MONTH MARKED BY PERMITS FOR ELEVEN HOUSES

Increases Year's Total to Fifty-Six New Homes in Holland

October Construction Set at Fifty-Two Thousand Dollars

Aided by 11 applications for construction of new homes and three applications for commercial and industrial buildings, value of building permits for October received a considerable boost over the value of the previous month, unofficial figures compiled at City Clerk Oscar Peterson's office reveal.

Total value of the permits amounted to $52,675, an increase of $42,315 over September's value of $10,360.

In comparison with the value of the permits for October, 1938, the past month was in excess of $20,681 of the same month last year which totaled $31,994. As for October, 1937, the past month shows a gain of $31,195 as the permits for that month two years ago totaled $21,480.

The 10-month total of the current year places this year's building operation estimates at $282,818 which is still below the figure of the past two years. The decrease under 1938 is $57,967. The value for the permits for the first 10 months of 1938 was $340,785. In 1937, the 10-month value was $317,628 which makes a difference of $23,157 with this year's figure.

The applications for the 11 new homes set a monthly record for the current year. Estimated value of the 11 new homes was given at $32,250. Thirteen hundred dollars can be added to this figure as seven of the applications also called for new garages.

New home construction in Holland now totals 56 new homes since Jan. 1, 45 previous applications having been made. There were no applications for new homes in September.

Monthly applications for new homes follow: January, five; February, five; March, 10; April, four; May, five; June, seven; July, four; August, five; September, none; October, 11.

Two October applications called for construction of commercial buildings at a total cost of $13,000. One of these applications amounted to $12,000 which is the estimate of cost on a new building to be constructed by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., at Ninth St. and River Ave.

The Holland Hite Co. plans a $2,000 addition to its present plant at 153 West 10th St. in another application.

Four of the applications called for construction of new garages at a total cost of $785. Two applications provide for enlarging of homes into two-family homes at a cost of $1,200.

There were 10 applications for exterior repairs to homes at a cost of $2,085. Two called for re-roofing of homes at $175.

Repairs to garages were included in two applications at a cost of $80 and two applications called for remodeling of buildings at a cost of $1,100.

Thirty-six applications for building permits were filed with the city clerk during October. For the same month last year, 34 applications were filed.

Rare Opposum Killed in Grand Haven Limits

Grand Haven, Nov. 9.—An opossum, considered rare in this locality for the past 10 years until recently, was killed in the central residential district Sunday night by J. A. Susterich and his collie-shepherd dog, Fudge. The dog cornered the animal half way up a sand hill, and Mr. Susterich killed it with a stick. A local hunter reported catching two opossums alive in wooded areas near the city limits in the past two years.

But Hillsdale Proved to Be a Tank Trap

The Emersonian fraternity, float prize winners in 1937 and 1938, took second prize with the float pictured above, in the contest sponsored as a part of Hope college's annual homecoming celebration. The float represents a tank, the lettering on the side reading, "We'll crash over Hillsdale's defenses." Sorosis society took first place in the float parade with a white wooden shoe. (Hope's defeat by Hillsdale in the homecoming football game failed to carry out the Emersonian prediction)

LOCAL SCHOOL IN CIVIC STUDY

National Commission Unit Will Visit Classes on Friday

Holland high school will be included in a unique study of civic education in American secondary schools when three members of the educational policies commission, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., visit the school Friday.

Oliver H. Bimson, assistant superintendent of schools, Lincoln, Neb.; Samuel Everett, faculty member of the school of education, Northwestern university; and Howard E. Wilson, faculty member of the school of education, Harvard university, will conduct the study here.

The commission is appointed by the National Education association of the United States and the American Association of School Administrators.

The three members of the commission staff will arrive here late today to inspect material offered by E. E. Fell, superintendent of schools, and J. J. Riemersma, high school principal, and will spend Friday in the school, observing classes and student activities, and talking with the principal, teachers and students.

Holland high is conducting a special Armistice day program at 10:45 a.m. Friday, which the inspectors will see. A meeting of the student council also will be called.

According to a letter from William G. Carr, secretary of the commission, to Mr. Fell, it is the purpose of the study to report some of the most effective school practices for fostering loyalty to democracy and for developing civic responsibility on the part of youth.

The practices, as located and observed in about 50 selected schools, will be described in a volume to be published by the commission early next year.

Holland high school was recommended to the commission as one of the schools in which good examples of some of the practices might be found.

Mr. Riemersma will breakfast with the members of the commission Friday.

According to Carr, the commission men expect to find examples of civic responsibility in varied places—in the content of courses, in the ways in which teachers and pupils work together in the classroom, in students' experiences of democratic living in their school groups, and in student participation in community enterprises.

HOLLAND PRINCIPALS INVITED TO SESSION

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 9.—Four hundred high school principals in Michigan have been invited to attend the annual principal-student conference at Michigan State college Nov. 18, according to Registrar Robert S. Linton.

Purpose of the conference is to give freshmen students an opportunity to discuss their work with their high school principals.

Both J. J. Riemersma of Holland high school and John Swets of Christian high school received invitations.

Mr. Riemersma said he would not attend because the Holland-Grand Haven game is scheduled for that day, and he will be unable to go. Mr. Swets said that although he has no local students enrolled as freshmen at East Lansing, he may attend.

POLICE PROBE HOLDUP HERE

Mexican Robbed by Four Men; Indian Is Held as One Suspect

With one man sentenced, Holland police today sought three unidentified hobo who are alleged to have robbed a Mexican sugar beet field worker about 11 p.m. Monday on the Park road.

The one sentenced man is Frank Baker, 36, an Indian residing at 179 East Eighth St. Arrested at his place of work Tuesday after being found in possession of a mackinaw coat, alleged to have been stolen from the Mexican, Baker, according to Police Chief Ira A. Antles, admitted his participation in the holdup of Dionicio Corellas, 30, who said his home is in Chicago. Corellas was found by Holland police late Monday night near 16th St. and River Ave. walking barefooted along the street. He told police he also had been robbed of his shoes. He spent the night in police headquarters.

Chief Antles learned that Corellas received a pay check amounting to about $35. Baker met his companions in the east end of the city. Later they joined the Mexican who became their host and began paying for the "drinks."

Later in the evening, the group went to a tavern on the Park road but they were refused drinks by the owner because of their condition. On their way back to town, the three hoboes instructed Baker to halt his car.

While Baker remained in the car, the police said, the other three men took the Mexican from the car and took his money, shoes and coat. Corellas did not know the amount stolen.

Baker told Chief Antles that the three hoboes threw the coat into the car and told him it was "his share of the holdup." He said he did not know the identities of his companions.

Baker was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail Tuesday afternoon by Justice John Galien. Baker pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny on his arraignment.

Man Given Sentence in Jail on Assault Charge

Leroy Peterson, 32, route 1, West Olive, is serving six days in the county jail in Grand Haven on a charge of assault and battery to which he pleaded guilty on his arraignment Wednesday afternoon before Justice Raymond L. Smith.

He also was placed on probation for six months, terms of which are that he must leave intoxicating liquors alone and report to the justice the first of each month.

Peterson is alleged to have assaulted Edwin L. Whaley, 47, route 4, Holland, at his home early Sunday morning and also Frank Owen, route 4, Holland, at his home later. Peterson also is reported to have received a severe gash on his head which required 11 stitches to close during his fight with Owen.

FOUR ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Two of Holland Thrown From Car in Collision on Eighth St.

Four persons suffered injuries on Saturday in an automobile accident at the intersection of Eighth St. and Fairbanks Ave. between automobiles driven by Henry Coelingh, Jr., 57, 261 South Maple St., Zeeland, and Mrs. Marguerite Hadden, wife of Mayo A. Hadden, 276 Pine Ave.

Mrs. Hadden and her daughter, Peggy, were reported to have been thrown out of the car into the street as a result of the impact. Another daughter, Merry, also was in the car.

The three were taken to Holland hospital for treatment and later released. Mrs. Hadden was somewhat shaken up and bruised. Peggy suffered a bump on the head and Mary sustained a sprained wrist.

Mrs. Jessie Coelingh, 48, wife of Henry Coelingh, was taken to Zeeland hospital for treatment of lacerations to her right leg and arm. She also suffered shock. Mrs. Coelingh was still confined in the hospital.

It was reported that Coelingh was driving in a westerly direction into Holland and was attempting a left turn onto Fairbanks Ave., his car colliding head-on with the car driven by Mrs. Hadden which was traveling in the opposite direction.

Miss Marjorie Mulder of Grand Haven and Miss Janet Shuptrine of Holland rode horses in the parade.

Sorosis society won the float prize with a large white wooden shoe, decorated with gilt. Lettering on the sides of the float was, "Wooden shoe know it," and Miss Dorothy Bonga of Chicago, a member of the sorority, dressed in Dutch costume, pointed at a sign, "Hope 100, Hillsdale 0."

Emersonian fraternity members were awarded second place by judges in the float contest. Their large white tank, decorated in red was outstanding in the parade. Red lettering on the side of the tank was, "We'll Crash Over Hillsdale's Defenses." While many floats were the trailer type, the tank was constructed over an automobile, which it entirely concealed.

The fraternity house decorations prize was won by the Fraternal society at Columbia Ave. and 10th St. The Fraters had a dummy in a casket, ready to be lowered into the ground. Tombstones marked the ties or victories of the football season played by Hope so far this year.

Second prize in the house decorations contest was won by the Knickerbockers, who constructed a large book which was opened to pages containing pictures of Bud Hinga, Hope coach; and Dwight Harwood, Hillsdale mentor. Signs indicated that Hillsdale was "history," and that Hope would win the MIAA championship in 1939.

Judges in the float contest were Peter Elzinga, Peter Kolean and Mrs. Charles Sligh, Jr.; and in the house decorations contest judges were Mrs. L. W. Lamb, Mrs. Kenneth Campbell and Ed Oudman.

Following the parade, students and alumni met in Carnegie gym where Dean Dykstra, as master of ceremonies, welcomed alumni. Signs indicated that Hillsdale was "history," and that Hope would win the MIAA championship in 1939.

Edgar Dibble and Jim Adams, students presented a skit before yell leaders performed.

Ek Buys, football co-captain in 1937, and former all-MIAA tackle, spoke, and Bob Powers, 1939 captain, answered his pep message. Coach Hinga spoke.

COLLEGE GRADS RETURN TO CITY FOR HOPE FETE

Fraternal, Sorosis Groups Win Float and House Contest Prizes

Banquet After Grid Game Climaxes Homecoming in Holland

Although stunned by Hope's defeat at the hands of Hillsdale here last week-end, Hope college students and alumni brought annual homecoming celebrations to a close in a colorful banquet in Holland armory Saturday night.

Nearly 400 persons attended the feast to forget defeat and to renew acquaintances with graduates of the college who represented the Rochester, N. Y., Detroit, Chicago, Muskegon and local chapters of the Hope Alumni association.

The celebration, which opened with a parade of floats Friday night, closed with the banquet at which Dr. Wymann Wichers, president of the college, welcomed alumni, and Cornelius Vander Meulen, president of the Holland alumni chapter, was the main speaker.

Edwin Luidens, Rochester, N. Y., senior, president of the student council, presided at the banquet and introduced Paul Brouwer, secretary to President Wichers, as toastmaster.

Clyde Geerlings, a graduate of the college, led the group in singing at the start of the program, following a meal served by the women of Sixth Reformed church.

Dr. Wichers, who returned Friday from a two weeks' trip in the east where he organized alumni chapters for the drive for a new science building here, spoke briefly. He told the group that the local alumni chapter, assigned a $10,000 goal in the drive, has already pledged $8,640. Campaigns in eastern chapters will begin in February, he said.

Harold Van Heuvelen, sophomore, played a violin solo. He was accompanied by Miss Alma Weeldreyer, senior.

Mr. Vander Meulen addressed the students and alumni briefly on "Why Grads Come Home." He pictured the birth of homecoming celebrations at "Siwash where a college president, seeking a new science building, found that the enthusiasm aroused by a football victory was enough to make a financial drive successful.

Fraternity house decorations and floats attracted the attention of townspeople as well as students and alumni. Although the parade failed to meet a schedule of 7:20 p.m., hundreds of persons lined River Ave. and Eighth St. to wait for the parade, headed by the Hope college band.

Miss Marjorie Mulder of Grand Haven and Miss Janet Shuptrine of Holland rode horses in the parade.

Sorosis society won the float prize with a large white wooden shoe, decorated with gilt. Lettering on the sides of the float was, "Wooden shoe know it," and Miss Dorothy Bonga of Chicago, a member of the sorority, dressed in Dutch costume, pointed at a sign, "Hope 100, Hillsdale 0."

FIELD TRAINING FOR CITY GUARD UNIT IS OPENED

Sixty-Nine Men and Three Officers Are Engaged in Activities

Holland Armory Ucomas Temporary Home for Local Group

Holland armory on Ninth St. was a "beehive" of activity today as Company D, the city's national guard unit, began its seven days of additional field training as ordered by Washington, D. C., headquarters.

The field training must be completed prior to Jan. 31, 1940. Under present arrangements, Company D will train as a unit today, Friday, Saturday and Sunday and will engage in a battalion problem with other companies Nov. 17, 18 and 19 at a former CCC camp near Muskegon.

Sixty-nine men and three officers, traveling in six national guard trucks, left at 8 a.m. today for "somewhere" near Port Sheldon to begin field training. The convoy was furnished by the service company, 126th Infantry, which also provided six drivers and a sergeant.

Work in the field this forenoon consisted mainly of range estimation. The guard took along a range finder and two aiming circles which are used to determine angles.

Capt. H. Austin Lucas of Grand Haven, company commander, First Lieut. Martin Japings and Second Lieut. Richard Smeenge were in charge of the guardsmen during today's training.

During this week's training, all guards will make their homes in the armory. They will live, sleep and eat all their meals there.

National guardsmen drilled in the armory Wednesday night and slept there last night. Beds, equipment, including blankets and straw for the cots, were issued Wednesday night and tables were set up for this morning's breakfast.

Cots were installed about the gymnasium floor. A dining room was established in the armory basement.

The guards' day began at 6 a.m. today with breakfast at 6:45 a.m. which consisted of oats, ham and eggs, bread and butter and coffee.

At 8 a.m. they departed for the field training and returned at 11:30 a.m. Dinner was served at noon, the menu consisting of hamburger steaks, fried onions, mashed potatoes and brown gravy, buttered peas, bread and butter and tea.

The guards were scheduled to leave at 1 p.m. for their afternoon training and will return at 4:30 p.m. Supper was to be served at 6 p.m. and was to include swiss steak, boiled potatoes, stewed tomatoes, bread pudding, lemon sauce, bread and butter and coffee.

Unless on detail, men will be allowed out of the armory between 7 and 11 p.m. At that hour, all men must be in bed. There will be a permanent guard detail of a non-commissioned officer and three privates whose duty it will be to guard the building, the trucks and all government property.

This schedule of activity will be maintained during the period of the field training.

Various menus have been arranged. Horace Dekker is mess sergeant, Pvt. John Brand, first cook, Pvt. Carl Volkema, second cook, and Pvt. Gerald Watson, baker.

The health of the guards also will be closely watched. Any guard who awakes with a sore throat or any other ailment will be placed in isolation. If necessary, the patient can be sent to the hospital for treatment.

OTTAWA BEACH TAVERN UPHELD IN STATE COURT

Circuit Bench Order for Closing Is Reversed at Lansing

Other Portions of Decree in Park Group Fight Are Sustained

Lansing, Nov. 9 — A circuit court decree ordering the closing of a beer tavern in Ottawa beach resort, near Holland, was reversed today by the state supreme court.

The tavern has been operated by Kilaire, Inc., in a building assigned to it by John Reminga Circuit Judge Leonard D. Verrier of Grand Rapids on Jan. 6 issued a decree ordering the Kilaire company to remove all fixtures from the building.

Other portions of Verrier's decree, which was generally favorable to the West Michigan Park association in its lawsuit against trustees of the former First State bank of Holland and persons to whom the trustees had sold lots, were upheld by the supreme court.

The association claimed that under a plat filed with the auditor general in 1886 certain portions of the resort on Lake Michigan and Lake Macatawa were dedicated to park and road purposes. In the case of the beer tavern which property owners sought to have closed, the court said:

"We do not hold that this beer tavern is necessary to the use of lands dedicated for park purposes, but the lot owners appear not to have offered any objection to the remodeling and operation of the tavern."

The court also observed that the lot owners had permitted Kilaire, Inc., to expend $5,000 on installation of fixtures without objection.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Man is a praising and adoring being; it is this longing for God that makes it possible to be God's man. If one is true to this inner urge toward God he longs to celebrate all of his common experiences and to lift them up to a higher love by dedicating them.

If man is ever to rise to his full humanity, he must praise and adore that which is the highest that he knows and freely offer up to it the best he has. The public service of worship offers the best opportunity for the self-expression of the divine urge within. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Kenneth Coster, a Guard, Sees Inmates Kill Inspector

A spectacular account by Kenneth Coster, 24, former Holland resident, of Jackson's worst prison break in recent years and a description of the fatal shooting of Chief Inspector Fred Boucher by escaping inmates Sunday was received here today.

Coster, who has been a Southern Michigan prison guard for about three years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Coster, 312 River ave., who received a Jackson daily paper in which was recorded the account of the attempted escape.

Coster was directly behind Boucher. "They shot Fred down like a dog," Coster said. "He gave them a chance to surrender and for that chance lost his own life. It was terrible."

Boucher and Coster rushed into the prison yard from the lobby of the administration building as Warden Harry H. Jackson sounded an alarm.

According to the Jackson paper, the story of Boucher's death was related by Coster as follows: "Boucher and I rounded the corner of the administration building, and saw Sullivan and Lawman (convicts) on the ground. Boucher, in the lead, saw that other employees were nearer the two men, and stopped near the parking lot entrance."

"Just then three convicts in Guard Russell Day's car, who had backed the car from its parking place, saw Boucher, and one shouted, 'There's the captain.' Boucher wheeled around as the car started forward and was shot through a window of the visitors room. One shot grazed the neck of Mrs. Dorothy Roberts of Kalamazoo, a visitor."

According to Coster, the inspector apparently saw two of the prisoners on the ground just outside the administration building, and ordered them to surrender. He believed that Boucher did not see the inmates in the automobile until they were upon him.

Coster was scheduled to go on duty at 2 p.m., and had gone in early to change to his uniform. The break occurred at 1:55 p.m.

The former local man has been gone from Holland about five years. He worked in an auto plant in Grand Rapids after his graduation from Holland high school. He is well known here.

PLAN TO START FIELD TRAINING AT EARLY DATE

Local National Guards to Drill as Individual Unit Next Week

Soldiers to Participate in Battalion Maneuvers at CCC Camp

Final arrangements are being completed for the seven days of field training which members of Company D, Holland's national guard unit, will have to participate in prior to Jan. 31, 1940, under orders from Washington, D. C. Arranging of the training has, more or less, been left to the company commander and present arrangements call for the local company to train as a unit Nov. 9, 10, 11 and 12, and engage in a battalion problem with other companies Nov. 17, 18, and 19 at a former CCC camp near Muskegon.

The Holland company which has been known as a machine gun unit will become a heavy weapons unit under new army regulations. It also expects to receive mortars, 50 calibre machine guns and anti-tank guns.

Capt. H. Austin Lucas of Grand Haven is company commander. Although Company D is regularly a part of the first battalion, it is planned to make it a part of the second battalion during the latter part of the field training period. The Holland unit will replace Company F of Ionia in the second battalion in order to simplify transportation problems and Company H will make other arrangements.

Sgt. Henry Rowan has been advised that the Holland company will be furnished with eight trucks for transportation purposes. It is expected that approximately $400 will be spent in rationing for the guardsmen and this amount does not include money for gasoline and oil to service the trucks.

Holland's guardsmen drilled at the armory Monday and Wednesday nights of this week and spent Wednesday night at the armory to be ready for field training this Thursday morning. Instructions are that each guardsman must engage in eight hours of maneuvers daily. Sgt. Rowan reported that present indications are that the majority of local guardsmen will participate in the field training.

Schoolmen's Club Hears De Boer

Members of the Holland Schoolmen's club were guests of Supt. E. E. Fell Wednesday Nov. 1. An address was given by the Rev. John De Boer whose recent return from England on the S. S. President Harding climaxed an interesting and exciting series of experiences in an attempt to return to India, the field of his work.

Rev. De Boer spoke interestingly of his experiences in England while waiting for return passage to America. "There has been," he said, "no blackout of religion in England, nor a blackout of freedom of speech. The censorship in England is wholly for the purpose of preventing valuable information from reaching the enemy and in no case is anyone prevented from expressing his opinion."

The policy of England in India also was discussed and the speaker was asked what he believed was the source of Gandhi's great influence and power. He replied that it was Gandhi's rare ability to efface self, his political foresight, sound judgment and a firm belief that he as an individual is nothing but an instrument of God.

The meeting closed with the presentation, in the name of the club, of a pair of field glasses to Emerson Leddick, who retired from the teaching profession this year but remains a life member of the club. The presentation was made by Ervin Hanson.

THIS YEAR'S THANKSGIVING

Having set Thanksgiving day a week earlier than it had been scheduled, President Roosevelt issued his annual proclamation earlier than usual. Such proclamations have become so routine in the course of time that there is not enough difference between them from year to year to make reading them very rewarding. Writing the proclamation is in all probability left to a secretary. It would seem however that this year the president had a special opportunity to take the Thanksgiving day proclamation out of the realm of the routine and make it truly significant. It can hardly be said that he took advantage of his opportunity.

The proclamation is good enough, as proclamations go; but it is in no sense outstanding. There seems little probability that it will be remembered among the state papers of the Roosevelt era; it will be merely one of the proclamations—hardly better than a stereotyped document.

Yet history is so big with the tragic fate of the world, and America has up until the present moment been so fortunate, that anyone who doesn't feel thankfulness must be numb to every sense of gratitude. Something of all this makes this year's Thanksgiving day of special significance to America as a nation, and it gives an unusual chance for an unusual proclamation.

True, the president referred to the fact—but only in a brief paragraph, almost casually. Most of the proclamation was devoted to a history of the national festival; that is, most of it was mere routine matter. The situation itself presented a chance for an expression of popular feeling that was almost crying out to be made articulate. But so far as the proclamation went, that cry remained a faint whisper.

The reason probably is that the president was not equal to the job. For though he is highly talented in some forms of expression, the president is certainly not a great poet in prose—such as Lincoln for instance was. And nothing short of great poetry in prose form could do justice to the feeling of the American people that they are grateful for their position with reference to the war in Europe. It is also quite certain that hardly anything could be more difficult than to write a proclamation that even begins to suggest great literature. Last year Governor Wilbur L. Cross, then Democratic chief executive of Connecticut, succeeded in doing it in a state proclamation, and it was instantly recognized as great not only in that state but throughout the nation. But it doesn't happen once in a generation.

So we will have to get along with a routine proclamation. But the American people can write their own proclamation by attaching special significance to Thanksgiving day this year.

ALLEGAN WOMAN TO FACE NEW CHARGES

St. Joseph, Nov. 9.—Freed Friday of charges that she defrauded a New Buffalo man of $3,500 in 1933, Mrs. Joseph Peliken of Allegan county will now face a charge at Cadillac that she defrauded a Cadillac man of $450 on Sept. 1, 1938.

The Berrien county charge was dismissed by Prosecutor Robert P. Small as Mrs. Peliken, 40, appeared for examination on the case brought by Josef Breika of New Buffalo who claimed that she married him under the name of Rose Stanich at Michigan City, Ind., and then left a few days later with his money.

The Cadillac warrant alleged that on Sept. 1, 1938, at Cadillac, Mike Fortelka had been defrauded of $450 by "Mary Roe, alias Helena Koverik." She had promised to put the money into a safety deposit box for Fortelka, the warrant said, but instead pocketed it and left Cadillac.

Putting God's Kingdom First
Matthew 6: 19-34

By Henry Geertlings

Putting God's kingdom first is but another way of saying, putting the highest interests of life first. Too often when people think of this matter of giving primacy to the kingdom of God in their lives they think that it means going to church most of the time and thinking about little else than religious themes.

Now a good deal of our opposition to good advice and fine programs comes out of our misunderstanding of them. We do not favor this and we do not favor that because we do not know their values. God's kingdom is the only real area where true values are and it is only kingdom that is worth living in. It is that invisible and largely undefinable and spiritual area whose forces and principles and values should obtain on the earth. These things are the best things. They have the power of creating the highest and happiest state of being. If all this be true then Jesus in advising men to seek first the kingdom of God is simply advising that they make the best things of life their chief concern. He is not asking them to give up their business or their legitimate pleasures or their professions or their vocations or any kind, but he is asking that they find out what has the most value and then to give that chief place in their lives.

Jesus is therefore concerned that men shall have a true sense of proportion. It is true that there is a multitude of things that claim our attention here in this world. And it is likewise true that we are under the necessity of giving attention to many things in our everyday world. But there are some things in the very nature of the case that have no right to claim our chief attention. All that they can rightfully expect from us is just the thought and time they deserve and no more. But they have a fashion of magnifying their importance. They enlarge themselves in our eyes. They insinuate themselves into our affections and sometimes before we are fully aware of it we are giving them more thought and time than their value justifies. Right here is where we need a deep and searching sense of values.

We need to take lessons in proportion. We must get life's ratios. We must put emphasis only where emphasis belongs. We must lift into prominence only that which is worthy of prominence only that which is worthy of prominence. The trouble with a lot of people is that they are becoming experts in trivialities. Some can tell one all about movie actresses and actors, but do not know whether the apostles were Roman senators or fast runners in the Olympian games. Jesus wants to save men from dedicating their brains and lavishing their affections upon things that do not count in the long run. It is a pity that some men spend most of their time in knowing as the buttons on the end of their coat sleeves.

So Jesus bids men put God's kingdom first. He is inviting them to come to school to him that he may teach the art of telling the difference between things. That is one of the great aims of a true education. The fact of the matter is we are not educated until we know how to discriminate. One of the saddest of human attitudes is that wherein a man says that it does not matter much what a man thinks or believes. It matters so much that those alone who are seeing the real meaning of life are those who see what matters and what does not.

The trouble again with many people is that they do not know how to get the real value of real values. There were those in Jesus' day who took occasion to make the matter of prayer an advertisement for their own so-called goodness. They reveled in the praise of men rather than in response of God to their needy souls. Then too there were those, as in all days, who were piling up treasures upon the earth and giving all their time to it when they could have been putting treasures in the storehouses of God.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchen

CAULIFLOWER is still in season and is a most popular vegetable. It is inexpensive for a luxury vegetable. All kinds of squash are plentiful and cheap.

Western Delicious Apples are one food which is too cheap because of the war and lack of export demand. Oranges are cheap and more plentiful, the Florida also improving in quality. Grapefruit is now inexpensive.

Eggs and butter prices shrank from their high levels of last week but fluctuation is to be expected in these commodities at this season. Pork loins are among the attractive meat offerings this week though all meats are even to lower in price. Poultry prices remain at very low levels.

OFFER TULIPS AT LOW PRICE

General Tulip Time Group Seeking to Increase Plantings

In an attempt to bolster the private plantings of tulips in Holland for the 1940 Tulip Time festival, the general Tulip Time committee has made arrangements through the courtesy of Nelis nursery to provide a limited number of bulbs at less than 1/2 the present market price.

"One of the general complaints of Tulip Time visitors has been the lack of tulip beds in private yards," S. H. Houtman, Tulip Time manager, said. "The festival management realizes that the cost of bulbs was the cause of this failing but we can now overcome this objection to residential planting."

The tulip bulbs are the same grade as those planted in the tulip lanes except that only mixed colors are available. They will be sold in lots of 100 at a cost of $1.50.

The bulbs may be obtained by telephoning the Tulip Time office between 3 and 4 p.m. in the afternoons or the Chamber of Commerce office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Bulbs will be delivered collected within 24 hours within or near the Holland city limits.

Tulips may still be planted for excellent results any time before the ground freezes, Mr. Houtman said.

Edna Trumbull, 73, route 2, South Haven, was given medical treatment in Holland hospital Saturday afternoon for a cut above the left eye which she suffered in an automobile accident at 13th St. and Central Ave. about 1 p.m. She later was released.

The woman was riding in a car, driven by Fern Ridgely, 37, route 2, South Haven. Their car was involved in an accident with a car driven by Herman Diepenhorst, 55, route 1, Holland.

Mr. Diepenhorst was driving north on Central Ave. while the other car was going west on 13th St. Local police were informed that Mr. Diepenhorst said his view of the Ridgely car was obstructed by another car at the intersection.

Youth Denies Charge of Reckless Driving

Grand Haven, Nov. 9 (Special).—Jack De Vette, 19, 1766 Acorn St., Muskegon, pleaded not guilty before Justice George V. Hoffer Saturday on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested under a city ordinance provision. Date for trial has been set for Friday, Nov. 13 at 2 p.m. Cash bond of $50 was furnished.

Mrs. Catherine Cobb, 43, of Grand Rapids, is serving five days in the county jail, unable to pay costs of $8.15 imposed by Justice Hoffer late Saturday night on a charge of having no operator's license. It was alleged Mrs. Cobb was driving on M-50 near Allendale without lights on her car when it was struck by another car, traveling in the same direction.

SIXTY YEARS AGO
Mr. Albert Manting arrived home from Ann Arbor after finishing his course in medicine. He is the happy possessor of a diploma of a university which is recognized throughout the civilized world. Congratulations, Albert!

Note: Mr. Manting, who has long since passed away, was the brother of M. J. Manting of Holland, who many years ago founded the Ottawa County Times. He had a tremendous practice in the vicinity of Graafschap, and did a great deal of charitable work among poor people. His father was also a prominent doctor, who lived in the large brick house to the east of Michigan Ave. going to Graafschap. The home was closed for many years, and was almost covered with trees and shrubbery. Within the past two years it was remodeled into a livable, stately home by the Manting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Weaver.

Father Manting was well known in two counties as one of the old fashioned country doctors, and had a large practice. Mr. Deming is casting an iron fence for himself, which he will put in front of his premises on Tenth St. Note: Mr. Deming was an old iron molder, who had a shop just east of the home. He was a bent-over old gentleman, always smoking a short black clay pipe. Part of the old Deming home just east of Hope church property still remains. In the olden days Mrs. Deming, a sweet old lady, had a large old fashioned garden, in the vacant property between the home and the old shop. Decorators on Memorial Day never came in vain for flowers, for in those days they were collected from garden to garden. The old iron fence was the talk of the town, and quite an attraction. Those were the days when cows were still roaming the streets, grazing the grass along deep sandy roads, muddy in the spring, dusty in the summer. The foundry burned on a Sunday afternoon 50 years ago.

Dr. William Van Putten's beautiful black mare Lucy has a fine colt by a full-blooded Hambletonian stallion. Note: Dr. Van Putten was a physician of the old type, conducting a drug store in the same building now occupied by the Banzor Bakery. He owned a large open tract back of the store extending from the Holland Evening Sentinel building, which was a runway for his fast horses. To the south of that piece of property he had large stables for his racing stock. He at one time owned the celebrated Turk, our first early day fast horse, and Montague Boy, a pacer of some fame, and several other horses. At that time Holland was a race-horse town, developed when the fairgrounds were still on the west end of this city, extending from Kollen Park to the Holland Shoe factory. In fact, the Shoe factory site was part of the race course. The accompanying picture shows the course and racing in progress, and the grandstand, Hermanus Boone, "Kose" Nibbelink, of Holland, and Tony De Kruif of Zealand all had fast race horses, the well known McKinley of H. Boone being possibly the best and most prominent. Mr. Boone was offered a fabulous price for the horse, but would not part with it. It died within the year. Tony De Kruif owned a horse by the name of Roy, an animal with the most homely head an equine could possibly have, but feet that had wings. It was one of the greatest horses known in this vicinity in the early days.

Gerrit J. Diekema hitched his wagon "not to a star" but in front of Winants chapel, where he had gone on business. Some one appreciating a ride in the star light appropriated the horse and buggy and it was some hours before the rig was found at Semelink Hall on the Seminary campus.

Ten years ago Police Officer Price of Grand Rapids lost his badge while on a picnic at Macatawa. The badge was No. 21. Police Officer Kelley visited the park a decade later this week and saw a boy dive down for something that looked shiny. When he came to the surface he held the lost badge in his hand. Kelley thanked the lad and when he returned home gave Price his belongings much to the surprise of that policeman.

Harold Little, a Grand Haven surferman, and Leo Lillie of Grand Haven saved the life of Mrs. Lotie Reeves, society bell of Little Rock, Ark. Lillie seeing the girl's peril when she was taken with a cramp succeeded in bringing her in but it was some time before she was restored to consciousness. Lillie is a student at U. of M. and on the football squad. Note: Today he is a prominent attorney at Grand Haven and an historian of considerable note. His father was the late Attorney Walter I. Lillie of Grand Haven and at one time prosecuting attorney and also collector of customs for the port of Grand Haven.

A file copy shows a picture of John Buchanan who has invented an airship which will be tried out within a few weeks. It is a strange looking affair, however much along the lines of today's planes. He has been working on the ship for the last 10 years. Whether the ship ever went up, the writer has not heard. It weighed 400 pounds and was driven by a 34-horsepower engine. The propeller was "so adjusted in order that it would draw the ship straight up in the air" according to this report. Note: For many years Mr. Buchanan was a confectioner on River Ave. near the City Hall. He was a veteran of the Civil War.

A foalrady lot of resorters at Highland Park, Grand Haven, nearly set the resort on fire. The Resort company had built small pavilions with tables for the convenience of picnickers. After a rain some of these started a fire on the pavilion floor in order to keep off the chill. The pavilion was soon in flames, and a bucket-brigade saved the hotel and several cottages.

A woman much beloved by all who knew her passed away at her home on Central Ave., namely Mrs. James Huntley, who died at the age of 72. She was born in England, and her maiden name was Julia Thorpe. On Christmas Day, 1868, she was married to Mr. James Huntley, at Tombridge Wells, and two years later came to America and to Holland, where they are considered some of this community's pioneers.

Mrs. John H. Toren, age 60, passed away at her summer home at Jensen Park. Rev. Peter Moerdijk officiated at the rites. Mrs. H. G. Garvelink passed away at the age of 43 years after a long illness. Abel Smeenge was given the contract by the Ottawa Furniture Co. to build a new warehouse 58 by 90 feet, at a cost of $8,000. The new warehouse is to be glazed hollow tile and concrete, and built to be used to store furniture, more room being necessary to take care of the natural expansion of the factory. Note: Since that time the Ottawa Furniture Co., the oldest furniture establishment here, passed out of existence. It was promoted by the late Reindert Wolman, and the building in question was later used as a retail furniture establishment and is now headquarters for Seven-Up, the popular soft drink that Phil Brooks sells. The Ottawa Furniture factory building was dismantled.

Miss Ethel Heneveld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Heneveld of "Ginia Park," has been selected from Blodgett Memorial hospital, Grand Rapids, as one of the honored six nurses to be affiliated at the Cleveland Children's Contagious hospital. She will spend four months of study there.

"Benny" Mercer, the man who drove the De Soto car about Holland for four days and nights, without stopping and without sleep, was unchained from the wheel by the local police and was put to bed in the window of the De Soto sales room, and was "dead to the world" in about a minute. He went to bed at Warm Friend Tavern later. Rather an unusual advertising stunt, we should say.

Cow, Dazed by Burns, Is Shot as Fire Razes Barn

Other Livestock Lost in Blaze Near Holland; Looting Halted

Unable to offer aid because of the intense heat, a large number of persons, including several Holland residents, saw a cow all but burnt to death in a fire which completely destroyed a barn and its contents on the farm of Cornelius Van Leeuwen, route 6, Holland, about four miles south of the city, at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Firing three shots from a rifle into the cow, which, instead of going through a door which had been opened to allow the animals to escape from the burning building, had sought to escape by walking out where the fire was, the most intense.

While viewing the smoldering ruins more than 12 hours after the fire, Mr. Van Leeuwen estimated his loss would exceed more than $2,000. He reported that he carried $1,750 in insurance.

"It is very disheartening to see your work of several years lying in ruins with no idea as to what started the fire," said Mr. Van Leeuwen as he walked about the smoldering ruins.

Also included in the loss were two other milch cows, a week-old calf, six-week-old pigs, between 300 and 400 bushels of corn, 350 bushels of wheat, 150 bushels of oats, five tons of hay, a pet dog, and farm equipment, including a tractor, plow, cultivator, manure spreader.

Mr. Van Leeuwen suffered severe burns on both hands from hot tar, dripping from the roof of the burning barn as he opened a door, on the east side to provide a means of escape for the livestock. Three helpers walked from the burning building and were not injured. They made no attempt to go back into the building but moved into the pasture to eat grass.

Persons driving along US-31 from Saugatuck to Holland saw the fire first and drove immediately to the farm home. Frank Bolhuis, Jr., 344 Lincoln Ave., who was among the first to arrive on the scene, rushed to the farm house and awakened the Van Leeuwen family by pounding on the door. A large crowd was soon on the scene.

The barn was located just east of the farm house but the family was asleep on the west side of the house and had not been awakened by the fire.

Mr. Van Leeuwen's first thought was to save the animals. He also sought to save his farm tractor but the heat prevented him from entering the building. A door leading into a part of the barn which housed the chickens was thrown open but the fowls remained inside and were burned to death on their roosts.

The farmer reported he was receiving on an average of 250 eggs per day from the chickens and selling them for $6. He had bought a cow and a heifer last week. The cow was destroyed, but the heifer escaped.

The sight of the cow burning to death was pitiful. She staggered from the north end of the barn and fell to the ground about 10 feet away. Later she regained her feet but was unable to move away from the building and continued to walk in circles, getting closer and closer to the barn.

After shooting the cow, the hunter went to the rear of the barn and killed a pig which had been dragged from the building but was unconscious from its burns.

In an attempt to obtain a meat supply, two persons, one said to be from Holland and the other from Grand Haven, took advantage of Mr. Van Leeuwen's loss and started to butcher the cow and pig. After slitting the pig's neck to allow it to bleed, they cut away the two hind legs. They also cut off the right hind leg of the cow but Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta and William Kruthof who were attracted to the fire by its reflection in the sky while patrolling roads near Holland, made them quit their work.

Deputy Van Etta also reported that several chickens had been stolen from the barn during the fire. The Holland fire department was called but could not respond because Fillmore township has no agreement with the city to guarantee payment of sending the trucks into that township. Firemen at No. 1 engine house on West Eighth St. said they could see the fire's reflection from the second story windows of the fire station.

The Fillmore town hall is located on the opposite side of the road but it was not damaged although the wind blew sparks in a northwesterly direction. The fact that the wind was from the south prevented the farm house from being destroyed although it was scorched by the heat.

Volunteer firefighters soaked the sides of the home and a brooder house which was scorched. Throughout Sunday, many persons drove to the scene to see the smoldering ruins.

Mr. Van Leeuwen said he was in the barn about 8 p.m. Saturday and found everything in order. He had gone there to turn out the lights in the chickenhouse. The only cause he could give for the fire was a short in the electrical wiring.

The barn was 90 by 46 feet with a shed 46 by 20 feet on the west side. A pole, carrying high tension wires, which was located a short distance northeast of the barn, was badly scorched by the heat.

CIVIL WAR VET HAS BIRTHDAY

Zachary Foster

Fennville, Nov. 9 — Zachary Foster, Fennville's oldest citizen and only Civil war veteran, quietly celebrated his 92nd birthday Saturday at his home, thankful that he was up and around. He was ill on his 91st birthday.

The veteran, who was born Nov. 4, 1848 in Lenawee county, son of Edwin and Nancy Lonsburg Foster, received visits from each of his sons and grandsons Saturday.

At the age of 10, Foster moved with his parents to a farm near Allegan, and at 13, he tried to go to war. He was rejected until he was 16, when he was sent to Virginia with the fifth Michigan cavalry.

He saw little fighting, because even when he was transferred to "Custer's Brigade," to fight the Sioux Indians with his uncle, Major George Lonsbury, who was also in the company, he contracted typhoid pneumonia. When he recovered at a Leavenworth hospital, he was given his discharge and returned home weighing only 90 pounds.

Fifty-one years ago, he bought a farm near Glenn and in 1905 he came to Fennville and engaged in the clothing business with his son, E. C. Foster. The younger Foster with his son, Edward, Jr., operate the store as a drygoods store now.

Mr. Foster is a hunting enthusiast. Until 10 years ago, he annually went deer hunting. He made a year ago last summer for ducks.

In June of 1938, accompanied by a son, William, he attended the Gettysburg reunion. Last October, he submitted to an emergency operation, and he was in Community hospital on his birthday. After his return home, he was confined to his bed more than six months. His recent recovery has been remarkable, however, and he is able to go outside, although he is usually to remain at home.

Five years ago, his ambition to see his grandsons made master Masons was achieved when his son, Edward, conferred degrees on them in his presence.

SURPRISED BY MAPES BALLOT

But Colleagues Learn He Considers Embargo as True Neutrality

Washington, Nov. 9 (Special)—Cong. Carl E. Mapes, R., Grand Rapids, Mich., explaining his vote in the house on Nov. 2 against arms embargo repeal, explained he had reached the definite conclusion that an arms embargo was the best way to serve notice to world powers that he did not mix in their wars.

Mapes, who surprised many of his colleagues and pleased the Michigan GOP bloc by his vote, said he did not make his position known to his family or close friends until shortly before the house vote. Publicly he was silent, although the test vote to submit the proposal to conference was an indication of his final decision.

Louis A. Rabaut, D., Detroit, Mich., played the role expected of Mapes by breaking through party lines to vote against repeal. He was the only Michigan Democrat who did.

Unlike every other Michigan Republican, Mapes did not give a speech or extend his remarks in the Congressional Record.

Mapes, who has an enviable record for independent thinking and voting, calls the Michigan vote consistent with the record of the Republican delegation on the Vorys amendment to the old Bloom bill. Mapes was absent when this vote was taken but he had indicated that he would have voted against the administration in a paired vote.

His long silence, his inclusion on the White House neutrality conference, caused a lot of banter which he did not stop by declaring his position. While the guessing was going on, Mapes' old friend, Earl C. Michener, a Detroit man, made a few modest wagers on which he is now collecting.

Coast guardsmen at the Holland coast guard station witnessed an unusual sight Friday about 2 p.m. as they watched two deer frolic on the beach at Holland State park for some time before they disappeared.

TAKE YOUTH IN THEFT OF CAR

Released Friday afternoon from Holland hospital to custody of Sheriff Frank Van Etta, Donald Brown, 16, of Muskegon, was taken to Grand Haven by the officer.

Information from Grand Haven revealed that Brown was turned over to Muskegon police officers and taken there in connection with the alleged theft of an automobile.

Brown was with Nelson Pulsifer, 15, and Donald Hill, 16, both of Muskegon when the stolen car was wrecked on the reversed curve on US-31, north of West Olive, on Wednesday, Nov. 1. Pulsifer who was driving and Hill, both of whom escaped injuries in the accident, had previously been turned over to Muskegon police.

DALES HUMBLE HINGAMEN, 30-6, IN HOMECOMING

Then Wish Dutch Luck in Battle With Albion Next Week-End

Passes End Local Chance for MIAA Title; In Third Place

MIAA Standings	W	L	T	Pct.
Albion	5	0	0	1.000
Hillsdale	4	1	0	.800
Hope	3	1	1	.700
Kalamazoo	2	3	0	.400
Alma	2	3	1	.333
Adrian	1	4	0	.200
Olivet	0	5	0	.000

Hillsdale college laid a barrage of passes that humiliated hitherto unbeaten Hope college at the Dutch homecoming Saturday afternoon, 30-6, and then wished Hope luck in next Saturday's battle at Albion.

By trouncing Hope, Hillsdale went back in line for a tie for the MIAA championship — provided the Dutch are strong enough to dump Albion in the final game of the season Saturday.

Saturday's defeat wiped out all local title hopes, and no matter what the score at Albion next Saturday, the Dutch are seated in third place for 1939.

The season closes next week with Hope at Albion in the big game of the day. Adrian goes to Kalamazoo Friday and Olivet plays at Hillsdale Saturday.

For a quarter of Saturday's game, Coach Bud Hinga's Dutchmen carried the battle to Hillsdale, even threatening to score; but the Dales—rejuvenated after their 6-3 defeat by Albion a week earlier—came back through the air to annihilate the Hope warriors.

Three touchdowns, one for 60 yards, another 30 yards, and a third just over the goal—coupled within a field goal and a touchdown plunge by Platt added in the fourth quarter—was more than a match for Hope's single fourth quarter drive in spite of the fact that the Dutchmen played the Dales almost evenly in first downs, the locals trailing 11-10. Hope muffed two chances to score, and talled on a third.

TESTING UNCERTAIN IN OTTAWA COUNTY

Grand Haven, Nov. 9.—Testing of herds for Bangs disease under the individual herd test has almost ceased, and there is no assurance as to the date when area testing will begin here, according to L. R. Arnold, county agent.

All testing now carried on in the southern borders of Isco-Manistee counties is being handled through the county area plan. Although nine counties south of the line, including Ottawa, have petitioned for a county-wide test, lack of money makes it impossible to extend it now, Mr. Arnold said. The Ottawa county board of supervisors requested county wide testing a year ago. Individual herd owners may apply for tests from Dr. C. H. Hays, 723 State Office Building, Lansing.

Seek Dismissal of Beer Charges in Picnic Case

Grand Haven, Nov. 9 (Special).—Judge Fred T. Miles had under advisement Tuesday a motion to quash the case against Joe Budzan, 44, Grand Rapids, on a charge of violation of the liquor law in connection with "sale" of beer at a picnic in Tallmadge township last August 20 of the International Workers' order of which Budzan is secretary.

Budzan has been held to the November term of circuit court. Counsel for Budzan at a hearing before Judge Miles Monday afternoon asked that the charge be dismissed as the beer was owned and consumed by the organization on its own property.

Prosecuting Attorney Elbern Parsons, opposing dismissal of the charges, said that when officers of the organization purchased beer with organization funds and gave the beer to its members, the officers were engaged in selling beer within the meaning of the liquor act and that they required a license from the liquor control commission.

Local Club and Guests Hear Inspiring Talk

Filling the Woman's Literary club auditorium to capacity Tuesday night, an enthusiastic audience of club members and their guests heard an inspiring and brilliant address by Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, distinguished pastor of Central Methodist church, Detroit. Mrs. J. J. Brower, club president, introduced the speaker as "one of the great preachers and interpreters of a way of life." The occasion was the annual evening "Jest night."

Taking as his theme, "As a woman thinketh in her heart, so is she," Dr. Crane used this as a summation of all modern psychology. "We are familiar with the conventional interpretation of this truth, that thoughts of an individual eventually determine character, that evil ideals destroy the moral fibre, finally causing the person to break under stress," he said, "and this takes into consideration 'what' the person is thinking. How we use our minds, and how we handle ideas reveals character far better, he stated.

In the realm of psychology there are as many schools as in religion, Dr. Crane said, but diversity makes for security, for the strain and stress brings with it crystallization of opinion, a comprehending hope to life which saves a person from becoming a bigot. No one group or sect holds all the truth, he declared.

Asking his listeners to be utterly honest with themselves, Dr. Crane outlined the various schools of thought in the field of psychology. From the "habitual states of mind" of the William James theories, he described the extreme position of the "trial and error" and "conditioning" of John Watson, and the rationalization of many prominent psychologists.

"Why is it we do so many of the things we do," Dr. Crane asked. While our reactions may be valid from the point of view of the psychologist, "real thinking" is choosing the answer which is valid for the certain situation.

When faced with a problem to solve, Dr. Crane begged his listeners to look at it squarely, to face it and stay with it, calling things by their right names. "Refuse to emotionalize or rationalize, but think realistically," he said. "That kind of mental strain makes character. Unless we wish to face our problems squarely, we will become victims of prejudice," the speaker advised.

The real problems of life are complicated, Dr. Crane said. One should stay with his problem until the significant and relative factors bearing on his own situation seems clear.

With many asking how to live in a world like this, and what is back of it all, Dr. Crane told his hearers that it is Jesus who brings the answer with His simplicity, self discipline and control.

CHRISTIAN HIGH TEAM IN DRILLS FOR CAGE YEAR

Sixteen-Game Schedule Is Arranged for Nearing Court Season

Veteran Maroons Already at Work for Opener in Three Weeks

With teams of Holland in final football drills, Holland Christian high school today pointed the way to the opening of the basketball season by announcing a 16 game schedule of games.

Although the Christian high team has been in drills twice weekly for the past two weeks, Coach John Tuls expects to begin intensive practice before next week-end in preparation for the first game which is barely more than three weeks away.

The Maroons have bright prospects with four veterans among the first five players. Harv Butler, center; Art Tuls and Mel Sjaarda, forwards; and Vern Boersma, a capable lad, who was out of school last winter. Butler and Tuls are juniors.

Another senior on the squad is Clarence Van Lier, a guard with first team experience. Juniors are Howard Kalmink, forward; Ben Westerhof, guard; and Wally Vander Ploeg, center. Sophomores are Dell Boersma, guard; Mart Sjaarda, guard; and Chuck Bazin. All boys have had second team experience.

Vern Boersma, regular guard for the past two seasons, is returning for the first semester of the new season, but he will not be available after February graduation.

The schedule:
Dec. 1—Saugatuck there; Dec. 8—Grand Rapids South there; Dec. 12—G. R. Catholic here; Dec. 15—St. Augustine here; Dec. 22—Ouseg here; Jan. 1—G. R. Christian here (afternoon); Jan. 5—Flint St. Mary's here; Jan. 8—Wyoming Park here; Jan. 16—Jackson Tech there; Jan. 25—Lansing St. Mary's here; Feb. 2—Fennville there; Feb. 6—G. R. Christian there; Feb. 6—Flint St. Mary's here; Feb. 13—Wyoming Park there; Feb. 23—St. Augustine there.

Films Show Club Sport Spoiled by 'Gangsters'

A chance to contrast the real sportsman with the "gangster" hunter and fisherman was given the Holland Lions club at its noon meeting Tuesday in the Warm Friend tavern.

Two reels of sound films, demonstrating activity of real sportsmen in the deer country to that of "nature's gangsters" were shown. The films were sent here by the state conservation department.

The program was in charge of Jerry Houting and Bern De Pree, members of the club's program committee.

The first reel, "White Tails," showed a party of deer hunters constructing a deer camp, and of each member getting his buck.

The first reel was a description of the sport annually enjoyed by thousands of hunters in northern Michigan.

It was said that between 30,000 and 40,000 deer are killed each year, and that about 400 to 600 bears are shot.

During the "off" season, members of the conservation department trap and tag deer, and notice that deer rarely leave one locality.

The greatest problem of the winter in the deer country is the lack of adjustment between food

To Give Third Lecture in Minister Week Series

Dr. Mark Dawber was to give his third lecture in a series of five, sponsored by Western Theological seminary during Ministers' week at 4 p.m. today in the seminary chapel.

Dr. Dawber was to speak on "Our Rural Heritage," a part of the general lecture topic, "Toward a Christian America." Dr. Simon Blocker was to lead devotions.

Two addresses will be delivered by Dr. Dawber Friday. He will speak at 4 p.m. in seminary hall on "The Challenge of the City" and at 7:30 p.m. in First Reformed church on "What Price a Christian America."

Dr. Dawber, executive secretary of the Home Missions Council International of New York city, presented his second lecture Wednesday night in First Reformed church.

A large audience, including ministers and their wives from outside Holland were present.

Dr. Dawber spoke on the immigrants, the Indians and Negroes in this country. There are 7,000,000 mountaineers in the Appalachian range among whom the Reformed church is conducting its missionary work, he stated. He said there are 14,000,000 first generation immigrants and that this group has 26,000,000 children of the second generation, a large number of which are not touched by the church.

The Negroes, he stated, are affiliating with Communistic groups.

Blockade Causes Delay in Mail for Netherlands

Bearing the date of Sept. 27, another letter has been received by The News from Mrs. Sarah Williams Bosman of Amsterdam, The Netherlands, in which she relates conditions in Holland resulting from European warfare. Mrs. Bosman's letter is headed "From the Diary of a Dutch Lieutenant's Wife."

Most American mail is slow in reaching Holland these days for the Holland-American line boats which brings the post must go slowly and carefully. They are usually held up once each night in crossing, by whom it is not stated, and they must wait their turn for search for contraband by the English authorities in the channel. Letters coming by clipper post, however, are delivered within a week after they are posted.

Boats going to the Dutch East Indies once more voyage around the cape instead of through the Mediterranean. Higher insurance premiums on shipping in the Mediterranean and the expense of going through the Suez canal makes it cheaper to round the cape despite the extra coal and food consumed on the longer voyage. The Royal Dutch airlines begins and terminates its India service at Naples but trains are running regularly between Amsterdam and Paris again.

In the town of Nuiden on the Zuider Zee, all the schools are used as barracks and the beautiful medieval castle has been converted into a school. The knights' hall echoes the pitter patter of small feet instead of martial tread and children repeat their lessons where once minstrels sang their lays.

Taking advantage of the fact that much of her land lies below sea level, Holland has known to make of the water serve as an ally in times of trouble. As a precautionary measure, the flood gates have been opened and much of Holland already stands under water.

We have had a month of mobilization. Most conversation turns, as it did in 1914, about the question, "Will Holland be able to keep out of the war?"

Our next problem at the American Women's club is to consist of a talk on what to do in case of air raids and practical first aid instruction. It frightens me to see air raid shelters being built in and deer, it was said. It is found that there are too few deer in good food areas, and too many deer in poor areas. Because trapping and removal of some deer to other areas is impractical, and because cutting down trees for food is too expensive, the problem is a great one.

The second reel, "Nature's Gangsters," shows numerous game law violators, and demonstrated methods of the conservation department in capturing the outlaw hunters. It was pointed out that conservation department officers are handicapped because each officer must watch an area of about 550 square miles. They need the cooperation of honest citizens, it was said.

Speaking of rainbow trout, which is illegal at any time of the year, was described as one form of violation.

Dynamiting of streams not only kills many mature fish, but destroys many small trout.

The reel also condemned placing salt licks to lure deer to killing distance, and described the murder of thousands of deer each year, both in an out of season.

Among guests at the meeting were former conservation officer, Police Chief Ira A. Antles; Frank Lievesse, past president of the Holland Fish and Game club; and Dr. W. M. Tappan, former president of the Holland Pointer and Setter club.

Cavanaugh, 79, former Allegan county resident and son of the pioneers of Watson township, who died Wednesday at his home in Detroit, will be held in the Watson Catholic cemetery. Approximately 187,122,000 acres of nationally owned land is under protection of organized fire control systems in the United States.

park, by bus and car stops. "Yes, we hope they won't be necessary," my husband tells me, "but the government must do something."

And every day, we discuss our individual problem, sending the children to their grandfather in America. Should I take them? I being an American citizen, would not be allowed to return to Holland so long as the war lasts and there is not one else we feel we could send them with. So meanwhile we stay.

Holland has forbidden the flying of any foreign flag except by consulates, legations and embassies, in the attempt to safeguard her neutrality in every way. This is difficult to do. Already the Dutch Nazis, at work with anti-English propaganda.

We were entertaining an officer from out of town one evening recently. He had just told us of a circular put in his mailbox. Our front gate clicked and my husband took from our box, the identical circular. It read:

"Gasoline, Tea, Sugar As Much As We Will."

"Dutch India still belongs to us. There, millions of liters of petroleum are continually pumped to the surface. Tea and sugar can be produced in quantities we want. There, still is the Dutch merchant marine to transport the produce of the Indies to The Netherlands. It is, therefore, as plain as a pole above water that there need be no shortage of gasoline, tea or sugar in The Netherlands. A shortage can exist only (and this rest is underlined) when England uses force to forbid Holland to bring from her own colonies and in her own ships what is needed for home consumption. Is this clear or not?"

We phoned the police immediately and tried to follow the couple distributing the circulars but they got away from us.

There is no shortage of gasoline, tea or sugar in The Netherlands as the circular just quoted would lead to believe. We hope there will be no shortage. That the government limits the sale of these products to one's reasonable needs is only another example of wise Dutch foresight. The government deserves the full cooperation of the people.

Saugatuck

Friends here have received word of the recent death of a former resident, Miss Anna Taylor, 88, following a stroke at her home in Santa Monica, Calif. The Taylor family left here in 1912 to make their home in California, and Miss Taylor was the last member of her family, two brothers and a sister having died previously.

The family lived for many years in "Seven Gables" on Pleasant Ave., and the father, the Rev. J. Rice Taylor, was credited with the erection of the Episcopal churches of both Holland and Saugatuck. A brother, Alfred B. Taylor, was a well known merchant here for many years, and in 1896 he established the Fruit Growers State bank, in which Miss Anna for several years held the position of bookkeeper.

Mrs. Cora Bliss Taylor, founder of the Taylor Art school here, and recently opened a studio in Detroit, was honored Sunday at a tea given her by a group of 300 guests attended the tea at the studio, which is adjacent to Wayne university. Mrs. John R. Pear of Grosse Pointe, well known to many Saugatuck friends, was a member of the student group which sponsored the event. Mrs. Taylor is an accomplished vocalist in addition to her gift for painting.

Eleven past matrons of Saugatuck chapter, O. E. S., attended the meeting of the Allegan County Past Matrons club in Pennville Saturday. This was a cooperative luncheon at 1 o'clock, followed by the regular biennial business meeting. Those who attended from here were Mrs. Sarah Shickman, Mrs. Albertine Dates, Mrs. Thomas Hedglin, Mrs. Winifred MacDonald, Mrs. Nellie S. Naughtin, Mrs. Abbot B. Davis, Mrs. Frank Wicks, Mrs. Harry Jackson, Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Mrs. F. E. Force and Mrs. F. J. Walz. The next meeting of the organization will be held in Allegan next June.

Legionnaires and their families are invited to attend the third annual Allegan county American Legion association celebration of Armistice day in Griswold Memorial building, Allegan, Saturday at 7 p.m. A cooperative supper, a program presented by members of various posts, and dancing, games and entertainment for the children will be features of the occasion. Local observance of the day has given way to this association celebration.

Erection of the new American Legion hall is under way on the property on Mason St. which the organization purchased last spring. Practically all the work is being donated by members and friends of the organization. Following plans drawn by Herschel Konold, architect, the work is progressing with George Van Os as head carpenter. Members who are unable to donate time or work are doing their share by hiring those who can do some part of the work.

The plans provided for an assembly hall 27 x 40 feet, with a large fireplace on the east side. Opening off of this larger hall is a small committee room, a rest room, a cloak room and a kitchen. The basement and installation of heating plant therein will be considered at a later date, but at present it is planned to heat with an oil burner installed on the main floor. An attractive entrance is planned, and the plot of ground at the front of the building will be landscaped and will be graced by a flag pole and a cannon. The outside finish of the building will be white asbestos shingle.

Mrs. Charles S. Morse and daughter, Marion, have moved from their farm home on Richmond road into the cottage on Lake St. owned by Myrtle Sewers, where they will remain for the winter.

Taylor Plummer and Paul Smart of Chicago were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Plummer.

A garage and shed building on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Plummer on Griffith St. are being converted into an attractive cottage for year-round use. Mr. Plummer is being assisted in this work by Charles R. Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson and family have moved to Grand Rapids, where he has employment.

The Bruner-Freese unit No. 137 of the Legion auxiliary will hold its next meeting Thursday evening, Nov. 16, with Mrs. Cory H. Bird.

Peace Theme Is Sounded in Mayor's Proclamation

Firm Neutrality Urged by Geerlings as Armistice Day Approaches

Mayor Henry Geerlings today issued an Armistice day proclamation in which he reviewed war conditions in Europe and emphasized as a factor for peace the two-minute silent period at 11 a.m. Saturday, marking the 21st anniversary of the end of the World war.

"Armistice Day has a message all its own. It marks the cessation of hostilities of the greatest war known to our world," he said. "It bespeaks the sentiment of hosts of American people. It is a message written in flood and fire and transcribed indelibly on the pages of man's immortal history."

"In a sense, Armistice day is a day of solemn reflection. We can never forget that eventful day 21 years ago when the news flashed around the world that the war was over, that the cause of the Allies was vindicated, and that the would once more could enjoy the blessings of peace. Mankind was able again to take up the tasks that had been laid aside."

"The most expressive aspect of Armistice day is the two minutes' silence which marks the anniversary of the minute, the hour, the day when the warring nations ceased firing and thus ended the most fearful war of all time. We come again to this hour and wherever we may be, what every we may be doing, we drop the task, uncover our heads and give up our being to the call of our eternal obligation. During this mystic silence memory and hope are busy. We lift pleading hearts to God and pray that the human race may never again rush into the welter of blood. "A great wastefulness comes over us as we think of the dead who died in the war. We recall the hysteria and heartaches of a time when the whole world was upside down. In some American homes fathers and mothers look in vain for one who sleeps in Flanders field. Through these homes there go marching the ghostly echoes of strong young feet which move no more. In some American homes today the war is remembered because of loving and tender hands still minister to a shattered mind and crippled body."

"And what about the present situation? A new and more terrible sight greets us. All the signs of international peace have collapsed like a house of cards. Nations are talking of larger ones. Ten million more men under arms than in 1914. In one nation the leader is training six year old children to fight. In another country mothers are being told that woman is born only to bring sons into the world to die on the battlefield; and the men are told that the most glorious thing in the world is to die on the battlefield. The nations of Europe

ALLEGAN MAY SEEK DIESEL POWER UNIT

Allegan, Nov. 9.—A decision concerning purchase of a diesel plant for standby and auxiliary power to the Allegan municipal plant will be given by the Allegan city council Monday.

The council considered such a plant last Monday night, but decided to postpone a decision.

J. Ford Stratton, manager of the board of public works, showed that the plant is running at peak load, and officials of the board agreed that when the new hospital and athletic field are opened, and if additional factories are brought in, the plant at the dam will not furnish adequate power.

A single unit diesel plant with an estimated cost of $60,000 is being considered.

American aviation equipment is now popular in Chile.

HOLLAND SUGAR PLANT TO MAKE FIRST PAYMENT

December Date Set When Farmer-Growers Will Receive Money

Company Looks to Record Sugar Production for Present Run

John D. Kelly, associated with the Lake Shore Sugar Co., announced today that the first payment on the 1939 sugar beet crop will be made to farmer-growers by the company about Dec. 15.

Total amount of the payment has not been determined, Mr. Kelly said. Initial payment on last year's crop, announced Dec. 13, 1938, amounted to approximately $235,000, less advance "ments."

The company whose plant is located at the west end of 14th St., began its 1939 "run" Oct. 2 and Mr. Kelly said today that it will likely continue for at least another 35 days.

The plant is operating 24 hours per day, seven days per week and is giving employment to approximately 225 workers. Mr. Kelly predicted that this year's run will surpass last year's record run which was the largest since the plant began operations several years ago.

The daily estimated production at the sugar plant is approximately 1,500 100-pound bags of sugar or 150,000 pounds. Mr. Kelly reported that the quality of the beets this year is about the same except for a slightly lower sugar content.

He anticipates that the beet tonnage will be slightly above that of last year. The company has obtained a piece of property, located just west of the plant of the W. E. Dunn Manufacturing Co., 413 West 24th St., and is using it to store the sugar beets.

A spur track has been built onto the property and at the present time 10,000 tons of beets have been stored there. They will remain there until beets now in storage at the sugar plant have been processed.

Mr. Kelly reported that a factory slicing record was established Monday at the plant when 800 tons of beets were sliced in 24 hours.

Exchange Club Is Told of Transportation Factors

Requires Ten Per Cent of Purchases, Trucking Manager Says

"Ten per cent of everything that you buy goes for transportation cost," Donald Smith, general manager of the Michigan Trucking association of Lansing, told members of the Exchange club at their regular meeting in the Warm Friend tavern Monday noon.

"Modern transportation is so much with us that we lose sight of the actual problems that it presents," he said. "In every case transportation leads to industry; where we have transportation, there the industries develop; in early American history, where the rails came, development came soonest. Today, one person out of every seven gainfully employed people in the United States are in some way, directly or indirectly, earning money from the transportation system."

He then cited figures to show the extent of the trucking industry in the United States, in Michigan and in Ottawa county, pointing out that there are four and a quarter million commercial trucks in the United States.

"All this trucking," he said, "interferes very little with the railroads. Sixty-six per cent of all inter-city freight is hauled by rail, 21 per cent by water, eight per cent by pipelines, and five per cent by trucks."

Commercial trucking in Michigan last year paid more than $14,000,000 in weight and gas tax into the state treasury, or more than three times the total maintenance cost on all Michigan's highways, he stated.
