Capt. Whittaker Tells of 21 Days On Raft in Ocean

Capt. James Whittaker, co-pilot of the Flying Fortress on which Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was a passenger when it crashed in the Pacific, addressed a capacity crowd of Hope college, Western Seminary and Holland High students and townspeople in Hope Memorial chapel Wednesday morning.

Capt. Whittaker, who was released from active duty over a year ago, described in a vivid and highly entertaining way, the experiences encountered by the five crew members and three passengers of the bomber from the time of their take-off from Hickam field, Honolulu, Oct. 21, to their rescue after 21 days on the Pacific in three life rafts.

Having made a crash landing on the water and after taking to the three rafts without any serious casualties, the eight men discovered that their only supplies were four oranges. These they rationed one a day for four days. They tried to catch fish with bare hands in which one of them found success until a sea dove actually landed on Capt. Rickenbacker's head and "Rick" caught him for bait. Two fish were caught and divided among the eight men. The only other food in all the 21 days was three small fish each, two larger fish which miraculously jumped into a raft 20 minutes after one of the men had prayed desperately for "anything" to eat, and a few sea lice which scraped off the backs of sharks when they rolled under the rafts. Capt. Whittaker said that sharks were constantly with them, often swimming along side the rafts.

The men were without water for eight days until it rained and they caught a two-day supply. On the 18th day came their first chance for rescue when a U.S. plane flew over three different times, once so close that they could see the men in the cockpit, but they were not sighted.

Having separated on about the 19th day because they thought there would be a better chance for rescue, Whittaker and his two companions spent an island and after several unsuccessful attempts to reach it, they finally landed almost too weak to talk. They were sent to a hospital on Samoa for 18 days before returning to the states.

One of the eight men, a 19-year-old sergeant, died after being delirious for two days and the other seven held services for him.

Capt. Whittaker said that the one thing he learned through his experience is that everyone must have more faith in God. Having never seen the inside of a church before his experience, he said that the two words that he added to his vocabulary because of the crash, are worth more to him than anything. Those two words are "I believe."

Alan Staver, president of Hope's student council, introduced the speaker, and Miss Libby Romane and Wilbur Brandt were in charge of devotions. The Hope college chapel choir of 100 voices formed a procession preceding the program, with Mrs. W. C. Snow at the organ.

Mayor Praises Draft Board for 'Job Well Done'

Mayor Elmer J. Schepers today saluted the three members of Holland's selective service board for "a fine job."

Chairman Vaudie J. Vandenberg claims the longest service, serving continuously since his appointment in October, 1940, just in advance of the first conscription.

Leon N. Moody was appointed at the same time but later was out for more than a year due to ill health. Both he and Vandenberg were appointed during the late Gov. Luren D. Dickinson's term of office and Moody was reappointed under former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner.

Harry Kramer has served continuously since his appointment in April, 1941, following the resignation of John Arendshorst who served about six months.

"These men have seen hard service, trying, tiresome and frequently sorrowful—performed without pay, without acclaim, without decorations, and almost no public recognition. Besides the normal duties of drafting men for the armed forces, often making difficult borderline decisions, these three men have had to deal with appeals boards, appeals agents, legal advisors to registrars, examining physicians, medical advisors, and reemployment committees."

"Often the work has been agonizing. It has involved the lives of the sons of neighbors and friends, the disruption of homes, all the deep domestic dislocations and griefs of war. The draft board members must rule—and then continue to live with the neighbors so actively affected. Holland's three members and others all over the country have been able to go on living among their neighbors because they've done a hard job honestly."

Students Begin School Forest

Planting of 2,500 trees by 30 students of Berculo school district No. 5 at their school forest Oct. 12 raised to more than 85,000 the total number of trees planted by school children in school forests in Ottawa county since 1941, according to Hunter Hering, chairman of the board of the West Ottawa soil conservation district, which has sponsored the school forests the past four years.

There are now 18 schools cooperating with the district in developing school forests.

Gerald Plasman, principal of Berculo school district No. 5, directed the planting of the 2,500 trees. District No. 5, under the leadership of John Kraai, director of the school board and Plasman, has subdivided 40 acres of land in section 14 of Olive township within the West Ottawa soil conservation district. Olin A. Clay, farm planner for the district, is working with Kraai and Plasman on plans for developing the forest.

The plans call for planting 5,000 trees a year, 2,500 each in the spring and fall. It will take about eight years to complete the project.

The West Ottawa soil conservation district will supply trees for the first planting. Trees for future planting will be obtained from the state conservation department.

Hydrant Bursts In Local Crash

The intersection of Ninth St. and Columbia Ave. was flooded for a short time Wednesday when a hydrant on the northeast corner was struck by a car in a crash with a pickup truck at 7:35 a.m.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson for information referred to the city ordinance as passed in 1921 prohibiting public dances in any place where liquor or beer is sold. Aldermen voted without further discussion. There were some dissenting votes, but no roll call.

William Donley, 37, 322 West 13th St., paid fine and costs of $5 in municipal court Wednesday on a stop street charge. Arle and Henry Ter Haar each paid costs of $1 on charges of parking too close to a corner.

A petition bearing some 700 signatures requesting council to allow A. H. Brinkman, bus operator, to continue to pick up and discharge passengers on River Ave. and West 17th St., the same as heretofore, was referred back to the license committee.

Along with the petition was a communication from Brinkman requesting council to reconsider the action taken at a previous meeting in denying him the right to pick up and discharge passengers in the city, while operating his buses to the resorts. He contends that since he has operated the busline for eight years and was authorized by the mayor at the time he started to carry city passengers, he should have been notified to secure a city license rather than be deprived of his right to carry on this practice.

Clerk Peterson read a communication from Rudolph Heinicke, 340 West 14th St., protesting the recent action taken by council ordering construction of a sidewalk on Harrison Ave. adjacent to his premises. He contends that such a walk would be of benefit to only two property owners and of no benefit to the general public and that the expense involved is too great for the benefits received.

Council approved an application of Ben Lieveens for a license to operate a bowling alley at 215 Central Ave., also an application of William Mokma for a license to sell soft drinks at his store located at 433 Columbia Ave., a transfer of ownership from Peter Van Liere.

A petition from property owners requesting council to establish a 16-foot setback line for all future building construction on the north side of East Eighth St. between Columbia and Lincoln Aves. was referred to the street committee, the city attorney and city engineer with power to act.

Rev. Warner Is DAR Speaker

Rev. William C. Warner, rector of Grace Episcopal church, addressed members of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. J. Mikula, on the subject, "The Episcopal Church and the Revolution." The historical paper brought out numerous interesting facts concerning the Revolutionary period and the changes brought in the position of the former "state" church.

While from the American point of view, the church was greatly handicapped by the fact that most of her clergy were Englishmen, and so became Loyalists, still the backbone of the Revolutionary movement as far as its personnel is concerned, was constituted of men of the Episcopal church," he explained.

However, immediately succeeding the Revolution, the Episcopal church in America was in serious trouble. Leadership was lacking, and her clergy was reduced almost to annihilation, and the loss of state support was crippling. Rev. Warner stated, "But the spirit of her people was indomitable, and soon her clergy and people in the central states took thought to the future that the life of the church might be unimpaired," he said.

Rev. Warner, regent of the Sons of the Revolution, extended greetings from that organization.

Mrs. Milton L. Hinga, chapter regent, presided and devotions were conducted by Mrs. W. F. Kendrick, chaplain. Reports of committees were given by Mrs. R. F. ## Good Will Conference Report Heard by WCTU

With an interesting program on postwar problems in charge of Mrs. Edith Walvoord and with Miss Retta Pas as speaker, the local unit of the Women's Christian Temperance union resumed its activities for the new fiscal year. The group met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. J. Dregman with Mrs. Carl Dressel presiding and Mrs. C. M. Beert-huis as devotional leader.

Introducing the speaker, Mrs. Walvoord told how she and Miss Pas attended a Community Good Will conference at Westminster lodge, Aug. 31-Sept. 2. Purpose and sponsorship of the conference was explained in a quotation from Stanley Jones' "Christ of the American Road."

"All through the national Christian mission we repeated the plea that there needs to be some constructive force working within American life that will be unity-bringing, that will bridge the gaps in our national life. I am persuaded that the Christian movement is the only force that can bridge these gaps."

Miss Pas, who attended the conference as a delegate of the Holland branch of American Association of University Women, described the different groups participating in the discussion as representing the phases of American life. In a graphic picture of the daily activities and programs of the conference, the speaker called it an earnest endeavor to find the solution to all the problems the nation has to face as the aftermath of World War II, and "how we as victors" are going to live among the nations of the earth; how the only answer is a missionary program giving "our knowledge of the Christ and the hope of life immortal" to the rest of the world.

In closing the discussion which followed Miss Pas' address, Mrs. Dressel remarked that the answer to all problems is found in the devotional theme used by Mrs. Beert-huis, "Be still and wait upon the Lord."

Miss Mary Van Dyke, accompanied by Mrs. D. Vander Meer, sang "In the Garden."

Tea was served by Mrs. C. Hopkins and Mrs. L. Van Hartesveldt.

Describes Atom Effect in Nagasaki

A vivid description of the destruction at Nagasaki was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Albert De Maat from their son, Seeman 1/C Leon De Maat, who is stationed on the aircraft carrier USS Cape Gloucester, now at Japan.

According to the information provided by De Maat, the damage at Nagasaki was worse than the men had expected despite the fact that they had known it was bad enough.

"The completeness of the ruin is what impressed us most. For a stretch clocked on the ambulance to be 1 mile long and one mile wide, the buildings have been swept away to street level. The only exceptions are those with steel frames. The girders, twisted and often broken, remain standing, but otherwise these too, are complete wrecks."

"Ordinary bombs often gut a building but still leave three or four walls standing. This atomic bomb broke up concrete walls into small bits and scattered them over the countryside. The heat must have been intense for in several places nothing is left of some victims but the outline in ashes of his or her body. Life there is completely dead and no habitable building remains in the entire area, in fact almost no buildings."

"Even outside this path of total destruction, walls have been smashed, window panes broken, and streets littered with debris. "Several things stand out like sore thumbs in Nagasaki — the congestions, the filth, the smells and the cheapness and shoddiness of everything. They have very few things that can compare in quality with our own, especially in ships and armament."

Plan Another Printing Of Dutch Export Tags

Postmaster Harry Kramer and Willard C. Wichers, manager of the Netherlands Information bureau, in a joint announcement today stated that plans have been completed to reproduce export tags necessary on parcels to be sent to the Netherlands. The reproductions which will be ready in about a week have been authorized by postal authorities.

The two men pointed out that the special printing is arranged only as a public service and that a nominal fee will be listed, all proceeds above the actual cost to go to Netherlands relief.

Post offices in Holland and elsewhere have been desperately short of the necessary tags ever since mailing of parcels overseas was permitted. The new tags when ready may be obtained from Wichers' office on the third floor of the city hall.

It takes more than a telephone to provide service

If all we needed were new telephone instruments, the job of providing service for the 125,000 families now waiting would be much easier and faster. However, nearly two-thirds of those waiting are in areas where present central office equipment cannot handle any more telephones, or where all outside wire and cable are in use.

Large-scale manufacture of civilian telephone equipment is under way, and no effort is being spared to hasten production. But cable and central office equipment are not ready for use when they leave the factory. They must be fitted into the existing telephone system before they can be used to connect new telephones. This is a complicated, time-consuming process.

If you are among those waiting, you may be sure that we'll fill your order in its proper turn as soon as possible. But it may be nearly two years before telephones can be installed generally without delay.

STRIKES WITHOUT REASON

Americans are getting tired of their labor situation. It is doubtful if anyone is satisfied. Labor leaders clamoring for more take-home pay for their members are trying to satisfy constituents and hold their power. They know they cannot get, in full, what they ask for. They are doing no good. Some of them are uneasy conscious that they are sewing the wind, and if they keep on they will surely reap the whirlwind.

It is necessary for workers to possess the strike as a potential weapon to be used in cases of injustice. But when it is used to slash around wildly in cases which do not involve inequity or injustice, it is being misused. It is then directed at the whole people, depriving them of what benefits or services they might have if production were not interrupted.
The workers themselves are deprived of the reasonable wages they might be making, and their families get along meanwhile on smaller dole which the workers themselves provide out of their union dues. The employers lose that continuity of production which alone can give the people of the nation the things they need.
That kind of strike is not useful. It eats away the very foundations of the nation's prosperity. Persisted in too long, it eats away modest comfort and leads to poverty and starvation.
Moreover, the unreasonable strike is a distinctly fascist move.
It is the effort of one group to control the life and action of a whole people.

It is time for all to understand these basic facts, and for legislation regulating labor not only for its own good but for the common good to be worked out.

Making the Home Christian

Luke 10:38-42; 1 Corinthians

12:31; 13:1-13

By Henry Geerlings

The family is the basis of the community and national life. As goes the family so go the community and the national life. It could not be otherwise. Our reason tells us that much, and our experience and observation confirm it. A few families, from which all discipline and order are absent, can bring something like chaos to the neighborhood. We do not live so much to ourselves as we sometimes suppose. Order and peace and industry in the home make a contribution to the community that cannot be overestimated. We owe much to our homes and our immediate vicinity; but if we stop there we fall short of paying our full debt.
Our family and mine are more widely known than we suppose.
Our names are mentioned in circles where we imagine that we are strangers. Sometimes we say that we are not known out of the block in which we live. That is not so. People know whether we are Christians or not, whether we attend church or not, whether we live up to the profession we make or not. A genuinely Christian family is leaven in the community.

There are many factors that may break or make the home, but the father and mother are the chief factors. In the first place they are to set the example of upright Christian living. That is the responsibility they assume when they enter into this holy estate.
Their own relationship will not be what God intends it shall be unless they are followers of Christ and set a worthy example to all who are in the house. Family worship in some form should characterize every home that claims to be Christian. It need not be elaborate. Adequate helps are now provided, so that even those who have not had the training for it can introduce it without embarassment or other difficulty.
It might be a good thing if the official minister should give some simple instruction or at least counsel to the bride and groom about the need and the helpfulness and the method of the family altar. If ever husband and wife are conscious of the need of making the home Christian, it is when this relationship is established and when the first child comes into the family. In any event husband and wife are conscious of the need of making the home Christian, it is when this relationship is established and when the first child comes into the family.
In any event husband and wife and father and mother are responsible for family worship, and nothing else they can do can mean more than the introduction of the home altar. One of the best times is at the morning or evening meal.

The home has many enemies.
You can name a list of them as well as I can. But at least a few of them come to all of us. One of them is the tendency to worship the dollar. It takes money to live these days; but the great difficulty is that we are not satisfied with present situations. We see so many people who seem to have plenty of it and we become dissatisfied. We are still prone to speak of money as the mighty dollar. Sometimes we will stoop to low levels to acquire it if we desire it for the sake of appearance. A second one is that of cheap literature the worst type of which is the kind that is designated impure, lustful, sexual.
Hoards of people would be amazed if they knew how much of such literature is published, and how much circulated and read. This is not anything new. It has challenged the home and the church from the beginning. It is going into more homes at the present time than before. If we are to believe reports, we are proud to guard our homes by keeping destructive forces out and by bringing good forces in. We must try to influence all the members of the family, so that all will work together toward this end.

The home is still a mighty force.
It would be untrue to suppose that the influence of the home is a thing of the past. It never has been and it never can be. A true home will always be distinctive.
There is nothing that can take its place. It will be here when many cherished institutions are gone. It will survive much of which our civilization boasts. We may replace the messenger boy with the telephone wire, and the horse-drawn vehicle with the automobile; but there is nothing that can take the place of the home. It is here that the coming kingdom will be built. It is here the future generations will be trained very largely. He who would destroy the home is the enemy of God and his church. He who would undermine the home is the enemy of our civilization. He who would defile the home is the enemy of the best that the world has known.

charge of the work here and it is believed that there will be no difficulty in securing his services as he is very much interested in the work in Holland.

An important question to be decided by the people of Zeeland at or not the city shall be bonded for $15,000 for the purpose of installing a sewer system.

At a meeting of the board of di-

Hereafter road commissioners will be accorded the privilege of riding with rural carriers for activation of roads. The new rule is announced in the January supple-follows: "Postmasters at rural delivery offices are instructed to permit road supervisors or commissioners having direct charge of the highways over which rural delivery routes are in operation to ride over the routes with rural carriers when such road officials are actively engaged in the performance of their duties in connection with the inspection of the roads." The new rule will enable highway commissioners to inspect roads without expense of conveyance.

Prof. John M. Slagh, head of the of Holland and about to be elected the mayor of Owosso, his friends believe, has written an interesting letter to C. E. Thompson of the Thompson Manufacturing Co., according to a story appearing in the Saturday, April 4, issue. Mr.

Thompson wrote to Mr. De Young asking in regard to the commission form of government about to be put in operation in Owosso. In his answer Mr. De Young explains how it works and furthermore he has something to say about the proposal to change the membership in the police and public works board from the appointive to the elective system.

Today the quarantine was lifted in the scarlet fever case and the only ones of their kind that have been in Holland this winter. Health officers Godfrey attributes the success in confining the cases to the single families in which they occurred to the prompt reporting on the part of the attending physicians and today he had high praise for their promptness.

to be held in Holland about the middle of June, began a story in the Monday, April 6, issue. Until quite recently there was still some slight doubt as to whether or not this city would have the privilege of entertaining the delethe members of the organization will soon be held for considering the purchase of the De Jongh prop-

Century Club Hears of Early Days in Holland

Charles H. McBride, Holland attorney, addressed members of the Century club Monday night on "The Americanization of the Hollander," when the scheduled speaker, L. H. Finneberg, was called to New York on business.
The meeting was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Otto van der Velde on Park road.

Delving back into the history of Holland as a community, Mr. Mc-Bride interested and pleased his listeners with intimate glimpses into the early life here, and in a later period with his own recollections of personalities and happenings.

Emphasizing the influence of the early "Americans" as differentiated from the Dutch immigrants, the speaker remarked that "in the last few years since we have advertised our Tulip Time festival, which is a 'natural,' many have forgotten or never have known or appreciated that our early beginnings are rooted in the American, not the Dutch tradition.
This would have been a city regardless of the immigration from Holland," he said.

"It has always been American initiative, American ideals, American capital, which has molded the activities and attended the growth of our city. Nevertheless," he declared, "it cannot be denied that the Holland immigrant lent color, thrill and sturdiness of character and spiritual strength to the atmosphere of this community, together with its baptismal name.
Dr. Van Raalte built better than he knew."

As an additional program feature, Miss Norma Albers of this city, a student at Hope college, played the piano solo, "Sonatine," by Ravel. Miss Laura Boyd made arrangements for the music.

Vernon D. Ten Cate, club president, presided and Dr. van der Velde, vice-president and chairman of the nominating committee, presented the names of Mr. and Mrs. John Donnelly, Dr. and Mrs.
Irwin J. Lubbers and Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Karsten, who were elected to membership in the club.

Miss Lois Schoon, Holland High school senior, spoke on the Community chest and War fund campaign.

Social hour was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bosch, Mrs.
J. E. Telling and Mr. and Mrs. O.
S. Cross.

This morning an agreement was circulated among the dry goods merchants of Holland, having for its object the closing of their stores at 6 o'clock every evening except Tuesday and Saturday, from Jan. 7 until Mar. 1. This is decidedly a move in the right direction, according to the story in the Dec. 28 issue of the Times published by M. G. Manting. As soon as the public has become accustomed to it, they will find it much more convenient to do their shopping during the day than in the evening. Besides two evenings a week, Tuesday and Saturday, are left to visit the stores.

May Send Boxes To Netherlands

It is now possible to ship 100-pound wooden boxes of commodities by steamship to the Netherlands, but the process is so involved that few probably will take advantage of the plan outlined by the Foreign Economic administration, the Netherlands Information bureau announced today.

Persons desiring to send out such a box first must fill out special forms in quadruplicate listing articles the sender plans to include in the box. These forms which are available at the bureau's office on the third floor of the city hall must be sent to the Holland-American steamship line.

The steamship line assigns a serial number and strikes out the articles not approved. The serial number and the original blacks are returned to the sender who then must fill out a shipper's export declaration in the presence of a notary public.

Then the shipment goes at the sender's expense, plus $7.50 for ocean shipping fee, to the pier at Hoboken, N.J. The recipient in the Netherlands must pay the shipping charges from the dock to the destination. There are no duty fees since all items allowed are on an approved list.

While forms may be obtained from the bureau office, persons obtaining them must execute the forms themselves.

Muskegon Heavy Favorite to Trip Dutchmen Friday

With four victories in their first five games—one of the best grid starts a Holland High school eleven has made in many seasons—Coach Paul Camburn's Dutchmen pointed today for one of their toughest battles of the season, with the speedy undefeated Muskegon High school team Friday night at Riverview park.

The game will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

With his fastest backfield man, Joe Caravia, on the sidelines, Camburn said the Dutch would go into the game—their second Southwest conference affair—as underdogs, since Coach Lee (Tut) Redmond's team is rated along with Muskegon Heights, which banded the Dutch their only defeat of the season, as favorites to win the Southwest conference championship.

Caravia, who suffered a leg cut a week ago today, played about a quarter of the game with Kalamazoo St. Augustine last Friday but Camburn expressed doubt that Caravia's leg would be in shape to allow him to play little if any of Friday's game. The speedy half-back hasn't practiced this week and his absence will be a definite handicap against Muskegon since the visitors rely on a "T" formation with one man in motion, and Holland will need all the speed it can muster to halt the Muskie attack.

Main threat of the Reds is Ted Barrett, reputed to be one of the fastest high school halfbacks in the state. Barrett, a high-scoring sensation, operates with two other speedsters, Don Ohs, his running mate, and Nienhow, fullback. Ready to relieve Barrett and still provide plenty of classy ball running is Bob McNitt, who teamed with Barrett last year when the two were used as a substitute backfield combination which did considerable scoring for Muskegon.

Undefeated in four games this season, two of those victories over conference foes—Benton Harbor and Grand Haven—the Muskies will be gunning for their third straight conference triumph, aiming at equalling their top record last season when they won the conference championship and ended the season undefeated, laying claim to the mythical state championship along with Grand Rapids South.

Potentially a high scoring team, the Muskies will test the Dutchmen's ability to halt a fast moving eleven and the Dutch, although sporting a fine mark for having won so far, are rated as having small chance of keeping their goal line from being crossed by the Red speedsters.

Camburn said today his tentative starting lineup would include: Warren Nysson and George Botis, ends; Stan McClure and Jerry Grofers, tackles; Poogey McCormick and Bob Greening or Bob Allen, guards; Bob Van Dyke, center; Jack Van Dorpe, quarterback; Ken Kuipers and Bud Vande Wege or Joe Caravia, halfbacks.

Play Is Sponsored By Junior League

At the meeting of the Junior Welfare league in the Woman's club Tuesday night, arrangements were discussed for the three-act play, "Pep Parade," which the league is sponsoring next week. The production, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Bacon, will be held in Holland High school auditorium Oct. 25 and 26 at 8 p.m. Proceeds from the play will be used to provide medical care and other necessities for the underprivileged and crippled children of Holland.

Members of the Palette and Masque dramatic group of Hope college will form the cast and girls of Holland High school will appear in the choruses. League members were supplied with tickets for the production.

In other business the league announced engagement of the Clare Tree Major players for Tuesday, Jan. 29, when they will present the children's play, "The Golden Apple." The league has presented these famous players here on numerous occasions for the entertainment of children of the city.

Plans for the league public bridge party and bazaar on Dec. 4 also were discussed. Mrs. John Donnelly presided.

Brown-De Witt Baby Case to Be Resumed Later
Grand Haven, Oct. 18 (Special)—The baby custody case which has attracted considerable publicity in several courts throughout the country, in which William C. and Esther Brown of San Francisco, Cal., seek the return of an 11-month-old boy from Richard and Julia Ann De Witt of Zeeland, was adjourned in circuit court Wednesday following testimony of William Brown.

Motion for adjournment was made by J. N. Clark of the defense counsel who requested the delay until Attorney Jay Lindsay of Grand Rapids, also retained by the defense, could be in court. The request was granted but no definite date was set for the adjourned hearing, which may be some day next week.

In his testimony, Brown, who served in both World wars and 11, said that, although the child was born Nov. 28, 1944, he had been in the Aleutians from May 11, 1943, until 18 months thereafter and returned to the states the early part of October, 1944. He said he did not learn of his wife's pregnancy until about the middle of October, that he was confused and upset and therefore was not familiar with the paper he signed which purported to be his relinquishment of all rights to the child in question. He admitted on the stand, however, that he did give his wife a choice of either letting the baby out for adoption and staying with him, or keeping the child and he would then divorce her.

The De Witts had gone to San Francisco last December and had what they thought were legal papers giving them complete custody of the child after relinquishment papers were signed by the Browns. Plaintiffs now claim that the supposed legal document was signed by a notary public instead of a social welfare agent.

The Browns, according to testimony, are now living in a hotel room in San Francisco. They were married in Mexico in 1935 and went through a second ceremony in San Francisco Oct. 9, 1942, eight days before Brown entered the service. He said the second ceremony was performed because he had lost the records of the first marriage and wanted records in order before his entrance into military service.

The case was heard last month in federal court in Grand Rapids and dismissed at that time for lack of jurisdiction.

Depositions are to be taken from witnesses in California which will be part of the proofs offered to the Ottawa court.

A man can plan...

1. I think of a rolling country, and the farm I'll own some day, When I swap my wrench for a milking bench, and my lathe for a load of hay!

2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free, I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!

3. We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled, And each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then, For with Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!

5. Whatever your plans for the future you'd better buy Bonds by the score, Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work...
Each three bucks will bring you back four!
So buy 'em and buy 'em and buy 'em, and keep every Bond till it's due,
The more Bonds you buy will be more you've put by For the day when your plans can come true!
