The rural post offices discontinued in Ottawa are New Groningen, Noordelos, North Holland, Crisp, Olive Centre, Ottawa Station, Ventura and Port Sheldon and in Allegan county, May, East Holland Gibson and Graafschap. Friday was the annual final payday at the Heinz plant here. The amount received by the farmers of the territory covered by the plant was well over $20,000. Refreshments were served by the managing staff as has been the custom for some years. This year payments have been made direct by check from Pittsburg. Three pay days are held, one in the middle of the season, one at the end and the final one held Friday.

Superintendent of Public Works James De Young, is wearing a smile that wont come off all on account of a visit from his brother, Samuel, who he had not seen for 35 years. When a boy, his brother followed the advice of Horace Greeley and went west, and for 20 years was not heard from. Samuel now is a prosperous rancher and cattle raiser in northern Montana and took occasion to look up his relatives when in Chicago with a shipment of cattle.—Detroit Free Press.

Joseph Warner, the veteran artist from Holland, was in the city today making arrangements for putting on an exhibition of his pictures. Mr. Warner works both in water colors and oils and has a huge collection of pictures. He occasionally puts on exhibits in Holland and they are always warmly received. Mr. Warner has done a great deal of excellent portrait work but most of his time has been devoted to landscapes. Included in his collections are scenes around Holland and Grand Haven, Mr. Warner having been here on sketching tours many times. A trip to Mr. Warner's home in Holland is considered one of the best of treats for those who love pictures.—Grand Haven Tribune.

On November 27 there will be a total eclipse of the moon, and will be visible in Holland providing the weather man permits

P. Brayton, State Regent is back of the movement.

The Allegan postoffice was wrecked last Friday night by the exploding of the heating boiler in the basement. No one was hurt although several employees and citizens were in the building at the time. Two plate glass windows were blown out, a hole was torn through the first floor, the heating apparatus was wrecked, too much water in the boiler was given as the cause of the explosion.

Ill luck seems to pursue the family of Bert Van Patten of Zeeland, three of the children being under the doctor's care as the result of accidents. Their 9 year-old child suffered crushed fingers, caught in the gearing of a washer which the mother was operating. Another child fell down the cellar steps, striking upon his head on the cement floor, while a third was severely burned. The family is in destitute circumstances.

The Teachers Social Club held their initial party Friday night in Century Club rooms. The hall was gaily decorated with autumn foliage and fruits. Festivities were inaugurated by a fire march, played by Miss Nell Tracy. About fifty teachers were in the line, lights were low, and the joss sticks, swinging through the figures of the march made a weird sight, Madame Human—Shriek rendered an ambitious aria. Madame Deurvia's Dancing Darlings and the Oriental fire swallow won their share of applause. A tableau by Prin Stevenson and several teachers depicting loves allurements, closed the evenings program.

Western Michigan nursery men report an unprecedented sale of young apple trees and indications point to the fact that the immediate future will witness a large and steady development of commercial apple raising in the famous fruit belt, extending through several counties. Pennville orchards netted this year their owners nearly $300,000 and produced a crop of apples variously estimated at 75,000 to 100,000 barrels. Most of the crop was sold on the trees. Orchards which formerly sold for a song are now valued at fabulous prices and are yielding their owners in some instances $500 an acre and upwards. It is reported on good authority that one orchard of 80 acres in Allegan county was recently sold for $20,000 and the purchaser expects to double his double his money within the next 5 years.

Albert Steenstra of Grand Rapids who was murdered in Vevay, Ind. at a hotel by a supposed friend with whom he had a quarrel the night before was formerly an employee of Tom Tilma, foreman of the Holland City News when Mr. Tilma was proprietor of the Ivy Press at Grand Rapids. Steenstra was struck on the head with a blunt instrument and never regained consciousness.

On a petition filed by her husband Supervisor Hubert Pelgrim of Olive township, Mrs. Dirkje Pelgrim was judged insane by Probate Judge Kirby and ordered committed to the asylum at Kalamazoo. The case is a pitiable one, the wife being rational on most subjects but having a hallucination that her husband and oldest son are trying to poison her with parist green. On this account she refuses to eat.

At the annual election Monday evening held by the congregation of the Third Ref. church the result was as follows: the retiring elders, E. VanderVeen and P. Gunst were re-elected and John Pessink was elected elder for the full term and John Du Mez for one year. The deacons whose terms expired were John Pessink, H. VanArk and Wm. E. Van Dyke. Both VanArk and VanDyke were re-elected and Benj. DuMez was elected deacon to fill the vacancy caused by the election of J. Pessink as elder.

Gill Vogel, a string butcher operating was arrested Tuesday by Deputy United States Marshal Ed. O'Donnell of Grand Rapids and arraigned before Commissioner Charles J. Potter upon the charge that he had violated the interstate commerce act. Vogel gave bail in the sum of $200 and will appear for trial at the March term of the federal court. The specific offense alleged against Vogel is that he is claimed to have shipped March 19 last some immature calves, the same being unfit for human consumption. The shipment was made from Holland to Chicago to Watterman and Koehling. He was indicted by the October federal grand jury.

Arrested on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Orlo and Frank Doolittle, a counter charge was promptly made by John Flieman and now the entire trio who engaged in a fight last Friday night on River street will be tried on the same charge before Justice Vander Meulen. Stories of the affray differ materially, but at all events the Doolittle brothers appeared before Vander Meulen Saturday and swore out a warrant for a Flieman, who was arraigned before the justice, pleaded not guilty. Flieman then told his story and swore out the warrants for the pair. The justice set the trial of all three for Friday afternoon and then the interesting tangle will be thrashed out. In the meantime all three are at liberty on their own recognizance.

Will Be Laid Thanksgiving Day

The cornerstone of the new city hall will be laid here Thanksgiving day. The stone will be of Vermont granite and will bear three dates—1847, the year of the founding of the city; 1867, the year of incorporation and 1909, marking the date of the laying of the cornerstone. It has been decided that the oldest inhabitant of Holland shall lay the cornerstone and a hunt is now being made for this man. There will be speeches made by Congressmen Diekema and others.

Alderman Vantongeren was found absent at the roll-call. A petition to grade between Fairbanks and Van Raalte was referred to the committee on street and cross walks. Alderman Jellema presented a petition in regard to the moving of buildings within the city limits. He presented a clause to be incorporated requiring the written consent of two thirds of the property owners in the block of the proposed site of any building before it can be moved. Referred to the ordinance committee. A bowling alley permit was granted to Tim Slagh. Attorney C. H. McBride next appeared before the council and presented several arguments against the removal of the Methodist church to Ninth street. Damage possibility resulting to the pavement was a most potent cause for a refusal of the permit. It was determined to establish a grade on E. 8th St. Thanks, giving morning at 8 a. m. All bills against the city were allowed. Alderman Jellema called attention to needed surface drainage at crossings on College at 17th and 24th streets. Inspectors recommended that the sidewalk assessment against Mr. Price stand accepted. The old question about boiler insurance was again raised but was settled for at least some time, since the council allowed the bill covering this years premium with the Hartford Co. Engineer Naberhuis recommended the grading of 13 and 14 streets. The one remaining bond at Geo. Rickman Sons, the City Hall contractors, was accepted. Mayor Brussee and Cong. Diekema were appointed delegates to the Internal Waterway Convention at Washington D. C. to be held December 8 to 10, 1909. The City Attorney was instructed to investigate the feasibility of opening 14th and 15th streets between Lincoln and Fairbanks avenues. From 8 30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. were designated as hours for tax collection. Alderman Jellema offered a resolution to abate the pouring of water from eaves onto side walks within 30 days notice passed. The resolution to place a fire alarm box at College and 28th was lost. The resolution to reconsider the granting of a permit to move the north side church was referred to next meeting. The much discussed smoke ordinance was lost by a tie vote. Mayor Brussee voting nay in the deciding vote. A large delegation of First ward housewives chaperoned by 'Pa Kleis' added zest to the discussion. One of the Tea Rusk manufactures read an offer to locate in Marshall, in case matters result adversely here. The vote last night was really only a "feeler", and the matter rests, pending farther investigation. Adjournment to Executive session.

Bill Harkema was arrested Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Deputy Irving for refusing to pay his fare on the interurban. He was enroute from Grand Rapids to Holland. When the car reached here he was locked up in the city bastille. He had several quarts of excess baggage aboard. Histrical will be Monday.

Stanton will be allowed to get on his back to be initiated in the New Holland Saturday Evening Club. The chief of the fire department will be present to keep the goat cool with iced water.

The beet crop in this vicinity has not been up to the average on account of the copious rains last spring. Nearly the whole crop in this vicinity has been harvested and of two thirds already at the factory. Potatoes are plentiful and corn an average crop. Saugatuck

Material is on the ground with which to lengthen out the river boat New Richmond, making it 16 feet longer. This change will allow her to carry about twice as many passengers as at present, and as larger engines will be put into her her present speed will be maintained.

Since the new cut has been put through there seems to have been considerable change in the depth of the water in the river, at the ferry it is considerably lower and at the old mouth one can now walk across to the lighthouse as it is no longer on an island. The water between here and upper end of Indian cut was recently sounded and in no place was there found to be less than a depth of four feet, the water in the old channel is quite shallow.

The Saugatuck Improvement Co. has sold a lot on the continuation of Mason street just East of Mrs. Ida Brown's home to Mr. Batey of Ganges who will build there. A good deal of work is being done on this new addition in grading the lots. The company will build a house soon.

Darwin and Wallace.

In 1858 Wallace sent to Darwin a paper in which he sketched the outlines of a theory identical with that upon which Darwin had so long been at work. The same sequences that led Darwin to the discovery of natural selection and its consequences had led Wallace to the very threshold of the same discovery; but in Mr. Wallace's mind the theory had by no means been wrought out to the same degree of completeness to which it had been wrought in the mind of Mr. Darwin.

Won't Slight a Good Friend

"If ever I need a cough medicine again I know what to get," declares Mrs. A. L. Alley of Brals, Me., "for after using ten bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery, and seeing its excellent results in my own family and others, I am convinced it is the best medicine made for Coughs, Colds and lung trouble." Everyone who tries it feels just that way. Relief is felt at once and its quick cure surprises you. Temptations of Evil.

Leisure misused, an idle hour waiting to be employed, idle hands with no occupation, idle and empty minds with nothing to think of—these are the main temptations of evil. Fill up that empty void, employ those vacant hours, occupy those listless hands, and evil will depart because it has no place to enter in, because it is conquered by good.—Dean Stanley.

Woman's Latest Conquest.

Sea otter has been requisitioned for the adornment of fashionable feminine attire. Heretofore it has been exclusively reserved for the use of men, no doubt on account of its weight and durability.

THE OLD and NEW THANKSGIVING BY EARL MARBLE

In olden days, when the land was young,
At least to its modern generations,
And before the country by patriots sung
Had become the chief among the nations,
Thanksgiving Day, which had its birth
Among the Pilgrim folk, so staid and sturdy,
Was a "week-day Sabbath," free from mirth,
And ne'er profaned by hardy-gurdy.

'Twas celebrated in those days,
With one thought, and with one thought only,
To give to God his meed of praise
For watching o'er his people lonely,
That he had given to them his grace,
And caused the earth to yield its dower,
That they might live, and keep in pace
With him in godliness and power.

What though sometimes the while the day
Crest on their mead an empty ladder,
Did they forget to sing and pray?
They only sang and prayed the harder,
God sent on ravens' wings of old
Food when the skies were dark and murky,
And to New England's chosen fold
He sent the plump Thanksgiving turkey.

The turkeys flew through skies of gray,
And on crisp boughs of oak-trees rested,
Or sought ming leaves where acorns lay,
The food which Nature had invested,
And doughty Standish, Alden, and
Ben Elder Brewster, quoth Dane Plumer,
Bagged turkeys in the frost of day,
As hunger found them in the number.

As the years rolled on, Thanksgiving Day,
In the Plymouth Colony dense wooded
Became the typical holiday,
'Mong the Pilgrims helmeted and hooded,
And from those dear old colony times
The seed thus sown in many phases
Has spread all things in many climes
Is given in hearty songs and praises.

Thanksgiving Day, when hearts and homes
Give thanks for all earth's varied blessings,
And the wanderer, where'er he roams,
Returns for olden days' caressings,
And knows, as he hears the old farm-house,
And hears the turkeys' "glou" and "gobble,"
That joy is his, though clothed in blouse,
And to the door he scarce can hobble.

Thanksgiving Day, the day of days,
When all who have New-England training
Know that amid November grays
The Christlike spirit e'er is reigning,
And hearts to its old-time content
From worldly sorrows e'er are turning,
While sinful souls, to earth-life lent,
Fain for the heavenly rest are yearning.

Thanksgiving Day, in many things,
Though far away from ancient moorings,
The soul today 'ast prays and sings,
Finds modern tendencies alluring,
Though it was born in days, a stere,
To keep in touch with life and living,
And warns today with merry cheer
Guzzle for the old and new Thanksgiving!

SOME THOUGHTS

FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Not long ago a little girl was asked by another little girl what she usually did on Thanksgiving day. "I eat all I can hold of good things," was her quick reply. "That's a pity," remarked her questioner, "for it doubtless makes you ill, and does nobody good. Now, I enjoy a good dinner, too, but I eat in moderation. And I carry a basket of nice things to some poor sick person who otherwise might not get any Thanksgiving dinner."

If every child who has a good home and plenty to eat on Thanksgiving day would remember the words of the thoughtful and kind-hearted little girl quoted above there would be cause for much rejoicing and thankfulness on the day that we all look forward to with so much anticipation. But it is a fact, sad to relate, that too many persons—not merely children, but grown-ups as well—think of Thanksgiving merely as a day of feasting—I might say of gorging. Parents make the mistake of not reminding their children of the needy poor whose tables are without the good things to eat on that day of all days when plenty is supposed to be in every home. If the children of every well-to-do family would take it upon themselves to ask their mother for a basket of well-prepared and wholesome food to carry to some poor family—where otherwise there might be no Thanksgiving cheer—the day would indeed be one deserving of the name given it. And on the same day they might carry to some poor sick person a bouquet of flowers and a nice warm garment or a pair of slippers. Any little deed of kindness to the unfortunate will enrich your own pleasures for the day and make you feel more deserving of the plenty that has fallen to your lot.

Remember the poor, the unhappy, the sick, is a good motto for every child to pin over his dresser mirror a few days before Thanksgiving. And when the day arrives he'll find such joy in the knowledge that he is making some one else happier by his kindness. Just try it, boys and girls.

The batting of the locals was, however, good. The final score stood 14-7 favor Internurbans. Batteries were Interurbans - Peterson, Shouten, Alabastines - Morrissey, McCarty, Numan. The feature of the game was an unassisted triple play by Second Baseman Gore of the Alabastines. First and second were occupied when Gore caught a liner tagged out the runner from first to second and then touched second, thus putting out three men. About 150 spectators witnessed the game.

Circuit Court Notes

In the case of the People vs. Wm. Carter charged with assault with intent to kill, the case was nolle prossed and the prisoner was released. The incident resulting in Carters arrest caused much excitement at the county seat last summer. Ida Kerfuit had the warrant issued. In her charge she claimed that she was attacked by Carter and cut about the thighs with a razor. Carter maintained from the first that the cutting was an accident, an lit was evident that the woman would back up the his story. Therefore the case against him was withdrawn. They were, however, arraigned, charged with lewd and lascivious cohabitation. Judge Padgham's desire was to help them and keep them apart. Carter was given a sentence of one year at Ionia and Ida Kerfuit was sent to Detroit for a year.

This morning at the jail the prisoner still insisted that he cut the woman by accident. In substance Carter's story of the affair is as follows: Carter had hired out at the shop a short time before and as the proprietor was away, he thought he would hone up his razors Sunday afternoon for Monday. While he was stropping a razor, Ida Kerfuit came up and leaned over the barber chair to which the strop was attached. Carter states that the razor slipped in his hand and cut the woman. Carter says he ran immediately for a doctor and at-

The De Feyter Family.

For the Holland City News.

The past week marked the separation of the old trio of the De Feyter brothers, so well known here. Peter, one of the few remaining veterans of the Civil war, has moved to Anderson, Missouri, to make his future home. Owing to the many hard knocks of the long campaign while with Sherman in his march to the sea and his long strenuous struggles as a sailor, which are fast telling on him now, he wishes to escape the rigor of our northern winters. Peter and Arnold, the oldest, have the distinction of being the only two alive of all the old crews of sailors that sailed from here before the war, when Holland harbor was in its infancy and navigation was difficult. They are also the only men left of that noble crew of heroes that rescued the half frozen crew of eight men and one woman, from the grain barge Delaware in Dec. 1871, when she was driven ashore near this place in one of the worst storms that ever swept the shores of Lake Michigan. With a partly smashed yawl boat, which washed ashore from the vessel, these two brothers successfully carried on probably the most daring feat of seamanship ever displayed on the east shores of Lake Michigan, in saving human lives. Owing to the intense cold and fierce gale, any slight mistake or mishap meant certain death to all.

Later Jacob, the youngest of the brothers, also performed a wonderful feat of life saving, after all hope had been abandoned. A young man fell head first into the lake from Harrington's dock at the foot of 5th St. and remained fast in the mud. Jake was called to the scene and immediately began diving and finally found the boy's foot sticking out of the mud in the deepest part of the lake. He brought him to the surface with no sign of life left. Being well posted (owing to three years service in the U. S. life saving service) he immediately began the most approved methods of resuscitation and after a long struggle the dormant spark of life awoke and the boy, although in a critical condition, began to breathe and is a strong husky man today.

Arnold, the oldest of the brothers who is nearing the 70 year mark, has Hadden made the first touchdown after a 50 yard run. Another was secured by Benton Harbor before the end of the first half. In the second half Benton Harbor made another touchdown and a field goal from placement, thus ending the game at 18 to 5, in favor of the collegians. Two more games are on the locals' schedule, Kalamazoo High and Lansing High.

The attic of the Central School building has been transformed into a gymnasium and the first game of basketball will be played Friday evening with Hope College. The girls of the school have also organized a club and are doing some hard practicing.

The Limberts were decisively defeated last night by the Holland Shoes at indoor baseball by the score of 26 to 2. The batteries for the shoes were R. Peterson and Ben Batema and for Limberts Vos, Slocum and Vick. Peterson got 16 strikeouts and allowed only 4 hits. Slocum and Vos allowed 31 hits and got only 4 strikeouts.

The Gunn Furniture factory and the Interurbans will crossbats Friday evening.

The Interurban indoor base ball team opened its winter schedule by an exciting game against the Al-tempted to secure assistance as soon as possible.

The prisoner is the son of a well known colored man in Grand Rapids, and he, himself has run a barber shop in the Valley City. The father is considered well to do and he has aided his son in this trouble.

John Bauman, charged with attempt to commit rape, was found guilty by the jury. The case was a hard fought verbal battle between Prosecutor Coburn and Attorney Phelps, who redressed Bauman. The complainant in the case was Kate Hoogerheide of Reno, where the convicted man runs a saloon. Testimony offered showed that the pair had been engaged. Then they heard ugly stories and went to break the engagement. It was then in Bauman's rooms the crime was committed. No notice of appeal Bauman appeals his case to the supreme court.

Edward Reiley of Grand Haven received sentence yesterday being sent to Jackson prison for a period of not less three or more than ten years, for assault upon Edward Van Dorpel.

probably traveled and seen more of the world than anyone about here. He has felt the hard knocks of life on both fresh and salt waters, on long voyages around the world, in life in the woods, on the Australian and New Zealand gold field and on the sheep and cattle ranch. And although not quite as spry and muscular as formerly, would still make it very interesting for much younger men on a little 50 or 100 mile walk. Walking and hunting deer and bear are still his favorite sport. Jacob still leads a very busy life, full of active responsibility. These men are representative of one of the oldest pioneer families of the Dutch settlement here. They have each raised large families of strong and healthy children. They have good homes and their genial hospitality knows no bounds.

The parting scene of these sturdy men, as they met and sang their old sailor songs probably for the last time, was very pathetic indeed. It showed the close links that hard times and hard knocks will weave about the strongest men. They are all fond of outdoor life and are keen students of nature. The best wishes of their many friends go with them wherever they go.

With Thankful Hearts

Father, we lift our thankful hearts to Thee
With gratitude, for all Thy bounty free;
For love, and friends, for home, for faith's pure light,
For health, for harvest store, for rest at night—

For every blessing showered from above—
Bestowed on us unstinted, by Thy love
And thoughtful care; O hear us, as we pray,
Father in heaven, this Thanksgiving day.

Watch over us, be Thou our Stay and Guide,
Thro day and night; guard us from sinful pride.

For we are human, weak and prone to wrong,
And by Thy grace alone are we made strong.

Give us our daily bread, our wants supply,
And touch our hearts that we may not deny
The widow and the orphan of their share
Of what we have—relieve their want and care.

O grant that we may keep Thy law and live
A Christian life; our enemies forgive;
That we may love our neighbor, work for peace,
That so Thy glory may on earth increase.

Barnyard Tragedy with a Moral

WHEN Mr. T. Gobbler married the pretty Miss Hen-Turkey—she always spelled her name with a hyphen—the entire barnyard community gathered at the festive occasion with their congratulations, for really Mr. G. was the catch of the season, and many a feminine heart was sore, though the lips were smiling that wreathed themselves into words which made the happy bride still happier. Female that she was, she knew how it hurt some of them to say the pleasant things they did, and she was glad.

But marriage is not all glamour, and, notwithstanding Mr. Gobbler was the handsomest bird in the barnyard, and Mrs. Gobbler was the envy of all her set, there was a spider in her pie. Like a worm in the bud, it fed upon her damask cheek and she gazed with fearsome longing at her splendid spouse, and sighed and sighed again. Once more the husband was not the romantic hero of the courtship days. True, he did not smoke or drink or gamble, or even belong to a club, but, ah! he was so inconstant. And she was all devotion. How often thus with marriage bells—their echoes jangle out of tune!

September, October, and still the dead, dull pain at her heart, and still no remedy.

November's dismal days followed drearily, and there were those, knowing how weak is hope worn out, who whispered that Mrs. Gobbler was passing away and that that wretch, Gobbler, would be flitting on his way to the funeral. But they were mistaken, for suddenly and unexpectedly Mrs. Gobbler began to recover her wonted spirits and the old-time blush came again to her erstwhile faded cheeks. She even smiled, and many wondered. But none asked questions, for her sorrows had been so sore they could not bear the touch of even the gentlest hand.

Mr. T. Cobbler.

One day Gobbler saw her poring over a rain-stained bit of newspaper which had been blown by some balmy breeze into the barnyard.

"Ah, my dear," he said to her, for he was kind enough of speech, "what readest? An installment of a love story?"

She attempted to hide the paper under her wing, and did not answer.

"Oho!" he laughed, coarsely, snatching at it. "Something I should not see, perhaps? Give it to me."

Resistance was quite useless, and she let him take it, smiling radiantly on him about to read.

He looked at the fatal page, and his wattle wilted and turned pale, his fan tail folded up and the iridescent glister of his swelling bosom became lusterless.

It was the president's Thanksgiving proclamation, and Gobbler knew what was coming to him.

So did Mrs. Gobbler.

Adam and the Apple.

The old marchioness of Salisbury recently was at church, a rare thing with her, and the preacher, speaking of the fall, observed that Adam, ex-cusing himself, had cried out: "Lord, the woman tempted me!" At this quotation Lady Salisbury, who appeared not to have heard of the incident before, jumped up in her seat, saying: "Shabby fellow, indeed!"—Memoirs of the Duchess of Dino.

Thumbscrew Again in Vogue.

In olden times thumbscrews were used to torture prisoners into confession and thus gain from them secrets that only intense bodily pain would bring forth; but this, with many other fiendish means of torture, was left behind by advancing civilization. Now, however, it has made its appearance again, but as a means of self-inflicted torture, says Popular Mechanics. It is the newest aid-to-beauty fad in Europe and its mission is to squeeze the tips of the fingers until they change from fat and pudgy to long and tapering.

Fau too Expensive.

A woman in Worcester, Mass., was surprised at receiving extra large bills for gas used the last two months and on investigating the matter found that her new maid was keeping a teakettle singing on the gas stove all day long. In answer to her query as to the reason the maid informed her that she felt more like working while the kettle was singing. The maid now works without accompaniment.

A Call for "Live Ones."

"We will pay good wages to first-class, live stenographers who will allow our business to come before their sweethearts, theaters and pleasure parties; our hours are from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m., but sometimes we work later; clock watchers are useless to us." This original announcement appeared in the London newspapers the other day.

The Real Reformer.

The true reformer is he who creates new institutions and gives them life and energy, and trusts to them for throwing off such evil humors as may be lying in the body politic. The true reformer is the seminal reformer, not the radical. And this is the way the Sower, who went forth to sow his seed, did really reform the world, without making any open assault to uproot what was already existing.—Author unknown.

The Odor of Clay.

The peculiar odor of clay is unquestionably due to organic ingredients. Although this cannot be isolated or detected by chemical analysis, they can be classified according to their physiological effects, which vary widely. Rokland has succeeded in transferring the odors of clay to saccharate of iron and has thus recognized 10 distinct varieties. Louis has made similar observations, employing ammonia as a vehicle for the odors.

Purpose of the Dreamer.

Every work of man's hands may be said to be the result of a dream. Take a block of marble, rough hewn, from the quarry. The sculptor wants to cut a figure out of the mass. Has he not all the time he is carving the figure in his mind he wishes to produce?

Police Officer Stole Away

Peter R. Wierenger, city of Grand Haven and Miss Henrietta Nakken were united in marriage in Holland Thursday afternoon. The approaching event was kept a strict secret and even the immediate families of the bridal couple were not aware the wedding was to take place. The chief secured a short leave of absence without arousing any suspicion and the couple slipped away to get married. The officer secured his license at the county clerk's office and pledged the force there to strictest confidence. Therefore the getaway was easy.

EVER WATCHFUL

A Little Care Will Save Many Holland Readers Future Trouble Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health; The discharges not excessive or infrequent; Contain no "brick dust like" sediment.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

Mrs. M. VanHouten, 287 West Thirteenth street, Holland, Mich., says: "For several years kidney trouble clung to me and was a source of great annoyance. The pains in the small of my back and under my shoulder blades were almost unbearable and it was only with a great effort that I was able to stoop or lift. When I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and caused the secretions to become disordered. None of the remedies I tried helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. I have no hesitation in recommending this preparation after all it has done for me." (Statement given December 12, 1906.)

On May 10, 1909, Mrs. VanHouten confirmed the above saying: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on since I publicly endorsed them and they have always benefitted me. You are at liberty to use my name as one who can recommend Doan's Pills from personal experience."

A Thanksgiving Story

UP IN THE wild northwest the winter had set in early and on the morning before Thanksgiving the prairies for miles around were one great, drifting sea of snow, while the soft, feathery flakes were still falling. Ruth Hayward stood at the window of the parsonage dining-room and looked out into the storm with disconsolate eyes.

"There doesn't seem much to be thankful for this year," she thought, with a sigh. "No winter clothes, and Ralph and father sick, and mother worn out with trying to make ends meet. I don't see why some people have so much and others so little."

"Ruth," said her mother, coming into the room just then, "have you practiced the Thanksgiving hymns for to-morrow?"

"Yes, mother," answered Ruth, "but I don't see how we can hold services if the weather keeps bad. People won't come to church in a blizzard."

"There will be services whether any comes or not, daughter. No matter what our difficulties may be, they must not interfere with our religious duties. Remember that the minister's family sets an example for the settlement."

So Ruth sat dutifully down at the wheezy old cabinet organ and went over the hymns again, doing her best to extract sweet music from the yellow keys. And on the whole she succeeded better than you might think, for she had a musical gift that seemed to bring out all the harmony the worn-out instrument was capable of. She was a hopeful little body, too, and while she practiced she tried to comfort herself with the thought that perhaps some day the clouds might be lifted and the opportunity given her to do better things.

Suddenly, above the wheezing of the organ and the howling of the wind in the chimney, Ruth caught the merry sound of sleigh bells. She got up and rushed to the window, just in time to see the mail carrier's covered sleigh drive around to the back of the house.

She was all excitement as she ran out to the kitchen, where old Jean, muffled to his nose and covered with snow, was telling Mrs. Hayward, in his queer broken English, about the big box he had brought for the minister, which box "Mist Larsen," the express agent at the depot, had told him to be sure and deliver in time for Thanksgiving.

"That's just like Nils Larsen," said the minister, who had come in from his study. "Always anxious for somebody's happiness."

What a time they had opening and unpacking that wonderful box, which turned out to be a "missionary box" from Mr. Hayward's old church back in "York state." Clearly it had been packed by loving fingers, with thoughtful brains to guide them; for it contained everything that was most likely to be appreciated by a poor missionary in a remote frontier settlement.

There were even cereals and crackers, with several jars of beef extract and a store of nice canned things. Mr. Hayward's sunken eyes lighted up as they rested on a heap of new books and magazines, and still more when a pile of warm garments came to light, including coats for the children, an overcoat for himself and a cloak that was plainly intended for his wife.

There never was such a wonder-box as that, Ruth thought, as one treasure after another revealed itself, and her cheeks flushed when she opened a mysterious package and disclosed a pretty beaver hat, looking as fresh and dainty as if it had come direct from the milliner. And pinned to the wrappings was a letter, and in the letter—what do you think? Why, a brand-new $10 bill—to be spent, as the writer stated, for any little wants that the box didn't happen to supply.

"God bless the dear people at home!" exclaimed the minister, fervently, while his wife quietly wiped away her happy tears.

"And to think I said there wasn't much to be thankful for!" said Ruth, with mingled penitence and pleasure. —Stella G. Florence, in the Christian Advocate.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

We are all interested in a CLEAN HOLLAND. Whether you are in the neighborhood of a smoky, busy factory, or away from it; you cannot help but feel and see the dirt and grime that is in the air. The Laundryman knows it when he cleans your linen; the housewife or laundress knows it when she "does the family wash." Everything is black, and sooty from the dish towel in the kitchen to the best lace curtains, from the baby's stockings to mothers best "lingerie" waist.

Every week, in every family you hear exclaimed, "Geel! The washing is big this week!"

Answer, SOFT COAL.

Don't put all the blame on the busy factory. You can depend on it, that a GOOD PART of your troubles, come from your own or your neighbors chimney, where SOFT COAL is being burned.
