Awards Given at Annual Meeting of Red Cross

Awards for longtime service and a talk on Red Cross experiences in disasters highlighted the annual meeting of the Ottawa County chapter of the American Red Cross Tuesday night in First Presbyterian Church in Grand Haven.

Mrs. Joan Danhof of Zeeland was presented with a plaque for 50 years of service with the Red Cross, presented by Arthur Miller, of Grand Rapids, division manager of the Western Michigan division of the Red Cross. "It's been a work of love," Mrs. Danhof said. "I've enjoyed every minute of it, and I hope to continue."

Miller also presented a special award for Sharon Frifeldt, 18, Spring Lake, who rescued a youth from drowning last April 29. Sharon, now in college, was not present and her mother accepted the certificate.

"Disaster Comes in Many Sizes — Small to Large Economy Size" was the subject of a talk by Miss Elizabeth Perry, national field representative based in Grand Rapids, who spent 10 of 12 months last year on disaster work in floods, tornadoes, fires and hurricanes.

Miss Perry said Red Cross work during disasters is geared to the needs of the people, pointing to the work of Clara Barton whose first efforts in 1881 was with forest fires in Michigan. She said food, clothing and shelter are basic needs in the program and the Red Cross gives outright grants—not loans. Red Cross budgets $10 million a year for disaster work, but in the last few years, needs have far exceeded this figure.

She spoke of Hurricane Betsy with 76 dead, 174,848 families suffering loss and Red Cross paying over $15 million; in 1969 of Hurricane Camille with 137 dead, whole towns wiped out and Red Cross costs of $23 million; and the 1970 Hurricane Celia in Corpus Christi, Tex., where Red Cross workers are still helping.

There was humor and privation in her stories, but over all the strong satisfaction of helping people in need. A film titled "We Will Build Again" showed operations curing Hurricane Camille in 1969.

Bryan Athey of Holland who presided was reelected chairman at a business meeting following the dinner. Lawrence Dickman of Zeeland was named first vice chairman, William Shappee of Holland, second vice chairman; Joan Danhof of Zeeland secretary, and Harold Tregloan of Holland, treasurer.

Board members appointed were Darwin Smith and K. C. Retzlaff of Grand Haven, Mrs. Robert Bareham of Spring Lake; Brian Athey, Dale Myaard, Harris Pieter and Don Stoltz of Holland, and Harris Schipper of Zeeland township. They are part of a 30-member board, eight members forming the executive committee.

Athey recognized the contributions of two retiring members, Brice Maddox of Grand Haven and former Police Chief Les Van Beveren of Holland who has moved to Lansing.

Recognized for long-time service were Mrs. Gladys Olson, 28 years; Mrs. Margaret Ernst, 27 years; Ray Schaubel, 25 years; Mrs. Margaret Angus, 20 years; Mrs. Minnie Young, 19 years; Mrs. Hattie Young, 18 years; Flora Thoma and Virginia Retzlaff, 16 years; Mrs. L. Garthwaite, Martha Loew, and Marian Wiswedel, 10 years.

Mrs. Joyce Wadsworth, executive secretary, was dinner chairman. About 85 attended. Copies of annual reports were distributed.

Allegan Expands Parking Program

ALLEGAN — Purchase of one of the last parcels of property needed for Allegan's downtown parking program was approved Monday night by City Council.

Council members approved the purchase of the Walter Moore property on Brady St. for $15,500 to clear the way for completion of the riverfront parking lot in the rear of Hubbard and Brady Sts.

The city already owns the former Delano Service and Schneiderman properties on Brady St. which, combined with the Moore parcel, will provide through traffic on the riverside lot and increase its capacity from the present 120 parking spaces to an estimated 200.

Council members also authorized City Manager Kenneth E. Bollinger to designate 33 parking spaces for all-day parking in the recently completed lot fronting on Cutler and Trowbridge Streets. This will bring to nearly 200 the number of free, all day parking spaces in the business district. The balance of the more than 350 free off-street parking spaces have 2-hour limits.

At Monday night's meeting, Joe Armstrong was seated as a council member to succeed Robert Clearwater who resigned his post recently. Clearwater was succeeded as mayor by James Rolfe. Armstrong will serve until the next city election in April.

Rapt, Reverent Attention Is Given Passion Play

The original American version of the Oberammergau Passion Play, based on the religious drama given at 10-year intervals in the Bavarian village for more than 300 years, received rapt and reverent attention at its opening for adults Monday night in Civic Center.

In the afternoon, some 700 children gathered for the first of three student matinees, and saw the religious play unfold in equally rapt attention. "They were exceptionally well behaved," a management spokesman said. "We play to student audiences all over the country, and you should be very proud of your children." The night audience also was estimated at 700.

Matinees and evening performances are slated today and Wednesday at 1 p.m. and 8:15 p.m., sponsored by the Holland Rotary Club.

Val Balfour as the Christ an his wife, Ann Kelley Balfour, as Mary Magdalene, led a distinguished professional cast in what has become the greatest play in the world.

The action in 26 scenes was extremely well timed and was highlighted by a sound track of excellent music, much of it from Handel's Messiah. Most effective of all was the Crucifixion scene in which Jesus Christ spoke the last seven words from the cross. In the highly moving Descent from the Cross, Stainer's "For God So Loved the World" proved the perfect musical accompaniment.

So also was Handel's glorious "Halleluia Chorus" sung for the Risen Christ which brought the audience to their feet, remaining thus during the closed curtain until the end of the choral selection.

FIRST IN, LAST OUT — Joe Ten Brink, who backed in the city fire department's first motorized vehicle at the West Eighth Street station in 1917, comes out of retirement Wednesday to take out the last fire engine to leave the station. The modern, fully equipped truck is being removed to the new fire station at 32nd St. and Waverly Rd. It differs a great deal from the department's American LaFrance with solid tires and two-wheel brakes that first replaced the horse-drawn fire carts.

Hazards of Fire Fighting In Old Days Included Frostbite

Former fireman Joe Ten Brink was the only one on the force who could drive when the Holland Fire Department obtained its first motorized vehicles.

The other drivers, who operated horse-drawn fire carts, had yet to be trained when he backed the first motorized fire engine into the West Eighth Street station in October of 1917.

Wednesday Ten Brink returned to the fire station after 22 years of retirement to take out the last fire engine as the department abandons the old station and moves to new quarters on 32nd St. and Waverly Rd.

In his 35 years on the force Ten Brink saw many changes brought about. When he joined the force in 1913 as a volunteer he was earning $75 a year. At that time fire wagons drawn by horses had replaced the hand carts of earlier days.

Soon working full-time as one of the department's four drivers, his salary increased to $18 a week. He lived at the firehouse and he had 20 off-duty hours a week.

Ten Brink remembers that the new motorized fire trucks were retired in the winter months and the old horse wagons were brought out since the new vehicles couldn't travel through the unplowed snow.

Ten Brink fought many big blazes throughout the area and he remembers in particular the one at a country farm house in below-zero weather. The engine he was driving had no cab and no windshield and his eyelids froze shut. He also froze his face and hands on that run.

Allegan Mulls 'Depressed Area' Tag

ALLEGAN — Pressed for action by Commissioner Fred Edgerton of Plainwell, the Allegan County Board of Commissioners will explore the possibility of declaring the county a "depressed area" to obtain state and federal funds for projects designed to offset a rising unemployment rate.

Edgerton, saying he had called on major employers throughout the county, told commissioners that total unemployment might well exceed 30 per cent — more than double the 11 per cent required for classification as a "depressed area."

Edgerton's home town of Plainwell — which has lost one major employer and is in the process of losing another, the Weyerhaeuser Company Paper Division — probably is the hardest hit community in the county. Strikes in the automotive and construction industries also have contributed to the situation, he said.

Howard K. Miller, of the Michigan Department of Commerce, appeared before the county board Monday to outline state and federal grant loan programs which would be available to improve the employment rate if the county is designated a depressed area.

Miller will meet later with the county's Planning Commission and Board of Public Works to discuss courses open to the county in greater detail.

In other action, the board set Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 11 a.m. as the time for a public hearing on the county's budget for 1971. Commissioners are scheduled to get their first look at the finance committee's proposed budget today when the board will reconvene at 10 a.m.

Prosecuting Attorney George A. Greig was authorized to employ a non-professional aide to handle investigatory and research chores until such time as an attorney can be found to fill the post of assistant prosecutor.

An $85,000 claim for damages against the county and Allegan County Road Commission was filed with the board by Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Rauhen III, of rural Allegan. The claim charges that the road commission was negligent in failing to maintain good visibility at a 15th Street intersection in Hopkins township.

According to the claim, a car driven by Mrs. Rauhen was struck by one driven by Velma Pierce, Rt. 2, Martin, at the intersection last July 1, resulting in aggregate damages to the Rauhen and their son, Peter, totaling $85,000. Commissioners were informed that the matter had been turned over to the county's insurance adjusters for investigation.

The board approved annexation by the Village of Douglas of a small parcel of adjoining land occupied by a mobile home park and passed a resolution requesting the Army Corps of Engineers to conduct a study of beach erosion resulting from construction of new Lake Macatawa channel facilities.

reach them and the half-million dollar Ottawa Beach Hotel blaze are also among the many fire-fights that he remembers.

On one happier occasion the fire department used six streams of water to "baptize" the new Warm Friend Tavern at its opening ceremonies.

Ten Brink worked at many jobs before he settled down to being a fireman. He had to quit school in Allendale in the fourth grade to go to work in a lumberwoods. There he sawed wood and drove a team of horses.

At 18, Joe and a friend headed west, and he ended up in Montana with $8 in his pocket. He tried cow-punching for three years before returning to Holland where his parents had moved.

He worked at a piano factory and a blacksmith shop before signing up as a volunteer fireman and finally joining the force full time.

Since his retirement in 1948 Joe has kept himself busy traveling to Florida and California and constructing three houses and a garage, as well as doing various remodeling jobs.

He presently resides at the Resthaven Home in Holland. Next month marks his 84th birthday.

Plan 31st Presentation Of 'Messiah'

The Zeeland Civic Chorus announces that rehearsals for this season's presentation of the "Messiah" will begin Sunday, Oct. 18, at 3:15 p.m. Rehearsals this year will be held in the Second Reformed Church, located at the corner of Church and Central in Zeeland.

Albert P. Smith of Grand Rapids will again direct the chorus, going into his 22nd year of conducting the group. This year will mark the 31st consecutive rendition of George Frederick Handel's "Messiah".

The chorus of more than 100 voices meets only eight times each year solely for the annual presentation, and the new officers elected each year plan each season's presentation in a traditional manner.

Officers this year are Warren Mulder, president; C. Karsten, vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Veldheer, secretary; James Topp, treasurer, and Mrs. George Brinks and Jerry Haverdink, board members.

Two-Car Crash Injures Driver

Mrs. Lois Ann Boeve, 25, of 6443 Spruce Lane, was treated at Holland Hospital for injuries to the left knee and elbow and released following a two-car mishap at 5:12 p.m. Wednesday at 112th Ave. and M-21.

Ottawa county sheriff's deputies said the Boeve car was westbound on M-21 and collided with an auto driven by Lillian F. Gibbs, 82, of Grand Rapids, heading south on 112th. The Boeve car overturned in the median after impact. Mrs. Boeve's daughter, Diane, five months, suffered bumps and bruises.

School Head Names 3 Committees

James O. Lamb, president of the Board of Education, appointed several committees at a monthly meeting of the board Monday night in the Holland High School library.

He appointed the board's buildings and grounds committee to work with all other committees on the need for new junior high facilities and to make recommendations in 60 days on how to proceed and selecting citizens committees to promote the program. Lamb said a University of Michigan study 18 months ago recommended new facilities, and a local citizens committee advocated the same move six months ago. On the buildings and grounds committee are John Weeber, Robert Gosselaar and Mrs. Katherine Mackenzie.

After receiving petitions from Federal, Harrington and Holland Heights areas for pupil transportation, Lamb appointed Dr. James Prins, Mrs. Mackenzie, Charles Bradford and John Keuning to study transportation in the light of the needs for all pupils, and to make a recommendation in 30 days. If no recommendation is forthcoming in that period, the committee should call meetings of the entire board.

Appointed to study total evaluation not only of teachers but also principals were Mrs. Mackenzie, Dr. Prins, Gosselaar and Weeber. Lamb said lengthy negotiating processes have pointed to the need of further evaluation, possibly a merit system.

Official enrollment figures revealed total enrollment kindergarten through 12th grade of 5,484. Added to this on pro-rated hours in an adult program are 74.79 and from pro-rated hours of nonpublic students in the swimming program, 48.84, and nonpublic pinks in training at the hospital of 5.60, for a grand total of 5,613.22.

Mrs. Jean Stepp gave a departmental report on junior high mathematics, explaining a three-track program of honors, regular and slow or remedial. Criteria for selection of tracks list IQ, Iowa basic skills, modern concepts test, and 6th grade teacher recommendation.

Junior High Principal John Noe, reporting on discipline, said charges of intimidation of students by other students and of conflict between students are on the whole unsubstantiated. But he pointed to problems arising where ethnic groups mingle, particularly in a crowded situation involving more than 1,300 students between the ages of 11 and 17 scattered in seven buildings over two city blocks.

He said investigation of three cases of threatened intimidation, all were extremely involved, one developing after one girl accused the other of throwing stones at her house. He said fighting is rare, fewer than when he was principal of a school of 400 students. He said teachers and principals are in the halls during class changes, and every effort is made to mingle with students to let them know teachers are there to help anyone who needs assistance.

"I am not surprised that we do have some difficulties; I am only amazed we have so few," he concluded.

A report revealed that 289 students are enrolled in adult education classes including 47 enrolled in basic education which serves those who have less than an eighth grade education. There are three students from Germany, Poland and the Netherlands who are learning English. John Dyksterhouse is adult education director.

Lamb presided at the meeting which lasted 1½ hours. The invocation was given by John Weeber. All were present except Charles Bradford.

Dornbos Case Slated Jan. 5

GRAND HAVEN — The calendar for the October term of Ottawa Circuit Court was called Monday and among the trials scheduled was that of the Harold Dornbos estate of Spring Lake, in which $100,000 damages are sought from the Kroger Grocery Co. and several southern truck lines.

The trial is scheduled to start Jan. 5 and four weeks have been set aside. The case is a result of the 1966 botulism scare in Kentucky. Several persons died from eating smoked fish processed at the former Dornbos fishery here.

The bride wore for her wedding a floor-length gown of ivory silk organza over taffeta with high rise waistline accented by re-embroidered alencon lace appliques. These were repeated on a large bow accenting the detachable chapel sweep train. She selected Juliet sleeves and neckline. The sleeves, cuffed at the wrists, had tiny covered buttons.

Environmental Action Meet Points Up Program Aims Here

At a well attended meeting on Oct. 8 of the Holland Area Affiliate of the West Michigan Environmental Action Council, Dr. Donald Williams, Chairman, announced the action programs now in progress in the organization.

A survey is being made of products available in returnable bottles, of methods of salvaging paper and cans, a study of Lake Macatawa watershed will be presented in pamphlet form, as will a sewage disposal study nearing completion.

A slide program is being prepared which will be available to organizations complete with discussion panel of EAC members and a proposal is being made for a pollution movie to be made by area high school students.

He explained that EAC membership includes receipt of the West Michigan EAC Newsletter detailing state and national environmental problems and legislation as well as local concerns in the Holland area.

A comprehensive report was made by Prof. Gerhard Megow on his summer task force study of the Holland Power Plant, based on interview, research and computation. It covered thermal aspects of discharge into Lake Macatawa, the comparative use of gas and coal and resultant amounts of fly ash and sulphur dioxide discharged into the air, and the use of an electrostatic precipitator compared with a new method of coal conversion into gas before combustion. The report stressed that the consumer demands electricity, should assist in any way he can and be willing to pay the price for environmental solutions.

Speaker of the evening was Dr. David Klein, mercury expert, who traced the research of mercury poisoning from the Minamata Bay incident in Japan in 1952 to the present Canadian, United States and Michigan concerns for present contamination country wide. He cited the early reluctance of the Japanese government and the offending industry to accept the medical research report indicating death from starvation because of general necrosis of internal organs, holes in the brain revealed by autopsy, and a ten times increase in infant brain damage, even if the mother had not eaten enough contaminated fish to show mercury poisoning herself.

Dr. Klein mentioned Senator Hart's hearing at which he testified this summer, Walter Hickel's crackdown on industry and the resultant move to filter out and re-use a very high percentage of formerly wasted mercury. Dr. Klein believes there is much more mercury contamination than is generally recognized and said quality fish in a remote Canadian lake with no known source of contamination carry 10-16 parts per million of toxic mercury, as compared to 3-5 ppm in Lake St. Clair fish.

He described the types of mercury, where generally found, the body reaction to them and symptoms of mercury poisoning. He answered questions about the amounts in coal, tobacco, and fish, and pointed to the need to research air borne mercury.

A group from Olive Township visited the meeting and sought an expression of concern from the Holland Area EAC about placing a sanitary landfill near Pigeon River. Discussion brought out that this is the only remaining trout stream in Ottawa County and is a clean stream, that cities increasingly look to counties to solve waste problems, that Ottawa County is ecologically aware and a letter from Holland Area EAC should express confidence in their ability to select a more suitable site.

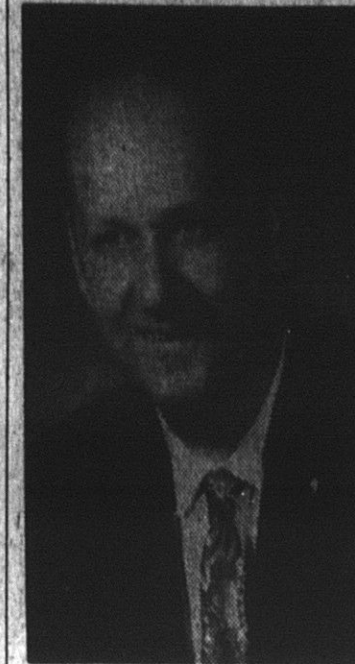

It was announced that the next general membership meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 10, and the speaker will be William Bryant, doctoral student in the School of Natural Resources at the University of Michigan. Mr. Bryant was one of the original group of students initiating the week long teach-in there last March. His subject will be "Aftermath of Earth Day."

Metal cartridges revolutionized the firearms industry and made the breech-loading rifle possible.

THE RIGHT TO KNOW ABOUT OUR CONGRESS

A bill recently passed by the Senate, somewhat like the one approved some time ago in the House, embodies marked improvements. Many people feel it has one flaw, in that it leaves intact the seniority system, one of the old impediments to sound legislative performance.

Another attempt could be made soon to free Congress of this stifling system whereby some members advance to committee chairmanships and other positions of power on the basis of length of service.

Meanwhile, we can be grateful for certain changes. Some of these will have the effect of making the business of Congress more open to scrutiny; some will improve the legislative process itself.

It is noteworthy, for example, that henceforth a chairman will no longer be able to thwart legislation by refusing to call committee meetings; a majority of a committee's members will be able to demand a meeting. Of particular importance, too, is a provision that in the future the votes of House members will be recorded by name in teller votes on floor amendments. That will do away with a significant area of secrecy.

Other forward looking changes are incorporated in the procedural reform bill. Though it does not go as far as the most zealous proponents of change had advocated, Congress has taken significant steps both to improve and to open up its conduct of public business.

Hospital Guild Luncheon Held At Dood Cottage

Mrs. Arnold Dood hosted a fall luncheon meeting for the Holland Hospital Housekeeping Guild at her cottage Tuesday with Mrs. Earl Klett as co-hostess.

Plans were completed for the annual "Harvest Coffee" to be held on Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. William Winter. Proceeds derived from guild projects are used to purchase draperies and other furnishings for patient rooms at the hospital. In 1969 the guild furnished draperies for 75 rooms in the new wing and supplied framed pictures for all private rooms.

Studying the Bible
Psalm 119:9-16;
II Timothy 3:14-17
By C. P. Dame

Studying the Bible gets results. Today groups of people come together to study this book and it enriches their lives. Study should lead to the applying of its truths to daily life.

I. The Bible is life's best guide book. Psalm 119 is the longest chapter in the Bible and its full of references to God's Word, using the words: ordinances, way, judgments, precepts, statutes, commandments, testimonies, law and word to describe it. This Book has a good answer to the question in it, "Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way?" The words, "by taking heed thereto according to Thy word" are a top answer, especially for this day.

The writer of the Psalm loved the Word and its Author. "With my whole heart have I sought Thee" — because he loved God and His commandments which he was eager to keep. "Thy word have I hid in mine heart" — stored it there. The Bible refers many times to the heart. The world heart refers to a person's inner self his emotions, will and mind.

The heart controls our actions. It moves a person to do good deeds and bad deeds. When the heart is controlled by the Word it drives a person from sin. Note the words, "that I might not sin against Thee," for sin breaks fellowship with God. Some one said, "Sin will keep you from God's Word or God's Word will keep you from sin."

The Psalmist expressed his devotion to the Word in several sayings. We need this devotion today when the TV gets so much attention, and everyone claims to be too busy. "I declared, I have rejoiced, I will meditate, I will delight myself, I will not forget Thy words" — these words speak of dedication to the Word.

II. The Bible is inspired. The second part of the text is from II Timothy, one of the three pastoral letters, I Timothy and Titus being the others. Timothy was taught by his mother and grandmother first and then by Paul who said of the Scriptures that they are able to make one wise unto salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God" so Paul wrote. The word scripture appears 51 times in the New Testament, and in every instance except in II Peter 3:16 it refers to the Old Testament. The Bible is so useful because of its teaching about man and God. It teaches what man should do in order to win God's approval. God's people need training so that they may be equipped for all good works. The more a Christian is trained the better service he will be able to give.

Colors Brilliant In Hardwood Trees For Color Tours

Weekend color tours in Michigan will be enjoyed by much more if tourists know the trees and the colors for identification.

Starting with the American Elm and going down the list of hardwoods alphabetically, the colors are the elm, yellow; ash, yellow to dark purple; basswood, yellow, birches, bright to orange yellow; box elder, bright yellow.

Butternut trees are yellow at this time of the season; hawthorns, brilliant varying colors and fruit hazel nut, brownish yellow; mountain ash, bright clear yellow with red berries; poplar, yellow and golden yellow; red maple, bright scarlet and orange; red oak, dark red; scarlet oak, brilliant scarlet.

The shad bush is a bright clear yellow; sugar maple, bright yellow to orange and scarlet; silver maple, pale yellow; striped maple, light yellow; sumac, brilliant red; tulpe, flaming scarlet; white oak, deep red to orange brown; willow, light yellow and witch hazel, bright yellow orange, rarely purple.

Autumn coloring has started in this part of Michigan and usually lasts through the first week in November. Drives along roads and lanes show gold, scarlet and brown, a color show that equals or rivals any in the Green Mountains of Vermont or the Berkshire Hills of Massachusetts.

Especially lovely right now is the drive along Lake Michigan to Manistee and Leland to Northport, then back down through Traverse City to Cadillac and Grand Rapids to Holland. The scenic drive on US-31 south through South Haven and St. Joseph is short but satisfying.

Exchange Club Hears Talk By Dr. D. Wilson

Dr. Donald Wilson, professor of anthropology at Calvin College, addressed the Holland Exchange Club Monday noon on the subject "Recent Views on the Origin of Man."

Dr. Wilson gave five criteria used by anthropologists in judging man from primates. The criteria are brain capacity, particular kind of teeth, upright walking, tools and behavior patterns. He discussed discoveries from 1924 and present group similarities based on these criteria and had the group vote on whether the findings gave proof of being human.

His interesting presentation of the origin of man did not emphatically state that the criteria used definitely proved that the discoveries were man's ancestors. Dr. Wilson is a physical anthropologist whose interest lies in the reconstruction of ancient man.

In his remark he implied that because of recent discoveries in 1969, some new theories have been advanced and that there is some doubt concerning the criteria used in the past in tracing man's origin.

Program on Ceramic Art Etta Fox Chapter Holds

The Etta Fox Chapter of Quilters met Monday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Cook. The program on "Ceramics" was held at Millie's Ceramic Studio.

Mrs. Millie Van Kints, teacher of ceramics showed the many steps used to produce pieces of art. Mrs. Van Kints owns 350 molds. The molds are made of plaster of paris. Liquid clay is poured into the molds.

The art of making ceramics started in India. America produced clay most adaptable for making ceramics.

There are two periods in the development of ceramic art in America. The first covers the time prior to the war of 1812 when native clay was used to make simple household articles. When the war cut off imports to America, ceramic art developed from a simple handicraft into a business of factory proportions.

BELOW POWER STATION — West bank of the Kalamazoo River below the Allegan dam is a busy spot as anglers harvest the river's first major run of spawning Coho salmon. The hydro-electric plant, built in the mid-1930s by Allegan city, was sold a few years ago to Consumers Power Co. Spawning Coho do not feed, consequently bait is not used. They are snagged.

LIMIT CATCH — Cleo and Bob Snyder, Allegan cousins, were among the first to catch their limit of five Coho below Allegan dam. The 10 fish averaged more than 10 pounds each. Bob Snyder at right is holding a spin casting rod which snapped as he hauled in his fifth Coho.

Coho Fisherman Flock To Allegan Dam Site

ALLEGAN — Consumers Power Company's hydro-electric dam which forms Lake Allegan in Valley township is the site of the latest outbreak of Coho fever.

Snaggers are harvesting three-year-old Coho salmon in the spillwaters of the dam — end of the line for the spawning survivors of the 100,000 18-month old "smelts" which were planted in the Kalamazoo River in mid-April of 1969.

When planted, the young Coho ranged from 4 to 8 inches in length . . . and only a few ounces in weight. The fish currently being hoisted from the river 18 months later run from 20 to 30 inches long and tip the scales at between eight and 20 pounds.

It is the Kalamazoo River's first Coho spawning run of any proportions and excitement is understandably high.

The run, now at its peak, probably will find hundreds of fishermen jockeying for a limited number of good spots along the stairways and concrete platforms which line the river's west bank just below the dam this weekend.

They won't have to worry about bait. Most of the fish now being caught are snagged, which is legal this year for the first time because the spawning fish have no interest in feeding. Spinning rods are used with heavily-weighted ganged hooks. The weight (sometimes it's a heavy lead sinker or a cluster of old spark plugs), is cast across the river and reeled in as rapidly as possible. The object is to snag a fish in the process.

The whole thing is a little like trying to get a dill pickle out of a barrel with a bare hook and line and because, once a fish is "snagged," tension must be kept on the line at all times. The man with the landing net probably is the most important member of the fishing team.

With so many lines in the water at the same time, tangled lines are inevitable. It isn't unusual to see four or five lines entwined at the same time. Another hazard is a submerged piling in mid-stream. Dam operator William Priebe, of Allegan, said "there's probably a couple of thousand dollars worth of baits and lines wrapped around that old piling."

The spawning Coho brought a few strangers along with them. Several steelhead trout have been caught along with the Coho. Most of them have been returned to the river but their chances of surviving with a big snag wound are considered slim.

A few intrepid fishermen have run small boats up to the spillwaters but to the snaggers on the bank, this is "unsportsmanlike" and most of the boatmen have retreated rapidly downstream after ducking a few accurately cast weighted hooks.

Many 5-fish limits were reported last week and with the heaviest action expected this weekend the Lake Allegan will be no place to go looking for a parking place.

Dr. Klein Begins Study Of Mercury in Environment

Hope College chemistry professor David H. Klein is about to embark on a project which he hopes will help solve some of the mysteries surrounding the problem of mercury contamination.

Dr. Klein, chairman of the Hope Chemistry department and recognized as one of the nation's leading authorities on mercury contamination, will administer a $17,800 Federal Water Quality Administration grant on a project entitled "Mercury in the Environment." The project has a two-fold goal:

"First," he explains, "I want to try to establish what might be the natural levels of mercury in the environment. Then, I want to look at the transport of mercury through the environment—in water and in air."

The Hope chemist began his research into mercury as an environmental hazard during the 1968-69 academic year when he took a leave of absence to study at Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

He was leadoff witness at U.S. Senate subcommittee hearings on mercury in July, has appeared on both network and several lakes are still not safe to eat.

More recently, Canada banned the hunting of several species of seed-eating birds because they bore dangerous concentrations of methylmercury. This year, in New Mexico, several children in a family contracted mercury poisoning after eating pork. The pig had apparently eaten feed which had been treated with a mercury compound used as a fungicide.

The Great Lakes mercury crisis in March brought the even closer to home and brought on a public outcry still being felt in Washington.

But solutions won't be found until some basic questions are answered — such as, How much mercury is to much? and How does mercury get into people? Dr. Klein hopes to provide some answers to those questions.

Sheila Kay Florian Engaged to M.F. Sosa

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Florian, Bangor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sheila Kay, to Martin F. Sosa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Sosa, 65 Burke Ave., Holland.

Miss Florian who was graduated from Grand Valley State College, taught last year at Lakeview Elementary School and is currently teaching at Bangor Elementary School.

Mr. Sosa served in the U.S. Marine Corps and is presently a student at Western Michigan University.

A Nov. 25 wedding is being planned.

Dr. Klein would like to prove, or disprove, some of the assumptions he and other mercury experts are using in their analyses of the extent and causes of the mercury problem.

The chlor-alkali industry (which makes chlorine and caustic soda in a device which uses mercury) has come under much fire since the Great Lakes mercury scare because until recently it apparently has put more mercury into the environment than any other industry.

But Dr. Klein remains unconvinced that there aren't other industries which may be dumping the more dangerous methylmercury directly into the air or water.

Mercury has caused environmental catastrophes before. Japan has seen two outbreaks of methylmercury poisoning. The largest outbreak was in Minamata Bay, Kyushu in 1953 when 150 cases were diagnosed.

Of the 150 cases 41 persons died, 22 infants were born with congenital poisoning and nearly all the rest of the diagnosed cases were left with permanent neurological damage.

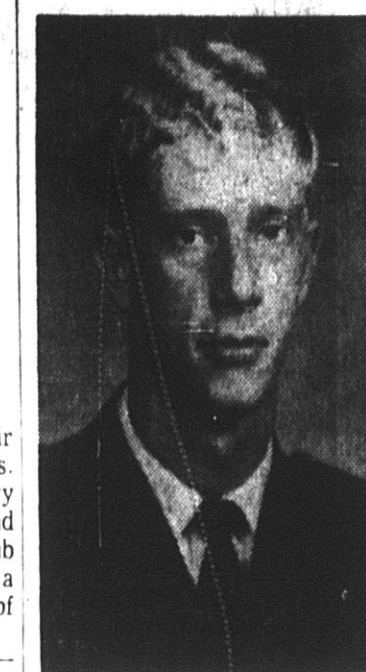

Sweden lost much of its wildlife because methylmercury compounds were used in agriculture for a number of years. Even though the compound has been banned, the methylmercury has remained in some bodies of water, and fish from

Junior Welfare League Begins Active Schedule

Members of the Junior Welfare League are anticipating a busy season again this year. Their first meeting was held last Tuesday evening in the Literary Club with President, Mrs. Lawrence Den Uyl, presiding.

Active League members will welcome the "New Girls" at a dinner at the Literary Club on Oct. 27. Chairman is Mrs. Robert Maes. She will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Dykema, Mrs. Ken Michmerhuizen, Mrs. David Vander Leek and Mrs. Robert Cooper.

Mrs. Ron Boeve, Mrs. Gerald Boeve and Mrs. John Tyse have been busy revising the famed Junior Welfare League cookbook "Eet Smakelijk." It will be on sale Nov. 1, and will have 300 new recipes and four new sections, Blender, Spanish, Fondue, and Windmill.

Working in conjunction with the cookbook revision committee will be the general cookbook committee consisting of Mrs. Douglas Neckers and Mrs. Bill Rocker, co-chairmen; Mrs. Roger Borr, consultant; Mrs. Clyde Line, mailing; Mrs. Patrick Thompson and Mrs. Paul Elzinga, captains, and Mrs. Landis Zylman, publicity. These girls will be distributing and advertising the revised book.

Money to benefit the children of the community will be raised by selling fruitcakes. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Roger Olsen and Mrs. Ed Shidler but all League members will be selling fruit cakes from now until Dec. 1.

Plans for the annual Charity Ball which highlights the Christmas season were revealed by Mrs. Dick Haworth and Mrs. Bill Boyer. Ticket chairman is Mrs. James Siegers. "Sleigh Bells," the theme this year, will be held at the Civic Center on Dec. 19. Music will be provided by the Tom Zalaroras Orchestra.

Something new for League this year will be a Christmas Clearing Bureau. The purpose is to provide a Christmas dinner for needy people. This will be done with the cooperation of the community. People interested will be able to call the bureau and receive the name of a family in need of a Christmas dinner. The donating family will prepare and deliver the dinner. Working on this project is Mrs. David Paulson, Mrs. Jim Von Ins, and Mrs. Jack De Roo.

For the entertainment and education of the children, Mrs. Tom Buis and Mrs. Joel Ver Plank are busy making puppets for Puppet Shows on Dental Health. These shows will be held at the library on Nov. 6, 13, 20 and Dec. 4, at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Sheldon Wettack along with other volunteer League members will benefit the children of Ventura School by taking them on a hay ride in October, assist at several music programs at the school and take them on a boat trip in Saugatuck in the Spring.

One of the League's favorite projects is working at the Day Care Center. Beginning in January, Mrs. William Hopkins will work with the children doing various art projects.

The third annual Youth Talent Exhibit being co-sponsored by the Junior Welfare League and the Holland Rotary Club will be held in March at the Literary Club. According to Mrs. John Tyse and Mrs. Ted De Long, the exhibit is for students in grades 7 through 12 in the Holland area. Students can display their talents in the areas of creative writing, arts and science.

Also in the Spring the women of the community will be invited to a Style Show to acquaint them with the latest in the fashion world. Mrs. Dan Herrinton, Mrs. Richard Oudersluis, and Mrs. Charles Knowles will be working on this fashion preview.

Already in full swing are Mrs. Randall Baar and Mrs. David Wehmeyer collecting used toys and dolls to be distributed to needy children in the area. "Operation Santa Claus" is a new project this year with League members doing the necessary repairs of the toys and clothing the dolls. The Salvation Army will help with the distribution.

For many years Junior Welfare League has been providing eye exams, eye glasses and the repair of eye glasses for less fortunate children in the Holland area. League will continue this project under the direction of Mrs. Michael Doyle.

Something of great concern to League is Drug Abuse. A committee consisting of Mrs. Kay Klampf, Mrs. Robert Scholten, Mrs. Gerald Boeve, and Mrs. Bill Buis, plans coffees in each other's homes to educate small groups of people on Drug Abuse. League works with "Project Today" along with doctors, counselors, and members of the Police Department, who have volunteered their time to educate people on Drug Abuse.

Still in the early stages of planning is a Teen Dance to be held in the Spring. Co-chairmen of this big event are Mrs. Bruce Van Dyke and Mrs. Jack Doezman.

The Cultural Calendar that appears in the Sentinel the last Saturday of each month is the responsibility of Mrs. John Van Dam. Anyone wishing to contribute information should contact her before the second Tuesday of each month.

Members of League approved the plans for these fund raising projects and a service program designed for the benefit of the children of the Holland area.

Trick or Treat for UNICEF Set Oct. 27 by Church Youth

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 27, from 6 to 8 p.m. young people from many of Holland's churches will be ringing the doorbells of their neighbors to "Trick or Treat" for UNICEF.

It is expected that 3½ million children and young people throughout the nation will be taking part in this, the world's largest voluntary effort by youth "to help the needy children of the world."

"Trick or Treat" began spontaneously when a small Sunday School class in 1950 decided to collect pennies for needy children instead of candy and cookies for themselves. Every contribution received on Oct. 27 will help some of the 900 million children who live in the underdeveloped countries of the world. Only one out of four of these children has trained medical attention at birth, and fewer than one-half receive any formal education. Over 300 million of them of preschool age suffer from malnutrition.

Among the many great contributions the late Herbert Hoover made to mankind was his original idea of establishing UNICEF. At the end of World War II President Truman was greatly concerned with the food shortages in many parts of the world. He turned to Mr. Hoover as the American with the most experience in logistics and distribution of food.

As part of his report to the President, Mr. Hoover urged that within the United Nations there be set up a special organization to focus attention on the needs of the children. As a result in December, 1947 UNICEF was established by the General Assembly of the United Nations, and Mr. Hoover secured its first contribution of $15 million from the United States.

Originally UNICEF was es-

Mike Doan To Play In Bing Crosby

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The Army's Mike Doan of Holland and Joe Dudley fashioned final rounds of 73 and 74 respectively at Paradise Valley Country Club recently to tie for top honors in the gross division of the Showboat Hotel's third annual 54-hole World Wide Military Golf Classic.

Doan who is the son of the late Kenneth Doan and Mrs. Frank Sharkey of Holland shared at least part of the lead each of the three days of the large tourney, the largest in the world involving a completely military field.

No playoff was played as Dudley and Doan split the large list of prizes with identical 215 scores. Doan had rounds of 69-73-73.

As an added gesture, Larry Crosby, brother of Bing was on hand at the awards ceremony to invite both competitors to the Bing Crosby Golf tourney at Pebble Beach, Calif., in January, an honor that was to go to the sole winner.
