This blustery fall weather the U. S. dredge has but little chance to do the needed work on our harbor. Every day they lay idle it costs $30 and this amount is taxed up against the appropriation allotted to Holland.

The committee of which Hon. Don. M. Dickinson is chairman, feel hopeful of success in their efforts to obtain quicker mail service for Michigan. The proposition is to send all mail by the way of Canada instead of Toledo, as the former route is considered by far the shortest.

The peach harvest is about over. Despite the fact that growers prophesied a small crop on account of the severe frosts last spring and the subsequent drouth there was a bountiful harvest and the farmers realized handsome profits from their orchards.

Plans are about completed for the remodeling and enlargement of the Jenison Park hotel and the improvement of the grounds preparatory for next year's business. Large and commodious office, parlors, dining room, and many new sleeping rooms will be added. It is also proposed to build bath houses, put in a boat livery and lay out a half mile bicycle track. Mr. J. B. Bryant who conducted this hostelry so satisfactorily last summer will again assume charge and it is his purpose to make it one of the most attractive retreats on this shore.

It is claimed that the C. & W. M. railway is up to its old tricks of discriminating against Holland and its business interests. Freight is being shipped over the Graham & Morton line via St. Joseph to and from eastern points at the same rate that is given via this city and the Holland & Chicago Transportation Co. The distance is over sixty miles farther but the railway company are liberal enough to overlook this difference in mileage in favor of the St. Joseph boats. This demonstrates the necessity of a competing railroad.

John Brown of Olive Centre has been granted a pension.

Mrs. Lulu Cole of this city has been visiting friends at East Salem during the past two weeks.

The steamer Bon Voyage of the Douglas & Chicago line came into this port out of the weather on Wednesday and moored at Kings dock.

Twelve well-known Jackson business men have agreed to occupy the pulpit of the Freewill Baptist church there, one each Sunday evening during the next three months.

The annual reunion of the First Michigan engineers and mechanics was held at Ionia on Wednesday when the members had a general good time. The only ones present from Holland were Louis De Kraker and Peter Moose.

A report gained circulation this week that E. P. Ferry formerly of Grand Haven had died in Washington. Senator Ferry his brother is authority for the statement that he is in San Francisco and gradually regaining his health and strength.

Railroad rumors are rife and the latest is that Cal. Bryce the Ohio Senator, statesman, and railway magnate is at the head of a scheme to make a connection at Holland or Saugatuck with his eastern systems now in operation. The News hopes it is only too true.

The West Michigan Furniture Co. does not propose being left in the shade when it comes to the display of the national colors. They will have an old trickery staff 100 feet or more in the air, and a flag with all the latest and most improved stars and stripes on it.

There is some talk of putting "bustles" on the large steam barge Fountain City, formerly owned by the father of Capt Owen the mangr. of the Holland & Chicago Transportation Co., and one of the pioneer navigators of the big lakes. If this is done, she will be an immense carrier, it being estimated that she could then handle from 800,000 to 1,000,000 feet of lumber.

The Holland Telephone Exchange continues to flourish. Among the new phones recently added are the Ottawa County Building & Loan Association, G. J. Van Duren's store, Ottawa Furniture Co., G. H. Brownings residence, President Kollen's residence, Dr. F. M. Gillespie's residence, J. C. Post's residence, J. G. Van Putten's residence, Visser & Son grocers. Several other orders are waiting.

The owners of schooners are fluding out that Holland is one of the most important and profitable ports on the east shore for their business. During the past week the schooners Kate E. Howard, A. F. Morse, Mishicott, W. T. Green, W. H. Chapman, H. M. Avery, Magdalena and the Lizzie Walsh and consort have unloaded cargo's here. In the most of instances it has been lumber for the furniture factories and local dealers.

On Friday night last the steamer Soo City carried over 200 suits of furniture to Milwaukee in addition to a quantity of merchandise for Chicago, which point she reached Sunday morning. Monday night she took out several hundred barrels of cement and on the return trip carried a large consignment of gluecase for Detroit. From present indications this line will have about all the freight they can handle between now and the close of the season, which will be about Nov. 10th.

It is related that one of our citizens was recently very sad because his wife who had gone on a visit, would not shorten it, in spite of his appeals to her to come home. He finally hit upon a plan to induce her to return. He sent her a copy of each of the local newspapers with one paragraph cut out, and when she wrote to inquire what it was that he had extracted, he refused to tell her. The scheme worked admirably. In less than a week she was at home to find out what had been going on, that her husband wished to keep from her.

There have been some very heavy frosts this week.

A special train that passed through Holland on Tuesday carried two coaches well filled with Benton Harbor and St. Joseph Knights Templar and blue and chapter lodge masons. The train did not reach here until about 1:00 o'clock, and at the time contained fifteen overcrowded coaches.

Captain Kirby who is about as well informed as anybody regarding east shore inland water ways says that Grand River, beginning seven miles above the city to Grand Rapids would be too low except at the time of the spring freshets for practical navigation.

Holland needs a new opera house badly. With a larger stage and a more roomy and modern auditorium, the better class of theatrical attractions could be induced to come here, and they would undoubtedly be given more liberal patronage. In writing up the various business interests of western Michigan a correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle says: The tanbark belt about Traverse bay furnishes bark to the Illinois and Wisconsin tanneries and is also developing a gigantic leather interest in Western Michigan. Holland has the largest tannery in the United States, Grand Haven and Ludington also have large ones, and a new plant has just commenced shipping leather from Muskegon. Manistee is building a large one and a Chicago concern has a plant at Whitehall which turns out most of the genuine imported Russia leather used in the west.

Werkman and Henry TeRoller and shown them some specimens of apples and potatoes grown by him on his farm near there. He says that he sold 197 bushels or boxes of 40 pounds each for $1.25 per box. Mr. Merrit seems exceedingly well pleased, says the soil is very prolific and good for hay, hops, small grain and fruits, while the climate and weather cannot be beat on earth. Mr. Werkman will shortly exhibit some of these specimens in Holland.

Masonic Week.

This has been a great week for the masons of western Michigan. The dedication of the Masonic Temple at Grand Rapids has been the feature, and from all accounts the city has not been so overcrowded for several years. The representatives of the order were present from all states and Holland contributed its share in accordance with its population.

To use the expression of one of the Holland contingents it was a red letter day for the fraternity of Grand Rapids. The weather was favorable, and one of the largest and most imposing street demonstrations was presented that was ever seen in western Michigan.

Among those present from Unity Lodge No. 191 were: G. Leaple, Otto Breyman, James Huntley, James Purdy, J. Kulte, Peter Brown, A. Fisher, Adolph King, G. A. Kanter, A. Seif and C. Blom.

They all met on the level and the day was devoted to the workings of the craft.

The temple has a frontage on Ionia street of 100 feet, extending west on Louis street a distance of 132 feet. It is of Italian renaissance style architecture, seven stories and basement, the height from the street to cornice being ninety-eight feet. The girder construction is of steel and heavy steel trusses support the floors and ceilings of the lodgerooms. The building stands on a foundation of massive brick piers five feet square, which rest on concrete footings of Portland cement. The basement and first floor are of Portland Entry red sandstone, the balance of the building being finished with pressed brick and terra cotta trimmings, the whole being surmounted by an ornamental terra cotta cornice. Every device which could add to the durability and stability of the block has been utilized and as it now stands it is at once an ornament to the city and an object of pardonable pride to every member of the Masonic craft. The ground floor is divided into two immense stores, with the temple entrance in the centre on the Ionia street front. The entrance hall is handsomely finished in quarter-sawn white oak and the winding stairways are also of this beautiful wood. The elevator is accessible from this entrance hall and on each floor, doors from the elevator open into the lodge reception rooms on either side as well as into the hallway landings. The second and third floors are not as yet finished off, but will probably be used for store-rooms by the occupants of the ground floor stores. The four upper stories devoted to masonry are of an average height of ten and one-half feet each.

Those who were there say that the city was very generally decorated for the occasion, and many were the factories that closed and stores that shut their doors in order that the employees might have an opportunity to participate in the pleasures of the parade, in which were many of the best commanderies of the state.

The program for the week's exercises consisted of the parade and conferring of the Temple degrees, the exemplification of the various grades of the Scottish Rite Wednesday and Thursday, ending today with the somewhat grotesque parade of the Shriners, in which is crowded the fun of the occasion for the members.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Allegan County.

The calendar this term in the Allegan circuit court is a very large one, containing fifty-three cases, twenty-nine of which are criminal; fourteen issues of fact, jury trials; six chancery first class, and four fourth class. Twenty-one of the criminal cases were for violation of the local option law.

The Rhodes-Bartholomey Bicycle company of Kalamazoo will remove to Allegan, this city having offered a bonus of $3,000 and a site for a larger factory.

A late issue of the Telegraph contained an elaborate article on the newspaper career of Don C. Henderson and his associations for 8 years with the late Horace Greeley one of the greatest editors and writers this country has ever produced.

Manager Heald of the C. & W. M. railway says that if Allegan will extend the road down town at an estimated cost of $25,000, that the company will refund the money from the earnings of the city station.

Samuel Shears, the colored fellow, who came near being lynched at Otsego last summer, for entering a house and trying to assault a woman, was sentenced to twenty years at Jackson at hard labor.

Interest in the proposed electric railway to the lake shore is very active among the people of the western part of the county, who desire railway or other good connection with the county seat quite as much as Allegan desires it. The Gazette is in receipt of a letter from Hon. W. P. Sutton and one from another party, urging the construction of a road to Pearl first and from thence to Fennville. They make the point that the great peppermint farms of Judge Severens and Hon. A. M. Todd of Kalamazoo, with the product of the many other swamp-land farms of that vicinity, would make much business for the road. In this they are doubtless correct, and it is a proposition the promoters of the scheme should give careful consideration.—Gazette.

No further arrests have been made in the Fennville train robbery case, but the two suspects brought from Mt. Pleasant last week are yet in jail. Prosecutor Fish of Allegan says he feels confident that at least one of them was one of the gang, and that the evidence against him is becoming stronger.

James Reynolds of Troa bridge this season grew a watermelon weighing 29 1/2 pounds. It measured 39 1/2 inches in circumference in one direction and 47 in the other. Mr. Reynolds grew it from seed of a melon he purchased and does not know the variety. The vine which bore it was allowed to bear no others.

Judge Padgham fined Isaac Austin of Saugatuck for violating the local option laws $125 and $25 costs; Fred Gosweller, Saugatuck, $50 fine and $25 costs; Daniel Eiling r, Allegan, $75 fine and $75 costs; Henry Hanson, Fennville, four months in Allegan county jail.

Saugatuck.

Albert Nysson, proprietor of the Saugatuck Roller Mills has decided to stock the mill and put it in operation as soon as possible. Engineer Porter is at work this week getting the machinery ready to resume work.

The steamer Bon Ami left for Chicago on the last trip of the season on Friday night of this week.

Weed & Co.'s factory has shut down for the season, closing one of the busiest and most prosperous years of its history. Since the beginning of the season they have made 2,000,000 fruit packages.

And now there's still another railroad boom headed in this direction. The Benton Harbor Palladium has it that a lake shore line between that place and Holland is among the probabilities. Let 'em come.—Commercial.

The steamer Saugatuck had the misfortune to break the connecting rod of her engine just as she was leaving Chicago for this place last Saturday night. She had a number of passengers aboard and the most of them came home by rail Sunday night.

Zeeland.

Congress will soon meet and Wm. Alcen Smith will proceed to show the country the stuff he is made of. His record will be watched with interest by members of all parties.—Expositor.

F. L. Burgess, the assistant station agent, suddenly left for parts unknown Saturday. Several of the merchants here would be pleased to see him again.

Rev. P. De Pree and wife of Pella, Iowa, are visiting relatives and friends in Zeeland. Rev. De Pree occupied the pulpit in the Reformed church last Sunday.

Mr. Jacob Paul of Holland and Miss Winnie Farma of this place were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the residence of H. Farma Wednesday evening by the Rev. J. P. De Jong. A large number of friends were present from Holland, Grand Rapids and this vicinity.

The next meeting of the Grand River Valley Medical society will be held in Zeeland, Nov. 5.

Muskegon County.

You can always tell a Muskegon man by the way he refers to Lake Michigan. A Muskegonite calls it "the big lake" from years of custom. Muskegon lake is "the little lake."

In the circuit court the Commercial savings bank of St. Clair obtained a judgment against the city of North Muskegon for $1,125.55, the amount of a bond. The city is in a bad financial situation.

The Muskegon county fair committee has issued its financial statement for the recent county fair, showing that the net earnings were $1,728.22. The committee, with the newspaper men held a jollification at the Occidental hotel. The success of the fair and the possibilities of 1896 were tasted.

Muskegon citizens petitioned Manager Heald of the C. & W. M. to re-establish the upper depot which was abandoned when the Union depot was finished. His answer was that he could not do it as the railway traffic at that point had fallen off nearly 50 per cent in the past three or four years.

Grand Haven.

Mr. West residing on the lake near Grand Haven has a large field of potatoes. From the present outlook he will harvest upwards of 3,000 bushels.

E. Dennis, a cigar maker of Ottawa Station, has eloped with Christie Terpstra, who was employed in his factory. Dennis left a wife and seven children in destitute circumstances. The officers think they have Dennis located in Toronto.

Kirby & Son have signed the contract to deliver 200 or more tons of anthracite coal at the city hall at Grand Rapids for $4.97 a ton, in accordance with their accepted bid.

Two Cedar Springs boys will sail from Grand Haven in a sail boat in which they intend to go to Florida by way of Lake Michigan, Green Bay, Fox, Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers and the gulf of Mexico.

Some of the city aldermen complained that cattle were running at large in the streets and not restrained by the pound master. The office of pound master was declared vacant.

Two of Grand Haven's oldest citizens, Johannes Fisher aged 94 and Capt. Howlett aged 91, both live with in a stone's throw of each other.

W. W. Stewart, clerk of the City of Milwaukee, has been appointed agent of the D. G. H. & M. R. R. at this place, vice J. W. Orr, resigned.

An attempt was made on Monday to wreck a Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee train near Dennison, a small station fourteen miles from here. The passenger train from Detroit, which arrives here at 8 o'clock struck a pile of ties, but the engineer saw the danger in time to enable him to slow down considerably before the obstruction was hit.

A NICE AUDIENCE.

It Was So Because It Was Compelled to Be.

Daniel Frisbee, once a newspaper man, now an actor, tells the San Francisco Call:

At one place called West Union, in Iowa, we had the oddest experience I have yet met with. We played in a hall thirty feet underground that had formerly been two saloons, the stage being composed of dining tables. Though the theater was packed with people, we might have been playing to wax figures for all the interest they exhibited in the play. There was not one laugh or sign of applause from the beginning to the end of the performance. We noticed a man going up and down the aisles, but did not pay much attention to him until he came behind the scenes after the show and was introduced as the proprietor of the theater—the ex-saloonkeeper.

"Pretty nice lot of an audience," he remarked to me with the pride of ownership.

"Yes, quite a lady-like one," I answered; "very gentle and timid."

"They've got to be. I walk up and down the aisles with a club, and if I see anyone making a noise I throw him out."

And that accounted for the silence. The people stood in such awe of the saloonkeeper that they did not dare to smile.

If a luckless wight smiles it never smiles again.

A DOG'S QUEER TRICK.

Evidence of Reasoning Power Shows in His Actions.

A dog and horse owned by Col. W. J. Hulings, of Oil City, Pa., says the Derrick of that city, afford the neighbors considerable amusement. The animals are companions and full of intelligence.

The horse has learned to pick and untie all sorts of knots, and unless the door is fastened by a padlock it is impossible to keep him in the stable during the present hot weather, with the lawns in the neighborhood offering overpowering temptations in the way of juicy, clean grass. This trait gives the dog much trouble, for the horse pays no attention to his barking or sharp nippings, but keeps trespassing on the colonel's lawn or that of neighbors without discrimination. After trying by all manner of stratagems to get the horse back into the stable where he belongs, the dog will give up the job in disgust, rush into the house, and by barking or dragging at the dress of some of the lady members of the family, entice them to the window or yard, and as plainly as if he told in words show that the horse is in mischief. This performance has been repeated a dozen times during the summer and in no case has the dog begged outside assistance until he had tried by every effort of his own to persuade his companion to return to the stable.

DR. A. OWEN'S ELECTRIC APPLIANCES

99 TIMES OUT OF 100

Mrs. A. J. Stearns, of West Stockholm, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., under date of July 31, 1895, says: "Words fail me to express my gratitude to Dr. A. Owen for the benefit I have had from using his Electric Appliances. Before using the appliance I was so weak I could scarcely stand alone; had been confined to my bed since last October. After the third day's use of the appliance I could walk several steps; one week later I walked around the house, and in less than one month I was able to ride out, and now I can walk a mile or more without feeling tired. May God bless and spare you to your many friends for years to come."

Mr. Axel J. Ekblad, of Walsburg, Kan., under date of July 30th, 1895, says: "Having used the Dr. Owen Electric Appliances for Nervousness for the past few months, must say they are ahead of any treatment. I am cured of the worst form of Nervous Disease."

Mr. A. Nibek, of Middlefield, Iowa, writing us on June 27, 1895, says: "This is to certify that I have derived more benefit from using the Owen Electric Appliances for a severe case of kidney complaint and nervous prostration than from hundreds of dollars spent for doctor's bills and medicine."

Our Large Illustrated Catalogue contains many endorsements like above, besides cost of appliances, and much valuable information for the afflicted. Send 6 cents in stamps for it at once.

When writing parties about their testimonials enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope to insure a reply. We have been before the public many years, and our Electrical Appliances have become a recognized standard of merit.

LOFTY AND LOWLY.

A Story of Two Babies Which Brings Tears of Joy.

One of the women attendants out at the children's sanitarium on the Lincoln park lake shore tells a pretty story, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"A woman who was sick enough herself to be in a hospital came up here with her child. It was a tiny thing, and so weak that it could hardly cry. The mother had to be assisted under the shelter, and then we gave her a reclining place from which she could see the lake. Soon after there stopped in front of the building an imposing carriage and team. The occupants were a woman whose dress indicated riches and refinement, a pretty and elaborately dressed baby, and the nurse. The three came in. The mistress of the party saw the woman and spoke to her. I did not hear what was said at first, but a few moments later I heard the rich woman say:

"Don't be afraid. I will leave you my child as security." And with that the rich woman picked up the tiny child that was so weak, and carried it herself to the carriage and got in and was driven away. The nurse and the rich baby remained at the sanitarium and entertained the sick woman, and when the other returned the sick child had on a new dress, and a bunch of sweet peas was fastened about its neck. It was all so quietly done, and so pretty, too. I just went off alone and cried from joy."

MORALS IN RUSSIAN ASIA.

Mock Modesty of Natives Who Are Used to Shocking Sights.

The status of women, which is already too low in Russia itself, is even worse in those parts of Asia which are under Russian control. A respectable lady there will not accept an invitation of a gentleman to any place of amusement unless some member of her own family accompanies her, and this tendency of the really good women to draw the line between themselves and the extreme looseness of the lower classes has resulted in a prudishness which proved rather embarrassing a year or two ago to Thomas G. Allen, Jr., whose account of his bicycle trip across Asia so interested the readers of the Century magazine a few months ago.

The particular instance in question he relates as follows:

"Whenever exercising on the wheel we had adopted the English custom of turning over the upper portion of the stocking to leave the kneecap free for action, but, far from suiting the exquisite sensibilities of Tashkent society, this feature of our professional costume was looked upon as actually indecent. On this particular occasion a certain epauletted individual accosted us rather abruptly and, with a supercilious glance at our knees, informed us that our 'indecent exposure' had produced considerable abashment among his lady companions. Of course we retired at once to avert the disastrous effects of a second esthetic shock, but we wondered at the same time how it was that a community which could connive at social scandals and look with equanimity upon the half-naked natives working on the street should be so disconcerted at the sight of a kneecap."

A TREE SUNSTROCK.

Hot Weather Puts an End to a Large Maple.

The editor of Meehan's Monthly tells of being summoned to hold an inquest over a dead sugar maple tree. It was supposed to have been destroyed by a leak in the city gas main, near its roots, but an examination convinced Mr. Meehan that the tree had died literally from sunstroke.

This maple had been planted on the street about twenty-five years, and was some four feet in girth. The trunk, however, instead of being cylindrical, was shaped like a triangular prism, a peculiarity owing to the fact that on three sides of it the inner bark and wood had been killed, while the outer bark continued to cover up the injury so that the only living wood was at the angles of the trunk. Practically no more than one-third of the surface of the trunk was alive, and when the exceedingly warm weather came the limited number of ducts were not sufficient to supply the moisture needed to meet the rapid transpiration from so large a surface of foliage, consequently the leaves wilted and the tree died.

Whenever the trunk of a tree takes on this angular form it should be examined under the bark, and if the flatter portions are found dead the bark and the decaying part of the wood should be wholly cut away and the denuded part painted to check the rotting. In time healthy wood may grow over such a scar, and the life of the tree may thus be eventually saved.

It is Poor in Fishes.

The Colorado basin is the largest in the United States, draining not less than two hundred and twenty-five thousand square miles, yet, according to a paper prepared for the United States fish commission by Messrs. Everman and Rutter, it contains but thirty-two species of fish of eighteen genera. These belong to the following five families: Catostomidae or suckers, eight species; Cyprinidae or minnows, nineteen; Salmonidae or trout and whitefish, two; Poeciliidae or top minnows, two; and Cottidae or blobs, one. All but seven of the species are thus far known only from this basin. In comparison it is stated that eighty different species are known from the basin of the Rio Grande, one hundred and forty from that of the Missouri and one hundred and thirty from the Wabash basin.

To Keep Him from Unraveling.

At one time the Presbyterians of Ulster were discussing the ignorance and stupidity of one of their number. "And what a notion he has in his head now!" exclaimed one of the elders, in dismay. "His head!" echoed one of the ministers; "he has no head! What you call a head is only a top-knot that his Maker put there to keep him from unraveling out."

Amsterdam is known as the capital of Holland, but it is only nominally so. The only feature that goes to designate it as such is the palace, in the central part of the city, in which the royal family take up their abode there a few weeks a year, in the early part of the summer. Everything else pertaining to the seat of government is located at The Hague.

The city has a population, including the suburbs, of 500,000, and is as yet the commercial metropolis of the nation, although Rotterdam of late years is making some pretensions at rivalry. It is an unique town in many respects. It does not pride itself upon its external appearances so much as upon its old-time prestige, its wealth and above all its net-work of canals running in every direction parallel with the streets, intersecting each other, and dividing the city as it were into a group of islands. Hence its being often designated as a second Venice.

Commercially the city is also noted for its sugar refineries, and diamond polishing mills, while as a coffee and tobacco market it is the principal war of the world. This much at one time was claimed in its behalf as regards sugar, until some years ago Holland, under an impulse of free trade, opened its East India possessions to "the markets of the world," and allowed England to carry off the palm.

The real importance and prosperity of Amsterdam date from the close of the 16th century, when the Spanish war and inquisition in the southern part of the Netherlands (now Belgium), under the Duke of Alva, had ruined Antwerp and compelled numbers of enterprising merchants and others to seek a new home in the northern provinces, which had been more successful in resisting Spanish oppression. At the close of the century Amsterdam was one of the greatest if not the greatest mercantile city in Europe. Originally built upon a dam, built by a certain Lord, named Amstel, from which it derives its name, the city has spread out until it covers a large extent of made land and an innumerable amount of piles.

With the exception of a small area of a few blocks, every building in the city is built upon piles. The original soil was a sort of peat and loose sand upon which no permanent building can be erected, unless provided with a superstructure of piling. This item adds materially to the cost of building in the city, and is said to account largely to the want of heavy outlays or ornamentalities in the outside appearance and finish of even its most prominent business buildings and residences. The royal palace, built in 1650, rests upon 13,659 piles. The chamber of commerce, a much smaller building, completed in 1845, upon 3,469. In several places, where they were making installments for new buildings, I found them actively at work in pile-driving. I was told that as late as 1822 a large grain elevator, belonging to the East India Co., literally sank several feet into the mud, the piling not being adequate to support the weight of the grain stored in the building. There have been times also when this piling was thought to be endangered by the ravage of the wood-worm.

The older part of the city is in the form of a semi-circle, on the river Y, and as stated before, is crossed by canals, running like-wise in a semi-circle. These canals, from 60 to 80 feet wide, are in the centre of the street, flanked on either side by a row of fine shade trees, presenting at places a handsome and picturesque appearance. On either side of the canal is a paved street, with little or no side-walk. The latter are so narrow that as a rule pedestrians take to the street. These however are kept so clean, that the objection thereto is not so great as it would be in our American cities, although to a stranger the idea at first is rather repugnant. The intersecting of these canals, by like canals, divides as it were the old part of the city in nearly one hundred islands, and are connected with one another by nearly 300 bridges. This system of street-canals is the pride of a true Amsterdammer. Occasionally some of the older and narrower ones are filled in, to accommodate an increased demand of street traffic.

These canals are of daily practical use. During a three weeks' stay in the city I have hardly seen a heavily loaded dray or cart on the streets, all the local traffic in the city being carried on in smaller barges and scows along these canals. What appeared more objectionable to me was that these canals are also used for sewerage purposes. In order however to relieve to some extent malarial exhalations a system of flushing has been introduced, and the bottoms are dredged and the mud removed.

Along these semi-circled canal-streets reside the bon-ton of the city. Their residences are not marked by beauty of architectural design or extend elegance. The fronts as a rule are plain, built in the peculiar Dutch style of one and two centuries ago, of red brick, and provided with a crane projecting from the gable, an attachment which for practical utility is worthy of commendation.

Amsterdam virtually has two harbors, at either end of the river Y. The one at the Zuider-Zee secures it interstate commerce with its sister cities, while the recent construction of the North Sea Canal gives it the second best harbor in the land for foreign shipping. To this stupendous work I will have occasion to refer later on. What also adds largely to the volume of shipping and commerce of Amsterdam is that it is the chief mart for the products of the Dutch Colonies in the East and West Indies.

The city is noted for its many charitable institutions, denominational as well as communal. They number upwards of a hundred, for the reception of the aged, sick and indigent, orphans, widows, etc. Several of them are endowed and most of them are supported by voluntary contributions. It is also notorious for its Jewish quarters, the ill-conditioned character of which presents a marked contrast to the characteristic Dutch cleanliness of the rest of the city. The most interesting time to visit these quarters is on a Friday evening, before the beginning of the Sabbath. The Jews are said to form one-tenth of the population. After the expulsion of the Portuguese Jews from their native country in the first half of the 17th century they sought an asylum at Amsterdam, where complete religious toleration was accorded them. Their wealth renders them an influential part of the city, besides that they control most of the leading newspapers of the city. Among them is also carried on, nearly exclusively, the industry of diamond polishing. It is worth while to visit a diamond mill. The machinery is usually driven by steam. The diamond to be polished is pressed by the workman against a rapidly revolving iron disc, moistened with a mixture of oil and diamond dust. The latter is indispensable, as it has been found that no impression can be made on diamonds by any other substance. In a similar manner the stones are cut or sawn by means of wires covered with diamond dust. The best market for the Amsterdam diamond trade is admitted to be the United States.

The fire department of the city is said to be equal to that of any city in the world. I had occasion to inspect its chief station. Not only is every apparatus up to date, but the system and discipline is exemplary. The chief informed me among others that in the way of steam engines they had tried some of American manufacture, but had discarded them, because their construction was too light. By the way, it is remarkable to note, both in the cities and rural districts, how superbly heavy everything that is propelled by wheels is constructed, from a hand-cart or dog-cart up to drays, wagons, carriages and vehicles of all kinds. I noticed among the outfit of a fireman also a smoke protector, consisting in an apparatus that looks like the helmet or headgear of a diver when he is about to descend into the water, provided with tubes, enunciator, and regulators for the supply of fresh air from below. Since my return I noticed that Chicago is about to equip its department with a like or similar apparatus.

As to the particular attractions of Amsterdam to the general tourist, I will touch on this in my next.

Board of Supervisors.

GRAND HAVEN, Oct. 14, 1895.

The board of supervisors convened in annual session and was called to order by the clerk.

F. J. Fox of Allendale was called to the chair, and upon the first ballot was elected permanent chairman.

The rules of last year were adopted, with this exception, that the standing committees were increased by adding a committee on Forestry, and on Schools and Education, and the committee on claims and accounts, was divided into two committees—Criminal Bills and Miscellaneous Claims.

The appointments were as follows: Finance—Van Schelven, Bosch, Lynn, Cole, Robinson.

Equalization—Sivers, Kerkhof, Alward, Pellegrom, Brown.

Taxes and Apportionment—Van Loo, Diekema, Bilz, Stearns, Thurston.

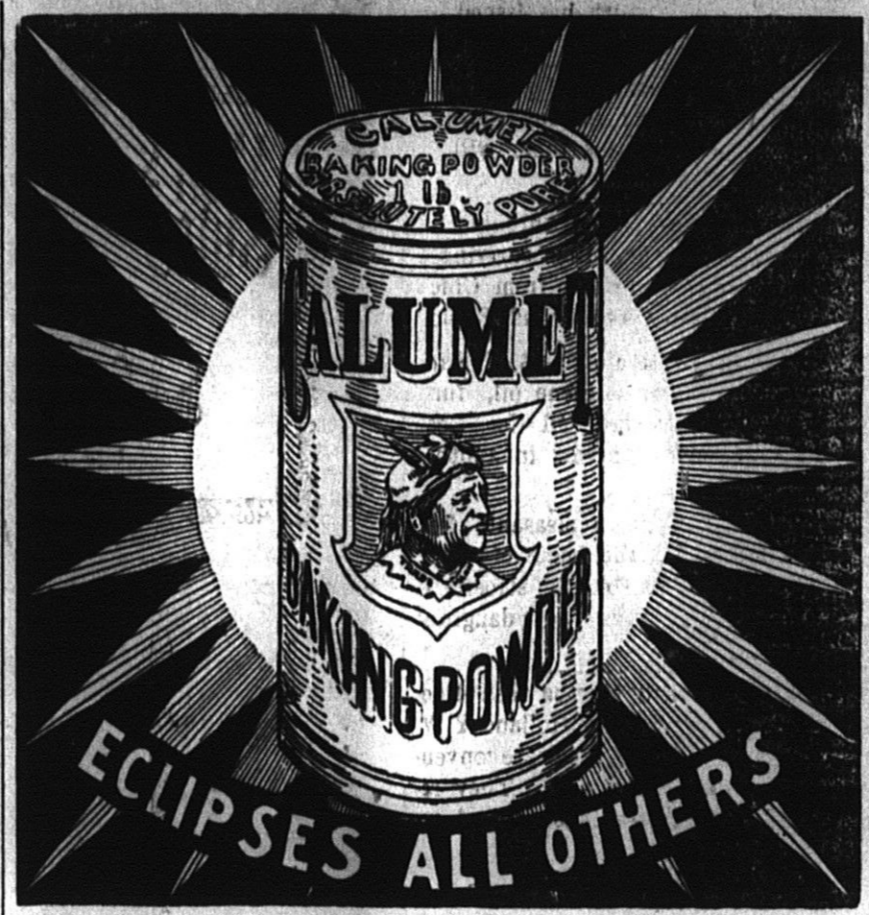

Criminal Bills—Diekema, Lugers, Veldman.

Miscellaneous Claims—Lynn, Buxton, Pelgrim.

Printing and Stationery—Cole, Pellegrom, Bosch.

Forestry—Lugers, Koeltz, Stearns.

Schools and Education—Bilz, Van Schelven, Sivers.

into two legislative districts—Messrs. Alward, Koeltz and Sivers.

The weather being favorable the board decided to visit the county infirmary, near Eastmanville. The proposition to make this annual visit always meets with an opposition from some of the up-river members, who reside in close proximity to the institution, and fail to realize the propriety of such action.

The premises including the farm, the infirmary, the stock and all the appertinances were found in satisfactory condition. The number of inmates at present is 49. Last month it was 52, the largest number ever kept there.

Wednesday morning there was a lively debate, Supervisors Bilz and Alward on the one side and Supervisors Van Schelven and Van Loo on the other, over the methods of bookkeeping in the county poor account by the county superintendents and county treasurer. Their reports as made each year are said to be misleading and undoubtedly a new method of bookkeeping will be devised. The debate between the gentlemen mentioned was exceedingly spirited and interesting.

The prospects are that nothing will be done in the matter of a new jail at this session.

At the meeting of the board on Thursday mayor Koeltz personally invited the board to meet Senator Barrows and other distinguished guests who will be in Grand Haven Saturday. On motion of mayor Diekema of Holland the invitation was accepted.

The election of a county drain commissioner was postponed indefinitely to await annual report of the commissioner.

A ballot was taken for county superintendent of the poor. It resulted in Mr. Wm. N. Angel's re-election, he receiving the whole number of votes cast, 21.

The election of a county school examiner to succeed Mr. Reus was next in order. Mr. Diekema, in a fine speech nominated Prof. Kleinheksel of Hope College and made an eloquent plea for the public school, America's safeguard. A ballot was taken, Earle Cilley of Coopersville receiving thirteen and Prof. Kleinheksel eight votes. Mr. Cilley was declared elected.

The annual report of Probate Judge Goodrich to the board showed a decrease of six patients in the insane asylum at Kalanazoo over last year. There are still in the asylum nine patients from Ottawa county Judge Goodrich recommended that the sum of $2000 be raised for the coming year for the insane fund. Report was referred to committee on insane.

The county treasurer's report showed cash on hand to be $25,161.13. Amount paid out for poor fund during year $123,41; general fund, $17,086.29; insane, $126.98; salaries, $1725.03; fines and libraries, $1887.88.

Will Shoot Again.

"There is blood on the moon" as between the Holland and Zeeland shooting clubs. During fair week there was a contest for a medal offered by the fair association, in which the Holland team came out winner by a score of 103 to 107. At the park during the summer the Zeeland team also beat the home team for the same medal.

On Tuesday there was a shoot at the grounds of the Zeeland Gun Club for the championship of Ottawa county. The day was in every respect favorable, as there was no wind blowing, only the home shooters have not been in the habit of shooting with a beach tree back ground. There were present from Holland: Hon. G. J. Diekema, J. C. Post, H. Boone, Dr. Yates, J. B. Mulder, B. A. Mulder, B. Van Raalte, Jr., Charles Doesburg, M. G. Manting. The shooting did not come up to the average that has previously been made in other contests.

The birds came easy but the boys did not seem able to hit them, and the score at the outcome was 101 to 89 in favor of Zeeland. Following was the record made:

ZEELAND.
H. Van Eyck	19
Karsten	22
Hietje	18
Kamps	14
Kraus	15
Smits	13
HOLLAND
Arleth	17
Ferguson	16
Dulica	15
Harmon	13
Smith	15
Baumgartel	13

Of course the result was a disappointment to the Holland boys as they had all their best men on deck. The Expositor was right when it said: Holland comes forward and challenges Zeeland for the county championship. They can try it, but what a fall there will be. After it is all over the "swollen head" will disappear and all will agree that the shoot at the fair was a big mistake.

Some Good Advice.

E. L. Beckon of the Grand Haven News gives the citizens of the county the following gentle hint about their being so backward in coming forward:

Why don't some of our merchants show a little real enterprise and build a real plate glass front store. Let's improve—fix up, beautify, be somebody. Grand Haven to the front. All we need is a little real push. The Almightly has done everything he can for us. We must do the rest. What do you say. Shall we utilize the many thousands of natural advantages we have and let them lay down and go to sleep while our sister cities carry off all the honors. We are just a little round about a very not many miles from here that has few more inhabitants than we but who have an untold amount of push and enterprise; who have fine stores and wide-awake business men who are long-headed enough to see the value of spending a dollar. The way to turn things up is to turn them up. Somebody hold us or head as off. Grand Haven shall not sit still. Grand Haven is going to forge to the front. Let's all pull and all push and all pull or all push at one and the same time.

Chicago's Big Fire.

THE EVENT CELEBRATED WITH THE GREATEST ENTHUSIASM.

Wednesday night Chicago was all aglow with remembrance of the great fire that in 1871 gave the mighty city by the lake its first big boom—the stupendous fabric that has grown out of ruins of the sweeping conflagration being something that even moderns may marvel at—and the anniversary of the event was celebrated by the Fellowship Club giving a banquet. That the occasion was fittingly commemorated may be appreciated by the following brief but comprehensive introduction to the report of the gathering in the Times-Herald:

Red for ruin, red for the glow of hope that sprang from desolation, red for the rosinness of triumphant resurrection, red for the fire of fellowship! In a flood of crimson glory, in a blaze of ruddy celebration, the Fellowship Club, always happy in its hite, always thorough in its triumphs, honored last night the twenty-fourth anniversary of the day when Chicago died to live again. Red was the color of the night. It flared on the menu cards; the napkins were gory; the banquet hall was bathed in a fireside flood, neckties white, black or blue were snatched from the collars of the guests to be replaced by the blood-red scarfs that it had been decreed should alone be worn; the punch was red; the electric lamps shed a rosy light; the glow that stood for the kicker that upset Mrs. O'Leary's lamp and upset the town in the bargain had a coat the color of the fiery hair that peeped under the bonnet worn by the woman sitting on the milking stool who sat for Mrs. O'Leary herself; and Melville Stone, the president of the club, blushed for the first time in his life in honor of the occasion. The waiters were firemen in scarlet jackets, with regulation helmets and top boots to match.

No stranger sauntering in could doubt that there had been a fire. The colors would have told the story of it all, of the fire and all that followed, the misery, the struggle and the victory.

But there was more than color to revive the memories of the wild night of ruin and all that it gave birth to. There were tongues to tell the story of Chicago's wiping out, men to tell of the scenes that they had witnessed with eyes of hopelessness and sorrow eyes that had feasted later on visions whose prediction in the old days would have been scoffed at as the dreamiest of dreams.

Custer's Lost Check.

DRAWN ON THE DAY OF THE MASSACRE IT HAS JUST TURNED UP.

The widow of General Custer received a few days since a check for $1,500, drawn to the order of her husband on June 25th, 1876, the day of the Little Big Horn massacre. It was signed by B. L. Smith, at that time assistant paymaster of the army. The check, soiled and tattered though it be, constitutes a valid claim against the government for the amount represented upon its face, which was no doubt intended as part payment of General Custer's salary as an officer of the United States army.

Where the check has been all these years no one knows. One Michael Francis found it in the street at Bismarck, North Dakota, last February and retained it until now. When Francis picked it up, it was almost as legible as when it was drawn, but three heavy creases in it showed that it had been carried in a pocketbook until it had been worn through.

No indorsement appears upon the back of the check, and the face shows the mark of no cancellation stamp, demonstrating that the check has never been presented for payment. It was no doubt forwarded to the northwest before the news of the Custer massacre reached Washington.

Where the Farmer Was Deceived.

"Speakin' of tramps," said a farmer from Macomb county to M. Quad at the Eastern Hay Market the other day, "speakin' of tramps, I hain't takin' any more of 'em home with me to give 'em a chance. I took the last one about two weeks ago."

"Anything wrong with him?" was asked.

"He was a deceiver from the ground up. He came to me right here and told the saddest kind of a story. He looked to me as if he hadn't a week to live, and he offered to work a month for his board. He complained of being hungry afore we started, and I felt sorry for him and got him a fifty cent meal. He was hungry in half an hour, and on the way home he devoured thirty apples he got from an orchard. I thought he'd be too full to eat supper, but land save ye! I didn't know his brand!"

"Made a big meal, did he?" "Wall, thar's four of us in the family, and all purty sharp set, but that ere tramp throwed us all into the shade. I told the old woman to fill him up if we had enough in the house to do it, and we let him sit and eat till I really thought he'd bust. At the end of an hour I hauled him off, and he still complained of bein' hungry. We made him up a shade-down in the wood-shed, and the last thing afore he went to bed he drank two quarts of milk and ate a pumpkin pie. In the wood-shed was a bushel of apples and a basket of turnips. About midnight I got up and looked in on the critter, and lo! he hadn't gone to bed at all! Just set right thar on a cheer eatin' apples and turnips, and he'd finished half the lot!"

"Then he must have filled up by daylight?"

"You'd think so but as soon as it came daylight he was out chankin' apples and suckin' late tomatoes. The old woman cooked enough extra for four harvest hands, and yit that tramp got up from the table and said he felt so peakish that he guessed he wouldn't go to work that day! I turned him loose in the orchard and turnip-patch, but jest afore noon he stole a bag from the barn, filled it with apples and set off down the road. I was glad to git shet of him without any fuss, and I don't want any more of that kind around me. A naybur saw him two miles below my place, and he'd eaten the last apple and was climbin' the fence to fill up on pumpkin. Eat? Wall, I should remark! The only things we had left in the house after he quit was a pint of vinegar and a bunch of catnip, an' I s'pose he went away sorrowin' to think he hadn't got outside of them!"

Lincoln's Body Guard.

That "no man is a hero to his valet" finds an eloquent denial in the devotion borne to the memory of Abraham Lincoln by his faithful servant, Thomas F. Pendel, who enters with the Cleveland administration upon his twenty-ninth year as usher at the White House.

The last surviving link that binds the White House of to-day with the tragedy of April 15, 1864, is this same tall, gentlemanly usher, now in his 74th year. He sat especially for the portrait given here. The chair in which he sits was presented by Mr. Lincoln to Brady, the famous old Washington photographer. "Ah, those were days that tried men's souls when I first crossed the White House threshold," said Pendel.

"It was the 3d of November, 1864, that four of us—Sergeant Cronin, Andrew J. Smith, Alphonsus Dunn and myself—all policemen, were summoned in citizen's dress to the office of the chief of the Metropolitan police and conducted to the White House," said Pendel, "where we were met by Marshal Lamon."

"That the president's life was then in jeopardy no one questioned, and it was decided to have a body guard. As Lincoln disliked to be under military surveillance we were detailed in citizen's dress, with our badges and six shooters concealed."

"Shortly after our arrival we were sitting in the entry at the foot of the private staircase," continued the old man, "when the president descended the stairs and said, 'which of you men will walk with me to the War Department?'"

"Says I, 'Mr. President, I will go with you.' It was night when we reached the door of the department. Lincoln said, 'Now, Pendel, you go back to the house. It will be late before I am ready to return. Your family will need you. Major Hayes will accompany me back.' It was the kindness, the thoughtfulness of the man that spoke before his own safety."

"The first Sabbath morning I walked with him to Secretary Stanton's house. I have received many threatening letters," said Mr. Lincoln. "But I have no fear."

"Mr. President," said I, "because you do not fear is no reason why danger should not occur."

"True," said Mr. Lincoln.

"Many a good man, many a brave man," says I, "Mr. President, has lost his life just because he did not fear."

"That is so. That is so." And the president fell a-thinking. He had a heap on his mind those days.

"I never left his side. Wherever he went I was there."

"I recollect once we were descending the stairs in the Navy Department. Crouched at the bottom of the staircase was a man. The president turned and looked him sharply in the face. It was unusual, because he rarely looked right or left, for when not engaged in conversation he was absorbed in thought.

"When the man reached the second landing he turned and looked again at Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Lincoln turned and looked at him. Then we proceeded on our way in silence. When we got in the White House grounds Mr. Lincoln said: 'Pendel, I got a letter last night warning me against a man who exactly answers the description of that man on the stairs.'

"I kept a sharp lookout," said Pendel, "but the stranger perhaps only wanted to get a good look at the president. There were great square tree boxes by the side of the walk, and I always put myself between Mr. President and the boxes, for there was no telling who might be hid on the other side. I had my hand all the time on the six shooter. She wouldn't have missed. She wasn't that kind."

"All day and night men and woman poured in upon the president, pleading for a brother, husband, father or lover. His days were long drawn out tales of misery and woe. I always kept a sharp eye on the women."

"One time an excited man approached the president with loud abuse against Secretary Stanton."

"Your order has not been obeyed, Mr. President. It's more than two weeks since you ordered my brother's release, and he is still in captivity."

"Lincoln turned his great eyes wearily on the complainant. 'Accuse not a servant unto his master,' said the president, 'lest he curse thee and thou be found guilty.'

"The man looked incredulous. 'There is no such passage in the bible,' he cried, excitedly."

"I think you will find it there," was Lincoln's reply.

"When the man had gone the president and I were alone. 'Wait,' said the president, and he disappeared into his private apartments to return with a bible."

"Here it is, Pendel. In the book of Proverbs," he said.

"The morning following Lincoln's second inauguration he met Simon Cameron in the glass corridor. 'Did you ever see anything like that?' said Lincoln, extending to the senator his great right hand, every joint bruised and swollen from the thousands that had grasped it with affectionate feeling."

"I took the last cards to Mr. Lincoln before he left for Ford's theater on that fateful night," said Pendel. "They were the cards of Speaker Colfax and Mr. Ashmond of Massachusetts, chairman of the convention that nominated Mr. Lincoln. They stood talking with Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln in the red parlor until the latter entered the carriage and drove away. The photograph from which the picture given here is made was the last for which Mrs. Lincoln ever sat. She wore a Paris dress of rich brocade, the style identical with that present mode."

"I was the last to whom he said 'Good night, good night Pendel.' And it was I who closed the door on Garfield as he entered the carriage with Mr. Blaine on that tragic morning."

"Not many men," and the usher squared his tall form with just pride, have participated so closely in such historic scenes."

On reading and filing the petition of the Auditor General of the State of Michigan as aforesaid praying for a decree in favor of the State of Michigan, against each parcel of land therein described, for the amounts therein specified, claimed to be due for taxes, interest and charges on each such parcel of land, and that such lands be sold for the amounts so claimed by the State of Michigan.

It is ordered that said petition be brought on for hearing and decree at the November term of this Court, to be held at the City of Grand Haven, in the County of Ottawa, State of Michigan, on the Fourth day of November, A. And it is further ordered that in pursuance of said decree the lands described in said petition for which a decree of sale shall be made, will be sold for the several taxes, interest and charges thereon as determined by such decree, on the first Monday in December thereafter, or on the day or days subsequent thereto as may be necessary to complete the sale of said lands and of each and every parcel thereof, at the office of the County Treasurer, or at such convenient place as shall be selected by him at the county seat of the County of Ottawa, State of Michigan; and that the sale then and there made will be a public sale and each parcel described in the decrees shall be separately exposed for sale for the total taxes, interest and charges, and the sale shall be made to the person offering to buy for any given tax and paying the full amount charged against said parcel, and accepting a conveyance of the smallest undivided fee simple interest therein; or, if no person will buy for any of said several taxes and pay the balance thereof and take a conveyance of less than the entire thereof, then the whole parcel shall be offered and sold. If any parcel of land cannot be sold for taxes, interest and charges, such parcel shall be passed over for the time being, and shall, on the succeeding day, or before the close of the sale, be reoffered, and if, on such second offer, or during such sale, the same cannot be sold for the amount aforesaid, the County Treasurer shall bid off the same in the name of the State.

SEAL. PHILIP PADGHAM,
Circuit Judge.
Countersigned,
Geo. D. TURNER, Register.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Ottawa in Chancery:

The petition of STANLEY W. TURNER, Auditor General of said State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State of Michigan, respectfully shows that the list of lands hereinafter set forth and marked "Schedule A," contains a description of all lands in said County of Ottawa upon which taxes were assessed for the years mentioned therein, and which were returned as delinquent for non-payment of taxes and which taxes have not been paid; together with the total amount of such taxes, with interest computed thereon to the time fixed for sale, and collection fee as provided by law, and the cost of advertising and other expenses of sale of each of said parcels of land.

Your petitioner further shows to the Court that said lands were returned to the Auditor General under the provisions of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as delinquent for non-payment of said taxes for said years respectively, except such of the taxes set forth in said schedule as were returned to the Auditor General according to law prior to the 12th day of June, 1893, and remain unpaid.

Your petitioner further shows and avers that the taxes, interest, collection fee and cost of advertising and other expenses of sale, as set forth in said Schedule A, are a valid lien on the several parcels of land described in said schedule.

Your petitioner further shows that the said taxes on said described lands have remained unpaid for more than one year prior to the first day of May, 1895; and the said taxes not having been paid, and the same being now due and remaining unpaid as above set forth, your petitioner prays a decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands, for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee, cost of advertising and other expenses of sale, as computed and extended in said schedule, against the several parcels of land contained therein, and in default of payment of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands, that each of said parcels of land may be sold for the amounts due thereon, as provided by law, to pay the lien aforesaid.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Mr. G. Caillonette, Druggist, Beaverlyville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at ious disorders of the blood. Strong cathartics are worse than useless.

- All those terrible, itching diseases of the skin that help to make life miserable for us are caused by external parasites. Don't Ointment kills the parasite and cures the disease. Perfectly harmless, never fails.

The Electric Line.

There seems to be every indication that the electric railway heretofore mentioned in the News will be pushed through. Many rumors are flying around that cannot be credited. The plan proposed to run the line via the resorts to Saugatuck thence to Allegan will probably be carried out. F. A. Makin who is one of the projectors of the system says the building of the road is an assured fact. He feels quite indignant at the reports published by some of the papers of the state. The company has not organized yet and consequently no definite plans have been made. He discredits the story that was published to the effect that the L. S. & M. S. R'y was to furnish the road with from 50 to 100 cars of freight per day and further said that the above named road has no connection with the line whatever. The line will start from Holland and run to Saugatuck, thence to Baldhead park where it will cross the Kalamazoo river, thence to Douglas, Fennville, Swan Creek and will enter the corporation of Allegan at a point near the fair grounds. Just what will be done here at Holland has not yet been definitely decided upon, and it is expected that a proposition will soon be made to our citizens. Engineers are at work this week at two different points on the line and more facts can be given out for publication in a week or two or as soon as the company is organized.

Epilepsy 20 Years.

Cured by Dr. Miles' Nerveine.

A few years ago, Mr. L. W. Gallaher, was an extensive, successful expert manufacturer of lumber products. Attacked with epilepsy, he was obliged to give up his business. The attacks came upon him most opportunely. One time falling from a carriage, at another down stairs, and often in the street. Once he fell down a shaft in the mill, his injuries nearly proving fatal. Mr. Gallaher writes from Milwaukee, Feb. 16, '95.

"There are none more miserable than epileptics. For 20 years I suffered with epileptic fits, having as high as five in one night. I tried any number of physicians, paying to one alone, a fee of $500.00 and have done little for years but search for something to help me, and have taken all the leading remedies, but received no benefit. A year ago my son, Chas. S. Gallaher, druggist at 191 Reed St., Milwaukee, gave me Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine, and I tried it with gratifying results. Have had but two fits since I began taking it. I am better now in every way than I have been in 20 years."

Life Made Easy

For Another Holland Citizen—Many People Talking About It.

A typical Hollander is Mr. Jacob Molengraaf, who resides on E. Fourteenth Street. Our representative found him still unable to speak English, but his son interpreted for him, and the following is an account of his experience, which he gives for publication. No better proof for the citizens of Holland can be found than the utterances and endorsement of our neighbors. He says:

"I was a great sufferer during all last winter with my kidneys. The pain was on each side of my back over the hips, it was right where you put your hands when you stand with them placed on your hips. It was worse in the morning, and I was sometimes in such pain I could not get out of bed in the ordinary manner, but would have to sort of roll out, keeping my body as straight as possible, and I would be compelled to walk stooped over until I got gradually straightened out, when I would feel a little easier. This continued in this way until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I had seen them advertised, so I procured a box at the drug store of J. O. Doesburg, and on taking them they gave me almost instant relief. I continued using them and I have not been a sufferer since. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills. They have proved to be just as represented. If ever I should have any return of the trouble I shall know what to use. It pleases me to be able to speak a good word for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are not a cure-all, but a Kidney Cure, and that they do cure all forms of kidney disorder it is not hard to prove to the people of Holland, for we can give them the endorsement of their neighbors, and this must satisfy the most skeptical.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers—price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

MASONIC TEMPLE DEDICATED.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Thronged with Visitors to the Grand Parade.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 16.—The masonic temple was dedicated Tuesday, the ceremonies being more elaborate and imposing than any before seen in this city. The principal streets are profusely decorated, many of the hotels and business houses and hotels being almost hidden by bunting and masonic emblems, while an electric display was made Tuesday night and viewed by no less than 13,000 visitors. The feature of the day was a parade at 2:30. The column, led by the Detroit Commandery Knights Templar, was nearly 2 miles in length. After the parade the dedicatory services were conducted by the grand lodge officers in accordance with the masonic ritual.

[The temple occupies the four upper floors of the new seven-story building erected by Col. E. Crofton Fox, and the apartments were arranged and designed throughout with the purpose to which they will be put kept constantly in view. In furnishings and fittings the temple will be the finest, richest and most sumptuous in the United States. In this respect no regard having been paid to expense. The furniture, all constructed after special designs by the Nelson Mather company, of this city, cost $15,000, and the heavy velvet carpets, the silk and tapestry draperies, the rugs, wall hangings and other features cost as much more. The master of the blue lodge will sit in a solid mahogany chair which alone cost $250, and the high priest in the chapter will have a chair that cost as much. The top of the altar is a 2-inch plank of solid mahogany and the ornamentations are of the finest hand carving. Everything else is on the same scale.]

The sixth and seventh stories of the temple are devoted to the uses of the consistory, commandery and shrine. On the south side of the building, opening from the sixth floor, is the asylum, 47x70 feet in size and 40 feet high, with a gallery on two sides. Smoking and chair rooms opening from the gallery and parlors and smoking-rooms from the asylum in front. On the same floor, in the northwest corner of the building, is the Red Cross room, 10 feet square, with a heavily vaulted roof, the walls shaded from deep red to gray, and in the middle of the ceiling a red cross illuminated by hidden electric lights.

The armory for the commandery is located on the north side of the sixth floor, with a vaulted passage separating it from the asylum, and in front are parlors, offices and reception rooms. On the seventh floor are parlors in front and a large drill room or banquet hall in the rear, with kitchen, china closet and private dining room attached.

The fourth and fifth floors are occupied by the blue lodge and chapter. On the south side of the fourth floor, in front, are two large parlors of the blue lodge, furnished in mahogany and upholstered in corduroy, with an examination and preparation-room adjoining and then the blue lodge room, which has been named Corinthian hall. The lodge room is 47x40 feet and the ceiling reaches to the top of the fifth floor.

On the north side of the building, fourth floor, is the chapter room, the most sumptuous and elaborate of them all. The room is Moorish in design, with oriental decorations in gold and red, with red carpet and cherry woodwork, the furniture in mahogany and the upholstery to correspond with the other fittings. On the fifth floor are the masonic club rooms with parlors, billiard rooms, and card rooms in front and a large banquet hall, with kitchen and china closets, in the rear.]

STRUCK A VEIN OF WARM WATER.

Well Diggers Near White Pigeon Believe They Will Discover Coal.

WHITE PIGEON, Oct. 15.—While driving a well on the farm of John Middle, near the village, F. W. Northrop's men struck at a depth of 25 feet a stratum of coarse gravel and warm water of 98 degrees. Nothing of the kind has been before found in this section of the country. Many speculations are rife as to the cause of this phenomenon. Geologists hold that underlying this sheet of warm water, at no great depth, is a large quantity of soft coal, which, undergoing metamorphosis, generates sufficient heat to warm the water. It is possible that gas as well as coal may be found.

Port Sheldon.

Dr. Geo. Hibbard and bride who were married at Chicago Oct. 9th, came here to spend their honeymoon with their old friends Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cook. They returned home on the 15th.

On Monday, the 14th, there was a grand church raising and both Holland and English combined to do the most work, while the friends of the Ventura and members of the church combined and provided refreshments for all at the house of Dirk Riemsma. It was a gratifying sight to see the new minister and some of his flock and Mrs. J. Fleman of Holland join with the friends of the new Dutch church to make everything pleasant.

Mrs. C. B. Cook is still in Holland with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bourton, so that she will be near her medical adviser. We hope soon to be able to record her convalescence and return home.

Our new minister of the W. M. church is receiving a well merited praise by the people both at Ventura and West Olive, although he has only been here a few weeks; the church and school houses where he preaches are filled, so that standing room is the fate of several who attend and are late.

Mrs. Levy Paxon nee Klyne with Mrs. Leonard Klyne nee Nichols have been staying the last two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Klyne, while their husbands have been to Ludington with the scow and Lizzie Walsh. They returned to Holland last Saturday.

Common Council.

Holland, Oct. 15th, 1895.

The common council met in regular session and, in the absence of the mayor, was called to order by the president pro tem.

Present: Aids. Schouten, Lokker, Fleman, Schoon, president pro tem, Bosman, Dalman, Mokma, Harrington and Visscher, and the clerk.

Reading of minutes and regular order of business was suspended.

Mr. Isaac Cappon, permission given, verbally stated that he was present in behalf of some of the residents on the south side of Ninth street, between Maple street and First avenue, relative to the resolution of the common council ordering a sidewalk constructed on said part of said Ninth street, that the residents on said side of Ninth street were contemplating putting down an improved kind of walk, that he intended to put down an improved kind of sidewalk on Ninth street and First avenue, as soon as First avenue was graded, the weather permitting, and requested that the time for constructing the sidewalks be extended until next spring.

Also relative to the order to construct a sidewalk on the south side of Ninth street, between Pine and Maple streets, that the resolution ordering same be reconsidered and rescinded as there was no immediate necessity for same, hardly any one using that side of the street in winter and a very few persons that would make use of a sidewalk there at any time of the year, also that some of the lots lying on the south side of where said sidewalk would be required to be laid was used by the Cappon & Berthel Leather Co. as a dumping ground and a sidewalk would greatly inconvenience them.

Placed on the order of unfinished business.

On motion of Ald. Visscher sealed proposals for grading, graveling and otherwise improving parts of First avenue, Lake and Eighth sts. were opened, and were as follows:

A. J. & H. J. d Vries—grading 7 1/2 cts per cubic yd do gravel 40% do all other work not anything do gravel 40% do do all other work $1.00.

Peter Koning—grading, 7 1/2 cts per cubic yard.

B. Riksen—grading, 5 1/2 cts per cubic yard. do gravel 40% do do all other work $10.00.

Contract awarded B. Riksen, as per his bid.

On motion of Ald. Dalman the council returned to the regular order of business.

PETITIONS AND ACCOUNTS.

Messrs. De Kraker & De Koster petitioned as follows:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council.

GENTLEMEN:—We, the undersigned property owners and taxpayers of the city of Holland, are informed that the construction of a sidewalk has been recommended to your honorable body to be laid along the east side of Market street, between Eighteenth and State streets, your petitioners would respectfully request that said sidewalk be not ordered laid, at least not this year, your petitioners being part owners of the lands along which said walk was recommended to be not being in shape to build proposed walk at the present time.

And your petitioners will ever pray.
