Still Object To New Church Being Built

MAYOR GEERLINGS APPOINTS
SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO FIND SOLUTION

Common council at its regular session in the city hall Wednesday night referred a request for a construction permit for a new Apostolic church building at the corner of Pine Ave. and 14th St. to a special committee, with instructions to confer with officials of the church in an attempt to find a different location for the proposed new building.

Protests had been received at a previous meeting from the Seventh Reformed church and Third Reformed church, protesting that construction of another church close to those already there would cause congested traffic and a clash of sounds when services are held in the churches with the windows open during the summer.

After a serious discussion during which City Atty. Elbert Parsons said that there is no legal objection to the building of a church at Pine and 14th, council passed a resolution that the city will not issue a permit for the building of a church at that location. Opposing votes were cast by Ald. Henry Prins and Ald. James A. Drinkwater. Mayor Henry Geerlings appointed Ald. Martin Oude-mool, Ald. Peter Huyser and Ald. Edward Brower to confer with the New Apostolic church officials.

Ald. Albert P. Kleis suggested that the New Apostolic church officials exchange their property for that of the "basement" church at 19th St. and Pine Ave. An official of the latter organization told him that that church was unable to continue with its construction. The suggestion was referred to the special committee.

The trouble with this location seems to be that the church, if built, will be too near Seventh Reformed church, already built. The new church would be within a few feet of Seventh Reformed; in fact, there would be a dwelling between the two churches. The contention seems to be that when services are carried on at the same time in the two churches, one would annoy the other, especially during the singing. Some of the property holders in that vicinity also object to having two churches in such close proximity and fear nothing but a jumble of sound when both services are held at one time.

Council gave its unanimous approval to the board of police and fire commissioners' appointment of Ira Antles, Ottawa county conservation officer, as chief of police to succeed Chief Frank Van Ry on Jan. 1. A gallery of more than 50 attended the meeting, many of them being members of the citizenship classes of Carl Van Lente, Junior high school instructor. The mayor welcomed the students to the council chamber at the beginning of the meeting.

New regulations for Pilgrim Home cemetery were approved after council had resolved itself into a committee of the whole, for the purpose of having a detailed discussion of the rules under the chairmanship of Ald. Frank L. Smith. All members of the park and cemetery board, which submitted the regulations, joined the members of the council as a committee during the discussion. Council then re-opened and passed the rules without a change.

An accident at the corner of 21st St. and Ottawa Ave. Wednesday afternoon involved cars driven by Edna Wiegman, 24, of rural route 1, Holland, and Charles Brower, 47, of 295 West 14th St. The car of Brower was struck by the rear of a sugar beet in the vicinity obscured the vision of the two drivers. Kate Brower of 295 West 14th St. was listed by police as a witness of the accident.

Leon De Goede, 12, son of Henry De Goede of 41 East 18th St., received bruises on his left foot and elbow Wednesday afternoon when he was struck at the corner of 21st St. and Columbia Ave. by a truck driven by Gerrit Kracht, 62, of 74 East 18th St. The youth was treated at Holland hospital and released.

Arnold Fox who is stationed aboard the U.S.S. Rigel at the San Diego, Calif., naval base, is spending a 30 days furlough in Holland with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Fox, 193 East Eighth St.

Holland city officials who went to Detroit Wednesday and Thursday to attend the annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League include City Atty. Elbert Parsons, City Assessor Peter Van Ark, Ald. John Vogelzang and Charles Vos, assistant superintendent of public works. Mrs. Vos accompanied the latter delegate. Common problems arising in city government were discussed by representatives from 24 counties.

The share of the national debt which citizens of Holland owe is $4,500,000. Leo Finch, vice president of the Grand Rapids Trust Co., told members of the Hope Church Men's club Wednesday night at a dinner meeting in the church parlors. The speaker cautioned his audience always to remember the old Chinese saying, "Accept all gifts with a sigh." Mr. Finch traced the story of gold as a monetary metal through the history of the United States. He called the past "a fine balance wheel" in monetary affairs, praised venture-capital as one of the factors which has made America great, and stated that it costs $8,000 to put one man to work. Caroline Kramers, Alma Wedder and Harold Van Heuvelen, Hope college students, played three instrumental selections. Joe Kramer, president of the Men's Club, presided. Mrs. F. H. Ault's division of the Women's Aid society served the dinner, with Mrs. W. L. Eaton as general chairman.

EARLY NEXT WEEK

Owing to the fact that next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day and a national holiday, the Holland City News will go to press on Monday night and issue the first delivery Tuesday morning.

All country correspondents are asked to get their copy to Holland by Monday morning in order to insure publication.

Council Notes

All members of common council were present when Mayor Henry Geerlings opened the meeting with prayer and the customary salute to the flag Wednesday night.

Among the applications for building permits were one from the Essenburg Building and Lumber Co. for a 30 by 26 foot house with double garage to be constructed on East 18th St. at a cost of $2,900 for the frame house with asphalt roof and $250 for the garage.

The Hartford Boiler Inspection Co. reported by letter that the boilers in Holland hospital are in good condition.

Members of council will be the guests of the Holland Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, Nov. 28, at the presentation of its charter to the newly formed organization. Complimentary tickets were distributed to the aldermen after Ald. John Vogelzang's hearty "move we accept" had brought laughter from the council and gallery.

Ald. Henry Prins moved that the welfare committee investigate complaints contained in a long letter to council from Burr Morris. The motion passed.

The board of public works petitioned council to order the advertisement for sealed bids for the new light plant for at least two weeks. Upon the motion of Ald. Henry Ketel, the resolution passed.

Board of public works collections as submitted to council totaled $13,674.72. Claims and accounts approved were $6,919.29; hospital, $1,250.75; library, $508.07; police and fire, $3,105.42; park and cemetery, $1,742.74 for a total of $13,526.24.

Approval was given to the placing of the power, light and water bills of June 30, 1938, and before, on special rolls. Confirmation of the additional assessments to regular tax rolls was also voted, but only after discussion as to the ability of some of the defaulters to pay. Council was told that $9,100 has already been collected on the sidewalk assessment, and that $4,000 is still due, some of it having been payable for three years. A committee composed of Ald. Martin Oudemool, Ald. Albert P. Kleis and Edward Brower will hear complaints from those who believe that the assessment is unfair in their case.

The welfare committee will also attempt to give redress to those who protest their inability to pay. Ald. Kleis spoke in favor of the delinquents who found themselves unable to pay, and would give them an opportunity to pay later. Ald. Oudemool wanted to know how old these bills were, and was informed that some of them were ten years old, the city clerk stated. Ald. Brower pointed out that he had run across some cases where property had been transferred or purchased, supposedly tax-free, and now this delinquent tax shows up, of which they, of course, are innocent. Ald. Parsons stated that no one has a right to remit taxes and that people purchasing property should be made aware of the city's office if there are delinquent special taxes assessed against the property they purchased.

A letter from the board of public works requested that the following revisions be made in the minimum wage scale adopted by council two weeks ago for the power plant project: shovel, crane, pile-driver, clamshell operator, pusher, crane, $1.50; prevailing rate, $1.50; mixer operator, .75; $1.50; and pump operator, .60; $1.50.

No action was taken on a report from the board of public works.

A TEMPERANCE PUBLICATION TO BE ISSUED FROM ZEELAND

A publication, called "The Voice of Temperance," which will portray the evils of the liquor traffic, will be issued from Zeeland. The publication has no definite date, but will appear as often as is necessary to keep the people informed on the beneficial results of liquor in this country and to note the changes from time to time. There is no advertising printed, and the copies will go free to everyone in Michigan, and other states will be included as time goes on. It is expected that the first issue will appear around Christmas time.

It appears that Zeeland was selected as the headquarters for publication, since that city has been outstanding in keeping liquor out of that community. Many years ago, liquor battles were frequent; in fact, the city elections were fought along those lines, but for at least forty years intoxicating beverages have not been allowed to be sold within the city limits.

Dr. A. Leenhouts of Holland will have an article in the initial issue. The subject is "Alcohol, a Deleterious to Good Health." There are several contributors from different parts of the state who will furnish anti-liquor articles from time to time. The initial sponsors of the publication include John Bouma, Jarret N. Clark, Isaac Van Dyke, John Hartgerink, Rev. A. Jabay, Herman Miller, Bert Kraak, Robert Poel, Rev. J. J. Vanden Berg, Adrian Van Koevering.

SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY

John Schoppers of Overisel sold out his wagon-making business to a new firm and has moved to Hamilton to engage in business there. Mr. Peter Gunst of Holland has moved to that village to take charge of the wagon shop. Note: Mr. Gunst was quite a character in Holland for a number of years. He later made wagons in a frame building on the site of fire station No. 1. Later he erected a building on the site of Ed Leeuw's garage on 9th st. He made wagons from the wheels up and they were real good wagons. Mr. Gunst was the bass drummer in Holland's first band, organized 70 years ago. He was a veteran in the Civil War and was cited for bravery. This Holland man was in Ford's theater, Washington, D. C., taking in "The Country Cousin," in which John Wilkes Booth was the star. He heard the shot that mortally wounded Abraham Lincoln a martyr president. He saw Booth leap from the box, his riding spur catching in the drapings of the American flag hanging from the box. Booth crossed the stage limping with a broken leg as he ran, and the well known story was that he jumped on a horse stationed at the stage door. He was trailed to a barn which was set afire. The story from there is rather vague; the accepted version is that soldiers shot him or he shot himself. Mr. Gunst was a very religious man and was strongly opposed to liquor. For many years he was a deacon and an elder in the Third Reformed church. He was a close friend of the late Engbert Vander Veen, a pioneer merchant; in fact, the two were seen almost constantly together. The writer some years ago published an interview from Mr. Gunst giving the Ford theater tragedy as he saw it. He died about 10 years ago, as the result of an auto accident, he being run down as he walked along the street.

Mr. Engbert Vander Veen, the locksmith, is moving his hardware and stoves and his tin shop from the old wooden building to the new brick building he has just erected on the corner of Market and River streets, which looks handsome, to assure you. Note: The store in question was the first brick block Mr. Vander Veen built. He did build the foundation for a second store when he built the first store but this was covered over for several years, when at last a second building was built to the east. Two stores, seventy years later, were reconstructed into the beautiful J. C. Penney Co. building just opened, at a cost of more than $30,000.

According to a Spanish proverb four persons are wanted to make good salad—a spendthrift for oil, a miser for vinegar, a counselor for salt, and a madman to stir it all up.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Benj. Van Raalte, Sr., Pete Wilms and John Kramer of the A. C. Van Raalte Post, G. A. R., are attending the national encampment at Columbus, Ohio. Note: Not one of these veterans is living today.

Will Rodgers, editor of the Holland City News, who has been manager of the Lyceum opera house for a year, has resigned and will Breyman, local jeweler, has been named in his place.

Rev. M. E. Beestra announced to his congregation at the Fourth Ref. church that he has accepted a call extended to him by the First Ref. church at Chicago, Ill. He at the same time declined the call extended to him from Paterson, N. J.

Memorial services in honor of Herman Bartels, Route 11, who was killed in action in World War I, were held at Harlem Reformed church. Rev. Benj. Wynveen was in charge of the services. Bartels was a member of Co. D, 126th Infantry. Note: Had he been spared a few weeks more he would have lived to see Armistice Day and would have marched home with his "buddies."

Carl Saurer of Ganges, Allegan county, was instantly killed when a traction engine which he was working turned over and fell on him.

A family of seven, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brummel and five children, of Jamestown, are all down with the Spanish "flu." Note: This was during the World War when thousands died at army camps and thousands more throughout the nation. More than 20 died in Holland alone. It seemed especially severe at Camp Custer where boys from Ottawa and Allegan county were in training and some died.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dutton and family left for California to make their future home. Note: Since that time both have passed on; however, the children continued to live there.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Holland High School students will plant 2,000 tulip bulbs acting upon the thought of Miss Lydia Rogers, who made the suggestion recently as a civic gesture to beautify the city. A collection was taken up among the students for the purchase of bulbs. Note:—This item had escaped us in giving credit to Miss Rogers some time ago as planting the seed or rather the bulb from which the "tulip festival" grew. Nothing is said in this item about a celebration, only that the bulbs would be planted in the school grounds.

The oldest house in Zeeland, namely, the parsonage which was first accepted by Rev. Cornelius Vander Meulen, spiritual adviser of self there as a lifesaver. A young lady by the name of Rose Hines while fishing off the pier there, was caught by a sudden gust of wind, lost her balance and fell in the ocean in 25 feet of water. A few moments after, Taylor, who happened to be near the scene, saw what occurred, dived from the pier to the struggling girl and brought her to shore. After using the resuscitation method he knew so well, he succeeded in bringing her back to consciousness. Mr. Taylor was surprised to receive from the father, E. Hines, a wealthy man, a check for $1,000 in recognition of his bravery in having saved his daughter's life. Note: Mr. Taylor died about two years ago. He came back to this city and conducted resort refreshment stands on both sides of Lake Macatawa for twenty-five years. He was always called the "Hamburg King." Mrs. Taylor is still living in Holland.

The death of Alderman John Koning occurred at his home on West 11th st. Besides the widow, Fannie Clara, Nellie, Belle, Ada, John Edward and Robert, all children, survive. Note: Mr. Koning was chief engineer at the Cappon-Bertach Leather Co. and was alderman of the Fourth ward.

Capt. Martin De Boe died at the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids at the age of 72 years. He went to Holland and was promoted to major. He was quite a character in this city and lived for many years just west of the present City Hall site on 11th st. The property was purchased by the city later and the Board of Public Works garage and warehouse was erected on it. Capt. De Boe was at one time commander of the A. C. Van Raalte Post, G. A. R. He had a wife, "Billie" De Boe, who became the world's most famous black wire walker. Bill started his career as a rope walker in a neighborhood pin show back of the Mulder home on West 11th st. when it was common between 10th and 12 streets and where all large circuses cast their tents when in Holland. The writer also had an act of hanging on his heels and turning "somerset" (turning heels over head) in a tent made of large discarded carpets loaned from the neighborhood. Anyway, De Boe developed so rapidly that he became the real thing and traveled in vaudeville all over the world. He married a fine-looking woman, also a slack wire walker, and they made up a team. The couple surprised Holland one day by coming to town unexpectedly while a force was in progress and putting on their act in front of the grand stand. The performance for daring almost took the natives' breath away. Both father and son have passed away many years ago. Peter De Boe, a confectioner at Grand Haven, is a son of Capt. Peter De Boe.

Tom Smith had three fingers saved off at C. K. Kie's basket factory. Dr. Mersen attended the unfortunate man. Note: The C. L. King plant was located on the site of Kollen park. Butter chips and baskets for peaches were made there by the millions. Logs got scarce and the enterprise after running 30 years closed. Merrick Hanchett of the Federal Baking Co. was a former bookkeeper there. The old concrete archway where the boilers stood are still in Kollen park, covered with vines.

Our "Friendly Enemy" Coming Here Saturday

GRAND HAVEN AND HOLLAND
TO BATTLE FOR COUNTY
TITLE AT RIVERVIEW
PARK

The greatest gridiron contest of the year covering a quarter of a century at least, in this vicinity, is the Holland and Grand Haven football game. To us they are the "friendly enemy" and the "County Seaters" will be in Holland this week Saturday at Riverview Park and you can "bet your bottom dollar" that the town, as well as a thousand of our neighbors, will fill the park to capacity.

Grand Haven high school will bring their band, and Holland high may have two bands from the school.

Set Saturday afternoon aside for the big game of the season—Grand Haven vs. Holland.

Below will be found the Grand Haven Tribune's "slant" on the coming game on Saturday.

Grand Haven Tribune

Grand Haven high school's hard luck football team, losers in a 13-12 decision at St. Joseph last Friday night, looked forward today with more than a little hope that Lady Luck and Dame Fortune would change their expression of disdain, with which they have been gazing at the blue and gold this season, into at least something of a semblance of a smile as the final game of the local season nears next Saturday at Holland.

Grand Haven's failure to win from a fine St. Joe team last week was due mainly to its inaccuracy on the conversions after touchdowns and to its inability to hang onto the ball and keep from fumbling in the crucial moments.

Grand Haven's passing attack, led by Coach Fred A. Brown, continued to reap results at St. Joe and the air-minded Havenites may use this weapon extensively against the Tulip City huskies.

It appears that the blue raiders of Coach Fred A. Brown will enter the Dutch fracas at Riverview park at Holland very much the favorite.

Beware, Grand Haven

But veteran fans and former local coaches as well know and are convinced that the Wooden Shoes may have played putrid football all season and may have fallen before Benton Harbor, Muskegon, Muskegon Heights and all the rest by 60-0 scores, only to meet Grand Haven on Saturday. The fracas will also decide, barring a tie score, which team will occupy the cellar apartment in the league.

Both teams have lost four conference games while Holland has won from Western State High of Kalamazoo, Plainwell and Creston of Grand Rapids and lost to Ottawa Hills of Grand Rapids in out-of-town games. Grand Haven has won from St. Mary's of Muskegon and lost to Grand Rapids Catholic, Lansing Eastern and St. Joseph in non-league encounters.

The Zeeland colonists, bought by Jarvis Van Luyse, the founder, is being torn down to make way for an entrance to the new part of the Zeeland Cemetery adjoining the old. The land used for that purpose belonged to Mr. Vander Meulen, and the parsonage has been used for a hospital and a meeting place during the early days. Plans are to erect a memorial in stone on this ground for the religious leader of the colony.

The death of Mrs. Arthur Cloetting, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Keppel, occurred in State College, Pennsylvania, where her husband is on the faculty. Her maiden name was Miss Evelyn Keppel. The news devoted at least a column to this fine girl, who all Holland loved and who gave so generously of her musical talents. As an artist of voice, she at the time had few equals in this vicinity, and she shared her art unsparringly with churches of all denominations—never failing to take part in church activities, either in oratorio or otherwise. She as a rule took the leading roles in all Hope College School of Music productions.

The curb flags were put out by the merchants along the newly-opened block of pavement on 8th St. as a sort of celebration after having been isolated for several weeks which retarded business in that block because of the inconvenience.

Says John Vander Ploeg of the Shady Lawn Florist: "If a chrysanthemum is a 'mum' and a gladiolus is a 'glad,' we naturally expect the nicknames of pansies to be 'pansies'."

The H. J. Heinz Co. plant here was closed Thursday in respect to Charles Heinz, of Pittsburgh, son of the founder and a director in the company. The funeral took place Thursday, J. A. Hoover, local manager, was advised by wire of his death. Mr. Heinz had visited the Holland plant often and had made many friends.

From Hammerfest, Norway, we sailed for North Cape or Nordkapp, where our boat anchored at sea and we were taken ashore by tenders, for the purpose of making a climb to the extreme top of Nordkapp. Many did not dare to undertake the task, while others immediately saw that it was a very strenuous, difficult feat, especially for heart cases and short-winded persons. However, those of us who took the risk, and I was one of them who made the attempt and succeeded in reaching the top, were amply rewarded with a unique experience after a two hours' climb.

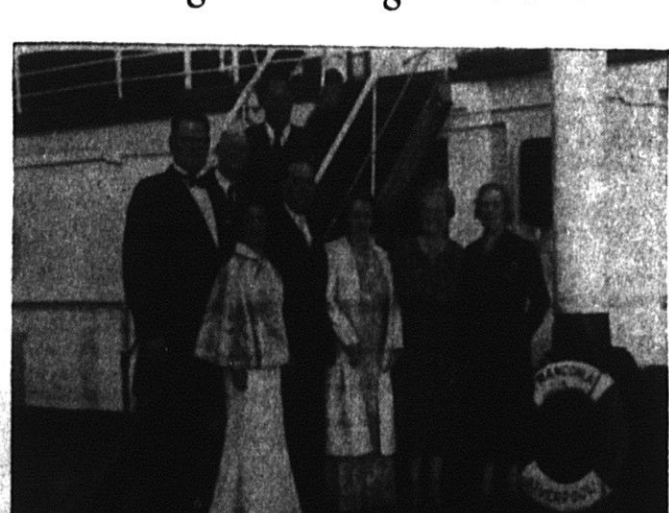

This was one of the best appetizers I could think of at the time, for every step we took upwards we had to lift our body weight, and mine was in excess of 225 pounds, but we carried (or our guides did for us) our sandwiches and hot coffee which was to be served to those that reached the top, and did that taste good? This cliff or mount was over 1,000 feet high and very rocky and at some places soft, wet and muddy. Coming down was much easier but more dangerous lest we take a spill or plunge, so we had to be very careful, hanging onto ropes here and there. On top there was a pole erected pointing towards the north pole and so marked. Here is where the late Dr. Edward Hoffman of Grand Haven made his final dash for the north pole many years ago while he was a member of the Wellman Expedition. We are still about 1,400 miles from the actual pole, but to go there we must continue south. This spot is the extreme northern point of the world, farther north than the north pole. Here is where I sat pretty—on top of this old earth, but nobody came here to "see me some time."

The reason that this promontory is the most northerly point of this earth is because this earth is tilted on an axis. This cape is a bare point of rocks about 1,000 feet in altitude. It is part of an island of Magero, which is separated from the coast of Norway by a narrow channel. Here is where we saw the midnight sun at its best. We were in this neighborhood for four nights and each night the sun was very plainly visible all the time.

Now, what is the midnight sun? Simply this: First, remember that this earth is a spinning ball revolving around the sun, and also remember that when we see the sun rise and set in the regular manner that the sun is always stationary. It is the earth that moves, which causes us to be carried around on its rotating surface so that we are moved into sunlight in the morning and into darkness at night. This

ZEELAND FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT ON FALSE ALARM

The Zeeland fire department was called out to a supposed fire last Saturday, when a fire alarm was turned in from the Grandview district. Upon arriving at the scene it was found that John M. De Jonge, of the Grandview Orchards, was burning a large brush pile, and evidently someone had rushed to put in the alarm without first learning the character of the blaze. The department returned to its quarters without finding any fire to extinguish.

Chief F. Van Ry Will Relinquish Office Jan. 1st

IRA "RED" ANTLES WILL BE
NEW CHIEF OF POLICE
AFTER JAN 1ST

Ira (Red) Antles, of 646 Washington Ave., Ottawa county conservation officer, was approved by Holland common council Wednesday night as chief of police of the city to succeed Frank Van Ry, whose resignation becomes effective Jan. 1. Mr. Antles' original appointment was made Monday by the board of police and fire commissioners, subject to council's approval.

The board approved Mr. Antles' appointment unanimously when they met Monday afternoon in the office of City Clerk Oscar Peterson in the city hall. Commissioner Fred Kamferbeek submitted a report from a personal committee recommending the appointment. Commissioner Andrew Hyma seconded the proposal.

Known as "Red" Antles to hundreds of sportsmen in this vicinity, the appointee has served as conservation officer for nearly five years. He has a record of 217 convictions out of 219 arrests. Previously, Mr. Antles was in the real estate business here and has also been employed at the Hart & Cooley Manufacturing Co.

The approval by the common council was also unanimous.

The Grand Haven Tribune gives the following on Holland's new chief:

Mr. Antles is well known in Grand Haven and among sportsmen over the county. He formerly lived in Spring Lake but is now a resident of Holland. He is tremendously popular with sportsmen and is known as one of the most efficient conservation officers in the state. He is proud of his record of 219 arrests with 217 convictions, having been defeated in only one case and the other case dismissed.

Antles is a Hoosier, born in Jay county, Ind., on July 14, 1891. He attended school there and was graduated from the Bryant High school in 1921. He went to Grand Rapids a year later and was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad. While there he studied commercial law at Davis Tech. After five years he went to Detroit and worked for the Chrysler Corp. Two years later he came to Holland and entered the real estate business, but in 1929 he explained that he like many others, lost everything "including his shirt."

He then went to work for the Hart & Cooley Manufacturing Co. in Holland and for three years was a department foreman. It was while employed there that he became a conservation officer. He is married and has two children, Shirley Mae, three years old; and Thomas Lee, eight months.

Antles is a loyal supporter of fish and game clubs in the county, being a member of the Holland Fish and Game club, North Ottawa Rod and Gun club, and the Holland Gun Club, and the Holland Gun Club. He has never had an office due to his position as an officer, but he has always lent his support to activities to preserve the fish and game and sporting dogs.

He has served the state for four years and 10 months and during that time has made a splendid record with the conservation department.

FREE FOOTBALL GAME AT ZEELAND

There will be a free football game on Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock between the 7th and 8th graders of the Zeeland schools. Everybody is invited and there will be no admission charge.

HOLLAND WILL AGAIN BE LIGHTED DURING THE YULE- TIDE SEASON

Earyl F. Price of the J. C. Penney Co., president of the Merchants' Association, will appoint a committee to raise money to defray the expenses of festooning the boulevard lights with colored "glims" and to place Christmas trees in sockets as yuletide decorations.

The merchants voted to keep their stores open at nights until 9 a. m. from Tuesday, Dec. 20, through Saturday, Christmas Eve, Dec. 24. On Saturday, Dec. 31, New Year's Eve, stores will close at 6 p. m., the merchants voted. In past years, stores have closed at 6 p. m. on Christmas Eve but because that date falls on Saturday this year, merchants felt it best to keep open because of Saturday night business but to close early on New Year's Eve.

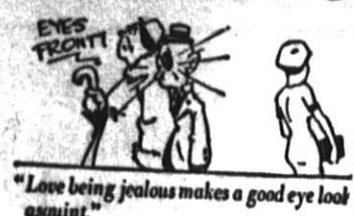

It was also voted to keep the stores open on Wednesday afternoons from Nov. 23 through Jan. 4, 1939.

A score of merchants met at the Warm Friend Tavern to make preliminary arrangements for the holiday season.

HOLLAND FIRM IS LOW BIDDER FOR LEGION CLUBHOUSE

Construction is to be begun soon on the new American Legion club building on Harbor avenue opposite Kelly Park on the water front, Grand Haven. Van Dyke and Voelker of Holland was low bidder on general construction and A. J. West said the contract would be given them as soon as it could be prepared. The plumbing, wiring and heating bids have not been awarded. There were six bidders on general construction. The amount of Van Dyke and Voelker's bid was not disclosed.

Officials of the Legion Post No. 28 reported the membership drive for 1939 was nearly over and when the building is completed, admission would be on presentation of paid-up membership card only. Members whose names are in good standing on the roll at the conclusion of the drive will be listed on the Legion roster to be placed under the cornerstone.

The new building is to have club facilities, banquet and meeting rooms and kitchens.

TANNERY DAMAGED BY DUST BLAZE

Damage which will not exceed $1,000, Eagle-Ottawa Leather company plant, Grand Haven, officials said, was inflicted on the plant and stock about 10:30 a. m. recently when combustion of dust in a heating pipe started a smoldering fire. Two sprinkler heads let go, snuffing the fire before Grand Haven firemen arrived. The firemen remained for more than half an hour to make sure no fire remained in the walls, floor or in the heating system pipe.

"Some Observations" was the subject of a talk by the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp at a meeting of the Century club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brooks on State St., Monday night. The Hope college pastor described a trip which he and Mrs. Hinkamp took last summer, which included the National Exchange club convention in Salt Lake City, Utah. Miss Esther Bultman, Miss Mary Bolema, Gordon Vanden Brink and Millard Albors, Hope college students, sang several vocal selections. Miss Laura Boyd made arrangements for the music. Mayor Henry Geerlings presided at the formal meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Randall C. Bosch, Mr. and Mrs. N. Bosch and Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts were in charge of a social hour which followed.

A plan to form a winter golf club for enthusiasts who wish to keep in practice by driving balls during the snowy months was discussed Wednesday evening at a meeting in the Superior Cigar store. The meeting was called when 30 signed a petition asking Leon Moody of the Holland high school to provide a place to practice.

License plates for 1939 bearing numbers below 200 may still be obtained at the local bureau, according to Bertal Slaght, manager. Special "V" plates for Holland and Zeeland veterans are also available, he said.

Michigan Ranks Twelfth in Poultry

Michigan ranks nationally about twelfth in a huge poultry industry yet too many of the state's 196,000 farms are keeping laying flocks without records and without profit. To make poultry more efficient and profitable, a new bulletin has been compiled by the farm management department at Michigan State College "Profitable Poultry Management," Special Bulletin No. 294.

Eighty-three per cent of farms maintain a flock either large or small in this state, according to the last census. Cost figures obtained by K. T. Wright indicate that among co-operators in the cost studies the most efficient poultrymen were able to show a net annual return of 86 cents a hen. The same study for the least efficient showed other poultrymen had an average loss of 21 cents a hen.

Five production factors were considered. These included eggs laid by the average hen in a flock, fall production, feeding efficiency, death loss and culling percentage, and labor efficiency.

Flocks studied were above the average in size and efficiency. Yet in Wright's opinion this only emphasizes the effect of poor management by less efficient and more average poultry keepers. The bulletin offers the most important factors for profitable management.

Fifteen counties in the state are credited with more than a quarter million chickens each. Allegan leads, followed by Ottawa, Lenawee, Saginaw, Huron, Hillsdale, Monroe, Tuscola, Sanilac, Van Buren, St. Clair, Kent, Macomb, Washtenaw and Berrien.

IMPORTANT TO USE MICHIGAN-MADE SUGAR

"Since about 300,000,000 pounds of beet sugar will be produced this year in Michigan, it is more important now than ever before that every sugar consumer rally to the support of the Michigan beet sugar industry. Exclusive use of this Michigan product will retain the benefits of production for Michigan people, whereas if foreign refined sugar is used, those benefits will be materially reduced," according to a statement by Arthur A. Schupp, executive of the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association of Saginaw.

"Now that Michigan farmers are in the midst of one of the largest sugar beet harvests in the history of the State, attention to Michigan-made beet sugar as a quality food for household use is brought sharply to the foreground.

"Although beet sugar is available throughout the year at all retail grocers, the value of the annual sugar output is more evident now than at any other time of the year, for thousands of Michigan farmers, agricultural workers, and factory employees are receiving benefit and employment from it and depend upon it, to no small degree, for a major portion of their livelihood.

"Uniformity in quality of beet sugar has been directly responsible for its use by hundreds of thousands of homemakers, and for the fact that practically all of the large food industries of Michigan are demanding and using Michigan-made beet sugar for the manufacture of high quality food products."

DREDGING OF CHANNEL AT SPRING LAKE COMPLETE

Dredging of the channel connecting Grand River and Spring lake has been completed and the dredge Tompkins has been returned to the government basin where it is being laid up for the winter. The dredging has opened a channel 18 feet deep and 100 feet wide from the river into Spring lake so that deep draft vessels can now go through the channel from Lake Michigan into the smaller lake. The operations were extended below the Ferryburg bridge to connect with the dredging program which insures an 18-foot depth to the Construction Aggregate property at Ferryburg, and this channel will be maintained under government appropriation.

For many years large vessels were prohibited from going into Spring lake on account of the shallow passage way between the river and the lake. It is expected the new channel will stimulate shipping into Spring lake and may be the means of large boats laying up both at Grand Haven and in Spring Lake, where repairs may be made at John Bros. shipyards.

The Gen. Meade has returned from Manitowish where she was in drydock. A new propeller and tail shaft were installed, the gates were overhauled and the hull was gone over and tightened up. She is now laying up for the winter with the winter crew of 23 men who will be retained until the boat starts out in April for the annual schedule. The regular summer crew employs 46 men.

The government basin at Grand Haven is now full of dredges, scows, cook houses and warehouses that have been brought here from the district for the winter layup. Since the $25,000 improvement to the basin which includes a new dock and beautifying the grounds, this depot is one of the best on the lakes and a crew of about 40 men are retained during the winter months to repair the equipment and then prepare it for the summer season.

The New Hunter For Deer Needs Good Advice

Dress Light and Not Tight. Heavy Dress Does Not Always Mean Warmth

If novice hunters who are planning to make their first deer hunting trip this season will take the advice of veteran hunters, they will avoid wearing heavy clothing.

One of the most common errors on the part of green hunters noted by conservation officers during the patrol of hunting camps during the deer season, is that of supposing that in order to keep warm one must be weighed down like a freighter. Weight is not necessarily a guarantee of warmth and warmth can be had with comparatively light clothing if it is the right kind, the conservation officers point out.

Another frequent mistake of green hunters is to wear clothing which binds, which further reduces what little energy they have left after carting around an excessive poundage in clothes. Still another is the wearing of boots which offer no support for the arches. The city-bred person, accustomed to the support of ordinary shoes, quickly finds that flat boots develop an acute aching in the backs of his legs.

A memorandum for new hunters might include: Clothing that is warm, but light, and loose; boots that support the arches, or supporters that can be placed in boots that don't—and by all means, boots that are not tight.

A cap that has no ear flaps that tie up over the top of the head. The flaps and laces are constantly getting caught in tree and brush branches.

A good friend who is an experienced hunter, from whom advice can be sought on what to buy, or borrow, in the way of hunting clothes.

ORDAINS FORMER HOPE ATHLETE IN REFORMED CHURCH

James C. Ottipoby, a Commanche Indian and alumnus of Hope college, will be ordained as a minister of the fifty-sixth anniversary meeting of the Woman's Board of Domestic Missions Nov. 15 at Marble Collegiate church in New York city.

Ottipoby, who was an outstanding athlete at Hope, was one of the few nine-letter men there. He starred in football, baseball, basketball and track. He later attended Western Theological seminary and then became associated with the Methodist church mission group and taught in government Indian schools. Ottipoby was transferred from the Methodist mission group to the Reformed church group about a year ago. He now is religious adviser at Reformed church's largest Indian mission at Winnebago, Neb. He will return to his station following his ordination.

Hinkamp Gives Travelogue of Western Trip

Veterans of Foreign Wars Hold Armistice Banquet—Good Spread and Program

"See America first," was recommended as a patriotic thought by Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp of Hope college, the speaker of the evening at the Armistice Day banquet of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Friday night at Veterans' hall, River avenue. Rev. Hinkamp spoke in the place of Dick Boter, who was taken ill Friday morning. "I represented the Exchange club at their convention in Salt Lake City last summer," he said, "and my wife and I decided to see everything we could on the way." He then said that each type of country and scene has its own peculiar type of beauty, and it isn't necessary to go very far from Holland to enjoy some of the very best scenery in the country. He mentioned that the scene from the new Douglas bridge and the views that may be had in the sand dunes are as beautiful as any that he has ever seen.

"My wife and I have a hobby of going to all the state capitals that we can," he said. "In the state of Iowa we visited the capital at Des Moines, which, like most others, is a small replica of the national capital. However, what impressed me most about this capital was a group of flags that had been captured from the Confederates by the Iowa volunteers during the Civil War. Every state has these trophies and it inspires a fellow to think of the great country in which he lives. In time of need, manpower will be lacking. This is something that we can depend upon."

In referring to the capital at Lincoln, Neb., he said, "It is so beautiful that it almost puts the national capital to shame. We spent a long time going through the whole building with its beautiful rooms and chambers, but what is to be marveled at more than its beauty is that it was all paid for when it was dedicated. There is no debt in Nebraska." He then mentioned the tremendous distances in the Western states and reminded us that we should be proud of a unified, free country as large as ours.

After describing his trip up Pike's Peak, he mentioned the beauty of Rocky Mountain National park and the wonderful roads through the park. "Yellowstone is beautiful," he said, "but this is better. As we passed through these mountains I couldn't help but think of our pioneer forefathers who made all this distance by ox-cart. They were tough. We must admire them, for they opened up this great country for us and we owe a great debt to them."

He then told of his visit to Salt Lake City. "There are wonderful streets in this city," he said. "They are 132 feet wide, with separate lanes for street cars, busses and passenger vehicles. Water is continually running in the gutters and keeps the city clean and cool."

He then described the "Bee-hive House," the Mormon tabernacle and the Bingham mines, where gold, copper, zinc and lead are all mined at once.

In closing he emphasized the motto of the United States, "E Pluribus Unum," as he said, "Out of many, one. We are a group of states, but one country. Any European country could be tucked into several counties of one of our western states and yet they cannot join themselves into a United States of Europe. We should be proud of our heritage."

In addition to the speaker, a very fine and entertaining program was presented. Commander Frank J. J. acted as master of ceremonies and as the first number on the program he called on a guitar trio composed of Evelyn Steinfert, Ida Belle Hietje and Margaret Stegink. They played two numbers, "Honolulu Moonlight" and "Sailing Along to Hawaii." Following this number a basket of fruit was presented by the women's auxiliary to the post's Gold Star Mother, Mrs. Bertie Biggs.

Mrs. Ernest Penna then gave two readings, "Unknown" by Bruce Barton, and "The Ape and the Lady." The group then spent thirty seconds in prayer for those who made the supreme sacrifice during the war. Roy Young, ably assisted by "Peeny" Dailey and Simon Paauwe, presented a show of the darkest magic which pleased and mystified the audience. The lighter entertainment of the evening was closed with two accordion solos by Simon Sysbema, which were followed by Rev. Hinkamp's talk. Approximately 100 attended the banquet. The table decorations were appropriate and patriotic and the banquet was in charge of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Post and was fine as usual.

The Auxiliary will have a rummage sale in the City Hall on Saturday, Nov. 19, starting at 9 o'clock.

Due to Thanksgiving coming on our meeting night, our regular meeting will be postponed until Thursday, Dec. 8. Our first meeting night in Dec. The Ladies Auxiliary meets same evening at city hall, G.A.R. room.

We surely had a fine turn-out at our banquet and everybody enjoyed a wonderful evening. The write-up will be found in this issue.

Sorry to hear that our magician wrecked Andrus' new derby hat. By the big sign from his better half it must have been Bert's Sunday go-to-meeting hat. Cheer up Bert, Santa Claus is just around the corner and he "might" bring you a new topper.

If you didn't turn out at the banquet, all we can say is you missed a swell time.

Glad to see our old pal, Spoor, and many more of our almost forgotten comrades at the banquet.

At the last meeting our district inspector, John Klapp, and a couple other comrades of the Old Kent post of Grand Rapids visited our meeting and found everything in ship-shape manner. Thanks to our quartermaster who is always on the job.

We will have to say welcome home to our comrades Belder, Clemens and others, almost strangers. Let's see more of you.

Glad to hear we have at least two (dear hunters); we mean buck hunters in our group. So we might be lucky enough to have a venison supper. Good luck to them anyway. Sundin says the sharp eye he has to use to check every passenger that gets on the Greyhound, ought to be good to get his buck. Huyser says when you have to get your sharp eye on every letter or card, large or small like he has to a buck certainly can't get away from him.

Don't forget to attend our next meeting on Dec. 8. Holiday season coming on and something is bound to turn up.

Holland Five Has Top Game

(Grand Rapids Herald)

The new women's inter-city bowling league opened its season last week on the Wenger 20th Century alleys with only mediocre counts fearing the play.

Officers elected for the women's loop were Mrs. E. Phillips, president; Agnes Campbell of Holland, vice-president; Ruby Fleaser, secretary; Betty Reus, treasurer; Jennie Virkstis, sergeant-at-arms.

High team game went to the Holland women's team with 932 pins. High individual score of the night and a ring donated by Mrs. Phillips were awarded to Jennie Virkstis with a 210 game.

The league is a new idea in the city but judging by the enthusiasm of the six teams, a highly successful year is anticipated.

COUNCIL NOTES

works that the J. C. Penney Co. had requested the removal of a fire hydrant from their freight entrance near River and Eighth, but that an official of the company had stated that he had no authority to make such an expenditure when confronted with an estimate from the board that removal of the plug would cost $125.53.

Council called the attention of the city welfare director to the condition of a Mr. Kelly at the suggestion of the Rev. John Vanderbeek of Sixth Reformed church. Ald. Kleis presented the suggestion.

After the return of council from a session as a committee of the whole and approval of new rules and regulations for the city cemetery, Ald. Peter Huyser brought up a matter relating to the unsightly appearance of the 19th St. voting booth. The blinds are ugly, he said. The matter was referred to the first ward aldermen, John Menken and Mr. Huyser, who undoubtedly will remedy this condition.

Ald. Martin Oudemool suggested a city safety campaign in driving along the lines being conducted elsewhere. "Secret service men," put on watch for the purpose of securing information about speeders could be appointed, he said, with the identity of such men kept secret. Ald. Frank Smith brought up the inaccuracy with which parkers down-town park. "Not one car in five parks within the lines," he said.

Ald. Brouwer stated that this had been tried before by the Exchange club a few years ago and it was not very successful since those given tickets directing them to police headquarters brought denials from officers and civilians who had the evidence failed to appear against the suspects. Anyway, it will be a matter for the next chief of police.

Henry Vander Schel, who some years ago was made temporary chief of police while acting as chairman of the board of police and fire commissioners, sent in his application, asking the council to consider his name as chief in place of Frank Van Ry, retiring chief. Naturally the appointment of the new chief, Antles, will preclude the appointment of Vander Schel.

Ben Brower, chairman of the park and cemetery board, reported to council that with the filling in of the east end of Lake Macatawa, an overflow of the old river bed has cut off the water supply for the sprinkling system at Lakeview park. He was informed the civic improvement committee is taking care of the matter.

He was victorious, and when his daughter came to meet him he kept his vow.

Grave Has Many Visitors The tomb of Abelard and Heloise, in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise in Paris, is, after 700 years, a place of sentimental pilgrimage. Since their tragic romance, notes a writer in Collier's Weekly, this grave is believed to have been more widely known, to have had more visitors and to have been the subject of more stories and songs than any other in Christendom, with the exception of that of the Savior.

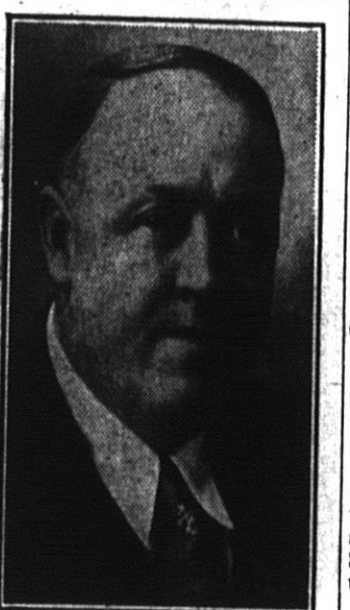

Abraham Lincoln Saying In a letter to Horace Greeley on August 22, 1862, Abraham Lincoln said: "I shall try to correct errors where shown to be errors, and I shall adopt new views as fast as they shall appear to be true views."

Sheriff Names Rycenga As Under Sheriff

TONY GROENEVELD, HOLLAND MAN, WAS REPLACED BY FORMER ZEELAND CHIEF OF POLICE

Edward Rycenga of Grand Haven, former undersheriff of Ottawa county under former Sheriff Ben Rosema, was installed as undersheriff of the county by Sheriff Frank Van Etta, of Holland, to replace Under Sheriff Tony Groeneveld, who has been in the office for nearly two years.

Neither Sheriff Van Etta nor Mr. Groeneveld would make any statements as to the reason for a change in the office at this time, according to the Grand Haven Tribune. Rumors have been noised around for a time that there would be a change in undersheriff but it was believed there would be no new appointments until the first of the year when Sheriff Van Etta begins his second term. The news, therefore, that was announced by Sheriff Van Etta, comes as a distinct surprise to many in official circles and even those directly associated with the office.

Mr. Rycenga was sworn in this Wednesday and he and Sheriff Van Etta were out of the city today on reporter called. The new officer will step into the duties he left when he was requested to resign his office over two years ago when, while working under Sheriff Ben Rosema, he announced his candidacy for the office at the September primary in 1936.

Rycenga is a native son and lived in Grand Haven until a young man. He began his police career as a special deputy under former Sheriff Fred Kamferbeek of Holland, and continued in office under Sheriff Cornelius Steketee, also of Holland. He was chief of police at Zeeland for six years. He was appointed undersheriff by Rosema in 1934. He now lives in Grand Haven at 1022 Washington St., and has been employed at the Grand Haven Stamped Products Co.

Mr. Groeneveld is a printer by trade. He was operating a shop in Holland when he was appointed special deputy at Holland in 1932 which is a full time job, by Ben Rosema. He continued in that office until 1936 when he was appointed undersheriff by Frank Van Etta. He is married and has been living in Grand Haven for over a year. He was a former Grand Haven resident in 1918-22 when he was employed by the Challenge Machinery Co. Mr. Groeneveld said today that he has no plans to announce at the present time.

'Dead' Snake Lives to Bite The belief that snakes do not die until sundown is probably based on the fact that their nerve reflexes sometimes continue to function and respond to stimuli after death. In one case, says Collier's Weekly, they caused a snake to bite a man fatally after it had been not only dead for more than an hour but also skinned.

Battle Fought After Peace Treaty The Battle of New Orleans was fought after the treaty of peace in the War of 1812 was signed, yet it is considered this country's second most important military event.

Oath Taken by President The Constitution directs that the President of the United States shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States." George Washington, as President, took the following oath: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States." In place of "protect," W. H. Taft, when he took the oath, used the word "maintain."

'Misfortune,' 'Calamity' During the period when Gladstone and Disraeli were opposing leaders in British politics, Disraeli and a number of his cronies were dining one night when the conversation turned to distinction between words of similar meaning. After the comparison of several pairs of words had gone round the table someone asked Disraeli the difference between "misfortune" and "calamity." With but a second's thought Disraeli answered: "If Mr. Gladstone fell into the Thames river it would be a misfortune; but if someone pulled him out, a calamity."

Meadowlark Well-Known Bird The eastern meadowlark is a common and well-known bird occurring from the Atlantic coast to the Great Plains, where it gives way to the closely related western species, which extends thence westward to the Pacific. It winters from our southern border as far north as the District of Columbia, southern Illinois, and occasionally Iowa. The western form winters somewhat farther north. Although it is a bird of the plains, and finds its most congenial haunts in the prairies of the West, it is at home wherever there is level or undulating land covered with grass or weeds, with plenty of water at hand.

Sailors' Hornpipe Good Exercise No slazy mincing is the Sailors' hornpipe. It's a lively jig, requires quick kicks and good balance. And, says the Australian navy, it's "a splendid form of exercise." Capt. James Cook, famed English explorer of the Eighteenth century, agreed with this view. On long voyages, he regularly lined up his sailors and had them do the hornpipe to keep fit. Hornpipe is not only the name of a dance, but also of an obsolete Welsh instrument and of a time of music. All three were most popular in the Eighteenth century.

Venus Did Have Arms Venus did have arms originally, but they were broken off. The position they assumed is a matter of dispute, but the common opinion is that the goddess was depicted as holding a polished shield, in the mirror-like surface of which she regarded herself. When the statue was found in 1820 in a grotto on the island of Milo, or Melos, there were also found fragments of the upper left arm. How or when the arms were broken off is unknown, but a great deal of ancient sculpture has been similarly or more severely mutilated by time.

Battle Fought After Peace Treaty The Battle of New Orleans was fought after the treaty of peace in the War of 1812 was signed, yet it is considered this country's second most important military event.

HOLLAND FOLK HELP CONDUCT ZEELAND PROGRAM

More than two hundred rural public school board members and rural school teachers gathered in the Zeeland high school assembly Tuesday evening as the guests of the South Ottawa Teachers Association, for a get-together and an interesting program which was well accepted.

The meeting was in charge of Julius Bontekoe of Holland, president of the organization, by whom the gathering was called to order at about 8:00 o'clock.

Frederic the program, the Clarinet Quartet from Holland high entertained the group with several numbers. Devotionals were led by Commissioner Gerrit G. Groeneveld, Holland, after which the Zeeland board of education, welcomed the assembled guests.

He was followed by Commissioner Groeneveld who gave a talk on "School Cooperation." One of the teachers presented a reading, followed by the principal address delivered by Dr. W. Robinson of Western State Teachers College on the topic, "Present Trends in Education." Dr. Robinson handled the subject expertly and all in all it was a very profitable meeting. Refreshments were served by a committee.

John Kremer, then pastor of the First Reformed church of Zeeland. Mr. Westra, who is 76 years of age, came to America in 1884. Mrs. Westra, who is 69 years of age, was Miss Minnie Schout and was born on the old Schout homestead where she was also married. Since their marriage in 1890 they have always lived in Zeeland.

SCARLET FEVER GETTING WORSE HEALTH DEPARTMENT STATES

Scarlet fever is on the increase with indications that a serious condition may arise unless more care is taken to get cases in quarantine earlier. There have been nine new cases reported within the last two days which are widely scattered, involving every section of the county. There is every indication that more cases will occur, because there has not been prompt reporting and isolation, resulting in a large number of exposures. Also, there have undoubtedly been a large number of undiscovered cases. In almost every instance of contact with a previous case of scarlet fever could be discovered. It is also quite likely that there are carriers of the germ who themselves are immune but who are able to transmit the disease to others. The public is asked to practice immediate isolation of all cases of sore throat and other illness until it can be definitely stated that the case is not scarlet fever or anything of a contagious nature.

CARS COLLIDE AT GRAND HAVEN

Automobiles, driven by Ralph Spence, Cooper, Olive, and Herbert Robbins, West Olive, collided yesterday which resulted in minor injuries to Robbins and his companion, Martin Boersma, West Olive, and considerable damage to cars.

The Robbins car was turned around and tipped over. The occupants of the car were treated for bruises and scratches at the office of a Grand Haven physician. No one was held responsible by the city police who investigated the accident.

Leenhouts Post Celebrates 20th Anniversary

CONGRESSMAN HOFFMAN MAIN SPEAKER; COMMANDER ED SLOOTER RETIRES

Gold Star Mothers Each Presented With Golden Pine; Chaplain Receives Fine Bouquet

The large dining room of Warm Friend Tavern was brilliantly lighted and the tables were well arranged and appropriately decorated for the Armistice Day dinner fostered by the Willard G. Leenhouts post American Legion and their auxiliary. It was the 20th anniversary marking the closing of the World War, when on the 11th of November, 1918, the armistice was signed. The local post has never failed to celebrate this anniversary.

After a sumptuous spread, arranged by Landlord Lillie and staff, in which supreme of turkey and ring biscuits constituted the main course, together with all the trimmings, the program of the evening was given. Retiring Commander Edward P. Sooter was toastmaster, and he in reality surprised his many friends with his "dry wit" and take-offs on members of the post, which brought gales of laughter. Mr. Sooter introduced the Commander-elect, Anthony Dogger, who also gave some of his experiences as a soldier, and sent back a few of the puns, paying off Past-Commander Sooter.

One of the impressive features in the entire program was when Mrs. Nicholas Hoffman, Jr., president of the American Legion auxiliary, introduced the Gold Star Mothers. These dear ladies arose as their names were called, and each in turn given a gold star pin, emblematic that they boys paid the supreme sacrifice. Each in turn acknowledged the token. Mrs. A. Leenhouts, whose son met death on the battlefield, was the one to speak in behalf of the five others present. Past-President Mrs. John Roseboom presented the pins as coming from the Legion auxiliary. It will be remembered that the local post has been named after Willard G. Leenhouts, oldest son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts. The others in the group from this vicinity were Mrs. Giffie Aussicker, Mrs. Hattie Barker, Mrs. Ida Weed, Mrs. Alma James, Mrs. A. Leenhouts, Mrs. H. Schreiner.

Mrs. Hoffman, in closing this feature of the program, gave this poem:

MOTHERS
God has made some wonderful mothers,
Mothers who are true and true,
He made their smiles of sunshine;
He made their hearts of pure gold.
In their eyes he placed bright, shining stars;
In their cheeks fair roses bloom.
God bless and love them all,
Mothers here in this room.

Following the presentation of the Gold Star mothers, Mrs. Hoffman called upon Mother George Van Duren, who has been chaplain of the Auxiliary for many years; in fact, ever since it was organized. She in turn was presented a beautiful bouquet of flowers as coming from the Legion post, and in recognition she told some fitting pioneer stories that were filled with wit and humor, with a strain of pathos running through. The first head of the local Red Cross is dearly loved by all, and she is still active despite her 86th birthday.

In closing, Mrs. Hoffman read the passing of the years, covering the score that marked the ending of the war up to the present day. Her poem follows:

DAY BY DAY
Day by day and week has passed,
Four full weeks a month has flown,
Twelve brief months and we find at last
Out of them all a year has grown!
And now since '38 we've known,
Before the dinner—when Cornie Steketee had sounded taps,
The saluting of the flag took place,
There was a moment of silence before
The banquet, after which Chaplain Harry Kramer pronounced the invocation. During the dinner
John Swieringa gave several novelty musical numbers, in which he showed rare skill by playing both the clarinet and the piano at one time. It was a novel and interesting arrangement. William Brouwer again proved himself an able director in group singing, with Mrs. Jack Knoll at the piano. "Bill" had the guests well in hand, sometimes making the women sing alone, then giving the men a turn, then asking them to blend together into a crescendo.
The songs, "Pack Up Your Troubles,"
"A Long, Long Trail,"
"Smile, Smile, Smile," "Let Me Call
You Sweetheart," were lustily given by the nearly 150 guests present.

Following was the address made by Congressman Clare E. Hoffman of the fourth district, who lives in the town of Allegan, our near neighbor.

World War veterans and their auxiliaries, with the Christian church, are the greatest agencies acting to prevent the spread of Communism here today, Congress Hoffman said. He scored "those who believe in the theory that the government does not belong to us, but that we belong to it and are its subjects."

The speaker predicted the return of "Communist-inspired strikes," and hoped that Gov.-elect Fitzgerald will take a strong stand if such an emergency comes. "No man can serve two masters. No man can obey the will of the Communists and protect our people under the Constitution."

"Let the governor encourage labor in its right to organize, to bargain collectively through representatives of its own choosing, free from coercion from employer, from fellow-worker, from labor organizer, from politician. Let the governor see to it that the men who work have the right to strike, and that the woman and the man who want to work be permitted to exercise that right."

Will Apply For Bird Sanctuary On Lake Allegan

Formal application for a game refuge on Lake Allegan between the narrows, just below the island, and the dam, will be filed with the Michigan Conservation commission this week, J. Ford Stratton, manager of the board of public works, stated Tuesday. Mr. Stratton had asked action by the city council Monday night, but the aldermen deemed it sufficient that the action taken a year before, voting to make the area a game refuge, would take care of the matter.

Mr. Stratton explained that the many residents interested in seeing the birds at the lake this fall have been disappointed because hunters have scared the birds away. When the application for a game refuge has received the approval of the Conservation commission, that body will see to it that the area is properly policed and protected.

Thousands of birds are coming through at the present time, Mr. Stratton stated, and with the erection of feeding rafts, many of them can be induced to spend a good share of the winter near Allegan if weather continues mild.

PIECE OF PIGTAIL TAKEN FROM LUNG OF MILWAUKEE

A piece of pig tail has been removed from the lung of Alex Jasinski, Milwaukee tavern keeper, by Dr. W. M. Nesbit at Madison General hospital, it was revealed when Jasinski returned to his tavern today. The pig tail was in a sausage kraut dish which Jasinski ate one day in September. He went to the hospital for relief from a cough which began a month or so ago. An X-ray revealed the piece of pig tail in his lung. Dr. Nesbit removed it with a bronchoscope.

Twins, Alvin J. and Helen J. Wassink, were honored Saturday by a party given for their 10th birthday anniversary by their mother, Mrs. G. Wassink of 91 West Ninth St. Prizes for the games played were awarded to Elaine Zeier, Norma Kalmink, Dorothy Van Zoeren, Gladys Vander Veer, Betty Martinus, Calvin Monsma, Alvin Paul Vander Ploeg and Fred Bieve. Shirley Zoerhoff and Ruth Wassink assisted Mrs. Wassink as hostesses. Those present included Dorothy Van Zoeren, Elaine Zeier, Gladys Vander Veer, Gladys Vos, Ruth De Graaf, Ann Walters, Betty Martinus, Norma Kalmink, Marilyn Casemer, Phillip Holkeboer, Calvin Monsma, Alvin Paul Vander Ploeg, Melvin De Vries, Dale Artz, Fred Bieve, Paul Van Zoeren, Alvin J. Helen J. and Myra G. Wassink. John Swets and Charles Van Zoeren were unable to attend.

be shed, let it be the blood of the aggressor."

The speaker added, "Let him (the new governor) enlist under the stars and the stripes, the red, the white and the blue, the flag which, throughout the world, stands for equality of opportunity, for material prosperity, for an education for all those who are willing to work to obtain it; for the independence of the individual; for religious freedom."

The struggle which was necessary in the holding of this nation was recalled by the speaker, along with its present greatness as a land of plenty in which the luxuries of other lands are necessities here. He called America "the only port in the whole world to which those who are hungry, cold and suffering can turn, with those who long for freedom of expression, and for the right to worship the God of their choice."

The speaker mentioned the many advantages which citizens here have, including that of freedom of speech, which right is being used against America by its enemies.

Cong. Hoffman concluded with a description of the gradual process by means of which the Communist party has come out more and more into the open, even to the point of announcing that "We industrial unionists are going to take over the industries of this country."

Mrs. Nicholas Hoffman, Jr., president of the American Legion auxiliary here, introduced the officers of that organization for the coming year. They include: vice-president, Mrs. Anthony Dogger; second vice-president, Mrs. John Riemsma; secretary, Mrs. John Kobes; treasurer, Mrs. Bertal Slaght; chaplain, Mrs. Katherine Van Duren; historian, Miss Rose Slooter; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Fred Meppelink; publicity, Mrs. John Roseboom; board members, Mrs. A. C. Joldersma, Mrs. John Mills and Mrs. Herbert Stanley.

Here's Where We Get Thrown for a Loss!

A Prominent Grand Haven Man Passes

OLDEST LICENSED PLUMBER IN MICHIGAN WAS 83; HE CAME TO THIS CITY 53 YEARS AGO

August Marion Cosgrove, 83 years old, the oldest licensed plumber in Michigan, died at Hatton hospital, Grand Haven, where he had been for the past two weeks. He was taken ill two and one-half months ago and gradually failed, a man who had been blessed with marvelous health and was active long beyond the ordinary span of life.

He came to Grand Haven 53 years ago to install the Willy Water Works, the first water system in that city. It was owned by the C. H. Venner Co. of New York and was operated as a private utility until 1911, when the city withdrew the franchise as the city water system was sufficient for the town and had been operating for a number of years.

Headquarters for the plant was in the east end of Grand Haven where the wells were all located. For years after the city system was installed many continued to take their drinking water from these wells as the water was considered superior to the city supply. Gradually the patrons dropped off until there was little use for the old plant and it was discontinued. The building, a tall tower-like structure, was for many years a landmark and a part of it with the large stack still remains.

After Mr. Cosgrove closed the business and operated for 26 years. It was only last year, when he was 82 years old, that he sold his business and retired. Up to that time he had been active in the business, doing much of the physical work himself. He was a small wiry man but with abundant strength and energy.

He was a city alderman for two years during 1909 and 1910 and for years took an active interest in city politics. His shop was headquarters many times for political groups that he was interested in. He was born at Ashland, Ohio, February 15, 1855.

Giant Water Gun Built at M.S.C.—Very Useful on the Farm

Water guns are best known by small boys who get in trouble with instructors, yet a great water gun constructed in the agricultural engineering laboratories of Michigan State College is designed to serve a far more useful and profitable purpose in Michigan agriculture.

O. E. Robey, inventor of the apparatus, hopes to irrigate as much as six to seven acres at a time with the water gun. What is more, he is tinkering with a new type nozzle but to revolve as it. Through a motor-driven device the nozzle is to be slowed up and elevated slightly so that corners will get as much water as the sides and interior parts of a field.

Last summer Robey, agricultural engineer with the college, loaded his car on an Atlantic liner. He drove through portions of England and Germany, studying ways in which engineering was different in those countries from American methods. As a specialist in drainage and irrigation, he came back with some new ideas.

The water gun idea is not new in Germany. It has even been tried on a small scale in the United States. But the college does claim credit for Robey for using a high pressure system that will be adaptable to Michigan conditions of water supply and with devising something new in overhead watering on a square field.

Robey sees possibilities for the water gun. It could be used to protect fruit buds from early spring frosts, it can irrigate a pasture for feed in midsummer. The pump is mounted on a chassis, so that the used car motor runs not only the pump but can propel the equipment to unwatered fields.

Approximately 40 friends and relatives attended a silver wedding anniversary dinner Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Lier of 204 West First St. During the program which followed dinner, Bud Van Lier played several selections on his accordion, Neil Peterson of Grand Rapids sang solos, Mr. H. C. Bontekoe and Mrs. Nick Wierama sang a duet, and J. Achterhof of Grand Rapids read an original poem which he had composed in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Van Lier. A group picture was taken.

TEMPEST AND SUNSHINE THANKSGIVING AT NORTH HOLLAND

The North Holland Girls' League for Service and C. E. societies are planning on giving a 3-act play entitled "Tempest and Sunshine" Thanksgiving and the following evening, Nov. 24 and 25, at 7:45 o'clock in the North Holland school. Mr. Jack Jongekrijg is directing the play. The cast consists of Richard Nykamp, Esther Lieveke, Hermine Maassers, Marlan Slag, Mrs. J. Nieboer, John Redder, Leona Veldheer, John Maassen, Henrietta Kamphuis, Ruth Schilleman, Donald Knoll and Annabelle Ebels.

Twins Study Agriculture

One pair of several sets of twins attending Michigan State College consists of the Coady boys, Manus and Maurice, registered from Coral, half-way between Grand Rapids and Big Rapids. The boys, 20 years old, are enrolled in agriculture and intend to major in Smith-Hughes agricultural education work. Both are baseball players. In 1937 they worked with the Detroit Tigers, but were told to get some schooling and a little more age.

FOUR-H SHOW DECEMBER 6-8

In all parts of the state boys and girls in 4-H club work are putting in extra hours training animals and watching fattening rations as they prepare entries for the annual livestock show to be held in Detroit Dec. 6, 7, 8. Judging is scheduled for the second day of the event, with sales to be conducted the final day at the stockyards.

Hastings Phone Girl Quits After Serving 42 Years

In 1896 the New State Telephone Co. installed its first telephone instrument in the newspaper stand of Jason McElwain at Hastings, Mich., and his sister, Miss Mary McElwain, very naturally, took charge of the contraption and instructed folks how to use it.

It connected Hastings with Jackson and Detroit. Rain and snow rendered communication impossible. Miss McElwain remained as improvements came. Last month, the officials of the western area of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. gathered at Hastings to attend a banquet marking her retirement after 42 years of service.

In 1899, her brother printed the first telephone directory on a piece of cardboard, two inches by four, and established the local office of the Citizens Telephone Co. with Miss McElwain as switchboard supervisor. After 16 years the system was taken over by the Bell Co.

Miss McElwain, enjoying her rest, likes to discuss features of telephonic communication in those earlier days as compared to the service of today.

"We always closed the office at 6 p. m.," Miss McElwain states, "and remained closed on Sundays and holidays. The city council finally petitioned us to remain open at night and assisted us to do so. Our switchboard was the source of all information. If the fire bell rang, subscribers called all at one time to find out where it was, whether the owner was insured and how it started."

At a time when newspapers set type by hand and the telegraph line was in the railway station, the telephone central was the focus-point of sensational news.

"I had not been on duty very long when the Detroit operator called to tell me that our battleship, the Maine, had been blown up in Havana harbor," Miss McElwain recalls. "A crowd collected in the newsstand. They were sure it must have been an accident."

She remembers the tragic news which reached her ear-phones at about 4 p. m. of Sept. 6, 1901.

"The news that President McKinley had been shot at Buffalo spread like wildfire," says Miss McElwain. "I was deluged within a few moments by the horrified inquiries of subscribers. All I could say was that Mr. McKinley seemed to be rallying from his wounds. Our hopes were blasted on Sept. 14 when I had to tell people over and over again that our beloved President had passed away."

She recalls that telephone subscribers did not call by number but asked for "Brown's grocery" or said that they wished to talk to "Mrs. Peters."

Licenses for Deer Are Denied to 570

When the deer hunting season opens Tuesday morning, there will be 570 men in Michigan who will walk with their chins on their chests because the law forbids their purchasing a license for deer hunting.

Under a statute enacted several years ago on request of Michigan sportsmen, anyone who violates the deer law is denied the privilege of hunting deer for three years. Anyone who injures or kills another while deer hunting is denied the privilege of hunting for five years. This year the list includes 570 names, of which 24 are blacklisted for having wounded or killed another while hunting.

Season Opens on Muskrats

Lower Michigan is divided into two zones for muskrat trapping this year. Zone two is the upper half of the peninsula, all land above Tawline 16 North, where muskrats may be trapped from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15. Zone three is the southern half, with the season running from Dec. 1 to 31. Trappers expect to garner many pelts this year for the marshes seem well populated with rats.

Raccoon trapping is confined to the same dates as muskrats in zone two, but in zone three it runs from Dec. 1 to 15. There is a new law that prevents non-residents from hunting or trapping raccoon in Michigan.

Hunting raccoon is permissible all over the state except in the Upper Peninsula from Nov. 1 to Dec. 15.

NUNICA STORE IN NORTH OTTAWA HIT BY AUTO

An automobile driven by George Scarbough, 31, Muskegon, crashed into the front of a store operated by Edward Brown at Nunica which damaged the building considerably and crumpled up the fenders, radiator and headlights of Scarbough's car.

The driver was arrested later by officers from the Ottawa county sheriff's department and he was charged with drunk driving. Scarbough was brought to the jail at Coopersville and he will be arraigned before Justice Howard Erwin.

According to a report from the sheriff's office Scarbough was in company with a party of eight others from Muskegon. He had accompanied a young lady to her home near Nunica and was returning to a tavern at Nunica where the remainder of the party were.

On his return trip he crashed into the store. He did not notify anyone, proceeding directly to the tavern where he picked up the remainder of the party and they headed for Grand Rapids. They were picked up by the officers but no one was detained other than Scarbough. He will not be charged with leaving the scene of an accident, according to Tony Groenewelt, undersheriff.

LARGE CONSIGNMENT OF FURS CONFISCATED

One of the largest confiscations of illegal furs taken in a single raid will soon be added to the collection which the state department of conservation will offer for sale here later in the year.

The furs were taken in a visit by Conservation Officers Arthur Greer and James Sorafut to the home of King Ivens in Sherman township, St. Joseph county. The officers, who obtained a search warrant before they made their visit, found the skins of 57 muskrats, two raccoons, two minks, two possums and one weasel, and 17 steel traps.

Ivens pleaded guilty and was given the alternative of paying a fine of $50 or serving 60 days in jail.

HUNTERS PREFER TROPHY OF BEAR

ABOUT 500 SHOT EACH DEER SEASON

Michigan black bears, prize trophies of all our legal game, are in danger of their lives this week and until the season closes. Every deer hunter in search of antlered game will keep at least one corner of his eye open for the black hulk of a bear. Without exception, deer hunters would rather bag one bear than a dozen deer.

During the past few years the kill of Michigan black bears has remained fairly constant. In 1934, 503 bears were killed. In 1936, hunters bagged 636 bears and last year the kill numbered 575. Reports are that the bears are holding their own, with a shade on the side of increase. There is little accurate evidence, except the claims for bear damages have increased. These claims, authorized by the last legislature, have thus far been guesses only, since the legislature made no money available with which to pay the claims.

The kill of black bears in Michigan is determined largely by the weather. If the deer season should be mild, with no snow, or only a little, it will go hard with Bruin. He will be roaming around, seeking to eat a little more to make his heavy coat of fat just a little thicker. Should the season be greeted with a heavy snow, however, most of the bears will hole up for the winter and be less likely to be found by hunters.

The open season on black bear is the same as that on deer. There is no protection for cubs, although many sportsmen would pass up a cub, feeling that their code of sportsmanship would not permit their shooting cub bears.

Annual "ladies night" of the Boy Scout area executive board will be held Tuesday at Hope Reformed church, with dinner at 6:45 p. m., according to M. P. Russell, Ottawa-Allegan council executive.

Deer Season Open—Large Army in Field

At Least 100,000 Nimrod's Shoulder Arms Against Buck Herd

Tuesday morning, as soon as there was enough light to see rifle sights, Michigan's deer herd, numbering more than a million animals, learned that all was no longer safe in the Northwoods. More than 100,000 hunters, clad in red and armed with high-powered guns, did hunting go for antlered bucks. Some estimates will go as high as 125,000 hunters—the largest hunting army ever to invade Michigan's deer area.

For this largest-in-all-history aggregation of riflemen, Michigan's deer herd likewise stands at an all-time high. Present estimates say there are some 141,000 bucks running wild in the woods, with 595,000 does and 497,000 fawns, a grand total of 1,173,000 animals. Before the season is over the hunters will kill almost 30,000 bucks, with the illegal kill of does and fawns being anybody's guess.

Not only is the hunting army and the number of deer the largest ever, but the amount of territory open to deer hunting is the largest since pioneer days. In all there will be 34,500 square miles open to the deer hunters.

Four Hunters Per Mile If these were equally distributed, there would be four hunters a square mile. Actually the average is higher than this in the Lower Peninsula, with an average of seven hunters per square mile. Three-fourths of all hunters go after their deer in the Lower Peninsula.

Because of the increase of the deer herd, deer refuges are considered less important by the Conservation Commission than they used to be. A number of areas, previously listed as deer refuges, are either open to hunting in their entirety this season or else have been so reduced as to permit hunting in portions of them. The list includes the Molasses River Refuge, the Isoco Refuge, the Lunden Refuge, the Montmorency County Refuge, the Gladwin Refuge. Hunters intending to pursue deer in these newly opened areas should consult nearby conservation headquarters to make sure of their boundaries. Wherever refuges have been reduced in area, new wires have been strung and new signs posted. With the exception of an area near St. James, Beaver Island also is open to hunting this season.

Law is Unchanged The law on deer hunting remains unchanged this season. Every hunter must have a license, costing $2.25. He receives a cloth "license plate" which must be worn at all times while he is hunting, in such a way as to be clearly legible. When hunters lose their tags, it is possible to get new ones for 50 cents from any license dealer by turning in the old deer license and antler seal.

Approximately 150 hunters from Holland and vicinity joined thousands of sportsmen from all over the state beyond in the deer season, which began Tuesday.

A survey reveals that the following have shouldered their guns, loaded for deer: Vance Bradley, John Cooper, John De Wild, Ted Baker, Vance Fox, Dr. Milton Cook, Roy Alders, Jack Hobeck, Harry Plaggenmeyer, Larry Kolb, Al Gogolin, Howard Lillard, Dr. James Cook, Andrew Klomparsen, John Geerlings, Ray Wenzel, Marvin Vanden Heuvel, Neil Bontekoe, Leven Hoffman, J. # COMMUNISTIC SCHOOLS HELD SESSIONS NEAR SAUGATUCK

Lieut. Col. George Olson of Grand Haven, second in command of the 126th Infantry, Michigan National Guard, addressed members of the Holland Rotary club Thursday noon at an Armistice Day meeting in the Warm Friend tavern.

"Our children know little of the cost of our blessings here, and it is our duty to teach them and to make them realize at what price patriotism was bought," Col. Olson said. He spoke of terrible experiences at the front during the last war, and urged that the threat of future trouble never be forgotten.

"Thinking men may yet have to look things in the face to see internal as well as external troubles, and the time may well come when the army of the United States may again be your police."

The speaker talked of the danger of communism in this country. Despite the understanding that this country had with Russia that communist propaganda would not be circulated here if this country would recognize the U. S. S. R., such propaganda is being circulated," Col. Olson declared, adding that "the promise has proved as worthless as the treaty of Versailles." He mentioned one college in the East, and one in the Middle West as being communist institutions. "These schools held summer sessions in an abandoned camp near Saugatuck," he said. "That's getting pretty close to home."

During the motor industries strikes in Flint during January and February, 1937, when the National Guard was on riot duty, Col. Olson assigned a plain-clothes detail to mix with the strikers inside the plants which they were holding. "They reported that the strike was purely the work of Communists," Col. Olson said.

"We are not so alone in the world as we formerly were," the speaker said, praising the bolstering of the national defenses. He compared the armed forces of the nation to insurance and to a police force.

DANCE CONTESTS BELOW THE EQUATOR

DANCE contests are by no means restricted to disciples of the Shas, the Collegiate and the Big Apple. Way down below the Equator in the heart of Bolivia they have dance contests which — from the standpoint of costuming, weird rhythms and harmonies — would make our modern ones seem very tame. The one pictured here is a dance contest held in the stadium in La Paz, with Indians from the outlying provinces competing. Each year in this large stadium in La Paz, Bolivia's skytop capital—accessible by air or by rail from ports in Peru and Chile visited regularly by weekly cruises from New York — are held contests in which dancers from all parts of the republic compete. "The average fisherman will have no trouble at all distinguishing a small-mouth bass from a large-mouth bass, if he will remember just two simple differences between the two fish," says Dr. Carl Hubbs, curator of fishes for the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology. "In many books on fishes, the reader is confused by being told to count the number of rows of scales," says Hubbs, who adds that "counting scales is a hard enough job for a man accustomed to doing that sort of thing, let alone an average fisherman." Here are Hubbs' rules for separating small-mouth bass from large-mouth:

Draw a line vertically through the back of the eye. If the fish's upper jaw extends back of this line, it is a large-mouth bass. If the upper jaw goes back only to a point under the eye, it is a small-mouth. That's the first rule. To check your conclusion, apply Rule 2. Study the shape of the dorsal fin carefully. (This is the fin on top of the fish.) You will notice that this fin is made up of two parts, a spiny part forward, joined to a soft fin toward the rear. If the spiny portion of the fin is almost triangular in shape, and almost separated from the soft portion, it is a large-mouth bass. If the top of the spiny portion of the fin looks almost square-cut, and if there is no sharp dip dividing this part from the soft fin, it is a small-mouth bass.

These two rules will enable you to identify the two species of bass if the fish are adults. Should the fish be immature, and they will be, if below the legal size of 10 inches, color markings will be evident. Large-mouth bass have a black band running lengthwise of the body, along the middle of each side. Small-mouth bass have transverse bars, after the manner of perch, but fainter.
