Supervisors Okay Hiring Comptroller

Board Increases Own
Salary 20 Per Cent;
Dog Pound Gets Funds

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Three major decisions were made at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Tuesday afternoon, one to spread 4½ mills for county purposes, another to increase per diem for supervisors from $8 to $10, and the third to allocate at least $15,000 for a county comptroller, also called administrator or manager.

The board voted 18 to 12 in favor of the latter issue which was introduced by City Attorney James E. Townsend of Holland, seconded by Mayor Robert Visscher of Holland. Visscher had headed a committee last year which investigated possibilities of a county administrator, comparable to a city manager for a city. He recommended at that time that the program be instituted, but it was voted down.

Townsend pointed out that Ottawa county has passed the million dollar mark in annual budgets, and for good organization and efficiency, it is imperative that the new system be used.

Henry Slaughter, chairman of the ways and means committee, pointed out that the county is now in the red, $18,000 to the Clemen-shaw company, $2,500 on court house and grounds with 2½ months still to go, $8,000 on the sheriff's department, and $2,500 for hospitalization, for a total of $31,009.

Mayor Visscher said this was all the more reason why the county should have an administrator, who could make monthly financial reports if possible to keep all supervisors informed on finances. This was said with all respect to Slaughter who has handled the county's money in extremely good shape for many years. The $15,000 allocation will cover a study of the services of a comptroller and for salary and office expense if one is engaged.

In raising per diem fees 20 per cent, Chairman Martin Boon felt the board should not raise its own salaries when the county is faced with a million dollar budget, but Slaughter said Ottawa is the only county in the state paying $8. Albert Walcott of Wright township said Ottawa has always prided itself in being first in such things as voting machines and county-wide appraisals, but is at the bottom in per diem fees.

The board voted to appropriate $1,500 for the Ottawa County Humane Society for paying after proper billing for dogs destroyed at $1 each and $5 per week for dogs boarded while in quarantine. Final figure on the budget at present is $948,888.19 plus $184,353.48 for the improvement fund. Original total was listed at $950,999.99 with no change for the improvement fund. The board will consider a few more points before taking final action.

The board adopted a resolution granting permission to Consumers Power Co. to construct, operate and maintain a breakwater and deep water channel at Port Sheldon. The company was represented by Philip R. Brown.

Allegan Prosecutor Ray Resigns Post in Protest Move

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan County Prosecutor Chester A. Ray Wednesday told the County Board of Supervisors he was resigning from his post as soon as possible, in an action he termed a protest of the low salaries paid all Allegan County officers.

Ray, a Republican candidate to succeed himself on the November election, said he was unable to remove his name from the ballot but would not serve even if elected. The resignation would be effective as soon as a qualified successor is found, Ray said, but stated that in any case, he will not serve after Jan. 1.

Ray appeared before the board "as a taxpayer and a citizen" to protest Allegan County's reputation as "the poorest south of Town Line 16" and said he personally was weary of that distinction.

"I have contacted all but two attorneys in the county," Ray reported, "and none of them would take the job at the current $5,000 salary." The two men he referred

Van Raalte also bought the Reserve Champion hen, raised by John Janssen of Zeeland. It weighed 16½ pounds and went for $3.55 a pound for a total of $58.58. The Reserve Champion tom weighed 21 pounds, 15 ounces and also went to Van Raalte's at $1.75 for a total of $38.39. It was raised by Glen Kuyers of Allendale.

Auctioneer was Gerrit Van Kampen of Holland.

In a quick and orderly manner more than 1,200 residents of Holland and surrounding area were served a turkey supper by members of Home Economics organizations and 4-H leaders under the direction of Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk and Miss Mary Bullis, extension directors from Ottawa and Allegan counties, respectively.

Special music was provided by the Vanden Berg Brothers, the Misses Jane Handlogten and Marlan Bos of Coopersville 4-H, the Misses Janice Meeuwse and Yvonne Taylor of Rusk 4-H, and a group of singers from Allegan 4-H.

The two day event concluded this afternoon with special emphasis on eggs following a three hour breakfast held at Civic Center which attracted about 300 poultry and egg dealers and interested persons.

In charge of arrangements was George Stachwick, marketing specialist out of Zeeland, who was assisted by members of poultry industry, Ottawa and Allegan County Cooperative Extension staff and several volunteer leaders from Ottawa and Allegan Counties.

Of special interest to visitors Wednesday was the display in the lobby put on by the Marketing Specialists, Cooperative Extension Service out of Grand Rapids, with its various ways of preparing turkey.

Seek Car Involved In Theft, Accident

Allegan County deputies and Holland police today are seeking three young men, reportedly found stealing gas late Wednesday night at a farm just north of Overisel, who escaped after their car struck a nearby bridge and ran through a ditch.

According to the deputies, the three youths were stealing gas from the farm of Alvin Polkert when a neighbor, Ray DeJonge, came to investigate. The three jumped into a 1956 model blue-and-white hardtop, DeJonge said, and roared off down the road.

A short distance down the road, deputies said, the car skidded against the side of a narrow bridge, scraping off paint and losing a strip of chrome on the left rear side. The car then careened into a ditch and traveled for 50 feet before regaining the roadway and getting away.

Persons having knowledge of this car, damaged on the left rear side, are asked to contact the Allegan County Sheriff's Department or Holland police.

Allegan Prosecutor Ray Resigns Post in Protest Move

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan County Prosecutor Chester A. Ray Wednesday told the County Board of Supervisors he was resigning from his post as soon as possible, in an action he termed a protest of the low salaries paid all Allegan County officers.

Ray, a Republican candidate to succeed himself on the November election, said he was unable to remove his name from the ballot but would not serve even if elected. The resignation would be effective as soon as a qualified successor is found, Ray said, but stated that in any case, he will not serve after Jan. 1.

Ray appeared before the board "as a taxpayer and a citizen" to protest Allegan County's reputation as "the poorest south of Town Line 16" and said he personally was weary of that distinction.

"I have contacted all but two attorneys in the county," Ray reported, "and none of them would take the job at the current $5,000 salary." The two men he referred to were Walter Moore, Democratic candidate for prosecutor who has never been a practicing attorney, and Carl Hoffman, who is no longer active.

Ray said he previously requested that the salary be set at $7,500, but had learned that the salaries committee would report it back at a much lower figure.

In stressing that he was far more interested in the problems of other county officials than in his own, Ray told the board he would not serve even if the $7,500 figure were approved.

Several area attorneys, told of Ray's action, said the arduous post of prosecutor should pay "not less than $10,000 a year."

Ray, a practicing attorney for 19 years, five and a half of which have been spent as prosecuting attorney, was appointed to the post a year and a half ago to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dwight M. Cheever, who became the Allegan Municipal Court judge.

City Offers To Purchase Roamer Land

Property Located South
Of 32nd St. Would Be Used as Fire Station

At an adjourned meeting Wednesday night in City Hall, City Council took action to offer to purchase Roamer Boat Co. property on US-31 south of 32nd St. for $53,000 for use as a fire station and a city garage to be used mainly to service the newly annexed areas to the city.

Mayor Robert Visscher said that the majority of the cost would be covered by the Motor Vehicle Fund over a period of five years or less. Council's action Wednesday night differs somewhat from terms of an option which the city held from the Chris-Craft Co., of which Roamer Boat Co. is a division. The option had listed a given interest rate for unpaid balance, and this figure is now under negotiation.

The property consists of three buildings all joined together. The north building would be used as a fire department and the existing offices would be remodeled for living quarters for firemen. There would be some remodeling of doors and minor changes. The building has almost 20,000 square feet of floor space, and the site covers nearly three acres.

The area, outside and inside, would be used for storing street department supplies such as pipe, gravel and chloride for roads. Snow plows and other equipment would be kept inside for servicing that area of Holland. Some snow plows and the snow loader would remain in the Fifth St. garage.

Last week's meeting of City Council was "adjourned" until this week to allow Council to take action on the Roamer option. The remainder of the meeting was spent as a committee-of-the-whole studying the proposed zoning ordinance.

The zoning ordinance has been in Council's hands a little more than a year and there have been many study meetings. Council has referred back to the Planning Commission several items. The Planning Commission has worked on the ordinance about three years.

Ottawa County is the No. 1 turkey producing county in Michigan and Allegan is No. 2. H. C. Zindel, head of the poultry science department at Michigan State University told area poultry farmers Wednesday, at the Civic Center.

He pointed to the lack of students taking agriculture in Michigan, including Holland High. Zindel said the lack of farm experience is not a detriment, as might be expected.

Lloyd H. Geil, general manager of the poultry and egg national board in Chicago, said the target of the industry is the hot lunch program, pointing out what should be eaten, restaurants, teenage groups, supplying them the drive for the "rock and roll age" and having a balanced diet to protect against heart disease.

George S. McIntyre, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, spoke on the poultry phase of the program and explained weights and measures and the health program as pertaining to poultry.

G. L. Walts, assistant executive secretary of the National Turkey Federation, Mount Morris, Ill., told of the Enabling Act, and also said the turkey growers should do something for themselves. He told of turkey research done at MSU and on the west coast and spoke about quarter turkey and turkey parts. Much study has been done on turkey parts in the Detroit area. Films on turkeys were shown and entertainment was provided by various 4-H clubs.

Aid Sought For Humane Operations

Supervisors Hear
Report on Society's
Activities in County

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — O. A. Vanden Doreen of Holland, secretary of the Ottawa County Humane Society, presented a report of the society's activities together with a budget and balance sheet, at a meeting of the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Thursday afternoon.

The report revealed that in the year ending June 30, a total of 3,387 animals were handled, that 751 cats and dogs were adopted by the public and that 2,473 dogs and cats were humanely disposed of by euthanasia. City and county dog wardens delivered 1,007 dogs to the shelter and the public delivered 1,752 to the shelter which is located nine miles north of Holland on US-31.

The society asked the board to consider the following proposals:

1. Assign a full time dog warden to service the county north of M-50.

2. Investigate and inspect municipal dog pounds to insure that facilities are adequate to humane care for and dispose of animals.

3. Appoint a committee to review dog census reports prepared by supervisors and assessors to insure that diligent inquiry is being made and that dog listings are complete. It is recommended, also, that this committee scrutinize voucher charges to the dog account for property.

4. Reimburse the society for animal disposals at the rate of $1 each and pay boarding fees applying to rabies suspect dogs kennelled by the society.

Costs of operating the society for the year totaled $13,477.08. Cash on hand June 30, 1958, was $3,715.97 compared with a balance of $5,199.54 the previous year.

Supervisor Larry Wade of Holland thanked Vanden Doreen for "a remarkable job" in operating a program in a most efficient and humane way. The report was referred to the health committee to report back at this session and to make recommendations on increasing the license fees.

In other business, the board voted 22 to 9 to engage Vander Meiden and Koteles, Grand Haven architects, to draw plans for the new $300,000 county jail. This firm had drawn plans for the branch building north of Holland.

Referred to the committee on county needs was a resolution drawn up by the Ottawa County Bar Association requesting the board to levy one mill for four years to create a sinking fund for construction and repair of county buildings, emphasizing that present available juvenile detention facilities are inadequate, and that the board should proceed with steps to provide adequate detention facilities for the county.

City Attorney James E. Townsend announced Saturday that, whereas all hunting formerly was forbidden with the city limits of Holland, hunters this year will be somewhat "on their honor" in hunting in the newly-annexed areas of the city.

Hunting in residential areas is still strictly forbidden, Townsend emphasized, while explaining that small-game hunting in agricultural zones in the newly-annexed areas will be permitted under a new city ordinance passed for just this purpose.

Records showing which lands are zoned for agriculture are on file in the city and township clerks' offices, he said, but he doubted that hunters would have to go to the offices to check.

Large plots of land customarily used for farming are quite certain to be agricultural zones, he said, and may be used for hunting with the owners' permission.

Under the state Horton trespass law, hunters may be arrested and fined for hunting on lands without permission, even if they are not posted.

Covering all hunting activity within the city limits the city ordinance which demands that guns be used with "due care, caution and circumspection, and in a manner that will not endanger or be likely to endanger persons or property."

Violators of this ordinance, Townsend said, are subject to a fine of up to $500 and or up to 90 days in jail. Hunters, therefore, are advised to be very careful around other persons, farm homes and buildings, cars, etc.

Holland Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff said Holland policemen, in addition to conservation officers, will be patrolling the area to watch for violators.

Bekius Scores Four Times To Lead Dutch

Hillsdale has been marked indelibly on the minds of the Hope College football team and preparations continued today for the Dales following Hope's 41-7 victory over Adrian College at Riverview Park Saturday.

A crowd of 5,000 plus, the biggest Homecoming crowd in Hope's history, sat in sunny Riverview Park in 70-degree temperatures and smiled approval as the Dutch ripped through the Bulldogs with ease in recording their fifth straight win and third straight in MIAA play. Hope has now won eight straight over the past two seasons.

The win set the stage for the possible championship showdown Saturday night at 8 p.m. at Hillsdale. The Dales defeated Alma 21-13 for their third straight conference win this season and their unbeaten league string stands at 28 straight.

Ron Bekius, Hope's 185-pound senior fullback, enjoyed the greatest day of his football career which began in 1949 as a member of the Holland High varsity. Bekius scored the first four touchdowns with smashes over guard and tackle. His season's total for TDs is 11 and he has scored 66 points, second only to Lovell Coleman of Western Michigan, who has 76 for state scoring honors.

Bekius plowed over tackle for five yards and his first touchdown with the game 4-44. Six plays earlier Jack Faber had recovered Bekius' fumble of an Adrian punt on the Bulldog 7. Five plays later including a recovered fumble of a Pete Watt's bobble on the Adrian 11, Bekius scored.

Bill Huijbregtse kicked the first of five conversions. He missed only after the third touchdown, when the ball was wide of the uprights.

George Peelen pounced on an Adrian fumble on the Bulldog 34 a few minutes later and four plays later Bekius was sent leaping over right tackle from the one for his second score Duane Voskuil helped with a 14-yard gain on a reverse. The TD came with 3:33 left in the quarter and the period ended 14-0.

Next came a 72-yard Hope drive, started on the Dutch 28 when Adrian's first scoring chance bogged down. It took Hope 11 plays to score and Bekius shot off guard for the final 20, carrying two Bulldogs with him into the endzone at 6:12 of the second period. He had also carried four other times during the drive.

A few minutes later an Adrian punt was partially blocked by Sherwood Vander Woude on the Adrian 7 and Paul Mack picked up the ball on the 21 and returned to the 17. But Hope failed to score and the half ended 20-0.

Hope opened the second half by receiving for the first time this season. Faber returned the kick to the Hope 39. A violation on the Dutch 45 cost 15 yards back to the 30. On the first scrimmage play Paul Watt sailed around end, picking up speed and blockers and moved down to the Adrian 26 before being bounced out of bounds. The 54-yard scamper was the longest run from scrimmage by a Hope back this season.

Then came Bekius' turn. He headed off tackle, hit the secondary, was free and then turned on the gas toward the goal line. The run was 26 yards and came with 1:02 gone in the third period. The kick was good and Bekius retired to the sidelines for the rest of the afternoon.

Six plays later Peelen recovered his second Adrian fumble on the Bulldog 42. It took the Dutch seven plays and a five-yard penalty to hit home with Watt going the final 18 yards, ripping away from his last tackler on the Bulldog 10.

Bob Bonnette, Holland sophomore, scored Hope's last TD and the first of his collegiate career. Bonnette set up the scoring chance when he intercepted a pass on the Hope 47 and returned the ball to the Adrian 35.

Bonnette scored eight plays later on a one-yard smash off tackle with 3:04 left in the third quarter. On two other carries he picked up 16 yards during the short drive.

Adrian scored its touchdown on a 13-yard pass play early in the fourth quarter from Larry Bowser to Bill Hamilton. The drive started on the Adrian 47, following a kickoff return and a Hope penalty. Gene Melin converted.

Hope's only punt of the game, a 42-yard boot by Voskuil, late in the contest put the Bulldogs on their own six. They failed on four tries and Hope had another crack from the Adrian 10. Four line plays moved the ball to the one to end the opportunity.

Coach Russ De Vette got a long look at his team, particularly his bench. He filtered substitutes

SEE DEDICATION BY TV — Twenty-four Holland Heinz staff officials and their wives were in Chicago Monday to witness the dedication of the New Heinz Research Center at Pittsburgh, Pa., through means of a live closed circuit telecast. The evening began with an informal reception at the Palmer House followed by a Pennsylvania Dutch Dinner and then they viewed the telecast. Dave Garroway was the host commentator. With him the group toured the Center's test-kitchen, laboratories and executive offices. Attending were (left to right): Mr. and Mrs. C.S. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Stephens, A.E. Hildebrand; Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Brumm, Mr. and Mrs. W. Van Vuren; Mr. and Mrs. E. Schierbeek; Mr. and Mrs. C.B. McCormick, plant manager, Mr. and Mrs. D.A. White, Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Colton, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. here there are many candles, lamps and writings which are placed there by these four communions.

With the tomb as the center, there is a large rotunda from which we went into different chapels. One was for the Syrians which was very small and run down. Another was the chapel of the Appearance to Mary Magdalene and another directly back of this was the Appearance to Mary the Virgin. In the second chapel one can see through a little window a part of the pillar of Flagellation. These two chapels are in good condition.

From here we went up a flight of stairs to the Chapel of Calvary where Jesus was crucified. The Latins have the chapel on the right, and the Greeks have the chapel with the altar over the hole where the cross stood. Two holes are on each side for the other two crosses. Also a hole is beside the altar which shows a large crack in the rock which took place during the earthquake at the time Jesus died. We were then taken down the flight of stairs and down another to be directly under the cross which is the tomb of Ada. Here is alleged that the blood of Christ first fell on the skull of Adam to cleanse him of his guilt. This accounts for the skull and crossbones at the foot of the cross in some of the Greek scenes of the cross.

We had spent more than two hours here. One has a feeling of heaviness that so much ill will and bitterness should be at the place where God demonstrated His great love to the world. Sacred sites and their veneration have not been important among us, yet one is strangely moved to think that He was near the place where Jesus gave his life to bring salvation for us all.

Politics and Student Report Provide Programs for WLC

Talks by Ronald Chandler, Holland's Community Ambassador to Italy last summer, and Mary Kuiper who attended Wolverine Girls' State for 10 days at the University of Michigan provided the program at a regular meeting of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon.

Both expressed warm gratitude to the club for its share in sponsoring the worthwhile programs.

Miss Kuiper described her 10-day stay on the campus, her assignment to a city and the flurry of political activity in electing city, county and state officers of mythical political parties. She described her visit to the state capitol and the many thrilling experiences which, she felt, would help her to become a better citizen.

Chandler injected considerable humor into his talk which described his life last summer with an Italian middle-class family which lived 78 steps up on a fourth-floor apartment in northern Italy. He blasted several popular concepts on the Italian people. Where, as most people seem to think Italians are romantic, lazy and happy-go-lucky, the larger percentage are hard working. He said the northern half of Italy appears to be prosperous and enjoys standards better than in some other countries in Europe.

Chandler said the crime rate is surprisingly low, and juvenile delinquency has the lowest percentage of any country in Europe, and far below the United States rate.

The local ambassador lived in a city of 45,000 persons with his Italian family in the foothills of the Italian Alps. There was his 43-year-old Italian mother, two brothers, 20 and 19, and a sister, 18. The father had died a few years ago and the family was supported by a state pension and from proceeds from a family business, a roofing supply store which handled some plumbing equipment.

He said he had a new appreciation of many things he takes for granted in the United States—water and electricity, and warm baths when one wants them. He spoke highly of the good Italian food. The main meal of the day might include appetizers, salad, spaghetti with tomato sauce, meat or fish, potatoes, vegetable, an egg dish, cheese, pastry and fresh fruit.

Chandler particularly appreciated the fellowship and camaraderie of the male students. Ordinarily, Italian youths do not start courting until they are about 25. Permission must first be obtained from the parents before a young lady may be taken out, and then only in groups of five or six couples.

He described some of the political, religious and economic issues facing Italy today, its transition from a Fascist program to democratic procedures, the Communist threat (Communist party second largest), and the economic front in which Italians work 8 or 10 hours a day, six days a week, for wages approximately one-ninth paid in the United States.

Chandler spoke highly of the element of friendship Italy feels for the United States. He said many Italians feel that the United States will govern their destiny.

Mrs. Clarence J. Becker, club president, presided. Mrs. Willard C. Wichers read a resolution to retain the Porcupine Mountains in the upper peninsula in its natural setting, rather than allowing mining operations there. Announcement was made of the Ann Landers meeting Nov. 11 in Civic Center which will be open to the public.

Wrong License Used

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — James Choate, 26, Muskegon, was arraigned before Justice Eva Workman Monday night for purchasing and using a resident hunting license which cost him $3. This morning upon presenting a non-resident fishing license which cost him $20, he paid $10 fine and $7.30 costs. His resident license was surrendered to Conservation Officer Frank Banks who made the arrest. Choate had not been a resident of the state for six months previously.

A discussion of political issues on the state level by State Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings and his Democratic opponent, Ralph Richman, provided an enlightening program for members of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon. The event was a pre-club meeting, sponsored by the Public Affairs committee of which Mrs. A. C. Yost is chairman. It was broadcast over WHTC.

Mary Emma Young, member of the Public Affairs committee and a staff member of the radio station, served as moderator for the discussion which brought up such questions as people's welfare, education, taxes, costs of operating businesses in Michigan, recessions, unemployment, tight money policies, and stands on constitutional conventions.

Richman contended that Michigan is not a Democratic state and cannot be a Democratic state until the constitution is revised to allow a Democratic senate based on population. He said taxes are all made by a Republican legislature, and the feeling that the state would go bankrupt if needs of the people are adequately met belongs to an age gone by—one geared to an age of scarcity.

Richman said more funds are needed for universities and colleges and pointed out that Geerlings had voted to reduce appropriations by $2.3 millions. He also said Republicans had been enthusiastic over the Menninger mental health plan in Kansas but had done little, and had even cut down tourist advertising funds in a state which is quite dependent on the tourist dollar.

Geerlings outlined his work on the taxation study committee—the issue which Gov. Williams seems most concerned about. He cited many cases—many of them indicating that industries were expanding outside of Michigan and some cutting operations within the state.

In his rebuttal, Richman said unemployment in Michigan was the result of the Republican hard-money policy on the federal level and felt far more concerned over national policies than on the Michigan level. Geerlings cited more cases indicating state policies were responsible for Michigan cases than federal policies. Geerlings also answered the senatorial districting comment. He said if Mr. Richman's plan were adopted, the entire state would be governed by four counties in the Detroit area.

During the question period, the question was asked why production is going up, yet unemployment remains. Richman felt the whole new field of automation needs to be explored. As for all these ever-improving services on health, safety and education, he said there was no doubt but that the money had to come from the people. Yet he felt that there is no greater value to Michigan than the lives of its citizens.

Geerlings said Michigan had built a training school for mental health similar in part to the Menninger program, but after everything was in order there were no trainees. As for a $5-million reduction for the state police, Geerlings said no men had been laid off and he has some questions on the necessity of maintaining such a large force. As for college and university allocations, he said investigations revealed that allocations are adequate, even though there isn't a university or an agency which couldn't use more money.

He said the state pays $1,000 per university student whereas the student pays $250 tuition, and outside students pay $450. He said a space utilization study is now under way at both U of M and MSU. Some classrooms were being used only a third of the time.

Sculptor's Creations of Past 50 Years Found Around World

Holland has a master sculptor who has spent almost 50 years designing beautiful pieces in stone, ceramics and wood. In following a family tradition of three generations, Leo Jungblut of 353 College Ave., has made hundreds of monuments and statues.

A native of The Netherlands, Jungblut came to Holland 35 years ago after studying in Dutch and German arts schools. Because he was particularly interested in ecclesiastical art, he visited cathedrals in France, Italy, England, Norway and Germany.

Since he began his career at the age of 16, this skilled artist has produced many war and civic monuments and religious statues. Samples of his work may be seen here in Holland schools and churches. A four-foot maple Christ the King Crucifix, which he carved several years ago, adorns the altar of Grace Episcopal Church. He carved an oak Crucifix for St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church about 20 years ago.

A marble bust of Jefferson holds a place of honor in the lobby of the new Thomas Jefferson School.

Jungblut also carved five wooden crosses for the addition to St. Francis de Sales School.

His works are in churches and cathedrals throughout Europe, South America and the United States. He designed a war monument for The Netherlands after World War II, and modeled other monuments for Belgium, Indonesia and Norway.

Jungblut has recently completed work on modeling table and chair legs for a Southern furniture firm. He did this work under the supervision of Denis K. O'Meara of 512 Graafschap Rd., who is determined to preserve the art of rich, graceful carving in furniture design.

Jungblut and O'Meara feel that the creative arts are not receiving enough emphasis in our space age. They are extremely concerned about the fact that few young people are choosing creative fields for their life work.

Although they both have the satisfaction of viewing 50 years of accomplishments in their fields, their greatest desire is to see others follow in their footsteps.

Dr. Kuyper Describes Visits To Excavations, Sepulchre

This is the fourth of a series of articles prepared by Dr. Lester J. Kuyper of Western Theological Seminary who is studying in the Holy Land.

By Dr. Lester J. Kuyper

The director of our school, Prof. Fred Winnett, has arranged field trips to observe some of the sites that have been dug recently. One such site is called El-Jib, the Biblical Gibeon which is mentioned 43 times in the Old Testament. The Chevie station wagon of the school with Omar our cook, keeper of the grounds and building, driver and guide, brings all of us to the place about eight miles north of Jerusalem.

El-Jib is a small village where two summers of intensive "digs" took place, 1956-57. The natives were very happy to see us and especially to see Prof. Winnett who had been one of the digging personnel. After the usual greetings we went to see the results. It was something immense. At the top of the mound we stood on the edge of a huge round basin 30 feet in diameter which had been cut out of rock, possibly 700 B. C. Steps were cut into the rock along the wall. These spiraled down along the wall until they reached a pool under the rock 82 feet from the top.

Well, all of us made our way down those steps until we could peer under the rock to see the pool. This huge basin has been filled in over the years. The debris was taken out and in this debris they found many jar handles. Some of them had the name Gibeon inscribed which proved rather clearly that this was the place of ancient Gibeon.

An argument had been going on over the years between American scholars and German scholars about the site of ancient Gibeon. Prof. J. B. Pritchard, who was the director of the dig, tells about meeting with German archaeologists at Munich shortly after leaving here in 1957. The Germans had insisted that El-Jib was not the site. Prof. Pritchard produced the evidence of the jar handles. In the face of this the Germans in good humor said, "The battle is over and the Americans have won a decisive victory."

After leaving this large basin we went to the foot of the mound to enter a small door which led to a cistern at the bottom of the hill. From the cistern upward a flight of stairs had been tunneled in the rock which went to an opening within the ancient city wall. In time of peace, the people would get their water through the opening outside the city wall. In time of war, this opening would be blocked and covered up, and they would go down the secret tunnel for their water. This was a common device also found in other cities. It was rather eerie to walk up those slimy steps with the aid of flash lights and see little niches where oil lamps used to be set. All the while I wondered how many women had gone down and up those steps carrying water for their families.

The present well is fed from the same spring, and has good stone steps leading to it. Half way down a buxom Arab woman was seated as mistress of the spring. She carried on a lively conversation with the women coming for the water which they carry in five gallon tins or stone jars on their heads. And this mistress gave the children a tongue lashing for getting in the way of people. By now we are used to boys following us and asking for the inevitable "back-sheesh."

I would like to relate a tour of a different nature, namely through the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. Prof. Winnet had arranged to have a friend of the school, Father James, a Latin priest from Washington, D.C., to be our guide. Father James is on duty at the Holy Sepulchre and is one of the Latin priests who conduct daily services there.

The Church is in a very bad state of disrepair. The facade is supported by scaffolds and the center dome and walls under the dome have iron and wood scaffolding. We could see loose stones in the dome. The care and management of the Church involve four groups: the Latin Church, the Greek Church, the Armenians and the Copts. These are bitter toward each other, and nothing can be done unless all agree which seems to be impossible. As a result, efforts to repair the Church do not meet with much success.

I was surprised to learn that the key to the Church is kept by one Moslem family and the right to open the Church belongs to another Moslem family. The two families set the time and price for opening which is 25 cents each time.

I shall mention in rapid succession the places that are supposed to mark special things that happened to our Savior Jesus Christ. First we saw the stone where they anointed His body. About 15 feet away is the place where the Holy Women stood to watch. In the center of the Church directly under the dome is the Sepulchre. First, one enters a little vestibule where there is a small glass case with a part of the stone which was in front of the tomb. We go through the vestibule into the tomb itself where there is room for about four people to stand. There a shelf in the rock is overlaid with marble and a bronze plate. All through

ADJUSTING OUTGO TO INCOME

A former U. S. budget director, Percival F. Brundage, told the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, in a speech in Detroit, that a one-package appropriation measure should be matched against a one-package tax bill when congress makes its plans for any fiscal year.

Putting outgo and income in a single bracket would prevent the deficit spending that makes an almost annual increase in the country's mountainous national debt necessary.

Remember that this fiscal plan is not advocated by an economic crackpot. The man who advances it was once a U. S. budget director; he has had plenty of opportunity to learn at firsthand what the present loose financial system is doing to the American economy.

In one paragraph of his speech Brundage spoke words of economic wisdom that, if followed, might eventually carry the nation back from the brink of national bankruptcy. The words will of course not be heeded in Washington; it would not be good politics to do so. But for what they are worth, here they are:

"I have come to believe that so long as we continue high tax collections we are going to have high government spending."

Can there be anyone who doubts that statement? It is so basic in American politics that it may well be regarded as axiomatic. And that of course regardless of which party occupies the seats of power in Washington. On this point the Republicans are merely the pot that calls the kettle black, and the Democrats are merely the kettle that accuses the pot of being black.

If the government, whether Democratic or Republican, were required to pass a tax bill in one package at the same time that it passed a single over-all appropriation bill, there might be some hope that government spending would eventually be adjusted to the tax take. As of today, what with the haphazard and piecemeal appropriation bills in response to the demands of pressure groups, there is little correlation between income and outgo. When deficits develop, as they always do, we the taxpayers are called upon to fill the gap.

The party politicians are relatively safe because of the very size of the amounts involved. Geographers tell us that the Great Rift Valley in Africa can't be seen as a crack in the globe because of the enormity of its size. Our mounting national debt, reckoned in terms of billions, can't be seen by the American people's naked eye because of its unimaginable bigness. But like the Great Rift Valley crack, it is there none the less. Too big to be seen, it is yet a threat that affects every man, woman, and child in the nation. The people in and out of office could render a service if they would start right now looking for ways to reduce our tax dollar waste.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, October 26
Temptation in the Wilderness
Matthew 4:1-11

By C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

In life one temptation is followed by another. Jesus was tempted not only in the wilderness but he was tempted after that in other places and in various ways. In this lesson Jesus tells us how to overcome temptation—the inducement to go beyond the bounds set.

I. We are all tempted. From early childhood until the end of life we are tempted. The temptation of Jesus came after his baptism. At his baptism Jesus received the Holy Spirit and it was the Holy Spirit who led him into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. The temptations Jesus faced in the wilderness were in connection with his ministry. God spoke to Jesus at his baptism, the devil spoke to him in his temptations. Good people and bad people are tempted. It is not a sin to be tempted—unless we sought it—but to yield is sin. Adam was tempted in a garden, Jesus in the wilderness. Today people are tempted in the slums and in the swanky neighborhoods. Success, ability, prosperity, promotions often increase the number and the power of temptations. Sometimes temptations come from within our own evil hearts, another may make evil suggestions, sometimes the temptation comes from the crowd or the culture in which people move. The devil is the source of temptations.

II. The devil uses various kinds of strategy to mislead people. Some people do not believe in the devil but Jesus did. The devil's business thrives much in this day of bombing and racial conflicts and prejudices which seems to indicate that he is much alive.

The three temptations which came to Jesus were the temptation to enjoy, to do and to get and these three include all the various temptations of life. They came to Jesus after he had fasted forty days. The devil first tempted him to make bread from stones. Satan appealed to a normal appetite. Jesus refused to use his miraculous powers in order to minister to a personal need. The Lord told Satan that "man shall not live by bread alone but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God" quoting Deuteronomy 8:3. This was the temptation to enjoy.

Satan tries more than once to win. The Lord was told to do something reckless and reveal his trust in God—the devil suggested that he jump down from the temple. This was an invitation to presume upon God. The devil knows how to quote scripture for he cited the words, "If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written, He shall give his angels charge concerning thee: and in thy hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone." The devil left off the words, "to keep thee in all thy ways." Jesus said to Satan, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." Not to trust and a false trust are both wrong. This was the temptation to do.

The third temptation was the most brazen of all. The devil took Jesus to a high mountain and showed him all the kingdoms of the earth and promised them to Jesus if he would worship him. The devil lied for he did not have the kingdoms to give. Jesus again quoted Scripture saying, "Get thee hence Satan, for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and him only shalt thou serve." We must both worship and serve the Lord. After the departure of the devil angels came and ministered to Jesus. This was the temptation to get.

III. Temptations can be overcome. Jesus did it and we can also do it. The Lord used the Bible—he knew it and quoted in every instance from Deuteronomy. Jesus can help us in our temptations. When tempted—use the Bible and call upon Jesus for help and strength and victory will be yours.

Local Burglary Suspect Held in Chicago

Thomas Hills, 28, of Chicago, wanted in Holland for the Dec. 13, 1953 burglary of Van's Supermarket, may soon be returned here from Chicago to stand trial if legal technicalities can be cleared.

Ottawa County Prosecutor James Bussard said Chicago authorities notified him that Hills, who refused to waive extradition, was being held for him.

Bussard said necessary papers are being immediately forwarded to Chicago and the attorney General's office in Lansing has been requested to obtain extradition papers from the Governor's office.

Hills was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike and held as an escaped convict. He was arrested by the FBI Friday night on the south side.

On June 1, 1958, Hills was arrested while in the process of burglarizing a Chicago medical center. He was released, but his accomplice, Roman Tra, was wounded and held by police.

The FBI learned he was wanted on a Michigan warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He offered no resistance when arrested, authorities said.

Local Burglary Suspect Held in Chicago

Thomas Hills, 28, of Chicago, wanted in Holland for the Dec. 13, 1953 burglary of Van's Supermarket, may soon be returned here from Chicago to stand trial if legal technicalities can be cleared.

Ottawa County Prosecutor James Bussard said Chicago authorities notified him that Hills, who refused to waive extradition, was being held for him.

Bussard said necessary papers are being immediately forwarded to Chicago and the attorney General's office in Lansing has been requested to obtain extradition papers from the Governor's office.

Hills was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike and held as an escaped convict. He was arrested by the FBI Friday night on the south side.

On June 1, 1958, Hills was arrested while in the process of burglarizing a Chicago medical center. He was released, but his accomplice, Roman Tra, was wounded and held by police.

The FBI learned he was wanted on a Michigan warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. He offered no resistance when arrested, authorities said.

Similar extradition papers have been obtained previously but due to a mixup in other states they were not served in time to hold Hills on other occasions.

Hills was first arrested by Michigan State Police near South Haven in the early morning hours of Dec. 14, 1953. Police found two loaded pistols and ten cases of cig-

Local Polio Group Given Added Funds

The Ottawa County Chapter of the National Foundation, formerly The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has used up all available local March of Dimes funds and has turned to the organization's national headquarters for help to supply patient aid for Ottawa County polio sufferers.

This was revealed today by Earl Rhodes, chapter chairman, upon receipt of a check for $4,000 from national headquarters in New York.

"The National Foundation's newly announced health program goes far beyond polio," said Mr. Rhodes. "We now have become an organized voluntary force in the fields of medical scientific research, patient care and professional education, with sufficient flexibility to meet new health problems as they arise."

To polio we have added the No. 1 crippling, arthritis, birth defects, virus diseases and disorders of the central nervous system. As soon as feasible, we will provide patient aid for children through the age of 18 suffering from arthritis and specific birth defects.

"We will still, however, continue to fulfill our obligations to all polio victims and no money will be spent on the new patient care programs until after the 1959 March of Dimes," he said. "The funds just received will be used to assist local polio patients with hospital, medical and appliance bills. Although there have been only three 'new' cases in our area this year, this money is vitally needed for the care and rehabilitation of 'old' cases. Some of the patients we are now assisting were paralyzed by polio as far back as 1946."

Ottawa County's situation illustrates the national polio problem today, according to Rhodes. New cases continue to drop since the advent of the Salk vaccine, developed through the March of Dimes funds. But the cost of providing care and rehabilitation for "old" cases remains high. In 1957 some 90 per cent of all March of Dimes patient aid went to persons stricken with polio in previous years.

Rhodes added that the National Foundation would not abate its polio vaccination campaign. "Despite the decline in polio incidence, millions of Americans have had no vaccine protection and more millions have not yet finished their full series of Salk shots. As long as this condition continues, the danger of polio epidemics is not ruled out. We urge all persons to see their doctors or the local health department about starting their vaccination series without delay."

Secondary teachers will meet Tuesday morning in the second general session and an arrangement similar to that of Monday will be followed.

Special music will be by the Ionia High School Band led by Charles White. Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of schools from Lansing, will talk on "Citizens Look at Their Schools." The main address will be given by Victor Reuther, administrative assistant to UAW President, Washington, D.C., on "Automation and Its Impact on the Schools."

Similar extradition papers have been obtained previously but due to a mixup in other states they were not served in time to hold Hills on other occasions.

Hills was first arrested by Michigan State Police near South Haven in the early morning hours of Dec. 14, 1953. Police found two loaded pistols and ten cases of cigarets in the car. The cigarette cases bore marks indicating they had come from Van's.

Hills' brother, William 30, also a suspect in the burglary, escaped a police net around his Saugatuck rooming house Dec. 14, 1953, but he was captured the next day by heavily armed police as he slept in the attic of a home at 807 South Shore Dr.

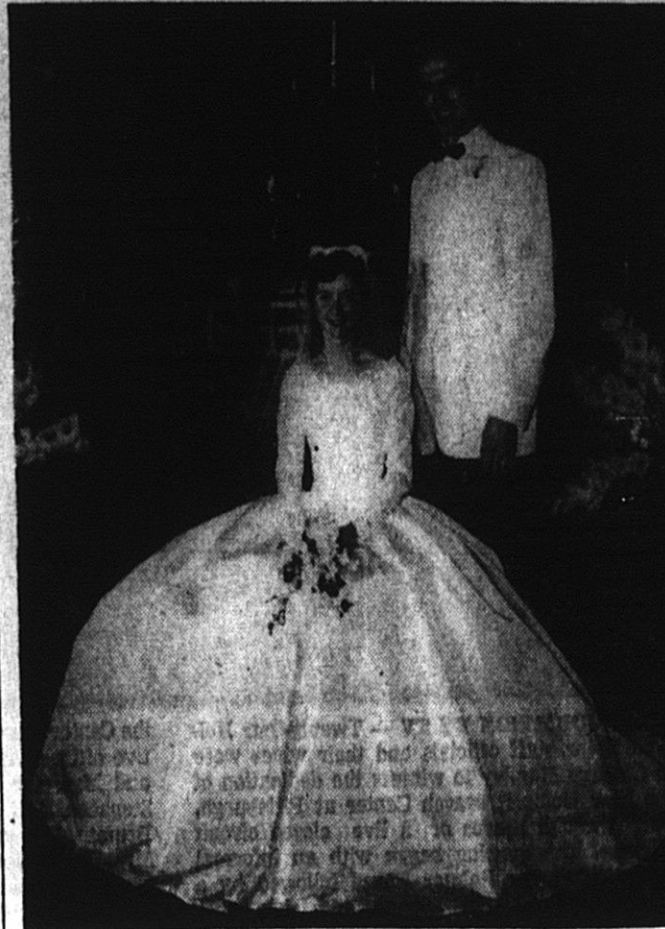

The two brothers, both charged with the Van's burglary were never brought to trial. They, along with two others, broke out of the Ottawa County jail in Grand Haven Feb. 7, 1954, the day before they were to appear in court.

Thirteen days later FBI agents arrested the two Hills brothers in Philadelphia, Pa. They were charged with driving a stolen Grand Haven car across a state line to Ohio following their escape from the jail and were sentenced to terms in a federal prison.

The other two escapees were also captured by FBI agents in New York City and Columbus, Ohio.

Bussard had the extradition papers waiting for Thomas Hills when he was released from Leavenworth Prison in Kansas but he was set free even though the papers were on file.

De Graaf-Nagelkerk Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leroy De Graaf

Central Avenue Christian Reformed Church was the scene on Oct. 10 of the marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Nagelkerk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nagelkerk, 379 North Franklin St., Zeeland, and Paul Leroy De Graaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin De Graaf, 130 East 17th St.

Vows were exchanged at 8 p.m. with the Rev. John L. Van Harn, brother-in-law of the groom, reading the double ring ceremony. Two bouquets of white gladioli, yellow mums, ferns and candelabra adorned the church.

Wedding attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Betty Nagelkerk as maid of honor; another sister, Carol Nagelkerk, bridesmaid; Ann Scheerhorn, flower girl; Michael Keen, ringbearer; Gordon Scheerhorn, best man; Ronald Butler and David Plasman, ushers, and Richard Nagelkerk, brother of the bride, who lit the candles.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Carl Edwards, organist, who also accompanied Herman Kolk when he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a floor length gown of miramist taffeta featuring a modified scooped neck, outlined in Venice lace delicately embroidered in sequins and pearls. The bouffant skirt had a pleated bustle and ended in a chapel train. Her elbow length scalloped veil fell from a matching taffeta and lace crown also embroidered in sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade of white snow drift mums centered with a white orchid and ivy streamers.

The bridal attendants wore waltz length gowns of embroidered taffeta with matching mums and candelabra, the maid of honor in yellow and the bridesmaid in aqua. Their matching velvet crowns held short veils and they carried nosegays of yellow, white and aqua feathered carnations. The flower girl wore a white dress and headpiece styled like the bride's. She carried a basket of yellow mums.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 100 guests in the church basement. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Henry De Jong, master and mistress of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Perkins who were gift room attendants; Misses Karen and Shirley De Graaf who assisted at the punch bowl and Miss Marcia De Jong who was in charge of the bridal register. Waitresses were the Misses Joan Van Hoven, Mary Raterink, Sharon Otte, Julie Nagelkerk, Mary Waldyke and Glenda Gruppen.

For the occasion the bride's mother chose a royal blue embroidered crepe dress with black accessories and the mother of the groom wore a navy blue crepe dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of white sweetheart roses.

A two piece olive green dress, white feather hat with green trim and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet was worn by the bride as the couple left on a honeymoon to Florida. They will make their home at 76 1/2 West 18th St.

The bride, a graduate of Holland Christian High School, is employed at Otte's Beauty Shop and the groom, also a graduate of Holland Christian High, is employed at Modern Products.

Wayne Millard, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Millard, 39 South Centennial St., Zeeland, and a senior in electrical engineering at Michigan, is spending six to eight weeks on the island.

The group is led by Dr. Harold Allen of the Aeronautical Engineering Department who will participate in the firing of eight rockets into the earth's upper atmosphere to determine its density, temperature, pressure, winds and humidity.

Also the group is seeking to find the time required for the sound waves to travel a given distance, the scientists can determine the average temperature of a given layer of atmosphere.

Exchangites Hear De Haan And Martin

The Exchange Club, meeting Monday noon in the Warm Friend Tavern, heard two addresses, one by Dr. Robert De Haan of Hope College on gifted children and their education and the other by Ab Martin of General Electric on evaluating this community with emphasis on citizens' responsibility in such community affairs as the Community Chest.

Martin, who is chairman of the business and professional division of the 1958 Community Chest campaign, told how visitors coming into the city appraise it, particularly with its school system, churches, facilities and the general appearance of the city.

"But there is one thing that surmounts all things in this study and that is the character of the town and community," he said. "When one thinks of the character of a town, he has particular reference to what it does for its own people, particularly for the unfortunate and afflicted. In the past Holland has proved it has had its heart in the right place, following the mental attitude that the best way to take care of those who need attention is to work as a unit, give as a unit and function through the agencies and supporting them as a unit."

Martin pointed to the experience of last year when Holland people failed to reach the Chest goal. He said this was largely because of a misunderstanding on the people who thought they were doing pretty well but when the results came in it was quite evident they had failed by quite a sum of money. He said it was largely lack of information and inadequate coverage on the part of volunteers who also thought they were doing a good job but who did not cover the area.

He said it is another test of the people themselves who might allow a campaign to go by default because somebody failed to call on them. "It is the proper response for people not visited to come into headquarters voluntarily and say, 'Here is my part. I want to help.'"

Dr. De Haan spoke of the long studies by educators of the real opportunity to bring out the best abilities and talents of children not only from the angle of brain effort but also those things which appeal to children, things that would bring outstanding results.

Dr. De Haan explained the study currently under way in Holland to discover and develop leadership, with a particular view to the future when such leadership will be needed.

Two-thirds of the population of the world are illiterate, ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clothed," the speaker said. At least a billion persons are illiterate and are called the silent billions.

The speaker explained the method used by Dr. Frank Laubach in teaching millions to read. It is called "Each One-Teach One." She showed by pictures, translated into words and sounds, the beginning step of literacy campaign. By this method, Dr. Laubach, his workers and experts have taught 60 million people to read, but there are still a billion persons who are illiterate.

Helping people to learn to read in their own language is one part of the story, she said, while literature is the other part.

Books, pamphlets, and magazines on child care, health, agriculture, family life, stories with a Christian message and the Bible are provided by the committee on World Literacy of the National Council of Churches.

Refreshments were served from an attractive tea table by Mrs. Edwin Koeppel and Miss Emma Reverts. ## Big 2nd Half Gives Indians 5th Straight

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) — Unleashing a strong second half attack which netted three touchdowns, unbeaten Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills rolled to a 35-13 decision over Holland High's football team here Friday night before 2,500 fans at South Field.

Little Carl Mason, a 5'8", 150-pound fullback, played havoc with the Dutch the entire game, scoring four touchdowns, three in the second half. The smallest man on the Ottawa backfield, Mason would take a handoff and plow over guard with the authority of a 200-pounder.

Mason's exhibit plus the complete domination of the game by the Indians in the second half, wiped out a nip-and-tuck first half that saw Holland leading at one point, 13-6 and then trailing at halftime by a point, 14-13.

Holland started strong and turned in its best first quarter of the season. But a fluke fumble by Scott Brouwer with the game only 1:56 old gave the Indians a TD.

Brouwer cracked off tackle and the ball squirted out of hand, bumped two Indians on the shoulder before falling into the arms of Mason who was off for 60 yards and the score. He was escorted down the field by teammate Tom Giblin. Mark Van Keulen's first of five straight conversions gave the Indians a 7-0 lead.

But then Holland again started to roll, using the single wing for the first time this season, and picking up yardage on every play. After two straight first downs and the ball on the Indian 35 as a result of rushing, quarterback Rog Buurma struck end Ron Dorgelo on the three and he stepped in for the first touchdown. The conversion snap was high and Bruce Van Dyke failed in his pass attempt.

Holland picked up 67 yards rushing in the first quarter to 16 for Ottawa. Early in the second quarter the Dutch had another scoring chance when Ottawa lost the ball on its 10. But Holland moved the ball to the seven in the four plays.

Guard Bob Klaver and end Larry Prins of Holland blocked an Ottawa punt a couple minutes later and downed the ball on the Indian one. Brouwer knifed off tackle to put Holland in the lead and then hit the same spot for the extra point.

That ended Holland's scoring. Ottawa took the kickoff, and five plays later, after moving the ball to the Dutch 37, quarterback Tex Texer whipped a pass to Jim Fitzgerald, who hauled it in on the 10 and raced home. Van Keulen's kick made it 14-13 at halftime.

From then on it was all Ottawa and Mason took over the scoring chores. Giblin intercepted a Holland pass, the lone Dutch offensive play in the first seven minutes of the third quarter, to set up the score. Five plays later Mason cracked over from the one.

Holland failed to gain a yard in the third quarter while the Indians had 89. Ottawa dominated in the final period. After taking a punt on its own three, Ottawa started up the field and aided by a 40-yard pass from Texer to Rog Smith covered the 97 yards in 10 plays. Mason went over from the two.

Mason's fourth touchdown came in the final two minutes. Holland was stopped on the Ottawa 22, its deepest penetration of the second half and five plays later Mason shot off guard for 56 yards and the score. The Holland drive had started at the Dutch 29 and taken 13 plays on the ground.

Ottawa gained 277 yards rushing in the game, 200 in the second half. The Indians made 139 yards passing, 93 of it in the first half. The Dutch gained 47 yards in the second half and ended with 128 yards rushing and 47 passing.

It was the fifth straight loss for Holland and the fifth straight victory for Ottawa. The Indians face Grand Rapids Catholic for the Grand Rapids City League championship next Friday and Holland entertains St. Joseph.

End Jim De Weerd received a sprained ankle when he was injured in the third quarter. Holland had the consolation of being the first team to score twice against Ottawa this season.

On two of the five Ottawa conversion attempts, the Indians executed the play with 12 men on the field.

The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, Queen Anne collar and long pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt with lace was accented with a ruffle on tulle and the veil fell from a headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. A white orchid with streamers adorned the white Bible she carried.

For her maid of honor the bride chose her sister, Miss Carol Nagelkirk, whose gown of periwinkle blue velvet featured a scoop neck, fitted bodice and full skirt accented with a matching taffeta cummerbund. She wore a whimsy style headpiece trimmed with matching bows and sequins and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze mums, pompons and streamers.

In similar attire were the bridesmaids, Miss Harriet Visser of Jensen and Miss Mary Bosma of Grand Rapids. Their bouquets included gold mums and pompons with streamers.

GRANDSTANDING • Grid Writers Meet

By Randy Vande Water

"Al Hill is the kind of player Duffy wants," Nick Vista, the assistant publicity director at Michigan State University said Tuesday at the weekly meeting of the state football writers in Kalamazoo.

"Al has a lot of spirit and fire and really likes to mix it," Vista continued, "and after our showing against Purdue that's what Duffy wants on his club."

Hill has been promoted to second string tackle in the shakeup Monday by Daugherty which included putting four sophomores on the first team. Hill is one of three sophomores on the second team.

Daugherty has Hill back at tackle, his position at Holland High. Although he weighs 227 pounds, Hill has been extremely fast getting down the field and that has pleased the MSU coach, Vista explained.

Hill is expected to see frequent action for the Spartans against Illinois at Champaign, Ill., Saturday. He is playing behind tackle sophomore George Perles of Detroit, who caused regular junior tackle Palmer Pyle to be bumped to the third string.

Daugherty said Monday he wants players who will "hit someone." They may hit the wrong man, but at least they will hit someone," Vista quoted the MSU coach as saying.

Hill made the 38-man traveling team and saw his first varsity action against Purdue last week. Although he started the season at center and was then switched to guard, the switch to tackle appears permanent.

About 25 of Michigan's sports writers, publicity directors, and Western Michigan University officials attended the luncheon in the President's Room in the Union Building in Kalamazoo.

Merle Schlosser, WMU's personal grid coach, talked about his club and particularly about Lovell Coleman, headed toward being the greatest back Western ever had.

Coleman, a 5'9", 195 pound sophomore from Hamtramck, has scored 12 touchdowns and two points after touchdowns in five games for 76 points to lead Michigan. He has rushed 774 yards in those games and against Central Michigan picked up 282 yards rushing.

ing, more than the entire Central backfield.

Schlosser said Coleman could play at any school and that he was adept at all phases of the game. "He plays as hard on defense as offense," Schlosser said.

"He hasn't hit his potential as yet and he's gaining judgment each time he runs in the open field," Schlosser continued. His weight is distributed primarily in his hips, thighs and legs.

Schlosser explained that Western awarded 11 full scholarships each year to athletes who met the academic requirements. A stipulation of the scholarship is that the boy must work seven hours a week during season and 14 during the off season.

He pointed to Bowling Green, Miami and Ohio U. as three schools in the Mid-American Conference that give out 700 athletic scholarships each year.

Rolla Anderson, Kalamazoo College coach, talked about his club. Proving his point on the lack of speed by the Hornets this year, he said a Beloit College tackle caught up with the Kazoo fullback who had a 10-yard head start in the Hornets 25-0 loss to Beloit. Hope plays at Beloit in the season's finale Nov. 15.

Anderson also said of the 17 freshmen who started out at Kazoo in 1955, only one (Bob Urschiltz) was left. Urschiltz, the Hornets' captain, and quarterback prior to the season, was lost because of a knee ailment before the season started. He also lost 224-pound tackle Rog Kramer Monday.

Milt Marsh, sports editor of the Ann Arbor News, said rumors are persisting on this being the last year for Bennie Oosterbaan as Michigan football coach. Bump Elliott, present backfield coach, is regarded as the likely replacement.

He said the Michigan coaching staff is working more hours this year than ever before. Marsh felt the Wolverines didn't run enough and this caused the many injuries.

Michigan will be using Jim Byers at fullback this week and Brad Meyers will play at right half or left half.

Ed Hayes, sports editor of the Detroit Times, presided at the meeting. Dale Faunce, WMU vice president, welcomed the group.

The sinking of caissons, erection of the two center towers, construction of the main cables and placement of the steel sections were well-described and illustrated by this film.

French Farce 'Scapin' Delights First Nighters

A Hope College Homecoming audience crowded the Little Theatre Friday night for the opening production of Scapin by Moliere and thoroughly enjoyed the 17th Century French farce.

Well cast and costumed by Paul Reinhardt in stylized versions of earlier costuming and using an imaginative setting, the Pallette and Masque drama group presented the delightful farce with gusto. Scapin, the Scamp played by Bob Fisher, enjoyed playing tricks on his superiors and helping young lovers in the play out of their difficulties.

Much at home in their roles were George Stegenga as Silvestre; Octave, played by Ron Beyer; Hyacinthe, Mary Onken; Nerine, Nancy Malstrom and Argante, Joe Woods. Geronie was especially well played by John Lubbers; Leandre, Chuck Lemmen; Carle, John Wiers; Zerbinette; Carol Luth; dancing street rogue, Paul Janes and porters, Emily Hardec and Maryland Rocks.

Dale S. De Witt directed and staged the play, assisted by Carol Luth. Keith Termaat held the important job of stage manager with a large staff assisting him.

The play was repeated Saturday, Monday and Tuesday in the Little Theatre with curtain time at 8 p.m.

During intermissions refreshments were available in the art room. Original design plates prepared by Mr. Reinhardt are on display in the Greenroom.

Macatawa Is 'Inland Lake'

Lansing — Lake Macatawa, Muskegon Lake and White Lake in West Michigan are considered inland waters and not part of the Great Lakes for enforcement purposes, the Conservation Department said today.

The department announcement followed an attorney general's opinion Thursday which said the St. Marys River, the Straits of Mackinac, the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River were the only "connecting waters" of the Great Lakes.

"The U.S. Corps of Engineers considers these three (West Michigan) lakes as connecting channels for navigation purposes," said Joseph Stephansky, assistant chief of the department's lands division.

But he said the state will continue to enforce its watercraft and other laws on the three lakes. Stephansky said the department has asked for an attorney general's ruling on whether channels dredged by property owners along the Great Lakes should be considered "connecting waters."

Leaf Loader Busy in City

Holland's leaf loader continued picking up thousands and thousands of dry leaves Friday from street gutters.

This week, the loader will operate two eight-hour shifts every day and possibly may operate around the clock if necessary, Engineer Lavern Serne said Friday.

All leaves are taken to the rear of Pilgrim Home Cemetery where Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg uses them for leaf mulch. Leaves are mixed with top soil and after about two years the mulch is used for tulip lanes and other planting purposes.

Serne emphasized that only leaves should be raked to the gutter, not brush, sticks or rubbish. The presence of even a small stone can cause considerable damage to the mechanism which operates much like a giant vacuum sweeper.

Hudsonville Edges Byron, 6-0

BYRON CENTER (Special) Hudsonville's football team chalked up its second straight victory and evened its OK League mark at 1-1 here Friday night with a 6-0 win over Byron Center.

Ken Visser broke the defensive deadlock in the final two minutes with a 40-yard run for the lone touchdown. Earlier in the game, the Eagles had been able to get inside the Byron 20 but couldn't score.

Byron's Larry Van Haltsma returned the Hudsonville kickoff to the Eagles six where Dale Ensing made the tackle. Hudsonville held Byron and quarterback Jim Schuck intercepted a fourth down pass to stop the drive.

Coach Dave Kempker complimented the work of his defensive team. He pointed out the group was showing rapid improvement and included Gerald Brouwer, Jim Vander Molen, Jack MacDuffee, Dave McDonald, Bill Kramer, Ensing and Rip Raterink along with Bruce Struck, Wes De Jonge, Visser and Schuck. Hudsonville has a 2-3 record and will play a league game at Rogers next Friday.

Ottawa Nips Dutch Seconds

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) —

The margin of an extra point cost Holland High's reserve team a tie here Friday and the Dutch went down to their first defeat in five starts as the Ottawa seconds eked out a 7-6 win at Ottawa Field.

The Holland seconds were up against a strong Ottawa team, also unbeaten in four previous games. The Indians scored first on an end run, after setting up the play on a completed pass. They made their conversion.

Holland scored in the second quarter on a 45-yard pass play from quarterback Chuck Klompkens to end Ben Farabee. Farabee took the 30-yard aerial and ran the rest of the way.

Gary Smith tried the kick. Two officials ruled the kick good and the other ruled it not good. Coach Ed Damson said. After a conference they decided the kick was not to be allowed and the half ended 7-6.

Although Holland played better ball in the second half, they were not able to push the ball across.

Penalties deep in Ottawa territory bogged down several scoring chances. Holland, after looking somewhat spotty in the first half, was stronger in the last half, especially with its five-man defensive line.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Achterhof, 203 East Eighth St. and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fryling of Madison Ave., Grand Rapids.

A background of palms, candelabra and baskets of mums and feathered carnations was used for the rites performed in Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta. A sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves featured the fitted bodice, and panels of lace and tulle with lace applique on tulle decorated the full skirt which terminated into a train. The elbow length veil of tulle was held in place by a fitted cap of lace and pearls. She carried a white

Bible, gift of the groom, with a corsage of white feathered carnations and sweetheart roses.

The bridal attendants wore ballerina length gowns of mint green and yellow. They wore matching picture hats and carried cascade bouquets of daisy mums. The miniature bride's gown was styled like the bride's.

Civic Beauty Council Names New Officers

James Bennett was elected president of the Council for Civic Beauty at a meeting Thursday night in the band room of City Hall.

Other new officers are Garrell Adler, first vice president; Dick Smallenburg, second vice president, and Mrs. Robert Long, secretary. Arthur F. Schwartz was named to the board and Ken Zverink will continue as treasurer. He was elected last year for a two-year term.

Announcement was made that the Holland township board has appropriated approximately $500 for poplars to screen the township dump on the north side of Black River. County Park Supt. Richard Smallenburg hopes to have these trees planted this fall. Russell Bouws has served as contact man of the township board for this project.

John Benson reported 1,200 persons had attended the garden and landscape clinic last March in Civic Center, sponsored by the Council and other agencies. A total of 700 soil samples were tested. There was considerable enthusiastic comment on the fine showing of Marigolds in the tulip lanes this fall. Conditions this year were fine for a long season of fine bloom which still remain beautiful on local boulevards and in many areas on the lanes.

The council expressed appreciation to Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg and the many local residents who cooperated in this project which started last summer when Camp Fire girls distributed more than 500 leaflets on instructions on species and plantings. Considerable complimentary comment was received from visitors on these fine plantings, and also for the hanging baskets all summer in the downtown area.

Retiring President Schwartz presided.

Car Kills Deer

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A deer was killed at 11:30 p.m. Sunday when it ran in front of a car driven by Donald L. Leak, 23, of Muskegon on US-31 in Grand Rapids township. Damage to the car was estimated by state police at $150 and the deer was turned over to conservation officers.

SUBSTRUCTURE RISES — Workmen at the M-21, US-31 intersection, where a semi-cloverleaf traffic bridge is being built, are busy these days laying in the abutments which will form the substructure for the bridge. There will be five abutments, and workmen now are building the forms and pouring the cement. The forms are filled by the crane in the right foreground, which hoists a large bucket, filled with cement at the hopper (center) to the top of the form, where workers dump it. Bridge Project Engineer Ernest Malkewitz said the work is going well, and said he hopes to have all five abutments in before work is suspended for the winter, early in November. The view is south from the old intersection. (Sentinel photo)
