One Of Saugatuck's Summer Art Schools

ART SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY

Holland folks are showing considerable interest in the Art school which is to be opened in Holland on Monday, the 4th of November in the Holland City State Bank building. The school which will be known as the Taylor Art School will be located on the second floor of the Bank building. Mrs. Cora Bliss Taylor, well known artist of Saugatuck and Chicago will be in charge and she invites all folks interested to visit the studio in the Tower building from 4 to 6 p.m. Mrs. Taylor has won distinction as a painter and lecturer on Art and Holland will be pleased to number her among its citizens. Mrs. Taylor's Art School at Saugatuck and her well known Art Gallery have done much to make Saugatuck an Art center. The above picture shows one of her classes in Saugatuck.

HOLLAND TO BE REPRESENTED ON HARBOR ASSOCIATION

All the west coast cities of Michigan are to be represented in a newly organized Harbor organization, called the West Michigan Harbor Association.

The organization was perfected in Grand Haven Monday. The delegates from Holland were William M. Connelly, Austin Harrington and Ben A. Mulder. It seems that Saugatuck had been forgotten when invitations were sent out and Mr. Mulder made a motion to include Saugatuck which was unanimously accepted.

One delegate appointed by the Common Council of every city will be the representative of that city. Undoubtedly the aldermen will appoint this representative at the next meeting of the council.

The dues are $10 a year for each and every port town. The object is that all cities in the organization back any one city collectively if said city needs harbor improvements. The Congressmen and Senators of Michigan will be enlisted to help in the arrangement, in other words, Grand Haven and Muskegon are in duty bound to help Holland get its improvements and Holland in turn helps them, and so up the entire coast.

However, this West Michigan Harbor Association will not use its good offices to bring boat lines or freight to any one city or group of cities. That is for the cities themselves to do and in that respect they are in competition with all other ports.

L. H. Musser of South Haven was appointed as a committee of one to draft resolutions from suggestions presented at the meeting today. He will report at the next regular session.

Temporary officers, George L. Olsen, Grand Haven, chairman and William L. Stribley, Grand Haven, secretary-treasurer were named permanently.

Representatives at the meeting were J. R. Schwartz and George F. Cook, Leland; Alex J. Wallace, St. Joseph; H. C. Gwillim, Pentwater; J. G. McConnell, Manitou Island; Tracy Groovnor, North Manitou Island; Mr. Musser, South Haven; W. J. Eilers, Montague; E. J. Thompson, Ludington; H. F. Hill and Otto Danow, Manistee; A. E. Boswell, Muskegon; E. D. Kinkema, C. E. Stine, John Vyn, George L. Aken and Mr. Stribley, all of Grand Haven; Roy Buckner, Leland; and Mr. Mulder of Holland.

HOLLAND WOMAN TO SPEAK AT ALLEGAN COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL COUNCIL

The Children's division of the council will hold its seventh annual institute for children's workers at the Presbyterian church in Allegan on Saturday, November 9th. The program theme is "Christian Education." Speakers from the various districts of the county will discuss interesting topics relating to the theme. Mrs. Edith Walvoord of Holland, prominent children's worker in Ottawa county will be discussion leader, also addressing the group on promotion of Christian education in the morning session and Mrs. H. D. Strabbing of Hamilton, county Supt. of Children's work will preside. The morning session will open at 10:00 o'clock and the afternoon session at 1:15. Noon luncheon will be served at the church for 25c. All children's workers and also parents are cordially invited and urged to attend this meeting.

YAMS GROWN BY ZEELAND FARMER WEIGH 3 POUNDS

Gerrit H. Brower of Zeeland has proved sweet potatoes will grow in Ottawa county. When he recently harvested his crop he found two potatoes that weighed more than three pounds each.

He raised the plants in a hotbed before transplanting in the field. Brower plans to grow the yams on a commercial basis next year.

PORT TOWNSHIP ROAD ORDERED ABANDONED IN CIRCUIT COURT HERE

Judge Fred T. Miles ordered the discontinuance of a road and bridge in Port Sheldon township in circuit court today. Following the hearing the judge ordered Prosecutor John R. Dethmers to prepare an order abandoning the road.

The road, located in section 15-6-16 west in Port Sheldon township, will not be maintained hereafter and discontinuance was deemed necessary to avoid liability on the part of the county road commission.

The road is being abandoned because of the fact that a new road and a bridge over Pigeon lake was constructed last year. The new bridge and road run practically parallel to the old road and the old road is not being used to any extent at present and at best is a nearly impassable road, while the new road is paved wide and wonderful.

CITY ATTORNEY PARSONS OPINION UPHOLD BY ATTORNEY GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT

At a recent meeting of the common council, City Attorney Elbert Parsons gave as his legal opinion that the PWA project for a new Warehouse for the Board of Public Works was a proposal that should be passed on by a vote of the people first before a start could be made on such an undertaking.

The ruling was given on a proposal that the city appropriate $41,250 for its share of a $75,000 warehouse project approved by the

City Attorney Parsons

Public Works administration in Washington, Parsons contended that the city or board of public works has no right to allocate the money for the project, even though cash is available, without the vote of taxpayers.

In a letter to City attorney Parsons, Miles U. Culehan, deputy attorney general declared that he believes the opinion correct. The letter reads:

"I have examined the opinion, together with the sections of your city charter quoted," Culehan declared, "and believe such an opinion correctly states the law."

"I am familiar with the issues involved in the case of Freeland vs. city of Sturgis, wherein the court held that because the city had in its charter expressly adopted the provision of the fourth class city act, except as in the city charter otherwise provided, and the provisions of the fourth class city act, as amended, prohibited."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING

At a meeting of the south Ottawa County young Democrats held Monday night, Glen Ledbetter of Grand Rapids, fifth district chairman, told members that a ticket of Roosevelt-Murphy-McAllister will return Michigan to the Democratic column in the 1936 election. He predicted that Frank Murphy of Detroit will be the Democratic candidate for governor, and said that Thomas J. McAllister of Grand Rapids will be unopposed within his party ranks for Fifth district congressman.

ZEELAND LADY ENTERTAINS HOLLAND BRIDE

Mrs. Chris Vanden Heuvel entertained for Mrs. Gerrit Janssen of Holland with a miscellaneous shower at her home on North Elm street this week. The guests included Mrs. Gerrit Goorman, Mrs. John Goorman, Mrs. William Goorman, Mrs. Edward Van Rhee, the Misses Rika and Georgiana Goorman, all of Zeeland; Mrs. Nick Beyer, Mrs. Manley Beyer, Miss Gertrude Beyer, and Mrs. Henry Poppen, all of Holland.

A delicious two-course lunch was served by the hostess and a very enjoyable time was spent by all. Mrs. Janssen, who became a bride this week received many beautiful and useful presents. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Beyer of Holland, former residents of this city.—Zeeland Record.

GOVERNMENT GIVES COOP. ERSVILLE BARGAIN SCHOOL

Approval of a $75,000 Coopersville school project under WPA has been announced by R. J. Mason of the Muskegon office. Some time ago Coopersville voters had favored a $23,000 bond issue for this work and $15,000 was set aside from the general fund to the building fund, which, together with a federal grant of approximately $40,000 will complete the project.

if $150 to $1,500; register of deeds $150 to $1,900, instead of $250 recommended, and the custodian at the courthouse $200 to $1,200.

SUPERINTENDENT OF POOR AND SCHOOL EXAMINER REELECTED UNANIMOUSLY

John Lubben, Coopersville, was reelected superintendent of the poor and Ties W. Pruis was reelected school examiner by the board of supervisors at Grand Haven. The vote in both instances was unanimous.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the superintendents of the poor, Gerrit Zaagman, and Simon Kleyn, of Holland, and John Lubben, had made a record this year in that they ask no appropriation from the county for the support of the County Infirmary. It is claimed that this is the first time in the history of the county that funds from the townships, sale of produce and the balance from the previous year have been sufficient to operate the infirmary without aid of the county. After Simon

Kleyn of Holland had read his report a rising vote of thanks was given by the Board of Supervisors at Grand Haven.

The townships will pay $12,005.61, the sale of farm products from the county are estimated at $1,375.75 and the balance on hand $9,118.64, which will cover the following itemized expenses: farm maintenance, $1,000; home maintenance, $12,500; insurance, $2,950; home and farm improvements, $1,500; bastardy, $2,200; outside aid, $2,350.

Charles F. Weger, district director FERA, and Miss Deborah Veneklasen, county relief administrator, spoke to the board on the welfare administration after the state, townships and cities will be called upon to assume the burden. They advocated centralization of the work in the future, pointed to the several years in which welfare had been administered under CWA, and FERA, and explaining the various changes which had taken place since the federal government had assumed part of the burden. The matter of county participation in welfare support has been debated at several sessions and will probably be decided upon at the session. The finance committee and the welfare commission recommend that the townships and cities participate 40 per cent, the other 60 per cent coming from the state. The welfare commission advocates centralization as more efficient in view of past experience and to prevent overlapping of aid given out. John Dethmers, prosecuting attorney, ruled that as the county operates on the township unit plan, the county as a whole cannot appropriate funds for welfare support.

J. N. Van Oordt, Muskegon, an officer in the district employment bureau at Muskegon, appealed to the board for $15 per month to assist in the establishment of a branch office in this county. He drew attention to the accommodation to residents of the county who were now forced to contact the office in Muskegon, a considerable distance from the southern end of the county. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Day and Night Banking Service Starts Tonight

24 Hour Banking Service Comes to Holland

NIGHT DEPOSITORY INSTALLED FOR THE GREATER CONVENIENCE AND PROTECTION OF FIRST STATE BANK DEPOSITORS

THE NEXT TIME YOU PASS THE FIRST STATE BANK, take a look at the small bronze door directly under the front window. It is the door to DAY and NIGHT BANKING SERVICE. Those who wish to have the convenience and protection of this service are given a key that opens this door. They are also given a canvas bag with padlock in which to place their money or other valuables. Nobody can open this bag except the depositor himself. All that you have to do is unlock and open the door and drop in the bag the same as you would mail a letter. It remains in the vault absolutely secure until you come into the bank and take it out. DAY or NIGHT DEPOSITS are in every way safer than when kept at one's place of business or at home.

Each depositor wishing to use the First State's Night Depository is given a key to the outside bronze door underneath the front window. He also gets a canvas bag with padlock into which the money for deposit is placed and locked. He unlocks the outside door, drops the padlocked bag with his identifying number on it, into the chute the same as he would mail a letter. The next day he comes into the bank, gets the bag out of the vault, unlocks it, and makes a regular deposit of the money.

Simple, safe, convenient,—and a service that Holland needs.

Workmen, under the supervision of an international vault expert, have today finished the installation of the first Night Depository in Holland. The first keys to the thick bronze door under our front window have been issued,—and tonight a new 24-hour banking service starts in Holland.

INSURED SAFETY
NOT ONLY DOES THE FIRST STATE NIGHT DEPOSITORY offer the best possible mechanical protection, but everything which enters the vault is completely insured against burglary, theft, fire and all other hazards. We are happy to make this much-needed service available in Holland; it can be considered as another indication of the increasing business activity of the city, and of our desire to make this Bank increasingly helpful to the community.

After Simon

Kleyn of Holland had read his report a rising vote of thanks was given by the Board of Supervisors at Grand Haven.

The townships will pay $12,005.61, the sale of farm products from the county are estimated at $1,375.75 and the balance on hand $9,118.64, which will cover the following itemized expenses: farm maintenance, $1,000; home maintenance, $12,500; insurance, $2,950; home and farm improvements, $1,500; bastardy, $2,200; outside aid, $2,350.

Charles F. Wagg, district director FERA, and Miss Deborah Veneklasen, county relief administrator, spoke to the board on the welfare administration after the state, townships and cities will be called upon to assume the burden. They advocated centralization of the work in the future, pointed to the several years in which welfare had been administered under CWA and FERA, and explaining the various changes which had taken place since the federal government had assumed part of the burden. The matter of county participation in welfare support has been debated at several sessions and will probably be decided upon at the session. The finance committee and the welfare commission recommend that the townships and cities participate 40 per cent, the other 60 per cent coming from the state. The welfare commission advocates centralization as more efficient in view of past experience and to prevent overlapping of aid given out. John Dethmers, prosecuting attorney, ruled that as the county operates on the township unit plan, the county as a whole cannot appropriate funds for welfare support.

J. N. Van Oordt, Muskegon, an officer in the district employment bureau at Muskegon, appealed to the board for $15 per month to assist in the establishment of a branch office in this county. He drew attention to the accommodation to residents of the county who were now forced to contact the office in Muskegon, a considerable distance from the southern end of the county. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Big Session of Board for Year Has Adjourned

SALARY AND OTHER MONEY ADJUSTMENTS MADE AT FINAL SESSION; VERY BUSY AND DIFFICULT SESSION

The Ottawa county board of supervisors ended their October session after two weeks of deliberation. This is the big session of the year and this October some very vexing and grave questions came up to decide. The board had to meet for a short time Saturday since they failed to quite finish up the afternoon of Friday. They will meet again for a day on Nov. 4 for final discussion of the welfare problem.

The board passed a resolution that it would be willing to stand Ottawa's share of the cost of relief of unemployables providing other counties in the state made the same arrangement. Sentiment of board members was that if only a few counties were contributing to the state and federal funds, Ottawa county would not care to participate.

The board also approved the tax allocation report which has spread a total of $179,000 of 4.5 mills for county taxes. This is $18,000 above the budget figure and the overage will be applied to debt service. The total tax to be raised in the county this fall, including township, school and miscellaneous taxes, is $1,015,436.34. The total tax spread in the county last year was $987,504.50.

Some questions brought up earlier in the session were: Ottawa county supervisors continued debate today over the percentage each township and city unit would contribute to taking care of unemployables on relief. The board members seemed set on 85 per cent which would require the maximum amount of 65 per cent mentioned as the state contribution. A figure previously mentioned was 40 per cent.

The supervisors all felt the eligibility of those on unemployable relief rolls should rest with them or some local authority. The funds, however, will be dispensed through the county emergency welfare relief commission.

Sheriff Ben H. Rosema was granted $400 addition for transportation, bringing his yearly salary and expense for cars to $4,000. Under the arrangement, he owns and maintains automobiles operated from headquarters in Grand Haven. The increase carried by a close vote, 15 to 13.

Probate Judge Cora Vande Water asked a rearrangement of budget items, inasmuch as she was again donating $400 to a fund maintained to supply needy children with eye glasses. Judge Vande Water asked the appropriation in the budget for the eye glass fund and a $200 appropriation for afflicted children be transferred to a fund to care for crippled children. She pointed out that under the new state setup afflicted children are taken care of with state funds.

The board approved the report of the special committee on hospitalization of county cases. The committee had recommended that the county for the present time continue to hospitalize afflicted adult cases through the probate court. The committee urged the supervisors to inquire into the advisability of a county hospital and county surgeon or both. It is believed that the cost of carrying on the work would be cut if the county had its own hospital. Minor cases would be taken care of by the local units. Each supervisor was asked to cooperate with the court to keep costs at a minimum. In emergency cases approval of the court must be obtained before admittance to the hospital.

The board passed a resolution to have the county units furnish 35 per cent of the cost of caring for the unemployables in the county. The supervisors have the power to say who is or is not allowed on the list of unemployables. The action was done after the reading of a telegram from Gov. Fitzgerald urging the counties to do what they can to assist the state next year in the matter of relief.

The board passed a resolution, 15 to 13, to set aside $400 starting Jan. 1 for Sheriff Ben Rosema's auto expenses. In the 1936 budget no increase was given the sheriff although $400 was recommended and $120 was asked for the matron of the jail. The undersheriff and deputy were each raised.

Recommendation for salary increases made by the committee on county officers, headed by Peter J. Ryenga, were passed in most cases. The register of probate was granted an increase of $300 instead of $200 recommended, making the salary for the office $1,800. The county clerk and deputy were increased $300 each to $5,500 and $1,800 respectively; the county treasurer was increased $50 to $1,800 and the deputy treasurer $200 to $1,500; the prosecuting attorney $300 to $2,500; the undersheriff $150 to $1,600; deputy sher-

Day and Night Banking Service Starts Tonight

24 Hour Banking Service Comes to Holland

NIGHT DEPOSITORY INSTALLED FOR THE GREATER CONVENIENCE AND PROTECTION OF FIRST STATE BANK DEPOSITORS

THE NEXT TIME YOU PASS THE FIRST STATE BANK, take a look at the small bronze door directly under the front window. It is the door to DAY and NIGHT BANKING SERVICE. Those who wish to have the convenience and protection of this service are given a key that opens this door. They are also given a canvas bag with padlock in which to place their money or other valuables. Nobody can open this bag except the depositor himself. All that you have to do is unlock and open the door and drop a letter. It remains in the vault absolutely secure until you come into the bank and take it out. DAY or NIGHT DEPOSITS are in every way safer than when kept at one's place of business or at home.

Each depositor wishing to use the First State's Night Depository is given a key to the outside bronze door underneath the front window. He also gets a canvas bag with padlock into which the money for deposit is placed and locked. He unlocks the outside door, drops the padlocked bag with his identifying number on it, into the chute the same as he would mail a letter. The next day he comes into the bank, gets the bag out of the vault, unlocks it, and makes a regular deposit of the money. Simple, safe, convenient,—and a service that Holland needs. Workmen, under the supervision of an international vault expert, have today finished the installation of the first Night Depository in Holland. The first keys to the thick bronze door under our front window have been issued,—and tonight a new 24-hour banking service starts in Holland.

INSURED SAFETY
NOT ONLY DOES THE FIRST STATE NIGHT DEPOSITORY offer the best possible mechanical protection, but everything which enters the vault is completely insured against burglary, theft, fire and all other hazards. We are happy to make this much-needed service available in Holland; it can be considered as another indication of the increasing business activity of the city, and of our desire to make this Bank increasingly helpful to the community.

Holland Takes Part In Rapids Canal Meeting

Michigan communities, Grand Rapids was represented by Com. John McNabb and Harry C. Leonard and by John E. Frey, banker.

Former Representative Fred McEachron was present from Hudsonville and he stated that some celery farmers in this vicinity were afraid that some of the celery land might be affected, but he personally felt that this was more supposition than actuality and that the canal would bring moisture to the entire district. He felt that the benefits to his locality would be greater than any small losses that might occur. It is naturally understood that all land used for the canal would have to be purchased.

All along the canal there would be a slope of 75 feet to the water's edge, giving great possibilities for park landscaping, especially in the smaller places where parks are few.

Zeeland was represented by Adrian Van Koeveing of the Zeeland Record, George Caball and Dick Boonstra. Holland was represented by William M. Connelly, director of the Chamber of Commerce, and Ben A. Mulder of the Holland City News.

Mr. Connelly was called upon to give his views, which he did in a very concrete way, and it was evident immediately that his thought on the matter was much sought after. He then submitted the following brief, prepared for this occasion, which he read and filed it with Colonel Trippe:

October 30, 1935
Report of Special Committee appointed by Mayor Nicodemus Bosch to prepare and submit brief on preliminary examination and survey on route of proposed canal between Grand Rapids and Lake Michigan.

1. The River and Harbor Act of August 30, 1935, requires a preliminary examination and survey to be made of Waterway from Lake Michigan through Black Lake by way of Zeeland, Hudsonville, and Jenison, to a point on Grand River near Grandville, thence up Grand River to Grand Rapids, with a turning basin at Grand Rapids, or any preferable alternative route between Grand Rapids and Lake Michigan.

2. At a meeting of the Special Committee appointed by Mayor Bosch held October 7th, 1935, it was thoroughly understood that the question of the economic value of such a canal was not under consideration and the material submitted to be confined to the advantages or objections to one route over another. Mr. John Buys of Grand Rapids is the promoter of the project. It was through his efforts that survey has been ordered made, he having at all times in mind the route via Holland, Zeeland, Hudsonville and Jenison.

3. The committee is unanimous accord that there is only one logical route both from the standpoint of cost and engineering, that being the route named first in the Act, namely "from Lake Michigan through Black Lake (now Lake Macatawa) by way of Zeeland, Hudsonville, and Jenison, to a point on Grand River near Grandville, thence up Grand River to Grand Rapids, with a turning basin at Grand Rapids", for the following reasons:

(a) This route is the shortest in distance between the two objective points.

(b) This route would be by the way of the prehistoric Grand River basin, the topography is such that it would need a minimum of excavation over any other route.

(c) The nature of the soil and absence of rock over this route would make all excavation much less costly.

(d) Black Lake (now Lake Macatawa) offers a very adequate harbor at Holland to accommodate vessels awaiting entrance to the canal or favorable weather conditions for lake voyage.

Mr. Ben Mulder moved that a copy of these findings be submitted in triplicate at the Public Hearing in the City Hall, Grand Rapids, October 29th, 1935, at 10:00 a.m., which is being conducted by H. M. Trippe, Lieut. Col., Corps of Engineers, Office of Milwaukee, and that this Committee be represented by one or more members. The motion prevailed, all voting aye.

Respectfully submitted,
Austin Harrington

Grand Haven's opposition to the proposed ship canal from Holland to Grand Rapids in our opinion is not well taken. They state that such a canal would drain Grand River of its water, lower the level of Spring Lake and endanger the health in the communities near the mouth of the Grand River. Mr. Buys' plan calls for a lake level canal to Grandville where there would be a controlling works and the only water taken from Grand River would be the amount required to refill the water lift each time a vessel was transferred to the upper or lock level.

Grand Haven having lost much of its shipping naturally is solicitous to preserve what is left.

If this waterway is ever constructed Holland would enjoy considerable benefit if there is much movement of vessels over it as Holland would be the entering port. These vessels would have occasion to moor here for one reason or another. The canal might enhance our setting for a Little Netherlands since many of our enthusiastic citizens hope to see it realized some day.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

As was mentioned before, the next Post meeting is scheduled for November 4th. This is not according to program but is necessary in order to get in a meeting before Armistice Day.

There will probably be several meetings held off schedule during the next few weeks due to the several Holidays interspersed throughout the months.

And then too, at the rate Commander Bos has been calling meetings and special meetings, etc., you may start out for church on a Sunday and wind up at an Executive Meeting.

The Fifth District had quite a meeting up at Comstock Park on October 24th. That Post bought an old building which had given service as a school, they dug a basement and moved the building onto it, and behold, a Post headquarters, club room, card club, and Auxiliary room.

Col. Davis of the Michigan Soldiers Home (not the Old Soldiers Home but the Young Soldiers Home) gave a talk on the activities of the home and the benefits available. Out of a population of some 350 at the home, 235 are World War veterans. Get your applications in early.

While up at the meeting, Pete Machealy gave some of the boys lessons in a card game, at least we took them to be lessons in that they paid to see how it was done. Sime Meeuwse was also doing some teaching but as far as was noticeable did not collect for his instructions.

A campaign will start soon to replace all the soiled and tattered curb flags in the business and residential sections. Any merchant who finds his flag soiled or worn or the staff broken will have an opportunity to replace it.

And speaking of these curb flags, they are to be displayed only upon patriotic occasions, not for every convention of Canned Heat Manufacturers.

All plans for the Armistice Banquet are complete, music, speaker, and program. This is for all World War Veterans and if a veteran of your acquaintance does not get a card, let us know and we will see that he is invited. Everybody out.

CAN DEPOSIT MONEY WHEN BANK IS CLOSED

The First State bank of Holland has put in a new innovation whereby money can be deposited 24 hours a day even though the bank is closed in the late afternoon and night.

The bank officials, through their president, Don Matheson, have installed a depository under the east front window admitting those who wish to deposit cash or valuables after banking hours. They have become possessors of a key that will open a bronze door to this depository. With this key they are also given a canvas bag with padlock in which to place their money or other valuables. None can open the bag except the man who deposits it. All that is required is the unlocking of the little bronze door under the window and drop the bag in.

This bag drops into a vault and remains absolutely secure until the bank employees take it out when the bank opens again in the morning. There is no way of fishing the bags out for these automatically are placed out of reach. This new depository is absolutely burglar and tamper proof, and as an extra precaution is connected with the burglar alarm. It is much the same as a U. S. mail box.

Banks in larger cities have them and have had for some time, thus accommodating folk who cannot come during banking hours. Anyway, the object is to make money and valuables safe by placing them behind iron doors, which naturally is safer than keeping valuables in bureau drawers.

IS ALWAYS IN

THE V-type engine is the kind you find in the cars of people to whom cost means little and style means much.

When the Ford Motor Company introduced this engine to the low-price field, it made one of its greatest contributions to modern, luxurious motoring with economy. But progress did not stop there. Styling, appointments and every other feature of the new Ford were made to match the quality of the V-8 engine.

Without Ford resources and experience this would not have been possible in a car at so low a price. But you can easily convince yourself that it has been done. You are urged to accept the cordial invitation of your nearest Ford dealer to see and drive the new Ford V-8 for 1936.

Chicago Paper Tells of a Hen Factory Here

MORE THAN 4,000 HENS ARE KEPT IN INDIVIDUAL COOPS AND MORE EGGS IS THE RESULT

Poultry men and readers generally will be interested to read that a prominent financial publication has added to Holland's fine publicity, something about our poultry industry. Whether it be our tulips, our wooden shoes, our light and water plant, our resorts and formerly our Lakewood farm, it has been and is very desirable publicity which costs Holland not a penny. This time the Chicago Journal of Commerce, a leading daily business commentator, gives a first page writeup in its "Round Table of Business" column, edited by Phil S. Hanna. Here it is:

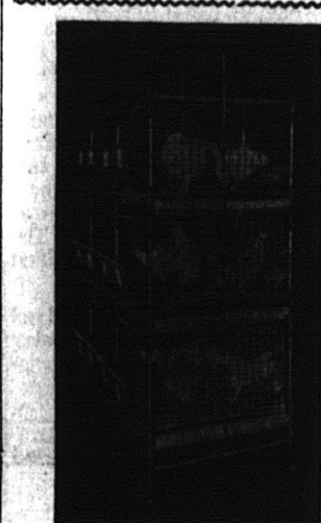

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

By Phil S. Hanna

With an increasing number of urbanites buying farm property to hedge against inflation, it may be of interest to prospective hen-raisers to consider how highly specialized this business has become. Heaven only knows how many people have tried their hands unsuccessfully at raising chickens, and most urbanites are aware that it is no simple business.

Thus, an enterprise near Holland, Mich., where 4,000 hens are kept in individual cages, illustrates the point. Each hen is housed in a cage from the time she reaches maturity until she outlives her use of profitable egg production. This may run from one to four years in hen longevity experience. On a specially selected diet, aimed not only to produce many eggs but to produce unusual flavor and uniform colored yolks in strong shells, these hens are supplied with clean drinking water. They enjoy the most delicious, healthful and productive victuals recognized in the hen world. Even a dessert is furnished them in granular or pellet form, served each hen late in the afternoon to provide a reserve food supply to operate the egg producing machine throughout the night.

Of interest to the machine tool business possibly is that mechanics are applied in the operation. As soon as an egg is laid it rolls to a tray in front of the hen compartment. It is then removed to an egg cooling room so that the animal heat may be removed and the new laid egg quality carefully preserved.

And there is birth control. But let Mr. L. G. Neel, of Hales and Hunter, who was good enough to furnish this information, continue the story:

"To a certain extent some hens may be considered a machine in transferring choice raw material into the finished product—the egg. In spite of her machine-like activity in the production of one of the most delicious and complete food products, she does not operate directly by the turning of a switch, but along with skillful observation and management of a man well versed in poultry husbandry.

"It is true this use of scientific methods in feeding and management has upset nature's plan of having the old hen lay a few eggs in the spring that may be manufactured from many undesirable raw materials. Mr. L. G. Stallkamp, manager and owner of this specialized egg factory, has two very definite reasons for this unusual production plan. His ten years' experience in the production and marketing of eggs has definitely convinced him that in order to produce and market eggs of the very best quality and uniformity, complete control must be exercised over the feed, cleanliness and care of the egg until it reaches the eventual consumer.

"Each egg is carefully inspected, graded for size, packed in a clean container and rushed to Chicago in a refrigerator truck so that it reaches the consumer with all its original goodness of flavor, attractiveness and freshness.

"Aside from the extreme control of egg quality, Mr. Stallkamp finds that the confinement of hens to the individual cages is a big factor in overcoming the death loss. His loss for the year totals 8 per cent, as compared to mortality of 20 to 30 per cent and up, so common under usual production methods. The control of temperature and the extreme cleanliness enable the hens to make large efficient use of their feed. A large per cent of the hens will finish the laying year with more than 200 eggs to their credit, while a few show promise of finishing close to the 300 egg mark. A number of hens in their second year get up as high as 250 eggs.

"Birth control is rigidly enforced except in the case of a small per cent of those hens demonstrating outstanding ability in producing large numbers of very fine eggs. Take Miss J-92 for instance, or in this case Mrs. J-92, she is the proud mother of 100 fine fluffy chicks. During the spring months she was mated with a rooster from a family of blue bloods and the eggs saved for hatching. Fertility and hatchability were unusually good. The record card on the front of Mrs. J-92's cage shows that she laid 280 chalk white eggs the first year and that they averaged 20 ounces a dozen and were of the very best interior quality. Such a breeding program makes possible flock replacement from the very best individual birds.

"All of this application of scientific methods, nutrition, genetics and engineering is just to assure a few of Chicago's most appreciative egg consumers that each egg has that delicious flavor and attractiveness and that every egg in the dozen is of the same best quality," Mr. Neel concludes.

Chick Starting Battery (A-1) Capacity 1600 Birds

HOLLAND CONCERN MAKES LAYING BATTERIES ALONG THESE LINES

The article above by Phillip S. Hanna reminds us that we have in Holland an enterprise that builds laying batteries much along the line described by the "Journal of Commerce". What is accomplished in Mr. Hanna's story is also the method and results of the batteries made by the Sanitary Poultry Equipment Co. of Holland.

Not so long ago Arthur Viascher of this city organized the above named company, and that the Holland manufactured product as this relates to laying batteries, is of high order, is shown when Michigan State College, after looking over several other makes, purchased a whole battery to be used in the college poultry department where the men in charge are said to be nationally known authorities on poultry raising and egg laying contests.

Holland poultry men as well as those in Zeeland are well acquainted with these poultry experts since this is the poultry center of Michigan and they visit here often to lecture and give splendid advice. The Holland plant is located on the North side south and east of

WARMEST OCTOBER IN 15 YRS. IN PROSPECT

The warmest October in 15 years is in prospect as the temperature remains in the 60s, according to records of Tom McMahan, Grand Haven federal observer. The average daily maximum so far this month has been 56 with the highest recorded on Oct. 13, 74 degrees.

The mercury reached a springlike temperature of 67 Monday at 6 p.m. and dropped today to 63 at noon. This month will be the warmest October since 1920 when the average maximum was 64.2 degrees. Tuesday was the warmest Oct. 29 since 1924 when the temperature read 74 degrees. The year's minimum reading for October has been 25, on Oct. 6.

Holland firemen were called to extinguish a blaze at the West Michigan Furniture Co. Monday night. The fire started in a box of waste in the shipping room and was discovered by George Tubergen, night watchman at the plant. Fire Chief C. Blom, Jr. said the damage was small.

the Holland Dye Works. An exceptionally fine plant has been set up there and it is indeed interesting to visit this enterprise and receive first hand information about poultry housed in close quarters where the egg production has jumped to tremendous proportions.

The cuts herewith indicate how sanitary this method of poultry raising and egg laying can be. Not only is there a saving in the cost since the birds are concentrated in a small space, but extra equipment is not necessary, such as roosts, feeders, fountains, nests, etc., saying nothing about fences and grounds.

It is said that hens' broody periods are much less frequent and much shorter in a laying battery or any battery. There is practically no breakage of eggs, the culling of birds is easier, and these and so far as egg cleanliness is concerned, according to information given, there are practically no dirty eggs, for as soon as the pearly egg is laid it rolls to a tray out of reach of the bird.

The Holland Sanitary Poultry Equipment Co. in a six page folder pictures and describes the advantages of laying batteries, greater production of eggs and the economical points of this later arrangement in the world of poultry.

This method is attracting poultrymen throughout the nation and it would appear that the poultry laying batteries have revolutionized certain phases of the poultry and egg production industry.

It is not generally known in Holland that this plant is a new enterprise here which is steadily growing, and augers well to become a sizable establishment. Here we have the poultry center and Michigan as a state is rapidly becoming a leader in the poultry industry.

The local company ships its product wherever poultry centers are located. Here again is a factory that is different and this manufacturing plant can be added to Holland's long list of diversified industries.

Surely with a poultry background here the possibilities for future development seem rather auspicious.

Death in the Leaves

(Grand Rapids Press)

People who say "I told you so" are contemptible. This is a contemptible editorial.

Last Monday The Press reminded Grand Rapids parents that truck drivers were complaining of youngsters who hid under leaves in the city's street gutters. One of them had barely missed several of these children and begged that attention be called to the danger. Parents were urged to "keep their children back of the curb."

Tragedy followed all too close upon the warning. A Holland youth Thursday afternoon drove his car through some leaves on Cooper ave. in this city. The eleven-year-old boy who had covered himself with the leaves is dead.

Drivers in such cases have no warning whatever. They may not even know that they have struck the youngster whose body has been crushed by the wheels of their car or truck.

There is nothing to be done about it except to call parents' attention to the danger once more, and even more forcibly with this terrible and contemptible—reminder that the previous warning was all too well justified.

Tell your children—now—to stay back of the curb, not to play in street leaves. And see that they obey.

John VanTatenhove, age 18, and Harvey Brucker, age 17, both of Holland, who were detained Thursday night for investigation into the death of Bernard Boelema, Jr., 1110 Cooper ave., S. E., were released after the facts were known. The two boys were on Cooper ave. at the time Boelema, buried in a pile of leaves, was run over by a car.

Brucker, who was driving the car, said he was not aware that he had run over anyone. Officials who questioned him were of the same opinion. The boys had been in Grand Rapids to visit Brucker's cousin.

Boelema was dead when admitted to St. Mary's hospital and witnesses gave the police the license number of Brucker's automobile. He did not stop. He and his companion were taken from Holland later.

150 MEN ASSIGNED ON OTTAWA WORK

Requisitions were received at the county re-employment office here Monday for assignment of 150 men on a WPA program of three projects in Ottawa county.

Work on two projects covering resumption of Holland's sidewalk repair and Zeeland's curb and gutter program will be started this week with a combined force of nearly 50 men. About 100 men will be given work on a road grading project between Wright and Chester townships, beginning next Monday.

Men are being assigned on shoulder work on M40 between Holland and Hamilton, and on paving work on the new highway from Holland to Sangaruck.

Warning was again issued by the police department to parents to prevent their children from playing in piles of leaves in the street. Several motorists have reported narrow escapes from running down children that were hidden in leaves.

Rural Postman Dies Ten Months After He Retires

HOLLAND MAIL CARRIER PASSES AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Postoffice circles and many friends in Holland and vicinity were shocked to hear of the death of Mr. Gerrit John Rutgers, who passed away after a lingering illness brought about by a cancerous growth.

Mr. Rutgers was 57 years old and on Dec. 31, 1934, he had served 30 consecutive years as rural postman for Holland.

Mr. Rutgers was loved and respected not only by the Holland postoffice staff, but by hundreds of patrons on the different routes whom he has served for 3 decades.

Upon his retirement he sent each a pleasing New Year's greeting with fine sentiments and conveying to the patron the fact that he was about to retire.

Mr. Rutgers has served as president of the county chapter of the Michigan Rural Letter Carriers association, he has held many positions of trust in the local association and has been affiliated with county, state and national associations.

Friends were given the opportunity to pay their respects Sunday and Monday when the remains were at the Dykstra Mortuary.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock at the home, 659 Michigan ave., and at 3 o'clock from Trinity church, Rev. Henry Ter Keurst officiating.

The pallbearers were Harold Laug of Coopersville, president of the state organization; Harry Vredeveid, Zeeland; Simon De Boelema and Gerrit Veurink, Holland. Besides these rural carriers, Tony A. Douma and C. D. Ludwig also served as bearers.

The Ottawa County Rural Carriers association, together with the Women's Auxiliary and a large part of the Holland postoffice staff, attended the services in a body, more than 70 of them.

Interment took place in Graafschap cemetery.

Mr. Rutgers was born at Graafschap but had made Holland his home 35 years ago. He was one of the organizers of the Ottawa County Carriers association.

The funeral services were largely attended, the church edifice being filled. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, coming from home and abroad, indicative of the esteem in which Mr. Rutgers was held.

Upon his retirement the Holland City News gave a story as this relates to the work of Mr. Rutgers in the rural districts surrounding this city. It was a story of development that was very pronounced. Thirty years ago Mr. Rutgers started out with a horse and buggy over highways that were nearly impassable. Then new methods of transportation entered upon the scene and motor-driven vehicles over concrete highways were the welcome change.

Mr. Rutgers told the editor of the news many of his trials during the bitter winter cold or a driving rain at a salary that was pitiful at the outset and from this he eked out a living besides supporting a horse and wagon. However, since the development of rural mail over a period of years, all this has changed and a rural carrier's position today is much better paid and has more appeal than when the first carriers started at $10 a week.

Holland has seen several rural carriers' conventions in its day and the delegates were always pleased to come to Holland. It was the affability and the cordial welcome extended by such men as Gerrit Rutgers and others that made the rural boys and their wives feel at home here as guests of the local organization.

He is survived by the widow; two sons, Benjamin J. of Holland and Arthur H. of Jackson; a sister, A. Douma of Wayland; two brothers, John Henry and Fred, both of Graafschap, and two grandchildren.

Didn't Know Ottawa Had So Few Farmers

Only 52 per cent of the contract signers in Ottawa county voted in the nation-wide referendum on the corn-hog continuance question in Ottawa county Saturday, it was reported today at County Farm Agent L. E. Arnold's office here.

Of the 170 who voted either in person or by mail, 119 voted yes so that the county followed the majority supporting the AAA corn-hog program over the county. Eight non-contract signers voted and all voted "no."

Directors of the county corn-hog association were in charge of the voting poll at the court house Saturday, which was open until 10 p.m. D. H. S. Rymer of Spring Lake, president of the association, was in charge and he was assisted by Directors Genn Taylor of Coopersville and Claude McKel of Conklin. That vote surely does not represent the farm population of Ottawa county, in fact the "yes" voters do not comprise 2% of this County's tillers of the soil.

27 Varieties OF DEPOSITS

Through the receiving tellers' windows at the bank, pass 27 varieties of deposits—checks, money-orders, drafts, certificates-of-deposit, discounted notes, etc.

Depositors consider all these forms of exchange as money and the bank accepts them as cash. But they are not cash. The bank has to make collection and turn them into cash through a complicated "clearing" system between the banks of the country, maintained at great expense.

Even cash or currency costs the bank in handling expense and insurance.

Your knowledge of these facts and your cooperation are necessary to properly maintain these indispensable facilities.

The Constructive View

—of present business conditions warrants forward-looking policies.

WE do not prophesy, but we are telling our business customers who consult with us that there have certainly been established a number of stabilizing factors in general business conditions.

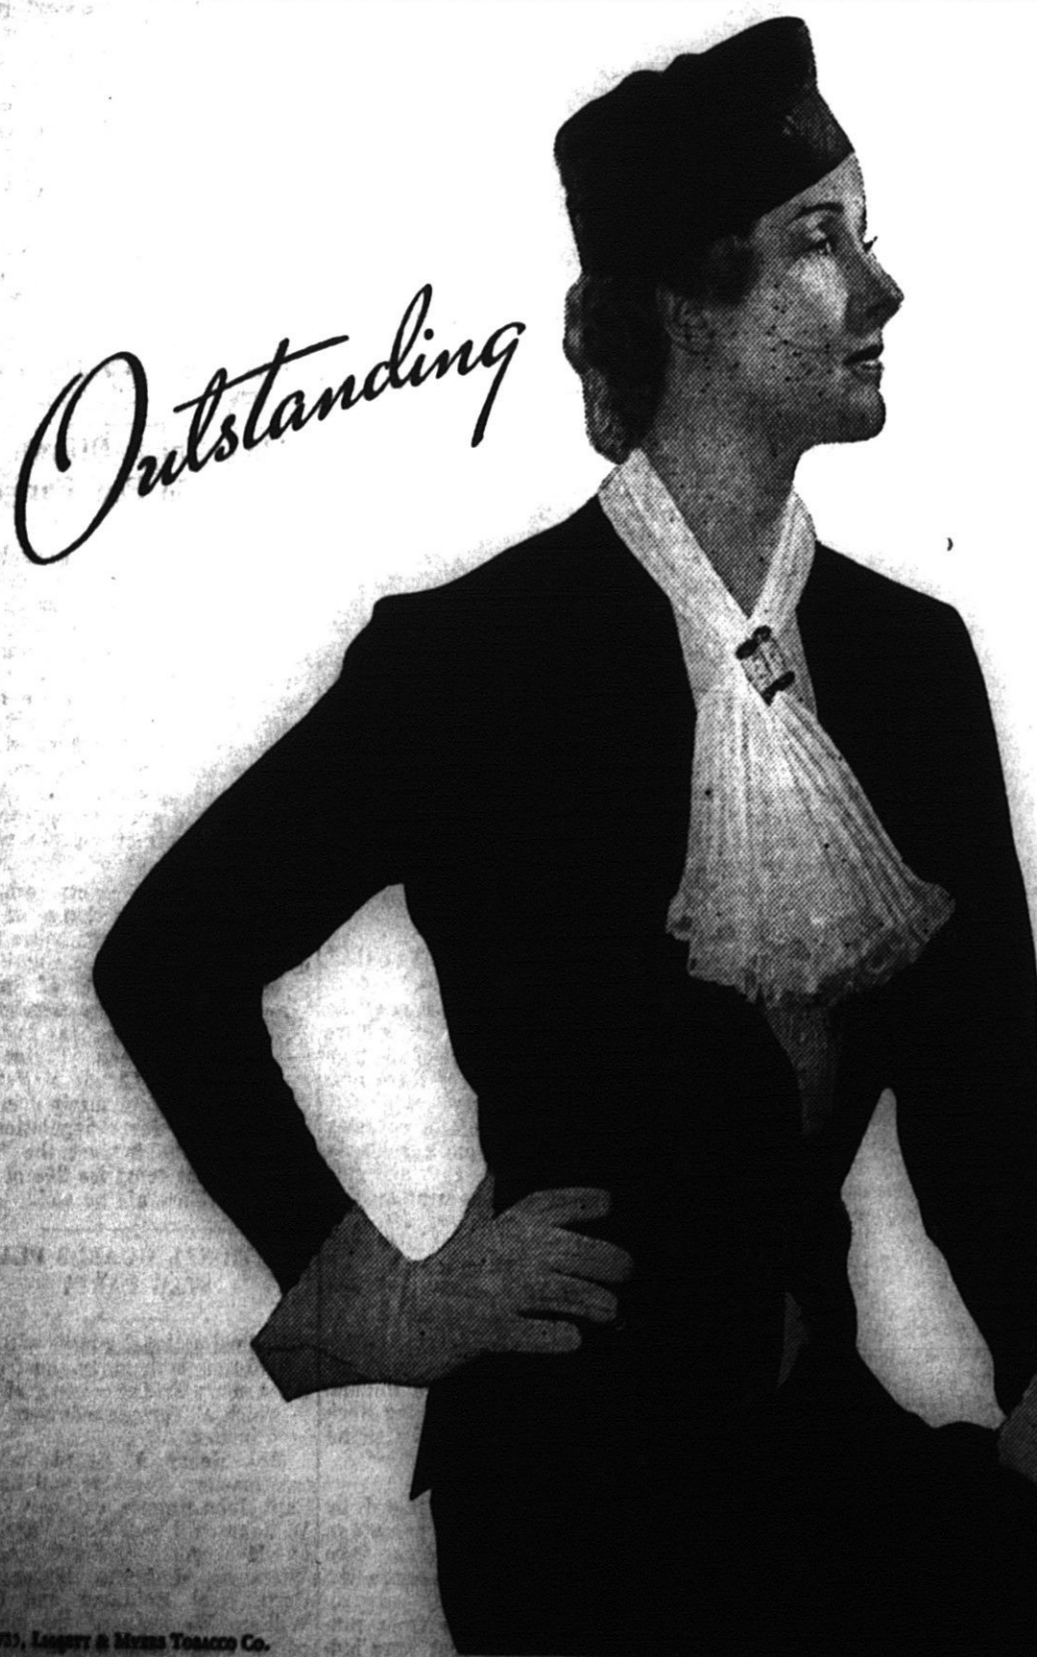

Foremost among the stabilizing factors of the present is the sound banking situation. Official figures show substantial growth in resources and a greatly strengthened structure for the nation's banking system. And a recently completed survey by the American Bankers Association's magazine, Banking, shows that a nationwide restoration of public confidence in the banks has taken place.

Public confidence is just as important to a bank as dollars and cents for it gives the assurance of stable deposits which can be loaned with confidence to sound business enterprise.

BIRTHDAY MESSAGES CAN NOW BE SENT NATION-WIDE BY WIRE AT LOW COST

A twenty-five cent telegram for sending birthday greetings to any point in the United States, proposed by Western Union Telegraph company in a tariff filed with the Federal Communications Commission to be effective during October, marks a wholly new departure in the telegraph field.

The texts of the birthday telegrams are to be selected by the senders from a standard list of thirty messages which have proven favorites for such occasions. The messages, it is proposed, are to be filed at any time not later than the day preceding the birthday, and are to be transmitted overnight and delivered in the morning on a colorfully decorated special birthday blank.

Western Union has in recent times offered twenty-five cent rates for more limited purposes, such as greeting telegrams from the Century of Progress last year, and now from the San Diego Exposition and from the top of the Empire State Building, but they have been restricted to messages sent from those particular points of interest. The present proposal represents the first offer of a telegraph service of country-wide application at a low rate regardless of origin or destination. The telegraph company is making preparations to meet the anticipated popular demand for the novel service.

NEW TIRES PURCHASED NOW GUARD MOTORIST AGAINST SKID DANGER

The average motorist will be endangered by skidding seven times to every one time that he will be subjected to the hazard of accident from a blowout, according to Chas. Van Zyl, local Goodyear dealer. "A recent survey by insurance companies," said Mr. Van Zyl, "has shown that motorists are seven times more likely to be involved in accidents, or near accidents, as the result of skidding on slippery streets, than as the result of blowouts."

"The blowout hazard has been reduced to a minimum due to modern tire and tube construction methods," he continued, "but a car can skid at any speed if not provided with sufficient traction, and many traffic fatalities are caused as a result."

"With the winter season approaching, protection against skidding increases in importance. Tires with a good, clear-cut tread are essential to safe winter driving. The Goodyear G-3 All-Weather tire uses the famous diamond block tread that has been used for 27 years where maximum protection against skidding is needed."

"This tire provides protection against skidding in any direction and will give traction in deep mud as well as on wet or icy hard paved highways."

"An additional advantage in purchasing new tires for the winter season is the fact discovered by tire engineers that tires broken in during cold, wet weather give approximately 30 per cent additional mileage," Mr. Van Zyl concluded.

The Ottawa County Board of Supervisors reinstated a full time county home demonstration agent at the closing meeting for October. The work of an agent has been done for the past three years by a district agent from Grand Rapids.

But $200 was put aside for home demonstration work in the tentative budget approved by the board this morning. John Hassold of Chester township moved that the amount be raised to $400 so that the county could take advantage of $2,000 available from the state for the salary of an agent.

The state provides the salary of an agent if the counties put up $400 for expenses. The motion made by Mr. Hassold passed by a vote of 23 to 4. The various 4-H clubs in the county will assist in paying for the expenses of the agent.

The overwhelming vote for the reinstatement of a home agent followed an impressive talk to the board by Attorney Charles E. Miner of Grand Haven, member of the finance committee, who told of the fine work the clubs in the county are doing. It naturally is expected that the agent will be in Grand Haven.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

November 3, 1935
JUDAH TAKEN CAPTIVE
2 Kings 25:1-12

Henry Geerlings

The fate of Israel was sad. God had been ignored. The prophets had not been heeded. The predicted overthrow of the nation and the captivity were about to be accomplished. Already the overlord of the land was a foreign king, Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. This king was a great man in military prowess and in wise statesmanship. He did not plan to destroy Jerusalem. But Zedekiah did not have the qualities of a statesman. He did not serve the best interests of his people. He allowed a false hope of throwing off the yoke of Babylon to lead to the planning of rebellion against Babylon. Of course this changed the policy of Nebuchadnezzar. He decided that the only thing to do was to capture and destroy Jerusalem and make its people slaves in Babylon.

Zedekiah had been ruling in Jerusalem about ten years when he planned a rebellion. The report came to the Babylonian king and he sent his armies into Palestine and laid a siege against Jerusalem. It was no easy thing to conquer Jerusalem. It had natural protection, because of a hill on which it was built, a hill surrounded by deep valleys. Then the great wall, well-guarded guard, made access to the city practically impossible. But the enclosure within the walls was not large, and the storage of food supplies was inadequate to last during a continued siege. Provision for water was ample but Nebuchadnezzar knew that in due time the people would be starved out. However, he did not intend to resort to that long and costly process, if he could avoid it. He erected towers near the wall and used these as weapons to hurl rocks and other places over the wall into the city. In the manner of warfare then used a walled city was comparatively safe. Only as the wall was broken down, or destructive weapons hurled over it did the enemy have a chance to conquer the city. However, it did not take long for the famine in Jerusalem to become so severe that there was no more bread for the people. This made them desperate. Facing starvation, they knew they might as well surrender.

In the midst of a desperate situation, the soldiers, at least some of them, planned to escape. There was an unguarded place where two walls apparently were parallel. Here there was a night attempt at flight. Zedekiah with his family and possessions thought to get out as far as the desert and thus make their escape. But they were detected and pursued. Resistance was folly. They were captured in the neighborhood of Jericho and all the men of war were scattered from Zedekiah. He was taken to Nebuchadnezzar for trial and punishment. Naturally the Babylonian king had no mercy on him, because of his treachery in starting a rebellion in spite of the fact that he had been placed on the throne by Nebuchadnezzar. His punishment was dreadful. It seemed cruel, but was the custom of the times. The sons of Zedekiah were killed before his eyes; thus there would be none to succeed him on the throne. His own eyes were put out, thus destroying all chance of his recovering his throne. He was bound in chains and taken to Babylon to await death. The sad fate of Zedekiah brought an end to the long line of rulers in Jerusalem. With his removal went the throne of the kingdom of Judah. But what was the outcome for Jerusalem. Its defenders were gone. The king was disgraced and made a helpless captive. The spirit of the people was broken. The Babylonian ruler gave permission to put an end to all that was counted holy in Jerusalem. There was ruthless destruction. The temple was burnt. The king's house and the other great buildings were burnt. The walls of the city were overthrown. No chance was left for defense. The city that had been so long the pride of Judah was leveled to the ground. Their boast that the temple could withstand all attacks was made a jest. The last evidence of the glory that had pertained to the city of David was removed. The people shared a much-feared fate. They were made captives and for the most part were taken away to Babylon as captives. This was just what had been predicted by the prophets. Jeremiah had warned against this fate and urged repentance before God so that he might come to their support. But there was no repentance and God's punishment fell upon them, as he had said.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

HALLOWEEN marks the beginning of National Apple Week. All the fall apples have been plentiful and cheap, bringing raw apples, baked apples, apple sauces and pie within the reach of most budgets. Halloween also marks the entrance of new crop auto into market, among them English walnuts, almonds, Brazil nuts, pecans, Italian chestnuts and of course peanuts. Grapefruit are again plentiful and moderate in price.

Fresh pork loins and hams are a little cheaper. Lamb is still an excellent value, beef forequarters are more reasonable and veal is lower.

There are about as many vegetables in market as in recent weeks, though many of them are now winter grown. Outstanding are spinach, cabbage, cauliflower and turnips.

Here are three dinner menus planned to fit different budgets:

Low Cost Dinner
Beef Liver and Bacon
Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Diced Turnips
Bread and Butter
Apple Cobbler
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Braised Beef Baked Potatoes
Creamed Carrots and Peas
Bread and Butter
Apple Dumplings Hard Sauce
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Grapefruit
Roast Beef Stewed Potatoes
Grilled Bananas Mashed Turnips
Tomato Salad
Rolls and Butter
Baked Apples Stewed with Mincemeat Coffee

Why ARE THIS MAN'S EYES STILL GOOD AT 50?

Why DOES THIS MAN SQUINT HIS EYES, HAVE HEADACHES...

The man who leads an outdoor life uses his eyes the way nature intended — in daylight. But the man who works and reads mostly by artificial light runs a tremendous risk of straining his eyes. Why? Because he is probably forcing his eyes to do their hardest work under dim, harsh light. His favorite reading lamp furnishes only 1/1000 as much light as average daylight—and poorly diffused light, at that.

Science has given us a sight-saving lamp, known as the I.E.S. Better Sight lamp. It has a special reflector under the shade which throws plenty of light up to the ceiling to be reflected about the room.

IMPORTANT: Do not look at this advertisement for 10 seconds. If you do, you will find that the I.E.S. Better Sight lamp is the only lamp that gives you the light you need.
