Mrs. Richard Van Lente has been appointed by the school board to teach in a special room for the children who have been kept from school the last six weeks and are behind in their work. The work inaugurated by Superintendent Bishop for the enforcing of the compulsory school law has resulted in the presence of a considerable number at school who first stayed away, and it is expected, that when these children are able to take up their regular work the special room will be discontinued.

Edward, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle, West Fourteenth street, died Monday, after a short illness. The child had been suffering with the whooping cough for a time and was so enfeebled that he could not withstand a sudden attack of sickness that came Sunday night. Besides his parents two brothers and two sisters survive. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at St. Francis Catholic church, Rev. Father Eickelmann officiating.

Visitors to the county infirmary at Eastmanville are interested in seeing and talking with the old lady there, who is over 107 years of age. She formerly lived in Grand Haven and is the mother of Mrs. Burns, who used to live opposite the old Grand Haven shipyard. The old lady was born in the north of Ireland but spent the greater part of her life in Scotland. For years she lived with her daughter in Grand Haven. While very deaf her conversation is often pleasant while speaking of many of the incidents of her life. The keeper of the infirmary says that the old lady keeps in good health. She never takes more than two meals a day. Strangely enough two of her grand children are also at the infirmary, they being harmless imbeciles.

In Justice Van Duren's court Monday John Timmer, charged with larceny, admitted that he took $45 from Samuel Winters, who boarded in the same house Wm. Ashwin's, West Eighth street, and he was bound over to the circuit court for trial, bail being furnished by his father, Ryn Timmer, and by M. Notier, in the sum of $500. Winters missed the money a week ago Saturday night but did not report it until a few days later. Timmer bought a pair of rubber boots, a hunting coat and a gun with part of the money. Saugatuck has been struck under the fifth rib by the Manistee Times. Manistee is very bitter toward Colonel Adams because he does not get the harbor improvement desired. The Times is Shakespearean in its denunciation and brings Saugatuck in as follows: "So the only port that Colonel Adams could name that is in worse condition than Manistee is Saugatuck! Colonel this trip was in vain. You had better have pleaded other engagements when asked to come to Manistee to pacify citizens who are gradually waxing indignant over your policy in reference to the Manistee harbor. Saugatuck! Saugatuck!"

Sidney J. King, a representative of the American Road Makers, was here last Monday on his tour of the state in an automobile. He is compiling a book to be known as the "Motor Guide and League" for the benefit of automobilists and wheelmen generally. Mr. King is a good roads enthusiast and found reason for complimenting the highways he found between this place and Holland. He says if the farmers are doing that kind of work they are not cheating the state by not working their road-tax as is done in many districts. He hopes to see the good work continue and enhance the value of farm property as well as save a lot of gasoline and energy for the auto driver and wheelmen. He urges automobilists to use care in driving through the country keeping within the law, and stopping for frightened horses. Allegan Gazette.

He was completely isolated, as the lighthouse was entirely surrounded by waves and his tramway had been wrecked. Members of the life saving crew and volunteers Friday afternoon succeeded in getting food to him. A line was shot to the imprisoned man by the crew and the parcels were passed across the break in the tramway in a trolley rig.

George Taylor, a prominent Spring Lake township farmer, believes that broom corn can be grown in this locality at a profit. He has been experimenting with the crop himself for the past year or two and is of the opinion that it can be grown here as well as in Illinois. Mr. Taylor exhibits some samples from his broom corn patch which were very fine. An Illinois broom corn farm averages about a ton and a half to the acre and brings anywhere from $60 to $125 a ton. If this section will produce the crop it would be a good one for local agriculturists to get into.

Why So Tired

Profit by the Experience of a Holland Citizen

That constant tired feeling. Tells of kidneys over-worked. So does backache and many other aches. There is one cure for every kidney ail. For backache, urinary disorders, diabetes. Let a Holland citizen tell you.

Mrs. I. Van Houten, of 287 West 13th street, says: "I had constant, heavy aching pains through the loins in the muscles of my back and under the shoulder blades. My back tired easily from exertion and if I stooped or lifted anything, heavy sharp twinges caught me in the region of my kidneys. I could not rest comfortably in any position and when I first got up mornings I felt as tired and worn out as I was the night previous. I tried a great many remedies, but if any of them benefited me it was very temporary. I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills and went to J. O. Doesburg's drug store and got a box. I did not take them long before I noticed an improvement which steadily continued until I was in good health."

Useful Facts

About Coughs, Colds and Bronchial Troubles Given to the People of Holland by Our Druggist, Con De Pree.

"In conducting a large drug business we naturally meet a great many people at this season of the year who suffer from coughs, colds and bronchial troubles.

As these troubles are easily controlled if the right means is taken we want to say to the people of Holland that we guarantee our cod liver oil preparation, Vinol, will cure hanging on colds, stubborn coughs, bronchial and lung troubles, quicker than any preparation we have ever sold, because it is the most perfect preparation of cod liver oil ever compounded. It contains no oil or grease to clog the system and up-set the stomach, yet it does contain every one of the fifty odd medicinal elements actually taken from fresh cods' livers in a highly concentrated form, and is therefore the best cod liver preparation obtainable. Vinol is not a patent medicine; everything in it is named on the back label of the bottle and you know what you are taking so without reservation we indorse and guarantee Vinol to strengthen every organ in the body to do its work as nature intended—to cure coughs, colds, bronchial troubles, increase the appetite, build up the run down, tired and debilitated, and create strength and renewed vitality for the aged.

If Vinol fails to do what we say we will refund every dollar paid for it. You know us and know we will do as we agree." Con De Pree, Druggist.

FURIOUS GALE ON LAKES CAUSES WRECK OF MANY VESSELS.

Twenty-Two Sailors Are Drowned—A Total of Forty-Three Ships Are Lost—Dock Property Worth Thousands Damaged.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Later returns from the storm which swept the great lakes for 36 hours increase the known death list to 22 and the number of vessels, either lost or badly damaged, to 43. Many boats are missing and it is feared that these figures represent but a moiety of the gale's victims. With the losses already certain underwriters named $450,000 as the total amount of damage to lake shipping from the storm. As most of the boats lost belonged to the uninsurable class, they come out far better than usual on vessel risks after so severe a gale.

Details of the loss of the schooner Tasmania, which foundered near the mouth of the Detroit river with all hands, became known when the steamer Bulgaria, with the schooner Ashland in tow, arrived in Cleveland.

The schooner J. V. Jones was capsized on Lake Michigan and two of her crew were drowned, four others being taken off by a passing steamer and the wrecked vessel left floating, a dangerous derelict.

Seven Drowned in Saginaw Bay. Harbor Beach, Mich., Oct. 21.—The barge Minnedosa was lost with her crew of seven people in Saginaw bay before daylight Friday morning in the terrific storm that has been sweeping the great lakes. The dead include Capt. Phillips and wife, of Kingston, Ont.

Mate Loses His Life. Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—Although only one death, that of Mate David Syze of the steam barge C. Joseph Fay, wrecked at Rogers City, Mich., was reported during the day as the result of the terrific storm which raged Thursday night and Friday on the great lakes, evidence of disasters is reported in several directions.

Dock Property Damaged. St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 21.—The fiercest northwest gale followed by the highest seas ever known on the east shore of Lake Michigan has swept this district. As a result thousands of dollars' worth of dock property has been swept away in St. Joseph, South Haven, Holland, Grand Haven and Muskegon. The George F. Happ dock and boat livery, foot of Water street, was entirely swept away, the estimated loss being $3,000. The Silver Beach resort, located on the south shore, is entirely under water.

Loss at Menominee. Menominee, Mich., Oct. 21.—It is estimated that $150,000 damage was caused to docks, lumber, logs and shipping by the fierce in-shore wind. Huge volumes of spray dashed 40 feet high and wrecked everything along shore 50 feet from the water line.

Damage at Marinette. Marinette, Wis., Oct. 21.—The storm Thursday night did $50,000 damage along the north shore of the Menominee river. Docks have been washed away, boat houses torn to pieces, and fuel supplies washed into the bay. Many boats, tugs and gasoline launches were destroyed, and quantities of logs in the storage booms were washed away. The seas ran right up on the streets of Marinette and Menominee.

GREAT NAVAL REVIEW.

Togo and His Victorious Fleet at Yokohama—Captured Russian Ships in Line.

Tokio, Oct. 24.—Japan was en fête Monday over the great naval review at Yokohama, which passed off without a hitch of any kind. Thousands upon thousands of Admiral Togo's countrymen cheered the victorious fleet as the ships were reviewed by the emperor on a warship. It was a most impressive sight; not, however, on account of the class and number of the ships, but as a conglomeration of fighting craft fresh from the war and crowned with victories of unprecedented magnitude. Three hundred and eight warships, including the former Russian battleship Pervizet (renamed by the Japanese the Sagami), the Potlata (Tango), the Nicolai I. (Iki), the ironclad Admiral Apraxine (Minoshima), and 12 auxiliary cruisers, including three captured vessels, 28 torpedo boat destroyers, including the captured Bedovi and Ryeshitelni, 77 torpedo boats and five submarine boats, were drawn up in six lines.

SENATOR MUST STAND TRIAL.

George E. Green, of New York, Commanded to Appear for Proceedings.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The supreme court of the United States Monday decided that State Senator George E. Green, of New York, must come to Washington for trial on the charge of conspiring with George W. Beavers and others to defraud the government in the purchase of supplies for the post office department. The proceedings in the case so far have related entirely to the question of extradition and the merits of the case have not been considered, except incidentally.

BARGE ON THE DELAWARE RIVER RUNS DOWN A SMALL LAUNCH.

Six Persons Lose Their Lives—Catboat on the Hudson Sunk by a Tug and Five Persons Probably Perish.

Beverly, N. J., Oct. 23.—A launch, containing ten men, all of Philadelphia, collided with a barge in Delaware river off this place late Sunday afternoon, resulting in the drowning of six of the occupants of the little boat. The other four men were rescued by the crew of the tugboat Bristol, which was towing the barge when the accident happened. Whether Capt. Winch saw the barge is not known, nevertheless he attempted to cross the tug's stern. Capt. Mott hailed him and tried to prevent him from doing so. Capt. Winch was standing at the wheel of the launch as he went around the stern of the tug. The hawser of the tug struck him and knocked him overboard. Before the captain's son or any other member of the party could take the wheel to steer the launch clear of the barge the latter struck the frail craft amidship, capsizing it. The launch rolled under the barge and its occupants went with it. Capt. Mott put the tug about and went to the rescue. He and his crew threw ropes and life preservers to the struggling men in the water, but they were only able to save four of them.

Disaster on the Hudson. Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Five persons, the body of one having been recovered, are believed to have been drowned Sunday by the running down of a catboat by a tug off South Yonkers. Members of the South Hudson Boat club heard cries for help out on the river and in the heavy mist that prevailed were able to make out the outlines of a capsized sailboat and of a tug that was running rapidly down the river. The cries ceased before the yachtsmen, who had put out to the rescue in a rowboat, reached the catboat, which they found deserted and with her side stove in.

Launch Goes Over Dam. Marietta, O., Oct. 23.—While returning from Beverly to Marietta in a motor boat Sunday morning, M. L. Williamson, dentist, Probate Judge C. H. Nixon and Will Selby, son of a wealthy oil producer, went over a dam at Lowell, on the Muskingum river, and Williamson was drowned. Dense fog caused the party to miss the canal.

Two Probably Drowned. St. Louis, Oct. 23.—A gasoline launch, containing four passengers, making its first trip on the Mississippi river, exploded Sunday afternoon near Ivory station, 14 miles below the city, and two of the passengers are believed to have been drowned, the other two being probably fatally burned.

IS HOME AGAIN.

Allice Roosevelt Lands on American Soil After Her Tour of the Orient.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's liner Siberia, which arrived from Yokohama Monday, established a new record between this city and the Japanese port, having made the trip in ten days, ten hours and 28 minutes. There were many distinguished passengers on the Siberia, among them being Miss Allice Roosevelt, United States Senator Newlands, of Nevada, and wife; United States Senator Warren, of Wyoming; Mr. Longworth, of Ohio; Brig. Gen. H. T. Allen, chief of the Philippine constabulary; E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Railway company.

"All presents that I received were merely inexpensive mementoes of the trip, such as anyone traveling in strange countries would receive," said the president's daughter. "There was really nothing so remarkable about my trip, and I cannot understand why so much fuss was made about it. I had an exceptionally fine time and enjoyed every moment that I was away. The only thing I regret is that so many nonsensical stories were circulated regarding me."

BANK CASHIER SUICIDES.

Examination of Books Shows Institution Insolvent and Leads to His Act.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—After an investigation of the books of the Enterprise national bank, of Beaver avenue, Allegheny, which disclosed that the bank was insolvent, T. Lee Clark, cashier of the institution for years, went to his home and killed himself. An hour before the announcement of his death was received at the bank a telegram came from the comptroller of the currency at Washington to close the doors and appointed Bank Examiner John B. Cunningham as receiver.

Following closely on the order of exciting events in lower Allegheny came the announcement of the president of the bank, Fred Gwiner, that Clark had loaned thousands of dollars to Pennsylvania politicians; that he himself had endorsed a note for $50,000 on Tuesday for Clark. The bank has state deposits which will amount to about $800,000, of which $398,000 is in the checking or active account, and the rest is state sinking funds. Mr. Gwiner in his statement said: "Nearly $700,000 of the $800,000 state deposits of our bank is out on paper of state politicians. W. H. Andrews has borrowed nearly $400,000; Frank J. Torrance has borrowed considerable. I do not know how much. But the bank is solvent."

According to the examiner's report, the resources and liabilities of the Enterprise bank, in the last report, made August 25, were $2,973,169.56 each. Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—It is asserted that one of the borrowers from the Enterprise national bank of Allegheny was Senator Boies Penrose. The bank is said to hold a note for $75,000 bearing his signature. Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—United States Senator Boies Penrose Friday night denied emphatically the rumors connecting him with loans from the Enterprise bank of Allegheny.

JERRY SIMPSON DEAD.

Former Congressman and Most Unique Character Passes Away at Wichita, Kan.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 24.—Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson died Monday morning. Mr. Simpson was conscious up to five minutes before his death. The end came without a struggle. Death was caused by aneurism of the aorta. Mr. Simpson had been in ill health for nearly a year. It is stated by the attending physicians and by Mrs. Simpson that Mr. Simpson's trouble originated in the campaign of 1900, which was particularly wearing upon him. At the close of the campaign he was greatly fatigued and any unusual exertion was followed by a cough and a pain near the heart, which gradually grew worse.

Ex-Congressman Simpson was born in New Brunswick on March 31, 1842. At 14 he began life as a sailor, and during his 23 years' following that pursuit commanded many large vessels on the Great Lakes. In the civil war he served in the Twelfth Illinois infantry. He came to Kansas in 1873. Originally he was a republican; but later became a greenbacker and populist. He was a member of congress from 1891 to 1895 and from 1897 to 1899, being nominated the last time by both the democrats and populists. "The Sage of Medicine Lodge," as Mr. Simpson was called, was in many respects one of the most unique characters which adorn the history of congress. His legislative accomplishment consisted in turning popular eastern sentiment regarding populism from scornful ridicule to respectful consideration during his service in the Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fifth congresses.

Railway Disasters.

Washington, Oct. 24.—During the 12 months ended June 30, 1905, 886 persons were killed and 13,783 injured as the result of accidents on railroad trains, according to a report of the interstate commerce commission. Comparison with 1904 shows an increase of 11 killed and 4,123 injured. There were 1,231 collisions and 1,535 derailments.

Kansas City Brewers Fail.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 23.—Upon petition of some of its creditors, E. J. Becker, of Kansas City, was Saturday appointed receiver for the Imperial Brewing company, of this city. The company owes about $625,000. The failure is attributed to the reform movement in Missouri.

Will Faithful Service of Life Savers Lead to Pensions

From all points on the chain of lakes come words of praise for the work of the life saving crews during the heavy storm of last week. A rough estimate places the number of lives saved by these men at 80. They responded to every call of duty, whether it meant a dash through the waves in a life boat or a tramp down the beach with the life car to shoot the life line to imperiled seamen.

But for the heroic work of the life savers the crew of eight of the Gilchrist schooner Yukon would have gone down with the ship in Lake Erie Friday off Ashtabula. The Yukon sprung a leak and tried to reach Ashtabula harbor. Her distress signals were seen by the life savers, who put out into the heavy sea and went seven miles in the teeth of the gale, reaching the ship but a few minutes before she went down. The entire crew was saved and had hardly left the ship when a tremendous wave struck it and it disappeared. Another striking example of the work of the lifesavers was at Ludington, where they made a spectacular rescue of the crew of the schooner Vega. The life saving crew at Grand Marais rescued the crews of the schooners Nirvana and Galatea, near that place. The Nirvana sank about a quarter of a mile from shore and the life savers had to do some tall hustling to reach her in time. The Galatea went ashore. So goes the story, telling of devotion to duty in the face of hardship and danger.

And through it all it is a pleasure to note that not one word of merited reproach has been heard. This indeed speaks volumes for the men who guard life and property on the shores of the inland seas and on the coast of the great oceans.

Will the time ever come when agitation will give way to realization and Uncle Sam's law makers will see their way clear to grant pensions to those who serve faithfully for a certain number of years or to the families of those who lose their lives in the line of duty? Probably.

Kate Lyons Wrecked. And Property Damaged by Storm
Macatawa Park was ravaged by the terrific storm which swept Lake Michigan last Thursday night. Part of the havoc played was the wreck of the schooner Kate Lyons in command of Captain Olsen of Grand Haven. The schooner cleared light from Benton Harbor bound north and headed to this port for refuge shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday night. Baffled by the current and battered by the heavy seas she missed the harbor entrance and swung to the north of the north pier and in a short time was thrown upon the beach near the pier. The crew at no time were in danger as they could step to safety without great trouble. The life savers were at hand, but their services were not needed and when the wrecked crew finally decided to come ashore they went to the cottage of George Murphy where they dried their clothes and were served hot coffee.

The Lyons stranded close to the shore line, and at that point about 200 feet of the pier was washed away. The schooner is a total wreck being practically broken in two but it forms a barrier to the waves and prevents them from washing the sand into the harbor. In spite of the destroyed cribwork the harbor is still navigable for the Graham & Morton steamers, there being about 14 feet of water.

Hundreds of people have gone to the harbor to see the wreck, but this is not the only example of the storm's ravages that greeted them.

On the lake front at Macatawa fearful havoc was wrought. Lots costing about $1000 apiece were practically wiped out of existence. The cottages still stand on them it is true but there is no land intervening as a protection to the next storm that sweeps the lake. Among the cottages that have been damaged or that are in a precarious condition are all of those that line the beach from Westerveld's cottage near the Golden Gate to Graham Taylor's cottage further south. The jetties recently built were some protection but not sufficient to counteract the strength of the waves, and most of the cement walk along the lake front has been washed away.

On the Macatawa Bay side of the park havoc was played to the boat houses, yachts and row boats. The greatest damage to boathouse and yacht was suffered by Commodore Charles S. Scates of Chicago. It will take $1500 to reimburse him. F. C. Swett's gasoline launch was badly damaged as were others, most of them slightly however.

The interurban tracks were rendered useless from the Chicago Yacht Club boat house to the park dock, but they can be put in shape without great expense. The sidewalk leading from the park dock to Tanner's boat livery on the wing pier was demolished and the dock near Mr. Tanner's cottage was converted into a pile of planks.

On the Ottawa Beach side the bath house was battered nearly into uselessness and the water surged against the porch of Hotel Ottawa.

All along Macatawa Bay the storm left a record of battered row boats, demolished docks and damaged property, and lucky was the man whose floating property was not cast adrift or whose lake shore property was not visited by the destructive waves. Docks of all the furniture factories fronting the bay were flooded and some places the lumber was cast adrift. Those who suffered most damage to boathouses, yachts or row boats were Dr. J. T. Bergen whose boat house was torn down, George Bender whose launch was cast adrift and Charles Harmon, whose launch was sunk.

Never in the history of Holland harbor was more damage done to property than was done by the storm of last week.

George C. Robinson and Ludington Life Savers Star In Gallant Rescue

Surfman George C. Robinson, formerly one of the life saving crew of Holland, while acting as keeper of the Ludington Life Saving station, took part with the crew in the rescue of five men and one woman off the schooner Vega which went on the beach at Ludington Friday noon in a heavy storm. Mr. Robinson is acting as keeper pending the appointment of a man to take the place of Captain Weckler, recently resigned.

The Vega was sighted off Ludington at 10 o'clock in the morning and an hour later came abreast of the piers, but so heavy was the sea that the vessel was unable to make the harbor and was swept past the pier into the foaming breakers. She dragged her anchors for 500 feet till she rested on the bottom, when the crew took to the rigging, where they clung for four hours, nearly perishing from exposure and exhaustion. They were drenched to the skin and benumbed with cold. Meanwhile the life savers reached the scene of the wreck by the aid of a tug and a team of horses. The vessel was stranded about eighty rods south of the channel and forty rods from shore.

It required seven shots with the cannon before a line was finally laid across the vessel's deck. The crew soon made the hawser fast in the rigging, but fouled the whip around the heavy line so that the breeches-buoy could not be hauled out. This caused a delay of two hours. Grave fears were entertained lest the spars should break and carry the sailors in the rigging into the lake. The ship rolled frightfully, but the masts held.

The first to come ashore was Mrs. Jergenson, wife of the captain. Amid wild cheering, she was triumphantly hauled through the foaming breakers safely to shore. The woman was carried to a nearby house and cared for. Her condition is critical, but she will live. One by one, the captain coming last, the five men were hauled through the surf in the breeches buoy and landed half drowned but alive on shore. Some of them were nearly dead from exposure, but all will live. The gallant work of the life savers in rescuing the crew of the Vega has won the highest praise. The task was successfully accomplished against the most adverse conditions. The wind at the time was northwest and blowing fifty-five miles an hour, and the heavy cannon and truck had to be transported a distance of two miles through heavy sand. The crew of the vessel were nearly helpless from exposure and could not handle the lines properly.

The Board Has Finished
The Criminal bills committee of the board of supervisors reported to the board and the report was adopted with but few changes. Sheriff Woodbury's bills amounting to $2016.45 were cut to $1971.68 by the committee. The official's bill of $243.40 for bringing W. H. Tollefson from Boston and $176.49 for getting D. M. Johnson at Lockport were referred to open board and allowed. Deputy Sheriff Salisbury's bills of $354.72 were cut to $309.08 and Fred Kamferbeek of Holland lost $32 by the committee. Justice Hutton suffered somewhat at the hands of the board and committee and $167.15 was not allowed because the cases were not reported in time. The board of supervisors held their last meeting of the October session at the court house Saturday morning, when the last business was finished up. The matter of establishing a county normal class in this county is now up to either Grand Haven or Holland and if either of these cities vote for the proposition the school will be established. The Holland supervisors stated that the Holland schools were cramped for room now but that a building would have to be built if the school was established. Mr. Glerum stated that Grand Haven had room enough for the school and that he intended to bring the matter up at the next meeting of the board of education.

The statute provides that the city in which the school is located, must furnish quarters for it and furnish $200 toward paying the instructor.

Mr. Ward of Holland as an expression of the board's sentiments on the game and fish law situation moved that it be recorded as the desire of the board that the fish and game laws be strictly enforced in Ottawa county. The motion was adopted. The board also voted to furnish the sheriff with a deputy during the winter to oversee the hoboes while they are shoveling the county walks. The salary was fixed at two dollars per day. The board's pay roll was adopted.

Friday afternoon Representative Williams of the Riverside Railway Co. was present and he said that unavoidable circumstances had prevented the commencement of the building operations thus far. He had a blue print showing a new bridge which the United States government had permitted them to build. The board granted the company an extension of one year to begin operations. Mr. Williams assured the supervisors that the affairs of the road were now coming out nicely and they would surely begin to build within a year.

The game warden's bills of C. M. Hanson of Holland were reconsidered and allowed in full.

At the present session the board has finished up a great deal of work and there has been very little left over for the January session. The board adjourned just before noon and the supervisors left for their homes immediately.

Notice!

To the Boys—Young and Old.

Halloween night is at hand. It is often made the occasion of hilariousness, thereby disturbing the peace and causing restlessness and anxiety. No one has a right to infringe upon the quiet of his neighbor. While a little fun may be permissible, it must not take the form of malicious injury to persons or property. There is a sane and safe yet happy way of celebrating, but when things are done that entail loss or expense or injury to others, that is downright meanness and will be punished according to law. I trust that the public, this year may be saved from venturesome and reckless pranks of those who mistake noise for fun.

Those who insist in destroying property will be punished to full extent of the law. Special officers will be on duty all night.

HENRY GEERLINGS, Mayor.

It is now "Holland's Greatest Illuminated Sale," as the Holland Gas company has installed some strong arc lights at A. B. Busman's store where the "Greatest Sale" is now on. But it doesn't need much light to see that the bargains are unprecedented, that the people realize it and that they are buying accordingly. Seeing is believing. Call and believe.

Kenneth Ransom and two companions of St. Joe, arrived yesterday afternoon from Holland with the 33 ft. "hunting" cabin launch "Tramp". The launch is the property of Mr. Rice of Holland and is being taken to St. Joe by Mr. Ransom, where she will have a new cabin built. The party intend to continue their trip as soon as the weather becomes favorable.—S. H. Tribune.

Cutting is the order of the day in the carpet department of Jas. A. Brouwer's furniture store. He has taken those handsome and durable $1.25 axministers and slashed them to 92½ cents; and those 85 tapestries and cut them to 65 cents, and then he has taken some last ends of carpet varying in size from 10 to 25 yards and has put them on sale at 57½ cents. It means a clear money saving to buy now and it is the householder's fault if the floors of the dwelling are not made presentable.

L. S. Bliss, superintendent and manager of the Eastman Springs sanitarium at Benton Harbor, has announced that he will establish a sanitarium in this city soon. Mr. Bliss desires to secure a location in the business center of the city. The equipment will consist of the appliances required for hydropathy, massage and electrical treatments, and the numerous health baths, and will be installed at an approximate cost of $3,000. Both women and men attendants will be provided. Fifty course tickets at $30 have been offered for sale to business and professional men, and Mr. Bliss is meeting with considerable encouragement.

F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroads, was yesterday made president of the Pere Marquette, to succeed Russell Harding of Cincinnati. Mr. Harding, formerly president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and the Pere Marquette, and an experienced railroad man, was elected vice president of the Erie and of the New York, Susquehanna & Western road. Now for a change for the better in policy. They say it is coming.

A boy giving the name of Thomas McCoy of Muskegon, and claiming to be only 16 years old, was captured in the depot at Martin Allegan county Sunday night in the act of rifling the place, it is alleged. The agent, Isaac Shultse, has a burglar alarm connected with his home from the depot and soon had the place surrounded with a posse. Martin has had many burglaries in the past ten years, but all the burglars have been captured by this means during the past two years.

An echo of the church trial of Rev. S. Koster of the Hull, Iowa, Reformed church which took place at Zeeland last summer was heard from Nebraska this week when the district court of that state handed down a decision. The Chicago Tribune told of the case in last Sunday's issue. After detailing the horse trading episode the points of which are familiar to the readers of the News, The Tribune says: "Anyway, about a year ago the classis met at Orange City, and Mr. Koster was given a long church trial, conducted in the Dutch language. He was convicted and expelled from the pastorate and church. Undaunted, he appealed to the western synod, which upheld the decision of the classis. Then he took the case to the national synod, but again the decision was against him. But even now he refuses to leave the Hull parsonage and church. He takes the position that he has spent his life training himself for the ministry, that it is his profession, and that no church organization has the right to prevent him from making use of that profession by action which amounts to blacklisting him. The Hull church, despairing of inducing the minister to leave by using ordinary means, brought an action in the district court asking the court to oust him. The lawsuit will probably go to the supreme court. In another case the Nebraska Supreme court held, in substance, that the courts have not the right to enforce orders of a church; that it is not for a court to say whether a man is entitled to the rewards of heaven; that to carry out such a policy would be to enbroll this country in the problem of a related church and state, such as disturbed European countries for centuries."

There will be a cloak representative at John Vandersluis' store next Monday, Oct. 30, for one day with a complete stock of ladies and childrens cloaks and furs. This is a good time to pick out a winter cloak and get a good line to select from. Remember next Monday for one day only.

Ex-Senator Savage Of Spring Lake Makes Keen Retort

The Detroit Free Press in its anecdotes of Michigan men tells the following of Ex-Senator Wm. Savage of Spring Lake:

"A happy retort is accredited to Ex-State Senator Savage, who loves to get into the oldest parts of the old world and dig for the oldest information to be found there.

"On one of his trips across, the senator fell in with a Boston divine, as was natural with a man who devotes so much time, money and research to learning all that he can about the scriptures.

"There was also a Boston professor aboard, retiring, self-absorbed, bespectacled, unworlly and profound. The good ship was not far on her way when the professor was leaning recklessly over the rail, paying his tribute to Neptune.

"Know him?" inquired the senator as he adjusted himself to a heavy roll of the ship.

"By reputation," replied the minister. "He is a very deep and learned man."

"A case of deep answering to deep," came from the senator in a flash.

The body of John DeWitt, who died Tuesday, October 10, was exhumed last Saturday afternoon, and the stomach and kidneys were removed by Coroner Mastenbroek, Drs. A. Leenhouts and Yonkers for examination. It was thought by relatives that De Witt came to his death from other than natural causes, and a rigid investigation was made. Mr. De Witt lived with his family at 416 East 20th street. He was ill but two days preceding his death. He left a statement written in the Holland language containing instructions as to the disposition of his property and telling his wife to deliver the statement to a lawyer after his death. The investigation disclosed that death was due to natural causes and Coroner Mastenbroek declared this morning that there were no grounds for proceeding further in the matter.

George Deming was arraigned in Justice Van Duren's court yesterday and pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He paid fine and costs amounting to $4.50 and immediately thereafter was arrested on complaint of Officer Arie Zanting on a charge of resisting an officer. He stood mute when arraigned on this charge and his examination was set at next Tuesday forenoon. Attorney Charles H. McBride appeared for Deming in the latter case. All of the trouble occurred Tuesday night shortly after ten o'clock. Officer Doornbos placed Deming under arrest for disorderly conduct and had a hard time bringing him to jail. Deming resisted desperately and a companion from Grand Rapids also joined in the struggle and it is alleged struck the officer. But Doornbos was game and finally landed his man in jail. Eugene Young helped him part of the way. After the arrest Constable Zanting went on Doornbos' beat for the rest of the night. Detectives arrested the other man in Grand Rapids last night, and Marshal Dykhuys will bring him here on the noon car.

Fire yesterday forenoon partly destroyed the home of Lars H. Solosth, Wealthy avenue and Straight street, Grand Rapids, and two young daughters of Mr. Solosth escaped a horrible death only by being taken out of an upstairs window. The fire started from a gasoline stove in the kitchen and spread so rapidly through the little frame house that the two girls had no opportunity to run down stairs, and but for the heroic work of neighbors, who rushed to the scene and, raising a ladder, brought the girls out, they would have been burned to death. A telephone alarm was sent in as soon as the fire was discovered and the West-side company arrived on the scene in time to save the building from total destruction. Mr. Solosth is a widower with eight children. The house was his own and was partly insured. It is thought the loss will not exceed $1,000. Mr. Solosth was formerly connected with the Holland Stamping Works and lived in this city for a time. He recently moved to Grand Rapids.

August Veenker, "Ham" Veenker, Manley Stegeman, Harry Stegeman, Frank Thurber and J. D. Niessink, students at Hope college, pleaded guilty Tuesday afternoon in Justice Van Duren's court to the charge of destroying property. They entered the library of the Western Theological seminary last Friday night and taking from the shelves a large part of the 7,000 volumes scattered them around the floor promiscuously. The seminary authorities had just finished the cataloguing of the books and the action of the boys necessitated a great deal of work to get them back in place. Their object was fun but they carried it too far and as a result were required to pay a fine and costs amounting to $10 each. Prof. Kleinheksel, who is acting as president of the college in the absence of Dr. G. J. Kollen, who is on an eastern trip, announced that the boys would have to move their personal effects from the college grounds and would not be allowed to come upon the college campus until the return of the president when he could dispose of the matter as he saw fit.

DIXIE LAND SEES THE PRESIDENT
CHIEF MAGISTRATE RECEIVES A HEARTY WELCOME IN CITIES OF THE SOUTH.
Great Crowds Cheer Him at Every Stopping Place—In a Large Number of Addresses Gives His Views on Leading Topics.
Richmond, Va., Oct. 19.—Richmond threw open her gates to President Roosevelt Wednesday, and during the seven hours of his stay, state and city officials and citizens accorded him a welcome, hearty and sincere. The presidential train arrived a few minutes after noon, and from that moment until seven o'clock at night, when he departed for Raleigh, N. C., over the Seaboard Air Line, he was given an ovation.
His entry into the city was the signal for a wild demonstration from a multitude, and the welcoming enthusiasm only ceased when his train continued on its journey through the south. Mrs. Roosevelt shared in the honors, and Mrs. Montague, the wife of the governor, gave a reception at the executive mansion in her honor.
Makes Several Speeches.
The president made several addresses, one at the capital square before one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Virginia's capital, another at the banquet in Masonic Temple, where 400 of the representative people of the old Dominion were gathered about the boards, again at the Lee monument, where he spoke to a large number of Confederate veterans, and once more at a gathering of negroes. His speeches paid tribute to the Confederate veteran, voiced appreciation of the economic and political progress of the south since the civil war, pointed to his ancestry in which southern and northern blood are mingled and to his birth in the east and his life in the west, declaring he believed himself a middling good American; spoke of the preponderance of southern blood in his regiment in Cuba; referred to the aid through advice that this government can give the peoples in the coasts and islands of the Caribbean; reiterated the principle of equal justice to all and, in his talk to negroes, congratulated them on their progress as a race.
In North Carolina.
Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 20.—The ovation which President Roosevelt received during his journey through a portion of Virginia Wednesday was continued Thursday as he traveled through the state of North Carolina. Beginning with his arrival at Raleigh at nine o'clock Thursday morning, he was greeted by cheering crowds at Durham, Greensboro, High Point, Lexington, Salisbury and Charlotte, the demonstration in this city being a fitting farewell of the citizens of the old Tar Heel state.
The feature of the day was the president's visit to the fair, which is in progress at Raleigh. Here he delivered an address which dealt with the important questions of railroad ownership and the organizations of capital and labor. On the question of rate legislation he roundly denounced unscrupulous shippers and railroad managers as the authors of the rate evil. He urged closer government control as a protection both to shippers and honest common carriers. At the same time the president declared against government ownership of anything which can with propriety be left in private hands.
Dis honesty Demanded.
Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—The greeting to President Roosevelt on his arrival here was most enthusiastic. At the fair grounds he addressed an audience of 75,000 persons. In his address the president dwelt chiefly on the question of dishonest methods of great corporations and the need for federal control. In scathing terms he denounced those men of great wealth who practice the "law honesty" which barely suffices to keep them from the penitentiary. Likewise he bitterly flayed the "evil cynicism" of politicians who use the term "practical politics" as a euphemism for dirty politics.
Canal to Bring Benefits.
Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 23.—The Presidential party arrived here Saturday morning on a special Southern train. On its arrival at the depot, it was greeted by thousands of cheering people. After driving through the principal streets in the city, the president was taken to the Seminole club, in the principal square of the city, where he delivered an address, the keynote of which was a prediction that success will crown the work of building the Panama canal, and pointing out the great benefits which will follow the construction of the waterway.
A Government of Justice.
St. Augustine, Fla., Oct. 23.—In his speech at Fort Marion Saturday the president dwelt on the subject of "good citizenship," also the aims and objects of this government. "This republic is not and never shall be a government of a plutocrat," he said, "this government is not and never shall be the government of a mob. It shall remain as it was founded in the beginning, a government of justice, through the form of law, a government where in every man is guaranteed in his own rights and is forbidden to wrong his neighbors."
Sunday was spent in this city. The president attended church in the morning. In the afternoon, with several other members of his party and a number of prominent citizens, he drove to Fort Marion, where they boarded a launch and went to Anastasia, an island. Here the party donated bathing suits and had a bath in the salt water. The president greatly enjoyed the bath.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 24.—That "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war" was never better exemplified than in the reception of President Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United States, during his two hours stay in Mobile Monday evening. There was general closing of all business houses, and along the route of the procession from the union depot to the stand on Bienville square, where the reception ceremonies took place, the residences and stores were covered with decorations of lights and bunting in the national colors. Fully 40,000 persons heard his address at Bienville square. Referring to the Panama canal the president said he did his best to bring about its completion for the benefit of the whole people, but particularly for the benefit of the gulf states. Originally he said he favored the Nicaragua route, but when it was demonstrated that it must be the Panama canal or nothing, he favored the Panama route, as he wanted to see a canal built, and one will be built. Notwithstanding the efforts of certain people who are striving, by their circulation of false rumors or other methods, to delay or defeat the construction of the canal, the president said he will be disappointed, for there is going to be a canal.
Passes Quarantine.
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 24.—W. R. Bransell, secretary of the Alabama board of health, boarded the special train of President Roosevelt at Brinson, Ga., and upon affidavits of Surgeon General Rixey, issued a clean bill of health to the presidential party. Mr. Roosevelt told Secretary Bransell that he wished to conform with all quarantine regulations.
GREAT STRIKE IN RUSSIA.
Railways Throughout Entire Empire Tied Up—Trade and Industry Paralyzed.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—The railroad strike situation has now entered on a highly serious phase. The movement is spreading rapidly to all the railroads of the empire, and apparently cannot be stopped, while in many cities it is communicating itself to the mill and factory employees. The general strike in all branches of labor, which the socialists planned for the end of this year, is seemingly bursting forth of its own volition. The strike is part of a general scheme of the social democrats to compel the emperor to grant universal suffrage and complete political freedom, but the plan of the leaders is to avoid a collision with the authorities.
As the demands of the men are purely political it seems impossible to satisfy them by economic concessions. Prince Hilko, minister of railroads, yesterday vainly appealed to the Moscow strikers on the basis of his own experience in England and the United States, but he spoke to deaf ears. The men talked of nothing but their political rights, which, of course, the prince was powerless to grant. The situation is apparently at a deadlock, from which egress can only be had by the surrender of one side or, perhaps, the proclamation of martial law on the railroads.
Minister of Finance Kokovsov yesterday received a telegram from the governing committee of the Moscow Bourse, which said that a continuation of the strike for a week longer would force every factory in the Moscow region to shut down owing to lack of coal, whether or not the factory hands took part in the strike. The same condition of paralysis threatens all the trade and industry of Russia unless the strike is speedily settled. The inhabitants of Moscow are already feeling the effects of the strike in the increased prices of food and they are even confronted by famine.
A flood of dispatches yesterday from Simbirsk, Saratoff, Vyazma, Poltava, Nizhni Novgorod, Kharkoff, Smolensk, Kieff, Elizabethgrad, Kazan and other railroad centers all over Russia announced the complete tying up of all transportation. St. Petersburg has one line to the frontier and the employees of this line held a meeting late last night to decide whether or not they should participate in the strike movement.
The last link that bound Moscow, the commercial center of the empire, with the outer world was broken Monday afternoon when the men on the Nicholas road, connecting Moscow with St. Petersburg, went on strike. The engineers shut off steam in their engines and Prince Hilko had great difficulty in obtaining a crew for the special train which brought him to St. Petersburg at midnight.
Pathetic scenes are reported from Moscow, where thousands of the poor inhabitants of the adjoining provinces have been waiting for four days for trains to take them home. They are camped out near the railroad stations and in the streets and many of them are without money and the necessities of life.
Assassin Confesses.
Chicago, Oct. 21.—Insane jealousy was the cause of the murder of Mrs. Clara A. McCluskey at the rear door of her saloon, No. 666 West Madison street, at one o'clock Friday morning. The murderer was Mrs. Clara May Buckley, former business partner of the victim, and morally the wife of the man whose affections she suspected Mrs. McCluskey of having alienated. Mrs. Buckley confessed to the police.
Two Killed.
Elmira, Mich., Oct. 23.—Two Polish trackmen were killed and six fatally injured on the Boyne City, Gaylord & Alpena railroad, five miles northwest of Elmira, when a locomotive rolled down an embankment, where the men were at work.

PRESIDENT ASSAILS EVIL OF LYNCHING
ROOSEVELT DECLARES WHITE MEN OF THE SOUTH SHOULD GUARD NEGRO'S RIGHTS.
DELIVERS SPEECH AT TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE
Warmly Commends Work of the Alabama School—Nation's Chief Also Pays a Flying Visit to Montgomery and Birmingham.
Tuskegee, Ala., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt arrived in Tuskegee at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, his train being on time. The city was beautifully decorated. A number of arches, the foundations of which were made of bales of cotton, had been erected and covered with bunting. The platform from which the president spoke to the people of the city was made from $30,000 worth of cotton in original bales. The president was met at his train by a reception committee, among whom were Maj. O. S. Lewis and Dr. John Massay, president of the Alabama conference female college. Escorted by a company of state militia, the president was driven to the college, which represented a typical southern scene. Cotton had been transplanted in long rows, and two old southern negroes with cotton pickers' sacks on their shoulders were engaged in picking the staple from the plants. Several baskets of cotton were scattered about the field. The president was greeted at the college grounds by the students and public school children. The president's address here was a short one, and at its conclusion he left for the Tuskegee normal and industrial school. The president was received by Principal Booker T. Washington and members of the institute board of trustees and faculty. The president was given an ovation as he rose to speak.
Praises Institute's Aims.
In his speech President Roosevelt warmly praised the aims of the institute, and as warmly commended its success in educating negroes along practical industrial lines. He pointed out that this education of the negroes was of the utmost importance to the whites, as well as to the blacks, in that it meant a certain addition to the productive power and wealth of the south. For this reason he argued that it was the duty of the white people of the south to lend every possible aid to such educational work.
The president did not hesitate to take up the lynching question, dealing with it in a calm and dispassionate manner, but firmly pointing out the evils resulting from it. He declared that every such act of lawlessness lowered the moral tone of every individual in the community where it occurred. The white people owed it to themselves, he said, to protect the negroes from lawlessness and secure to them every legal right to which they were entitled.
In conclusion the president declared the south must settle her own problems. He urged the negroes to fight all crime, and especially that committed by members of their race.
The return trip to Montgomery was then made.
Arrives at Montgomery.
Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 24.—President Roosevelt arrived here at noon Tuesday. Upon his arrival the president was escorted to the state capitol, where he was welcomed by the mayor and governor, after which he made an address to the people. Elaborate preparations for his entertainment had been made.
Two hours were spent here, after which the president continued his journey to Birmingham, which place was reached at five o'clock. Two hours were spent in that industrial center, during which the president made an address to the people, and later visited the state fair, where another speech was delivered. At 6:45 o'clock the president's train left Birmingham for Little Rock, Ark.
People Flock to New Orleans.
New Orleans, Oct. 24.—That the whole country has full faith in the assurance of the federal officers that the fight against yellow fever is practically over is evidenced in the rapidity with which quarantines are being lifted. Meridian has finally thrown her gates open to the world, and that means the complete resumption of travel over the Queen & Crescent road from Cincinnati to New Orleans. Practically all the towns along the Mississippi gulf coast have removed restrictions, Biloxi being the exception. Large numbers of people who have been on the coast since the fever started are coming into New Orleans for the president's reception. As the result of heavy frosts a large number of Mississippi towns have discharged their inspectors and ordered the removal of all embargoes on travel, Jackson, Miss., and Mobile, Ala., however, being exceptions. Up to noon Tuesday there was only one new case of yellow fever reported, and no deaths. Unofficially there was a report of one death, the first to occur in nearly a week.
Case to Be Appealed.
Washington, Oct. 24.—Mary Mable Rogers, under sentence of death in Vermont for killing her husband, was Tuesday granted leave to proceed on appeal before the supreme court of the United States as a pauper without payment of costs. The record in the case will be printed at public expense.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

Margrile Ryan Margaret Merkley

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrile Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

The Sunday Editor and the Foolish Limerick

By S. E. KISER

HE entered with a swish and a smile. A faint, delicious perfume found its way to the Sunday editor's nostrils as she approached him, and he looked into her beautiful face, with glad anticipation.

"She has a society note she wants published," he thought. "How gracefully she carries that splendid little head of hers."

With a dainty, gloved hand she reached into a bag that she carried, and then hesitated, looking at him as if she were not quite sure that it would be safe to try his patience.

"Excuse me; is this the Sunday editor?" she asked.

Her tones were full of soft music. She was the most lovely creature the Sunday editor had ever seen. The realization of this came to him when she spoke. He forgot that he had an engagement with an artist in 20 minutes, forgot that he had to rewrite an article which he had depended upon as a principal feature; he forgot everything but that she was standing before him smiling coaxingly and that he was never before so glad to be the Sunday editor.

"Yes," he answered, hastily, tossing a pile of papers from a chair, "won't you sit down?"

"Thank you. I suppose it is awfully presumptuous of me to come here in this way," she replied, "drawing a roll of manuscripts from the bag in which the little hand had been hidden, "but I knew there is no use sending things in by mail. You always put such things in the waste basket without reading them, don't you?"

"No," he replied, "unless they are unsigned. But I'm glad you supposed we did."

She permitted her eyelids to droop, and then, ignoring his compliment, continued:

"Do you ever allow people to read things to you—that they bring in?"

"Sometimes, if they—"

"These are all very short," she interrupted, and I wouldn't want to read them to you, only I think you will be more likely to get their meaning if I do. Hm!

"There was once a sweet maiden named—"

"Excuse me," he broke in, with a sad sinking at the heart. "We have decided not to publish any more poetry that begins 'There was once a sweet maiden named—' Perhaps you have something else, that will be in our line."

"Well, see how you like this one: 'There was once a young fellow from—'"

"I hope you will pardon me for interrupting you again, but our rules bar out all poems beginning 'There was once a young fellow from—' I'm very sorry."

"Oh, it's all right," she answered with evident disappointment. "I really don't care very much for either of those, anyway. This one many of my friends think is very good:

"'There was an old woman who—'"

"I know you will think we have an absurd system here," he interposed, "but the fact is we don't print anything beginning 'There was an old woman who—'"

Her cheeks were very red now, and the hands which held up the manuscripts trembled. But she was as brave as she was beautiful, and, taking a long breath, she asked:

"Do you care to hear any of the others?"

"Yes, I would like to, very much."

"Well, then, this is one that I wrote in a letter to a friend. It is founded on fact: 'There was a fond wife who—'"

"But that has the same fault I have had to find with the others. Here, just a moment, please. I'll make a little list."

As he wrote he spoke aloud the words that were jotted down.

"We don't print any poems that begin:

"'There was a young man—'"

"'There was an old woman—'"

"'There was a sweet maiden—'"

"'There was a glad girlie—'"

"'There was a gay dandy—'"

"'There was a proud father—'"

"The fact is," he ended, "that we have shut out limericks altogether. But can't you write something else? I'm sure it would be good."

"No," she sadly answered, "I don't seem to be able to have any ideas when I try to write other kinds of poetry."

"Then why write poetry?"

"Well—you see, I don't really have to write. Only I hoped you might find at least one of these good enough to publish, because—because—"

"Because what?"

"Oh, it was awfully foolish, I know, and you will say that I have no right to think of such a thing, but there was a challenge in it."

"Some one had told you that you couldn't get anything printed, I suppose," the Sunday editor said, noticing how beautifully rounded and how soft her chin was.

"Yes," she answered, taking care not to look into his eyes, "and—and I'm afraid it's going to be very serious for me if you refuse to—to reconsider the matter."

They looked at each other, then, for a long time without saying anything. The Sunday editor was the first to speak.

"If it is going to be as serious as you look," he said, "I'm afraid I'll have to break our rule."

Her face was suddenly transformed from a picture of despair to one of glad hope, and the Sunday editor told himself that he preferred her happy expression.

"Can't you tell me what the conditions of this affair are?" he asked.

"It's the silliest thing in the world," she answered. "No, really, I should be ashamed to do so."

But the Sunday editor was a persuasive young man and persistent, wherefore he learned that she had merely out of pique agreed to be the wife of somebody whose interests did not appeal to the Sunday editor, if her literary efforts proved to be unpromising.

"You see," she explained, "I have always had an idea that I wanted to be independent, and he has laughed at the idea and made so much fun of my pretensions that I just got angry and told him that I would stake my poems against him and that if they were rejected he might hope."

The Sunday editor reached gently over to where her hands rested upon the manuscripts in her lap, and when she was leaving she turned at the door, to smile sweetly up in his face and say:

"Yes, truly, I will make him accept the terms. When I can show him my name in print under a poem I will have the right to tell him that he needn't hope any more."

When the Sunday editor was reprimanded a week later, for having given space to a poor little limerick for which he had selected special type and a fancy border, he was in no wise cast down. He merely said it would not occur again, and walked back to his desk, where he took a letter from his innermost pocket and pressed it to his lips.

In the Sunday editor's heart was a new hope and a kindly feeling for all the world.—Chicago Record-Herald.

GREEKS FISHED WITH FLIES

Writer of the Third Century Tells How They Caught Fish in Macedonia.

Probably few fishermen are aware that fly fishing dates back to classic times. A minute description of the artificial fly as used by Macedonian anglers is given by Aelian, a Greek writer of the third century A. D. as follows:

"Between Berea and Thessalonica there flows a river, Astraeus by name, and there are in it fishes of a spotted color, but by what name people of those parts call them it is better to ask Macedonians.

"At any rate these fish live upon the native flies which fall into the river and are like no flies of any other part, one would neither call them wasp-like in appearance, nor would one reply to a question that this creature is formed like what we call the bumble-bees, nor yet like the honey bees themselves.

"In audacity it is like a fly, in size it might be called a bumble bee, in color it rivals the wasp and it buzzes like the honey bee. All common creatures of this sort are called horse tails.

"These pitch upon the stream to seek the food they affect, but cannot help being seen by the fish, which swim underneath.

"So whenever one of them sees the fly floating he comes softly, swimming under the water, afraid of disturbing the surface and so scaring away his game. Then he comes near the shady side of the fly, gapes and sucks him in, just like a wolf snatching a sheep from the fold or an eagle a goose from the yard. This done, he disappears beneath the ripple.

"The fishermen understand these maneuvers, but they do not make any use of these flies for a bait for the fish, for if the human hand lays hold of them they lose their natural color, their wings fray and they become uneatable to the fish.

"So with angling craft they outwit the fish, devising a sort of lure against them. They lap a lock of reddish wool round the hook, and to the wool two cock's feathers which grow under the wattles, and are brought to the proper color with wax. The rod is from six to ten feet long and the horsehair line has the same length.

"They lower the lure. The fish is attracted by the color, excited, draws close and, judging from its beautiful appearance that it will obtain a marvelous banquet, forthwith opens its mouth, but is caught by the hook, and bitter, indeed, is the feast it has, inasmuch as it is captured."

THE WINDS.

Wind, O wind of the south,
Fresh and sweet as lilies,
When the lake so still is,
Kiss thou once my mouth.

Wind, O wind of the north,
Deary and waste thy wake,
Ah, for the women's sake,
What of the ships gone forth?

Wind, O wind of the east,
Gray and harsh thy face,
And thy salt rains race
Like winter snow released.

Wind, O wind of the west,
Lulling to dreams the sun,
When earth's long day is done,
Waft me a rose of rest.

Knoll picked his gun up from the ground and the trigger caught in a twig, and caused the explosion, the charge shattering his little finger and tearing his forearm. The men had to walk two miles to their team and drive to Holland before medical aid was secured. Drs. H. Kremers, E. D. Kremers and J. Mersen dressed the wound. A considerable portion of the shattered bone was removed but it is thought that the arm can be saved.

Circuit court will convene for the November term Monday, November 6, and the session will probably be the busiest that has greeted Judge Padgham in this county in some time. There are at present thirty-four civil cases noticed for trial, with many more to follow. The criminal cases will amount to fifteen at the least. John Link will be retried for arson and it is now understood that W. H. Tollefson, the Boston man charged with forgery, has decided to stand trial in his case. He was brought from Boston last summer charged with uttering a forged check for $15 and victimizing the National bank of Grand Haven. Tollefson is wanted to answer to similar charges elsewhere.

Robert Smith, one of the Holland Life Saving crew, bought of Captain Olesen the wreck of the schooner Kate Lyons for twenty-five dollars. His bill of sale includes rigging, anchor, chains, hull, everything in fact that is stranded at the harbor. The crew of the station is busy dismantling the hull and it is expected that they will share in the proceeds with Mr. Smith after he gets his $25 out. He is negotiating to sell the spars to the captain of the tug Nelson, which is now in Saugatuck with a tow barge loaded with stone for the Saugatuck harbor. The Lyons was once owned by the Cutler Savidge Lumber Co. and cost that company nearly $25,000.

Either the number of automobiles in Michigan was greatly overestimated or a large number of machine owners have failed to comply with the state law requiring the licensing of automobiles, as only 2,700 licenses have been taken out at the office of the secretary of state. It was estimated during the session of the legislature that at least 5,000 machines were owned in Michigan. The license fee of $2 on each machine goes to the support of the department of good roads. The enforcement of the law requiring the payment of the license fee rests with no state authority, and if police departments do not require the payment of the fee it remains unpaid.

There is one little rural community in this county which is enjoying the biggest kind of a boom. The community referred to is Rusk, located on section 31 in Alendale township. There is a large Holland settlement in the neighborhood and a big Reformed church and also a parsonage building are now under process of construction. A store building has also been erected. There is said to be a great field there for a blacksmith and wagon shop and if there is anybody who desires to get into a good paying business in a live farming country they should investigate. Rusk is taking on metropolitan airs and there is every reason to believe that it will be one of the important stations on the new south river electric road when it is built.—G. H. Tribune.

The fiftieth anniversary of establishment of the First Christian Reformed church in Grand Haven was fittingly observed at the church Thursday night. The Rev. Vander Heide gave the address of welcome to the assembly. The Rev. J. Noorde-wier of Jenison, one of the oldest ministers of the denomination in this section of the state, gave a short history of the church from its organization to 1878 when the Rev. E. Vander Vries took charge. The Rev. A. Keizer of Holland came to the church in 1886 and he was succeeded by the Rev. K. Kuiper now of Roseland, Ill., in about 1890. He remained in charge until 1897 when Rev. M. J. Marcusse of Richland, Mich., came and remained until about 1899 when he was succeeded by the Rev. W. D. Vander Werp. He went to Grand Rapids from there in 1904. The present pastor, the Rev. S. S. Vander Heide came at about that time and his pastorate has been very successful. It was greatly through his efforts that the anniversary was successfully arranged. All of the former pastors, still living, gave addresses last night, but Rev. M. J. Marcusse, Mr. A. De Jong, principal of the Holland school, was also on the program for a talk. The music was furnished by the church choir and it was carefully selected. The Rev. VanTielon of the Spring Lake Christian Reformed church pronounced the benediction.

Those who own land on the big marsh near Pine Creek and other points on the north shore of Macatawa Bay have put up signs warning hunters to keep off of their land. Should they persist in not allowing shooting on their property life will be pretty dull for some of Holland's hunters as the locality is the choicest in this vicinity.

The Holland City Gas Co. has arranged to hang 2 arc lights outside of Lokker & Rutgers clothing store; two out side of John Nies hardware store; two outside of Cook Bros. music store; two outside of Wm. Brusse's clothing store; two outside of Meyers music store and three outside of Jas. A. Brouwer's furniture store. When these lights flash out it will look like a torch light procession on the business streets.

County School Commissioner C. E. Kelly spoke to the board of supervisors on the advisability of establishing the county normal school in Ottawa County as provided for by the state legislature's recent action. Mr. Kelly was heartily in favor of the plan and he gave the board his views upon the subject. The new state law provides for the establishment of a county normal school in every county for the purpose of giving the rural schools more finished teachers. These schools are to maintain an instructor and a salary of $1400 per year is provided. Of this the state will furnish $1000 the county $200 and the city in which the normal is located, $200. In Ottawa County the normal would be either in Holland or Grand Haven as it must be established in connection with a high school and a good reference library.

In Odd Fellows hall Friday afternoon was held the Degree of Honor A. O. U. W. convention. Mrs. J. H. Wise presided and Mrs. Ella Thompson gave the invocation. Papers were read by several representatives of visiting lodges, and the Washington drill team of the local lodge gave a very pretty drill. Later a banquet was served, and the evening session was enlivened by a program, including another drill and musical number Miss Maud Elferdink sang, Mrs. James Annis and George E. Clark gave readings, the Misses Rose and Olive Brusse rendered a piano duet, Misses Bessie Baumgartel and Matilda Damsen and Lloyd Conkrigh contributing piano solos. During the afternoon and evening Damsen's orchestra gave several numbers. About 85 delegates were present, nine lodges being represented as follows: Grand Rapids, 6; Ludington, Marshall and Holland one each. It was decided to hold the convention next year during October in Grand Rapids. An interesting feature was the address by Grand Chief of Honor Mary A. Baxter of Detroit.

Zeeland has, indeed, reasons to feel proud of its new bank block on the corner of North and Church streets. Beautifully located, as it is, the structure is truly an ornament to our main street. On the exterior the two-story brick building, patterned after modern ideas of architecture, looks well, and on the interior no expense has been saved to give the place an up-to-date and inviting appearance. The rooms on the ground floor are occupied by the State Commercial & Savings Bank, Cashier Neerken having moved it from his temporary quarters at the Main store on last Friday. The rooms are very conveniently arranged and every accommodation is accorded the patrons. The second floor is devoted to office rooms, nearly all of which have already been rented and some are already occupied. Those located in the new block will be Sooy & Heck, law practice; J. Masselink, M. D.; M. E. VandenBosch, I. VerLee and D. Sytzama, insurance. The building has been well constructed with burglar-proof vault and bank safes to protect the bank's funds. Although the bank is still young, the institution promises to be very successful and is receiving a good share of patronage. Cashier Benj. Neerken and assistant Thos. Keppel are in charge.—Zeeland Record.
