A sackful of dimes symbolized the presentation of a check for $5,800 to the Ottawa chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to supplement locally-raised funds in last January's March of Dimes campaign. The local chapter spent all of its current funds to care for polio victims.

3 Trucks Collide At Intersection; One Demolished

Three trucks were involved in a crash at 9:58 this morning at the crossing of US-31 and 29th St. Dean Miller of route 4, who was riding in one of the trucks received bruises.

Damage to one of the trucks, a pickup driven by John Grissen of route 4, was estimated to be $1,000.

The other trucks involved were driven by James A. Hopp of 74 Lincoln Ave., and John J. Lemmen. Damage to the Hopp truck was estimated to be $400 and to Lemmen's $300.

According to police, the truck driven by Hopp started up from a stop and crashed into the truck driven by Grissen which was going north on Michigan. The impact knocked Grissen's truck into the Lemmen truck.

Hopp was given a ticket for failing to yield the right of way through traffic. Miller who was riding with Grissen and Sidney Brandson of route 4, were the witnesses.

No one was injured in a bus-car crash Wednesday at 12:55 p.m. at the intersection of Pine Ave. and 10th St.

The car, going south on Pine, was driven by Theima Baldrige of 268 West 11th St., and the bus, going east on 10th, was driven by Julius J. Brown of 489 Graafschap Rd.

The driver of the car told police she did not see the bus coming and that wet leaves made the street very slippery and she couldn't stop in time to avoid the collision.

Two cars, driven by Cornelius Huskey of 682 East 10th St., and James Slayer of 19 East 14th St., came together at the intersection of 19th St. and Pine Ave. Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Huskey told police he didn't see the other car until it was too late to stop.

Dr. and Mrs. John K. Winter were to return Wednesday evening from Rochester, Minn., where Dr. Winter attended surgical sessions at Mayo clinic.

County Elections Provide Upset in Non-Partisan Race

Sheriff, Prosecutor Will Be New Officers In County Courthouse

Ottawa county will have a new probate judge, a new sheriff and a new prosecutor as the result of Tuesday's general election.

In an upset, Frederick T. Miles of Coopersville defeated Probate Judge Cora Van de Water, who has held the position 16 years.

The other new officers are Jerry Vanderbeek of Holland, who defeated Sheriff William M. Boeve in the September primaries, and Wendell A. Miles of Holland who succeeds Prosecutor Howard W. Fant, who did not seek re-election. Frederick and Wendell Miles are sons of former Circuit Judge Fred T. Miles of Holland.

Ottawa county, more specifically the 5th congressional district consisting of Ottawa and Kent counties, will have a new U. S. Representative in the person of Jerry Ford of Grand Rapids, who defeated incumbent Bartel Jankman in the September primaries.

As expected, Ottawa county went Republican on a 2 to 1 majority. Preference in Holland city was even more pronounced with a general 3 to 1 majority.

Unofficial returns in the 34 precincts of Ottawa county for probate judge follow:

Miles	12,357
Van de Water	10,527
Majority	1,830

Vanderbeek led the entire Republican ticket in Ottawa county. Unofficial returns follow:

Zuwerik	17,674
Ed Zwemer, D.	7,021
Majority	10,653

Vote in the race for prosecutor follows:

Wendell Miles	16,572
Jacob Ponstein, D.	8,029
Majority	8,543

One of the first concessions of the day in the national race gave victory to Jerry Ford of Grand Rapids as U. S. representative of the district comprising Ottawa and Kent counties. His Ottawa county vote follows:

Ford	17,112
Fred Barr, D.	7,216
Majority	9,896

William C. Vandenberg of Holland was returned to the state senate through a substantial Republican majority of about 9,000 in Ottawa county, whereas he fell behind about 3,000 in Muskegon. Unofficial returns in 80 of the 84 precincts in the 22nd district follow:

Vandenberg	32,801
William Hodges, D.	27,588
Majority	5,213

Gov. Kim Sigler trailed the Republican party both in Ottawa county and Holland city, but he still carried majorities over his opponent G. Mennen Williams, whose election Sigler conceded shortly before noon. Vote in Holland city gave Sigler, 3,855 and Williams, 3,150, and Ottawa county gave Sigler, 13,501 and Williams, 11,370.

The complete unofficial vote of Ottawa county appears on a chart on page 6.

In the amendments, voters followed the advice of school interests and voted an overwhelming "no" on proposal No. 2 calling for defeat of the sales tax diversion amendment, and an enthusiastic yes on No. 3, providing extended periods and reduced majorities for vote on tax limitations.

Holland voted 5,412 to 964 against Proposal 2, and 3,926 to 2,395 for Proposal 3. Ottawa county voted 17,988 to 4,085 against Proposal 2, and 12,287 to 9,302 for Proposal 3.

The county also voted, 14,653 to 7,798, to adopt a pension plan for county employees, and 12,338 to 8,644 against calling a convention for revision of the constitution. Other details will be found on the county chart.

3 Persons Hurt As Cars Collide

Three persons were injured in a three car collision Saturday night at 9:30 one-mile east of Holland on M-21.

Chester G. Russcher of route 1, Zeeland, driver of one of the cars, received right knee and left shoulder injuries. Mrs. Effie Russcher, received severe shock and Judith Russcher, 4, received head injuries in the accident.

The other cars involved were driven by Alfred G. Lawson of Grand Rapids and Montford J. Deising of 261 West 24th St.

According to sheriff's officers who investigated, the Russcher car was driving east, when the car driven by Deising made an improper turn on the highway and ran into the left side of Russcher's car. The Lawson car ran into the rear of Russcher's car. In other words the Russcher car was struck on both the left side and rear.

The injured were taken to Holland hospital for treatment and released.

Deising was given a summons for making an illegal turn.

Zeeland, Nov. 4 (Special) — Mrs. Dena Grote, 87, of Zeeland died Thursday evening at the home of her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Breuker, 248 West Washington St., following a lingering illness.

Surviving are four sons, Fred Meyers of Zeeland, George Meyers of Rusk, Gerrit Grote and John Grote of Zeeland; one son-in-law, Aaron Styl of Muskegon; 12 grandchildren, 20 great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Grace Dyke of Lynden, Wash., and one brother, Harm Alferdink of Germany.

Trial Scheduled In Circuit Court For Theft Case

Alvin Kuipers, 22, of 49 West Ninth St., waived examination in municipal court this morning and was bound over to Circuit Court for trial Nov. 13 at 10 a.m. Bond set at $3,000, was not immediately furnished.

Kuipers was charged with breaking and entering in the night. He signed a confession Tuesday afternoon admitting the theft of $5,520 from a tobacco can buried in a garage owned by Arthur Tyler of 296 Howard Ave.

Police recovered $4,820 in 50 and 100-dollar bills from under the spare tire hub-cap on Kuipers' car. He admitted taking the money last August. Tyler found the loss last Saturday when he went to the garage to get some money.

Gilbert Zuverink of 104 Spruce Ave., appeared at the local court Wednesday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to a charge of hunting without permission. Trial was set for Nov. 10.

The complaint against Zuverink was signed by Henry Van Dyke of route 2.

Jack Bergsma, 18, of Zeeland, pleaded guilty to three separate counts. He paid a $5 fine for not having an operator's license, a $4 fine for speeding and another $4 fine for running a stop street.

Peter G. Brown of Chicago, paid a $10 speeding fine and Sara Brower, 28, of 283 East Ninth St. paid $4 for speeding.

Clifford G. Dobbin, 19, of 135 College Ave., paid a $5 fine for failing to yield the right of way.

A $1 parking fine was paid by Margaret Steffens of 339 Washington Ave.

Five Thousand Gather for JCC Halloween Party

Unusual Costumes, Parade, Clowns and Fireworks on Program

An estimated 5,000 youngsters and adults swarmed into River-view park for the annual kids' Halloween party, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Preceding the park entertainment, costumed youngsters paraded to the park from the Tower building, assisted by bands from Holland high school, Junior high school and Hope college.

New novelties were in evidence this year, and costumes were so varied that judges had difficulty making decisions. Besides the ordinary entries such as clowns, witches, ghosts and fairies, there were such super-deeper novelties as clocks, boxes, peanuts, big cats, a Pied Piper with rats on wheels, a pumpkin, headless man, walking boxes and many other ideas to prove some imaginations had been working overtime.

First prize in the costume contest, a bicycle, went to Carrow Kleinheksel for his entry of a witch on a broomstick astride two black cats. Second prize, a radio, went to Sharon Huff, whose entry was a big JCC clock.

Other prizes went to Ruth Van Dyk, third place; Arlene Van Harn, fourth; Eugene Van Harn, fifth; Barbara Wenzel, sixth; Linda Fehring, seventh; Janet Larson, eighth; Dorothy Larson, ninth; Sandra Dressel, 10th; Robyn McMillin, 11th; Kenneth and Raymond Vinstra, 12th; Sheryl Ann Vanden Bosch, 13th.

Beverly Hill, 14th; Billy Pelon, 15th; Dawn Marie Pelon, 16th; Donald Kievit, 17th; Eva Boyle, 18th; Sheridan Shaffer, 19th; Margie Zickler, 20th. Costume judges were Gerrit Wiegier, Mrs. Louise Krum and Miss Joan Vander Werf.

First prize, also a bicycle, in the jack-o-lantern contest went to Yvonne Pas of Montello park school. Second prize, a radio went to David Bonnette of Washington school, and third prize, a camera, went to Roger Garvelink of Montello park.

Other prize winners were Mary Ann Seif, St. Francis school, fourth; Arthur Sas, Jr., Washington school, fifth; Carl Vincent Seif, Junior high school, sixth; Sally Houtman, Washington school, seventh; Mary de Velder, Washington school, eighth; Jean and Judy De Pree, daughters of the mayor, Froebel school, ninth; Robert Cummer, Lincoln school, 10th. Judges were Mrs. George Dawson and Mrs. Stanley Boven.

Don Jalsing served as master of ceremonies at the park where activities began with the police department serving cider and doughnuts. Candy was provided by the Jaycees.

Entertainment was provided by a three-man clown team from the Grand Rapids YMCA. Music came from Nick Hoffman's callopie.

The party was climaxed by a brilliant display of fireworks, always a delight to children and adults alike.

Long Illness Is Fatal For John Elgersma

John Elgersma, 68, died early Friday morning at his home, 129 East 17th St., following a long illness.

Surviving are the wife Gertrude, four sons, Arend, Floyd, John, Jr. and Richard; two daughters, Mrs. Harold Stull and Mrs. Henry Windemulder; 16 grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. John Timmer of Zeeland and Mrs. Tony Attena of Paterson, N. J.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Ver Lee Funeral home with the Rev. M. Vander Zwaag officiating.

Interment will be in Pilgrim Home cemetery. Friends may call at the Elgersma home where the body reposes until Monday noon.

Four-Year Issue Turned Down at Ballot Boxes

Vote on Road Problem Brings More Calls Than Any Other Vote

Twentieth St. will remain open. Holland voters decided Tuesday.

The most important single issue of the presidential election here was defeated by 676 votes. Voting to close the short street between State and Michigan were 3,195 persons, while those opposing the issue numbered 3,871. There were 242 blanks or discarded ballots.

Thus, Holland voters supported the stand of Common Council which voted 8 to 4 to keep the street open. A strong fight to close the street to allow expansion of Christian high school was promoted by the School for Christian Instruction.

The 20th St. vote was counted immediately after the presidential ballot, and trends and results were available some time after 9:30 p.m.

More inquiries were received by The Sentinel's election staff than any other question.

Final unofficial totals on the 20th St. issue follow:

	Yes	No
First Ward	351	685
Second Ward	498	759
Third Ward	491	605
Fourth Ward	618	562
Fifth Ward	641	574
Sixth Ward	616	686

Totals 3,195 3,871

The 20th St. closing was submitted to popular vote after proponents of the plan signed initiative petitions requesting such action after Common Council voted to keep the street open.

The issue became the liveliest one of the campaign evoking a flood of comment in The Sentinel's Public Opinion column. The vote climaxed about four years of discussion on the closing.

Chest Campaign Over the Top

The Holland Community Chest drive went over the top Monday with pledges and collections of $27,236.22, which is $696.22 more than the assigned quota of $26,550.

Campaign Chairman Peter Kromann, who made the triumphant announcement just before noon Monday, said there are still some contributions coming in from industries and postal employees.

Nearly all divisions went over the top.

The industrial canvass netted $13,624.38; business and professional, $7,058.72; national gifts, $361; schools and colleges, $1,494.87; public employees, $515.25; individual gifts, $2,591.45; suburban canvass, $1,593.55.

Holland's campaign this year was scheduled Oct. 25 through 29, but was extended to Wednesday noon when reports last Friday failed to reach the quota. Today's "over-the-top" reports cut down the campaign by one day.

The drive, sponsored by the Michigan retail shoe dealers, was held throughout the state by the member shoe dealers.

Borr said the local results were gratifying and thanked The Sentinel for assistance. He also lauded the Holland Motor Express for donating trucks and the Chamber of Commerce for helping with collections.

Council to Hire Insurance Expert To Check Policies

Mayor De Pree Lauds Committee for Work In Insurance Study

Common Council, at an hour-long session Wednesday night, voted to hire an expert to study and make recommendations on insurance policies held by the city and the Board of Public Works.

City fathers approved a recommendation of the Ways and Means committee to retain the services of the Insurance and Auditing Inspection Co. of Indianapolis, Ind., for the sum of $350, cost to be proportioned between the city and the BPW.

The measure was introduced by Ald. Harry Harrington, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, who said the study has been under consideration for a long time. Ald. Peter Kromann, another member of the committee, explained operations of such service in which he said a representative of the firm checks all policies with regard to rate corrections, and give opinions on the same coverage at a cheaper rate or broader coverage for the same money, besides checking the financial setup of the insurance companies holding city contracts.

Mayor Bernard De Pree hailed the action of council in dealing with the problem. He said it was the first concrete move in the right direction. He complimented the Ways and Means committee for its comprehensive study of the problem.

Council approved letting three bids for redecorating in the city hall and clinic building. Two bids were awarded Gabe Kulte for redecorating the two rooms in the city clerk's office and the two rooms in the municipal judge's office. The other bid was given John De Ridder for redecorating the first floor of the clinic building. Ald. John H. Van Dyke, chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds committee which made the recommendations, also complimented the work of the fire department which decorated its own office.

Three new street lights will be installed, and two others will be moved, according to a recommendation of Ald. Tony Nienhuis of a Public Lighting committee. New lights will be placed on 22nd St. and 23rd St. between Washington and Van Raalte Aves., and at the foot of East Fourth St. Lights on Third and Fourth Sts. between River and Central will be moved to the Central Ave. intersections.

Attention was called again that any street lights not in operation should be reported to the Board of Public Works.

Two bouquets of chrysanthemums and October roses, placed in council chambers by Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg, were given to Ald. Harrington for his wife who has been ill more than a year.

Referred to the Public Safety commission was a petition from West Ninth St. residents protesting lack of street services because of constant parking of cars in front of homes by employees of Western Machine Tool Works. It was pointed out the area is posted with limited parking signs.

The 20th St. vote in Tuesday's election was canvassed by an election board consisting of Aids. Bertal Slagh, Earl Ragins and John Beltman, who reported vote favoring the closing at 3,197 and opposed 3,875.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood read a report of the annual meeting of the Municipal Employees Retirement system in Lansing Oct. 21. County Surveyor Carl T. Bowen of Spring Lake was one of four persons nominated as a director for the new board. Greengood also read a letter from State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler pertaining to highway improvements and traffic lights.

October reports from the building inspector revealed 40 permits were issued during the month for a total of $66,384. The fire inspection report revealed 190 inspections with 43 warnings.

In routine action, Council approved placing East 25th St. No. 4 sewer, East 28th St. No. 2 sewer and compulsory sewer roll No. 28 on special assessment rolls.

A report from Hartford Steam Boiler inspection and insurance company on hospital boilers revealed local conditions required no attention.

An application for transfer of restaurant and soft drink licenses from Jacob Rusticus to Elmer and Helen Kehrwecker for a restaurant at 208 River Ave. was referred to the License committee with power to act. Also referred to the committee was an application from Arens and Van Dyke for constructing and repairing sidewalks.

A card of thanks from The Slagh family for flowers was ordered filed.

Claims and accounts totaled $26,491.23. Other claims are hospital board, $8,641.01; library board, $810.27; park and cemetery board, $6,148.85; hospital building, $5,182.50; BPW, $21,875.74. The city treasurer reported BPW collections of $30,364.15 and local collections of $36,563.12 including $6,400.75 for paving jobs.

Ald. Peter Kromann gave the invocation. All aldermen were present.

Kalamazoo Back Scores 19 Points In 25-8 Contest

Holland Strikes Back In Second Half to Score Safety and TD

Kalamazoo Central brought one to many men along Friday night as far as Holland was concerned after the Maroons rolled up an impressive 25-8 victory. The Dutch would have fared a lot better if Coach Fred Zuidema had left a 140-pound back named Keith Jones at home.

It was Jones who scored personally 19 of the 25 points. It was Jones who romped 54 yards to a touchdown the first play of the game. It was Jones who booted the extra point. It was Jones who sliced 15 yards for the Maroon's second touchdown. It was Jones who took a lateral and went three yards to score the Centralites last marker.

Midway in the third period, after the Maroons had rolled up 13 points, it looked like a matter of how high the score would go. But, the Dutch fought back in the second half and scored eight points while holding the Maroons to a lone touchdown.

Kalamazoo scored on the first play from scrimmage after Dick Sheets recovered a short Holland kickoff on Kalamazoo's 46. Jones took a handoff from Voss and hit through guard, broke into the clear and ran 54 yards to pay dirt. Three key blocks on the way cleared his path. Jones kicked the extra point and the Maroons led 7-0.

Floyd Johnson intercepted a Holland pass five plays after the kickoff and was downed on the Maroon 47. Six plays later Jones took the ball on Holland's 15 and ripped through center, cut back to the sidelines and went across the last stripe to score. Kalamazoo was found clipping on the conversion attempt and with the ball on Holland's 17 after the penalty, an aerial fell incomplete and the score stood at 13-0.

Minutes later, Holland recovered a Kalamazoo fumble on the Maroon's 10-yard line. Four plays later the visitors took the ball over on their own five.

After a punt to Holland and one play at scrimmage in the second quarter, Kempker faded and heaved a pass that was intercepted by Bob Voss who ran from Holland's 40 to the five before he was hauled down. Terry Nulf crashed through center to the one-yard line. Voss was stopped on the one-foot line before Nulf pushed over tackle for the score. The extra point try was wide and the half ended eight minutes later with the pigskin in Kalamazoo's possession on Holland's 10.

The Dutch defense balked the Maroon speed merchants midway in the third period after Apple-dorn's punt bounced out of bounds on Kalamazoo's 13. On the first play, Jones sliced to the 18 but the Centralites were offside and the ball was put back to the Kalamazoo four-yard line. Nulf lost a yard and Jones made one. On third down, the entire right side of the Dutch line blasted through and blocked Jones' punt. The ball bounced to the right, hit the goal post and rolled out of the end zone. Because a Holland player touched the ball last, the play was ruled a safety and the score was 19-2.

Holland stopped the Kalamazoo offensive on the local's 14 lat. in the fourth quarter. Three plays and a 15-yard penalty put the ball on Holland's one-yard line. Apple-dorn punted out to the 46 and Jones returned to Holland's 34. A few plays later, with the ball on the Dutch three and fourth down, Jones took a lateral from Ron Dillingham, skirted his left end and scored. His kick was wide.

Holland took the kickoff and ran it back to its own 40. The Dutch offense got rolling and passed and ran the ball to the Maroon's one-foot line. After a measure, it was decided the Dutch made a first down. Dick Kempker bowled over tackle for the score. Kempker's kick for the extra point was wide of the uprights.

The game ended two plays after the kickoff.

Hope College Freshmen Win Homecoming Trophy

Hope college freshmen were awarded a trophy Saturday for entering the best float in the college homecoming parade Saturday morning. The winner was announced by the homecoming queen, Toni Fredericks, during half time ceremonies at the Hope-Albion football game. The trophy was awarded to freshmen representatives by Robert Mohr, president of the Albion student council.

The prize-winning float featured a cannibal scene in which the Hope "cannibals" were broiling Albion's football team in a huge pot as two cannibal women read a large cook book.

Honorable mention in the float contest went to the Cosmopolitan fraternity whose float depicting the Old North Church and a drummer, life player and flag bearer was heralded by a man on horseback warning Hopelites that "The Britons are coming."

Miss Fredericks also announced winners in the dormitory decorations competitions. In the girls' division, first place winner was Fairbanks cottage, with West Hall second. The T-barracks second in the men's divisions.

In sports announcements, the queen reported that the Hope cross country team lost to the Albion team in a race Saturday morning. Jack Tirrell was announced winner of the Hope college tennis tournament. Gene Barendse was runner-up. Tirrell will receive the Duffy Wade tennis medal.

Coach Lars Granberg of Hope's cross-country team announced the next meet will be against Kalamazoo college at Kazoo Saturday at 4:30 p.m. He plans to take as many runners as possible to the meet.

Granberg said he was pleased with the Hope showing against the Albion Bulldogs, defending MIAA champions. The score of that meet was 20-39 in favor of Albion although Ivan Huyser of Hope placed first.

Huyser's time for the 3.9 mile course was a "very fast" 20 minutes and 40 seconds. Ted Hagadone and Griffin finished in a dead heat for second. Both are from Albion and they ran the course in 20:32. Tied for fourth were Caulman and Trombley while McCurry, all of Albion, finished sixth. Hope's Don Vandenberg and Collins Ottipoby gave the Dutchmen seventh and eighth places.

Huyser's time of 20:14 means the lanky Dutchman ran each mile in a little over five minutes. He finished the race with a strong sprint that wilted the closest competitor.

Van Raalte Cabs Stage Gala Halloween Party

Cub Pack No. One sponsored by the Van Raalte PTA, held its monthly pack meeting Tuesday night at the school in a form of Trading Spree and Halloween party, starting off with the parade of all costumed Cub Scouts.

Sheridan Shaffer, Lester Overway and Arthur Souter placed first, second and third in the costumes. Following the parade of Cub Scouts boys under Cub age paraded before the parents. Tommy Bouwman, age five, dressed in top hat and tails was the favorite. Kerry Shaffer and Mary DeKraaker tied for high honors for the girls visiting as guests of the Cub Scouts.

The Wolf badge and certificate was presented to Mrs. Ike DeKraaker who pinned the Wolf pin on her son, Dale. The Bear badge, certificate, and pin were presented to Mrs. Jacob VanderWege who presented the pin to her son, Gordon. Gordon also received the gold honor arrow and two silver honor arrows for completing 30 Cub Scout electives. Lion and Webelos badges went to Robert Bouwman, who now will enter Boy Scout ranks in Troop Six.

Paul Elzinga and Jack Van Hoff received two silver arrows each for completing 20 electives in addition to the 10 already earned for their Gold Honor Arrows.

Assistant Cubmasters Preston Shaffer and Leslie Hill conducted games for boys of pre-Cub age, Cubs, girls and also for mothers and fathers attending the pack meeting. Later the children were directed downstairs where the committee had apples, candy, ice cream and cookies ready. Parents attending were treated to coffee, cookies and ice cream. Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanderWege were in charge assisted by Mrs. Claude Lamoreaux, Mrs. Preston Shaffer, Mrs. E. H. Holmen, Mrs. William Brooker and Mrs. Hugh Rowell. Committee members, William Brooker, Marinus Bouwman, E. H. Holmen, Lester Overway and Raymond Souter acted as judges.

Fifty children and 40 adults attended the party.

Rural Health Revealed in Study

Health needs and health services of rural Michigan families have formed the basis of a new bulletin written by Dr. Charles R. Hoffer, Michigan State college research sociologist.

Purposes of the study were to measure the extent of needs for medical attention among farm families, whether adequate attention was given to these needs or if they were neglected, and to find the opinions the families had regarding their medical services.

Titled "Health and Health Services for Michigan Farm Families," the publication reports a study of the rural health facilities of three Michigan counties—Kent, Shiawassee, and Cheboygan. Information that revealed facts on their need for medical attention was obtained for more than 1,200 rural people.

As a measurement of the health needs of the people contacted, a list of 27 selected symptoms was used. These symptoms were judged by medical doctors to indicate need for medical attention. A unique feature in the study was the co-operation of a selected number of families who came to a temporary clinic in each county for a medical examination. The examination showed that interview data were in substantial agreement with the doctor's report about medical attention.

Approximately 48 per cent of the 1,200 persons in the survey reported one or more symptoms within 12 months preceding the interview. Of this number, nearly one-third had used home remedies only, or had neglected the symptoms entirely.

Sixty-one per cent of the families thought medical service in their community was good. The average expenditure per family during the year before the survey was $50.46 for doctor's fees.

Maroon Reserves Swamp Dutchmen

Coach Carroll Norlin's Holland high reserve team tasted defeat Friday afternoon at the hands of the Kalamazoo Central reserves by a score of 30 to 0.

The little Maroons scored three times in the first half. The first tally came on a smash off tackle by George Dunigan from the four-yard line. Minutes later Dunigan scored on a 68 yard dash around end. The third Central TD was made by Dale Stebe, who intercepted a Dutch pass and scampered 45 yards to pay dirt.

The score at the half was Central 18, Holland 0.

In the third period Kazoo finished their scoring with two touchdowns. Larry Dierman, on a line buck from the one, gave Central its fourth touchdown while in the same quarter Dick Gillman lanky end, took a short pass and raced over for the score.

All conversion attempts were futile.

Holland's offense just couldn't get "going" at any time in the ball game and the little Dutch never threatened.

Modern Art Is Discussed At AAUW by Mrs. Reed

Members of Holland branch, American Association of University Women, were entertained and informed Thursday night when Mrs. Wilma Reed talked on "An Introduction to the Study of Modern Painting."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Allen, first vice president and program chairman of the branch.

Mrs. Reed explained that modern art is not necessarily contemporary art. The first impression is often one of strangeness, she said, and many critics disagree on whether it is good or bad. She suggested that rather than always try to understand the paintings, one should simply enjoy the beauty of color and line.

The speaker illustrated her talk with a group of slides assembled by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

Miss Bernice Bishop, branch president, presided at the meeting. Miss Ruth Blekkink, serving as secretary, drew attention to American Education Week Nov. 7-13. Mrs. Preston Shaffer, legislative chairman, urged all to vote and explained proposals 2 and 5.

Reports of a recent AAUW workshop at Muskegon were given by Mrs. Robert Notter, arts chairman, Miss Marian Shackson, education chairman, and Miss Bishop. Mrs. Notter suggested plans for organizing an art study group.

Several new members and guests were introduced. Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Earl Potter, Nov. 18. Mrs. Edward Donivan will give the program.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orle Bishop, assisted by Mrs. J. D. French and the Misses Ruth Blekkink, Laura Boyd and Doris Brower.

Allegan Defeats Zeeland, 36-6

Zeeland, Nov. 4—Zeeland high lost its first league game of the season under the lights Friday night when an inspired Allegan team ran riot in the second half and piled up 29 points to win 36 to 6.

Zeeland won its first two league games, and observers now believe Plainwell is a favorite for the championship. Friday's game attracted a big crowd. Zeeland and Allegan are traditional rivals.

After a scoreless first quarter, Allegan hit pay dirt in the second and Taylor ran over from the one-yard line to score. The team reaped the extra point on a pass from Taylor to Boe. Zeeland came back and scored on a 53-yard run by Halfback Bern Raterink. The kick was wide and the half ended with Allegan on the two-yard line. Halftime score was 7 to 6 favoring Allegan.

In the third quarter, Allegan recovered a fumble on Zeeland's 16-yard line and went on to score. Later Ted Miller scored and the quarter ended 20 to 6.

In the fourth, Allegan scored a two-point safety when Zeeland fumbled behind the goal line. Miller ran for another touchdown. The last touchdown was scored on a 26-yard pass. Hadden to Smith. Smith made all the extra points after the first extra-point pass.

Next week Coach Howard Elzinga's men will meet Plainwell. Plainwell, undefeated in league play, lost Friday night to Hartford, an outside game.

Hope Footballers Face Kalamazoo Saturday Night

Hornets Boast Heavy, Experienced Eleven; Youngs Is Standout

The Hope college football team settled down with the rest of the campus Monday afternoon following the homecoming fanfare and began practice for the Kalamazoo game. The contest will be played Saturday night at Angell field in Kalamazoo.

Coach Al Vanderbush went over Russ De Vette's scouting report of the Kazoo's 13-12 win over Carroll college and said he was worried. The Hornets are big and fast, according to reports. Vanderbush said the Kazoo team has been on and off all season.

Saturday's game will be a battle for second place in the MIAA standings. Kalamazoo and Hope are both tied for the runner-up spot in the league standings this week. Alma still rules the roost.

The Dutch will run into a line as big, if not bigger than their own. The Hornet's forward wall has Milt Christen as tackle. Christen tips the scales at 220 pounds. At center is 210-pound Howard Southworth.

Behind this forward wall the Hornets have a talented array of backs which includes Ken Youngs, Jim Nawrot, Bob Simanton and John Barkowski.

Youngs is one of the best open field runners in the MIAA conference and ranks along with Bill Young and Tom Ward of Hillsdale. Simanton has averaged six yards every time he carried the ball against Carroll last week. Another back, Charlie (Chuck) Stanski, has completed 23 out of 35 passes so far this year.

The Kazoo line is experienced and heavy and have proved to be one of the best in the MIAA conference.

The score of last week's Hornet-Carroll game isn't any indication of the way the Kazoo eleven pushed their visitors around the field. The Hornets piled up 17 first downs and gained 345 yards rushing in that game.

Meanwhile, the few injured Hope players returned to practice Monday afternoon and coaches expect the team will be in peak shape for the game. Claus Holthrop, Bob Koop, Don Van Ingen are all expected to be ready for the Kazoo game.

Standings:

Ottawa County Gets Tax Money

Grand Haven, Oct. 29 (Special)—County Treasurer Fred Den Herder received a check Wednesday amounting to $93,666.20 which represents the sales tax diversion funds collected for the quarter from July 1 to Sept. 30.

Governmental units in the county such as townships, villages and cities share the amount at the rate of $1.57 per capita.

The following population figures and amounts were given:

Holland City, 14,616, $22,947.12; Zeeland city, 3,007, $4,720.99; Grand Haven city, 8,779, $13,814.43; Coopersville, 1,083, $1,700.31; Spring Lake, 1,329, $2,086.53; Holland township, 4,913, $7,713.41; Olive township, 1,304, $2,047.28; Park township, 1,974, $3,099.18; Port Sheldon, 416

A SOLDIERLY DECISION

General Lucius D. Clay's announcement that he will not ask for retirement "as long as Berlin is under blockade" is in the best tradition of the American sense of military duty. General Clay has borne his full share of the heat of the day, before the war and during its progress. His long period of active service would ordinarily entitle him to retire, with a sufficient pension to let him live at ease. Long ago he announced that he was anxious to return to civilian life as soon as the retirement law permitted.

But he recognizes the fact, as do the Russians and the people of Europe in general, that he has become a symbol of resistance to Soviet aggression. He is no longer merely General Clay, a man who happens to be in command of America's military forces in Germany. It seems likely that any one of a dozen younger American generals could take General Clay's place and perform creditably all the duties that are connected with the job. But General Clay, the symbol of American determination to stay in Berlin, is irreplaceable.

If he should retire now, no matter how good his reason might be
and no matter how able a man might follow him, Moscow would take it as a sign of weakness, and the German people in Berlin and throughout the three non-Russian sectors would lose confidence in the determination of the Western powers to see the job through.
More retirement of General Clay
at this time would be a serious blow to Western prestige.

For all these reasons the American general in the top position on the Berlin front has decided to stay on the job until such time
as retirement will be safe for American interests. This decision is obviously in recognition of the fact that, for all practical purposes, we are at war right now.
The only element of war that is lacking is the shooting. A general in good health does not retire in the midst of a war, at least not a general who is trying to live up to the best American military traditions. Any general who should do so in the middle of a shooting war would be regarded as disloyal.

General Clay feels that if he should do so in the midst of the present "cold war" he could also be regarded as disloyal. As he put it in his blunt soldierly language,
"It'd be a d—n poor soldier if I requested to leave." The American people will agree with this statement. But General Clay has never been a poor soldier. He is living up to his own personal standards as well as to American tradition.

Drivers Charged After Accidents in County

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special)
—Marvin H. Stromberg, 20, of route 2, Nunica, was given two tickets by state police, one charging him with excessive speed and the other with failure to report an accident.

Stromberg's car was found by the officers about a mile north of the country club road in Spring Lake township at 5:20 a.m. Sunday, after it had apparently struck an abutment and rolled over, causing considerable damage to the car. No one was traveling in the car and Stromberg later was picked up.

The same department investigated an accident which occurred on M-50 in Robinson township at 9:50 p.m. Sunday involving cars driven by Ora Decker, 69, of route 1, West Olive, which was traveling east, and John Reynolds, 28,
of Muskegon, which was going west. Decker was given a ticket charging him with driving to the left of the center line. The Reynolds car was damaged considerably.

Dear Hunters Meet

Drama in the Bible—Job
By Henry Geerlings

There is a great deal of suffering in the world. No home escapes it. It is one of the most prominent topics in the Bible.
Our newspapers are filled with it.

A characteristic of our age is that of mourning, as it has been of every age that has preceded. That individual who has not suffered is rare. How to think of suffering and how to deal with it is an art.
In the finest sense it is a Christian art. I wonder if there is any other one thing to which so much time and thought are given as suffering, except the making of a living. There is suffering of the body, suffering of the mind, and suffering of the spirit. We meet it at every turn. It lays its hand on the fairest as well as the foulest thing we know. It is here, and it is all around us, and we must learn how to deal with it.

Have you ever observed how good and godly persons suffer,
while the wicked often go scot free? When God declared Job to be an upright and perfect man that is what he meant. But was any suffering quite like his suffering? It would be difficult to find in the dictionary words that could depict in darker colors what he had to endure. You feel when you read of his condition
that much has been left unsaid,
and for no other reason than it could not be expressed in human speech. If you look around you it will not be difficult for you to see that the best people are often those who are broken in body and sometimes in mind.

Suffering is not a sign of personal wickedness. This is not saying that Job was a perfect man.
He had his faults. He never would have called himself perfect.
But the goodness of the man shines forth when the blows begin to fall upon him. You will recall the case of the blind man in the ninth chapter of John's gospel. When the disciples saw him they asked their Master whether this pitiable condition was owing to his own sin or to that of his parents. Jesus said that neither was true. There are sins that assault the individual who commits them. But that is not always the case. Good men suffer. They always have, and they always will.
In many instances they are the worst sufferers. When some af-liction is visited upon us it may be very unwise to conclude that it is the result of the personal violation of the commandments of the Lord. At the same time it ought to be the occasion for a closer walk with God.

One who reads the Old Testament will soon discover it was the belief of the Jews that righteousness was always accompanied by prosperity, while unrighteousness
was attended by poverty and distress. There is a sense in which the righteous are blessed beyond anything the unrighteousness can know. But it is not always in material possessions. Good men have been known to own nothing of his world's goods, and often voluntarily so. They have given themselves so unreservedly to the development of the spiritual life that they did not wish to have their energies distracted by either the care or the luxury or the love of money. There is a reason why God's favorites have been among those who had little of this world's goods. It is difficult for him to get through the armor
that riches forge.

God has not turned against us when things go wrong. One of the arguments employed by the so-called friends of Job was that he must have departed from the best standards of rectitude or he would have fallen in such a plight.
In short, God forsook him because he had forsaken God. That was the argument they used.
When our property slips from us;
when friends forsake us; when our health can no longer be our boast; when hopes vanish, and when shadows cling to our spirit,
we are not justified in concluding that God has turned against us.
One of the most serious mental states we face is to conclude that when these things take their flight God also withdraws His presence.

Troubles are God's messengers to reveal more clearly to us and in His will and mercy. The righteous are not to regard them
as the penalty of special sins.
Their purpose is not punishment,
but discipline. Punishment looks to the past, while discipline looks to the future. When the gracious work is finished the affliction
may be removed. After the broken member is healed the splints and the bandages are removed. Builders are not uneasy about putting the cable to the test. The government is not fearful about putting gold into the fire. It is their faith in these things that makes them
willing to be subjected to the test.

November Events Set
By Royal Neighbors

The October committee, with Mrs. Ben Van Dam as chairman, was in charge of the social hour following the regular meeting of the Royal Neighbors Thursday night.

Prizes were given to Mrs. Clinton Nichols, Mrs. Richard Ellison and Mrs. Lillian Bicks. Refreshments were served.

It was announced that on Nov.
4 officers will practice for the initiation that will take place Thursday, Nov. 11.

Holland
In 1915

The Forward Movement club met last night at the home of Henry Vande Water, 207 Lincoln
Ave. The subject for roll call consisted of responses to the question
"Is our present aldermanic system of municipal government a success?" This news story appeared in the Saturday, Oct. 2, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1915.

That Hope college is making rapid strides as a good thorough educational institution with healthful moral surroundings is shown by its rapid growth. The student enrollment is 364 in the academic department. This does not include the hundred or more students that are studying in the school of music which is growing more popular each year.

Four hundred and thirty-four is the exact number of hunters' licenses issued by County Clerk Jacob Glerum under the new statute since the first day of September.

Yesterday afternoon a mass meeting was held in the high school to inform the students of the big mass meeting to be pulled off in the evening at 15th and River Ave. The purpose was to start enthusiasm for the school's first football game of the season, with Allegan this afternoon.

A reception for the Rev. J. W.
Eaveld and family was held in the parlors of the M.E. church Thursday evening.

Miss Maud C. Kleyn has resumed her voice teaching in the Ann Arbor Conservatory of Music.
She has been an instructor at the University for several years and is an accomplished teacher.

Steps are being taken to establish at least one rural free delivery route out of Douglas. A number of patrons living east of that town on the river road are so far from Fennville that they prefer to come to Douglas for their mail.

It is said that the entertainment committee had two objects
in view when they induced the Common Council of Zeeland to allow moving pictures to be displayed to the public during Homecoming week, began a story in the Monday, Oct. 4, issue. One object was to make it one of the attractions of Homecoming on Thursday and Friday. The other was to show the citizens of Zeeland
and those in authority that moving pictures, if run in a high class manner, are not as bad as they are painted, and is really a wholesome pastime and something that Zeeland needs in the way of diversion.

On Wednesday of this week
Grand Haven will be host to 100
bankers whose homes are in representative districts up and down
the west coast of Lake Michigan in the official section known as "group four."

Holland High school played an exhibition game Saturday against Allegan on the 19th St. grounds.
It was evident from the first whistle that Allegan was entirely outclassed. The rest of the game proved it, for Allegan failed to score once. The final score, 132-0, sets a new record in the game for Holland. The previous record of 103 was made against Sparta last year.

Wednesday evening will witness
the first meeting of the city
Y.M.C.A. under the direction of the new secretary, Manor Stegeman.

James R. Schepers, formerly living south of the city, is now manager of the Fairmont Perchern and Cattle farm at Gretna, Virginia. He will be married next spring to Miss Florence Vaden of Richmond, Va.

Elmer Hoek left for Ann Arbor
this morning to continue his studies at the University of Michigan.
Ed Mulder also left for Ann Arbor to continue his work there.

Mrs. J. C. Post has returned home from visiting her daughter, Ruth, who is teaching in Coldwater.

At a meeting of the council tomorrow night no doubt the matter that has been talked of by the council members for the last month, namely the purchasing the
C. L. King & Co. property for park purposes, will come up, according to a story in the Tuesday,
Oct. 5, issue.

Arnold Mulder has accepted the position as publicity agent interposed him recently by the State Board of Health and he has already entered upon his duties in connection with the new work.

The W. E. Dunn Manufacturing Co. is being incorporated for $40,000 with $25,000 common stock and $15,000 preferred stock.
Last evening the Chamber of Commerce entertained the Zeeland Businessmen's association at a smoker. A large number of Zeeland men were present. A. H.
Landwehr, president of the Holland C.O.C., welcomed the visitors.

At a meeting of the Board of Public Works last evening the question of installing lights in the alleys as requested by the Board of Police and Fire commissioners was taken up and although the board is desirous of seeing these alleys properly lighted to serve as a protection to the patrolmen,
still legally the city attorney has given a ruling that the city could not install them as it would be placing lights on private property.

The students and faculty of Hope college and high school were entertained last evening by the Christian Endeavor society of the Third Reformed church, about 300
being present.

president for the balance of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skinner gave a party at their home on East 16th St. in honor of Mrs. Laura Oosting who expects to leave for Los Angeles, Calif., in about a week, where she will make her home.

Volleys From Ambush

BERT SCHUITEMA, genial milkman living near Zeeland, deserves a good pat on the back.
While delivering milk early one morning a few days ago, he found a tackle box in an alley in the business section.

Rather than leave the box to be crushed by traffic, he tossed
it into his milk truck and continued his route. Several hours later he remembered the box and opened it. Instead of fish hooks and lures, he found money! He showed it to City Inspector Ben Wiersema who happened to be making tests in the dairy at the time and Ben suggested Schuitema contact city police before seeking the owner.

So Bert took the box to the police station and turned it over to Sgt. Jerry Vanderbeek who found cash amounting to $1,200.
Vanderbeek assigned Patrolman
Hank Vanden Brink to accompany Schuitema to the section where the box was found.

Then Schuitema found the owners. Curiously, the proprietors had discovered the loss shortly before and were trying to reconstruct "the crime."

Justifiably pointing with pride
to Zeeland's employment record, Bill Baron, erstwhile secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, thinks his home town does pretty well in employing 1,353 in a town which officially lists a population of 3-000.

Of course, the chamber usually refers to the population figure at 4,000 since Zeeland experiences
the same problems of Holland in that city limits do not extend far enough to include much of the building going on.

"When you're on the streets at 6 a.m., you see everybody going to work in Grand Rapids and Holland and you wonder what Zeeland does. Then when you're on the streets at 7 a.m. you see all kinds of cars coming from Grand Rapids and Holland to work in Zeeland," Baron said.

That new car the drivers' training
students are using these days
is a smart number. It is provided for use through an arrangement made by the AAA, which sponsors driving classes in cooperation with car agencies. The car is equipped with dual controls. The car which the Lions club provided last year for the purpose was returned to the club, after arrangements were completed for the new presentation.

That "Vote for Truman" sign
on Zeeland's water tank is coming down pronto. The work of art was done by a prankster, and Zeeland's Board of Public Works,
which doesn't believe in mixing
business with politics, wasn't particularly amused. Supt. Peter Barr said the department is investigating. Yes, there's some kind of a law about trespassing and defacing property.

Getting pheasants through means other than hunting with guns has long been established,
but the latest to enjoy a meal
was the Ben Kroeze family after a bird committed suicide by flying against their house at 236 West 13th St.

Mrs. Fred Vanden Heuvel, Sr., of Pine Creek, who reported having picked a bouquet of lilacs from bushes in her yard Friday,
also has another claim to fame. In her garden she has a squash weighing 25½ pounds.

Some of those prizes at the Jaycee Halloween party the other night didn't "fit" the winners. But that made no difference to Sheryl Vanden Bosch who won a boy's prize in the costume contest. She preferred the football!

Pair Fined, Sentenced
On Petty Larceny Count

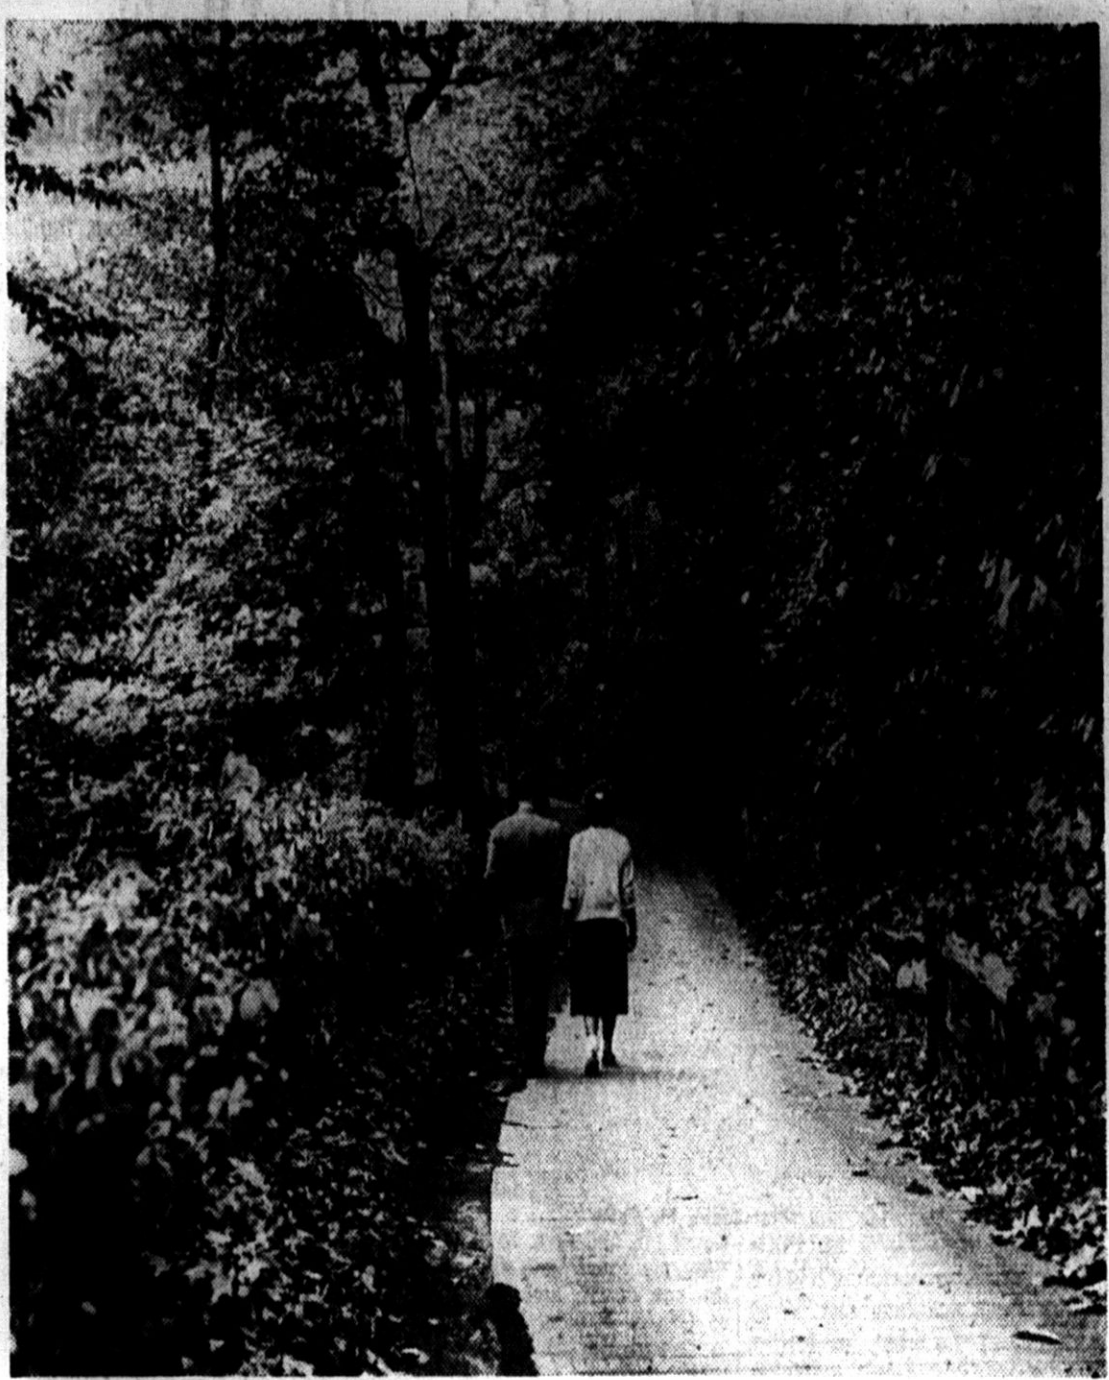

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special)
—Louis Coates, 21, and Buster Langston, 34, both of North Muskegon, were arraigned before Justice George V. Hoffer Friday afternoon on a charge of petty larceny, and each was sentenced to pay $10 fine, $8.95 costs and serve five days in the county jail.

The pair is alleged to have taken a quantity of scrap metal from the abandoned Cech farm south of Grand Haven Thursday afternoon. Two of the Cech relatives saw the pair taking the metal,
and obtained the license number of the car.

Muskegon officers picked up
one Thursday night and lodged him in jail and Friday officers of the sheriff's department, with the assistance of the Muskegon officers, found the other and brought both back to Grand Haven to face the charge.

Tavern Is Entered

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special)
—State police are investigating an alleged breaking and entering into Murphy's tavern on US-31 in Grand Haven township which occurred either late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The break-in was discovered by the owner, Edward Murphy about 3 p.m. Sunday. The safe was "cracked" and about $2,000 in cash was taken. It has not as yet been determined how entrance was made.

These two young people, surrounded by the colorful beauties of nature, find themselves in a quiet dream world, oblivious to the excitement of a hectic election day. Political battles, or any other troubles for that matter, are completely forgotten and replaced by awe at the exquisite color scenes offered by autumn in Michigan.

Indian Summer State's Best Season of Year

By Dick Blouin

Indian summer has been termed a state of mind, a time when the heart warms and mellow with the weather.

It comes after the first fall
frost warns us that winter is on the way, and not too far ahead, a friendly respite we always receive joyfully, as we have here for the last few days.

The first frost is important, for experts refuse to concede that any warm period without it is any more than a lingering of the real summer. Indian summer has other qualities too. The sky is clear, the sunshine bright and a mellow haze hangs over the horizon.

It is a time to be outdoors—a time for walks along the lake shore, or hiking overland in any direction, as most of our college and high school students in Holland may attest. Anywhere outdoors, there is more to see than at other seasons. Nature is resplendent in her most striking garb before meeting winter with bare and sapsless boughs.

Turning from the more pleasant side of Indian summer, it is also the time when the fall household chores must be completed before the arrival of the first wintry blasts. Covering rosebushes, putting on storm windows, making of apple cider and the rest, are an indication that cold weather is soon to arrive.

There are many legends as to how this season derived its name.
The most favored is that the Pilgrim fathers, in their first autumn
here, dolefully concluded at the first cold spell that winter was on the way. Indians pointed to the southwest and assured them
that summer would soon be back.
It did, to the delight of the men who were so far from their ancestral land.

Other legends are that the Indians thought it a special gift from the beneficent gods of the southwest, and another, that its name came because of its hazy appearance; the season when the Indians set fire to the grasses
of the prairies and filled the air with smoke or haze.

Like every other phenomenon,
there is a reason for Indian summer, and this is how the weatherman accounts for it: The first killing frost comes because cold winds blow down from the arctic regions and drive the mercury
of the thermometer down and down. The cold leaves an area of low barometric pressure in its path.

Then, in the south, some warm breezes from the tropics move along north, forming a high barometric pressure area that pushes on and on into the low pressure area. When it gets here, it warms everything.

And so—with our minds set for the approach of winter, we cling regretfully to the luminous, lazy qualities of Indian summer, knowing all too well that winter is not far away.

Woman Hurt at Game

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special)
—City police are investigating a disturbance during the Grand Haven-Grand Rapids Creston game Friday night when a person threw a gallon jug into the crowd. The jug hit Mrs. Chris-Kammerdam of West Olive in the back and she was taken to Municipal hospital for treatment.
She was released Saturday morning.

Is it really true that when it was invented most people predicted the automobile would never be popular?

Ganges Grange initiated seven
new members into their order
Friday evening. The first and second degrees were confirmed.

Mrs. Alice Wightman will be hostess to the Home club Nov. 5.
Mrs. Etta Larsen is program chairman.

Mrs. F. R. Mosier spent Wednesday with friends in Allegan.

Couple Fined on Disorderly Count

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special)
—Joe Garrow, 56, of Grand Haven, and a companion, who first gave her name as Helen Tipsword
and then changed it to Helen Love, 38, also of Grand Haven, were arrested by city police early Saturday morning in a room on Columbus St. Each was charged with disorderly conduct. Garrow paid $10 fine and $4.95 costs and his companion was sentenced to serve 10 days in the county jail
by Justice Peter Verduin on Saturday.

Robert Stickles, 26, of Grand Haven, charged by city police with failing to stop and identify himself after an accident which occurred on North Seventh St. early Saturday morning when he allegedly struck and caused damage to a car owned by Victor Harmon of Grand Haven, paid $35 fine and $4.45 costs. City police had to chase Stickles as far as the "Jacknife" bridge before they caught him.

James St. Amour, 21, of Muskegon, and Alba Robinson, 17,
of Muskegon Heights, who were found engaged in a fight on the highway in Spring Lake township
early Sunday morning, each paid $10 fine and $5.20 costs upon their pleas of guilty to disorderly charges placed against them by state police. Both were lodged in the county jail over the week-end.
The three latter arrangements
were in Justice George V. Hoffer's court.

Five Persons Fined

Lynn Saupé, 20, of Waukazoo, paid a $3 fine in municipal court
Saturday for running a red light and Roscoe De Vries, 30, of route 6, paid $5 for going through a stop street. Parking fines of $1 each were paid by James Heerspink of 299 West 18th St.; Kenneth D.
Northuis of 112 East 18th St. and Gerald Krompholtz of Holland.

Hope Has Chance To Share Title In MIAA League

Michigan's three unbeaten football teams headed for the final third of the season today, with records intact and, of the trio, only the University of Michigan had a close call over the weekend.

The Wolverines edged Illinois, 28 to 20, for their sixth win this season and 20th straight, while Alma and Michigan Tech blanked minor foes.

Alma needed only one more win for a certain tie in the MIAA title chase. It's 27-0 win over Grand Rapids Junior College Friday night gave it six straight and half of the wins have been in conference play.

Hope college kept alive its chances of tying Alma by celebrating homecoming with a 33-6 win over luckless Albion. The game gave Hope a record of two victories and one loss and hinted that the Alma-Hope game Nov. 13 may decide the title.

Michigan teams won three of five contests with foreign foes Saturday with big-timers Michigan and Michigan State topping the sheet. The Spartans dumped Oregon State, 46 to 21.

Michigan Tech won its sixth straight by swamping Northland College of Ashland, Wis., 47 to 0, and on the other side of the balance sheet Miami University stopped Western Michigan, 34 to 28.

Allendale

The Rev. J. M. Dykstra of Zeeland was in charge of the Allendale service at Allendale Christian Reformed church Sunday afternoon.

The Hudsonville Male chorus will give a program Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Allendale Christian Reformed church for the benefit of the Alben Christian school bus. The board of the association is sponsoring the program.

Mrs. D. Roeters of Grand Rapids is employed in the home of Mrs. S. Lenters.

Cornell Van Dyk is making considerable progress in the building of a greenhouse.

Last Wednesday evening Alma Veldink was feted at a bridal shower at the home of Mrs. John Rotman. Mrs. Rotman and Francis Elsinga were hostesses. Guests were present from Holland, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Zeeland, Eastmanville, Grandville and many from this locality. A pleasant evening was spent and the honored guest was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. She also was guest of honor at a shower on Thursday evening given by Rose Eisen and Gereldine Veldink, at the home of Mrs. F. Veldink. The bride-to-be was showered with many pretty gifts. She will be married to Joseph B. Rotman in the near future.

John Kraker who has been ill for a long time submitted to surgery at Blodgett hospital the past week. He is improving.

Mrs. T. Vander Lugt left for an extended visit with relatives out west.

Orville Steggerda is improving his residence by adding a sun porch.

Mrs. Peter Branderhorst is still confined to her home but is improving.

and Northern Illinois teachers beat Michigan Normal, 10 to 7. In a pair of night games Saturday, Detroit Tech defeated Olivet, 14 to 12, and Ferris and Northern Michigan battled to a scoreless tie.

Buick Features Dynaflo Drive

Buick's new dynaflo drive featured exclusively in that car, eliminates transmission and clutch and provides smooth operation. This is considered one of the outstanding automotive engineering developments since the war. Fred Heider, Buick dynaflo instructor, recently spent three days here instructing the Buick servicemen.

Buick's dynaflo drive is described as "an infinitely variable transmission" which gives car owners a completely new conception of effortless driving "without the use of gears or the conventional clutch under normal driving conditions." With dynaflo drive, Buick becomes the first American passenger car to offer the torque converter transmission.

Arie Ter Haar is the local Buick and Pontiac dealer. His showroom and garage is located at 150 East Eighth St.

G. M. hydromatic is featured on the Pontiac cars. A five-day school recently was held at the Ter Haar garage for the local servicemen. Also attending were men from eight surrounding cities. Jim Spence of Pontiac was instructor.

Purpose of these schools is to assure Buick and Pontiac customers of car service by expertly trained mechanics.

Familiar Sites Change Ownership

Two of Holland's familiar landmarks, the store and house at 254 and 258 River Ave., recently changed hands after more than 60 years of ownership by one family.

A deal was completed whereby the store and house were sold by Oscar Wilms to Edward Voss. The property was owned by the Wilms family since 1884. However, both buildings have been vacant for the last several years.

Voss has installed another branch of the Reliable Bicycle shop in the store and is in the process of redecorating. An upstairs has been added to display toys and a 30 by 25 feet addition is being completed.

The toy showroom will be a year-around proposition, not just during the Christmas shopping season.

The entire new store is a branch of the main Reliable store at 136 West 19th St. The store also deals in bicycles, locks and keys. The house was purchased to allow for any future expansion and it is later planned to install a full line of building hardware to tie in with the key and lock department.

It is expected renovation work will be completed in from two to three weeks and five persons will be employed at the store. Norman Van Lente will be assistant store manager and Voss will be manager.

Buffet Supper Honors Miss Louise Ter Beek

Mrs. Norman Ter Beek of Niles entertained at a buffet supper and shower Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ter Beek honoring Miss Louise Ter Beek, who will be married Nov. 20 to Charles W. Claver.

Decorations for the table at the miscellaneous shower were in keeping with the Halloween season. Chrysanthemums in fall shades and a miniature bride and groom were features. Mrs. Ray Ter Beek poured.

Guests were the Misses Betty Van Lente, Edna Mae Van Tatenhove and Betty Brinkman and the Mesdames Cornelius Ooegema, Gordon Brewer, William Bennett, Glenn Bruggers, John Stephens, L. W. Lamb, Jr., Donald Walchenbach and William Hillemonds.

Local Restaurants Nationally Known

"Delicious food — prompt and efficient service." "Prices reasonable for really good food, will come back," and "We brag on your food in California" are a few of the comments on the outstanding food and service at the Dutch Mill restaurant, West Eighth St., Holland, and The House by the Side of the Road, at Saugatuck. These nationally known eating places are owned and operated by Paul Van Raalte.

The complimentary praises of these two places are brought forth by messages printed on the back of each guest check, expressing aims of the management. It says, "Dear Guest: We thank you for your visit and for the pleasure of serving you. We want always to make an effort to serve good food better. Please write what you think of us. We'd like to know."

This same courtesy and efficiency are extended in service at private parties in the Colonial Room of the Dutch Mill and at The House. The newly-decorated Colonial Room is a popular setting for special events, filled with engagements continually for wedding parties, business meetings and college functions.

The quaint Old Mexico atmosphere at The House is a delightful setting for Christmas parties or other private events. The beautiful huge fireplace, Mexican tapestries, variety of cactus plants and bright fiesta color schemes make any party a special occasion.

It is estimated that the U. S. has used nearly seven trillion 200 billion board feet of forest products since the discovery of the country.

Sending Packages Overseas? Better Act Right Away

Postal Authorities Issue Regulations On Christmas Gifts

Christmas is coming. And if you have any friends or relatives overseas, now is the time to get that present in the mail.

According to local postal officials, if you don't act before Nov. 15, charges are it won't be delivered till after Christmas.

Deliveries are still slower than before the war, says the post office, explaining that an enormous number of relief packages are being sent overseas.

Here is some pertinent information relating to gift parcels issued by the departments of the Army and the Post Office:

If a gift is being sent to a person who has an APO number, the package may weigh up to 70 pounds, and may contain anything that could be sent through the mails here in the United States. These goods are not subject to customs duties, but the receiver cannot act as an intermediary for a foreign national. The present must be for him personally.

(Alcoholic beverages, inflammables, firearms, and poisons are taboo as they are in domestic mail.)

I like the person to whom the gift is being sent does not have an APO number, the parcel can weigh no more than 22 pounds. Anything in the parcel may be subject to custom's taxes. This means it is hardly worthwhile to send cigarettes or chewing gum. Either of these may be taxed highly. The tax varies from country to country. Both England and France will soak the receiver with a 50-60 cent tax per pack. Ditto for chewing gum.

Cigarettes cannot be sent to occupied Germany, but staples such as food and clothing can be sent anywhere in the world. Only one 22-pound package can be sent a week to the same person. But no matter whether the person has an APO number or not, the same mailing deadline holds. So don't wait much longer.

Writer Details Soviet Beliefs

"The main reason that Communism is so popular in Russia, is that the great mass of Russians are controlled and motivated by a belief in this form of government, which has given them more than they ever had before," Robert Kazmeyer, lecturer, told members of the Rotary club at their Thursday noon meeting.

"If we can get along with Russia for the next 10 or 15 years, we will solve Europe's problems," he predicted. "Perhaps one of the main reasons we cannot agree with the Russians, is the completely different thought and way of life, of an eastern nation," he said. "There, everything is slow, and the slogan of the people seems to be, always put off 'till tomorrow, that which can be done today. Unfortunately, tomorrow never comes," he added.

"Communism has such a grasp on the people, that they are willing to work 12, 14 and 16 hours a day, all for the good of the Communist government, and firmly believe that they are changing the world, and for the better. You see," he said, "they have no idea that people can live as we do in America, as they have never, until Communism came, known literacy."

John Donnelly presided at the meeting in the absence of the club president, the Rev. William C. Warner.

Bass River

A number of local people attended the annual meeting of milk producers.

Jake Vander Mole is confined to Municipal hospital, Grand Haven, where he underwent surgery Monday morning. His condition is satisfactory.

The Rev. and Mrs. Emory Scott and two children of Owosso spent several days last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett and two children, Allen and Marcia Louise, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lowing spent several days last week at the former's cabin at Wellston near Manistee.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McMillan and two sons, and Mrs. McMillan's mother, Mrs. Edith Fleason of Spring Lake spent a day last week the former's sister, Mrs. Howard Tuttle.

Jimmy Tripp, Spring Lake spent several days last week with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. McMillan.

Mrs. John Schippers was hostess to 20 women at her home Wednesday evening. Games were played and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald and three children of Georgetown spent Sunday with relatives here.

Lilacs in October

Mrs. Fred Vanden Heuvel, Sr., of Pine Creek told the Sentinel she picked a bouquet of lilacs from bushes in her yard this morning. This is the second time this year the bushes have bloomed.

Mrs. James De Pree of Zeeland displays a Mark Twain doll, one of the most interesting in her collection which features dolls from nearly every country in the world. Mark Twain with his shaggy white hair and drooping mustache is always readily recognized by persons looking at the collection for the first time. Dishes on an upper shelf are family heirlooms.

Collecting Dolls Makes An Interesting Hobby

Zeeland, Nov. 4 — While her husband dabbles in chalky pastels, Mrs. James De Pree follows several hobbies of her own. Her leading hobby is her doll collection in which nearly every country in the world is represented, but she also works in oils and water colors, leathercraft and collects old glass and silver.

A practical arts instructor for several years before her marriage, Mrs. De Pree makes dolls herself, but in her own words "does them badly."

Her collection includes dolls from the Netherlands, Russia, Italy, Portugal, Peru, San Salvador, Chile, Argentina, the Philippines, Arabia, Belgium, Italy, China and Mexico. Many wear costumes of the country in question, but some are novelty dolls, such as the hand-carved doll from Russia.

She also has a group of "down south" dolls whose heads are made of chestnuts, walnuts and hickory nuts. A favorite is a Mark Twain doll which she obtained in his home town. Another favorite is a dried apple doll of a little old man sitting in a chair. There is an Avis Lee doll, the type used on Dickens Christmas carol greetings.

One of the latest additions is a doll sent from Arabia by Mrs. Edwin Luidens, a missionary. She also has a doll which Willard C. Wichers of Holland brought her from the Netherlands early in 1947.

Mrs. De Pree prefers working in water colors and oils while her husband works in pastels. His hobby was the subject of a Sentinel story some weeks ago.

During the war and afterwards, Mrs. De Pree regularly spent a day a week teaching crafts to wounded veterans at Percy Jones hospital in Battle Creek.

The former Edna Brandt, Mrs. De Pree was born in Muskegon. When she was 10 years old the family moved to Zeeland where her father operated the Zeeland hotel. She studied at Columbia university in New York and taught two summers at Horace Mann school in New York, the aim of most art teachers. Then she taught several years in Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

Aside from artistic indoor hobbies, both Mr. and Mrs. De Pree are interested in gardening. Their lot runs 300 feet deep, enough for three gardens which in addition to flowers, vegetables and grassy plots has a fish pond and fireplace which Mrs. De Pree designed and built.

Harrington Pupils Plan Chicago Trip

Harrington school seventh and eighth grade pupils will take a chartered train to Chicago Nov. 5. The train will leave Holland at 7 a.m. with 35 Harrington pupils accompanied by several of the parents. Harold J. Mouw, principal, and John Ter Vree are in charge of arrangements.

The United Rural Teachers club is sponsoring this trip which includes visits to the Brookfield Zoo and a Chicago meat packing plant.

The train will leave Chicago for the return trip at 6 p.m. (Chicago time).

Several other schools are also planning the trip with about 500 in the entire group on the chartered trip.

Driver Charged

Grand Haven, Nov. 4 (Special) — Robert J. Stickle, 26, of Grand Haven, was issued a ticket by city police charging him with reckless driving after his car was involved in an accident at the city limits on North Seventh St. at 2:45 a.m. today with a car driven by Richard J. Harmon, 27, of Grand Haven. Both cars were traveling north on US-31.

Grocers Secure Required Names

The Michigan Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association today filed petitions signed by 2,457 Ottawa county consumers asking that it be made possible for them to buy yellow margarine in Michigan.

Signed petitions are being filed in 76 counties of the state. Evert Johnson, president of the organization, said that 175,000 signatures are being filed.

The initiatory petition campaign was begun by the independent grocers of the state to help the consumers rid themselves of the 47-year-old statute which forbids sale of yellow margarine.

The petitions do not seek to repeal the existing law, but to amend it. All protective provisions will remain in effect after amendment of the "no color" portion of the statute.

The amendment will not effect the enforcement of the federal food and drug standards which apply to all packaged food.

Societies at Hope Arrange Events

Hope college sororities and fraternities have planned reunions for the homecoming week-end. Married in Fall Home Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Boerman

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Lubbers, route 6, was the scene of a pretty fall wedding Wednesday night when their daughter, Della Mae, and Gilbert Boerman exchanged marriage vows. He is the son of Gerrit Boerman, route 3.

The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Theodore Ver Hulst before an arrangement of palms, candelabra and bouquets of white mums.

Mrs. Donald Boerman played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Ethel Lucas who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Together Life's Pathway We Tread."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of ivory satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long tapered sleeves and a train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a white Bible topped by two gardenias and streamers.

The bride was attended by Miss Hilda Boerman, sister of the groom, who wore a pink gown and carried baby mums and tulips and wore a cluster of mums in her hair.

Gerard Lubbers, brother of the bride, assisted as best man. Milford Compagner and Harvey Reinkink acted as the groomsmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reinink were master and mistress of ceremonies. Miss Lucille Smith and Miss Gladys Schrotenboer were in charge of the gifts.

Following the ceremony a reception for 50 guests was held with Mrs. Gary Vander Hulst, Mrs. Jerry Arens, Miss Doris Diekema, Miss Gladys Meiste and Miss Evelyn Gensink serving the refreshments.

The bride and groom will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Lubbers, route 6.

Hope Sophs Win Annual Tug of War

In less than an hour, a decidedly superior sophomore pull team dragged 18 exhausted freshmen through Black river Friday afternoon.

The contest began at 4:15 p.m., and at three minutes of five, the frosh coach hit the water. Three minutes later, the whole team was in the river, and in less than a minute, they were on the Soph bank.

Members of the sophomore team were George Reineke, Louis Vullmer, Ken De Witt, Glen Blocker, B. Muhlenburg, Dick Miller, Bob Miller, Al Sauder, Bill Holly, Gardner Wierenga, Hank Kinkema, Betty Cookman, Alice Gravenhorst, Rick Stark, Bill Richards, John Smallegon, Art Schall, Paul De Kok, Jim De Young, and Leon Weirama.

Sophomore morale boosters included Kamela Korteling, Ellie Short, A. Van Zoeren, Delores Freyling, Bobbie Kerr, Joan Van Kahlen, Jane Boer, Janet Kinkema, Betty Cookman, Alice Gravenhorst, Rick Stark, Bill Richards, John Smallegon, Art Schall, Paul De Kok, Jim De Young, and Leon Weirama.

Morale Boosters for the frosh team were Paula Twigg, Betty Doud, Muriel Kouste, Yvonne Mulder, Mary Houtman, Frances Scholten, Sally Robinson, Nancy Andrews, Margret Velay, Ray Kusta, Ruth Tempest, Marilyn Feiler, Annette Keizinger, Annetta Sideris, Mary Olet, Jennette Sideris and Ina Linton.

Sophomore team coaches were Gerry Van Single, Ed Kerle, and Jack Stegeman, while freshman coaches were Gerard Mull, Ken Leestma, Jack Rieckomp and Harvey Moes.

In as much as the sophs pulled the freshmen through the river, all freshmen will have to pot to sophomores, as to upper classmen, until Thanksgiving vacation.

Reformation Program At Christian High

In a challenge to students of Christian high school at a special Reformation Day assembly Friday morning, the Rev. T. Ver Hulst of the Graafschap Christian Reformed church said "I would urge you to read the Scriptures, to know the Scriptures and to believe the Scriptures."

Rev. Ver Hulst went on to say that students and the common folk should be mindful of the great sacrifices which were made to bring the Bible to the common man.

He based his address on two great reformers, William Tyndale and Martin Luther.

Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" was played as a piano solo by Howard Slenk, who also played several Bach numbers. Marvin Schans, Christian high school teacher, sang "I Look Not Back." The assembly program was in charge of James Hietbrink.

Australia was proclaimed as a commonwealth in 1901.

Dutch General May Visit City Later in Month

High Officer Attracted Here Through Talk With Grand Haven Man

Because of a good word for Holland, Mich., given by an enthusiastic Grand Havenite, Lt. Gen. Wybrandus Schilling of the Royal Netherlands Indies Army, now vacationing in this country after a stay in Japan, will probably visit this city the latter part of November or the first part of December.

Jac Rae Allen, of the Merchant Marine, formerly of Grand Haven, met the general when the latter was a passenger on the U. S. Army transport Gen. E. D. Patrick en route to this country. The young Merchant Mariner told the general all about Holland, Mich., and Tulip Time.

Gen. Schilling was featured in the first of a series of interesting people who have been aboard the Transport Patrick. At the age of 26, Gen. Schilling was literally a "king" in northern Sumatra. He was the only white man for thousands of square miles, ruling 20,000 natives.

He was one of seven children. His father was unable to send him to high school, so after completing primary school in 1903 at 13, he worked for a shipping firm in Amsterdam, earning about $2 a month.

In this busy harbor of Amsterdam he met people from all nations and through contact with the East Indies trade ships, became acquainted with what went on in the distant territories of the Netherlands. The period was one of frequent wars: the Boer war in Africa, the Russo-Japanese war, and the war in the Balkans. The many tales of adventure appealed so strongly to the young officer boy that in 1906 at the minimum age of 16, he enlisted in the Royal Netherlands Army for six years.

Of course, he wanted to become an officer and go overseas. There were two ways to earn a commission. First was by attending the Royal Military Academy, but this was open only to boys who had completed a college education. Second was by an area near Lho Beumaweh on Atchin's north coast.

In 1916 he was assigned as commandant of the western Gajo area in central Atchin, and made a 1st lieutenant. In this area he was the only white man and commanded about 100 Indonesian troops. In charge of military government, he was the ruler of about 20,000 natives. The area consisted of numerous cultivated valleys separated by mountains and dense jungles.

The population already having been registered by his predecessor, Lt. Schilling's duty was to build roads and schools, and primitive government offices. He had, of course, the unpleasant duty of establishing and collecting taxes without which civilization is impossible.

He learned to speak the Atchin and Gajo dialects, and to chew sirih, a mixture of tobacco leaves and betel nut. This chewing of sirih compared to smoking the peace pipe among the Indians of America and guarantees some measure of safety among hostile people. Elephants were the primary means of transportation.

Epidemics of cholera, smallpox, typhus and typhoid fever took a high death toll. The people were Mohammedan and opposed to inoculations and vaccines. With difficulty, Lt. Schilling forced treatments upon these people and gradually controlled these diseases, thus lowering the death rate.

Today the Republic of Indonesia has rebelled and most of Sumatra seems to be lost to Holland. Much of the work done in the period before World War II has been destroyed.

Gen. Schilling learned to stand on his own feet at an early age. Early in his career he decided to follow the advice of his commanding officer who warned against two great dangers overseas: Alcohol and native women!

Hurricanes Try Defensive Moves To Halt All-Stars

Coaches of the Holland Hurricanes are trying to devise a defense to halt the rampaging Grand Rapids All-Star backs Saturday night when the two eleven clash at Riverview park.

The Furniture City team has four outstanding seatbacks who have tallied lopsided scores against five MIFL teams. Holland was the last team to defeat the All-Stars.

Ed Lozon, Lou Paul, Joe Klocko and Dick Gibson are the standout ball totters for the All-Stars. They're all potential touchdown-makers when they get behind the hard blocking Grand Rapids line. It will be one of the toughest tests of the season for the stingy Hurricane defensive line.

If the Canes ends can hold these backs in check, the local eleven will have a bright prospect of knocking Grand Rapids out of first place in the league.

The Grand Rapids team is currently tied for the league with the Jackson Lions.

Fans at this week's game will vote on the player they think most deserving of a year's college training to be given by the Hurricane management.

Ronald Klampf, Jack Westerhof, Jim Abel, Stan McClure, Rudy Bilek and Lawrence McCormick are the Hurricane players eligible.

Coches Curley Wiegink is working on the new spinning plays with Bob Lintzer, the 190-pound Muskegon fullback as the key player in the plays. The Canes mentor also wants to work on pass plays for the coming game.

According to season records of the two teams, Grand Rapids has the edge. However, the Canes defeated the Furniture City 7-6 earlier and will be out to repeat the performance.

Women's Federation to Sponsor Leper Picture

"Mary Reed," a motion picture memorializing 52 years of work by a Methodist missionary among leprosy victims in the Himalaya mountains, will be presented in Hope Memorial chapel Friday at 7:30 p.m. Presentation is sponsored by the Federal of Women's Societies of the churches of Holland and vicinity in the interest of lepers.

The film recently had its world premier in Chicago at the 41st annual convention of the American Mission to Lepers, international agency of 39 Protestant denominations and church groups for work among persons with leprosy.

In the course of 59 years of service as Methodist missionary in India, Mary Reed contracted leprosy and was restored to health through prayer. All but seven years were spent in a lonely mountain village in northern India. The mission station which she established for leprosy work is still in existence, and early this year the cornerstone for a modern hospital and clinic was laid at the station which has homes for 100 patients on a 100-acre tract, a dispensary, a chapel and other facilities.

The local federation started in 1919 when Christine Van Raalte Gilmore called 24 women to her home in the interests of lepers in Africa. In 1924 another meeting was held in Hope church with Dr.

C. J. Stauffacher as speaker. At that time, the group raised enough money for Dr. Stauffacher to purchase a five-acre estate with a stone house for $1,400 at Inhambane, Portuguese, East Africa. This is now known as the Christine Van Raalte Gilmore home for lepers.

State Health Unit Studies Methods Of Curbing VD

Casefinding Control Better than Present Is Being Studied

A new research study in casefinding in venereal disease control is getting under way in the state under joint sponsorship of the Michigan department of health and the United States Public Health service and with the cooperation of the local health departments of the state. Dr. John A. Cowan, director of the bureau of venereal disease control announced today.

Primary object of the study is to find out what is wrong with current methods of case finding in venereal disease and particularly to ascertain why interviewing for contacts so often yields such poor returns. This will aid in developing more effective methods of interviewing for use throughout the nation.

This research study called "Syphilis Casefinding by Epidemiologic Methods" is so set up that within 24 hours after a venereal disease patient has been interviewed at the Michigan rapid treatment center at Ann Arbor or the Detroit social hygiene clinic, special investigators in the field can begin their investigation of contacts.

It involves rapid telephone relay of information on contacts from the treatment centers to the department of health and then to special investigators stationed in the major cities of the state. Investigators immediately try to locate the contacts and see that they go to their family physician or to a venereal disease clinic for examination, and treatment if they are found infected. If all contacts are found not infected, the patient in the rapid treatment center can be re-interviewed to find out whether there are other contacts.

The study is expected to determine the most effective methods of interviewing. Research got under way Nov. 1 and the study will continue until June 30, 1949, Dr. Cowan said.

Arthur Van Duren

Holland Attorney, Ill Two Months, Is Dead

Arthur Van Duren, 74, prominent local attorney who served the city in many positions during his 52 years of practice here, died at 6:40 a.m. today in his home at 24 East 14th St. following a two-month illness.

Regarded as an authority on history of Holland, the attorney served as city attorney and as member and chairman of the Board of Public Works, besides taking active part in virtually all civic affairs. He helped revise the city charter many years ago.

He was particularly proud of his part in building Holland hospital, erected at a time when he was member of the Board of Public Works, which provided funds for the building. He also served on the building committee for the City Hall.

Van Duren, who would have been 75 years old on Nov. 6, was born in Holland and attended public schools. He was graduated with a master's degree from Hope college in 1894 and received a law degree from the University of Michigan law school in 1896. Two years ago he and former Circuit Judge Orien S. Cross attended the jubilee celebration of the University class.

He started law practice in Holland shortly after graduation and maintained offices at 18 East Eighth St. for many years. Throughout the years he was active in the Ottawa County Bar association.

He was a member of Hope church and was active in Masons, Elks, Shrine, Knights Templar and Eastern Star lodges.

Surviving are the wife, the former Daisy Shattler of Utica, Mich.; two sons, Attorney Charles K. Van Duren of Holland and Dr. Arthur Van Duren, Jr., of Ann Arbor; a daughter, Mrs. Earl R. Knutson of Grand Rapids; three grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. W. R. Cox of Orange, N. J.

His mother, Mrs. G. J. Van Duren, actively associated with Red Cross works, died about five years ago.

Hope's Basketball Squad Practicing For Opening Tilt Early Next Month

Basketball is getting ready to take over the sport headlines at Hope college from football early next month. The Dutch basketballers are holding nightly practice sessions at the college gym.

Coach Russ De Vette will be starting his first season at the local school.

Hope, which has eight lettermen from last year's squad as nucleus for the new team, opens Dec. 2 with a game against Percy Jones at the local Army.

Four lettermen and four other members of the squad will report for practice after the football season ends Nov. 13.

Practice is being held at 7:30 each night and has been confined to ball handling, conditioning and defense. The cagers have been practicing five nights a week.

Three men will be missing from last year's team: Don Mulder, Bob Van Dyke and Harv Butler are gone.

Returning lettermen are Bob Beckstoft, Herk Butler, Jack Marzema, George Slikkers, Nick Yink, Bud Van De Wege, Bill Holwerda and Fred Brive.

Other members of the 18-man squad will be: Ronald Bos, Paul Muxkens, Bob Dennison, Ken Elterboek, Paul Hendrickson, Allen Mercer, J. J. Peckstok, Jack Van Dorpe, Dale Van Dort, Bob Wagner, Tom Van Wingen, Harry and Bob Visscher and Bill Hinga.

After the Dec. 2 opener against Percy Jones, other bookings are: Dec. 8, Grand Rapids J.C. there; Dec. 11, Hillsdale, there; Dec. 16, Kalamazoo, here; Jan. 3, Percy Jones, there; Jan. 8, Ypsilanti, here; Jan. 11, Adrian, there; Jan. 15, Albion, there; Jan. 18, Alma, here; Jan. 22, Hillsdale, here; Feb. 3, Calvin, here; Feb. 8, Kalamazoo, there; Feb. 12, Adrian, here; Feb. 19, Albion, here; Feb. 25, Alma, there; Feb. 26, Ypsilanti, there; March 2, Calvin, there.

Several local women gave the town hall its annual "face-lifting" last week, in preparation for the big election. It has a presentable appearance.

Mrs. Carrie Rozema was a visitor at the home of Mrs. George Hassevoort last Thursday.

The children enjoyed a Halloween party at the school Friday afternoon. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brady have taken an apartment in Muskegon for the winter months, doing away with the long drive daily to his place of employment.

A nurse and Dr. Barrett from the Ottawa County Health Department visited the eyes of all school children Friday. The doctor reported that this school ranked as one of the highest in the county, only a very few of the children having defective vision.

Washington.—In New England, the average size of a farm is 100 acres. In the Midwest it is 160 acres; in the South, 80; and in the Great Plains it is 400.

News of Interest to Western Michigan Farm Operators

Earth Can Tell Story of Interest To All Farmers

Proper Testing Can Point Way to Good Soil Management

The story that old mother earth can tell is one that should interest every progressive farmer, truck crop grower, greenhouse operator, nurseryman and gardener, believes Kirk Lawton, soil scientist at Michigan State college.

Testing soils to find out the lime and fertilizer need and the plant nutrient content of the soil will point the way to sound soil management, the specialist believes. Many organizations including the county extension service, the Farm Bureau, soil conservation districts, and civic groups, feel that soil testing is an action program that fits well into good farm management.

A number of agencies in Michigan carry on soil testing services. A central testing laboratory is maintained by Michigan State college's soil science department where samples may be sent for analysis and appropriate soil management recommendations. Tests for the purity of marl and ground limestone are also made.

Tests may also be made in each county in the state by the county agricultural agent or by the county testing laboratory. Well-equipped laboratories have now been established in Berrien, Branch, Clinton, Jackson, Mason, Van Buren and in other counties.

When collecting soil samples, Lawton advises, it is well to remember that a test is only as accurate as the sample from which it is made. Directions for taking soil samples can be obtained from county agricultural agents or the Soil Science department, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Bankers Provide For Scholarships

The Michigan Bankers association has inaugurated a program through its county banker groups to provide scholarships for rural young men and women who desire to attend short courses in agriculture and home economics at Michigan State college.

Several county groups have already notified Ralph Tenny, director of short courses at Michigan State, that scholarships to apply towards the costs of fees, lodging, meals and books have been arranged.

Frank Coward, Lapeer, chairman of the agricultural committee and Ray Brundage, executive manager, of the Michigan Bankers association, are heading the organization of the scholarships.

Ten years ago, the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, showing interest in rural youth, started awarding scholarships to worthy rural young people. Since that time 1,600 young people have taken advantage of the scholarships. Because of their training in community leadership, home economics, and agriculture, Director Tenny says many have become leaders in their areas and in state farm programs.

Local banker groups will work in cooperation with county agricultural, 4-H Club, and Home Demonstration agents and vocational agriculture, and vocational homemaking teachers to determine the needs for scholarships within their counties.

Marketing Costs Show Price Rises

Marketing charges alone for today's food products cost more than consumers paid for food at retail prices in 1940.

Dr. Lawrence Witt, agricultural economist at Michigan State college, says collecting, transporting, processing, packaging and handling food products in the United States last year cost 15.5 billion dollars. In 1940 the consumers paid only 14.4 billion dollars for food products at retail. That included the price paid farmers for raw products and marketing costs together.

Witt points out that in 1947 the farmer got 55 per cent of all the money spent by consumers for food products. It is estimated that the farmer's share will drop to 52 per cent of the food dollar in 1948. Although retail prices have increased, in many cases the farmers are getting less for raw products than a year ago, Witt contends.

The MSC economist warned that prices paid to farmers always have dropped more rapidly than have retail prices. Marketing changes drop more slowly.

PRODUCTION SLUMPS

Poultry production is often cut when birds are in poor condition. Disease and improper feeding can often account for a slump in production when the birds are really capable of doing better.

New Pest Killer Will Make Trouble for Locusts

From now on, any 17-year locusts that pop up are going to be in trouble. Capper's Farmer says that entomologists were waiting with some of their new pest killers for a brood of the locusts which appeared in West Virginia and Ohio last summer.

This tough specimen of the insect world was killed with TEP, which is short for tetraethyl pyrophosphate. During its 17-year period underground the locust nymph feeds upon the sap of tree roots. Its damage is of importance to orchardists. The insect is known to have 22 distinct broods, each of which appears in different years in different areas.

Editor Discusses Possibilities of Hybrid Chickens

"Hybrid chickens—how soon, how good?" That's the big current poultry question which is asked, then answered by a farm magazine.

Conclusion reached in a story written by Ralph S. Yohe, farm service editor, are as follows:

A great deal of scientific skill, time, and money are being spent to produce hybrid chickens, which are crosses of inbred lines. Some of them have proved to be excellent layers. They seem to be less temperamental about changes in feeding, weather, and management than purebreds. You can expect better hybrids in the future.

It is too early to say that all the chickens of the future will be hybrids. They will have to be clearly better than the best purebred strains to share the wide popularity of hybrid corn. At present we have little evidence that hybrids will lay more eggs than our best purebred strains under good management. Even if hybrid chicks do eventually take over, it will take several years.

Hybrids have brought to the poultry industry new emphasis on breeding. The hybrid breeder is interested only in the performance of his birds in his customers' flocks. The purebred breeder has frequently been more interested in contest records and high egg production of a few individuals.

In the future you will get better chicks, whether hybrids or purebreds, because of this new trend in thinking. The final test of any chick is how well the pullet lays in the farmer's henhouse and how well the broiler grows in the poultryman's plant.

Check Lime Needs For Legume Fields

If you're planning to make a seeding of alfalfa, red clover, or other legumes, it will pay to check the lime needs of the land. James A. Porter, extension soil scientist at Michigan State college, reports.

Seed and fertilizer for these seedings will cost from 12 to 15 dollars per acre. If the lime requirement of the soil has not been met, the return from this investment will be greatly reduced or even lost.

A number of things can cause this crop failure. Perhaps the farmer does not suspect that the soil is acid. Maybe liming material is applied but not in sufficient quantity to neutralize the acidity. Sometimes the liming material is applied such a short time before seeding that there is not time for the necessary chemical action to take place.

Porter says the farmer need not guess. He can know whether any soil needs lime by having the soil tested or by testing it himself. For this test, or the outfit to make his own tests, he can arrange with his county agricultural agent.

Full application of lime is good insurance that liming material will have time to correct soil acidity before seeding. Liming material can be spread on soil in the fall, and even when the soil is frozen, if conditions are good for spreading.

On sloping fields where the liming material might be washed away, it is best to apply at a time when it can be worked into the soil soon after applying.

Seed Valleys to Make Mountain Grass Grow

Western cattlemen are making more grass grow up on the mountains by seeding down in the valley. It is reported. More valley and foothill forage, an article in a farm magazine points out, means that livestock can be taken off the mountain earlier in the fall, giving the highland grass a better chance to store up root reserves for the winter. In the spring, if stock is held on the lowlands until the snow goes off the mountains, the forage on the heights gets a better start.

SAVE ALL PIGS

Saving all pigs farrowed is important with the high prices for feeds and grains. Saving an extra pig or two per litter can often spell the difference between profit and loss on the hog enterprise.

U.S. Farmers Not to Blame for High Food Prices

Those who place the blame for high food prices on the American farmer are not familiar with facts or the philosophy of farm people according to E. L. Anthony, dean of the school of agriculture at Michigan State college.

"Facts show the production of food products on American farms has increased steadily since 1936. Today the production of all farm products is 50 per cent greater than the base 1910-1914 average and nearly 30 per cent higher than the 1936-1940 average," the dean pointed out.

Greater supplies of foodstuffs normally act to keep prices lower. Dean Anthony maintained and added: "The farmers certainly have done everything possible to keep production up."

"The farmer is by instinct a producer. He wants to produce more because he has always worked on the theory that the more he produces from his land, without causing lasting harm to the soil, the more income he will have to spend for things that make life more enjoyable."

Dean Anthony jokingly theorized that maybe the farmers were having it easier today than several years ago. He remarked: "I see the latest federal survey shows the average Michigan farm operator is working only 11.8 hours a day compared with 12.1 hours a day in 1946. Perhaps they're enjoying that 20 minutes a day trying to figure out how they can buy the lumber at present day inflated prices to make needed repairs on their barns."

Expert Tells Advantages Of Fall, Spring Plowing

The old question of fall plowing versus spring plowing is again making the rounds. Both methods have their advantages. Says Paul Rood, Michigan State college soils specialist.

Fall plowing, if it is the method chosen, should be done very late in the fall, he points out. It's risky to fall plow land with much of a slope because of erosion. The protection of a crop is destroyed by fall plowing and wind and water erosion can take place.

On the credit side of the ledger, fall plowing permits early planting in the spring of such crops as sugar beets, oats and barley and is beneficial to the soil structure.

Silos Should Be Open For Winter Feeding

Pasture days for Michigan cows are about at an end, so A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college advises beginning the winter feeding program as soon as possible.

The silo should be opened to prevent spoilage of the top layer. Fresh chopped stalks can be fed to supplement the daily feed. A balanced grain ration should be worked out and feeding begun. Once the milk flow has dropped, Baltzer points out, it is impossible to bring it back up. Good feeding will help to hold production at a profitable level.

The specialist gives a word of caution about the cows' water supply. Sudden freezing can cause broken pipes. A little protection will prevent a sudden stop in the water supply due to freezing weather.

Baffling Cattle Disease Spreading Throughout U.S.

A baffling infection of cattle known as X disease is becoming so widespread that the United States government has been asked to help in coping with it.

The disease, now known to have invaded more than half of the states, severely affects young cattle and causes loss of weight, thickening of the skin, lowered milk production, and some deaths. Up to now, research men have been unable to find out what causes it or how it spreads.

Learning those things will be the aim of an intensive study now being started by the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry in cooperation with key veterinarians and livestock owners throughout the nation.

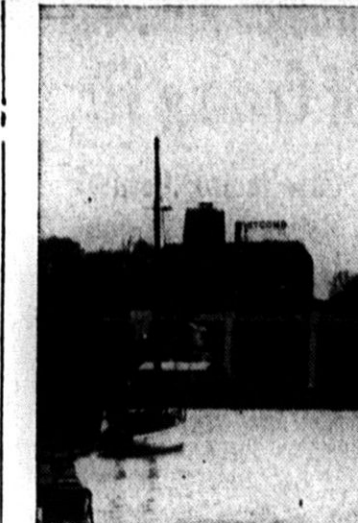

Fahocha Class, Guests Have Halloween Party

Thirty-four members and guests of the Fahocha class, First Methodist church, attended a Halloween party Friday night at the home of Mrs. J. K. Hoffmaster. A meeting preceded the party. Devotions were led by Miss Henrietta Boschker and Miss Evelyn George played accordion solos.

Mrs. Edward Donovan presented several poems by Paul Laurence Dunbar, using the Negro dialect. Refreshments, in keeping with Halloween, were served by a committee composed of the Mesdames Stan Mulder, Leroy Sybema, L. Ash, Norma Bekken, and the Mesdames Joyce Brower, Anna Slenk, Elaine De Witt, Cereta Kane and DeJores Van Zanten.

PLAN FARMERS' WEEK

Farmers' Week, Michigan's best known agricultural event, will be held at Michigan State college next year from Jan. 24 to 28. Exhibits, demonstrations, contests, and educational programs are expected to draw in excess of 30,000 rural people to the East Lansing campus.

Blossomland bridge, the new 712-foot bridge which spans St. Joseph river between Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, was dedicated Wednesday night in ceremonies sponsored by the Chambers of Commerce of the two cities. The $1,350,000 bridge is composed of seven spans, has a 44-foot roadway with two six-foot sidewalks. It contains

1,200 tons of structural steel, 11,343 cubic yards of concrete, 44,600 feet of steel pilings in bascule piers and those at river edge and north abutment. Work already is under way on a 25-span separation carrying the relocation over the main lines of the Chesapeake and Ohio, the property of the 1900, Industrial Rubber and Auto Specialties corporations.

Growers Urged to Guard Fruit Trees Against Rodents

'As winter comes on, fruit growers are being urged to see that their trees are properly protected against mice and rabbits. County agricultural agent L. R. Arnold reports that matted grass along fence rows and sod and weeds around trees are good places for these animals to hide.

A number of methods are used for control: Mechanical protectors of wire netting; cleaning sod away and mounding around the tree with cinders or gravel; killing mice by means of poison bait; pruning the trees; and painting trunks of trees with repellent.

Killing the mice has proven most effective. This can be done by the use of poison bait, placed along the surface runways, or in the holes in the ground made by mice.

Hints for using the bait can be found in Extension Bulletin 196, "Protecting Fruit Trees Against Mice and Rabbits", which can be obtained from agent Arnold's office.

Satisfactory control of rabbits is usually possible by the use of a repellent which is applied to the trunk of the trees. A repellent formula is given in the extension bulletin.

Special problems in controlling mice and rabbits that damage fruit trees may be brought to the agent's office for advice.

Tourist Dollars Being Split Up

Harold Vander Ploeg, veteran resort operator and president of the Holland Tourist council, today suggested that the flow of new cars is going to split business for resort operators in the state and in other states.

"Since new cars have increased in production, there has been a noticed trend toward long trips... of hundreds of miles... not staying in one place," Vander Ploeg said in appraising the 1948 resort season.

It caused a slight decrease in volume business in Michigan this year he said and warned that it will be a fight between states and operators who can "offer the best attractions" in the future when the auto industry reaches its peak.

New Camp Fire Groups Have Tea for Mothers

Members of the newly-organized groups of Camp Fire girls and Bluebirds of Montello Park entertained their mothers at a tea Thursday afternoon at the school.

A skit was presented by the Bluebirds and Camp Fire girls sang "America." Mrs. Orlie Bishop explained the Camp Fire program to the mothers.

Decorations in keeping with Halloween centered the tea table at which Mrs. H. Goodrich and Mrs. Ray Riksen poured.

Mrs. Andrew Kammeraad is guardian of the Camp Fire group. She is assisted by Mrs. Walter Freestone, Mrs. John Moeller, bluebirds guardian, is assisted by Mrs. Ray Ten Have.

Miss Juella Brower Is Feted at Shower

Miss Juella Brower, a November bride, was complimented at a surprise miscellaneous shower given Wednesday night in the home of Miss Barbara Streu, Maple Ave. Mrs. Norma Bekker was the assisting hostess. Prizes in games were won by Mrs. Stan Mulder, Miss Anna Slenk and Mrs. Leroy Sybema. A lunch was served by the hostesses.

Miss Brower will be the bride of Robert Wiersma on Nov. 24. Guests were the Mesdames Stan Mulder, Leroy Sybema, L. Ash, Norma Bekken, and the Mesdames Joyce Brower, Anna Slenk, Elaine De Witt, Cereta Kane and DeJores Van Zanten.

GO AFTER PROFITS

Michigan farmers are being encouraged to go after the extra profits to be had by growing certified seed. Details can be obtained from the Michigan Crop Improvement association, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Junior High to Present Famous Mystery Play

Final rehearsals are being held for the two performances of the "hair-raising" mystery, "The Cat and the Canary," to be presented Thursday and Friday nights in Holland high school auditorium under auspices of the Junior high school students and faculty.

The junior high cast is under direction of John Bradley, speech instructor, who directed last year's highly successful production of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

The story develops around the reading of a dead man's will, and creates a powerful mood of suspense which lasts throughout the play's entire three acts. The first scene is laid in the library of a man who has been dead for 20 years. His will is being read for the first time and an heir to the estate is named. The story twists and revolves from this point, with spirits, gongs, mad-men and terror to the very end.

Background for this sensational play is supplied by two beautifully done stage sets and the atmosphere of suspense is increased by weird and fantastic lighting.

The cast of characters consists of 10 Junior High students with an additional 25 others working on committees to insure the success of the play. Those to appear will be Paul Schieringa as Roger Crosby; Hazel Vande Bunte as "Mammy" Pleasant; David Moran in the role of Henry Blyth; Joan Van Wymmer as Susan Silsby; Wammy Pas as Cicely Young; Paul Drooger as Charlie Wilder; Ben Bergman as Paul Jonas; Patricia Houtman as Annabelle West; Arden Schuck as Hendricks and Dean King as Dr. Patterson.

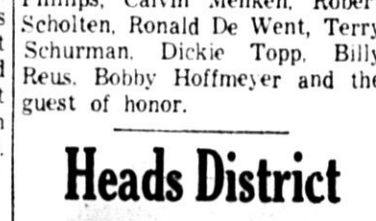

Ronald Wayne Wierda Honored on Birthday

Mrs. Bill Wierda, 508 West 21st, entertained Friday afternoon in honor of her son, Ronald Wayne, who celebrated his seventh birthday anniversary.

Decorations carried out a Halloween motif. Movies were shown and refreshments were served by the hostess. Gifts were presented to the honored guest.

Invited were Ronald and Melvin Sterken, Jackie De Weerd, Charles Phillips, Calvin Menken, Robert Scholten, Ronald De Went, Terry Schurman, Dickie Topp, Billy Reus, Bobby Hoffmeyer and the guest of honor.

Heads District

Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren, 574 Central Ave., was elected director of District 9 of the National Tulp society at the first convention of the society held last week in the Waldorf Astoria in New York City. District 9 includes Michigan and Wisconsin. Mrs. Van Tongeren has been active in the society since its organization.

Mrs. Victor Watkins of the Warm Friend Tavern was elected second vice-president. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. J. Nicholson of Atlanta, Ga., president; L. R. Hubbard of Westfield, N. J., vice-president; and Felix R. Tyler of Bronxville, N. Y., executive secretary-treasurer.

An honorary membership was conferred on Margaret Herbst, public relations director of the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland, for her "invaluable effort in connection with the organization of the National Tulp society and in consideration of her tremendous interest in the tulip throughout the years."

Admitted to Holland hospital Friday were Berit De Haan, route 2; Mrs. Herman Goodyke, route 1.

Discharged Friday were Mrs.

Hope Grid Team Smothers Albion In MIAA Contest

The Hope college football team co-operated with the gala mood of homecoming Saturday by trouncing the Albion Britons 33-6. It was Hope's second win in MIAA play against one defeat and put the local college into a second place tie with their this week's opponents—the Kalamazoo Hornets.

Students, Old Grads, fans and ex-"H" winners, sitting along the sidelines, sat for two-and-one-half hours while Coach Al Vandenberg used every man on the bench in the lopsided contest.

Two bright spots for the fans were Albion's lone touchdown, a 61-yard screen pass play, and Ted Barrett's 45-yard touchdown run in the fourth period after he was momentarily stopped. However, the officials repeatedly delayed the game, to the disgust of the fans.

After the first period, the fans knew it was a matter of how high the score would go. The Dutch scored twice in the first quarter, once in the third and twice again in the final period. Albion tallied in the second.

An Albion fumble on the first play from scrimmage led to Hope's initial score. The locals recovered the ball on Albion's 34. However, with the ball on the Briton's two-yard line, Ted Ryenga fumbled in the end zone and Albion recovered for a touchdown. On the first play after the ball was brought out to the 20, Wendell Martin attempted to skirt the Hope end and fumbled. Bill Holwerda fell on the loose ball on Albion's seven-yard line. Three plays later Ryenga crashed through guard for the score. Holwerda's kick was good.

Minutes later, the Dutch took the ball over after a five-yard punt on Albion's 39. A triple lateral lost three yards and Ted Barrett sliced through tackle and scampered all the way to the Briton's 13-yard line before he was stopped. After two penalties against Hope and six plays, Barrett finally skirted the end for a touchdown from the five. The kick was wide.

Hope's fast charging line was victim of a beautifully executed screen pass play from Chuck Marvin to Martin in the second period. Martin took the ball on his own 42 after the pass over center, and with five men in front of him, drove to the goal line. Ken Smith's kick was wide.
