The board of education of Detroit has adopted the following resolution: "That the national flag be hung in the hall or principal room of each school at all times, except as may be otherwise provided, so that it may be before the pupils in bad weather as well as good, and that on special days to be hereafter named it be displayed from the flagstaff."

The city of Wyandotte, near Detroit, is in the throes of an electric light litigation. The situation is similar to what ours was last year. The citizens had voted to bond themselves for the erection of a municipal plant, under the provisions of Act No. 186. The legality of the proceedings were tested in the courts, with like results as the litigation between the Wolverine company and the city of Holland. The court pronounced the law unconstitutional and the proceedings void, the findings being similar to those held by Judge Hart.

The interment of the late Prof. Cha's Scott took place at Shawangunk, N. Y., Sunday afternoon, from the church in which he had entered upon his ministry forty two years ago. The edifice was crowded. Among the clergymen present and that took part in the services were Rev. Dr. Manderville of New York city and Rev. A. H. Hui-zinga of New Paltz, N. Y. The elders and deacons of the church acted as pall bearers, and the remains were laid in the family lot, where his daughters Mary and Minnie are also buried. Upon the grave were placed floral offerings of the faculty and students of Hope College, forwarded by them from here to follow the remains. The family left for New York on Monday.

Satisfactory progress is being made with the new county court house. The roof is being slated and, the weather permitting, the tower will be completed before the end of the month. The steps to the two main entrances have been built and the lathing inside is finished. Sergeant Reiger, of the U. S. weather service at Grand Haven, had intimated a desire to locate his office in the building, and at the last meeting of the committee a telegram was received from Congressman Richardson at Washington, that the government was willing to pay a rental of ten dollars a month. Inasmuch as the proposition involves an additional outlay of several hundred dollars to fit up suitable rooms in the garret, and for other weighty reasons the committee declined to enter into the arrangement. It is the intention of contractor Ward to continue the work inside during the winter and have the building completed by spring.

The slaughter began at 7 o'clock, was interrupted a half hour at noon and ended at 6:30 o'clock. The average was five steers slaughtered every minute. No packing house in the world has ever killed the same number of cattle in the same time.

The latest in the line of foreign legacies coming to this country is that a New Orleans family has fallen heir to a fortune, amounting to about $1,000,000, being their share of the estate of General Heliga, a retired officer of the Holland army, who at his death was worth nearly $4,000,000. One Frederica De Wint came to New Orleans sixty years ago from Holland, married a wealthy sugar planter's daughter, by whom he had fifteen children, four of whom still live, and died in 1865. His widow still lives and is in moderate circumstances.

Florence Georgie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nies, died in this city Saturday night, aged 7 years and 9 months. She had been suffering for about two years from a lung difficulty. Having only recently settled in this city, the family preferred to lay her at rest at the old home, Saugatuck. After brief services at the house, Tuesday morning, by the pastor Rev. C. A. Jacobs, the remains were conveyed to the latter place. Arriving at the cemetery the cortege was met by her former playmates and a large delegation of the pupils of the public school, who covered her grave with flowers and evergreens, in token of love for the departed and of sympathy with the bereaved parents.

A Widely Prevalent Malady.
While it is perfectly true that swamp vapors, morning and evening mists along the banks of slow, winding, turbid streams and the effluvia exhaled by the sun from moist and decaying vegetable matter, frequently break out where no such conditions exist. It is, in fact, a malady widely prevalent, of which it is in many cases impossible to discover the origin. But though its cause is often obscure, the testimony, professional and public, of the inhabitants of America and other lands leaves no reasonable doubt not only that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters uproots this tenacious disease when fully developed, but fortifies the system against its first attacks. Chills and fever, biliousness, intermittent, dumb ague, and acute all yield to it alike. Liver trouble, always present in malarial disorder, dyspepsia, constipation, and kidney complaint succumb to the Bitters.

A Penny.
A penny is the most ancient of English coins. The word was originally used for money in general. It is first mentioned in the laws of Ina, King of the West Saxons, about the close of the seventh century, and was of silver deeply indented with a cross so as to be easily broken in two or four parts. It is the radical denomination from which English coin is numbered, weighing twenty-two and one-half grains troy, being the 240th part of a pound. It is stated elsewhere that Ethelbert, King of Kent, coined pennies between 560 and 616 A. D. Edward I. coined gold pennies. In 1797 copper pennies were used, and bronze ones in 1860, valued at half the copper ones. The United States coined copper cents and half cents in 1793, in 1857 a nickel cent, and in 1865 a bronze cent. The word penny is derived from the old German word "pennant," a pledge. It was the only coin current among the Anglo-Saxons. After Edward III. the coin decreased in value. To the lowest coin Robert Morris gave the name of "cent," because it was the 100th part of a dollar. Its first coinage was in 1793.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

I am now in the drug business, and I will tell my customers if they want a cough cure to use "Piso's." I will recommend it to other people if they send to me for advice, and will tell them what it has done for me.

EDISON prefers to hire women to carry out the details of his electrical inventions, and credits them with more quickness and insight about the mysteries of machinery than men have. He is credited with saying that women "have more sense about machinery in one minute than men have in a whole lifetime," and proves the sincerity of his faith by keeping 200 women on his pay-roll.

In restoring your strength, when you're "run-down" and "used-up," in cleansing your blood from every impurity, whether it's a simple eruption or the worst scrofula; and in building up wholesome flesh, when you're thin and weak—there's nothing to equal the "Discovery." In every disease caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, it's the only guaranteed remedy.

Mrs. ELIZABETH J. BUSHAW, of Sidney, Ohio, writes: "My little boy was so afflicted with liver trouble and other diseases that our family physician said he could not live. In fact, they all thought so. I gave him Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and he cured him. We have used the 'Discovery' for throat and bronchial trouble, and found such perfect relief that we can recommend it very highly."

DEAR SIR:—I have been troubled with Torpid Liver for 14 years and gone through courses of bilious fever; many times it has been impossible for me to do any kind of labor. Dr. Kilmer's SWAMP-ROOT was first recommended to me by Hothouse, Blackburn & Co. (Druggists) Decatur, Ind. After taking one bottle I was uncertain whether I was really deriving any benefit or not; after taking the second bottle, however, I found that my health was improving and I continued until I had taken 6 bottles. ## LAD IN THE TOMB.

Remains of Chicago's Murdered Mayor at Rest.

PARADE OF THE DEAD.

A MOST IMPOSING FUNERAL CORTEGE.

Military and Civic Organizations and Throngs of Citizens—Crowds So Dense as to Block the Passage of the Procession for Hours—Services Conducted in the Church of the Epiphany—Most Impressive Ceremonies Ever Accorded a Civilian—Beautiful Music and Flowers—Burial at Graceland.

With all the manifestations of sorrow and regret that could be shown by a great city to its murdered executive, the remains of Carter H. Harrison were borne on Wednesday to the beautiful city of the dead on the northern outskirts of Chicago. By general consent, although there was no one in authority to issue the necessary proclamation, business throughout city was generally suspended. The city and county offices were closed throughout the day, and the public buildings, as well as scores of business houses and private residences along the route traversed by for the brief space of half an hour, the members of the bereaved family were left alone with their honored dead. In the meantime the funeral procession formed on the boulevard fronting the residence, and at the hour of noon the casket was borne for the last time down the graveled walk so often traversed by the dead man in the score or more of years that the mansion has been his home. Then the cortege, several miles in length, began to move to the Church of the Epiphany, at Ashland avenue and Adams street.

At its head, mounted on coal black chargers, rode Superintendent of Police Brennan, the marshal of the day; ex-Chief of Police Doyle, as assistant marshal, and Police Inspectors Hunt, Schaack, Ross and Lewis. Next in line came five carriages, occupied by the gentlemen who had been requested by the family to act as honorary pall bearers. This is the list: Thomas W. Palmer, Harlow N. Higginbotham, Major General Nelson A. Miles, ex-Governor Richard J. Oglesby, Ferd W. Peck, Judge Lyman Trumbull, Fred H. Winston, Gen. Charles Fitz-Simons, H. J. Jones, C. C. Billings, Adolph Kraus, Philip D. Armour, Frank Wentor, ex-Mayor John A. Roche, ex-Mayor Joseph Medill, ex-Mayor Hempstead Washburne, Judges Francis Adams, B. D. Magruder, S. P. McConnell and R. A. Waller.

A carriage containing the officiating clergyman preceded the hearse. Eight active pallbearers, police captains and fire marshals, marched on each side of the funeral carriage, and the Chicago Hussars, under Captain Brand, rode in double column on the outside of the pallbearers. Following the hearse were carriages containing the immediate relatives, the City Council and officials, county, State and national officials in order of precedence, the rear being brought up by civic and military organizations and citizens on foot. Three Chicago regiments of the National Guard and a detachment of United States troops participated in the cortege on the way to Graceland Cemetery, were draped with emblems of woe. The procession itself was long and imposing. Besides the city officials, the members of the City Council, the Board of Education and other municipal bodies, the thousands of personal friends of the dead Mayor and many civic, fraternal and semi-military bodies appeared in line. Nothing was lacking to give pomp, ceremony and impressiveness to the obsequies of the man for whom not only Chicago, but tens of thousands scattered far and wide, were in mourning.

Tuesday morning at ten o'clock the casket containing the remains was con-

the procession. Slowly the cortege proceeded down the boulevard to the church. When the arched entrance was reached the casket was borne up the aisle to the sanctuary railing by the pallbearers. The funeral services were conducted after the regular form of the Episcopal Church, Rev. T. N. Morrison, Jr., being the officiating clergyman. He also delivered a brief address. After the benediction had been pronounced the procession reformed, and headed by the Iowa State Band, took up the march of the dead to Graceland cemetery.

The crowd along the road to Graceland was as great as in the central portion of the city. No such outpouring of the public has been seen in Chicago.

Cream of Tartar and Soda

Have uses in cooking well known to every housekeeper; but the method of refining them to make them chemically pure, and of mixing them together so as to produce their greatest leavening power and best results when combined, is a matter of great exactness, requiring the most expert knowledge and skill.

Royal Baking Powder

Is the product of this knowledge and experience and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in patents and appliances for its preparation. It is a compound of strictly pure grape cream of tartar and absolutely pure soda, combined with exactness and care by famous chemists, and it will produce more wholesome and delicate bread, biscuit, cake, rolls, etc., than can be had where this modern agent of cooking is not used.

Beware of the cheap compounds called baking powders to catch the unwary. They are made with alum and are poisonous.

King and Little Girl.

When I was a little girl, says the daughter of a former minister, my father was sent abroad to represent our country at the Danish court. Naturally I accompanied my family, and as court etiquette was not especially strict I was permitted, soon after our arrival at Copenhagen, to attend a rather informal afternoon function at the palace.

I had brought with me from America very exaggerated ideas of the magnificence of a court, and I confess that the absence of pomp and splendor on this occasion was disappointing to me. I was left, too, a good deal to my own devices. The queen and the ever-charming crown princess had graciously engaged my mother in conversation, and my father was occupied with some gentlemen of the court.

I soon tired of walking quietly about the salon, and becoming somewhat disgusted with my first glimpse of royal society, I curled down in a big chair to wait until it should be time for us to go home. The hum of voices made me drowsy, and I soon fell asleep. The next thing that I was conscious of was a hand on my shoulder. I opened my eyes and saw my father standing beside me, and with him a tall, fine-looking gentleman whom I did not recognize.

"O papa," I cried, without ceremony. "Is this really a court? Why, I can't keep awake!"

"Elizabeth!" said my father, in a rather severe tone, "this is the king."

But I was already half-asleep again, and instead of rising and making my reverence, as I had been taught to do on meeting strangers, I tucked my hand under my cheek for greater comfort, and murmured drowsily:

"Please, Mister King, go away and don't disturb Elizabeth."

And the king went away, taking my shocked father with him. Nor would his majesty permit my father to reprimand me for my lack of courtesy.—Youth's Companion.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Delaware Boundary.

The northern boundary line of Delaware is circular because the charter given to Penn says that Pennsylvania was to be "bounded on the east by the Delaware River from twelve miles distant north of New Castle town until the three and forty h degree of north latitude," and that the southern boundary was to be "a circle drawn at twelve miles distant from the town of New Castle, northward and westward, until the fortieth degree of north latitude, and then by a straight line westward." This makes a circular boundary for Northern Delaware unavoidable, and the facts above set forth explain a geographical curiosity that has puzzled many students.

Subduing a Polar Bear.

Settling family quarrels in a household like that of Bidel, the French lion-tamer, was no trifling matter. One day, in the midst of an exercise by the wild animals, the polar bear became angry, and attacked an innocent elephant.

The elephant showed no surprise, but prepared to destroy his assailant. Bidel, however, hastened to interpose. The bear released the elephant, and hugging Bidel in his long arms, began to strangle him. But for his wonderful self-possession Bidel would have been lost.

He had stout, solid fists, and he pounded them on the bear's nostrils, until the animal relaxed his grip. Then he wrenched himself free, and gave the bear a vigorous beating with a stout stick. In a few moments all was quiet again.

One night, just before the carriage was due from the station, a patient was rallying the "receiver" in ordinary on the lightness of her duties.

"I don't think you have much to do," said she. "I am sure I could go forward and meet people just exactly as well, and I haven't had any practice, either."

"Very well," said the other; "try it!" "So I will," was the reply. "I'll try it to-night."

"Ah, but there's nobody coming to-night!" Just then the carriage rolled up to the door, and both saw that a gentleman was seated within. The "receiver," who had been merely in jest, started forward with her usual alacrity, but the patient merrily held her back.

"No," said she, "I'm going. Now watch me and see if I'm cordial enough."

She hastened forward with both hands outstretched. She threw her arms about the gentleman's neck. She kissed him.

"Miss—," she said, turning back to her shocked and astonished friend, who could hardly believe the evidence of her eyes, "allow me to introduce—my husband!"

Facts About Aluminum.

There are many misconceptions about aluminum that are widespread and which it seems difficult to correct in the public mind. Aluminum is not, section by section, a very strong metal. It is only one-half as strong as wrought iron. It has a very low elastic limit. It is not rigid, but bends under a transverse strain readily. It is in its alloys that its utility commences to appear. With 8 to 12 per cent of copper, or aluminum bronze, we have one of the most dense, finest grained and strongest metals known.

Thanksgiving.

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation.

While the American people should every day remember, by praise and thanksgiving, the divine goodness and mercy which have followed them since their beginning as a nation, it is fitting that one day in each year should be especially devoted to the contemplation of the blessings we have received from the hand of God, and to the grateful acknowledgment of his loving kindness.

Therefore I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby designate, and set apart Thursday, the 30th day of the present month of November, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to be kept and observed by all the people of our land. On that day let us forgo our ordinary work and employment and assemble in our usual places of worship, where we may recall all that God has done for us and where, from grateful hearts, our united tribute of praise and song may reach the Throne of Grace. Let the reunion of kindred and the social meeting of friends lend cheer and enjoyment to the day and let generous gifts of charity for the relief of the poor and needy prove the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

Witness my hand and the seal of the United States I have caused to be hereunto affixed.

Done at the City of Washington on the third day of November in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-three and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and eighth.

GROVER CLEVELAND.
By the President: WALTER Q. GRESHAM, Secretary of State.

A Proclamation.

To the People of the State of Michigan Greeting:

In pursuance of a time-honored custom, I do hereby appoint Thursday, Nov. 30, as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings which He has bestowed upon the people of this commonwealth during the present year.

You are requested to abstain from all labor and business, except of necessity and charity, and to assemble at your respective places of worship for the proper observance of the day and season. In the preparation of those joyous family gatherings, around the tables supplied with the luxuries of the climate, do not fail to remember in a substantial manner the needy, sick and afflicted that they, too, may have reason for thanksgiving. Let the day be so observed that all may have cause for thankfulness, those who have an abundance, for that abundance and the privilege of aiding those who want; and those who want for the generous giving.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the state at the capital in Lansing, this 8th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1893, and of the Independence of the United States, the 117th.

JOHN T. RICH,
Governor.
By the Governor: JOHN W. JOCHIM, Secretary of State.

The Vote on Tuesday.

It was the apology of the people to Columbia—

For the error of one year ago—never to be repeated during the life-time of the present generation.

In our issue after the election of November 1892 we stated that the result was a reflection against the protective policy.

It looked that way then, But what a re-action! And that so soon.

And so unmistakable in its tenor. It was President Lincoln who said that you could fool the people a part of the time, but not all the time.

Once more McKinley and Protection are synonymous with country and prosperity.

Such is the edict in Ohio especially, where by mutual consent the contest was waged distinctively along the tariff line, between men of recognized ability and national repute. McKinley's plurality over Neal is 82,500. Let every Republican decorate himself with a badge of American tin plate, in honor of the hero of Ohio!

Iowa gave the Republican ticket 44,000 plurality.

In Pennsylvania the plurality is an even 125,000.

Massachusetts is not satisfied with less than 35,000.

New Jersey has likewise wheeled into line, and elected a legislature Republican in both Houses.

New York repudiated Hill and his corrupt machine by defeating Maynard by over 85,000, and electing the entire state ticket by a round majority of 35,000. The city of Brooklyn reversed its 30,000 majority for Cleveland last fall into a Republican majority of nearly equal magnitude.

South Dakota is safely Republican. So are Kansas and Nebraska.

Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky still refuse to bathe in the sunshine of progress and enlightenment, and have rolled up their old-time democratic majorities. How natural for Utah to join them in their hermitage!

Detroit re-elected Pingree, republican, for mayor, by 5,700 majority. For congress, Maj. Griffin, democrat, has a majority of 1,300 over Stone, republican.

The result in Chicago is equally surprising. Judge Gary had 11,500 more votes than the highest defeated candidate for judge on the democratic ticket. The entire republican ticket is elected, with the exception of one judge, J. H. Kraft, and his defeat is considered as much of a rebuke to Altdorfism as the election of Judge Gary, because he was suspected of standing in somewhat with that element, and had secured his nomination in the republican convention under false pretenses.

Real estate transfers in Ottawa county in the month of October aggregated about $40,000.

What is Anarchy?

A conference of thirty leading Anarchists, prominently known in America and Europe, held a ten days' session in Chicago, beginning Saturday Sept. 23. They held three meetings a day and the whole ground of anarchistic agitation was discussed.

The object of the meeting was avowedly to harmonize the active agents of anarchy and to discuss measures that would secure greater secrecy. One result of these meetings was the issuing of a manifesto, in which they state the time has come when those who profess the doctrines of anarchy must no longer leave the statement of these doctrines to those whose ignorance and malice may lead them to misrepresent them. In proclaiming themselves Anarchists they claim the right to define what they mean by anarchy—a right which no fair-minded person will deny.

After a lengthy review of the many ills and grievances growing out of our present system of civilization and government they lay down the following platform of anarchistic doctrine.

When the Government of the United States was first established it was currently believed that the form adopted would secure to all the people the enjoyment of the natural rights proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence. After a fair trial under the most favorable conditions it has failed to justify the expectations formed for it.

Rulership in any form means advantage, and advantage is always used for the gain of those possessing the advantage and to the injury of others.

All the powers of government have been used against us. We have tried the ordinary political methods of voting for men who have promised to legislate and administer the law with fairness, only to find that when elected they have become powerless to aid us, that they have become lukewarm, or that they have become the open tools of the oppressors.

Is it not plain from all this that no man or class of men can be trusted with the government of other men? That government always means the slavery of the governed, and that relief from the evils of government must be sought in lessening its powers and functions—that is, abolishing it?

Therefore we believe that all government of man by man must cease and that men should be free to work out their own destiny without interference.

We believe that all the sources of wealth and the means for its production should be open to all mankind equally and that every species of privilege should be abolished.

We believe that such a condition of freedom will be followed by such general prosperity as will bring ease and comfort to all and elevate and develop mankind to the extent of generally abolishing crime and stimulus to the commission of crime.

We believe that with such prosperity under conditions of freedom wealth will naturally distribute itself with practical equality.

We believe that the main thing which prevents the speedy realization of all this is those arbitrary man-made laws which place all the services of wealth and all its accumulations in the hands of a specially privileged class while it brutalizes and degrades the others.

Therefore anarchy is neither riot, confusion, nor disorder, nor does it lead there. It would promote order based upon justice—that is, on the equal rights of all the members of society. It signifies the absence of the authority of man over man—in other words, liberty.

As to wealth, we hold that the only title to wealth is labor, that labor is the law of life, and that, inasmuch as labor produces all wealth, all wealth belongs of right to those who produce it. And no man-made laws can alienate the title or be allowed to stand between the producer and the fruits of his toil whenever he shall see fit to retake it.

As to society, we hold that the true basis of human association is that of perfectly free and voluntary co-operation, and that the man when free from the arbitrary interference of one another will freely combine, associate, and cooperate together.

We hold that the principle of solidarity is deeply implanted in man, that it only requires freedom for its realization, and that this principle will form the basis of the coming society.

For the present those things from which we most suffer being rents, interests, dividends, and other profits arising from monopoly, taxes, and the exploitation of labor, we insist that these things be abolished; that occupancy and use shall be the only title to land; that no man shall be enabled to reap a return without labor; that production and exchange shall be freed from every limitation or interference; and we demand the abolition of all laws which in any way discriminate against any person whatever on account of condition, race, color, or sex.

The above is in full accord with, and a further elucidation of, what generally has been understood by the term ANARCHY—a want of government; the state of society where there is no law or supreme power, and where individuals do what they please." Still, it does not follow that therefore every anarchist is a cut-throat, or a murderer, or even a dangerous man.

The right to expound and promulgate this doctrine of lawlessness and individual license in a land of free speech and free press is conceded to anarchists, as well as it is conceded to any other class of people to expound its particular tenet, so long as this is done without injury to the citizen. This same right, for instance, was claimed in behalf of John Brown in the days of the slavery agitation, but when he stepped beyond that and began to enforce his doctrine with bullets and became a murderer, he was escorted to a lawful gallows.

And the same holds true with our anarchists. If they resort to bomb throwing and to the shedding of blood, they will be likewise hung as felons.

As between one set of cold-blooded murderers and another there should be no distinction.

Wednesday Frank De Vries had his trial in the circuit court for the shooting of Henry Dyk, the particulars of which are familiar to our readers. Pros. Atty. Visscher represented the People and G. J. Diekema appeared as the attorney for the respondent. The panel of regular jurors was sufficient for the selection of a jury, without the summoning of any talsmen.

The shooting having been admitted and the circumstances under which it occurred not being in dispute, the trial proceeded rapidly. The issue involved was whether or not the killing was justifiable. The People contended it was not; that the defense was in excess of the line of attack; and that it was an uncalled for trespass upon the sanctity of human life. The law allowing a wider scope in defending a dwelling house against the attack of a midnight burglar than it does in the case of other premises, the question of curtilage became one of vital importance to the defense. The store that was burglarized being in close proximity to the dwelling and actually within the courtyard, it was held to be a part of the curtilage, and bearing the same relations of a dwelling house. The law further gives a man, in defending his dwelling house in the night against burglarious attacks, the right to shoot. The court yard in question was an enclosure of about half an acre, embracing the dwelling, the store, and some other buildings; hence in this case De Vries, as a matter of law, was not defending a store, but a dwelling house.

The only witness in behalf of the defense was the respondent himself, who made a straightforward statement of everything as it had transpired, and of his own conduct throughout the entire affair. The plea of his counsel, at its close, was received by the audience with loud demonstrations of approval, for which they were promptly rebuked by the court. The charge of the court was on the whole favorable to the respondent. It held practically that if from the evidence the jury found that the shooting was done when Dyk was in the act of burglariously entering into the dwelling house in the night time, while De Vries was protecting the property of the man in whose employ he was, the shooting was justifiable. The jury retired at 4:30 in the afternoon, and after being out about three quarters of an hour returned a verdict of not guilty.

Speaking with reference to the threatened repeal of the McKinley tariff, a leading New York business man the other day gave utterance to the following sensible observation:—"We have too many changes for the good of business or the country. Business had settled itself to the bill and was thriving, much better than even those who fought for it thought possible. Thousands have adapted themselves to it. What's the sense of having another change when all are prospering? Even the expectation of a change would raise the very mischief with trade in a thousand different ways. I would like to choke the politicians who cannot let us alone long enough to get the benefit of any measure enacted. The new tariff has done all the harm it can and the country is beginning to get the good of it. It is simply foolish to favor more agitation and another period of uncertainty and another change."

The weather is most excellent for building purposes, and is being utilized to the utmost in pushing the walls of the new factory.

HOW GRAVITATION VARIES.

Probably Caused by Subterranean Commotions.

That changes, involving the displacement of immense masses, are going on within the earth is one of the suggested explanations of some observations recently announced in France. It has been found at the Parc St. Maur observatory that the force of gravitation, or the weight of bodies, undergoes daily variations. These are rendered sensible by placing in the earth a tube containing a column of mercury balanced by the pressure of hydrogen contained in a closed vessel connected with the tube, and registering by means of photography the alterations in the level of the mercury.

After all corrections have been made for the effect of changes of temperature, it appears that certain sudden variations in the level of the mercury are only to be explained on the theory that they are due to changes in gravitation. These variations last from fifteen minutes to an hour. They are, of course, very small, amounting at a maximum to only one-twentieth of a millimeter, but they may imply very great displacements of matter in the interior of the globe.

It has been suggested that similar experiments should be conducted in the neighborhood of active volcanoes, where liquefied rock is moving beneath the surface, and other disturbances of the strata of the earth are taking place.

Such facts as these present to the imagination a very formidable picture of the gigantic commotions that accompany the slow cooling and contraction of the globe, on whose hardened crust we rear our edifices, wondering, when some of them are occasionally shaken down by earthquakes, at the instability of a planet that is apparently so solid.

GOOD ADVICE.

Every patriotic citizen should give his personal effort and influence to the circulation of his home paper which teaches the American policy of Protection. It is his duty to aid in this respect in every way possible. After the home paper is taken care of, why not subscribe for the AMERICAN ECONOMIST, published by the American Protective Tariff League? One of its correspondents says: "No true American can get along without it. I consider it the greatest and truest political teacher in the United States."

The tub factory of J. & A. Van Putten is running full time, and orders are coming in at a satisfactory rate. During the week the firm paid off their hands in full, clearing up all arrears.

The lake season of 1893 is nearing its close and the majority of vesselmen draw a long breath of relief that the most disastrous season in recent years is over. As a result of the bad season in lake freights, ship-building is practically at a standstill.

Tuesday morning early the barn of Mrs. Heerspink, Graafschap, was destroyed by fire, with its contents—30 chickens, some hay and straw, and a calf. The cause is unknown, and she has no insurance. The barn was built for her this summer, the gift of church members and friends, and a collection is now being taken to replace it, including the chickens.

In this country 2,500 women are practicing medicine, 275 are preaching the gospel, more than 6,000 managing postoffices, and over 3,000,000 earning independent incomes. Since 1880 the U. S. patent office has granted over 2,500 patents to women, and in New York city 29,000 women support their husbands. And yet some people complain that women do not have a fair show.

It is a plain proposition that when the great railroad lines of the country are doing a many times larger volume of business than they ordinarily do, while there is no corresponding increase in the number of their employees, the latter must be called upon for a large amount of extra work. Men who are worn out in mind and body and are scarcely able to keep their eyes open, are not fit to meet the requirement of those who are entrusted with the care of human lives.—Ez.

Mayor Harrison's assassin, Prendergast, appeared for trial on Monday, but upon the request of his attorneys, secured for him by his brother, a letter carrier, the case was continued until Nov. 27. Mr. Wade, his attorney, admitted that the defense would be a plea of insanity. The chief ground on which the court granted a continuance was that it would be necessary to send to distant states for witnesses regarding the early life and habits of the defendant.

In response to the invitation by the W. C. T. U. superintendent of "Juvenile Work," for the children to meet, so many responded that they could not even comfortably stand in the large audience room of the Y. W. C. A., which goes to show, as nothing else could, the interest of both parents and children in this proposed work for Holland's little ones. The program for the day was not fully carried out, owing to the immense crowd, and inasmuch as so large a number of children can not very well be taken to a third story, an effort is being made to obtain a suitable place on a ground floor, where they may receive the pleasant instruction they so eagerly seek.

In a recent address to the Allegan Maccabees by the Rev. J. A. Barnes, the speaker made the following reference to the ancient Maccabees, from whom the order has derived its name: They were descendants of the two tribes of Judah and their history is the connecting link between the end of the old and the beginning of the new Testaments. It covered a period of several hundred years before the birth of Christ. They occupied the northern part of Palestine, the country which was the scene of nearly all the important events in Bible history. Mr. Barnes traced the history of these people, depicting their struggles in defence of their homes, cities, and right to worship the one true God, when enemies from the east came upon them and demanded that they should worship idols and otherwise conform to false customs. When victorious in battle, their leader, Judas, commanded that a certain portion of the spoils should be given to the widows, another portion to the orphans, and a third part to the wounded. The remainder was divided among the active soldiers. They were "strong, and of good courage," but their enemies finally destroyed their army. After this, however, they were allowed to live in peace many years. It was from these people that the Knights of the Maccabees derived their name, and from their defence of homes, care of families, and thoughtful provision for widows and orphans, was voiced the fundamental principles of the order.

OVER A SCORE LOST.

LAKE SEAMEN FIND A WATERY GRAVE.

Republicans Generally Successful in the Elections—Election Riots in New Jersey—San Francisco Booming Her Midwinter Fair—Earthquakes in the South.

Frightful Lake Fatality.

The steamer Albany, of the Western Transit Company, and the steamer Philadelphia, of the Anchor Line, collided on Lake Huron, off Point Aux Barques, at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, in a dense fog. The Albany was taken in tow by the Philadelphia, but sank in half an hour, her crew going on board the Anchor liner. Shortly afterward the Philadelphia went down in 200 feet of water. The crew took to two lifeboats. One had twenty-three persons on board and reached the shore in safety. The other boat contained twenty-four people. It was capsized and all on board were lost. The aggregate money loss is over $300,000. The Albany was bound from Chicago to Buffalo and the Philadelphia from Erie to Duluth. Both were running under check on account of the dense fog hanging on the water. Fog signals were being exchanged regularly with their whistles as the steamers felt their way through the fog banks. Further than this, both captains declined to make any statement as to the cause of the two vessels. In this they are sustained by the imperative rules of their companies and they have so far prevented their crews from making any statement. It is expected that the inquest will bring out some of the circumstances immediately preceding the crash.

MIDWINTER FAIR.

Buildings at San Francisco in a State of Forwardness.

The progress thus far made by contractors on several of the main buildings of the Midwinter Fair at San Francisco is highly satisfactory. The brick work of the Art Building is all completed. The iron roof girders are on the premises, and even if rain does set in there will be little or no delay in the work. Mechanic Arts Building may be said to be practically under roof, with only the glass for skylights to be put in, and this will be done in a few days. The roof of Horticultural Building will be of tin, painted to resemble tiles, and, as can readily be understood, it will not take long to put this in place. Another week of good weather will put Manufacturers Building under cover, so there need be no fear that buildings will not be ready in time. The most notable progress made during the past week has been in connection with Administration Building, which has risen two stories in height during eight days. Various concessionaires are also making rapid progress on their buildings.

BULLETS FOR VOTERS.

Disgraceful Election Riot at Camden, New Jersey.

The election for city and legislative officials at Camden, N. J., resulted in a riot, during which a mob of toughs collided with the police. As a result several persons, eight of whom are in the hospital, were shot and in two or three instances dangerously wounded. The trouble broke out in the Fifth Ward and later in the Sixth and Ninth wards. It was precipitated in every instance by the special police attempting to prevent Deputy Sheriffs of the opposing party from watching the polls and challenging votes. Several deputies were arrested by the special police officers, and during a fight in the Ninth Ward a number of deputies were wounded. At noon appeals were made to Sheriff West to place the military in readiness, as a general riot was feared. At Gravesend, N. Y., a suburb of Brooklyn, there was also a fight about the polls, in which police-watchers were assaulted and very badly used.

SHAKING UP MEXICO.

Repeated Earthquakes and Colima Volcano in Violent Eruption.

Severe earthquake shocks have occurred near Guadalajara, Mexico, during the past ten days, and there is much excitement among the people. The Colima volcano is in a violent state of eruption, and the people living in the valley at the base of the mountain have left their homes in search of a place of safety. At the town of America, the first severe shock of earthquake did great damage to property and several persons were wounded by falling houses. The first disturbance was felt in the States of Oaxaca, Puebla, Guerrero, Morelos, and Jalisco.

ALL WENT ONE WAY.

Iowa, Massachusetts, and New York Lost to the Democrats.

Latest returns from the elections indicate that Jackson defeats Boies in Iowa, McKinley defeats Neal in Iowa, Russell loses to Greenhalge in Massachusetts, and the Republican ticket is uniformly successful in New York. Chicago elections also return Republican candidates with possibly one exception. South Dakota elects several Republican judges. A general feature was the lightness of the vote.

Four Millions in Gold.

The New York Subtreasury Monday shipped to the mint at Philadelphia $4,000,000 in gold bullion, which will be coined into eagles and half-eagles. The shipment was the balance of $10,000,000 ordered sent some time ago. Six millions was sent two weeks ago. The bullion was packed in boxes of various sizes, one of the packages weighing 450 pounds. The usual precautions—the presence of men armed with Winchester—were taken, but the bullion was so heavy that very few men were required to guard it.

Slaughtering the Seals.

According to a Victoria, B. C., dispatch, the statement of the North Pacific sealing catch, placing the total at 120,241, is not complete. Instead of 2,748 skins, San Francisco schooners took 50,000 skins, but landed nearly all at Hakodate and Yokohama. The exact figures are not known.

Burned by Gas.

One person met death and two others were badly burned by a gas explosion two miles south of St. Mary's O. The accident happened on a lease of the Manhattan O. I. Company.

THROUGH AN OPEN DRAW.

Twenty-five Persons Drowned in a Street-Car Accident.

At Portland, Ore., an electric car on the Oregon City Electric line containing seven passengers went through an open drawbridge at Madison street, falling into the cold rushing waters of the Willamette River. They were held there, helpless, until death suffocated them. They were all workmen and workingwomen on their way to their daily toil. The usual dense and dripping fog covered the face of nature. The driver of the car, which was propelled by electricity, made all speed to reach the destination, and so certain was he that no vessels would be passing up and down the river in that atmosphere, and that consequently the drawbridge would not be open, that he did not put on the brakes as he approached the entrance. But vessels were moving on the river and the bridge was open. The shivering passengers, held like rats in a trap, were startled by a terrific jar. They heard a loud cry from the motorman as he jumped, felt the car falling and turning through space and then the impact of the water, and they knew that the river was flowing in upon them. That was the last sensation they experienced.

STOLE OVER A MILLION.

Embezzler Weeks Safely Landed on American Soil.

Francis H. Weeks, the New York embezzler, whose defalcation, flight, and battle against extradition have so excited public interest, arrived in New Orleans Wednesday morning on the steamer Foxhall, from Costa Rica. The steamer's arrival had been expected all day and night, and there were many people at the wharf to get a view of the prisoner, but a large force of police prevented every one from boarding the ship. Even the crew when disembarking were submitted to a rigid examination and were compelled to prove identity in order to avoid the possibility of Weeks' escape. Weeks' gigantic stealings place him with John G. Egan and E. W. Harper among the big embezzlers of the time. The embezzlements charged to Weeks aggregate $1,300,000. He was arrested in San Jose Sept. 11, and the legal process necessary to get him back to the United States has been in operation ever since.

CAPTURED BY TRAMPS.

Tramways Bound and Cars Broken Into, But Officers Arrive and Save Contents.

A dozen tramps boarded a special freight train as it left the Lake Shore yards in Cleveland about midnight the other night and commenced to set the brakes. When the conductor and brakemen appeared they were seized and bound. The engineer, comprehending the situation, uncoupled his engine, ran to a switch and backed into the yards for help. A squad of officers were loaded on the engine and sent back to the train. On their appearance the tramps fled. Several cars filled with valuable merchandise had been broken into, but the thieves were unable to make away with their plunder.

DYNAMITE SCARE IN LONDON.

Report That a Bomb Was Found Near Houses of Parliament.

The London Globe prints a sensational report to the effect that a loaded conical bomb weighing seven pounds was found upon a buttress of Westminster bridge, which is close to the House of Parliament. The bomb was taken possession of by the police and was conveyed, according to the Globe, to Scotland Yard, headquarters of the Metropolitan police. Inquiries made at Scotland Yard confirm the story. The Inspector in charge admitted that the police were in possession of the piece of iron of conical shape and which is believed to be a bomb loaded with explosives.

Train Robbery Foiled.

Attempt was made to rob the through night express train leaving Knoxville, Tenn., at 8 p. m. on Friday for Louisville, over the Knoxville and Ohio Railroad. The train stopped at a water tank near Coal Creek, and two men boarded the express car. They had no sooner entered the car than several men inside opened fire on them. One of the men, who has since been identified as James Smith, of Knoxville, was shot through the body and mortally wounded. The other, whose name has not been learned, was captured without injury. There was less than $100 in the express car safe. The Southern Express Company had been aware of a conspiracy to hold up the train for several days, and from four to ten armed men had been sent out on the express car for three nights.

Sensation for Des Moines.

The assignment of James C. Favery, of 40 State street, New York, on behalf of himself and the American Emigrant Company, of New York, formerly of Hartford, Conn., of which he is sole proprietor, became known at Des Moines Wednesday, but accurate details are not obtainable. The papers were filed in the County Recorder's office after the close of business. W. W. Wiener, of Des Moines, the chief owner of the Favery Hotel and president of the New England Loan and Trust Company, is named as assignee. No schedule of liabilities was filed, but they are estimated at $351,000. The assets, said to amount to the same, are scheduled but not valued, and are described rather vaguely.

A Fearful Missile.

A boiler in the stables of the dry dock of the East Broadway and the Battery Surface Railroad Company at 14th street and avenue B, New York, exploded Thursday and tore up the building, causing death and destruction. The section of the building in which the boiler was collapsed. The boiler fell across the street and struck the double tenement, 534 East Fourteenth street, just below the first story. The side of the building was crushed in. Three men were instantly killed and nearly a score were injured, several of whom died later.

Earth's Toll Ended.

End tidings came to Chicago from Pasadena, Cal., Thursday of the death of Jas. W. Scoville, President of the Prairie State National Bank. Not only as a banker was Mr. Scoville known to the residents of Chicago and vicinity, but as a business man of unusual talents and far-sightedness. His most intimate business friends and those who knew him best loved to call him the "romantically honest banker."

Desperate Highwaymen.

At Oakland, Cal., a Piedmont cable car running to Mountain View Cemetery was held up at night by three masked men. Two of the men attacked the conductor, beat him into insensibility, and took $5 from his pockets. The third man held the gripman at the point of a revolver. The highwaymen escaped.

Many Killed in a Train Wreck.

It is reported that an Ohio Southern train jumped the track a few miles from Springfield, Ohio, and killed five Italians and wounded many others.

MAY CRIPPLE MELLO.

BRAZILIAN REBEL LOSES HIS GUNPOWDER.

Awful Calamity Which Has Overtaken a Spanish Town—The Benefits of Repeal—The Turkey Which Sees December Is All Right.

Four Britains Killed.

A dispatch was received by Secretary Herbert from Captain H. E. Picking, commanding the Charleston, the senior officer of our fleet at Rio, stating that Saturday an explosion had occurred at Mello's magazine, and that a large quantity of gunpowder had been destroyed. The loss of this magazine may be a serious blow to Mello, as it is believed his entire supply of powder, except what he had in his ship's magazine, was stored away on the island. The island upon which the magazine was situated is in the hands of Mello, and lies just above the city. It is probable he seized it soon after the navy revolted and erected a magazine there to hold this powder. Two British naval officers, a boatswain, and one seaman were killed. They were on the island shore taking sand for holystoning decks and cleaning up the ships when the explosion occurred.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Nov. 30 Set Apart as a Day of Prayer and Gratitude.

The President has issued the following Thanksgiving-day proclamation:

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation: While the American people should every day remember, by praise and thanksgiving, the divine goodness and mercy which have followed them since their beginning as a nation, it is fitting that one day in each year should be especially devoted to the contemplation of the blessings we have received from the hand of God, and to the grateful acknowledgment of his loving kindness.

Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, the 30th day of November, as a day of Thanksgiving and praise, to be kept and observed by all the people of our land. On that day let us forego our ordinary work and employments, and assemble in our usual places of worship, where we may recall all that God has done for us and where, from grateful hearts, our united tribute of praise and song may reach the Throne of Grace. Let the reunion of kindred and the social meeting of friends lend cheer and enjoyment to the day and the generous gifts of charity for the relief of the poor and needy prove the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

Witness my hand and the seal of the United States at the city of Washington on the third day of November in the year of our Lord and third hundred and ninety-three and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and eighteenth. GROVER CLEVELAND, By the President: WALTER Q. GRESHAM, Secretary of State.

BENEFIT OF REPEAL.

R. G. Dun's Weekly Review Tells of Good Results.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

The repeal of the silver purchase act does good already. The silver world in every part of the country reckons it helpful, and the tone of the trade is more confident. It is hardly time as yet for the effects to be felt to any great extent in manufactures, but bankers are more liberal in accommodations and merchants more hopeful in purchases. It is well to remember that the act will do less good than if it had been passed early in the spring or without delay after Congress assembled. It cannot now prevent several thousand failures which have already occurred, nor relieve creditors from resulting embarrassments. It cannot now save from loss a multitude of manufacturing establishments which have closed because the future seemed uncertain. It will go far to restore business confidence which was much needed, but many may expect from the measure larger results than can at this late day be realized.

WITHOUT NATURAL GAS.

Upper Sandusky Cut Off by the Company It Aided with Money.

The Buckeye Natural Gas and Oil Company, composed of New York capitalists, and supplying Upper Sandusky, Ohio, with natural gas obtained from Hancock and Wyandot counties gas wells, has shut the city off from its line, and given as a reason therefor that it had not gas enough. This is the first town in Northwestern Ohio to be thrown entirely back on wood and coal, and the action is an inconvenience to the people who have become so much attached to natural gas. With a debt of more than $50,000 incurred through going into the natural gas business, the blow falls especially hard on the city, and those who pushed the city into the scheme are now looking for a hole to crawl into themselves.

WRECK OF A CITY.

A Spanish Town Almost Wiped Off the Earth.

While the ship Volos was lying at the wharf at Santander, Spain, Friday evening, she caught fire. Her cargo contained many barrels of petroleum and her captain said only twenty cases of dynamite. The crew of many vessels near by rallied to subdue the flames, and the city fire department, headed by the governor of the province, was hard at work watching by thousands of citizens, when suddenly there was a stupendous roar and crash, caused by the explosion of the dynamite, and the next instant half the city was in ruins and flames, hundreds of people were killed, and many scores of places have become insane from terror.

Stolen Goods Hidden in a Sewer.

A rabbit was chased into an unused sewer near Phoenixville, Pa., and the hunter crawled in after it. He found bags of goods that had been stolen by robbers in Phoenixville and surrounding country. A watch was set and "Doc" McCalla, a notorious character at Phoenixville, and a companion came after the goods. They were pursued and both jumped into the Schuylkill River. Pelso's Agents Want the Montgomery, Machias, and Marblehead.

The New York Times says: "It is learned that negotiations are in active progress for the acquisition by the Brazilian Government of the new warships Montgomery, Machias, and Marblehead, which were built for the United States navy. Two of these ships are still in the hands of the builders. The Machias is the only one of the three in commission, and the purchase of these ships could not be well interfered with by the United States navy department. The final acceptance of the three warships by the United States Government is not deemed in the contracts mandatory until after the completion of the final forty-eight hours' trial." The Herald's Rio correspondent says: "The siege has been declared prolonged until Nov. 30 and may be continued beyond that." The Herald also says the Brazilian Government has purchased for $225,000 the magnificent steamer Britannia, now at Boston, for her navy. The Britannia will be fitted up as a cruiser.

The City of Alexandria was one of the fastest and largest of the American ships employed in the West India trade. She was an iron screw steamship of 2,480 tons burden and was built in 1879 by John Roach & Sons, of Chester, Pa. She was 307 feet long, 38 feet 5 inches beam and 26 feet 3 inches depth of hold.

WORK OF THE SESSION.

SEVENTEEN BILLS, SIXTEEN JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

Summary of the Doings of the National Legislature—Few Results for So Long a Term—Matters Which Will Confront the Regular Session.

What They Did.

At the extraordinary session, closed Friday, sixteen joint resolutions and seventeen bills became laws. Three of these joint resolutions were signed Friday and nine of the bills. The last proposition to become law was the joint resolution amending the act approved April 25, 1890, relating to the admission of articles intended for the World's Columbian Exposition. Other bills signed were as follows:

Transferring the model battleship Illinois to the State of Illinois as a naval armory; donating abandoned cannon to the G. A. R. at Pittsburgh, Pa.; act amending the Georgia Chinese law; providing for the construction of steam revenue cutters for service on the great lakes; and an act in regard to the World's Fair Prize Winners' Exposition to be held at New York City.

Additional important bills which were signed by the President during the extra session included the famous silver bill repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Also the following:

Authorizing acknowledgment to the various foreign governments who participated in the commemoration of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus; for the reporting, marking, and removal of derelicts; act in aid of the California Midwinter International Exposition; act to extend the time for completing the work of the eleventh census; amending the act to repeal timber culture laws; several bills relating to the Cherokee Outlet, and a bill to settle the Mormon Church fund.

One of the first measures presented to the next House will emanate from Congressman McGann's Committee on Labor. It will be a favorable report on a resolution of inquiry as to the comparative effect on labor and cost to consumers of labor-saving machinery. "The resolution of inquiry," said Congressman McGann, "was not prompted by any spirit of criticism, but was set on foot to secure information on a point that is becoming of vital interest to all classes of people, including employer and employee."

It is the intention of the majority of the Ways and Means Committee to submit the new tariff bill as soon as it is completed to the Republicans, who will be given ten days to consider it, and frame a minority report. The bill will probably be ready by Dec. 1, just before the opening of Congress in regular session. By reason of a joint resolution passed by both houses to have all enrolled and engrossed bills printed it is probable that a printing office will be established at the Capitol. It is thought by having the bills printed many errors can be avoided. The New York and New Jersey bridge bill will not be passed until the next session of Congress. It is now in conference.

Routine Proceedings.

The House Thursday passed World's Fair prize winners' exposition to be held in New York City from Nov. 24 to Jan. 15. The Senate passed a bill extending the time for the registration of Chinese in the United States and doing away with the necessity for the Columbia museum of Chicago paying duty on any of the exhibits it may require for its own use. The Senate bill granting to the State of California 5 per cent of the net proceeds of the cash sales of public lands in that State to aid in the support of its public or common schools and making an appropriation for that purpose was also passed. A batch of nominations received the approval of the Senate, and that body then adjourned.

Congress Has Finished the Extra Session.

But little business was transacted Friday by either house, and that little simply perfunctory. The session closed without confirmation by the Senate of the nomination of Judge H. C. Brown to the Supreme bench.

DEATH IS RARELY PAINFUL.

But Sensations of Approaching Dissolution Are Little Known to Physicians.

Descriptions of the sensations of those who thought they were about to die, but who passed into a more or less profound state of unconsciousness and afterward recovered, though intense and realistic, cannot be accepted as authentic portrayals of the sensations of the dying, since these persons did not die, says a medical writer in Kate Field's Washington. The temporary suspension of all the physical signs of life, as in a trance or lethargy, may so exactly simulate death that all may agree that the person is dead, while yet that indefinable something which holds the soul to the body remains and is capable of reinstating the common phenomena of life. We have no reason to assume that the sensations experienced in passing into this state of unconsciousness resemble the sensations of those who have actually felt the earthly house of this tabernacle dissolved. Unconsciousness is not death. It only objectively resembles it. Physicians at the bedside of the dying, while holding the flickering, weakening pulse beneath the finger, eagerly watch for some word or sign expressive of the sensations of approaching dissolution. Nothing, however, of value ever comes to us. Indeed many a life goes out leaving behind clear indications that there is no appreciation whatever of the great overshadowing change that is upon it, even though the mind remains clear and active to the last.

A mother hearing me whisper at her bedside: "She is dying," opened her eyes and replied: "I'll be better in a minute," though when the minute had elapsed she had given her last sigh—her last heart-throb. A little girl clinging to her father's hand one sunny morning said: "Papa, light the lamp; it is getting so dark," and immediately expired. A young man asked: "Why do you all cry? I shall get well soon," and fell back on his pillow, dead. These expressions show clearly that the putting on of immortality was unaccompanied by sensations indicative of the change.

In a great majority of cases death is preceded by a period of unconsciousness, more or less profound and of greater or less duration. In this state the vital spark goes out painlessly and without any evidence of the mind being illumined for a single instant by returning consciousness. Deathbeds are rarely painful.

ARCTIC INSECTS.

Immense Quantities of Larvæ Brought Down by Glaciers.

It is a matter of surprise to all who, for the first time, have any experiences in high northern latitudes, to note the great abundance of insect life in Alaska. The writer of this paragraph, says Meehan's Monthly, was especially interested in noting the large amount of larvæ and other low conditions of animal life which was carried down from the melting glaciers into the rivers and streams which flowed from them. It is to this that we have to attribute the great abundance of higher forms of animal life which prevail. Fish especially are in such quantities near the coast, attracted by this abundance, that it seems like repeating the tales of Baron Munchausen to the listener. The young son of the writer, who was with him in this expedition, was, with a couple of Indians in a boat, able to drive salmon into narrow creeks in such abundance that the boat would be driven against the fish in their endeavors to escape. They could have been dragged up in shoals by any strong and ordinary net. In the earlier history of Colorado very much stress was laid on the fact that Fremont saw a bee on one of the high elevations while crossing the Rocky mountains. Lieut. Peary in his recent expedition to North Greenland found a bumble bee on the north coast of Greenland—the highest point of land yet reached by a human being so far as known. This explorer states that not only bees, but other insects abound as soon as the spring fairly opens. Flowers of many kinds are particularly beautiful and abundant, affording a good chance for honey and pollen-collecting insects to lay up rich stores in advance of their long Arctic winters.

WOMEN WORKERS IN BRITANNY.

While the Men Idle Away Their Time Their Wives Labor.

The women of Brittany are remarkable for their individuality, industry and strength of character. In "Artistic Travel" the author says that while the men slumber and smoke, the women are building little fortunes or propping up old ones.

Let us picture a prominent personage at the old Hotel du Lion d'Or. She has a beautiful name, Augustine, pronounced with enviable accuracy by all the household.

She hovered about us like a fairy, attending to all our wants in the most delicate way; to outward seeming a ministering angel with pure white wings, but in truth, a drudge, a methodical housewife, massive and hard to the touch.

She did the work of three Parisian garçons, and walked upstairs, unaided, with portmanteaus which would require two men to lift, anywhere out of Brittany. She slept in a box in the kitchen and dressed "somehow" in five minutes. She ate what was left, contentedly, at the end of the day, and rose at sunrise to do the laborious work of the house, helping also at harvest time in the fields.

She had the sweetest of smiles, when she liked, an unconquerable habit of taking snuff, and a murderous way of killing fowls in the early morning which we shall not easily forget.

How it comes to pass that this girl of nineteen occupies such an important position in the household is one of those things which are peculiar to Brittany. All through the land, in the houses, in the factories, and in the fields, the strong, firm hand and arm of a woman does the work.

NOT SELF-SLAUGHTERERS.

Snakes and Scorpions Do Not Commit Suicide, as Has Been Supposed.

Writing to Nature Prof. Ray Lankester says: "The letter of Edward S. Holden on this subject is extremely interesting. It appears that he, like other individuals who have imagined that they have witnessed the suicide of scorpions, have fallen into the error (so common in the interpretation of biological phenomena) of stating his inferences and beliefs as though they were observations. The 'instance which occurred before my eyes' (to quote his words, which remind one of the old herbalist, Gerard) was simply that of a snake biting itself when imprisoned in a jar of water. That the blow was 'deliberate,' 'intentional,' and of 'suicidal purpose' is pure speculation, and nothing occurred before Mr. Holden's eyes to warrant his entertaining such a notion. Had Mr. Holden been aware that the poison of the rattlesnake has little or no effect upon another rattlesnake nor upon the individual from which the poison is furnished he would probably have been less ready to conclude that the bite was one of suicidal purpose. He would then perhaps have inquired as to the depth to which the bite penetrated into the tissues of the snake and how far such a superficial bite as a snake can inflict upon a part of its own body is likely (in the absence of any poisonous action) to be seriously injurious to the snake. In this case, as in that of the scorpion confined in a fiery circle (experimentally studied both by myself and by Prof. Bourne, of Madras, and reported on in the proceedings of the Linnæan society and the Royal society), the spasmodic struggles of an animal artificially confined and tortured have been, as we clearly demonstrated, mistaken for efforts at self-destruction. The biting of its own body by the snake may be justly compared with the 'biting the dust' attributed to men who die in a hand-to-hand struggle or to the biting of their own hand or arm by unhealthy children when suffering from a paroxysm of anger."

A SCHEME THAT FAILED.

An Austrian Editor Who Cried "Wolf!" When There Was No Wolf.

The Kleine Zeitung relates a story of the Austrian censorship of the press. The editor of a small provincial print was either in great difficulty to find a fit subject for his leading article, or else was too intent upon other business or upon pleasure to provide one. The last moment had come, and the editor was in despair. He tortured his brain in vain, when he was suddenly inspired by a happy thought, and dashed off the following lines: "After carefully perusing the leading article written for the present number by one of the ablest of our contributors, we have arrived at the conclusion that it may be misinterpreted by the authorities and regarded as an attack upon the government. We ourselves consider it to be perfectly innocent, but as we are unwilling, for our readers' sake, as well as for our own, to have our newspaper confiscated, we have very unwillingly, though, as we think, prudently, resolved to withdraw the article. This must serve as the apology to our readers for the blank space in our present issue." The journal was published in the evening, and the sly editor, after performing this smart little piece of stratagem, left the office in high good humor with himself. As soon as he arrived in the office on the following morning a clerk came up to him with a doleful expression and said: "Herr Redaktor, the paper is confiscated by the police." "For what reason?" said the astonished editor. "For malicious ridicule of the institutions of the Austrian empire by the omission of the leading article," replied the man.

MONKEY WORKMEN.

Apes That Possess the Knowledge of Pottery Making.

An extraordinary story is told by the London Daily News, which states that Dr. Macgowan lately returned to Tientsin, bringing with him, among other curious discoveries, some particulars of a race of Manchurian monkeys inhabiting the mountain region of the Great Wall of China. They are said to know how to make pottery; more remarkable still, they are represented as having made extraordinary progress in the art of making wine. A recent edition of the official history of Yungping states that lately a large body of immigrating monkeys passed a certain village in crossing from one mountain to another. The boys of the village clapped their hands and shouted at the spectacle, and the monkeys, being frightened, fled, taking their young in their arms, but dropping in their flight a number of earthen vessels, some of which would hold a quart. On opening these, the villagers found they contained two kinds of wine, a pink and a green, that had been made from mountain berries. It is affirmed that the monkeys store this liquor for use in the winter when the water is all frozen. Dr. Macgowan cites other independent testimonies to similar facts, including a Chinese account of monkeys in Chekiang who pound fruit in stone mortars to make into wine.

Beasts of Burden in China.

Chinamen have such regard for beasts of burden, such as an ox and the mule, that they make companions of them when alive and never use their meat for food when they are dead. These animals usually live in the same building with their masters, but in a separate apartment, which is especially devoted to them. They are not required to eat at the family table unless they wish to, and meals are served in their rooms without extra charge. They are expected to report any incivility or inattention on the parts of servants to the master of the house. A pair of oxen can reside in the house of their master and enjoy all the privacy they would have in a stall of their own, and a sensitive and retiring mule is never in any danger of being intruded upon.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the clerk, book-keeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which, if not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. They are running at too high pressure. The strain is too great. Something must and does give way. This is equally true of women. Though their sphere is more limited, they have their daily burdens, frets, and worries, and the results are the same as with their stronger companions.

This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of its increase is awful to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and insane asylums are full of these unfortunates, and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once, and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have failing memory, hot flashes, dizziness, nervous or sick headache, biliousness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, etc., know that any one of them is but a symptom of the calamity that may befall you, and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with reputable physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine a trial. It is the only remedy that may be depended upon for nervous disorders.

"Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine with marked benefit, and later induced my son, who had been sick with catarrh of the bladder five years in the hands of our best physicians, to try it together with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. He was so wonderfully benefited that he is attending to business again. My wife also used Nervine with most excellent results. All of us together have not used more than six bottles of Nervine. Several of our friends have also used it, and are greatly improved."—Louis Gibbs, Bucher & Gibbs Plow Co., Canton, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles, $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Free book at druggists, or by mail.

The annual report of the U. S. Chief of engineers, in its estimates for harbor and river improvements, is silent on the Grand River dredging scheme.

The Corn Planter works resumed Monday morning after a layoff of several months, with a 20 per cent reduced force.

Adrius Van Tol, one of the old residents of this city, died Friday, aged 69 years. In 1852 he emigrated to America first settling at Grand Island near Niagara Falls, where he lived two and a half years. Since then he has made his home in Grand Haven, and leaves to mourn his death his wife, three sons and four daughters.

County Clerk Turner, Register of Deeds Clark, G. W. McBride and G. Van Schelven visited the Kent county court house Saturday, to look over the fixtures and furniture and get pointers on the furnishing of the new court house here.

D. C. Wachs is now riding a handsome Victor pneumatic.

The fire department held their annual election and re-elected the old officers: Chief, Joseph Palmer; Assistant chief, John De Catur; secretary and treasurer, G. A. Bottje.

G. H. Express—Our former ex-mayor "Jack" Leggett is said to have struck it rich in gold mining in Montana. For many long years he has prospected about Butte, Montana, and expended much money in developing mines, without any substantial reward. He is now opening a mine about 20 miles east of Butte, where the dirt assays $30 of gold and $7 of silver to the ton, and seems to be inexhaustible.

The hull of the new steam barge, built in Duncan Robertson's ship yard for Capt. Loutit of this city, was launched Saturday afternoon. The affair attracted a large crowd. The barge was given the name of Pentland after the noted Scotch fish, on the shores of which Mr. Loutit was born. The Pentland is intended for the Lake Superior lumber trade and will carry a million feet to a load. She is over 200 feet over all with thirty-five feet beam and fourteen-foot hold.

Co. F is making preparations for a grand annual ball to be given on Thanksgiving night.

The Goodrich boat to Chicago is still making tri-weekly trips.

The Spring Lake House was broken into Monday and about $800 worth of silver was taken, besides bedding and other articles. It is supposed to be the work of tramps. They forced an entrance through a window on the lower floor and put the silverware in a trunk. This trunk they placed in a hole near the building and covered it with sawdust. The hiding place of the trunk was discovered the next day. It was evidently the intention of the thieves to call for the trunk after a certain period, thinking the booty safe enough in the sawdust heap.

For the last year or so there has been a great deal of netting going on around here. Thomas Hammond, deputy game warden, arrested two of the netters, Oliver Robbins and Hilt Wilson, for netting in Grand River and brought them to trial Wednesday. They pleaded guilty and were sent to jail for ten days in default of $5 fine.

Saugatuck.

The steamer Saugatuck will be hauled out and recaulked.

Mrs. D. C. Baker, of this village, sent a pair of mitts to the infant daughter of President Cleveland, and has an autograph letter from Mrs. Cleveland acknowledging their receipt.

The fore and aft schooner Norma went on the beach at the mouth of the harbor last Friday night during the wind storm. The Norma is a small schooner of about thirty tons burthen, and the captain was trying to enter the harbor, but mistook the coast light for a pier head light. The Norma lies high and dry, but has suffered no particular damage.

The recommendation for Saugatuck harbor given in the annual report of the U. S. chief of engineers, is the best that it has received in the past ten years. Thus the first step toward securing an improvement of our harbor is made, but it is only the first step of a journey. To get this recommendation adopted by the river and harbor committee, to get it embodied in the harbor bill, and then to protect it from the pining process to which such bill will be subjected in both branches of congress, all this will now be the difficult task of Congressman Thomas, and he should have such assistance as the people who are interested may be able to devise.—Commercial.

A good many of the Saugatuck democrats are hot about the collar because editor Wade of the Commercial is not removed from the postoffice and one of their party installed in his place. The heat has been increased by his appointment as signal officer, at a salary of $120 a year, for a few minutes work each day. What else can you expect of a president who was elected by Republican votes and controlled by the money men of Wall street. Let us grin and bear our misfortune with all the fortitude we possess and never get caught in that kind of a trap again.—Douglas Record.

Port Sheldon.

The fine weather we have had for the last two weeks has put a smiling face on our farmers, and they may be seen roaming over the fields, glancing at their growing crops. Both rye and wheat look better than they have done for several years past, and we live in hopes of an abundant crop next year.

The contract for the filling in at the north end of the bridge is finished, and straw has been put upon the wagon way to keep the sand from cutting up and blowing away.

A meeting has been held in the school house of Dist. No. 7, to see what could be done towards improving our roads, and it was resolved that all who were able and willing should haul as much straw as they could spare and put it on the roads, especially the hills. Several loads have already been drawn, and it helps the teaming very much. Our bustling highway commissioner has bought a stack of straw, and it is now for the farmers to do the hauling.

Another year has passed by and still the people of West Olive who reside near the Grand Haven road, if they desire to have a decent road to Holland, must go into the township of Holland and do the work, especially on the roads between the town line and Pine creek, and at Five-pine-hill. I should think the citizens of Holland township, and their highway commissioner, would be ashamed of having an adjoining township put their roads in a passable condition for them. And yet, this is what our people have had to do on the Grand Haven road every fall, for the last seven years.

Allegan.

Many eels coming down the Kalamazoo river are caught in the mill wheels at Plainwell and killed.

The new iron bridge across Rabbit river at Hamilton stands upon four large cylindrical iron pillars, and is certainly greatly superior to the old wooden affair.

The Manlius correspondent of the Fennville Herald writes that for four years he has been trying to find a remedy for the peach yellows. He thought that a common tansy and a good whiskey were effectual in pioneer days in curing ague, so the tansy might have some virtue in this disease. He set a good bunch of the plant around a peach tree and that tree alone out of 325 trees in the orchard remains healthy. The rest have died with the disease. He further reports that the disease in Manlius township is not as bad as during the previous year and that by prompt action on the part of the growers Manlius township may again acquire the prosperity heretofore enjoyed.

Prison Sunday was duly observed at the church of the Good Shepherd, Allegan, last Sunday. Chas. R. Wilkes conducted the service, Judge Williams making the address, in which he paid a feeling tribute to the memory of the late Judge Arnold.

The horse-stables of the H. C. Ref. church, Graafschap, have been very much improved in the past two weeks. It was necessary, as the owners would have discovered in a short time.

Reports we have received from growers who have kept a close account of their orchard receipts and expenditures show that peaches have netted about fifteen cents per fifth basket, which is about 20 per cent lower than the net prices of last year, although the quality of fruit has been better. Had the demand been as good as last year, taking the quality of the fruit into consideration, the season's sales should have been a third higher than they have been.—Fennville Herald.

Chairman Seward of the Ohio democratic state committee says the election result paralyzes him, and he has no excuse to offer. He thinks the fear that the democratic congress would pass a free trade measure is to blame for the trouble, coupled with the attack of Hoke Smith on the veterans of the war.

A LUCKY SHOT.

Battle with a Feroocious Panther in the Wilds of India.

A remarkable exhibition of "nerve", in shooting was given by Col. Nightingale, a famous sportsman of India. He had got a running shot at a tiger from the back of his elephant, hitting him in the shoulder. The beast rushed away and made for some bushes one hundred and fifty yards off, whence a man emerged. The tiger rushed at him and struck him down. Tiger and man were in a confused heap on the ground. At the risk of hitting the man, the colonel fired, and heard the ball strike a bone.

The tiger, with a roar, rolled off the man, and plunged into a ravine. The colonel's conical bullet had carried off the lower jaw and fangs of the brute. No other shot would have saved the man, but without a jaw the tiger could not seize him. The man, who was deaf and moving about the jungle, had only been scratched by the tiger's claws.

The tiger was sought. He was waiting to be found, for as soon as he saw the elephant on the edge of the ravine he charged furiously. A ball through his neck rolled him over and down the ravine. The elephant was pushed forward, and up the slope the furious tiger rushed. A ball in the chest killed him.

He was an enormous animal, measuring four feet three inches at the shoulder, and the length of the skin was twelve feet eight inches.

The Beginning of the Year.

The countries and nations of the world, with a few exceptions, begin the year with January 1, but that this system is arbitrary and based upon nothing in particular does not even need to be proved. The ancient Egyptians, Chaldeans, Persians, Syrians, Phoenicians and Carthaginians each began their year with the autumnal equinox or about September 22. Among the Greeks the beginning of the year was at the time of the winter solstice down to 493 B. C., when the "Menton cycle" was introduced, after which the new year began on June 23. In England from the time of the fourteenth century until 1753 the legal and ecclesiastical year began on March 25.

A Pleasant Cure.

"I tell you," said Rattlesnake Pete, "snake bite's a terrible thing. Fr instance, I've jest heard of the death of a pal of mine who was bit by a snake over a year ago." "Oh, come now," said one of his hearers, "you don't mean to say that it took a year for a snake bite to kill a man." "Jest you hold yer hosses an' I'll tell ye how it was. Wen the feller got bit, he took plenty of whisky, the remedy in such cases made and pervided. An' in course it cured him. But the cure was so pleasant that he kep' on takin' it, until now he has died of tremens. You jest b'lieve me, a snake bite's a bad thing. No matter what you do it's apt to git in its work."

Queer Dueling Weapons.

In 1887 a curious duel was fought in Paris, when two rivals met at the house of their divinity. After a few high words an immediate encounter was decided upon, and neither swords nor pistols were at hand two ornamental crossbows were taken from the walls of the drawing-room. An adjournment into the garden was made, and in a few minutes one of the lovers was pierced in the arm by his opponent's shaft. In 1891 a still more singular duel was fought, the weapons in this case being umbrellas. After a furious struggle, one of the combatants fell, run through the eye, and soon afterward died.
