Zeeland Children Collect $335 in UNICEF Drive

ZEELAND (Special) — More than 300 children collected $335 while "trick or treating" Zeeland homes for less fortunate children in underprivileged nations Tuesday evening.

The canvass was a part of a nation-wide UNICEF drive sponsored by the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Zeeland was one of 7,200 communities joining in the campaign. The communities ranged in size from New York's eight million people to the 64 persons who live in Radium, Kans.

The Zeeland drive, carried on by boys and girls in the public elementary schools, lasted from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. It was done by children aged five to 12 in grades from the kindergarten to the sixth.

The Parent - Teachers Association of the Lincoln St. School did the work for the drive, getting together literature, posters and material for the children.

Each child was issued a paper milk carton wrapped with an orange and black band marked "Trick or Treat for All the World's Children." They also wore arm bands proclaiming the purpose of their solicitation.

Downtown stores carried posters in their windows reminding residents the children would call. Teachers explained what the money would be used for and told them that the cost of an ice cream cone will protect 10 Chilean children from tuberculosis and the price of a soft drink buys 10 bowls of rice in India.

The little collectors brought their cartons back to school Wednesday where Mrs. James Watt and other PTA workers counted the coins.

The UNICEF program started in Philadelphia in 1951 when the Rev. Clyde Allison collected $18 in a doorknob campaign.

Mrs. Jeannette Fritzsche, deputy director of UNICEF's committee in the United States, said the organization expected to collect about $500,000 this year.

Wages Increased At G.E. Factory

Additional increases of approximately 1/2 of 1 percent in pay will be made for General Electric Company employees affected by the automatic cost-of-living "escalator" provisions, resulting in a total cost-of-living adjustment of approximately 1 1/2 percent.

Employees whose pay is automatically adjusted will receive this increase as a result of a further rise in the Consumer Price Index issued by the government.

The government's Index for September, issued Oct. 25 was at 117.1, as compared to the September, 1955 Index level of 114.9 against which General Electric cost-of-living adjustments are computed.

Employees whose pay is automatically adjusted will receive this increase as a result of a further rise in the Consumer Price Index issued by the government.

The rates of salaried employees, whose compensation is handled on an entirely individual basis, are adjusted from time to time to reflect appropriate consideration of individual merit, cost of living, and other market trends, and would not automatically be affected by cost-of-living "escalator" arrangements.

An important feature of the General Electric "escalator" arrangements is that should the cost-of-living subsequently drop, only the extra pay resulting from this and subsequent index increases may be affected.

For example, under the five-year agreements made last year with more than 90 unions, another increase of 3 percent was effective Sept. 15, 1956. These guaranteed annual increases are separate from and not affected by cost-of-living escalator changes.

Halloween Passes Quietly in City

Halloween passed quietly in Holland Wednesday night with little destruction reported.

The police report lists a bale of hay burning at Pine and North River Aves., barricade warning lanterns misplaced, one fire hydrant turned on and one small pig found near River Ave. and Eighth St.

Two alarms were turned in. One at 15th St. and Washington Ave., at 10 p.m. was the result of a leaf fire while a false alarm was pulled shortly before 12:30 a.m. at 12th St. and Maple Ave.

Ottawa County deputies reported dozens of fires were set throughout the southern half of the county but no real damage resulted.

Police said it was one of the calmest Halloween nights they could remember.

Many residents were startled this morning when they glanced at the Tower Clock at River Ave. and Eighth St. and saw a dummy hanging by a long rope.

The dummy was suspended by the rope from the roof and was still swaying near the clock's east side at 1 p.m. today.

Audience Cheered Thomas Verdict In Circuit Court

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — After spending nine weeks in jail awaiting trial Mrs. Helen Thomas must now wait two more weeks before learning her sentence.

She was convicted Thursday afternoon by a Circuit Court jury of manslaughter in the shotgun slaying of her 24-year-old husband Emerson, Aug. 13 in their Jenison Park Home.

When the verdict was read, the obviously sympathetic audience, many of whom had been crying earlier, broke into cheers and applause.

Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek gavelled the brief demonstration to a halt.

Several members of the jury also had tears in their eyes and broke into open weeping shortly after the verdict was in and the jury had been dismissed.

The only display of emotion Mrs. Thomas made when the verdict was read was a brief smile and a huge sigh. She buried her head into her hands as her attorney, Randall Dekker, comforted her.

As the jury filed out of the courtroom past Mrs. Thomas she stood up and shook hands with each member thanking them in turn. A few of the jury began crying as they shook her hand.

Immediately after adjournment Mrs. Gerald Vanderbeek took Mrs. Thomas out of the courtroom through a side door and they slipped out a side entrance out of the court house and back to the Ottawa County Jail.

Her father and sister immediately joined her along with several other visitors.

Officials said that Mrs. Thomas slept soundly Thursday night for the first time in many days.

Vandalism Rife In Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Halloween vandalism in Grand Haven area caused damage running into several hundreds of dollars Wednesday night.

In the new Woodlawn subdivision off Grand Ave., not far from the oval, a fire hydrant was turned on and apparently ran for hours before it was discovered. The water undermined the black-top road leading to the subdivision which has only a few homes. Damage was estimated at $300 to $400.

A plate glass window in Mulder's Drug Store on the main street was cracked.

The James Hatfield home on Lakeshore Dr. just south of the city received more than its share of damage. Two bird coops, a bird bath and aluminum clothes line and posts were destroyed. Molasses was poured on both front and back porches of the newly built home. Molasses also was poured on the combination aluminum doors.

The front of the concession at the state park was covered with black paint.

At the Katherine Headley home at 1103 Franklin St., several pickets were knocked out of a fence when culprits heaved a used refrigerator into the back yard, landing in a rock garden. A hot water heater was also thrown inside the fence and a burning rag with flames shooting to the ceiling was thrown on the front porch. Neighbors immediately notified Mrs. Headley and little or no damage resulted.

He would not predict whether Russia would offer aid to Egypt, but said "every country concerned with the preservation of world peace will help." He said his country "does not care for Russian help, but in an emergency we may have to accept help from any nation."

Personally, he said he had not been ordered home, but would like to return "to show my people that they have real friends in the United States."

"The people they want there now are soldiers," he said, "and I am over draft age and have had no military experience."

Holland Reserves Lose to South

Holland High's reserve football team played improved football over several previous outings this fall but costly fumbles cost the Dutch a 20-2 setback at the hands of unbeaten Grand Rapids South Saturday at Riverview Park.

The Dutch fumbled five times and lost the ball four times deep in South territory to stop any touchdown plans.

South scored its touchdowns on passes of 15, 34 and 32 yards. One touchdown was scored in the first quarter and two in the second period.

Holland's Jan Nienhuis tackled a South back in the end zone for the Dutch safety in the third period.

Holland completed eight out of 12 passes for 70 yards while the Trojans completed four out of seven for 91 yards. Rushing, the Dutch picked up 135 yards and South 119. Holland had 205 yards total and South 210. Each team had 10 first downs.

Nienhuis and Russ Prins looked best defensively for Holland while Jim Van Putten did a good job at quarterback and Bob Visschers stood out with his punting and work at center.

Abdou Sure U.S. Will Aid Egypt

BATTLE CREEK (Special) — Saad Abdou, Egyptian journalist who worked for the Sentinel during the summer, said today he has not been contacted by his government and that he is sure the United States will come to Egypt's aid in the present Middle East crisis.

But he added that President Eisenhower's promise that the U.S. would not become involved in Middle East fighting, made Wednesday evening in a nationwide television address, would probably "delay" American aid to a point where many lives had already been lost.

He said Egypt believes in the principles of the United Nations, but the Anglo-French veto of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.'s proposal that all fighting be ordered stopped would postpone help from the world unit until "everything has been destroyed."

He would not predict whether Russia would offer aid to Egypt, but said "every country concerned with the preservation of world peace will help." He said his country "does not care for Russian help, but in an emergency we may have to accept help from any nation."

Personally, he said he had not been ordered home, but would like to return "to show my people that they have real friends in the United States."

"The people they want there now are soldiers," he said, "and I am over draft age and have had no military experience."

Avery was released to the custody of his counsel to appear in the higher court on Nov. 9 at 9:30 a.m.

The charge against Avery is the result of a fatal accident which occurred shortly before 7 a.m. Oct. 13, 1956, at the intersection of 14th Ave. and Leonard Road, when Ronald Commenge, 17-year-old son of the Rev. and Mrs. Albert Cammenga of Grand Rapids, was fatally injured.

BIG BUSINESS — Getting this 126-foot, 22-ton length of pipe from the shore across the Black River was a job for a pair of cranes and many workers Thursday. The business took about four hours and required one crane on the bank and another on a floating barge. The operators themselves had the toughest job, as the far machine neared the water's edge and the floating crane caused the barge to rock when the huge pipe was lifted. Another "smaller" section — only 94 feet long and weighing a mere 16 to 18 tons, will conclude the overhead pipeline and will be swung over the water in the same way. Sidewalk engineers were prominent along the bridge on North River Ave. and even resident engineer Ralph Taylor had his camera along to get some pictures. (Sentinel photo)

TREATMENT AT THE Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic is accomplished through following up the child's natural interests and establishing close friendships. The clinic is one of 17 such clinics in Michigan established for diagnosis and treatment of emotionally disturbed children. It has a branch office in Grand Haven and Holland. The guidance clinic is one of the many agencies under the Holland Community Chest.

Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic Has Branch in Holland

The Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic serves six counties but about one-third of the service is given to Ottawa County. The clinic is one of 17 child guidance clinics in the State of Michigan established for the diagnosis and treatment of emotionally disturbed children up to the age of 18. The clinic was first opened in the summer of 1942 and at that time the professional staff consisted of a psychiatrist, a psychiatric social worker and a psychologist. Until February, 1955, the only clinic office was in Muskegon and in order to obtain service, the Ottawa County people traveled to Muskegon. This was a hardship for some and it was in February, 1955, that a clinic office was opened in Grand Haven and also in Holland. The requests for service are still received in the Muskegon office at 1071 Pine St. The requests for service of the clinic have steadily increased. At the present time the staff positions include the director and four other psychiatric social workers, two psychologists and a consulting psychiatrist.

The children brought to the clinic may show their disturbance through nervous habits, fidgeting, blinking, nail biting, bed wetting, inability to concentrate or memory disturbance. Others may show their disturbance through personality problems such as over-shyness, fearfulness, daydreaming, suspiciousness, chronic unhappiness or fretfulness. Sometimes these children are defiant, hostile, uncontrollable, run away from home, truant from school, lie, steal or indulge in sex misbehavior.

There are still others whose symptoms are that of physical illness but the physicians can find no physical basis for the condition and believe that nervousness or disturbance is the basis of their stomach upsets, their headaches, asthmatic-like condition, spells or seizure - like occurrences and occasionally hysterical loss of voice, hearing, sight or the use of a member of the body.

All usual methods to correct the problem have failed with these children. Most parents have tried everything - punishment, controls, kindness, rewards, etc. - but the difficulty has continued. Many of these parents have other children who are getting along fine. They are asking for help from specialists in this field. Without correcting the problem, these parents can often visualize their child growing up and spending time in a prison or mental hospital, or at least making unhappy marriages, unsatisfactory work relationships, poor citizens, etc.

The clinics have realized remarkable success in treating these children. In a study done within the past two years by Mrs. Ruth Van Duren, the Ottawa County worker, families were contacted whose children had been under treatment in the clinic and treatment was completed five years prior to the study. In 83.7 percent of the cases, the problem had been solved and the readjustment had been continued to be satisfactory.

The Board of Directors of the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic is concerned over the increased requests for service which the clinic is receiving from the people of the communities the clinic serves. Last year 619 families were given help with their children. A total of 4,200 interviews were conducted. As there are openings in the appointment schedule, service was offered to families who have made application. At one time this year there were 80 on the waiting list. About one-third of these were waiting in Ottawa County, and it has not been unusual for a family to have to wait more than two months to obtain help. It is because of this situation that the clinic is requesting an increase in the budget so that additional professional services may be obtained.

This year interviews have been conducted in the Holland office 2 1/2 days each week. During this time 59 families have been given service, 531 interviews have been conducted. There have also been 22 speaking engagements in the Holland area over this same period of time.

The chairman of the Board of Directors of the Muskegon Area Child Guidance Clinic is Dr. Otto Van der Velde, of Holland. Russell Welch, principal of Lincoln School, is also a member of the Board of Directors.

ADDITION—Here's a sketch of the Apple Avenue School showing both the present school and the addition that was approved by district voters this week. The estimated $110,000 addition to the school will include three classrooms with one to remain unfinished, an all-purpose room, and a tornado shelter constructed below one of the classrooms. The present building, constructed in 1953, is bulging at the seams because of increased enrollment.

An Oak Park, Ill., man last week visited Holland just to see how the local "berg" compares with the many clippings and descriptions he has received from his "pen pal" in The Netherlands. L. A. Schaffhauser of Oak Park started to correspond some time ago with a Jan J. Berends who lives in Amersfoort, The Netherlands. Berends was interested in information about Chicago. Schaffhauser took the request and flooded Berends with pictures, articles and other data about the Windy City. He even sent a copy of the 77th anniversary edition of the Oak Park weekly paper, "Oak Leaves."

Schaffhauser, a retired railroad clerk, enjoyed his visit to Holland and is going to convey his impressions to Berends.

The president of the Eli Lilly Co., pharmaceutical firm in Indianapolis, Ind., is mighty proud of his five-ton sailboat "De Halve Maen" which was built in Amsterdam.

The Half Moon, English translation of the name, is owned by Eli Lilly, and is constructed of one-inch oak. Lilly's craft has a main sail and a jib sail, a nine-foot beam and a 25-foot mast. When the outriggers (the boards) are down, the boat draws about three and one-half feet of water.

Lilly sails it on Lake Wawasee, according to a layout in the Roto section of the Fort Wayne, Ind., News-Sentinel.

A reader brought us a copy of the "Rio Grande Valley News Letter," published in McAllen, Tex., the other day.

We quote a section: "Oil Week" Attention was focused on Oil Progress Week, Oct. 8-13 as tribute was paid to the valley's most important industry, next to agriculture. The valley field of six counties produces over $75 million annually in oil and gas — above leases and bonuses; annual payroll in the fields is about a million dollars a year; oil and gas come from 157 fields or horizons in the district; under proration, daily production is about 90,000 barrels.

"The city of McAllen receives $96,000 in royalties each year from production under its streets, parks and public buildings. The valley is part of the reason the state of Texas produced over a billion barrels of crude last year. . . just about half that of the entire United States. . . and nearly twice as much as Soviet Russia."

Yes, the city will pick up leaves at the curb, City Engineer Lavern Serne tells many people who call City Hall on the subject. But please, no garbage or other debris. The leaf loader is designed to pick up only leaves—dry leaves, at that.

Mrs. Marvin Van Tatenhove was reading the Sentinel the other day and mentioned to her family that Rocky Marciano was coming to Holland.

"Is that a bulldog?" her five-year-old son, Calvin, asked.

"No, a boxer," she replied.

The Sentinel has received a centennial edition of the Democratic Messenger of Fremont, Ohio, a 56-page issue in four sections with a wealth of historical data on Sandusky county. The second section front page contained congratulatory messages from President Eisenhower, Governor Frank J. Lausche, Sen. John W. Bricker, Sen. George Bender and Congressman A. D. Baumhart, Jr. Particularly effective were reproductions of old mastheads and headlines which shaped the history of the paper and the news of the day.

Know where Phil Harrington is these days? He's in Russia, no less, working on another photo assignment for Look Magazine.

He wrote his father, former Mayor Harry Harrington, from Hotel Metropole in Moscow that he expects to finish the assignment in early November, and hopes to be home for Thanksgiving.

He wrote, "Greetings from the land of the cold chill and such. Our work progresses rather slowly but I should finish sometime in early November. My plans call for a few days in Denmark, a few days in Frankfurt, Germany, to visit a friend, and then a week or two in London and Ireland.

"I have found the people here to be most friendly and happy to entertain an American. The young people I have met are most charming and not easily fooled by anything."

Hope Gridders Score 9 Times To Run Over Olivet, 59-6

Dutch Chalk Up 602 Total Yards To Take 2nd Wm

By the margin of a conversion, Hope College missed turning in a legendary night - a minute game Saturday night - as they routed Olivet 59-6, in an MIAA game, before 1,500 chilled fans at River-view Park.

It's strictly a matter of choice picking Hope's most successful type offense. Running almost at will, the Dutch took home a season's high of 509 yards rushing. They only tried four passes, one in each quarter, but three were good for touchdowns. The combined total yardage reached 602 yards net, obviously another season record.

For Olivet, it was just a case of class. The Comets rolled only once in the second period when Rolfe Wahl plunged across from a yard out, clinching a 56-yard drive which needed only eight plays.

Besides being the brightest comet, Wahl worked harder than any player in the game. He threw three-quarters of the Comet passes. Punting six times, he showed why he is the leading blocker in the league. His half dozen punts went for an aggregate 210 yards, exactly twice as far as the four punts Hope was forced to use.

Jack Faber, Zeeland sophomore looked especially good in his new quarterback role. He passed for two touchdowns and a conversion. Used as a halfback in 1955, he tried quarterback last week at Hillsdale to fill in for the injured Harry Voss.

The first paydirt toss came with 1:40 left in the first quarter. He hit lanky Paul Wiegierker, who caught the ball on the Olivet 11 and raced in to make the score 13-0. This was Hope's first pass of the game.

Faber also pitched 28 yards to Jerry Hendrickson, who took the ball over his head in the end zone for the TD that made the score 40-0. This heave came with nine minutes left and followed on the heels of co-captain Dave Kuyers' 29-yard through the center touchdown scamper which occurred one minute before.

Jim Menzer, who doesn't get a chance to play much until Mert Vander Lind earns a rest, again really went to town.

Menzer, a freshman, raced around end for 23 yards in the second quarter and then added another in the third quarter with a 66-yard off tackle romp for the eighth Hope touchdown. On eight carries, Menzer had 130 yards, for an average of better than 16 yards a carry.

Mert Vander Lind, in the race for the MIAA rushing leadership, added 98 yards to his total Saturday and scored the first touchdown.

He paced the Dutch in the first quarter with some nice gains including the 16-yard end run with eight minutes gone in the first period.

Ron Wetherbee, playing fullback for the first time, scored on a two-yard plunge early in the second quarter. The TD was set up by 56-yard end run by halfback Jerry Hendrickson.

Paul Watt ran another end run, this one for 13 yards and the first second half Hope touchdown. It came with two minutes gone.

Wetherbee came in for his second touchdown with seven seconds gone in the fourth period. He took a 10-yard toss over his shoulder from quarterback Ty Rupp.

Watt kicked three extra points after the first three touchdowns. The other two conversions were scored on passes. One went to Faber to Hendrickson and the other er from Rupp to end Dyke Rottschaffer.

Hope's defensive line stood out throughout, holding the Comets to net minus 11 yards rushing. The only quarter Olivet had any yardage was in the fourth, when they picked up 22 yards. But in the other three periods the Comets had negative 16, minus five and minus 12.

The Dutch will play at Albion next Saturday afternoon. The Britons defeated Alma, 14-13 last Saturday.

Helping in the yardage derby were Kuyers with 48 yards in five carries, Watt (4-77), Hendrickson (4-57) and Wetherbee (5-29). Don Schilling did best for the losers with 12 yards in three carries. Bill McNally, the Comets top runner, was injured early in the game and saw only limited action after that.

Allegan County Supervisors End October Session

1957 Budget Up Bit From Previous Year; Salaries Argued

ALLEGAN (Special) — Allegan county's Board of Supervisors adjourned their October session late Friday afternoon after setting the 1957 county budget at $350,990.89, a slight increase over the current budget.

The action came at the end of a long, three-week session which left many members of the board speaking out for procedural reforms which would reduce the length of their meetings.

Many agreed that committee work done in advance of meetings, would speed up board sessions.

The session was also marked by arguments over salary increases for county employes, a proposed $1,500 appropriation to publicize the need for a new county hospital and many other issues.

On the last day of the session the board approved, with two exceptions, a new social welfare department salary schedule, set the wage of part-time deputy sheriffs at $1 per hour, the rate for meals at the county jail at 35 cents, authorized the chairman to name 10 delegates to the state convention of the Board of Supervisors Association in January, and approved an expenditure for a new water fountain for the third floor of the court house.

A resolution was approved favoring a thorough study of the entire county tax structure, similar to one made in Kalamazoo county. Primary aim of the study would be to find sources of income other than property taxes and a personal income tax was discussed.

The board not only suspended its own rules, but state laws as well, when it went into executive session, behind locked doors Thursday, to hash over the subject of salary increases for county officers and their employees.

They allowed spectators to return about an hour later when they went back into regular session and approved 245 annual increases of $250 each for the register of deeds, treasurer, clerk and prosecuting attorney. They had previously granted County Clerk Esther Warner Hettinger an additional $600 a year in recognition of her work as manager of the county building.

With the four exceptions all county wages will remain at the same level established last year.

The wage schedule is as follows: Agricultural extension office manager, $2,550; secretary, $2,250; part-time clerk $1,200.

Circuit judge (supplemental) $1,000.

County clerk, $5,000; deputy $3,350; two clerks $2,700; one part-time clerk at $200.

Janitor, $3,000.

Drain commissioner, $2,800; clerk $1,000.

Friend of court, $3,600, clerk, $2,800.

Juvenile probation officer $3,350; stenographer $2,700; child service worker, $800.

Probate judge, $8,000, register of probate $3,500; stenographer $2,700; reporter $300.

Register of deeds $3,500, deputy $3,150; part-time clerk $400.

Treasurer $4,500; deputy $3,250; clerk, $2,650; part time clerk $1,550.

Social welfare department director, $4,750.

Sheriff, $8,000, including car expense, four full-time deputies at $3,600, Matron $400.

Kodak commissioners, $1,200; county canvassing board, social welfare board and board of supervisors, $10 per day and mileage at 7 cents per mile.

Prosecuting attorney $5,000; clerk $2,550 and circuit court stenographer $2,600.

Two Persons Injured In South River Mishap

Two persons were injured Friday at 9:14 p.m. in a two-car collision on River Ave. near First St.

Norman Overbeek, 24, of 440 Lakewood Blvd. and Betty Morsink, 20, of Hudsonville, were treated at Holland Hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

The two were in a car driven by Overbeek when it was struck from behind by a car driven by Arthur Chippewa, 31, of 123 West 15th St. Chippewa was arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

The impact caused Overbeek to lose control. His car clipped a tree and smashed into a porch of the house at 9 South River Ave. Police said Overbeek's 1935 model car was a total loss while damage to the '50 model car Chippewa was driving was estimated in excess of its value.

UN Speaker Says World In Era of Frustration

Mrs. Edith S. Sampson, speaking in Holland Friday on "The Kind of World We Live In" before the eighth annual conference of Michigan Council for UNESCO, said, "We talk of peace, but we do not live in a peaceful world—we are living in an era of frustration."

She said two-thirds of the world's population is yellow, brown and black, struggling against subjection on a freedom march. "We in the United States," she said, "should have a foreign policy of championing freedom. Each one of us should alert our leaders to the fact that we want this kind of foreign policy. Our leaders should take a strong stand with our allies against their policies of colonialism at all times."

"One reason for our foreign policy being weak in this area of taking a strong stand against our allies' policy of subjection, is that the United States has such a guilt complex because of our own treatment of our 16 1/2 million Negro peoples."

Speaking again of her race, she said she was privileged to work with Joseph Malik behind the iron curtain in her work with UNESCO. Because of her race, she said Malik and other Russian leaders spoke to her in English, which they would not have done to a white person. Because all over the Scandinavian countries, with no other issue to push, they attack the United States for her discrimination against the American Negro.

Speaking of her recent travels in the Middle East as the 1935 recipient of the American Friends of the Middle East Award, she said that is the number one trouble spot in the world—not Poland and Hungary. That trip was rugged and she was able to talk to the people because of her color. All white people in that area are suspects. She said our policy in that area should be to "win friends and influence people." These countries are important to us because we want them to keep their supplies flowing into Western Europe, our buffer against Communism. For instance, 66 oil wells in Saudi Arabia produce more oil than 33,000 wells in our state of California. Western Europe can't survive against aggression without the help of the Middle East.

She said the Soviet Government got its foot in the door in Egypt when the U. S. announced it would not give economic aid to Egypt to build a dam. Once the Communists got a foot in the door, they never take it out. The whole future of America is at stake in the Middle East and Africa, she concluded.

A lawyer who was admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court in 1934, Mrs. Sampson said her career as a lawyer, which she enjoyed so much, has been a thing of the past since in 1949 she went around the world with 30 representatives of great American organizations. After this rugged trip she has been spending her time trying to tell the American people about the problems of the world.

Negro. In 1952 she said she found that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was a best seller. Hence they were trying to win and influence her because of her country's discrimination policy.

But the Communists did not know one thing, she said. They did not know that the American Negro loves freedom and loves his country. In the day when Communism was strongest in America, there were never more than 600 Negroes who were Communists, which was indeed a tribute to her people.

A lawyer who was admitted to practice before the U. S. After this rugged trip she has been spending her time trying to tell the American people about the problems of the world.

Speaking of her recent travels in the Middle East as the 1935 recipient of the American Friends of the Middle East Award, she said that is the number one trouble spot in the world—not Poland and Hungary. That trip was rugged and she was able to talk to the people because of her color. All white people in that area are suspects. She said our policy in that area should be to "win friends and influence people." These countries are important to us because

FISHING IN TROUBLED WATERS

For years the free world on this side of the Iron Curtain has been told that Russia loves to fish in troubled waters. It has been clear since 1917 that the Soviets were expert in taking advantage of any and all the family quarrels of free peoples all over the world.

But now it is our turn to fish in troubled waters, this time the troubled waters in the world of totalitarianism. Such a development was almost certain to come sooner or later, but waiting for it has called for maddening self-restraint. Since, however, the alternative was a third world war, there was nothing else to do.

With Russia up to her neck in trouble with Poland, Hungary, and being threatened with the same sort of thing in Czechoslovakia and perhaps other satellites, the free world is in a position to turn the tables on Soviet imperialism. If the governments of the West, particularly our own, are wise, a harvest of freedom is possible that would have seemed fantastic only a short time ago.

Countries like Poland and Hungary are certainly not going to turn around and become western democracies. They can be expected to continue staunchly as Communist states, just as Tito's Yugoslavia is as much a Communist nation as Russia itself. The West cannot hope to convert those nations to our brand of freedom in a decade, or perhaps even in a generation. The chances are that they will never return to what we consider democratic processes.

If we are going to wait with our fishing expeditions in Soviet troubled waters until those nations are exactly like us, we will never get started. The West's attitude toward Yugoslavia has set a pattern for fishing effectively in Russia's troubled waters. Tito has been given encouragement and financial aid, but we have not demanded from him that he cease to be Communist. Something like that will have to form the pattern for the other satellites that elect to oppose Russia.

But in all, that the free world will have to use caution, as it has also done with Tito. A fisherman does not jump recklessly into the lake; he stays on shore or in his boat and casts for his catch. If the free world fishes skillfully in Russia's present troubled waters, there is reason to hope that freedom itself will take a forward step.

Plant Escapes Damage In Blaze Thursday

Holland detectives today were continuing their investigation of a fire at the rear of the former Scotts, Inc., plant on Sixth St. near Columbia Ave. which they said was set Thursday night.

The blaze was discovered at 5:30 p.m. Thursday by construction men working on the Swift So. plant across the street.

As firemen arrived a drum containing fuel exploded sending flames and black clouds at least 50 feet into the air. The flames shot across nearby railroad tracks starting the brush on fire.

Fire Chief Andrew Klomprens said the blaze started in old building and rags stored in drums. The building escaped damage.

The Suffering Servant
Isaiah 53

by C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

Isaiah is one of the great prophets of Israel. The chapter which constitutes our lesson text is one of the most familiar and famous chapters of the book and in fact of the whole Bible. A great scholar said, "This whole passage looks as if it might have been written beneath the Cross of Golgotha."

I. Jesus is still despised by many. The communists despise him and refuse to give him adoration and praise. The prophet Isaiah who lived in the eighth century before Christ, the prophet who is called the greatest Christian in the Old Testament because he says so much about the redemptive mission of Christ, foretold his rejection. Isaiah describes the lowly origin of Christ in the words, "For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground." There was nothing promising or attractive about him—note the words, "and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him."

The generation of Jesus was blind to his virtues. We know that his generation also despised him and rejected him and finally crucified him.

Today there are many who praise Jesus as a teacher and reformer but they will not acknowledge him as man's only Redeemer. It is no wonder that the sorrow of Jesus was deep and his loneliness great. "I have trodden the winepress alone; and of the people there was none with me."

II. Jesus suffered for man's sin. The Lord suffered not because of any wrong he had done. His suffering was vicarious as the words, "our griefs," "our sorrows," "our transgressions," "our iniquities," indicate. These words will mean more to us if we substitute the pronoun "my" for the pronoun "our."

The suffering of Jesus will mean much to us if we become aware of our guilt. It is through the suffering of Jesus that we obtain peace and healing. We all need healing for we all "like sheep, have gone astray." If we refuse to believe that we are in need of a remedy for our spiritual ailments we will not seek a remedy.

Jesus suffered voluntarily. During his suffering Jesus showed patience and meekness as the words, "He opened not his mouth," indicate. Although many false charges were made against him he maintained silence. The prophet Isaiah in detail described the suffering of Jesus and his burial. "And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death."

The prophet also saw a divine side to the suffering of Jesus. "Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief." God overruled man's wickedness and made good to come from the death of Jesus. The hand of God was in the suffering and dying of Jesus.

III. We have a victorious Christ. Whenever Jesus spoke of his death he always added to it that he would rise again. When Jesus died the disciples thought that was the end but they were mistaken. Jesus overcame death and the grave and through Jesus we too shall overcome. Today there are millions who pay no attention to Christ; the majority of the people have no place for Christ in their hearts and lives; they do not feel the need of him. Let me say this—they are in the losing side.

Isaiah 53 describes vividly for us the truth that Christ is our Suffering Servant who by his suffering and resurrection from the dead gained the victory for us.

Missions in Southeast Asia
Acts 8:58; Romans 1:14-17
by Darrell Franken

To the Leader: Before you begin, ask yourself these questions. "How can I make this topic interesting?" "Is there something I can do to make this topic stand out in the minds of those who will be listening to me?"

No doubt most denominations have sent missionaries into Southeast Asia. (India, Pakistan, Burma, Indo-China, Thailand, Malaya, Ceylon, Bhutan, and Nepal) Each society then, can study the missionaries of their denomination who are in that part of the world. (Ask your pastor for that information.)

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS
The Apostle Paul certainly sets a high standard and a noble example of missionary spirit. He preached. He journeyed. He helped the needy. He had no quotas to fill, but his production schedule surpasses all. He had no deadlines to meet, but he was always where God wanted him. He had no clock to punch, so he could spend as much time as he liked at his work. And he had the greatest foreman who ever lived.... Jesus Christ.

Paul, the great worker for Jesus Christ, did not get to Southeast Asia. One man couldn't preach to everyone in the world. He left a few things for you and me to do. He did what he could, and he did a fine job, but every day there is more to do. Will you help? Study the missionaries of your denomination and you will become familiar with their needs. Then you will want to help them.

Helps... to Present Your Idea
A map of Southeast Asia will certainly aid in presenting a mental picture of the location of each country and the mission stations in that country.

Mimeographed Maps, handed out at the beginning of the meeting, with the location and the names of the missionaries printed on them will also help your audience to remember their missionaries and their work.

A Blackboard, with the outline of Southeast Asia drawn roughly, is also a way of teaching.

Pictures of that part of the world, taken from magazines, and passed around the group, help to make a strong impression on the minds of the audience.

Use three leaders instead of one to work out this topic. Such variety also stimulates interest. Have one person point out the mission stations, when they were started, what missionaries have worked there in the past and what missionaries are there today. The other two people could tell about the missionaries that are on these fields today. (again—see your pastor for material)

Child Loses Right Hand in Crash

Cindy Vander Wall

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two-year-old Cindy Vander Wall lost her right hand above the wrist Tuesday afternoon when she was hit by a car that careened out of control while playing in the yard of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vander Wall, 606 Savidge St., Spring Lake.

The careening car was involved in a three-car crash at the corner of Cutler and Savidge Sts. It all started when Mrs. Roger Russell pulled out of a gas station drive and struck a westbound car driven by Richard J. Renzema, 69, Grand Rapids. The Renzema car careened across the main highway into an eastbound car driven by Howard Vander Wall, a Grand Haven city police officer.

The Renzema car then went over the curb for 276 feet into a marsh, knocked down two fences, went between a tree and light pole before striking the child who was playing in the yard with her brother. The brother ran to the porch. The mother inside the house could not come quickly enough.

When the child was first hit by the car she fell between the two front wheels, and then the car struck the cement block basement of the house, shearing the hand off just above the wrist. The child was taken to Municipal Hospital and her condition was reported as good today.

Holland Students To Attend Game

Some 400 Holland High students are planning to take a special train to Benton Harbor Friday night for the Holland-Benton Harbor football game.

The "football special" has been used twice in the past and has always proved popular with the students. It will probably be the largest Dutch representation at an outside game this year.

The students hope to add the spirit and enthusiasm to pull the Dutch out of a two-game losing streak.

Slated to leave the Holland depot at 5 p.m. the train will arrive in Benton Harbor just prior to game time. The athletic sisters will operate a cafeteria car on the train.

Both Holland High and Junior High bands under the direction of Arthur C. Hills and Raymond Roth will travel on the train. The bands will lead a parade of the students from the train to the field. The Benton Harbor police will provide an escort.

There will be room for parents and tickets will be available at the same fee as students. Vern Schipper, school community service director said today. Tickets are available at the high school office and game tickets may be purchased at Superior Sports Store.

'Scrappy' Cartoon Promotes Safety

The little cartoon character recognized by most Holland residents as "Scrappy" of Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Company, is rapidly becoming known far and wide as a vigorous promoter of safety.

"Scrappy made his appearance," says Seymour Padnos, "several years ago on three billboards at the entrance of Holland. Most Holland residents, and many visitors, know by heart Scrappy's words 'This kind of scrap we can do without—drive carefully', relating really to any accident."

These billboards have been reproduced in national magazines, and requests have come in from other dealers in scrap materials to use this idea for their own safety promotion work.

The Padnos company are profoundly grateful for their own good safety record and have gained considerable recognition for their concern for safety in any application.

"We have now decided to allow problem—much thought," says Padnos, "with about 20 trucks and a truck crane on the road all the time, seeing accidents happen around us almost every day. Also as in almost any industry, there is a certain amount of hazard in our work, and it is natural to feel a concern for employees. Scrappy puts our thoughts into words in such a manner that we hope that they will be noted."

"For some time," says Padnos, "Scrappy has appeared in the Sentinel offering bits of information about the scrap industry, important to us, and we hope, interesting to our readers. His smiling face and funnel hat have become a character familiar to many."

"We have not decided to allow Scrappy to change his theme in his weekly appearances in the Sentinel. He will speak as our roving reporter on safety, wherever it may be applied. It will be his job to come up with thoughts, suggestions, quotations that may help us all to keep in one piece. We hope our readers will look for them, and that they may help us all to 'live in good health.'"

Hollenbachs Were Safe As of Oct. 22 Letter

Dr. John W. Hollenbach, who is on a two-year leave of absence from the Hope College faculty to work in the administration department at the American University in Cairo, Egypt, has written to Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers that he and his family are safe.

However, the communication, received Monday, was dated Oct. 22 and was, therefore, mailed before the current crisis in the Middle East.

In the letter, Dr. Hollenbach said the family returned from the summer months in Austria and they were in the throes of getting ready for the opening of school. He mentioned that the situation at that time was a bit tense but the family was "settling down."

Two Candidates Visit Holland

Two candidates for public office, Democrat George C. Clay and Republican Richard C. Van Dusen, visited Holland Monday.

Van Dusen is running for state attorney general on the Republican ticket and Clay is seeking election as U. S. Representative on the Democratic ticket from Michigan's Fifth Congressional district.

Van Dusen, a practicing attorney from Birmingham, toured Grand Haven and the northern part of Ottawa County in the morning, coming here after lunch. He was greeted at Republican headquarters and dropped in at The Sentinel. He then visited employees at the Chris-Craft and Hansen Machine plants.

With hosts Don Voss and P. Ray Gemmen, he went to Zeeland to chat with residents along Main St. Clay, who said he would return here two or three times during the week, met voters and discussed politics along the city's downtown streets.

Driver Issued Ticket

Ottawa County deputies issued Randall Piers, 17, route 2, a ticket for failure to have his car under control Thursday night after his car and one driven by Peter Dalman, 57, of route 2, collided at the New Holland Rd. and 116th Ave. Deputies said the Piers '49 model car was a total loss while damage to the '51 model Dalman car was estimated at $200.

Moran Suggests Holland Obtain Recreation Head

Athletic Director Says City Backward In Play Facilities

Joe Moran, Holland High athletic director, presently directing the city recreation program on a part-time basis, suggested a full-time recreation director for Holland and added "Holland is very backward in play facilities," at a meeting Monday night in City Hall called by Mayor Robert Visscher to study a long range recreation program in the city.

The group invited by Mayor Visscher, included representatives from the city, public and Christian schools, industry, Junior Chamber of Commerce and interested townspeople.

Moran went on to suggest that members of the committee visit Grand Rapids and Muskegon city recreation departments to see how they function and operate. He also sought to have the group divided into sub-committees to make studies and report to the overall group.

Moran outlined the present Holland recreation program including the city-owned playgrounds and parks.

Bill Hinga, Holland High School faculty member, was named chairman of the group and announced another meeting will be held Nov. 12 at which time committees will be appointed to study the local recreation program.

Park Superintendent Dick Smallenburg explained the Fairbanks Park area which has been developed by the city park department. Smallenburg said the area has nine-and-a-half acres with two wading ponds which will be used as skating ponds this winter.

Smallenburg suggested obtaining the entire Fairbanks Park area for use as a "recreational center" including the purchase of a "wood working plant (Modern Products Co.) on the corner of Fairbanks Ave. and 16th St. by the city for the kids and older people."

The park head went on to list roller skating, cards, table tennis and dancing as uses for the building and indicated there would be toilet facilities and space for a recreation director's office.

Smallenburg also reported on Kollen Park and Prospect Park.

City Manager Herb Holt said at present there is no specific recreation policy. He brought out that $5,000 put into a contingent fund for recreation by council would be spent on the recommendation of the committee for use anyplace.

Various other ideas were expressed in the two-hour meeting held in the council chambers of City Hall.

Attending the session were: Larry Wade, Moran, Richard Grossnickle, Vern Schipper, Hinga, W. H. Connor, Guy Bell, Holt, John Keuning, Elmer Ribbens, Clare Pott, Ike De Kraker, Smallenburg, Nelis Bade, John Vander Broek, Art Read and Mrs. Stuart Padnos.

GOP Headquarters Open Every Night

A voting machine has been placed in Republican headquarters on Eighth St. near Center Theater and will be demonstrated on request anytime the place is open. Current hours are 1:30 to 9 p.m. and probably later.

To facilitate voting this year, ballot strips are red, white and blue, instead of the usual black and white. State and county proposals have the red strips. The regular state and county ticket appears in white, and the non-partisan ticket has blue strips. The non-partisan ticket has contests for justices of the supreme court and judge of probate. The latter is uncontested.

Refreshments will be served at headquarters Friday night, according to the co-chairmen, Mrs. Bruce M. Raymond and Mrs. Riemer Van Til. Headquarters also will be open election night.

Holland Man Hunting Near School Fined $60

ZEELAND (Special) — Pupils at the Zeeland Lincoln St. elementary school thought they were being called to classes in an unusual manner Monday morning.

About 8:15 a.m., shortly before the doors opened, two boys ran in and told Principal Cornelius Hoezee that someone was shooting at them and that they could hear shotgun pellets whistling over their heads.

Hoezee called police, who found Theodore Brandt, 52, of 172 West 18th St., Holland, hunting pheasants just south of the school. He was within 20 feet of a sign prohibiting hunting within the city limits, police said.

Arraigned before Justice Hilmer C. Dickman this morning, Brandt paid a fine of $60 and $4.30 costs.

Man Slashes Himself

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Didymus Williams, 25, of 301 Elliott St., who was released Tuesday afternoon from Municipal Hospital after treatment for an overdose of sleeping pills, made a second attempt at suicide Tuesday night when he slashed himself 24 times across the abdomen with a razor. After being treated by two physicians, he was taken to Receiving Hospital in Grand Rapids. He told city police he was suffering from a stomach ailment and gave that as a reason for attempts to take his own life.
