Windmill Canal, Dike Contract Let

City Council Wednesday night approved a contract for Willard Meyer to construct canals and dikes and lay a water main in connection with the Windmill Island program.

The Meyer bid of $25,465, based on unit prices plus 5 per cent for contingencies, was recommended by Architects Kammeraad and Stroop who have been retained by the city to design the program. Total contract will not exceed $26,740. The work also has been approved by the Windmill committee.

The Meyer bid was the lowest of six presented. The six-inch water main to the island project will be laid from Fairbanks Ave. and Sixth St. The contract calls for canals and dikes with walks on top in addition to laying the water line to supply rest rooms and fire protection.

A city manager's report also revealed a gift of $412 for Windmill Island from a donor who wishes to remain anonymous. It was accepted with thanks.

Councilman Eugene Vande Vusse asked whether bathroom and drinking facilities could not be installed at the present Windmill Park west of River Ave. City Manager Herb Holt said the subject had often been discussed but no projects undertaken and suggested it could be included for study in the next budget. He said costs would run about $12,000.

Councilman Morris Peerbolt asked whether the city's street lighting could be updated and Holt explained that the present policy calls for all new installations to be mercury vapor lights as well as all replacements and requests for new lights. So far, this program seems to be working out. Some Councilmen felt perhaps more could be done and others felt there was considerable merit in the current plan.

Mayor Nelson Bosman congratulated City Clerk D. W. Schipper and his staff for work well done on election day Nov. 3 and also congratulated Councilman Harold Volkema on his victory as state senator of the 23rd district.

Ed Gamby, 138 Fairbanks Ave., paid another visit to Council to plead for what he called "safety for our children" citing the case of a neighbor child hit by a car at Eighth St. and Fairbanks Ave. City Manager Holt said he had investigated the minor accident in which the child walked into a car while jaywalking at the intersection.

About 15 minutes were taken up by remarks on truck use of the too narrow Dykema court and the merits of installing a sidewalk on the north side of Eighth St. between Fairbanks and Lincoln Ave. so that children there would have regular access instead of a beaten path to approach an intersection which has a traffic signal. The "safety" elements of the case were referred back to the Traffic and Safety Commission.

Council also granted permission to Walter Deitz to move a house and garage from 855 Lincoln Ave. to 204 East 35th St., subject to approval by the appeal board on lot area. Richard Bultman, of 198 East 35th St. protested the move on the basis of insufficient lot area and the fact that moving in a house at that location would cut off his view.

Council approved a budget transfer within the fire department to finance repairs to the 1952 Seagraves pumper at a cost of $1,315.

Council approved installation of lights for magic squares at Montello Park and Apple Avenue Schools at a cost of $962.40 less up to $200 which may be furnished by the PTA. This was a part of a report by the recreation director on the capital improvement program.

With the exception of retaining $1,000 for final check, Council approved final payment of $10,493.10 to Dauser and Brower Construction for the new street department garage. The city manager added that close to 1,000 persons had visited the new garage on its open house last week.

A claim against the city by Robert L. De Witt of Grand Rapids was referred to the insurance carrier and city attorney.

Mothers of World War II veterans were granted permission to sell poinsettias on local streets Friday evening, Nov. 13, and Saturday, Nov. 14.

A petition requesting water service in Graafschap Rd. from 26th to 27th Sts. and east on 27th St. to end of street was referred to the city manager for report.

Also referred to the city manager with power to act were petitions from residents residing along Sunrise and Sunset Drs. in Holland Heights requesting street lights as proposed by Consumers Power Co. This area

Ottawa's GOP Margin Is Cut

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County went Republican in Tuesday's election but by a scant 2 to 1 ratio instead of the better than 3 to 1 margin of four years ago.

Gov. George Romney led the county ticket polling 32,532 votes while the Democratic opponent, Neil Staebler, received 11,317 in Ottawa's 55 precincts.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen was second high, polling 30,485 votes to 13,418 for his Democratic opponent, Burlie N. Dodge, a

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican candidate for president, trailed the ticket in Ottawa county, totaling 24,512, to 20,070 for President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The county vote totaled about 45,000, just about 1,000 more than in 1960 when Richard Nixon led the county ticket with 32,678 votes and John F. Kennedy received 10,620.

Sentinel Has Election Extra Out at 6 a.m.

The Holland Sentinel came out with a special election edition shortly before 6 a.m. Wednesday following hours of work on one of the most complicated elections ever held here.

The news staff started at 7 p.m. and the production staff arrived at 2 a.m. to start setting type and putting the 10-page extra together. The circulation staff arrived at 5 a.m. and was all set to distribute the extras to various points.

The election ticket itself was more than 50 per cent longer than usual, resulting in delays and tieups up and down the line. The newly apportioned house and senate districts brought further complications. The Sentinel had its Ottawa county chart totaled at 5 a.m., a task which usually is completed about 1 a.m. Hence, the table did not appear in the election extra.

It was mid-morning before final determinations were made on totals in some house and senate districts.

But there was cheer and sustenance throughout the early morning hours at the Sentinel where management provided a spread featuring a rolled roast done to just the right degree on an electric rotisserie, backed up by all kinds of breads, snacks, cheese, relishes and treats, some provided by employees sharing the long, long vigil.

Some well-worn employees found a quick trip home and a steaming shower climaxed by cold water just the right treatment for continuing work on the regular edition.

Bluejacket Choir of U.S. Naval Training Center

Bluejacket Choir Slated At Veterans Day Program

Veterans Day will be observed in Holland this year with a special program to be presented by the Bluejacket Choir of the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Another feature is an address by Col. Raymond Restani, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, VI U. S. Army Corps.

The program which is free to the public will be held on Saturday, Nov. 14, in the Holland High School Field House beginning at 7:30 p.m. It is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and will include two 20-minute segments of patriotic music and hymns by the choir and the talk by the speaker.

Director of the choir is E. D. Sandager, former Air Force captain of World War II, the only full-time civilian choir director for the U. S. Navy.

Recruits and Service School students make up the bulk of the nationally known Bluejacket choir. Although it achieved its fame by singing hymns of the church, its repertoire includes all types of music from Bach chorals to such Broadway hits as "There's Nothing Like a Dame" from "South Pacific." Organized in 1940 by a Navy Chaplain, an estimated 7,000 men who have received training at Great Lakes are former members of the choir. With recruits at Great Lakes for only nine weeks and students not more than 42 weeks, this causes such a high turnover that the choir often has 500 members a year.

Col. Restani who resides in Battle Creek received his commission as a Second Lieutenant of Coast Artillery in 1942, transferred to Infantry in 1944 and graduated from Advanced Officers Course in 1949. In 1952 he was transferred to Alaska where he assumed command of the 4th Infantry Regiment. He was graduated from the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, later being assigned to the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Belgium.

Mischief Hits All-Time High; Holland Quiet

Mild weather Saturday night set the stage for a lot of Halloween activity which kept officers all over the area on the jump.

There was plenty of activity in Holland, but destruction remained at a minimum. City and reserve police operated a Halloween patrol and firemen were busy answering calls to put out leaf fires—21 on Saturday and one on Sunday.

Elsewhere in Ottawa county and in Grand Haven, enforcement officials coped with greater problems, some approaching mob violence.

In Hudsonville, the situation got out of hand, and Hudsonville Police Chief Willard Ten Have called on state police and Ottawa sheriff's reserve officers for aid when rowdiness threatened to take over the town. Whole families gathered to witness the rowdiness as if it were a sports event, the chief said.

It concluded with officers taking 11 young men of ages 17 to 21 to the Ottawa county jail for the weekend. Hudsonville Justice Hilbert De Kleine arraigned all 11 in the jail at noon Monday. All pleaded guilty to disorderly charges and were assessed fines of $35 and costs of $4.30 each. They also were put on probation for a year and were given suspended five-day sentences.

Arraigned were James Westering, 18, Tom Predle, 19, Richard Dalman, 17, and Bernard Van Koevoert, 20, all of Hudsonville; David James Baar, 18, Warren Haverdink, 17, Lloyd Ver Maat, 18, Keith Hopp, 17 and Richard Prins, 18, all of Jenison; Glen A. Oosterheert, 17, Grand Rapids, and John Vredevoogd, 18, Jenison. Chief Ten Have is continuing the investigation and said more arrests would follow. He added that the arrested youths all appeared quiet and solemn at the arraignment.

In the county, Sheriff Bernard Grysen said fires were reported in six houses, one barn and two sheds. There were 11 road fires, mostly cornstalks and tires, and eight other brush fires. Fire departments of Georgetown, Allendale and Borculo were called.

In Grand Haven, city police had their hands full when a group of 20 to 25 young people started throwing eggs at cars. One 17-year-old boy was apprehended and taken to the police station. Soon 60 to 70 gathered in front of the station yelling the boy's name and demanding his release. They were told to leave and the crowd dispersed. The youth was released at midnight.

When Officer Don Tague attempted to break up the first crowd, his cruiser was struck about six times with eggs and water-filled balloons. When he brought the 17-year-old to jail, the officer became a target and was struck with eggs, messing up his uniform.

One outhouse was found on the median strip on Beacon Blvd. and another in the middle of Washington St. near the downtown area.

In Spring Lake, officers also were kept busy. Richard A. Walcott, 17, Spring Lake, paid $20 fine and $4.30 costs in Justice Eva Workman's court today on an assault and battery charge. The youth allegedly threw an egg at an individual Saturday night with such force that the skin was broken at the back of the head. He was lodged in the county jail over the weekend.

Elsewhere in the Holland area, three 17-year-old girls were apprehended after throwing a water filled balloon through the windshield of a car at James St. and 136th Ave. The girls agreed to pay the damage estimated at $73 and no charges were filed.

Officers confiscated about six dozen eggs and a dozen or two water filled balloons. Several cases of pumpkins thrown at mailboxes were reported.

There were some cases of soaping windows. A new wrinkle this year was winding toilet tissue around cars, bushes or what-have-you. Some car owners were happy to settle for such a prank. It did not require the razor blade treatment, or hot water and sponges.

By Dr. Joan E. Mueller
Some 25 years ago, when I wrote a weekly column for my high school newspaper, a sure-fire piece of reader bait, when youthful wit and wisdom

ed, was what the modern teenager might call "The Pet Peeve Bit." One simply collared random friends and asked what in life most annoyed them. Curiosity about others being what it is at that age when one has few more serious concerns, the columnist could be assured of avid readers. Perhaps the success of the approach had something to do with the eagerness with which one and all cooperated to let the world know, in a tough nutshell, their avowed social frustrations.

Perhaps it was therapeutic not only for those interviewed, but also for the reader, who thus indirectly participated in the venting of complaints about life. At least it seems to me now that the gimmick had profound merit than I then supposed. For however much such voicing of social criticism might smack of self-righteousness, it most certainly also points to areas in the human enterprise that need reconsideration.

Individual frustrations are rarely if ever unique, any more than are personal joys. "There is nothing new under the sun," said the preacher of Ecclesiastes. Almost always, as the French essayist Montaigne observed, one can discover truths about others if one can discover the truths of one's self. And if I may make free with the Greeks of antiquity, the temple inscription "Know thyself" implies a corollary, "thus you might better know your fellowman."

The rather frightening part of that ancient imperative, however, is the obvious command to ruthless self inquiry. It is a painful process, discovering one's ignorance and often one's misunderstanding of one's self, and more often than not one cannot manage it single handedly.

Thus, once resolved upon the course of self-examination, we have recourse to the sources of emotional, intellectual, and spiritual help. But it is this initial resolution that seems so difficult to achieve, and we fail to begin. Yet if we take for ourselves the right to criticize our world — our fellowman and the institutions we share with him — needn't we examine the extent to which we are willing to be criticized, especially by ourselves? If we are truly concerned with attaining the better life for ourselves or others, must not clarity begin, so to speak, at home?

We take for granted not only our right to criticize our world, but all too often we take for granted our own immunity to criticism. We assume a judicial mandate to point a finger, cast a stone, but how prepared are we to search out the dimensions of our own responsibility? Don't I, as a teacher involved in helping students to a fuller life of service and praise by way of self discovery and examination, need to demand of myself as well as of my students a no-holds-barred scrutiny of my values, my commitments, my ambitions? Don't I, as a citizen assuming my place in the sun of democracy, need also to assume not only that "they" will provide "good government," but that I cannot remain passively complaining if all does not go as I see fit?

At an hour when so many voices are raised in dissatisfaction with politics, morality in high places, private and public values, mustn't we each wonder whether we have cared enough to suggest and work for a constructive remedy; whether we have been willing to put the greater Good ahead of our personal ambitions, our pocketbook, our smaller partisan loyalties; whether we have been willing to measure our motivations, scrutinize our commitments, and then actively labor for those things to which we only too frequently give merely lip service?

We avow belief in and we take for granted parental affection, filial respect, the understanding of family and friends, our cultural heritage, our freedoms, a public voice through suffrage, and especially the other fellow's duty. Indeed we take for granted our right to take for granted, and in so doing we lose inch by inch our right to family, friends, education, a place in our community, in our world, in our universe.

Have we really a grant to be peeved when others are complacent, smug, or even irresponsible? What do we take for granted? Have we the right?

Ottawa County Farm News

By Richard Machiele
Ottawa County Extension Director

We thought our readers would be interested in the following article from the September issue of the Virginia Extension Service News, "Cost of Living or Cost of High Living," which sheds some interesting light on present day good production costs. This article states that cellophane bags containing carrots cost three times as much as the producer got for the carrots; that the label on a can of tomatoes costs more than the grower got for the tomatoes in the can; and that the man who unloads a car of produce in New York City gets more money for his work than the farmer who produced it.

To go a little further, let's look at the farmer's return and the sale price of a dozen eggs in relation to wages received by a factory worker now and several years ago. The cost of the carton for a dozen eggs is frequently more than that received by a farmer for his labor to produce them. The amount received by retail merchants for handling the packaged, ready-to-use produce is usually two to three times that received by both labor and management for production of the eggs.

A recent news release reports that in 1912 a factory worker earned 21c per hour, and had to work approximately 97 minutes to buy a dozen eggs for about 34 cents. This year, with eggs selling at about 55 cents per dozen, a factory worker earning $2.50 per hour has to work only about 13 minutes to buy a dozen eggs. Using Bureau of Labor statistics, figures for hourly wage rate show that the amount of working time required to buy a dozen eggs in 1940 was 30 minutes, 25 minutes in 1950, and 17 minutes in 1960.

More efficient production has undoubtedly helped reduce food costs and improve living standards for American people. But, the question might be asked: Are those engaged in basic production of various foods receiving returns for labor, management, and invested capital comparable to returns received by those engaged in other types of work?

We would again like to mention that the Ottawa County Bankers' Association has awarded scholarships to four boys who are interested in going into commercial agricultural fields. These scholarships are awarded each year to high school graduates interested in taking short courses at Michigan State University. The courses are for varying lengths of time — from eight weeks to two years. The Bankers Association makes these awards to deserving persons who are truly interested in agriculture and allied fields. Two boys from the county are enrolled for the fall term. There is still time to apply for entrance for the winter term so let us hear from you if you are interested.

A meeting is being planned in conjunction with the annual Michigan Horticulture Show in Grand Rapids for vegetable growers. The dates are Dec. 1 and 2. This is when the Michigan Vegetable Council will be reorganized. The Vegetable Council had been active for about 10 years prior to 1955 and since then has not had a very active part in vegetable enterprises, however, they are planning to reorganize and we would like to have all our Ottawa County vegetable growers attend the meetings.

Not only will you help in the reorganization but you will have opportunity to see the trade show which is held in conjunction with the Michigan Horticulture Show at the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids.

WORDS, WORDS, WORDS

While the American nation has been these days assaulted by words, words, words from political candidates, we may be falling behind in the vocabulary necessary to the world citizen, we offer a brief comment on two new words born during the past few days, words we will have to know to speak intelligently of this week's world.

Word number one: Tanzania. This is a noun. It is the name of a new country, one that was formerly two - Tanganyika and Zanzibar. It is an obvious fabrication of the first syllables of the names of the two countries with the final addition of letters common to both names. The word is worth $28, which amount was paid, according to President Julius Nyerere, to the winner of the world-wide contest to name the new country.

This could be a dangerous name. It is not inconceivable that the attempt of the amalgamated people of the two countries to retain their respective individuality and superiority might result in a civil war. After all, why should the syllables be in this order? Why should Tanganyika appear first and Zanzibar second? Who says that Zanzibar must take place second to that of Tanganyika? Is there some black conspiracy afoot to reduce the original Zanzibarians to second-class citizens? Does this sound any sillier than much of the stuff we're getting from our politicians lately?

Word number two: Dekhrushchevization. There's a dandy. We had hoped that with Khrushchev's retirement we would be relieved of writing his name and of the necessity to determine anew, every time we wrote it, just where all the h's were supposed to go. Now it seems that we will have only added difficulties. The only ray of hope is that the word will crumble under its own weight and that it will disappear soon. The word means the same as destalinization, only this time the Russians will be wiping out the social and political influence of Khrushchev. It is the latest form of Russian decontamination.

If we may hazard a guess, the word Tanzania will outlast dekrushchevization and all the words our politicians have been spouting during the past month.

Firemen estimated the damage to be between $300 and $400. The fire was believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in some waste material in the room.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Nov. 8
An Unashamed Witness
II Timothy 1:6-14
By C. P. Dame

A veteran preacher can teach a young preacher a lot if the younger one is willing to learn. This lesson text contains teachings which Paul, the veteran preacher, gave to his spiritual son, Timothy, the young preacher, who at times was a bit shy. All Christian preachers and workers need much of the spirit of Paul.

I. Christian workers need to be stirred up now and then. Paul wrote II Timothy when he was in prison for the sake of the gospel. Timothy was serving a church in the wicked, wealthy, pagan city of Ephesus. It was a hard field. Paul reminded Timothy of his office to which he had been set apart. Every preacher ought to remind himself of his ordination vows. Paul told him to stir up the gift of God which he had received. Timothy needed a new supply of zeal. Paul told him just what he needed for his ministry. Timothy needed courage. It takes courage to be a Christian and especially to be a Christian leader. Power too is needed by those who work for Christ, the power to stand up and be counted and suffer for the sake of Christ. Love too is needed, it is essential, for Christians can't do anything worth while with a loveless heart. Workers still need these qualities.

II. The gospel deserves sacrificial service. Paul was in prison for the sake of Christ. It was fitting for him to call upon Timothy to witness boldly for the Lord. Paul called upon Timothy to be a "partaker of the afflictions of the gospel."

Many church members today refuse to inconvenience themselves for Christ. We ought to take our share of ridicule, scorn, losses for the sake of the Lord. When we realize that God has saved us from the power, penalty and presence of sin, through grace we ought to be willing to make sacrifices. God not only saved us but He also called us with a holy calling. In addition we have the assurance of eternal life. In view of what the gospel has brought to us we should be eager to respond by serving sacrificially.

III. Confidence gives power. Paul was sure that God had called him to be a preacher, an apostle and a teacher. This made him so effective. Christian workers who feel that God called them have confidence. Paul had personal assurance regarding his relationship to Christ. Read carefully the words, "for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day."

Personal loyalty is important in the church. Paul also stressed the value of sound doctrine. In this ecumenical age when church mergers are planned, often by church leaders who forget the lay membership of the church, it is good to be reminded again of the vital importance of sound doctrine. Too often doctrines are watered down for the sake of compromise. The danger is that sound doctrines are sacrificed for the sake of church mergers. Lay members ought to be on guard.

Shakespeare Program Given for Century Club

The art and music of Shakespeare's England came to life once again for Century Club listeners Monday night under the gentle tutelage of Dr. and Mrs. Ernst Scheyer of Wayne State University in the Woman's Literary Club.

Definitely tracing the development of art history in the early 16th Century during the reign of Henry VIII, Dr. Scheyer led his audience into the fuller artistry of the later period of Queen Elizabeth where William Shakespeare was the "soul of his age—a radiant star in a galaxy of many bright stars."

Ranking the visual arts third in significance, after literature and music, he illustrated how the architecture, painting, sculpture, and intricate textiles of that day created the luxurious setting of that medieval world.

Colored pictures of Hatfield House, Cardinal Wolsey's Hampton Court, the Younger Holbein's portraits of Queen Elizabeth and Anne Boleyn, and Thomas Moore's family, of Mary Stuart and some of her embroidery, of the gay buccanier wearing one of the Queen's gloves coupled with his own word-pictures of the characters who peopled the court of that day gave a fresh dimension to Sir Stubb's prediction that "three things would eat up the Commonwealth—dainty fare, gorgeous buildings, and sumptuous apparel."

This background formed an effective transition into Evelyn Scheyer's playing of the harpsichord. She delighted her audience with three types of 16th Century music—dances, love songs, and occasional music played at ceremonial occasions. Her repertoire included "My Lady's Left Hand," composer unknown; "A Dance—Galliard, Theme and Variations," unknown; "Farewell Delight—Fortune My Fate," Burg; "Ceremonial Music for the Earl of Oxford," Dr. John Bull; "Galliard," Bull; "Courant—Alarm," Bull; "Jig by Mr. Bull

BPW Sends $264,903 To City Fund

A transfer of $264,903.73 from earnings of the electric department to the general fund of the city was approved by the Holland Board of Public Works Monday.

The payment, the largest to the city in the 40 years of operations, represents 50 per cent of the electric department profit for the fiscal year ending last June 30 after allowing for depreciation, bond principle and interest payments.

Electric department sales the past year totaled $2,257,384.26. Interest on investments and other non-operating activities amounted to $110,900.69. Operating expenses amounted to $1,111,327.55. Depreciation totaled $504,237.44; interest on bonded indebtedness, $152,912.50, and payment on bond principle, $70,000.

This year's transfer is nearly 19 times the first payment of $14,255 which the board made in 1924.

BPW President Randall C. Bosch said, "It is gratifying to the board that the electric department is able to make this sizable financial contribution to the operation of city government and to the citizens of Holland. Of equal importance is the direct savings through lower rates. A rate comparison study has revealed that customers of Holland's municipal electric system saved more than a quarter million dollars last year on electric service."

City Manager Herb Holt said the electric department earnings are a major source of revenue for the city each year. He said this year's budget designates $172,500 to general city operation, $60,000 for the capital improvement fund, and the remaining $32,403.73 will be classified as revenue in excess of estimates with final determination on use to be made by Council at budget study time for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Mayor Nelson Bosman said Council is appreciative of the financial aid that the electric utility gives, and without it a sharp increase in taxes would be necessary to provide the same services Holland residents now receive.

kegon scored on Holland's defensive mistakes and lack of experience.

The first score came late in the first quarter when Cliff Hawkins ripped off guard 54 yards to score. The next tally came with 5:31 left in the half on a 16-yard Bill Scheerer to Dave Randall pass.

The third Muskegon touchdown came on a 24-yard Scheerer to Randall passplay with 1:03 left in the third period. On both touchdowns Randall got behind the defense.

CherZel Williams scored the last touchdown with 4:49 left in the game on a three-yard off tackle play after Hawkins had scampered 43 yards and Scheerer rolled out for 23 more.

In scoring twice, it marked the first time in three games the Dutch had scored. Rog Woltman scored both times and each touchdown came after a drive.

Passes featured each drive. Woltman plunged one yard with 31 seconds left in the first half for Holland's initial score. Helping the drive was a 20-yard Mike Bos to Pete Rector pass and a 13-yard Bos to Brian Hill aerial. Rector's reception was spectacular as he wrestled the ball away from the defender.

With 9:04 left in the game, Woltman crushed the middle of the line on a four-yard plunge. He also ran the extra point. The touchdown came after a drive that started after the Big Reds' third tally.

Included in the march which started on Holland's 33, after Perry Cornelissen had returned the kickoff from his own nine, were three long aerials of 20 yards to Al Holleman, and two 11-yard passes to Rector. Holleman injured his leg on his reception which was thrown by Cornelissen while Bos hurried the other two.

Holland completed 10 passes in 18 tries for 113 yards. Muskegon completed three of five, but two went for touchdowns.

The Big Reds ground out 390 yards including a 76-yard Hawkins scamper that set up the second touchdown and the 43-yard fourth period dash. Henry Ten Brink caught Hawkins from behind on each run. Coert Vanderhill recovered the game's lone fumble, a Muskegon bobble, on the Dutch 19 in the third quarter.

The Dutch made 14 first downs, five on passing in the fourth quarter. Muskegon was penalized 145 yards including six 15-yard penalties.

Besides Holleman, Pudge Briggance injured his thumb and Paul Lubbers hurt his leg. Briggance replaced regular center Brad Spahr who didn't play because of illness.

The win gives Muskegon a 6-1 record and a 2-1 LMAC

New Wyoming Water Plant To Serve Area

Municipal officials from the City of Wyoming and Ottawa County broke ground early last week for Wyoming's new Lake Michigan water treatment plant, to be located in Park Township, Ottawa County.

The completed project, including a 66-inch raw water intake line extending 4,300 feet into Lake Michigan, a thirty-two million gallon per day water treatment plant, 26 miles of 54-inch transmission main, pumping and repressing facilities and storage tanks, is estimated to cost $13,500,000. Scheduled completion date is June 1966.

The project is designed to serve the City of Wyoming, several Kent County communities, and nine municipalities in Ottawa County including eight townships and the City of Hudsonville. The water transmission line will be constructed in New Holland Street, a county road dividing two tiers of townships.

Ottawa County, through its Road Commission, has purchased a 15 per cent ownership interest in the City's water project and is thereby guaranteed 4.8 million gallons per day of processed Lake Michigan water anywhere along the pipeline in Ottawa County.

The county's 15 per cent ownership interest will be financed through the sale of $1,810,000 of county bonds secured primarily by the full faith and credit pledges of Port Sheldon, Park, Olive, Holland, Blendon, Georgetown and Jamestown Townships and the City of Hudsonville, and secured secondarily by the full faith and credit of Ottawa County all through the provisions of the County Public Improvement Act of 1939 as amended.

In January 1961, the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors made the provisions of the County Public Improvement Act of 1939 applicable to Ottawa County and authorized the establishment of a county-wide system or systems of water supply and sewage disposal facilities.

In October of 1962, the board authorized the issuance of $425,000 of county bonds for the establishment of the water and sewer facilities now serving Grand Valley State College and surrounding area in Allendale and Gorgetown Townships.

Participation in the Wyoming Project by Ottawa County is the second time that the County has issued bonds in order to provide water or sewage disposal

Panthers Record 4th Win, 26-0

In an awesome display of aggressiveness that kept Sparta off balance from the start, an aroused West Ottawa eleven led by Dave Farabee rolled to a 26-0 triumph over Sparta Friday night.

The surprising developments, the teams had been considered evenly matched, were watched by a crowd of 2,000 fans at the West Ottawa Athletic field.

The Panthers smothered the Spartans with a strong defense and the phenomenal running and passing of halfback Dave Farabee. Farabee passed for one touchdown and scored the other three to give the Panthers their victory.

Farabee averaged 7.9 yards per carry, totting the ball 16 times for 126 yards. He picked a 31-yard pass out of the air from Craig Van Dyke to set up the first touchdown and gathered in a 30-yard pass from Van Dyke to score the game's second touchdown.

There was no doubt that Coach Ron Wetherbee had his chargers geared for the performance. The Panthers went for a touchdown the first time they had their hands on the ball. It was Farabee who slashed through the middle of the line for 30 yards to the 50-yard line where Van Dyke then passed to A. J. Visser for 31 yards down to the 19 yard line of the Spartans.

Farabee lugged the ball to the ten where he fired to Vizithum for the game's first score with 7:45 left in the first period. John Oonk's conversion attempt was wide.

Having little difficulty containing the Spartan attack, the Panthers took over possession and promptly marched to a second touchdown. It happened this way. Farabee picked up a first down on the Panther 40.

On the next play he drove 23 yards down to the Spartan 37. Frank Houting and Roger Zeh relieved Farabee on the next two downs and the ball was on the 30 when Van Dyke faded back and hit Farabee in the end zone for the touchdown. It came with 11:46 left in the second period. John Oonk kicked the extra point and the Panthers led 13-0.

The Spartans did much to injure their own cause. There was, for example, the inability of the Spartan defense to give sufficient protection to their quarterback and blocking to their backs.

Capitalizing on this the Panthers forced Sparta to kick deep within their territory. Dave Vizithum returned the kick to the 25 where Farabee lugged the ball to the 14. Frank Houting and Lynn Bakker helped Farabee carry the ball down to the 3, when with 50 seconds left in the half Farabee scored. The extra point was not good. By the half the Panther momentum had carried them to a 19-0 lead.

The second half was a repetition of the first with the Panthers tearing savagely away at the Spartans at every opportunity. Showing speed in the ball totting department again and considerable strength in the air, the Panthers registered another touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Sieve Vander Lip intercepted a Sparta pass on the Panther 20-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage Farabee warmed up by picking up two yards and then proceeded to romp 13 yards for the final Panther score. John Oonk converted making the score 26-0.

The Panthers accumulated a total of 316 yards in the game to Sparta's 101 yards.

Van Dyke and Vizithum threw ten times completing six passes for 95 yards compared to Sparta's nine yards in two passes.

On defense, Sonny Hamilton, Bob Rozeboom, and Bob Houting roused their mates to contain any threat the Spartans might have launched.

Next Friday West Ottawa travels to Middleville. The Panthers will conclude the season with a final home game with Coloma on Nov. 13.

"Living as a Christian is more important than playing football," said the 6-4, 210-pound All-American quarterback candidate from Franklin, Ohio. "I hope to use any football ability I might have to help the cause of Christianity in the United States."

Any success I might achieve I want to be able to use to help steer people in the direction of Jesus Christ."

When he receives his degree from Michigan next May, Timberlake plans to enter divinity school. "I haven't filed an application yet, but I would like to attend Princeton Theological Seminary."

The winners intercepted a Hyink pass on the Hope 40 early in the fourth quarter. Dan Fitzpatrick made the reception and returned the ball to the Hope 19.

Irv Sigler scooted 17 yards around two plays later for the touchdown. Terry Dawson scored Olivet's final touchdown with 3:17 left in the game on a one-yard pitch out play.

Jon Rice had intercepted a Hyink pass on the Olivet 21 and returned to Comets 31. Sigler ripped off 26 yards and Burnett passed to Dom Livedoti for 17 yards to set up the score. Livedoti was forced out on the one. Livedoti then caught a pass from Sigler for the two-point conversion.

Hope had two scoring threats. Late in the second quarter they advanced to the Olivet 24 where a Hyink pass was intercepted on the seven by Poburksy. In the drive, which started with a pass interference on the Hope 24, Hyink completed three passes for 41 yards.

Holland-Racine Company Under New Management

Sale of Holland-Racine Shoes Inc., to Guardian Shoe Company of St. Louis, Mo., was announced Monday in a joint announcement by Leathe C. Kline, president of Guardian and C. C. Andreason, president of the local shoe manufacturing firm. Holland-Racine will operate as a subsidiary of the St. Louis firm with Kline as president and chief executive officer. The local plant will continue to manufacture all shoes currently produced under its own brand names and will also manufacture shoes for Guardian Shoe Company.

Effective today, officers of the local shoe manufacturing firm are: Leathe C. Kline, board chairman and president; L. J. Geuder, vice president, sales; Lee Reeder, secretary and general counsel; W. J. Lalley, treasurer, and John Moyle, vice president, industrial sales.

Directors of the firm are: L. C. Kline, Carl Williams, W. J. Lalley, and C. C. Andreason.

Effective with today's change in management, A. C. Prigge is retiring as vice president, director and credit manager of the Holland firm. Keith Van Harte will replace Prigge as credit manager.

Kline, a native of St. Louis, is married and has one son, Bill Kline, a graduate of Colgate University and now serving in the armed forces.

Kline served a number of years as purchasing agent for Florsheim Shoe Company of Chicago, leaving that position in Company of St. Louis, specializing in industrial footwear.

In assuming personal direction of the Holland operation, Kline will take temporary residence in Holland, but he plans to establish permanent residence here early next spring. 1948 to work as a sales executive for International Shoe Reeder is an attorney and partner in the firm of Reeder, Griffin and Dysart of Kansas City, Mo., director of a number of firms and president of the Kent Investment Company and Warner Investment Company of Kansas City. He is active in the Boy Scouts of America and has served in his local and state areas as well as the National Council of the organization.

Geuder, Lalley and Moyle will continue in assignments similar to those which they have held in the past and will assist in the orderly correlations of the two corporations as all manufacturing is consolidated and expanded in the Holland unit.

The change in management and control of Holland-Racine Shoes comes in the 70th year of operation of the firm, which began as the Racine Shoe Company in Racine, Wis., in April 1895.

Merged with the Holland Shoe Company in January 1939, the firm operated plants in both Racine and Holland through World War II but consolidated all operations in Holland in 1945.

Perch Aids Michigan Fishermen

GRAND HAVEN — Now it is the fish who are "netting" for fishermen again.

Net profit, that is. A year ago West Michigan's once flourishing fish industry was threatened with virtual extinction because of the botulism scare and the future looked bleak for its 18,000 employees.

But today the industry is again profitable for the hardy who garner their living from the sometimes angry and sometimes unproductive seas.

Years ago one of the profitable catches was the whitefish but it disappeared from Lake Michigan. Then the Lake Michigan trout started vanishing with the invasion of the sea lamprey. This left the easily accessible and easy to catch chubs as the main source of revenue for the fishermen along the West Michigan shorelines.

Until the time of the botulism scare, the easy to net chub represented about 75 per cent of the economy of the fishing fleets and allied businesses.

But then came the scare and the chubs started piling up in freezers with no takers among the scared fish-eating public.

The desperation-ridden fishermen looked around for another fish to replace the previous best sellers.

Shortly after the botulism scare threatened to wipe out the industry, and which was linked primarily to chubs and imported Canadian netted whitefish, something strange happened in Lake Erie.

Lake Erie's seemingly endless supply of perch gave out and pollution was blamed.

West Michigan fishermen immediately recognized the opportunity and started after the perch schools which had been lying undisturbed offshore in shallow water in Lake Michigan and were in abundance.

And fishermen and fishing concerns started hitting the comeback trail.

Typical of the adventure-minded fishermen is a newcomer.

He is Allen Tornovich, who invested his life's earnings in an old fishing tug and sailed it from Erie, Pa., to Holland, last fall where he has been operating a going fishing business with a four-man crew.

Tornovich's gamble paid off as the industry started hitting the comeback trail.

He said the West Michigan perch are now being shipped freshly frozen in great quantities to Chicago and from there to various parts of the nation.

Tornovich said even the trout are making a gradual comeback and he feels that West Michigan fishermen have a future.

The H.J. Dornbos Co. at Grand Haven, one of the leading wholesalers of smoke fish in the nation before the botulism scare, is making a strong comeback with perch.

The company put in an all-mechanical breaded perch process and at one time last summer employed as many as 50 persons, more than it had on its payrolls when chubs were its leading products.

Company officials say the demand for perch continues to be heavy.

In an effort to speed up the reporting of vote results of the presidential, governor and U.S. Senate races at the precinct level, the Zeeland Jaycees will serve as special election precinct reporters for network Election Service (NES).

The NES news group includes the Associated Press, United Press International and ABC, NBC and CBS radio and television networks.

Ronald Damstra, president of the Zeeland Jaycees said members of his chapter will call from their assigned precincts with results of the three key races to NES news gathering center at the Leland Hotel in Detroit.

Each local Jaycee precinct reporter will be properly identified with credentials from NES and the Michigan Election Commission, according to George Cheely, NES director.

Cheely said the Michigan Jaycees in turn will receive a cash grant for taking on the statewide project to "assist the news media in getting the vote results to the public as soon as humanly possible."

Zeeland Jaycees reporting from local precincts will be: Leon Var Harn, Zeeland city, precincts 1 and 2; Ronald Damstra, Zeeland Twp., precinct 1; and William Gruppen, Blendon Twp., precinct 1.

A third progress report on the Zeeland United Fund campaign, held Tuesday, revealed that $11,450.40 has been pledged, representing 60.3 per cent of the $18,991 goal.

K. Folkertsma, drive chairman, said reports are most encouraging, but it will require a special effort to put the drive 'over the top.'

Mrs. Meyers and Mrs. Damstra, residential co-chairmen advised that the house-to-house canvass is underway.

Divisions reporting and their quotas are: professional, Dr. Deur and Dr. G. J. Kemme $965 on $1,550; public — civic, Lampen and Van Harn, $888.40 on $1,550; industrial, Bennett $8,400 on $9,100; commercial — retail, Bonnama, $1,197 on $5,000.
