Special Committee Will Study Water Improvement Here

Council Holds Off on BPW Request to Hire Engineers Immediately

A special committee consisting of councilmen and some members of the Board of Public Works will be appointed by Mayor Harry Harrington to study possibilities for an improved water supply for Holland city as the result of action taken by Common Council Wednesday night.

Motion to appoint such a committee was made by Alderman A. W. Hertel as a substitute for a request from the Board of Public Works, which asked authority to engage engineers to study the problem and outline a plan of action, the results to be submitted to council with the board's recommendation.

With the BPW communication came petitions signed by more than 1,000 citizens of Holland requesting action to improve the water supply. Petitions specifically "demanded immediate action" and suggested a "filtering plant or a pipeline to Lake Michigan."

The BPW communication also suggested that joint meetings be held of council and the board from time to time so that all might be informed of all developments in the water program.

In other business, council adopted a new policy for building permits in which the building inspector will be given authority to require correct figures on cost of estimates. The special committee studying the program reported it found estimates on building permits too low and established that the inspector has authority to refuse permits unless estimates are in line with actual expenditures.

Because this is an administrative matter, the committee recommended that it be referred to the city manager to fix definite standards and procedures. A discussion led by Alderman Raymond Holwerda set forth that the inspector "must" refuse permits in case of incorrect figures rather than "can" refuse, and such changes were adopted in the resolution.

Council also adopted a new policy for assessing water main construction on recommendation of a special committee. The new policy dovetails with provisions in the new city charter, reduces the interest rate from 6 per cent to 5 per cent, and allows refund for the cost of installing the pipeline within 10 years, the sum not to exceed $60 per service.

City Clerk Clarence Greengrove presented a letter from Western Foundry Co. explaining plans for plant expansion as a basis for the firm's position in the reopening of East Ninth St. The letter, signed by F. J. Spencer, president of the company, explained plans for immediate expansion would bring the new addition 65 to 70 feet south of the present structure or up to the Ninth St. line, and future expansion plans call for plant use of property all the way to 10th St.

The letter also pointed out that installation of the new sidewalk to the west allows the firm to landscape the frontage. It also said the firm operates three plants but that the Holland plant is the only one with a site that allows expansion. It added the addition would double the monthly $15,000 payroll.

The communication was ordered filed but it was pointed out it would be available to the special committee studying possibilities of reopening East Ninth St. which was closed many years ago for the benefit of the foundry firm.

Boy's Left Eye Removed After BB Gun Accident

William Ridley, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ridley of 266 West 19th St., was in satisfactory condition today in Holland hospital after undergoing surgery Monday for the removal of his left eye.

The eye was hit by BB shot Saturday, Oct. 27, while the youth was with playmates. He was holding the gun himself.

He is a seventh grader in Junior high school. He expects to return home Saturday or Sunday.

But to the adult whose car gets stuck at the curb or in the driveway just once, the snow soon loses its beauty. Even the children who usually associate winter snowfalls with Christmas sleds agree it's pretty early for such a heavy snow, but they aren't kicking. (Sentinel photo)

Foundation Plans Fund Campaign For Small Colleges

Lansing —Leaders of the Michigan Colleges Foundation Inc., announced today that plans are underway for the organization's first fund-raising drive following its third annual meeting Wednesday.

Approximately 200 persons, including a large contingent of Hope college alumni from Holland, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Lansing, heard Dr. Alfred P. Haake, Park Ridge, Ill., General Motors consultant, address the foundation's annual banquet Wednesday night.

Earlier, the organization elected four new members of its board of trustees including Leland I. Doan, Midland; Ray Herrick, Tecumseh; Howard E. Anthony, Benton Harbor, and Robert L. Tyler, Niles. The trustees will meet later this month in Detroit to name new officers.

Purpose of the foundation is to attract financial support from business and industry to help the state's privately sponsored colleges. Adrian, Alma, Hillsdale, Hope and Emmanuel Missionary colleges already are members of the group and other independent institutions are expected to join soon, according to Dr. Samuel J. Harrison, president of Adrian college and head of the foundation.

Brouwer D. McIntyre, Monroe, also spoke, outlining industry's interest in operation of private colleges.

Dr. Haake told the audience that "small, private colleges play a vital role in our educational system, filling a needed place beside tax-supported institutions." They have an important role in training leaders for industry and keeping alive the freedoms so fundamental to our American system, he said.

Raterink Shines In State Victory

East Lansing (Special)—Half-back Bernie Raterink of Zeeland accounted for one touchdown all by himself last week to pace the Michigan State Jayvees to a last-minute 16-14 win over the Ohio State Junior Varsity.

The winning margin came in the last 30 seconds when Gene Leikenta of Grand Rapids Union, kicked a field goal.

But Raterink kept the junior Spartans in the game when he returned the second half kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown, shaking off at least six tacklers along the way.

Raterink, who also reeled off a 95-yard gallop earlier in the year against the Michigan Jayvees, was the spearhead of Zeeland high teams that went undefeated for more than two years. He graduated last June.

The win was the third against one defeat for Don Devine's Spartan team.

The Spartans were scheduled to meet the Notre Dame B squad Friday, but that game was cancelled because of the weather. The State Jayvees also are scheduled to meet the Irish juniors next week to close the season.

Closed Armistice Day

Grand Haven (Special)—Grand Haven court house will be closed Monday in observance of Armistice Day, legal holiday which falls on Sunday.

Tropical Flowers And Fruits Deck Council Chamber

Display Is Part of Park Superintendent's Hobby at Greenhouse

While it was wintry outside, council chambers had a touch of tropical gardens Wednesday night when Park Supt. Dick Smallenburg displayed some of his choice tropical Bird of Paradise blooms and a basket of tropical fruits, along with a big bouquet of chrysanthemums.

The flowers and fruit are part of Smallenburg's hobby at the city greenhouses. In the attractively arranged fruit basket were papaya, oranges, huge lemons, ripe and green figs and the blossom and fruit of the monstera plant, a tropical fruit which is a cross between the banana and pineapple.

"Not many city fathers come to visit the greenhouses, so we bring part of the greenhouse to the council chambers," Mayor Harry Harrington quoted Smallenburg.

Council approved a transfer of a 1951 tavern and SDM license from Hazen L. Van Kampen to Chester and Mildred Skiles of Muskegon for the establishment at 154 East Eighth St. Action was taken on request of the Liquor Control commission.

Petitions requesting paving of West 27th St. from Michigan to Central and paving East 29th St. from Central to State were referred to the city manager and city engineer for study and report.

An application from Carl Jordan to sell soft drinks at 220 West Eighth St. was approved. Council okayed purchase of series F government bonds for the Compensation Insurance fund for a face value of $6,100 at a cost of $4,514.

A resolution was adopted calling for condemning a shack dwelling near Madison Ave. occupied by Philip Slogboom to be torn down by Dec. 10. The shack was described as a box on the chassis of an old truck on property recently purchased by the Donnelly-Kelley Co. The shack was declared a public hazard and public nuisance.

Council approved the city manager's recommendation authorizing a transfer of $10,046.99 from the gas and weight tax fund to the construction fund for paving street intersections. Other recommendations adopted included paving assessments totaling $2,435.20 to be paid in full for Pine Ave. triangle paving and other city-owned property on Pine Ave. The paving assessment on a city-owned lot on East 14th St. will be carried on a 10-year plan, anticipating the eventual sale of this lot.

Clerk Clarence Greengrove presented a summary of the fifth annual report of the municipal employees' retirement system, as given at the annual meeting in East Lansing, Oct. 18.

All aldermen were present with the exception of Alderman Rein Visscher who was absent from the city on business. Alderman Anthony Nienhuis gave the invocation.

Pair Flees Jail For Short Time

Grand Haven (Special)—Two prisoners awaiting trial escaped from Ottawa county jail Wednesday night but were back in custody within an hour.

Conrad Payne, 42, Muskegon, awaiting trial on a forgery charge, and Frank Van Hees, 26, Grand Haven, a parolee who was to be tried this morning on a reckless driving charge and this afternoon for assault and battery, made their escape when Charles Salisbury, the night man, went to put the prisoners in the inner block for the night.

When Salisbury opened the door, prisoners asked him to check one of the windows and as he went to do so, Payne and Van Hees who were hiding behind the door, ran through the open door, through the sheriff's living quarters and out the kitchen door.

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek's son, Jim, followed them for two blocks as they headed east on Washington St. but lost them when they ran between houses.

About five minutes later the sheriff received a call that Van Hees was at his home on Washington St. but when state police, city police and sheriff's officers arrived he ran out the front door and was taken into custody a few minutes later by two city police officers a half block from his home.

Payne's tracks were picked up by city police in the snow and he was found sitting in a truck at the rear of the Van Hees home. The break occurred about 9:30 p.m. Van Hees was back in custody at 10:10 p.m. and Payne at 10:25 p.m.

A chain taken from a bunk was found in Payne's pocket. No violence was used against the night officer in the break.

When Van Hees appeared before Justice George Hoffer this morning on the reckless driving charge, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Then Van Hees said, "You might just as well make it 90 days," and Hoffer replied, "All right, I will," and sentenced him to 90 days.

Later Van Hees pleaded guilty before Hoffer to the assault and battery charge and was sentenced to serve 90 days, the sentence to run concurrently with the earlier sentence.

Warrants on jail breaking charges for both Van Hees and Payne were to be issued today by Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles.

Financial Report Shows Allegan Fair Profits Decreased

Higher Labor Costs, Stock Car Race Slump Blamed for Cutback

Allegan (Special)—Higher labor costs plus a loss of revenue from summer stock car racing cut down the year's profit for the Allegan County Agricultural society, sponsors of the county fair.

But directors nevertheless looked upon their $7,000 profit as reflection of a good county fair and started making plans for next year's big centennial.

Total receipts were $89,738, of which $48,240 was admissions to the fair, with $17,692 paid in from privilege fees, and concessions. The balance came from state donations for premiums, speed fees and rentals.

A total of 71,500 was the final attendance figure. Grandstand receipts at $14,364 were slightly higher than last year.

The profit includes a remodeled grandstand, which also represented one of the biggest figures on the disbursement side of the financial report. Total of repairs and permanent improvements was $15,766 of which $11,688 was for the grandstand, and $1,767 for new wiring. Labor cost $15,115 for the year, and special attractions for the fair totaled $13,670. Total premiums paid were $10,462, including $4,855 to open class exhibitions and $4,647 to the youth division.

The association paid $7,344 in federal taxes on admissions, and $14,800 to harness racers.

The fair board plans to seek co-operation of all the county's organizations in its 1952 centennial, with a special committee to be appointed soon.

On the recommendation of 4-H, FFA, and high school leaders, the annual calf scramble will be omitted next year. Defer to the boys catching the hefty Herefords, as well as the opportunities for farm boys to select good feeder calves at special sales were reasons for the change.

Children's day will be returned to the Tuesday of fair week, instead of Monday as this year. The fair board set Sept. 8 to 13 as Allegan County fair week.

Resthaven Reports On Building Fund

October gifts to the Resthaven building fund amounted to $4,781.68, according to a report submitted to the board of trustees of Resthaven Patrons, Inc., at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Total in the building fund now equals $44,106.29. A total of $100,000 is needed before ground will be broken for the project and the board added that it anticipates some Thanksgiving and Christmas gifts for the home.

The board reported that gifts of canned fruits to Resthaven this fall have been good. Secretary Paul E. Hinkamp said that any churches or other organizations that have cans of fruit they want to donate, should call him and he will see that they are transported to Resthaven.

Dutchmen Could Be Champ Alone

Hope college stayed indoors Wednesday to smooth out the finer points of improvement before the last home game of the season Saturday afternoon against Hillsdale.

The Hillsdale clash is a title game. If Hope wins, the Dutchmen will at least share in the MTAAC championship.

There are two big "ifs" that could mean a clear title for Hope. "If" Alma and Albion, the other league leaders, tie in their game Friday night, and "if" Hope defeats Hillsdale, then the Dutchmen reign supreme. The losers in either case are eliminated, and Hope must win to at least share.

Hope closes its season on Nov. 24 by invading strong Beloit college in Wisconsin.

Local Retail Merchants To Meet Monday Morning

Local retail merchants will hold their monthly meeting Monday at 9:30 a.m. in the Dutch Mill to discuss final plans for the Christmas season.

New plastic decorations have arrived for boulevard light poles. Some poles will have plastic double faced wreaths and others will have large lighted evergreen wreaths. All poles will have festoons, lighted Santa Clauses will appear on the corners.

The new decorations will be paid for by merchants and the Chamber of Commerce. Merchants are being solicited by Charles Bertsch on the basis of store frontages.

These 21 men left Grand Haven Wednesday for induction into the armed forces as the November draft quota from Ottawa county. Front row, left to right: Paul E. Barmen, Zeeland; Russell Cook, Hudsonville; Dean Heath, Cooperville; Frank Fendt and Paul Fabiano, Holland; Edwin Homik, Hudsonville; Lloyd Kooyers, Gor-

Corp. Walter D. De Vries

Korean Veteran Lands in States

His wife, Lois, who lives at 131 West 19th St., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin De Vries, received a telegram from the Holland soldier when he arrived in San Francisco aboard a troop transport on Friday. He expected to receive his discharge at Camp Carson, Colo., and arrive home Saturday.

A reservist, Corp. De Vries was recalled to service last November and was sent to Korea in February. He served with the Second Armored Division.

Before induction, Corp. De Vries was a student at Hope college.

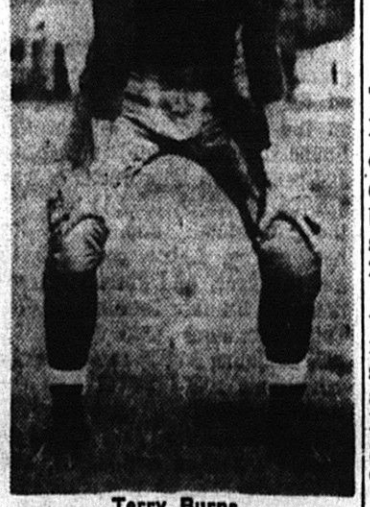

Locals Count Early But Taste Defeat In Last Quarters

The Benton Harbor Tigers, and more specifically a junior halfback by the name of Nate Clark, handed Holland high school its final home grid loss of the 1951 season Friday night, 27-6, in a snow-bound game at Riverview Park.

The shifty Negro halfback personally scored all four Tiger touchdowns, and set up two of them with pass interceptions.

Holland drew first blood before the estimated 1,000 fans—smallest crowd of the season—by scoring on the sixth play of the game. Frank Van Dyke returned the kickoff to the Holland 34, and Art Arenas carried for four yards. After a two-yard loss, Terry Burns looped a long pass to end Tom Maentz good for 30 yards and a first down on the Tiger 35.

Carl Visscher hit the line for three and Arenas was stopped cold before Burns uncorked another long aerial that Van Dyke gathered in on the three and he Terry Burns passes for score went over unmolested. The play covered 32 yards. Dan Hazebrook's try from placement was wide and Holland led, 6-0.

But Benton Harbor came right back and marched 60 yards to score on a series of four first downs with Clark and fullback Bob Stevens alternating at carrying the leather. Clark capped the drive in the waning minutes of the opening quarter with a seven-yard sweep of right end to score. The kick by Chuck Stuppy was no good and the score was tied at the period ended.

The second quarter saw action concentrated on the middle of the field. The ball changed hands seven times in the 12 minutes, and the half ended with the count knotted.

Coach Joe Rogers' Tigers received to start the third stanza and the visitors marched straight down the field. Clark plowed off tackle from the one to score, but longest gain in the drive was a 25-yard scamper on a reverse by Sid Thompson. Stuppy's kick was good to make the score 13-6.

After Holland received, Dutch hopes arose when Arenas on a delayed buck raced 43 yards to carry the pigskin deep into Tiger territory to the visitors' 27. A 15-yard penalty for roughness left the ball on the Harborites' 12-yard marker.

But three line plays netted nothing and Burns was smeared on the 21 when he tried a fourth down pass. That was the last real scoring opportunity Coach Bob Stupka's boys had.

On the first play of the fourth period, Clark intercepted a Burns pass and returned it 34 yards to the Holland 24. Just six plays later, Clark went around right end from the five for the third Tiger touchdown.

After an exchange of punts, Clark again intercepted a Holland pass and returned it 34 yards to the Holland 36. On the third play from scrimmage, the all-conference back twisted his way through host of Dutch tacklers and went over from the 30. The kick was good again and the final score read, 27-6, for Benton Harbor.

Dutch mentor Stupka found his backfield talent at a low ebb Friday night, with three of his regulars missing for one reason or another. Fullback Jack Kempker did not even don a uniform because of a painful ankle injury. Terry Burns at quarterback was the only fully seasoned performer in the backfield.

Filling in capably for the injured Kempker was sophomore Don Kuipers. He combined with Carl Visscher and Art Arenas to carry the brunt of the Dutch attack. Dean King and Paul Mack—called up from the reserve team this week—played well defensively.

The longest and most consistent Tiger gains came either off tackle or around end. But it would have been hard to stop Nate Clark, even on a dry field under sunny skies.

Dan Hazebrook, as usual, was leading ground gainer. The local team will close the season next Friday night with a conference game at Grand Haven.

Century Club Sees Film On Furniture Production

More than 60 members of the Century club and guests met in the Hope church parlors Monday night to see "Skilled Hands," a film which proves that the art of raising tulips is not the only Old World skill that the city of Holland preserves.

In beautiful color photography the film shows the manufacture of furniture in the local Baker Furniture Co. Each step in the production of the art pieces is sketched to show how the craftsmanship of woodcarvers, leather workers, glaziers, finishers and upholsterers is incorporated to produce pieces of lasting beauty.

The film was shown by Alex Martin, who was introduced by Milton L. Hinga, president of the club.

Music of the evening was presented by Paul Kranendonk, who sang "Myself When Young" from "In a Persian Garden" by Liza Lehman, "Duna" by Josephine McGill, "Sea Rapture" by Eric Coates and "Dedication" by Cesar Franck.

Colorful Film Lecture Presented by Club Guest

Mildred Wright Bairstow, becoming dressed in a picturesque Martinique costume, which she explained was fashioned after that of Josephine, Napoleon's Empress, entertained members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon with a delightful travel lecture, "The West Indies—Enchanted Isles of the Caribbean."

Josephine was born on the island of Martinique, one of that colorful group of islands which extend in a fantastic pattern of stepping-stones from the tip of Florida to the northeastern coast of South America, she said.

These "lands where America began," Mrs. Bairstow said, spell adventure and romance. Her beautiful and artistic pictures showed lovely land-locked harbors, once the rendezvous of buccaners; majestic emerald mountains dipping into sapphire seas; quaint rambling streets; gardens radiant with tropical blooms; native markets and strange customs; cosmopolitan gaiety in a gracious Old World setting. Especially unusual were pictures of colorful flammingoes.

Mrs. Bairstow has lived in many lands south of the border and has devoted years to the study of primitive cultures. She is considered an authority on Latin America and because she can speak Spanish, she has come to know the people. She personally visited and photographed every spot represented in her fascinating pictures, and her narration was filled with interesting experiences and human interest. She now lives in Waukegan, Ill.

Following the pictures, members of the club gathered around the speaker's collection of handicraft and curios, many of them obtained on her recent two-month trip to the Caribbean.

Mrs. Garrett Vander Borgh, who presided, announced next Tuesday's program as a "come and go" tea honoring new members of the club. There will be music by a Grand Rapids harpist, Mrs. Hiram Collins of the Grand Rapids Symphony orchestra.

Century of Service Drive to Continue For Hope College

The Hope College Century of Service campaign was clarified at a meeting of some 75 volunteer workers Thursday night in Hope chapel, in which workers were informed that the question of a Hope-Holland Community gymnasium now has been referred to agencies as a civic project, but that the college organization will continue its drive for other projects.

Mayor Harry Harrington will appoint a citizens' committee to promote a community gymnasium for Holland, a project that the Board of Education of the public schools, the Board of Trustees for the Society for Christian Education, the Board of Trustees of Hope college and the Holland Chamber of Commerce have agreed to promote.

With the gymnasium taken out of the project, the Hope Century of Service program will now go ahead on its million-dollar campaign with the local quota reduced to $150,000.

The campaign will open with a kickoff dinner Monday, Nov. 26, at 6:30 p.m. in Durfee hall for inspiration, distribution of supplies and final instructions. Five report meetings are scheduled in intervals the next three weeks.

The citizens' committee Mayor Harrington will name will be charged with the responsibility of promoting a campaign to get a gymnasium built in the shortest possible time. The committee will work with the Holland Planning commission. The program would require a public vote.

"We don't always realize the value of Hope college to our town," the mayor said. "Hope spends more than a million dollars a year in this community. It's an institution everyone shares in, and it deserves the interest and the support of everyone."

Mrs. George E. Kollen, who heads the women's groups, pointed to the intellectual and spiritual influence Hope wields in Holland.

Dr. I. J. Lubbers, president of Hope college, emphasized the need for impetus in getting the program going. He said the plans only would answer current needs, and Hope must begin to think of the next decade.

Others speaking for the campaign were Mrs. Edward Donivan, Donald J. Crawford, Neal Steketee and George Lumsden.

Case Is Referred To Probate Court

Sgt. Ralph Woldring of the Holland police department has petitioned Allegan Probate Court to take jurisdiction in the case of Marcia Sterenberg, 16, of Graafschap, who was driver of the car involved in a car-truck crash Oct. 22 which claimed the life of 15-year-old Sandra Bultema.

The petition sets forth facts of the case and alleges two violations of state law—negligent homicide and driving without an operator's license. The case was turned over to the Allegan court since the defendant is a resident of that county.

Prosecutor Wendell A. Miles said he was not requesting a waiver on the girl for transfer to Circuit Court since he did not regard the offense as criminal.

Officer Woldring also signed a complaint against Marcia's father, Harold Sterenberg, route 6, for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his automobile. This action is in keeping with a policy of the Holland police department in insisting that drivers are qualified to drive motor vehicles.

Official to Detail Social Security On Self-Employed

Phases of the new social security law that pertain to self-employed persons will be discussed and explained at a public meeting in Van Raalte hall, room 101, on the Hope college campus, at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 6.

The session has been arranged by the Chamber of Commerce community service committee, under direction of Chairman Clarence Greengood.

Patrick L. Hassett, field representative of the Grand Rapids social security administration office, will lead discussion and answer questions.

The federal social security law has been broadened to include many persons who are self-employed and this means 1951 earnings count toward old age and survivors insurance protection for the worker and his family.

The worker must report his earnings and pay the tax at the same time that his income tax return is due, March 15, 1952.

The tax is 2.25 per cent on the net income up to $3,600. Each worker must have a social security account card.

The following group of self-employed persons are not included under federal social security: Farmers, doctors, lawyers, dentists, architects, osteopaths, optometrists, naturopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, Christian Science practitioners, licensed or registered accountants, or full-time practicing accountants, funeral directors and professional engineers.

If a self-employed person earns less than $400 a year, he or she is not covered by federal social security.

Washington Correspondent Gives Vivid Description of Elizabeth

by Esther Van Wagener Tufty

Washington (Special)—Princess Elizabeth is minus political sex appeal, but smilingly she is doing what England expects of her.

In London, she's described as "a very private sort of person". She is very much in love with her dashing, tall, blonde Prince Charming, she would have preferred that Mr. and Mrs. Mountbatten discovered Washington for the first time without 550,000 looking on.

She lacks that flair of easy intimacy that made the Prince of Wales a dramatic good-will ambassador for Great Britain back in the roarin' 20's. Even her matronly plump mother, The Queen, had a more vote-getting personality in meeting Americans on her visit in 1939.

Perhaps the best adjective to describe the Princess Elizabeth kind of person is "earnest". Quiet, dignified, restraint to almost aloofness, the Princess still manages to look like the princess right out of our fairy stories. And her Prince fits the live-happily-ever-after ending.

Her biggest test in Washington came first. She "met the press", 800 strong, which just isn't done in London. Of course, even here it was not a press conference in true American fashion. No questions were hurled. Neither could it be called a reception. No refreshments, liquid or otherwise, were served. She simply said a few kind words in a high girlish voice rich with British accent and then walked around the big ballroom at the Statler hotel. At every tenth step, she stopped and spoke to some lucky reporter, who immediately became too tongue-tied to ask a question after identifying himself. With her was Margaret Truman, who acted like an American princess by keeping in the background. Even with a Queen-to-be present, the President's daughter was not ignored by the press for she has many "first-name" friends among the Washington reporters.

It was Margaret, recently back from England, who prepared Americans for the pleasant shock that Her Royal Highness would be so much better looking than her pictures. To begin with, she's so much smaller than expected and at the moment "slimmed down for the trip".

An Australian girl reporter traveling with the royal party confided "She's really smartly dressed by British standards".

She added "The princess probably would be as over-jeweled and over-dressed as The Queen except she so in love with Philip that she wants to please him by wearing more fetching outfits and cutting her hair fashionably. Yet she is not glamorous. The older women at the British embassy reception said: 'She looks just like any well brought up girl who has married and settled down to raise a family in the suburbs'. She does, although few American matrons would have those diamond clips and earrings.

One reporter, male of course, said "she has a figure as bosomy as Faye Emerson". It's true there is a maturity to her figure and to her erect carriage which she must have copied from the Dowager Queen Mary. She truly walks like the Queen she will be.

She doesn't smile often. As one Britisher said, "She just isn't matey". When she does change that quiet expression with a quick smile, the effect is very engaging. She can blush, too. Or maybe it was just that amazing British red-checked complexion so many girls have.

At 26, this girl is a symbol. That can not be easy even for a serious person who has grown up in palaces and known her destiny was always to be on parade.

The President of the United States seemed to realize this more than anyone else. A doting father, he really talked with her as he would some sorority sister of his daughter. There was no stiffness in the formality that protocol dictated for the Truman dinner in her honor. That dining room must have really startled the British royal couple used to the expansiveness of Buckingham Palace. The dining room table at Blair House will seat only 18. So the rest of top flight officials and their long white-gloved wives had to come in after dinner. Even these were limited to a hundred. But the beautiful simplicity of Blair House... the temporary White House... gave this young couple a much better idea of American living in the best of traditions many of which came from Britain.

In local Municipal Court news, Harold Sterenberg, 40, route 6, appeared Saturday on a charge of permitting an unlicensed person to drive his car, and paid fine and costs of $28.90. The charge was an outgrowth of a fatal accident Oct. 22 at 20th and Ottawa which claimed the life of Sandra Bultema, 15, Graafschap. Sterenberg's daughter, Marcia, 16, was the driver of the car which collided with a gasoline transport.

They paid costs of $8.10 and agreed to make restitution for damage done to the car of Theodore Essenburg. Grand Haven Reserves Overpower Junior Chix Zeeland (Special)—The Grand Haven Reserves outmanned the Zeeland Reserves here Thursday afternoon, with the Junior Bucs winning on a snow-swept field, 27-7.

The Junior Chix' only touchdown came on a pass play from Duane Kuiper to Ron Knoper. Both boys carried the brunt of the Zeeland attack.

THE RIGHT TO BE WRONG

One of those familiar upheavals that break out on American campuses from time to time is at this moment agitating the Ohio State University—the institution from which Harlan Hatcher, the new president of the University of Michigan, was recruited. The controversy revolves around the question of student censorship.

The board of social activities issued an edict to the editors of the institution's weekly newspaper, The Lantern, that anything published about the board's activities must first be approved by members of that body. When students rose up in revolt the board explained that its edict was not censorship but had been issued in the interest of "good reporting."

It accused The Lantern of incorrectly reporting what developed at board meetings.

In that charge the social board of Ohio's state university may be right. Newspapers whether conducted by students on a college campus or by regular publishers, do sometimes print incorrect reports. Any honest newspaper man would be the first to agree with such a statement. But there is no guarantee that the reports will be more faithful to the facts if they have been passed on by such a board of control than they are without such censorship.

For the board of control at the Ohio University obviously has an ax to grind. It wants to control reports about its meeting so that it can put those meetings in the best possible light. That attitude inevitably leads to distortion. Human nature is such that it finds self-censorship a virtual impossibility. The students may sometimes report incorrectly, but such lapses from fidelity to fact are likely to be the result of misunderstanding, seldom of self-interest. As between the two, the students have all the best of the argument.

The controversy has wider implications. Government officials are always itching to impose restrictions of that kind on the press in general. President Truman did it recently in his now famous directive to government boards and bureaus. The argument always is that such restrictions are in the interest of publishing correct information. The real motive invariably is to protect those officials and bureaus from criticism by the press.

It is not desirable for newspapers to be wrong. But it is safer for the American people that the papers shall be wrong from time to time than that they lose the right to be wrong. That right is tied with the American brand of freedom. We do not want to lose it.

The People Delivered
Exodus 12:30-31; 14:15-22, 31
By Henry Geerlings

Moses undertook the task of delivering Israel from Egypt and leading them into Canaan by way of the wilderness, close to Mount Sinai, where he had been divinely commissioned for the task. He met opposition, of course.

Ten successive plagues had fallen on Pharaoh like hammer blows. While he hardened himself and resisted the appeals of the servants of Jehovah each new one came nearer breaking his stubborn will. He was quick to perceive how great the financial and economic loss would be should these millions of industrious people go from his country. The tenth plague, the visit of the destroying angel, showed Pharaoh how great would be the loss in life and property were he not willing to release the Jews and let them fall in with God's plan.

It was not with any good will that he gave his consent. Placing their kneeling troughs on their shoulders and taking the presents their neighbors gave them, the Jews went forth, setting their faces toward freedom and the beginning of an independent existence. So subdued were the Egyptians from the loss of their first-born that they offered no resistance to the Israelites, who now looked to Moses and Aaron as their leaders. The pagan deities had no power to resist what Jehovah was doing.

But the Israelites did not go far before Pharaoh repented of the thing he had done. Instead of letting them go unmolested to the land that was to be their inheritance, he pursued them with his horses and chariots, supposing that they had become entangled in the wilderness. When the children of Israel saw they were hotly chased by their old masters they were frightened and bitterly reproached Moses for leading them into what they imagined was a death trap. With sublime faith he pointed them to God, who, he said was about to visit them with a powerful deliverance. The pillar of cloud, symbol of God's presence, that had gone before the host of Israel, leading them, now went behind them to offer protection from the assault of their enemies. Moses, heretofore unskilled in statecraft, was giving a good account of himself.

The Red Sea had been reached when the enemy was about to overtake them. They could not cross the waters. They were not trained fighters able to withstand the attacks of the pursuing soldiers. It seemed that fate was against them. Moses did not give up. He trusted God to show a way of escape. The way was pointed out and Moses did as God directed. The control of God over the waters was manifest. A path appeared through the waters and it was like dry land to them. It was the opportune moment. Moses gave instruction that they should not fear to cross. It was the strangest thing that ever happened. None of them had seen anything like it. The waters were turned into walls on each side of the path and it was perfectly safe for them to go across. It is not within our imagination to understand what the effect of it all must have been. That there were fears, many of them, we do not doubt.

What of the Egyptian soldiers?
They arrived and saw Israel get away in safety. It was dangerous to follow them, but they were under orders to bring them back.
The decision could be but one way. They must risk the pursuit.
But they did not know that Israel's escape was of God's planning and that the path across the sea was solely for them. The defiance of Pharaoh, his broken promises and his open reviling against Jehovah could not go unpunished. Israel's safety was involved and in addition the name of God as supreme among all gods was in the balance.

The course of Egypt's army was hard. Hindrances were many. The heavy chariots were heavier than ever. The wheels were broken and lost. The progress was slow. Then the calamity broke, with the return of the waters to their places.
The strength of Egypt's army was unequal to the waters of the Red Sea. There was complete destruction of the enemy and the claims of Moses and the supremacy of Jehovah were upheld. It was a bitter outcome for Egypt's treachery.
Pharaoh learned that the word of Jehovah was not to be taken indifferent.

The deliverance of Israel and the destruction of the Egyptians had been observed. Israel was ready to take account of its faith in Jehovah. Moses had come to them with promises they found hard to believe. He had managed their plans for departure. There had been ample evidences that the power of Jehovah was operative in all their remarkable experiences. These coupled with the often repeated traditions concerning the care Jehovah had given their ancestry, helped them to see in that day's marvelous attains further assurances that their God was trustworthy.

They had walked across the waters in the bed of the sea, the waters being protecting walls on both sides. They had observed what happened when Moses lifted up his hand. The death-dealing waters had rushed to their accustomed places and their enemy had been destroyed. It was a great work. The people were filled with awe. They knew that it was safe to believe in God, and to trust Moses as their leader. They had all the proofs that were needed to give their faith a solid foundation. If they were sincere in planted as long as the soil is workable. Mrs. Herpolsheimer reported that pink, blue parrot, purple, white, salmon and early orange varieties still are available at her home, 1711 South Shore Dr. It was emphasized that these to be presented by the Junior Welfare league.

Reservations for the evening performance on Friday, Nov. 16, in the Woman's Literary club house have all been taken, accord-

Members of the Lakeview school Parent-Teacher group are mighty proud of their hot lunch program.
And they have good reason to be.

The program, now in its second year, provides meals for 119 children each noon and at a cost of just 15 cents apiece. Eight adult teachers also are fed at a slightly higher rate.

The big boost behind the lunch program is the Parent-Teacher group. Last year this group purchased a refrigerator and stove.
This year, with help of the Mother's club, a large second-hand commercial mixer was bought and renovated by members of the Parent-Teacher group.

Other new equipment includes an electric stove, timer, a soap dispenser, vegetable slicer, salad maker, tea-kettle, coffee pot and 150 plates, cups, salad plates, several platters and large bowls.

State aid includes surplus food and six cents toward each meal.
State inspectors can call at any time.

Besides furnishing valuable utilities and other items, the Mother's club canned 300 quarts of applesauce. This club sponsors a free lunch for one child. It also provided tuition, board and room for a week's course in lunch room management at Western State college, Kalamazoo, for one mother.

Mrs. Glennard Bonnette, manager, and Mrs. Lee Doolittle, are regular cooks, assisted by one from the Parent-Teachers membership each day.

The kitchen is located in the new Lakeview school addition, directly off the auditorium and lunch room. An opening between the rooms forms a serving counter.

Lunch hours are staggered by grades at five-minute intervals, beginning at 11:45 each school day. Pupils wash before entering the room, line up at the serving counter for their filled plates and then take them to tables where milk already has been placed.

Attractive plants, donated by Mrs. John Kamps, second and third grade teacher, center each table. Usually the children are through eating and outdoors playing at 12:20.

Teachers then are able to eat their lunches.

Teachers are: Mrs. Roger Van Lente, kindergarten and first grade; Mrs. Kamps, second and third grade; Mrs. Harold Van Dyke, third and fourth grade;
Donald Van Ark, fifth and sixth grades, and John Nyenhuis, principal and seventh and eighth grade teacher.

Stout Hawk Line Yields Only Six Markers in Year

Fennville (Special)—The football season is over but the memory lingers on.

Fennville high school closed the book on the most successful grid campaign in the school's history Friday night by pounding favored Byron Center, champion of the Barkenall league, 26-6.

That was the final chapter of a season that saw the Hawks win five, lose only one and tie one. Fennville scored 137 points to but 41 for their opponents in Coach Sam Morehead's first season at the helm.

Fennville turned in its best game of the year Friday night by literally snowing under Byron Center in a snowbound game at Fennville.

Fullback Bill Sisson capped three scoring drives with plunges into pay dirt, and halfback Jack Turner returned a kickoff 80 yards for the other marker. Halfback Skip Bale sparked the three touchdown drives with his running and on each series broke down through the opposition for scampers of 16 to 20 yards.

Turner skirted end for the first point after touchdown and quarterback Larry Morse tossed to Ken Gunder in the end zone for the final extra point.

Fennville took a first period lead by marching straight down the field for a score. Byron Center tied it up in the same stanza, with a 20-yard pass play netting the touchdown. But on the ensuing kickoff, Turner romped 80 yards into pay dirt to put the Hawks back into the lead to stay.

The Fennville line took honors away from the backfield, though, with outstanding line play. Blocking and tackling all night was sharp. Tackle Norm Stanford and end Ned Bale were the bulwarks of the Hawk defense.

"It was a pleasure to watch them play," Coach Morehead said. "They made very few mistakes and were really up for Byron Center."

It was the last game for six seniors, all of them will be sorely missed next season. Graduating will be Bill Sisson and Jack Turner from the backfield, ends Ken Gunder and Ned Bale, and guards Jack Decker and Bill Hohler. Quarterback Jim Kee, who received a broken arm earlier in the campaign, also will graduate in June.

Morehead pointed out that the Hawk defense this season was especially outstanding. Only six touchdowns were scored against Fennville in seven games.

New Buffalo scored twice in handing the Hawks their only loss, and the Allegan Reserves chalked up two TD's in a 43-13 rout by the Hawks. The Holland Reserves applied the other blotch to Fennville's record with a 6-6 tie, and Byron Center scored the only other touchdown. Martin accounted for two points with a safety.

Here are the 1951 results, with Fennville's score in the first column:

25	Hopkins	0
19	Martin	0
6	New Buffalo	14
12	New Richmond	0
6	Holland Reserves	6
43	Allegan Reserves	13
26	Byron Center	6

VOLLEYS FROM AMBUSH

Today we bow to Marilyn Veldman of Hope college for her intrepid courage in the face of disaster during the third performance of Shaw's "Arms and the Man" last week in Hope's Little Theater.

Marilyn, in her role as the provocative flirtatious maid, had to adjust the draperies in one scene, and in so doing a tiny mouse scooted across the corner of the stage.

Almost any woman would have screamed, or something. Not so for Marilyn. In a split second decision, the Orange City, Ia., girl decided if she didn't look down at the mouse, nobody else would either. And so, nobody in the audience was aware of the little intruder.

It was her first college stage role too!

Pat Nordhof writes us from Victoria, Australia, that Holland isn't the only place that grows tulips. He enclosed a page from the "Australian Monthly," the Australian equivalent of the Saturday evening Post or Collier's with a color spread on tulips. It tells about the 30,000 bulbs planted by Stewart Boag of Bundanoon, N. S. W., who started Australia's biggest tulip farm eight years ago when he received 100 tulip bulbs from a friend. Tourists from all over Australia tiptoe through his tulips in October (remember, Australia's down under) when they are in full bloom.

Pat, whose home address is 257 West 11th St., has been in Australia about a year, and has been seeing as much of the country as possible before he returns to the United States sometimes in 1952.

"Forward March" seems to be the motto of the Chamber of Commerce, since the receptionist seems to be getting nearer and nearer the door. The large counter has been moved 4 1/2 feet forward, to allow more working space inside.

"I expect it will take me some time to learn your Dutch names," G. H. Rindelman, new BPW superintendent, said this week. He said he and his wife had been looking at the telephone book and, like all newcomers, were a bit lost with pronunciations, much less spelling.

It must be them that "Vans" that floor them.

Maybe we should chart a little spell-down. How about these names: Vande Luyster, Vander Heuvel, Vander Schaaf, Van Hailtsma, Van Looyengoud, Van Regenmorter, Van Oosterhout, Van Tatenhoeve, Van Veldhuizen.

Or if the Vans fall short of challenge, how about Kleinhessel, Uiterwyk, Michmershuizen, Schripsema, Schrotenboer, Schrenewer, Schaftenaar, Rottschaf, Plagenhoef, Petroelje, Plockmeyer, Meeuwse, Kornelje, Kiektveld, Klomparsen, VerBerkmoes, Hoogendoorn, Hoogstrate, Holkeboer, Haasjes, Slabbekoorn, Vergevoegd, Berkomps, Berentschot, Becksvort, Arendshorst, Tenchink, Tuuring, Vredevoegd, Riemersma.

The toughest one to spell in the Sentinel newsroom: Van Eenenaam.

If these aren't enough, try some neighboring villages such as Graafschap, New Groningen or Drenthe.

Or maybe it might be simpler for the new BPW superintendent to confer with the new city manager. After all, Mac McClintock went through all this just six months ago.

Heard over the coffee cups last Saturday while winds whistled and snow swirled.

Outsider: "I didn't know it turn cold so early in Michigan."

Native: "Neither did we!"

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boerliger and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lange-land were in charge of arrangements for the reception which followed the ceremony.

Spotter Service Needs Volunteers

For a 24-hour watch of the skies in case of enemy air attacks a lot more than the present 15 volunteers would be necessary in the Holland area, Major Martin Japenga said today.

Two persons would have to be on duty at the local ground observation post on a round-the-clock basis, Japenga commented, requiring up to 50 volunteer aircraft spotters. He expects to canvass service clubs and other local organizations for their aid in recruiting volunteers during the next months.

At present, the major who is in charge of the Holland post is working with local amateur radio operators to set up radio communications with the Grand Rapids control center in case telephone connections break down.

Meanwhile, Gen. Lester F. Maitland, state civil defense chief, declared Michigan has approximately 6,100 persons enlisted in its ground observer corps directed by the Eastern Air command. A state-wide goal of 18,000 volunteer observers has been set by civil defense authorities.

Chix End Season With Close Win Over Plainwell

Zeeland (Special) — Zeeland high school closed out its 1951 season with a 7-6 victory over Plainwell Friday night in a game that was every bit as close as the score indicates.

The contest was played during a snowstorm on a field covered with about 3 1/2 inches of snow.

End Roger Smallegan scored for coach Joe Newell's charges when he picked up a fumble by Zeeland's Paul Heyboer and ran 23 yards for a touchdown. The play came in the second quarter. Heyboer then smashed off guard for the extra point that put the Chix ahead, 7-0.

Plainwell scored late in the third period when the Trojans' Dick Cowell went 27 yards from scrimmage into pay dirt. But on the attempted end around for the all important point, tackle Roger Snow formed the spearhead of a strong Zeeland wall that smeared the play, Zeeland held the lead, 7-6.

Plainwell threatened again in the 4th period when they recovered a Chix fumble on the 25. But when the ball got to the eight, the Zeeland line held and the Chix took over at the game ended.

Outside of the two scoring drives and Plainwell's one threat, play was centered in the middle of the white gridiron. Each team had seven first downs, and the attacks were confined mostly to the ground. Only five passes were thrown by both teams. Zeeland was forced to punt six times and Plainwell five.

Junior Dave Kuylers filled in well for the injured Glenn Schrotenbor at the signal calling post. Coach Newell said the team looked much improved over last week's outing at Allegan.

The win gives the Chix a conference record of two wins, one tie and two losses. In outside games, Zeeland tied one and lost one.

GRANDSTANDING...

Some well-chilled sidights on the Hope-Adrian game:

Hope came through the game without a serious injury. In fact, the Dutchmen didn't even have to take an injury time-out.

Coach Al Vanderbush was pleased with the performance of all 35 Hope players who got into the game. The only player who made the trip and didn't see action was fullback Don Hondorp, who still is nursing a knee injury.

Several players, usually considered as substitutes, played almost the entire game on defense or offense or both. These included Bill Heydorn, defensive guard; Paul Bos, who started at offensive end and switched to defensive end at the half; and Paul Vander Meer, kick-off specialist, who played defensive end.

In fact, several of the regulars commented that they didn't keep playing enough to keep warm.

We wrote in this column Saturday that Friday's high school game was played under the worst atmospheric conditions imaginable. Well, Saturday night it was worse. The field was covered with snow the entire game, and more kept coming down all the time. The blizzard let up only in the last few minutes of play. The mercury hovered at 20 degrees or less Saturday, and the wind really swept across the island where the Adrian gridiron is located.

An odd assortment of warmup blankets was on view. Center Neil Droppers brought a velvet quilted blanket that he insisted belonged to his grandmother. Halfback Don York played with his sleeves rolled up, and between plays he sometimes threw snowballs at the linemen.

Fullback Herm Nienhuis almost broke into a 23-yard run in the fourth quarter, but the play was called back by a holding penalty. Just four plays later, Adrian took over on downs.

Vanderbush paid tribute to the Bulldog team as a scrappy but plainly undermanned club. Adrian had only 24 men at the game.

"But their kids said we were the cleanest team they had played all year," Vanderbush said.

The last half was shortened by mutual agreement. Coaches Ted Boyett and Vanderbush okayed an arrangement whereby quarters were cut to 12 minutes (instead of 15) and the clock was stopped only for times-out. As a result, the game was over about a half-hour earlier than usual.

The two teams arrived at the field about 10 minutes before game time, took brief loosening up drills, and then started playing ball.

Only about 50 hardy students and fans turned out to see the game.

The Hope team arrived back in Holland at about 4:30 a.m. Sunday, and experienced hazardous road conditions all the way. Vanderbush called off practice for today, and said the rest of the week's schedule would depend on the weather.

Before reorganization can be undertaken it must be necessary to have at least 24 applications on file. L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent, already has received some requests for entry into the new association.

Any Ottawa dairyman who wishes to join should get in touch with Holleman or the agricultural agent at the Court House, Grand Haven.

October Postal Receipts Up 19 Per Cent Over 1950

October postal receipts at the Holland post office have increased 19.1 per cent over receipts for the same month a year ago. Postmaster Harry Kramer announced today.

Receipts last month totaled $46,032 or $7,387 more than the October, 1950, figure of $38,645.

Receipts for the first 10 months this year are slightly ahead of last year. The 10-month total this year is $336,294, or $2,195 more than for the same period last year totaling $334,099.

During 1950 the total proved U.S. reserves of oil climbed from 28,586,000,000 barrels to 29,952,000,000 barrels, an increase during the year of 1,366,000,000 barrels.

Two-year-old Billy Mulder bundled up both himself and his puppy, Tippy, Friday afternoon for a quick look at Holland's first snowfall of the season. It was the second snowfall that Billy had seen, and the first for Tippy, who made good use of muffler and earmuffs. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Mulder, 125 East 18th St. But Billy and Tippy got a much better look Saturday. Four inches of the white stuff fell during the night, and left the ground covered. Holland was luckier than Houghton, though, which recorded 21 inches of snow in nine-degree temperature. Pellston in the Lower Peninsula had seven inches, and most of Michigan had some snow to shovel this morning. The unprecedented cold blast extended as far south as Florida. Coldest spot in the nation was Fort Collins, Colo., with a record 17 degrees below zero. Snow also fell on Shreveport, La., just 185 miles from the Gulf of Mexico. It was 12 degrees in Chicago and 16 in Detroit. (Sentinel photo)

Concert Artist Well Received

A large appreciative audience was given a musical treat in Hope Memorial chapel Saturday evening when Eugene Conley, operatic tenor, presented a well balanced concert program ranging from simple ballads to difficult operatic arias.

With Marcel Frank as his accompanist, Mr. Conley opened the program with the familiar "Where'er You Walk" and the powerful "Sound and Alarm" from "Judas Maccabaeus," both by Handel.

Mr. Conley possesses a clear, powerful voice, mellow rather than lyrical, and he sings with an ease that makes every word understandable. He was particularly gracious and generous with his encores, and endeared himself to his audience with informal chats.

Three of his six sections of the program dealt with operatic works from Puccini's "La Tosca" and "La Boheme," Verdi's "Rigoletto" and von Flotow's "Martha." Particularly well received were the familiar "M'appari" from "Martha" and "La Donna e Mobile" from Rigoletto.

Alternating easily from arias to the less bombastic selections such as Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song" and Rachmaninoff's "Floods of Spring," Mr. Conley included the Liddle arrangement of the gay "The Garden Where the Praties Grow" which was introduced to Holland audiences some years ago by Tenor John Carter. The Conley-Frank arrangement of "Beloved" based on Rubenstein's "Romance" ended on a high powerful note which brought matching applause.

Among the many encores were such long-time favorites as Schubert's "Serenade," "Danny Boy" and the familiar Irish air, "I Hear You Calling Me" all of them roundly applauded.

From the enthusiastic response to the Conley concert, it would appear that more such concerts should be a part of Holland's social and cultural life. Mr. Conley's appearance was sponsored by Hope college.

Local Teams Face Last Loop Tests

Hope college fights for a championship and Holland high school battles to stay out of the conference cellar in the only two football games scheduled for local teams this week-end.

Currently tied with Albion and Alma for the MIAA lead, Hope's gridders will face Hillsdale Saturday afternoon at Riverview Park, and must win to share the conference title.

There is only one way Hope could win a clear title. If the Dutchmen beat Hillsdale, and if Alma and Albion tie in their battle Friday night at Alma, then Coach Al Vanderbush's charges would have a clear crown.

In the other MIAA game, Kalamazoo travels to Adrian Saturday. Holland high school will invade Grand Haven Friday night for the season's final game for both schools. The loser will end up in the Southwestern conference basement.

If Coach Bob Stupka's preppers beat Grand Haven, they could advance up the Southwestern ladder to as far as four place, depending on the outcome of Saturday's feature battle between Muskegon and Muskegon Heights. Benton Harbor closes the season against non-conference Grand Rapids South, and Kalamazoo meets Battle Creek in a non-league affair.

The Holland Reserves are slated to see action Friday afternoon at Grand Haven.

Both Zeeland and Fennville closed out their schedules last Friday night.

Horizon Club Fetes New Girls

Sophomore girls were honored guests at an all-city Horizon party Monday evening in the Woman's Literary club building.

Miss Hope Schutmaat, president of Horizon Cabinet, presided at the meeting and welcomed new girls.

Mrs. Mildred Wright Bairstow, of Waukegan, Ill., appeared in a colorful Martinique costume to show her movies on "The Enchanted Isles of the Caribbean." She also had on display exquisite hand-loomed textiles and other samples of native handicraft.

Four Horizon girls, Mary Ann Knooihuizen, Hope Schutmaat, Mary Jo Alburg and Shirley Hopp, in a clever skit, told about Horizon activities for the benefit of the new girls. They portrayed four young matrons, over a canasta table, reminiscing about their high school days in Horizon. They discussed sweater dances, the formal parties, Thursday evenings at the hospital rolling bandages and all the other fun that makes up Horizon. Mary Ann concluded the skit with a resume of her trip to Girl's State in Ann Arbor as Horizon delegate.

Mrs. Albert Timmer, local Camp Fire executive, introduced Mrs. Peter Kromann, president, and Mrs. James K. Ward, chairman of the Horizon committee. She also introduced all Horizon advisers.

New advisers who will take over the three new sophomore groups are Mrs. Harold Luth, Mrs. Ernest Phillips and Mrs. Robert Greenhoe.

Nasty Weather Doesn't Daunt Phone Protests

Olive Center (Special)—When people get fired up enough about anything, they don't let little things like nasty weather daunt them.

And yet the turnout at the second protest meeting of Blenden-Olive telephone users Tuesday night surprised even the people most upset over inadequate phone service.

Even though Wendell A. Miles, county prosecutor, wasn't able to get out to the town hall in Olive, a large number turned out anyway and 31 signed affidavits, all properly notarized, alleging poor service of the private utility which has headquarters at Berculo.

The first meeting called by Olive Supervisor Albert Stegenga a couple of weeks ago brought an overflow crowd. Stegenga was surprised at Tuesday night's turnout and said plans would be made for more protest meetings in other locations.

"Some people even walked Tuesday night," he said.

Savings-Loan Association to Stage Open House in New Headquarters

The Ottawa Savings and Loan Association, in operation since 1888, scheduled house for the public Tuesday from 2 to 8 p.m. in its modern new home at 10th and Central Ave., facing Centennial park.

The new one-story building with full basement measuring 32 by 70 feet is strictly modern in design. The front has 40 feet of glass recessed four feet from the front of the building. Outside is a flagstone porch 12 feet wide fronted by a marble wall two feet high and 40 feet long. Japanese yews are planted in the garden space between. A time clock controls flood lights which light the front of the building at night.

The new building is a direct contrast to previous headquarters the firm occupied in a small white frame building at 9 East Eighth St. since 1945.

The association had planned to erect a new building on that site, but purchased the present site of the old Mersen home when it became evident a new location would better serve the needs of the public, particularly in parking facilities and drive-in service.

In keeping with the modern motif, the airy lobby is furnished with modern furniture. A long maple counter has four windows, two for loans and two for savings. An innovation is a drive-in window in which deposits are made or other business conducted from a parked car. An inter-com speaker is used in transacting business. There also are private offices and other work space. A gas furnace and vault are in the basement.

The business has made great strides since Ernest V. Hartman took over as manager in 1936. At that time the firm, known as Ottawa County Building and Loan association, had about $85,000 in assets. It operated in a small room at the rear of the Model Drug Co. and in 1937 moved to the Tower building. Assets at the end of October, 1951, were listed at $1,833,832.12. In June, 1940, they were $256,113.99. Assets passed the million-dollar mark in 1947.

Today there are 1,150 investors in Ottawa Savings and Loan, compared with 113 when Hartman took over in 1936.

Officers are Jacob Zuidema, president; Clarence J. Becker, vice president; Ernest V. Hartman, secretary-treasurer; Vernon D. Ten Cate, attorney. Directors are Oscar Peterson, Becker, Gilbert Vande Water, Ten Cate, John Post, Hartman, William C. De Roo, Zuidema, I. H. Marsilje and Herman Mool. Directors will serve as a reception committee at the open house Tuesday.

The firm changed its name from Ottawa County Building and Loan three years ago. It is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank system and all accounts are automatically insured up to $10,000, with family investments insured up to $30,000.

Circuit Court Moves

Grand Haven (Special)—Circuit Court was held at the Hillcrest Nursing home here Tuesday when Judge Raymond L. Smith, Court Reporter Daniel Vander Werf and an attorney took testimony in a divorce case. After the testimony, a decree was granted 74-year-old Anton Vucicevich from his wife, Katrina. Vucicevich is awaiting trial in Circuit Court on a criminal charge and has been confined to the nursing home since shortly after his arrest when he suffered a paralytic stroke.

Van Putten Talks At Rotary Meet

Dr. J. Dyke Van Putten, Hope college and University of Chicago graduate, addressed the Holland Rotary club at its regular weekly meeting Thursday in the Warm Friend tavern on the subject, "Experiences in the Far East."

Having taught in China and India and having served as an investigator for the King of Siam on opium and vice problems, Dr. Van Putten had acquired considerable experience in the Far East before World War II. Early in the last war he did intelligence work for the Navy in New Zealand and New Caledonia and helped re-establish the public school system on Guam for the U. S. government.

He served as director of the U. S. Information Service in Peiping, China, and spent 14 months under the domination of the Communists. From May, 1950, to August, 1951, he held the same position in Korea and Formosa.

Dr. Van Putten described the Communist re-occupation of Seoul after the United Nations forces were forced to leave.

"The Communists are well prepared to do their job," the speaker emphasized, "especially along the lines of propaganda warfare."

Describing the second Communist invasion of Seoul, Dr. Van Putten declared that the whole population of the city, about 11 million, evacuated. Their experiences in the first Communist occupation were so terrible that the people chose freezing and starvation rather than subject themselves to such ruthless domination, he said.

The speaker declared that the American government showed few evidences of good planning in their handling of the military situation in Korea. The American Army which was first sent to Korea was weak and ill prepared for such an assignment. He observed that the Marines had better training than the Army.

"Our present Eighth Army in Korea is better able to care for itself than the early invasion forces. American equipment is superior," he said.

On the question of bombing Manchuria, the Russians would then have the perfect excuse for bombing Japan, he added.

At the Central Ave. building, Dan Bos served as announcer and special musical numbers were given by Margo Harbin, Ruth Terman and a boys duet.

Allegan May Hit Local Law Snag With Meter Ads

Ordinance Prohibits Ads on Publicly Owned Structures

Allegan (Special)—Before Allegan's city council can accept an advertising plan for its parking meters, it will have to take steps to avoid breaking its own law.

An existing ordinance prohibits advertising of any kind on any publicly owned structure.

City Manager Philip Beauvais said the council men plan to take a sample of the public's attitude toward the proposal before proceeding with the idea. But the prospect of $2,130 annual revenue with no expense nor maintenance is a tempting morsel, he said.

The signs, made of heavy metal-are six by eight inch panels in a triangular design. One panel would advertise national products in connection with a local store. Another would promote seasonal fund drive. The third carries a slogan for patronizing local merchants.

Should the council accept the plan soon, it would be the first city in Michigan to use parking meter advertising, a representative of the Park Ad company, Kalamazoo, told the officials.

In a move to meet maintenance costs, the council Monday night raised rates at Oakwood cemetery, affecting nearly every operation from grave-opening to the price of lots.

It learned the state highway department has approved resurfacing of bumpy Stanley Hill, a part of M-89 and M-40, in its 1952 paving program.

Another re-surfacing job on some of the city's downtown sidewalks was promised for next spring after Harry Jayne, contractor in charge of the summer's work, agreed some of the walks are in unsatisfactory condition.

Committee to Determine Major, Minor Streets

City Manager H. C. McClintock, City Engineer Jacob Zuidema and John Van Dyke, Jr., member of the county road committee, were appointed by Common Council Wednesday night to determine a major street plan for Holland city in which trunklines will be designated.

The city manager explained that the status of River Ave. north of Eighth St. must be defined as well as the boundary roads on city limits. Maintenance of the latter roads no longer can be shared by the city and township and such streets will be designated as major streets if the city takes over or as secondary streets if the county takes over.

Pair of Freshmen Blaze Snowy Trail To Dutch Victory

Adrian (Special)—In a swirling mass of snowflakes providing a setting more appropriate for singing Christmas carols than playing football, Hope college remained in the thick of the MIAA football race by overpowering Adrian college, 26-7, Saturday night.

The scoring punch for the eager gridders of Coach Al Vanderbush was provided by two freshmen—John Hamilton and Jim Willyard. Hamilton scored three times on runs totaling 116 yards, and Willyard added the fourth on a 35-yard sweep into pay dirt.

The entire Hope squad played well against Adrian, and the backfield had little trouble piling up long gains through big holes opened up by the boys up front.

The scrappy but undermanned Bulldogs were doomed to defeat from the opening period when Hope scored on the fourth play after they got their hands on the ball. From that point in the opening minutes of the icy contest, it was a matter of providing experience for the Hope reserves—and also a matter of surviving the 20-degree temperature.

The Dutchmen kicked off to Adrian, who were unable to move the pigskin and were forced to punt. Willyard, Hamilton and Zeke Piersma carried to the Hope 45. Hamilton then went around his own right end for a 55-yard touchdown run. Bud Prins' try for the point hit the uprights and bounced back on the playing field and Hope led, 6-0.

After the ensuing kickoff, a 26-yard pass from Bill Edinger to Dick Steudie picked up one first down for Adrian, but the Dutch line threw back four running attempts and Hope took over on its own 35. On the ninth play from scrimmage, Hamilton ripped through right tackle from the 11 for the score and Prins converted, making the count 13-0. Key play was a 36-yard swing around left end by Hamilton.

That was all the scoring until the closing minutes of the first half. Piersma laid the groundwork for the next score by intercepting an Adrian pass on the Hope 15. Just four plays later, the Dutch scored again on a 50-yard run by Hamilton. The Rockford freshman took advantage of good blocking, and also eluded about six Adrian tacklers without the aid of blocking. Tackle Gene Nyenhuis added the point on a perfect kick from placement and Hope led at the half, 20-0.

Hope added its final marker in the third period by taking the pigskin 6 yards on a series of four first downs from the quarter starting kickoff. Willyard scooted 35 yards off tackle for the touchdown, and guard Howard Meyer missed the attempt at point.

In the closing minutes of the game, Adrian opened up with a passing attack that set up the Bulldogs' only score. Adrian recovered a Hope fumble on the Hope 19 to start the scoring series. The payoff punch was a 10-yard pass from Edinger to Jim Mohler for the touchdown. Gerry Wallace skirted end for the extra point, and that was the ball game.

The victory over coach Ted Boyett's winless Bulldogs kept the Dutchmen in the thick of the MIAA race. Hope now is tied for top spot with Alma and Albion, each with a 3-1 league record.

The air will be settled Saturday when Hillsdale invades Riverview Park in Holland for an afternoon game.

Coast Guard Stations Now Belong to Groups

A slight reorganization of the Coast Guard stations on Lake Michigan is now in effect, and the Holland lifeboat station is involved.

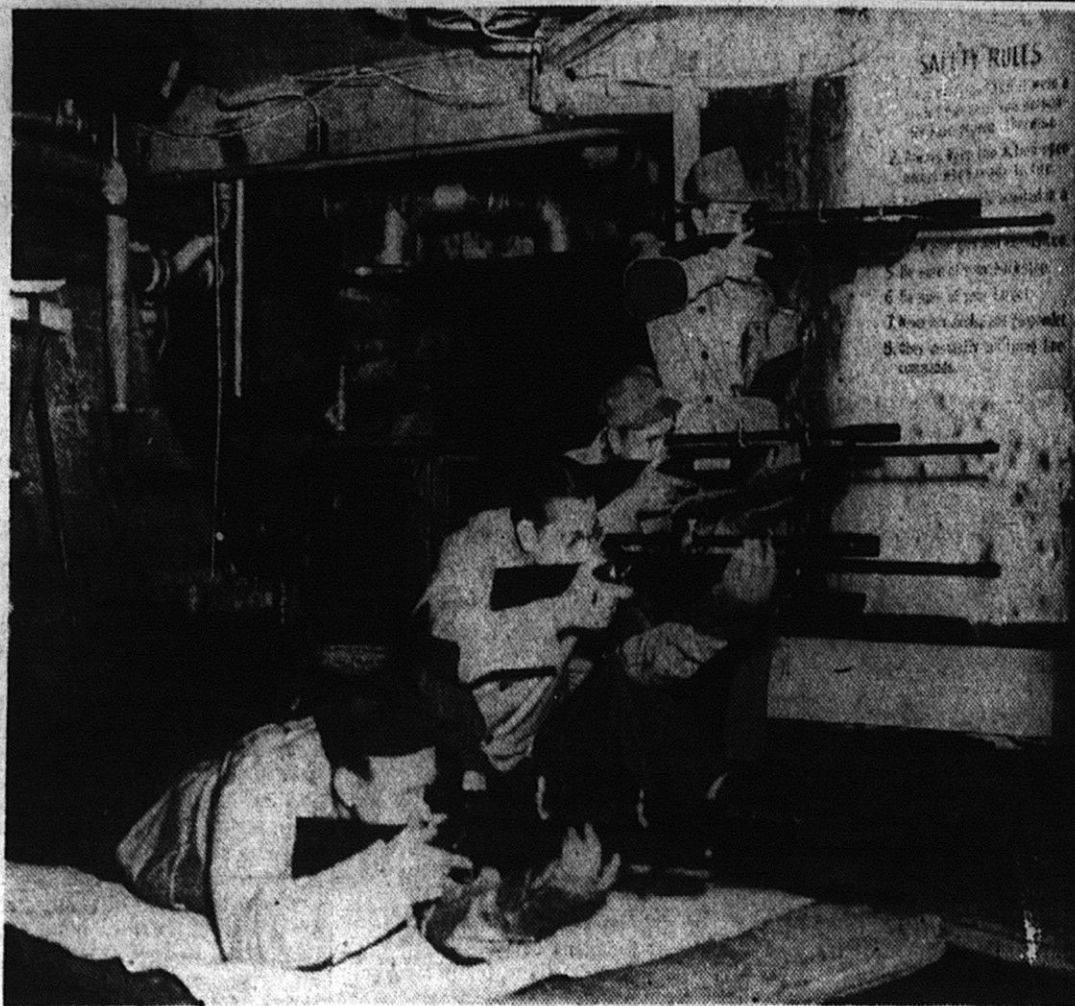

The stations at Holland, South Haven, Muskegon and Grand Haven, along with the 83-foot cutter stationed at Muskegon, have been combined into a new group with headquarters at Grand Haven.

Previously the stations were individual outfits and responsible to the Cleveland district office. The new group system means another step in the chain of command. Holland now will operate through Grand Haven to Cleveland, instead of to Cleveland direct.

The system went into effect on Nov. 1.

Stoker Overheats

An overheated motor on a stoker at Peck's Drug store, Eighth St. and River Ave., resulted in a smoke-filled basement at 9:30 p.m. Saturday. City firemen responded to a call with extinguishing chemicals. No damage was reported.

Four members of the Holland Rifle club demonstrate the four positions for match shooting. The Holland club won its first St. Joseph Valley match Friday night. From bottom to top: Howard Working, competition secretary, demonstrates the prone position for firing; Henry Kleves shows the sitting position; Glen Bonnette the kneeling position; and Jarvis Ter Haar the off-hand position. Local Rifle Club Wins First Match of Season

One of the more active, but least heard from clubs in Holland is the Holland Rifle club, which opened its indoor shooting match season Friday night against the Southern Michigan Gun club of Kalamazoo.

The local club won the match 1413-1365. Holland is a member team of the northern division of the St. Joseph Valley league that also includes teams from Grand Rapids, Hastings, Paw Paw and South Haven.

The club has 45 members and is affiliated with the National Rifle association, that includes some 4,000 rifle clubs throughout the United States. The NRA is the oldest sports association in the country. It was organized in 1871.

The local club invites any teenagers to come down to its indoor range in the basement of Prins Service Station, 160 East Eighth St., to receive free instruction in proper handling of a gun.

The non-profit club charges $5.50 a member per year. Each member must furnish his own ammunition. Members use 22 caliber small-bore rifles for target shooting. The club is incorporated as a non-profit unit. The club furnishes target, the site for shooting and has guns.

In the spring and summer seasons, members shoot Army-furnished Gerand rifles at the outdoor range on Rifle Range Rd. The government also furnishes ammunition for outdoor shooting.

The club's indoor range has room for six men to shoot at one time. Strict safety rules are enforced and a range officer is on duty at all times to supervise shooting.

Shooters do not walk down to their targets, but use a target-carrier system to bring the targets back to the shooting end for replacement and marking.

The club has spotting scopes set up at the shooting end so that spotters can guide the shooters. However, many members also have telescopes on their guns so that they can see where the shots hit targets.

Targets are placed against thick armor plating and the lead falls into sawdust traps that are sifted periodically and the lead turned over to reloaders.

Members will begin their winter season the first week in December. At that time each member will shoot for a score, with the small-bore .22.

Each man shoots five shots from each of the prone, sitting, kneeling and off-hand positions.

Urge First Aid Training Course

Holland Seventh-day Adventist church members were urged today to step up their Red Cross first aid training program in a directive from denominational leaders meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, last week for their annual Autumn Council.

Since first aid training was launched eight months ago as a part of the church's civil defense program, 8,000 members have completed junior, standard or advanced courses. The program has also produced 85 accredited Red Cross instructor-trainers and 400 instructors. Dr. J. Wayne McFarland, medical director of the project, announced.

During the 10-day session, the Adventist churchmen heard reports from leaders of the denomination's 10 overseas divisions.

In response to appeals for more workers and enlarged facilities, the council voted the largest foreign missions budget in the history of the church. The $17 million total for overseas and special projects at home does not include local church funds.

Church Marks Celebration of 10th Anniversary

Maplewood Reformed church, located just south of the city limits on 34th St., celebrated its 10th anniversary at a three-day program that began with the two regular services Sunday conducted by the pastor, the Rev. James Baar.

On Monday, an all-church supper was served in the new parish house of Trinity Reformed church at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday's celebration was Maplewood Church Night with a program in the church at 7:30 p.m. with the former minister, the Rev. Henry Ten Clay of Grandville, speaking. Ministers who aided in organizing the church also were invited.

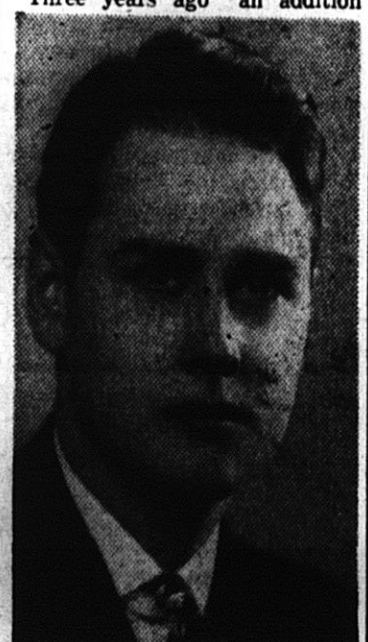

It was on July 5, 1941, that the first service was held in a temporary white frame chapel in the church site at 34th St. and Columbia Ave. The service was in charge of Henry Ten Clay, student at Western Theological seminary who later became the first minister.

On Nov. 6, 1941, the extension committee of Holland Classis met in the chapel to organize the church with 11 families as charter members. The first consistory was elected the same night. In December, Student Ten Clay was called, and soon the chapel was inadequate for the growing congregation.

By the end of July, 1942, a brick church was built and services were held in the new sanctuary. Within four years, the church debt was liquidated.

Rev. Baar came to the church Nov. 24, 1946, shortly after he was released from the Navy where he served as chaplain. Rev. Ten Clay had accepted a call to Grandville the previous summer.

Three years ago an addition

Rev. James Baar was built on the east end of the church, doubling the capacity in the auditorium.

Township Lists Building Permits

Fourteen building permits for an estimated cost of $61,450 were issued during the first month in Holland township under its new zoning ordinance.

The measure was approved by township voters at a special election Sept. 29.

The 14 permits included four permits for new houses and garages, four for new houses, one addition to a store; one for an addition to a lumber yard, three for residential additions and one for construction of a garage.

The new ordinance specifies that any township resident that wants to build must make application to the township clerk seven days previous to the time construction is to begin. This gives the clerk an opportunity to refer the permit to the zoning administrator, Andrew Westerbrook, for his approval.

Westerbrook will be at the office, 524 East Eighth St., from 3 to 5 p.m. daily and may be contacted by telephoning 9294.

The zoning ordinance provides for a three-member appeal board. Members are Simon Borr, chairman, route 3; George Lemmen, secretary, 934 Woodbridge St., and Fred Bocks, Sr., 287 Howard Ave.

Walter Vander Haar, 213 South 120th Ave., is township clerk.

Hope Scouting Reports on Dales List Strengths of Showdown

Hope college today girded its grid forces for the game of the year at Riverview Park Saturday afternoon against Hillsdale, with the MIAA title at stake.

Coach Al Vanderbush studied scouting reports of Saturday's Hillsdale game with Alma which emphasized the strength of the attack.

Assistant coaches Ken Weller and Nick Yonker and some of the players saw the Hillsdale-Alma clash Saturday afternoon, and all were impressed with the overall strength of coach Irv Wisniewski's squad.

Even though Alma won 20-12, Vanderbush pointed out, the game was about even throughout. Alma's final touchdown came on a Hillsdale gamble late in the game that didn't pan out for the Dales, and the score should have been 13-12, Vanderbush said.

The Hope gridders had an off day Monday after the long trip home from Adrian.

A look at the Adrian game statistics would seem to indicate that Hope could have gone on to score many more times against the Bulldogs if they had wanted to.

Hope's entire offense was limited to the ground where runners cracked off a net yardage of 441 yards on 45 carries. That comes out to an astounding 9.16 yards per try from scrimmage.

The Dutchmen didn't call on their passing game, usually one of their most effective weapons. Only four passes were thrown—most of them short jump tosses just over the line—and none was completed.

Hope's defense held the Adrian runners to a net gain of 64 yards on 25 carries for an average of 2.56 yards per try. Adrian completed six of 15 passes for 72 yards and one touchdown.

Fullback John Hamilton paced the Dutch offensive with 196 yards from scrimmage in 16 carries for a 12.3 yard average. Jimmy Willyard was next in line with 91 yards on seven carries for a 13-yards average.

The best average, however, was built up by Dave Kempker, running from halfback. Kempker reeled off 73 yards on four carries for a huge 18.3 yard average.

Don Piersma carried four times for 32 yards and fullback Herm Nienhuis, in addition to two beautiful kick returns, netted 27 yards from scrimmage in five tries.
