General Election Will Have Seven Separate Ballots

County Clerk Holds Inspector's School To Explain Voting

There are going to be seven separate ballots for the Nov. 2 general election. Seven Holland men attended an election inspector's school at Grand Haven Thursday night.

County Clerk William Wilds called the school to explain the procedure of voting.

The first ballot will be for President and Vice President of the United States. There are seven parties on the ballot. Voters must vote a straight ticket on the presidential ballot. You cannot vote for President of one party and Vice President of another.

On the second ballot are the state, congressional, legislative and county officers. There are seven parties on this ballot. The second ballot may be split or straight. If straight, voters just mark a cross under the party banner atop the ballot.

The Judge of Probate contest and naming of Circuit Court commissioners is on the third ballot. This is a non-partisan election. There are no names listed for Circuit Court commissioners. Two persons must be named via a write-in. Voters must only write in names of attorneys. No other names will be accepted as court commissioners.

The fourth ballot is the general revision of the state constitution issue. Persons vote either yes or no.

The fifth ballot is the six state referendums. These issues are merely a yes or no vote.

On the sixth ballot is the question of county employees coming under the pension system, the same as Holland city employees do. This is also a yes or no issue.

The seventh ballot will be the local 20th St. issue.

Wilds told the inspectors to urge voters to cast their ballots early. He also explained that any ballots which are marked wrong or mutilated in any manner, will be voided.

Attending the school from Holland were: John Wolman, Earl Ragans, Melvin Van Tatenhove, Ed Lam, Wilson Diekema, E. A. Stegink and City Clerk Clarence Greengood.

License Bureau Is Red-Hot Issue

Grand Haven, Oct. 14 (Special) — A red-hot issue on whether the Grand Haven license bureau should remain within the county building was scheduled for further discussion by the Board of Supervisors today, after Supervisor John Galien of Holland submitted two controversial resolutions Wednesday.

One resolution asked for salary adjustments for certain officers and employees in lieu of special compensation elsewhere in the budget. Specifically, some supervisors felt that Deputy Clerk Anna Van Horssen should receive a salary increase instead of receiving $300 for her services as budget clerk. The issue was referred to the prosecuting attorney for a ruling on whether the duties of budget clerk is a function of the county clerk's office.

On the other issue, County Clerk William Wilds, speaking from prepared notes, vigorously defended the license setup in the court house on the grounds of service to the public. He said if the license bureau is put out of the building, the same policy should extend to other conditions such as The Sentinel's Grand Haven correspondent, who is not a county employee but who works out of the prosecutor's office doing both newspaper and abstract work.

The correspondent, recognized by the chair, explained the arrangement whereby she is allowed use of the office to carry on her other work in return for service to the prosecutor for which no remuneration is given.

In presenting the resolution, Galien said it was not a personal matter, but after receiving many criticisms on the license bureau operations he felt it was time to learn how board members stood on the subject.

Holland supervisors pointed out that Holland city pays approximately 30 per cent of the cost of the court house and the county government, also 30 per cent of the clerk's and deputy clerk's salaries, and "we do not pay them to run a license bureau."

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Benton Harbor — Hundreds of Methodist laymen from churches in Southwestern Michigan will convene in Benton Harbor for a conference Sunday. Marshall Reed, Detroit, newly elected Methodist bishop of Michigan, will attend the meeting.

Tena Holkeboer, home for a rest after five hectic years in foreign fields, holds a valuable Chinese vase, a farewell gift from the board of her girls' high school in Amoy. She is sitting on a hand carved Chinese chest which is lined with camphor wood. The chest and the carved figures on top represent the best of fine Chinese wood carving, an art which is dying out because economical problems demand more productive work. She estimated it took a man three months to do the carving on the chest.

Missionary Comes Home After Hectic Five Years

"China is worn out and has almost lost courage," Tena Holkeboer, veteran missionary home on her fourth furlough in 28 years, said in a Sentinel interview Wednesday.

"Unless America takes a hand, there is no hope for this vast country which has been at war with Japan and now with the Communists ever since 1937," Miss Holkeboer said.

Now home with her mother, Mrs. Anna Holkeboer, 34 East 14th St., the missionary-educator has been forbidden by physicians to accept speaking engagements for at least three months. Her furlough had been set ahead for health reasons.

And the missionary, who left for China in 1920 just after being graduated from Hope college, plans to spend most of this furlough quietly at home with her mother.

During her first furlough she attended Columbia university and received a master's degree in secondary education. On the second furlough, a much shorter one, she spent four months at Biblical seminary in New York. During the third furlough in 1943-44, she spent a year studying Chinese languages at the University of California in Berkeley.

During most of her 28 years in missionary work, Miss Holkeboer has served as principal of a girls' high school in Amoy which now enrolls 550 students. Her work has been taken over by a Chinese girl, Carol Chen, who has just returned to China after obtaining a master's degree in secondary education at Columbia. She visited Mrs. Holkeboer here last summer. Previously Miss Chen received a master's degree in Chinese literature at Yen China university at Peking.

Miss Holkeboer described the last five years as the most hectic in her career. Anxious to return to China, she left America in October, 1943, via a "back door" route since the Chinese interior was still free. She went by way of Lisbon, Portugal, and around the west coast of Africa, around Cape Good Hope and up the east coast. En route, she had the misfortune to fall downstairs on ship and fracture her shoulder.

After a bad trip across the Indian ocean, at that time infested with Jap submarines, the ship arrived at Colombo, Ceylon, in June, 1944. Miss Holkeboer was severely ill of food poisoning and was taken to a native hospital. When she arrived at Calcutta later, she found the way to the Chinese interior had been ordered closed two weeks before.

So she went to the Reformed mission station in South India and spent 1½ years there teaching in the high school at the same station where Mary Geegh is stationed. Both missionaries are supported by Trinity church.

On the November after V-J day in 1945, Miss Holkeboer obtained passage on an Army plane and was flown to Shanghai, arriving there a full year ahead of any other women missionaries. Then she experienced a horrible trip down the coast to Amoy in a tiny launch since no steamers were available. Twice the small boat was attacked by pirates, and then managed to stay afloat in two big typhoons which sent down nine big junks in the same path. The trip, ordinarily two days, took six

Sunday School Convention Set

The 60th annual Sunday school convention, sponsored by the Ottawa County Council of Christian Education, will be held Tuesday, Oct. 19, in Coopersville Reformed church with sessions at 1:45 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

According to President Walter Vander Haar, devotional messages will be given by Dr. John E. Kuizenga, former professor at Princeton Theological seminary. His subject will be "Called to Service" in the afternoon and "Joy in Serving Christ" in the evening.

The Rev. Henry Bast, pastor of Bethany Reformed church in Grand Rapids who recently returned from an extensive tour of Europe, will deliver the main address in the afternoon. His subject will be "Consecrated to Serve."

Conferences have been arranged for children's workers, young people, adults and for officers of Sunday schools.

The evening's address will be given by Dr. Russell Seibert, professor of history at Western Michigan college, and active lay worker in the Presbyterian church in Kalamazoo. His subject will be "Serve Christ Now," the theme of the convention.

Carl Holden will lead the song service and will direct a convention chorus in the evening.

Mrs. Lasette Mayland, 67, of Seward, Neb., sister-in-law of Albert H. Scheer, Muskegon, driver of one car.

The injured:
R. W. Scheer, 28, principal of St. Johns Lutheran school and organist of the church, broken pelvis and rib.

His wife, Lois, 23, fractured pelvis.

Their daughter, Sandra, 4, internal injuries.

Mrs. Albert Scheer, 56, multiple bruises.

Ervin Mason, 19, Grand Haven, driver of other car, broken neck, body cuts and head lacerations.

Lois Levandowski, 15, of 101 Franklin St., Grand Haven, lacerations over left eye and on both wrists.

Both cars were demolished in the crash. Parts of the cars were found in a field 87 feet from the scene of the accident.

City police are investigating and so far have been unable to question drivers or witnesses to determine the exact circumstances surrounding one of the worst accidents here in a long time.

The Scheer car was traveling north on Sheldon road and the Mason car west on Robbins road. The accident occurred just inside the Grand Haven city limits. Police said the Mason car is believed to have hit the Scheer car in the center of the right side.

The baby was killed instantly and Mrs. Mayland, a sister of Mrs. Albert Scheer, died on admittance to Municipal hospital. She had received a crushed chest and several fractures. Four ambulances took the injured to Municipal hospital.

Grand Rapids Man Killed in Crash

Coopersville, Oct. 14 — Richard L. Stickney, 38, of Grand Rapids, was killed at 2:10 a.m. today when his car crashed into the rear of a heavy truck on US-16, three miles west of here.

Vern L. Wright, 36, Lansing, was driver of the truck which was loaded with 21 tons of Continental auto motors and was en route to Detroit from Muskegon.

State police of Grand Haven investigated and called Coroner Gilbert Vande Water of Holland. The latter ruled accidental death and said there would be no inquest.

Vande Water said he believed Stickney fell asleep. His car rolled over a couple of times after the impact. Both vehicles were traveling east. The victim received a fractured skull and other injuries.

He is survived by the wife and one child.

Council Approves Assessment Rolls

It took a half hour of frantic telephone-calling by City Clerk Clarence Greengood to get a quorum Friday, and Common Council met at 5:30 in special session.

Council approved the assessment rolls to cover cost of paving 6th St. between Central to Michigan Aves. A resolution was passed authorizing bonds to be issued for that district.

The ruling body also passed a motion instructing the clerk to write the Michigan Municipal league protesting against the idea of having their annual convention during a week-end.

Ald. Melvin Van Tatenhove and Earl Ragans were absent.

Chest Solicitation Starts Next Week Inside Factories

Plans were progressing today in Holland's Community Chest campaign which will be held Oct. 25 to 29 to raise $26,550 for 11 local and national agencies.

Industrial solicitors, under direction of Wilbur Cobb, will meet in the GAR room of City Hall Thursday at 4 p.m. for a short briefing and distribution of materials.

The industrial canvass will be staged next week starting Oct. 18, a week in advance of the regular drive. The advance drive is arranged so that persons who have contributed at work may post their Red Feather window stickers in the front window at home to eliminate requests in the house-to-house canvass.

Cobb, as chairman of the industrial committee, is appointing 12 team captains, most of whom will be responsible for four or five industries. A representative from each industry also is expected to attend the meeting Thursday. From 40 to 45 are expected. Campaign Director Peter Kromann will assist Cobb in presenting Community Chest needs and solicitation methods.

A similar meeting for downtown business men will be held Friday, Oct. 22 at 10 a.m. in the Warm Friend Tavern in the form of a coffee kletz. George Good and Robert Kow are co-chairmen.

A kickoff meeting for women solicitors is scheduled for 4 p.m. in the hotel. Mrs. J. D. Jencks and Mrs. Bert Selles are co-chairmen. Coffee and doughnuts will be served by the Camp Fire girls.

Man Found Dead At Local House

Donald Curtis Bonar, 34, was found dead on the floor of the bathroom at early Monday by his aunt when she returned home after a week-end in Kalamazoo. Coroner reports indicated the man had been dead since Saturday.

He lived at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Clare S. Johnson at 884 East Eighth St. for the last three years. He was a World War II veteran and had frequent hemorrhages for the last two years or more, according to reports. It was believed a hemorrhage caused his death. He had been an invalid since his return from service.

He was born March 31, 1914 in Danville, Iowa. He was a private in the Army and served 31 months overseas. He was discharged from Fort Knox, Ky., Nov. 3, 1945.

500 Children Receive School Health Exams

Successful Program Carried on Here for Second, Fifth Graders

More than 500 second and fifth graders in local elementary schools have received health examinations this month under a school health program sponsored by the board of education and the Christian school PTA.

Clinics were conducted in the various elementary schools Oct. 5 for second graders and Oct. 14 for fifth graders. This program, launched last year, is arranged so that continuous health records of all pupils are kept on file. With the required pre-school examinations sponsored by PTA's, the program is planned for elementary pupils to receive examinations every three years. Follow-up studies are made so that defects are corrected.

The program this year is under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Hamelink, assisted by chairmen in each of the elementary schools. These are Mrs. Andries Steketee, Washington school; Mrs. R. A. Boersma, Longfellow; Mrs. Wilma Reed, Froebel; Mrs. M. Meurer, Lincoln; Mrs. George Schrevenwever, Christian school. Mrs. Hamelink also represents Van Raalte school. Each school has a health committee.

Under the improved program, parents are notified and must agree to examinations for their children before they are given. Mothers are present when children are examined and have the opportunity to consult the examining physician at the time.

Examinations are more thorough than in previous years. Besides the normal examination of eyes, ears, nose, throat, teeth and heart, attention is given to nutrition, dietary symptoms, temperatures and such defects as skin rashes. Some cases are referred to the family physician.

Examinations revealed that one strong point parents and teachers should emphasize is posture. In the health program, local physicians co-operate in giving the examinations, two assigned to each school. Graduate nurses volunteer their services and the Ottawa County Health department furnishes clinic supplies.

Physicians were assigned as follows: Washington, Dr. William Kools and Dr. Edna Schrick; Longfellow, Dr. John K. and Dr. William G. Winter; Froebel, Dr. Chester Van Appledorn and Dr. M. H. Hamelink; Lincoln, Dr. H. P. Harris and Dr. Richard Schaffenaar; Van Raalte, Dr. William Weststrate and Dr. Nelson Clark; Christian, Dr. Otto van der Velde and Dr. E. Vander Berg. Dr. Henry Ten Pas of Hamilton substituted for Dr. Clark Oct. 5 and Dr. Weststrate Oct. 12.

Nurses assisting were Mrs. E. Brand, Mrs. R. A. Boersma, Mrs. Martin Mellema, Mrs. Olin Anderson, Mrs. Willard C. Wichers, Mrs. Richard Oudersluys, Mrs. Hamelink, Mrs. Schrevenwever, Mrs. A. Helder, Mrs. Nick Dykema and two county nurses, Katherine Groenevelt and Mildred Stark.

The elementary program is part of the functions of a School Health committee in Holland headed by Bernice Bishop, principal of Junior high school.

Other members are Virginia Borgman, girls physical education teacher; Carolyn Hawes, elementary supervisor; Wilhelmine Haberland, orthopedic teacher; Joe Moran, physical education director; Maribel Geiger, dean of girls at Holland high; Fannie Bultman, classroom teacher; Katherine Groenevelt, county nurse; Mrs. Hamelink, chairman of parent health committee; Robert Stupka, football coach; Dr. Bert P. Bos, superintendent of Christian schools; Wilma Bambacht, Mrs. T. Boot and Sena Greengood, Christian school teachers.

The health committee pointed out that in case of infectious diseases, pupils must have written permits from their own physicians or from the county health department before re-entering classes.

TEACHERS VISIT BUSINESSES

Jackson — An estimated 500 public and parochial school teachers visited industries and commercial organizations recently in Jackson's first "business industry and education day."

Stalin Wants War, Ferguson Believes

"The only thing that keeps war away at this time is the fact that Joe Stalin is not prepared," said Sen. Homer Ferguson today in an exclusive interview with The Sentinel.

The Senator was in Holland this afternoon to speak before the assembled Ottawa county GOP committeemen at the Temple building. He will move to Grand Rapids tonight for a major speech of his campaign for reelection to the U. S. Senate.

"I think because of the present world situation that world peace is the outstanding issue today," Ferguson said. "The Russians are attempting a world revolution of communism."

Ferguson said the time has come to halt this worldwide move by "telling Joe Stalin that we aren't going to have communism in our labor unions, government or in our schools." He explained that the Reds get their start by infiltrating the schools and start at the bottom.

"I don't see Communists under my bed," the Senator said. "However, we can't allow these persons in our government. The long range plan of the Communists is to undermine our rule."

"We must demonstrate against this monster in our midst," Ferguson said.

The Senator then pulled out a few facts to explain the red menace to our government. He cited the case of one federal department where 258 cases of Red taint were found. One and only one of these 258 persons was disposed of and 21 resigned. The remainder are in one stage or another of investigation.

"Why hasn't there been more action on this one department than just one case disposed of since March of 1947?" Ferguson asked.

He planned to cite other concrete figures of testimony from the published records of the un-American Activities committee.

Another question the Senator wants answered is why and how can Oscar Ewing, administrator of the Federal Security agency, censor a speech of Dr. John W. Studebaker, head of the office of education, in which Studebaker was going to blast at Communists working their way into schools. Since that time Dr. Studebaker has resigned.

Gerald R. Ford, GOP candidate for Representative in Congress from the fifth district, also appeared on today's program.

County Republican precinct and ward committeemen attended the dinner-meeting.

Closes Six-Day Conference Here

The Hebrew Christian Alliance of America closed a week of successful business and inspirational conferences with a closing session last Friday in the woman's Literary club.

The Alliance opened its annual conference here Sunday with a mass meeting in Hope Memorial chapel. Other meetings were held in the Woman's Literary club as guests of Immanuel church.

Newly installed officers are Dr. Jacob Gartenhaus of Atlanta, Ga., president; the Rev. Fred G. Kendal of Detroit, vice-president; the Rev. Nathan J. Stone of Chicago, recording secretary and treasurer; and the Rev. Morris Kaminsky of Toronto, the Rev. Victor Bukhazev of Philadelphia and Mrs. Katherine Greenbaum of Brooklyn, executive members.

Approximately 100 delegates have been attending the six-day conference. They have expressed themselves highly pleased with hospitality shown here and with the tidy appearance and fine atmosphere of Holland.

The Hebrew Christian Alliance, made up of Christian Jews of all major Christian denominations, was organized in 1915 for the purpose of mutual helpfulness and for the propagation of Christian faith among people of the Jewish race.

Stamp Receipts Top Last Year

Stamp receipts at the Holland post office are up .06 per cent from the 1947 total for the third quarter ending Sept. 30, according to Postmaster Harry Kramer.

Intake for the quarter this year was $63,021 compared to $56,939 last year. Receipts for the first nine months this year are 10.8 per cent more than the first nine months last year. This year's figure was $202,156 compared to $182,273 in 1947.

These figures are just for stamp sales and do not include money orders and other post office sales. This is a long way from the 1915 figure of receipts. That was the first year the post office operated in present building and all receipts for a year only slightly topped the $40,000 mark.

20th St. Issue Definitely Put On Nov. 2 Ballot

With the filing of petitions bearing 1,278 names, final arrangements for submitting the 20th St. issue to a vote of the people Nov. 2 were made by Common Council Wednesday, October 6.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood reported all names on the petitions were carefully checked according to poll books and while a few names were disqualified, the 1,278 qualified signers far exceeded the necessary 949 signatures needed for the initiatory petition.

In view of the qualifying petitions, council adopted a resolution incorporating the necessary action to place the issue on the Nov. 2 ballot. The resolution was read by Ald. Harry Harrington.

Council's action followed another resolution a week ago in which aldermen voted to postpone the paving of the block between State and Michigan pending result of the public vote. The measure involves closing of a street to allow the Christian schools to expand the high school.

In other action, council approved a recommendation of Aids. William J. Meengs and Peter Kromann to retain Longfellow school as polling place for the sixth ward, at least for the present. Meengs, however, pointed out that there should be a temporary walk around the newly-constructed fire escape. He said an inspection of the former polling place at 19th and College would be wholly unsuitable for the heavy vote expected Nov. 2.

A letter from the Hospital board, signed by President John Fenlon, Donnelly, briefed council on developments in the hospital building program. The letter explained the financial setup whereby the initial addition was first expected to cost $120,000, but low bids totaled $230,000. Construction went ahead on a pared-down program for about $180,000 until an $82,000 grant from the government allowed certain finishing touches and equipment.

The letter said the new grant will go largely for correcting the heating system, installing an elevator, putting in concrete floor and corridor in the basement, finishing corridors and heating on third floor, and providing certain necessary equipment.

County Republican precinct and ward committeemen attended the dinner-meeting.

Registration Ends For Nov. Election

Registration for the Nov. 2 general election closed Wednesday at 8 p.m. as the last of 820 persons to register since the Sept. 14 primary signed up.

A record 305 persons registered on the last day.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood was handing out thanks today for help in getting people out to register. He lauded The Sentinel for the co-operation in informing persons of the need to register. He said the paper has been boosting the fact of registration to such an extent that the city should have a record vote at the election.

It was announced that 820 persons have registered since the primary. This added to the 7,916 persons registered at that time makes a total registered population of 8,736 voters in the City of Holland.

The clerk estimates that 90 per cent of those registered will cast ballots in the important Nov. 2 election.

As the registration work was being filed at the clerk's office, personnel at that office said they have received many changes of addresses and reinstatements of registrants.

Voters will check seven separate ballots at the election. Naming a President and Vice President of the United States will be the top business of the ballot. The local is whether or not to vacate 20th St.

Adrian Nips Hope By One Point In MIAA Upset

Last Minute Drive Falls Short as Dutch Drop League Opener

Adrian college made history when it nipped Hope 14-13 Friday night at Riverview park. It was the first time the Bulldogs have scored against Hope since 1938 and their first victory in the last decade.

By their win, the Bulldogs made it known they will be a power house in MIAA conference play. It was Hope's first loss of the season.

The game was a thriller until the final whistle as Hope surged to within one point in the final minutes of play. Then, Bill Howarda recovered his own onside kickoff on Adrian's 48-yard line. However, the Dutch fizzled out in the final seconds when they were thrown for losses on pass plays.

Two fumbles and an intercepted pass accounted for Hope's first and both of Adrian's touchdowns. However, both teams hung onto the ball well considering the slippery field and piskin.

The Dutchmen opened the scoring on the second play of the second quarter when Ted Rycenga clinched a 47-yard march by slicing through tackle from the four-yard line. Holwerda's kick was wide of the posts.

The marker was set up when Holwerda recovered an Adrian fumble on the Bulldog's 47. Yonker broke through to the 28 and Barrett powered to the 25. Bill Bocks was stopped for no gain and on the next play Yonker flipped a pass to De Mui who was downed on the 11. Jim Pfingst picked up one. Two plays later Rycenga scored.

Minutes later, Maynard Clark grabbed one of Yonker's passes on Holland's 46. Two plays later a pass from Howard Burkhardt to Howie Herman was good to Hope's 10.

Adrian scored on the next play. Burkhardt passed to Mike Hoben who lateraled to Clark, and Clark ran over the goal for the touchdown. Buddy Rice's kick was good.

Before the half ended, Bocks intercepted a Bulldog pass on Hope's 17 and behind devastating blockers ran the ball all the way back to Adrian's 43 where he was cut down by the last Adrian man. The half ended after Hope was stopped on Adrian's 27.

The Bulldogs dominated play the entire third quarter.

Soon after the opening of the final period, Rice pounced on Pfingst's fumble on Holland's 25. Six plays later, Bob Gillis scored on a line buck from the one-yard line.

Rice split the uprights with the extra point boot which ended up as the margin of victory.

Hope scored its final touchdown after taking the ball at midfield. Barrett made the big gain on the series when he took the ball from Yonker on the ancient statue of liberty play and ran all the way from Adrian's 37 to the 17. Six plays later the Dutchmen scored their last minute touchdown.

The shining light of the local's play was the outstanding downfield blocking. However, the Dutchmen can find one department to brush up on. They have scored six touchdowns this season and only made three of the extra points good.

The teams were as even in the statistics as the final score.

Holland Beaglers Train Dogs Near Port Sheldon Area

Members of the Holland Beagle club have been training and practicing with their dogs on their 220-acre tract of land located in sections 26 and 27 of the Port Sheldon township, for their third American Kennel club sanctioned field trial to be held Oct. 9-15.

Hunting on this property is unlawful, and the land is plainly posted under conservation regulations, with warning signs on club premises.

The Holland Beagle club was organized in January of 1945, at which time there were five members. Today the club has a membership of 40, from Holland, Zeeland, Grand Haven and Muskegon, with a majority of members from Holland.

Officers are Ted Steketee, president, Al Lamberts, vice president, and Ted Baker, secretary-treasurer.

This club is for anyone in the Holland area interested in Beagle hounds. Membership in the club also includes participating in field trials and week-end hunts, such as the trial to be held by the club Oct. 9-15.

This field trial, sanctioned by the American Kennel club is the third one to be sponsored by the Holland group. The A. K. C. rules provide that before a license is issued to any hunting club, three A. K. C. sanctioned field trials must be held.

The October trial will be held at Hastings on the Wolverine Beagle club grounds. The schedule for this event will include the 13-inch bitches on the 10th, 15-inch mates on the 12th, and 15-inch bitches on the 13th.

Cups will be awarded to first place dogs and ribbons will be given to all winners. The cups have been donated by club members.

Judges for the competition will be Cliff Knave, Montgomery, O., and Fraser Simpson, of Romulus, Mich. Entries are expected from all over Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and the south. There will be approximately 20 Beagle enthusiasts from Holland.

After the field trial contests, most of the rabbit dogs will be used for hunting week-ends in the southern part of the state, where hunting is better than in this area.

Recruiter Explains Enlistment Setup

Every able-bodied American who did not bear arms in World War II has a direct, personal interest in the new selective service law. The most important thing to remember is that the U. S. Army will continue to rely on voluntary enlistments as its primary source of manpower.

Selective service will be used only to make up the difference between authorized strength and the number of volunteers. If there are not enough volunteers to do the job, young men between 19 and 26 will be subject to call for 21 months of service, with an additional five years in a reserve status. Eligibles may prefer to choose from a number of other courses open to them.

First, if you are 18 you may volunteer (within limited monthly quotas) for one year's training with the Army. Up to 110,000 men in this classification can be accepted. Following active duty you must, if offered the assignment, serve four years in an organized unit of the reserve or National Guard, or if not offered such assignment, serve six years in the inactive reserve. Either of these requirements may be met by enlisting for two or more years in the regular Army.

Second, if you are 19 years of age, you may volunteer for 21 months in the regular army. Upon completion of this service you must serve for three years with an organized reserve unit or National Guard, or serve five years in an inactive reserve status. Either of these requirements may be met by extending your regular Army enlistment by another 12 months.

Third, you may enlist in the regular Army for three or more years. Men between 17 and 35 who measure up to the regular Army standards can enter on a professional career. Here are a few of the enlistment advantages open to those who choose a three-year regular Army enlistment: Army technical school plan, service in Japan or Korea, continued education through the United States Armed Forces institute, officer candidate school, service in Europe with United States constabulary forces.

Ottawa county recruiting officer, Corp. Clayton Kelley, Jr., will be at the Holland post office on Tuesday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. to talk over particular problems and needs.

England's longest session of parliament began in 1640 and did not end until 1653.

Rights are not obtained as a gift; they must be earned.

DEWEY'S CRIME OF

BEING COLD

A political writer in the New Republic charges Candidate Dewey with the awful crime of being "cold." He admits the Republican candidate's ability, that he is a good administrator, that he is unusually efficient. But people don't like him personally. According to the New Republic writer millions of people will vote for Dewey who do not like him.

All this may be true. Dewey is not the type that people easily warm up to. His personality does not generate hero-worship and average voters are not inclined to throw their hats into the air when his name is mentioned and to take leave of their senses in an orgy of emotion.

When all that has been admitted, it is in order to follow the admission with the question, "So what?" We the American people are not electing a person to the presidency because he has the knack of putting people under hypnotic influence. We are electing a man who is the head of a political party. In choosing him we are choosing a party and its executive machinery. If we believe in the party system at all, it should not make too much difference whether the head of the party we place in power is "cold" or "hot." What counts is that he has the intellectual capacity for the position and the executive ability required for the most exacting job on earth. If he lacks the ability to make people swoon with emotion, that fact is not too important. There are many people who can do that, in the manner in which a Frank Sinatra can make the bobby-soxers take leave of their senses. But even the New Republic writers would hardly advocate that Frankie, or some one like him, would be a better president than the "cold" Dewey type.

We voters are deciding between parties rather than between "nice fellows." Ability to win the personal devotion of millions is a valuable political asset for a candidate, and from his point of view it is highly desirable. But from the voter's angle it is less important than that he is for the time being the incarnation of a set of party principles that are binding on him as well as on his party.
We are electing a man, not merely a man. If we prefer the Democratic party, that's our privilege; if the Republican, that again is our privilege. We are not giving our suffrage to Dewey or Truman as men but as party heads. Dewey's "coldness" is not as fatal as the New Republic writer appears to think.

Sunday School
Lesson

October 17, 1948
Law in the Bible
Lev. 19:1-18; Deut. 5:6;
Matthew 22:34-40

By Henry Geerlings

This timely lesson is difficult.
There are so many notions about personal liberty, and so many attitudes toward law, and so many advocates of this and that way of living that one needs every available help to present this lesson helpfully. Judging from what one hears and sees many people insist that it is their personal liberty to treat law, especially if it is a disliked law, with contempt, disobeying it at will. Now, this attitude of some is attractive. It seems to be a boasting of independence. It has its influence on young people. Young people do not escape the lure of ignoring law and parading personal liberty.

Have we too many laws? Do the laws of the land uphold the law of God? Is God's law binding today? Is personal liberty infringed on by the penalty of broken laws? The criminal class today has answers for these questions; so do the good citizens. There is a conflict between these answers.
They do not agree at any point.
Something ought to be done about this, for there cannot be a strong nation as long as there are divergent opinions and attitudes about law.

Speaking of good citizens suggests law abiding people. This is something to be cultivated. This is being done. It starts in the homes of the right kind. It is helped along by the schools. It is strengthened by the teaching of the church. It is supported by the example of Christian people. But a problem is faced at each turn.
It is the matter of liberty. A true definition of liberty is needed.
Can liberty be defined without reference to law? Is it true to say that true liberty is secured by obedience to law? This question starts a discussion. But, for example, it seems rather clear that obeying the laws of health gives liberty of action to the body and the mind. Breaking health laws puts the bondage of disease on the offender. To keep a nation's laws puts the individual in position to exercise and enjoy liberty in using the privileges the nation offers. Only as men live in obedience to God's law can they have the liberty of the sons of God. The complaint about infringement on liberty comes only from the breaker of the law, or from one who wants to break the law but is afraid to do so.

Now liberty is not a license to mistreat others, or ourselves, for our wish or desire, or appetite is not our law.

The higher law of liberty calls for self control. The most miserable man is he who deceives himself by supposing that doing as he pleases, ignoring all self-restraint, provides him the sweet fruits of liberty. The exercise of our liberty should always be directed by love.
Unless there is consideration for others we will ride rough shod over their rights and excuse it by boasting of our liberty.

There are about 140 millions of people in this country trying to live together. That is not an easy matter. Some want one set of laws, while others want a different set of laws. There is hardly a law on our statute books which we all like. There are some persons who try with all their heart to obey every law they think applies to them. Their consciences will not let them do anything else. They believe that laws are made to be obeyed, and they will not violate them if they can help it.

There are other persons who will not obey any law they do not like if they can get out of it. They spend much time thinking of ways in which they can get around our laws and do just as they please.
They are a dangerous class of people. Lawbreakers make us all our trouble.

Laws are good things to have.
We simply could not live happily or safely together if they did not exist. Take the laws against theft and murder and slander and we begin to see how important laws are. Think of the laws that have been passed for the automobile driver, both to protect himself and also to protect the other persons on the highway.

We should think of laws as our friends. Not many of them have been passed which are not intended to save and protect life and to make living for all of us a little more comfortable and happy. Not one of us would be safe if there were no laws to tell us what we may do and what we may not do. There must be rules governing our relationship simply because we live together.

Hope College High In Science Degrees

Hope college ranks second among colleges in Michigan granting baccalaureate degrees to students who later received their doctorates in chemistry, it was announced today by Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, college president. In this state Hope was surpassed only by the University of Michigan.

Dr. Lubbers also said that Hope ranked fourth in this state among colleges and universities who awarded baccalaureate degrees to persons earning doctorates in all sciences. The University of Michigan ranked first with Michigan State college second and Wayne university third. The basis for these statistics, according to Dr. Lubbers, was a study into the baccalaureate origins of the science doctorates awarded in the United States, as compiled by the office of scientific personnel, national research council, Washington.

An intensive study of undergraduate schools was made by the research council during the years 1935-45 inclusive, and data from this study, made public recently, was used to determine the results.

Sons of Revolution Hear Paper on Shakespeare

Holland chapter, Sons of the Revolution, met Monday at the home of Dr. E. J. Bacheller, 514 Lakewood Blvd., to initiate the winter series of meetings.

The Rev. William C. Warner presented the paper of the evening on "William Shakespeare, the Upstart Crow," in which he traced the rapid rise to prominence of the English dramatist. The Rev. Warner cited contemporary authors to prove that Shakespeare's marriage to Ann Hathaway was a true love match.

He also advanced the proposition that financial reverses in Shakespeare's family probably rescued the author from becoming a landlord farmer and forced the young husband to seek employment in the theater.

The Rev. Warner also attacked the proposition that Bacon wrote Shakespeare's plays by quoting from an attack on Shakespeare in which the English dramatist characterized Shakespeare as an "upstart crow."

E. J. Yeomans presented the "impressions" and led an informal discussion of modern educational problems of Holland.

Hugh Gaston, 45 Temple Apts., was a guest. He is a member of the Detroit chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

A two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Bacheller.

Several members of the club recently motored to Grand Rapids to attend the open house meeting of the amateur movie club of that city. Plans are now under way for the production of a religious film entitled "In the Beginning."

The club received Mrs. Clara Decker and Robert Eshelman as new members Monday evening.

If You Get Any,
Is Valuable Food

That week-end pheasant hunting jaunt, shooting mallards from a blind, tramping after a rabbit-wise dog, or that trek into the north country after deer or bear is really good for you. That's good for your morale and it's good for your health. And the game you get—with its high protein values in these times of costly protein—is good for you, too, the Department exclaimed.

There are some things, other than gunshot wounds and heavy traffic, which can take the good out of a hunting trip, and to prevent their cropping up in the Health Department has made a few suggestions:

Your hunting trip is a vacation; take it easy. For health and hunting judgment, don't over-indulge.

Choose public eating places carefully and take some canned milk into camp so you won't have to use an unpasteurized supply. Take a small bottle of laundry bleach so you can purify any doubtful drinking water—three drops to a gallon and let stand a half hour. You'll be better off thirsty than drinking from a creek or some old well which might be contaminated, it said.

Choose clothing to suit the climate and the type of hunting you'll do. Take comfortable hunting boots and plenty of socks. Wear red but no white. Take adequate bedding; nights get cold in the north. Take rubber gloves if you are going to clean wild rabbits in camp; some wild rabbits have tularemia.

Take along a first aid kit so you can treat small blisters, burns, and scratches which might spoil your fun or cause difficulty later.

Keep yourself dry—even to a point of drying clothes by an open fire if you get soaked far from camp. If lost at night, build a fire and rest until dawn. Do not exhaust and chill yourself in aimless wandering. Climb trees only in an emergency. Hunting clothes were not made for climbing; you might fall, or somebody might take you for a bear. Watch your footing—see that fallen branch or chuck hole ahead.

It's a pretty good idea to know how to get to the nearest doctor and how to stop bleeding by placing pressure on the artery about a serious wound, just in case. If you know you have a "heart condition" take care not to over-exert yourself.

On your hunting trip, of course it's important to have fun, and it's important to get back; but it's more important to get back, the department concluded.

Increase Asked In Salary for Circuit Judge

Grand Haven, Oct. 14 (Special)—The County Officers committee of the Board of Supervisors is considering a petition from the Ottawa County Bar association asking the county to contribute $1,500 to the salary of the circuit judge of the 20th judicial circuit.

The petition, signed by all attorneys in the county, stated that a similar request would be presented to Allegan supervisors. If granted, the salary of the judge will be $10,000 instead of $7,000 which is paid by the state.

Attention was called to the fact that the circuit judge has had no increase in salary since 1941. The $10,000 figure would be in line with the salary paid in other circuits of similar size.

Another petition, signed by more than 30 county residents, mostly from Holland area, asked that the board's action on compulsory inoculation of dogs in the county be rescinded. It was referred to the special committee on dog inoculation.

A 4-H council request asking the county to restore an appropriation for 4-H work at the Berlin fair was referred to the Agricultural committee. Roy Lowing, a director of Berlin fair, also requested an appropriation to carry on the work. Funds would go for premiums, ribbons and hiring of judges, and the amount given is matched by the state. This request also was referred to the Agricultural committee.

In connection with a shortage in the TB fund of the Health department, supervisors approved Henry Slagter's suggestion that all bills from now until Jan. 1 be audited by the department and sent to the finance committee for auditing and paid by the county. Ottawa has 17 hospitalized patients at present, Dick Smallegan objected, feeling that an amount should be transferred from the general fund to the health department so that supervisors would know what the health department is costing the county. Smallegan was supported by Albert Stegenga in casting the only dissenting votes.

Hurricanes Plan Offensive Punch

Holland's Hurricanes, currently in No. 2 spot in MIFL, will play the only local game this week at Riverview park Saturday night against the Ann Arbor Bulldogs.

And the Bulldogs will be throwing a little weight around. Ann Arbor has a starting tackle who tips the scales at 308 pounds and two other linemen weighing 247 and 245 respectively.

Meanwhile, the Canes have scheduled a workout tonight at 19th St. field to brush up on their running and passing game. Coaches Curley Wegerink and Jay Van Hoven indicated this will be one way to get around the heavy Ann Arbor line.

Ann Arbor is tied for the cellar spot in the league standings with the Flint Falcons. The Falcons and Bulldogs battled to a scoreless tie. However, since that time, the Ann Arbor team has been taken over by the Jaycees and several new faces were added to the lineup.

It was reported the Bulldogs have been tapping the University of Michigan campus for players.

Along with their tight defense against Twin City last week, the Canes displayed one of their best passing records this season, completing six out of 13 passes on the slippery field.

The sing will begin at 8:30 p.m., immediately following the evening service.

Speaker Reminds Club Why Peace Has Failed

"To know about one nation, one people, is not enough," Dr. Kenneth Walker told members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon in a straightforward talk on the subject, "Personal New Horizons."

Briefly reviewing events since his appearance here two years ago, Dr. Walker frankly and informally told his listeners where the United States has failed in its efforts towards peace. The United Nations is being put to great tests, he said. "It is apparent we want peace, but we are doing nothing about it."

The speaker set forth four "myths" or "fascinations" which must be broken or this country will be led into the coils of war.

First he described the "myth of the mirror," in which each nation sees itself filled with virtues and skills which cannot be duplicated in any other part of the world. Second, is "our apparent reasonableness." He described the futility of international conferences which only tend to show the differences in individual groups.

The "myth of difficulty" is linked with the field of human relations. It is a fallacy to state that peace is too difficult to attain at the present time, he said.

"We must stop seeing people as races instead of individuals. We hesitate to meddle, but without meddling we may find our liberties strangled from us," he declared.

Dr. Walker described his fourth myth as "crisis daydream," in which he pegged the "daydream" that the people of democratic philosophies can get along with Russia or that Russia and her satellites can exist in the same world with the United States and her satellites. "There is no middle path, the two philosophies cannot live in the world side by side," he said.

The flaw in man's development is his failure to invest the community with a moral code and conscience. There are moral individuals, with consciences, but no country or group, he said.

The wounds of the world must be healed from the bottom, not through legislation or power. "First must we look within ourselves, and heal our hearts of that pestilence, selfishness."

"We face the most pessimistic picture the world has ever known, and the outcome depends upon the individual's ability to respond to the challenge of the world. We need to anticipate the consequences of World War III, for perhaps that is the only thing that can create the response needed to really see the people of the world as individuals, not nations or races, he said.

Mrs. John K. Winter presided at the meeting. A collection was taken to benefit the mortgage fund.

Garden Club Informed About Michigan Birds

The Holland Tulip Garden club, meeting in the Tulip room of the Warm Friend Tavern Thursday afternoon for the first session of the year, heard Bernard Baker, noted ornithologist of Marne, lecture on birds and flowers native to Michigan. He has photographed birds since 1931 and illustrated his lecture with some of his excellent color pictures.

He says there are 230 species of birds common to this area, but most people can identify only 20. Mr. Baker has established a bird sanctuary on his 75-acre estate near Marne. The tract has seven ponds, natural and artificial, and it has been planted with a large variety of trees to attract birds for feeding and nesting.

He explained that birds the world over nest in June and July and during these months he spends most of his time in hideouts to obtain his photographs. Time ranges from 30 minutes to five hours to obtain a picture.

For the support of bird sanctuaries and the preservation of the state's feathered life, Mr. Baker for the last 10 years has presented his remuneration for his lectures to the Audubon society.

Mrs. Fred Pickel presided. She announced Mrs. Charles Selby as chairman of the spring flower show, and urged members to plant bulbs now for the specimen class. The regional meeting will be held at Ann Arbor Oct. 12 in Rackham hall. A morning business meeting and a lecture on chrysanthemums at 2:15 p.m., will be followed by a garden tour and tea. Dykema-Smith Wedding Performed in Zeeland

Miss Caroline Smith and Nelson Dykema were married Thursday night in Second Reformed church, Zeeland. Bouquets of white chrysanthemums, ferns and candelabra banked the altar for the double ring service read by the Rev. Abraham Rynbrandt at 8 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith, route 3, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dykema, 51 East 19th St.

Vernon Avery sang "At Dawn" and "Because," and while the couple knelt, "The Lord's Prayer." Miss A. Van Koeveing was organist and played the traditional bride's march.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a shimmering satin gown fashioned with a sheer yoke outlined in a quilted design, long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists and a full skirt. The snug bodice had a peplum at the waist which cascaded down the back over a full circular train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid. A rhinestone necklace and earrings, gift of the groom, completed her ensemble.

Miss Lorraine La Huis, maid of honor, wore a blue taffeta gown and carried a colonial bouquet of red and white roses with a matching head wreath. The bridesmaids, Miss Alta Kloosterman and Mrs. Edwin Dykema, wore pink and yellow taffeta gowns, respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations with matching head wreaths.

Edwin Dykema assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were Jim Borr and Harvey Smith, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Mouw were master and mistress of ceremonies.

A reception for 125 guests was held in the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Orman Van Haisma presided at the punch bowl and Mr. and Mrs. James Sterken were in charge of gifts.

Guests were present from Muskegon Heights, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Fremont, Grand Haven, Muskegon, Holland and Zeeland.

Mrs. Dykema was graduated from Zeeland high school and attended Holland Business Institute. She is employed as secretary at Silver Ward Hatchery. Mr. Dykema, a Holland Christian high school graduate, attended Hope college.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. For traveling the bride wore a forest green gabardine suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

They will be at home, 27½ West Main St., Zeeland, after Oct. 15. The occasion also marked the bride's birthday anniversary.

Rescue Mission Not Under Chest

Although the City Rescue Mission is no longer an agency of the Community Chest, it still is dependent on gifts from churches and Christian friends of the community to maintain its services. It was pointed out today by Klaas Bulthuis, president of the Mission board.

Because the work of the City Rescue Mission is primarily spiritual, the present board feels its financial support should come from spiritual sources as it formerly did, and last year the Mission withdrew from the Chest and solicited gifts separately, thereby returning in some measure to the original plan in which the Mission was maintained by free will offerings taken at its services, the churches of Holland and Christian friends of this community.

George Trotter is superintendent of City Rescue Mission, Inc. Board members are Bulthuis, president; George Goesselaar; Harry Kramer, secretary; Walter C. Kruthoff, treasurer; Rendert H. Muller, Peter Noter and Rev. Trotter.

Exchange Group Receives Award

At the regular noon luncheon of the Holland Exchange club, Monday, the local club was presented the award for the highest attendance record for the past year of all clubs having a membership of 70 or more. This makes the 16th time in the last 17 years that this award has been won by the Holland Exchange club.

The presentation was made by Fred Tiggelman of Grand Rapids, member of the state board of Exchange Clubs.

Richard Martin gave his report of the National Exchange convention was made by Fred Tiggelman thought-provoking utterances in the convention speeches were: "Ours is the only government in the world that can be called a free government. Youth is our greatest crop and it should be harvested in good shape."

"One billion dollars would give us air supremacy. If we maintain air supremacy we can prepare for peace, if Russia wins it we can prepare for death," he reported. "There were 600 fewer cases of juveniles in federal courts last year and the population of juvenile institutions is down 30 per cent."

"The security of America can be found in understanding; its destruction in the lack of it."

"We must know the truth about state affairs. Politicians only let us know what they wish us to know. We need loyal Americans in government jobs. Three of President Roosevelt's advisors in the Near East have since been called before the Un-American Activities Committee. In fact one of them roomed with a communist spy while one of the conferences was in session."

"Communism is a form of international conspiracy and tyranny, where the few rule the many," said Mr. Martin in his report.

Central's lone marker came with less than two minutes remaining in the contest, after Kempker's pass, intended for Tom Hildebrand, was intercepted on the Holland 46-yard line by George Rolfe of the Hilltoppers. Pat Barr went through tackle for a first down to the local 38-yard marker. After drawing a five yard penalty for offsides, Van Loo passed to Barr, good for a first down on the Holland 19-yard line. Then on the next play, Van Loo tossed to Eli Whitney, who was downed on the one-yard line. Whitney, on the next play, sneaked through tackle for the score. Lipner's extra point attempt was good, making the count 19-7. The game ended immediately after Central kicked off to Holland.

Although the Dutch turned in one of their best performances this season, the score does not indicate the caliber of the Central eleven. Coach Chuck Irwin's eleven was a fast, deceptive aggregation. Paced by Pat Barr and Negro Eli Whitney, the Hilltoppers flashed a spasmotic, but brilliant running attack.

The locals relied on their running game, and used it to good advantage. Holland's tackling and blocking was vicious, with the Holland line, repeatedly breaking through to stop Central running plays.

A strong wind hampered the play of both aggregations. Friday night, the Dutch invaded the lair of the Big Reds of Muskegon.

Holland Revives Running Attack To Whip Central

Dutchmen Brilliant In Return to Form; Muskegon Reds Next

A rejuvenated Holland high football squad took its second victory of the season from a Grand Rapids school Saturday night at Riverview park when it completely overwhelmed the Central Hilltoppers, 19-7. Coach Bob Stupka's lads were a vastly improved outfit against the fast, scrappy Grand Rapids eleven.

The locals showed a flashy running attack to score once each in the first three quarters. Central's only marker came in the last few minutes of the contest. Holland's first touchdown came midway in the first period with Bob Tasma taking a lateral, to go six yards for the score. Frank Wlodarczyk's kick was good, giving the locals a 7-0 margin.

Dave Kempker started the touchdown drive by running a Central punt to the Hilltopper 27-yard stripe. Then after Ron Appledorn made two yards, Tasma skirted his own left end for a first down on the 16. Ron Appledorn then made another first down, with a 10-yard sprint around his right end. Wlodarczyk gained little on the next play, before Tasma scored standing up.

Some beautiful down field blocking and a bit of fancy running on the part of Ron Appledorn accounted for Holland's second touchdown on the first play of the second period. Appledorn took Gordon Van Loo's punt on his own 35-yard line and swivel-hipped his way 65 yards down the sidelines for a score. It was a beautiful bit of side-stepping on the part of Appledorn, who was partially tackled at least five times during the sprint.

Coach Bob Stupka can well be proud of the blocking turned in by the entire Holland team which formed in front of Appledorn. Bob Adams executed one of the best blocks ever seen in Riverview park. On the middle stripe, Adams tumbled three would-be Central tacklers with a single block. Wlodarczyk's extra punt attempt was wide, making the score 13-0.

The Dutchmen's final score came in the third quarter after a 64-yard touchdown march. A series of end runs and line plunges by Appledorn, Wlodarczyk and Tasma brought the pigskin to the five-yard stripe. Tasma then plunged through to the one-yard line, from where Kempker, moved into the end zone on a quarterback sneak. Wlodarczyk's kick was low, making the score, Holland 19, Central 0.

Central's lone marker came with less than two minutes remaining in the contest, after Kempker's pass, intended for Tom Hildebrand, was intercepted on the Holland 46-yard line by George Rolfe of the Hilltoppers. Pat Barr went through tackle for a first down to the local 38-yard marker. After drawing a five yard penalty for offsides, Van Loo passed to Barr, good for a first down on the Holland 19-yard line. Livestock Crowding in Winter Creates Parasite Problem

U.S. Farmers Urged to Fight Parasites Now

Fall Campaign Can Add Millions to Milk, Meat and Egg Profits

Lansing — American farmers were urged today to launch an all-out campaign against parasites now—before livestock and poultry are moved into winter quarters.

Such a campaign this fall, the American Foundation for Animal Health declared, can add many millions of dollars to farmers' profits from meat, milk and egg production during the coming winter and early spring.

"Parasites multiply rapidly on animals and birds in close confinement," the foundation warned. "They not only cause discomfort, but cut down on gains and production and waste feed. Parasites also spread infection, and cause skin diseases that bring a dockage at the market."

"Cattle lice, mange and grubs should especially have attention. Hog lice and hog mange mites can be controlled by proper treatment. Sheep scab mites and sheep ticks are the two chief offenders in that field."

"Parasite control on livestock and poultry, coupled with thorough cleaning and disinfecting of farm buildings, will pay real dividends in fatter market stock, healthier breeding stock, and increased production of meat, milk and eggs," the American Foundation emphasized.

Choose Curtains For Best Effect

Curtains going up? Your home is like the stage in that respect. Put the curtains up first and the rest of the action will follow in good order.

It is easier to match the rest of your redecorating to the curtains than vice versa advises Julia Tear, of the department of textiles, clothing and related arts at Michigan State college.

So choose your curtains or drapes and then match your paint or paper to them. If possible try out a large sample at the windows of your room before deciding. You can see how the material looks in the daytime and also under artificial light as well as with the other colors in the room.

Attractive and interesting window treatments can do more to make a room attractive than any other one thing. They can do a great deal to improve the appearance of a poorly proportioned room.

Design, color and the texture of the material all play an important part in the window treatment. Each should blend with those features of the other room furnishings.

If you make the curtains, allow enough material for ample folds. It is better to buy a less expensive material than to economize too much on quantity. Sheer curtains should be twice the width of the window. Casement curtains or drapes to be used as draw curtains should be at least twice the width of the window. Draperies should be at least one and one-half times the width of the window.

Measuring the length is also very important. Allowance must be made for hems, heading, for possible shrinkage, and for the matching of a pattern.

Dairy Meet Slated at Michigan State College

The ninth annual Michigan Dairy Manufacturers' conference has been scheduled for Nov. 3 to 5 at Michigan State college.

Sponsored by the MSC dairy department, the conference will consider various aspects of dairy manufacturing. The sessions will be divided with a different subject covered each day. Wednesday, Nov. 3, will cover butter; Thursday, market milk; and Friday, ice cream.

Information on the conference can be obtained from the Dairy Department at Michigan State college.

New Type Doors Save Steps on Dairy Farm

When building his new barn, Noah Hamman, of DeKalb county, Ind., decided to save himself some steps. To make it easy to get his cows from the milking parlor to the tramp shed, he installed doors in the milking parlor just ahead of the stanchions. In fact, the stanchions and feed boxes are built right on these doors.

He uses two electric milking machines, and while two cows are being milked, he can be getting two more ready without wasting too much time getting them out of the milking parlor.

Farm Act Affects Support Prices

The new farm program, authorized by Congress, will have an effect on the support prices which are guaranteed to farmers, according to Michigan State college farm economists.

Support prices were originally planned to encourage farmers to increase and maintain production during the war years when great quantities of food were needed. Support prices also insure farmers against disastrous declines in prices and incomes such as occurred in 1921 and again following 1929. A modernization of the "parity" concept has been enacted to bring these support prices up to date and to correct some of the inequalities brought about by changing markets and agricultural production advances.

In effect, the new farm act lowers the parity calculation generally for grains, cotton, peanuts, and rice; and raises the level for hogs, beef cattle, milk and cottonseed.

Price supports on most farm products are to continue at 90 per cent of parity through 1949 as has been the practice in the past. For crops, the support prices is made available to farmers through loans or purchase agreements. Prices of dairy products, eggs, hogs, and turkeys are also supported at 90 per cent of parity; however, the market price for these products is still above the support level.

Beginning in 1950, the support level is flexible and ranges from a low of 60 per cent to a high of 90 per cent of parity depending upon the supply. The overall idea behind the long range program is that, although prices will be lower, farmers will get a larger total income for a larger production than for a small production. This, MSC economists believe, will encourage an abundant food supply and yet prevent a disastrous decline in prices which farmers may receive.

Crops Specialist Gives Hints on Potato Storage

Now that the potato crop is almost completely dug, the problem of correct storage confronts growers. Leyton Nelson, Michigan State college farm crops specialist, has a few suggestions that may make the job easier and more successful.

Potatoes, he says, should be allowed to dry before being picked up. When placed in crates, they should be handled carefully. A slatted chute will aid in removing dirt and frosted potatoes. The removal of dirt is important since potatoes stain badly if much dirt is present.

Potatoes are kept best at a temperature of about 40 degrees F. The storage should be allowed to cool thoroughly after the crop is in.

Control of Potato Blight Important

Control of potato blight is of major importance to potato growers in Ottawa county, according to L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent.

Reports have come from some areas of Michigan concerning outbreaks of blight in some irrigated fields. Potatoes dug from these fields are apt to carry blight spores into storage and rot severely later on.

When blight is present, agent Arnold says spraying will help to counteract the condition. Use Bordeaux 12-6-100 each week. Spraying both ways, that is, going up the field and returning over the same area before moving over, should be done if possible. Complete coverage is important.

Burning vines by one of the new methods, just prior to digging will be an added precaution.

Proper storage for potatoes is advised by the county agent. Store only sound potatoes that are relatively dry and free from dirt. Put late blighted or field frosted stocks in temporary pits or storage.

By observing a few precautions, the agent concludes, farmers can help market higher quality potatoes and also assure better seed stock for next year.

Farmer Shouldn't Be Blamed for High Food Prices

Farmers should feel flattered that they are being blamed for high food prices thinks Arthur Mauch, agricultural economist at Michigan State college. That would mean, he concludes, that the farmer has the power to fix the prices the consumer pays. If he had that power, the farmer wouldn't worry about a depression.

But, recalling a little history and using a little simple arithmetic, Mauch shows that it isn't so.

Farm prices are always the first to drop in a depression. The farmer always takes for his product what the consumer is willing to pay after the middlemen get out their costs of processing, transporting, and selling, plus a profit.

The real reason for high food prices, Mauch believes, is that consumers have two and one-half to three times as much money to spend as they had in 1939. That represents demand—power to buy food. Farm production has increased about a third, and that is an outstanding performance since we have fewer farmers today. This food represents supply.

Economists have contended for years that the relation between supply and demand determines the price. Using simple arithmetic, Mauch then divided the goods into money available to buy and the price is twice as high.

"The fault lies in too much money to spend in relation to the goods to buy and the consumer's willingness to bid up prices. The farmer influences the price by his effect on supply. Since he has been doing his best to increase supply, he can hardly be responsible for gouging the consumer," the economist concluded.

Irrigation Water Tests Conducted At Michigan State

East Lansing—Michigan State college scientists are investigating the possibility that polluted water used in irrigating vegetables might carry communicable diseases.

Dr. W. L. Mallmann, research professor of bacteriology and research, and Dr. Lloyd Turk, soils department, are seeking to determine how clean irrigation water must be to insure that vegetables will be free of harmful bacteria. The project is being carried out under a grant from the U. S. Public Health service.

Dr. Mallmann pointed out that epidemics, believed to have been caused by impure irrigation water, have been reported in western states. It is not uncommon, he added, for farmers to use sewage sludge or highly polluted river water for irrigating their crops. In addition to providing needed water for the crops this tends to improve the soil condition of poor land, particularly the sandy type, and also has slight fertilization value.

To conduct their tests, the MSC professors set up 30 small plots of land in the college farm area, and are subjecting these plots to different treatments. The liquid being used in the experiments ranges from almost clear water to undiluted sewer sludge.

Mallmann and Turk hope that these experiments will provide a measuring stick by which farmers can be assured that their irrigated vegetables are not contaminated. By bringing samples of irrigation water into testing laboratories of colleges, health centers and other agencies, the nation's irrigation farmers can be sure of their products.
