Councilmen Okay Traffic Changes

A four way stop will be installed at 35th St. and Central Ave. and a traffic signal operating on red-yellow-green will replace the flasher at 17th St. and Pine Ave. as the result of action taken by City Council Wednesday night.

Both were recommended by Adrian Koert, traffic consultant, who admitted some reluctance in recommending the four-way stop at 35th St. and Central Ave., but he said surveys had determined that speed on 35th St. is too fast and a four-way stop would slow such traffic.

He also explained that surveys at 17th St. and Pine Ave. revealed that the traffic volume is such that a conventional traffic light is indicated.

Asked about a traffic light at 32nd St. and Michigan Ave., he said traffic counts there now warrant a traffic light and he has discussed the matter with Ralph Shoemaker, district traffic engineer, and it appears the state will approve such a measure, provided Holland city eliminate northbound traffic on Washington Ave.

Surveys also revealed that 19 traffic accidents have occurred at this intersection during the first 10 months of 1967, 12 of which possibly could be eliminated had a traffic signal been in operation. Koert felt that restricting northbound traffic on Washington would not adversely affect anybody in the neighborhood, and that it would be an aid to school traffic rather than a hindrance.

He said such a traffic control would cost about $1,800 to be shared equally by state and city. Council accepted for first reading a proposed ordinance amending updating the present ordinance on driving under the influence of liquor or narcotics, or when ability to drive is visibly impaired. City Attorney Gordon Cunningham explained that the amended ordinance is geared to state laws. Final action will be taken at the Nov. 15 meeting.

A communication from the Liquor Control Commission requesting Council action on a new dance permit for Holiday Inn (Ottagan Inn, Inc.) in conjunction with the existing A-Hotel and SDM license was referred to the city manager for study and report.

Petitions for water service in Pleasant Ave. off South Shore Dr. and water and sewer service in Lakeview Dr. from Myrtle Ave. to Elm Dr. were referred to the city manager.

Council approved a proposed agreement of the Hospital Board with Hospital Entertainment Systems providing a television rental system to be installed in the hospital.

A proposal of the Planning Commission to vacate a portion of 37th St. east of Washington Ave. provided an adequate turnaround be obtained was referred to the city manager.

Council approved a recommendation of the city auditor that Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., trustees of the $12.5 million industrial development revenue bonds for Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc., be authorized to cremate cancelled bonds and coupons and deliver a certificate of cremation to the city auditor and the Beech-Nut Co.

Council confirmed a certification of Councilman Lamb for purchases made by the engineering department in the amount of $211.70 during September.

Although delivery cannot be expected for close to 18 months, Council approved the purchase of a new 1,000-gallon pumper for the fire department from the American Fire Apparatus Co. of Battle Creek in the net amount of $31,965.

Fire Chief Dick Brandt explained functions of the new pumper and the condition of some present equipment, some pumpers dating back 20 years. He said the new pumper likely would be placed in the No. 1 station, and he also called attention of Council to the need of a new fire station, and for facilities east of the railroad tracks where industrial development now is valued at $17.5 million.

Claims against the city from Margaret Ming, 3 East Seventh St.; Edward C. Shidler, route 3, and Holland City Bus Line, 176 East 19th St., were referred to the city insurance carrier.

Council approved an additional $1,290 to complete the magic square at Holland Heights School. Based on the magic square at Lakeview, costs had been estimated at $12,000 but additional excavation boosted the price.

Council also approved payment of $967.92 as the city's one-third share of the cost of providing buoys and signs for boating control on Lake Macatawa. A total of $667 had been budgeted for the purpose, and Council moved to transfer $300.92 from the contingent fund.

Bus, Car Collide In School Driveway

Nine West Ottawa High School students escaped injury 8:10 a.m. Tuesday when the school bus they were riding collided with a car in the driveway of the school at 1034 136th Ave.

Ottawa county sheriff's deputies identified the driver of the bus as Leonard Ellander, 55, of 399 Riley St. and the car driver as David Kievit, 18, of 4605 136th Ave.

Deputies said both vehicles were in the driveway when the accident occurred. Kievit told deputies he was making a right turn from the driveway when the rear wheels of the car hit the curb, causing him to collide with the bus.

Ottawa Gets Federal Aid For Roads

Ottawa county will receive nearly $70,000 in federal matching funds for county road construction in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, according to State Rep. Melvin DeStigter (R-Hudsonville).

"The Ottawa County Road Commission must match the federal grant dollar-for-dollar," said DeStigter, "and can only use the money for road construction. The federal funds are apportioned by the State Highway Department on a formula based on county land area, population and road mileage. Ottawa County's $69,967 grant is 19th among the state's 83 counties in amount."

DeStigter also announced that Ottawa County will be one of a record 60 counties receiving funds this year from the State Snow Removal Fund. Based on an average snowfall of 95 inches last winter, the county will receive $16,247, on a formula which combines average snow depth and miles of county roads.

The snow removal funds are distributed to counties that had an average of 70 or more inches of snow during the previous winter. Heavy snows all over the state last year led to the record-breaking number of counties qualifying for state funds.

"The state's average snowfall last winter was 102 inches, highest since the Legislature established the snow removal fund in 1956," DeStigter said. "The previous record for the number of counties receiving a share of the funds was the winter of 1964-65, when an average snowfall of 95 inches provided funds for 53 counties."

Local Arts Council Is Organized

A Holland Council for the Arts has been organized with Donald L. Ihrman, superintendent of public schools, and Mrs. Paul McIlwain serving as co-chairmen.

Ihrman and Mrs. McIlwain were appointed by Mayor Nelson Bosman some months ago as Holland's delegates to Gov. Romney's Michigan State Council for the Arts which was established in June, 1966, with a $100,000 appropriation from the legislature. A $15,000 federal grant followed the next month.

The local council held its second meeting Monday night in the auditorium of Herrick Public Library and was informed that articles of incorporation are being filed for the organization under the sponsorship of the city of Holland.

The Holland council will be a member of the state council of which Dr. Morrette Rider, on leave this year from the music faculty of Hope College, is a member. He was appointed by Gov. Romney. The state council was suggested six years ago by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, but it was not fully organized until 1966.

Mrs. Calvin Vander Werf outlined plans for continuing the popular "Young Audiences" concerts for 1,700 fifth and sixth graders in community schools next spring. There will be seven concerts, some by the Michigan State Woodwind Quintet, the Hope College Woodwind Quartet and the Baroque Ensemble. There possibly may be a presentation by an Interlochen group or by the Western Michigan String Quartet.

The Junior Welfare League also is planning a schedule for the performing arts for elementary schools. Mrs. Robert De Buyn Jr. of Zeeland is setting up a theatre dance presentation. The League also is planning art programs and promoting children's literature, as well as publishing a cultural calendar each month.

Mrs. McIlwain explained that all cities in Michigan over 5,000 population have been invited to join the arts council whose purpose is to stimulate interest in the performing arts and to provide funds for programs, concerts, art shows and the like.

Sharing in Holland's council are City Council, public and parochial schools, Hope College, Netherlands Museum, Junior League, AAUW, Woman's Literary Club, Band and Orchestra Boosters and Holland Community Theatre.

Associated with the council besides the co-chairmen are Mayor Bosman, Mark Vander Ark, Ray Lokers, Gerrit Van Ravenswaay, Mrs. Joseph Lang, Henry ten Hoor, Mrs. Ricardo Pavoni, Delbert Michel, Mrs. Lewis Vande Bunte, Douglas Neckers, Willard C. Police are questioning the attendant and two suspects nabbed within four hours of the 4 a.m. larceny today.

Station attendant Ronnie Whitfield of Fennville, who was working his first day at the station, told police three men wearing black jackets entered the station around 4 a.m. and ordered him into the back storage room.

Whitfield said the men tied him with battery jumper cables and after they fled, he managed to work his hands free and call the operator who notified police.

A roadblock, issued by State Police throughout southwestern Michigan at 4:50 a.m. today, was terminated at 5:43 a.m. with no arrests. Shortly after, Holland police picked up one of the subjects. The second person was apprehended shortly before 8 a.m. today.

More Snow Descends On Holland

Another three inches of snow fell on Holland Monday night, and considerably more fell since 6 a.m. Tuesday leaving four inches of sticky, wet snow on the ground according to Weather Observer Lynn Wheaton.

Driving was extremely hazardous early Tuesday, but sunshine and moderating temperatures toward noon cut the ice on surfaced roads. At least two semis jackknifed on I-196 between Holland and Saugatuck, and the toll elsewhere mounted as motor vehicles inched along slick highways.

These are the ordnancemen aboard Task Force 77 aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf off North Vietnam who keep carrier-based Navy planes armed with the bombs, rockets and missiles they need to slow the flow of supplies from North Vietnam to the enemy in the south.

One of these men is Aviation Ordnance Second Class David R. Vanden Brink, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Vanden Brink of 138 South 160th Ave., Holland, Mich., an ordnanceman with Navy Attack Squadron-164 aboard the attack aircraft carrier Oriskany.

Said one ordnance officer of his crew, "I'm impressed with the way these men lift bomb after bomb for a long periods and keep going. They never seem to let down. These boys do this for an entire life period, about 30 days in a row."

The ordnancemen are thoroughly versed in the safety precautions they must observe in handling the bombs and rockets and missiles as they are moved from place to place aboard ship.

Most ammunition arrives on carriers during underway replenishment and is carefully moved by ordnancemen to the magazines far below decks. When bombs are needed for an air strike, they are first moved to a higher deck where stabilizing fins are attached and then sent to either the flight deck or hangar deck to be loaded onto the planes.

Holland Quartet Held in Ionia For Sniffing Glue

IONIA — Four Holland teenagers were being held by State Police here today to face possible charges of misdemeanor under the new glue-sniffing law.

They were taken in custody 8:15 p.m. Wednesday after the owner of a gasoline station, located just outside of Ionia, called State Police and reported he saw them sniffing glue in the car. Authorities said one youth stated they were "just bombing around."

At noon today, State Police were conferring with Ionia County Prosecutor Walter Marks as to charges. Under Acts of 1967 that went into effect Nov. 2, glue sniffing or the act of persuading a person to sniff glue is a misdemeanor and carries a penalty of up to $100 fine or up to 90 days in jail or both, State Police said.

Carousel Mountain To Reopen

Plans for reopening Carousel Mountain just west of Macatawa Park for the 1967-68 ski season were outlined at a luncheon meeting of civic and tourist leaders Wednesday at Point West. The gathering was arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

Larry Phillips, who will be operating the ski development for United Insurance Co., owners of the property, said the target date for opening this year will be Dec. 15.

There will be many improvements at Carousel Mountain, a number of them geared to safety. Several trees will be removed from beginner slopes and areas will be graded for better skiing. Two more rope tows will be added, bringing to six the number of these tows. In addition, there will be T-bars, J-bars and the chair lift. Parking areas will be improved.

Special snow making equipment also is being installed.

Phillips, who has been operating the Carousel Mountain motel for the last two years, said the new management is anxious to cater to families, quoting suggested membership fees from $90 for a family of two to $150 for a family of six or more. There will be no limit on the number of family memberships, and membership is not restricted to the local area.

Phillips said heavy equipment is being delivered this week and all ski tow equipment is expected to be installed within two weeks. Plans call for improved "easing on and off" from rope tows and other uphill conveyances.

A snack bar will be in operation, but the lodge dining room is not expected to operate full-time immediately. Arrangements are under study to cater to private parties and special ski parties.

Some elements of ski lodge operations have not been determined. Phillips said the management is hopeful of operating a full seven-day week but staffing problems could result in a day off during the week. Management also is studying five-day week membership and special privileges for college students or other youth groups.

Phillips has already made arrangements for a ski patrol and is considering a ski school with a minimum of three instructors. Rental equipment in skis, poles and boots also will be available, as well as arrangements for small insurance fees. Other plans call for a Ladies Day on Wednesday, and night skiing facilities.

Deputies Probe Cottage Breakin

Ottawa county sheriff's deputies are investigating the breaking and entering of a cottage located on the corner of Willow St. and Big Bay Dr. that started out as a prowler call around 12:20 a.m. today.

Deputies said the unoccupied, summer cottage owned by Bernard Bronsink of Jenison was entered by taking the screen off a bathroom window and crawling in. A portable television set was all that appeared to be missing, deputies said. Exit was reported made by unlocking the back door and walking out.

Deputies were called by a neighbor who noticed two subjects get out of a car parked on Willow St., a short distance from his home on Willow St., and walk into the woods.

The car was reported gone before deputies arrived.

Grand Haven Girl Burned

GRAND HAVEN — Dianne Merz, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Merz, 1351 Washington, Grand Haven, was critically burned at 9:26 p.m. Monday when her granny-type nightgown caught fire while she was burning papers in the basement gas incinerator.

She was admitted to Municipal Hospital with third degree burns over 40 per cent of her body and second degree burns over 20 per cent of her body. Burns were on both arms and her body from neck to hips.

The girl, her nightgown aflame, ran to a basement bathroom but was unable to turn on the faucet in the lavatory and then ran to her bedroom also on the basement level where her mother tried unsuccessfully to remove the burning gown, the mother burning both hands in the attempt. Dianne finally pulled the gown off, threw herself on the bed and the gown fell on a throw rug in the bathroom, setting it afire.

The mother took the injured girl to the hospital in the family car.

Leaf Raking Takes Over as Mercury Rises

It was almost Indian Summer today.

With temperatures in the upper 40's and snow fast disappearing, local residents were raking autumn leaves, a seasonal chore which had been interrupted by several days of rain and two snowfalls.

Street department trucks were picking up leaves, but no routes were determined.

As the weather cleared Wednesday, paving operations began in several locations about the city on streets long torn up by sewer installations.

Paving work continued today, and street department crews were determined to take advantage of all good weather hereafter to put the roads into use for winter.

Winds Hamper Ship's Entry

Self-unloader Crispin Ogelbay entered Holland harbor today after high winds and erratic sea conditions kept her anchored in Lake Michigan for some 16 hours.

The 539-foot ship, loaded with over 10 thousand tons of sand and gravel, approached Holland harbor from Ferrysburg around 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to local Coast Guardsmen; however, winds estimated at 50 miles per hour, prevented her from entering the narrow Holland harbor.

Coast Guardsmen said the ship was anchored about 3 miles out from the harbor in Lake Michigan.

With diminishing conditions, the self-unloader entered the harbor at 9 a.m. today and arrived at Brewer's City Coal Dock at 10:30 a.m. She is expected to complete unloading and leave later this afternoon.

Holland Gives Okay To Plan

Zeeland Also Approves
School Reorganization;
Loses in Coopersville

School reorganization elections carried in both Holland and Zeeland Tuesday, the Holland plan by a 662-vote margin and the Zeeland plan by only 9 votes, according to unofficial reports of the Ottawa Area Intermediate School District which conducted the elections.

Elections also carried in Spring Lake and in the Jenison-Bursley district, but lost decisively in Coopersville.

In all, there were five separate school reorganization elections Tuesday covering all of Ottawa county except West Ottawa, Grand Haven and Hudsonville.

The Holland plan involved merger of Harrison and Federal districts. Holland city approved the plan 1,466 to 793, and Harrison approved it 335 to 282. Federal voted 55 yes to 129 no. Since all votes are counted together according to state law, the Holland program carried, 1,866 to 1,204.

Whether or not further action would be taken in Ottawa Circuit Court was not immediately determined. Representatives of the opposition in Harrison, Federal and Allendale districts filed two suits Friday seeking to halt the election on the basis it was not constitutional.

Attorney Reviews HEA Situation

At an informal meeting of the Holland Education Association Friday afternoon in Junior High School auditorium, Ted Swift, chief legal counsel for the Michigan Education Association, reviewed the public school situation in Holland as it relates to professional negotiations toward a master contract with the Holland Board of Education.

Local teachers are operating under a Circuit Court injunction issued by Judge Raymond L. Smith in September which ordered teachers back into the classrooms. Teachers returned after four days of what they termed "withholding services."

Swift, who represented the MEA as well as the HEA in subsequent court litigation, explained how this injunction applies to individual rights of teachers, and the HEA's unique position as a test case for negotiating procedures in the state of Michigan and in the nation.

This is a case, he said, to determine if teachers have to teach without a contract specifying terms of employment, working conditions and salaries.

The HEA executive committee will make available to community groups the services of some of its members to explain school problems from the teachers' point of view. Such meetings may be scheduled by calling Paul V. Klomprens, new HEA president.

United Church Women Mark Community Day

A stirring message on the condition of American religious life was the highlight of World Community Day, observed Friday by United Church Women.

The Rev. Robert Willoughby, who serves the Mt. Olivet Methodist Church of Dearborn, was sharply critical of the institution of the Christian church in America. He said that what has passed for a religious revival since World War II has been merely a growth in the number of "country clubs with steeples on them."

Rev. Willoughby charged that so long as Christianity refuses to become involved in controversy and the social issues that really matter, this religion is nothing but a facade. He said that most Christians avoid the suffering and involvement which the gospel of Christ requires of them because they would rather simply go to church on Sunday and have the "comfort buttons pressed."

Mrs. James Cook, president of the Holland Area Council of Church Women, introduced the speaker and presided at the service. Mrs. Stanley Hook welcomed those present to the Salvation Army, where the observance was held. Miss Geraldine Walvoord was the organist, and Mrs. Glen Peterman sang "Father Eternal, Ruler of Creation."

The offering of $366.60 will help to train wives of ministers of African Independent churches in South Africa and to educate women of North and Latin America for a program of international exchange to promote understanding.

Also as part of World Community Day, Holland church women displayed the clothing they made for Asian children. At a sacrificial luncheon before the service, an offering was taken to pay the cost of shipping used clothing collected by the churches.

During a business meeting the new officers of the Council were elected. They are Mrs. Robert Nykamp, president; Mrs. John Pelon, first vice president; Mrs. Melvin Van Tatenhove, second vice president; Miss Henrietta Veltman, secretary; Mrs. Ted Van Oosterhout, treasurer; and Mrs. John Vande Wege, assistant treasurer.

Mr. Cook presented a lecture-demonstration that was widely acclaimed by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan at their 1963 convention held in Holland in June 1963.

Timely tips on decorating for Christmas and the holidays from doorways that welcome guests to holiday table settings will be described by Mr. Cook who creates and shows the mechanics involved in each arrangement.

The informality of Mr. Cook's lecture puts his audience at ease. His wit and humor add spice to the program.

A large part of the lecture will be Christmas — decorating ideas that reflect the true meaning of Christmas and its religious importance to those of the Christian faith.

An early hobby in gardening and flower arranging became a full-time business and lecturing is now his hobby. About 100 programs are given by Mr. Cook each year. He directed the Illinois Flower Shows held at Navy Pier and was consultant to the opening show for Chicago's lakefront McCormick Place.

Each summer Mr. Cook gives a series of lectures in the Ravine Garden at his most unusual flower shop in Dixon. His "Day of Christmas" held each October has grown from one to five days with 1,900 attending in 1966. He has perfected a formula that retains the beauty and freshness of evergreen trees and boughs and also designed a new Christmas tree holder.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Gordon, Mrs. L. C. Dalman, Mrs. William Venhuizen and Mrs. Ronald Robinson.

... The Lure of Other Gods
Hosea 4:1-2, 11-26b
8:4, 11-14; 10: 12

By C. J. Dame

We sometimes complain about the wickedness of our times. After reading the lesson text over we can't help but realize that the sins we deplore today were prevalent in the past. The fact that when people forsake God they put their trust in things is very true.

I. Hearing God's Word is important. "Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel," thus spoke Hosea, God's prophet, to God's people. God had a controversy with his people, made a charge against them. The reason—because there was no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land. The important things, the virtues which make a nation strong were absent. But there was plenty of swearing, lying, stealing, adultery and bloodshed in the land. "Whoredom and wine and new wine take away the heart"—lust and liquor and sensuous living weakened the people.

Among the Canaanites worship and carousing went together and Israel followed the example of these idolaters. And in addition, they like the Canaanites turned to magic, fortune-telling, witchcraft and all manner of superstitions which were contrary to God's laws and inconsistent with a belief in the providence of God. It is said that today many people are turning to astrology, soothsaying, and fortune-telling. When people turn from God they fall for anything and everything.

II. Forgetting God is costly. For years Israel was ruled by selfish leaders whose bad example was followed by the people, who made idols of gold and silver. Note the words, "For Israel hath forgotten his Maker and buildeth temples; and Judah hath multiplied fences cities." People were interested in doing big things. Well, today small business concerns are swallowed up by the larger ones. Merge—that is the cry of many churchmen today, especially leaders—form a big organization and exercise power! There is a passion for bigness because the feeling of insecurity is prevalent. When people have no trust in God they put their confidence in big things.

III. It is every time to seek God. The prophet summoned the people to break up the fallow ground which lay unbroken. He called the people to repentance. Well, repentance is needed today! When a nation shows injustice, race hatred, disrespect for law and order we can expect a harvest of evils and miseries. When we sow the seed of honesty, brotherhood, godliness and goodness we will reap a harvest which brings blessings.

Note the words, "for it is time to seek the Lord, till he come and rain righteousness upon you." We say, "Time is short" or "Time is running out." Every day we are conscious of time. Many people say they have no time for God, for service, and for the spiritual. We all have time for the things we really want to do. Scripture says, "Now is the acceptable time," but God says, "Today."

To whom do you listen?

'Oklahoma' Captivates Enthusiastic Audience

West Ottawa Theatre's season-opening production of "Oklahoma!" under the direction of B. J. Berghorst, enchanted an enthusiastic audience of about 300 at the first performance Tuesday evening.

The play was exceptionally well paced and the members of the cast did an outstanding job of interpreting their roles. Debbie Feddick and Brad Comport fulfilled all expectations in their leads, and the supporting characters were equally as successful.

Nancy Kiel, portraying Ado Annie, the girl who can't resist "fellers" with "purty words," kept the musical romping. Tom Kalkman, who portrayed the sour-tempered hired man, proved capable of evoking shudders in his audience.

Well deserved bows should also be taken by Bob Hopkins, the peddler; Ken Laarman, Ado Annie's cowboy swain; Diane Bosley, Aunt Eller and runner of things-in-general; Nancy Lomen as the empty-headed girl with the ridiculous giggle; the supporting singers and dancers; and faculty orchestra consisting of Ruth Burkholder, piano; Ray Van De Mark, bass; and Calvin Langejans, percussion.

Dr. Augenstein Speaks To Century Club Members

Century Club members who heard Dr. Leroy Augenstein, member of the State Board of Education and chairman of the Michigan State University Department of Bio-Physics, Monday night were challenged by the haunting question of "whose values?" should be taught to the underprivileged in the ghettos of American society today. The warning was sounded that we cannot wait 10 years to decide. The meeting was held in the Tulip Room of Hotel Warm Friend.

In his fluent, fast-moving style, Dr. Augenstein began his provocative talk, "Whose Values?" by outlining the latest scientific studies in the area of what he called "mind manipulation." Science can now show that there are two well-defined types of memory: short-term of five seconds to 40 minutes and long-term, including up to 100 years, he said.

With these facts and the possibilities of using electro-shock treatment on patients to induce forgetting (of unpleasant experiences, for example) or remembering, Dr. Augenstein then posed these unsettling questions to his audience: How do you choose what to enable a patient (a possible ghetto victim) to remember or to forget?

In plainer words, what values do you choose to put in? Should parents deliberately be responsible for the values of their children? What do we want to do about these memory techniques in relationship to values?

With these questions as his frame of reference, the speaker proceeded to discuss the implications facing Americans today as they seek to improve conditions in their cities to help the underprivileged, particularly the thousands of children at ADC mothers who have no fathers or father-images to follow. In Detroit alone, he said, there are over eight thousand homeless youngsters. The situation is also bad in Lansing.

Dr. Augenstein is personally involved in the Big Brother program and took two Negro ghetto youngsters to live in his home this past summer.

He pointed out that more and more responsible Americans are getting involved in person to person contact with these underprivileged, ghetto groups and the question of "What do we do about them?" becomes more pressing. The government-sponsored "head-start" program for the pre-schooler is one technique being used to upgrade the values of the underprivileged children. And, he said, it is a fact that "we can put values into their minds." The question that must be resolved is still: "Whose values?"

Dr. Augenstein conducted a question and answer session immediately following his talk and there was much lively discussion regarding the implications and methods of instilling values into ghetto children. One pertinent question asked was, "What happens to these ghetto boys after being exposed to better conditions (through Head Start or a stay in a Big Brother home) when they have to return to their ghetto environment?" Dr. Augenstein's answer was that one result is an incentive to leave and to better their conditions.

Dr. Augenstein concluded his talk by pointing out that "we face a brutal choice: (1) either we change the whole fabric of society to accommodate the values of the ghetto or (2) we have to change the values of the Ghetto." He left his audience to ponder his question of the evening, "Whose values?"

Carl Harrington, president of the Century Club, presided. Members of the arrangements committee were: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heasley, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Peirce, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kleinhekel, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Plewes.

The next meeting of the Century Club will be held on Dec. 4 in the Commons Room of Western Theological Seminary.

The past year its sales amounted to $400,000,000. The local Lear-Siegler plant is a part of this wide and growing company.

Mr. Morski presented a film put out by Lear-Siegler which describes an Apollo moon trip. Since the tragic accident which took the lives of three astronauts, there have been many changes made in the Apollo space ship.

The ship is now sent into space by an initial thrust of seven and a half million pounds and is capable of a speed of 17,500 miles per hour. It orbits the moon at a height of 80 miles. Here the two sections separate. One continues to orbit the moon and the other descends to the surface of the moon. After completing some experimenting the landing section is sent back into space where it joins with the orbiting section back on earth.

Mr. Morski was introduced to the club by Mel VanTatenhove who had made the arrangements for the speaker. President H. Voogd presided.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Meeting In Stolp Home

Mrs. Ralph Stolp was hostess for the regular meeting of the Xi Beta Tau Exemplar chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held Monday evening in her home.

Mrs. Herb Johnson presided over the business meeting, and Mrs. Henry Mast, social chairman, revealed plans for a couple's party to be held Saturday evening. Mrs. Gordon Cunningham announced that there will be a Council-sponsored card party Nov. 30, and members were signed up to assist the committee with arrangements for the event.

Mrs. Jerome Hurtgen, who was in charge of the cultural program on France, chose as her topic, "The History of French Fashions." Paris has been regarded as the center of the fashion world since the time of Louis XIV, who required all to conform to his dictates in dress and other appointments, she said, but the unfailing genius of Parisian designers and the skill of superb craftsmen are among the many factors which account for its continued success in this field.

Mrs. Hurtgen traced the history of Paris designers from Charles Frederick Worth, who was the first great dressmaker to open a Paris Salon in 1858, through Poiret, Lanvin, Vionnet, Patou and Lucien Lelong, who designed fashions in the early 1900's, and Chanel, Mainbocher and Schiaparelli who opened their Salons prior to World War II.

In 1946, a new group of creators emerged, revitalizing the couture: Christian Dior, Pierre Balmain, Jacques Fath and Balenciaga designed the "New Look." In the late 1950's, Hubert de Givenchy and Yves St. Laurent gained recognition and Gabrielle Chanel was again acclaimed for her Chanel-look suits.

Mrs. Hurtgen highlighted her talk with photographs and sketches of the most popular fashions from earliest times through the latest 1967 Paris designs.

Dessert was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Turpin.

Rule Girl's Death By Strangulation

The body of an unidentified Negro girl who was found dead of strangulation last month was buried Friday in Blendon township cemetery, according to Ottawa County Det. Sgt. John Hemple.

Cause of death, which had been pending a pathologist's report since Oct. 20 when the body was found, was today ruled by strangulation. Ottawa county Sheriff Bernard Grysen received the report from Dr. Daniel Glazier of Kalamazoo shortly after 10 a.m. today.

The report said the girl was "rendered unconscious by blows to the head...cause of death is strangulation."

The partially-clad body of the girl was found by two pheasant hunters in a clump of woods. She had been dead from three to seven days before being discovered, doctors said.

SPLISH-SPLASH—Runners competing in the MIAA cross country meet on the Hope College campus Tuesday ran on a sloppy, snow-covered course. Adrian Captures MIAA Cross Country Crown

Adrian College captured its first MIAA cross country championship in 21 years Tuesday afternoon besting a seven team field on Hope College's Van Raalte campus course.

The winning Bulldogs, undefeated in dual meet competition, totaled 51 points. Next was Calvin with 62 points while Alma totaled 82, Kalamazoo 85, host Hope 104, Albion 107 and Olivet 196.

The cross country championship is determined by both dual meet standings and the order of finish in the conference meet. Adrian and Calvin remained one-two overall, but Albion, Hope and Kalamazoo slipped into a three-way tie for third. Alma finished sixth and Olivet was seventh.

Individual honors were won by Kalamazoo College sophomore John Wismer who had a clocking of 21:00, a fine time considering the condition of the snow-covered four mile course. Wismer, who did not lose a race against MIAA competition, was the league's most valuable player.

Alma freshman Don Yehle finished second at 21:03 followed by Tom Swihart of Adrian, James Admiraal of Calvin and Bob Zane of Adrian.

The first Hope runner across the finish line was Cal Osterhaven in eighth place. Next was Dick Bisson in 15th, Rick Bruggers in 19th, Wayne Meerman in 24th, Chris Haile in 38th and Jim Mattison in 42nd.

It was a disappointing finish for Bruggers who had lost only one race in MIAA competition. The Saginaw junior was bothered with a muscle pull in the leg.

Selected to the all-MIAA team were Wismer, Yehle, Admiraal, Bruggers and Swihart.

Adrian dethroned three-time champ Albion with a fine team performance as five runners were among the top 20 finishers. Behind Swihart and Zane were Wally Chany in 11th, Neal Kingsbury in 12th and Roger Kingsbury in 20th.

The last cross country championship for Adrian was in 1946.

Government Leaders Pay Tribute to Clare Hoffman

ALLEGAN — Michigan's officialdom turned out in force here Tuesday afternoon to say their farewells to a political maverick who never considered himself part of "the establishment."

But, among the Congressmen, the Lieutenant Governor, State Senators, Representatives, Judges and other officials who came to Allegan's First Congregational Church to honor the memory of Clare E. Hoffman, there was a scattering of farmers, working men and women and others of the sort who describe themselves as "ordinary citizens."

These were "Clare's people"—the kind he represented in 28 years as Congressman from Michigan's 4th district from 1935 to 1962 and, before that, as a tough trial lawyer.

Virtually every county of the "old fourth district" was represented in the church, but there were empty pews here and there, giving testimony to the fact that the 92-year-old Congressman had outlived most of his friends and many of his foes.

With the exception of the three grandsons and grandson-in-laws—who served as pallbearers—many of the immediate family listened to the Rev. Andrew Lemke's eulogy in a room just off the church auditorium.

In the church itself were many members of the former Congressman's "official family" including four who had served as members of his staff for many years. This group included Miss Helen Boyer, his secretary for nearly all of his years in Washington; Mrs. Helen Bender, Mrs. A. G. Schultz and Mrs. Ruth McDonald. Mrs. Bender and Mrs. Schultz continued on as members of the staff of present

Rep. Edward Hutchinson. Miss Boyer retired recently after 30 years of Congressional staff service and now lives in Allegan. Mrs. McDonald is also an Allegan resident, having married Attorney Fred McDonald, a partner in the Hoffman law firm.

Cong. H. R. Gross, of Iowa, another lone wolf in the House of Representatives and a longtime friend of Hoffman, accompanied Rep. and Mrs. Hutchinson.

Li. Governor William Milliken—as acting Governor—led the official delegation from Lansing. Former State Republican Chairman John Feikens—with whom Hoffman had feuded more than once—also attended. Circuit Judges Archie McDonald of Hastings, Raymond L. Smith of Holland, and Chester A. Ray of Allegan, plus retired Judge Fred T. Miles of Holland, attended, along with virtually the entire membership of the Allegan County Bar Association.

They heard the Rev. Lemke say that the veteran lawmaker had "lived generously and served faithfully."

They heard him read Hoffman's favorite chapter from the Bible—Chapter 13, I Corinthians—the one which begins with "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal" and ends with "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

The Rev. Lemke also read Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," a poem which had been intoned at the funeral of Hoffman's father, a Constantine blacksmith and carriage-maker.

Burial was in Allegan's Oakwood Cemetery.

Tuition To Increase At College

An increase in tuition effective with the first semester of the 1968-69 academic year was announced today by Hope College officials.

Tuition will be increased $100 a semester according to Henry Steffens, treasurer and vice president for finance.

"An expanded faculty and greater educational offerings together with inflationary pressure make this increase mandatory," Steffens said.

"In arriving at this decision the administrative officers and the Board of Trustees carefully studied and reviewed the problem. Our decision is that Hope College must increase its operating funds if it is to continue its present educational standards and enlarge its offerings. The tuition rate also was compared with other distinguished colleges with whom we are academically associated and our tuition rates are lower than any of them. The cost of educational opportunities on this campus are still reasonably priced."

The change will increase the tuition to $1,250 a year. College officials do not contemplate increases in room and board charges. Charges for tuition, room and board and an activities fee during the 1968-69 academic year will total $2,110.

Even with the increase, Hope maintains the lowest tuition charge of any of the 12 member Great Lakes Colleges Association schools. Comparative figures show Albion College with a $1,500 yearly tuition charge, Earlham $1,830, Washburn $1,750, De Pauw $1,650, Denison $1,800, Kenyon $1,965, Ohio Wesleyan $1,700, Oberlin $1,850, Wooster $1,700, and Kalamazoo $1,480.

"During the course of the past several years, our efforts at fund raising have been expanded and intensified and it is only the generosity of our alumni and friends that has kept the increases in tuition from being even larger," Steffens said.

"Our Trustees are pledged to the policy of continuing efforts to increase the support of Hope College on an ever broadening base. By their aggressive action in the fund raising program, they are providing a firm foundation for the future strength of the college."

"At the same time the trustees have reaffirmed their commitment to maintain the scholarship - grant - work opportunity program. This program will enable qualified and deserving needy students to receive a good education at Hope College. Accordingly, the board approved a substantial increase in aid to students eligible for such assistance. We trust that no student will be denied the excellent education Hope College affords because of lack of funds."

Clare E. Hoffman Succumbs at 92

ALLEGAN — Clare E. Hoffman, 92, who served as Michigan's 4th district Congressman for 28 years, died at 11:15 p.m. Friday in Allegan Health Center of pneumonia and cardiac complications.

It was just six years ago on Nov. 8, 1961, when he suffered a stroke while driving alone to a favorite duck hunting spot on Kalamazoo River near New Richmond. A second stroke early in 1962 made it clear he would be unable to round out 30 years in Congress.

In 1962, his seat in Congress was taken over by Edward

Clare E. Hoffman

Hutchinson of Fennville who had worked in Hoffman's law office in Allegan.

Surviving are the wife, Florence; two sons, Leo and Carl, both Allegan attorneys; five grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday from Allegan Congregational Church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. Friends may call at Gordon funeral home.

Hoffman was born Sept. 10, 1875, in Vicksburg, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hoffman, a Pennsylvania-Dutch couple who said their first "American" ancestor was a Hessian soldier brought here to fight the British in the Revolution. The father was a wagon maker and blacksmith, and in the 1880s he moved his family to Constantine in St. Joseph County in Michigan.

In his early teens Hoffman was apprenticed to a country doctor and his duties often included calling on some chronically ill patients. After graduating from Constantine High School, he enrolled in Northwestern University's medical school. He soon transferred to law school but neglected to tell his parents until he returned home for Christmas.

He was 20 when he graduated from Northwestern, too young by a year to be admitted to the bar. He spent the year of waiting at Valparaiso University, studying shorthand and other business subjects.

After being admitted to practice law in Michigan, he opened an office in Otsego which had no attorney, but business was none too good and a year later he accepted a position as clerk in the law office of Charles Wilkes, then Allegan's leading attorney, working 11-hour work days at $6 a week. He worked for Wilkes for four years receiving pay increases of $2 a week each year until 1903 when he was made a partner in the firm.

The next year he left Allegan to gain wider experience by working for a Muskegon firm of attorneys for a year and then returned to open his own office in Allegan.

Hoffman was unsuccessful in his first bid for political office, being defeated in the primaries as a candidate for prosecuting attorney. He had better luck in 1904 when he was elected to the first of two terms as prosecutor.

In 1912 the young country lawyer was among thousands of Michigan Republicans who bolted the party to follow Theodore Roosevelt's Progressive Party. Hoffman's candidacy suffered the same fate as TR's, probably marking the last time that a Hoffman and a Roosevelt ever had anything in common.

During the next 22 years, Hoffman kept his hand in local politics but was too busy building sharp-witted, sharp-tongued trial lawyer to seek office. His reputation for winning large judgments in medical cases extended beyond state lines.

His early cases against unethical horse traders caused confidence men to give Allegan County a wide berth, and his cases against unethical real estate dealers, then selling worthless burned - over timberland west of Allegan to unwary Chicagoans, led to repercussions in which he was at one time or another sued by every real estate dealer in Allegan County.

By 1934 he had defended and prosecuted murderers, horse thieves, wife beaters, rapists, bank robbers and even the operator of a nudist colony.

Running for Congress was farthest from his mind in 1934 although he had been a most vocal and vituperative critic of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal ever since the Democratic landslide of 1932. He was actually drafted as a candidate and was in Muskegon trying a malpractice case when his nominating petitions were circulated and filed.

After he defeated his Democratic incumbent in the 1934 election, Hoffman was not so sure he wanted to go to Washington after all. His son Leo recalls the consternation shared by family and friends as the day for swearing-in came closer and closer and Hoffman seemed to be making no preparations to leave for Washington. It took the combined efforts of family, friends and political affiliates to convince him he had to go to Washington.

That probably was the last time anyone had the least difficulty getting him to the capital. It became his favorite battleground, yet he never was afflicted with "Pontiac Fever." He never attended a capital cocktail party or took a "distant" congressional "inspection tour" to far-off countries. Friends say he spent "27 years in Washington without changing his old habits... or his mind."

In an era when togetherness became an unofficial national motto, Hoffman stood out like an eagle in a tree full of starlings. A man to whom rugged individualism was almost a religion, he took pride in such things as the briefest (five lines) biographical sketch in the Congressional Directory, wearing suits without pockets (a throwback to his trial lawyer days when he had his suits made that way to cure himself of putting his hands in his pockets) and the unsuccessful efforts of big labor and leftist organizations to defeat him at the polls.

On his arrival in Washington, Hoffman announced he was there for the "sole purpose of denouncing the New Deal" and he soon found an effective weapon in a little-known House rule which permitted members to talk for one minute on any subject, before each day's session. Virtually every day that Congress was in session during the Roosevelt era, Hoffman made a one-minute speech against the New Deal.

Within five years, Hoffman had House Democrats so mad they tried to link him with an alleged home-grown "fascist conspiracy," but no one was able to show that he had been guilty of anything but "speaking his own mind."

Feuds with Water Winchell and Drew Pearson, the columnists, and with the Washington Post helped to make him famous at one time or another. He sued all three for libel.

Elected to 14 terms in Congress by pluralities which ran as high as 78 per cent of the total vote, Hoffman had a knack of turning political liabilities into assets. He frequently recalled the campaign year in which a county GOP organization passed the word forbidding members to either support Hoffman or contribute to his campaign... that was the year he received his largest majority from that particular county.

As a "lone wolf" he realized no important piece of legislation would ever bear his name as author, but he played a large part in drafting the armed forces unification act and the Taft-Hartley labor law, tempering his pride in those accomplishments with frequent comment that "both sides fell far short of what was needed."

He received personal citations from ex-Presidents Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover for his work in drafting and supporting government reorganization bills which resulted from the work of the Hoover Commission.

Unknown to anyone but his immediate family, Hoffman was a diabetic most of his adult life. But no one ever noticed that the disease handicapped him in any way.

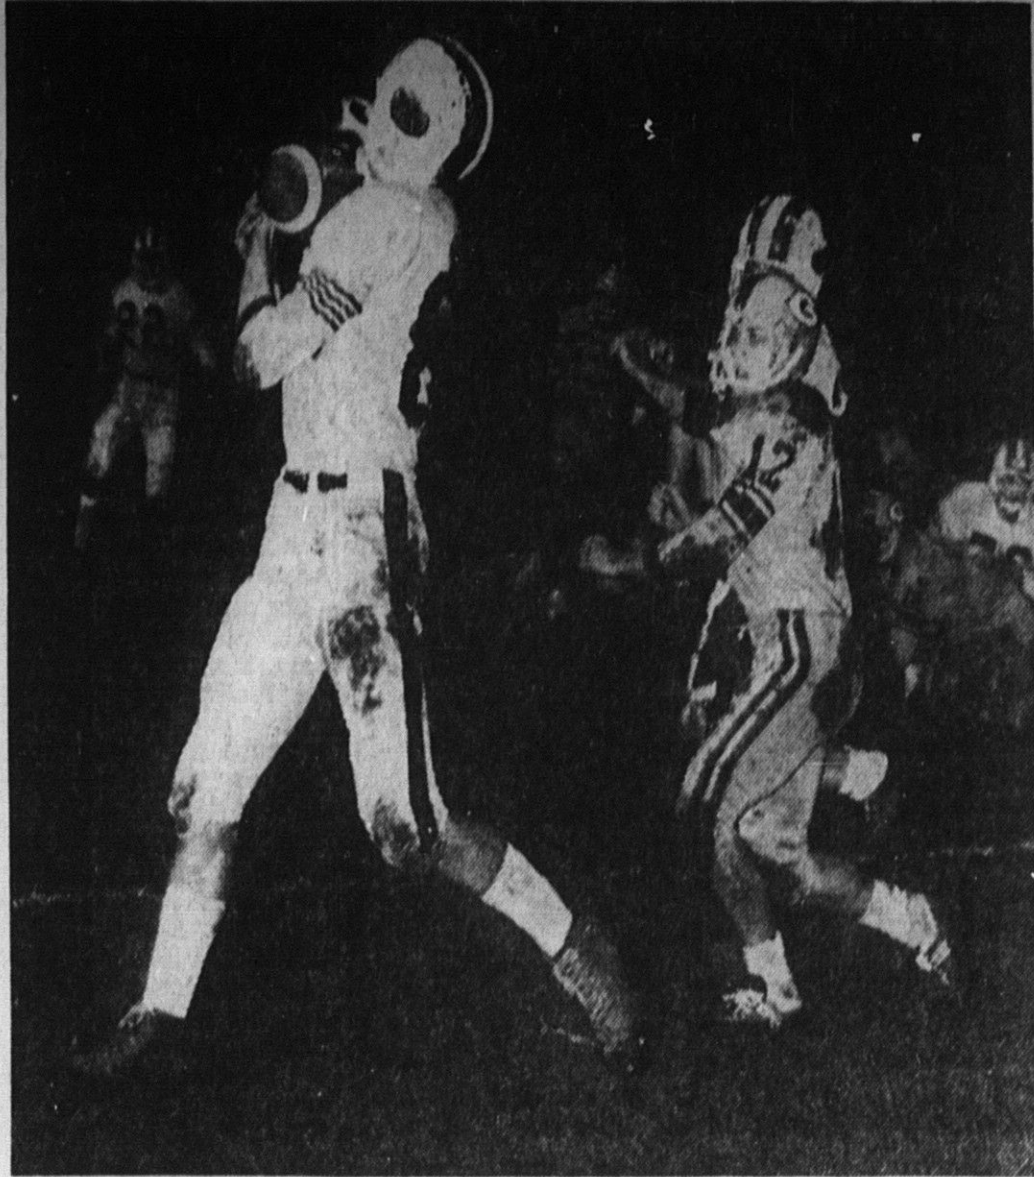

Before his stroke, he buzzed cord wood for his hunting cabin with a chain saw and got up at dawn to go duck hunting every chance he got. He was an enthusiastic fisherman as well, ranking the trout caught near his hideaway at Grand Marais in Michigan's upper peninsula as the greatest game fish of all.

Hoffman attributed his political success to being a "fundamental Republican" and never ignoring an individual's request for help, regardless of his political affiliations.

Michigan's 4th district's "ornery exponent of justice" had his share of criticism from the nation's press but the two accolades he prized most were from two publications which represented conservative and radical extremes. The Leftist Weekly "PM" now defunct and the ultra-conservative Detroit Athletic Club News both summed up stories on Hoffman with virtually the same comment: "You don't hear Clare E. Hoffman when he speaks in Congress... you hear the voice of his people."

Dutch Win 12-0; 5th League Win

WYOMING — Holland High's football team literally slid past Grandville Friday night, 12-0 and assured the Dutch of at least second place in the Valley-Coast Conference, pending the outcome of next week's game between league leaders, Grand Haven and Orchard View.

Grand Haven now holds a 5-0-1 mark after tying East Grand Rapids, 0-0 Friday night. The muddy Wyoming Rogers field presented a major obstacle for both teams, with the Bulldogs committing the greater share of game errors.

Two Bulldog fumbles set up the Holland scoring plays. With 4:19 remaining in the first half Grandville fumbled on their own 15. Steve Klingenberg, recovered the ball for Holland. On second and six at the 11-yard line, fullback Mark Bonnette broke through at left tackle and scampered into the end zone. A bad snap from center prevented the Dutch from getting the ball up for the conversion attempt, giving Holland a 6-0 halftime lead.

A similar play with 5:03 remaining in the final period set up Holland's second tally. Ken Essenberg recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Grandville 18. The Bulldogs had gained possession only two plays before their fumble as the Dutch had failed to make a fourth down attempt.

On third and seven, senior quarterback Chip Ridenour lofted a ten yard pass to Dave Gosselar in the end zone. A pass attempt for the point after also failed.

Holland controlled the ball for most of the game and the defensive unit impeded the usually effective passing attack of Grandville. The Dutch held Grandville to minus three yards rushing in the first half.

The Dutch still encountered difficulty connecting on their pass plays as Ridenour hit on only five of 20 attempts.

The first quarter was marked with three 15-yard penalties, two for holding which hindered the Dutch attack considerably. After the first penalty the Dutch lost the ball on downs, and on the second penalty the Dutch fumbled. On the next play with Grandville in possession, Holland was given another 15-yard penalty for tackling facemasks.

The Bulldogs had possession of the ball four times in the second period but lost it on downs twice, a fumble and a pass interception which ended the half.

Grandville never penetrated deeper than the Holland 14 and even then was never a real scoring threat as they lost the ball on downs midway in the third period.

Coach Dave Kempker, especially pleased with his team's fourth straight win, noted that his team played "controlled ball most of the way." "We were in trouble defensively only once. Offensively we couldn't score but our defense played an exceptional game," Kempker said.

"The field was in terrible shape which hurt us, but we still had fine offensive blocking. Bonnette played a good defensive game. Steve Klingenberg also played a good game," Kempker noted.

Bill Cobb was Holland's only injured player as he suffered a cut knee.

Next Friday the Dutch travel to Godwin for a game at 7:30 p.m. Holland is now 5-1 in the league and is 5-2-1 overall.

Zeeland Loses To Northview

GRAND RAPIDS — Northview spoiled the hopes of at least a share of the league championship with Kelloggsville for Zeeland's football team as the Chix were defeated, 14-12 here Friday night.

Zeeland will take third place in the Ottawa-Kent league Blue Division with a record of 3-2-1. Kelloggsville placed first with a 4-2-1 record just ahead of Northview who had a 4-2-0 record.

The Chix' offense could only penetrate to the Wildcat 17-yard line in the first quarter.

Fritz Anderson scored on an up-the-middle run from the five-yard line for Northview in the second quarter. The extra point kick was good.

The first penalty of the game was made by Northview in the fourth quarter with 8:41 on the clock. The penalty was for illegal procedure.

Panthers Drop 26-0 League Game

Unbeaten Godwin completed a sweep of the O-K Blue Division football race here Friday night as they crushed West Ottawa, 26-0 in the mud at the West Ottawa Field.

The victory was Godwin's sixth straight in league play and eighth this season. The Wolverines close the season next Friday hosting Holland in a non-league game.

West Ottawa's setback gave the Panthers a 2-4 league mark for fifth place. The Panthers have a 4-4 season's mark and close play next Friday night at Zeeland in a non-league contest.

Godwin scored three times in the second quarter and added the final touchdown in the third period. West Ottawa's deepest penetration in the game was to the Godwin 22 in the first period.

A 25-yard pass from quarterback Jose Hernandez to end Art Cantu gave the Wolverines their first touchdown. The screen pass came one play after Godwin had taken over on the Panthers' 36.

With six minutes left in the period, quarterback Jim Visser had a punt blocked and Godwin got the ball on the West Ottawa five yard line. Two plays later halfback Dave Weidenfeller scored on a five-yard dive. Gary Harmsen converted.

Later in the quarter, fullback Roger Olson picked off a West Ottawa fumble and rumbled 55 yards to score. Harmsen kicked the extra point to give Godwin a 20-0 halftime lead.

The touchdown came after West Ottawa had taken the kickoff and moved to their own 45. With a fourth and four, the Panthers gambled and completed a Visser to Scott Bruursema 10-yard pass for a first down. But the fumble came on the next play.

In the third quarter Godwin took a West Ottawa punt on its own 46. Hernandez, back to pass, found everyone covered and succeeded in weaving 54 yards through the West Ottawa defense to yardline.

Most of the second half the Panthers were in their own territory. Late in the game, with the ball on their own 16, Visser completed a 43-yard pass to halfback Greg Dalman. But the drive was squelched and West Ottawa was forced to kick.

The final home game was Mom and Dad's Day for the parents of the West Ottawa team. The parents were introduced at halftime and feted at a team lunch in the home economics room following the game.

Hope-Albion Game Won't Be Played

The Hope-Albion football game, postponed last Saturday because of poor weather and field conditions, can not be rescheduled under MIAA rules, Gordon Brewer, Hope Athletic Director said today.

The game was not played because of poor conditions at Riverview Park and the decision resulted from the mutual agreement of officials from both schools Brewer said.

Rain fell almost every day in Holland last week making it impossible to repair the Riverview Park field which was already muddied during the Hope-Kalamazoo game on Oct. 28.

However, an examination of Riverview Park by the Hope staff late Friday indicated that the field was at least playable. This condition prevailed until mid-morning Saturday at which time several inches of wet snow fell in a short period of time necessitating the cancellation in the best interest of the players involved. At this point the Albion team had already left for Holland and could not be informed before their arrival.

MIAA rules will not allow an athletic event to be rescheduled if the contest is postponed after the visiting team has already left for the game site. The MIAA ruling also effects the Hope-Albion cross country meet which was not held because of the weather.

The committee awarded $2,000 awards to sopranos Constanza Cuccaro, 23, of Iowa City, Iowa, and Sakiko Kanamori, 28, of New York. A third prize of $500 was given mezzo soprano Paula Page, 25, of Jackson, Miss.
