Hope college students took to the warm outdoors for several classes during the spell of coatless weather. Margaret Randels (standing) taught songs to her Spanish classes in the pine grove on the campus. Other professors who enjoyed the weather with their classes were Profs. Henry Schoon, M. Eugene Osterhaven and Henry Yzenbald. Hopeites are hoping for the continuance of kind weather for their homecoming celebration Friday and Saturday, especially members of the soph and frosh pull teams, one of which is in for a swim, regardless of the weather.

Board Approves County Budget For $313,000

Appropriations Call
For $45,000 Increase
Over Previous Year

Grand Haven, Oct. 23 (Special)—By a vote of 21 to 6, the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Monday adopted a 1948 budget of $313,642.07, an increase of $45,802.94 over the 1947 budget of $267,839.13. The 1947 budget was roughly 19,000 over the previous year.

The 1948 total will be reduced by an estimated $30,000 in fees, compared with $24,800 last year. Amount that can be raised by taxation is $248,819.89, leaving $34,822.18 to be taken out of surplus.

Most salaries of employees of the county were given general increases of $100. Other items accounting in part for the increase include the $12,000 expenditure for Camp Jac-O-Mega on Pottawattomie bay for use of 4-H and other groups, and an increase of close to $16,000 in the County Health department.

The county's share in the 1948 Health department budget totals $66,300, compared with $50,870 last year. The department accepted a reduction of $5,000 from the proposed budget of $71,360. This compromise was approved, 16 to 12.

Supervisor Dick Smallegan of Jamestown said the supervisors were establishing a poor precedent by this action, which keeps the board unaware of salaries paid in that department. He also said people are being taxed from every source and "it is time we are putting a halt to some of these taxes."

Budget figures, 1948 figures listed first and 1947 second, follow: appropriations, $3,000 and $3,000; addressograph, $1,175 and $1,150; Board of Supervisors, $9,000 and $9,000; Circuit Court, $2,100 and $2,400; Circuit Court Commissioner, $50 and $50; coroners, $800 and $800; County Agricultural Agent, $1,950 and $1,845.

Dissenting votes to the amended budget were cast by Supervisors Albert Stegenga of Olive, Henry C. Slaughter of Tallmadge, Lester Martin of Wright, John Galien, Simon De Boer and Peter S. Boter of Holland.

Other matters before the board included the re-election of Leon Godfrey to his third three-year term as member of the County Social Welfare board and the approval of an $18,000 outlay for an addition to the County Hospital building.

Karsten Resigns
As Secretary of Zeeland Chamber

Zeeland, Oct. 23 — Resignation of Cornelius Karsten as secretary of the Zeeland Chamber of Commerce, a position he has held for about six years, was announced today.

Karsten submitted his resignation to the Board of Directors Sept. 24 and upon request of the board consented to serve until Nov. 6 when his successor will be elected. He plans to devote more time to his work in the William De Pree Co., where he is employed.

This year marks the 10th anniversary of the Zeeland Chamber, also the 10th year of active service on the part of its secretary. Karsten first served as vice-president, then three years as president and since then as secretary-manager.

The Chamber was originally organized as a retail organization with a membership of 15. Today, it has a membership of more than 135 representing every type of business and industry in the community.

One of the first accomplishments of the Chamber 10 years ago was establishing uniform store hours, providing the public with definite shopping hours.

Besides promotion to build business, the Chamber has assisted in locating new and diversified manufacturing plants here during the past 10 years.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff said two teen-age youths, who have admitted several break-ins and attempts, have been cited to Probate Court.

The two local youths, 14 and 15, were apprehended Sunday night when they virtually ran into Patrolman Charles Dulyea after looting the Army Surplus store at 126 East Eighth St.

Following an investigation, they were cited to Probate Court and then released to their parents.

Van Hoff said the youths admitted rifling about 10 cars near First Reformed church and Peck's Drug store earlier Sunday night, removing such articles as flashlights, shotgun shells and cigarettes.

Next they said they went to the Holland Bottling Works at Eighth and Washington where they said they had broken in about 10 times previously for soft drinks.

The chief said the pair also attempted break-ins Sunday night at Bob's Sport shops on River Ave. where the youths tried to force the rear door of Sikkels' store to get into the sport shop, also at Knaap's Sport store and the other surplus store called the Trading Post at River Ave. and Seventh.

The boys also admitted another attempted break-in at Boone's City Kitchen, and a break-in at Northern Food store at River and Fifth where they obtained orange drink, lemons and apples.

Former Holland Man Probes Murder Case

A former Holland resident figured in investigation of Michigan's kidnap-murder case, one of the state's most brutal crimes of the year. Det. Sgt. James Van Landegend went to Pikesville, Ky., to obtain the confession of Paul J. Schneider.

Sgt. Van Landegend is a son of Mrs. George Van Landegend of 86 West Ninth St. He was graduated from Holland High school in 1928.

Nature's Crew Sets Stage
For Fall Color Pageant

Shakespeare once appropriately called the world a stage on which we, the actors, appear briefly to say our lines and then pass on. But Nature—the all-time scenery director—stays on with her stage crew, the Elements—ever changing the backdrop for "The Human Comedy."

With the results of Nature's talents confronting us every day we should answer the beckon of the falling leaves, respond to the remaining warmth of autumn and get out and explore the riotous beauty that covers our universe—the stage is set for us.

Now in Act '47 the curtain rises on scene III, the most beautiful of all scenes. A panorama of color meets the eye as Nature takes a universal holiday to display her artistry. The masterbrush has touched up every creek, hill, village street and highway park with a tremendous splash of color. Hill-sides are red where maples grow, lanes are lined with crimson sumac. In flat country, sycamores are shedding their bark to reveal the broken pattern of burned brown and tinted green along their trunks.

The hazy October skies seem to increase in blue intensity to match the flaming glory of the earth, and trees rival trees for beauty as they seek their reflections in quiet waters.

The stately elm is tinted with light brown while white oaks are draped in a rich red hue. The leaves in country orchards protest their short lives and retaliate in brilliant red and yellow shades—the flare-up announcing their approaching decay. Their purpose completed, they exist in a gust of wind.

Autumn's last flowers make a heroic stand before the curtain finally falls. Fine bottle gentians and fringed gentians bloom while hardy yellow curds of witch hazel gleam in the sun. Purple asters and orange bittersweet blossom courageously as the stage grows dusky. The main theater light sets behind a hill smoldering with autumn colors—the curtain is down.

Local Druggist
Dies Following
Brief Illness

Jacob N. Haan, 68, a pharmacist since 1901, died early Saturday in Holland hospital where he had been taken at 3 a.m. following a heart attack a few hours earlier. He had been ill since Tuesday. He lived at 40 West 17th St.

In 1905 John went to Zeeland and opened a drug store on Main St. while Jacob remained in business in Holland. Later Jacob operated a store at Eighth and River which was sold to Peck's Drug Co. about 1934. Jacob was associated with the Peck Co. for some time before joining his brother in Zeeland in 1937.

Since then the brothers have been working together in the Zeeland store, known as the Haan Brothers Drug store, at 113 East Main St.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Van Dyke and Mrs. Arlene Sweet of Hudsonville; two grandchildren; two brothers, John of Zeeland and William of Holland.

Plans Discussed
For Cage League

At a meeting with the Armory board of control, Monday night, Holland City League officials discussed plans for the formation of a City League basketball schedule. The League has been inactive since 1942. Attending the meeting were members of the Armory Board of control, representatives from Hope, Christian, Holland High and City League.

After a discussion of schedules of the three school teams, it was decided to allot Wednesday night to the new City League. Although all of the teams do not have sponsors as yet, officials said that most likely there would be five teams in the league. Three games would be played each Wednesday, with one of the teams meeting an outside foe. Plans for City League play to begin on Dec. 3 and continue for 12 weeks through February. There will be no holiday games, the Board of Control mentioned.

The matter of equipping the Armory with glass backboards was discussed, and it was decided to make inquiries concerning the possibilities. Also mentioned was the possibility of erecting folding type bleachers under the baskets in the Armory.

Representatives present in addition to the Board were, Clarence Kleis of Hope; Raymond Holwerda and John Ham of Christian, Malcolm Mackay of Holland High and Harry Hulst of the City League.

Runaway Youth Picked Up
By Hudsonville Officers

A 15-year-old runaway youth of Marshall, absent from the Starr Commonwealth at Albion, was detained by sheriff's officers in Hudsonville Wednesday night before any report of his absence had been circulated.

The youth was picked up on suspicion, or, as sheriff's officers put it, "a hunch." Inquiry revealed the youth was missing from the institution since Sunday. He started out without funds and "nearly froze" one night as he slept along side the road.

Another night, a truck driver gave him a place to sleep and on Tuesday night a blind Grand Rapids woman took him into her home after he helped her on the street. On Wednesday night, free lodging was provided in the Holland jail.

Officers said he admitted taking a few articles from stores and took $1.15 from the cash register of a store in Hudsonville which he broke into.

Kent county authorities questioned the youth about minor break-ins in that county. He was to be returned to school authorities today.

Jesse James Rides Again,
Right Into County Jail

Jesse James Fiske, 22, of Arkansas, has begun serving a 15-day sentence in the county jail, after imitating his namesake in some antics Sunday night at the Kornei Kupboard here. He was arraigned on an assault charge Monday afternoon before Justice George Hoffer in Grand Haven.

Fiske, whom officers said had been drinking, allegedly threatened to kill Jay Hamburg, 16, route 3, an employee in the drive-in lunch room at Eight St. and Fairbanks Ave.

Fiske allegedly hit Hamburg on the jaw with his fist, and then when Hamburg locked the unwilling customer outside, Fiske broke the door window with his fist, turned the lock, entered and "took possession of the place."

Inside, he allegedly "terrorized" Hamburg, Fenna Bergeron, proprietor of the place, and "Tarzan" De Pree. Then he left the place, and people inside called police.

Police picked up the offender in a local rooming house, took him to Holland hospital for treatment of a badly cut arm, and lodged him in jail.

University Joins In Celebrating Dutch Centennial

Arrangements have been completed for a series of events relating to art, music and history of the Netherlands at the University of Michigan in November celebrating a century of Dutch settlement in Michigan. It was announced today by the Netherlands Information bureau which has been working on details for a year.

An exhibition of paintings, two concerts and three Dutch exhibits Nov. 13 to 28 will be initiated by a special convocation in Hill auditorium Nov. 3 at 11 a.m. commemorating the 100 anniversary of Dutch settlement in Michigan.

Honored guests will be Dr. Eelco N. van Kleffens, Netherlands Ambassador to the United States, and Arthur H. Vandenberg, United States Senator from Michigan. Both will speak.

The convocation was scheduled Nov. 3 because Sen. Vandenberg will attend sessions of the Foreign Affairs committee the week of Nov. 10.

"The Centennial Commission feels the university series is a fitting climax to activities here of the year," Willard C. Wichers, Centennial manager, said today. He said the Holland office has sent out about 2,000 invitations to people throughout the state for the convocation.

Members of the Centennial Commission have been invited and presidents of Hope and Calvin colleges and Western and Calvin seminaries will participate in the convocation program.

An exhibition of 48 paintings will be in the University Museum of Art, Alumni Memorial hall, opening with a reception at 8:30 p.m. Nov. 13. School Warning Sign Missing After Game

The "boy" sign which serves as a school zone warning in the Pine Creek school area is missing . . . and school authorities and sheriff's officers want it back.

The sign was missing after the Muskegon-Holland high game last Friday and officers later found the base on Butterut drive near US-31. Officers said the sign not only is expensive but is hard to replace.

So, they want it back. "We don't care if the guilty party dumps it in the school yard or has it returned another way. We only want it back," officers said.

Any information on the subject submitted to officers will be treated as confidential, they said.

Weather May Be Here Today, Gone Tomorrow

Holland citizens kept right on enjoying the Indian summer today. And they might as well enjoy what may be the last moments, according to the U. S. Weather bureau, which reports a cold front moving in from Canada.

Rain is a little thought-of word these days, but predicted showers moving into the Midwest and Great Lakes areas—also from Canada—will refresh our memories as to its meaning.

Coast Guards at the local station reported that storm warnings were received this morning and winds were expected to whistle over the sand dunes at about a 35 mile per hour velocity before the day is spent.

It doesn't take a pessimist to foresee winter weather now!

The

Hope-Kazoo Tilt Looms as Vital MIAA Encounter

Hornets Still Unbeaten In State Competition; Wooden Shoes at Stake

Hope's fighting Dutchmen will get their last "crack" at a share in the MIAA title Saturday when they play host to a high flying Kalamazoo college eleven. Hope will play a difficult and yet an important role in the conference race in Saturday's game. Provided the locals can edge the Hornets, and the Kazoo squad could sink the undefeated Dales on the following week. Coach Al Vanderbush's eleven could still share in the crown. Therefore it would be needless to say that the Dutchmen are "pointing" for the Saturday tilt.

Vanderbush will be out to even accounts with Coach Bob Nulf of Kalamazoo following the 13-0, plastering, Hope received from the Hornets last year. Since the two coaches, Vanderbush and Nulf began coaching last year, a new pair of wooden shoes will be an additional prize for the winner to take home. In Milton Hinga's thirteen years of coaching at Hope he held the old Barnard-Hinga "Klomp" only two times as a result of Dutch victories while the Kazoo former coach, Chester Barnard carried home the prize several times with four of the games ending in ties.

Because there is no mutual opponent that both Kazoo and Hope have met this season, there is no definite basis for giving the Hornets the nod in Saturday's tilt. Still it is generally accepted that the Hornets have a more powerful squad than the Hollanders. Receiving their only setback from Kent State of Ohio last Saturday, the Kazooks otherwise hold a respectable record with Michigan clubs. Wheaton battle the Hornets to a tie on September 26 to make the present Hornets record stand at three wins, one loss and one tie. Victories over Olivet, Adrian and Alma account for three wins registered by the Hornets this season. Non of these three teams are counted among the powerhouses in Michigan football so none of these contests can be used to indicate the Kazoo strength.

Hope on the other hand has played five contests and tallied wins in three, winning from Grand Rapids Junior college, Albion and Michigan Normal. These three teams also are considered rather weak opponents with none of them boasting any outstanding record.

The main reason that the bulk of fans look for a strong Kazoo eleven is that last years squad whipped the Dutch 13-0 and regardless of the loss of six outstanding gridmen, Bob Nulf still predicted a stronger Hornet squad in 1947. Vanderbush of Hope has made no such statement.

Nulf has good reasons to make such remarks, however, with the excellent material which turned out in pre-season practices. Such well-known stars of the gridiron as Bob Reed, Charlie Stanski and Gene Flowers are bound to give Hope something to think about Saturday. Reed, who has been proving himself to be everything everyone said about him this season, is a halfback who has been ripping the opposition apart on long gains. Stanski, a quarterback, has been the boy who has been the ball-handling ace in the Nulf "T" and is always an alert contender, while Flowers, a 185-pound fullback has been picking up that needed yard through tackle.

Both Hope and the Hornets work from a "T" formation with other additional devices as the flanker man in motion and open formations.

Following are the scores of the Hope-Kazoo games since 1910: In 1910 Kazoo won 10-6; 1911 Kazoo 8-0; 1912 Kazoo 6-4; 1913 Kazoo 27-0; 1918 Hope 14-13; 1919 Kazoo 30-0; 1920 Kazoo 20-0; 1923 Kazoo 34-0; 1927 Kazoo 26-6; 1928 Kazoo 7-0; 1929 Hope 19-13; 1930 Kazoo 14-0; 1931 Kazoo 20-19; 1932 0-0 (tie); 1933 0-0 (tie); 1934 Kazoo 6-0; 1935 Kazoo 20-0; 1936 Kazoo 13-7; 1937 Kazoo 26-0; 1938 7-7 (tie); 1939 Hope 7-0; 1940 Hope 6-0; 1941 6-6 (tie); 1942 Kazoo 24-6; 1946 Kazoo 13-0.

Last year's 13-0 victory by Kazoo over Hope knocked the Dutchmen from their dignified rank of "the only unbeaten team in the state." Kalamazoo has scored 106 points to 33 for their opponents while Hollanders have tallied 86 points to 42 for their opposition.

Missionary Union Has Successful Meeting

First Christian Reformed church of Zeeland was filled to capacity Thursday afternoon and evening, when the Woman's Missionary Union of the Christian Reformed churches of Holland, Zeeland and vicinity gathered for its 44th consecutive semi-annual meeting. The day's program, presided over by Mrs. Robert Pool, Union president, included talks by speakers from various mission fields. First speaker was the Rev. Herman Schripsema, formerly of Pine Creek, now missionary on the Indian field.

Rev. Schripsema, choosing as his topic, "The Progress of Christianity in Navaho Land," told of the accomplishments of this work begun by the denomination 51 years ago, and stated these were yet far from the goal set, namely, an established church under Navaho leadership.

Mrs. Gerald Nykerk, who with her husband, Dr. Nykerk, left Holland for work in Arabia several years ago, gave an interesting talk on their work. Mrs. Nykerk stated that the people of Arabia are a very religious people, but "they know not the Christ who alone can save from sins." Their religion however is an obstacle to the bringing of the true Gospel, and makes work very difficult. Mrs. Nykerk urged the people at home to more consecrated prayer, and application of Christianity to everyday living.

Music for the afternoon included two vocal solos by Mrs. Gareth Kok, "That One Lost Sheep" and "Speak My Lord."

The evening program was preceded by a 15-minute song service with Bernard Sharpe of Zeeland directing. Speakers for the evening program were the Rev. A. Huisjen, who for a number of years has been doing mission work among the Jewish people in Chicago. Mr. Huisjen until recently was one of the regular Nathaniel Institute staff, but stated that since early fall he has been busy formulating an expansion program, which includes a census taking of the Jewish people in Chicago. "We are heirs of the promise God established with Israel," said Mr. Huisjen, "and we never have the right to assume an un-Christian attitude toward them, as is so prevalent in the world today."

Miss Tena Huizenga, R. N., who will soon return to her work on the Nigerian field also spoke. She stated that the African natives are showing a great eagerness to hear the Gospel message, and that already the church established a little over 20 years ago has sent out its own native workers. Miss Huizenga stated too that the work in the dispensary has grown to such proportions that the three nurses there are kept very busy, and a doctor is very busy.

The mission at Lagos, through several new workers have left or will soon leave for the work in Africa," said Miss Huizenga, "we must have many more workers."

The Gospel Four male quartet sang two numbers, "My Happy Home" and "Roll, Roll, Billows, Roll."

The supper hour program, presided over by Mrs. M. Bolt, included a talk by Mrs. Anna Pette Grundy of India. Mrs. Grundy works in the mountainous area of Tibet, and is in charge of a number of orphaned children. These children receive a Christian training.

Out-of-Wedlock Birth Rate Down

Illegitimacy is on the wane in Michigan, after a wartime peak, in comparison with the total number of recorded births, State Health Department records indicated.

Gertrude Pienta, director of records and statistics, said the number of illegitimate births is still rising but their percentage to total births is on the downgrade.

"The situation is no more alarming as a social problem than in the past," she said.

Department records show that last year 3,908 babies were illegitimate of 138,572 born, the percentage being 2.8. In 1945 the 3,485 such births were 3.1 of the 111,557 births recorded.

Miss Pienta said 1947 illegitimate births to date are 2.7 per cent of all births, or about the 1944 level. Before World War II, she said the average for a number of years was 2.5 per cent.

Illegitimacy as a percentage of total births was 2.0 in 1942 and 1943, then rose sharply in the next two war years.

Illegitimate births averaged 1.5 per cent after World War I and a gradual rise began in 1935, she said.

Hollanders Gird For Friday Tilt At St. Joseph

Fresh from a stunning upset over Muskegon last Friday, the Holland High gridders today prepared for their last non-conference foe of the year. The locals will journey to St. Joseph to meet the Bears under the lights Friday. Coach Bob Stupka's men will be out after their third win against three defeats.

Although St. Joseph is a class B institution, they are still a formidable foe, Stupka warned his men Monday. They are one of the leaders in the Big Six conference, and last week walloped an average Niles eleven. In the way of comparison, it would appear on paper at least, that the Bears would rate with the Grand Rapids Central Hilltoppers. St. Joseph whipped the Niles Vikings 36-0, a margin considerably higher than that scored by Central against the same Niles squad.

Holland coaches warned of overconfidence and a possible "let-down" as they stressed fundamental blocking and tackling in Monday's drills. Stupka said heavy practices were scheduled for the first part of the week, and a possible signal drill under the lights Thursday.

In reviewing the Muskegon game Friday night, Stupka, although satisfied with his gridders' showing, said the game was not particularly well played. Many minor lapses were revealed, he said, particularly in the Holland secondary. He was well satisfied with the work of the Holland line. There were no injuries on the Holland squad following Friday's conference battle.

Spence Van Alsburg, stellar Holland tackle, was named captain for the St. Joseph tilt.

The Southwestern conference is still a "mixed up" race with the Dutchmen still in the thick of it. The leader is undefeated Muskegon Heights, who haven't dropped a game in their last 23 starts. Kalamazoo and Muskegon have both dropped two engagements, with Grand Haven upsetting the Maroons from Kazoo and Holland knocking off the Big Reds. Benton Harbor, Holland and Grand Haven have each lost one game. The Hollanders will meet Benton Harbor here on Nov. 8 and will journey to Grand Haven on Nov. 14.

Dutchmen Whip Michigan Normal In Driving Rain

Emery Scores Both Hope Touchdowns After
Locals Trail 7-0

Hope college battled the elements and Michigan Normal to a 12-7 triumph Saturday afternoon in Ypsilanti. Practically the entire contest was played in a driving rain storm which turned the green turf into a mass of mud.

It was a constant trading of punts as the Hurons and the Dutchmen failed to penetrate each others' line. But just as the first half was to end, the locals began edging their way toward "pay dirt". Line plunges brought the ball to the one-foot line. Then as the locals lined up for the potential touchdown play, the horn blew ending the half.

In the second half on the second play for Hope, Nick Yonker whipped a pass from the Hurons 40 to the intended receiver in the flat. But a gambling back from Ypsilanti leaped high in the air and caught the ball on his fingertips and ran untouched to the end zone, a 60-yard jaunt. If the pass had been inches higher the Hurons would have been responsible for a Dutch touchdown for there was no one else between the pass receiver and the goal, 40-yards away.

But a determined bunch of Dutchmen wasted no time in scoring on the Hurons who held a 7-0 lead. Just as the third quarter ended Bob Emery took off from the Huron 30 and scampered around right end for a touchdown. Dick Higgs' conversion was a foot wide and the locals were in a ticklish situation with the score 7-6 against them and less than a quarter to go.

But it didn't take long for Bob Emery to go again as he took the ball from Nick Yonker and broke his way through tackle on a quick opening play. Four men hit Emery as he raced, touchdown bound, for the goal line. He went into the end zone standing up to give the Dutch a 12-7 lead. Higgs' conversion was blocked and the score remained the same until the game ended several minutes later.

Although it was the power full strides of Bob Emery that netted the Dutch victory, superb quarterbacking by Nick Yonker brought the ball within striking distance at all times. In the first half Eddie Leverette and Jim Pfingstel took the running laurels and relinquished them to Emery in the second half.

Contrary to expectations the Hollanders took to the airways frequently. Nick Yonker, ace passer, was hitting sharply Saturday even with the ball dropping wet.

This week the Dutchmen will be out to stop one of the unbeaten teams in the MIAA, the Kalamazoo Hornets. The Hornets will swarm Riverview park Saturday for the Hope homecoming classic.

Miss Nella Meyer Plays At Faculty Dames Tea

A profusion of late summer flowers and autumn leaves decorated the home of Mrs. Irwin J. Lubbers Thursday afternoon for the guest tea arranged by the Faculty Dames of Hope college. New members were honored at the event which attracted nearly 100 women of the community.

Assisting Mrs. Lubbers as hostess were Mesdames Henry Ten Hoer, William Schrier, Clarence De Graaf and William Miller.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Lubbers, president of the Dames. Mrs. M. E. Osterhaven, vice-president and program chairman, introduced Miss Nella Meyer, associate professor of French, who presented a piano recital.

Miss Meyer talked informally about music, its form, color and texture, suggesting that music is more intangible than many forms of artistic expression.

Her opening numbers were "Nocturne in F," a Prelude and an Impromptu, by Chopin. She discussed the works of Brahms, and played "Intermezzo in B flat minor," also "Capriccio."

In a modern, descriptive group, Miss Meyer included "It Is Raining in the City," Hubay; a Spanish gypsy number, "Sagra Molte," Turina; "Run, Run," by Pinto, Brazilian composer, and "Reflections in the Water," Debussy.

Tea and coffee were served from an attractively decorated table, with Mrs. George A. Pelgrim and Miss Emma Reever, Hope college dean of women, pouring.

Little Maroons Bow To Muskegon Reserves

Coach Carol Norlin's Holland reserves held a 6-0 lead over the Muskegon reserves for most of the first half of their tilt Friday afternoon, before bowing in a strong second half scoring spurge 19-6. The locals were playing without the services of several regulars, due to ineligibilities and injuries.

"If I had the ineligibles and cripples playing, I think we would have taken the tilt," Norlin said. Holland scored its touchdown early in the first quarter on a pass from Roy Morris to Jim Slaght from the Muskegon 25-yard line. Slaght missed the conversion leaving the count 6-0. The locals continued to outplay the Little Reds throughout the first half, but couldn't reach "pay dirt" again.

The Muskies came back strong in the third quarter to score twice, the first tally coming on a 29-yard run by Troy Butler around Holland's left end. The conversion was missed. A touchdown and point was added soon after when Hank Warren went over for Muskegon from the two. The final marker came in the fourth when the Muskegon lads again scored from the two after recovering a Holland fumble.

Shoe-maker debated whether the Presbyterian church should join with the Reformed church. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Weevils Causing Trouble on Farms

Weevils and bran beetles are causing trouble on many Michigan farms, according to a report by Ray L. James, extension entomologist at Michigan State college.

The infestation is usually worse in grain which was damp when placed in the bins. Because of the dampness, heating has occurred and caused the insects to multiply rapidly. The first line of defense is to ventilate, dry and cool the grain. If it is definitely found that the insects have infested the grain, steps must be taken to fumigate.

When fumigating, use a mixture of three parts of ethylene dichloride and one part of carbon tetrachloride. This should be used at the rate of five gallons of the mixture per 1,000 bushels. Don't breathe the fumes any more than necessary and remember the ethylene dichloride can be poisonous if not handled right. DDT and similar materials should not be mixed with the grain to control the insects.

The granary or bins should be tight and better control can be expected if a water-proof tarpaulin is fitted over the grain. Don't fumigate if the temperature of the grain is below 65 degrees.

When mildew or musty wheat conditions are present, John Vaughn, MSC extension entomologist, advises farmers to ventilate the grain as soon as possible in order to lower the moisture content and temperature.

Volleyballs From Ambush

HOLLAND'S LARGEST football crowd of the season saw superlative halftime entertainment Friday night. Muskegon High and Holland High bands, both rated tops in Class A musical circles, paraded and played for the full rest period and both proved highly capable.

Muskegon marched into two intricate designs that drew applause from Holland partisans. First they formed a flower plot, outlined in white lights. Then a green stem appeared and finally an orange tulip took shape.

A second honor to Holland was the tiered cake, topped by flares to represent candles. The band played the Anniversary Waltz in honor of the Centennial year. William Stewart is music director of the band.

Then Holland took the field and worked out a theme on styles that was most amusing. Finally as a salute to Muskegon, Everett Klinger's charges formed a script M while they played Muskegon's fight song.

Climax to the marching was the formation of a solitaire to honor the announcement of the engagement of Coach Bob Stupka. The band played "For Sentimental Reasons."

Both bands lived up to their ratings as top notch outfits.

The Ambusher has learned that the call letters of Holland's new radio station, scheduled to take the air Jan. 1, 1948, will be WHTC. Maybe you didn't know, but federal regulations require all stations east of the Mississippi to begin with the letter W. The HTC will stand for Holland Tulip City. So it will be WHTC.

Stations west of the Mississippi, incidentally, all begin with the letter K.

WHTC plans to broadcast on a frequency of 1450 kilocycles with a power of 250 watts. The station is owned by six local businessmen.

Ike Eisenhower (well everybody else called the general "Ike") has received a golden sword from Ambassador Eelco N. van Kleeffens. The sword is the gift of Queen Wilhelmina in behalf of the Netherlands people to commemorate Eisenhower's leadership of liberating Allied armies. The handle and scabbard are encrusted with jewels. On the scabbard appear the names of places of where important battles were fought in the liberation of Holland.

"The press has now arrived at a point where it has a greater duty and opportunity to serve than ever before," Gov. Kim Sigler told the 23rd annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' association.

"As a result of our shrinking world, it is necessary as never before that our people know the rudiments of the intricate field of foreign relations, and have some idea of what is going on in Russia, the Balkans, and in England. In this atomic age, the newspapers—large and small—have the added burden of exercising a high degree of statesmanship, so that a misinformed or half-informed public doesn't go off half-cocked."

The governor, keeping one of the few speaking engagements he did not cancel because of his recent illness, flew to Harrisburg to speak.

It was hard to tell whether the adults or the kids had the most fun at a cub pack meeting in Froebel school a few days ago.

All Cubs and sponsors came dressed as cowboys in keeping with the evening's theme, "Fall Roundup." Make-shift chaps, colored kerchiefs, miniature guns and borrowed hats were prominent. Cubs of the three dens gave cowboy skits, mostly singing.

Cub awards and promotions always fascinate the newcomer. Jim Fairbanks and Larry Den Uyl were made new bobcats. Mervyn Van Doornik a bear. Carl Kammeraad a wolf. Dave Beernink a wolf with a gold arrow and Billy Ridway a wolf with gold and silver arrows.

Dr. S. S. Tiesinga, assistant cubmaster, made the awards and Cubmaster Elmer Northuis took charge of the campfire program.

A few days ago the Ambusher admitted a weakness for onion soup, but lamented that he'd eaten a bowl of it just before attending a wedding. Sam W. Miller, 176 East 10th St., wrote in to say it was too bad the Ambusher didn't know that chewing a sprig of fresh parsley would remove the offending odor.

Thanks for the tip, Sam. You might be interested to know that I had a bowl of Dutch onion soup this very day and did chew some parsley afterward.

The Mrs. Ambusher hasn't called attention to my baited breath so far today, so the parsley must have worked.

Sam Miller is, perhaps, Holland's best known host. His restaurant at the PM station was years the best patronized eatery hereabouts. Thanks again, Sam.

BOOK CLUBS

The book clubs have been in existence for a long time, and the public has gained many benefits from their operation. Thousands of people now have at least the nucleus of a home library who seldom bought a book before this idea was conceived. Readers in out-of-the-way corners of the country are as near to a bookstore as the nearest mailbox, and they have made full use of their opportunities.

Independent booksellers, however, have long had a grievance against this system of selling. The book clubs undersell the market,
making it harder for bookshops
to make a living. Representatives of the latter are now threatening to take the matter to the courts.
Suit may be brought against some of the major publishing houses on the basis of unfair trade practices, since their rates to the clubs are smaller than those to the booksellers.

The book clubs bring huge profits to a publisher, on even one popular book. The booksellers, who have, in most cases, large selling costs which include an overhead expense not incurred by the clubs, seem to have a just complaint.

What the consumer would like
is lower prices on all books—well, almost all. He can go to a good many movies for the price of one novel. Naturally the vogue of the pocket books spreads. Why not more and better titles in this form? asks the reader. Reserve the fine papers and bindings for books which one wants to read
many times and hold many years.
But the popular novel, here today and forgotten tomorrow, might well come out for a quarter. And that is more than many of them
are worth.

New Wage Report System
Saves Employer's Time

More than 23,000 Michigan employers will be relieved of the responsibility of turning in quarterly wage slips listing the earnings of each of their employees, Emerson J. Poag, chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation, has announced.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 1948, employers will be required to report on the wages of only those workers who are laid off and make a claim of unemployment benefit. Instead of making the reports quarterly the employer
will be required to make them within seven days after the worker files his claim.

The new system will save
work not only for the employer
but also for the commission, which annually for 10 years has had the problem of filing and handling more than eight million individual wage slips, less than 25 per cent of which were ever used.

Allegan Extension Agents
To Attend Conference

Allegan county's extension
agents will spend the week of Oct.
27 at Michigan State college, East Lansing, at the 34th annual conference of Michigan extension workers.

Attending from the county will be A. D. Morley, county agricultural agent; Mary E. Bullis, home demonstration agent and F. Earl Haas, 4-H club agent.

The conference will bring together people employed in the agricultural and home economics
extension program in Michigan.
Farm and home planning will be the featured topic of discussion at the session, although all phases of farms and homemaking will be covered.

Special sessions have been arranged for the county agents,
home agents and 4-H club agents in addition to general sessions for all extension personnel.

Out-of-state speakers in addition to college staff members will speak to the groups and agents will arrange fall, winter and spring schedules with the extension specialists.

Religion in Practice
James 1:22-27; 2:14-20
By Henry Geerlings

The authorship and the date of the writings of this letter have long been in dispute. There are three and possibly four men by the name of James in the New Testament. It is not always easy to distinguish them. What we attribute to one may be in some cases attributed to another. There are those who believe that the epistle may have been written by any one of the three or four; and each of them has his defenders.
But the consensus of opinion seems to be strongly in favor of James, the brother of the Lord.

James did not believe that his brother, Jesus, was all he claimed to be until after the first Easter morning, when there was vouchsafed to him an appearance of the risen Lord. His acceptance of Jesus was hearty and his devotion from that day forward undiminished. He arose to a position of eminence in the church. He was the first bishop of the church in Jerusalem, the mother church, and exercised a powerful influence in the establishment and promulgation of early Christianity. James is the same name as the Old Testament Jacob. One may inquire why he did not call himself the brother of the Lord, for the record is very clear as to that relationship. Instead he calls himself the servant, more literally the bondservant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ. Indeed the literal meaning of the word servant
is slave, and carries the two-fold significance of the absolute submission of the writer and the supreme authority of the Savior.

There were Jewish Christians scattered over many countries at the time this letter was written,
and James was interested in all of them, and not only those who lived in Palestine. His letter, therefore, was addressed to the Dispersion, or to those Christians who were living in other lands.

James presents the practical side of the Christian religion. One can discern as he reads the epistle that underneath every line
written there is sound Christian doctrine. What he aimed to do was to relate faith and life, or faith and good works. He does not exalt works as against faith, but faith as producing good works. He seems to have written before the great doctrinal controversies arose. He had no sympathy with the position that faith in the sense of dogma is sufficient. Faith is necessary, yes, but it is a dead thing unless it shows itself by its good works.

James wrote with authority, the kind of authority so much desired today. His position in the church, and the responsibilities
thus coming to him, made him a careful observer of all that went on in the church. He was an administrator and so was concerned about the practical relationships
of the members of the church.
His epistle has a practical ring to
it. It indicates that it was written by a man who was deeply concerned in having the faith of Christians produce the fruit of the Spirit.

He took account of the tendencies and drifts among Christians.
He warned, advised, and prescribed, not as an arbitrary overlord
but as a fellow Christian, whose life was devoted to keeping the church pure. One reads the epistle confident that better results would be assured in the church if the epistle were read often and followed more closely.

The writer emphasizes the fact that hearing is important, but he objects to a failure to put hearing into practice. It is the same thought Jesus gave in the Sermon on the Mount. You build your house on the sand when you hear the sayings of Christ and do not do them. The man who does that is self-deceived, says James.
Young people often fail here.
They listen to a lot of advice,
many good things, from their elders, from their ministers, and sometimes they even read the Bible and yet go on their way doing nothing about it. Such people are like to a man beholding himself in a mirror who then turns away-ysh owou-n do

hwy quickly and forgets how he looked. Christians are urged to look into the Christian law of liberty continually. There they will see their best selves, their ideals.

Three specific suggestions are made. Control your tongue, visit the fatherless, and keep yourselves unspotted from the world.
James condemned the wagging tongues fearfully. It was good that he did. Every generation needs help along this line—the careless word, the curse word,
gossip, slander, are unchristian.
Care for widows and orphans was at first a church responsibility.
We have generally relegated it to Community Chests. Clean living is also required of the Christian.
Too often we try to keep one foot in the world, and one foot in the church. That is wrong.

Better Schools Exchange Topic

Modification of the 15-mill amendment and change in the school district pattern are two ways in which better school plants
may be secured in Michigan, it was revealed before local Exchanges Monday noon in the Warm Friend Tavern by Wilford
F. Clapp of Lansing, chief of the division of school plants of the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

"Modern Schools and Conditions in School Plants in Michigan Today" was the topic of Clapp's address. He was introduced by Ernest V. Hartman of the Holland board of education.

"The school building picture in Michigan generally is deplorable," stated the speaker. "A conservative estimate is that now $275-000,000 will be needed to put our school buildings in good condition."

According to a recent report, 20,000 children in Michigan are attending schools built before 1883; approximately half of Michigan's school children occupy schools built before World War
I. Speaking of fire traps, Clapp remarked, "Only kind Providence
has kept us from having tragies
in this state."

Additional methods of improving school finance were suggested as being an appropriation of state aid for school buildings and establishment of a sinking fund,
which is "only a common sense
look ahead."

The architectural trend in new school buildings today is, widespread one-story plants with daylight lighting, the speaker concluded.

Dan Vander Werf of the Kiwanis club was introduced by Exchange inter-club chairman
Vernon Ten Cate. Vander Werf announced the Dale Carnegie speech course which will begin Thursday evening in Holland.

liam Nykamp, Gertie Lankheet, Gillis Lankheet, John Klynstra,

man, Russell Koopman, John Ar-
ink, John H. Buscher, Henry

Buscher, Gordon Peters, Harvey

series of weekly articles taken from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 32
years ago.)

Last night at Aerie headquarters on River Street the Eagles of this city held their eighth anniversary celebration, and in honor of the event 225 of the members of the FOE were banqueted in royal style, began a story in the March 27 issue of the Holland Daily
Sentinel published in 1915.

The special meeting of the Commercial club of Saugatuck was held for the discussion of good roads. The proposition is to issue bonds for $36,000 to build a double width stone road along the route of the West Michigan Pike through the township. This, it is figured, will be enough to build the road and when it is completed the state reward of $3,400
a mile can be used to build other stone roads through the township.

prime object of punishment is to build a criminal and defective

of argument of a very able pa-

Genzink-Strabbing
Vows Exchanged

An altar arrayed with ferns, pinks, candelabra and baskets of white mums formed the setting for the marriage of Miss Gladys Strabbing and James Genzink. The impressive candlelight service was held Friday night in the chapel of the Graafschap Christian Reformed church. The Rev. H. Bly-stra officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Richard Strabbing, route 6, and the groom is the son of Mrs. George Genzink, also of route 6.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Rachel Den Bley-ker who also accompanied Mrs.
Oliver Den Bleyker while she sang "I Love You Truly" and the wedding prayer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar gowned in white satin styled with a high neckline and pointed yoke trimmed with a satin ruffle. The sleeves tapered into points and a row of buttons extended down the back to the waistline. Her full skirt featured a long train and her fingertip veil was edged with satin. A single strand of pearls was her only ornament. She carried a bouquet of white roses interspersed with pink roses.

Miss Lois Strabbing, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor, wearing a pink taffeta gown with a net overskirt and matching net headpiece. Her bouquet was of pink roses dotted with tiny white mums and tied with a large blue bow.

Donald Genzink, brother of the groom, assisted as best man. The guests were seated by Edward Genzink, another brother of the groom, and Justin Volkers, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for 75 guests who were served by the Misses Cornelia and Sylvia Blystra, Myra Lambers, Joan Strabbing, Hazel Heider and Mrs. Henry Knuthoff. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Strabbing were master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Jerome Den Bleyker and Mrs. Harvey Tubergen presided at the punch bowl.

The couple left on a Canadian wedding trip, the bride wearing a light blue suit touched with silver studs and a brown coat with brown and off-white accessories.
Her outfit was enhanced by a corsage of bronze roses. On their return the couple will live on route 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Genzink are life long residents of Holland and both attended Holland high school. The groom served in the

Excellent Service At Vrieling Garage

John Vrieling, local Ford dealer, maintains an excellent service garage at 159 River Ave. Genuine Ford parts are handled at the station and you'll always get the best mechanical experience, finest materials, and guaranteed fullest satisfaction, at Vrieling Motor Sales. It's wise to remember there's no place like home for Ford service—your Ford dealer knows your Ford best.

Even though new cars are being received, production is still far behind demand, according to Mr. Vrieling. He advises car owners to take good care of their present automobiles as they may have to use them for some time.

The garage is well-equipped to give good service. The service department is in charge of Al Bouman who has had many years of mechanical experience. An adequate stock of genuine Ford parts is another feature of the garage. This department is headed by Irvin Vrieling and Ben Lansing.

Experienced men will service your car at Vrieling Motor Sales. Take your car in for a winter check-up.

Teen-Age Looters Caught By Officer on Alley Beat

Two teen-age minors chose the wrong time to break into the Army Surplus store on East Eighth St. Sunday night when they virtually ran into Patrolman Chuck Dulyea as he was patrolling the alley between 11 p.m. and midnight.

Dulyea and other officers later recovered the loot the youths had dropped into a lilac bush nearby. The loot consisted of a jacket, gloves, socks, cigarette lighters and combination match holders and compasses.

Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff said the pair admitted breaking into the Lakeshore Produce store on River Ave. earlier. They were to be questioned further this afternoon in regard to other recent break-ins.

Wood-Carver to Discuss His Work in Hope Church

The magnificent wood carving of The Lord's Supper which graces the recently completed communion table of Hope church (pictured above) will be discussed by its creator, Alois Lang of Grand Rapids, at the evening service in the church tomorrow. Mr. Lang will talk to the adult group of the School of Christian Living which meets at 7 p.m. in the church parlors.

Mr. Lang, a man who easily ranks among the foremost of America's wood-carvers, was born in 1871 in Oberammergau, Bavaria, where through their excellent system of apprenticeship, craftsmen are developed in all the industrial arts. He is a member of that well-known Lang family, a cousin of Anton Lang who has played the part of Jesus three times in the Passion Play.

After serving his apprenticeship, Mr. Lang spent three years at the carving school in Oberammergau, and in 1890 came to America. He has worked in the various carving studios throughout the country, returning to Europe for a few years before the turn of the century. He has been with a Grand Rapids firm since 1903. In 1880 and 1890 he took part in the Passion Play, singing tenor solos in the chorus.

The Hope church carving was a gift of Mrs. A. C. Keppel in memory of her late husband. The stained glass window, above, part of the improvement to the church, was presented in the memory of Nicodemus Bosch by the Bosch and Yeomans families. Clyde Geerlings was the photographer.

Zeeland Couple United In Church Ceremony

Before an altar decorated with white mums, seven-branch candelabra and spreading greenery, Miss Catherine Dykstra, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Dykstra, and Orman Van Haitsma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Van Haitsma, all of Zeeland, spoke their wedding vows Thursday night at North Street Christian Reformed church, Zeeland. Music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Herbert Pals of South Holland, Ill.

The marriage service was read by the Rev. L. Van Haitsma and the Rev. Dykstra.

Preceding the ceremony Henry Yonkman of South Holland, Ill., sang "Because" and "God Gave You to Me." At the close of the service he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who approached the altar on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, wore a gown of white brocade satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and short pleated skirt extended into a long train. Her veil of illusion was edged with lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Miss Jeanette Dykstra, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a pink brocade satin gown with matching tiara and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white rose buds tied with white satin streamers.

Bridesmaids, Miss Geneva Van Haitsma and Mrs. Harvey Tinsch, wore matching gowns of pale blue with blue tiaras and carried colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds with pink satin streamers. Lynn Van Ede, flower girl, wore a white brocade satin gown fashioned like the bride's. She scattered rose petals along the bridal path.

Alvin Leenhouts was best man and Martin Dykstra and Lester Kamps acted as groomsmen.

Following the marriage service a reception was held at Zeeland City hall with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pals acting as master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Alma Zwagerman and Miss Anette Dykstra were in charge of the punch bowl and Miss Fern Bratt and Preston Petroelje were in charge of gifts.

Use the Unusual For Flower Vases

These days things aren't always what they seem! Antique shops are being canvassed for all sorts of items which are put to a variety of uses other than those for which they were originally intended. Brass cuspidors become holders for trailing vines, ancient coffee grinders are wired into lamps and old fashioned bean pots filled with fresh flowers become living room adornment.

Perhaps you prefer shining, modern accessories rather than disguised antiques. Look about your own kitchen for bright and charming flower containers. If you have a tall porcelain enameled pitcher, fill it with autumn's first chrysanthemums.

Or, put tiny marigolds in a porcelain enameled drinking cup for a colorful accent to the dark wood of a coffee table. Look about your kitchen for other unusual flower containers. They'll lend a dash of informality that's interesting and pleasing to almost any room of the house.

We Americans never cared much for the English, but when they get into a tight hole we have to admit that they generally seem to have what it takes.

We might do without austerity if we were sure of posterity.

Sports Briefs

If anyone wondered why the flags were at half mast at the football games last Saturday, it was to mark the return of the World War II dead aboard the Honda Knot which docked on the West Coast.

It seems as though the Hurricanes are going to have the same problem that Hope college had last year. That is to find football pants to fit 265-pound Dell Koop. The game was no more than three minutes old Saturday night when a whistle blew—time out, Holland. A small huddle formed around Koop while the Holland manager hastily taped Koop's trousers to prevent further accidents. That's why managers sometimes get bald.

Holland High's band, under the direction of Everett Kisinger really entered into the spirit of the street lighting ceremonies last Saturday night. In addition to playing for the ceremonies downtown, the band also put on a brilliant demonstration between halves of the Hurricane-Montague game Saturday night. We say brilliant, because it was, in more ways than one. After counter marching for several minutes, the band formation broke up and formed two long posts with a street light hanging from each. Then while the lights at the stadium were turned out, and only the lights on the cape of the band members were visible, the band played, "Our Town Will Shine Tonight".

Chuck Heneveld South Shore drive recently received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Keeler of Altadena, Calif., and formerly of Holland, reporting their son Bernard had recently played in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. According to the letter, Bernard plays fullback for the undefeated Elliot High school eleven which recently took part in a Pasadena football circus played before 26,000 fans in the Rose Bowl. Young Keeler is a distant relative of Lloyd Heneveld of Holland who plays for Fritz Crisler's Wolverines.

Johnny Lujack's passing record at Notre Dame certainly is nothing to be taken lightly. A glance at his record compiled at Notre Dame in 1943 and 1946 will bear out any publicity statements. In 171 passing attempts Lujack has completed 83 of them for a percentage of 485. The 83 completions were good for 1,303 yards or an average of 15.7 yards per completed pass. Over the two-year period Lujack averaged 7.62 yards every time he throws the ball.

Coach Bob Stupka of Holland High now has a new incentive to put out a winning team. Thursday he verified a rumor concerning his marital aspirations. Evidently when he returned to Wisconsin a couple of weeks ago, he was carrying a solitaire diamond. Reporters tried to get her name and address (for the files of course) but the best they could find out is that she hails from Portage, Wis., and is a graduate of Whitewater State Teachers college. By the way she's a brunet and not a blond.

No matter how serious a football practice may be, there always seems to be some wise crack for stimulation of one sort or another. We overheard one of the younger gridders "come out" with a pretty good one, at least it was applicable. The coach was giving the gridders their pre game exercises, and at this particular time was concentrating on the "riding the bicycle" drill. This consists of laying on your back, while you revolve your feet in the air, just as if you were riding the bicycle. At any rate at the time that we approached, the coach yelled, "Hey there Junior, what's the matter? Let's get moving". Back came the weak reply, "I'm coasting, coach".

Vern Vande Water has been termed "Old Automatic" by some of his admirers recently. The reason is that Vern has yet to miss a place kick for the Holland Hurricanes. He kicked two against Benton Harbor, one against Grand Rapids and five against Montague for a total of eight out of eight.

Report comes from Grand Rapids this week that Calvin college has completed plans for a new athletic building. The plans, which must still be approved by the college board of trustees, calls for a seating capacity of 5,000 spectators. This would make the building the city's largest, because Burton gym, the biggest in Grand Rapids at present, won't seat many more than 2,000. Samuel Van Til, field representative for the college, said the building would also be used for other purposes than Calvin's basketball games. The report says the building will not be erected on the present campus. Other rooms in the new building will be men's and women's lounges, soundproof music rooms, offices for student activities and eating facilities.

It doesn't take long to discover that the basketball season is not far off. Good evidence of the fact is the freshly varnished Armory floor. Henry (Paenie) Rowan has just completed cleaning the entire floor with an electric scrubber, and putting on a shiny coat of varnish. If you don't think it isn't a tough job, take a scrubber and go to work on your front pavement, for a half a block or so.

A speed of 1,400 miles per hour has just been attained by Navy jet engines. This should just keep up with the rising cost of living.

Holland State Park Still Open For Late Picnics

Big Season Attracts 1 1/2 Million Visitors To Ottawa Beach

Clare Broad, manager of Holland State park at Ottawa beach, today reviewed a particularly successful season which attracted 1,545,570 persons to the local state park since its official opening on Memorial day.

Attendance at the Holland park was second only to the state record of 1,890,000 at Grand Haven State park. Bay City ranked third, Holland and Bay City often alternate in second and third places.

With beautiful fall weather remaining in October, the park manager has arranged to keep stoves and tables available for late picnickers. Water has been shut off, a fact generally known to late picnickers who carry an extra thermos jug for the purpose.

Broad and his assistant, John Goerds of Holland, will remain at the park working on maintenance until further orders from the park division of the Michigan Conservation department.

At present they are engaged in operating a department-owned 20-ton bulldozer leveling knolls east of the oval on a sand control program.

Unseasonably hot weather the latter part of August was responsible for attracting record crowds to the beach. On one Sunday, 44,000 visitors were counted. Record for the season was July 4 when 48,800 visited the park.

While the state department estimates an average of 34 to 4 per car on road travel, Broad believes cars at the beach have been carrying many more. He said he has seen jeeps, jolopies and other cars discharge 10 to 12 youngsters at a time. Many picnickers came on trucks.

Broad complimented late picnickers for keeping the park exceptionally clean. He said there was little "policing" after scattered picnics the last few weeks.

The busy 1947 season also attracted 1,868 "camps" at the state park including 1,133 tents and 733 trailers. Tent campers totaled 4,111 and trailers 2,575.

Michigan headed the camping list with 1,662 permits. Illinois was second with 64, Indiana third with 55 and Ohio fourth with 38. A scattering came from Kentucky, Massachusetts, Oregon, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Missouri, Iowa, Florida, Alabama, New York, Washington, Connecticut, Kansas, Texas, Georgia, Louisiana, Minnesota and Ontario.

Due to early frosts this year, late camping at the park has not been so much in demand by hazy fever sufferers as in other years, although several persons with such allergies have stopped at the park en route home from northern spots.

Broad and Goerds were assisted this summer by a staff which included Nelis Bade of Holland as life guard, Paul Mulder and James Spruit of Holland, Jack Tubergen of Grand Rapids and four Lansing men as park officers.

Review Is Heard By Woman's Club

Mrs. Bastian Kruithof, recording secretary of the Woman's Literary club, became entertained Tuesday when she presented a stirring review of the sensational Sinclair Lewis novel, "Kingsblood Royal," before members of the club. The book, hailed as "the novel that will shock the nation," deals with the Negro problem in the United States. The reviewer, completely without notes, carried her listeners with her into the story, with its subtle irony and tragic consequences.

Mrs. John K. Winter presided. Mrs. Carl Cook, representing the Holland Tulip Garden club, urged members to plant unusual varieties of tulips, narcissi and shrubs for exhibition in the "apocryphal" section of the flower show next spring.

Announcement was made that Public Affairs committee, which is working on 100 per cent registration of Holland citizens this fall, will meet next Tuesday at 1 p.m. for dessert in the club house. There will be a round table discussion.

Hospital committee held its first meeting Tuesday. Lunch was served at noon by Mesdames Jud Hohl, John Vaupell, E. E. Fell and Ralph Van Raalte.

Luncheon, Shower Given For Miss Phyllis Bittner

A luncheon and linen shower honoring Miss Phyllis Bittner, November bride-elect, was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank McIntyre at Douglas. Hostesses were Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. W. R. Gates.

Guests were the Mesdames John T. Barron, Ed G. Bittner, Edward B. Bittner, J. Devine, Charles Kohing, B. Devine, Fred Kohing, Luke Kuna, Dering, Merton Wieland, Kenneth Martin, Curby and the honored guest.

In his experiments to develop the incandescent light, Thomas E. Edison tried cardboard and a whisker of a man's beard for a filament.

Little remained today of an old frame house, built nearly a century ago on East 10th St. The old landmark, one of the few structures to escape the Holland fire of 1871, was razed in order to provide a site for a printing firm extension. Under the plaster were found newspapers dating back to 1863.

House Which Escaped Holland Fire Torn Down

Tearing down of an old frame house on East 10th St. just east of the Steketee-Van Huis Printing Co. marks the passing of an old landmark, one of the few structures which had escaped the big Holland fire of 1871.

Two weeks ago in preliminary razing, workmen found 80-year-old newspapers plastered upside down against the wall in an inner closet. This week they found still older papers containing stories of the Civil war in 1863 under the plaster lath in the front rooms.

Printing company officials, who own the property, removed as many scraps of the papers as possible.

One considerable chunk from a Detroit Free Press of Sept. 18, 1863, contained a story on the "so-called Southern Confederacy" in which deserters of Georgia were swimming the Tennessee river to join regiments of the Union Army.

Another story described the defenses of Chattanooga, and the progress of the Michigan Engineers on communications.

Another story clipping lists a special dispatch to The Free Press on the death of Col. William B. McCree of the 21st Infantry who was killed at Chattanooga. The dispatch also confirmed the death of Lt. Col. M. B. Wells of the same regiment.

One Detroit paper proudly announced that "Our war correspondence embraces all of our regiments, and our arrangements are such that we were able to give the earliest information after each battle of the accidents to any of our Michigan soldiers."

Other news announced the arrest of two slaves who went into the country and stole three cows and a horse, also the arrest of a butcher who bought the property, knowing it to have been stolen.

Plastered to the back of a Detroit paper was one printed in Dutch. The date was not available.

On the lighter side of the news is chronicled an elopement in Rhode Island in which a "buxom" woman of 40 summers and a middle-aged unmarried weaver escaped to the shore and took a sail boat, pursued by her two sons who seized a rowboat. A successful throw of the ballast stone broke one of the boy's oars and the elopement continued to Newport where the knot was tied.

The old house had been occupied for several years. Last person living there was a Mr. Postumus, a stone cutter. After he vacated, windows were boarded up. The house is torn down so that the printing firm may expand.

Construction in the early days of the Holland settlement was a far cry from modern building methods. This particular house was built with studdings 2 by 4, and 4 by 4 inches, with inner plank sidings 1 by 12 inches. Outer sidings were not put on immediately and in order to keep out the cold, lath was applied over the cracks. First wall paper with newspaper backing was applied directly on the sidings from the inside. Afterward, regular plaster lath was applied vertically and the interior was plastered and papered.

Lake Michigan Levels Given for September

The United State Lake Survey has reported the following mean stages for Lakes Michigan and Huron for September, determined from daily readings of staff gauges:

Feet above mean tide at New York 551; change in stage from August to September, this year, -12, average since 1900, -17; difference from stage of September, last year, 54 10-year-mean, 1.09; difference of stage from low-water datum, 2.50.

The lakes are .78 foot below the high stage of September, 1916, and 2.07 foot above the low stage of September, 1926.

Based on previous records, levels for October are likely to be 560.3 and not less than 560.6 feet.

One-seventh of the total area of Ireland is peat bog.

Woodland Fire Threatens Homes

About 40 acres of woodland located about two miles northwest of the Lakewood Blvd.-US-31 intersection were burned in a fire Tuesday afternoon which threatened four or five houses. The Holland township fire department and 150 volunteers fought two hours to bring the blaze under control.

Loss to the property, owned by John C. Duntion of Grand Rapids, was negligible, but many small trees were destroyed and large trees damaged. Trees in this plot were not part of the West Ottawa reforestation program.

The fire was not discovered until 20 acres had burned. The fire department used more than 500 feet of hose and about 175 gallons of water from its supply tank which has a capacity of 460 gallons.

Fire Chief Richard Vander Yacht directed all operations. Volunteers, many of whom were called home from factories by wives in the vicinity, used shovels and hand pumps. Vander Yacht expressed appreciation for the cooperation shown by the group, most of whom were not affiliated with the newly-organized volunteer system.

The fire was discovered at 2 p.m.

Dutchmen Upset Favored Reds

Stupkamen Come From Behind To Score Twice; Aerial Route Clicks

It finally happened. An inspired band of Holland gridders Friday night broke an age-old jinx at Riverview Park when they out-fought the Big Reds of Muskegon and notched a 13-7 win. The win was the first by a Holland High grid team over a Muskegon eleven in the long football history between the schools. To make the local win still more spectacular was the fact that Coach Bob Stupka's men had to overcome a 7-0 deficit. Coach Harry Potter's lads scored their touchdown in the second quarter, and the Hollanders retaliated with one each in the third and fourth quarters.

A fitting end to a hard fought, hectic ball game was the seemingly impossible catch made by Jack van der Veldt in the Holland end zone with four minutes remaining. He was surrounded by three Muskegon men while he jumped into the air, but came down with the pigniskin for the payoff touchdown. This was the second of two outstanding catches made by the Holland end. He set up the touchdown play a minute earlier when he took Kemper's pass from the fingertip of a Muskegon player and streaked to the Muskegon 22-yard line. Roger Prins then crashed off tackle for 11 yards to the Red's 11 yard line. A line buck by Malchow failed to gain, and Dave Kemper picked the winning pass to Jack.

The touchdown drive started on the Holland 37 yard line where Muskegon roughed Kemper, while passing, penalizing the Pottermen 15 yards. From then on they couldn't be stopped.

Holland's first marker also came by the aerial route when Kemper passed to Van Hekken from the Muskegon 22 in the early stages of the third quarter. After Muskegon took the Holland kickoff of the second half and failed to gain on three plays, the locals partially blocked a fourth down kick, with the ball rolling to the Muskegon 40. Kemper passed to Van Hekken for a first down on the Muskegon 21-yard stripe. Another pass was incomplete and an off tackle smash by Wlodarczyk was good for two yards before Kemper found Van Hekken in the end zone on a perfectly executed pass play. Bauman's conversion was good.

Muskegon's lone score came in the second quarter as a result of a seven play—82-yard march. After Muskegon received "he ball on their own 12-yard line following a Holland roughing the kicker penalty, the Big Reds looked like the Muskies of old. Two line plays by Bill Findorff and J. Babbitt took the ball to the 21 before Clair Rederstorff raced 32 yards to the Holland 47. Babbitt and Findorff reeled off another first down to the Holland 37, before Rederstorff sidestepped his way to the diagonal stripes for the score. Fullback M. Ward converted, giving the Reds their seventh point.

Fumbles and general sloppy play marked a good share of the first half while the second half saw both elevens sharpen their attacks. Holland's hard charging forward wall made a brilliant goal line stand late in the third quarter when Holland's quick kick was blocked on their own 11-yard line. Coach Ed Damson's sturdy line then rose to the occasion and held the Muskies for downs on the Holland two and a half yard marker.

The first quarter was played mainly between the two 20-yard lines with neither aggregation able to get their offenses clicking. There were several exchange of punts; with neither team gaining any appreciable yardage.

While the scoring was done in the last three quarters, Muskegon came perilously close to knotting the count in the remaining seconds of the game when a long pass from Stan Yonker to End P. Dekker moved the ball to the Holland 29-yard line. Holland, however, held for downs and "froze" the ball until the end of the fray.

Muskegon outweighed the locals to a man, but what the Stupkamen lacked in weight they made up in fight. Muskegon presented a strong line, and the locals had considerable difficulty in penetrating for any long running gains. Defensively the Hollanders sparked, not allowing the Red's much yardage with the exception of the touchdown march.

It would be difficult to single out any one Holland man who played an outstanding game, because all of the gridders displayed a fighting spirit which is going to prove "tough" for other Southwestern conference teams.

Holland definitely is in the running in the conference race now with every team but Muskegon Heights having tasted defeat. Muskegon and Kalamazoo have lost two conference engagements.

Holland garnered seven first downs while Muskegon also notched seven. The locals completed six out of 10 passes while the Reds made good on three out of 10.

Russian Tenor Pleases Audience in Chapel

Konstantin Sadko, Russian concert and opera tenor, presented a delightful recital of sacred and operatic songs in Hope Memorial chapel Friday night before an appreciative audience. Mr. Sadko, gifted with an unusual and powerful voice, pleased his listeners with his clear and bell-like quality. His falsetto, which he used frequently, is especially effective and remarkable.

His numbers included several well-known operatic arias, two Russian songs, Russian and Italian numbers. His native Russian songs were sung with special fervor and artistic understanding.

Serving as able accompanist was Miss Hazel Anne Uelen of Holland. Assisting with marimba solos was Miss Elizabeth Baran, accompanied by Miss Martha Ruth Baran.

The concert was sponsored by the Girls' chorus of Central Avenue Christian Reformed church.

Cornelius P. Zwemer

Man, 92, Remembers Van Raalte as Teacher

Cornelius P. Zwemer, who remembers when he had Dr. A. C. Van Raalte for his catechism teacher in the Pillar church, was 92 years old Saturday.

Son of a pioneer family, Zwemer was born in Grand Rapids in 1855 and spent his boyhood in Allegan county in the vicinity of Goshorn lake. He spent two winters in Holland attending school when he was 11 and 12, and it was then that he learned his catechism under Holland's founder.

Zwemer's grandparents and their two sons, John 18, and Adrian, 16, came to Holland with the original Van Raalte party in 1847. A little later John went to work for John Ball in Grand Rapids and Adrian went to English school there. Zwemer is a son of John.

"My father entered service in the Civil War when I was seven years old when we were living on two acres of cleared land near Goshorn lake and my mother would not let me go to the Singapore school. Our land was surrounded by tall hemlock and pine trees and owls would hoot at night," Zwemer said.

"I was 10 years old when my father came home from the war, so for the next two winters I attended school in Holland. When I was 13, I was called home to saw logs, hew ties and cut cordwood around Goshorn lake," Zwemer said.

Zwemer witnessed the big fire of 1871. During the preceding drought, the family had to use water from Goshorn lake because the wells had gone dry.

When fire threatened the farm, the elder Zwemer told his son, "Hitch the oxen to the big wagon and take your mother and the children to Grandpa in Sauganuck."

En route to "Grandpa's" house a half mile away, Zwemer's mother noticed seven cords of bark afire at F. B. Watkins' tannery and said to her son "You can't get by that, you'll burn the oxen!"

But Zwemer couldn't turn the oxen around in that spot, so he cut a whip and galloped the oxen through the flames satisfactorily. Further down the road they met Blacksmith Stanton who when he learned the Zwemer property was in danger took another man and helped Zwemer's father save the house and barn that night.

After his marriage, Zwemer and his wife, the former Mary Tubergen, operated a farm for several years. They moved to Holland 34 years ago on Zwemer's 58th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Zwemer died two years ago.

They had eight children, five of whom are living. They are George of Chicago, Mrs. H. Bartels of Muskegon Heights, Jacob Zwemer of Holland, John of Friesland, Wyo., and Mrs. Arthur De Jongh of Los Angeles. Another son, Joe, died four years ago. Two children died in infancy. There are 15 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. All four sons served in World War I.

Zwemer, eldest of six children, has one brother left, Henry P., 72, youngest member of the family. There also are two sisters-in-law, Mrs. John Mass of Holland and Mrs. Everett Zwemer of Los Angeles, and a brother-in-law, Bert Tubergen, who still farms Zwemer's original plot.

No special celebration is planned for the birthday anniversary but the children are expected home from Chicago and Muskegon for a family gathering at the Zwemer home at 27 West 16th St.

Despite his advanced age, Zwemer is far from done. He gets about easily. When asked for an interview, it turned out he preferred to prepare his own copy. This story is based almost exclusively on the material he wrote.

AAUW Hears Discussion On Problems of Far East

Dr. Charles Frederick Remer, professor of economics at the University of Michigan, who has spent considerable time in the Philippines and China, talked frankly and informally about immediate economic problems in the Far East before members of Holland branch, American Association of University Women, Thursday night. The meeting, which attracted nearly 60 women, was held in the home of Mrs. J. D. French, South Shore Dr.

Dr. Remer, who was in China in 1945, stated that the United States came out of the war with considerable prestige in the Far East, and he found it stimulating to hear American-educated Chinese admit that America won the war because of effective production and hard work.

Major and immediate problems discussed by the speaker included Korean unity, a necessity in the reconstruction and rehabilitation of southeast Asia; regulation and revival of Japanese trade; China's fight against inflation and the necessity of a better standard of living for the masses; and solving of the active resistance to the French Indo-China and against the Dutch in Indonesia.

China presents the most difficult problem the world faces, said the speaker, admitting that the outlook was "pretty hopeless." The Chinese are firmly convinced that the Yalta conference agreements were unfair to China, he said. He spent some time explaining and discussing the ancient Chinese civilization which has failed to provide a proper standard of living for a growing population.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Robert Horner. Miss Bernice Bishop, branch president, was in charge of the meeting and presented a message from Mrs. A. E. Rhoads, state president, outlining the educational aims of AAUW.

Several prospective members were introduced by Miss Clara McClellan, membership chairman. New year books were distributed by Mrs. Henry Steffens, program chairman. Mrs. Stuart Padnos talked about the Foster-Parent plan for European children, victims of the war.

Russians Can't Defeat America

"Whatever you may think of America, we can never defeat Russia, and Russia can never defeat America," Dr. Benjamin Masselink, Grand Rapids, world traveler and commentator on foreign affairs, told Rotarians at their luncheon meeting held Thursday noon in the Warm Friend Tavern.

"They are the same as we are," he went on to say. "There is but one solution to current world problems, the United Nations charter." Dr. Masselink asserted, "Inch by inch, day by day, year by year this fight for peace must go on, and, if it should take 20 years, it is better to spend this time than one day on the battlefield."

The speaker said that it took a long time for the Constitution of the United States, with its amendments, to achieve the distinction which it today enjoys, and that if persons when it was written had given up, our country would not have its present day status.

Dr. Masselink said that the world situation today is extremely delicate with Italy being on the verge of communism, and he urged the people of the United States to get in back of the UN to make it go.

Plans for the Rotary club Ladies night, which will be held next Thursday in the Tulip room of the Warm Friend Tavern, were made known at the meeting.
