Men, like trains, are at their best when they are on the level.

A man in dead earnest is generally recognized as a live one.

It is very sad, gentle reader, that your children twenty-five years from now will be reading these same jokes.

Fish is food for the brain doctors say. It took brains to think out a carp fishing stunt that brought fish ponds to raise more brain food.

When Mary Pickford had her curls cut off, the event brought her more publicity than many Americans would get if their heads were amputated.

Capt. Harrington says that a good road will be built to and beyond Holland's cemetery property. Not an invitation we hope.

Youth envies the mature man with his fortune; the mature man envies youth with its opportunity.

Miss Lydia Rogers, of Holland High, not so long ago brought a glass bowl containing goldfish to school, for study in the Zoology class.

"Now," she said, "can anyone tell me what a goldfish is?" "Yes, teacher," replied a little girl. "It's a sardine that has got very rich."

One who has small aspirations usually makes the same size failure.

Another way to keep cookies and doughnuts safe from juvenile hands is to lock them in the pantry and hide the key under the soap on the washstand.

He—"I've found a 4-leaf clover." She—"That means we will soon be married."

He—"Oh, I thought it meant good luck."

You can't follow a train of thought with a one track mind.

TWO GRAND HAVEN TOTS STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILES

Lois Dettahn, 5, was injured when struck by the pavement by a car driven by Frank Beck, Kalamazoo, at Grand Haven Tuesday. She was taken to the Hutton Hospital. Bystanders said the child ran into the way of the car.

Another tot of 4 years, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, was bruised and cut when knocked by the pavement by a car driven by Sam Cotti. He was arrested for speeding in the downtown section. The child was taken to the hospital, but later released.

COLONIAL THEATRE TO HAVE NEW ORGAN

A large organ is being installed in the Colonial Theatre on River Avenue by Manager Henry Carley, and it is expected that the instrument will be in playing condition some time next week.

It is expected that by the time the complete installation is made, the large pipe organ will cost in the neighborhood of $14,000.

Electrical blowers are used in the functioning of the organ and miles and miles of wiring are necessary in the electrical work that has to do with the operation of the organ.

The instrument can be used as a piano when heavy music is not required, but for volume and entire orchestral collection of instruments can be made to play by virtue of the combination of pipes that bring this about.

From the cornet, clarinet and the piccolo in the trombone, saxophone and flute can be heard, blending with violins, cathedral chimes and castanets.

For heavy music the kettle drums, the snare and bass can be brought into play. It is said to be a wonderful organ, heard in only the largest theatres in the country.

An expert organist has been secured and music played will be from scores that blend in with the pictures screened.

YOUTH OF INLAND TOWNS SWELL RANKS OF HOBOES

The ranks of trampdom, numbering half million in the United States are added each year with youths from inland towns. Boys living close to the ocean seldom become hoboed. Their outlet for adventure is supplied by the sea.

The first story of Hobohemia ever filmed is Jim Tulley's "Beggars of Life" which is offered by Paramount as one of its important dramatic presentations of 1928. This screen tale comes to the Colonial Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Wallace Beery as "Okla. Red," heads the notable cast, with Richard Arlen and Louise Brooks in other featured roles. William Wellman, who directed "Wings," "The Legion of the Condemned" and "Ladies of the Mob," directed this unusual story.

Rod License Up Again At Fish-Game Meet

FORMER HOLLAND MAN SUGGESTS PLAN FOR EARLIER FISHING

BELIEVE THAT SPAWNING BEDS SHOULD BE POSTED OUT; ALLOW FISHING IN SAME WATERS

On Monday and Tuesday of this week the Michigan Conservation Congress has been meeting in this city with headquarters at Warm Friend Tavern. Nearly 100 fish and game clubs from different parts of the state were represented and much constructive work was done and many new ideas of handling vexing conditions in different parts of the State were discussed.

Mayor Earnest Brooks during the opening session in Warm Friend Hall, welcomed the visiting delegates to Holland. Real work did not begin until Tuesday afternoon and among other things the question of a rod license came up, a matter that Holland fishermen never took very kindly to. Anyway it was discussed that in the interest of the fisherman the congress passed resolutions recommending that the legislature pass a bill requiring rod license for all kinds of fish for all persons over 16 years of age. Delegates also resolved in favor of a creel limit of 25 panfish for one day and against any change in the trout season, with a limit of trout of 15 per day.

The congress recommended that all trout streams be posted wherever they are crossed by roads.

As to whether such streams are open or closed. Other creel limits recommended as to wall eyed pike, grass pike, a limit of five per day and five in possession, and to bluegills, a minimum legal size of seven inches.

In regard to upland game birds, the congress resolved to recommend to the conservation department that the season be opened in the lower peninsula from Oct. 15 to Nov. 14 and in the upper peninsula on Oct. 1.

On partridges, the congress recommended a limit of three per day, or six per season, whenever the season should be opened, and recommended that consideration of the tag system. A bag limit of three per day and 10 in a season for squirrels found favor with the delegates, who wished the season continued as at present. The delegates went on record as being against any increase in the price of game or fish licenses.

Other resolutions included recommendations to the conservation department, favoring the present deer season; the continuance of protection of black bear; a lower bag limit on waterfowl; an open season on racoon, to be taken with dog and gun only; an open season the year round on mink, these to be taken with traps only during the open season on muskrats and a 30-day season for training dogs, owners, however, to carry no firearms.

The conservation department came in for severe criticism by the delegates in the matter of appointing special volunteer game wardens who work without compensation for either their time or expenses. The congress went on record as being in favor of the issuing of commissions to the members of organized conservation clubs which are in a position to check up on the integrity of their members to whom special warrants are issued.

Strong sentiment for extending game refuges and public shooting grounds in Michigan prevailed among the delegates and found expression in resolutions recommending that the state of Michigan undertake a bond issue to the amount of $10,000,000, if need be, for conservation purposes. The congress recommended in another resolution that the conservation department set aside $1.50 out of each deer license and 75 cents out of every small game license for that purpose.

Monday evening a fried spring chicken banquet was served at Warm Friend Tavern when covers were laid for more than a hundred delegates and Holland citizens interested in fish and game conservation.

At this banquet there was a set program but Chairman Joseph Rhea also arranged to give a few outsiders, who were deeply interested in this work, a chance to speak a few words.

Holland will be especially interested in a suggestion made by Arthur Baumgartel, the man who organized the first Holland Rod and Gun Club some 35 years ago. Holland sportsmen seem to be eager to fish early in the season but being given permission until they are given permission until the law.

Mr. Baumgartel suggests a Fish Refuge plan providing that all spawning beds be posted and that fishermen are strictly forbidden from fishing in or near these beds even though they fish in the same waters some distance away from the beds. These beds he suggests should also be posted during June and July, long after the fishing season has been opened as an added protection.

Toastmaster Thomas U. Robinson made an able presiding officer, introducing the speakers in turn and adding several more names not on the program for short talks.

General Chairman, Joseph Rhea, President Holland Game-Fish Protective Assn.; Toastmaster, Thomas U. Robinson; Address of Welcome, Earnest C. Brooks, Mayor of Holland; Response, Chas. A. Justin, President Mich. Conservation Congress; Address, Wm. H. Loutit, Executive Chairman Mich. State Conservation Dept.

Other guests called upon were Arthur Baumgartel, of the Pennsylvania railroad system; Peter Trudell, Neagame, Northern Michigan Sportsman's assn.; H. Ten Brook, Western Mich. Game-Fish Protective assn.; Mr. Wildanger of Flint, president of the Genesee Sportsman's assn.

At its closing session Tuesday afternoon, delegates to the Conservation congress went on record as objecting to the present Horton trespass law and expressed a desire that the law be repealed or changed to at least exclude all wild

A jury in the Allegan circuit court Monday awarded George Heckendorf $1,000 from the estate of his late wife, Minnie Heckendorf. Mrs. Heckendorf who died about a year ago, left no provision for her husband in her will. A claim for payment of services in her jewelry store was entered by Heckendorf and after being contested in probate court, $4,000 was granted him. Theodore S. Updike, administrator for the estate, appealed the case to circuit court.

In spite of the fact that a temporary injunction has been served to restrain the city of Allegan from selling bonds to build a hydro-electric dam on the Kalamazoo river, the city council voted Monday night to submit a franchise for selling mortgage bonds on utility, to the city voters at the Nov. 6 election. City Atty. Perle L. Pouch was instructed to prepare the question to be put on the ballot. The Condersum Power Company and others are attempting to secure a permanent injunction forbidding the sale of the bonds. The three city election commissioners appointed were Edwy. C. Reid, David Boyes and David Burgess.

Leonard Steketee of the Staketee Tire Shop on East 8th street says: "Does advertising pay? Well, I should say it does. We disposed of 600 boxes of candy, one to each customer, last Saturday; sold 300 gallons of gasoline and an enormous number of tires with free tubes. I am convinced that advertising puts it over. It sure was a busy day."

Harold Steketee of Grand Rapids, well known in Holland, reports that two men held him up at 12:15 a. m. Thursday and took $7 in cash from him on Cherry street, near Madison avenue in that city. Steketee said one of the men pushed a gun into his ribs and while he held his hands upward the other rifled his pockets.

Burr, Grand Haven, by the state police on a drunken charge, attempted to run away from court, when the officer's back was turned. He started at a lively pace down First street in that city but was soon brought back. The charge, however, was changed to possession and transportation. He is now in the county jail with a Circuit Court offense staring him in the face, rather than a plain drunk charge.

There's at least one business place in Holland that might need the services of a Boy Scout to locate. It is conducted by Fred Tentate and George Kelly, two blind broommakers, and located east of the Model drug store. The place is less than 3 feet wide and only a few feet long. There's no room for counters and the only equipment to be found consists of two barrels which hold the brooms and a few which brooms and some lead pencils are hung on the outside. The men take turns in selling their wares as the place is too small for both men to be on the job at the same time. "The place answers the purpose," remarked Kelly, "and is erected in the interest of economy. We don't need much room to sell a broom; in fact the brooms all sell themselves, but we always look pleasant whether the sun shines or not."

A Missionary Work Out of the Beaten Path

A NEW WAY TO INSTILL PEACE IN HEARTS OF FOREIGNERS

Miss Dorothy McEachron, a daughter of Rep. and Mrs. Fred McEachron of Hudsonville spoke before the members of the Missionary Society at the Presbyterian Church House, Grand Haven, on the World Fellowship work carried on at the University of Michigan. Helping foreign students to become acquainted with one another and with Americans, getting them through the intricacies of registration and familiarizing them with campus life is the aim of the committee of which Miss McEachron is chairman.

Miss McEachron impressed her hearers with the advantages of associating with these foreign minds, most of them mature individuals, who are as a rule leaders in their own countries far ahead of the rank and file of students at a university. She pictured the banquets at Thanksgiving time and other occasions for the students from all over to gather with colorful costumes and flags and sow the seeds of international understanding and peace. Though understanding there comes love and racial distinctions lose their barriers when it is present. The foreigners come here with the idea that America is a superficial nation. She has no culture, no ideals of beauty, no wealth of art and literature but loves money and her mechanical achievements are brilliant. The speaker left the thought that in the colleges of the country a great missionary work is being carried on, quite different from the term in the accepted sense, where exchanges are made of the best each nation holds. The speaker urged invitations be extended to those foreign men and women to spend the Christmas holidays at American homes.

HOLLAND MAN SUGGESTS PLANS FOR COUNTY INSURANCE

Only one matter of importance came before the Board of Supervisors Wednesday, that of changing the manner of insuring the county property.

Superior Edward Van Den Berg of Holland presented a motion which would place insuring the County Infirmary property in the hands of the poor committee and the superintendents of the poor with the house and grounds committee having charge of the county buildings here. Previously this has all been in the hands of the county treasurer's office. The motion carried with little discussion. The changes arose out of some of the difficulties experienced in collecting insurances of the Infirmary barn due to the antiquated policies in force. Insurance on a wagon which was in a barn other than the one specified in the policy was a point.

BROWER OF HAMILTON FOR HERBERT HOOVER

At a meeting held in Allegan presided over by Attorney Clare Hoffman, several local speakers had their say in connection with organizing a Hoover-Green club. Mr. Herman Brower of Hamilton declared the Democrats are not to be trusted with tariff legislation, notwithstanding Smith's declaration that there will be no drastic meddling with the tariff if the Democrats shall be successful now. The tariff legislation of that party has always brought disaster to the country and specially to the farming interests.

Mr. Fred Wade of Saugatuck said the prohibition laws were not brought into the campaign until Mr. Smith injected them and that we may as well have the fight for it now as at any other time.

GRAND RAPIDS FIRE FIGHTER SAYS ZEELAND MADE MISTAKE

Fire Marshall George T. Boughner of Grand Rapids addressed the junior and senior high school assemblies and Fire Chief Clark of the Zeeland department addressed the grade school children during fire prevention week. The Zeeland firemen also were drilled in fire fighting fundamentals by a state fire inspector. Zeeland is one of the lowest cities per capital in regard to fire losses. Fire Marshall Boughner deplored the action of the voters of Zeeland in turning down the purchase of a new fire truck proposition. He hoped the city would purchase a new piece of apparatus soon as the present truck has seen nine years of service and even when purchased was not standard equipment.

Chief Van Ry is determined to deal harshly with this and any future offender if he can get them. He said today that the coming of the longer nights always constitutes a problem in such cases. He has asked for the co-operation of the people in reporting at once any such cases. The police were notified at once but they were unable to locate the molester.

Poultry and Pet Stock Show Huge Success

ART HALL AT FAIR GROUNDS EXCELLENT PLACE TO HOLD FUTURE EXHIBITIONS

FIRST FESTIVAL OF OTTAWA GREATER POULTRY ASSN. DRAWS ARISTOCRACY OF BIRDS

The men identified with Ottawa County's Greater Poultry Association's first annual show and festival held at the Holland Community Fair grounds four days last week were very busy men.

It was a day and night job and as far as exhibits go, it was the finest exhibition of poultry ever seen not in Ottawa County alone but in Michigan.

And what can be said of poultry can also be said of the rabbit exhibition staged in one of the other halls on the grounds.

The dog show occupied a portion of the large art hall and this section was curtailed off in order to divide the exhibits.

The poultry department naturally occupied the greater part of this spacious hall.

It is hoped that this combined exhibition may become a permanent thing, and if so, there is no better place available than the large buildings on the fair grounds, easy to get to, with plenty of parking space for automobiles.

It is too early to give anything definite but it seems that an exhibition of this kind will grow in favor from year to year. Already there were many visitors from abroad who came for the entire week, some coming with exhibits and others to make a real study of poultry, rabbits or blooded dogs.

There was real co-operation displayed. Sectional and community breeders joined in making possible a bigger and better festival of the rich small stock lands of western Michigan. The festival began Thursday and ended Saturday night on the Holland fair grounds. In it are combined three former poultry shows of Holland, Zeeland and Grand Haven.

A style show in rabbitry was a great event also. With their ribbons and honors prominently displayed, the furred gentry settled down to the routine of admiration from the hundreds of visitors thronging through the rabbit and cavy hall. Not among the least of these were the school children, for the inherent love of the boy for his rabbits is but little less than that for his dog.

A handsome New Zealand white buck, bred and grown at the Chambers & Massey rabbitry at Kalamazoo, was acclaimed the king of the rabbits. His exquisite snowy coat won not only the first prize cup in his class, but the sweepstakes trophy donated by the Holland Rabbit and Cavy club.

Other trophy cups awarded in the rabbit section were: A New Zealand red buck owned by Gale Johnson of Grand Rapids; black and white checkered giant, a junior buck, owned by the Homeowner Rabbitry, Grandville; an American blue buck owned by Jacob Vreeswyck of Grandville; a grey Flemish giant buck weighing 15 pounds owned by the Ledger rabbitry, Howard City; a black Dutch doe, owned by Dewey Jaarsma of Holland, president of the Greater Holland Rabbit and Cavy association; a white Flemish buck owned by Jesse Woodman of Charlotte; a chinchilla buck owned by the Hagedorn Fur farm, Fenton; the best doe and litter, a chinchilla with a contented family five weeks old, owned by Joe Dennison of Casnovia.

In the cavy group, a shiny coated black English boar, owned by Henry Modderman of Marne, was acclaimed as the best guinea of the show. The trophy for the most points in the cavy show went to Harry Stidd of Grandville.

In the poultry department at least one thousand fowls were on exhibition judged by competent judges. And there were at least 400 exhibitions of pigeons which were declared by the judges to be the best display ever gotten together in western Michigan.

In a compilation for the News, Ed Brouwer, secretary of the association handed out a list of the following cup winners. The $60.00 Vandenberg Bros. Oil Co. cup on best display in any one variety—H. Hatcherymen's cup No. C for the best male in the production class—Grandview. Hatcherymen's cup No. D offered on the best female in the production class—Silverward. Koppel's Battery Show cup for best production female in the show—Silverward.

The pigeon awards of cups and trophies were as follows: The $10.00 trophy offered by Dr. W. G. Winter, Holland, for the best display in fancy class, won by W. V. Moore, Sterling, Ill.

Ten dollar trophy for best display in utility class, won by Dr. W. G. Winter. Ottawa County Greater Poultry association trophy for best cock in fancy class, won by George Caball, Zeeland. Same donor, for best cock in utility class, won by Dr. W. G. Winter.

W. L. Eaton trophy for best hen in fancy class won by George Caball. W. L. Eaton trophy for best hen in utility class, won by Dr. W. G. Winter.

The bird with the greatest right to strut was a rather reticent creature—a pretty homing pigeon that won the Grand Rapids Chattanooga race for Thomas DeYoung of Grand Rapids. Another homing pigeon had flown from Paris to Brussels.

The pigeon aristocracy included the little brown archangel, the pigmy pouter, German pouter and white English pouter, the latter an exceedingly large specimen.

There were black Strassen squabs a very edible type; there were blue laced satinettes, and blondettes of beautiful markings; there were exquisite peacock-shaped fan tails, with swan-like heads laid so gracefully back upon their sleek backs.

There were varieties of tumbler, some bald-headed, the acrobatic birds which often remain several hours in the air without alighting, tumbling and somersaulting in great glee. Silver kings, white kings, red Carneau, Hungarian blacks, brown bars with odd red-dish circles about their eyes, trumpeters who go whooping and crooning through the air, new immigrants from Italy, the buff Sattolunga Neri, the black-headed, white breasted "mums," black African owls, spangled blue swallows, beautiful birds and real flyers—these all were assembled in brilliant array to charm the streams of visitors.

Two hundred and twenty-five entries were listed in the dog show section, coming from all over Michigan and some from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. John McIlwain of Battle Creek was the judge. Much interest was shown in this branch of the festival.

Attorney Raymond Vischer of Holland had some prominent entries in the bench show, coming with five entries of Scotch collies, winning first and second premiums including a trophy cup. Nick Lansing also won first on a Scotch collie.

MODEL FRAT-HOUSE TO DEVELOP UNDER PRESENT PLANS

Presently the "OKE" Home at Columbia and Tenth will be the scene of much hammering, pounding, and similar evidences of carpentry. The large attic is to be made into sleeping quarters for the members rooming on the second floor. Dormer windows and a raising of the ceiling are parts of the work made necessary by this arrangement. This will permit each fellow to have a warm, comfortable room for study and as his living quarters, while at night he can find healthy rest on the third floor where the temperature will be more suitable for that purpose.

Additional purchases of over-stuffed suites of furniture are coming to the lounge rooms downstairs. A large photograph, which came with some 200 records, provides relaxation for the Fraters. There is ample room for accommodating the society meetings, as well as the various groups who drop in for a bit of talk and cheer. The second floor rooms are rapidly being filled by the members, who will make their home here during the school year.

DOLLAR BILL LASTS SIX MONTHS

The life of a dollar bill is said to be in the neighborhood of six months, where once they were good for twenty months. The buying power of a dollar bill is said to be only two-thirds that of pre-war days, and lasts only one-third as long. The government has to print about a billion new $1 bills yearly to keep its currency intact at a cost of about four million dollars.

land was represented with five German Shepherd dogs. The Lakeway kennels of Kalamazoo had five entries of Russian Wolf hounds and they were beauties. That these dogs are winners in other shows was evident for this booth contained at least 500 ribbons, badges and trophies won before.

The R. A. Winchester kennels was also represented with six entries. The Wright kennels of Grand Rapids with seven entries, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Garrison of Kalamazoo with two Shepherd dog entries, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dangler of Comstock Park with Russian Wolf hounds and Pomeranians.

A. E. Bonner, the blood hound man from Coopersville also had a large exhibit. The Grayling kennels was represented with six entries, among them were wire-haired fox pointers and cocker spaniels. Mrs. Louise Grey and Mrs. Fred Sanford also had displays.

Carl J. Shad of Chicago was represented by D. Doberman Pincher shepherd dogs. The Bonner kennels was represented by some of the finest coach dogs ever shown in Michigan. Miss Teresa Dornbos of Grand Rapids displayed Pekingese and Mr. and Mrs. A. Rokus, also of Grand Rapids, had entered Pekingese and Pomeranians, and T. C. Merquardt, white Scotch collies.

One of the features during this combined exhibition was a dinner given by the Rabbit and Cavy men, in which the poultry men heartily joined. Dewey Jaarsma, a prominent rabbit fancier of this city, was in charge, assisted by an able committee.

Rabbit and cavy men swapped yarns and made wagers on their animals at the first rabbit banquet held in western Michigan.

"It was a wonderful show," declared Judge John C. Fehr of Indianapolis, before the 250 persons assembled at the dinner. "Some of the best rabbits in the United States are here."

Other speakers at the dinner were Austin Harrington, president of the Holland Fair association; R. C. Jackson, president, and Edward Brouwer, secretary of the Ottawa County Greater Poultry association. Dewey Jaarsma, president of the Holland Rabbit group presided and welcomed the guests. Rev. R. Roseboom opened with invocation.

The committee in charge of serving the dinner were Rufus Kramer, Mrs. John Ter Vree, Mrs. J. Morley, Mrs. G. Beltman, Mrs. H. Wolters, Mrs. Bernie Dieters, Mrs. R. Cramer, Mrs. P. Wejohm, Mrs. Harry Kraft and Mrs. J. E. Nyboer.

Ottawa county's Greater Poultry association's first festival was pronounced a marked success Saturday, the last day of the four-day exposition. Officers expressed themselves well pleased with the success of the event. Entries in the poultry department were not as large as expected owing to a chicken-pox epidemic in this vicinity.

Judges complimented the officers on the high quality of birds entered, which necessitated some rigid inspection due to close competition. The way has been paved for eventually bringing to Ottawa county the biggest and best poultry show in the country.

The rabbit, pigeon and dog departments were features. The entries exceeded expectations and many unusual exhibits were made. The show was well patronized and the lectures, motion pictures and other sidelines were interesting features.

In an address on present and future possibilities of the poultry industry Prof. C. G. Card of Michigan State college paid Ottawa county the compliment of being one of the outstanding baby chick centers of the nation.

Mr. Card stated that no figures were available, but that, judging from bank deposits at least $2,000,000 is brought into the county by the hatcheries. He urged bankers and business men to lend assistance in the expansion of the industry. In 1919, the last available census figures, poultry was the sixth leading industry with a value of one billion 47 million dollars. Michigan was eleventh among the states, with $34,960,000 value in the industry.

Scene from "The Cotters' Saturday Night"

The College Lyceum Course opens most auspiciously with the musical drama "The Cotters' Saturday Night." On Saturday evening, for supper Jenny and the "elder barns" come "dapping in," as also a "neebor lad" who of course, comes in with Jenny to "convey her home."

Who does not love Burns' "Cotters' Saturday Night," with its endearing scenes of "Old Scotia," the humble Cotters' home where, on Saturday evening, for supper Jenny and the "elder barns" come "dapping in," as also a "neebor lad" who of course, comes in with Jenny to "convey her home."

The cheerful supper done, with serious face, They, round the ingle, form a circle wide;

The sire turns o'er, wi' patriarchal grace, The big h' Bible, ance his father's pride.

After this, it need not be added the evening is spent in jolly fashion with mirth and song and story, until it is time for the barns and neighbors to leave for the night, to return to their several places of service, but they do not go until the father gives them his blessing and good counsel.
