Talk by Manager of G.R. Airport

Speaker Contends Future Protection Lies in Use
of Airplanes

Visualizing American protection in the future as one of the nation's major problems today, Thomas Walsh, manager of the Grand Rapids airport, appealed for an adequate air defense in a talk delivered Tuesday night at the first annual banquet of the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Warm Friend tavern.

"We, as the business men of America, can insist of congress that we be given a chance to defend ourselves against attack, should such an emergency arise," he said. "We should demand of congress that they do the things recommended to strengthen our defense."

Mr. Walsh contended that the "old fashioned system of the army and navy being at loggerheads should be abolished," adding that, under present conditions, an army plane can not fly more than 100 miles from the coast line without special permission from the navy.

"We need a unified command and a standardization which both can use for the betterment of our protection. An air power second to none is our best insurance policy."

He contended that airplane manufacturers should not be required to bear the entire cost of maintaining experimental stations and engineers for developing new types of airplanes.

"We must be sensible and spend more money properly for our future protection for our foreign neighbors are now but a short distance away. The more than $1-

G.H. FUGITIVE IS CAPTURED

Suspect Taken After His Escape Near Ottawa
County Jail

Grand Haven, Oct. 26 (Special)—Sheriff Frank Van Etta and Undersheriff Ed Ryenga returned Wesley Bowsher, 24, of Paw Paw to the county jail at Grand Haven shortly before 2 p.m. today after finding him hiding in the attic in the home of a Mrs. Galster in Crockery township. The officers had called at the home before and returned at noon for another search. Bowsher went to the Galster home this morning.

Grand Haven, Oct. 26 (Special)—Wesley Bowsher, 24, of Paw Paw, was being sought today by Michigan state police, Grand Haven police and the Ottawa county sheriff's department after his escape from Sheriff Frank Van Etta and Deputy Sheriff Nelson Baldus Tuesday about 9:15 p.m. while he was being taken to the Ottawa county jail for investigation in connection with the alleged theft of a car at Kalamazoo.

No trace has been found of the escaped prisoner since he made a dash into the shrubbery at the side of the driveway leading to the garage at the county jail here. Officers could hear Bowsher running through the shrubbery but were unable to see him because of darkness.

He was arrested about 7:30 p.m. at Nunica after having been sought since last week after a set of stolen license plates had been found on his car. Deputy Sheriff Baldus made the arrest and then notified Sheriff Van Etta.

The sheriff went to Nunica and with the assistance of Baldus brought him to Grand Haven. After stopping his car at the garage adjoining the jail, Sheriff Van Etta got out on the driver's side while Bowsher and Baldus climbed out the opposite side of the car.

As Bowsher fled, Baldus pursued him for a short distance and fired his gun into the air.

Bowsher was described as being about five feet, 10 inches tall and wearing a green sweater, dark blue shirt, and trucker's cap.

Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta of Holland joined the search of the southern part of the county for Bowsher. He patrolled highways and the railroad yards at Waverly.

Peter H. Boven, 64, 46 West 16th St., well known Holland businessman, died at 2:15 a.m. Saturday in Holland hospital of a stroke of paralysis which he suffered Tuesday night while at work in his store at 378 Central Ave.

The stroke which affected his right side left Mr. Boven unconscious and he remained in that condition until death.

After attending a meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, in Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church, Mr. Boven went to his store to work on the books as he often had done.

When he failed to return home, Mrs. Boven became alarmed and called Holland police, requesting that they call at the store. Upon entering the store, the officers found Mr. Boven lying unconscious on the floor behind his desk. He was removed to the hospital.

Mr. Boven was born in Graafschap Jan. 2, 1875, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boven and spent his early life there. For approximately two years he operated a store in Graafschap before going to Reem, Mich., where he operated a store for 17 years, from 1903 to 1920.

In 1920, he moved to Holland and became a clerk at the Lokker-Rutgers Clothing Store, 39 East Eighth St., and held that position until 1927 when he went into business for himself at 378 Central Ave.

The firm operated as Boven Dry Goods, Inc., with Mr. Boven as president, Gelmer Boven, a son, as vice-president, and Arthur T. Boven of Fremont, another son, as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Boven was a member of Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church. Several years ago he married Mrs. Jennie Vanden Belt, who survives him.

CRASH IS FATAL TO TWO PUPILS OF ZEELAND H.S.

Girls Lose Lives as Car Leaves Highway and Strikes Tree

Youth Injured in Mishap
at Jekel's Crossing; All Honor Students

Zeeland, Oct. 26 (Special)—Two more victims were added to Ottawa county's traffic death toll for 1939 with the death of two Zeeland high school juniors Thursday, October 19, in an accident at Jekel's crossing two miles north and west of Zeeland, at 4:45 p.m. when the car in which they were riding left the road and hit a tree.

Victims of the Ottawa county tragedy were Miss Marian June Wyngarden, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wyngarden, residing northwest of Vriesland, and Miss Thelma Barr, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barr, 238 West Main St. Harold Van Dyke, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arie Van Dyke, 29 South Wall St., was seriously injured. He suffered lacerations on the forehead, a compound fracture of the lower jaw and shock.

All three persons were honor students in Zeeland high school and each took an active part in school activities.

A pall of gloom hung over the school and at the opening of school Friday brief memorial services were held for the accident victims.

The two girls died en route to the Zeeland hospital in an ambulance. For almost three quarters of an hour, they were unidentified until Van Dyke regained consciousness and was able to tell investigating authorities the names of the two girls.

The three had gone for an automobile ride after the close of school. Van Dyke was to have come to Holland for a music lesson and the two girls were to have reported for work at 5 p.m. at Boone's Kountry Kitchen, located on M-21, west of Zeeland, where they were employed as waitresses, it was reported.

Van Dyke was driving the car with Miss Barr in the middle and Miss Wyngarden on the outside, all seated in the front seat. The car was the property of Ed Nagelkirk East Main St., grandfather of Van Dyke.

There were no witnesses to the crash but evidence obtained by Fred Bosma, Zeeland police chief, Dr. John K. Winter, Ottawa county coroner, indicated that the accident occurred from excessive rate of speed which caused Van Dyke to lose control of the car.

Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta also investigated. Van Dyke was driving westerly on a highway, which runs parallel to M-21 about one-half mile north of M-21. It was believed that Van Dyke lost control of the car as he crossed the intersection with the Noordeloos road which the coroner described as "being wavy but not rough."

The car then careened for some distance before crashing into the tree, located on the north side of the road, some 350 feet west of the intersection and about eight feet off the gravel road.

Peter Vander Meulen who was husking corn in a nearby field heard the crash and was one of the first to arrive on the scene. He found the two girls unconscious and the boy in a semi-conscious condition. Vander Meulen summoned an ambulance.

It was not definitely determined whether the two girls were killed instantly. The driver of the ambulance informed Dr. Winter they were still breathing when put into the ambulance.

Examination at the hospital disclosed that Miss Wyngarden suffered a fractured skull, fractures of the right leg and left arm, broken ribs on the left side and lacerations. Miss Barr had a compound fracture of the skull on the right side of the forehead and lacerations.

The car was demolished. Dr. Winter said the right front wheel and right half of the front portion were practically wrapped about the tree. The other front wheel, cowl and other portions of the front of the car were shoved back as far as the rear of the front seat.

None of the car occupants was thrown from the automobile, the coroner said he was informed. Van Dyke's father is an employee of the Zeeland State bank.

Besides the parents, Miss Wyngarden is survived by one sister, Miss Thelma; two brothers, Donald and Eugene, all at home; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. David Wyngarden of Zeeland.

Funeral services for Miss Wyngarden were held Monday. Miss Barr is survived, besides the parents, by two brothers, Richard and Harold Dale; one sister, Esther, all at home; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Tena Cruiger of Zeeland.

Funeral services for Miss Barr were held Saturday.

FEVER STRIKES FOUR FAMILIES

Grand Haven, Oct. 26 (Special)—Dr. Ralph Ten Have, Ottawa county health officer, reported today that four families in the Montello park school district, near Holland, have been quarantined because of scarlet fever.

They are the Albert De Maat, John Bronson, Fred Wiggert and Dyke families. Dr. Ten Have said that due to the wide exposure, most of the children in one room of the school have been excluded and have been placed in isolation for one week.

"Several of the cases in quarantine are mild, with only a slight rash," Dr. Ten Have said. "There are undoubtedly other cases which were not seen by a physician and were missed entirely which probably caused so many cases to occur within a week's time."

"We do not believe there is any exposure involving outside groups and we believe that all those who are ill are now in isolation."

The health department will continue to watch over the school for at least another week.

The health officer pointed out that the new regulations for control of scarlet fever make it possible for the wage earner of the quarantined family to remain at home if the home is so arranged that he can be isolated.

Party Arrives in Holland
for Three-Day Stay
at Armory

Traveling in two large army trucks and a station wagon, a recruiting party of the U. S. army arrived in Holland about 11 a.m. today and set up a recruiting station in Holland armory on West Ninth St.

The party was in charge of Capt. Sheldon McNickle of Detroit and included 20 enlisted men. They will remain in Holland today, Friday and Saturday, leaving Sunday morning for Muskegon.

Major Henry Geerds, Sgt. Henry P. Rowan and E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the party.

The group carried its own equipment and will sleep in the armory. The soldiers left Fort Wayne, Detroit, Oct. 18 and have visited Jackson, Coldwater and Kalamazoo. A stopover at Muskegon Oct. 29, 30 and 31 will conclude their itinerary.

Any young men may enlist with Captain McNickle at the armory. Young men from 18 to 21 must have the consent of their parents to enlist while those over 21 do not, Captain McNickle said.

The purpose of the trip to various Michigan cities is to obtain new army recruits to comply with President Roosevelt's orders to increase the army to 227,000 men. It is the greatest peace-time recruiting campaign in the history of the army. It is possible that Michigan recruits will receive their training at army posts in southern states.

PASTOR ADDRESSES HOPE CHURCH MEN

At a monthly meeting of the Hope church men's club in the church parlors Wednesday night, the Rev. Marion de Velder, pastor, addressed nearly 100 members of the group on the subject, "Men Wanted." Signs of that description are being seen again, he said, men wanted for jobs, for crimes committed, for recruits in the army.

The world demands real men, not the effeminate creatures of those early days before the French revolution, he said. In a few words the pastor listed the type of men needed in the modern community. We need men with a real sense of humor, with the ability to laugh at himself as well as with others, men with staying power in any field, men who are interested in their families and who will participate in their activities and be examples to their sons, men who are convinced of the value of the way of kindness and helpfulness, men who are capable of losing themselves in a real cause, and finally men who are unashamed of voicing and living their convictions.

Music, arranged by Eugene F. Heeter, was furnished by an instrumental trio of Holland high school boys. They were Marvin Overway, Bob de Vries and Robert Scheerhorn, and were accompanied by Marjorie Stokette.

PERIL OF OCEAN STORM IS TOLD BY REV. DE BOER

Missionary on Return to Holland Relates Plight Aboard Liner

Propellers Above Water as Hurricane Strikes U.S. Vessel

Describing the Atlantic ocean hurricane as one of the worst he had ever experienced, Dr. John De Boer, Reformed church missionary to India, presented an interesting and detailed account of his trip across the Atlantic ocean last week aboard the S. S. President Harding, to the Sentinel in an interview Wednesday afternoon at the Reformed church house on East Eighth St.

Rev. De Boer arrived in Holland Tuesday noon after landing in New York city Saturday. He had called at the Reformed church house to call on the Rev. W. J. Van Kersen, western district secretary for the board of foreign missions, at the time of the interview.

Rev. De Boer who has been a missionary for 17 years said he had experienced a typhoon off Hongkong, China, and a hurricane in India but that the storm on the Atlantic was far worse than these. He stated that it had been a thrilling experience but that he hoped he would never have to experience another one.

The boat not only had to battle the storm for two nights and a day but also had responded to an "S. O. S." call from the French tanker W. Emile Miguet and had rescued survivors from the British ship Heronspool which had been sunk by a German submarine.

Rev. De Boer said the crew had done everything possible to aid passengers injured by the storm. He contended that many of those injured might have escaped hurts if they had obeyed the orders of an interpreter who had been sent out to notify passengers to remain in their cabins the night the storm broke.

Winds broke from the south at an estimated speed of 110 miles per hour but at no time was there any rain, the missionary said. Storm warnings had been received by the President Harding but the storm did not break until Tuesday night, Oct. 17. He said the sun was bright the following day despite the strong winds.

Rev. De Boer had been granted a leave of absence from his post in May, 1938, and was en route to India. He had reached London and, finding it impossible to book passage across Europe because of the war, had been instructed to return to America. With his wife, Mrs. Erma De Boer, and two children, Dorothy, 9, and Stewart, 11, Dr. De Boer is planning to sail from San Francisco, about Dec. 1. John De Boer, another son, is a freshman at Hope college.

Traveling alone, as his wife and children planned to join him later in India, Rev. De Boer sailed from New York city aboard the Queen Mary Aug. 23 and arrived at Southampton, England, Aug. 28. Also aboard the vessel were Misses Nella Meyer, and Ruth Blekink and Mrs. Peter Prins, all of Holland, who have since returned to this city.

He said the trip over was interesting because of the European situation. The Queen Mary traveled in complete blackout at full speed for it was not known when war would break out.

Upon arriving in London he found he could not get an entrance permit into France because the borders had been closed and he was told that if he entered France, it would be at least three weeks before he could get an exit permit from France to enter Italy. Rev. De Boer had planned to visit the church mission in Turkey.

On Saturday, Sept. 2, he stood outside the parliament building and saw such persons as Lloyd George, Winston Churchill and Prime Minister Chamberlain enter to attend the session of parliament at which Chamberlain spoke. As no radio broadcasts are permitted of parliament proceedings, he and the Britishers kept up with the proceedings by purchasing newspaper extras which were issued and sold on the streets.

Rev. De Boer was attending services at the City Temple in London Sunday, Sept. 3. A loudspeaker installed on the pulpit carried Chamberlain's speech in declaring war against Germany and shortly afterwards the first air raid alarm was sounded. He and members of the congregation were led by the minister who found it necessary to cut short his prayer after the offering had been taken, because of the alarm, into a passageway in the basement of the church which connected the furnace room with a lecture room. There they remained until the "all-clear" signal was given.

Rev. De Boer said he went immediately to a nearby armory to obtain a gas mask which was distributed free to the civilian population of London. He brought the gas mask to this country with him and expects it to be an interesting souvenir.

Upon advice of the American consul to American citizens, Rev. De Boer left London that night for Exeter, England, about 250 miles west of London where he remained for two weeks while awaiting the issuance of an exit permit to him which would allow his return to this country. He said that it was impossible to book passage on any boats for all Dutch boats had been canceled, British boats were booked two months in advance and Italian boats were carrying only Italian passengers.

When he failed to receive his exit permit, he returned to London and was successful in obtaining it after standing in line one day from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. without getting into the building where they were being issued and again the following day. He got in line again at 9 a.m., gained admittance to the building at a later hour but did not obtain his permit until 8 p.m. Oct. 5. The President Harding had originally planned to sail from Southampton Oct. 4 but her schedule was changed.

While he was in London, the missionary was registered by the government so that in case it became necessary to ration out food, he could obtain a ration card. However, there was no rationing of food while he was there nor was there any great increases in food prices. He explained that gasoline was being rationed at 10 gallons per month for a pleasure car.

Rev. De Boer was in London at the time 1,300,000 children from two years of age were evacuated from London to the outlying districts where they would be in less danger from air attacks. He said each child carried a gas mask, a lunch kit, clothing and each bore a large tag with his or her name. Mothers stood nearby and many shed tears as their children departed but he said he did not see a single child crying.

After obtaining his exit permit Oct. 5, he sailed aboard the Harding Oct. 7 for Le Verdon, near Bordeaux, France, the trip requiring two days during which time the ship was in the danger zone. The boat sailed for New York city Oct. 11.

On Thursday night, Oct. 12, the Harding received the SOS call from the Miguet and was forced to sail 150 miles off her course in a northeast direction. The Harding came upon the survivors of the Heronspool about 5:30 a.m. the following day.

Rev. De Boer was on deck and watched the entire proceedings with interest. While the submarine was not seen because of darkness, mysterious lights were seen in the distance and when it became daylight, the submarine, if she was the source of the light, was no where in sight, the missionary stated.

He said ships of nations at war no longer respond to SOS calls from other ships for fear of being lured into a trap. Rev. De Boer said he talked with many members of the Heronspool's crew and gained first hand information on the sinking of the boat.

The sinking of the Miguet occurred about eight or 10 miles away from the Heronspool and smoke from the burning oil could be seen from the sky. When the Harding arrived on the scene, British destroyers were there and signaled the American boat that no survivors were in sight.

The gunner aboard the Heronspool told the missionary that his boat was attacked about 9 p.m. and the battle continued until 12:30 a.m. the following morning before the submarine could get into position to fire a torpedo broadside into the vessel. It struck just under the bridge and the force of the explosion drove the compass through the roof of the cabin on the bridge. The gunner was of the opinion that there were two submarines but that one had been destroyed as a shell from his gun had exploded and they only explode on a direct hit.

During the trip across the ocean, the Harding did not have any blackouts. Floodlights lighted the American flags on various parts of the boat. The name of the ship and its country was painted in large letters on the side of the ship.

The hurricane broke about 9:15 p.m. the night of Oct. 17 and the wave which almost swamped the boat was more than 100 feet high. Rev. De Boer said he was informed that the big wave broke above the crew's net which is 56 feet above the boat structure.

At the time he was in his cabin and escaped injuries. Later he learned that the force of the wave had torn away one section of the steel railing around the boat, had torn a lifeboat from its fastenings and caused other damage.

"The wheel spun with such force that the third officer who was at the wheel suffered a broken arm. The lights went out and the boat listed badly from the weight of the mammoth wave. Screams of women and children could be heard throughout the boat. Everything not fastened down slid across the floors and cabin furnishings were torn loose from their fastenings."

He told of how a five-week-old baby in another cabin had escaped injuries when its basket slid under a cot just as a dresser toppled over on the cot. The mother was thrown from her bunk and the father was thrown out of the cabin into a steel bulkhead, cutting a deep gash on his forehead.

Passengers who remained in the lounges and smoking rooms were thrown to the floor by the wave and furniture piled on top of them. He said he provided aid for the first person to be injured. Two women were walking from the lounge when the boat lurched suddenly. One of the women was thrown to the floor and suffered a gash. He assisted in stopping the flow of blood and helped her to her cabin.

He said that most of the time during the storm, the boat's propellers were out of the water but that governors prevented the propellers from being torn to pieces. He said the storm blew the boat far off its course which required the crew to take new bearings the first day.

Passengers were not allowed on the boat deck until about 10 a.m. the next day. Mountainous waves still prevailed throughout the day and the sea became rougher that night. The passengers gained only glimpses of the coast guard boat which brought medical supplies to treat the stricken passengers. The heavy seas prevented the launching of a boat and the supplies were hauled aboard after a life line had been shot from the cutter to the Harding.

Fine sailing weather prevailed the rest of the trip into New York. The Harding reached Ambrose lightship at 4 a.m. Saturday and docked at 6:30 a.m.

Rev. De Boer said that about 75 New York newspaper reporters boarded the boat as she sailed into the harbor. One passenger was equipped with a 16 millimeter motion camera and he not only obtained pictures of the rescue of the Heronspool's crew but also shots of the storm which, according to Rev. De Boer, he sold upon arrival in New York for a "good price."

Upon arrival in New York city, Rev. De Boer was required to surrender his U. S. passport in compliance with state department rulings and will be required to obtain another before he can sail from San Francisco. He said that war has caused a considerable disruption in the use of passports and that the state department is not issuing any to persons to travel to belligerent nations. He does not anticipate any trouble in obtaining a passport to India.

J.C.C. BANQUET

000,000 which has been spent on Grand Rapids' airport has been primarily for national defense. We should demand that congress take the loading of paying for experiments off the shoulders of the airplane manufacturers, that production be stepped up to meet an emergency and that commercial aviation be encouraged for it is a part of our protective insurance policy."

Referring to windshield stickers which had been placed at each place at the banquet table and which bore the wording, "Keep America's Young Men out of War," Mr. Walsh suggested that it be merged with "Be Prepared." He spoke on "National Defense and the Part Aviation Plays."

Approximately 50 members of the Jaycee organization and their guests attended the anniversary banquet. Charles R. Sligh, Jr., past Holland Chamber of Commerce president, served as toastmaster.

In opening his talk, Mr. Walsh asked the question, "What are young men thinking of to keep America's young men out of war?"

"The best way to keep out of war is an adequate system of national defense. There are two factors for this, namely: To have the cockiest individuals in the country and an air force second to none," he stated.

Mr. Walsh contended that America had every right to have "cockiest individuals" because Americans have won every war in which they have engaged. He said this has not been brought about by a strong standing army but because of the individuals' ability to shoot the weapons they possessed. He illustrated his statement by pointing out that pioneer settlers had "to shoot straight" to obtain food, to protect families from Indian invasion and to fight for their independence from the mother country.

"The art of killing, however, has changed considerably with the invention of new devices of war. Yet with all these new devices, man power is one of the essential factors of an army for it is most needed to occupy the conquered lands."

He reviewed how military men began work of utilizing the airplane in warfare shortly after its invention and how it was used in the World War.

"I am convinced that our oceans are no longer a safe barrier from invasion since the day that the late Amelia Earhart flew the Pacific ocean and landed in Oakland, Ca."

"For years past, we have read of wars of aggression but the World war of the future will be for ideology. This has been proved by Hitler's pact with Russia to fight the democracies of religion. As much as I hate the thought of war, I am convinced that we have been it for the past several months."

Mr. Walsh was of the opinion that Prime Minister Chamberlain took no action against Hitler's threats at the Munich conference because the German chancellor had boasted of his fleet of 7,200 planes which he threatened to use in a 72-hour bombardment of London, Paris and other European countries if they interfered. England, he said, had no adequate defense against air attacks.

Germany, he pointed out, had operated five great experimental stations for the past three and one-half years and had 250,000 men at work in the production of airplanes. Since October, 1938, England has placed 185,000 men in the "production line" and France has 220,000 men.

"Some seven or eight weeks ago, England informed Hitler that she is now ready and can protect itself. England and France do not want to start bombardment warfare and I feel that Hitler is now afraid to attack from the air."

"In America, we feel we have the best planes. That is true in regard to commercial and transport planes but not from a military setup. We have only 30,000 men engaged in production of airplanes and although this country is best equipped with the finest of mechanics and ability to turn out airplanes, yet we are not capable of producing sufficient planes from a military standpoint.

"The army has 1,300 fighting planes and in some instances many are obsolete. However, the latest national defense bill, passed by congress, will give America a fighting fleet of 2,360 planes of a first class fighting nature."

Mayor Henry Geerlings pronounced the invocation prior to the banquet. At its conclusion Clarence Jalving, president of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, led the community singing.

Court Schropshire, airlines traffic manager at Grand Rapids, S. H. Houtman, general Tulip Time manager, and E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the senior organization, were introduced as guests. Mr. Stephan said that he felt the future of Holland was safe in the ability of the young men to do things.

State President Talks to Local AAUW Group

Mrs. Emil E. Storkan of Battle Creek, state president of the American Association of University Women, in an inspiring talk before the Holland branch of the association Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. Charles K. Van Duren, presented the aims and purposes of the organization as emphasized during her attendance at two conventions the past summer.

Opening her informal talk by complimenting the local group upon its growth and cooperation in state activities at the opening of its second year, Mrs. Storkan urged the members to further acquaint themselves with the projects and accomplishments of the association.

Describing the national convention at Denver in June as the finest national meeting she had attended, the speaker outlined plans for the sectional meeting to be held in Battle Creek in May, 1940. Delegates will attend from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois. Cooperation of the Holland branch was urged. "Women and Careers" was the theme of the well-managed national convention.

Mrs. Storkan also was a delegate to the international congress in Stockholm, Sweden, where prominent women from 26 countries gathered for the meeting with the primary purpose of promoting educational opportunities for women and preserving their intellectual status, developing vocational guidance, and solving to some extent the refugee question.

The problem of how to help highly educated women of the dictator countries to find their places in the modern world, was one of the most interesting to the speaker. When dictators come into power, educated groups are discouraged and educated women are dismissed from their positions, she said. Former groups of the international association have been automatically disbanded in Germany, Italy, Austria, Spain and Czechoslovakia, and the association is attempting to place as many highly educated women of foreign birth in the United States as the immigration laws will allow, Mrs. Storkan explained.

Mrs. Storkan also told of the exceptional work being done by the organization in the matter of fellowships which are granted to women holding degrees who are worthy of extended research in the various educational fields. The speaker was former state fellowship chairman. The Michigan Fellowship fund now amounts to approximately $18,500, she said. The A. A. U. W. fellowships are probably the most far-reaching and outstanding contribution of the organization to society, she said.

Mrs. Storkan was accompanied by her state secretary, Mrs. Howard Preston, also of Battle Creek. They were guests of the local board of directors at dinner preceding the meeting.

Mrs. W. S. Merriam presided, and reports of officers and chairmen were heard. A meeting of the drama study group was announced for Nov. 8 in the home of Miss Adelaide Dykhuizen, the subject to be "Broadway vs. Hollywood." All members interested are invited.

In The Good Old Days

(The following items were taken from the Ottawa County Times, published in Holland nearly a half century ago.)

A petition is being circulated and quite generally signed in Manlius township, addressed to the war department, and asking that the department not compel the erection of a swing bridge at New Richmond, an article in the June 1 issue of the Ottawa County Times published by M. G. Mantling in 1894, began. The river is represented as being of no use for navigation above New Richmond and hence the absence of a necessity for a swing in the bridge.

Tuesday afternoon exercises commemorative of Memorial day were held in all the schools in the city from high school down to kindergarten, another article began. Special programs had been prepared in each room, some of the teachers joining rooms. The decorations with the national colors, flowers and evergreens were profuse and fine. The members of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, and Women's Relief Corps had been invited and D. B. K. Van Raalte and John Kramer made addresses. All of the exercises were well attended, at least 200 visitors being present in the different rooms. Its valuation is $3,081,894.

Under the five-mill allocation, a total of $208,186.52 as taxes for county purposes in addition to those listed above, the various townships will spread the following amounts: Allendale, $4,096.41; Blendon, $4,589.87; Chester, $5,863.96; Crookery, $2,957.44; Georgetown, $8,695.40; Grand Haven, $3,111.42; Jamestown, $7,185.42; Olive, $3,815.96; Polkton, $9,581.71; Port Sheldon, $1,837.37; Robinson, $2,263.62; Spring Lake, $8,620.46; Tallmadge, $5,409.56; Wright, $7,387.63; Zeeland, $8,113.82.

The largest item on the tax schedule is $302,504.75 for school taxes with a total debt service of $93,842.07 and a special school tax in some townships of $2,245.81. The total township tax amounts to $33,305.05 and the city taxes for Holland, Grand Haven and Zeeland amount to $286,265, with a debt service tax of $34,607.50.

Oliver township had no rejected taxes for the past year, the report shows. Zeeland township will spread no township contingent tax. The "state-rejected taxes" are on unpaid items which the state has rejected through any error in description. A report of all unpaid taxes is sent to the county treasurer by each unit of taxation. The treasurer then, according to law, sends the report to the auditor general in Lansing which checks all descriptions and returns or "rejects" those items which are in error. (No state tax now is included in county apportionment. The term "state-rejected tax" is not to be confused with "state tax.")

CITY RESIDENT DIES AT HOME

Mannes Nyboer, 78, 113 West 19th St., died last Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at his home following an illness of six months with complications due to his advanced age.

He was born March 15, 1861, in Assen, Drenthe, The Netherlands, to Mr. and Mrs. Geert Nyboer and came to this country about 30 years ago.

Mr. Nyboer was an employee in the city street department for a number of years before he retired about three years ago.

PUT IN JAIL AS DRUNK DRIVER

G.H. Man Also Given Stiff Fine; Second Offense Move Dropped

Grand Haven, Oct. 26 (Special)—Otto Emmenegger, 24, Grand Haven, escaped a second-offense charge Thursday, October 19, from square into a $75 fine, costs of $3.75 and a 10-day jail sentence on a charge of drunk driving.

Emmenegger, who was involved in an automobile accident Oct. 13 here, was charged with drunk driving in Justice George V. Hoffer's court after the justice had dismissed a drunk driving, second offense, charge because his first arrest Oct. 17, 1937, was under a Grand Haven ordinance and not under state law.

Prosecuting Attorney Elbert Parsons, after consulting the records, ruled that Emmenegger could not be charged with a second offense under the state law.

Emmenegger is expected to pay the fine and costs after he has served his 10 days in the county jail.

When arrested in 1937, he paid a fine and costs of $58.30 and served five days in jail.

LUNATIC RATIONALIZING

It would almost be possible to get all the recreation one needs out of the lunatic theorizing about recreation on the part of humorous people, especially educators.
They are making so much sophisticated work out of what they portentously call the "philosophy of recreation" that recreation itself, which in theory is a surcease from labor, becomes almost the hardest activity in the world.

Thus there is a Marguerite Kehr, dean of women at State College, Bloomsburg, Pa., who solemnly advances the theory that the "dangerous" people of the world are "dangerous" because they don't know how to engage in recreation. And of course she draws in the inevitable Adolf Hitler —giving the impression that Hitler is the international bad boy of the world today because he does not know how to "unlax."

Quoting Miss Kehr: "Can you imagine Adolf Hitler singing close harmony at an alumni reunion or yelling himself hoarse at a base ball game?"

Applesauce and banana-oil and also horse-fathers! Here is one for Miss Kehr: Can you imagine the Pope singing close harmony at an alumni reunion or yelling himself hoarse at a base ball game?
Or Herbert Hoover? Or Thomas
Mann? Or the late Thomas A.
Edison. Can you imagine any of these men engaging in many of the activities that Miss Kehr is pleased to call "recreation"? Yet who would venture to describe them as "dangerous" people?

As a matter of simple historical fact, Adolf Hitler does devote much time to "recreation" as most busy statesmen. He is almost passionately devoted to Wagner concerts, and when the press of public business allows he spends a good deal of time at the opera.
Why insist that everybody take his recreation in the form of yelling at a baseball game? Some very intelligent people are actually bored by base ball and foot ball and alumni meetings.

Hitler is of course "dangerous"
that is, to the non-German world.
But George Washington was considered "dangerous" by the British,
and Abraham Lincoln by the people of the Southern states. A good deal depends on the angle or vision. In any case, accounting for the alleged "dangerous" on the basis of the kind of recreation a man engages in is almost moronic in its silliness. "There is not much real recreation in the totalitarian countries," adds Miss Kehr for good measure. No, not as much baseball and football and not as many alumni reunions as in America, but all sorts of other types of recreation that Americans have never heard of. Such theories are such a complete display of lunacy that anyone reading them does not need any other form of amusement.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Soul Fire Enkindled
Martin Luther said, "At home, in my house, there is no warmth or vigor in me, but in the church where a multitude are gathered together, a fire is kindled in my heart and it breaks its way through."

One may attempt to burn one stick of wood all alone and failure is the result but when a number of pieces are laid together and a fire started, all the pieces of wood share in the blaze and all together they produce a real fire.
So in public worship, the praises of one are shared by the others and adoration and spiritual fervor become a mighty reality. Why not accept the invitation and come to church next Sunday?

Beverage Alcohol, and Social Progress
Micah 2: 9-11; Luke 21: 29-31, 34-36; 1 Corinthians 6: 9-11

By Henry Geerlings

All of us ought to be interested in knowing whether the use of liquor hurts our community or not. We do not seem to be so greatly concerned about what befalls communities in other parts of the country or in the world at large. But let some cause injure our homes and our communities and our churches and we are up in arms against it. A good many years ago there was a rumor abroad that the president of the United States was given to drink.
When that rumor arose multitudes of people were hurt by it. The rumor, however, was not correct and the president, as well as all our presidents have been, was a sober man. We felt that the president belongs to all of us and anything that hurts him hurts us as well.

And whatever hurts our community hurts the individuals of that community. We are members of society and we are deeply interested in whatever occurs in the neighborhood in which we live. If a father indulges in strong drink his practice hurts his wife and his children. It gives them a lower standing in the community, and people look at them as though they are aware of the fact that the father is not a sober man. If intemperance injures the community in which we live it injures every community in our country in which that habit prevails and progress is halted.

Intemperance also hurts one's prospects for the best that life ought to have in store for him. It puts him on a lower scale. He is not given the opportunity of service that might come to his way otherwise. His indulgence in strong drink is not fair to his children or their playmates and friends. We may excuse him on the ground that he does not see how what he does involves others, but that does not lift from his shoulders
the responsibility which God has given him.

The problems arising from the excessive drinking of alcoholic beverages are persistent. They always have been; probably they will continue. This is particularly a youth problem. With no group is the well-made plan to win drinkers as vigorous as with young people. Unless they are persuaded to become at least occasional drinkers the profits of the liquor business will soon cease. So we face our youth, tempted as they are to drink, hoping to help them solve their problem. They are in a hard place which the generation ahead of them prepared for them.
Their social groups, many of them, have adopted the example of the older people, assuming and offering and taking drinks are necessary. At times the home influence for far too many of our youth tends towards drinking.

Reports tell us that there are far more drinking places today than ever, and the restrictions on them are few, at least as far as enforcement goes. Drinking is quite general. The way to counteract it is by giving the facts. This is no time for sentimental, emotional outbursts of denunciation. Any enthusiasm can do this. Young people are demanding facts before they decide on other great issues before them. We ought to face the temperance matter with facts.

There is a scriptural justification for temperance. The Bible pictures the results of intemperance in individuals, communities and nations. The doom of Sodom and Gomorrah may not be due entirely to intemperance in strong drink, but it seems clear that it had much to do with it. The writer of the Proverbs had seen the dreadful effects of drunkenness on the individual.
Whatever can be said
against intemperance has the backing of the Bible as long as we speak honestly and are true to the facts.

There is a need of an educational handling of this whole matter.
The way alcohol affects health is bound to strike the ambitious young man or woman as a warning.
These effects have been scientifically studied and listed.
The reports are available. There is not any question about the hindering effect of alcohol on efficiency.
Tests have shown that mental power is hindered by strong drink. Alcohol is a depressant, appearing as a stimulant mainly because it checks the highest nerve operations. It leaves its subjects uncertain as to what he sees or feels, hazy as to cause and effect, and unsteady as to resultant action.
No man of high purpose can afford to endanger in any degree the validity of these mental processes which register his contact with reality. Alcohol is always a habit-forming drug; the greater the injury to the nervous system, the more insistent the demand for it, and the weaker the will power in resistance.

OPENING HOUR BEING FAVORED

Patrons of Library Taking Advantage of Opening
in Forenoon

The change in the opening hour of the Holland public library appears to be meeting the approval of the library patrons. Miss Dora Schermer, local librarian, reports.
Beginning Oct. 2, the library has opened at 9 a.m. instead of noon and if sufficient use is made of these privileges by the public, this will be continued beyond the three-month trial period. Miss Schermer said the number of persons visiting the library during the forenoon hours is increasing but that it is evident that many do not know about the change in time.

Several new books have been placed on the shelves for circulation this week, among them being several which the librarian is especially recommending for reading.
"Wind, Sand and Stars" by Saint Exupery is a moving account of a French airman's adventures flying over the Sahara, the Patagonian Argentina and his experiences in the Spanish Civil war.

Readers will also find good entertainment in "Our Family" by Adet. An excellent portrayal of the life of a country lawyer in a country town during the latter part of the 19th century is given in "The Country Lawyer," a biography written by the son, Bellamy Partridge.

In a more serious vein, the reader will find Nazi plans for the future revealed in Herman Raush-ning's "Revolution of Nihilism." Warning to the West," in which an ex-president of the Danzig senate and former Nazi leader tells of his disillusionment with Nazi tactics. This book came off

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchens

MEATS and poultry are very reasonable and poultry prices may be considered low. Smoked hams are showing the recent reduction in fresh pork prices and they are inexpensive this week. Fresh fish is more plentiful though some summer varieties are now unobtainable except in the frozen state.
Egg prices are firm but are not expected to go much higher. Butter continues at its recent higher level.

The cabbage family predominates in the vegetable market with cauliflower in the midst of its season, broccoli plentiful and inexpensive and Brussels sprouts available. Cabbage is higher and less plentiful than last year. Spinach also is abundant and cheap.

Apples, grapefruit, bananas and oranges are staples at this season. The first Florida oranges are now arriving.

COMMENTS BY BEN MULDER

SIXTY YEARS AGO

Sailors! What might have terminated in a sad catastrophe, is now a good joke to tell on a sailor.
On Saturday evening, at a late hour, a captain of one of our schooners, residing on the north side of Black Lake, started on his lonely trip to scull his yawl across Black Lake, as he had done so many times before. But it happened to be very foggy, and the fog was so thick that the captain took some pains to find his bearings and to take a true start. What little breeze there was stirring seemed to be from the northeastward so that our little "Salty" took the breeze on his right cheek,
and started for the north shore.
Now before we leave ahead, you must bear in mind, that that little breeze felt very cool on the flushed cheek of the captain, for he had been in a hot debate all the evening at a "sample room" and had come away a little excited. Well, he started for the north shore sculled in a semi-circle. The wind slipping in the mean time to the west, and he stranded his boat on the south shore, just east of the point near Anderson's ship-yard but the captain did not know at that time where he was, and was waited until daylight to solve the mystery. The captain blushed a little when he told this on himself, and said, such is "a life on the Ocean wave." (Black Lake.) Note:
All saloons of yesterday in Holland had the sign "sample room" painted on the windows, possibly more dignified.

Eighty Street was so dusty Thursday that it was a serious question for the storekeepers fronting on that street, if it would not be a remunerative investment to have a sprinkler. Note: A street sprinkler was installed by private individuals and it worked well for the first month. When payment of sprinkling money was exacted however, there were always dead-beats who failed to pay, which aggravated those who did pay. This got to be a vexing question on Main St. and the sprinkler halted sprinkling in front of the places where payment was overdue, but this helped very little, since the dust from in front of these places flew into the merchants' stores;
who did pay, and the sprinkler part helped the merchant who failed to pay. Finally after some years of trouble the city took it up to do the street sprinkling, and those who did not pay had the amount assessed against their property.

Charles L. Pokagon has been in Holland canvassing the book written by his father, Chief Simon Pok-agon. The Indian name O-Gi-Maw-Kee Mit-I Gwa-Kil, Queen of the Woods. It is a narrative of Indian love and is filled with a fragrance and beauty of forest life. Note: Chief Simon Pokagon was still living when Holland had its semi-centennial in 1897. He was one of the principal speakers, and in fact, the highlight of the celebration. He was the chief of all the tribes and that included those in Ottawa county, and an old man when visiting Holland in '97. He gave a poem at Centennial park that was a classic published in the Holland City News in an account of the three-day convale.

mother, Mrs. Tillie Boone.

The sinkhole, or frog pond, as some of the aldermen named it at the council meeting, at the corner of Eighth and Pine streets, will be properly drained. This pond has long been a menace to health, and the council deems it necessary to drain it because of the stench of the midsummer that the hot sun brings. Note: This is only a small portion of the stenchhole that was covered up through the "island"
project—a pit of slime and ooze, a sewer basin for years. The time is not far distant when folks will say, "What a wonderful improvement," just as they did of Centennial Park when it was changed from a cow pasture and a place filled with burned ruins to the hub of the city and its most beautiful center. The same agitation was rife with our first boulevard lighting system. The writer was highly enthusiastic on that subject, and spent $200 for cuts, to show what other cities were doing.
Holland then had four lights extending from River Ave. to the depot. Who would pull out or discard one glim on our principal streets today? It is our great white way, showing that we have a city here which from a passenger train it was impossible to discern before that time.

Adrian Aremdas, age 50, was smothered to death at the Bush and Lane factory, when he attempted to push a pipe through a sand bank. Coroner Cook and Justice Robinson pronounced the death accidental. The coroner's jury was John Du Mez, Percy Ray, Jacob Hooker, J. M. Kramer, John bosman, and Simon, Verburg.

Henry Boeve, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Boeve, R. R. 5, Holland, has just returned from three years' fighting in France, but he did not return alone. He brought back with him a pretty young wife, whose maiden name was Miss Alice Raymond of London, England. Three years ago Mr. Boeve and Dan Kruidenier, a son of a missionary from Holland, in Egypt joined the Canadian troops, long before America was in the war.

Boeve fought not only with the American troops, but the Canadian, British, and Belgians. Mr.
Boeve has been in at least 20 engagements. He states that he fared fairly well in all his fighting, having secured a dandy wife because of it. Note: Today they are living in Philadelphia, the town with the liberty bell.

The H. J. Heinz Co. gave their employees besides the women and children a dandy picnic at Saugatuck.

There are a long list of prize-winners, which space forbids to print, but we note one in particular, the clothes-pin race for women was won by Mrs. H. Sterenberg, and the 25-yard fat-woman race was won by Mrs. A. Van Dyke.

Prosecutor Clarence Lokker and Coroner Gilbert Vande Water have called the inquest over the drowning victims of the wrecked steamer Andaste. All jurors are from Holland. They are Mayor Earnest Brooks, former Mayor E. P. Stephan, Wynand Wichers, Henry Winter, Fred Beuwick, and William Vissers. Note: The Andaste was a gravel steamer, and was lost with a crew of 25 men off Port Sheldon. For several days nothing was heard of the stone barge until George F. Getz picked up some wreckage at Lakewood Farm the same place where most of the wreckage of the steamer Alpena was found many years before. More wreckage was picked up at Castle Park. Several days after some of the bodies washed ashore. Many of the men came from Grand Haven, and it was a sad day for our neighboring city.

At the day of the writing, 14 bodies were recovered in one day.
Pictures are shown of the steamer Andaste, and much of the wreckage, and also a picture of Prosecutor Clarence Lokker questioning members of the crew.

Holland Yields 7-0 Victory to Reds After Break Sets Up Score

Breenmen Fail to Tally in Second Period Threat; Have New Spirit

Holland high school's football team went to work this week with a brand new spirit, and with a lot of new fans on the maroon and orange band wagon.

The Dutch, who turned a predicted rout Saturday into one of the best high school football games ever played here, prepared this week to meet Ottawa Hills of Grand Rapids in a mid-season non-conference game.

Holland, at full strength for the first time since its opener with Creston five weeks ago, turned in a performance that made local spectators gasp and made Muskegon high school gridders play outstanding football to gain a 7-0 victory.

The Dutchmen, figured easy prey for a big and capable Muskegon eleven after losing three straight victories by embarrassing margins, pounced on the Reds from the start, and outplaying them almost the entire first half, came within a foot of scoring. They failed to keep the Muskegon club from scoring only after a break gave the Reds the ball in local territory.

CAN WORRY IN JAIL ABOUT 'WIFE'S HONOR'

Grand Haven, Oct. 26 (Special)—Robert Forrester, 45, who seemed concerned about his "wife," will have time to worry about her while sitting in Ottawa county jail the next 30 days.

Forrester, who gave his address as Delavan, Wis., was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Justice Matthew C. Locke on a charge of taking money under false pretenses.

Forrester, it was reported, was released from the state prison at Waupun, Wis., last December.

Forrest, police said, called on a local pastor Monday, attesting to his wife's unfaithfulness, and stating that he was going to call on a second party to have his wife's immoralities corrected. Before he left, he persuaded the minister to give him $10.

When the minister called the second person on whom Forrester was to call, it was learned that he had failed to appear. The pastor notified police.

Police said they found Forrester under the influence of liquor and smoking a cigar on a Grand Haven street.

He had introduced himself to the minister as a representative of the Consumers Power Co.

CLERK BOUND OVER TO CIRCUIT COURT

Archie Maynard, 30, of Lansing, was bound over to circuit court Wednesday after examination before Justice John Gallen on a charge of larceny from a store, on or about Oct. 1, 1939. The original bond of $500 has been reduced to $250 cash bond by Justice Gallen, and arrangements were being made to furnish the bond.

Maynard is alleged to have stolen 12 pairs of boots valued at $40.68 from a Holland store where he was employed. Maynard did not take the stand in his own defense.

Several witnesses were called at the preliminary examination, including Chief of Police Ira A. Antles and Officer Ernest Baer.

JUDGMENT GIVEN

Allegan, Oct. 26—In a suit concerning an automobile accident between Wayland and Bradley, a judgment of $105 for the plaintiff was entered by the circuit court following a jury trial of the case of Herman R. Schowe, Jr., versus Louis Lopez, Wayland, Monday.

Speaker Tells Club of Life in Nazi Germany

In a straightforward and candid talk before members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon, Marion Howe, who lived for six years in Berlin as wife of a German citizen, told of the difficulties encountered by the housewife and mother living under dictator rule. Her frankness and first hand knowledge of present day life in Germany displayed in her talk entitled "I Raised My Children in Nazi Germany," held her large audience spell bound.

Stating that nothing ever looked so good to her as American life as we know it, after her struggle to live and train her children to American ideals in Berlin, Miss Howe urged women of this country to appreciate and make every effort to preserve democracy. The United States has a definite responsibility to preserve democracy at all costs, she said, and to strive for an unemotional outlook on the current situation.

The speaker drew a sharp contrast between the Europe of the 1920's and the more recent period under dictatorship rule. Complete fear and distrust is now the keynote of life everywhere, and tattling is rewarded, even among one's children, she said. She described the youth organizations where racial and Nazi ideals are inculcated and immoral practices are condoned. Hitler has captured the youth of Germany, she stated, and while people of the older generation are dissatisfied and unhappy, they are helpless to protest. Spies are everywhere, in the household, among one's friends, and children.

National socialist principles are taught in the schools, and the high intellectual standards are a thing of the past. Students are rated on their race, character as related to the Nazi party, physique, or one's suitability for military duty, and last of all knowledge, and this in relation to the science of military defense. Kinship and unity among Germans have been fostered feverishly, she said, and the superiority and supremacy of the Nordic race is taught in the schools, where German children have become bullies and rowdies.

The speaker told how the press and radio are controlled and used for propaganda purposes. The mass of the people do not know what is going on in the world, she said. She also described, from her actual experience, the food shortage which has been evident since 1936. Returning to this country, Miss Howe explained was like coming from a land of plenty. Women, recognized as important in the Nazi plan, are highly organized and completely controlled. They do not complain much at the inconveniences of housekeeping, she said.

Businessmen have a struggle to make a living, paying 86 percent of their income in taxes. Travelers don't see the real conditions in Germany, for their paths are made pleasant, she explained.

Miss Howe graciously answered many questions at the conclusion of her talk.

The speaker was heard in a similar talk before Hope college students at chapel exercises Tuesday morning.

Mrs. J. J. Brover presided and introduced the speaker at the club meeting.

Murray Snow of Holland High school gave his Community Chest talk.

At a luncheon meeting of the public affairs committee earlier in the afternoon, Police Chief Ira A. Antles addressed 23 members of the group in regard to their proposed campaign for safety as applied to bicycle riding in the city. He promised cooperation of local law enforcement officials in the committee's plans. It was decided to put on an educational campaign for three days, Nov. 1, 2, and 3, followed by a big safety drive in the spring. Copies of the new bicycle laws will be presented to school pupils. Mrs. Albert Van Zoeren is chairman of the safety committee. Cooperation of the public schools and the Holland Sentinel has been promised in this work.

In a ceremony performed in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Oostenbrugge of Rexford drive, Grand Rapids, Agnes Dorothy Van Oostenbrugge and Dr. George Donald Albers of Cincinnati exchanged their nuptial vows Saturday afternoon. Dr. Albers is the son of George Albers of this city. Both bride and groom are graduates of Hope college.

The Rev. Ben Hoffman of Overisel, uncle of the groom, officiated at the service which took place at five o'clock before the fireplace, which was banked with palms, ferns and baskets of chrysanthemums. Wedding music was played by Miss Marian Ann Stouten.

Attending the bride as maid of honor, was her cousin, Miss Agnes Grace Van Oostenbrugge of Shaker Heights, O.

Dr. John Henry Albers of East Lansing, brother of the groom, was best man, and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Yonkman of Groesbeek Point completed the wedding party as master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Yonkman is a sister of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception for 60 guests was held at Country House where tapers and small white autumn flowers formed the decoration for the bride's table.

Later in the day Dr. and Mrs. Albers left on a short wedding trip. They will reside at 11 Glenmary St., Clifton, O.

Those from Holland to attend the ceremony were Mr. Albers, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Voorhorst, Mr. and Mrs. Marius Mulder, Mrs. H. J. Niewma, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Heneveld, Mr. and Mrs. David Niewma and Mrs. Fannie Huisman.

Grand Haven Clerk Has Served Nearly 35 Years

Grand Haven, Oct. 26—E. C. Hurlless of Spring Lake, clerk in the federal steamboat inspector's office here, is in his 33rd year of service.

He came to Grand Haven in 1906, from Washington, D. C., and is rounding out 35 years in the office. He recalls that the Cutler House was operating when he came here, and that he stayed there for some time. Rate for board and room was $1 a day, and the food was good, he says.

LOOK AT FACTS ON NEUTRALITY, HOFFMAN SAYS

Recalled Big Majority in Congress That Passed Act in Peace

Declares Citizens Able to Reason Out Question in Brief Time

Washington, Oct. 26 — Cong. Clare E. Hoffman, of Allegan, Mich., whose voice will be heard when the neutrality controversy reaches the house, today suggested that Americans can reason out the issue behind the neutrality question in 20 minutes.

"There are certain facts which are not disputed," he said. "On these facts a policy was adopted. A change is proposed. Those proposing it say it will tend to keep us out of war. Those opposing it say it will involve us in war."

He continued: "First consider the facts. In 1935 we were at peace. The people and congress desired to do two things. To keep us out of future wars, but if war came to take the profit out of it. To accomplish those two things the existing neutrality act went into effect Aug. 31, 1935, and was continued in force by a joint resolution on May 1, 1937. It was enacted by a senate vote of 63 to 6, a house vote of 276 to 13. Only 19 out of a total of 439 voted against the law. The president signed the law. Secretary of State Hull approved it. So we have the judgment of 441 out of 458 responsible public officials charged with maintaining peace this law was proper for that purpose.

"The act established three things. An embargo upon the exportation of arms, munitions, and implements of warfare to all belligerents. A system of registration of munitions manufacturers and of licensing munitions exports under the supervision of a national munitions board. Delegation of power to the president to, if he considers it advisable, (a) withhold protection from any American citizen traveling on any vessel of any belligerent nation; (b) prohibit the entrance of any foreign submarine during war into American ports or territorial waters except under conditions prescribed by the president; (c) require bond of vessels suspected of leaving American ports for the purpose of delivering up to any belligerent warship or supply ship men or fuel, munitions, or other supplies.

"If it had not proved successful, it was not doing just what it was enacted to do, that is, keep us out of war, force us to remain neutral, there would be no proposal here now to destroy it."

GIVEN CHARGE AT CEREMONY

Dr. Blocker Installed as Professor of Seminary in Holland

Dr. Simon Blocker was installed as permanent professor of practical theology at Western Theological seminary in services at 8 p.m. Tuesday night in Third Reformed church.

Dr. Blocker took the charge from Dr. John Ingham of New York city, stated clerk of the general synod of the Reformed Church in America.

Special sermons were delivered by Dr. Ingham, and by Dr. John A. Dykstra, pastor of Central Reformed church in Grand Rapids and president of the general synod.

Dr. Blocker signed the formula after Dr. C. P. Dame, pastor of Bethany Reformed church of Grand Rapids and president of the board of superintendents of Western Theological seminary, performed the office of installation. He delivered his inaugural address.

The services were opened by an organ prelude, "Choral Improvisation," by Karg-Elert, played by Kenneth Osborne of Hope college.

Dr. Simon Blocker

Dr. Jacob Vander Meulen, president of the seminary who presided at the services, read the Scripture lesson after the processional hymn by the choir and congregation.

The choir, directed by Mr. Osborne, sang "Lo, A Voice to Heaven Sounding," by Bortniansky; and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelly.

The Rev. William Van't Hof, pastor of Third Reformed church, delivered the benediction. Mr. Osborne played an organ postlude, "Toccata" by Bach.

Dr. Dykstra delivered the sermon of installation, mentioning the unanimity with which the general synod elected Dr. Blocker to the chair of practical theology last June. He stated that his text suggested three major thoughts—possession, limitation and manifestation.

"The preacher of the message has a matchless treasure which is uniquely his," he said. "The preacher is a millionaire, but every preacher is a God-heir. He possesses the riches of God in Jesus Christ, but because he is only a man, he has this treasure in earthen vessels, and therefore he is constantly aware of his limitations.

"Even though ministers are earthen vessels, they are, nevertheless, chosen vessels made fit for the Master's use," Dr. Dykstra said. "His limitations, common to finite character, serve to manifest the glory of God. Through human weaknesses, God is manifested. Christian ministers are to be the frame for the picture of Christ. Our very limitations can set off the picture."

Dr. Ingham, charged Dr. Blocker as the new professor, after Dr. Blocker had signed the formula.

He likened Dr. Blocker's work to three aspects of modern life—salesmanship, propaganda and superintendency of a hospital. He said that the department of Practical Theology was sending out young men as salesmen who were to place the gospel of Jesus Christ on the market.

As propagandists, the young men who go out are to be messengers of good will, brotherhood, and mutual helpfulness, and their propaganda is to be in direct contrast to the screaming modern propaganda.

Dr. Ingham closed his address by remarking upon the tremendous advances that have been made in hospital care for sick bodies, and he asked, "Are we saving souls as successfully as doctors are saving men's bodies?"

In his inaugural address, Dr. Blocker said the importance of preaching was due to God's choice of it, and His use of it as a vehicle for spreading of the word of God. "Preaching is God's chief offensive weapon with which to deal with human indifference and contemptuousness toward sin."

"In Paul's day the preaching of the Cross seemed foolishness. Today, the proclamation of the Gospel seems as weak and foolish a way of getting at the world's problems as it ever did. Even so, preaching is 'big business' because it ministers to humanity at the point of its deepest need."

"The great objective of all preaching is that men may come to have faith in God," he said.

The choir, directed by Mr. Osborne, sang "Lo, A Voice to Heaven Sounding," by Bortniansky; and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelly.

The Rev. William Van't Hof, pastor of Third Reformed church, delivered the benediction. Mr. Osborne played an organ postlude, "Toccata" by Bach.

Dr. Dykstra delivered the sermon of installation, mentioning the unanimity with which the general synod elected Dr. Blocker to the chair of practical theology last June. He stated that his text suggested three major thoughts—possession, limitation and manifestation.

"The preacher of the message has a matchless treasure which is uniquely his," he said. "The preacher is a millionaire, but every preacher is a God-heir. He possesses the riches of God in Jesus Christ, but because he is only a man, he has this treasure in earthen vessels, and therefore he is constantly aware of his limitations.

"Even though ministers are earthen vessels, they are, nevertheless, chosen vessels made fit for the Master's use," Dr. Dykstra said. "His limitations, common to finite character, serve to manifest the glory of God. Through human weaknesses, God is manifested. Christian ministers are to be the frame for the picture of Christ. Our very limitations can set off the picture."

Dr. Ingham, charged Dr. Blocker as the new professor, after Dr. Blocker had signed the formula.

He likened Dr. Blocker's work to three aspects of modern life—salesmanship, propaganda and superintendency of a hospital. He said that the department of Practical Theology was sending out young men as salesmen who were to place the gospel of Jesus Christ on the market.

As propagandists, the young men who go out are to be messengers of good will, brotherhood, and mutual helpfulness, and their propaganda is to be in direct contrast to the screaming modern propaganda.

Dr. Ingham closed his address by remarking upon the tremendous advances that have been made in hospital care for sick bodies, and he asked, "Are we saving souls as successfully as doctors are saving men's bodies?"

In his inaugural address, Dr. Blocker said the importance of preaching was due to God's choice of it, and His use of it as a vehicle for spreading of the word of God. "Preaching is God's chief offensive weapon with which to deal with human indifference and contemptuousness toward sin."

"In Paul's day the preaching of the Cross seemed foolishness. Today, the proclamation of the Gospel seems as weak and foolish a way of getting at the world's problems as it ever did. Even so, preaching is 'big business' because it ministers to humanity at the point of its deepest need."

"The great objective of all preaching is that men may come to have faith in God," he said.

FIRST QUARTER MARCH SETS UP DUTCH VICTORY

Hingamen Take 7-0 Game from Kazoo for First Win in Decade

Locals Remain Unbeaten in MIAA Play; Albion Beats Defiance

A 70-yard first quarter march, culminated by a touchdown on the sixth play of the second period, gave Hope college Friday night what a decade of football had failed to produce previously—victory over Kalamazoo.

Sophomore Ray Meyers plunged over right tackle early in the second period, and Bob Montgomery added the extra point for a 7-0 victory that marks the Dutchmen as dark horse contenders for MIAA honors this season.

Not since 1929, when the Dutch scored a 19-13 victory over Kalamazoo, had the locals won from the Hornets. The teams tied three times during the past decade, including last season's 7-7 dead-lock, but victory chances were thwarted until Friday when Hope expended a game's worth of offensive power in the first period to approach the goal twice before scoring.

Coach Bud Hinga, a graduate of Kalamazoo college, had never beaten his Alma Mater before Hope's 1939 victory which gave Hope two victories and a tie in MIAA play to trail unbeaten and untied Albion and Hillsdale in standings.

Albion, with three MIAA victories, turned on the power to defeat Defiance, O., Friday night, 48-0.

Hope chalked up eight first downs in the first period in getting into Kalamazoo scoring territory twice before Meyers plunged over early in the second period.

From their own 25, Hope backs plunged and passed to the Kalamazoo 15 where a 15-yard penalty against the Dutch and a pass interception by Ellsby, Kalamazoo halfback, broke up the attack.

Ellsby picked the ball out of the air on his 15, and raced back to the Hope 30 where he fumbled, but Hope recovered.

Immediately the Hingamen re-started their drive to the Kalamazoo goal. One play failed to gain, but on the second, Brannock broke into open field to get to midfield. Idema sneaked through center for eight yards, and Krommeyer hit the line for a first down.

Spectators were hysterical at the show of power as Meyers cracked the line, appeared in the secondary standing up, and stumbled all the way to the Kalamazoo 23. After a time out for the Hornets, Idema stepped neatly through the line to what was measured a first down. A lateral failed to gain for Hope as the period ended.

A shovel pass from Montgomery to Brannock ran the ball to the Kalamazoo six as the second period got under way, and Idema plunged just short of a first down on the second play. Meyers cracked tackle for first down, and Idema took the ball to the one-foot mark. Montgomery fumbled, but recovered for no gain, and on the next play, Meyers charged hard across right tackle for the score. Montgomery leading the way with nice blocking. Montgomery's kick was good.

Danny Wood, Kalamazoo's ace, came into the ball game at the start of the second period and, following Hope's score, opened a personal attack that at the end of the game had evened first downs with the Dutch 11-11.

Twice he engineered the Hornet eleven to striking distance of the goal, and twice the Kalamazoo club was thwarted—once by the Hope line, and once by a fumble.

BELIEVE MISSING RAINCOAT IS PART OF SCHOOL PRANK

The white rain coat of Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, Jr. disappeared Saturday afternoon. Officials, blaming school pranksters, believed it would be returned.

Fire Chief Blom had used the coat in responding to a fire alarm and, after washing it, had hung it on a tree just outside the No. 1 fire engine house on West Eighth St. The coat disappeared after some young Muskegon football fans had left the nearby police headquarters where they had gone to see about two fellow fans who had been apprehended earlier in the afternoon at Riverview park.

The two arrested fans appeared before Justice J. Gallen Monday on charges of drunken and disorderly conducts and each pleaded guilty. They were Frank De Rose and Russell Jolman, both 18, of Muskegon. Each was given a fine and costs of $5 which they paid.

Justice Gallen informed De Rose and Jolman about the coat being missing and told them that a good description of the thief had been obtained but if the coat was returned to him by Thursday no theft charges would be filed. They were asked by the justice to spread the word among their friends who had called at the jail to see them.

De Rose and Jolman were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs William Van Etta and William Kruihoff. They were held in jail until late Saturday night when they were released after posting a cash bond of $10 each.
