COUNCIL GRANTS LICENSE FOR THE CITY BUS LINE

GEORGE KRONMEYER GIVEN
RIGHT TO OPERATE SUCH A CONCERN IN HOLLAND

Committee Attaches Four Conditions
In Accordance With the State Law

By the action of the common council taken Wednesday evening Holland is to get its first motor bus line system. George Kronmeyer will operate the line and by means of it people living in outlying districts and people living in the suburbs of the city will have the same convenience that they would have if they had street car service. The fare that will be charged by the motor bus line will be five cents, as on a street car, and for a nickel people in the outlying districts will be able to get to the business section, and workmen will be able to travel from their home to their work for the same price.

Mr. Kronmeyer petitioned three weeks ago for the right to operate such a bus line and petition was backed by signatures of 150 citizens. The committee Wednesday night reported favorably, provided Mr. Kronmeyer would agree to keep the vehicles he would use up to the standard usually maintained by such carriers, that he would pay certain license fees set forth in detail in the committee report, that he would carry insurance for the protection of his passengers to the amount of $25,000, and that he would comply with all state vehicle laws and city ordinances governing the use of streets and highways.

The committee stipulations were not made arbitrarily, even though this will be the first time in Holland's history that such a bus line is established. There was no local precedent to go by but the committee and city attorney carefully investigated the matter and framed their demands in accordance with the state law governing such concerns. In case special conditions should arise that would require modifications, these will be made whenever the license has to be renewed.

PANAMA BOY PROVES ACQUATIC WONDER

YOUNG JACKIE VAN PUTTEN
GETS HIS REGATTA MEDAL

Young Jackie Van Putten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van Putten, Jr., of Panama, who was quite a prominent participant in the Ottawa Beach Yacht Club sporting events at the regatta that closed the resort season at the local resorts has for some time proudly displayed the gold medal which he won in the fifty yard swimming contest in the Junior Boys class. The medal is an old gold and in it a young man is depicted swimming, denoting the stroke used in the contest. The swimmer stands out in bold relief and the medal is one of artistic beauty.

On the opposite side of the medal the young man's name appears together with the reason why he received the gold medal in the sporting event mentioned above.

Mr. Van Putten is studying in Holland for the winter and will remain here under the tutelage of his uncle, "Jock" Riemersma, until such a time as his father is transferred from the Canal Zone to some other locality in the government United States Army service.

Simon Veen of the Co-Operative Tailors wants to celebrate his return to this country from a visit to the Netherlands. The celebration is of interest to you. He tells all about it on page six of this issue.

Dr. A. Van Ark of Toledo, Ohio, who has been visiting relatives in Holland, left Monday morning for his home.

MAYORAL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY IS COMPLETE

PICTURES OF ALL FORMER CHIEF EXECUTIVES WILL HANG IN COUNCIL CHAMBER

Mayor Stephan reported to the common council Wednesday night that before the next meeting of the aldermen the city's mayoral photograph gallery will be complete. For the past year or two the city has been collecting photographs of former mayors of the city. In some cases these photos were hard to secure. But all have been located and enlarged pictures have been made of each of them. The pictures are now uniform in size and the frames will be uniform in size and style.

On each frame will be placed a small brass plate giving the name of the subject and the years during which he served as chief executive of the city. At the suggestion of Mayor Stephan, the first picture of the first mayor will hang behind the mayor's desk. Next to him will hang the picture of the person who is serving during any given administration, and then the executives will be hung in chronological order. The gallery will be complete before the next council meeting and the public is invited to come and see the pictures.

VEEN IN REMINIS- CENT MOOD IN SPEAK- ING OF HOLLAND

TELLS OF HIS TWO MONTHS' VISIT IN THE NETHERLANDS

Simon Veen, the man who conducts the Co-operative Tailors at 120 E. Eighth street, is a more thorough American than he ever was before, if that is possible.

Recently he returned from a two-months' visit to his native heath in the Netherlands, and while visiting with the old folks was in some ways a pleasant one, although many of the old friends and relatives are gone, having passed away during his absence of 30 years, the mind picture of the old homestead was only one of more youthful days, and in the reality, fell far short of expectations.

Mr. Veen said that the Netherlands is a good place to visit but not for an American to live.

Conditions of living and customs would never go down with an American. Prices too are shamefully high, eggs being 12c each, and butter at $1.40 a pound in a country noted for its dairy products. The world markets with butter and cheese. But apparently there is a discrepancy between the man who has the cheese and butter and the man who has the cows, and the Netherlands consumer who pays the price.

Veen also saw the great celebration of the queen's 25th coronation anniversary while in Amsterdam, and while he didn't shake hands with the queen personally, which few did, he saw Queen Wilhelmina at close range and found that she was only a human mortal like the rest of us.

The celebration started nearly a week before the real event and no doubt many found excuses to continue the happy festivities sometime afterward.

Anyway Mr. Veen is glad that he is back in Holland, Michigan, and not in Holland, across the sea.

OTTAWA APPLE AND POTATO GROWERS PLAN EXHIBITS

A large number of apples and potato growers from Ottawa county are selecting exhibits for the big show to be held at the Kliffman building, Grand Rapids, Nov. 20-23. Ottawa county's apples are unusually highly colored this year and should be shown in large quantities. Ottawa county's potatoes are of much better quality this year due to the large quantities of certified seed brot into the county thru cooperative associations in the past two years and a greater interest in selecting seed stimulated by field demonstrations given by the agricultural agent. Entries for the show must be in the office of Mr. H. C. Moore, secretary at East Lansing by Nov. 14th. No time is to be lost in shipping entries. The agricultural agent is particularly anxious that Ottawa county be better represented in the apple and potato exhibits. We have quality and it

OTTAWA MEN HEADING FOR THE NORTH WOODS

MANY LICENSES TO HUNT DEER

The Ottawa county contingent will do its hunting in the northern Peninsula of Michigan where the big game is more plentiful. Several parties are going to the north woods together, while others go singly or in pairs to join other parties.

The deer season in Michigan opens Saturday, Nov. 10, and continues for a period of ten days. During that time each hunter is permitted to kill one buck. The hunters are equipped with shipping tags and seals along with their licenses.

Up to noon Wednesday a total of 31 licenses had been issued at the office of County Clerk Orrle J. Sluiter to Ottawa county hunters. The resident hunters' licenses sell for $2.50 each.

KLAN BURNS FIERY CROSS ON HILL AT GRAND HAVEN

THEORY IS THAT IT MEANS THAT GRAND HAVEN NOW HAS 300
MEMBERS

At about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening another fiery cross was burned in the summit of Dewey Hill at Grand Haven in a prominent position. This cross was well defined in flame and could easily be seen at the time from the downtown business district.

A drizzling rain was falling but the cross burned brightly for a time, seemed to indicate that the material that was burned about the arms had been soaked in inflammables. After a time it burned out.

It was reported by one who was across the harbor at the time that seven men had been seen in the vicinity of Dewey Hill just prior to the time that the cross started to flame against the sky. The cross was located at one of the highest points and was well placed.

Next morning the cross was still standing at the top of the hill in plain view of passersby on Washington street. A bit of blackened fabric fluttered from one of the arms. The cross was evidently of very large size.

A statement was made that the burning of the cross was occasioned by the Klan having taken in another hundred members. This would seem to indicate that the organization has three hundred members here at the present.

OFFERS TO SELL VOTING MACHINES TO THIS CITY

MICHIGAN REPRESENTATIVE OF
NEW YORK FIRM MAKES CITY DEFINITE OFFER

The first definite advance was made Wednesday evening looking toward the sale to the city of Holland of the voting machines that will, if purchased, replace the old system of voting on a printed ballot. Mr. D. A. Wolf Michigan representative of the Automatic Registering Machine Co. of Jamestown, N. Y., presented a written statement to the common council in which he set forth the terms on which such machines would be sold to the city of Holland in case the city decided to go in for voting machines.

The cost of each machine would be $1,040.75. The terms would be either cash, if the city should desire, or negotiable city certificates of indebtedness, based on the average annual saving in election expenses by reason of the machines, and of such amounts and maturing at such times as the city shall determine, with interest at five per cent.

Mr. Wolf's statement declared that the machines could be ready for delivery by June first, 1924. The matter was referred to the ways and means committee.

HOLLAND TO HAVE AN OTHER THEATER SOON

Holland is to have a new theater in the near future. The Holland Theater company Wednesday night petitioned the common council for a license to conduct a theater in the Knickerbocker. No definite date for the opening of the place was given in the petition but unofficially it was stated that the new theater would be in operation in about a month. The petition was referred to the license committee for investigation.

The Knickerbocker theater has been idle for years. Some months ago it was purchased from the Michigan Trust Co. by Mr. G. Buis.

MISSIONARY WORKERS ARE URGED TO RE- BUILD QUICKLY

RETARDING OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCHES MIGHT DAMAGE
CAUSE CONSIDERABLY

In a recent editorial in the Chicago American it portrays what the outcome would be in the minds of the pagan Japanese, should the Christian churches as a whole or in part delay the reconstruction of their churches, missions, colleges, etc.

Just how this delay would be baneful according to the Chicago American is plainly stated in their editorial.

Holland, Hope College and many churches in this city and vicinity are very much interested in the rebuilding of God's Kingdom in Japan as well as in China.

If the effect of slow rebuilding progress in the stricken nation would be as stated in this paper below, the statement would deserve grave consideration even here.

Says the Chicago American: Japan and Christianity—Energy Is

Here a Miracle

Bishop Tucker tells his audience in the Episcopal Church of St. John the Divine that Christians must immediately rebuild the Christian churches, hospitals and schools destroyed by the earthquake in Japan. "To make the Japanese look favorably upon the Christian Religion."

The Japanese, assured by our missionaries that they represent an All-Powerful Being controlling earthquakes and all forces of nature, are naturally amazed at the destruction of so many Christian churches and a little disappointed that no miracle stepped in to save them.

Being pagans, it is hard to make them understand that nature's laws rarely give way to miraculous intervention in these days. However, pagans and all others admire and bow to energy. If our Christian churches in Japan are quickly rebuilt, the Japanese will say: "That is nearly a miracle."

WOULD PRESENT CITY WITH WASTE PAPER CANS

PUBLICITY CONCERN WANTS TO USE SIDES OF CANS FOR AD-VERTISING SPACE

C. L. Jewell, representative of the National Publicity Service, appeared before common council Wednesday night and offered to give the city free of charge as many nicely painted waste paper cans of substantial make as the aldermen might desire, with the stipulation that if the city should accept the proposition at all they will have to accept not less than fifty of these presents. The cans are to have three coats of paint, they are to be repainted every six months, and the company will keep them clean.

The company is to have the right to sell the sides of the cans for advertising space to local and outside merchants. The council listened to the offer but were not quite ready to close a deal on the spot and so passed the buck to the streets and crosswalks committee. That committee will have to decide whether they will look the gift horse in the mouth or not.

SON WILL ALSO FOLLOW IN HIS FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

Millions have smiled through their tears as they have ready of the tribulations of "the circuit rider's" wife. They have sympathized with her as they read of her long rides from charge to charge on the Redwine circuit and the not infrequent moving days which meant the packing of all their belongings and traveling many miles to new circuits.

But experiences of a circuit rider's wife seem tame in comparison with those of an evangelist's wife.

Closing an eight-days' series of meetings in Burton Heights is an evangelist's widow who might paraphrase the John Wesley whose faith she preaches by saying "the world is my circuit."

And it is a circuit which would make the long rides and the river fordings of the Redwine circuit seem like the few steps from church to parish house of a city church.

Mrs. Fred De Weerd of Fairmount, formerly of Holland, and wife of the late Rev. Fred De Weerd, whose father lives on West 11th street near Maple, conducting evangelists' meetings in the Burton Heights church of the Nazarene, near Grand Rapids, was ordained a minister in the Wesleyan church during five years which she and her husband spent in South Africa. It is now nine years since they were in that country in the land of diamonds and velvets but part of decades of traveling which would fill volumes. For those whose calling is the exhortation of others to prepare for the greatest journey of all must not hesitate at such earthly travels as the crossing of continents, or of oceans.

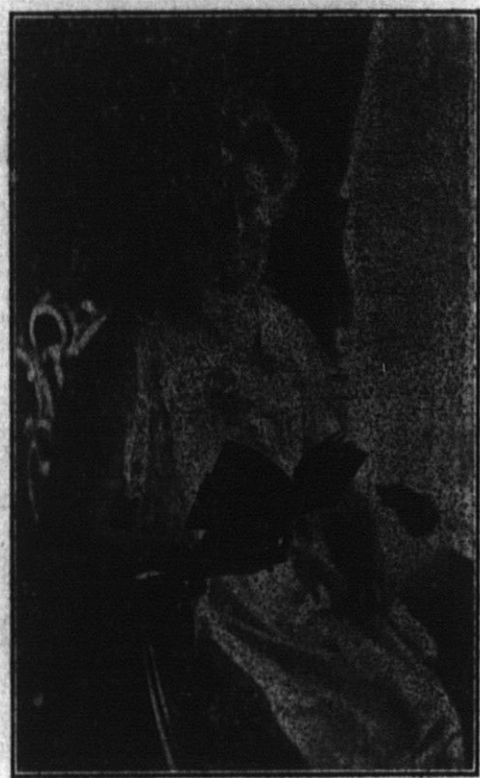

This year dawned for them in Florida, and Jan. 8, in Miami, whither they were called by a holiness tent meeting, and Mr. De Weerd himself made that greatest journey.

But Mrs. De Weerd's travels are not ended. She reads in her Bible something like "and they twain shall be one flesh." And not even death has parted her from her husband's calling. So she still gains converts even as when her husband was in the flesh and she his zealous helpmeet.

She is not bound by denominational limits in her work, and often conducts meetings in churches of the Nazarene faith, which is only another of the many Wesleyan churches. Large families were the rule in the day of the Wesleys, and John Wesley became a father of an ever growing number of churches. Methodist Episcopal, Wesleyan Methodist, Free Methodist, Protestant—these are but a few of that family, in which the church of the Nazarene, born about 25 years ago in Los Angeles, is a lusty infant.

Donor of Kollen Memorial Park Honored by City's People

HOLLAND SHOWS APPRECIATION FOR KOLLEN PARK

In a hall that was a veritable fairy-land of flowers and ferns, with an orchestra making sweet music and amid the happy buzz of laughter and conversation, Mrs. George E. Kollen Friday evening stood in the receiving line in the Masonic Temple and responded graciously to the good wishes of hundreds of people from all walks of life as they tried one by one to express to her their sense of appreciation and friendly good will. The public reception held in Mrs. Kollen's honor was, in the words of Mayor Stephan, the first public reception ever held for a citizen of Holland by the people of Holland, and as such it was an event of unusual significance.

The time for the reception had been announced for 7:30 to ten o'clock and soon after the doors were opened the people began coming. Many came, paid their respects and left again; others stayed to visit. No record was kept of the crowds and so it is impossible to say how many people of Holland attended the meeting. There was nothing formal about the reception and all were free to come and go as they desired.

In the receiving line stood Mayor Stephan, Mrs. Kollen, former Alderman Wm. Lawrence, who was largely concerned in the negotiation that secured the magnificent gift of Kollen Memorial Park for Holland, and Mrs. G. J. Van Duren. Music during the handshaking and throughout most of the evening was furnished by Van Vyven's orchestra. Con De Pree and his committee were in general charge of the reception.

The plan of the reception did not include any speechmaking, but the committee had a surprise in store for Mrs. Kollen that quite naturally led to two graceful addresses. When the reception had been in progress for some time Mayor Stephan asked for silence and made an impressive talk in which he called attention to the fact that the people of Holland were happy in honoring Mrs. Kollen who had done so much for this city. He briefly reviewed some of the history of the gift of Kollen Memorial Park and said that it was a gift to the people of Holland of today not only but to the people of generations to come.

Then he took out of its wrappings a beautiful silver loving cup and presented it to Mrs. Kollen as the gift of a grateful citizenry by which the people of Holland in a small way wished to express their sense of appreciation and esteem. On the cup was the following inscription: "Presented to Mrs. Martha D. Kollen by the citizens of Holland as an expression of their deep gratitude for her very magnanimous gift to the city of Holland, George E. Kollen Memorial Park, and as a token of their love and esteem."

CIVIC HEALTH COMMITTEE BACKS THE CITY NURSE

The Civic Health committee of the Woman's Literary club held a meeting for the purpose of going on record as standing back of Miss Alma Koertge, city nurse, in the work that she has been doing in Holland. Recently the city nurse committee did the same thing, announcing to the people of Holland that Miss Koertge is carrying out the wishes of the committee and that they are to be held responsible for what she does.

The Civic Health committee of the Woman's Literary club decided to give the nurse its moral support also because of the fact that there has been a good deal of criticism of the nurse due to the abnormal conditions that obtain in any epidemic. Miss Koertge has worked in close co-operation with the Civic Health committee and the members of that committee have frequently functioned through her. They know the difficulties that confront a city nurse and they know that any nurse who wants to do her duty conscientiously for the best interests of all the people of the city would meet with criticism. It was pointed out by one of the members of the committee that only a nurse who would do nothing would remain free from criticism.

The Civic Health committee is interested in the general health conditions of all the people of the city and is working to that end. The members realize that an official who works conscientiously will meet with opposition and so they felt it their duty to show definitely that there is a large body of citizens who appreciate the work of the nurse and who stand back of her in her efforts.

As a token of esteem the committee presented Miss Koertge with a beautiful nurse's case on her birthday.

there was not a book in the hall in which all who came might have inscribed their names so that she might preserve it to remind her of the evening and of the love of friends.

"Tonight is a red-letter day in my life," said Mrs. Kollen; "as people passed and I was privileged to shake them by the hand, the sense of good will that I felt made this an occasion that I can never forget."

Mrs. Kollen was obviously surprised by the gift of the loving cup and for a moment she found it hard to express adequately her sense of appreciation.

Referring to the history of the gift of Kollen Memorial Park, to which Mayor Stephan had made allusion, she said: "I had thought of a number of things that I might do to serve as a memorial for my beloved husband. I had thought of things in connection with the college that he loved and the church that he loved and other projects. Then one night I saw in the Sentinel that the De Pree company wished to sell the property on the lake front, and instantly the thought came to me that that would be the kind of memorial that my husband himself would have liked. All his life he loved Holland. Whenever he left the city, as he often was required to do on business, he invariably came home earlier than he had planned to do. And frequently he stopped his automobile at the foot of Twelfth street to look across the bay. Frequently he regretted the fact that the people of Holland did not have a park on the lake front, and so I felt that such a park would be an ideal memorial to him."

Mrs. Kollen told the story of how Ald. Lawrence had come to her soon after and had pointed out the fact that the De Pree property would make a beautiful park. She said she had accepted this almost as a mystic sign that her plan was the right one.

Mrs. Kollen said that the giving of Kollen Memorial Park to the city had been one of the pleasantest experiences of her life, giving her more joy than it could possibly give the people of Holland. She testified to the truth of the Scripture passage that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and she declared that only those who give really live—those who give money, service, love, and especially themselves.

To make clear that the event marked the day for her as one of the great days of her life, Mrs. Kollen quoted Douglas Mallock's little poem, "To-day," with the constant refrain, "Ain't it fine to-day?"

Holding up the loving cup that had been presented to her she declared that it would always occupy the place of honor in her home and that it would be a daily reminder to her of the love that had inspired the reception.

There was probably no one present at the reception who did not remark on the decorations in the Masonic Temple. They were a poem in chrysanthemums and leaves. The galleries and walls were covered with them and their beauty could not help but attract the attention of the most unobservant. They were about the most artistic decorations ever seen in Holland for a similar occasion and they represented an immense amount of work not only but showed a talent of an unusual kind. They were the work of N. Robbins and George Bosman.

BUYS OUT PARTNER IN CORNER HARDWARE

An important business change took place Wednesday afternoon when Dick Van Tatenhove became the sole owner of the stock of the Corner Hardware. Mr. Van Tatenhove bought out his partner, Arend Siersma and he will conduct the business alone after this, Mr. Siersma planning to go into some other line.

Mr. Van Tatenhove has had many years of experience in the hardware business. He was employed for five years by John Vander Veen when the latter conducted the Corner Hardware. Later he was employed for three years by the Holland Furnace Company, and for the past five years he has been in partnership with Mr. Siersma in conducting the Corner Hardware.

GIVES ADDRESS ON "THE ART OF LIVING"

Superintendent E. E. Fell of the Holland Public Schools was a speaker at the Exchange Club meeting Monday afternoon in the Guild room. Mr. Fell talked for more than an hour on the subject, "The Art of Living." He brought in the extreme importance of the public schools in a way that was very interesting.

In his talk, Supt. Fell brought in the importance of service which is freely given instead of the usual "Time Clock Service." He told of the public school system in his own city and explained the much talked of and highly lauded system of student government which has caused great comment not alone in this state but in the entire country.

A patent has been granted in the United States Patent office to Anton Foshelm and A. Simons of Grand Haven for an improvement in a porcelain refrigerator.

ASKS CO-OPERATION OF BUSINESS MEN

J. A. Johnson, general agent for the Graham & Morton, has sent a letter to Holland business concerns announcing the plans of the company for the coming winter. Among other things he says:—

"You will remember that last year we gave you service which you had never even dreamed of getting, by giving you daily freight service until Thanksgiving time, then we gave you triweekly service until the first of the year; this was considered the best service you had ever had."

"We are giving you at the present time, daily freight service, and if we can hold your liberal patronage we contemplate giving you still better service than you had last year. Now listen! We are going to give you all winter service this year, providing we can have your full co-operation."

MERCHANTS' MEETING WAS POSTPONED

On account of many conflicting meetings last Tuesday night, the Holland Retail Merchants association did not meet at that time. The meeting was postponed for two weeks and will be held on the evening of November 20. Since that is a very near December, it is likely that it will be the last meeting of the year. Usually December is such a busy month that no meetings are held.

The November 20 meeting will therefore be a special one. A speaker from out of town will be booked, probably Lee Bierce, secretary of the Grand Rapids chamber of commerce. There will be special music and refreshments will be served. A number of important matters will also come up for discussion.

MANY INSPECT MASONIC TEMPLE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

A large number of people saw the interior of the Masonic Temple for the first time Friday evening when they attended the reception given in honor of Mrs. G. E. Kollen. Austin Harrington, on behalf of the Masonic Temple association, announced that the building was open to inspection of all the people present at the reception. Members of the Masonic lodge were stationed on all the floors to direct the visitors and to act as guides. Mr. Harrington announced that the people had the freedom of the place and he assured them that the goat had been securely tied so that there need be no fear of that well known Masonic beast.

Many persons took advantage of the invitation to inspect the beautiful building. The Masonic Temple has already proved its worth as a community center, and sooner or later most of the people of Holland will gather in it from time to time to attend important community events. The public is gradually getting acquainted with the building's possibilities.

FORMER OTTAWA RESIDENT DIES IN GRAND RAPIDS

Albert Van Zyl, 43 years of age, a brother of Charles Van Zyl of this city, passed away Sunday at his home 965 Powers street, Grand Rapids. Mr. Van Zyl had been in ill health for some time and some days previous to his death his condition had been critical.

Mr. Van Zyl was born in Grand Haven 43 years ago, but for the last 22 years he has made his home in Grand Rapids. He is survived by his wife and son, Henry, aged 7 years. His mother, Mrs. A. J. Niemeyer of Grand Rapids, and two brothers, Peter of Grand Haven and Charles of Holland, also survive him.

HEALTH WORKERS SATISFIED WITH STATE PLANS

Nine members of the Civic Health committee of the Woman's Literary club went to Grand Haven to attend a luncheon at the Gildner hotel at which plans were discussed for the coming Christmas seal sale. The state tuberculosis association, with headquarters in Lansing, was represented at the meeting by Miss Wells and Mr. Brewster. Representatives were present from Holland; Grand Haven, Muskegon and Ionia. There were twenty-two seated at the table, including the state officers. Those who went from Holland were Mrs. George Albers, Mrs. Edw. Moore, Mrs. G. Bergen, Mrs. G. J. Van Duren, Mrs. H. Huizinga, Mrs. Jas. McLean, Mrs. J. J. Riemersma, Mrs. Frank Whelan, and Miss Alma Koertge.

The meeting was a very satisfactory one from every point of view. Miss Wells, speaking for the state association, pointed out that the Christmas seal sale has great educational value. She stated the purposes of the campaign and called attention to the best methods of going at the work. She declared that the first consideration in a seal sale is not the money that is to be raised by the little stickers but the educational value of the seals. Once a year these little emblems call the attention of thousands of people all over the state and nation to the fact that a great international fight is on against tuberculosis. The value of that fact cannot be overestimated according to Miss Wells and she urged all the workers to keep in mind that they are engaged in a great educational campaign and not merely in a campaign to raise funds.

Mr. Brewster gave a practical talk about the ways of bringing the campaign to the attention of the public.

The Holland members received complete satisfaction in regard to the returns that would be received locally from the sale of seals. They went to Grand Haven to raise the question of a rumored reduction in the percentage that would be retained for local work and they were ready to make a fight on this issue. But they were assured that the usual percentage would be given and so all went home well satisfied and ready to put on a vigorous campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fileman and family and Mr. John Falkman of Gibson have left for a hunting trip to Bitely, Michigan.

Mrs. Ray Monroe of Allegan, died from burns received three weeks ago when a match head flew off as she was lighting it and caught her clothes on fire.

YEAR AGO TUESDAY KAMFERBEEK WAS ELECTED SHERIFF

It was just a year ago Tuesday that Fred Kamferbeek was elected sheriff of Ottawa county, but although the choice of a majority of the qualified voters of the county, Mr. Kamferbeek is still attending to his job as a printer in the printing department of the DePree Co., and Delbert Fortney is still drawing down the pay envelope of the sheriff. Mr. Kamferbeek Tuesday passed out the cigars to his friends to celebrate the anniversary of his election. Although he was legally ruled out, his friends in Holland and throughout Ottawa county still regard him as the man who by all the moral rights in the case should have had been sheriff, and many of them congratulated him Tuesday as if he was actually holding the office.

A year ago Tuesday when the returns were coming in from all over Ottawa county, it became plain that Mr. Kamferbeek had received a majority of the votes. The next day this was made doubly sure when all the straggling returns from country districts made the tally complete. By Wednesday noon, a year ago, it was certain that Mr. Kamferbeek was the winner over his republican rival, and in that night's paper appeared a statement from Mr. Kamferbeek thanking the voters for their support.

Mr. Kamferbeek's picture appeared in many newspapers. The election was of more than ordinary interest because of the fact that it was the first time in half a century or more that a democrat had won the office in Ottawa county. For this reason the story of the election of Kamferbeek appeared in newspapers all over the state.

But in a day or two the issue of installing the ballots was raised by Mr. Fortney and the long-drawn-out legal battle that resulted from it is well known to all. It was finally carried to the state supreme court and the result was that Kamferbeek was ruled out on the technical issue. But many voters, even among those who supported the present sheriff, are as much convinced as ever that on all other counts but the technical one the Holland man has a right to the office.

NEVER RAINS BUT IT POURS, SAYS CHARLES WORSFOLD

Charles Worsfold of Grand Haven has the unique distinction of being drawn to serve on two juries and now he doesn't know what he is going to do about it. Some time ago Mr. Worsfold was summoned to serve on the circuit court jury which convenes a week from Monday. This week he was drawn as a juror at the term of United States court which convenes next Monday in Grand Rapids. It's a cinch that Charles will have to be excused from one or the other.

When a Cough is Stubborn It

Health Talk No. 40
By JOHN DE JONGE, D. C.

When a cough is stubborn it means that the time for experimenting with it is past. A cough with a raise of mucous from the lungs may be the forerunner of tuberculosis. It should be eliminated at once by removing the cause.

Weakness in the bronchial or lung region of the body is due to spinal bone displacement in the upper dorsal region of the spinal column. If a cough is stubborn, and cannot be thrown off as easily as you have thrown off other attacks, it is as good a danger signal as the on-coming of the white plague, tuberculosis, ever gives. The thing to do is to see a chiropractor at once, and start a course of spinal adjustments to remove the cause. The record of chiropractic in the influenza epidemic was many times better than that of any other healing method, and that record is equally good in other varieties of lung and bronchial troubles. There is no substitute for chiropractic. Neither medicine, diet, message, nor osteopathy moves spinal bones.

Bronchial Trouble Yields

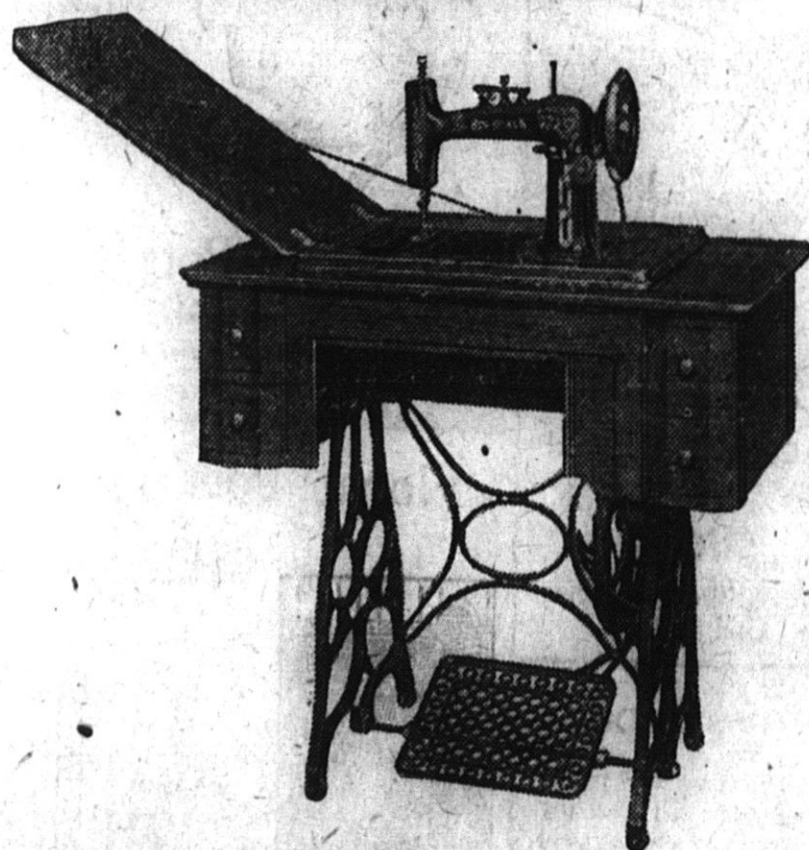

"After attempting for sometime to rid my self of a disagreeable bronchial cough which threatened to be the forerunner of worse trouble, I turned to chiropractic. In the course of one month of adjustments the ailment gradually disappeared, and now my affliction has completely left me."—A. A. Ladley, Chiropractic Research Bureau. Statement No-1376L.

The central west district of Christian Endeavor, comprising the societies of Kent, Ottawa and Allegan counties held their annual convention Saturday and Sunday at Grandville. Registration and assignment of delegates began at noon, and the afternoon was devoted to conferences conducted by local and state officers. This was followed by a business session, election of officers and an address by Don Finley, president of the Grand Rapids Christian Endeavor union.

A fellowship banquet was held Saturday night at 6 o'clock in the Congregational church at Grandville, at which George Schulling of Holland was toastmaster.

The district is composed of more than 60 societies with upwards of 4,000 members. Jay DeKoning of Holland is president and H. K. Burd of Grand Rapids is secretary-chairman. About 200 delegates are expected to register.

For the second time in Allegan circuit court a jury returned a verdict of no cause for action in the case of the Osego Paper Stock Co. against George R. Brown and several other Osego residents. A bird said by some to be a wild swan, but declared by others to be merely some strange specimen of wild goose, was exhibited on the Beldier-st. market in Muskegon by L. J. Gilbert of Twin Lake. The bird was shot at Blue Lake. It measured eighty inches from tip to tip. Gilbert, while hunting ducks with a party of Muskegon men, shot the bird.

Fourteen girl scouts of Troop 2, with their leaders, Miss Susanna Hamelink and Beatrice Osborne, took a breakfast hike Saturday morning to Oaklawn Park. They left at 6 o'clock, and by using their scout pace they not only arrived in good time but developed an appetite that made them do justice to a roast at the camp grounds. The girls enjoyed the hike decidedly and they plan to engage in many other outdoor activities.

Professor Jacob Vander Meulen entertained the students of Western Theological Seminary at his cottage near Castle Park Wednesday evening. The Seminoles, 30 strong, invaded Castle Park in machines provided for the occasion. The eats committee, and the program committee worked diligently but what does a group of red-blooded young men want with a program committee? Football with an old tin can was the order of the day and then after being left in the woods and made to find their way back to the cottage, thirty very huge appetites were all ready for the eats committee. The decorations and the "skins" were all done a la Halloween. A fitting expression of thanks was spoken to Dr. and Mrs. Vander Meulen.

Clarence Frost of Osego was awarded a judgment of $3000 by a jury in the Allegan circuit court Thursday afternoon against Edwin Hofacker of Osego for alienation of Frost's wife's affections. The case went to the jury shortly before noon and it was ready to report immediately after lunch.

Lansing, Nov. 2.—Henry Huck, 16, of West Branch can be placed on record as the first youth turned over to the police to keep him out of the industrial school for boys here.

It seems that Henry had a dandy hatred of his home town's schools, having heard about the industrial school from some of its graduates, he figured he wanted to matriculate there. Consequently he ran away and insisted strenuously on being registered at the industrial school. Police finally had to take charge of him and notify his parents of his whereabouts.

The Senior Girl Scouts successfully entertained the high school students Wednesday morning by presenting an interesting play entitled, "The Ghost of Carver's Farm."

Snooky Poppen, one of the most interesting characters of the play, took the part of a negro, and both her clogging and her fainting were accomplished very realistically. Florence Kloparsens, as a brother of one of the girls, hid in the well and "played ghost," much to the fright of the house party. Luckily, the hostess' aunt (Bessie Kraker) arrived in time to save the party from destruction. The play was both amusing and instructive, for many Girl Scout activities were talked of, and some of the Scout songs were sung. The play was directed by Miss Whelan.

According to some who claim to have seen the sight, another fiery cross was burned in the southern part of the city on Saturday night. The cross was fired at about 8 o'clock and was observed by a few people who looked at it as a curiosity. It did not arouse very much interest however, the burning of fiery crosses having become more or less a commonplace.

The people of Holland seem to have made up their minds that the childishness of burning fiery crosses is not worth bothering about and they refuse to get excited about it. So long as the Kluxers do not endanger property with their oil-soaked burning emblems the people will smile at their interesting juvenility and let it go at that.

Thirteen silver fox breeders with ranches in western Michigan will compete for prizes in the fourth annual silver fox show at Milwaukee starting Nov. 22, according to J. E. The apple crop is one of the largest in years. Fruit growers throughout the fruit belt are busy harvesting the crop, although handicapped by a shortage of men. The apples in most varieties are smaller and greener than in other years owing to the heavy foliage which retarded ripening of the fruit. Many fruit growers do not find time to grade the crop and as a result the markets are flooded with seconds, which net the growers correspondingly lower prices. Fairly good apples can be purchased at 50 cents a bushel and some varieties are being retailed at three bushels for $1.35. Apples of first grade bring the growers $1 to $1.25 a bushel.

James Hamilton of Detroit head of the Michigan Public School Defense league, made another unsuccessful attempt Wednesday to initiate a proposed anti-parochial school amendment to the state constitution. Hamilton indicated he will carry the attempt to the state supreme court.

There are at present fourteen homes in Holland quarantined because of communicable diseases. Of these 8 are for small pox, three for scarlet fever and three for diphtheria. That is approximately one home for a thousand population, and although it is more than any city likes to have, it is not considered alarming. The number of small pox cases is still too large but that disease is also gradually getting under control. One case of measles appeared, and it is expected that more cases will develop.

Wierd cries and walls, spitting cats, and jumping frogs created Halloween merry makers when they gathered in the Warm Friend Gymnasium last Tuesday evening. Gypsies, witches, goblins, ghosts, richmen, poormen, beggars and thieves held high carnival for a few hours in the big, black shadowy hall, which was lighted by only a few tapers. Halloween stunts were pulled off in a dizzy manner and both side shows and fortune tellers did a hair-raising business.

After the grand march and masks were removed the revelers were found to be young ladies employed in the offices of the Holland Furnace Co.

A dainty lunch was served at the close of the evening's fun, and the second annual Halloween party passed into history.

LEGION BANQUET TO BE HELD ON MONDAY NIGHT

Although the anniversary of Armistice Day falls on Sunday this year, the American Legion has decided not to let the day pass without an appropriate celebration. This is the first time since the war closed that the day has been on Sunday, and so for the first time the celebration has to be held on another date. It has been decided that the Monday after Armistice Day would be the most appropriate as well as the most convenient.

If the banquet were held on Saturday night before Armistice day it might interfere with the activities of many merchant members of the organization. But Monday is an open night for most of them and so that evening has been decided upon.

COMMERCE BODY AGAINST CHANGE IN PIKE ROUTE

Probably the most vital matter considered at this week's meeting of the Saugatuck Chamber of Commerce was the proposed change in routing of the West Michigan Pike M-11 thru the villages of Douglas and Saugatuck.

It is the settled policy of the state highway department, wherever feasible to straighten trunk lines and re-route them to avoid congested business streets in cities and villages, with the object of reducing driving hazards. While admitting the wisdom of this as a general policy, speakers urged a number of arguments to prove that in this particular case the slight benefits which might accrue from rerouting would be at an expense of the state and injury to the villages out of proportion to any gain to tourists. There are now sixteen curves and turns in the four or five miles from Murt's Corners in Douglas to the north township line, and but few of these could be eliminated without an entire change of route over this distance. This would present costly engineering and construction problems.

Mr. Irving will be working from the Main-St. Garage and Mr. John Lemmon, of that garage will handle the mechanical end of the business. Mr. Lemmon is an expert mechanic, having taken a special course with the Oakland people so that he understands that car from A to Z, and can give expert service at all times.

Mr. Irving has been connected with the Peoples State bank and the Holland City State bank since his return from France where he saw active service all through the war and where he was wounded. He has made a secure place for himself in the business life of Holland and he has won an unusually large number of friends throughout this part of the state. He will push the Oakland car with his usual vigor and hopes to make it one of the liveliest agencies in the city.

TWO HELD IN A KILLING CASE NEAR ALLEGAN

William Warner, 50, is in jail at Allegan charged with shooting and killing Clarence Spafford, 35. The shooting took place Tuesday night at about 10 o'clock at Todd peppermint farm, 16 miles north of Allegan. Spafford was shot through the chest and died within a few minutes.

According to Warner's version of the shooting he fired through a window of the house in which he and five other workers on the Todd farm live. Warner, said they had heard noises of prowlers about their house for some time. Tuesday night when he saw a man peering through the window at him he grabbed his shotgun and fired. Rushing out of the shack he and the other men found Spafford dead about 20 feet from the barrel on which he was standing when he peered through the window.

FIREMEN MAKE RUN TO BEACH IN TWENTY MINUTES

The Holland fire department made the run to the Ottawa Beach fire in twenty minutes Tuesday night. When the alarm was turned in and the call for help came from Ottawa Beach the big pumper was immediately manned and it was rushed to the scene of the blaze without the loss of a minute. Every ounce of determination of the firemen was put back of the job and the firemen fought from first to last with all the energy at their command.

The first difficulty encountered was to get the heavy pumper from the concrete road at Ottawa Beach to the water's edge so that the sucker could be put into the lake. A road of heavy planks had to be laid, and the firemen and a large number of volunteers took part in the work. It took but a short time when the work had once been begun.

The next difficulty was to get the suction hose laid so that it would not suck sand from the bottom of the lake and thus clog the pipe. Some of the firemen took off their shoes and stockings. Tied up their trousers went into the water to build a platform of boards on which to lay the hose.

Before very long big streams of water were playing on the Pantlind cottage, on the pavilion, on the docks and on the Murphy buildings. If the string of cottages had once caught fire they would have been lost. One good thing in the situation was that the new asphalt shingles had recently been laid on roof of the pavilion. The resort company had been planning to re-shingle the whole hotel next week with asphalt shingles to reduce the fire hazard and the insurance rates. Volunteer fire fighters helped to put out small blazes that started on the docks. All the furniture was taken by volunteers out of the Murphy cottage because it seemed at first that the place was doomed. But the application of plenty of water saved it.

All the gasoline supply tanks at Ottawa Beach were drained to supply the big pumper with enough fuel, and in addition to that a supply was sent from Macatawa Park. Owners of summer homes immediately back of the hotel, whose cottages were in serious danger for a long time, are: Fred Z. Pantlind, the J. Boyd Pantlind estate, Sam Braudy, Joseph Siegel, Mrs. Julius Gutman, Grant Sims, Mrs. Kittle Kalmbach, Huntley Russell and Mrs. Lucius Boltwood, Ray Mills, the Charles Judd estate, and J. Arthur Almsworth, all of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Stoy, Lafayette, Ind., and Charles Powers, formerly of Grand Rapids, but now in California.

That the city of Holland should pay as much attention to the shade trees in the yards of property owners as they do to the trees in the parks was the contention of a property owner who has many beautiful trees that he has been developing for 17 or 18 years but that are threatened by scale.

Joe Kardux, Lane Kardux, Paul Van Vulpem and Cecial White left early on Wednesday morning for Grand Marais, in the upper peninsula, to engage in a deer hunting expedition. They expect to be away about ten days.

HOLLAND MEN PUT OUT FIRE SOUTH OF THE BAY

It was due to the quick work of a group of Holland men on their way to the Ottawa Beach fire Tuesday night that the cottages on the south side of the bay at Virginia Park were saved from destruction. A blazing piece of material from the big fire had been blown across the water and had started a blaze in the boat house of Dan Steketee near Virginia Park. The Holland men, passing by on their way to Jensen Park, saw the blaze and stopped to put it out.

The fire had obtained a difficult hold at the base of the boat house and for a time it looked as if it would be impossible to get at it. Moreover the Holland men had no pails or axes or other implements with which to fight the blaze. They borrowed some things and broke into other empty cottages to get the necessary equipment for dipping up water. With the aid of axes they broke into the boat house and were finally able to get the fire under control.

It took more than an hour before it was certain that the boat house would not be destroyed. If it had started in good earnest there is little doubt but that many cottages on the south side of the bay would have been destroyed.

THOUSANDS WATCH FIRE FROM BOTH SIDES OF THE LAKE

To those who went to Ottawa Beach Macatawa Park and Jensen Park on Tuesday night to watch the big fire it appeared as if every person in Holland who has a car was there. There are no statistics or even estimates as to how many cars went to the scene of the fire, but there has seldom been a Fourth of July or Venetian Night celebration when more automobiles were parked at the various resorts. During some parts of the evening when large numbers were going home the string of cars in one solid procession on the cement road was about a mile long.

The scene was the same on both sides of the lake. Every available inch of space was taken by a car and the traffic jams were at times serious. Some people were compelled to walk a long distance being unable to get near to the usual parking space and being compelled to leave their cars along the roadside.

Although the congestion was great no serious accidents occurred. At some of the worst spots volunteer traffic cops helped to regulate the procession of coming and going cars.

LAKEWOOD FARM MAN DOES GOOD WORK IN FIRE FIGHTING

Charles Jackson of Lakewood Farm deserves a great deal of credit in helping to prevent confusion among those who offered their services to fight the fire at Ottawa Beach Tuesday night. Mr. Jackson took it upon himself to direct the work and his expert knowledge of the place and its equipment stood the fire fighters in good stead. He superintended the laying of the plank road to the water's edge on which the pumper could run and he directed the men who formed the bucket brigade to put out the miniature fires on the docks. He brought a truckload of men from Lakewood Farm to help in the work.

Fourteen hundred feet of hose of the Holland fire department was used, as well as a considerable length of hose belonging to the Ottawa Beach association, which was coupled on to the Holland hose.

Miss Katherine De Weerd spent the week-end at the home of her cousin, Miss Hazel Witteveen of Waukasoo.

OTTAWA BEACH HOTEL HAS HAD LONG HISTORY

The original Ottawa Beach hotel, which was destroyed by fire Tuesday night was built in 1887 on the hill behind the present location where the Pantlind cottage now stands, by the West Michigan Park association, organized by William A. Gavett, then general passenger agent of the Chicago and West Michigan railway.

In 1890 Mr. Gavett was succeeded by Charles M. Heald, who moved the hotel to its present location on the shore of Black Lake. Although the old building was considerably enlarged during the following years, the original structure was, until the fire, used as the office and lobby.

The hotel was under the management of the Chicago and West Michigan railway until 1900, when the Pere Marquette R'y acquired all the property of the former road, including this building. Mr. Heald retained his position as managing director of the hotel and trained the late J. Boyd Pantlind to run the hostelry.

In 1912 the Graham & Morton Co. and the Michigan R'y Co. purchased the Pere Marquette's interests and operated the hostelry until the spring of this year.

Last May, a company was formed, consisting of Fred Z. Pantlind and Albert Stiekney of Grand Rapids, Geo. Getz of Chicago, C. S. Richardson of the Kern's Hotel, Lansing, and L. J. Montgomery of the Post Tavern, Battle Creek. This company purchased the entire capital stock and increased it to $500,000.00.

The new owners last year spent $100,000.00 to improve the building. New furnishings throughout and a 5-story dance pavilion was built.

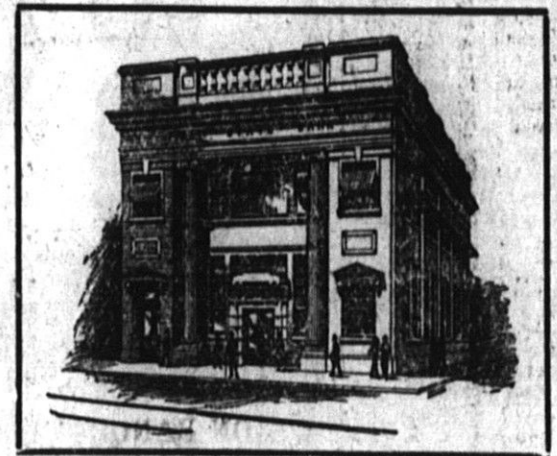

The hotel, during the last season was managed by Edward Rainey, formerly of the Cadillac hotel, Detroit, who succeeded Charles Seelbach.

Mr. Heald, vice-president of the Grand Rapids Savings bank was the man who exploited the hotel business at Ottawa Beach and made possible the erection of the hotel which was burned Tuesday.

It was in 1890 when, as president of the Chicago & West Michigan railroad, Mr. Heald found a 20-room hotel on the hill above where the ruins now rest.

Realizing that the level plain below was an ideal place for a summer hotel he interested the railroad company and the 20-room house was moved down onto the plain and a 20-room addition built. At about this time a spur was constructed from the main line of the railroad at Holland leading to Ottawa Beach.

This was the nucleus around which the burned hotel was constructed. Although it has been years since Mr. Heald was actively interested in the hotel, he is now a member of the board of directors of the Ottawa Beach Hotel company.

Lakeside View of Ottawa Beach Hotel Destroyed by Fire

A half million dollar fire and the loss of one of the finest resort hotels in Western Michigan--that is the loss that Holland and the resort region sustained late Tuesday afternoon when fire wiped out the big Ottawa Beach hotel. For it is a loss to Holland as well as to the resort. Ottawa Beach Hotel was a great asset to this city and during the past summer it had taken on new life.

Holland's fire department did valiant work in saving the other buildings at Ottawa Beach, and hundreds of automobiles went to the scene of the fire on both sides of the bay. Volunteers from Holland helped the firemen, and it was due to these factors that the fire was confined to the hotel, the hotel annex, the hotel laundry and other buildings immediately connected with the hotel. So effective was the work of the fire fighters that even the pavilion, only a few paces away from the new addition was saved, as was the dock building and the Murphy residence.

The fire started about 5.15 o'clock, a short time after the last workman engaged in putting on the finishing touches to a magnificent $15,000.00 dance hall addition, had left the hotel--placed in order only a few days ago for the opening of the next season.

The first sign of fire, a blaze so small that spectators believed it might have been quenched with only a bucket of water--was discovered by Edwin Antisdal, clerk at the hotel for the past few summers, at present re-bay. He said he was passing the main building, when he saw a burst of flames inside. Even before he was able to call for aid and dash toward the building, the fire had started its work of destruction and within ten minutes the building was doomed.

Despite valiant cohorts of a hundred volunteers aided by a crew of Holland firemen and members of the coast guard crew in the harbor, the fire quickly passed along a hall extending to the hotel annex, and attacked the laundry, a two-story building equipped with rooms for girl employees; the cooks' quarters which contained 22 rooms, the kitchens, two storage buildings, and a small garage.

The fire originated either in the hotel barber shop or manicuring parlor near the center of the main building. The cause may never be determined. The only theory advanced by Fred Z. Pantlind, president of the Ottawa Beach Hotel company, who was the first officer of the company on the ground, was that defective wiring had caused the blaze.

Antisdal upon seeing the flames, called Mrs. William Murphy, wife of the custodian, who lives in a cottage nearby, and she immediately called to Holland for aid. A hurriedly organized crew of volunteers began fire-fighting operations against hopeless odds, despite the hotel's elaborate fire equipment, including 1,600 feet of hose and tank constructed to provide sufficient pressure to send water to every part of the hotel grounds.

The water tank was drained a few days ago, when the custodian left on a deer hunting trip in northern Michigan, and in consequence, water which might have saved the annex and some of the smaller buildings from destruction was lacking. Usually, the tank was not drained until freezing weather set in.

A brisk wind was sweeping down the lake shore from the northwest, fanned the flames, and with the hotel and its contents doomed, the fire-fighters concentrated their efforts to save the Murphy cottage, the cottage of Mrs. Boyd Pantlind nearby, the store and postoffice, the boat houses, the resort garage and the docks.

The Pantlind and Murphy cottage and about 75 others on the slope above the hotel would have been doomed, but for the direction of the wind and the heroic efforts of the volunteers. Recent reshingling of the dock buildings and the store in the path of the flames, probably averted their destruction, new roofing forming a protection against the falling embers.

Plans for rebuilding the hotel will be discussed Thursday at a meeting of the officers of the company in Hotel Pantlind, Grand Rapids, according to Fred Z. Pantlind, president of the company. Besides the officers of the company nearly forty others, mostly Grand Rapids residents hold stock, and definite action will not be taken until a "stockholders' meeting can be arranged. Mr. Pantlind said. He estimated the hotel could not be replaced under present building conditions for less than $750,000. Insurance approximating $300,000 was carried on the hotel property, but this included docks and boathouses that were not damaged.

KLAASEN PRINTING
CO. SOLD TO STEKETEE-
VAN HUIS COMPANY

DEAL CLOSED WEDNESDAY, OCT.
31; NEW OWNERS TAKE POS-SESSION IMMEDIATELY

A deal was closed Wednesday, October 31st, whereby the proprietors of the Steketee-Van Huis Printing House became the proprietors of the plant, equipment and good will of the Klaasen Printing Co. on E. 10th street. Gerrit Klaasen, who founded the Klaasen Printing company, accepted a position a short time ago as head of the printing department that the Holland Furnace Co. will install in the near future, and he effected the plant for sale, resulting in the sale closed on Wednesday. Mr. Klaasens partner Cornelius Klaasen will take a vacation and probably enter some other line of business later.

The Klaasen Printing company has been a successful establishment and was organized about 20 years ago. The firm was located for many years on W.
Eligth street. About seven or eight years ago the new building was erected on E. Tenth street and developed into a high class printing establishment. Mr. Cornelius Klaasen entered into partnership with his brother about seven years ago.

Steketee Bros. & Van Huis wen into the printing business about four years ago and they have been v-successful. Three years ago they bought out the Brinks Bros. Printing Co. They had reached their highest possible development in their present quarters on North River avenue and needed room for expansion. They will move their entire equipment to the Klaasen Printing Plant. This will be begun immediately and the new firm is now established and ready for business in the new plant. The combining of the equipment of the two firms will make the new plant one of the best equipped printing establishments in the city.

TAKEN ON CHARGE
OF PASSING
BOGUS CHECKS

Marcell Hayes, alias Bert Thompson, 17 years old, of Lee, Allegan county, was arrested at his home on Monday afternoon on a charge of forgery, by Deputy Sheriff Rosema and Officer C. Steketee of the Holland police force.

The lad is charged with coming to Holland and purchasing two guns at Ollie's sport shop in return for which he handed over a worthless check for $50 on a South Haven bank. The police say he passed a worthless check for $10 at Van Tongeren's shop in Holland and one for $60 in a clothing store at Bangor.

After getting rid of the checks, the lad slipped out of the city according to the police and soon after the incident was reported to the police. Acting on a tip received at headquarters Monday morning, the two officers went to Lee and made the arrest. The boy broke down; it is alleged, and confessed his guilt.

Hayes was bound over to circuit court, bail being placed at $500.
A newspaper story of the affair was read by the ticket agent at East Saugatuck and furnished the first clew which led to Hayes' arrest. Hayes, it is said, walked to East Saugatuck carrying the guns under his arm, and the agent reported the incident to Ollie Harris, manager of the store.

Harris notified the police department and Officer Steketee was detalled on the case. Steketee, Harris and two deputy sheriffs drove to Pullman Monday and when they reached the Hayes home Harris spotted his man in the yard and Steketee jumped out of the machine. Steketee approached Hayes grabbed his hand and remarked: "I saw you in Holland last week. Where are those guns?" Hayes it is alleged, protested his innocence, but when Steketee ordered him to produce the guns, Hayes, it is claimed, trotted into the house and returned with the loot.

CLASS CALLS FIRE DEPARTMENT TO TAKE DOWN RIVAL FLAG

The Sophomore class of Hope College engaged the city fire department Tuesday noon to take down the Freshman banner that the first-year men had put half way up the college flag staff. The Freshmen had been so clever as to grease the flagpole so that the Sophomores were unable to climb up to the flag but slid down whenever they tried it. The Sophomores therefore hired the firemen, paying them $10. An alarm was turned in and the fire truck went to the scene of hostilities.

In order that the firemen might put their ladders against the pole without being molested by the Freshmen, the water was turned on and the firefighters were ready at any moment to turn the stream on any group that might get excited. The banner was taken down by the firemen and turned over to their employers, the Sophomores.

The Freshmen are twitting the second year men however with the fact that the flag was not the real Freshman banner but an imitation by which the Sophomores were duped. The Sophomores reply that the Freshmen put their flag only half way up the pole, hanging it at half mast, which signifies, according to the Sophomores, that the Freshmen are dead.

"THE CLIMAX"
TO BE GIVEN HERE
NOVEMBER 13

The next attraction on the local Lyceum course will be a presentation of the "Climax," Edward Locke's remarkable comedy-drama, one of the outstanding successes of the American stage. The play will be presented on Tuesday evening, Nov. 13, by a cast of New York players, at Carnegie hall.

"The Climax"—musical, dramatic, humorous—deals with the absorbing theme of love versus ambition. The story, laid on the old East Side of New York City, is rich in color. The struggle in the heart of Adeline between the call of love and the call of ambition; the contrast between the two men who care for her—Pietro, whose love is expressed in his beautiful "Song of the Soul," and the young doctor whose love, twisted by jealousy, furnishes the action of the play—these conflicting emotions are woven into a dramatic masterpiece.

The characters are human, impulsive real and draw the instant sympathy of the audience, while interest in the plot is keenly sustained.
The uncertain ending of the play is one of its many charms.

HALF HOLIDAYS FOR CARRIERS AT AN END

Postmaster Wm. O. Van Eyck has made the following announcement:
"Beginning Saturday, Nov. 3, 1923, the delivery of mail Saturday afternoons, by City Carriers, will be resumed and continued until further notice.
Saturday afternoon, Nov. 10, 1923, Football day, such afternoon service will be suspended for the afternoon, as the one exception to this order."

This announcement brings to a close the first lap of what is considered a successful experiment. In his announcement Mr. Van Eyck says that the delivery of mail on Saturday afternoon will be "until further notice." That does not mean that there is much doubt about the resumption of the Saturday afternoon holidays for carriers. It is very likely that next spring the carriers will again have their half holidays on Saturdays, at least if the sentiment of the public has any effect. The system has met the approval of nearly all people and there have been no serious protests against it.

Since Holland adopted the system carriers in a number of other cities have petitioned for the same thing, using the same method employed in Holland, namely a referendum.

M11 WIDENING COMPLETED BY THE CONTRACTOR

George Borek, highway contractor & Builder, has completed the contract of widening M-11 on Beach Tree road just south of the Grand Haven limits. Mr. Borek has had a gang of men engaged in this work for a number of weeks and has completed a fine job of concrete work. A mile and an eighth of highway was embraced in the work which called for an additional five feet of width.

One side of the widening process is now used on the highway and the other side will be opened in a week or two. The work was completed by Mr. Borek's crew without accident despite the heavy travel of the road.
Mr. Borek showed his enterprise by red lighting the improved highway during the working season at night by electric lights. Very few contractors in the county use this form of danger signalling. The juice was there however from the city plant and Mr.
Borek made a deal whereby he ran it along his line of work.

The bridge on the highway near
Mr. Borek's home, which is now 16 feet in width is to be widened to a breadth of 28 feet and Mr. Borek will superintend this work. He has other contracts, but the season is so late that most of the other work will be postponed until the spring of 1924.

HUNDRED PER CENT
CERTIFICATES WILL BE ISSUED HERE

A neat certificate of membership will be issued this year by the American Red Cross to colleges, firms, factories, corporations, and other institutions that shall have a one hundred per cent membership in the red cross roll call. The certificate is suitable for framing and makes a very neat appearance. It stands for the fact that the concern whose name is on the face of it has a perfect percentage in the roll call and it is signed by President Calvin Coolidge, Mabel T.
Boardman, secretary of the national organization, J. P. Payne, chairman of the Central Division, Walter Davidson, manager of the Central Division, and G. J. Diekema, president of the Ottawa county Red Cross.

The number of certificates that can be obtained in any single county is limited. Mrs. G. J. Van Duren has put in an order for fifty for the Ottawa county and she hopes to get that number.

Allagan high school is about to buy a motion picture machine. A demonstration of the machine will be given Nov. 16. The 1923 class left a fund of $191 for this purpose and it is now hoped to clear the balance of the purchasing price of the machine at the first entertainment.

CANNOT USE

BASEMENT AS A BED ROOM

At a meeting of the board of health held Tuesday forenoon the health officer reported fourteen cases of small pox in Holland, four cases of scarlet fever, four cases of diphtheria and one case of measles. This is four cases of small pox more than were reported at the last meeting of the board before this and shows that the epidemic is not yet over. The prediction of the health officers that there would be additional cases from time to time is proving true. He also declared some time ago that he believed the cases from now on would be largely among adults because of the fact that many adults have not taken the precaution to be vaccinated. This prediction is also proving true. Very few children are catching the disease because nearly all the children in the city have been vaccinated. They were forced to be because they could not attend school without it.

The board of health Tuesday morning made an ironclad rule that the husbands in families quarantined for any contagious disease would not be allowed to sleep in the basements of their homes. When a man is staying outside his home while it is quarantined he will have to stay outside. There are cases where it is absolutely necessary that he shall go into the basement by the basement door once a day to attend furnaces. Even this is discouraged but in a few cases it is a choice between letting the sick members of the family suffer and allowing the practice. In such cases absolute necessity governs.

But in other cases the husband has been in the habit of using the basement as a bed room, and this the health board put a ban on at the meeting Tuesday morning. It was freely admitted that the ironclad ban appears cruel but it was found absolutely necessary for the protection of the public.

TO HAVE BIRDS IN 1924 EGG LAYING CONTEST AT M. A. C.

Twenty pens of birds from Ottawa county have been entered in the egg laying contest at M. A. C. for the premier honors in Michigan poultrydom. The Ottawa birds entered this year have made very good records considering the fact that most of the pens were selected by the breeders for the first time and have had to compete against pens selected by professional poultrymen. The egg laying contests are creating a great interest in the utility poultry and the economical production of eggs.

Following are the Ottawa County entries:

White Leghorns
George Gomers, Zeeland; Forest Grove Hatchery, Hudsonville; Wolven Hatchery, Zeeland (two pens); F. E. Brummer, Holland; Silver Ward Hatchery, Zeeland; J. J. Pater, Zeeland; Paul DeGroot, Zeeland; J. J. Nyenhuis, Hudsonville; Simon Harkema, Holland; Royal Hatchery, Zeeland; J. H. Geerlings, Zeeland; Karstens Farm, Zeeland; M. J. Kole, Holland; and Alex Klooster, Byron Center.

Barred Rocks

A mayor gets all sorts of appeals from all sorts of people but Mayor Stephan received something new. It came on a letterhead of the "Fraternal Order of Cow Punchers" and on the sheet was a list of imposing titles of officers of the lodge, with the usual "Most Supreme," and "The Most High and Mighty" and "Most Worshipful." There were "Most Worshipful Cow-punchers" and "Supreme Mountain State Drivers" and "Supreme Intrepid Pioneers."

And what these "worshipful" ones want Mayor Stephan to do is to get them in touch with some girls in Holland (men and boys are also mentioned as an afterthought), whom they can correspond with. Here is the letter:

Little cottage where her uncle lived. He had waited until the old man had come downstairs, and had then rejoined his party. Ruth's story had been true, and I saw how very foolish my suggestion to Bartley had been that she might have committed the murder.

When I returned to the jail, about an hour later, I found that Bartley had gone to Doctor King's office, and I followed him there at once. It was the usual physician's office, with cases of instruments along the walls and a flat-top desk in the center of the room. Bartley and the doctor were bending over a small pad when I entered, and Bartley told me that the doctor had been drawing for him a little map of the roads around the Slyke estate. The doctor looked older than when I had seen him first, far more tired and nervous. It took several years to get over shell shock, from which he suffered, he told us, and he had been very foolish to start to practice again so soon after his return from the front. He recounted a few of his war experiences, and they were enough to have broken any man. He said that, as soon as his duties in regard to the Slyke case were over, he was going to take a rest. All the time he talked to us he played with a pencil or tapped the desk in front of him.

We spoke of the inquest, and he told us that he did not need to call a coroner's jury unless he wished. The facts were so complex or so simple—

He suggested that, if it were murder, someone from Saratoga might have committed the crime.

It was hard to say which—that a jury would be confused by them. He admitted that there was no doubt that Slyke had been murdered, but doubted if any jury would bring in a verdict of murder on such slight evidence as we had. He suggested that, if it were murder, some one from Saratoga might have committed the crime. It was not a bad suggestion, and to my surprise Bartley seemed to regard it favorably. The doctor mentioned the chauffeur's arrest, and said that he had only known the man by sight. We talked for an hour or more, then returned home.

Bartley was in his room changing his suit for luncheon, when a telephone call came for him. When he returned he told me that the call had been from Mr. Slyke's lawyer. He had phoned him, Bartley said, that among the papers in the safe was an envelope with ten thousand dollars in bills in it, and that the bank had informed him that, on the day of our arrival Slyke had deposited thirteen thousand dollars with them.

While this was interesting news, I could not see that it was of any importance to us, and said as much to Bartley. He half smiled as he reminded me that ten thousand dollars was a lot of money to keep in the house, and added that it was strange that Slyke should deposit thirteen and retain another ten in his house. He wondered if his keeping the money had any relation to the visitor that he was expecting. At any rate, the man had not gotten the money, if that had been what he was after.

Luncheon over, Currie, Bartley and I started for the inquest. The newspapers had evidently received a tip that there was more in Slyke's death than had appeared, for when we arrived we were forced to run a gauntlet of reporters, who recognized Bartley at once and crowded around him. They realized that, if he were interested in the case, it was of more importance than they had suspected, and wanted to know if he did not have some information to give them.

With a laugh at their insistence, he replied that he did not; but, when he had, he would see that they were the ones to get it.

There were a number of cars in front of the house and a small crowd of men standing about in twos and threes. Just as we turned to mount the steps, Lawrence drove up and greeted us with a rather forced smile. The inquest was to be held in the large living room in which the burglars had been found. Though it was not a public hearing open to every one, there were a goodly number of people present.

Doctor King and the other officials had not yet arrived; and Black, who was talking to a group of men, left them and came to greet us. He told us that the chauffeur, Briffeur, was to be brought from the jail by Roche, and that he thought his testimony would make a sensation. Bartley seemed to understand what he meant, though I did not. The chauffeur had refused to talk and had answered all questions by saying that he would tell what he knew at the inquest. All attempts to find out what that might be had failed.

Bartley asked Black if he still thought that the chauffeur was guilty of the murder. Black countered by stating that he did not believe that anyone else knew as much about the affair as he did. It was his opinion that, if the chauffeur had not killed him, he at least knew something about the crime. One thing the man had admitted when questioned, and that was that, when he testified, he would ruin several reputations; Bartley was much interested, and told Black that he wished he would ask Roche not to bring Briffeur into the courtroom until it was time for him to give his testimony.

"Want to spring him?" asked the detective with a grin.

Bartley nodded, and Black went away to arrange the matter. I could see what Bartley was after. Only the police and ourselves knew that the man was to be placed on the stand, and Bartley wanted to see what effect his sudden introduction might have on those present. There might be someone so surprised by it that he would give himself away.

In a row of chairs, directly in front of the coroner's desk and about six feet away, were seated the members of Slyke's household. Slyke's stepdaughter Ruth, dressed in dark blue, was between Miss Potter and an old man, who, I decided, was the minister uncle who had brought her home the night of the murder. I could not see Miss Potter's face, but her hands showed a great nervous strain; they were never still, picking incessantly at the folds of her dress. On her right were two empty chairs for the chauffeur and Roche, and beyond them the butler and the other servants.

In the bird house up at the north end of the Zoological park in New York is a cage of touraques, an African bird of brilliantly colored plumage. In the wings is a dash of red, and we are told by the placard that the peculiar thing about the color is that it is caused by the presence of 7 per cent of copper.—Engineering and Mining Journal-Press.

GRAND HAVEN IS LOOKING FORWARD TO HOLLAND GAME

COUNTY SEAT PAPER DECLARES HOLLAND IS A WORTHY FOE

Warns Cohrsmen Not to Be Too Confident But That Fighting Spirit Is Needed

Grand Haven is looking forward to Saturday's tilt with Holland with great anticipation as is shown by the following from the Grand Haven Tribune:

The eyes of Grand Haven are directed upon the local high school football eleven which will do battle with Holland high at Fourth Ward field Saturday in the annual Ottawa county grid classic. A number of fans congregated on the field yesterday afternoon to watch the Cohrsmen go through their paces.

The Reserves made a good showing against the first string men especially when Capt. Kamhout was out of the game, so that stock in the local institution took a slight tumble.

Holland is coming here imbued with real fighting spirit and determined to wipe out defeats of the two previous years. The Woodenshoes have always had a team that never gives up and one that manages to give Grand Haven a scare no matter how good the Havenites are. Two years ago when Grand Haven boasted an exceptionally strong team Holland led at half time, 7 to 0 by taking advantage of a break and a Grand Haven mistake.

Smith and Kleis will be back at the halves. Kleis is not expected to have any difficulty in circling the Grand Haven ends according to the advance dope. This man is fast, shifty and is a real backfielder. Netting is another back who has shown flashes of form. Holland banks on Cook, a husky tackle, to keep Captain Kamhout in check. The personal battle between these two men should prove interesting.

The glaring need of the local team is some ends who can take care of a powerful end run attack. Sluka, a stocky reserve halfback, circled right end for two 20 yard gains in practice last evening. Grand Haven's present ends can play good ball on both defense and offense but have got to show up better against Holland than they have in previous games.

The local secondary defense against forward passes was so negligible against Catholic Central last Saturday that it might just as well "have not been there." In fact as a rule the defensive man was not there, or if he was, he lacked the gumption to intercept or knock down the heavy. Holland is good at this game and Grand Haven will have to watch out.

Fifty Years Ago To Date

FIFTY YEARS AGO
Saloon licenses in Holland were reduced from $75 to $50 a year, payment to be made one-half down and the other half three months from the first of July, 1913. Note—Just before saloons were closed some six years ago the license fee was $500 annually.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Peter Boot, who has been a clerk in Dan Bertsch's dry goods store for nine years, has bought the grocery store of A. Fiestra and will start in the grocery business for himself. He will start in the store under De Grondwet office. Note—De Grondwet was then located over what is now the Phernibuec meat market on River Ave. Later the firm became Boot & Kraam and located in the Boot & Kramer building, now the Boston Restaurant. Mr. Boot retired from the grocery business some four years ago.

John Root received the contract from the city to furnish clear lumber during the year. His bid was $3 a thousand for pine and $6 a thousand for hemlock.

FORTY YEARS AGO
It was reported the fore part of the week that Dr. Peter Van Lier had died very suddenly on Sunday morning. On last Wednesday he was found busily mowing hay, and was undoubtedly the liveliest corpse to be found. When Peter heard of his demise he used his old familiar Dutch expression, "Tu oen kot," and downed several fingers of fire water. Note—The old horse doctor who with his old nag was a very familiar figure on the main street, lived to be more than a hundred years and died some twelve years ago.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
A large number from Holland took the early morning C. & W. M. train to Grand Rapids to see Dr. Bill Van Putten's horse Turk win in the 2-23 trot. Note—Dr. Van Putten was a lover of race horses and had his large stables where the West Michigan Laundry now stands. The doctor conducted a drug store in the Geerds electric shop for upwards of thirty years.

John Bosman, who has been the cutter in his father's tailoring shop, started on Thursday for Rochester, N. Y., where he will be engaged for two months as cutter for a large wholesale firm. Johnny is just fitted for the position. Note—Johnny is still cutting clothing and occasionally some coupons.

The inhabitants of New Groningen, a village a few miles east of here, celebrated the Fourth. An old cannon was loaded with a generous supply of powder and wadding. The report when the thing was touched off was all that could be desired, but when the smoke cleared away an excited individual yelled out, "Goah durnit, boys, what's the cannon?" The old gun had burst and hardly a trace of it was found. Luckily none of the villagers were hurt, but feel rather timid when it comes to cannons.

Will Rodgers, for many years the publisher of the Holland City News, has sold the paper to L. Mulder of De Grondwet.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

The court house committee have arranged for the laying of the cornerstone of the new Ottawa county building at Grand Haven, Monday, August 21. A. J. Ward, the contractor, received his first $3,200 on the work done.

August 21 was Netherlands day at the World's Fair at Chicago. The steamer City of Holland carried at least 600 Holland passengers together with the large Holland Marital Band.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

One of the very prettiest weddings of the summer was that of Miss Carlotta Bell and Rev. A. J. Van Zanle. The wedding is described at some length in the News as being unusually elaborate. Rev. J. T. Berzen performed the ceremonies while Miss Anna Yates played the wedding march. Miss Evelyn Van-poll and Miss Gertrude Kappel, two little flower girls, went before the bride throwing sweet peas in her path. Master John O. Post acted as ring bearer and carried the ring and lilacs in his chubby little fingers.

Rev. Harry P. Boot will leave shortly for China, where he will enter the mission field. Note—After twenty years of labor in China, Mr. Boot is now in Holland on a furlough.

Double Wedding—A pretty double wedding took place Wednesday evening when Miss Cornelia Reidsma was married to Joseph Shonker and her sister, Miss Josephine Reidsma, was wed to Benjamin Hamm, Rev. G. H. Dubbink performing the ceremony. Mrs. Shonker wore white mousseline de sole with lace, while Mrs. Hamm was gowned in grey poplin with lace applique.

She was blown into the ocean by a sudden wind blast. For bravery Taylor received a check from the grateful father for $1,000. So the story in the News goes fifteen years ago. Note—Mr. Taylor is still instructor in swimming at Jensen Park.

TEN YEARS AGO

Rev. J. W. Eweld, the new pastor of the M. E. church, preached his first Sunday. The News at that time printed the divine's picture and gave considerable space to his coming. Note—A few weeks ago Rev. Eweld, who had left the denomination, was ostracized by conference at Grand Rapids, charging him with misappropriation of funds while in charge of affairs at the Lansing church.

Churches are a little like political parties. Reformed movements rise up in protest against the old guard; these reforms were great and powerful and with greatness comes responsibility, and old guardish conservatism. In a few years these new old guards lose votes to a still newer reform party, and so on.

So Methodism, a reform movement within "the established church," has itself, become pretty well established. And it has taken on some of the forms of conservatism; as for the substance of conservatism, one J. Barley, corn would wall bitterly that it hasn't ceased to be an aggressive reform church. But it is within the bounds of discretion to say that rather shaking "Glory Hallelujah's" sometimes seem more in consonance with notes from a chapel reed organ than with pipe-organ tones.

So it has come about that the Methodist church like many others, has begat sons and daughters. And as these sons and daughters reach the dignity of conservatism, grandchildren are added to the family circle. But the big old Methodist church in the spirit, if not in the words of Dr. Day one-time pastor in Michigan Methodist's college city, is a strong believer in the cradle roll and welcomes each and every one of its offspring with a hearty old-fashioned Methodist "God bless you!"

Mrs. De Weerd was born in Muskegon and was for five years a school teacher in this state. The death of her husband left her with seven children, and her time has been divided between this immediate family and the world-wide family of souls which he entrusted to her ministry. Paul, the oldest, 16 years old, is already studying for Christian service. Lella, three and a one-half years old, died Sept. 8 in Butterworth hospital, Grand Rapids.

Still another death has tried the fortitude of Mrs. De Weerd during recent months. In a recent letter to friends in her work she says:

"On August 28 I was at the death-bed of my aged father, who had been struck by an auto.

"At this time I was in Michigan with all my children, having been one of the workers in the Hopkins camp. Having finished my ministry there, I went to Belknap, Aug. 27, rather than return to Fairmount, in order to be at Father's side.

"Tuesday, Aug. 28, Father closed his eyes to the scenes of this world, and on the following Saturday was buried at mother's side in the city of Holland, mother having devoted this life during our ministry in Africa. Again one who had loved and sympathized had left me here."

Rev. I. E. Miller is pastor of the church of the Nazarene at Burton Heights, in which church Mrs. De Weerd began her evangelistic series of meetings.
