber of Marat would, I believe, have deterred Charlotte Corday from her dread purpose, and the tail of one popping opportunely from the carving of Tullin's chariot would have prevented her from driving over her father's corpse, and I could cite many instances in which mice might have changed the history of the world. * * * The story of a prisoner who was cheered in captivity by a mouse is familiar to us all, but the prisoner was a man. Equally familiar is the fable of the grateful mouse which gnawed the net, but, again, the prisoner is said to have been a lion, not a lioness."

BEDOUIN SUPERSTITIONS.

The Unreasoning Treatment of Arabian Horses by Their Masters.

The Bedouin is full of horse superstitions. His horse-lore is much like but less than that of our old-fashioned liverman of a past generation. He knows a horse's habits and diseases by observation solely; he has no idea of anatomy. Every species of wind trouble to which the horse is subject he merely describes as "having something wrong inside him." He treats a horse on a system of old saws. For lameness he has but one remedy, the hot iron. His horse will work to twenty or even twenty-five years old, but he thinks that he "grows weaker" after twelve. In buying, he looks more at marks than points.

In feeding and watering the horse, says Harper's Magazine, the Bedouins seem to us to be equally unreasoning, unless it be agreed that a horse can stand anything he is used to, and that it is well to get him used to irregular habits. The fact that the Arabian has often to go an indefinite time without food or drink makes him hardy and less apt to suffer than are our regularly treated animals. He goes all day in the hot sun, and does not ask for water—impatiently at least—even in crossing a brook. He is fed and watered apparently regardless of the fact that he is hot or tired. He is given his pail of water and his troughful of dry or green food, or whatever else is available, so soon as he stops on a journey, or is ridden off immediately after. Quite as often he gets nothing at all. I have seen horses ridden all day, and have camped at noon with them near by a stream, without anyone trying to water them, because they had no bucket and the banks were high. It would never occur to a Bedouin to carry a skin pail with him. But the horses seemed used to such neglect, and never even whinnied for the water gurgling past them.

AN OCEAN STEAMSHIP.

Horrors of Life in the Fire-room When Ventilation Is Out of the Question.

Air is supplied to the fire-rooms of ocean steamships through a ventilator on deck, which is supposed to be turned to face the direction of the wind. Sometimes this turning is neglected. Then ensues a terrible state of things down below in the already over-heated fire-room. The air becomes stifling, the unfortunate stoker gasping in vain for a breath of fresh air. The smell of the oil and the abominable odor of the bilge water are enough to knock out the strongest man. No pen can describe the horrors of life in the fire-room during these times and the wonder is that scores of stokers do not drop off, instead of the few that are reported. The coal trimmers and coal passers are just as badly off as the stokers, having to breathe the same poisonous atmosphere. Another thing which makes the life of the stoker a very unhappy one is the fact that the floor of the fire-room on which he stands is always hot. The floor, which is composed of steel plates, retains the heat and, as a consequence, blisters the feet of the stokers, who can scarcely stand up at times, they are so much tortured in this respect.

A Noley Animal.

What animal can make the most noise? The elephant. During the breeding season in the forests of India and Ceylon the trumpeting and roaring of the animal is continuous and terrific and can be heard for miles. The feline family are wont to scare their prey thoroughly by their overpowering noise. Thus the roar of the adult lion is terrific, the windpipe being enlarged so as to give the animal a larger volume of air proportionately than any other animal. The male gorilla has an awful, loud-sounding voice. When attacked it utters a short, jerking, acute bark, like that of an angry dog. To this succeeds a low growling, which might be mistaken for distant thunder.

The feline family are wont to scare their prey thoroughly by their overpowering noise. Thus the roar of the adult lion is terrific, the windpipe being enlarged so as to give the animal a larger volume of air proportionately than any other animal. The male gorilla has an awful, loud-sounding voice. When attacked it utters a short, jerking, acute bark, like that of an angry dog. To this succeeds a low growling, which might be mistaken for distant thunder.
