The one important thing yet needed for a good many Republicans to do is to attend to the matter of personal registration on Nov. 3. Every Republican who has not already registered must do so on Saturday the 3rd of November if he wishes to have anything to do with the election of a governor and other officers this year.

Oakdale Park Christian Reformed church at Grand Rapids has called the Rev. K. Van Goor of Patterson, N. J., to the pastorate of that church. Bethel Reformed church has called the Rev. A. B. Van Zante of Fairview, Ill. Rev. Van Goor was formerly of the Ninth street church, and Rev. Van Zante is a graduate of the local seminary and well known here.

Good Roads Commissioner H. S. Earle says there are now twenty counties in the state working under the county road system, and that the farmers are well pleased with results. The benefit to the farmers comes principally in counties containing cities. Under the township system the cities, while receiving much of the benefit of improved highways, did not pay anything toward their improvement.

Another chapter has been opened in the case brought in the probate court of Ottawa county by heirs of William M. Ferry to compel an accounting and settlement of Edward P. Ferry as executor of the $1,000,000 estate of his father and mother. The petition on which this case is based was filed in June, 1903, and the first proofs were taken three years ago. Between that time and June, 1905, when the case was submitted to Probate Judge Kirby, proofs were taken when reduced to typewriting fill a total of more than 10,000 pages. Now the Michigan Trust company and the contesting heirs have filed a petition for leave to take further proofs in regard to the receipts and disbursements of the executor during the period since William M. Ferry died, nearly 40 years ago.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Degraw will recommend to Postmaster General Cortelyou a substantial increase in the maximum salary allowed letter carriers in the rural free delivery service. There are now in the rural delivery service 36,437 carriers, employed in all parts of the country, the service being operated from postoffices in cities where it is very expensive to own and maintain horses, as well as from postoffices in small towns and villages, where the cost of grain and forage varies greatly. Mr. Degraw found that to make a fair allowance for horse hire within a reasonable limit would require a knowledge of the cost of horse feed throughout the country, which is necessarily subject to change, and that if an adjustment should be undertaken with that as a basis, anything short of the actual expense of maintaining the conveyances could not be made satisfactory.

The public schools were closed last Thursday and Friday afternoons, while the teachers attended the state Institute at Battle Creek.

Rev. R. L. Haan conducted services in the Second Christian Reformed church of Zeeland last Sunday.

Arie Prins who recently sold his ice business to Ed Bertsch of Grand Rapids, has accepted a position in Cook Bros. music store.

The Second Christian Reformed church of Zeeland has chosen the following trio from which to elect a pastor: Rev. Y. De Jong of Paris, Mich.; Rev. P. Van Vliet of Ellsworth, Mich.; Rev. J. J. Hiemenga of Overisel.

In the $10,000 damage case of Eleanor A. Bushee vs. Alva H. Stanley, growing out of the Bushee murder case, a verdict of no cause of action was rendered. Several frequenters of saloons could not remember ever having seen Fred Sessions drunk and the jury decided that Stanley had a right to sell liquor to him under his license.

Douglas T. Eveland of Holland was the guest of J. J. Firestone and family Sunday. He says the Bush & Lane company are working many hours over time and on Sunday to keep up with their orders.—Allegan News.

The company which has run boats between Saugatuck and Chicago this season are so well satisfied that next year they will have a daily boat each way. Their steamer Glenn has been put into dry dock in Chicago for general renovation, the Crouse taking her place. George Bottema, a 6-year-old Spring Lake boy, was killed almost instantly Friday by falling under the wheels of a heavily loaded wagon driven by Herman Honholt.

Rev. W. De Groote, for the past three years pastor of the Christian Reformed church at Graafschap, has received a call by the Reformed church of Passaic, N. J.

The cultivation of celery as carried on in the low lands south of Zeeland, is no mean industry. About a carload is sent out every evening on the 5 o'clock train. The individual shipments average about 50 boxes.

After having his finger nearly torn off by a rope attached to a pulley, Henry Van Regenmortel, an employee of the West Michigan Furniture Co., had his finger amputated. The accident occurred Saturday.

During the fierce storm last Saturday forenoon the top of the front part of C. Blom's building on River street, occupied by the saloon, was blown down and the brick fell to the cement walk beneath. Luckily no one was passing at the time for had there been the results would have been terrible to contemplate as it would mean certain death to be struck by the falling masonry. Tieman Slagh missed the crash by a few seconds, and had it been thirty minutes later the employees of the furniture factories would have been passing by. The damage to the building is estimated at $50. The front of the building will be temporarily repaired as soon as the weather permits. The owner expects to build a new brick block early next spring along the south side of these buildings and add another story to the damaged buildings, making them all full two story blocks.

The next time that Peter T. McCarthy, John Busby and Charles A. Floyd attempt to cross on Goshorn bridge they will not have to swim, as there is hardly any doubt but that the people of Laketown will in the near future build a new bridge over Goshorn Lake or have the old one repaired as the subject is being persistently agitated by the people of the southern part of the township. The state Highway Commissioner has been here once to investigate the matter and will soon come again to take soundings of the lake and make estimates of the costs and perhaps some assistance can be secured from the state. The plan of filling in the roadway has been suggested by some but this would cost about $6,000 at 20c a yard and it is hardly likely that it could be done any cheaper. The distance across the lake where the bridge is located is about 600 feet. The north 150 feet of this is quite shallow, less than four feet, but then it deepens and in the center is about 25 feet deep, the south half is from 10 to 25 feet deep for its entire distance. Mr. J. E. Berg has made an estimate of the cost of filling in the most shallow part and driving spiles to support the wooden structure for the remaining distance. This he figures would cost about $950, which would leave a fair profit for a contractor.

The Womans Relief Corps will serve a New England dinner at the G. A. R. hall next Tuesday evening beginning at 5 o'clock. Later in the evening luncheon will be served for all those who stay down town to hear the results of election. All are invited to partake and the bill will be very reasonable.

Every citizen of Michigan who approves of the brave, straightforward course of President Roosevelt in the handling of public affairs can give practical expression to that approval at next Tuesday's election. "I am heart and soul and all the time for Hughes, because I know and feel that he stands for precisely the same principles that I stand for." That was President Roosevelt's message to the republicans of New York. The republicans of Michigan and the republican candidates of this state stand for precisely the same principles that President Roosevelt has expressed and defended. Don't neglect the opportunity to send a greeting of approval to Roosevelt next Tuesday through the casting of a republican vote.

Real Facts in Governor Warner's Land Deals.

Gov. Warner has issued the following regarding transactions in state lands in reply to the statements regarding the Jersey and other properties:

"The statement in regard to the Ogemaw county lands in which I am interested seems to have emanated from our friends, the enemy, and is characteristic of their style of campaigning. It is full of falsehoods and insinuations that are base and unwarranted by the facts.

"During the few days before election we may expect to see more of this sort of thing.

"It is probable these attacks are made to keep in the background the entirely unjust criticism of the state's great institutions, and more particularly the attack upon our great university. Possibly they hope to have the people forget the ridiculous attempt to prove that the state tax rates are higher now than they were ten years ago.

"I believe the result next Tuesday will show that the people of Michigan do not approve of this style of campaigning. Clean cut results, not abuse and vilification are desired by the people.

From what I am hearing daily thousands of members of the Democratic party will by their votes next Tuesday show that they disapprove of such methods.

"As to the lands of which they make mention, I have only to say that they were bought in the usual way, and anyone who wished to pay more than we did could have bought them when we secured them. Furthermore, the records will show that no taxes were paid on the Jersey property for nineteen years, from 1882 to 1901, when the state took the land.

"We bought the lands in 1903. This disproves the allegation that taxes had been paid on the Jersey property until the time of Mr. Jersey's death, six years ago. No taxes were paid on the Hydorn property for seventeen years. To me this looks as if the original owners of these two parcels had been merely living there on sufferance and had intended to move off whenever the state saw fit to assert its claim for taxes.

"It should be said that these were not 'tax title deals.' On the other hand, they were bona fide purchases of lands that had been abandoned by their original owners and had reverted to the state because taxes had not been paid on them for long periods of years.

"Fred M. Warner, Governor.

A Bad Back is Always Worse In The Morning. Holland People are Finding Relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cures in Holland prove the merit of Doan's.

Mrs. F. Andree, of 243 West Twelfth street, says: "For a year or more I had a constant aching pain through my loins, in the side and also a soreness of the stomach. I could hardly stoop to lift anything without suffering severely. I did not rest comfortably at night and became so lame and sore that in the morning I arose feeling tired and unrefreshed. I was bothered a great deal with headache, spells of dizziness, and the kidney secretions became affected, were irregular, too frequent and unnatural. I doctored a great deal and took many kinds of medicines, but without getting better. I believe I still would be suffering if I had not heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them from J. O. Doesburg's drug store. I felt better after taking a few doses and continued their use until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

The Struggle

By CHAS. MICHAEL WILLIAMS

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The sonorous bell of the old clock began to strike the hour of twelve at night.

One!—It rang, solemnly, slowly. Roger Carton started violently; he hurriedly raised his head from his arms and the light revealed his haggard and passion-distorted face. Steeped in mental misery for hours, he had paid no heed to the progress of time, but now he bestirred himself. In half an hour the train would start, and he was to go on it, away from that hateful town—forever—

Two!—rang the sweet-toned bell.

He was on his feet, swiftly sweeping the papers from his desk into a bag; still with confused, acutely painful thoughts racing through his mind faster than the voice of time as symbolized by the chiming clock—

Three!—

Could he not stop thinking now? The train was waiting. There would be no other for 15 hours, and 15 hours more in this place would be an eternity of suffering. He must hurry on to New York, there to begin a new life, if new life were possible to a man who had failed so miserably in his first trial of existence—

Four!—

In New York he would be an insignificant cipher among millions—not, as here in his birthplace, the derided young "fool of a boy" as he had overheard a man he respected allude to him. Placed in charge of his father's factory by that honored man, now dead, had he not neglected his business, failed in his promises, wounded the hearts of those who loved him (two women, they: his mother and the girl) and all by his idiotic behavior over a woman who had finally simply laughed at him? Oh, the shame of it—she had laughed at him!

Five!—

Here were her letters, her photograph. Slashed across, he threw them into the fire. The picture fell face upward, and from the red glowing coals the woman's dark, enigmatical eyes smiled at him. How she had enslaved him, the dusky stranger with her unreadable eyes, her singular smiles, her voice of haunting cadences. And now she was nothing but a ghost, torturing his memory and driving him forth from home and kindred—

Six! Seven! Eight!—Inexorable time winged on.

He took three more photographs from the desk—his mother's—he averted his eyes as he put it in the bag; the girl Miriam's, her frank, candid eyes sent a pang of remorse to his soul; and his father's, the dead soldier's steadfast gaze looked searchingly into his eyes.

Nine! Ten!—

Singular, subtle, powerful were the emotions that vibrated as, there surged throughout his veins the aroused blood of the man, his father. He had believed in him; that warrior who had fought for home and country and never turned his back on foe or duty—

Eleven!—

The utter shame: real shame, chilled him to the heart. "I am acting like—the coward! What, run away?—that would be worse than anything! No, dad—I'll stay and fight this thing out." He suddenly touched the portrait with his lips, and sat down steadily in his chair. He began to set his papers in order—and—

The sonorous bell of the old clock struck twelve.

WOMAN'S DAMAGING VANITY

Love of Fine Appearance Sometimes Leads to Painful Self-Sacrifice.

When the Leicester woman was missing some time ago, her relatives published a detailed description of her. It contained this sentence: "Small toes of each foot missing." As it was very unlikely that both toes had been amputated by accident, some one asked the woman's mother to account for the lost toes. After a gallant effort to evade the question, the old lady reluctantly confessed that her daughter had the toes severed to enable her to wear very small shoes!

It is well known that hundreds of women suffer torture every week by having their cheeks tinted with electric needles, or having almost invisible hairs plucked from their fair faces.

In most lonely districts—such as the islets of the Irish and Scottish coasts—the women have a weakness for gaudy colors. A parson in little St. Kilda tells of a servant-maid of his—a native of the island—who asked his permission to take a brightly-colored Persian hearthrug to church to use as a shawl. Thinking the request was merely a crude joke, he laughingly assented. To his astonishment, he beheld her, a little later, walking jauntily down the aisle of the church, with the rainbow-colored rug about her shoulders, admired and envied by the feminine portion of the congregation, at least.

Due to Wooden Shoes.

The use of wooden shoes may explain why the exportation of boots, shoes and sole leather from the United States to France is comparatively small. There is, however, in addition to the peasant class using only wooden shoes, another smaller rural class wearing cheap leather shoes. The wooden shoes are made from walnut and birch, the latter being the cheap ones and retailing at 20 to 30 cents a pair. Entirely wooden shoes are carved out of a solid piece of wood. When the sole only is used the split leather uppers are fastened on with nails.

A Tangled Family

By CLARE JAYNES

The remarriage of Mrs. Vanstone after a long widowhood, was the popular gossip of the season, yet no one could solve the problem and no one seemed entirely satisfied, except the new husband. The Vanstone relation were vexed, the servants sulked, and the widow's son and daughter, Charley and Millie, just of age, imagined their prospects blighted.

"Oh, George, what shall I do?" said Mrs. Beverley—which was the lady's new name—ready to cry.

"Don't mind 'em, my dear!" said he, husband, with a great, rolling laugh. "They're only children; they'll grow wiser as they grow older."

But the squire's determined good humor aggravated his stepchildren more than any amount of positive opposition would have done, and they made no effort to conceal their feelings.

"I never, never can call that man father," said Millie.

"My dear, he doesn't want you to," said Mrs. Beverley.

"I can't endure the sight of him!" pouted Millie. "And Charley says exactly the same thing."

"Charley is a disobedient, ungrateful son," sobbed Mrs. Beverley.

But here Mrs. Beverley herself came to the rescue.

"Young people," said he, "I don't object to you making yourselves as miserable as you like, but you mustn't torment your mother. I'll have none of this."

Millie lost no time in carrying this revolutionary speech straight to her brother.

"Very well," said Charley, coolly; "we'll accept the challenge."

"I'll not submit to his tyranny," said Millie. "I've got a plan."

"So have I," said Charley; "lots of 'em; only they don't seem to work when I try to put them into practice."

"I've been writing to Louise Vane," said Millie.

"It seems to me as if I had heard the name before, now that you mention it," said Charley, rumpling up his brown, curly hair. "But why should you write to her?—and what has she to do with our affairs?"

"She sympathizes so thoroughly with me," said Millie. "She considers second marriages as sinful, as I do. And she has asked me to come to her and stay as long as I please. There is a nice hotel in the village, Charley; and her father is very hospitable. And there is a fine supply of shooting, Louise writes, and plenty of agreeable society."

"Not a bad idea," said Charley, reflectively.

Louise Vane received her former schoolmate with effusion.

Her father, a stately, middle-aged gentleman, spoke a few kindly words of welcome.

"Oh, dear!" said Millie, when she was alone with her friend, "I do hope we shall not disturb Mr. Vane."

"Nothing disturbs papa," said Louise. "He will never think of noticing such chicks as we are. Every old maid and widow in the village has tried to marry him ever since poor mamma died."

"How dare they?" said indignant Millie. "I think the legislature ought to pass a law against second marriages. They are wicked, sinful; an outrage on civilization!"

"Of course they are," said Louise. "But don't worry, darling. Remember that you are with me now."

Three months of happiness at Vane lodge followed. Millie and Louise read their favorite authors together, and worked hideous screens and impossible portieres in crevices.

But one day Mr. Vane called his daughter into his study, with a serious face, and when she came out she was drowned in tears, and fled straightway to the haven of her dearest friend's room.

"Darling!" cried Millie, "what is the matter? Tell me, I beseech you."

"The worst that could possibly happen," cried Louise, tragically. "Papa is going to marry again."

Millie crimsoned to the very roots of her hair.

"He told me so himself," said Louise. "I never stopped to ask him who it was that was to desecrate our happy home. I just clasped my hands and cried: 'Papa!' and ran away, sobbing as if my heart would break. Oh, and I had so hoped that, when I was married, we could stay on here just the same; but, with a stepmother, of course, nothing will ever be the same!"

"You married, Louise?" cried Millie.

"Didn't he tell you? But it only happened this morning. Charley has asked me to be his wife."

"But," faltered Millie, "if your stepmother loved you very much indeed—"

"Fiddlesticks!" said Louise; "as if a stepmother could love one! Oh, I hate her already! And you, too, my poor wounded gazelle, will be driven from your refuge. If I could only offer you a home—"

"It's so good of you, darling!" whispered Millie. "But I don't really think that it will be necessary, because, because—"

"You're not engaged to be married, too?" almost shrieked Louise, struck with a certain consciousness in her friend's face.

"Yes, I am," said Millie, hanging down her head.

Read This. It is Important.

Read this from the Allegan Press.
It is Important:

"The importance of getting out and voting election day seems to be overlooked by many otherwise enthusiastic and active Republicans.

WM. ALDEN SMITH,
Candidate for Congress.

The county and state are so strongly Republican that they do not feel anxious and content themselves with the assurance that the whole ticket will be elected anyhow. While that district and county conventions is a very important issue, and is determined by the vote on governor. At present, Allegan county has one more

To the Voters of Michigan.

An examination of the State election returns reveals the fact that in "off" years when no President is to be elected, a large number of voters stay at home on election day. In some counties over half of the electors thus neglect their highest privilege as citizens and their most important duty to the commonwealth. This letter is written for the purpose of appealing to the public conscience upon this question.

Though conscious of mistakes and shortcomings, yet for a period of nearly two years I have endeavored to faithfully serve the whole people without distinction and without prejudice, and with an eye single to the general good and the continued prosperity of our beloved State. By practically the unanimous vote of my party at the first State primaries I have been renominated, and now I very much wish to have all of the voters of the State pass judgment upon my administration. If I have succeeded, a small vote would be but little encouragement, and if I have failed, a light vote would not pronounce proper judgment.

This appeal is not to my party friends only, but to all of the voters. We are living in strenuous times. Under the splendid leadership of President Roosevelt, we are making mighty strides in advance. Almost every day new issues confront us and new opportunities await us. Never before has history been made so fast and never before has the demand for faithful and intelligent citizenship been so great. The will of the people is supreme, and this will can only be registered at the ballot box. Here officers, policies and principles are either upheld or defeated, and the loud call of patriotic duty comes to all to abandon on election day every selfish desire and all labor and pleasure long enough to go to the polls and vote.

I, therefore, earnestly appeal to you in behalf of National and State pride and their welfare to express an increasing interest in public affairs and your appreciation of a free ballot, our bulwark of liberty, by voting on Tuesday, November 6.

FRED M. WARNER.

delegate for the senatorial convention than Van Buren, but a falling off in the Republican vote for governor might change this and give Van Buren one more vote. Ottawa county has one more delegate than Allegan in the judicial convention and only a full vote by the Republicans this year can gain the one delegate. Our representation in the state convention was cut from eighteen to sixteen this year because of the light vote for the Republican candidate for governor two years ago. We should strive to get those two back, and two more with them. If this county is to cut any figure in state politics it must have enough delegates to be worth counting in a close contest. Every vote counts, and the importance of getting out can be plainly seen from the foregoing statements of fact. Should a dozen Republicans in each school district, or even twenty-five in each township, remain at home election day the Republican majority would be materially decreased. Get out to vote on election day."

A. J. WARD,
Candidate for Register of Deeds.

The part of this editorial that strikes Ottawa particularly is the sentence that says Ottawa has one more delegate than Allegan in the judicial convention. That's a fact, and as long as it remains that way Ottawa can name the next circuit judge when Judge Padgham's term expires. It is said that the judge does not wish to run again, but there is some good timber in Allegan that would like the honor and one of them will get it sure as shooting if Allegan makes a gain sufficient to overcome Ottawa.

Now you see the point don't you. If Ottawa wishes to keep it's lead the republicans should come out and vote on election day, Tuesday, November 6, regardless of the elements.

Let us keep ahead that one delegate. We'll need it to help out some good Ottawa county man some day.

Dirk Dykstra, who was one of the graduating class of last June, visited his Alma Mater a few days while en route to his field of labor in Arabia. Friday morning he conducted chapel exercises after which a large proportion of the student body and professors accompanied the missionary to the car line. The few minutes that were left before the arrival of the car, witnessed the singing of songs appropriate to the occasion, the college song, the shouts of the college yell and finally something that resembled a hand shake until the car hove in sight and all was over. Mr. Dykstra goes resting assured that the best wishes for his success are entertained by both the faculty and students. He will engage as a missionary and will have charge of the educational and evangelistic work at Bahrein, Arabia. A recently formed syndicate of the Reformed church at Alto, Wisconsin will support him and his work in the foreign field. Dr. Kollen, who also left Friday morning, accompanied Mr. Dykstra as far as New York, where the president of the institution will spend a few weeks in the interest of the college.

Fire Near Olive Center.

The barn and outbuildings on the farm of Thomas Watson, one mile northeast of Olive Center were destroyed by fire last Sunday.

A team of horses and the season's crops, stored in the barn, including 500 bushels of oats, were consumed by the flames.

The place was occupied by Johannes Meeuwse whose loss is estimated at $500 after the insurance has been paid.

The fire was started by a wind-mill on top of the barn, the power being used to grind feed. During the heavy wind Sunday the machinery of the mill became disabled and it was impossible to throw the mill out of gear.

A hot box was the result and the wood work of the mill was soon afire. The cows were taken from the barn during the progress of the fire.

Dainty refreshments were served and the children were given a peanut hunt, Ruth Welch winning first prize, a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The guests presented their little hostess with a beautiful bracelet. Those present were Mable Scott, Fernie Moores, Bernice Wright, Blanche Barnaby, Do-a Ward, Ruth and Mamie Welsh.

W. G. Strenger, former agent here for the Pere Marquette railway company, was in the city Wednesday. He leaves in a few days for San Domingo, Cuba where he is engaged to superintend an orange plantation.

The reception tendered the active members by the associate members of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon at Hope church parlors which were beautifully decorated for the occasion, was well attended. Mrs. Browning in behalf of the associate members presented Mrs. Myrtle Koon Cherryman of Grand Rapids, who gave a reading from the story of "Pygmalion and Galatea," by F. W. Gilbert, told in three parts. A fine program was prepared which was a violin solo by Bernard De Vries accompanied by John De Vries on the piano. A vocal solo by Miss Estelle Kollen and Mrs. Ernest Bergen accompanied by Miss Amy Yates. Elaborate refreshments were served.

Band Banquet Was Fine.

The banner event in the career of Holland's Citizens Band was the banquet given by the band to the citizens of Holland and the associate members. It was held in Odd Fellows hall last Monday evening, and when the feast furnished by Rutgers & Heuneveld had been cleared away, a program of toasts, music and recitations was given.

Rev. E. J. Blekkink opened with prayer, Manager Henry J. Luidens introduced Attorney Geo. E. Kollen as toastmaster of the evening, and then the fun was on.

It was a crossfire of eloquence and wit from the time that Prof. John M. Van der Meulen told a story about the babies and the hymnbooks until the toastmaster dismissed the guests.

Before the banquet the band gave a concert that caught well the fancy of all, judging from the applause, and during the serving of the courses some fine selections were given by the band quartet.

Those who responded to toasts were Prof. John M. Van der Meulen, Superintendent of schools Bishop, Hon. Henry Geerlings, A. J. Ward, and Rep. N. J. Whelan. Martin Dykema sang with Miss Lulu Boggs as accompanist, and Will Van der Hart recited, both of these numbers bringing down the house and meriting an encore. All in all, the banquet was a delightful function and reflected credit upon the organization. All are looking for a repetition of the affair next fall, when the second annual will be given.

The members of the band are: Frank Smith, Germ Mokma, Geo. Moomey, Ben Dalman, Ben Du Mez, Perry Askins, Gerrit Van Lente, Arie Prins, Henry Wickerink, Gerrit Heuneveld, Henry Dangremond, Marius Mulder, John Van Vyven, Will Van der Hart, Joe Damson, Luke Sprietsma, jr., Harry Wilson, Ben Veldman, and Albert Hoeksma. Their instructor is Frank Wurzburg of Grand Rapids, their leader John Van Vyven, and their manager Henry J. Luidens.

The general store of Jacob Van den Bosch & Co. was seriously damaged by fire Tuesday morning. Fire was discovered at 3 o'clock in the morning by George De Young, who turned in the alarm and the firemen responded promptly and had the fire under control before the flames had developed to any great extent. The loss to the stock will reach $3,500, while the damage to the building is estimated at $1,000. It is covered by insurance. The fire was discovered on the second floor and how it originated is unknown. The floor below was not damaged by fire, but water and smoke did considerable damage. John Vandersluis of this city has an interest in the store and is now taking inventory of the stock, which is valued at about $13,000.

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by the Walsh Drug Co. Price 50c.

Tooth Troubles.

Cause—Prevention—Cure

A Tooth Talk Worth Remembering.

The food left on and between the teeth, decomposing, form an acid. The acid cuts the enamel and roughens it. Once roughened, the food can hardly be cleaned from the tooth and decay sets in rapidly.

Sweets, sour, hot and cold now hurt the tooth until the nerve dies. Even now, with the nerve dead, the trouble is not over. Take a slight cold your tooth aches, jaw gets sore, face swells, puss forms and finally works to the surface and a "gum boil" results.

To prevent all this suffering consult us frequently—at least twice a year—consultation and advice is free.

Let us talk the matter over; a little filling may save you much pain and annoyance. Perhaps some teeth may require treatment. Whatever you need we will help you, giving you the best possible service—the least possible pain.

The most sensitive teeth are easily treated by our method. An exposed nerve (that which all people dread most) is dried up or killed, without pain, in twenty-four hours.

It seems too good to be true, but we are doing just what we claim. Our patients place great reliance in us and we warrant their confidence. We always give good honest work. In every department of our profession we keep up-to-date, studying every appliance that is made to help us do good work, studying all the latest methods for lessening pain and saving teeth. Such faith have we in our work that we make this standing offer:

Good Price for Junk.

These are the days to make the junk man happy. Nearly every kind of material known to the dealer in junk is in demand at prices that cause him to smile a big, broad smile especially if he chances to have on hand a generous supply laid in before prices began to soar. Almost any kind of old metal is in demand, and the prices the junk man pays are anywhere from 25 to 100 per cent higher than they were two or three years ago.

This advance in prices has caused a lively skirmishing almost everywhere by the owners of rags, old iron, copper, brass, tin, zinc and lead. Attics have been ransacked, cellars have been raked over and every old nook and corner that concealed cast-off stuff available for the junk man has been forced to yield up its treasures.

Old lead that used to sell for 2 to 2½ cents a pound is now bringing 4 to 4½ cents. Old brass that once went at a begging at 6 and 7 cents a pound is in demand now at 7 to 13 cents. Brass is an alloy of copper and zinc in varying proportions, and is valuable chiefly for the copper it contains. What is called "heavy" brass, having a large proportion of copper, sells to the junk man as high as 12 or 13 cents a pound when copper is above 20 cents, as at present.

Old zinc finds a ready sale to the junk dealer at 2½ to 3 cents a pound, while iron brings anywhere from 35 cents to 50 cents a hundred pounds. A few years ago iron was a drug on the market at 20 to 25 cents a hundred.

Even old rags show an advance in price of 25 per cent. Junk dealers are busy. They are scurrying over the country hunting up old stuff, buying it up, packing and shipping it to market. Nearly everything goes. The demand is the best it has been in the last twenty years.

PLAN DEMONSTRATION AGAINST UTE BAND

COL. AUGER, IN COMMAND OF FORCES, AWAITING ARRIVAL OF HIS TROOPS.

ROUNDUP WAGON IS LOOTED BY RED MEN

Old Settlers Near Moorhead, Mont.,
Preparing for Trouble—Government Scout Declares Indians Mean
Fight—Are Seeking Assistance.

Sheridan, Wyo., Oct. 30.—Col. Auger and the third squadron of the Tenth cavalry from Fort Robinson, arrived Monday night and detrained at Arvada, the troops soon afterward taking the field for the front. It is understood that Col. Auger is in command of all military forces, and as soon as his troops arrive at the Indian camp a demonstration will be made. The scout sent in from the front to meet Col. Auger reports the arrival of Col. Rogers, commanding the Sixth cavalry, who came overland from Fort Meade. The demonstration against the Indians now only awaits the arrival of Col. Auger's command, which should reach the vicinity of the Indian camp by night.

Roundup Wagon Looted.
The Indians are becoming more bold. Dock Spear and E. H. Gottings, who encountered a band of 30 Indians, were fired upon and one of their horses killed. The spear roundup wagon was looted by another band of Utes who left the camp cook bound and gagged and carried off all supplies and bedding. Old settlers near Moorhead, Mont., are sending the women and children to places of safety and have turned the Spear blacksmith shop into a fort, banking the sides and boring loop-holes in the log walls.

Col. Hensel, who was government scout and interpreter in the battle Wounded Knee, says the Indians mean fight and gives it as his opinion that they have sent messengers to seek the assistance of the warlike Cheyennes.

The Indians say they want President Roosevelt to give them the Powder river valley for a hunting ground and persist in their determination not to be taken back to Utah.

The settlers along the Powder river say that if the Indians are allowed to remain in that vicinity the settlers will organize and exterminate the redskins in spite of the troops.

Reporter Sees Mrs. Eddy.
Concord, N. H., Oct. 30.—A representative of the press who interviewed Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, ten years ago, went to Pleasantview, Mrs. Eddy's home, Tuesday, and was granted another interview. Although Mrs. Eddy shows her advanced age in some respects, her voice was clear and strong, and she gave no evidence of decrepitude or of any weakness not to be expected of a woman in her eighty-sixth year.

May Declare Opening Invalid.
Washington, Oct. 30.—The interior department Tuesday received dispatches from agents in Nevada indicating that when all the facts are known here concerning the opening of the Walker Lake Indian reservation and charges that thousands of persons had succeeded in entering the reserve in advance of the signal, Secretary Hitchcock may be compelled to recommend that the opening be declared invalid.

President to Go Hunting.
Washington, Oct. 30.—President Roosevelt will leave Washington Wednesday morning for Pine Knot, Albemarle county, Virginia, where he will devote the remainder of the week to hunting. Pine Knot is the county seat purchased by Mrs. Roosevelt, who will accompany the president.

BARGE AND SEVEN MEN LOST?

Ship and Crew May Have Gone Down
In Fierce Gale on Lake Huron.

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 30.—It is feared that the tow barge Thomas H. Cahoon, owned in Saginaw, is lost with a crew of seven men. The Cahoon, with other barges, was in tow of the steamer Homer Warren and anchored off Thunder Bay Island Saturday night. The barge broke loose during the height of the gale and drifted out into Lake Huron. It may have drifted across the lake to the Canadian shore, but vessels do not think the barge could have lived in the gale. The Warren and the other barges, the Exile and Ida Keith, rode out the gale in safety.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 30.—Capt. William Somerville, of Berton Heights, O., his daughter, Miss Kate Somerville, and the crew of five men of the barge Checotah were rescued Tuesday by the steamer W. A. Payne, in Lake Huron, from an open yawl boat in which they had put off from the barge when that craft became waterlogged off Port Sanilac. The seven people in the open boat had been tossed around on the high sea in Lake Huron for an hour when rescued. The Checotah was tow No. 3 of the barge Tempest and was cut loose when she became waterlogged. Capt. Somerville, his daughter and crew were landed here by the Payne.

What Sammy Did

"An' he called me lunkhead," said Sammy Richards before the judge, who was his indulgent mother. "An' I punched him in the nose." Sammy's eyes were very big. It was evidently his first pugilistic achievement.

"But there must have been some reason for his calling you names," persisted his mother.

"Well, you see, he was playing snooks."

His mother looked puzzled. "If you will explain what playing snooks is—"

"Oh, snooks," said Sammy, as if any one ought to know that much; "snooks is in marbles. It's after you've both lagged. My glassie was on the line, an', of course, he couldn't fen, dibs—"

"Of course not," said the indulgent mother, to whom the explanation was wholly unintelligible. "David couldn't fen dibs, so he compromised by playing snooks."

"An' he said he wasn't, an' I said he was, an' he called me a lunkhead, an' I punched him in the nose."

"Doubtless David shouldn't have called you that name, but mother doesn't like to have her little boy punching people's noses."

"But when people calls you a lunkhead," protested Sammy, "you have to punch them."

The judge, being an indulgent mother also, dismissed the case.

"Well, run out and play now," she said, "but obey your mother, and don't go near David again. If you and he cannot get along without calling names and punching noses it is better to keep apart."

But Sammy did not seem inclined to run out and play. He pressed his nose in silence against the window for a moment. Then he said, endeavoring to make the remark appear entirely casual: "David said he was going to tell his big brother. I guess David's brother's pretty big, don't you?"

At this the judge surrendered her dignity completely. She rose from the seat of justice. She laughed. Further, she kissed this perpetrator of disorderly practices. "You have mother's word for it," said she, "that there is nothing to be feared from David's big brother, because he hasn't any brother."

Sammy seemed much relieved. He went out to play—not, however, until he had mentioned that his appetite called for cookies. Sammy knew unerringly the psychological moment for making known this interesting fact.

He had scarcely departed when the front doorbell rang. It was David's mother, Mrs. Alward. Mrs. Richards and Mrs. Alward were near neighbors. They had always been excellent friends.

"I am glad you ran in, dear," said Mrs. Richards. "Aren't children funny?"

"Perfectly killing," said Mrs. Alward. "David has been telling me in the cutest way about his quarrel with Sammy."

"Oh, I know all about it, top, dear. It was something technical about dibs and snooks. Aren't we women hopelessly inferior? Sammy tried his best to make me understand. His grave manner was too fascinating. It ended by my giving him some cookies that will be good for him."

"You ought to have heard David," said Mrs. Alward. "Have you noticed the way David's eyes shine and his cheeks flush when he is interested?"

Mrs. Richards smiled. "Sammy's do, too," she said. "Sammy is such a lovable child."

"I fear he has been a little rough to-day," suggested Mrs. Alward. "He struck David rather severely."

"As I understand it, David called Sammy names first."

"Don't boys call each other names a good deal? I hardly think it warranted."

"Refined children don't call names. We have taught Sammy not to do so. Naturally, he would resent being called—"

"But Sammy accused my son of playing snooks."

"I beg your pardon, Mrs. Alward. David was playing snooks, you know. Sammy told me so plainly."

"Do you mean to insinuate that David does not tell the truth?"

"Any child who has such a strong imagination as David—why, he threatened Sammy with an older brother."

"Well," said Mrs. Alward, bristling, "David may not have an older brother, but he has plenty of cousins, and there is his father. I have been talking to Mr. Alward about it over the phone, and he—"

"Do you involve your husband in your children's quarrels? I never appeal to Mr. Richards on matters of such—"

"If Mr. Richards has your sense of justice, Mrs. Richards, I should hardly consider him fit—"

"One thing can be done," said Mrs. Richards, icily. "We can keep the two children apart. I have already instructed Sammy to seek his playmates elsewhere."

"David has promised me," retorted Mrs. Alward, "that henceforth he will play with the children next door, who are gentle and well trained. With them he need not live in constant fear of suffering violence."

Nervous Worn-Out

If you are in this condition, your nerve force is weak—the power is giving out, the organs of your body have "slowed up," and do their work imperfectly. This failure to do the work required, clogs the system and brings distress and disease. When the nerves are weak the heart is unable to force the life-giving blood through your veins; the stomach fails to digest food; the kidneys lack power to filter impurities from the blood, and the poisonous waste remains in the system to breed disease. Nerve energy must be restored. Dr. Miles' Nerve will do it, because it strengthens the nerves; it is a nerve medicine and tonic, that rebuilds the entire nervous system.

"Several years ago I was all broken down. I was nervous, worn-out, could not sleep, and was in constant pain. I doctored for months, and finally the doctor said he could do nothing for me. I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve, and used altogether eight bottles, and I became strong and healthy, and now weigh 170 pounds."

COW TURNED THE FAUCET.

Sagacious Animal Saved Herself a Long Walk to the River.

The county poor farm has, according to the assertion of the inmates, the cleverest cow in the state, says the New York World correspondent at Portland, Ore. The animal is an old red Jersey that has been on the farm for years. The matron at the farm last summer discovered that the faucet on the hydrant in the back yard was frequently turned on, but constant watching failed to disclose the miscreant.

The same trouble occurred again this summer. The matron noticed the water was turned on about the same time every afternoon. While she was watching she saw the old red Jersey come leisurely up the road, into the back yard and walk straight up to the hydrant. The cow pushed the faucet with her nose, but it did not seem to work. So she tried her horns, and when that method failed, opened her mouth, took hold of the faucet and turned it.

Miss Bossy then drank her fill of cold water and turned away toward the green fields, evidently pleased that she did not have to go a quarter of a mile to the river to satisfy her thirst.

The next day the cow seemed much puzzled to find a new faucet and appeared dejected when, after half an hour of hard work, she could not get her drink. Then the matron had a watering place made and the cold water was allowed to run at all times.

HAVE FOUND SCOTT'S CAMP.

Diary Shows Immense Sums Have Been Taken From It.

Walter Scott's camp has been discovered by a party of prospectors about 12 miles south of Willow creek. There are two caves not far apart, reached by a precipitous ascent of 200 feet from the bottom of the canyon.

The most convincing evidence of Scott's recent occupancy was his diary. This, in Scott's own handwriting and picturesque English, records his going and coming, with entries of the fabulous findings he made there. They read like this:

"April 7—Took out $117,000 in gold to-day; sent away for $500 worth of whisky and cigars."

"August 9—Got $50,000 out; whisky and cigars ordered."—Rhyolite, Nev., Cor. N. Y. Herald.

Shakespeare was reading "Macbeth" to a friend and had just finished the lines:

"Lay on, Macduff! And damned be he who first cries 'Hold! Enough!'"

"But why do you work in that profanity?" asks the friend.

"Why," Shakespeare explains, with a patient consideration of the other's lack of prophetic insight, "the day is coming when the only way to get a laugh from the audience will be to have one of the characters swear, and surely I want this play to have a few comedy touches in it."—Life.

SCENE IN THE CATSKILLS.

Arabian Picture of a Mountain Village with Its Odd Characters.

In a dreamy mood you finally make your way back to the road, and idly wander on until you reach the village post office and general store, writes Albert Arndt, in Four-Track News. You gaze curiously at its barn-like appearance, and at the queer characters congregated there. It is the noon hour, and they are waiting for the one great event of the day, the arrival of the rural mail man—whose white horse can be seen coming leisurely up the road at a snail's pace. A smile curves your lips, as you mark the contrast between this raw-boned farmer, in his blue-jean overalls, and the city postman, in his spruce gray uniform. Nevertheless, in sunshine or storm, the rural mail man is as faithful as his city cousin. You ask this unique "Uncle Sam" how he likes traveling the mountain roads in stormy weather, and a mild look of surprise breaks over his honest features, as he strokes his chin and drawls, "O-h, I do-n't like it so very good."

Diving for a Wife.

In many of the Greek islands diving for sponges forms a considerable part of the occupation of the inhabitants. The natives make it a trade to gather these, and their income from this source is far from contemptible. In one of the islands a girl is not permitted to marry until she has brought up a certain number of sponges, and given proof of her skill by taking them from a certain depth. But in some of the islands this custom is reversed. The father of a marriageable daughter bestows her on the best diver among her suitors. He who can stay longest in the water and bring up the biggest cargo of sponges marries the maid.

FILIPINOS TO HAVE OWN PARLIAMENT

PRESIDENT TO REDEEM PROMISE MADE THROUGH TAFT NEXT YEAR.

GENERAL ELECTION WILL BE CALLED

People Already Showing Agitation and They May Be Expecting Too Much—Law Passed by Congress Restricts Suffrage.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The president is preparing to redeem his promise made to the Philippine people through Secretary Taft that they shall have a parliament of their own, conditioned upon their good behavior for a term of two years, and it is understood that Secretary Taft himself will proceed to the Philippines next spring to witness the installation of the new form of representative government.

To Call Election in March.

On March 27, 1905, the Philippine census was published, and consequently two years from that date—March 27, 1907—under the terms of the act of congress, the president will direct the Philippine commission to call a general election for the choice of delegates to what will be known as the Philippine assembly. This body is to take over all legislative power heretofore exercised by the Philippine commission in all that part of the archipelago not inhabited by Moros or non-Christian tribes.

As the date draws near the Philippine people are showing signs of agitation and to the officials here it is evident that they are expecting some benefits that cannot at once be realized. For instance, the assembly of provincial governors recently in session in Manila with the view to arranging the preliminaries for the meeting of the Philippine assembly, is reported to have recommended that the suffrage be widely extended. It is pointed out here that this is not possible, for the reason that the act of congress under which the assembly will be convened expressly states the qualifications of voters.

What the Law Provides.

These, in brief, are that the voter must be at least 23 years of age (which was the Spanish requirement); must be able to read and write either Spanish or English, or must own a certain small amount of property, or must have been in the past an office holder under the Spanish government. These qualifications were framed upon the old Spanish practice, and no Philippine assembly can change them. The new assembly or legislature will consist of two houses to be known as the Philippine commission and the Philippine assembly, the latter to consist of not less than 50 nor more than 100 members. It is probable that the present commission will be merged in the upper house.

NEGROES BEGIN DEPREDAATIONS.

Organize White Cap Band in Mississippi and Excitement is High.

Brookhaven, Miss., Oct. 30.—As a result of the production of "The Clansman" in this city last week and threats circulated by whites that a Ku-Klux clan was being organized to drive negroes from the community, the blacks have formed themselves into a band of white caps and already have started a series of depredations on the whites. News has reached here from Bear Creek in Lincoln county that Bud Godbold, a young white farmer, was fired upon by negro white caps while riding through a lonely stretch of woods. His horse was killed but Godbold escaped. According to Godbold's story a white man riding a hundred yards behind him was simultaneously attacked by the blacks. Officers have gone to the scene of the ambush. The story circulated that whites would form a Ku-Klux clan was done as a joke, it is asserted, but the blacks took the jokers at their word. The excitement here is intense in view of the affair.

Six Killed Hunting Game in Maine.

Bangor, Me., Oct. 30.—Six men killed is the record thus far in the present hunting season in Maine. In the 48 hours of Saturday and Sunday three accidents were reported. The game receipts are far below those of last year. Up to Saturday 822 deer, 55 moose and ten bears had been brought in, against 1,376 deer, 70 moose and 19 bears for the same period last year. Dry weather has made it difficult to stalk the game, although game is reported to be abundant.

WILLIAM J. CALHOUN DELIVERS ORATION OF THE DAY.

Gen. J. C. Scofield Accepts Handsome Temple on Behalf of the Federal Government.

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 27.—The dedication of the magnificent Illinois Memorial temple in the Vicksburg National park took place Friday under the most favorable auspices. A clear and beautiful October day set the seal of its approval upon an occasion which was alike a delightful one to the men who wore the gray and those who wore the blue. Fraternalism was the keynote of the speeches and was the spirit of the greeting which was exchanged when the confederate veterans from Mississippi and Louisiana met those from Illinois.

William J. Calhoun was the orator of the day and addresses were made by Govs. Vardaman, of Mississippi, and Deneen, of Illinois; C. E. Matthews, president of the Illinois Monument commission, and others. The monument was accepted on behalf of the United States government by Gen. J. C. Scofield, who represented the secretary of war on this occasion. The booming of cannon and the music of bands added much to the spirit of the dedication. The parade, which preceded the dedication was one of the greatest events of its kind in the history of this section. The troops were composed of the First Illinois regiment of infantry, the infantry of the state of Mississippi and a battalion of artillery of Mississippi. Hundreds of carriages containing men and women of national reputation were in line.

Among the invited guests of the state of Illinois who attended the exercises were: Mrs. John A. Logan and her daughter, Mrs. Tucker; Rear Admiral Bowman H. McCalla, U. S. N., who commanded the Marblehead in the Spanish war, and Maj. Gen. Eugene A. Carr, U. S. A., the only surviving Illinois division commander of the Vicksburg campaign.

The determination of the penalty will come later. The law provides for a fine not exceeding $1,000.

FIFTY-THREE DEAD AT ATLANTIC CITY

FORTY-NINE VICTIMS OF BRIDGE WRECK HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED BY FRIENDS.

Divers Make Thorough Search of Submerged Cars and Report no More Bodies Are to Be Found Inside the Coaches.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 30.—The total number of dead in the appalling wreck of the electric train which on Sunday afternoon, loaded with passengers, plunged into the waterway separating this city from the mainland, is now placed at 53. Of these, 49 bodies have been identified, two bodies remain unclaimed in the temporary mortuary, and two people are known to have been drowned, but their bodies have not as yet been recovered.

Bodies Taken from Cars.

A special car containing the bodies of the Philadelphia victims left Monday night for that city.

The day has been one of unceasing activity, of gawsome scenes and pathetic incident.

Wrecking crews with derricks succeeded in bringing one of the two submerged cars to the surface, and divers, working in relays, brought up bodies until their task was completed and they reported that no more dead remained either inside the second car or anywhere in the vicinity.

Interest now centers in the work of the coroner's jury, which made a careful inspection of the scene of the wreck and the drawbridge at which the train left the rails.

The jury sworn in by Coroner Gaskill is made up of the following citizens: State Senator Edward S. Lee, foreman; Isaac Bacharach, Samuel H. Headley, John P. Ashmead, Charles P. Roesch and David R. Barratt.

These jurors met at one o'clock and, accompanied by the coroner, Prosecuting Attorney Abbott, City Solicitor Wootton and several other city officials, proceeded to the scene of the tragedy.

At the bridge they were joined by Mayor Stoy and W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Places Dead at 53.

After the forward car of the two submerged coaches had been hoisted to the surface, and the divers who had been at work on the wreckage all day long had made a final examination of the second car, without finding any more bodies, W. W. Atterbury, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, who, with several of his assistants, had been on the scene since Sunday night, expressed his belief that the total number of dead would not exceed 53.

"There is a bare possibility that one or two others may have been killed," he said, "but I feel confident that the number of victims will remain at 53."

"I cannot believe that any of the unfortunates were carried out to sea by the ebbing tide."

Cause of Wreck a Mystery.

On returning from the drawbridge, Mr. Atterbury discussed the accident freely, but when asked to give his theory as to the cause of it he replied that it still is a mystery to him.

"I still believe," he declared, "that there was nothing wrong with the rails or the bridge. I am inclined to think that the cause will be ascertained when the first coach is examined."

Mr. Atterbury himself showed the jurors how the bridge is operated and explained in detail the manner of opening and closing the draw. On their return to this city, the jury decided to hold the first session of the inquiry on Thursday.

Although reasonably certain that the narrow waterway into which the electric train fell had been relieved of all its dead, the divers continued their work late into the night and maintained a diligent search. The wrecking crew was also kept busy preparing for the hoisting of the second car. The debris of the last car, which stuck and was held fast by an abutment, has not yet been removed, an effort in that direction resulting in half the coach sliding into the stream.

Despite the heavy obstructions presented by the wrecked train, the roadway has been sufficiently cleared to permit the resumption of traffic, and the scheduled time table is again being followed.

Local.

Only two children were born in Holland in September, and they say they are Dutch.

Twelve deaths occurred in Holland during the month of September.

F. O. Pratt has sold to Louis Dykstra a house and lot on West Fifteenth street.

The steamer Harvey Watson which was wind-bound here for a week, cleared Tuesday for Chicago.

The recent storm has formed a bar in front of the new harbor at Saugatuck, practically closing it.

Earl Bearbrower bought a house and lot of G. Van Tubergen on West Sixteenth street.

John Weersing has sold 12 lots on Twentieth street to Marinus Poppo. He also sold for Wm. Bratt his home on East Eighteenth street. Consideration, $1,150.

The receipts of the Holland post office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, were $20,591, a marked increase over 1905, when the receipts were $18,213. This report has just been given out from Washington.

Richard Kain, the nine-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kain, died Tuesday morning at 198 East Ninth street. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from the home, Rev. Merrill officiating.

Lake Michigan beach near the resorts is strewn with timbers dislodged by the waves of last week's storm. The new pier work suffered extensively and the contractors are surprised that the entire structure was not demolished. The south end of the Ottawa Beach bathhouse was undermined, and the wreck of the barge Hattie B. Perue, which was beached here several years ago, was torn from its resting place and carried up the beach toward the pier, where the derelict Kate Lyons lies.

Cornelius Yskes was again arrested Monday afternoon by Marshal Kamferbeek on complaint of Director of the Poor James Westveer. He was placed in the city jail over night and was given a hearing in Justice Van Duren's court Tuesday morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge of non-support. He was sentenced to pay the costs amounting to $5 and furnish a bond in the sum of $100 to provide for his family.

Marshal Kamferbeek went to Laketown Monday morning to serve a warrant, charging Henry Lugers with slander. The complainant is Mrs. Helen Timmer, and the families both live in the same township. Lugers is a young man of about 25 and is employed by Jones & Ebelink, florists, at Central Park. Lugers appeared in Justice Van Duren's court and demanded trial, which was set for Wednesday, Nov. 7. He was released under $200 bonds, his father, Henry Lugers, and P. F. Boone being the sureties. Diekema, Kollen & Ten Cate appeared for Lugers, and Attorney L. Y. De Vries for the complainant. The cause of the suit is alleged remarks derogatory to Mrs. Timmer, which Lugers is accused of making to her children.

Colon C. Lillie, deputy dairy and food commissioner, was in it Sunday and had something to say about the fine of $1,620 imposed on his creamery by the federal officers because there was too much water in some of the butter manufactured. He says: "The government inspector called at Coopersville and broke open five tubs of a car lot of 202 tubs consigned to Philadelphia. One tub was under the 16 per cent of moisture, fixed as the maximum by the internal revenue ruling, and four tubs were slightly over, none of them exceeding 18 per cent of water. The inspector concluded that four-fifths of the car lot was in excess of the limit. He found three tubs out of four examined from another car lot and concluded that three-fourths of that car would not do. The total fine imposed on the Coopersville creamery was $1,620, which was paid under protest and which we expect to recover. It is not true that I have been advising farmers to put in 'all the water they can' in their butter. I have warned them through the dairy department against the danger of exceeding the 16 per cent limit, as many of the creamery managers will testify. As to my dispute with Agricultural college officials, I will say that I have advocated a reasonable amount of moisture in butter, but not an amount that would be in violation of the law. June butter is the best butter, largely because there is more moisture in it normally than in other butter, and I have said that enough water ought to go into the butter to keep it up to June standards."

There will be a regular meeting of the Eastern Star tonight.

Peter Elhart sold three lots in the Sikeetee addition Tuesday.

Thirty woodcock and two partridges were killed by Peter Dulyea and Charles Harmon near New Buffalo.

The task of raising the Seif building on River street has been successfully completed by contractor John Looman.

Dr. Thomas was called to attend to a fractured arm of Prescott Paris, who is 74 years old. He fell through a trap door at the Beach Milling Co. Tuesday. Paris lives in Laketown.

The Holland Furnace company expects to be able to start its new factory here December 1. All that remains to be completed on the factory building is the roof of the foundry, and this work will require a month. The machinery is all here and is being installed.

The brick work for the additions to the Holland Veneer plant on W. Sixteenth street has been completed and the boilers are now being installed. The roof is ready for the gravel and tar and nearly all the outside work is finished. The management expects to move within three or four weeks.

Four traveling men have been placed on the road selling fumigator supplies for the De Pree Chemical Co. The Michigan board of health has endorsed it which means that health officers are permitted to use it in all cases of contagious diseases where fumigation is necessary. The sale of the remedy has assumed enormous proportions.

Frank Dyk has been awarded the contract for the construction of a frame building on West Eighth street, opposite the engine house, for the Citizens Transfer Company, which is composed of Wm. Nykamp and A. W. Baker. The building will be 30 x 60 feet, two stories high with a foundation of cement block. The contractor has started the work and will hurry as fast as possible, so the transfer company can occupy its new quarters before winter sets in.

Today in this city is being held a missionary gathering planned by the western members of the Board of Foreign Missions. It is one of the three meetings arranged. The other two were held in Chicago and Grand Rapids Tuesday and Wednesday. At the meeting today addresses will be made by the corresponding secretary of the board, Rev. H. N. Cobb, D. D.; the Rev. H. J. Scudder, of the Arcot Mission of the church in India, and by the well known missionary of the Arabian Mission, Rev. S. M. Zwemer.

Rev. S. C. Strickland of South Haven has started mandamus proceedings against Prosecuting Attorney Cross of Allegan county to compel him to sign a complaint against certain saloon keepers for violation of the liquor law. The case was brought to test the law. Mr. Strickland claims that every prosecuting attorney should be obliged to sign complaints against persons charged with violation of the liquor laws upon the statement of any reliable person that the law had been violated, whether said person was a witness to the violation. Mr. Cross says the law does not require him to sign complaints under such circumstances. He will make answer in circuit court Nov. 2. In case of an adverse decision, Mr. Strickland proposes to take the matter to the supreme court.

Death of Mrs. C. C. A. L. John. Mrs. C. C. A. L. John, wife of Rev. C. C. A. L. John, died last Thursday evening at the family home at Central Park after a long and painful illness.

Mrs. John was born in Germany, May 29, 1842. Her maiden name was Pauline Kadelin. She was the mother of eight children, only one now living, William, who resides with his parents at Central Park.

Rev. Mr. John, although a German, is a fluent speaker of the Holland language, and for years has been a minister of the Reformed denomination. His first charge in America was at Graafschap, and he was called to the pastorate a second time. He also had charges at Kalamazoo, Jamestown and Ebenezer. At present he is retired, but does mission work, now having in charge the churches at South Haven and Three Rivers. For 13 years the family have spent their winters at Central Park.

The funeral of Mrs. John was held Monday from the home, and interment took place at Graafschap.

Young Man Who Embezzled from Holland Road Pays Costs

Lloyd Doty, the young man who was charged with the embezzlement of $68 from the Grand Rapids, Holland & Chicago Railway company while in its employ, appeared in superior court and entered a plea of guilty to the charge.

Judge Stuart was lenient with the young man, in view of his previous good character and the circumstances. He was arrested and brought back after starting with a party of friends in a launch on a trip down the Mississippi river. He claimed to the court that he expected to send the money back from Chicago, where his friends were to get remittances. The boy's father paid the sheriff's costs, amounting to $40.50, and signed a bond for $300 as a recognizance for him to appear on May 1 next.

Fierce Storm.

The fierce wind storm that started Saturday night and continued over Sunday caused extensive damage to the new pier work here, the beach being covered with timbers that were dislodged by the high seas. Upward of 150 pieces are strewn along the shore.

Contractor Bennett and Superintendent Everetts are carefully inspecting the damage. Considering the fierceness of the wind it is remarkable that the entire new structure was not demolished. The waves, running mountain high, beat against it throughout Saturday and Sunday, the most damage being done Saturday.

The break in the north pier, made by the storm last fall and which had been repaired temporarily, was opened again by the waves, and the sand was washed into the channel, forming an obstruction near the pier work. About 20 feet from the pier the water is but six feet deep, and on this bar the Puritan grounded when coming in.

She backed off and by keeping close to the south pier came in without any difficulty, the depth of the water there being ample.

The waves cut a channel from the shore line to the break in the pier, and sweeping up the shore undermined the south end of the Ottawa Beach bath house. The wreck of the barge Hattie B. Perue, which was beached here several years ago and went to pieces in a similar storm, was torn from its resting place in the sand and carried up the beach towards the pier near where the derelict Kate Lyons lies.

The schooner, Marietta, light, that ran in here for shelter Saturday morning, dragged her anchor and was beached near the Macatawa boat club house. The steamer Harvey Watson pulled the schooner off the beach. The schooner is equipped with a gasoline engine and an investigation of the damage done resulted in the discovery that the propeller and a yawl boat had been lost.

The damage to dock property is nominal. At Tanner's boat livery some of the slips were torn out, but no further injury to property is reported.

The low water is declared to have saved thousands of dollars to water front property inside. Albert Tanner stated that the storm was the worst experienced in years, and that had the water been as high as it was last fall the property along the bay front would have suffered terribly.

A fearful sea was running on Macatawa bay all day Saturday and a row boat could not have lived on any part of it.

The Citizens Telephone company's property was considerably damaged, trees being blown on the wires in all parts of the city, and the long distance service is interrupted as well. The wire to Saugatuck is down and only two wires are in service to Grand Rapids. An emergency force is working on the disabled lines and the work of replacing will consume all day tomorrow.

The interurban line experienced trouble all over its system and it was impossible to run on schedule time.

Why suffer? Call up telephone 587, Mrs. Henri Uden Masman, and she will bring to your house Dr. Peter Fahrney's famous Zokoro, blood purifier. If piles or female diseases, Miller's Vegetable remedy, Orhid Specific, which is a sure cure. Just try it. General Agent, 82 West 8th street, Holland. Agents Wanted. 43-1-year

Let Well Enough Alone.

There is not a city or village in Michigan in which plans for future up-building and future advancement are not being made.

There are not many farms or pieces of property in the state for which similar expectations are not possessed. And yet it will not be claimed that one half of these plans for the future would be carried out should a democrat congress be chosen at the coming election.

These plans for progress and improvement are based on the continuance of present conditions, of present national policies; on the uninterrupted movement of all business affairs as they are now moving. Every democrat vote cast at the coming election will be regarded as a demand for a change from present conditions, for a movement in some new unknown direction. Every republican vote cast in Michigan at the coming election will count as an assurance of stability and of continued right movements in right directions.

And that is why Tuesday, November 6, will be an important date to all the people of Michigan.
