Carl Hoerman, Famous Dunes Painter, Dies

Lake Michigan Dunes
Favorite Subject for Hundreds of Paintings

Carl Hoerman, about 70, one of America's foremost painters of dunes scenes, died at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Douglas Hospital after a long illness. For many years he maintained a home known as The Chalet in Saugatuck.

Although he painted scenes of natural splendors all over the world, his favorite haunts seemed to be the shores of Lake Michigan and he painted hundreds of canvases in the hills of Saugatuck and Douglas as well as in the Castle Park areas. His dunes paintings were popular with art connoisseurs and in turn helped popularize Western Michigan as a resort center.

Hoerman's artistic career began when he was six although he had never had lessons in painting. He learned wood carving at that time and later attended the Royal Art school in Munich, Germany, where he studied architecture under the patronage of Prince Fugger. The prince had great faith in the young man's talent and would have aided him further in his career had not the wanderlust spirit brought the artist to America.

Besides being an architect, etcher, painter and writer, Hoerman also pursued two interesting hobbies, geology and astronomy to which he devoted a great deal of time.

Besides his dunes paintings, Hoerman painted with success the almost unrepeatable glories of the Grand Canyon, and his talent was often described by critics as the finest type of American art being created today. As a lecturer, he held to the strong opinion that America should keep her talent at home, educate it here and support it in order to find expression for this country's typically original culture.

The artist preferred to work in America among his beloved dunes and the original beauty and coloring in America's southwest.

Hoerman came to America as an immigrant youth of 19 back in 1904. He never thought it tragic that he landed in New York with $3 in his pocket and no job. He was 19 years old, in good health and believed in himself.

His first look at Saugatuck was through the rose-colored mist of an inexpensive honeymoon. He was still young and struggling, and good friends sent him there because it was picturesque, romantic and inexpensive. The choice was providential, and the Hoermans bought a farm and decided to stay.

Hoerman started writing poetry and philosophy, but the magic of the dunes kept intruding, and it became increasingly difficult to confine himself to paper. He moved into town, covered his typewriter, cleaned up his brushes and began to paint seriously. He built his chalet in 1923.

Hoerman's paintings appear in many places in Holland. One of his latest dunes paintings hangs in Holland Public Library.

New Groningen Voters Okay New School Addition

By an overwhelming majority of 6 to 1, New Groningen school district voters Monday approved a $150,000 bond issue for a five-room addition to meet the needs of the growing community. The vote was 150 to 27.

Richard Van Dorp, president of the New Groningen school board, said bids will probably be let the first of the year and construction will start probably by April 1. It is hoped the school will be completed in time for the new school year in September, 1956.

Van Dorp also said the board has arranged with the Holland Board of Education for part-time services of Arthur Read, local school construction supervisor, to oversee construction and other plans.

The new addition will be an L-shaped structure including three classrooms, a kindergarten room, a similar room in which a partition has been placed to make two classrooms.

The present school was erected four years ago, and suburban development in the New Groningen area has increased so much that enrollment figures will continue to increase materially.

Jury Visits Properties In Condemnation Suit

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The condemnation suit in which Holland city is seeking three parcels of property on Ninth St. between River and Central Aves. went into its second day of testimony today in Circuit Court after the jury visited the site Wednesday afternoon.

The city is seeking the property on the north side of Ninth St. in Holland for parking purposes. Defendants in the case are Henry and Marie Bonzeiaar, Mayme and Gradus Den Bleyker, Clifford and Florence Hopkins and First National Bank.

First witness called today was Harry Fuller, master appraiser from Grand Rapids, who appraised the three parcels at $95,000, based on use as a private parking lot. He estimated a daily gross return of $1.50 per space for 83 cars without an attendant.

Holland's City Manager Herb Holt had testified Wednesday that the city plans a design for 45 parking spaces with a 27-foot driveway with ample room for drivers to drive straight in.

Two more Holland realtors testified Wednesday afternoon. Lucien Raven, who appraised two parcels testified that the Bonzeiaar property was worth $7,500 to $9,400 and the Den Bleyker property $19,000 to $24,600. C. C. Wood testified the Hopkins property was worth $19,000 to $20,336.

In the morning Realtor Robert Kouw had testified market values on the Bonzeiaar property $7,500 to $9,000; Den Bleyker property, $15,000 to $26,300, and the Hopkins property, $13,000 to $20,000.

City Assessor William Koop of Holland testified that 1955 assessments were $2,600 for the Bonzeiaar property, $4,500 for the Den Bleyker property and $4,500 for the Hopkins property.

Wonder Drugs To Patty's Aid

Patty Zeedyk is a lucky girl! In spite of the fact that she is in St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago, she is still lucky.

Patty, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Zeedyk of Route 1, went to Chicago with a group of Horizon delegates for a convention last weekend. The group stayed at the Sherman Hotel with their guardians, Mrs. Clifford Onthank and Mrs. Ray Smith and others.

On Sunday evening Patty became quite ill and Mrs. Onthank called the hotel doctor, who immediately sent her to the hospital — diagnosis — blood poisoning from an infected pimple.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeedyk went to Chicago Monday when Patty's condition became critical. The new wonder drugs were used to halt the infection. But it wasn't only the drugs — "prayers of her friends until the crisis was passed Tuesday night really paid Patty through," Mrs. Zeedyk said.

If her recovery continues as it is now, Patty will be home this weekend. In the meanwhile, cards and flowers and letters help the recovery.

Holland Women Attend GOP Event

About 25 Holland women attended a Republican fund-raising luncheon for women Wednesday afternoon at Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium. More than 750 women of the fifth district, Kent and Ottawa counties, attended the affair, first of its kind ever held in the district.

Featured speaker for the event was Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, appointed by President Eisenhower two years ago as assistant to the secretary of Labor.

We're living in an "age of confidence," Mrs. Leopold said, with the nation's economy at record level in all phases — production, wages, employment, etc. She said the nation's unemployment is the lowest since October, 1953, with a working force now numbering 65.2 million, including 21.9 million women.

Mrs. Leopold, who served as head of the women's division in the Department of Labor, was quick to impart the importance of women in the scheme of things. Women are now listed in 446 occupations — including even a locomotive driver.

Women, she said, because of their adaptability and their mastery of the "art of association," will be able to do "anything expected of them." Their ability to "work together to solve community problems" will enable them to achieve the high goals ahead for our nation and the world.

U. S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., also addressed the large group. He discussed the Eisenhower administration, its accomplishments and record. The Ike administration has "lived up to its promises," he said.

Mrs. Paul Goebel was toastmaster for the affair and introduced several leading women Republicans of the 5th district and state.

Serving as chairman of the local committee for the luncheon was Mrs. Warren S. Merriam.

Geerlings Stands Firm on Senate's Space Proposals

LANSING (Special) — Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland, in a telephone interview with The Sentinel Tuesday, firmly stated he will cling to the proposed Senate solution to the mentally retarded children problem until the bitter end.

Geerlings, bearing in mind two "give-ins" to the House during the last regular session of the legislature, said: "I don't think the Board of Supervisors has the legal right to sell the Oakland County Hospital without a vote of the people any more than the Oakland Board of Public Works or City Council could sell the power plant without a vote of the people. I feel that if the state went in for such a program as the House proposes it would nullify any chance West Michigan would have of getting any kind of relief on our side of the state."

The Senate program would provide 800 beds at Fort Custer, 300 beds through hospitalization by contract and 300 beds through family care for a total of 1,400 beds. There will be an additional 220 beds available at Mt. Pleasant in December and 150 at Coldwater by May for a grand total of 1,750.

"I challenge the governor's statements that we can't provide 300 family care beds," Geerlings said. "In 1949 the mental health department had 475 mental patients in private homes. Today they have 1,350. It's inconceivable to me that if they can go from 475 to 1,350 in six years, that they can't make an increase of another 300 at the present time."

The Senate program also provides permission for Mental Health Director Charles Wagg to hire an assistant director to help step up the family care and private contract programs.

"In the past regular session," Geerlings said, "I was a member of two conference committees on phases of the business receipts tax. And in order to settle those two deadlocks and in order not to block a tax program, we gave in to the House very reluctantly. Time has proved that my original position on both matters was right. I believe I'm right this time and I'm going to hold out with the Senate position as long as a can."

Volleyballs

If anyone calls Randy Vande Water, Sentinel sports editor, a "purse snatcher", these days, Randy just grins.

It all happened Thursday afternoon after Randy and Karel-Mari Kleinhekel returned from a picture-taking assignment. In collecting her camera, etc., Karel left her purse in Randy's car. She remembered only a couple of minutes later, but by that time Randy presumably was on his way to Grand Rapids to attend university extension classes.

Inside Karel's purse were her car keys, and her valuables including 17 cents. What to do?

There's nothing like a situation of a maiden in distress to galvanize the news room to action. Randy's home was called on an outside chance he might stop there before going to G.R. No answer.

City police were called to alert officers in Holland and Zeeland to stop a certain brown '50 model . . . Vande Water's father was called for exact description of the car . . . He said Randy expected to go home, but to be on the safe side call the girl friend, who might be receiving a call.

Calls continued to the Vande Water home, and a few minutes later Randy called. He hadn't seen the purse tucked up above the sun visor. A cancellation went out on the police radio.

When Randy approached Zeeland, he saw a deputy parked alongside the road. Randy waved. The deputy waved back.

City employees knocked off for lunch Thursday after laying a nice length of fresh cement for a walk in the new city parking lot near Kresge's. And along came a big pooch who elected not just to cross the fresh cement, but to run the full length of more than 100 feet.

A call to the city engineer's office alerted the workmen for a little repair work.

Commented one office employee: "Where did that pooch think he was. At Grauman's Chinese Theater?"

Halloween has come and gone and everybody seemed to have a good time in Holland. Compared with the old days, there was a minimum of disturbance and little or no damage. Certainly, the Junior Chamber of Commerce Halloween parties for kids had a healthy influence on the vandalism end.

But the trick-treat program went strong this year, and youngsters had a great time.

One family found itself short on supplies as the evening approached. To solve this dilemma the mother sent out one of the younger children to collect some loot. This in turn was given to other trick-treaters.

In another home where there were no children, the couple adopted a new stunt. They invited all the masked youngsters inside, took flash pictures of them and then distributed the treats.

The small son of a local minister wanted to go out trick-treating but he and his young friend were too small to be out alone, so the minister went along, staying discreetly at a distance while the young charges rang door bells.

Imagine his surprise to have someone say within earshot, "Look at that old guy, sending kids out to get loot for him."

Perhaps the best story is one of a South Shore Dr. matron, small of stature, who disguised herself like the dozens of kids running over the neighborhood and interrupted a dinner party of a neighbor. It was pretty funny when she finally burst into laughter and was recognized.

Some more Turkish proverbs: A thousand friends are too few, one enemy too many.

A visitor comes with 10 blessings, eats 1 and leaves 9.

God finds a low branch for the bird that cannot fly.

God created us brothers but gave us separate purses.

The rich man's wealth tired the poor man's jaw.

The poor have empty pockets but full hearts.

HIGH-FLYING HALFBACK—Dave Woodcock, Hope left halfback, catapults into the end zone with the third Hope touchdown here Saturday afternoon in Hope's 40-6 MIAA win over Albion. He is aided by a lunge by Allen Jackson, (24), Briton halfback, who has been knocked off balance by Ken (Mick) Faber (61), Hope guard. Albion fullback Jim Hurd (48) makes a vain attempt to get Woodcock while Hope Co-captain John Adams, who scored the final Dutch touchdown, stands directly behind the ball carrier.

Dutch Break Loose In Final Half For MIAA Victory

For the second straight week, Hope College's football team ran roughshod over an MIAA opponent the latest being second place Albion, whom the Dutch set down, 40-6 Saturday afternoon at River-view Park before their beaming Mom's and Dad's and about 1,900 fans.

It was Hope's ground game, with backs tearing up through the center of the Albion line that pounded the Britons into submission.

Hope picked up 313 yards rushing in the contest to a team that came into the game with a 3-1 conference record. Last week, Hope had routed Olivet 52-13 and gained 447 yards on the ground.

Coach Russ De Vette, who for the second time this season, had his team at full strength, wishes the season could start now. "This was our best game," he said.

The Dutch have found themselves—and now have a 2-3 MIAA record.

All-MIAA fullback Dave Kuyers and John Holmlund, playing reserve fullback, scored twice while John Adams and Dave Woodcock each scored once.

The first half was close all the way, but a quick third period TD, set up on a blocked kick, seemed to demoralize the Britons.

Hope held a 13-6 halftime lead. Kuyers, who got his real offensive workout since the second game, was the first half work-horse and scored both touchdowns on plunges of 12 and five yards.

He picked up 100 yards in 12 carries for an eight yard average.

Midway in the initial period, the Zeeland fullback, hopped over the middle of the line and hop-scotched into the end zone. The score climaxed a six-play drive that started on the Hope 41. Dave Woodcock, left halfback highlighted the drive with a 35 yard end run to the Albion 13 yard line.

Albion, wide awake in the opening quarters, took the kickoff and drove down to the Hope 25 yard line where the Dutch held. Hope then turned around and did the same thing and pranced down to the Briton 11. Failure to gain here gave Albion the ball on its own 15.

This time the Britons were not going to be denied and started right back up the field and in a short time were back where the earlier drive had stopped. The advance had been aided by Allen Jackson's 42 yard end run.

Coach Morely Fraser sent in Bob Gamble, with a play. The Chicago freshman winged the ball from the 76 to end Bob Waterman on the one. Freshman fullback Jim Hurd crashed over on the next play but Elv Ritt's kick was no good.

The Dutch took the kickoff and didn't give up the ball until they had taken a 13-6 lead. Kuyers' score came with 1:05 left in the half. This time he crossbuckled off tackle for five yards. Hope had taken over on its own 33 and with Kuyers carrying six, out of the nine plays moved to the five.

Don VanHoeven, who converted the first extra point, missed the second attempt.

The Dutch came roaring back in the third period. Albion failed to hold following the kickoff and at the attempted punt, center Ron De Graw and end Paul Wiegierik rushed in and blocked it. Quarterback Harry Voss fell on the ball on the Albion 10.

Dave Woodcock crashed over from the three after Kuyers had moved the ball to that spot on first down. Both hit off tackle. Van Hoeven converted.

Hope came back and scored again just before the quarter ended on the Briton 15. In three plays would, couldn't get rolling.

The Dutch defense was pushed to the Hope 35 but that's as far as the Britons advanced the rest of the game.

Holmlund scored his first touchdown this year, after passing for three, in the final seconds of the third period. Albion lost the ball on the Dutch 47, after taking the kickoff.

Here the Dutch started again and moved home in 11 plays. A

Harry Voss to Jack Faber 25-yard pass play to the Albion seven set up the score. Holmlund moved the two and then over on smashes through guard.

Adams converted and Hope led 27-6 going into the fourth quarter. Albion fumbled on the first scrimmage play of the fourth period and big Jim Hilmert recovered on the Briton 15. In three plays, the Dutch were home again.

This time Holmlund went four yards to score after he had moved to the nine and Faber to the four on the two previous plays.

Ron De Graw, senior center, made good on the extra point.

The icing was put on the cake with about three minutes to go. A long Albion pass was intercepted by Ron Wetherbee on the Hope 24. Holmlund hit Adams with a pass that covered 32 yards, after a couple line gains and moved the ball to the Albion 35. A penalty put the ball on the Briton 30 and Adams took off on the next play, crashing the tackle and getting to the 10 where he picked up speed and carried in.

John Hollander's extra point attempt was short.

Hope pounded the guards and tackles all afternoon, as the seasoned Dick Gantos, Mick Faber, Van Hoeven and Hollander opened the holes.

Hope emptied the bench and Coach De Vette got all o this 41 players into the game.

The individual ground gaining duel between Adams and Hurd never materialized. Hurd hit the center 11 times but picked up only 35 yards. Adams settled for 67 yards in 12 carries.

Following Kuyers in the rushing race were Woodcock with 66 yards in nine tries and Holmlund with 58 yards in the same number.

Ted Leppi, Albion's speedster was the only other Briton to lug the mail-off. He carried 15 times for 42 yards.

Hope racked up 22 first downs, 11 in each half, which is a high for the Dutch this season. Albion made 12.

The Britons rushed for only 34 yards in the second half after making 113 in the first two quarters. Hope made 195 yards on the ground in the first half.

Hope winds up the season at Alma next Saturday night in an MIAA game.

NOTES ON HOPE-ALBION GAME—This is the second straight year Hope has knocked Albion out of the running for the MIAA crown. Last year, the Britons were handed their first conference defeat here by a 25-6 score. Albion had faint hopes of crown possibilities going into the game. . . Big Bill Collison, Albion tackle, was a mighty tired man when it was all over. He shifted from his left tackle position on every play into the right side to give the Britons an unbalanced line. . . Collison is Albion's basketball center and one of the top MIAA cagers. . . Albion's 47 piece band performed at halftime. Gaily decked out in purple and gold uniforms, the band presented the story of a band getting ready for a Saturday football show. Formations included a sailboat and umbrella. Frank Pearson was the director. . . Harry Voss, Hope quarterback, ran back the kickoff following Albion's touchdown for 83 yards and a touchdown. But the play was nullified when a Hope tackle was caught stepping on the 45 yard line chalk mark. . . Ron De Graw kicked the extra point after the fifth touchdown. The senior center scored his first collegiate point. He got a different look at a football play. Previously he had seen the kicks from between his legs. . . John Hollander, a senior tackle, also tried an extra point but the kick was short and wide. Hope's six seniors, Co-captains Lynn Post, Adams, Van Hoeven, Hollander, De Graw and Dick Schuller were given a hand when taken out in the fourth quarter. The sextet had been in and out of the game but De Vette inserted the bunch together for a few plays late in the game. . . Mom's and Dad's of almost all of Hope's players were introduced at halftime. . . They formed a large arch that stretched from the two 30 yard lines on the playing field. Mothers were given corsages by the Hope-ives, a group of wives, married to Hope students. . . Jim Stout, injured in the Olivet game, did not suit up for the Albion game. . . Co-captain Jim Bishop, Albion guard, is the nephew of Orlie Bishop, of The Sentinel. . .

Consultant for Zoning Suggested

The Holland Planning Commission Thursday night recommended that City Council hire George Sidwell of Lansing, authority on municipal legal matters, to study Holland's proposed zoning ordinance for legal terminology. The zoning ordinance has been under study for more than a year and several informal hearings already have been held.

The commission together with George Rendleman, superintendent of the Board of Public Works, James H. Klomparsen and Councilman Robert J. Kow also is studying urban service areas and land subdivision policies. Rendleman and Klomparsen represent the Board of Public Works. Mayor Robert Vischer and Councilman Laverne Rudolph already are members of the commission.

A communication from Western Foundry Co. requesting Council to rezone an area on East 11th St. from industrial to residential also was referred to the Planning Commission which recommended that City Manager Herb Holt meet with interested property owners in the area and work out some plan for putting the area into standard sized lots. Holt also reported on truck routes for 1956.

Mayor Vischer presided in the absence of Chairman Willard C. Wickers who is currently traveling in Texas with Netherlands Ambassador and Mme. J. H. van Rolfen.

Others attending were Stuart Boyd, W. A. Butler, Laverne Serne, Consultant Scott Bagby, Mrs. W. G. Winter, Jr., Ward Hansen and Holt.

Defensive Play Superb; Van Dyke Scores 14 Points

With the defensive line staying sharp throughout, and the backs, featuring two long TD runs by Co-captain Ron Van Dyke, running hard, the Holland High football team gained a 14-7 decision over Benton Harbor before 2,000 chills fans at Riverview Park Friday night.

The senior left half, playing his third year on the varsity, had one of his best nights and accounted for all of Holland's points. He made them all in the second quarter.

Van Dyke worked a successful dive off right tackle with 3:30 gone in the second period and romped 76 yards to score.

With 4:45 left in the same quarter, Van Dyke intercepted a Bruce Conybear pass on the Holland 48 and out ran the Harbor defense. He converted after both touchdowns.

Holland's all state candidate now has nine touchdowns this season. Benton Harbor picked up its touchdown with 16 seconds remaining in the first half.

With the ball on the Holland 22, halfback Oliver Edwards hit big Jim Reynolds with a pass on the Dutch 18. He stiff-armed Van Dyke, the only Holland player to get a crack at him, and headed for home. Bill Dunbar's kick was good.

Although the Tigers managed to pick up 12 first downs, twice as many as the Dutch, the Holland forward wall, that looks better with every game, refused to let them penetrate.

Benton Harbor picked up 158 yards in the game and was on offense most of the time but with the exception of the touchdown,

Holland, headed for its best season since 1952, now has a 4-3-1 record while Benton Harbor, rated fourth in Michigan, four weeks ago, has now received its fourth straight setback.

The locals end the season here against Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills next Friday night.

Harrington Cub Scouts Have Halloween Party

A Halloween party was given for the Cub Scouts of Harrington School Pack 3030 last Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Zeedyk. Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth Kerbs and Mrs. Ernest Zoerhof assisted. The two-room clubhouse was decorated with witches, black cats, pumpkins and autumn leaves.

All the Cub Scouts came dressed as hobos. Games were played and prizes awarded to Sam Smeenge, Dick Kingshott, Carl Herpolsheimer, Pat Tynan, Carl Johnston, Michael Zeedyk, Walter Zoerhof, Bob Vanden Bos, Jim Volkema, Chet Jacobs, Douglas Jacques, Laverne Westerhof and Kenneth Herwyn.

Driver Issued Tickets

Frank Roberts, 21, of 75 East Ninth St., was charged with reckless driving and failure to stop at a stop street after he drove his car through the US-31 bypass flasher, knocked down two signs on the west side of US-31 south of Holland and rolled his car over. Allegan County deputy Andy Vander Vliet estimated damage to the '53 model car at $500. The accident occurred at 1 a.m. Saturday.

The Dutch, in scoring their two touchdowns in the second period, had the ball for only six scrimmage plays. In the third period, Holland was on offense seven times.

Holland, aided by Van Dyke's long run, managed to rack up 182 yards on the ground. Quarterback Tom Stoel spotted the Tiger weak spots and sent the backs through.

Stoel was expected to take Holland to the air, but with the ground game functioning, he tried only one pass, a 13-yard incomplete heave early in the fourth quarter to end Bob Van Wieren.

Co-captain Bill Buis broke through several times and led Holland's defensive play. He was aided by Allen Hill, Ted Van Zanden and Leroy Fogarty, all of whom came in a lion's share of the tackles. Klompars also performed well defensively.

The Tigers, known for their single wing, used the offense throughout, lining up in a T and shifting out of it quickly and throwing the play into operation almost at the same instant.

The Dutch stayed with the winged T and on Van Dyke's long run, the move was made off the weak side of the unbalanced line.

Holland, headed for its best season since 1952, now has a 4-3-1 record while Benton Harbor, rated fourth in Michigan, four weeks ago, has now received its fourth straight setback.

NOTES ON HOLLAND - BENTON HARBOR GAME — Holland used a leather ball in the game and Benton Harbor a rubber ball. The ball was changed as the teams went on offense. "Jelly Bean" Reynolds has been used off-on in the Benton Harbor backfield this year. He played the entire game as tailback. He caught the passes that crushed Holland a year ago.

Some of the players wore gloves to combat the chilly temperatures. Roger Hill, former Holland High griddier and now a freshman at Western Michigan College after a military siege, got his first look at brother Allen as a varsity player. Hill turned in a good game and accounted for frequent tackles. Quarterback Tom Stoel ran the club almost entirely upon his own choice. Only a few plays were called from the bench.

Holland's band presented another "spectacle" for halftime entertainment. The show was entitled "Big Top" and featured several circus formations.

The three-ring circus was complete with clowns and bareback riders. The band formed a large elephant and the formation moved after a large cardboard peanut. The big top was made and four coeds presented a can-can. The performance was concluded with a formation of a cannon and it fired.

Holland featured a junior cheerleader, Andy Klompars, 6, and sister of fullback Tom Klompars. She was dressed like the other Dutch pepsters and helped to lead yells. Holland's tackling was the best seen here this season.

One of the Holland cheerleaders nearly fouled up the official on one occasion. A punt went out of bounds and he marked the spot with his cap. He then went over to get the ball and the cheerleader walked over, picked up the hat and handed it to the official. Fortunately, another official had also marked the spot by then in middle of the field. This is the first time Holland has defeated Benton Harbor since 1950.

Klamt Leads Chix To Tie for Title

COMSTOCK PARK (Special) — Zeeland won a share of the Ken-New-Wa league championship here Friday night, stopping Comstock Park, 20-6.

The chix tied for the league title with Coopersville, 13-6 winners over Fremont. Both had 4-0-1 marks. The two teams tied, 0-0.

It was a 90-yard third quarter punt return by Zeeland halfback Art Klamt, that broke the Comstock Park lads.

And it was Klamt's all around work that was the game's big factor. He scored twice and set up the other touchdown on an intercepted pass and added many of the key tackles.

The score favored Zeeland 7-6 at halftime. Comstock Park was coming back strong in the third quarter when Klamt grabbed the kick. They had been on the Zeeland 40 when the punt occurred.

From then on, the Comstock lads were down and Zeeland added the third touchdown in the fourth period.

Klamt, playing the best game of his prep career, took the kick on the Chix 10, zig-zagged across the width of the field, repeated the move to the opposite side of the field, shook off tacklers, picked up two key blocks and then turned on the speed to outrun the defense.

Zeeland opened scoring in the first quarter on Lee Posma's one-yard plunge. Klamt set up the score with a pass interception on the Comstock 46. Zeeland marched the distance in six plays, highlighted by a 26 yard fake - pass play by halfback Tom Bos.

The last Zeeland touchdown came in the final period. With the Comstock doobers down, Zeeland took over on their own 35 early in the period and moved the 65 yards to score. Klamt went over from the three.

Ron Komejan, whose kicks have won two games this year, converted two out of three times.

Comstock Park scored in the second quarter. Controlling play, the losers took the ball on their own 35 and drove 65 yards. Ron Denhart scored, going over from the one. He ran the extra point and failed.

Zeeland made only 49 yards rushing in the first half but managed to pick up an even 100 in the final two periods, mostly through the middle of the line.

Comstock Park had the ball 55 scrimmage plays while the Chix were on offense only 36 times.

Optimists Hear Talk On Mental Retardation

Victor Van Oosterhout spoke on "Child Mental Retardation" at a regular meeting of Holland Optimist Club last Monday at the Eten House. He explained the needs for caring and training of children who are mentally retarded.

In explaining the various types of children born mentally retarded, Van Oosterhout emphasized that although some mental illness can be cured, children born retarded can never be cured. They can only be trained to do such tasks as feeding and dressing themselves, he said.

He told club members there is a great need in this area for a place to train and care for these children. The institutions at Coldwater, Caro, Lapeer and Newberry, all far distances, are filled to capacity; thus, there are a number of children in this area to whom this care and training is not available.

A discussion followed Van Oosterhout's talk.

Julius Karsten, Ken Elhart, Allen Moore, Bob Hall, Vern Fuder, Jack Barkel and Roland Overweg were guests of the club. Bud Raphael, program chairman, introduced the speaker. Andy Smeenge, past president, inducted Russell Dyke into the club. Al Dyk, president, conducted the business meeting.

The pair was later turned over to Grand Rapids juvenile authorities.

State Police Will Seek Applicants In Holland Area

A Michigan State Police recruiting team will visit Holland next Monday, Nov. 14, to interview applicants in connection with the current drive to obtain 200 additional troopers authorized by the recent special session of the legislature.

The team will be on the second floor of the Holland police station from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Members will be Corp. Clarence Beuerle and Trooper Reed Harris of the Grand Haven post.

Of particular interest to young men is a new salary increase approved by the State Civil Service Commission. Training school pay has been raised to equal that received the first year by a full fledged trooper and there is also a general increase covering all brackets.

The range is $151 every two weeks, beginning with training school, up to a maximum of $192 in the trooper ranks. Likewise, the maximum is attained at the end of four years, or a year less than formerly. In the past, training school pay has been $116.

In addition to salaries, troopers receive approximately $75 a month for subsistence. They also are given their uniforms and traveling expenses and two paid vacations a year.

To be eligible, a candidate must be between 21 and 29 years of age, inclusive, not less than five feet, nine inches in height and in good physical condition. He must be of good character and have a high school education or its equivalent. Married as well as single men are accepted.

"The visit of the recruiting team has been especially arranged so that young men may learn at first hand what a real opportunity this is to join a career service," said Sgt. Milton Swingle, commander of the Grand Haven Post. "They may also inquire at any State Police Post or talk to any State Police officer. But the recruiting team visit is for their convenience."

Application must be in by Nov. 30. If sent by mail to the Civil Service Commission in Lansing and postmarked by midnight of that date, they will still be accepted.

The recruits will be trained and put into service as quickly as possible. The legislature authorized more State Police manpower to combat the highway accident rate through increased traffic law enforcement.

Holland to Get Litter Baskets For Downtown

Plans for putting litter baskets in the downtown section next spring were outlined today at a meeting of a merchant's committee and City Manager Herb Holt relative to keeping the downtown area clean.

The baskets will be the new type used in New York City and Chicago. No slogan has been selected, but there is a possibility of a tie-in with the Garden Club's slogan of "Don't Be a Litter Bug."

Representing the merchants at the meeting were John Van Tatenhove, Jr., committee chairman, Percy Taylor and Norman Japlinga.

There was considerable discussion on general street cleanliness in the downtown section. Manager Holt explained that the street sweeper makes the rounds every day between 2 and 5 a.m. during the summer months. He pointed to a possibility that some merchants might sweep refuse from their stores into the street. Since this is contrary to a new ordinance, the merchants' committee is prepared to aid in some public education on the subject.

It was also pointed out that a new ordinance forbids pasting of posters and signs outside windows, causing considerable litter, when such posters are soaked and scraped off. It was pointed out that merchants may sweep refuse from the walks into the street, but not from the stores.

There also was some discussion of winter driving conditions and the merits of salt, rock salt and calcium chloride.

Justices Crack Down on Goose Hunting 'Outlaws'

Increased Activity At High Banks Noted During Past Week

ALLEGAN (Special) — Goose hunting "outlaws" were getting short-shift from local conservation officers and justices of the peace as the annual "battle of the high banks" got underway with the arrival last week of thousands of Canada geese at the Swan Creek Wildlife station.

In two successive days, Allegan Township Justice of the Peace O. Schmitz had accepted guilty pleas — and fines — from 17 goose hunters arrested by game officers at the high banks area.

Most of them were fined $25 and $7.50 costs for hunting in the specially zoned areas at the Swan Creek station without the necessary permit.

Two were fined for shooting after the closing hour while a third, Harlan Webber, of Greenville, admitted to having more than the limit of two geese. Webber made the mistake of offering his third goose to a man he thought was another hunter, but who turned out to be one of 12 conservation officers on duty at the station during the early morning hours.

Game men said this is the first year that hunters have been arrested and fined for hunting in the zoned areas without permits. In the past they have been asked to leave the restricted zone. This year, however, violations of the restrictions were becoming so common more drastic steps were taken.

Hunting at the high banks moved into high gear last week with a kill of 140 geese reported Thursday, first day the kill exceeded the 100 mark. As a result, hunters are pouring into the area from throughout lower Michigan and northern Indiana. Many arrive the night before to park their cars in line and be among the first to receive permits for the choicest zones, closest to the marsh from which the geese roar out for their feeding grounds at dawn.

Conservation officers said some hunters were spotted parking their cars first in line early in the afternoon. They were then observed getting into others cars to go home and get a good night's rest before returning shortly before the 4 a.m. opening hour, to claim permits. All their effort was wasted, however, as station employees merely passed them by when they distributed permits.

Oldest Resident Succumbs at 102

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — A 58-year-old Holland woman fell victim Friday to the "pigeon drop," one of the oldest known con games, police reported today.

The Holland woman lost $770 — her life savings — to two women who promised her a share of $12,000 if she would put up some money to show her "good faith."

Police said the Holland woman was the third person the two women have tried the con game on during recent weeks and the first one who fell for it. The other two became suspicious when they were asked to withdraw large sums of money from their bank accounts.

The Holland woman tearfully told police she was approached by a woman while shopping in a downtown department store about noon Friday.

"I have some good news for you," she quoted the woman as saying. "A girl friend of mine found several thousand dollars and wants to give some of it away."

A few moments later, the Holland woman said, another woman approached them and told of finding a paper sack which allegedly contained about $12,000. The woman said she "couldn't possibly use all of the money."

The woman who allegedly had found the money then left, and the other woman asked the Holland woman exactly how much money she had so they would know how much to give her. The Holland woman said she had $70 in her purse and $700 in a bank in Holland.

"The woman said she wanted to see the money I had in the bank so we took a taxi to Holland" and I withdrew it to show her," the Holland woman told police. "Then we came back to Grand Rapids and the woman told me to wait on the street while she showed the money to her friend." She didn't return, the woman told police.

The case is being investigated by Special Investigators William Pettiford and John Stubbs.

BOUT WITH BOOKS—A busy athlete at Holland High the year around, Ron Van Dyke finds time daily for a little homework. He's a "B" student and plans to attend college. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Dyke, of 157 East Fifth St. He lives directly across the street from Riverview Park, scene of his football and baseball exploits. His brother Bob, was an outstanding football, basketball and baseball player at Holland High a few years ago. He's well known now in local independent circles as a basketball and baseball player. Relaxed Running Gets Ron Van Dyke Results

Usually a "good" back becomes a "better" back if he carries the ball more often.

But over at Holland High coaches are out to disprove the axiom with Co-captain Ron Van Dyke, left halfback.

Van Dyke is having his best year but is carrying the ball far less this year and making more yardage.

"He's more relaxed this year and running easier," Backfield Coach Bill Hinga said, "and with good results."

Last season Van Dyke was practically the Holland offense. He carried the ball on two out of three plays. He did the same thing the last half of the 1952 season, when pulled up from the reserves.

This season Van Dyke has often been used as a decoy.

And the ball has gone to full-back Tom Klomparsen, a pile-driving boy who can move; little right halfback Dick Den Uyl, who sneaks around end and off tackle almost unnoticed, and junior quarterback Tom Stoel, who has found Van Dyke a good pass receiver.

The 6' 170-pound back has carried 68 times this year in eight games which is far below his 1954 total carries.

With the result that he's picked up 61 yards and nine touchdowns and has an 8.5 yard average per carry this year.

Van Dyke has eight conversions for a total of 62 points.

He's been left with much of the blocking chores and has come through.

Defensively he also shines.

"Even if he couldn't run, he'd play defense because of his driving tactics," Hinga said. "He ran back an intercepted pass for a touchdown to defeat Benton Harbor."

One of the most conscientious players on the team, Van Dyke had two defeats haunting him this year. But strong performance in games following have helped to wipe out the disappointments.

Van Dyke missed the extra point that proved to be the margin of defeat, in the Muskegon Heights game and was caught in motion when he scored the possible winning touchdown against Grand Rapids South.

Against Grand Haven, the week after the Heights setback, Van Dyke took the pass that won the game and last week scored all the points in defeating Benton Harbor. This was the first time since 1950 that Holland had stopped the two schools.

Hinga calls Van Dyke a hard worker who is willing to work at his weaknesses, nice to work with and an inspiration to the team. Head Coach Dale Shearer and Line Coach Ernie Post, echo the sentiments.

Van Dyke is quick to compliment the line on the job they've done for him this year and the trio of ball toters for their blocks.

The quiet senior is a B student and plans to attend college.

He non-committal on which college and probably will wait until spring to decide.

In the meantime, Van Dyke has to concentrate on Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, Holland's final opponent. Van Dyke and a few teammates got a first hand look at the Indians Saturday in their win over Union.

And he has a full basketball season coming up and Coach Fred Weiss is counting on him for first string forward while Coach Ned Stuif will use the natural athlete as his regular catcher next spring.

Mrs. Kruithof Describes Life in the Highlands

Starting out in Scottish brogue, Mrs. Bastian Kruithof of Grand Rapids gave an entertaining account of the two years she spent with her family in Scotland at a meeting of the Woman's Literary Club Tuesday afternoon.

Under the title, "Kilts and Tartans" Mrs. Kruithof, a former member of the Holland club, described the Scottish folk as loyal and patriotic with a great love for their country and their country's past.

"Some are very nationalistic and hope the day comes when the country will be free from England. Some have revived the wearing of the kilts and they are sometimes seen in church, at dinners, state meetings and particularly at country dances. There are about 200 different tartans in Scotland, the ancient tartans in soft colors and the hunting tartans in bright colors. At country dances the men wear the kilts and the women wear the tartans and both wear ballet shoes. Country dancing is lighter than the American square dancing and has a great deal of repetition," she said.

Mrs. Kruithof said that in spite of their nationalistic tendencies, the Scottish people love their queen and the women imitate the queen's preferences in color and styles. But generally the Scotch are a formal people in clothes and speech and they quake at the thought of American people calling their president "Ike." Even the street signs are formal such as the no-littering signs in Edinburgh reading "The amenity of our streets is commended to your care."

But for all Scotland's formality, there is a great basic courtesy and kindness shown in the crowded trams, the restaurants and the grocery store. In school, the tiny pupil is taught to say "Please, Miss" in answering the teacher.

Mrs. Kruithof said because the people are reserved they seem cold, dour and unemotional and it takes a long time before the Scottish people break down and say "Good morning." "But once you get into their homes, you find them very generous and gracious," she said.

As for the home, electrical appliances may be found in the Scottish department stores but seldom in the home. The kitchen stove usually has one gas burner in front which can be reversed from broiling or toasting. There are no washing machines or refrigerators, and no central heating in homes, although central heating is found in some department stores, schools and public buildings.

Mrs. Kruithof said the art of shopping is difficult. Instead of finding everything under one roof in a supermarket, the Scottish housewife may have to call on the dairy, the bakery, the butcher shop, the poultryer, grocer, green grocer, fruiterer, fish monger, confectionery and tobacconist before assembling a full meal.

She spoke highly of the educational system after teaching in two or three primary schools. Ranked among the best in the world, the Scottish system calls for a school day of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a short lunch period, and only a six-week summer vacation. Private and public or corporation schools provide equally good education although it would be unthinkable for professional or business people to send their children to anything other than a private school.

Phonetics are important in the early grades and it is only after the student reaches the sixth grade that he learns the alphabet as such. Arithmetic involves lots of drill, and the curriculum revolves around the three R's. The schools require physical training periods but competitive sports are virtually unknown. The belt and the strap are still the instruments of discipline and widely used with no interference from the parents.

Mrs. Kruithof felt that Scottish teachers had little equipment to work with, they do to a great deal with very little, holding to the old adage that all you need for a good education is a good teacher, a good pupil and communication.

She described the long qualifying examinations the seventh graders take to determine whether they go to the academy, the technical school or the junior secondary school and the long examinations students take later for admittance to one of the five universities in the country.

She said every Scottish school has a half hour of religious training every day, and this custom goes on and on. She concluded by describing the Scotch as "a wonderful folk, once you come to know them" and admitted being just a "wee bit homesick for the highlands" at times.

Student Paints Portrait Of Seminary President

Through daily contact, conversation and a half-hour formal sitting, Pyung Doo Kang, 25-year-old Korean, presently a second year student at Western Theological Seminary, painted a portrait of Dr. John R. Mulder, seminary president.

Kang watched Dr. Mulder in classes, associated with him, through conversation discovered his personality and sketched the pattern in the formal sitting.

"I was constantly thinking of his personality while painting and think I got it into the picture," Kang said.

The second year seminary student has been interested in painting since his high school days, 10 years ago.

This is his first portrait. He started work on it shortly after entering the seminary.

"I used to carry the canvases for Mr. Woo, one of Korea's outstanding painters. He taught me color combinations and mixtures and I tried several landscapes," Kang said.

Kang graduated from the National Fisher's College in Korea where he majored in marine fishing and received a bachelor of science degree.

He did much writing in college for the University Press in Korea and has had experience in news editing.

Kang, who speaks English fluently, reports it is the hardest language to learn.

He also has knowledge of Greek, Hebrew, Chinese, Japanese and Korean.

Dr. Mulder is pleased with the picture and plans to hang it in the seminary.

Kang will return to Korea following his theological training.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water

The old "let's support the team" banner has been buried at the bottom of the trunk for a long time now but with Holland High's improved football play this season, it should be taken out and waved vigorously, especially this week.

For this week marks the final game for the 1955 Dutch grid team. Holland winds up the season here against Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills at Riverview Park at 8 p.m. and the game should be a lulu.

Both teams have won four games in eight starts, pretty good for a couple of teams that have had football troubles in recent years.

Holland is higher than a kite, now that they've got a few victories, and can be expected to throw one strong game against the Indians. The visitors aren't going to sit back and take it, following some unprecedented wins this year and a chance at the best record in a few years.

Coffee-cup chatter tells how Joe fan feels. He's the guy who goes to the game because he likes good football and doesn't have any family ties to follow the team.

But some of these people keep using the same reasons for not attending. And they were probably right.

Some were: "I wouldn't walk across the street to see Holland play after the way they played last year." Or, "I saw the opener against Creston and wouldn't go to another."

Right now, these comments are staid and outdated. Holland has had its off moments since the opener, but for the most part have played good, hard football.

This is evidenced by a record of four wins in eight games, a one-point loss to Muskegon Heights, the fourth-ranked Class A team in Michigan, a five-point loss to South, Grand Rapids city league runner-up and a tie with Niles, a Class A team that won every other game. Dutch victories have been over Grand Haven, Dowagiac, St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

This season marked the first time since 1950 that Holland has been able to defeat either Grand Haven or Benton Harbor.

Last week following the locals 14-7 win over Benton Harbor, athletic director Joe Moran counted noses and found he had 1,900 paid admissions.

With the band, suburban school children, who were admitted free and complimentary tickets, Moran pushed the crowd to about 2,000, not too good for a park equipped to handle upwards of 5,000.

The high school is carrying on a campaign to get more of the student body to attend games.

And the Inter-Club Council, made up of Holland's service club organizations, is also concerned about the empty seats.

In an appeal this week, Inter-Club Council President Harold Ramsey, asked clubs to contact members, to get their families to turn out for the final contest.

"If 54,000 people can turn out to see the Detroit Lions play, who had lost six games up to last Saturday night's exhibition, then we should fill the grandstand with local citizenry to see our Holland High team play," Ramsey said.

Blockade Fails to Net Car Thieves, Burglar

Ottawa County deputies and Holland police sought a burglar and car thief from 7 p.m. Monday through the early hours Tuesday without success.

The search was further complicated when a second car was stolen in Holland around 9 p.m. and recovered a few hours later on the front lawn at 255 West 19th St.

Deputies picked up the unidentified man's trail shortly after 7 p.m. when he was frightened away from the Pine Creek Church parsonage during an attempted break-in.

Two boys obtained the license number of the car which he used to drive away. A check revealed the car had been stolen earlier in the day in Muskegon.

Deputies chased the stolen car by following tire tracks in the newly fallen snow before losing it near Butternut Dr., and old US-31.

Meanwhile, Holland police threw up road blocks on River Ave. at the Black River Bridge and at other points in the city.

Zeeland, Grand Haven, Grand Rapids and Muskegon police were alerted along with state police at Grand Haven, South Haven, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Paw Paw.

A car was then reported stolen from near 17th St. and Pine Ave., owned by a visiting Owosso couple, and later found abandoned on West 19th St.

A block-by-block search was made of much of the west end of the city but the man or the Muskegon car were not found.

Ottawa County Farm News

By Richard Machiele

County Agricultural Agent

Thanks to the Ottawa County Bankers Association, two more boys have been awarded scholarships to Michigan State University during the winter term. That brings a total of five boys sponsored by this association this past year. The two boys going for the winter term are James Keppel of Zeeland and John Kronmeyer of Hudsonville.

I would suggest in another year if any high school graduates or any other boy or girl who is interested in farming or homemaking would like to receive this scholarship either contact your local banker or write to our office in Grand Haven. We certainly appreciate the interest that the Ottawa County Bankers have shown in our short-course scholarship program and know these folks who are receiving scholarships are truly appreciative of their interest.

I notice many leaves being burned this fall. A better use for leaves would be to make a compost heap. Leaf composts are an excellent source of organic matter for fertilizer for the home garden. Put the leaves in an enclosure. Wire is good enough. Make a compost three or four feet high, add a layer of leaves and then a layer of nitrogen, phosphorus and lime. Use about 20 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphorus and 50 pounds of lime to each ton of dry leaves. It is difficult to know when you have a ton of leaves. At best your fertilizer application may be only a guess. That is good enough. This material will decompose in about a year. This means a compost pile made now will be ready for your garden a year from next summer.

Many requests have come to our office this past year regarding the source of rye seed. In checking with elevators and farmers we find the supply is limited not only in this county but in other areas. It seems to me someone should be able to make a profitable enterprise of growing rye for cover crops. We realize the price is not good but if the demand for rye continues to be as great as this past fall, the price will have to come up.

Fortified seed growers in Ottawa County will be interested in a conference planned at Michigan State University at Kellogg Center on Dec. 6 and 7. Featured on the program will be A. A. Johnson, former crop specialist at Michigan State. There will be discussion of forage seed production in Michigan and also discussion on the promotion of the certified seed program in Michigan.

A new blueberry variety has been developed by the United States Department of Agriculture. This new variety called Sunray has the same early growing season as the Stanley. It is a high quality berry and larger than the Stanley. Some of the blueberry growers may be interested in following up on this.

A demonstration on control of Yellow Rocket is being put on the Charles Lowing farm in Georgetown township. The application of MCP will be used on two-year-old Ladine alfalfa stand. The field on which the demonstration will be placed is on Fillmore St. You might want to drive by to see how the demonstration goes.

Pleads Guilty — GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Billie Baumgarner, 30, of 813 Fulton St., Grand Haven, pleaded guilty in circuit court Tuesday to a charge of rape. The alleged offense occurred Nov. 2 in Grand Haven township and involved a 14-year-old Grand Haven girl who has been sent to Adrian. Unable to furnish $500 bond he will be confined in Ottawa county jail until his case is disposed of Nov. 22.

SANDY AND NANCY GEBBEN TURN ARTIST

SPIRITS ROAM CIVIC CENTER

The annual Halloween party Oct. 29 may have left many people exhausted but it certainly left them in a happy frame of mind.

Well over 200 costumed youngsters had their fill of cider, doughnuts and 7-up.

Entertainment was provided by the traditional costume parade, music by Holland High school musicians, a comedy act presented by Hope College students and movies.

Some of the children were going to their first party, like Christy Vandenberg, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vandenberg, Jr., who is shown in several pictures across the top of the page.

Others were "old timers" who were enjoying their third or fourth party.

Some, like the police officers (bottom left photograph), were again busy handing out cider and doughnuts at their seventh or eighth party.

Dozens of the Jaycees also operated a plank in downtown Holland to collect needed funds.

Contributions ranged from a dime or quarter from the average citizen to donations of the refreshments.

What was more important was that everyone gave what they could. Many also gave many long hours of their time.

Earlier in the week dozens of children tried their hand as artists. Some won prizes. The others still had a good time painting designs on windows.

The same went for those who selected pumpkins and sculptured many and varied shapes into jack-o-lanterns.

It was noisy at the Civic Center but who ever saw a group of children having a good time and being quiet?

No one seemed to mind the noise. In fact the adults seemed to enjoy it.

When it was time to go home and the Civic Center grew quiet everyone agreed on one thing. It sure was a terrific party. We'll have to do it again next year, they chorused.
