HOLLAND ELKS TO STAGE A BIG KENO PARTY

TURKEYS, CHICKENS AND HAMS WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

Tuesday night, November 28, is going to be a gala night for the B. P. O. Elks at their recreation rooms in the Holland City State bank Bldg. This is the big annual event when a big Keno party will be staged and Thanksgiving turkeys, chickens, geese and hams will find their way to the members of the order.

This has been a very popular affair in the past with every member out playing Keno. Each member is privileged to bring as many guests as he pleases for the bigger the crowd, the better the fun.

During the evening refreshments are to be served under the supervision of John Kiekentveld, the steward who has been retained for another year by the house committee.

Of all the events in the year, Keno night just before Thanksgiving is the most interesting.

The House committee having the affair in charge are the following: H. Vanden Brink, Vance Mape, H. E. Huntlev, Charles Hess, John Vanden Berg, J. P. O. de Mauriac.

OIL-SOAKED DUCKS KILLED WITH A CLUB

Fred Williams, grandson of Cape May's Mayor Melvin, knocked four ducks over the head and reported that the sport was almost too tame to be fun. All four birds had been covered with oil dropped over by tankers, and consequently none of them had been able to rise from the marsh when he approached. The oil which covers the water around there has made surf clams uneatable.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE STALE HEN FRUIT FOR BREAKFAST

The Dnalloh Hgh Literary society held its celebrated annual initiation recently. Several victims were put through the sprouts of this terrible society. Just think of it, a new invention was tried out on them called the paddling machine which worked especially well on the fat ones.

After the paddling was over the tired ones were treated to an egg supper of ancient vintage, a few claws and feathers thrown in.

After this elaborate spread the victims were pretty well stuck on themselves for there were no flies on the new members since five naber was the chief material of clothing, (like war times in Germany).

Some one "spilled the beans" before the ceremony ended with the result that the initiators had to do a barefoot ecstatic dance on a heap of dry ones conveniently placed on the floor.

The fellows took their medicine with good grace, and from now on they will be true and loyal members of the Dnalloh Hgh.

HOLLAND MAN EXPLAINS ABOUT NEW ORLEANS TRIP

The following communication is rather interesting as it relates to the recent southern trip when the Legion band went to New Orleans: Editor, Holland City News—

Dear Sir—I send the news every week to my nephew who lives in the South, and he comments on your articles as follows:

"The reason a Southerner buys his chicken alive is that it tastes better anywhere, if freshly killed, that is why the northerner enjoys a southern chicken dinner so much. The tobacco you saw in blossom was not a field of tobacco. It was a tobacco field. The 'crop' is not allowed to blossom but when the tobacco has been harvested the suckers start up and the field is not tended to in any way and so you saw it in blossom.

COUNCIL BACKS MAYOR IN FIGHT TO PROTECT VOTERS

THEY DECIDE TO USE ALL HONORABLE MEANS TO HAVE WHOLE VOTE COUNTED

Will Fight to the End and Will Back Up All Steps Taken By Mayor Stephan

The common council went unanimously on record Wednesday night to back Mayor Stephan in his fight to have the votes in the third, fifth and sixth wards counted. This means that the council will make the fight their own fight and that they will use every honorable means to protect the several hundred voters in those wards in their rights of franchise. The aldermen were full of fight on the subject and they showed evidence that they would make the contest a spirited one if necessary. The motion to stand back of the mayor was made by Ald. Laepple, and it was passed unanimously and enthusiastically.

Mayor Stephan brought up the question by reviewing what he had done to protect the voters in the three wards named. "I feel strongly on this matter," he said. "There is absolutely no question of fraud of any kind, nothing of the kind is charged or even hinted, it is purely a technical matter. I feel that there is a moral issue involved, and that in cases of this kind a moral law is of greater moment than a technicality. We must use horse sense as well as statutory law. I thing the board of canvassers should have ruled differently from what they did. It is a legal question and one that the court should decide, not the board of canvassers. But since they have acted as they did, it is up to us to protect the voters in their rights and to make the hardest kind of a fight to see to it that their rights are maintained."

Mayor Stephan had come prepared with legal documents, and he read to the aldermen the following section governing this very point at issue from "Ruling Case Law" Volume Nine, which has such a direct bearing on the matter that he thought the aldermen ought to hear it: Ruling Case Law, Vol 9

Reflect of Irregularities Due to Election Officers.—In determining the effect of irregularities due to the mistakes of election officers, it should be remembered that all statutes tending to limit the citizen in the exercise of the right of suffrage are to be construed liberally in his favor. Likewise it must be kept in mind that generally statutes directing the mode of proceeding by public officers are deemed advisory, so that strict compliance with their detailed provisions is not indispensable to the validity of the proceedings themselves, unless a contrary intention can properly be gathered from the statute. In the present connection these rules are especially applicable, for otherwise the result might be the disfranchisement of many voters wholly innocent possibly of any wrong doing. It may be stated therefore, that as a general rule honest mistake or mere omissions on the part of the election officers or irregularities in director matters, even though gross, if not fraudulent, will not avoid an election unless they affect the result or at least render it uncertain. Nor is it material in this connection that the failure of the election officers to perform their duties subjects them to penalties. And even if the acts of such officers are fraudulent the votes of the electors should not be invalidated if it is possible to prevent it. The legislature may, however, expressly provide that certain omissions shall invalidate the vote, in which event no alternative is left to the court. In the absence of such express provision it has been well pointed out in reference to the various duties imposed on election officers that their great objects are to afford to every citizen having a constitutional right to vote and opportunity to express that right, to prevent those not so entitled from voting, and to insure the conduct of the election in such manner in point of form that the true number of legal votes can be ascertained with certainty. If all these objects are accomplished, then to reject all the votes because the inspectors failed to comply with every prescribed regulation would be to place a higher value on the statutory regulation than on the right itself; it would be a sacrifice of substance to form. In short, remedy the evil against which its provisions are directed and at the same time not to disfranchise voters further than is necessary to attain that object. The will of the majority is to be respected even when irregularly expressed. In case of a violation of the law on the part of the election officer, punishment may be provided therefor, and in this way the law can be rendered effectual without going to the extent of depriving a voter of his right to have his vote counted in consequence of such violation. In passing upon an alleged irregularity the courts will not ignore a construction of an election law which has been accepted and acted upon by the officers whose duty it is to administer the law, unless it is palpably wrong. Nor should they adopt the decisions of another state construing a similar statute if they are fundamentally inconsistent with the local law."

PHOEBE SURELY HAD A ROMANCE IF ANY GIRL DID

FULL HOUSE GREETED ACTORS IN FOUR ACT COMEDY

About the "pepiest" and "laughiest" little play ever staged in Holland can be found in "Phoebe's Romance," a four-act comedy given under the direction of Miss Ethelyn Metz and presented through the auspices of Mrs. G. J. Diekema's Sunday School class at the Woman's Literary club last evening.

The acting on the part of our home talent would put to shame many professional actors with reputed ability. In fact, those in the critical audience forgot all about the fact that Miss Metz, Mrs. G. J. Diekema, Mrs. Luscomb and others were performing, and saw the principals only as characters in the play.

The stage settings were perfect. A Green room in the Sparrow house was the first to be presented, and depicted an old maidish affair, neat and trim in every particular, with old fashioned sofa, straight back chairs, with dollies on them, fire place, etc., etc., the whole carrying an air of stiffness such as are common and to be expected. The Green room seems to be an old maid's paradise judging from the number congregating there.

The play introduces four maiden ladies, Sarah Sparrow, Mrs. C. Luscomb; Matilda Langweid, Mrs. G. J. Diekema; Julia Langweid, Miss Marian Van Drezer; and Isabelle Appleton, Miss Marguerite Meyer. The ladies whose ages are rather doubtful circle around and pass their gossip stories to one another. One reads a love story which brings up the thought relating to the future prospects and destiny of Phoebe Sparrow, Miss Ethelyn Metz, a young and vivacious miss who has not yet attained her majority and consequently is not eligible to join the ancient society. Anyway the ladies bemoan the marriage chances they had missed and the fish in the sea that had nearly been caught, but which had slipped the marriage hook, and the consensus of opinion of the old maids was that Phoebe must not succumb to the same fate as they, poor things, had.

Capt. Grandville Howard, M. D., Tuenis Baker, is a frequent caller at the Sparrow house and has an eye on Phoebe, in fact Phoebe also has the highest regard for the doctor, for it seems the doctor slipped a cog one evening and kissed Phoebe in the rain, and that kiss, well—it plays an important part in the play.

As the play progressed it came to pass that the doctor decided to go to war, and this important event he wishes to impart to Phoebe. Phoebe expected altogether another declaration from the man she loves. However, he leaves for the front and after nine years of fighting he returns wounded. In the meantime the Sparrows have lost their money and are reduced to poverty. Phoebe and her maiden lady sister are compelled to look after their own destiny and start a private school in the old maid's home. The school and scholars bring about many laughable situations. However after nine years the soldier returns and is rather shocked at Phoebe's altered appearance, brought about by the arduous school work. Phoebe, (Miss Metz) does a real pathetic piece of acting at this point bewailing the probable loss of her sweetheart. She begs that her youth may be restored to her and in her wild anxiety a shot flashes through her mind to primp up in the latest fashion in order to at least bring back some resemblance of her girlhood days. The transformation is astonishing. However in order to deceive her soldier, Phoebe passes to a niece of the Sparrows, while Phoebe herself has supposedly been taken with illness, and is confined to her room. There is to be a dance on the evening in question and the soldier does not forget his Phoebe, but finding her ill he asked the newly introduced Libby Sparrow, who never existed in the flesh, to be his partner at the dance. The rejuvenated Phoebe made the hit of the evening at the ball and all the rest of the girls soon became wall flowers during her presence, the soldier swains giving their entire attention to Phoebe "Libby Sparrow."

Phoebe received five proposals during the evening and naturally was elated over her conquest. But there is an end to all things, even a dance, and Libby who never was, must be disposed of in some way, and Phoebe who is seriously ill, but is not, must be made well quickly and assume her accustomed place in the scheme of things.

The doctor however gets wise to the deception altho pretending not to know. He gets rid of the Libby that never was in the most artistic manner. Phoebe asked forgiveness for her deception and then "Tut" takes Ethelyn in his arms. Well, folks, come to the show tonight and see what happens at that moment.

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES BIG PAVING PROGRAM FOR NEXT SUMMER

FIRST STEP TAKEN FOR WORK ON A NUMBER OF STREETS

Will Be the Largest Paving Frontage Ever Attempted in a Single Year

The biggest paving program that has ever been proposed for Holland for a single summer has been put up for consideration by the common council for the coming year. If all the streets are actually moved that are included in the tentative plan, the paving crews will be kept busy from the earliest time in the spring when such work can begin until the latest day of the year that it can continue. Here is a list of the streets scheduled to be paved:

College avenue. The preliminary steps for this were taken previously and no further action needs to be taken.

Fourteenth street, from the Holland Sugar plant to Lincoln avenue. Columbia avenue from 5th-st. to 24th street.

Central avenue from 18th to 24th street.

Central avenue from 5th street to 8th street.

River avenue from 17th street to 19th street.

This list was reported out Wednesday night by the streets and cross walks committee to the common council, and the committee recommended that the city engineer should draw up plans and specifications and estimate of costs. The aldermen unanimously voted that this be done, and so the machinery has been set in motion for this big paving program.

These steps are taken now in accordance with a new policy of the council to do all the preliminary work for street paving during the fall and winter so the actual paving work can begin as early in the spring as the weather may permit. By holding all the necessary hearings during the cold months, no time needs to be lost when actual paving operations can be in progress.

And while of course all the usual steps will be taken, there is a disposition on the part of the aldermen to follow a paving program when they think a street needs it, even if the opposition to it is strong.

HOLLAND TO HAVE A NEW PATROLMAN

THIS ONE IS A SIX FOOTER AND WEIGHS 235 POUNDS

On Sunday night for the first time Henry B. Swierenga will be on the beat.

Since Officer Barnes resigned, the police department has been running short-handed and since the strange emergencies of escaped convicts and auto thieves which our officers had to chase, came up, it left the city rather unprotected, with Chief Van Ky himself going on the beat.

The board of police and fire commissioners felt that another man should be put on the beat in the place of Mr. Barnes, and so they appointed Mr. Swierenga, who is six feet tall, weighs 235 pounds and will make a handsome looking officer, but girls don't set your cap for him, for he has a dear wife and five bucksome children.

Swierenga for sometime has been driver for the Schultz Baking Co. in this city. He however applied to Chief Van Ry for a position and his appearance appealed to the Chief and he was accepted by the board of police and fire commissioners.

dunce we ever saw Sergeant Wm. Vander Hart's seven league boots were too muddy for the carpet of the Sparrows.

Miss Metz easily was the star of the cast, while the work of Mrs. Luscomb was wonderful. The three old maids portrayed by Mrs. G. J. Diekema, Miss Meyer and Miss Van Drezer fit in the play to a nicety. These ladies did very creditable acting, in fact, the entire cast did fine work.

PRE-ARMISTICE DAY BANQUET WAS A HAPPY EVENT

With the Holland Furnace Company banquet hall crowded to the doors with members of the Legion, the U. A. M. Post, the Spanish War Veterans and auxiliaries of the three organizations, the pre-Armistice day banquet was celebrated Friday evening with pep and enthusiasm. After selections by the Legion band, and an invocation by Dr. A. Leenhouts, a delicious banquet was served, under Duze's Cafe management by large numbers of waitresses, and the flow of oratory began.

Commander Raymond Visscher presided over the meeting and introduced the speakers on the program. The first speaker was Alfred Joldersma whose subject was "Facts and Fancies." It was largely in the nature of a budget of take-offs on the members of the legion and it created a great deal of merriment.

"What We've Done" was the subject of Dr. W. M. Tappan, historian of the Legion. Dr. Tappan told the story of the Legion's organization and he called attention to the various things the Legion has done since it began its work in Holland. It has won during the past year two citations, one national for having found employment for all its members, and one a state citation for passing the enrollment of 1921. In 1921 the enrollment was 314 and this year it is 317.

"Comradeship" was the subject of Miss Rose Sooter, president of the Woman's Auxiliary. She spoke of the work of the Auxiliary and made an appeal for a larger membership. There are now 114 members while there are some 600 or 700 in Holland eligible to membership. She asked all these to come in and join the Auxiliary.

Prin. J. J. Riemersma gave a stirring talk on helpfulness to others under the title, "A Little Brother of the Legion" and "Jack" Knoll gave a humorous address on "Bullshead" in which he described an imaginary trip to the north pole. Clarence A. Lokker spoke on "If it ain't so, why ain't it?" in which he emphasized loyalty and specialization as the two qualities that make for success in military life not only but in civil life as well.

After the regular program had been worked off, Commander Visscher called on Mayor Stephan for a few remarks, declaring that Mr. Stephan had done more for the Legion than any other man. Mr. Stephan made an appeal for a return to the standard of hard work declaring that it is work that makes the world go round. M. Notier was called upon for a few remarks on behalf of the G. A. R. Post, and Mr. Gardeau, commander of the Spanish War Veterans gave a talk on behalf of his comrades of '98. The final speaker was Past Commander Henry Geerds of the Legion, who made an eloquent plea for making Armistice Day a legal holiday and who asked all citizens to come out and take part in the parade on Armistice day afternoon.

The meeting closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," with band accompaniment.

The banquet was full of good cheer and hilarity and an atmosphere of happiness prevailed thruout the meeting. Musical selections were given by a quartet.

Shortly after 1:30 Saturday afternoon a large delegation of those who gathered at the city hall, lined up in parade formation considering it their duty as American citizens to properly celebrate Armistice day.

Headed by the American Legion band who were followed by Willard G. Leenhouts Post of Holland, including several soldiers from Grand Haven, the Woman's Auxiliary, American Legion, Spanish American War veterans, National Guard, Jackie Band, City Fire department on the trucks, and citizens in decorated automobiles, constituted the pageant that started north on River avenue, east on Eighth street, to Central avenue, where the parade halted for 10 minutes, and Attorney Thos. N. Robinson delivered a speech on "Why Armistice Day?"

It was difficult to speak in the open air, while the tooting of automobiles and general noises was going on, but Mr. Robinson made himself plainly heard and his word picture of this day that we celebrate was enthusiastically received.

Mr. Robinson said in part:—"Four years ago on these streets we witnessed a spontaneous expression of great joy and triumph such as has never been equalled within the limits of this municipality. We afterwards knew that this same enthusiastic demonstration had taken place all over our country in the South as well as in the North, in the East and in the West.

"The predominating note of that self-declared holiday was a note of triumph. It was true that many of those taking part in the celebration were thinking of sons and brothers who were overseas, possibly wounded or dead, and such uncertainty together with recollection of those who had made the supreme sacrifice lent a touch of sadness to the occasion, but through it all rang unmistakably that great strong note of joyous triumph in the fact that American arms and manhood had once more won a victory. In the hearts of the American people that day there was also a deep sense of gratitude to Almighty God because the intense strain of warfare was over; because, soon, from the battlefields of France the boys who had borne the battle would return to their homes and pursuits of peace; because after a long period of enmity and bitterness, at last had come peace."

Then Mr. Robinson called attention to other national holidays, Memorial Day, Independence Day and said: "This 11th day of November, Armistice Day, combined the sadness of Memorial day, the triumph of Independence Day and the religious tone of Thanksgiving Day and breathes forth the spirit of all these holidays. It recalls to the citizenship of this generation and immortalizes for them their own sufferings, their own triumph and their own sense of gratitude to God. As no other American holiday can, it inspires each and every one to dedicate himself anew to the proposition that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and the government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth. It is essentially the holiday of the boys and girls, the men and women who live and act in America today."

After the oration the parade again started on its way east until Columbia avenue was reached, when the line of march turned northward and disbanded at Waterworks Park; all those wishing to taking in the football game between Grand Haven and Holland High schools, were given the privilege to do so.

The city was properly decorated with flags and bunting and scores of merchants hung out O'ld Glory and put out other decorations appropriate for the occasion.

The streets were lined with spectators during the parade and taking it all in all it was one of the most satisfactory celebrations given in Holland for a long time.

The night before a banquet was given by the American Legion to nearly 400 guests which was a sort of pre-Armistice Day function.

MORE THAN 4,500 FANS TAKE IN THE FOOTBALL GAME

Waterworks park has never accommodated such a large bunch of fans as was crowded in the enclosure Saturday afternoon.

Principal Riemersma states that there were a trifle over 4,500, and that admissions had been received for at least 4000, while the balance were from season tickets entitling holders to all games during 1922-1923.

Mr. Riemersma conservatively estimates that Grand Haven sent not less than 1800, and the committee having the grounds in charge had things well arranged.

The south bleachers and grandstand and the east sideline were reserved for the Grand Haven fans and the entire space the full length of the field was filled with them.

Holland was given the west grandstand and bleacher, the Holland high pupils occupying a special bleacher which Secretary Arendshorst of the Holland Fair donated for the occasion.

On the Holland side of the field the entire length was simply crowded from the gate to the north fence with standing room at a premium. The Jackie band kept things pepped up on the Grand Haven side, while the American Legion band was blowing enthusiasm on the Holland side.

At intervals between periods, both bands marched around the field playing the tune of the High school song in their respective schools, the pupils joining in song.

The grounds were well policed, Chief Van Ry sending in several extra policemen, while Principal Riemersma put in a few plain clothes men. There was no occasion to even reprimand a fan from either one of the cities. A more sportsmanlike aggregation was never gathered together and the rivalry was keen, the hosts and guests were friendly toward one another; not a word or act was heard or seen from this tremendous throng that could be criticized.

Grand Haven came and went and while Holland was beaten, and there are no aftermaths or excuses to make, Grand Haven did not crow arrogantly over their victory but acted like true sportsmen.

After the game the Maroon and Orange mingled with the Blue and Gold in one harmonious blend, and the vanquished were as happy and as pleasant as the victors.

FORMER HOLLAND MAN DIES IN GRAND RAPIDS

He is survived by his wife and one son William. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Grant Williams, 256 W. 9th street, Rev. Mr. Brown of Ganges officiating. PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT BEECHWOOD SCHOOL

An interesting program was presented at the Beechwood P-T meeting Friday evening. The first number was a song, "Rheumatiz," given by two groups of school children, in which they appeared dressed as old men and women and leaning on canes, and with their "ouches" and "Ohs" enabled the members of the club to see what was in store for them. After this number a short business meeting was held. Then a group of Hope College girls gave the following: piano solo, Polish Dance, (Sharmenka), Miss Margaret Trompen; vocal solo, "Violets," (Ellen Wright), Miss Pearl Paalman; reading, "Father," Miss Jeanette Hoffman; Trio, "Wake—Miss Lindy," Miss Pearl Paalman Nella Kole, Mabel Van Dyke. Refreshments were served and a social hour followed.

Capt. Anderson was at Saugatuck last week to take soundings over the bar at the harbor entrance. The steamers South America and North America will be there soon to lay up for winter. Since their season closed these ships have been converted into oil burners at Detroit.

THIS WEEK IN CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK

The fourth annual Children's Book Week will be held November 12 to 18th, 1922. Public libraries, bookstores, mothers' clubs, parent-teachers' associations, the schools, churches, and other organizations concerned with children, each year take the opportunity of this week to emphasize the importance of books for girls and boys. Exhibits of books to buy for children, discussion of the books children really like to read, distribution of lists of books for the young people, consideration of authors and illustrators who are devoting their talents to children's books—these are some of the features of the week in various communities.

Each year over a million children come to reading age. "What books shall we buy for our children?" is a question every parent should endeavor to solve conscientiously. The schools teach the children to read, the public libraries give opportunity to boys and girls for forming the habit of reading and developing good taste in books. A growing appreciation of the importance of children's reading is marked in the bookstores, and the book publishers of the country are leading the world in producing of interesting and beautiful books for boys and girls. The books that actually go into the forming of a child's home library are the ones that form his growing taste. His ability to use books for information and for pleasure when he is grown older depends on his acquiring the reading habit when he is a child.

TELLS OF TRIP OVER THE BATTLE FIELDS OF FRANCE

The members of the Century club were taken on a journey over the battle fields of France Monday evening by one of the members, Dr. A. Knooihuizen. The club met at the home of Mrs. A. Visscher, State street, and in spite of the rain there was a good sized audience present.

Dr. Knooihuizen made a trip to Europe last summer and in a most interesting paper Monday night he described the trip over the battle fields. He visited all the battle sectors in which the American forces took part and retraced the steps of the American doughboys including their march into Germany. He described the various American cemeteries in France telling how the government is taking care of these sacred spots. These cemeteries are American soil now, owned and maintained by the United States Government, so that the American dead in France sleep in American soil. Dr. Knooihuizen visited the grave of Willard A. Leenhouts and he described in some detail the marking of the white cross that indicates the spot. He also visited the grave of Quentin Roosevelt.

He described some of the old trenches, some of which are still very much as they were four years ago with the exception that the soil is being worn down a little. He visited the spot where the "Big Bertha" was located and he looked into many a doctor, in some of which the wire cots and stoves were still standing. The supports however are rotting away and it is not safe to enter them.

The whole account was a most fascinating story and it held an unusual thrill for the audience who thus lived over again by proxy the exciting days of the war when the fate of the world seemed in the balance.

The music consisted of a vocal solo by Mrs. R. M. Waltz, with violin obligato by Miss Ruth Keppel and piano accompaniment by Mrs. Robbins; song by the High school Glee club, and duet by Mrs. Waltz and Mr. Martin Dykema.

FORMER HOLLAND MAN WINS IN NEW YORK

Although New York State went largely Democratic in the recent election, there was at least one man who won out on the Republican ticket. Donald L. Brush, formerly of Holland, was elected judge of the juvenile court of Herkimer county by a substantial majority over his Democratic opponent. In New York state this office is known as "Judge of the Children's Court," but the duties are practically the same as those of the juvenile court judge here. The election is for a term of six years, and it means a fine opening for the former Holland man.

Mr. Brush graduated from Hope College in 1912. Since then he has taught school in Grand Haven, and later studied law. He is now an attorney in Herkimer, New York, and has been very successful there professionally, while he has also made a place for himself in the community in many lines of community endeavor. He is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Visscher, of Holland.

YOUNG MEN GIVEN CREDIT FOR DECORATIONS

Because of the fact that the program was so crowded Friday night at the American Legion banquet that there was not time enough to say everything that should be said, no mention was made of the fact that the decorations in the banquet hall were put up by K. Prins and Henry Topp, Jr., employed at the P. S. Borer store. These young men gave many hours to this task and the result was a most happy one. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and banners, which created an atmosphere that helped to make the banquet the success it was.

be built at Bryon Center by the Edwards Davis company of Chicago, will prove a great boon to the celery farmers in that vicinity and may result in the industry being greatly increased as this will mean it will be possible to ship the celery great distances.

ZEELAND BRICK CO. NOT A BANKRUPT

Judge Sessions in the United States District Court at Grand Rapids has denied the petition of certain creditors asking that the Zeeland Brick Co. be declared bankrupt and assessing all costs in the case against the petitioners.

In spite of the many handicaps, such as the fire at Hamilton yard, the coal shortage and high cost of coal, the railroad strike and car shortage, etc., the season's operations have been reasonably profitable. Money borrowed on receiver's certificates for operating purposes has all been paid and there is a goodly cash deposit at the bank with practically all expenses incurred satisfied.

Undoubtedly a much better showing would have resulted if there had been harmony and cooperation on the part of the shareholders who were largely relied upon in the operation of the plants this season.

It is to be hoped that satisfactory arrangements can be made so that operation can be resumed as soon as weather conditions permit in the spring.

There is strong demand for brick at prices that insure profitable operation at this time and prospects are good for the next season.

FOLDER TELLS WHAT GRADUATES ARE DOING

According to a folder just issued at Hope College 56 Seniors received their first degrees in June, 1922, and of these 15 are now divinity students in Reformed church seminaries; 21 are teaching in public high schools, and two in Reformed church denominational schools; 12 are taking graduate and professional courses in medicine, pure science or philosophy; two are in business in America and one in China; one is in hospital medical training, and one is in missionary teaching in India. Only 1 of the entire number is at home, for the present not engaged in gainful work or advanced study. Four of those classified are in medical training and five in theological training for foreign service. In addition to these of the class of 1922, five others have sailed for foreign service during this past summer.

HOLLAND PLANT GETTING BACK TO "NORMALCY"

Another one of Holland's manufacturing institutions has turned the corner and seems to be on the road to prosperity. The Holland Engine Co., like many other institutions, has had a hard row to hoe during the past 2 years, because of general business conditions, but its books show that it is now emerging out of the woods, and its officers are looking forward to a good year.

A number of manufacturers of equipment requiring light weight engines have closed contracts with the Holland concern, and it is expected that in the very near future the plant will again employ the usual number of men that it had when running at full capacity.

The new Holland autotype engine, now manufactured in both single and twin-cylinder, is meeting with considerable success. It is especially popular with farmers because of the ease of securing parts when out of order. Parts can be secured at any place where Ford parts are kept.

TO MAKE ROLL CALL LAST THREE DAYS OF THIS WEEK

The organization has been practically completed for the Red Cross roll call in Holland and throughout the southern half of Ottawa county. Mrs. G. J. Van Duren is in charge for southern Ottawa and she completed her organization Tuesday by the appointment of Mrs. Edson for Hudsonville and the De Jonge store for Vriesland. These were the only two places left where no representatives had been named. Hudsonville started out the drive by an Armistice Day program in the Hudsonville school Monday. In Vriesland no funds will be solicited but the people of Vriesland can enroll by taking their dollars to the store at that village.

In Holland Dr. A. Leenhouts is in general charge of the roll call, and the work will be done by the American Legion. This organization also took charge last year and canvassed the city for this cause. Earnest Brooks is in charge of blocking out the city and laying the groundwork for the campaign. This will be done systematically so that every home will be visited and so that every citizen will be given an opportunity to enroll.

Thirty American Legion boys will do the actual work of the canvass. These will be divided into teams and each team will be assigned to a definite territory. Then each team will proceed to make a house to house canvass in the territory assigned to it, and the citizens are asked to be ready for them so that the work may be done without delay.

The canvass will be made during three evenings, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The plan is to have the whole city covered at that time, each man taking a number of homes to visit. This plan worked well last year and it is hoped to do equally well this year.

PROF. FOREMAN WILL SPEAK AT HOL- LAND SOON

On Monday, November 13, of next week, the Ottawa County Seat Poultry Association will journey from Grand Haven to Holland to attend a meeting of the poultry raisers here. Professor E. C. Foreman of the Michigan Agriculture College will be the speaker of the evening at the meeting. Some members of the Zeeland association will attend while it is uncertain or not whether the North Ottawa Poultry Association will be represented.

Is Eminent Authority. The speaker, Prof. Foreman is known as the "culling wizard" among state poultrymen where he has demonstrated his skill in judging the capabilities of each layer. It is said that at a meeting in Detroit where several incredulous business men doubted Prof. Foreman's ability to judge within ten eggs the laying possibilities of different fowls, that the state man was conducted to a park where several hens whose records were known to the men but not to Prof. Foreman, were kept. When asked to judge the record of each hen for the year's laying, he did so within ten eggs each time. This and other careful researches which he has conducted have gained for him his title.

Compliments Ottawa Raisers. Professor Foreman has frequently lectured before Ottawa county poultry raisers and his talks have always been of a far more technical nature than those usually given to a group of raisers. He at one time stated that when speaking before Ottawa county poultrymen that his talks had to be of more inside "stuff" because of the high degree of knowledge already possessed by poultry raisers in this county.

Organization is Good. The organization of the Grand Haven poultry association and of the others in Ottawa county is said to be of a high order and very good work is being done by all. The associations are full of "pep" to use a word of the county farm agent and a fine future is predicted for all if the many plans in their present platform of activity are put through.

The local lodge of Eagles opened their 1922-23 social season Friday evening with a pedro party at which there were some 25 tables. After the cards refreshments were served which feature was followed by a dance. On Friday evening, Nov. 17 at 8 P. M. in the Eagle hall on East 8th street, there will be an open meet to which the public is invited. There will be speaking by Grand Officers of the Eagles and local members and music will be furnished throughout the evening. Everybody welcome.

VAN SCHELVEN SENDS MAN TO JAIL FOR ONE DAY

Most of Friday afternoon was taken up at the city hall with a case that was taken from Grand Haven to Holland by Justice Miles.

Peter Koopman, an ex-saloon man of Grand Haven was arrested on the charge of drunkenness by the sheriff's department and his trial was held before Justice Van Schelven with Attorney Charles E. Misner of Grand Haven appearing for Koopman, and Attorney Fred T. Miles appearing for the people.

It is stated that a charge of drunkenness is now pending against Mr. Koopman in Grand Haven, but this is another charge.

Attorney Miles had as witnesses Sheriff Fortney and Deputy Spangler, who testified as to the condition of Koopman.

The attorney for the defense brot three witnesses, namely Mr. Schipper, Mr. Dunker, and Mr. Bronsema, who testified that Mr. Koopman was not drunk on the night in question.

It came out that Koopman had had a great deal of family trouble and this might have contributed to his condition on some of these occasions.

Anyway the jury consisting of Foreman Simon Bos, Ed Brower, N. Sprietsma, Henry S. Bosch, Roy Stevenson and B. H. Bowmaster brot in a verdict of guilty after deliberating an hour.

Justice Van Schelven in pronouncing sentence stated, that he had heard considerable in the trial that impressed him, and also outside of the trial, and he stated that he was positive that thirty days in the jail would do Koopman and his family good, making them realize that they could not live in that condition longer, he would sentence him to that length of time in the county jail.

He also stated that there were extenuating circumstances in the case and because of these fined the man $15 and a cost of $23.70, besides putting him in the custody of the sheriff for one day, and he hoped that by this sentence Koopman would realize that it was time to turn over a new leaf.

Attorney Misner asked that a stay be given as the defense might want to appeal the case.

DR. JANSSEN THROWS NEW BROADSIDE INTO HIS OPPONENTS

Dr. Ralph Janssen, former professor of the Christian Reformed Theological Seminary in Grand Rapids, was in Holland Thursday in connection with his new publication issued that day in regard to the now notorious "Janssen case" in the Christian Reformed church. The new pamphlet issued by Dr. Janssen is in regard to the verdict rendered by the Synod of the Christian Reformed church last spring when Dr. Janssen was removed from the seminary because of alleged heretical teachings. In the pamphlet Dr. Janssen defends himself vigorously. It is a booklet of 47 pages and is in the Holland language. The fact that "Number 1" is printed on the title page seems to show that it is the first of a series of such pamphlets.

The present pamphlet is of unusual interest locally because much attention is given in it by Dr. Janssen to the Classis of Zeeland. It appears that that Classis petitioned the Synod to remove Dr. Janssen from the faculty of the theological school, and Dr. Janssen charges that this was done without giving him a chance to defend himself against the charges. He also charges that the curatorium declared him guilty without extending to him the usual right of defense and that the whole case against him was worked up in an illegal and unethical way.

Another reason why this pamphlet is of more than ordinary interest to local people is because considerable attention is being paid in it to Rev. Herman Hoeksema, former pastor of the 14th street Christian Reformed church. Rev. Hoeksema is charged with heterodox opinions on certain theological questions, and some of Dr. Janssen's opponents are charged with having changed certain quotations from church leaders to serve their purposes, thus substantially falsifying them to make them fit their arguments.

The pamphlet is on sale at local book stores and it is expected that it will be widely read in church circles.

Work on a literary supplement to the weekly college Anchor has been started by the Anchor staff. This supplement is to be edited in conjunction with the regular edition and will contain literary productions by students on the campus and alumni of the college. The volume will contain about 50 pages of essays, orations, poems, and other literary work which the Anchor cannot accommodate and which students are anxious to preserve in print. Besides this the booklet, which is to be put out about four times a year, will have many features of interest.

No provision was made for this unique addition to the college Anchor in the subscription price and so to introduce the volume, single copies will be sold.

The first copy of the supplement will appear with the Thanksgiving issue of the Anchor.

Friends of John C. Dunton believe that he ought to be given credit for the widening of the corner on the West Michigan Pike, just north of the Grand Haven bridge. This corner is being made safe by having the angle filled in and in this way a big chance for accident at that point is eliminated.

The plan for doing this did not only originate with Mr. Dunton, according to Mr. Dunton's friends, but he also donated the necessary land for it. He deeded 40 feet to the township so that the improvement could be made.

EIGHT COTTAGES ARE ENTERED AT SAUGATUCK

Between Saturday and Monday eight cottages at Saugatuck were entered and many things of value were stolen.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Olson of Saugatuck got together a posse of fifty men, armed with all sorts of firearms and these men are scouring every nook and corner among the hills of Saugatuck.

Up to going to press their work was of no avail and the burglars are still at large.

The supposition is that the four convicts who passed through Holland with a stolen car Friday night are the ones who entered the cottages.

The men were lost at Castle Park by the local officers and no doubt they worked their way toward Saugatuck and raided the summer homes as they went along going south.

NEW BOOK IS TO BOOST THE RE- SORT INTERESTS

With the 1922 summer resort season brought to a close by the approach of winter persons thruout the state who are striving to enhance this "industry" are laying plans for 1923, a year that all agree promises to be the most important from the standpoint of tourist and resort trade in Michigan history.

What is regarded as the most important preparatory step is being taken by the Detroit Tourist and Convention Bureau. This consists of the issuance of a book that will set forth in a way never before attempted, the advantages of Michigan as the nation's summer playground.

The book is now in process of formation and its contributors number scores of persons in every part of the state. It is intended to make the work one that will be representative of all the lakes, streams and beauty spots that rapidly are putting this state in the front ranks among the summer meccas of the country.

The information in this work will be invaluable, according to E. L. Dixon, secretary of the Tourist and Convention bureau, not only to persons coming to Michigan to spend their vacations, but also to the Michigan folk who desire to spend their annual holidays in the open.

Mr. Dixon has received scores of letters from persons throughout the state who have sent information about their sections together with photographs revealing the beauty of their scenery. Much of this material will be incorporated in the work soon to be issued.

The book that will be profusely illustrated with pictures of Michigan beauty spots will be sent to automobile clubs, boards of commerce and other organizations in every part of the country. In addition to having a wide distribution within Michigan, each club will receive a supply of the books for distribution among its members.

"The results of this advertising should be tremendous," Mr. Dixon said. "Persons everywhere plan their vacation trips almost a year ahead and we are going to invite the public from everywhere in the country to make Michigan its headquarters in summer months, or at least a part of the hot weather."

The summer resort and tourist business in Michigan has grown to such proportions in Michigan, according to those in touch with the situation, that it now ranks as one of the state's chief sources of revenue.

Although official figures are lacking, careful estimates place the amount of money spent by tourists in Michigan this year at $125,000,000. Economists figure that the average dollar spent in this way changes hands 30 times before it goes out of circulation in the state where it is spent. That means, these economists say, that every dollar has a purchasing value of 30. On this basis the purchasing power of the money spent here by the tourists this year amounted to $3,750,000,000.

A decided increase in these figures is confidently predicted by Mr. Dixon for 1923.

FORMER HOLLAND RESIDENT- SPENDS 90TH BIRTHDAY IN SPRING LAKE

Mrs. F. Tasche, of Spring Lake, celebrated her ninetieth birthday at the home of her son Mr. Fred Tasche of Spring Lake on November 6. Mr. and Mrs. Tasche invited in a few friends who spent the afternoon with Mrs. Tasche.

"Grandma Tasche" as Mrs. Tasche is familiarly known in Spring Lake is one of the very oldest residents there and was a very early settler. Born in Harlem, in the Netherlands, in 1832, she spent but a short period of her early life in her native land. After her marriage to Mr. Tasche at the age of twenty years, the couple came to this country.

The Tasches spent a short time in New York and then came almost directly to Michigan. Their earliest abode was in Holland, Michigan but this was only for a very short space of time. From there they came to Spring Lake and the greater part of Mrs. Tasche's seventy years in America has been spent there.

It is anticipated that the Florida travel this winter will be heavier than in any previous season. Florida hotels are preparing to entertain a large clientele who visit the peninsula regularly; also many others who will take a winter vacation in Florida for the first time.

Coliseum. A special invitation is extended by the state organization to commercial clubs, boards of trade or other business organizations, and to city councils or village boards to send delegates.

One of the speakers will be Hon. Wm. M. Connelly, of Spring Lake, member of the Ottawa County road commission, who will lead a discussion on "Should We Finance the Road Budget Without a Tax on Real Estate."

Rheumatism Makes an Invalid in Arms

Health Talk No. 35

By JOHN DE JONGE, D. C.

When rheumatism attacks a child it makes a temporary invalid in arms of its victim, and may result in a deformity lasting a lifetime. Rheumatism is an acid poisoning of the body due to under elimination of wastes and poisons through the kidneys and bowels.

When kidneys and bowels fail to function normally for any period of time long enough to result in rheumatism, the cause is found in the spinal condition. Due to displacement of spinal bones causing pressure on spinal nerves to liver and kidneys there is weakened functioning, and the poisons gradually accumulate. By chiropractic spinal adjustments the nerve lines are freed and the kidneys and bowels are restored to normal vigor. The poisons gradually clear from the system and health returns. There is nothing that will remove the cause like chiropractic.

WELL IN A WEEK

"On Sunday night our son, Bobby, was feeling badly. Monday his legs were swollen and he could not walk. We carried him downstairs and called a doctor who said it was rheumatism. He called another in on the case and both agreed it was rheumatism. This was on Wednesday and on Thursday we called the chiropractor. On Friday the boy could move his feet and on Saturday he ventured out to play with other children." Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Phillips, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1337N.

Paper Estates

MANY estates of supposedly ample value have been known to shrink to almost nothing. The best assets had to be sacrificed to pay claims. What was left was unproductive.

Let us urge the propriety of establishing in our "Living Trust", the Nucleus of your ultimate estate. If placed in our care it will unquestionably be well invested and well looked after.

The Holland Sentinel saw fit to jest a little over the taking of forged checks by Allegan merchants. In the next issue appeared an account of the cashing of some very crude forgeries in that city. The banks are warning customers against cashing checks for unknown persons as the practice of forgery is greatly increasing. A number of counterfeit bills are also afloat and particular care should be exercised in this direction.—Allegan Gazette.

Two young men of Benton Harbor driving a Studebaker Special Six roadster belonging to Glenn E. Robinson, met with an accident near Stegeman's corner on the Zeeland road Sunday night. The car was in a precarious position, one of the fence posts on the side of the road holding it up, thus preventing it from falling into the river below. The car was damaged somewhat, but neither one of the young men was seriously injured.

The Grand Haven Concert band, an organization of musicians who have been playing together as the same organization for a five year contract given them by the city are on the verge of breaking up. Two fires within 24 hours is the record for Saturday and Sunday. The first fire was discovered in the home of John Wabeke, 21st Street, when an alarm from box 53 was sent in. Sparks from the chimney had gained such headway in the roof that the damage amounted to $500 it is said. The second fire was at 6 o'clock Sunday evening when an alarm was sent in from box 212. The blaze started in the basement of the home of C. Breen, 20th street caused by an overheated furnace. The damage was nominal.

Holland high school has received the distinction of being linked with a group of five schools in New York city, Cleveland and Pittsburgh with respect to efficient school government. Miss Ecca Rodger, member of the editorial staff of the American Boy magazine, visited Holland this week to gather material on the methods of teaching civics, citizenship and the participation of students in government school affairs, to be used in an article in a future number. Miss Rodger expressed herself well pleased with the work of the school. The Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter of the D. A. R. met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. P. Kramer. Webb's car was parked in front of the Vaupell Drug store and Howlett coming from the west ran into it from the rear, smashing the bumper and the gasoline tank. The front end of the Howlett car is a wreck and is entirely out of commission. Howlett claims that the head light of an incoming interurban blinded him which caused the accident. As a taxi driver Howlett has had many accidents, and Chief Van Ry has taken his license away as a public driver. Howlett is the man who some time ago run down Peter Boyenga on the Zeeland road. Boyenga was taken to the hospital with a leg broken in two places. The damage to the Webb car is $50, while the Howlett car's damage will amount to considerably more.

This publication is on the press now, and is a volume of about 24 pages, being published in this city. The idea was brought here by Jack Paulin, a new student on the campus, who was assisted by Herbert Mentink and Harold Tubbers. The book is called a "Student's Guide", and has all the valuable information necessary for new-comers. In it is a list of every student together with his home and city address. In addition to this are also advertisements of local merchants.

Recently we quoted the Grand Haven Tribune stating that Cappy and Kopy had come to Holland to coach the Holland team preparing them for the Grand Haven game. This is so ridiculous to comment on. Neither of the boys were within one hundred miles of Holland and surely Coach Yost has his eye on them every minute for the crucial game to be played Saturday between Michigan and Wisconsin.

Fielding Yost was given a second opportunity to scout Wisconsin by virtue of the open date on the Wolverine schedule Saturday. Yost left Friday night for Madison in company with Geo. Sturzenegger assuming the role of scout for one day went to Iowa City to watch the Minnesota-Iowa game.

Delivery of 500 automobile box cars, which were ordered by the Pere Marquette some time ago, will be started this month. Shortage of material experienced by the manufacturer has been responsible for the delay. These cars, which cost about $1700 each, represent a further outlay of $850,000. The plans call for 80,000 pounds capacity, with a 40 1/2 feet inside measurement. They are double sheathed inside.

JURY DECIDES

A LIQUOR CASE FOR SECOND TIME

The jury in the liquor case of the people vs. William Forman rendered a verdict of not guilty in circuit court Monday night at the opening of the November term. Daniel F. Pagelsen defended Forman and the people's case was conducted by Attorney F. T. Miles.

The matter was on trial for the second time in Ottawa's circuit court. Forman was found guilty of the charges at a previous term of court, and the case was appealed to the supreme court. There the findings of the circuit court were reversed and the case was sent back for a new trial.

Forman was alleged to have liquor in a grip which he took in a local hotel. An officer opened the grip and found the liquor and made a complaint for violation of the liquor law. On the witness stand the officer claimed that he had been invited by Forman to search the grip, and the defense insisted that no such invitation had been given by Forman. The decision in the case hinged upon whether or not such an invitation had been given. The officer had no search warrant.

The jury decided that there was not sufficient evidence to show that the officer had been invited to open the grip, and verdict of not guilty was rendered.

POSSE LOOKS

FOR FUGITIVES IN COTTAGES

A small army of sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, and city police officers went systematically through the resorts along Black Lake and along the shore of Lake Michigan to find out whether the bandits that escaped from Ionia are hidden in one of the cottages. The authorities have been on the lookout for these escaped convicts, and Sunday they received information that they had been hiding in some of the cottages. Some cottage owners discovered that the men had been there and had used up some of the supplies of food left there.

Acting on this tip a posse of police officials was organized. The band was made up of deputy sheriffs from Ionia, Allegan, Berrien and Ottawa counties, together with police officials from several cities, including Holland. The leader of the party was Deputy Warden Leland of the Ionia state penitentiary, Holland was represented by several officers and Ottawa county by several deputies. There were about twenty officers in the band.

Dispatches from Saugatuck, Fenwick, South Haven and other points south of here trace the investigations of the officers and report depredations laid to the escaped convicts. Sixteen cottages in the resort territory southwest of Holland have been broken into during the past two days, six being located at Saugatuck and ten at Castle Park. Most of the stolen goods consisted of food.

PEACE TREATY DID NOT BRING THE DESIRED RESULTS

A goodly number of W. L. C. women attended the weekly meeting on Tuesday to hear Prof. Wynand Wichers on "Modern Tendencies in Europe," and other interesting features in the program. Mrs. H. A. Harrington gave current news, containing herself to home events. She mentioned the result of the last election, the passage of a law in Oregon against parochial schools, proposed legislation on ship subsidy and more stringent divorce laws. She also couched upon the recent earthquake and the snowstorm on its way here. A supreme court decision has decided Japanese are not entitled to citizenship in the United States.

Prof. Wichers, the speaker of the afternoon, declared that the peace treaty after the world war had not brought the desired result, that the commercial interests and economic situation of England, France and Italy, were so different that unity was lost, and after fourteen conferences the political situation in Europe is most critical. There is danger from the little entente, from Turkey re-entering Europe from the League of Nations change of form, from Russia becoming a capitalistic state. The speaker was hopeful, however that war would be averted and that younger statesmen of Europe would take a higher moral standard and build up a united federated people.

Mrs. Waltz rendered two songs: "A Love Song," and "In Autumn," accompanied by Miss Keppel on the violin and Mrs. Robbins on the piano. Mrs. Van Duren called the club's attention to the Red Cross drive. Reports were given by the chairman of the hospital and charity committees. Next week's program will be on "Better Reading." A display of books will be a feature.

WARNS GERMANY MAY OUTSTRIP AMERICA IN INDUSTRY

Unless America makes use of its scientific men, Germany will again outstrip America industrially as soon as Germany has settled its economic problem. This was the warning sounded Tuesday evening by Prof. Hilton Ora Jones, who gave a lecture in Carnegie Hall on "A Study in Vibrations." Dr. Jones declared that most of the scientific discoveries are made in America, but that countries like Germany reap the benefits of them, industrially and governmentally because in those countries the government uses its scientific men while in America science is entirely divorced from government. He made an earnest plea for all his listeners to help in the formation of a union of government and science.

Dr. Jones gave an interesting lecture on the theory of vibrations, using various instruments to make his points. He asserted that matter is one, and that when lead is separated into its elements it gives the same substance as when this is done to gold. Hence he believes that the dream of the alchemist was sound, bottom and that some day the world will learn to convert lead into gold. This was but one of the large number of interesting statements he made, and the lecture was highly entertaining as well as highly instructive.

POSTMASTER WILL EXCHANGE WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Although 1918 War Savings stamps do not mature until January 1st, 1923 Postmaster Van Eyck announces that he will accept them on and after November 15 in exchange for the new 4% Treasury Savings Certificates.

Every 1918 stamp presented now will be accepted at its maturity value of $5 if used as part payment for one or more new certificates, dated January 1, 1923.

This opportunity should appeal to everyone who holds War Savings Stamps bought in 1918—whether he holds one stamp or two hundred. The postmaster is anxious to handle the bulk of these exchanges before the usual Christmas rush begins at the postoffice. All owners of 1918 War Savings Stamps should take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

KAMFERBECK LOSES ON RECOUNT BY 308 VOTES

The board of county canvassers finished the recount on sheriff all over Ottawa county at midnight on Tuesday with the final result that the illegal ballots marked in pencil lost for Fred Kamferbeck not alone the 148 votes that he had to spare on the face of the returns on election night, but on the final recount held at Grand Haven he was short 308 ballots.

The illegal marking was not found in precincts alone where Kamferbeck was running way ahead but hundreds were thrown out in the precincts where Fortney was running unusually strong.

The total vote for sheriff in Ottawa county was 7,554. The votes thrown out because of illegal marking were 2,398, leaving a total of 5,156 ballots that were found legally correct.

According to the recount in Georgetown for instance, nearly the entire vote was thrown out; 258 out of 279 were initiated wrong, the initials being on the right hand corner instead of the left hand corner. The vote in this township was 173 for Fortney and 106 for Kamferbeck. When the inspectors got through there were only 21 legal ballots, 16 for Fortney and 5 for Kamferbeck.

In Chester all the ballots were thrown out because a lead pencil was used. The total vote was 172, of which Fortney received 115 votes and Kamferbeck 57. The initials were marked by Robert J. Gray. In Polkton several ballots were marked in red pencil. In this case Fortney lost 18 and Kamferbeck 3. Originally the vote stood 264 for Fortney and 92 for Kamferbeck.

In Talmadge township a peculiar situation arose. The inspector had started to mark the ballots on the face side. Twenty voters had voted when the inspector noticed his mistake. He had already marked several ballots in advance in that way, but in order to rectify his mistake he proceeded to mark them in the proper place also. This left a distinguishing mark on the face of the ballot, although the original count was 100 for Fortney, 34 for Kamferbeck, the recount shows that Kamferbeck received 15 and Fortney received 86.

In Grand Haven City first ward there were only four correct ballots, and these were counted for Kamferbeck. The rest of the ballots were marked in pencil, the original vote being 103 for Kamferbeck and 104 for Fortney. The recount gave Mr. Kamferbeck a lead of four in that ward, while originally Fortney had a majority of 1. John J. Gleason, a man who had been inspector there for years, marked the ballots in that ward.

In Grand Haven's second ward Neil De Gloppe put his full name on the ballot with a rubber stamp. This was a stunner for the election inspectors as the law does not mention rubber stamps. However this particular ward was counted and the result in the total would make no material difference in the final count. The whole of Park township was thrown out because a blue pencil was used and not an indelible. The original vote was 109, 71 for Kamferbeck and 38 for Fortney. After the recount the inspectors allowed 5 for Fortney and 5 for Kamferbeck.

In Holland township all the ballots were o. k. in every particular, but in Holland city is where the big slash was made. The first, second and fourth wards were o. k. but in the third ward the entire ballot was thrown out, 555 in number.

When the votes were counted it was found that there were only two legal ballots which were counted for Fortney. These two ballots were marked by Richard Overweg and were signed in ink. They were absent voters' ballots and were the only ones marked correctly. The other ballots were initiated by Nick Kammeraad. The original vote was 356 for Kamferbeck and 201 for Fortney.

In the fifth ward 640 votes were thrown out, the initials all being in pencil, three initials appearing on the ballot, Wickerink, Dykstra and Dobben. In the final result, Kamferbeck received two and Fortney one. These were also absent voters' ballots properly initiated by Richard Overweg.

In the sixth ward the total of 389 votes were thrown out, and in the final credit Fortney was given one, and Kamferbeck was given one. These two were absent voters' ballots sent in by the city clerk.

A question arose as to what is an indelible pencil. It seems that the marks made by indelible pencils can be erased but if indelible pencils can be erased it is "runny" and blotches a paper. But if inspectors wanted to be crooked, all signs of the blue pencil markings used could be obliterated easily.

The board of county canvassers tested this out and even the indelible pencils would not be a protection against fraud.

In the final analysis and the recount all over the county, Mr. Kamferbeck loses out in the recount by 308, and the votes not counted because of illegal markings are 2,398.

No doubt the next step that will be taken by the candidate that will be defeated will be to test the legality of the votes in the courts, and the question then will be, whether the court will uphold the letter of the law or the intent of the voter.

There is no doubt but where these discrepancies occurred, inspectors of election are "as honest as the day is long." These inspectors have all been tried for years and are highly respected citizens in the communities in which they reside. The only question that can arise as far as they are concerned is the fact that they did not follow the letter of the law. No one has spoken of fraud anywhere and no one suspects any.

STEPHAN TAKES UP FIGHT FOR VOTERS OF THREE WARDS

Mayor E. P. Stephan Wednesday took up the fight for the voters of the third, fifth and sixth wards of the city of Holland in the recent election and he declared that he would fight to the last ditch to have the votes in these wards counted. Mayor Stephan will engage legal counsel to represent the people of the three wards and he will leave no stone unturned to have the voters given their rights. His contention is that the voters of these wards voted in good faith and that they should not be deprived of their votes thru a mere technicality.

"I am not doing this for Fred Kamferbeck," said Mayor Stephan, "I am doing this for the people of these wards. I voted for Del Fortney in the election. I had no good enough reason for voting against him and since he had had only one term I felt that he was entitled to another. But the decision having gone against Fortney, the people who voted in good faith have a right to have their votes counted, and I shall exhaust all legal means to see to it that this is done. I consider it my duty as head of the city government to do this. This is not a fight for the rights of Fred Kamferbeck, but a fight for the rights of the voters."

"I believe that the canvassers of the vote made a mistake in passing on the legality of these ballots. I believe that they should have passed the ballot and thus put the burden of the proof on Mr. Fortney. Nowhere does the law say that a ballot initiated in pencil is void. The law says that the ballot shall be initiated in ink or indelible pencil, and from that it can be inferred that ballots marked in pencil are void, but this is merely an interference, and hence a legal question open to more than one interpretation. This being the case, it is right that the court should pass on it, but it is not fair, in my opinion, that the burden of the proof be put on Kamferbeck in view of the fact that there is no question about the good faith of the voters."

"That the court is not compelled to throw out these ballots is shown by a supreme court decision on ballots that were initiated not under the numbered corner, as the law requires, but in the opposite corner. If that case the supreme court held that the intent of the voters should govern, and the ballots were counted. If our legal fraternity takes the position that in this Kamferbeck case the ballots initiated in pencil must be thrown out, they are presuming something that the supreme court decision in the other case does not bear out. The law does not explicitly state that the pencil initiated ballots must be thrown out, but is silent on that point."

"In any event, the people of these three wards have a right to have their votes counted. They did not make any mistake and they voted in good faith. I shall fight for them and I shall do everything in my power to secure for them their rights as American citizens. If the throwing out of these ballots goes unprotected think of the chance for fraud in future elections; then any election inspector could control an election by deliberately marking the ballots of those he wished to defeat in pencil. If this is so then there ought to be a heavy penalty imposed on any election inspector who should mark a ballot in pencil."

"This fight is on now and I shall leave no stone unturned. I shall use every legal means to have the voters' rights maintained, and I feel certain that all citizens, whether they voted for Fortney or for Kamferbeck, will stand by me in this. This is the fight of every citizen, and let me repeat that it is not a partisan fight, not a fight for Kamferbeck, but a fight for hundreds of voters in these wards who have been disfranchised."

HONOR SYSTEM INTRODUCED AT VOORHEES HALL

Student government among the residents of Voorhees Hall took another forward step, when the house committee of the girls' dormitory recently met, and adopted new rules to take effect concerning the conduct of the occupants and guests. Individual responsibility and community co-operation, it is believed by the dean of women, will put the coeds on an honor basis and will make for growth in character. The girls are co-operating in making the hall as homelike as possible and to create an atmosphere such as will bring about the influence of the home.

At the first meeting, unanimous support was given to a number of rules as presented by the house committee. Discontinuing an old custom in which the lights were turned off by a switch, each girl will turn off her own light at a specified time. All underclassmen and preparatory students at 10:15; all Juniors at 10:30; and all seniors at 11 P. M. Exceptions to this rule will be made only in case of parties or college functions from which the girls return late. She took us all to see "Glimpses of France," explaining and describing things along the way. All joined in singing La Marseillaise.

OPEN THANKSGIVING DRIVE FOR THE CITY MISSION

TEES MAKES REPORT OF PAST TWO YEARS

There is Now Small Deficit; Trustees Ask For Large Number of Small Donations

The Board of Trustees of the City Mission made a formal report today of the moneys collected and expended during the past two years for that institution. The total amount collected was $4,086.50, and the total expenditures amounted to $4,116.28, leaving a deficit of $29.78. This report is made now in anticipation of a Thanksgiving drive soon to be held for the Mission. The board consists of the following: John Vander Veen, president; Con De Pree, secretary and treasurer; G. J. Diekema, A. H. Landwehr, John Good, V. L. Dibble, F. D. Whelan, Walter Lane, John Bosman, Percy Ray, and Arthur Visser. It was the intent at the time of the 1920 drive to conduct a similar drive annually, but the funds collected were sufficient to carry the Mission and the charitable activities of Miss Churchford for a period of two years. The fund is now exhausted and the board desires to make a thanksgiving offering drive for the Mission in the city during the next two weeks.

It will be noted in the statement presented that the amount reported as collected is larger than the amount reported in the Sentinel at that time, due to the fact that donations kept dribbling in for some days thereafter. It will also be noted that the collections at the Mission during these two years amounting to $694.10 were added to the fund, and also that the fund collected interest during the period of $58.10.

The board plans to conduct the drive in a similar manner to the previous one throughout the factories and business district of the city, not asking any individual or corporation for a large donation, but asking a very general contribution throughout the city. In that way the drive is not a hardship on anyone, and certainly no one could contribute money to a more worthy cause than to the City Rescue Mission and the charities conducted by Miss Churchford through it.

As the drive progresses reports of moneys collected in the different factories and business districts, will be reported in the paper from day to day.

Following is the formal financial statement of the board up to Oct. 1, 1922:

HOPE GIRLS ARE TO TRY OUT FOR SWEATERS

Twenty of Hope's fair co-eds have signed up with Coach Schouten to try out for a sweater this year, and if the weather continues favorable 20 more girls will be parading the streets with a white sweater and an honorary letter "H".

The girls will be required to make a thousand points in earning the sweater. It is non-competitive and every girl who is a member of the Athletic association is entitled to try out, providing they hand in their names in time. A certain amount of exercising and athletic work is required of them.

Most of the points are gained in hiking which requires 25 weeks, 20 miles per week and not to exceed 5 miles a day. 100 points each are allowed for ten hours of indoor baseball, basketball, and setting up exercises. The other 200 points are elective from volleyball, canoeing, rowing, ice or roller skating, which will each count for 10 points an hour.

Last spring a new sport was introduced when Miss Baert of Grand Rapids, taught swimming. This will also become a requirement this year, including two perfect strokes, a 30-yd. swim and the dead man's float.

Since the athletic association has provided this participation in athletics for girls, there has been a decided decrease in sickness upon the campus, Coach Schouten declares. This is a new scheme of giving the coeds a part in athletics during the winter season, and though in some ways inadequate and unsatisfactory, it is a first step toward active co-operation in fostering athletics on the campus. The way the girls respond to the opportunity is valid proof that the privilege is appreciated.

PAUL TATE SENDS INTERESTING ITEM FROM HIS NEW HOME

In the "Land of Niggers" The following interesting item is sent by Paul Tate, son of Rev. M. L. Tate, recent rector of Grace church, who left for Memphis, Tenn., about a month ago.

The communication from Paul follows below:
"There are lots of coons down here, light and dark. They also drive mules here instead of horses. The climate is exceptionally disagreeable at times on this account. Swimming is fine now and I don't miss it either."

The high school which I attend differs in many ways from H. H. S. Everyone is required to take the military course and each student wears a uniform thruout the whole day. We have eight periods in one day, one of which is utilized for a fair election and honest return should be considered as paramount in importance to minor requirements which prescribe the formal steps to reach that end, and the law should be so construed as to military work, and another is used as dinner hour. We eat our dinner at the high school cafeteria. There are 1800 students in the Technical High. Besides these there are two Catholic and one negro high school."

Paul says he likes the school and the city real well, and as we may conclude that Memphis must be a pretty fine "burg" to live in.

STATE ORGANIZER PRAISES WORK OF LOCAL WOMAN

Mrs. G. J. Van Duren, in charge of the Home Service Department of the Red Cross, came in for high praise from Roy M. Hardy, state field organizer for Michigan of the Red Cross roll call, Thursday when he paid a visit to Holland. Mr. Hardy declared that in only two other counties in the state was the Home Service department handled so efficiently as it is being handled by Mrs. Van Duren. Mr. Hardy, who is now living in Lansing, is not unacquainted with Holland. He lived in this city for two years, having charge of the ungraded room in the public school during the superintendency of Mr. Bishop.

Mr. Hardy said the roll call work was so well organized here that he did not have a single suggestion to offer but that he rather won inspiration from it for other localities. Last year, according to Mr. Hardy, 28,000 service men in the United States won compensation who would not have got it except for the Red Cross. They were entitled to it but did not know how to go to it or how to get the necessary affidavits. The Red Cross got it for them. Last year there were 600,000 preventable deaths in the United States. One of the functions of the Red Cross is to help reduce these thru education. Last year there were 72 disasters, such as fire, flood, hurricane, tornado, etc., which killed 694 persons and injured 591, leaving 145,000 persons homeless. In case of disaster the Red Cross gets into action in a few minutes, not only applying its own resources but also securing the aid of the railroad and telegraph service of the nation.

The Junior Red Cross, Mr. Hardy said, is a potent force for binding the children of the nation together, and many believe that this will be an effective agency for international peace in the future.

Ottawa has always responded generously to all calls, Mr. Hardy said, and it is confidently expected that the response this year will be equal or exceed that of last year.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION MAKES AN APPEAL FOR MORE CO-OPERATION

The Holland Poultry association has sent out cleverly printed cards asking for the co-operation of the merchants and others in the coming poultry show and in working up a show premium book. The card says in part:

"Supposing, Mr. Business Man, that a representative of some corporation came to you and said: 'Mr. Business Man, we are planning to locate in Ottawa county. We don't ask you and don't want you to invest one cent in our corporation. We will spend thousands of dollars in new buildings and new equipment and the money will all be spent with you and go through your business places. All we ask is co-operation and this tremendous enterprise will be located in your county, and very close to Holland, Michigan. Yes, we will build right in your city limits. Will you give us this co-operation?' 'Surely your answer would be: 'Yes, Mr. Representative, come quick. We need your corporation, and we will co-operate?'"

"The Holland Poultry association's representative is going to call on you within a few days and ask your co-operation in a three million dollar (Ottawa County and Holland, Mich.) industry."

The Poultry industry in this locality brought the poultry men better than three million dollars in 1922. All indications are that 1923 will total from five million dollars upward in receipts for the poultry industry in Ottawa county."

COLLEGE SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL STAG

The Knickerbocker society held their annual stag party Friday night in their hall on the college campus. A number of the alumni and the active members were in attendance.

After a sumptuous banquet was served the new members were initiated into the society. The following men were elected as Knickerbockers: R. Vander Poel, G. Steketee, N. Vander Hart, R. Van Dyke, C. Eggink, G. Kemme, D. Moser, E. Fieldhouse, W. Roughgarden, R. Kuiper, F. Hinkamp, J. Ver Meulen, A. Zwemer and A. Neevel.

Who knows, possibly Holland will have a new switch engine instead of a new depot for twenty new switch engines have been ordered by the Pere Marquette Railway to take care of the additional traffic which the coming year is expected to bring to Michigan's intimate, home railroad. These locomotives which are of the eight-wheel type, will cost approximately $40,000 each, representing an aggregate outlay of $800,000. They are being built by the American Locomotive Company at the Patterson, N. J., plant and delivery will start about January 1st.

LARGE SUM IS RAISED AT THE DR. SCUDDER MEETING

Third Reformed church was crowded to the doors Monday afternoon when Dr. Ida Scudder of India spoke there in behalf of the Woman's Union colleges of the Orient. It is estimated that there were at least eight hundred present, large delegations having come from several cities throughout Western Michigan. So effective was the appeal of Dr. Scudder that a total of $1700 was pledged for her cause.

Mrs. Scudder and her companion Miss Gertrude Dodd are in this country for the purpose of helping to raise $2,000,000.00 before the end of the year for equipment and building for seven Union Christian Women's colleges in the Orient. The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Fund has pledged $1,000,000.00 to this cause provided twice that amount is raised by the friends of the institutions. The colleges are maintained by a co-operative mission boards in the United States, three in England and one in Canada. The Union Missionary Medical School for Women at Velore, India, of which Dr. Scudder is president, is one of these seven colleges, and that is why Dr. Scudder is here to speak for this cause. She and Miss Dodd are traveling all over the United States to arouse interest in this work. They have already traveled 18,000 miles for this purpose, and they are trying in every way possible to reach large masses of people. Recently in Detroit, Dr. Scudder spoke her address into the radio to spread her message in this way over a large area.

Miss Dodd Monday afternoon explained to the large audience in the Third Reformed church the purpose of the visit, and after that statement Dr. Scudder gave her inspirational address in which she told of conditions in India. She particularly called attention to the Mary Taber Schell hospital which has a 42 bed capacity, but which is so crowded that often it accommodates as many as 84 persons, placing one patient on a bed and another on a mat under the bed. Speaking of the college of which she is president, Dr. Scudder told of the success of the native girls in medical work. It now has 88 students and the first class was recently graduated.

Opportunity will remain open for further pledges. Checks may be sent to Mrs. James Wayer, 25 East 12th street, who will forward the money to the board.

Dr. Ida Scudder, for 22 years a missionary in India, and Miss Gertrude Dodd, formerly secretary of the Woman's Band of Foreign Missions, and today treasurer of the Arcot Mission and assistant to Dr. Scudder, were guests upon the college campus Monday morning. "I have only one regret," said Miss Scudder Monday morning as she addressed the student body, "that the strength of years lies back of me. I am wondering what your vision is for the future," she said as she started to sketch for the students the story of her own life.

Miss Scudder spoke very highly of the work done by the girls attending the medical school in India, and impressed the need of education for women, in as much as the Indian religion does not permit medical aid by men.

In commenting on the methods used in carrying on the medical work she said that on a given day of the week, the missionaries would leave their posts and go into the country, and give medical aid to all who presented themselves along the roadside, sometimes treating as many as 300 patients in one day.

The one great problem in India today is the appalling number of child widows. There are in India today, 500,000 widows under five years of age. The problem presents a task that calls for united efforts of the Christian church.

DID ESCAPED CONVICTS COME TROUGH HOLLAND FRIDAY NIGHT?

At one o'clock Friday morning four men answering the description of the four convicts who had escaped from Ionia prison the day before, took lunch in the E-Z lunch wagon and hurriedly got into a Ford coupe and started to drive in the direction of Macatawa Park.

Officer O'Connor who received his description of the men from Chief Van Ry, who had been made aware of the escape by the warden of Ionia, suspected that these men in the automobile were the men wanted. He told them to halt, but instead they stepped on it, and were soon going westward with Deputy Bowman and Officer O'Connor giving chase in Bowman's automobile.

At one time the officers were mistaken in the automobile ahead and got by the Ford coupe that was supposed to contain the escaped convicts. The officers thought it to be another automobile containing some drunks. They saw the convicts' car slip into the Saugatuck road and again gave chase.

Swerving into the Castle Park road closely followed by the officers, the car was abandoned and the occupants made for the hills.

Chief Van Ry detailed Steketee to go to South Haven with Deputy Sheriff Moomey while Officers Bontekoe, O'Connor, and Deputy Sheriff Bowman scoured the hills in the vicinity of Castle Park.

Chief Van Ry received the information that the Ford Coupe belongs to J. Smallegan living near Forest rove, that the garage had been broken into and that the car had been taken.

Mr. Smallegan was here Friday claiming his property.

COUNTY CLERK ORRIE SLUITER HAS AUTO LICENSE PLATES

Motorists will be able to buy their 1923 auto plates within a short time. County Clerk Orrie Sluiter has already secured the plates but is now waiting for other blanks and the necessary stationery incident to issuing the plates.

Proper regulations will be made in Holland to take care of the county in this end.

Just who will take care of it and where this work will be done will be decided within a few days.

There have been some important changes in the license regulations since last year. From now on it will not be so easy to purchase plates as more routine must be gone thru.

One point is forcibly brought to the attention of motorists by C. J. DeLand secretary of state. It is to the effect that every person buying a 1923 license must show his or her certificate of title for the car on which the license is issued.

The 1921 legislature passed what is known as the Condon certificate of title law, a measure designed to cut off automobile thefts in the state of Michigan. This law became effective on July 1, 1922. According to its terms no transaction involving the sale or purchase of a motor car in Michigan can be made unless a title has first been issued for the car and this must then be transferred to the purchaser, thru the state department.

Secretary DeLand in considering a method of handling the 1923 licenses so as to prevent fraud, decided that all owners must show their certificates of title, when applying for plates. The clerk issuing the license will then be required to write in the title number on the license application blank as a check to show the title is in possession of the rightful owner.

The secretary of state concluded after thorough consideration of the problem that showing the title was the only sure way of preventing the issuing of plates for stolen cars. This will probably prove an inconvenience to some who have mislaid their titles, but the state department will adhere strictly to the rule. Those who do not comply with it will be unable to purchase license plates.

Those motor car owners who wish to avoid the unpleasant rush which starts each year on the day following Christmas should purchase their licenses some time between the opening of the sale on December 1 and December 24. License offices are open from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., except on Saturday, when they are closed at 12 o'clock, noon.

Individual wealth throughout the nation increased 40 cents during October, according to a statement issued today by the treasury, which showed that on Nov. 1, the per capita circulation of money was $41.44, compared with $41.04 on October 1.

GRAND RAPIDS PASTOR ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT DECISION MEETING

Rev. King Beach of the Fulton-St. Methodist church, Grand Rapids addressed the Hope College students at the "decision" meeting of prayer week Thursday morning. After with a burning message, and with a quiver in his voice, he presented life's ultimate choice to his audience.

"Where are you going to stake your life?" said Rev. Beach is the question that every man and woman must decide. "You've got to stake it somewhere, and Christianity is the only religion which can adequately answer and satisfy the longings of the human soul. The second question is whether you are ready for a complete and full commitment of your life to Jesus Christ. Christ was a man who believed in folks. It is not so much a question of our theological conceptions as one of our convictions of the dependence upon the Saviour. Three characteristics mark a man who is really seeking the truth. He has a keen dissatisfaction for his past life, an earnestness for something better for the future and a readiness to accept Christ."

Rev. Beach's address was a stirring one. It was the most important meeting of the series, the last of which was held Friday.

"MOTHER GOOSE LADY" TO BE HERE ON FRIDAY

Every parent in Holland is invited to hear the lecture on "Child Life" to be given by Mrs. Helen B. Paulsen at the high school on Friday evening of this week. Mrs. Paulsen, who is a noted lecturer and psychologist, is best known by the title of "The Mother Goose Lady." She has gained this appellation by her original method of presenting her lectures. She uses figures representing Mother Goose characters to visualize the different phases in a child's life and the development of his character. This dramatization of her story never fails to engage and hold the interest of her audience. One who has heard Mrs. Paulsen has this to say of her:

"Few lecturers have so stirring and vital a message as Mrs. Paulsen. Still fewer have the faculty of holding so keenly the attention of their audiences. So graphic is her presentation of the cares and trials and misunderstandings that come to our boys and girls—so sympathetic is her treatment of their little problems and the methods of solving them—that no parent who listens to her can fail of profound gratitude for the practical, helpful suggestions with which her lecture is filled from start to finish."

During the course of this week new hand-book will appear on the college campus that has been compiled by three of the students.

HOSPITAL REPORT REFUTES CHARGE OF RUNNING BEHIND

During the campaign just closed the question was often asked whether the Holland hospital was self-supporting. Wild charges were made to the effect that this institution had run $5,000 into the hole last year.

While this charge was adequately refuted by reference to the city books in the office of the city clerk, which showed that the hospital usually took in approximately as much in fees during any given month as it expended for maintenance, there were many who seemed to be unconvinced and who continued to make the charge verbally that the hospital was constantly running behind.

Merely as a matter of demonstration of the statement of ten made by the local press during the campaign that the hospital was not running behind, this paper is hereby printing the official report of the superintendent of the hospital, Mabel B. Miller, for the month of October, the latest report available. This paper plans to print the hospital reports each month from now on so that every citizen can judge for himself how things stand.

Miss Miller's report for October shows that during that month, the same month in which the charges of running behind were being made, the fees collected and the accounts due exceeded the bills paid by $307.52. The report in full is as follows:

Report of the Holland Hospital for the Month of October, 1922

No. of Patients in at close of last month.....	14
No. of Patients admitted during month.....	27
No. of Patients dismissed during month.....	30

HERE'S A SUGGESTION.

Sometime, for all you know, you may want to sell your house. When that time comes, how would you like to take a tip from experienced real estate dealers?

Well, anyway here's what they are doing in many cities: They advertise the location of the property, number of rooms, and whenever possible: "Heated by a Holland Furnace."

We often receive lists of these ads from our Branch Managers, and of course, we enjoy this evidence of personal pride on the part of our men.

The convincing thing about it all is simply that no mention of other furnaces is to be found in these real estate lists.

HOLLAND HIGH GOES DOWN GAMEDLY IN THE DEFEAT SATURDAY

(VELDMAN)

Before a crowd of over 4000 people at Water Works Park Saturday the Grand Haven football team met and decisively defeated the local aggregation. The final score of 26-0 indicates how badly the Maroon and Orange were treated. Holland has no alibi to offer. Grand Haven had the better team. They were well coached and played clean football and deserved full credit for the victory.

The game which was played under ideal weather conditions and before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a football game in Holland had everything which tended to make it look like a university battle. Each team had its own band which paraded around the field before the game and between the halves. The game was not marred by any fictitious encounters on the part of the spectators, showing that there is no need for any roughness even though the rivalry and interest is keen. Grand Haven had fully a thousand rooters on the side-lines to cheer their team, while the rest of the great crowd yelled loudly for Holland to win. The Holland team was first to make its appearance on the field and after its limbering process had been completed, they took to the sidelines while Grand Haven went thru its practice session. The Grand Haven team was the heavier of the two, Holland being outweighed seven pounds to a man.

Captains Duffield and Lordahl met with Referee Churm in midfield and Holland won the toss and received on the south side of the field. Van Tol kicked off to Van Zanten who returned ten yards. After Lordahl had pierced the line for a 5 yard gain, Holland was penalized 15 yards. Hill's punt traveled 15 yards and went out-side, giving Grand Haven possession of the ball on the 40 yard line. Van Toll crushed thru center for ten yards. Westerhof and Van Tol, alternating at carrying the ball smashed Holland's line until they reached the 10-yd. strip. Here Holland braced and took the ball, Hill punted out of danger. Grand Haven again started a vicious march down the field, Westerhof, DenHerder and VanToll all contributing long gains. This time they were stopped on the 4 yard line. Holland was determined and threw back each attempt of the Blue and Gold. Westerhof tried a drop kick but his attempt went wide. Holland took possession of ball on the 20 yard line. Here Holland received its best chance to score. Hill and Lordahl made consistent gains into Grand Haven's territory. With the ball on the 40 yard line, Holland punted the ball rolling behind Grand Havens line. They punted immediately and Holland with Hill and Lordahl taking the ball went to the 22 yard line. Holland lacked the necessary punch, failing to open up, and their judgment of proper plays was bad. The quarter ended 0-0 with the ball in Grand Haven's hands. In the second quarter the lads from the county seat took a fair lead, when Westerhof twice booted the ball between Holland's goal posts for six points. Holland was penalized repeatedly for having their backfield in motion before the ball was passed. Twice in this quarter Grand Haven completed long forward passes. After Westerhof had returned Hill's punt to midfield, Grand Haven uncorked a nice lateral pass, which was good for a thirty-yard gain, but it was declared incomplete the ball being passed forward behind the line of scrimmage. Den Herder made up for the loss when he shook off the Holland tacklers for a 35 yard gain. Westerhof made the first 3 points of the game when he scored via a drop-kick. Van Zanten again received the kickoff and traveled back 20 yards. Holland punted and on the second play Den Herder shot a long pass to Ver Duin for a 30-yard gain. Plunges and end runs brot the Grand Haven team in a position to score, and Westerhof brought his toe into play and added another 3 points to Grand Haven's score. The half ended shortly after Lordahl had returned the kickoff 30 yards. Score—Grand Haven 6; Holland 0.

Holland played splendidly the first half, Grand Haven could not pass the ball across their goal line, both their scores being made from outside the 20 yard line. In the second half Holland seemed a different team, Lordahl and Hill ripped off long gains, but could not get within striking distance of the goal. Grand Haven found a weak spot in Holland's line at right guard and they hammered away at it with success. After a short punting duel, in which neither team gained any decided advantage, Van Tol punted to Vanden Brink on his own 30 yard line, Johnny fumbled and the ball rolled to the 5 yard marker. Hill punted out to Duffield who returned to Holland's 20 yard line. After a penalty of 15 yard run by Van Tol, Grand Haven pushed the ball over for a touchdown. Holland came back strong and threatened to score. Hill and Lordahl bore the brunt of the offensive drive and took the ball to the 15 yard strip, where they held. Van Zanten's attempt at goal fell short. Grand Haven seemed to be wearing down the locals' defense and they started an offensive drive which gave them their second touchdown. Van Tol and Westerhof tore off great gains through the line and shortly after the start of the fourth quarter Van Tol crashed over for six points, which brought their total to 20 points. Masselink replaced Neis and Kleis went in for Van Lente. Grand Haven gained the ball in midfield, and again by straight line plunges gained their final score. Den Herder roving over the line. St. Johns, Holland's left end who had been playing a great game was injured and Damstra went in. Neither team made any decided gains during the remainder of the game, the play ending in the middle of the field. Final score—Grand Haven 26, Holland 0.

Grand Haven has two splendid backfield men in Westerhof and Van Tol and a good defensive center in Van Dorne, the entire team played well and showed the results of good coaching.

In Swede Lordahl Holland has one of the greatest line plungers since the days of Cappon. Hill also deserves a lot of credit for his showing. Playing with injuries that would keep the ordinary type on the sidelines this lad hit the line and ran the ends with great success. Mulder seemed to be a tower of strength on the line, and St. Johns performed very creditably at end, the opponent running back the punts gaining very little before being downed. Grand Haven's victory, the second in 12 games played with Holland was well earned. Holland was defeated but they went down to defeat gloriously fighting hard until the final whistle. The work of the officials was pleasing, there being very little wrangling over decisions.

Holland High Reserves Swamp
Grand Haven 44-0

Holland High's Reserve team took part of the sting out of the first team's defeat when they completely swamped the Havenites turning in a 44-0 victory. Holland scored in the first two minutes of play when Grand Haven fumbled and Holland recovered on the ten yard-line. Dulyea scored the first touchdown. Whenever Holland obtained possession of the ball they marched right up the field for six points. Dulyea and the two Hills found little opposition and scored almost at will. Gr. Haven had a slight advantage in weight but the locals smashed their line continually for long gains. The work of Dulyea was especially bright; this lad used fine judgment and he scored four touchdowns. Gailster made one touchdown and played well on defense. Boyink and Shupe were most of the little resistance offered by Grand Haven. Holland's Reserve team is exceptionally strong and should send up some very fine material for the first squad next year.

BIG BASKETBALL SEASON IN PROSPECT

When the Hope College basketball team starts the season here in December, the squad will in every way be fully as strong as Hope has always been able to prize. Hope's prestige in basketball throughout the states as well as the state is something that Coach Schouten is taking every precaution to uphold. Last year the local Orange and Blue ran neck to neck to the strong state championship team of Kalamazoo College.

Basketball prospects for this season are very encouraging, after the men have been out for almost two weeks.

Next week football will have been put by the board and will add several strong men to the line-up who are still devoting their time to the gridiron. Coach Schouten has at least a strong nucleus in Riemersma of Sioux City, Iowa, who has been elected to the captaincy last year. Riemersma will take a good deal of worry from the local mentor's mind as far as Hope's defense is concerned.

George Irving of this city will also take care of one position. Irving is the shifting figure on the team, and is capable of filling any gap in the line-up that offers any difficulty to the Coach. He may take any one of the three positions, according to the material that Coach Schouten can match up with the two veterans.

Van Lente and Yonkman of this city have nosed their way to the top last year and together with Clare Lubbers of Iowa, will form a strong combination that will guarantee Hope an impregnable squad such as was seen on the Hope floor the past season.

These men have made a good record as substitutes last year, and have appeared in a good many games, and also contributed to the record that the Hope Reserves won. James Poppen, a former Preparatory Star, will make a strong bid for the center position. Poppen's athletic abilities will rub hard against the efforts of other aspirants.

In addition to the regulars are: Koekere, Joldersma, and others who will bolster up the hopes and prospects of the coming season.

Other men that may help Schouten fill his line-up are: Van der Meer, Van Den Brink, Hidding, Damson, Van Der Poel, Albers, Arthur Mulder and a few others, all first year men in the sport.

The big problem that is worrying Schouten is the point getters. With Irving in probably one position, the coach may have to look for some time for the right man.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lindsay, 119 Putman-st., Grand Rapids, formerly of Holland, a boy.

Grand Haven gridiron fans became almost as nervous upon hearing that Muskegon had gone down to defeat at the hands of Union as they were over the 26-0 drubbing administered Holland last Saturday. Grand Haven sport followers are properly enthusiastic over the powerful grid machine Coach Cohrs has built up this season around a nucleus of only four experienced players. The Havenites figure that their 1922 record entitles them to really serious consideration as aspirants for the state title and are willing to meet any of the high schools still in the running, namely, Flint and Detroit Eastern—G. Some unique History connected with Ninth Street Church, now Celebrating 75th Anniversary

Ninth-street Christian Reformed church will celebrate the 75th anniversary of its organization with a special service this evening. The speakers will include the Rev. E. J. Tuuk, of Chicago, Rev. A. Keizer of Harderwijk, both former pastors, Rev. Henry Beets of Grand Rapids and Rev. J. M. Ghysels who assumed the pastorate about three years ago. Mr. Tuuk will speak on "The Vision of the Leader," Mr. Keizer on "Remembrance of God's Blessings in the Midst of His Temple," Dr. Beets on "The Struggles of the Pioneers," and Mr. Ghysels on "The Message of the Past at the Church of the Present." The speaking program will be interspersed with musical numbers. The public is cordially invited.

Like every other city in the world, Holland has its landmark. The Ninth Street Holland Christian Reformed church, known as the "Old Van Raalte church," has the distinction of being the oldest and best preserved building in this city and has served as the religious assembly place for more than fifty years.

Dr. A. C. Van Raalte

For the first five years after Holland was founded by Dr. Van Raalte, a little log building erected in the forests was deemed sufficient for a place of worship, but in 1852 it was determined that the new church should be the best building in the city, and in 1855 the first church was erected. The structure is supported at the entrance by six mammoth white pillars. It has a seating capacity of 1,500 and the south wall bears a beautiful marble slab with gilt letters—a tribute of respect to its founder and organizer. A peculiar feature in the history of the church and one that was regarded as an especial act of Providence was the saving of this church on the occasion of the big fire of 1871, when the city was completely wiped out. The old church stood unscathed and sheltered several buildings in the immediate vicinity from the ruins. The building today is as strong and serviceable as the day it was dedicated. The old church bell placed in the steeple over fifty years ago is still doing service. In the olden days the bell announced the time of day and was also rung for fires and tolled for funerals. On top of the steeple is an old-fashioned copper rooster and this is still in use as an indicator for the direction of the wind. One great difficulty presented itself to the dinsth who constructed the rooster. Ways had to be devised to make the rooster turn with the wind and a suitable pivot had to be constructed that would not rust and needed no oil. After considerable thought the pioneer hardware man flashed upon an idea. In those days wine bottles had deep concave bottoms. Mr. Vander Veen cut off one of these bottles half way down, inverted the bottom and had the iron rod that passed through the rooster turn around in the upturned wine bottle bottom. And to this day the old cock still turns about in the glass socket.

The unique customs of the early days have given way to modern ideas. In those days the women occupied seats in the center rows and the men sat on the east and west sides. The elders sat in front at the right side of the pulpit and next to them some thirty students. No one ventured to sit with his wife. After the men entered the church they would for a moment stand still with the hat or cap in front of their eyes and offer a silent prayer.

When the people began to come into the church one of the elders would rise and announce a psalm, during the singing of which the pastor arrived. The services usually lasted from 9 to 12 o'clock. If any one commenced to feel drowsy, he would stand up for a while. If any one would actually fall asleep, the dominie would say, "John, please wake up your neighbor." If it happened in his own seat he would mention the name.

Probably the most interesting phase in the history of the church was in the 80's, when the congregation was disrupted by two factions on account of the secret order question. Several degrees of the order were publicly exposed for several evenings in succession and the majority favored secession. The burning question was which faction was entitled to possession of the property. For weeks it was fought in the courts, represented by the best legal talent. The circuit court passed it on to the supreme court, where it met a tie vote. Finally the majority was given possession. In the meantime sensational gatherings were held, which often required the interference of the city marshal to preserve order. On one occasion the minority threatened to break into the church, but the other faction held the fort.

The minority finally repaired to the Hope College chapel until in 1887 it built a fine brick edifice on the corner of Ninth street and Central avenue and named it the First Reformed church.

Both churches are in a prosperous condition today and are located in the same block, the one on the east and the other on the west corner.

Harmony now prevails and the best of feeling exists between the respective congregations and pastors. Each in their way are doing a great deal of constructive work and are powers for good in Holland's community life.

Ald. Brieve, chairman of the commission on poor, reported to the common council Wednesday evening that the sum of $99 had been expended for temporary aid the past 2 weeks. The mayor and aldermen have been invited to attend a meeting at the Association of Commerce Bldg. in Grand Rapids on the evening of Nov. 17, when Mayor James Couzens of Detroit will give an address. Rev. H. J. Kuiper of the Broadway Ave. Christian Reformed church of Grand Rapids, will preach Sunday in his former charge at Castle Park Christian Reformed church. Cotton is continually going up. Here is your last chance to buy Coat's Machine sewing thread at 55 cents a dozen, all sizes in black and white. A. Peters 5 and 10 Cents Store and Bazaar.

The services at Trinity Reformed church Sunday evening will be conducted by the pastor, C. R. Dame whose subject will be "Do you believe in common grace?" Services begin at 7:30.

Mr. Rudolph H. Habermann of Washington, D. C., is the guest of his parents, 214 Maple Ave. Mr. Habermann is a graduate of the Holland high school and the U. of M.

G. VAN SCHELVEN IS 80
YEARS OLD TODAY

LOCAL HISTORIAN IS STILL AS BUSY AS EVER IN SPITE OF ADVANCED AGE

G. Van Schelven, known thruout Michigan as a collector of historical material about this settlement and who has done more than any other one man to preserve the source materials on which a history of this community can be based, was today celebrating his 80th birthday anniversary. Mr. Van Schelven is still in good health and he is still serving actively as a justice of the peace. In this capacity as well as in many other ways he is still serving his community with the vigor of a man much younger in years.

Mr. Van Schelven has so far lived a very busy life and he keeps on being busy as the years pass. He served in the civil war, has been commander of the A. C. V. Raalte Post, served for many years as editor of the Holland City News, has been city clerk, county clerk, clerk of the Michigan legislature, postmaster of Holland, and has held many other positions of trust. In addition to being justice of the peace at present he is on the Ottawa County Poor Commission and works hard and actively at that job.

GIRLS HIKE AND HAVE HAM AND EGGS FOR BREAKFAST

The new organization of Girl Scouts, which has been started in high school, is indeed proving itself a peppy bunch. The girls are all very enthusiastic about Scout work and already a few of the members have passed their tenderfoot test and the rest expect to be able to do so at the next meeting.

Last Saturday morning before breakfast the troop hiked across the lake, where bacon, eggs and coffee were cooked over a not pine-wood camp fire, after which the return trip to Holland was made. The girls are planning many more hikes and also camping parties.

HOLLAND IS INTER-ESTED IN COMING
SILVER FOX SHOW

MUSKEGON WILL HAVE FOX
WAY FROM ALASKA; SOME
FOX SELL AT $3000 A PAIR

Holland being connected up with a silver fox farm is naturally interested in the third annual live silver fox show to be held by the National Silver Fox Breeders' Association of America, Muskegon, Michigan, December 6, 7, 8, which promises to be the largest and best that has yet been held. Entries are being received from Fox Breeders in all parts of the Northern United States and no doubt there will be some from Alaska.

Michigan is the leading state with Muskegon county as the center of the industry in this country. At the present time this county alone has 40 Silver Fox farms with a total of approximately 4,000 foxes, or nearly as many as all the rest of the United States combined.

Good breeding stock that will pass Advanced Registry requirements is selling for $1,500 to $3,000 per pair and raw pelt from animals of this quality bring from $400 to $1000 each on the auction sales, although inferior skins from cull foxes very often bring a much lower price.

Jim Kelley formerly of Holland is not only interested in the Holland farm but has a large farm at Muskegon.

PETITION OF M. FRANZBURG TO ADD PART TO STORE IS DENIED

When it comes to putting up a building for commercial purposes in a resident district, the voice of one neighbor who lives immediately next to the site of the proposed building has more weight than the voices of a whole blockful of people who live a little farther off. This was shown in the council meeting Wednesday night when the aldermen denied a petition of M. Franzburg for the erection of a garage and living quarters as an addition to his store on the corner of 13th and Central. Mr. Franzburg had the signatures of a large number of people who declared that they were in favor of the erection of the new building, but he did not have the signatures of the property owners whose homes immediately adjoin his property.

The ordinance specifies that the signatures of the next door property owners must be secured, and for that reason the council, on motion of Ald. Lepple, supported by Ald. Kammerand, voted eight to two to deny the petition.

SILVER CUP CHANGES HANDS
GOES TO JAMESTOWN
MAN

The Fourth Annual Corn Bureau Fair, which was held in November 2nd was a wonderful success despite the inclemency of the weather. There were sixty different people who exhibited in the various classes and 141 exhibits with 39 being awarded premiums. There were 25 ten ear samples of corn; 6 fifty ear samples and ten single ears. To quote a few lines from a letter received by F. C. Hambleton from Howard Rather, secretary of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association, who judged the exhibit: "I wish to congratulate you and Mr. Milham very much for the exceptionally successful corn and grain show which you had at Coopersville. I have never judged a better corn display of a similar nature and I am frank to state that your exhibits were superior to many of those exhibited at larger county or district fairs."

This exhibit proved that this county and its seed growers have good reason to be proud of its achievements in breeding and producing better corn. The grand sweepstakes trophy, The Schreuder Silver Cup, changed hands once more, this time going to Clyde Hollis of Jamestown township his prize winning Pickett Dent corn scoring slightly over Hamilton's Silver Dent.

FOLKS IN PARK AND
HOLLAND TOWNSHIP WANT TO BE PART OF OLIVE

A petition has been filed by a number of residents of Park and Holland townships living near the Pine Creek school asking that a strip of 1/4 mile wide be annexed to Olive township and taken from School District No. 6. The reason is that pupils must walk two miles to get to the Pine Creek school while if the children were able to go to District No. 5 school in Olive, the distance would only be about 1/4 mile. The strip comprises about 1/4 mile, part of which is in Holland township and part in Park township. The change would involve about ten families who send children to school and who also vote in Olive.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THE HOL-LAND CITY NEWS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Capt Van Loo of Zeeland, candidate for Register of deeds, spoke to a large audience of Hollanders on Thursday. Those who understood the language speak of the address as very able, reflecting much credit on the speaker. Note—Apparently the editor was not a Hollander at that time. His name was Dr. Morris, a fine old gentleman it is said.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
The people of the township of Overisel are considerably pleased over the efficiency of Henry Boers, as superintendent of their school. The school is reported in a flourishing condition and Mr. Boers later became instructor at Hope College where he showed marked ability as an instructor up to the time of his death some nine years ago.

Among the new features in the city we might mention is the opening of a new hotel by W. J. Scott, located on the corner of Ninth and Fish street. After having purchased the old Dominie Smith residence property and added a large new part to it Mr. Scott so changed the old building in connection with the new part that it is really all new and is very well arranged into a nice hotel and boarding house. The Grand opening will take place with a tip top supper from 8 to 11 o'clock to which all are invited. Note—The old hotel building is still located on the corner of Ninth street and Columbia avenue (formerly Fish street.) Mr. Scott was the father of Dr. Preston Scott of this city and Landlady Scott mother of the doctor, was the most hospitable and happy ladies it might be your pleasure to meet.

FORTY YEARS AGO
A. B. Charter living on West 9th street showed us the largest peach yet seen here. It measured 10 inches in circumference. This is large for a late peach.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
R. E. Werkman has "tied up" the scow Forest at Port Sherman for damaging his barge Great Eastern to the extent of $100 at Grand Haven recently. Note—Mr. Werkman was extensively engaged in the lumber business in Holland and for a time conducted the planing mill located where the postoffice stands and later purchased by the Scott-Lugers Lumber Co. In those days he built most of the residences of Holland. During the summer he erected every house on Eleventh street east of the Fard School on the south side of the street filling the open space between the school and the Episcopal church then located on Pine and 11th which afterward burned. The houses some ten in number, were dubbed "Paradise Row" because of the architectural similarity, no doubt. Later Mr. Werkman started the Ottawa Furniture Co., in fact he was the pioneer furniture man of Holland. Now he is selling land out West and lives in St. Paul, Minn.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Willie Blom has sold his daily paper business to Marinus Van Putten the blind man. He will retain his daily circulation, however. Billie makes his rounds ever morning and evening on his new cushion-tire bicycle and by the way he has become a trick rider and is very handy with this new sort of "safety" wheel.

The side-wheeler, "City of Milwaukee" will be refitted thruout this winter to be in first class condition for the Worlds fair trade at Chicago. Note—When the Graham & Morton bought the old Holland & Chicago line, owned by Holland capital, they placed the "City of Milwaukee" on the Holland-Chicago run. Later the boat was renamed "Steamer Holland" and two years ago she was wrecked in a storm at the Muskegon piers when several lives were lost and some of the bodies were not found until months afterward.

Twenty-five Years Ago
G. W. Kooyers who for one and a half years has been reading law in the office of Arend Visscher, left for Ann Arbor Tuesday to take a full law course. Note—He is our present state representative at Lansing.

Jacob Kuite, Jr., has fresh Columbia river salmon on sale this week at a shilling a pound. Note—What is the price now, Jake? Do we hear right, 30c a pound?

A sixteen year-old son of John C. Holcomb, local agent of the Chicago & West Michigan R'y, and Chris De Footer, aged 15 years, left their parental home last week Wednesday and altho more than a week has elapsed the youngsters have not yet returned. They are either bound for the "Wild and Wooley West" or may go to Florida. The parents are naturally anxious.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Jones and Ebelink, Florists, are proprietors of the green house at Central Park. Mr. Ebelink having purchased an interest. Note—Long since, Mr. Ebelink has been sole proprietor.

The congregation of the M. E. church extended a royal welcome to Rev. Arthur Trott, the new pastor and his wife at a reception held in the church parlors. An address of welcome was made by Joseph Warnock, manager of the Arctic and Warnock Clothing Co.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nies East 8th street—a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Mc Bride, Dr. A. Knothuisen, D. B. K. Van Raalte, C. Blom, Sr., Louis De Krager, John Kramer, Peter Gunst, Tieman Slagh and George Edgler have returned from the National G. A. R. encampment held at Washington, D. C. Note—Of this number six have gone to their reward.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Alderman Abe Stephen at a meeting presented a resolution asking for the paving of West 8th street from River to First avenue. The improvement was granted and the street will be paved.

Captain Austin Harrington and F. K. Colby have purchased the ferry steamer "Liberty." She is 96 ft. long, 20 ft. beam and is 146 gross tons and can carry 300 passengers. John Prakkens has accepted a position as bookkeeper with the Bush & Lane Piano Co.

The Holland Furnace Co. which was launched here less than a year ago has found it necessary to enlarge its plant and an addition of 218 x 101x80 feet, will be made this fall. The number of employees will be increased to about 50. The company manufactures furnaces and coal shutes and next year it is expected that 1500 furnaces have 6,000 shutes will be output. Thirty of the company's furnaces have already been installed in Holland. It is mainly through the efforts of Mr. A. H. Landwehr, John P. Kolla and G. C. Bouwman that the plant has gained such unprecedented success. Note—The company today is the largest installers of furnaces in the world and besides the Holland plant has a large plant in Cedar Rapids, Ia. It has agencies from Maine to California.

TEN YEARS AGO
B. P. Donnelly has presented a toboggan slide for use in the Maple Avenue school playgrounds. The school authorities have gratefully accepted the toboggan and will make good use of it for the pupils of the school. A toboggan is always popular on a children's play ground and this one is no exception to the rule. Note—Since Mr. Donnelly gave the toboggan the playground idea has taken root in Holland and since that time every grade school has its playgrounds and the paraphernalia that goes with it.
