Views From the Campus

John R. May is Head Librarian at Hope College. He received his B.A. degree from Indiana University in 1938 and his Master's Degree in Library Science from the University of Illinois in 1952.

May came to Hope in the fall of 1958 from Purdue University where he was Assistant Reference Librarian. Prior to this he was librarian at the Crawfordville City Schools, Crawfordville, Indiana from 1950-1953; Anderson Senior High School, Anderson, Indiana from 1947-1950; and the Butler University College of Pharmacy from 1938 to 1947.

By John R. May

Does a library in a college have a special role to play? Does it differ essentially from any other library engaged in the important task of getting books and readers together?

In recent years there has been a marked increase in the use of public libraries by non-student adults. This is understandable.

John R. May

In our changing world, no person dares to stop reading and thinking when he receives his final degree. His summa cumulative of today may be obsolete and useless tomorrow!

Obviously a college library fulfills the unique function of being a teaching library. Students must be taught to use one library so effectively and so well that they will be able to use any well organized library anywhere. More important they must be taught to know books—many books—and be able to separate the good from the bad.

Good books and readers must be brought together for a lifetime. Good readers are eternal seekers after truth. In good books we find the greatest truths and the record of man's greatest and noblest thoughts and feelings.

One of the things I like best in being a college librarian is working with an enlightened faculty. Virtually gone is the college professor who limits himself and his students to one textbook. True, the present day college professor wants his students to read extensively and know many books. He wants them to recognize and evaluate varying viewpoints and new ideas. He even wants his students to know some poor books at least well enough to recognize trash as trash!

Fast disappearing, if not completely gone, too, is the professor who asks his librarian, "Won't you please put the ten books I want my students to read on a special rack or display in a particular spot near the main entrance so I can tell my students exactly where they are?"

The present day college professor realizes along with his librarian that such a procedure is spoon-feeding. It does not teach students how to find material on a topic. It defeats the whole idea of reading extensively and being able to find and recognize good books in any library.

I also like being a college librarian in the new world of microfilm, microcards, slides, filmstrips, and moving pictures. All these audio-visual aids will never replace printed materials. No one wants them to. They can, however, supplement, enhance and aid.

Lastly I like being a college librarian in a bright new library building made possible by a spirit of Christian generosity and the recognition of the fact that in libraries can be found the best record of the past and the best preparation for life in a changing world.

Zeeland Hospital Installs Closed Circuit Television

ZEELAND — The Zeeland Community Hospital has installed a closed circuit television system, the first of its kind in the United States. The system is the first in which church services are broadcast live from a local church to a local hospital.

Cameras installed in the Faith Reformed Church of Zeeland televise Sunday morning and evening services for the hospital's patients. Every patient's room is equipped with a television set, which can be controlled by a bedside monitor. Individual speakers are provided for each patient.

Regular network programs are televised during weekdays over three channels, and AM and FM radio are also broadcast through the sets. A small fee is charged for weekday broadcasts to pay for the installation and equipment of the system, but no charge is made for the Sunday services.

The cameras, television sets, and transmitting equipment are leased from the Sylvania American Hospital Supply Television System, the firm that installed the equipment. Under the terms of the lease the hospital will make payments totalling $15,000 over the next five years. After the five year term has expired and payments have been completed, the equipment will become the property of the hospital.

Has Option On 98-Acre HEDCOR Site

Holland is under consideration for a new multi-million dollar plant by Beech-Nut Lifesavers, Inc. of Canajoharie, N.Y.

The firm has taken an option on approximately 98 acres of land near 48th St. from HEDCOR.

Roscoe Giles, executive vice-president of HEDCOR and the Chamber of Commerce said the firm has made no commitment to locate in Holland. However, the company is presently making studies of a number of factors to determine if the community is suitable for the location of a Beech-Nut plant; Giles said.

The land under option fronts on 48th St. with the eastern boundary the Allegan C & O railroad tracks.

Beech-Nut executives and representatives of an engineering firm have been in Holland a number of times during the past two months.

The officials have studied everything from schools to transportation.

Extensive and detailed studies taking many months are always conducted before any decision on major plant locations are made.

While no details on the proposed plant were known, the development would be in the multi-million dollar range. Initial employment could be approximately 350 with double that number in future years as expansion is made.

Beech-Nut produces a number of items including lifesavers, gum, candy, baby food, coffee and cough drops.

Five Exchange Students Are Spending Year Here

All Enjoy American Hospitality

Ice cream, chocolate sodas, malts and sundaes along with corn on the cob, hamburgers, hot-dogs and pizza seemed to be the favorite foods enjoyed by the foreign exchange students who are spending the year here living with families in Holland and Zeeland.

The students are Karin Muller of Germany who is residing with the John Sprick family at 125 Birchwood Ave.; Annica Ostlund of Sweden who is staying at the A.J. Dalman home at 98 West 12th St.; Renate Schmechel of Germany who is staying with the Chester Weigels of 293 Home Ave.; Ilse Tilemann also of Germany who is living with the David Hansons at 894 South Shore Dr., and Karin Weule of Germany who is staying with the John Barents family at 127 State St., Zeeland.

At an informal gathering for the girls and their "American big sisters" given by Paula Matchinsky and Mary Ellen Mrok they discussed the customs and ways in their countries and as typical teenagers enjoyed paging through fashion magazines commenting on the dresses they liked best. They also enjoyed dancing and demonstrating the dances popular in their countries.

All of the girls who are staying in the area and attending area schools agree that they wished to come to the United States to further understand the people here and learn their way of life.

Karin Muller is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Muller of Braunschweig, West Germany. Her father works for the telephone company there.

She has one brother, Werner Jr., who is 15 years old and her American "big sister" is Patti Sprick. Karin said she enjoys reading, writing letters, music and painting.

Miss Muller said the American people are more friendly and not as serious as the German people are. She said the girls in Germany will wear the same dress all week and that they don't wear lipstick to school. She added the girls are permitted to wear slacks to school and shorts are common wear for the boys.

Miss Muller went on to say the school she attends is in an old British Army barracks and that many ride their bicycles to school. Her favorite word here is "scrounge."

Annica Ostlund, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Folke Ostlund comes from Skelleftea, Sweden, and celebrated her 16th birthday anniversary on Oct. 2. She was honored at a surprise party by her American "big sister" Ginger Dalman.

Annica has one brother who is 20 years old and a 21-year-old sister. She is interested in dramatics and has received a part in the Senior class play at Holland High School. She likes the environment of the theatre life and would enjoy just working back stage.

Miss Ostlund says her favorite American singer is Sal Mineo and also likes the Swedish actress, Ingrid Thulin and also Ingman Bergman. She enjoys reading and her favorite authors are Steinbeck and Selma Lagerlof, a Swedish romantic writer.

Before coming to the United States, Annica has worked at a travel agency where she made reservations, arranged for tickets and helped at the currency exchange.

Annica says she enjoys dancing, especially doing the twist, and recalls that back in Sweden the dances are usually the slow ones, however, the twist and bossa nova are popular.

Miss Ostlund also enjoys singing and participates in the choir at Third Reformed Church here. In Sweden, she is a member of the Youth Church Choir and says the group is planning an American tour in two years.

Annica has set a goal for herself during her American stay. She said she wants to "talk like you and not have any accent" when she returns.

"Icky" is the word which fascinates Renate Schmechel who comes from Wolfenbuttel, Germany. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Schmechel and enjoys reading, listening to records, dancing, swimming, knitting and going to movies as well as walking and bicycling.

Her favorite actor is Anthony Perkins and her favorite singer is Elvis Presley. Some of the American television shows she especially enjoys in Germany are "Father Knows Best" and "Perry Mason."

Miss Schmechel said that to participate in this foreign exchange program, interested persons filled out applications which included such questions as "Why would you like to visit America?" and "Why do you feel you should be chosen to participate in the program?"

Renate Schmechel

Those chosen to visit the United States attended a briefing in Hamburg Germany, last spring.

Renate said she could just about imagine what Holland was like from the description of the area given her by a minister who also told her of the Tulip Festival. She also met a girl from Holland on her flight to Detroit who told her more about the city.

Renate said she especially likes the houses and the wooded areas surrounding the city and also the public sweater dances held at the area schools.

Miss Schmechel also said the Americans were more polite and kind and always had that friendly "hi!" She added the "Germans had more time because Americans rush so much" and the phrase she most dislikes is "hurry up Renate!" Renate's American sister is Charl Weigels.

Ilse Tilemann, the 18-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Burchard Tilemann, is noted for dancing the Charleston at school dances at Holland High School. Ilse, the daughter of a lawyer and bank owner in Hamburg, comes from Enden which is just two miles from The Netherlands where she spends a great deal of time and "loves it there."

Miss Tilemann has five younger sisters and enjoys going to the theatre and attending concerts in Hamburg. She also enjoys sailing, cooking (especially trying foreign recipes) and dancing. She remarked, "I like sweater dances" which are not held in Germany.

Ilse said she thought all of the people in America looked younger, especially the parents. She said in Germany the parents looked and were much older. She reiterated the fact American hospitality was warm and greater than in Germany.

Miss Tilemann especially liked the people here in Holland and enjoys going to Lake Macatawa. In talking about the city, she said it reminded her of a "big, big garden." Ilse's American sister is Christina Hanson.

Seventeen-year-old Karin Weule from Goslar, West Germany enjoys all sports including track, high jump and run and jump. She also likes to draw with charcoal and water colors and loves dogs.

Karin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Weule and has two brothers, one 19 years old who attends the university, and a smaller 10-year-old brother. Her father owns a factory in Goslar.

Miss Weule has studied ballet for three years and, like the others, enjoys dancing. She enjoys doing the "shake" which is popular in Germany, and also the twist. Karin's American sister is Rosalyn Barents.

The girls told of the fashions in their countries and said the skirts and sweaters were most popular for school wear. They pointed out that girls were permitted to wear slacks to school because many ride bikes to school and slacks are best protection against the cold weather.

Also popular are the A-line skirts, shifts and suits. They said the girls always wear nylons and heels to school. Up to the age of about 13 years they all wear knee socks. They also added that "Camelots", which are becoming popular in the United States now, were popular in Germany about two years ago and said they were out of style now.

They said Bermuda shorts which are so common here are not worn in Germany.

The girls also talked about sports and said bowling was a pastime in Germany enjoyed mostly by adults and not so much the younger people as it is here.

They were also disillusioned about our swimming. They all thought when persons here said they enjoyed swimming they meant getting in the water and swimming great distances and being able to do the various strokes to perfection rather than just splashing in the water and lying in the sun.

All of the girls said they are very happy here and the American people are so hospitable and helpful. All agreed they would not exchange the opportunity and experience for anything.

Saugatuck Gets New Highway Signs

SAUGATUCK — The fight by a group of women for State Highway Department recognition of the Saugatuck-Douglas area is beginning to pay off.

Last Friday the women, who make up the Saugatuck-Douglas Chamber of Commerce Road Committee, met with members of the State Highway Department and got the department to agree to changes in signs posted along I-196 in the Saugatuck-Douglas area.

The exit sign on southbound I-196 near Douglas is to bear the name Douglas instead of Ganges, and the exit sign on northbound I-196 will read Saugatuck instead of Blue Star Memorial Highway.

It was also agreed at the meeting that signs reading "Next Two Exits, Saugatuck-Douglas" would be erected.

These corrections should be of considerable value to both the motorist and the communities of Saugatuck and Douglas, according to Mrs. Howard C. Temple, chairman of the Road Committee.

Mrs. Temple commended the State Highway Department for its efforts in assisting the traveler in finding his way to the popular southwest Michigan resort area.

There was some discussion at the meeting regarding a more suitable name or number for the former US-31, now called Blue Star Memorial Highway, but it was inconclusive.

Another meeting between the two groups has been scheduled for Friday and will be attended by Rep. Edward Hutchinson.

Members of the Road Committee, in addition to Mrs. Temple, are Mrs. Sam Blondina, Mrs. Henry Weigle, Mrs. Victor Mohr and Mrs. Eugene Atman.

Local Woman's Club Goes Political at Luncheon

A real political campaign atmosphere dominated a luncheon of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon in First Methodist Church billed as "Luncheon With the Candidates," arranged by the current affairs group headed by Mrs. Tom De Pree.

The affair also served as a welcome for 31 new members to the club this year, all wearing corsages. They were introduced by Mrs. Harold Boles, chairman of the membership committee. Mrs. Howard Kooker, club president, presided and Mrs. Calvin Vander Werf gave the invocation.

Joining club members were seven candidates, all of whom were given five minutes for whatever type of presentation they desired. Appearing were Joyce Hatten of Grand Haven, Republican candidate for a four-year term on the new State Board of Education; Charles Wickett of Bloomington, Democratic candidate for state senator; Harold Volkema of Holland, Republican candidate for state senator; Ralph Richman of Holland, Democratic candidate for 55th district state representative; James Farnsworth of Plainwell, GOP candidate for 55th district representative; Malcolm Ferguson of Spring Lake, Democratic candidate for 95th district representative; and Melvin De Stigter of Hudsonville, GOP candidate for 95th district representative.

In introducing the guests, Mrs. De Pree emphasized that voting is a right, a privilege and a duty, pointing out that such a gathering could not have been held 50 years ago because women at that time did not have the vote.

Mrs. Hatten, long active in county and state politics, explained the makeup of the new state Board of Education which will set policies for public education from kindergarten through 12th grade, and coordinate this planning with higher education including graduate work. Mother of six, Mrs. Hatten for the last eight years had conducted a nursery school in Grand Haven, as well as attending Hope College off and on for the last seven years. She attended Smith College and the University of Michigan.

Senate candidate Wickett, a lawyer with offices in Kalamazoo and Bloomington, has served as circuit court commissioner for the Kalamazoo court and has served as president of the Bloomington school board. He said he is entering the race because of his concern with education and with public servants who preach economy in government while raising the taxes back at home.

Volkema who operates two book stores in Holland and who formerly taught 10 years in Christian High School said he is not promising to send back a lot of money from Lansing, but pointed to the basic fact that all such money comes from the people in the first place.

Richman, who said he is in a decided minority after five or six forays into politics, pointed to the need of more funds for education in the state, adding that Michigan is far behind in technological standards.

Farnsworth, a representative for two years and a former mayor of Otsego and delegate to the Constitutional Convention, pointed to the forward look for the last part of the 20th century, and said responsible Republican leaders have provided the best educational program Michigan has ever had.

Ferguson, an employee of Continental Motors in Muskegon and long active in county and state Democratic circles, challenged Farnsworth's figures on state finances, adding that all had been set up in the Swainson administration before Gov. Romney got into office.

De Stigter, a former school teacher and now in sales, said both Democrats and Republicans are interested in doing everything for the people of Michigan for a better way of life but differ on how to accomplish it. He said Democrats feel politics should solve these problems whereas Republicans want the people to solve them with cooperation by the government. "Make sure you have a voice in the government," he said.

Campaign literature of all kinds was available. On suggestion of Ferguson, the women joined in 30 seconds of silence honoring former President Hoover who had died just a few hours earlier.

Parent-Teachers Club Meets at Beechwood

Beechwood — Glerrum School Parent-Teachers Club met Monday in Beechwood school.

An unusual approach was used to introduce the teachers of the two schools to the parents. After Daniel Paul and Beatrice Smith, principals, introduced each teacher, a miniature silhouette of the teachers was projected on a screen by means of an overhead projector. The parents tried to match the silhouettes with the teachers' names.

The silhouettes were made by using the overhead projector in reverse and the use of the projector during the program provided another example of its many uses in the school.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 23.

About 900 children and 550 adults attended the PTA open house at Lincoln and Roosevelt Elementary Schools on Monday.

The fourth grade class taught by Mrs. Joyce Kraak at Roosevelt school created an unusual attraction. Elm Disease Hits Huge Holland Tree

An American elm at the home of Frank Payne, 265 East 12th St., one of the oldest and largest trees in Holland, is being cut down because of Dutch elm disease.

The tree, nearly 90 feet tall and with a branch span of 110 feet, is being removed on orders from the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Rolland Oshier of the Oshier Tree Service, the firm cutting the tree down, estimated the elm to be about 200 years old. He said that it was the oldest tree within the old city limits.

The old elm gave shade to six families in the neighborhood. Because of its size and proximity to surrounding homes, it is being cut down branch by branch.

It was necessary to remove the tree immediately because Dutch elm disease is highly infectious. Its wood will be taken to a dump and covered with sand since none of it can be used for any purpose.

Large Crowd Hears Review

A capacity crowd gathered in the auditorium of Herrick Public Library Wednesday for the first of a series of book reviews to be held each month through May.

Mrs. Bastian Kruithof reviewed the best seller "The Rector of Justin" by Louis Auchincloss, the story of the life of Dr. Prescott, the headmaster. The review was a profound analysis of a man's character and his faith, his personal crisis, his effect on others, his sins of omission and commission, the source of his energy, his subtlety and his stubbornness.

The book also revealed operations of a famous private boys' school, the boys, master, the trustees, and the resultant ramifications of power and finance lying far from the imaginary sleepy town near Boston, the locale of the book.

Mrs. A. A. Dykstra of the library staff displayed new books and gave short explanations.

Mrs. Robert De Bruyn of Zeeland will give the next review Nov. 11.

Other Louis Auchincloss books in Herrick Library are "The Great World of Timothy Colt," "The House of Five Talents," "Portrait in Brownstone," "Power of Attorney and Pursuit of the Prodigal."

WHERE THE CHASM IS MOST ACUTE

Sometimes there are problems that push themselves to the surface, and all our attempts to ignore them seem only to highlight their presence. One of these problems is the lack of a clear attitude toward moral and spiritual values. On one day we counted three articles on this subject by three men, all of whom might well command our respect. One had something to say that seemed rather pointed.

Professor Erich Hutchinson of Stanford University cited the prevailing certainty with which members of the teaching profession advise governments on everything from spending to economic development. He had no particular concern about their doing so. But he did note something about their rather fluid interest in so many areas. In the field of human values they quickly claimed neither competence or responsibility.

The question one might well raise is whether or not there can be this total lack of interaction between fields that effect human behavior and the moral and spiritual values that should function within this area.

Professor Hutchinson pointed out that in the past there had been complaints about a "profound chasm" between man's preaching and his practices. But today the preaching has also disappeared and we shunt students into society with tremendous responsibilities, but with no discussion of the human factors that shape character and morals.

We aren't ready to buy the notion that the academy is absolved from this latter responsibility. Such truncated teaching may well be the example of a shortchange in education. If there is a chasm between preaching and practice, then that chasm exists in our academies in a most acute way. The practice in the academy can only accelerate the need for a change in attitude.

Disciplined Christian Living
I Timothy 3:14-16; 4:4-12, 16
By C. P. Dame

The word "discipline" ought to become more popular today. We are troubled by many undisciplined people today. Some are adults, some are young in years, some are church members and some are not. The church needs disciplined members.

I. The glorious church has a glorious gospel. The church is called a household and a brotherhood. In our lesson text Paul calls it "the pillar and ground of truth." It is the mission of the church to hold up the truth so that people may see it. The word "ground" or "bulwark" or "buttress" teach that the church supports the truth, that is the saving truth of the gospel. The church is a great institution. It has a message to proclaim.

The early church members sang its creed, a part of which is in the lesson text. The church has a secret, it is "the mystery of godliness." God has revealed this mystery to the church which is commanded to make it known.

The preaching and teaching of the early church was Christ-centered. Not all modern preaching meets Paul's requirement. The church teaches that Jesus is human and divine. He is both God and man. The world condemned Jesus but God by raising Him from the dead justified Him. The early church believed in the death, resurrection and ascension of Jesus.

II. The church must teach. In Ephesus some heretics objected to marriage and certain kinds of food. It is the mission of the church to teach people how to use God's gifts aright. Marriage and food are God's gifts and should be received with thanksgiving. This truth the church should make known through its ministers of whom Timothy was one.

In order to teach aright it is necessary to nourish one's own mind "on the words of faith and doctrine." And a good teacher has no time for "godless and silly myths."

The pastor and teacher is always encouraged by the fact that "godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come."

III. Christian workers must always set a high example. That is Paul's counsel to Timothy and it is still good. Careless speech, worldly conduct hurts spiritual leaders.

Love is the supreme virtue—it is the fruit of faith, without which it is not possible to please God. Highly important it is for leaders to watch themselves and their teaching. And the teacher must always set a fine example.

Hope Defeated By Adrian, 3-0

ADRIAN — Complete frustration was the summation of the Hope College football team's appearance here Saturday as Adrian College took a 3-0 MIAA victory before a Homecoming crowd at Maple Stadium.

It was a frustrating afternoon for the Flying Dutchmen who failed to score after driving twice inside the five-yard line. In the third quarter Hope had been stopped on the two and in the final period advanced to the five only to be shoved back.

Another frustration occurred with 2:20 left in the game. Harlan Hyink fired a long pass to Bill Hultgren on the Adrian five-yard line. Hultgren, who had beaten his defender, dived for the ball, but couldn't hold on and the play was ruled incomplete.

This pass came two minutes after Adrian had taken advantage of another Hope frustration.

tion and scored the game's only points. A high pass from center on fourth down prevented punter Phil Rauwerdink to get the kick away. He fell on the ball on the Hope 11 and Adrian took over. Hope dug in and Adrian failed to score in three plays. On fourth down Bob Butz kicked a field goal with the scrimmage line on the nine-yard line. The three points came with 4:54 to go.

It was the third field goal attempt the Bulldogs had tried in the game. The others were of 20 and 32 yards in the first half. Hyink, who had trouble hitting his receivers, began to pitch again trying to pull Hope out. He hit Hultgren for 20 yards and then fired to Rog Kroodsmas for 15 yards to the Adrian 30.

This brought up the long pass to Hultgren. On the next play Adrian intercepted an aerial on the Bulldogs 20 and returned to the 45 to end the threat. The interception was the fifth made by Adrian in the game. Hyink fired 29 and completed nine.

In the third quarter Hope marched to the Adrian two-yard line. But the Bulldogs, who had lost eight in a row starting with Hope's 16-14 win in Holland last year, were determined. Hope gained only one yard in three tries. A fourth down pass was intercepted in the end zone.

Again in the fourth quarter Hope drove to the five. On first down Hope fumbled but recovered. In the next three plays Adrian linemen broke through each time and dumped the Dutch.

The fourth down Statue of Liberty play went awry and the series ended on the Adrian 34. Rog Abel had set up the touchdown try with a fine run for the Adrian 40 to the 18, helped by Ken Postma's fine block.

Capt. Abel turned in an outstanding performance. He ran well and for a time was playing both ways. Abel formerly was only a defensive player but was pushed into offense this year because of injuries to other backs.

His freshman brother, Keith, received a rib injury early in the game. Defensive standouts for the losers were Bill Barger, Max Schipper and Rog Kroodsmas.

Coach Russ De Vette commended his team despite the loss. "With all the ups and downs and bad things that happened, they weren't demoralized." "Even after Adrian got the break, they didn't give up and held, forcing them to try the field goal," De Vette said.

Hope now has a 1-4 record and 1-2 in the MIAA. The Bulldogs have an identical mark. Hope hosts Albion in the Homecoming game next Saturday at 2 p.m. in Riverview Park.

Windmill Contest Has 74 Entries

Members of Holland's Windmill Island Advisory Committee will turn art critic this week to judge entries in the trademark contest which closed Oct. 15.

A total of 74 entries were received. While the bulk of these are the work of artists in the Holland-Zeeland area, entries were received also from more than a dozen other Michigan communities, including Grand Rapids, Ionia, Bay City, Saginaw, Wyandotte, Grayling, Fremont and West Branch.

Committee officials were gratified at the widespread response to the contest which offers a $50 prize for the best symbolic design incorporating the picture and name of Holland's "De Zwaan." They said they hoped to pick the winner this week, but the final decision may be delayed because of the number of excellent entries.

Plans are also being made to exhibit all entries for public viewing.

Area's Representatives Find Common Interests

WASHINGTON — Congressmen Jerry Ford and Bob Griffin are working more closely than ever these days.

The reason: reapportionment. Since 1957, when Rep. Griffin first came to Washington, he has been a close working associate of Rep. Ford, who had preceded him to Capitol Hill.

Their districts adjoined in Western Michigan. They spoke the same political language.

Then, in January, 1963, it was Congressman Griffin, along with Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, who worked to elect Rep. Ford as chairman of the House Republican Conference. It was considered a bold, brilliant maneuver by political observers.

By law, for instance, the organization of the two political parties is now reoriented along the new Congressional district lines. In a practical sense, then, Ottawa County has two U. S. Congressmen during this interim period.

If there is a minimum of confusion these days, it's because Congressmen Ford and Griffin work so closely together. Following an example set by Rep. Ford, Congressman Griffin uses a house trailer each year to take his office to the people. Now his 11-county district, one of the largest in the state, stretches from Traverse City to Holland. The job of covering the new district in the short time between sessions will not be easy.

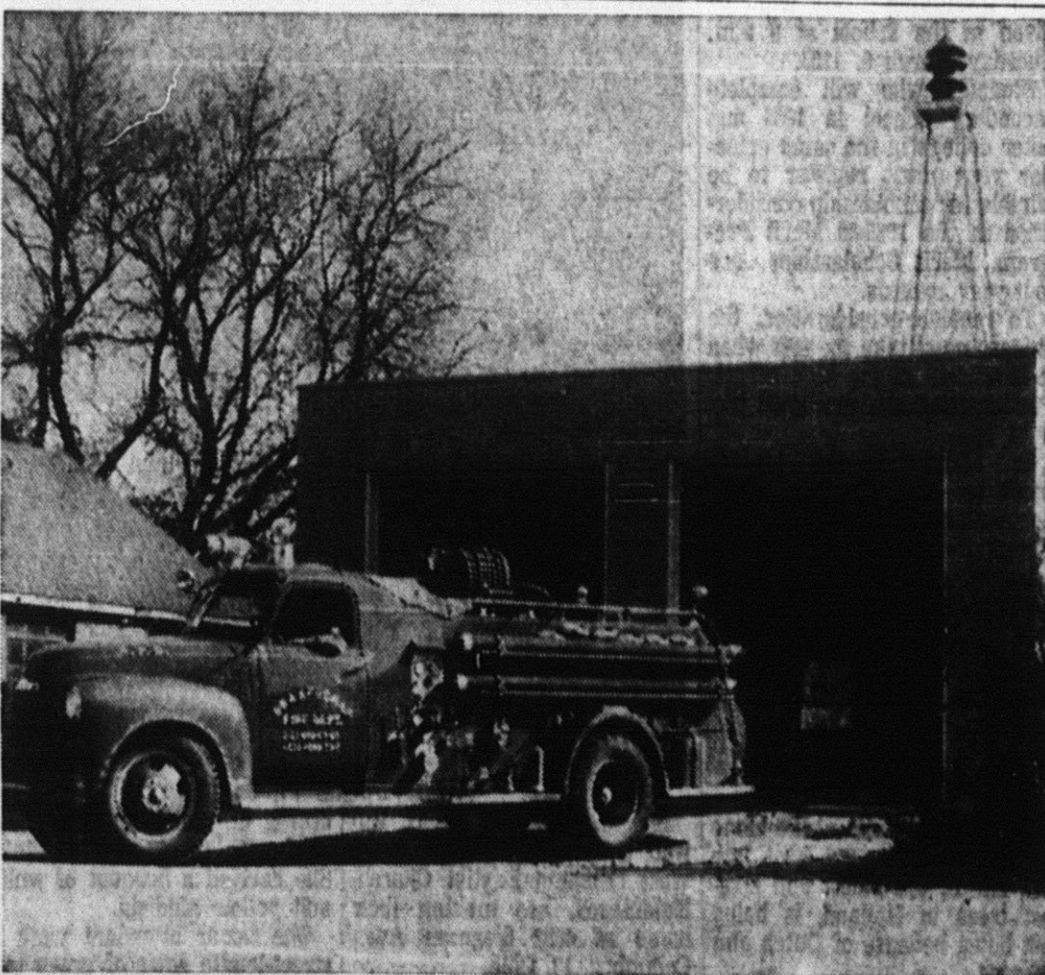

Politically, Reps. Ford and Griffin think alike on most issues. That helps explain why, when Griffin and Goodell launched their movement to improve the image of Congressional Republican leadership, they turned to Rep. Ford to take over the helm of the party caucus.

Actually, Ottawa County has much in common with the other counties of the Ninth District, Rep. Griffin has observed. The county is not exactly new to the Congressman for he has filled a number of speaking engagements there in the past. Congressman Griffin feels that he is already acquainted with the people and the interests of the area.

Physically, of course, there is a common tie between Ottawa County and the rest of the Ninth Congressional District — the Lake Michigan shoreline. This common natural boundary implies a similarity of climate and, in many instances, a way of life. The Ninth District, from one end to the other, is concerned about and interested in such things as pollution of the Great Lakes, the Lake Michigan water level, the Coast Guard, agricultural products based on temperate off-lake breezes, the tourist business, harbor development and recreation.

Rep. Griffin has found that there is a community of interest in other fields not necessarily based on geography. For instance, Ottawa County will find Rep. Griffin already well versed on the needs of education, the needs of the individual farmer and working man, the aspirations of communities both large and small and the interests of minorities.

Still, there is much to learn and many new people to meet in Ottawa County for Rep. Griffin. That's why he and Congressman Ford are working even more closely these days.

NEW BUILDING GETS NEW ALARM — Fire Chief David Schripsema pulls out of Graafschap's new fire hall, completed last spring. A new telephone alarm system has been added to the volunteer department's fire-fighting equipment which allows the fire siren to be set off from any of six locations in the town. The new system, installed by Michigan Bell Telephone, will reduce the mobilization time of the department's 24 volunteers.

Graafschap Has New Alarm System

A new telephone fire alarm system has been installed at the Graafschap Fire Hall and in six other locations in Graafschap by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The new phone system will handle only incoming calls and will allow volunteer firemen to set off the siren from any of the six locations according to Graafschap Fire Chief David Schripsema. He added that this should cut the time it takes to mobilize the department's 24 volunteer firemen.

Schripsema said that the new phones and a new telephone number for fire calls will go into effect next week. Special cards with the new fire number will be sent out to residents in Laketown and Fillmore Townships Saturday. He reminds residents that the new number is to be used only for fire calls. Other calls to the department should be made over the other numbers, he adds.

The new system is being paid for by Laketown and Fillmore Townships which own the department's equipment. Laketown township clerk Donald Blaauw said it would cost the two townships a total of $500 a year to operate the new system.

The new phones replace the old fire phone which was located at the Clarence Mulder Funeral Home. The new phones were installed when the funeral home opened at its new location on 32nd St.

Plaggemars Furnace Co. President

Holland Native Wants To Keep Firm Here; Study Acquisitions

Howard O. Plaggemars has been elected president of the Holland Furnace Co.

The 26-year-old Holland native said he accepted the position because "I want to keep Holland Furnace Co. in Holland, and get the company back on its feet again where it rightfully belongs."

The firm has suffered a series of serious setbacks continuously during the past decade, and earlier this month was delisted from the New York Stock Exchange.

The new president said that furnaces are presently being assembled at the Holland plant. Machinery shipped to Thatcher in Garwood, N. J., is being returned and increased furnace production is scheduled.

Plaggemars joined the Furnace Co. on June 1, 1964, as controller and was elected to the board of directors. A month later he was named executive vice president and treasurer.

Plaggemars succeeds Russell M. Cook who resigned earlier this month to become general manager of Thatcher Furnace division of Crane Co. after Crane Co. had acquired the assets of Thatcher from Holland Furnace Co.

In discussing his plans for Holland Furnace Co., Plaggemars said that the new management team has initiated several steps which should benefit the company.

He said the company has expanded its sales volume substantially. For the remaining months of 1964, he anticipates continuing increases in sales.

In addition, collections on shipments made by the company are running at a monthly rate in advance of the previous month's sales. Plaggemars also said that the new management has implemented a judicious cost-cutting program which is reducing overhead considerably without sacrificing the quality of the company's product line.

"More important, for the immediate future of the company," he said, "we are currently in the midst of acquisition negotiations involving two companies. In order to implement further negotiations for a merger or acquisition, the P. T. Cheff family, whose stock has constituted working control of Holland Furnace Co. in the past, and Mrs. Norma Landwehr Bowles, daughter of a founder of the company, have delegated representation of their shares to an agent, who has been given the authority to act in the best interest of the company," Mr. Plaggemars said.

"Despite Holland Furnace's present financial position, the company has a great deal to offer to a larger company, such as manufacturing facilities—including production of ferrous castings and metal stampings, lower labor costs, an excellent location, and a tax loss carry forward," he said. Holland's Miracle Iron furnace, he added, is considered the highest quality product of its kind on the market today.

In return, Holland Furnace would be receiving additional value and additional sales outlets, Plaggemars said. He added that any such transactions would be made for stock, since Holland Furnace has about 193,000 shares in its treasury to use for such purposes, if it so desires.

In looking at the company's future, Plaggemars said that Holland Furnace Co. "was instrumental in putting Holland, Michigan, on the map." He said that no community in the United States can today afford to lose an industry and, reiterating his intentions of keeping Holland Furnace in Holland, added that "this cannot be accomplished by apathy or indifference on the part of management or the community as a whole."

Plaggemars said he is fully aware of the tremendous task that the company faces in the weeks ahead. "If you accept something as impossible you have closed doors before you even get the opportunity to open the first one," he said. Plaggemars, a graduate of Culver Military Academy, received a bachelor's degree from Hope College. He also attended the Graduate School of Business at the Indiana University. He studied both in Vienna, Austria, and in Marburg, Germany. Plaggemars served with the Army Security Agency from 1956 to 1957. He is a member of Kiwanis Clubs International and the society for International Development. Plaggemars, founder of Advance Business Consultants, a business consulting firm, is partner and director of Capital Enterprises, Enterprise Realty Co., and Enterprise Development Co., all located in Holland.

He announced the election of two new members of the Board of Directors of Holland Furnace. They are Frank D. Lokker, who is vice president sales, and Donald Wales.

Lokker, also a native of Holland, came to Holland Furnace as sales manager after 13 years as division manager of the heating firm of Lennox Industries, Inc. He was elected vice president sales in 1963. A graduate of the University of Michigan, Lokker served as a communications officer and saw combat with the Air Force during World War II. He is married and has three children.

Wales is a director and chairman of the Executive Committee of Automatic Retailers of America, headquartered in Philadelphia and listed on the New York Stock Exchange. He specializes in consulting services on acquisitions. He is also a director of several other corporations and is a former general partner of the brokerage firm of Crutten, Podesta, and Miller, prior to its merger with Walston & Company.

The Rev. Adrian Newhouse performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin R. Wyngarden of 225 South Division, Zeeland, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Baumann of 409 West 31st St., Holland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and approached the altar wearing a chapel-length gown of peau de soie styled with a scoop neckline and bridal point sleeves. The princess panel front was enhanced with Alencon lace appliques and accented at the back with a bow and chapel-length train. Her paragon crown of seed pearls and crystals secured an elbow-length bouffant veil of English illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums, the center featuring yellow baby roses centered with a white orchid.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Douglas Blauw, sister of the bride as matron of honor; Peggy Baumann, sister of the groom and Terri Maurits as bridesmaids. They were attired identically in floor-length gowns of blue satin fashioned with three-quarter length sleeves and panel trains descending from the waist. Matching blue headpieces were accented with bows in the back and circular veils. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations and blue tipped mums.

The groom was attended by Douglas Blauw as best man; Craig Buter and Les Baumann

Halloween Party Dropped

The annual Halloween party and spook hop sponsored by the Holland Jaycees are being dropped this year. Jaycee president Jerry Hurtgen said the party was not serving the needs of the community as well as the other Jaycee projects were doing.

Hurtgen said one of the objectives of the party was to keep children off the streets at night and prevent possible unfortunate trick or treat incidents. It appeared the party pushed the trick or treats ahead a night or two, Hurtgen said.

The Halloween party has been sponsored annually by the Jaycees for many years. Prizes were awarded for the best Halloween costumes and games were played. A few years ago a window painting contest for the younger children was dropped because of lack of interest.

In recent years a young people spook hop was added in the evening. Jaycees were considering the dance again this year but met too much conflict with dates and other events scheduled for the same night.

Hurtgen said the Halloween party and spook hop were being eliminated from the Jaycees list of projects this year but added they might be returned next year if the board of directors feels the projects are necessary.

Lastly, there was coffee and doughnuts for the adults and soft drinks for youngsters. Visitors were routed out through rear doors to avoid bottlenecks of incoming crowds.

This time it took the Panthers only six plays to score as they drove 57 yards to score. Farabee scored his second touchdown, this one a two-yard plunge with 4:49 left in the half. Oonk converted.

School Heads Speakers at AAUW Meeting

Donald Ihrman and Fred Bertsch, Jr., spoke on "Impressions and Observations" at the AAUW meeting which was held Thursday evening in the Juliana Room of Durfee Hall on the Hope College campus.

Mrs. Paul McIlwain, AAUW area representative for education, and Mrs. Robert Cecil, implementation chairman for expectations in education, introduced the speakers.

Mr. Ihrman, the new superintendent of the Holland Public Schools said that schools are the reason our country has continued to be the land of opportunity and that we all want our schools to be characterized by the urge to improve. He also commented that teaching has become more demanding, that there is now a need for a higher proportion of career teachers, and that teaching staffs need to be internally flexible so that they can adjust to "team teaching" and other new ideas.

Mr. Bertsch, new principal of Holland High School, spoke on three areas of concern to a school administrator: organization, discipline and imagination.

In speaking about organization he emphasized the need for the staff and students to know their functions and responsibilities and the need for good communication. He told of some changes in the high school routine, such as the establishment of four 8 a.m. guidance sessions each week. The advantages of the block system of daily class work were also reviewed.

Secondly, Mr. Bertsch stated the need for discipline. He defined this as that part which molds, strengthens, perfects or controls and only corrects when other forms fail. He mentioned several small rules regarding seating and student dress which improve the tenor of student discipline and conduct.

In conclusion, Mr. Bertsch said that the fine high school buildings were the result of much study and good imaginative thinking and that this sort of imagination must be continued.

Both Mr. Ihrman and Mr. Bertsch invited the public to visit any of the public schools at any time.

Following a question and answer period, coffee was served by Mrs. Ronald Dalman and her committee.

LOTS OF FUN—These members of the Salvation Army Golden Age club are having lots of fun bowling at the Holland Bowling Lanes. This recreational activity was started by the club Oct. 1 and a league was formed last week.

Holland Golden Agers Enjoy Bowling

Bowling appeals to all ages and three weeks ago members of the Salvation Army Golden Age club discovered the fun of participating.

Under the direction of Capt. W. D. Stuart, commanding officer of the Salvation Army in Holland, the Golden Agers held their first bowling session at the Holland Bowling Lanes.

Capt. Stuart wasn't sure how bowling would be accepted by the group but he selected this sport to do something for the group's recreational program.

And the idea really took. Many of the persons had never bowled before but they had such an enjoyable time, Capt. Stuart said, that several wanted to form a league.

Last Thursday morning the league was officially formed and 27 men and women participated. Others participated in open bowling. Persons may take part in the open bowling and don't have to join the bowling league, Capt. Stuart said.

Capt. Stuart said the club is open to any senior citizen in the Holland area, 60 years or older. Coffee and doughnuts are served and the bowling starts each Thursday at 9:30 a.m. It will continue throughout the winter.

Physicians have recommended exercise is important to good health, Capt. Stuart said, and some do very little in recreation. "This is our first recreational approach to the Golden Agers Club," he said.

"Normally we meet the first and third Wednesday of the month at which time an organized program made of drama and singing, with a religious tone, is conducted," Capt. Stuart continued.

"We hope to attract more senior citizens through bowling. We are interested in hearing from any other recreation activity and they will be considered in the future if there is enough interest," Capt. Stuart said.

Seeking the reaction of the bowlers, Capt. Stuart wrote down some of the comments he heard. Mrs. Minnie Vander Poel, the oldest member who has bowled each week, said "I've never tried to bowl in my life before but this is fun."

Mrs. Lena Jurries was delighted. "Got them all down," she said and Mrs. Jennie Essenburg, Golden Agers secretary, excitedly exclaimed "Got them all down, a strike, yippee."

Mrs. Mary Hovenga said if she continues to feel as good in health as she does now, "I'm going to do it right along." Mrs. Anna Vanden Bosch said, "I don't even want to take time out for lunch."

Mrs. Mary Roberts had her wish granted. She said, "If we would form a league I'd be there." One other woman said "What I admire about this club is there's no cliques."

Last week in the league bowling Marie Postma led with 182 high series followed by Julius Nyhuis, 178 and William Hovenga, 176. Marie Postma's 110 was high game while Nyhuis had 100 and Hovenga, 98.

In addition to bowling, the club also enjoyed three color tours in recent weeks in the bus provided by the Holland Jaycees. The Salvation Army is a member agency of the Greater Holland United Fund.

Do we really need a Medicare Tax ?

Health care is now available for "over 65's" who cannot afford to pay

If you are over 65, facing medical expense and can't pay for it...it's yours for the asking, already provided for by law. The Kerr-Mills Act offers a Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly with the federal and state governments sharing the cost.

In most states this care is far, far greater than that offered by Medicare proposals...and no additional tax is necessary!

If you are elderly, and without funds for needed medical care, ask your doctor about the Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly, or call your local medical society.
