EMORY P. DAVIS COMPLETE GAS PLANT IN SOUTH AMERICA

PAPERS PRINT PAGE STORY OF FORMER HOLLAND GAS PLANT MANAGER

It is going on two years that Emory P. Davis, popular manager of the Holland Gas Co., and his estimable wife and son sailed for South America to a new field of endeavor in Mr. Davis' particular line, a field that had not been cultivated industrially until he came.

Mr. Davis, through the advice of George H. Waring, a large concession holder of public service rights in the city of Rosario, Domingo, was induced to go to Latin America, and with his family settled in Rosario, one of the larger cities on the south side of the equator.

Although the paper cannot be read, since it is printed in a foreign

FEW MAY KNOW APPALLING TOLL EXACTED IN WORLD WAR

Dr. J. C. Willits, the principal speaker at the American Legion banquet Monday, gave his listeners some food for thought when he presented some facts and figures showing the loss of life in all America's wars, from the Revolutionary War to and including the World War.

In comparison, it is rather a contrast when summing up the few that were killed in the Revolutionary War, the Mexican War and the Spanish American War. The most appalling figures are to be found in the statistics of the World War showing the casualties, in especially the European armies.

Under the heading "The Price" Dr. Willits gave these figures as compiled by Congressman Morrow of New Mexico.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR
From the battle of Lexington to the surrender of Yorktown, in twenty-four engagements, the American losses in the field were about 8,000.

WAR OF 1812
The number killed in battle was about 1,500; the total killed and wounded in land battles not far from 5,000; and the grand total of losses, including prisoners, 9,700.

MEXICAN WAR
Total losses were 1,549 killed or died of wounds; 10,986 died of disease. The mortality from disease was 110 per 1,000 per annum; the battle losses, 15.

CIVIL WAR
For the Union armies the total number of deaths were 359,528. Of these 67,058 were killed in battle and 43,012 died of wounds, giving a total of 110,070 deaths from battle casualties, equivalent to a rate of 33 per 100 per annum. For Confederate armies it is estimated that the battle losses were 94,000 and that twice as many died of disease.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR
Total deaths from all causes in the army were 2,910, including 280 killed. The wounded numbered 1,577 of whom 65 died. Died of disease, 2,565.

PHILIPPINE INSURRECTION
Following were the losses sustained by United States troops: Killed, 777; died of wounds, 227; died of disease, 5,572; died of miscellaneous causes, 588; total deaths, 14,657; wounded, 2,911.

WORLD WAR
United States Mobilized 4,272,521

Dead 67,813
Wounded 192,483
Prisoners or missing 14,363

Total 274,659

Heavy as our losses were we escaped with comparatively small numbers. We were scarcely wading into the shambles when the Central Powers ran up the white flag. Consider what would have been the story if the war had gone on even another thirty days. The casualties of Germany were 7,142,588; of Austria, 7,020,000; of France, 6,160,000; of the British Empire, 6,160,000. The total casualties were 37,499,386.

It will be noticed that the casualties sustained by Russia, Italy, and smaller countries are not included. This added toll would bring the price of lives still higher. Although the direct cost in money is only an incident in comparison with the loss of life, the sum total it will be interesting to know was $324,000,000,000 approximately or $325,000,000 a day. And it is this war debt under which the nations of Europe are staggering, and which cannot help but affect the entire world.

among us for the past two months, in order that he might give his personal attention to the manifold matters that arise in the starting up of any new industry. He is returning to North America shortly, where his varied interests, as one of the most important and influential Gas Engineers in the country, reclaim his attention. Mr. Waring is leaving the Direction of this important Company in very efficient hands and he has had the satisfaction of seeing completed another very important step in the progress of the City of Rosario.

SPRING LAKE CHILD SAVED FROM SMOTHERING

A peanut lodged in the throat of two and one-half year old Donald Seifert of Spring Lake was removed Wednesday night at Blodgett Hospital. The peanut lodged in his wind pipe and caused irritation of the bronchial tissues and his breathing was impaired. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Seifert.

HOLLAND CHRISTIAN HIGH IN SAUGATUCK COURT SCHEDULE

Basketball activities in Saugatuck High school are well under way and Coach L. H. Waugh is anticipating a very successful season. All but two members of the squad are veterans. This year's schedule has not been completed but the following games have been arranged for: Dec. 14, Holland Christian High at Saugatuck; Dec. 20, Zeeland at Zeeland; Jan. 11, Hopkins at Saugatuck; Jan. 18, Holland Christian High at Holland; Jan. 25, Fennville at Saugatuck; Feb. 8, Hopkins at Hopkins; Feb. 13, Zeeland at Saugatuck; Feb. 22, Fennville at Fennville.

Hope froth forced the student body to accept the traditional green as the prevailing color Wednesday when the yearlings issued their annual edition of the Anchor. It was printed on green paper and was edited by Watson Spoelstra.

Armistice Day Inculcates Peace, Not Hate

GOLD STAR MOTHERS, G. A. R., SPANISH WAR VETS, GUESTS OF LEGION

DR. WILLETS TELLS OF STAGGERING PRICE PAID IN MOST APPALLING OF ALL WARS

One hundred and twenty-five guests participated in the anniversary banquet given by the Willard G. Leenhouts Post of the American Legion held at the Armory Monday night.

It was just ten years ago that the Armistice was signed and this fact played an important part in banquets and festivities throughout the nation.

The Holland banquet program was embellished with an angel of peace blowing a trumpet, heralding the period of time, 1918 to 1928.

The guests of honor were five Gold Star mothers, Mrs. A. Leenhouts, Mrs. J. H. Weed, Mrs. Johanna Barkema, Mrs. A. A. Aus-siecker and Mrs. H. D. Bliss, one lone boy in blue, namely Mathew Notier, who was 84 years old and a few of the Spanish War veterans.

Toastmaster and retiring commander, Alfred Joldersma, requested the guests to arise and they were given a hearty round of applause by those present.

The first number on the program was a group of songs ably given by Miss Martha Barkema, and in introducing Miss Barkema, Mr. Joldersma related that it was rather significant and appropriate that Miss Barkema take part in the anniversary program since it was her brother Neil who was one of the young men from Holland who "paid the supreme sacrifice."

Mr. Joldersma also stated that he too felt deeply this occasion since he and Neil Barkema were chums before and during the war.

Mrs. Samuel Meuwissen, representing the ladies auxiliary was not present because of sudden illness and Mrs. Peter Slaght volunteered to take her place. The subject was "Our Auxiliary" in which Mrs. Slaght gave a review of what had been accomplished by this organization. She told of Poppy Day, how slow Holland was first to take hold in their purchase of poppies made by disabled soldiers, but that during the last few years the results have been very gratifying and that last year $491 had been taken in on Poppy Day.

She told of Tree Planting Day, the care of children of disabled soldiers at Otter Lake, the earned fruit drive for Roosevelt Hospital each year and the one now in progress, and when she announced that through it all the Legion Auxiliary up to this time had a memorial containing $3,575.00 to be spent for a suitable memorial to be built in Holland at some future date, she was given enthusiastic applause.

The next speaker on the program was Dr. A. Leenhouts, whose son was the first to fall in the Holland ranks and in whose honor the Holland post was dedicated. Dr. Leenhouts said as follows:

"Armistice Day had a different meaning in 1918 than it has in 1928. In 1918 it had a stunning effect, a certain few deplored the fact that they had lost large war orders in business. Thank God there were only a few of these selfish ones. We pass them by.

"The great masses were happy beyond expression, they were crazed with joy, and well they might be. Their boys were coming home.

"There were also another few who were sad, but greatly relieved. Sad because they would look in vain for the faces of loved ones who would not return with the others and who they were so anxious to see.

"Ten years have elapsed, not in bitterness, we do not wish to feel sad this night but rather we feel thankful even though the sacrifice was tremendous. I believe from the bottom of my soul that the price was not too high for what has been accomplished, saving the world from autocracy, bringing about the dawn of a world democracy.

"Peace has come, but will it last? If it does the sacrifice is well worth it. We pray Almighty God that this may be the last war. It was a stunning blow but if it has taught the nations of the earth sanity and unselfishness, then it has been worth while.

"Autocracy has been banished from the earth, generally speaking. A brotherhood of man has been established. We now know our fellowman across the sea and they know us. And I believe that the American Legion stands ready to promote the cause of peace. It stands for the best type of manhood and citizenship.

"I feel sad tonight that our government up to this time has not seen fit to declare Armistice Day a national holiday. It should be a world peace holiday."

Mr. Ernest V. Hartman, new commander of the local post was next introduced by retiring commander, Mr. Joldersma.

Mr. Hartman outlined what an American Legion Post should stand for, and he stated that when he came to Holland he immediately noticed that the Willard G. Leenhouts Post was a live organization, putting forth worthwhile efforts and accomplishing worthwhile things.

He especially stressed the securing of a larger membership not alone but a membership of men who stood for high ideals and would promote them among the youth of the country. He stated that he loved boys, dealt with them constantly, and even the worst ones had their good side, and none were so bad that they weren't worth helping.

He stated that the American Legion, as individuals and as a body, could do wonderful work in

HOLLAND'S FIRST BAND

With the death of Peter Gunst this week, the fact that he was a member of Holland's first band, was chronicled. Well, here is the picture taken on West Eighth street in 1871 a few weeks after the "big fire" had wiped out nearly all the buildings on the street and a few temporary ones were quickly erected as the picture indicates.

The man with the big bass drum is Peter Gunst. The others from right to left are W. J. Scott (father of Dr. Preston), John Grotenhuis, John Root, Al Huntley, Otto Broymann, Gus Labarbe, and John Kramer (father of Otto, the cashier). The young man with the snare drum, I believe is a Heald boy. The family lived in the house recently torn down at the corner of Tenth Street and River Avenue and occurred many years by Miss Nellie Churchford. The Heald boys, and there were several of them, were all band musicians. An article on the death of Peter Gunst is found elsewhere in this issue.

News Items Taken From the Files of Holland City News Fifty, Twenty-five and Fifteen Years Ago Today

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Our election passed off quietly and orderly—the prohibition of liquor selling in Holland on election day worked for once at least; although the saloons made up for it the day following. The entire state republican ticket carried and the Greenbackers with their flat money scheme were repudiated. Ottawa county elected her entire ticket with the single exception of sheriff, when Joe Verplanke was the lucky man.

New York, Nov. 9, 1878.—This state has gone republican and the party gained five congressmen and in the city old Tammany is laid out. Note: Tammany was already old 50 years ago and apparently in disrepute. In 1928 history repeats itself.

Massachusetts repudiates Ben Butler by 25,000 votes.

Florida, Tennessee and Kentucky went solidly democratic. Note: These states have softened up some in 50 years.

As cheap as wood is around Holland, and it is very cheap; coal is still cheaper. Try this new fuel for your parlor stoves. Mr. Teunis Keppel has an excellent quality.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Dr. Otte has received a sad message from China namely that the Second Reformed Church of Amoy and also the school for young children and the home of the inland missionary have been destroyed by fire.

A great many people gathered at the First Reformed Church to pay the last tribute of respect to the late Rev. Derk Broek whose body was brought here from Grandville for burial. Mr. Broek for years was pastor of the 3rd Reformed Church.

Miss Alys Purdy and George Van Landeged were united in marriage by Rev. T. Bergen, pastor of Hope Church. The news devotes a half column to this wedding. It appears that master

CALL FOR "PETE"
Max Sandy in the Grand Rapids Herald: One of our worries at this nervous season of the year when we have a crop of shells and the five-shooter ready to leave for a moment's notice is the silence of our old friend, "Pete" Lievensen over in Holland. "Pete" is the liaison officer—as the editorial column would say—between this aspiring gunner and the battalions of Canada geese which annually make a drill ground of the landing fields high to Holland. But we haven't heard from "Pete" this year. This is our way of writing to him personally. We're getting just a bit anxious. What's the good word, "Pete"? This year we aren't fooling. We're prepared to machine-gun any honkers that show themselves within range. We've got five shots instead of the two-barrel outfit that failed almost 100 per cent on our last appearance over your decoys. Reverse the charges when you call, "Pete." Our household has orders to ask no questions when Holland rings.

Rev. H. Keegstra, pastor of Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed church of Holland for nine years, will resume the pastorate of the church at Allendale, which he previously served for five years before coming to Holland.

THE HONKERS ARE COMING OVER HOLLAND

All Sunday morning and several nights since the geese from the north were heard coming over Holland in their flight southward.

The Canadian honkers are late this year. Hunters have been waiting patiently and it seems that the vanguards have arrived and have gone on south with the flocks soon to follow. This has been an unusual season hunters say. Ducks came early and geese should have been piling into western Michigan wheat fields and large lakes long ago, but only small flights of geese have been noticed. The weather has been unusually mild this fall which may account for the delay.

Rumor of Fire in Allegan is False Alarm

LAST BIG FIRE IN ALLEGAN WAS MARCH 12, 1884

All day yesterday Holland was filled with rumors that Allegan was burning and to verify the truth of these rumors the News called "Edwy Reed of the Allegan Gazette, who stated that there was no truth in the statement, but that there was a fire at Thompsonville, way up north, and Holland must have become confused in the cities visited by the blaze.

The last big fire in Allegan occurred on March 12, 1884, when practically the entire business district was consumed and also several churches and some dwelling houses. A call was sent to Holland and F. O. Nye, who was then chief of the fire department, pulled out the two wheel hose cart "a-la-man power." It was placed on a flat car and was held in place by one company of fire men and with the freight engine attached raced to Allegan in 45 minutes; fast for those days. It was found when the boys arrived that the hose couplings would not fit well, but the Holland "Fire Laddies" aided along the side lines as best they could, working all day and throughout the night.

The fire at Thompsonville included the burning of a dozen buildings, including the Diamond hotel, and threatened the entire village. Only a shift of the wind that drove the flames back over the buildings already burned and the timely arrival of fire trucks from Traverse City and Frankfort saved the town. Driven by a 45-mile wind the flames swept both sides of the main street and threatened for a time the storage tanks of the Standard Oil Co., the grist mill of George Morrell and the Union depot.

Unconscious Fifteen Days; Mind Yet Blank

FOREST GROVE MAN MEETS WITH ACCIDENT ON OCTOBER 31

The condition of Joe Bredeweg, Forest Grove man who was seriously injured in an auto mishap on October 31st, is not considered very favorable. He has not recovered consciousness and is very delirious at times. On last week Thursday evening Dr. Reus removed him from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Yntema in that village where he was taken after the accident, and brought him to the home of his parents, where he is receiving constant medical attention.

The accident occurred at Forest Grove when Bredeweg's Ford roadster turned turtle when he was attempting to pass another car driven by Donald Kiel. The Bredeweg car struck the right front fender of Kiel's car as he was trying to pass Mr. Kiel and forced Kiel's car up an embankment on the south side of the highway, while the Bredeweg car turned over and landed upside down. The young man was hurled from his car by the impact and when picked up immediately after the accident, he was lying in a pool of blood in the road more than twenty feet ahead of his car.

Attending physicians hold out some hope of recovery. Miss Florence Rynbrandt and Miss Ruth Smallagen, trained nurses, have charge of the patient.

Joe Bredeweg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bredeweg of Forest Grove.

The Dramatic club of Saugatuck High school will present the popular comedy "Come Out of the Kitchen" at the high school auditorium Friday evening, Nov. 23. The cast includes Helen Kreager, Harry Richards, Ann Partridge, Catherine Pfaff, Mary Elizabeth Boyce, Ed Force, Erwin Koning, George Kelly, Ragnar Swanson, Moffat Bird, Ted Sunstrom and Heath Crowe.

The advance ticket sale is taking place to accommodate Holland people so they will not have to stand in line. The game will not only be a hard one, but it is expected that a record breaking crowd of fans will be down from the Rapids. They expect to draw the largest crowd of the season at the game Saturday, the final game of the season for the local high.

Principal J. J. Riemersma has extended an invitation for the Grand Rapids team to be accompanied by their band which has over 100 members and is one of the best musical organizations in the country.

Many Premium Winners In Apple Show

PEOPLES STATE BANK HAS LARGEST EXHIBITION IN SIX YEARS

Fruit dealers say that this is a poor apple year but visitors who go to the Peoples State Bank would not think it so.

The west side of the lobby of the beautiful new bank is filled with apple trays, built up terrace style, giving the exhibition a very attractive appearance and at the same time giving plenty of room for patrons to closely inspect the 265 entries of apples.

There are 65 varieties, most of them coming from a radius of eight or ten miles of Holland, while a few are from orchards farther away.

Space forbids to name all the varieties but among them are the Maiden Blush, the Northern Spy, Wagener, Wolf River, Falla Water, Jacob's Sweet, Pumpkin Sweet, King David, and Roman Beauty. Even the Doctor apple is in evidence, but this would hardly fit with the oft-told limerick, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away."

There are eighteen exhibitors bringing these 265 entries and all but two won either firsts, seconds or thirds in premiums.

The following are the exhibitors with the number of entries: J. W. Pickett, 29; E. A. Wedemeyer, 12; Bert Hart, 6; C. L. La Preze, 21; Zagers Brothers, 26; Kinas Koster, 16; Henry Du Mer, 14; Gerrit Du Mer, 15; John Alderink, 5; Henry Vredevelde, 22; W. H. Benedict, 6; Geo. W. Struigt, 4; John Boyce, Jr., 6; A. Bauhaan, 8; A. Alferink, 24; Niels L. Hares, 38; Paul Dogger, 10, and Fred J. Wagner, 5.

The following premiums were awarded: Standard varieties, first prize $2.00; second prize $1.50 and third prize $1.00, while the commercial and miscellaneous varieties received for first prize $1.50, second prize $1.00 and third prize 50c.

The apples were judged by H. M. Wells of the Michigan Experiment Station at Grand Rapids, assisted by C. P. Millham, Ottawa County farm agent. The exhibits were judged on the following points: Condition, size, color, form, uniformity and pack.

The show was in charge of Benjamin Brower of the local bank, assisted by J. G. Rutgers.

A beautiful flower display from the Shady Lawn Florist set off the exhibition to the best advantage.

The apple show will be open to the public and including Saturday night during banking hours. There will be open house, however, tonight, Friday from 6:30 until 9 o'clock, and the public is welcome. The Colonial orchestra will furnish music.

Bear, Silver, Miller, Goshorn, Swan and Mann creeks, Allegan County have been planted with fingerling trout by the conservation workers. Goshorn Lake is located between Holland and Saugatuck.

Mr. Keegstra has been in the ministry since 1900. He has served the church at Leighton, Ia., for three years, the Allendale church five years and the Fremont church eleven years. During his connection with the local church Mr. Keegstra held the presidency and vice presidency of the general synod of the Christian Reformed Church in America, and also holds the position of editor of De Wachter, the Dutch weekly, published by the denomination.

The entire community of Douglas was shocked by the news of the death of Mrs. Arthur F. Hanson, the result of an accident. Mrs. Hanson was visiting her parents in Jewett, Ill., when her death occurred. Mr. Hanson is president of the Douglas Chamber of Commerce and conducted a summer colony at his estate known as the Terrace Park farm.

Zeeland Man Acquitted of Serious Crime

YOUNG GIRLS ACCUSE PROMINENT SOUTH OTTAWA CITIZEN OF LIBERTIES

An Ottawa County court room was crowded to capacity with residents of Zeeland and Holland who listened to the sensational charge of indecent liberties against Herman Steal, Zeeland watch maker and church deacon, which was held in the Circuit Court before Judge Orien S. Cross.

Two little sisters, Julia and Sadie Pousma, 10 and 11 years old, were the chief witnesses for the prosecution. Although they were tangled somewhat by the attorneys on cross examination the original halting story was firmly insisted on.

Steal took the stand as the first witness for the defense. He said he was 50 years old, had lived in Zeeland for about 12 years working at various factories and for some time a watch maker at Hamilton. He has a wife and three daughters. He said he had been a deacon and elder of the First Reformed Church in Zeeland, the largest church there, for some years.

Several prominent citizens from Zeeland were character witnesses, among them the mayor and the presidents of the banks there. After due deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty." The jury was out four hours.

Dickens, TenCate and Kollen, Holland attorneys, are handling the case for the defense and the people are represented by Prosecutor C. G. Lokker and Jay Ben Heeder. The case occupied nearly the entire day.

ALL HAVE A GOOD WORD FOR GOV. SMITH

Gov. Alfred E. Smith has not gained the presidency of the United States, but he has gained large appreciation accorded him by the American people through his earnest, vigorous and able campaign. He has been lifted from local celebrity to nation-wide acquaintance and influence.

In retiring to private life, Gov. Smith has the consolation of vastly augmented friendships among a host of people in every part of the country, friendships won by his own humanity, kindness and unquestionable integrity and sincerity. The impression upon the whole country made by Gov. Smith's cheerful acquiescence in the verdict of the ballot box, and his impromptu expression of good will, and good wishes for his opponent and the success of his administration was most favorable.

Everybody has a good word for Gov. "Al" Smith, the hard fighter and the good loser.

QUIPS AND QUIRKS

Bobby had been invited out to dinner and his mother worried lest he should commit some breach of etiquette. On his return home she questioned as to how he had behaved.

"Well, mamma," he said, "I got along very well until the meat came, but while I was trying to cut mine it slipped off on the floor. But I made it all right."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I said sort of carelessly, 'That's always the way with tough meat.'"

The Good Old Soul—"So you are the lad who discovered the schoolhouse on fire and ran and spread the alarm? That was a noble deed."

Little Jimmie—"That's what all the boys think. You see, I give 'em all a chance to see it."

A janitor in a neighboring school threw up his job the other day. When asked what was the trouble he answered: "I'm honest and I won't stand being slurred. If I find a pencil or handkerchief about the school when I'm sweeping I hang it up. Every little while the teacher or some one that is too cowardly to face me gives me a slur."

"In what way?" asked an officer.

"Why, a little while ago I saw written on the board: 'Find the common multiple.' Well, I looked from cellar to garret and I wouldn't know the thing if I met it on the streets. What made me quit my job? Last night in big writing on the blackboard, it said, 'Find the greatest common divisor.' Well, I said to myself, 'both of them are lost now and I'll get blamed for swiping them, so I'll quit.'"

A miscellaneous shower was given by Miss Cora Dykstra at the home of Mrs. O. Gnosens in honor of Miss Dora Dykstra. The evening was spent by playing games and a dainty two course luncheon was served. The bride to be received many beautiful and useful gifts. Prizes were won by Mrs. R. McFall, Sena Ten Hoer and Edith Visser. Those present were: Fredericka De Jong, Dora Dykstra, Leontine Plantinga, Dora Van Der Leek, Bertha Vander Sluis, Sena Stegink, Mrs. C. McFall, Mrs. O. Gnosens, Mrs. C. Mulder, Mrs. De Vries, Cora Dykstra, Sena Ten Hoer, Corn Ten Hoer, Dora Kuiker, Anna Van Vogelzang, Henrietta Vogelzang, Geraldine Vogelzang, Henrietta Hierspink, Ella De Vree, Henrietta Jansen, Johanna Meurer, Josie Hossink, Edith Visser.

Mr. Dragt of Allendale, H. Vander Wart of Holland and Mrs. Roosenrood of Zeeland, members of the committee of conservation of the board of supervisors met Tuesday with Mr. Milham at a 20 acre plot of land in Park township, north of the city, which was donated to the board of supervisors. The committee will have a few acres of it planted with different kinds of trees in order to start reforestation. The committee probably will ask the boy scouts to do the planting for them in the spring under the supervision of Mr. Milham.

Molton and Mrs. Del Rupert of Reed City and his aged father, A. D. Jones of Owosso. Funeral services will be held from the home, 1141 Fulton St., Grand Haven, Friday at 2:00 P. M. with Mr. Pell in charge. Burial will be in Lake Forest Cemetery.

The opening of a series of four lectures to be given by Rev. William I. Chamberlain of New York City was given Tuesday afternoon at Western Theological seminary. The speaker was introduced by Dr. E. J. Blekkink. The series of lectures will all be under the general title "The Christian Message." Its essential features are: "The Urgent and Distinctive Elements." Wednesday afternoon. The third lecture to be given Friday will be on "The Imperative Qualities" and final subject will be "The Westward Movement."

Allegan County Farmer Served Kaiser Wilhelm

WAS VALET TO KING'S DUKE AND CROWN PRINCE

From acting as valet to the duke of Westminster, ministering on occasions to the needs of the former Kaiser Wilhelm and the late King Edward VII, to plowing the glebe or whatever it is one calls the bally soil of Trowbridge township, Allegan county, is a startling change. But it has been made in the course of many years, with much happening in between, by Herbert Woodhams, successful Trowbridge farmer.

The story of Mr. Woodhams' youthful days, which were spent in the service of British noble families, is interesting as he tells it to his friends.

Before he was ten years old his peeps into the lives of the English ruling families began. He was engaged as a page to a colonel of a regiment in the British army and was sent with the troops to Gibraltar.

A thrilling experience this was to the young son of an English nurseryman, for there was a war in Egypt and the air was filled with tales of battles and victories and defeats.

Six months were spent at Gibraltar and then the young returned to England and young Woodhams became a servant of Sir Thomas MacLagan, physician to her Royal Highness the Princess Louise. He stayed there two years and after a brief term of service with Lord North, he entered the service of the Duke of Westminster as a footman when he was but 17 years old.

A year later he was made valet to the duke at a salary of 30 pounds a year—about $150. It was during this time that Mr. Woodhams was thrown in contact with the former Kaiser and with King Edward VII, the prince of Wales, as Victoria was at that time queen of England.

The duke, who was then 60 years old and in poor health, traveled a great deal. He had numerous residences and divided his time among them, taking with him on his trips his retinue of 60 servants. Usually they traveled in a special train.

Many of the duke's trips took him to the continent and during the Franco-Prussian war he unwittingly went over the line from France into German territory. He was immediately arrested, with his hands and wrists bound. It was three days before he was given a hearing, but as soon as he proved his identity, he was released.

Meets Future Kaiser

His favorite home was at Eaton Hall and here he was frequently visited by royalty. Mr. Woodhams recalls one visit of the late Emperor Frederick of Prussia and his son, then Crown Prince William, later known to the world as "Kaiser Bill."

At 17, Mr. Woodhams decided to see the world and embarked on a trip around it. He never got farther than America, however, at that time he had a sister living in Le Mars, Ia., so he went directly there and finding work on a farm, stayed there ten months. Then he accompanied his sister and her husband to Chicago, and when they went to England he stayed behind as a freeman on a train running out of Chicago.

Promotion followed, and for eight years he was engineer on a train running between Edgemont, S. D., and Billings, Mont. During that time he went through seven wrecks "unavoidable accidents," by investigators, so he never had a mark against him with the company.

Railroading, however, was hard on his nerves. In 1910, he bought his Trowbridge farm in Allegan county and moved his family there. There were four sons, Bert, Percy, Herman and Alfred. Bert is a vice-president on the Citizens Mutual Auto Insurance company in Howell; Percy and Herman are farmers in Trowbridge, and Alfred lives at home with his parents.

At various times newspaper accounts declare that small fish or frogs are showered to the ground in rain storms. Such stories are generally accepted with mental reservations. Few believe them true.

Scientists, however, do not scoff at such yarns, for they believe them altogether possible. Atmospheric disturbances sometimes produce freak results. Cyclones deposit barns and houses great distances from their original sites and carry small objects for miles. There is no doubt but what a "twister" could easily pick up frogs or small fish from surface waters and deposit them elsewhere, they declare.

There have been attested observation of frog, toad and small fish showers, even in the times of the ancients. Aristotle, alluding to the belief that frogs were showered from the heavens, called them messengers of Jupiter.

RED CROSS PROCLAMATION FROM MAYOR BROOKS

"Holland is back of the American National Red Cross which is again raising the annual roll call which always starts on Armistice Day and ends on Thanksgiving Day, two very appropriate dates for this cause.

"Through the Red Cross we find expression for some of our noblest ideals. It is an effective instrument for magnifying many times our personal service to humanity. "In face of great disasters when the injured and homeless run into thousands there is little that we can do individually. Consolidating our opportunity for service is unlimited. "Into these homes where disaster has run rampant our Red Cross goes in our name to be a friend to those upon whom misfortune has laid her heavy hand. "I know that Holland will again respond and respond generously to the Red Cross roll call."—Mayor Ernest C. Brooks.

inculcating patriotism, love of country and good citizenship into the hearts of the youth of the nation.

Dr. John C. Willits, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city was introduced by the toastmaster as a man who has made a wonderful impression upon the citizens of Holland and a man whom we all love.

Dr. Willits said in part as follows:

"I cannot realize that it is ten years ago that the Armistice was signed. I was in Grand Rapids at the time, and the women of the church were working diligently, 'keeping the home fires burning.' A parishoner of mine phoned me the joyful news and I immediately hastened to the church parlors where the women were working and called out 'The Armistice has been signed, the war is over!'

"I will never forget the expressions on their faces. At first they could hardly realize, then came an expression of joy that soon blended almost into hilarity.

"The same spirit gripped everyone in Grand Rapids, every one in Holland, every one the world over." Dr. Willits then gave a review of a trip through Europe that gave some indication of what the people over there think of our great men.

One enthusiastic foreigner took Dr. Willits into one of the large public parks in an Austrian city and reverently pointed to an imposing statue of George Washington, and these are the words he told the dominie 'He is not your man, he is our man, he belongs to the world, and I hope at some future time to become a citizen of your great country.'

Mr. Willits proceeded as follows: "The peoples of war-torn Europe are thinking of our citizenship, not of our mine, our farms and of our riches. It is our citizenship that makes our nation great. They want to be one of us.

"It is America's standard of life, it is America's high ideals that the foreigners recognize. It is these outstanding American traits that are keeping the eyes of the world focused upon this country. God forbid that we lower our high standards and our lofty ideals. For a nation is never greater than what its people are.

"It is a personal equation—your first concern and my first concern must be that our personal ideals are high. It is because of these high ideals that twelve years ago our sons went forth, fought and bled and died to make the world safe for democracy.

"They came from the farms, from the stores, from the shops, from the offices—they did not shirk, they knew what they were fighting for. The battle was not for riches, the bloody conflict was for the cause of humanity, for high ideals.

"The price paid, that liberty's lamp might not be extinguished was staggering. We paid tremendously to maintain those things we hold dear. I here wish to lift my voice in praise of the Kellogg peace pact—a treaty signed by many nations to bring about the ending of all wars. God hasten the day when His prophecy may be fulfilled beating the swords into plow shares.

"I have great hope in the American Legion—here we have the flower of our manhood. With only a shadow of our Grand Army of the Republic remaining, we need someone to step in to take their places and there is no better body of men to carry on than are our boys.

"You have men among you who will be leaders in national and international affairs. You younger men have a great responsibility. You can be the emissaries of peace and God grant that through your efforts and through the efforts of the American people, humanity will forever be saved from the sorrows of another war."

Miss Barkema pleasingly sang another group of songs accomplished by Mrs. Edward De Pree. Donald Kramer, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kramer gave a wonderful program on the marionette. Van Duren's orchestra gave an excellent musical repertoire during the evening.

At the close the audience sang American, led by Mr. Herman Cook who also conducted the "pop song" program during the banquet hour. Chaplain Harry Kramer opened the evening with devotionals.

The menu was well served and the food was an excellent combination, well balanced, and was in charge of the ladies of Trinity church.

More Than 4000 Attend Brouwer Store Opening

Remodeled Building Now Has 21,000 Sq. Ft. of Floor Space

Despite the threatening weather of Thursday it is estimated that there were at least 4500 visitors who came to the Jas. A. Brouwer Furniture Store opening between two o'clock in the afternoon and nine o'clock in the evening. The officials and sales force of the store were present to welcome all who came and not a man, woman or child left this beautiful emporium without some remembrance of the day's visit.

The remodeled store now has 21,000 square feet of floor space, and the business is confined to three floors and a basement with a large warehouse in the rear. The Van Dyke block to the south purchased by the Jas. A. Brouwer Company some time ago was only partly used at that time, the other floors were used by the Bell Telephone Co., and other tenants until a short time ago.

In the remodeling, these two floors were made part of the large store on the second and third floor. This added floor space has made it possible for the firm to make a convenient arrangement so that they can show certain goods collectively instead of having these scattered around promiscuously.

For instance, one whole floor is devoted to dining room furniture, another to furniture for the living room, the third to the needs of a bedroom, and a fourth to reed furniture.

One large juvenile department contains all the goods sold in a nursery. Children's doll buggies, baby buggies, children's rockers, some substantial toys are collectively shown.

There is no running around from place to place but these different merchandise in the furniture line are shown in their respective departments and floors well lighted. The ground floor, as before, is filled with the larger furniture, carpets and rugs, wall fixtures and ornaments, while the spacious well-lighted basement is given over to linoleums and miscellaneous articles.

Without doubt, the James A. Brouwer Company has one of the most beautiful and ample show windows to be found in western Michigan, it extending 77 feet and 12 feet deep, giving room for four big window displays.

The floor of these show windows is solid oak with marble base. The entire front is embellished with a gorgeous marquette or canopy 85 feet long constructed of solid copper. It is massive and imposing in appearance. The copper fringe is interlaced with art glass, and behind these opalescent crystals incandescent light shed forth a soft but transfused light which gives the front a radiant appearance in the evening.

The lighting arrangement of the store and the show windows are of the very latest type and with the most convenient arrangement to show goods to advantage.

The management states that the company believes in Holland and for that reason has gone to this large expenditure to make this furniture store a growing city, an expanding resort and a growing rural district. The management also believes in selling home-made merchandise and some time ago added the West Michigan Furniture Co. and the Charles P. Limbert Co. lines.

A representative of the "Furniture Age," a trade magazine called on the management of the store during their opening and stated that the spacious show window was the finest he had ever seen, and he immediately secured pictures of the exterior of the store and windows and these will appear in a future issue of this nationally known trade paper.

The James A. Brouwer Co. was established in 1873, and is therefore fifty-five years old. James A. Brouwer, the founder is president; William Brouwer, the son, is vice-president and manager; Fred Beeuwkes is secretary and treasurer. Albert Butler who has been with the firm for nineteen years and Henry Top are head of the sales force and Miss Anna Beukema is to be found in the office on the ground floor.

The management wishes to state that Thursday's opening was very gratifying, it wasn't intended for a sales day, but rather as "open house" to Holland and the entire countryside.

They say that the latch string still hangs out for those who wish to take another look and those who were unable to come on Thursday. The welcome sign is "always out at Brouwers."

200 FRAT MEN CLOG TRAFFIC TO MEET 4 "LONELY GIRLS"

According to a dispatch from Toronto, Canada two hundred fraternity men walked sheepishly about the university campus here today, heads hanging low to avoid the grinning glances of their classmates and a traffic jam at the busy intersection of Avenue road and Bloor street at the 8 o'clock theater rush hour last night has been explained.

About 6:30 last evening telephone bells jangled in all the houses along "Fraternity row" and a sweet young voice suggested a merry apartment party to various students answering the phone. Four pretty girls were lonely, desired companionship and an enjoyable evening with four presentable fraternity men. Eager responses greeted "Helen's" appeals. Avenue road and Bloor was selected as a rendezvous.

To this rendezvous for an hour thereafter came groups of four, until a constable was forced to disperse the swelling throng which threatened to tie up not only foot but vehicle traffic. There was no sign of "Helen" or her charming friends.

IN SPITE OF SALOONS AND DRINKING RESORTS, ENGLAND IS GOING DRY

Temperance is making remarkably rapid progress in Great Britain. In 1900 the consumption of spirits in England was 32,239,522 gallons.

In 1913 it was 22,004,432 gallons. Today it has fallen to 10,412,291 gallons and is still decreasing. The figures for Scotland, the home of whiskey, are even more significant. The consumption of spirits there was 6,709,343 gallons in 1913 and 2,456,283 last year.

The decline in beer drinking has been equally striking. Consumption, in bulk barrels, has been as follows:

England	Scotland
1902—31,810,877	2,260,759
1913—30,758,800	2,119,666
1927—23,418,640	1,673,576

So alarmed have the British brewers become as the result of this drift toward temperance that they are now contemplating a joint advertising campaign throughout the country on the theme that beer is the best and healthiest drink.

Holland Man Wants to Be Circuit Judge

ATTORNEY FRED T. MILES THROWS HAT IN RING EARLY

Although it had been rumored in legal circles for some time that there was a possibility that former prosecutor Fred T. Miles of Holland was to enter the race for Circuit Court judge of Ottawa and Allegan counties, this prediction came true when Mr. Miles sent out 2,000 announcements to different parts of the two counties formally declaring his candidacy for that office on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Miles words his announcement as follows:

"To My Friends:

On Primary election day, March 4th (Hoover's inauguration day) I shall be a candidate for the Republican Nomination for Circuit Judge—Ottawa and Allegan Circuit.

This is the position to which Hon. Orin S. Cross was elected in 1911, and whose third six-year term will close with the year 1929.

I shall be very happy knowing that I have your co-operation and enthusiastic support.

Sincerely yours,
Fred T. Miles."

Mr. Miles has been an attorney in this city for nearly a quarter of a century. Before coming to Holland he was a resident of Olive township and aided his father on the farm. His ambition was to become a lawyer and after studying for a time at Hope College he took a course in law with a correspondence school following it with a course at the University of Valparaiso. He opened up a law office soon afterward in what was known as the old Vannema building a frame structure located where the De Vries and Dorbosch Block now stands. His office furniture consisted of a table and three wooden chairs and a few law books on a shelf. He was then 28 years of age. His first political venture was running on the Republican ticket for justice of the peace and in this he was successful. He later formed a partnership with the late Luke Lugers and still later with Wm. O. Van Eyck. This partnership was dissolved when Mr. Van Eyck became postmaster some fifteen years ago. Mr. Miles retained the office of justice of the peace until he was elected Ottawa County's Prosecuting Attorney in 1916 and held that office for 10 years and until succeeded by Attorney Clarence Lokker the present prosecutor.

Mr. Miles administration as prosecutor was a very eventful one especially when it came to the prosecution of liquor cases. The advent of the Volstead law came shortly after Mr. Miles had taken office and he was relentless when it came to the prosecution of these cases, being an ardent prohibitionist. Mr. Miles has been a member of the Holland Board of Education and for a number of years was superintendent of the Methodist Church Sunday School and has been a Bible Class teacher there for a score of years. Today Attorney G. W. Kooyers is associated with Mr. Miles in the law business and Donald Severance is also assisting and studying law at the same time in the Miles' law offices.

Mr. Miles is the first candidate to throw his hat in the ring for this high office.

Miss Ada Ver Schure entertained her Sunday school class at her home on Wednesday evening, November 7th. Games were played and a dainty luncheon was served. Those present were: Miss Delia Helder, Mildred Visser, Beatrice Visser, Edna De Weerd, Jo Westervelt, Ada Ver Schure, Anna Ruth Prins, Gertrude De Haan, Jennie Hosink, Marie Ver Howe, Erna Fassen and Marie Lemon. Prizes were won by Anna Ruth Prins, Geraldine Hetherington and Marie Lemon. An enjoyable evening was reported by all.

Shooting of Pheasants Out of Season

ARTHUR BAUMGARTEL STATES HIS ONE REASON FOR GAME SCARCITY

Arthur Baumgartel, a former Holland man, who many years ago introduced ring-neck pheasants to this vicinity planting many of them, states that the scarcity of pheasants this year is due to hunters shooting out of season.

Mr. Baumgartel says: "My personal observation is confined to a limited territory in which the hatch seemed to be normal and during the summer the usual number of young birds was seen. Reports received from other sections were to the effect the hatching had been good. But no definite conclusions based on facts can be reached.

"The suggestion that preseason shooting may be responsible admits of verification in some sections at least. Our first day's hunting this season was on an 1800-acre tract west of the Bailey-Grant highway. During the morning with the dogs we put up 15 hens, all scattered and wild as hawks, and one cock, which was bagged by my protégé of this season, Gordon V. The fact that these birds were extremely wild and that we found many empty shotgun shells on this first morning would indicate quite clearly that early shooting had been indulged in. Further inquiry of hunters encountered and residents interviewed elicited the information that not only pheasants but squirrels had been shot in this territory during the entire month of October and that hens had been taken. While we could gain no information of sufficient weight upon which to base prosecution, yet the fact remains it was a matter of such general knowledge as to give credence to the reports.

"In this connection my suggestion is the appointment of more conservation officers and a return to the volunteer warden plan, identity of the volunteers to be kept as nearly secret as possible and commissions granted only to responsible men recommended by the officers of duly organized sportsmen's associations. The regular officer is known, his territory is followed. By working together, movements can be synchronized and the territory more thoroughly and effectively patrolled."

Then there is another angle to prohibiting the taking of any species of game and that is increasing the toll of other kinds. I know why the pheasant was originally introduced into Michigan—it was to lessen the pressure on the quail and ruffed grouse. Would you remove this buffer? There is now no open season on quail and the pheasant is far more numerous than the grouse. With the quail, the grouse and the pheasant on the closed list, what incentive is there for the sportsman whose interest is in upland birds.

SENIOR ATHLETES WIN FINE AWARDS

Announcement has been made of an award of $15 to Ray De Young and one of $10 to Al Vandembosch as first and second prizes of the athlete-scholar donation by Prof. J. R. Nykerk. Decision as to the winners is made by taking athletics and scholarship on an even basis. John Klay, a four sport man, took three sport men and finished their home career on the grid Saturday against Kalamazoo. They are both excellent students, and Hope is indeed proud of their work in the classrooms as well as on the athletic field.

COOLIDGE ISSUES PLEA FOR "WORLD'S GREATEST MOTHER"

URGES INCREASED MEMBERSHIP IN AMERICAN RED CROSS DURING DRIVE FROM ARMISTICE DAY TO THANKS-GIVING

From Washington, D. C., President Coolidge has issued a proclamation urging increased membership in the American Red Cross, noting the heretofore work done by the organization during the past year, particularly for sufferers from the West Indies hurricane.

His proclamation follows: "The American National Red Cross has once more demonstrated in impressive fashion the necessity for maintaining at full strength the same organization has been answering the call for disaster relief from other sections of our country. During the past year there have been 66 disasters in the United States in which the Red Cross has served, while in the same space of time it has sent substantial relief to the victims of 22 disasters in foreign countries.

"Relief for suffering humanity in the wake of disaster is but one part of the work to which the American Red Cross is dedicated. It is well to remember at this time, as we solemnly observe the tenth anniversary of Armistice day, the duty which we owe to those thousands of ex-service men who have never fully recovered from the wounds of war. For these men and their families the Red Cross continues to render the same tender care which, during the World War, gave to that organization the proud distinction of being termed 'the greatest mother in the world.'"

Serves All People

"In all of its work for humanity—local, national and international—the American Red Cross serves in the name of all of the people of the United States. This is only possible because the work which it does is largely financed through the payment of comparatively small annual membership dues by a very large number of our people. Because of the ever increasing demands upon the organization in every phase of its work, it has become necessary that this popular support be correspondingly increased.

"As president of the United States and as president of the American Red Cross, I earnestly urge that the American people, during the period between Armistice day and Thanksgiving, dedicate themselves anew to service for humanity through a greatly increased membership in their Red Cross.

this great humanitarian organization. Acting as the agency of the American people, it promptly and effectively went to the relief of the half a million people left destitute by the hurricane which swept over Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and parts of Florida. It will be engaged for many weeks to come in the task of restoring the stricken people in those disaster areas to a normal basis of living.

POULTRY MEETING AT HAMILTON, NOV. 21

The poultry department of Michigan State College is holding a series of meetings throughout the state on poultry sanitation. Winter care and prevention of disease will be stressed at these meetings. A meeting at Hamilton is called for Wednesday, Nov. 21, at 1:20 P. M. at Community Hall. Other meetings will be held at Salem and Wayland, in Allegan county.

APPEAL MADE TO PROTECT THE QUAIL

It is unlawful to kill quail in Michigan. Nevertheless, this fact need not discourage bird lovers from trying to see them through the hard winters that occasionally decimate the many flocks that are reared each summer. Cover—and abundance of food—are essential at all times. If sheaves of ry and other cereals, late in the fall, tied to trees a foot or so from the ground, with a sort of overhang which tends to protect the grain. Later on, when snow covers the earth clear the snow away in briar patches and other similar ground growth to encourage the birds to get to the ground. Then scatter seed and chaff. Quail must get to the ground to pick up sand and gravel to be in the best condition. Use many natural foods, such as acorn, dwarf sumac and others and if possible serve millet, ry, buckwheat, sorghum, cow peas and clover. A little care and attention may mean the lives of countless flocks of quail.

Leader Engaged for Prayer Week

The big event in the life of Hope College and its student body is the annual prayer week, which is under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. groups. The annual prayer week will be held from January 21-25, 1929, and will feature Rev. John M. Van der Muelen, D. D. Dr. Van der Muelen is a former professor at Hope, having occupied the chair of Bible. He has also been a pastor in Hope church of this city, and has a large number of friends here who admire him a great deal. At present he is the President of the Louisville, Kentucky, Seminary of the Presbyterian denomination.

A man like Dr. Van der Muelen can do a great deal to make the prayer week a success, but the rest must be done by the Hope students.

DR. D. VELTMAN ACCEPTS BEREAN CHURCH CALL

Dr. D. Veltman, of Muskegon, who preached in the Berean church of this city, Sunday, announced after the morning service that he had accepted the call extended him by the local congregation.

He will assume his duties as local pastor the latter part of this month. He succeeds Rev. John A. Van Dyke who served the local congregation for more than seven years, resigning to accept a call in California.

Dr. Veltman is a graduate of the Reformed college at Amsterdam, and of the University of the City of Amsterdam, the Netherlands. He came to this country about 25 years ago and spent a number of years as a teacher in Christian schools.

He later became assistant pastor of the First Berean Church of Muskegon, which position he held for six years, resigning about two years ago.

He has been connected with the various church publications, being editor of the Muskegon church publication and the Standard Bulletin of Grand Rapids.

Lane Kammerling, assistant fire chief has been confined to his home by an injury to one knee.

Others want to give Al Smith job, besides Getz

Last week the News pointed out that Geo. Getz to offer the defeated presidential candidate a position. There seem to be many others so inclined. Alfred E. Smith need not advertise for a job when he retires from the gubernatorial chair, January 1, New York firms are vying with each other in offers of situations to the retiring Democratic leader. The salaries offered range from $50,000 to $150,000. A number of corporations have declared: "Governor Smith can name his own salary if he will join us."

HOPE COURT MEN TO BEGIN SOON

With the football season nearing its close, athletic interest of Hope is slowly turning to the basketball court, the center of Hope's athletic prowess. The varsity should be exceptionally strong this year as the entire team from last season is returning. Capt. Vern Vander Hill is recuperating from an attack of blood poisoning, and is expected to be in shape by the start of the season. Martin, De Free, De Velder, Van Lente, De Young, Diekhout and Japina are back and "Boo" Cook will also be eligible for play.

The Frosh are boasting some fine material and may sprout out into a team of high caliber in yearling ranks. Dalman, Beaver, Van Hattama, Harms, Spoelstra, Schermerhorn, Bouma and Ter Vree are men with experience and added to these there are a score more who have some basketball knowledge.

WORLD WAR VET HAS ARMISTICE DAY BABY YEAR AFTER HIS WED

Armistice Day now more than ever has special significance for Maurice Huyser, World War veteran who served overseas.

Huyser with his buddies not only observed the day that marked the close of the war, but also the first anniversary of his marriage. Now for good measure Huyser has become the father of an Armistice day baby, a bounding boy who will be christened Victor Lee.

Huyser also characterized the occasion by decorating the show window in his store with a replica of a battlefield in France. The scene depicted the customary barbed wire strung along posts, stones representing fallen buildings, sandbags, German cavalry, sabers, machine guns and sawed tooth bayonets captured by American soldiers, trench lanterns, canteens, German rifles, steel shields and a background of woods.

Congressman Carl Mapes called on Holland friends Friday before leaving for Washington, D. C.

Peter Gunst, aged veteran of the Civil War, died at the age of 89 years on Saturday evening at the home of B. Riksen on east Thirtieth street.

Mr. Gunst had been patiently waiting for death, after having been bed ridden for more than four years because of an auto accident. He peacefully slept away on Saturday, and one of Holland's most beloved Christian men has answered to the final taps and has joined the great army beyond.

Mr. Gunst for many years was a wagon maker, located in a building on the site of the present fire engine house No. 1. He later occupied a small shop on west Ninth street where the Kraker Hotel now stands.

Mr. Gunst enlisted with Company I, 25th Michigan Infantry, at the age of twenty-two.

The 21 battles in which he took part included Bull Run, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Malvern Hill, Harrisburg Landing, Second Bull Run, Knoxville and East Tennessee, in which 98 out of 150 men in his regiment were killed.

Mr. Gunst was one of few men that annually celebrated two birthday anniversaries, but he prized his spiritual birthday more highly than the one that marked an advance in years. Mr. Gunst was converted during the revival of 1876. He recalled the occasion and the seat he occupied in Third Reformed church. He also remembered when he arose and asked for prayers. He liked to talk about that revival. He since lived the life of a Christian and if there ever was a saint in Holland, it was that person. This was confirmed by a host of his friends.

Mr. Gunst was the only soldier in Holland who witnessed the assassination of President Lincoln who was shot by John Wilkes Booth while Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln sat in a box witnessing the presentation of "Our American Cousin" in which the great actor Booth, starred. Mr. Gunst saw Booth leap from the box after the shot, saw him fall when the spurs of his riding boots tangled into an American flag used as a patriotic drapery, in honor of the president's coming.

He saw the turmoil that followed and was delegated as one of the men to guard the street in the vicinity, after the assassination.

Mr. Gunst was a member of Holland's first band. He served as an officer in the Third Reformed church for many years.

Mrs. Gunst died about 35 years ago. His only daughter, Mrs. Henry Kleyn, died last year after she came to Holland from Washington state to care for him.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in Third Reformed church, Rev. Martin and Dr. Blekink officiating. Interment was in Pilgrim Home Cemetery.

Bass, who introduced the speaker. Dr. De Kleine gave his impressions of the devastated areas of Porto Rico and the efforts of the Red Cross to bring relief. The island is only 35 miles wide and 100 miles long, he said, but has a population of 1,300,000. The hurricane had a velocity of 160 miles an hour and hit practically the whole island. The inhabitants were dependent upon making a living from small farms, he said, raising coffee, tobacco, sugar and citrus fruits. They live close together in thatched houses which were torn down, making living and sanitation conditions very bad. The water was not fit to drink, making the relief work exceptionally difficult. The Red Cross is now engaged in trying to clean up the island and make it comfortable and fit to live in. Part of that work consists in advancing $100 to the heads of families to go toward rebuilding their homes.

Riemersma who said: "The United States has its Hoover, Ionia its Green, but only Holland has G. J. Diekema. Mr. Diekema touched upon his work as chairman of the Republican state central committee by saying he was both very tired and very happy. "We have harvested a great crop and it is safely stowed away in Michigan not in the barn, but in the ballot box." In speaking of citizenship he called attention to the fact that it does not depend upon birth, inheritance, religion or politics. To be a citizen in this great country means to be free," he said, "to think, speak, write and act, just so long as you do not interfere with the freedom of others."

The Knock of Opportunity

How about it, Mr. Worker? If opportunity should knock upon your door today, could you bid her enter? Would you have the necessary ready cash to finance some plan that would be instrumental in making you financially independent? If not, now is the time to start saving. Then when real opportunities open up where ready money is needed it will be available, and you will be prepared to meet the emergency.

Only the unwise wait for luck to come their way.

A savings account is the real knock on the door of opportunity.

The manual training department of the public school kindly ask for donations of broken dolls, toys or any other playthings. These broken toys will be mended or parts used for other toys. It is surprising what can be done with paint, glue or tin to make old articles look like new. The idea is to use these fixed up toys for Christmas gifts for boys and girls who might have an unhappy Christmas if not cared for in this way. Many toys have already been repaired and the department will appreciate others to work on.

Needless to say she is as much pleased with the election of Hoover as anyone can very well be.

Mrs. Frank Wareham, 241 West 17th street, entertained a group of friends at her home Friday evening. All the guests were schoolmates and friends who formerly lived in Vriesland, Mich. Davidson, pastor of Hope Church was on the program and gave an interesting discourse as to his summer trip to Europe. He dwelled particularly on his stay in London and made "Seven Great Days in London" as the subject matter of his talk. He gave a resume of a sight seeing trip through the largest city on earth, that is to say when the dense fogs did not prevent him from seeing what he was supposed to see. Anyway, he described the Towers of London, the great museums, the House of Parliament, London Bridge, the Thames River, etc. It was a most interesting review of a great city. Mr. Walter Groth's group of songs were well received by the guests present. As hostess, Mrs. McLean was ably assisted by Mrs. Raymond Vischer.

Don James Lakie, Grand Rapids architect, well known here, having designed a number of buildings and fine residences, has opened an office in the new Peoples State Bank building for the practice of architecture. His work will be of a general practice and the office will be open six days a week.

Miss Edna Means, noted interpretative reader, who is to appear on the Hope College Lyceum course Thursday evening, November 15th, ranks among the foremost professional entertainers on the Lyceum and Chautauqua platform. In a cleverly assembled group of reading, "From the Passing Crowd," Miss Means has drawn upon the people of real, everyday life for her inspiration. Her character sketches entertain, amuse and instill a friendly spirit of helpfulness and good-will towards others. No one will forget her presentation of the "whistling boy," or the farmer who would go back to the farm, two characters almost invariably included in her program. Miss Means is an untiring student of human nature, and to quote the Des Moines, Iowa, Register, "she achieves a gratifying success in her every appearance." Miss Means was secured for the local Lyceum course through the well-known Redpath Bureau. Get your seats early at Hulsenga's or at the box office before 8 P. M.

HAMILTON

Dora and Hazel Rankens were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Schievink last Thursday.

A few days ago it was reported that the Hamilton Mutual Telephone Company had sold its stock to an outside company. This report was denied. That the report was not a mere rumor appears the fact that stockholders sent out an announcement last Monday that a meeting of the subscribers with the stockholders will be held at the community hall on Monday evening, November 19th at 7:30 P. M. when the proposition will be considered. The purpose of the meeting is to find out the desire of the subscribers in regard to this matter. All the members here are urged to be present and it is hoped that a large majority will be on hand to express themselves on this matter. Community Hall, Monday evening, November 19, 7:30 o'clock.

Here's hoping that they come home loaded with the "bacon" and that Hamilton is going to have a feast on their return.

Jacob Eding has a strange Ford on display at his garage. It is a new Ford run-about which has gone through a wreck in a remarkable way. Apparently driven at high speed, it went off the road and turned over in the ditch. The top was torn off; windshield was twisted and fenders were bent. Jake is using the car to show not only the strength of the new car but especially the value of the Tri-plex shatter proof glass used in the car. Although the window frame has been badly twisted, the glass is still intact.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Nyhof, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Markham of Kalamazoo figured in an auto accident south of this village Sunday evening. They were on the way home at Kalamazoo after a visit with relatives. They noticed that the car as it came nearer was swinging from one side of the road to the other. As they passed, the car turned up on them and caught the back wheel and fender. Neal had to bring his car back, but the offending Ford seemed to be none the worse. Sheriff Lugten was on hand, however, to straighten out the matter. The driver of the other car was Blies Beals of Allegan, Route 1.

A large delegation of men from this village attended the mass meeting of men, which was held at the First Reformed Church of Zeeland last week Wednesday.

Indianapolis, Ind.	1.25
St. Ignace, Mich.	1.25
Manistique, Mich.	1.25

The rates quoted are Station-to-Station Day rates, effective 4:30 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

A Station-to-Station call is one made to a certain telephone rather than to some person in particular.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone.

A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rate on a Person-to-Person call is the same at all hours.
