Brother Crawls From Chilly Water At Kollen Park

Police Believe
Youngster Tried
To Save His Sister

A 24 year old Holland girl drowned Tuesday in Lake Macatawa near Kollen Park while her older brother managed to crawl out of the water and up a grassy bank to safety.

Debra Vandenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Vandenberg, 307 West 14th St., was pronounced dead at Holland Hospital shortly after she was admitted around 11:30 a.m.

Her brother, 34 year-old Paul, was in good condition at the hospital, responding well to treatment, and able to eat a little in the afternoon. Hospital authorities said he was apparently out of danger.

The boy was first noticed by Mrs. Clyde Purdy, a former Holland resident now living in Grand Rapids and Betty Steller, 118 West 15th St., who were seated in a parked car near the park exit.

Mrs. Purdy said she first heard a child's voice "screaming at the top of his lungs." A minute later she spotted the head of a boy as he moved up a grassy slope to the parking area.

The two women immediately got out of their car and hurried the boy to the police station. Mrs. Purdy said the child was "nearly stiff." She said water was running from his clothes which also were covered with the freshly mowed grass from the slope.

At the police station officers stripped the child and wrapped him in a blanket. Minutes later a call came in saying there was a child floating in Lake Macatawa.

Mrs. Purdy hurried the boy to the hospital while officers and Ottawa County deputies drove to Kollen Park with a boat and a resuscitator.

Albert Marchant, Chicago, had already pulled Debra from the water when officers arrived. They administered artificial respiration to the child and then used the resuscitator when it arrived.

Debra was placed in an ambulance with the resuscitator and taken to the hospital where doctors worked over her. The girl was pronounced dead a short time later.

Police believe that Paul may have fallen into the chilly water in an attempt to save his sister. The girl's body was found floating approximately 150 feet from where Paul had climbed out.

In order to get out of the water Paul had to pull himself up a concrete embankment, 24 inches high, which was covered with green mould. Then he crawled at least 35 feet before he was picked up.

In addition to her parents, Debra is survived by another brother Jimmy, 5, and a baby sister, Sally. Mrs. Vandenberg is the former Norma Vanden Heuvel, Zeeland.

The father is employed by Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co.

Chicago Firm Enters Low Bid For Water Bonds

$2,700,000 Revenue
Bonds Will Finance
New Water Supply

City Council Wednesday night accepted low bid entered by Smith, Barney and Co. of Chicago to purchase water supply system revenue bonds totaling $2,700,000 to finance a new water supply system for Holland.

The Smith, Barney bid carried the lowest interest rate of four bids submitted. Percentage rates lists 34 percent for 1957, 24 percent, 1958 through 1960; 21 percent, 1961 through 1964; 21 percent, 1965 through 1979. The average rate for the entire period is 2.8133 percent. Payment of interest for the entire period will total $1,457,445.80.

The low bid was entered jointly by Smith, Barney and Co., R.W. Pressprich and Co., A.G. Becker and Co., Inc., The Illinois Co., Bacon, Stevenson and Co., Walter J. Wade, Inc., and MacNaughton-Greenawald and Co.

The other three bids were entered by Halsey, Stuart and Co. of Chicago, Gloire Forgan and Co. of Chicago and First of Michigan Corporation of Detroit. All bids were in the 2.8 percent bracket, and the three losing bids also represented several other firms.

Council passed the necessary resolution to purchase $2,700,000 water supply system revenue bonds from Smith, Barney and Co., the bonds to be dated Oct. 1, 1954, at par plus accrued interest to date of delivery.

Wednesday's bid letting was the latest step in a complicated program whereby the Board of Public Works will provide a new water system for Holland by means of a pipeline to Lake Michigan.

The ordinance which Council passed Aug. 23 provided for a $2,700,000 issue of revenue bonds which will be self-liquidating. This amount covers the greater share of the cost of the $3,000,000 project. Available cash in the water fund of the BPW will provide an additional $298,000. The ordinance also calls for a substantial increase in water rates, plus a 50 percent increase in rates for users outside the city.

The project provides for a 42-inch concrete or steel intake pipe into Lake Michigan where the water is more than 45 feet deep. It also provides for a low service pumping station on the shore of Lake Michigan and a filtration plant nearby. A 36-inch transmission line will be laid from the treatment plant in the vicinity of Tunnel Park to River Ave. in Holland, and a 30-inch transmission line along River Ave. to the distribution system.

Black and Veatch, engineering firm of Kansas City, Mo., is drawing plans and specifications for the new supply system.

Van Dyke also was authorized to appoint a committee of three to contact a professional appraisal company to ascertain the cost of reappraising the entire county with the exception of Grand Haven and Holland cities, and report back at the January session. This is in keeping with a recommendation from Holland Township Clerk Walter Vander Haar for better records of lands, buildings, personal property, etc.

A letter from the League of Women Voters of Grand Haven commended the board for its efforts to bring about an amicable system of assessing the county.

Mrs. Ruth Van Duren, former juvenile agent, spoke for the Muskegon Area Child Guidance clinic and requested a $3,250 appropriation from the county for the work. The request was referred to the health committee. Mrs. Van Duren gave a detailed report on activities of the clinic. Ottawa county cases at the clinic have involved 1,139 hours of treatment since Jan. 1. The clinic is asking for a branch clinic to serve Ottawa county at a cost of $8,750. The Holland Community Chest contributes $2,500, Grand Haven, $2,250 and Zeeland, $200.

Mayor Claude Ver Duin of Grand Haven told the board the juvenile division of Ottawa County probate court needs additional help to aid County Agent Avery D. Baker. He said if a county has a population of 75,000 it is entitled to two county agents and the state would pay $3,300 toward that salary. Since Ottawa had a population of more than 73,000 in 1950 and by now it may have been increased to 75,000, he suggested that State Sen. Clyde Geerlings and State Rep. George Van Peursem introduce a bill in the legislature to give Ottawa credit for 75,000.

Cabinet Member Points to Religion As Road to Peace

Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay told a Hope College assembly this morning students must "learn through taking courses, the philosophy of the country and maintain a faith in God, ourselves, each other and institutions."

"We must return to the faith of our fathers to establish a successful peace," he said.

The cabinet member, believed to be the first such ranking official ever to appear in Holland, is on a one-day swing through Western Michigan. He spoke at Hope College this morning and at a joint service club luncheon this noon at Durfee Hall.

The Interior Secretary praised President Eisenhower for his religious emphasis, pointing out that cabinet meetings are opened with prayer. He feels the President has popularized religion throughout the nation.

"Natural resources of the future depend on a good conservation program," he said. He used the water conservation program going on throughout the United States as an example. "To create a better country these natural resources must be worked into what humanity needs," McKay said.

The speaker, said he feels that the water conservation program, when completed, will be one of the greatest contributions the present administration has made to America.

The former Oregon governor gave students a brief outline of the Interior Department. He explained a program of trailer schools being used for Navajo Indians and expressed a desire to free the Indians from being wards of the government.

He reported there are 24 million acres of national parks in the United States and 50 million people are expected to visit the parks next year.

In reporting on the international situation, McKay said, "The United States position is better now than any time since John Foster Dulles became Secretary of State. I believe the country and world will be successful in establishing peace."

McKay said his family visited Holland during the "40's because my daughter wanted to see the tulips and buy bulbs." He was introduced by State Senator Clyde Geerlings. Dr. John Hollenbach presided.

McKay, at the service club luncheon, gave some insights into Mr. Eisenhower's personality and cited the personal sacrifice the chief executive made when he accepted the bid to run for office. He characterized the president as a great "humanitarian."

Harold Ramsey, president of the sponsoring Inter-Club Council, presided.

McKay came to Holland after a press conference at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids and a meeting with Kent County GOP leaders. He was accompanied by David Kendall, national GOP committeeman from Michigan of Michigan.

The local appearance was arranged by Carl C. Andersen, Ottawa County Republican chairman.

He arrived in Grand Rapids late Wednesday night and left Holland early this afternoon for St. Joseph where he will be speaker at a meeting of the Southwest Michigan Club tonight.

At the press conference he said the tour "is strictly political." He added he was here "to get votes for Republican candidates."

Professor Addresses Democratic Meeting

Dr. Sam Clark, professor of political science at Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo, was guest speaker last Friday at a Democratic political rally at Griswold Auditorium, Allegan.

Dr. Clark, who lives a mile south of Glenn, told why people should be "proud to be called Democrats," and listed achievements of the party in the last 20 years.

Ned Roberts, senatorial candidate, gave a brief talk, calling for an all-out drive to help win the campaign.

On Tuesday, Roberts and Art Young and guests from Allegan county were guests at the Masonic Temple, Kalamazoo. Roberts and Young appeared on television following Gov. Williams' appearance.

Allegan Citizens Will Get Brochure On Court House

Supervisors Approve
Move to Publicize
Need for Bond Issue

ALLEGAN (Special)—The county Board of Supervisors voted Monday to authorize its buildings committee to spend $650 from the county's miscellaneous fund for a brochure publicizing the need for a new court house.

The motion, submitted by Francis Brower, Hopkins, was approved by an 18-13 vote.

Allegan county voters will be asked at the Nov. 2 election to approve a two mill annual tax levy to raise $152,000 a year for a five year period to create a sinking fund for the purpose of constructing a new court house.

Earlier in the current session of the Board of Supervisors, County Clerk Esther W. Hettinger reported that former Deputy State Fire Marshall Walter Burns had informed her that if the court house fund proposal is not approved Nov. 2, the county will have to proceed "at once" on making necessary repairs, adding fire escapes and removing the tower which has been called "unsafe."

The board has also heard reports from two firms of architects regarding the proposed new court house. Louis Kingscott and Associates, Kalamazoo, has offered to apply a county credit of $1,365.18, representing overpayment for work done two years ago, on "any further services" the county may require. The overpayment resulted when the county paid the architectural firm on the basis of its estimates for "flat-topping" the county building rather than on the actual bid which was much lower.

J. G. Davenport Co., Grand Rapids, offered the board its services in publicizing the need for a new building.

In the meantime, the building committee was authorized to get bids on necessary repairs to the court house steps and to the jail roof.

Freak Accident Injures Woman

A freak accident sent a Holland woman to the hospital Monday afternoon and left Ottawa County deputies puzzled over what happened.

Belle McCarthy, 55, of 315 West 13th St., driver of the car, is described in good condition at Holland Hospital today. She received a compound fracture of the right knee cap.

Deputies said Miss McCarthy pulled out of Yocum's Place on M-21 and started to make a left hand turn. Instead she made a complete circle back through the gas station area.

She then started a second circle and smashed into a steel pole in front of the station. On the second sweep a hapless motorist came to sudden stop in the middle of the highway as Miss McCarthy's car circled it.

Deputies said Miss McCarthy was unable to explain what happened. Damage to her '47 model car was estimated in excess of the vehicle's value, deputies said.

The court told him not to apply for restoration of his driver's license for one year, as it would be denied. He was arrested Aug. 8, 1954, when his car collided on North River Ave. near Beach Rd. with one driven by Mrs. Fannie Van Dyke, 662 South Shore Dr. His previous offense was June 7, 1953, in Holland, at which time he told the court he paid $104.

The pair allegedly broke into Cook's Hardware Store in Grand Haven, Sept. 25 and took a cash register, containing some change. Ware has been in trouble since 10 years ago and has served time in prison. He has also been an escapee and parole violator. Carr served a three to 15 year term for robbery—armed, and another time made restitution on a forgery charge.

Bernard Kovalsky, 21, of Chicago, who pleaded guilty Oct. 11 to a charge of forgery, upon making restitution of the amount of the check involved, had his sentence suspended and was to be turned over to military officials. The sheriff's department was to notify the military authorities to pick him up. On or about Sept. 15, at Grand Haven Kovalsky allegedly altered a $34.50 check to $134.50 given by Vern Bush Co. for two days wages.

Angel Roberto Pagin Rios, 28, of 311 River Ave., Holland, who appeared Oct. 11 on a rape charge and wanted the opportunity to consult an attorney before entering a plea, pleaded guilty Monday afternoon and will return for disposition on Oct. 25 at 11:30 a.m. The alleged offense occurred on or about Aug. 24 in Park township.

Howard Barnes, 28, route 3, Fennville, appeared for violation of his probation and the matter was adjourned for another week to give him the opportunity to raise $200 to apply on his arrears on alimony for two different families. Community Chest Aids Visiting Nurse Program

The Visiting Nurse Association in Holland is a Community Chest supported agency which provides home nursing care by a registered professional nurse under the direction of the family physician. The program has been in effect 44 years and about 80 per cent of the local patients are elderly.

In Holland, the VNA is only partly financed by Community Chest. People who are able to pay the fees for the nursing service are expected to do so. Others whose financial status does not allow this may pay part of the fee or none at all. The service is for everyone, regardless of financial status.

During the past year, the visiting nurse made 1,864 visits, or an average of eight visits a day. These services include bedside care, care of new mothers and babies, injections, dressing changes or any other treatment ordered by the family physician. Holland is one of 13 VNA's in Michigan. The Community Chest has earmarked $2,800 for the visiting nurse program this year.

Ottawa County 4-H News

Willis S. Boss, 4-H Club Agent

Much activity has been stirring in the past week. There were three leader meetings held in three different parts of the county. It has been recommended at these meetings that we organize into three district Achievement Days and have leader meetings in each. This will enable all of the county to be covered in a one week period and help us function better in the 4-H program.

Another leaders meeting has been called for the second week of November at which time we will have election of officers and set up committees. Leader Training meetings will also be held at that time in an effort to promote and show us how to lead the boys and girls in their club projects. Reservations have not as yet been made for the buildings but remember the dates, Nov. 8, 9 and 10.

Fall Rally—On Nov. 3 and 4 upon recommendations of the majority of leaders in the county we are going to hold our Fall Rally. One will be held in the northern part of the county and the other in the southern part of the county. At that time we will pass out awards from state show and local fairs.

Football Game—According to a bulletin received from Michigan State College Nov. 6th is the date at which time the 4-H members can attend the Michigan State College-Washington State Football game at East Lansing. Anyone who is interested should contact their leader and make reservations with the 4-H Club office. Send your reservation to Willis S. Boss, 4-H Club Agent, Court House, Grand Haven. Each club must arrange for their own transportation, lunches and purchase your tickets through our office as a club.

Local Woman Wounded As She Hangs Up Wash

Police repeated a warning against firing rifles or BB guns inside the city after a Holland woman was wounded Wednesday as she was hanging up her washing.

Mrs. Frank Franken, 315 East 11th St., told police she was hanging up her washing when she felt something strike her left arm. Doctors removed a .22 caliber bullet from her left forearm.

The bullet had struck with enough force to go through her arm and lodge just under the skin on the opposite side.

Chief Jacob Van Hoff said it was against the law to discharge any type of firearm, including BB guns, within the city limits. He called on residents to telephone the department to report any violations.

Dutch Hit Paydirt In Every Quarter To Score 33-6 Win

DOWAGIAC (Special) — Holland High put a smooth running attack into operation here Friday night and rolled over Dowagiac, 33-6. The Dutch counted once in the first, second and fourth quarters and twice in the third period to chalk up the team's first win.

Moving well along the ground, Holland picked up 333 yards, while holding a completely outmanned Dowagiac team to only 60 yards rushing. Holland added an additional 50 yards passing while the Chief's picked up 52. Dowagiac was held to three first downs, while Holland collected 14.

The Holland touchdown parade looked like this:

1. Ron Van Dyke, crashed over from the Dowagiac three with less than two minutes to go in the first quarter. Deserving to carry the ball over, Van Dyke spearheaded the Holland drive that started on the Dutch 12. He carried the ball 11 times in the drive. Paul Northuis' extra point kick was good.

2. This score came with 30 seconds remaining in the half. Tom Klomprens, playing his best game of the season, bulled off guard from the three to pay dirt. The touchdown had been set up on an intercepted pass on the Dowagiac 31 by Chuck Gouloze, Dutch center. Northuis' kick was again good.

3. Dick Den Uyl, starting right halfback, got the honors for the third score carrying over on a five yard end sweep. This touchdown came with one minute and 30 seconds of the third quarter gone. Klomprens set up the tally with a 51 yard run from the point of the kickoff return, the Dutch 39. The extra point attempt was wide.

4. Henry Visscher, fourth member of the starting backfield, scored the second third quarter touchdown on a quarterback sneak. He plunged from three yards out. This drive started on the Dutch 38 but bogged down twice because of penalties. A Van Dyke to Visscher pass from the Holland 41 to the Dowagiac five was the big move in the drive. A bad pass from center prevented the extra point attempt.

5. This score was a football player's dream. With one minute of play remaining in the game, Bill Kraal, playing his first minute of varsity football, intercepted a Dowagiac pass on the Chief 36 and raced down the sidelines to score. Northuis' extra point was good and the Holland kickoff ended the contest.

Highlight on the Dowagiac side of the ledger was a 94 yard kick off return by Lonnie Pompey, left halfback, of a Holland boot early in the third quarter. Holland had just scored and was caught flat-footed, by the fast-stepping Negro halfback.

Dowagiac, as expected, started passing on the opening play. Lee Younger threw 12 passes in the 1st quarter and a half, before receiving a knee injury tackling Van Dyke. Younger, not too consistent, hit on four aeriels. Bob Neff, took over the rest of the game and threw seven more, completing one.

Shortly after scoring the Dowagiac touchdown Pompey was ejected from the game for a personal foul. With the one-two punch gone, the Dowagiac team went nowhere the rest of the game.

The first three quarters were played in crisp October weather, but fourth period play was carried on in a steady downpour. Both units, reserves for the most part, were inexperienced in "mudding" and neither team made progress.

Holland on one occasion recovered a fumble on the Dowagiac seven, but two plays later the Chief's grabbed up a Dutch fumble on the same yard line.

Coach Dale Shearer of Holland cleaned his bench and got a chance to see everyone of his 30-man traveling squad in action. For the most part he was pleased with the showing.

Penalties bogged down the Holland attack frequently. A total of 80 yards were marked off against the Dutch.

Coming out into his own for the first time was Leroy Fogerty, sub center, who played most of the game at offensiveness.

About a half dozen carloads of Holland fans cheered the locals, plus the Holland High cheerleaders. The Dowagiac band, one of the top high school bands in Western Michigan in marching maneuvers, performed at halftime.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water

Action in the Zeeland softball tournament was concluded last Sunday with a 10-0 victory by the crowned. For a quick review, South Blenden won Class A, West Hudsonville, Class B, and Zutphen, Class C. Zeeland Bon Ton annexed the girl's division. All of these teams participated in the regular Zeeland softball leagues this summer and again proved they could hold up against outstate competition.

Ray Schaap, personable tourney director, whose headache it was to arrange the 82 original tournament entries into brackets, got to figuring some tournament statistics and came up with a few facts. Leroy Brower, winning pitcher in the Class C game, allowed only four runs and 11 hits in the five tournament games in which his team participated. He struck out 65 men and climaxed his pitching with a no-hit, no-run game Tuesday night. The Zutphen team collected 19 runs in the tournament on 23 hits.

In the girl's division, the Bon Tonners, after losing the game to Drenthe, fought back in the loser's bracket to the finals. It meant playing six games. The Zeeland girls, in winning the tournament, collected 36 hits and 40 runs.

Arkie Vander Kolk, pitching mainstay, hurled the six games. She allowed just nine runs in the tourney and gave up 14 hits. She struck out 69 and her last four games were shutouts.

Les Etter, sports publicity director at the University of Michigan, sent this in last week. Tom Maentz, a rangy sophomore wingman from Holland, Mich., was another newcomer who "arrived" against the Iowa Hawkeyes. Playing a tough defensive game, Maentz lived up to advance expectations of Wing Coach Matt Patanelli, who pegged him as a comer as the season opened.

Junior High boys in the Kalamazoo area came under a new program instigated recently for tackle football. Free instruction is given each Saturday by five coaches under the sponsorship of the Kalamazoo Recreation Commission. The classes will be held the rest of the football season. The first week's session included passing and kicking drills. There will be no contact work until equipment is available. The boys must have signed statement from a parent or guardian permitting them to take part.

SPLINTERS: Albion and Hillsdale junior varsity football teams played a charity game at Homer recently. Harold Gensichen, Western Michigan College's greatest basketball player is now a radio announcer at station KTUC in Tucson, Ariz. Gensichen, who held the Holland Army scoring record with 30 points tallied against Hope, was a TB victim shortly after he finished his college work. He is believed to have completely recovered. In Hope College's four games, the Dutchmen and the opponents have each gained 157 yards rushing. John Adams is 22nd among the nation's small college yard gainers according to statistics released by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. Adams has picked up 299 yards in 45 tries. Doug Maison, Hillsdale College quarterback, who broke a leg in the early minutes of the Hillsdale-Kalamazoo game, received the game ball. Hillsdale won 7-0.

"Pride in the past, contentment in the present and hope for the future, characterizes the Spanish people today," Jacobusse told the club. He was particularly impressed by the friendliness of the Spanish, of their hospitality and their willingness to walk a couple of blocks out of their way just to give the right directions.

While America regards the Franco regime as a dictatorship, most Spanish people differ in this opinion, but Spain is grateful to Franco for two reasons—keeping Spain out of World War II and keeping Communists out of the country," Jacobusse said. He explained that Franco has close ties with the clergy and church and state are totally intertwined.

During the question period, Jacobusse described life in the home of his adopted Spanish family. He was assigned to a middle-class household in which the father operated a book shop. He described the food, the wide variety of available fruits, the coffee which he said tasted like cocoa and the general living conditions. He said there is little industry in the country and although America would regard the standards as low, the Spanish people are happy and healthy.

Miss Ver Hey described her work at Wolverine Girls State in a light humorous vein. She said the girls saw government at work on the city, county and state level, all in one building. Her own assigned city of Ripley had its own problems — garbage, budget and a safety program. On the state level, she was elected a state representative and served as party whip for the Federalist party. The girls voted on voting machines and Gov. Williams was present at the inaugural. On Tuesday night, Miss Ver Hey and two other girls from Holland staged a klompen dance which was particularly well received.

Mrs. Bruce G. Van Leuwen, club president, presided. She asked club members to gather books for the AAUW book sale and also asked for blankets, pajamas and other supplies for the Visiting Nurse. Another request was for clothing for Mary Free Bed Guild.

Willis Welling described the get-out-the-vote program conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and asked for volunteers to aid in the telephone program to contact 4,000 registered voters in this area who have not voted since 1952. Four hundred volunteers are being sought, each to make 10 calls.

Legislators Explain Four State Proposals

The four proposals on the state referendum ballot at the Nov. 2 election were explained by State Senator Clyde H. Goerlings of Holland and Rep. George Van Peursem of Zeeland at the first meeting of the Public Affairs group of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. The meeting which preceded the regular meeting attracted about 50 club members.

The first 15 minutes was in the form of a radio interview with Bill Gargano of WHTC as moderator.

Much of the time was devoted to proposal No. 2 also known as the Conlin plan for redistribution of sales tax funds. The proposal provides for distribution on a current basis instead of on previous year's figures, thereby eliminating certain problems in case of decreased revenues. The two legislators said the new plan would divert two cents to schools (which would include teachers retirement fund), a half cent to cities and villages and a half cent to state coffers. The two men said the new plan would simplify a current complicated program and would "freeze" the state sales tax at not more than 3 percent.

Although bingo is not mentioned, Proposal No. 4 on allowing the legislature to pass laws relaxing statutes on lotteries for charitable organizations is generally called the bingo amendment, the men pointed out. Passage of the proposal would make the legislature redefine lotteries and charitable institutions. The two men pointed to the possibility of outside gambling interests taking over in the state.

Proposal No. 1 was described as a technicality in the elections law which would not deprive a Michigan citizen of his vote if he moved to another precinct within the state in the 30-day period preceding an election.

Proposal No. 3, known as the Korean bonus, would bond the state of Michigan for $80,000,000 to allow bonuses for Korean war veterans. This is somewhat similar to the bonus bill passed after World War II. The current proposal would provide an average $270 bonus to approximately 250,000 servicemen who served during the Korean period. The two legislators did not advocate a "yes" or "no" vote on the measure, but pointed out that so-called "gifts" of this kind must always be paid back.

Mrs. Francis Drake, co-chairman with Mrs. A. C. Yost of the Public Affairs group, introduced the two legislators and listed the many committees on which they serve.

Board to Study Appraisals for Ottawa County

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A three-man committee to study a new appraisal program for Ottawa County was appointed by Chairman John Van Dyke at Tuesday's session of the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors.

Appointed were George Swart of Grand Haven, Roy Lowing of Georgetown and Henry Vermeer of Jamestown. They will contact professional firms on prices and will report back at the January session.

The board also considered a written request from Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek for two $3,000 appropriations for special deputy work in the Coopersville and Hudsonville areas. He also requested a full time secretary-stenographer. The sheriff's appropriations, tentatively listed in the new budget, total $38,200, compared with $27,100 last year.

In view of the fact that there is a sufficient balance on hand, no appropriation will be requested this year for the Ottawa County Soldiers and Sailors Relief Commission. Expenditures for relief and administration the past year amounted to $540.96. Balance on hand is $4,920.95.

Probate Judge Frederick T. Miles requested wage increases for some employees in his department and suggested that the board make a complete study of salary equality in the court house. He said there has been bickering over salaries in the court house for five years or more and believes October, 1954, is the time to correct it. He also emphasized the need of an assistant for the juvenile division agent.

The 1954 budget was presented and the board went into a committee of the whole with Vice Chairman Roy Lowing presiding. The board adjourned until Friday afternoon.

ON LOVING YOUR ENEMIES

We are enjoined in the Bible, "Love your enemies." To nearly everybody that looks like an impossible commandment.

A national magazine, observing the billions of pounds of food that the United States has acquired in crop supports, some of which is rotting and will in time become worthless, made the novel suggestion that it might be a good idea to give it away to all people, the Chinese!

China has been visited the past few months by devastating floods. Millions of people are on the edge of starvation. If half of the reports coming out of China are true, vast numbers of human beings will actually starve during the coming months.

Why not channel the food stockpiles that we don't know what to do with those starving Chinese the magazine asked. It would be a practical demonstration that we are not the "imperialistic monsters" that the rulers of those illiterate hordes charge us with being.

A horrified citizen of Manhattan Beach, California, named Noel A. Robinson Jr. protested:

"Chinese soldiers killed and mutilated our boys in Korea. The fact that they are about to starve delights me immeasurably."

That gruesome expression of rapture is an example of the illogic of hate. The magazine's suggestion about feeding the starving Chinese is probably unworkable; the chances are that the Communist government of China would not allow proper inspection, ensuring the delivery of our food to the starving hordes. In that case we would be bolstering the war potential of our enemies, which would be silly.

But the American citizen who gets "immeasurable delight" out of the starvation of millions of Chinese because a dictator's soldiers killed and mutilated our boys displays a poverty of imagination that is almost pitiful.

For the soldiers who did the killing and mutilating will not starve, or even be in danger of starvation. They will continue to be well fed. But hundreds of millions of illiterate men, women and children who have no more responsibility for those killings and mutilations than the California citizen will die or will be condemned to stunted lives through hunger that could be appeased by the food that America can't sell or even give away.

The magazine's idea is probably impractical, but at least it does not suffer from the stupidity that makes the Californian's outburst fantastically unrealistic.

The Home in Civilization ...

Proverbs 4:1-4; 6:20-23; 19:13, 14

By Henry Geerlings

The family is the oldest of our institutions. It goes back to the very beginning, to the time when God began to set the solitary in groups. Naturally it has been identified with every movement that has come into being. The family has been differently regarded in various parts of the world, but it still remains true that no institution can rise higher or fall lower than the family itself.

The ancient lawgiver saw fit to tell us something of the nature of God, and to follow it with recital of some of our duties toward Him. The people surrounding the Jews had many gods. They were polytheists, that is believers in and worshippers of many gods. It was not so with the Jews. In their faith they professed one God. There is no room for any more. That being the case, it follows like night the day that they worshipped Jehovah alone.

The assumption that the religion of the Jews was always and ever outward and formal is a wrong one. It was to be in the heart. It soon decays and dies unless its roots sink into the depth of our being. Of course, generally the Bible employs heart, mind and soul in the same sense, and therefore interchangeably. To use the one is to include the others.

Two important points are to be emphasized. One of them is the formal and diligent instruction of children in the fundamentals of religious truth. That dare not be overlooked or even regarded as all-important and all-inclusive. There is also the less formal and incidental aspect of the subject, and that is the talking of them when we are sitting in the house, and walking along the wayside, when we lie down and when we get up. The chance moments cannot be employed to better advantage than by telling our children about these deep and saving truths without which the nations will perish.

When we surround all the moments of such instruction with the atmosphere of sacredness, we are at least unconsciously removing it from the everyday affairs and the routine of life, in which case we are making it harder for children to feel it is a part of one's normal existence. We have done the children an injustice and we have not dealt honestly with religious truth when we have even seemed to give the impression that the faith we cherish is too sacred to be passed on. Children are given inquiring minds.

There are those who feel that the Bible has all too little to say about family life. It may be true that we cannot recall so many experiences that center in the home, nevertheless, there are a number of them. It would be very strange if the Bible had only a little to say about life in the family. The training of children in the right way is one of the imperatives of the scriptures. Failure at this point is more fatal than at any other.

The importance of religious training cannot be questioned. Man is not self taught. He does not naturally grow into the understanding and experience of religion. The right relationship to God is developed through long years of patient instruction. God is the original teacher. His Word is the basic truth to be taught in the acquisition of a knowledge of Him and of a right relation toward His authority.

The responsibilities of parents are threefold: to love their children, to understand them, and to educate them. Nature has done much to aid parents in the first. Child study has done and is doing much to assist parents in the second. Most parents normally long for the success of their children, and hence are anxious that they should receive the best secular, moral and religious training.

Every child is entitled to the heritage of being well born, of having a good home, of living in a desirable community, of being permitted to attend good schools, and of sharing in the benefits of the church and its various educational agencies.

It is easier to describe the ideal home religion than to create it. Many young people are not at home enough to inaugurate any great changes, but where there is an opportunity practical suggestions may be made. On the other hand, most of the young people hope to establish homes and families of their own. Parents ought to give them a strong, clear ideal of home religion.

CHEST DRIVE KICK-OFF

Illinois Family Arrives Safely After Rough Trip

Strong Winds Smash Boom, Rip Mainsail On 55-Foot Sloop

Four Illinois residents including an eight-year-old girl, aboard a 56-foot sloop, battled strong winds and high waves for seven hours on Lake Michigan before arriving safely in Holland Harbor late Thursday night.

The "Nahma Abistene" ran into trouble at 1 p.m. when winds splintered the boom and shredded the mainsail. After that the boat was completely at the mercy of the 35 to 45 mile-an-hour winds and 15 foot waves.

Diary Clark, La Grange, Ill., owner of the boat, and an airline pilot, said once the sails went they had no choice but hold in one direction which fortunately was on course for Holland—their original destination.

About 1:30 p.m. Clark said he saw a tanker coming up behind them. 25 miles off South Haven, and fired two distress flares to get attention. Personnel on the tanker, "Chicago Seacon," destined for Muskegon, noticed the flares but appeared to be continuing on their way.

The tanker then started off to Muskegon but two more flares brought the vessel back to the side of the sloop. The tanker then stayed about 200 yards astern for about six hours until it was 10 miles off Holland.

At that point the Holland Coast Guard met the sloop with a rescue launch and stayed along until the sloop was safely inside the harbor.

Clark said his boat still managed to keep going under what sails remained and the small auxiliary engine and came into the harbor under its own power.

Clark said, "If the wind had changed 30 degrees we would have been completely lost. I think we were exceptionally lucky. As I think back over it I wonder just what would have happened if."

During the trip Clark's young daughter, Susan, stayed below decks while his wife, Ruth, and a friend, William McIntyre, Park Forest, Ill., helped on deck.

The Clarks had left Chicago at 9 a.m. for Holland where they were going to leave their boat at the Jesiek Shipyards for the winter. Unknown to the Clarks, the Jesiek brothers were following their storm battered crossing on the radio.

Bill and Don Jesiek had gone aboard a boat in the harbor where the owner was checking out his radio equipment. About 2 p.m. the Jesieks heard the tanker talking to Coast Guard officials advising them of the boat in distress.

For the next several hours the Jesieks followed the progress of the Clark boat and were on hand when it pulled into the harbor. The group spent the night as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Jesiek.

Clark said he bought the boat four years ago and cruised up to the North Channel, all over Michigan waters, to Green Bay and other points, and this was the first time he had ever had any trouble.

The entire group left here Friday noon for home. The return trip was made by car.

Had enough rain to suit you in October?

Never before has so much rain fallen so late in the season—at least that's the way it appears to everybody. Yet, all the flooded basements, washouts and other damage seem insignificant when you consider the wide swath of destruction brought about by Hurricane Hazel on the eastern part of the continent.

With rain pelting at windows, and water flooding to the curbs on River Ave. in front of City Hall, it remained for Health Inspector Ben Wiersema to quip: "This is Water Wonderland!"

During last week's floods in Chicago, one radio newscaster injected humor into a tense situation. He said, "Don't go out in a car tonight unless you're a fish."

Incidentally, if you are driving in a rainstorm at night (and who hasn't been caught in one at least once in the last couple of weeks?) remember your manners and don't use your brights if you're following in a line of traffic. Those wide rear windows on the new models are pure heck when the guy behind persists in using his brights.

A local deputy said he solved the problem while coming home from a football game by piling up coats in the rear window shelf and diverting to his side view mirror.

But it shouldn't be necessary to have to stack up apparel when a little courtesy is much simpler.

Coming home from the Michigan State-Iowa game a couple of weeks ago, a local football fan saw a lot of search lights swinging across the horizon at Cedar Rapids, Ia. What was it?

It proved to be a car dealer anxious to move 100 1934 models from his lot before the arrival of the new 1935's.

"He gyped everybody around here. Now I guess he's looking for suckers on other planets," one gas station attendant opined.

With all this spring rain in October, a lilac bush got mixed up at the Peter Tuls home on Holland Heights. The bush bloomed and Pete brought a branch of lilacs to The Sentinel.

Speaking of flowers, Mrs. Ethel Hess recently had an Easter lily in bloom with six blossoms. Peter Bernecker of South Shore Dr. also reported an Easter lily with two blooms.

There was some excitement in Apple Avenue school (formerly the East 24th St. school) last Monday when some strange-looking spiders came to light. Teacher Jack Dornbos took a specimen to Hope College and learned they were the Black Widow type, but not poisonous.

As for the youngsters, it wasn't the danger but the fact that they got out of school an hour or so earlier that made the event memorable.

With all the autumn leaves staging the best show of the season, better plan that color tour soon. Time's awasting.

Planning a hunting trip? Don't pull the trick Wayne Overbeek did when he went part-time hunting in Cadillac a few days ago. He stopped at the home of a cousin there and borrowed his dog for the day.

After a day's hunting, he returned there for supper and thanked his cousin for the use of the dog.

On his return to Holland he stopped at the home of a friend and while there he heard a dog growl and commented, "Did you get a new dog?"

The friend said, "No. I think the noise came from your car." Lo and behold, there was cousin's dog in the trunk of his car.

A long distance call from Cadillac that evening assured Overbeek he'd have a dog boarder for a couple of days before the dog could be returned to Cadillac.

We've heard a lot of comment on that cute picture of that free-wheeling dachshund of San Jose, Calif., that appeared in Wednesday's Sentinel.

We were reminded of one of H. C. L. Jackson's expressions in his Detroit column about another sausage hound which he described as one of those dog-and-a-half long animals that's half-a-dog high.

Laff for the day: An expression to recall while listening to political speeches... "A speaker who does not strike oil in ten minutes should stop boring."

Hope Cross-Country Team Defeats Adrian

Two Youths Admit $104 Burglary

Holland detectives and Ottawa County deputies cleared up another burglary late Thursday with the arrest of two local youths.

John Roberts, 17, of 49 East 16th St., along with a 16-year-old minor or are charged with breaking into the Wooden Shoe Factory on North River Ave. Set. 26 and taking $104.

Officers said the two admitted the burglary. The youths told officers they entered the building through a rear entrance, forced their way into the office and removed the cash register.

Outside the building the two used a screwdriver to pry open the cash drawer. They then returned the cash register to the office and covered it with a large wooden salad bowl.

Police were stumped in their original investigation as to why the salad bowl covered the register. Roberts said they figured officers would think the bowl dropped off the shelf damaging the register and not think a burglary had taken place.

Roberts was arraigned Thursday in Municipal court on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime. Examination was set for Oct. 19. Bond of $500 was not furnished.

Officers said they would ask a waiver in Probate Court on the minor so he can be tried in Circuit Court. The minor was recently released from Boys Vocational School in Lansing.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

Whom would you name as the most famous character in American fiction, the world over? That question may develop into a national game as result of a new book called "The Leatherstocking Saga." For a New York publisher, in cooperation with a Columbia professor, Allan Nevins, has gone all out for the thesis that the most famous character in American fiction is Natty Bumppo. Cooper's creation better known as Leatherstocking, Deerslayer, Hawkeye, Pathfinder, or Long Rifle.

"The Leatherstocking Saga" is of course made up of the five Cooper novels in which Natty Bumppo plays a leading part, under various nicknames. The editor (who by the way is a famous historian but who has never given evidence that knows very much about fiction) reprints all the scenes in which Natty appears as Cooper wrote them. All other scenes are summarized in Nevins' own words.

The project is an interesting experiment. But the chances are that not all readers will agree with the publishers and their editor that Natty Bumppo is the "most famous character" in America's fiction.

Even if it could be shown that the publisher and editor were right, it would of course not follow that the "most famous" character is the greatest character. I for one am ready to assert that Natty Bumppo is often so absurd as a fictional creation that his actions and speeches might make a horse laugh.

Especially his speeches. No where in the five Cooper novels are we told that Natty ever had a single day of schooling. Yet he is ready at the drop of a hat to engage in speeches a whole page in length that are so carefully phrased, whose sentences are constructed with such meticulous care, that a professor of post-graduate composition might be proud of them.

As for the things Natty Bumppo does in the five Leatherstocking Tales, Mark Twain called the turn on them in a famous piece of literary criticism that has become a classic in American writing. As Mark Twain marshals his evidence, Daniel Boone was a piker compared with Natty. Cooper's hero engages in feats of valor and skill and ingenuity and precision that could not possibly have been accomplished by anyone who was not a combination of Daniel Boone, George Washington, Julius Caesar, Patrick Henry, and, among others Paul Bunyan and Hiawatha.

But Cooper never bats an eye, asking the world to believe that the things Natty does were actually done by a human being. And from the angle of popularity, he was right in assuming that million of readers would be ready to believe.

For its just a little over a hundred years ago that Cooper created Natty and gave the world a record of his words and alleged deeds. And to this day Natty is a folk character in many, many languages.

But again, "famous character" is not by any means synonymous with "great character." Could there possibly be a more absurd character in any literature than Elsie Dinsmore, who through some 40 novels made our great-grandmothers shed delicious tears? She is so absurd that no one above the grade of a moron has a good word to say for her today. Yet millions doted on her at one time.

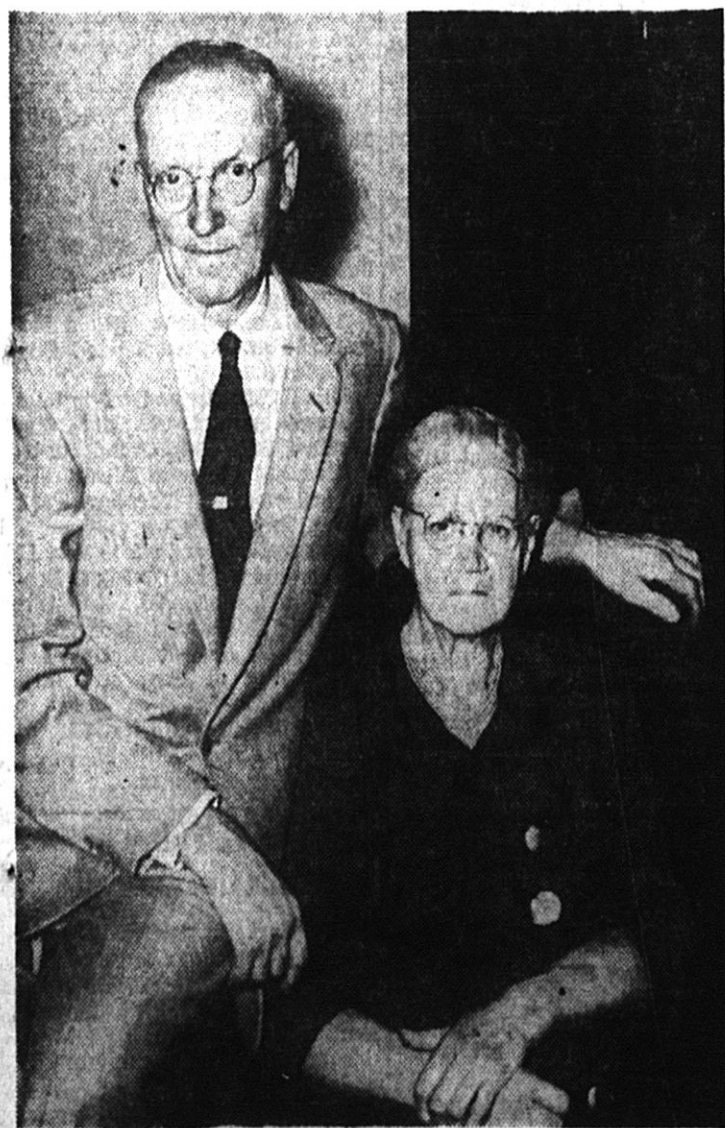

Natty Bumppo may be the "most famous" character in American fiction. That does not make him America's greatest fictional creation. I, for one, would feel inclined to cast my vote for Huckleberry Finn.

A CHALLENGE TO THE DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE

In an open letter addressed to me — not sent me, but published as a political advertisement — you ask me eight questions, none of which you answered. Why not?

In the Armory of Benton Harbor, at 8:00 P.M. on Thursday, October 28, I will answer all eight of those questions, and this is my cordial invitation to you to appear, give your answers to those questions, hear mine, and both answer any others the voters attending may desire to ask.

Come on, Mr. Elferdink. Let us not hide behind oratorical double questions printed in political ads, but meet face to face and give the reasons why we each think he should be sent to Congress.

"You're the coach—
Put in the

Spirit, know-how and teamwork are what it takes to make a winning team; a team that knows its job, that carries the ball—and scores!

That's the kind of team you can field in Lansing and in Washington on November 2.

Top to bottom, you'll agree here's a lineup that will give Michigan the type of government to make you proud.

But—remember—you need the whole team. You need Donald S. Leonard as Governor to coordinate the effort, to provide the inspired leadership. You need the powerful voice of Senator Homer Ferguson in Washington to continue the fullest co-operation with President Eisenhower's Administration. And you need the full roster of capable, experienced, energetic Republican state officers working together to get things done for a greater Michigan.

Don Leonard has pledged his administration to action—on highway improvements—better school facilities—augmented retirement funds for teachers—broader agricultural representation at policy-making levels—a preventive mental health program—a strong youth guidance program—additional industry for Michigan to increase employment—care for the aged in their own communities—removal of politics from prison administration—sound, non-political conservation policies and increased promotion of Michigan's famed tourist attractions.

These are a few of the team's objectives. They cannot be had without teamwork. The team cannot function without leadership. For too long your needs have been thwarted by bickering and confusion in the Governor's office.

Now is the time for action!

Give the team your "go ahead" on November 2—Vote Straight Republican for progress... for a greater Michigan!

Aerial Circus Win Gives Hope Third In Conference Play

Hope College put together two touchdowns and one extra point to step ahead of Adrian College in the MIAA standings. Going into Friday night's game at Riverview Park, the two teams were deadlocked for third spot in the standings, but the 13-7 Hope win puts the Dutch in sole possession, since none of the other MIAA teams played Friday.

The fans, who sat through some brisk fall weather, were really treated to an aerial circus as predicted. The visiting Bulldogs threw a total of 34 passes and Hope took to the air 20 times. But the percentages weren't too good, Adrian completing just nine and Hope five.

The payoff plays were all on the ground. Hope's first score came with two minutes left in the first half after the two teams had jockeyed up and down the field for almost 25 minutes. Starting on their own 23, the locals sputtered and then quarterback Mert Vander Lind really moved them in a hurry. He faded back behind beautiful protection at his own 23 and heaved a long bulls-eye to lanky Paul Wiegierink on the Adrian 36—good for 43 yards. That same Vander Lind to Wiegierink combination played for Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills last season.

Well, the play perked up the Dutch and it took them just six more plays to reach the end zone. Another key play in the drive was a Vander Lind to Tom Carey pitchout that carried from the Adrian 21 to the 8.

Fullback Dave Kuyers from Zeeland, a workhorse all evening, found a nice hole between guard and tackle and dashed to the end zone. Don Van Hoeven kicked the point and it was 7-0. A few minutes later Adrian took a chance with fourth down. They didn't make it and Hope took over on the visitor's 39. A flurry of passes failed to click and the half ended.

The third quarter was a repeat of the first, with neither team able to hit the double marker. There were a lot of "just misses" in the passing duel but they might just as well have missed by a mile—none of 'em count.

Vander Lind again stepped into the scoring picture in the opening minutes of the last quarter when he intercepted an Adrian pass thrown by quarterback Joe Davis on the Hope 20 and returned it to the Hope 40.

Kuyers bulled his way to the 48. On the next play, Vander Lind, playing in the key quarterback slot, pulled a beautiful fake with the able help of Kuyers going up the middle. The deft maneuver sucked the entire Adrian team into the center and Vander Lind handed off to Halfback John Adams who was away unmolested down the north sidelines for a 52-yard touchdown sprint.

The fake even pulled Adrian halfback Jim Swish and quarterback Fred Hobart out of position and they hardly had more than a fleeting glimpse of speedy Adams going past. This time Van Hoeven missed the kick and it was 13-0.

Adrian scored on an 83-yard march in 12 plays with three minutes left in the game. The Bulldogs, with Swish, Russ Shindorf and Hobart combining on sweeping pichtouts, kept pressing goalward against a rather inexperienced line of Hope subs. Coach Al Vanderbush put his regulars into the lineup when the drive hit the three yard line, but it was too late. Two plays later Shindorf cracked left tackle for the last half-yard and a score. Davis added the boot and that was it.

The Dutch didn't have the spark they had a week ago against Alma, but were good enough in the clutch to stop the Adrian advances. As Coach Al Vanderbush said after the game, "I'm mighty pleased to win them, and by any score whether it be a point or more. Every win counts now."

Again Kuyers was a workhorse for the locals with his steady line battering smashes that accounted for those precious yards on more than one occasion. Adams of course was good along with Carey, who saw limited action because of a healing shoulder injury.

Del Grisson performed capably as he did last week at quarter-back. You've read about Vander Lind. Add to those backs some exceptionally fine line play by guard Earl DeWitt, and you have a good inkling of the reason for success Friday night.

Fumbleitis in the first quarter left Hope in some touchy spots but each time the defense was able to meet the challenge. Once the locals settled down in the ball-holding department, then appeared to have the upper hand.

Adrian leaned heavily on the throwing arms of Davis and Hobart. They were flinging a lot of passes, and as stated previously, many just eased-off intended receivers. A couple of fingertips either way and it would have spelled trouble for Hope.

Coach Joe Fortunato can be proud of his team though. He has some fine running backs in Swish, Shindorf, Bob DeLong and Brian Graff. Add to that the fact he has 24 freshmen on the squad and look out for Adrian next year.

A feature of the game was the cheering of all safety patrol boys and girls from Holland area schools, who were guests of the college under direction of City Safety Director Don Oosterbaan.

Don Jacobusse Addresses DAR

Student Ambassador K. Don Jacobusse, who visited Spain last summer, addressed the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Andrew H. Crawford in Saugatuck.

The student ambassador who spent several weeks living in the home of a Spanish family was one of 800 students participating in the 1954 Experiment in International Living. While in Spain he was much impressed by the spirit of happiness which seemed to prevail among the people.

"Even though there is much poverty, people are content and are very grateful to Franco for keeping them out of World War II and preventing the Communist from getting into the country," Jacobusse said.

He added there is no separation of church and state and there are many beautiful churches and cathedrals throughout the country. "Franco has made Madrid a beautiful modern city."

Education is controlled completely by the church with compulsory education to 14 years. Schools are not modern except in Madrid and few students are encouraged to go on to college, he said. He also spoke of Spanish literature and art and spoke briefly on American-Spanish political relations.

Mrs. Harold B. Niles, regent, presided. Mrs. W.F. Kendrick, chaplain, conducted devotions. The chapter voted to contribute $10 to the Junior Chamber of Commerce Nativity Scene fund.

Assisting Mrs. Crawford were Mesdames L. J. Geuder, Merrick Hanchett, John Mikula, Miles Baskett, Allan B. Ayers and Kenneth Peirce.

Let's Plant Beauty--Autumn Color Turns Thoughts to Spring Blooms

The coloring of autumn leaves is a signal for the fall planting of spring bulbs. It is not just the optimist in us that urges our imagination to mark the end of winter before it has begun with dreams of daffodil drifts, fragrant hyacinths, eye-catching crocus and flaming tulips. Actually there is no other way to have spring flowers except by setting out the bulbs between now and November.

For new gardeners, bulbs are a particularly happy choice for sure-fire bloom next spring because a bulb is a complete plant unit that contains flower bud, foliage, and food. After the bulb has bloomed, it begins to form within itself buds for the following year and many springs to come. The green leaves play a vital role in this process by manufacturing food and returning it to the bulb where it is stored until active growth is renewed again each fall. All that is required of us is to simply place the bulb in the soil.

By carefully selecting bulbs from the generous number of varieties available a garden can extend its spring display for four carefree months—carefree because they will bloom before weeds, insects, and sprinkling become problems.

Calendarwise, snowdrops pop up first in February. These frosty white bells prefer semishade to full sun, will flower profusely from year to year if left undisturbed.

The crocus is part of the March landscape in spite of the weather. It closes its canary yellow, purple, blue or striped petals in a snow-flurry only to open them again on the next sunny day. Seeing them along a walk, near the front door, or peeking out from beneath evergreen planting is a real omen of warmer days to come.

Another March charmer is chionodoxa—glory of the snow—whose blue stars spread over the ground for several weeks.

All these early-flowering small bulbs should be planted two to three inches apart and only 3" deep. Grouped informally they are recommended for spots where they can naturalize and increase at will.

Purple or white grape hyacinths follow in April, along with their big cousin, the wood hyacinth in red, blue, or white which brightens foundation plantings, edges walks, encircles trees to make enchanting pictures as well as scenting the air with its delicious perfume.

Mid-April finds the first "host of golden daffodils" which will continue in successive waves until the last days of May for there are several flowering types.

Daffodils are classified according to the length of the center part, known as the trumpet, the cup, or the corona depending on the length of it. Most daffodils have one flower to a stem, but some of the corona types have clusters of several.

While "daffodil" is the word commonly used for this group of bulbs, the botanical family-name is "narcissus." Any kind of narcissus may be a daffodil, but only one type may be called jonquil. A jonquil has two or three flowers on one stem that are a deep yellow color and are very fragrant. It has round, rush-like leaves instead of the flat ones common to all other types of narcissi. Jonquilla Simplex is a good one to grow.

Earliest to bloom is the trumpet type with one large flower, either white or some shade of yellow or a combination of both. Favorites in this class are King Alfred, Mendon, Swan's Neck, Aerolite, Golden Harvest, Babylon Majestic. Two lovely giant trumpets which have a pink cast are Mrs. R. O. Backhouse and Siam.

Next to bloom are the cup (Incomparabilis) daffodils typified by John Evelyn, Semper Avanti, Selma Lagerlof, Francisca Drake. Among the last to blossom are the corona types, which are usually white and commonly called narcissi. They include Paper White, Geranium, Taxetta, and Poeticus.

No one in Holland needs to be told that May brings the tulips. The species varieties come first, then Cottage, Darwin, Breeder, Lily-flowered and exotic Parrot in a rainbow of colors.

So get out your trowel, gardener! Now's the time to plant a few of your favorite bulbs. Invest in a long winter of anticipation before these harbingers of spring fulfill your dreams with their snow-melting color, fragrance and charm.

Sheriff's Cruiser Forced Off Road

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Eugene Fisher, 24, Muskegon, who allegedly forced two cars off the road, one a sheriff's cruiser, was arraigned in Municipal Court Saturday on two charges, one for drunk driving and the other for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Fisher was taken into custody by a deputy after he forced the officer's car off the road. Previously he had forced the car of Dr. Edward Brondyke, 670 Steketee Ave., off the road at Port Sheldon.

Officers said Fisher was driving straight for the headlights of all cars he met. After the cruiser was forced off, the officers turned around and overtook the car.

The same officer arrested Vernie Hicks, 35, Muskegon Friday night on Butternut Dr. on a charge of drunk driving. Hicks also was to be arraigned today. He was not involved in an accident.

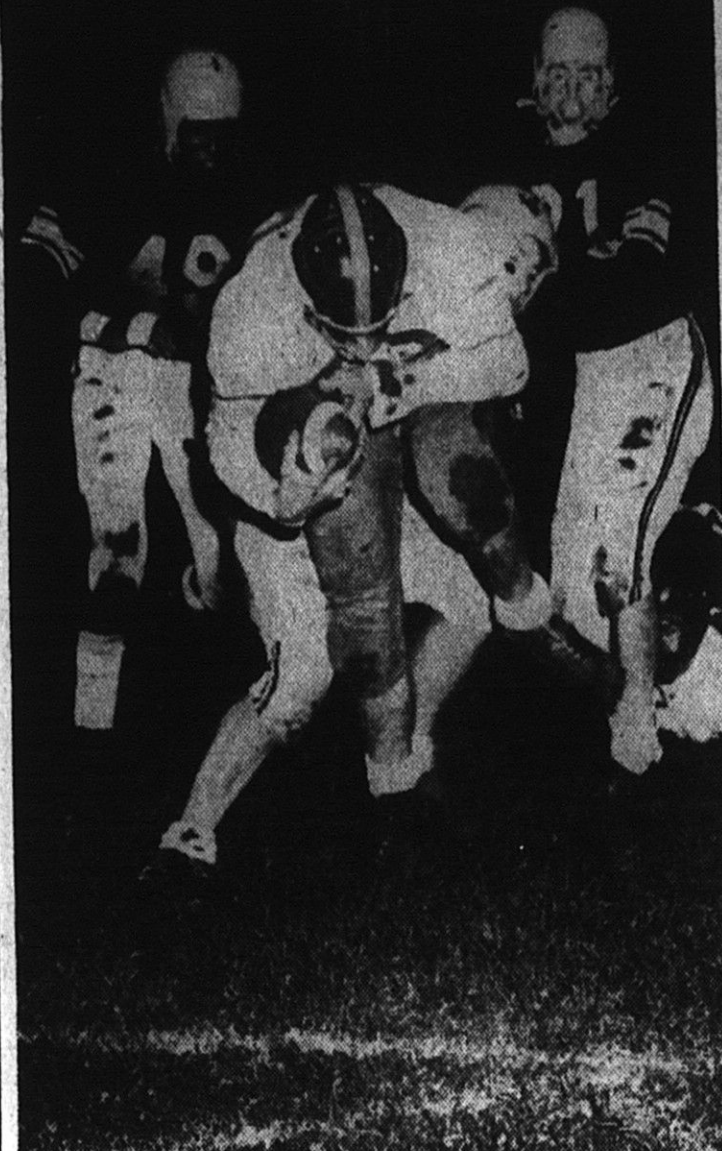

Robert Alexander, 29, route 1, Grand Haven, was arrested by sheriff's officers Friday afternoon on an indecent exposure charge. The alleged offense involving two nine-year-old girls occurred Sept. 24 in West Olive.
