Reach Low Point In Building Here During October

Total Value Listed on Permits of Month Is Only Thirty Thousand

Building activities in Holland dropped to their lowest level for 1942 during October when only $7,331 in building permits were filed with City Clerk Oscar Peterson, a tabulation of the month's applications revealed.

While the number of applications totaled 50, the second highest number for the year, their value was the smallest of any month during the current year. The amount is $30,025 less than the permits for October, 1941, which totaled $37,356.

It was the third month this year that there have been no applications for permits to construct homes in Holland. The total number of new homes this year is 24 while for the same time last year, 74 applications had been applied.

A curtailment of building activities in Holland can be attributed to America's entry into the war.

With October's permits added to those for the other nine months, the grand total for the year is $183,851.65. This amount is $393,918.15 less than for the first 10 months of 1941 which totaled $577,769.80.

The largest number of applications for permits, filed in October, was for remodeling of homes. There were 23 applications for such work with a value of $3,020. Eleven applications for permits to build garages at a cost of $1,640 were filed.

There were eight applications for permits to make exterior repairs to home at a cost of $1,096 and four applications for permits to make interior repairs to home at a cost of $525.

One application was listed for the following classifications: Repair shop, $375; addition to warehouse, $500; remodel store, $75; remodel church, $100.

Calling for an expenditure of $1,298, eight applications for building permits were filed last week with City Clerk Oscar Peterson for final approval of Building Inspector Henry Looman.

The amount is $133 less than the previous week's permits of $1,431. Value of permits for the week of Oct. 16-23 was $1,443. The list of applications follows:

Mr. Stegink, 39 West 19th St., reroof house, $150; Holland Ready Roof Co., contractor.

J. Oudman, 90 West Ninth St., reroof part of house, $87; Holland Ready Roof Co., contractor.

John Emmick, 111 East 19th St., reroof house, $106; Holland Ready Roof Co., contractor.

Draper's Market, 444 Washington Blvd., rebuild smoke house, $60; Draper's Market, contractor.

Two of Ottawa Victims of Gas

Youths Found Dead in House on Farm They Worked on at Grant

Grant, Nov. 12 — Coal gas escaping from a bedroom heater was blamed here by Coroner H. J. McKinley for the deaths of Dick Dyk, 22, and Hessel Veltema, 19, both members of well-known Hudsonville families, whose bodies were found Sunday in a farm house owned by Dyk's father, five miles east and one mile north of Grant.

The two youths had been farming the muck farm for Dyk's father since the start of summer. Coroner McKinley of Newaygo county estimated their deaths occurred about 1 a.m. Sunday. Sheriff Robert D. Hart said there was no evidence of foul play.

The youths' bodies were found by Dyk's brothers, John and Melvin Dyk, who had motored to the farm when the families became alarmed at the youths' non-appearance home for the week-end.

Surviving Mr. Dyk are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Dyk, and four brothers, John, Melvin and Bernard of Hudsonville, and Jake, at Camp Funston, Kan. Mr. Veltema's survivors are his mother, Mrs. Etta Veltema; three sisters, Mrs. George Zuverink of Zeeland, Evelyn Mae and Alberta, at home; and a brother, Lester, at home; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hessel Veltema and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bytwork of Hudsonville.

More Trainees Sought to Keep Vocation School

Need for Complete Use of Facilities Is Told at Conference

Approximately 35 persons attended the important war-workers training conference which was held Friday night in Junior high school building to consider the future of the vocational training school for training of war workers.

A fear had been previously expressed that the school might be removed from Holland unless the machines were kept operating a maximum number of hours. It was brought out that some of the machines are not in complete operation for lack of trainees while in other cities there is a big demand for these machines with which to train workers.

Edward Donovan, director of the vocational school, said that it is only right that the state board of control for vocational education should expect these idle machines to be kept in maximum operation since they are owned by the federal government and the state pays the expenses connected with the operation of the school.

Mr. Donovan expressed belief that local manufacturers gained a better knowledge of the purpose of the training school by attending Friday's meeting.

George H. Fern, director of the state board of control for vocational education, addressed the group in which he pointed out that it is being operated on a paying basis with financial assistance from the federal government and that it has been an aid to factories in hiring workers who have been trained at these schools.

Mr. Fern was accompanied to Holland by William B. Hawley, supervisor for vocational training for war workers.

Jacob Barendse, manager of the U. S. Employment service in Holland, presented a report on the future labor situation in Holland in which he predicted an early labor shortage.

To advertise the school in its search for more trainees, Mr. Donovan plans to distribute posters throughout the city. He also is arranging to obtain a motion picture for showing in Holland.

The campaign now is to obtain more women trainees since it is anticipated that factories will begin hiring of more women to overcome the shortage of men workers.

Police and Fire Board Dissolved

The board of police and fire commissioners formally passed out of existence today with the receipt by City Clerk Oscar Peterson of a letter from Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly in which he acknowledged receipt of two certified copies on the canvass of the vote cast at the special election Nov. 3 amending the city charter.

"These proceedings were filed in this office under date of Nov. 9, 1942," Mr. Kelly's letter reads. Mr. Peterson received a similar letter of acknowledgment from County Clerk William Wilds Monday. At the Nov. 3 election, Holland voters approved a charter amendment which provides for the abolishment of the police and fire board and the creation of a three man commission of public safety in common council.

Pending appointments next May by Mayor Henry Geerlings, the charter amendment provides for council's public safety committee to act as the commission.

Under state law, certified copies of the canvassing of the vote had to be filed with the secretary of state and county clerk before the amendment became effective. Thus, the police and fire board held its last official meeting Nov. 2, one day before the election.

Hen Pheasant Breaks Four School Windows

A hen pheasant certainly picked the logical place if she was looking for an education.

The bird was found flying inside Longfellow school on Monday and was caught in one of the rooms by John Oonk, custodian of the school. He turned the pheasant over to Ed Prins, fifth ward constable, who turned it over to police to be released.

The pheasant entered the school building sometime Sunday by breaking through a window in Miss Jane Veneklasen's room. In attempting to escape, the bird broke three 38 by 48 inch windows.

Then it flew across the hall and knocked every flower pot to the floor in Miss Ruth Walker's room. From there it flew to Miss Phyllis Tiesenga's room where the pheasant was caught by Mr. Oonk.

Tin cans were produced in 248 plants in the U. S. in 1940.

Foley was reported to have suffered multiple lacerations on his forehead. Riding in the car with him was Ray Kamerling, route 1, Holland who was not injured.

The sheriff's department, which investigated said Foley's car, which was driven east on the highway ran for 135 feet with the right wheels on the shoulder, then pulled back onto the highway for another 90 feet, before running off and striking a light pole, breaking it in two places. The car then tipped over and rolled considerable distance. Deputy sheriffs are still investigating.

Henry Galey, manager of the Carley Amusement Co., was chosen one of the new directors of the Allied Theaters of Michigan at its two-day convention which closes in Grand Rapids today.

Registration Set for Next Week for Dec. 1 Gas Ration

Registration of automobile owners in Holland and Ottawa counties, originally scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, will be carried on in the various schools next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, John J. Good, executive secretary of the local war price and rationing board, stated today.

The OPA in Detroit announced Tuesday the delay in the registration of car owners and today announcement was made in Washington, according to United Press, that nation-wide gasoline rationing has been postponed from Nov. 22 until Dec. 1 because of the difficulty of distributing registration forms and coupons.

Mr. Good said the local board has received its supply of "B" and "C" rationing books but that "A" coupon books have not been received.

D.H. Vande Bunte, Ottawa county school commissioner, in charge of registration arrangements in the county, was out of the city today and it could not be learned whether a new schedule of registration hours has been devised for next week's registration.

According to United Press, the OPA said the delay was "caused largely by the wartime congestion of America's transportation system."

Motorists in states outside the rationed east coast who receive "A" books entitling them to approximately four gallons a week will be given a bonus of "little more than a coupon's worth" since no coupons will be deducted for the change in dates, officials said.

Owners of commercial vehicles who receive "S" books for essential driving will, however, have their allowance from Nov. 22 to Dec. 31 cut by 20 per cent to compensate for the shorter ration period.

Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Jakes told east coast motorists to cut their consumption to an "irreducible minimum" or face a possible reduction in the value of ration coupons.

Jakes said operations in French Africa had put a heavy strain on petroleum supplies, and officials of the war production board said some way of increasing petroleum shipments to the east would have to be found or rationing would be cut.

Detroit's Role in War Described

Jeffries Tells Holland Club That Rumor Is
Drawback to Victory

"We in Detroit understand what Democracy really means — we know what we are fighting for in this war," Edward J. Jeffries, mayor of the arsenal city, told members of the Holland Exchange club at their meeting in the Warm Friend tavern Monday.

"If we are to win, we must stop this rumor-mongering, fault-finding, whining and complaining," he said.

"I really am not worried about Detroit's reputed role in the prosecution of this war. What I am worried about is that there are ugly rumors about disunity in this country . . . and I feel that most of these rumors are just as ridiculous and as unfounded as those that have been circulated about Detroit."

Replying to rumors that Detroit was not holding up its end in the war, he said the recent magazine article, "Detroit Is Dynamite," which criticized the city's war effort, dealt only with superficial aspects of Detroit.

"Sure, we have some labor disputes and racial and religious feuds," he said, but pointed out that repeated rumors led him to look up the facts on the extent to which labor disputes delayed production. He found, he stated, that Michigan is not among the first five states who have lost the most man hours.

Illinois, he said, was among the first five in every month covered in his findings from the U. S. department of labor for the period, Dec. 1, 1941, through last May.

"We are young in spirit," he continued. "We like to do things in a big way—whether it's making automobiles or streamlining our local government or selling war bonds or producing tanks and planes. We do things noisily, vigorously. That's why you heard so much about Detroit."

Recalling how one councilman "clipped" another councilman—a close friend—on the jaw in the heat of argument over a huge municipal bond refunding program Mayor Jeffries said, "A city made up of complacent, smug and blasé people no doubt will create a very dignified appearance, but I don't think you would select a town of this kind as the major production center in our war effort."

When Detroit elected an incompetent mayor 13 years ago, he continued the citizens did not go about with a resigned look as in certain other cities, but they recalled the mayor and elected a new one. He cited the grand jury probe of graft as part of Detroit's refusal to accept existing evil.

Lake Holland, Detroit's government is non-partisan. The mayor—an elected city manager—has a great deal more authority and responsibility than in most other large cities.

"The mayor operates constantly in a show-window. The council meets every day in public and only in public. There are no secret committee meetings or executive sessions behind closed doors. All citizens have the opportunity of submitting complaints or suggestions openly and directly to the mayor or council. And most of them do."

Adding to his description of Detroit's democracy, Mayor Jeffries said the city has the best health record of any large city in the nation, is the only large city in the United States which owns its public transportation system and is the highest wage town in the country.

Referring to industry, he said the automobile plants next year will produce armaments equivalent to the production of 15,000,000 cars and trucks a year. The federal government, he stated, is being saved vast sums of money by the reduction in time and manpower through high-efficiency operations. "I am reliably informed that the automotive industry will thus save the government from 2 1/2 to 3 billions of dollars in 1943 war contracts."

"Dozens of Detroit plants are months ahead, in some cases more than a year ahead, of production schedules," he said. "June's overall production of war materials by automotive industry" more than doubled that of January . . . and will reach a rate of 12 billion dollars a year in 1943. Does that sound as if the production of war materials in Detroit is being crippled by labor disputes and factional strife?"

During his stay in Holland, Mayor Jeffries was the guest of the Rev. William G. Flowerday who introduced him to the Exchange club. The three new men welcomed in to the club by Vernon Ten Cate were Jay L. DeKoning, Russell S. Friday, and Charles R. Duhrmeyer.

Joe on Job Although There Wasn't a Fire

Joe Ten Brink, fire truck driver at No. 1 engine house, proved Tuesday that he's always on the alert.

At noon, Ten Brink left headquarters in the pumper truck with the siren wailing only to return within a short time. He explained it in this manner:

"When the noon alarm is sounded in testing the fire alarm boxes, they generally give us a tap with a button to signal it is the noon alarm but today they forgot it. I hadn't been at the station for several days and didn't know the clock was slow and I didn't realize it was noon when box 53 was pulled for the test alarm."

After leaving the fire station, he thought it might have been the noon alarm and returned to check.

Speaking at the annual Armistice day banquet of the Willard G. Leenhouts post, No. 6, American Legion and its auxiliary, Dr. Stewart McClelland, president of Lincoln Memorial university at Harrogate, Tenn., declared that a dictatorship could not be established in a democracy as long as laughter and humor is allowed to prevail.

Dr. McClelland spoke on the subject, "Dictators Don't Laugh," in which he pointed out that Cromwell and Napoleon had set themselves up as dictators because "they never laughed and couldn't laugh."

He contended that the United States has had three men who might have been dictators. He listed them as Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson. Dr. McClelland claimed that President Roosevelt is not a dictator, although some think so, because those who laugh and have a sense of humor are not dictators.

A record crowd of 166 persons, the largest in years, attended the dinner in Holland Country club, and several late comers were turned away for lack of facilities.

Dr. McClelland was presented with a pair of wooden shoes by Jacob Barendse, past commander who was in charge of arrangements. Miss Helen Lawrence, president of the auxiliary, spoke briefly and presented a service flag to the legion post, covering the sons of the legionnaires who are now in the armed forces.

Post Comdr. John Rozeboom discussed the legion post's plans for the coming year.

One hundred and fifty persons attended the annual banquet arranged by Henry Walters post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary, in celebration of Armistice day at the Woman's Literary club Wednesday night. Special guests of the two organizations were Spanish American War veterans and their wives, and 13 coast guardsmen from the local station.

A varied program was presented, following the dinner, with William Slater, honorary member of the post, acting as toastmaster. Mr. Slater was introduced by Comdr. Shud Althuis. Invocation was led by Chaplain Frank Johnson, and Gilbert Holkeboer talked for the Community War chest.

Following the singing of "God Bless America," with Lillian Borchers at the piano, the toastmaster read an original poem in honor of the occasion. A group of Christian high school students, secured by Raymond Holkeboer, presented a variety of entertainment. A mixed quartet composed of Elaine Beltman, Rosalind Scholten, Jim Elterbeek, and Gilbert Holkeboer, accompanied by Sylvia De Boe, sang "Land of Mine" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Sylvia Nykamp read "The White Cliffs of Dover," with Arlene Van Haltema as soloist, and Dale Walters played a baritone solo accompanied by Rosalind Scholten. June Menken played a medley of patriotic numbers on the marimba accompanied by Grace Johnson.

A special feature of the program was the presenting of coronets to Mrs. Katherine Van Duren, oldest member of the auxiliary, to Mrs. Bertie Biggs, gold star mother, and to Mrs. Cora Ter Haar, auxiliary member whose son was a World war veteran. Aurelia Althuis, president of the auxiliary, made the presentation.

Also introduced were Arthur Geerts, veteran of the present war, who has received his honorable discharge, Comdr. John Teninga of the Spanish American War veterans, and Lillian Borchers, general chairman of banquet arrangements.

In an inspirational talk on "The Debt I Owe My Country," the Rev. Charles Stoppels of Bethel Reformed church reminded the banquet guests that "It is a greater thing to live for your country than to die for it." Following Rev. Stoppels' address there was a moment of silent tribute, and the evening closed with the sounding of "Taps" by Bob Poole and Henry Buter, buglers.

Don't
Call Washington

UNLESS IT IS VITALLY NECESSARY

THE leadership of the United Nations today centers in one city — Washington, D. C. From offices in our national capital is directed the whole vast activity of war. And telephone lines to and from the city are loaded every day with thousands of military and war production calls. Long Distance traffic to Washington has increased 50% since the attack on Pearl Harbor!

To a lesser degree the same condition exists on Long Distance lines almost everywhere. Material shortages make it impossible to supply enough additional equipment to take care of all the increased demand. But war calls must go through. Your cooperation in making fewer and shorter calls helps to maintain the fast, efficient service that is a vital wartime necessity.

Local Patriotic Groups Observe Armistice Day

Speaking at the annual Armistice day banquet of the Willard G. Leenhouts post, No. 6, American Legion and its auxiliary, Dr. Stewart McClelland, president of Lincoln Memorial university at Harrogate, Tenn., declared that a dictatorship could not be established in a democracy as long as laughter and humor is allowed to prevail.

Dr. McClelland spoke on the subject, "Dictators Don't Laugh," in which he pointed out that Cromwell and Napoleon had set themselves up as dictators because "they never laughed and couldn't laugh."

He contended that the United States has had three men who might have been dictators. He listed them as Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson. Dr. McClelland claimed that President Roosevelt is not a dictator, although some think so, because those who laugh and have a sense of humor are not dictators.

A record crowd of 186 persons, the largest in years, attended the dinner in Holland Country club, and several late comers were turned away for lack of facilities.

Dr. McClelland was presented with a pair of wooden shoes by Jacob Barendse, past commander who was in charge of arrangements. Equipment Provided For Quarters Used After Day's Drills

Mrs. Helen F. Sencer, executive secretary of the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, reported here that the chapter has contributed $300 towards furnishing a day room in one of the barracks at Fort Custer to be used by soldiers.

She said that the American Red Cross is establishing day rooms in the barracks at the camp for use by the men after they have completed their day's drills. The room will bear some kind of a notation that it was furnished by the Ottawa county chapter.

It will be equipped with davenport, chairs, tables, desks, bookshelves and other items.

Mrs. Sencer was at Fort Custer last week to attend a meeting of the Fort Custer camp and hospital council of the Red Cross. Mrs. Joseph C. Rhea is the local delegate on the council.

The American Red Cross also is arranging to furnish sunrooms and recreation rooms in the Battle Creek sanitarium which the U. S. army has taken over and will open Dec. 1 as the Percy Jones hospital.

Fort Custer is in need of about 60 phonographs, 100 radios and 50 pianos but all must be in good condition. Games and card tables also are needed and 5,000 books, particularly good western or detective stories, will be required for the hospital. If the books are of a technical nature, they must have been printed since 1932. If any person desires to contribute they are requested to contact the local Red Cross office.

Local Man Received Early Training in Country Store

The above picture was taken Aug. 20, 1890 at Conger, a small community which was located about two miles from Allendale. The store was built and operated by the late G. H. Wolbrink, and was on his farm. It also housed the post office of which Mr. Wolbrink was postmaster for many years. From left to right in the picture are the late Mrs. G. H. Wolbrink, the late Mrs. Anne Huxtable, William Wolbrink, Allendale mason contractor, I. M. Wolbrink, Cedar Springs grocer and meat dealer; Mrs. Emma Chapman, Sheridan; Mrs. Lottie Cantrill, Allendale; O. A. Wolbrink, Holland general insurance agent, and J. J. Wolbrink, Allendale undertaker.

All the brothers received their early training in this small store of their father and all have thriving businesses in different parts of the state.

Don't Call Washington

THE leadership of the United Nations today centers in one city—Washington, D. C. From offices in our national capital is directed the whole vast activity of war. And telephone lines to and from the city are loaded every day with thousands of military and war production calls. Long Distance traffic to Washington has increased 50% since the attack on Pearl Harbor!

To a lesser degree the same condition exists on Long Distance lines almost everywhere. Material shortages make it impossible to supply enough additional equipment to take care of all the increased demand. But war calls must go through. Your cooperation in making fewer and shorter calls helps to maintain the fast, efficient service that is a vital wartime necessity.

POLITICS' GOLDEN RULE

Governor Van Wagener's declaration of intention not to make any appointments from now on without consulting Governor-elect Kelly deserves to become a fixed principle. One of the most humiliating memories of Michigan Republicans is the fact that the governor was able to charge his immediate predecessor with doing the very thing to him that he now refuses to do to his successor. Most Republicans would be glad if they could erase that record from the party's history.

All parties have violated this golden rule of politics more often than they have honored it. In the national government it has sometimes amounted to a scandal;
some presidents have filled the offices with "lame ducks" that had been repudiated by the electorate and have foisted them upon their successors. Many governors of both parties have done
the same thing.

It never seems to occur to presidents or governors who that kind of thing that they are not merely embarrassing their successors but that they are insulting the American people.
When the voters turn a party
out of power they declare thereby that they want the government administered by the party they put in its stead. When a governor or president takes advantage of his legal power to crush unwelcome officials down
the electorate's throat, he deserves to lose the respect of the American people.

The period between the election and the opening of the new administration is needed to give the new government a chance to square away for its task. It may also be used by the outgoing administration to put the finishing touches on such jobs as it has started. It is definitely not intended to be used by the repudiated officials to do things that the people have given the new administration a mandate to do.
Governor Van Wagener's self-imposed restriction is on the side of good government and good moral.

If it could be done legally, this golden rule of politics should be written into law. There will always be "lame ducks" who cannot be depended upon to follow the rule; it would be well if such persons could be forced to abide by a principle that has the support of decent citizens.

Second Book Lecture
Given by Miss Hormel

"Books as Ammunition" was the subject of the second lecture of the University of Michigan extension series on "Books and Total Victory" by Olive Deane Hormel,
given Tuesday night in the Woman's Literary club.

Miss Hormel cited as of especial importance the appeal of Herbert Agar in his recent book, "A Time for Greatness," that "we cultivate a higher sense of politics." In discussing a second book, "New World Horizons: An Atlas for the Air Age," she said "we must become global-minded if we are to fight a global war and win a global peace." The speaker also discussed
"Democratic Ideals and Reality," and devoted the latter part of the evening to a book-month survey of leading fall publications.

Declines Appointment

Believing it is his duty to remain as an auxiliary military police at the Western Machine
Tool works, Norman Wagner, 29
West 21st St., has announced that he will not accept his appointment as regular special police officer on the local police force.

The personnel committee of the former police and fire board had appointed Wagner to fill the vacancy created by the re-signment of Henry Borri.

High school enrollments in the U. S. in 1900 totaled 700,000. Today the total is about 7 mil-

Things That Mar Family Life
Genesis 27: 30-35; Matthew 5: 31,
32; Luke 12: 13-15

By Henry Geerlings

In today's lesson there is an illustration of the fact that man has not been slow to lay four hands on the most sacred institutions with which the race has been blessed. Already in the fourth chapter of the first book of the Bible, one chapter later than that which records the first sin, we have the tragic account of the first murder, the slaying of Abel by his brother Cain. So the race did not get off to a very good start. It can be said with some appearance of accuracy that hardly any sin can be perpetrated that does not strike deeply into some family circle.

It is to be hoped that teachers will not purposely evade some of the questions raised in this lesson. The subject is a delicate one, but how can we hope to correct
some of the evils that afflict us if we do not face these evils and apply the remedies that are to be found in the Bible, and in reason itself?

The family to which we are here introduced was not an ideal one by any means. It consisted of Isaac and Rebekah with their twin sons, Esau and Jacob. Isaac was the son of Abraham, and while he had many good qualities, he did not have the faith and strength of character that marked his father, Rebekah was disposed to take matters in her own hand rather than to trust God. It would seem to have been a trait of hers to practice deceit
when it was not otherwise possible for her to have her own way. Isaac was partial to Esau while Rebekah was partial to Jacob. The situation was bound to open the door to trouble.

The sudden appearance of Esau before his blind father for the birthright reveals the depth of the deception that had preceded,
which deception did not leave Esau's garments clean. He permitted his appetite to so cheapen his conception of the value of spiritual things that he himself proposed a base transaction whereby he would exchange the birthright for bread and pottage
of lentils.

Even though it was God's will that this great blessing should become the possession of Jacob, that does not cover the deeds of the mother and Jacob with the cloak of justification. God would have found some way of bringing his will to pass without the crooked interposition of others.
That they should take advantage of the older brother's absence to steal the birthright makes the act all the blacker.
Though the father was blind he had some reason to believe that a shady transaction was being perpetrated. Esau's anger was justified.

If we were not plainly told that Isaac was partial to Esau, while Rebekah favored Jacob, we could gather as much from this story.
But in addition Isaac knew that the birthright belonged to the first-born, and it was natural that he should be shocked when he learned it had been bestowed upon the younger brother. Had it been possible for him to withdraw it, he would have done so. But transference, once made, was impossible.

One's heart for a moment goes out to Esau, for the impact of the news of the transaction must have shaken him through and through. He must have been led to believe that, no matter what the nature of his conduct, the birthright undoubtedly would become his. Knowing that the priceless possession had passed from him never to be recalled, he asked his father if there was not another blessing he could have. His cry of bitter disappointment is the characteristic of a weak man. The father pitied him, though he must have known that it had gone where it would mean most to the nation's posterity. God's way is always best, but in this case it was so immeasurably beyond anything Esau had hoped for that he himself must have seen the wisdom of God in it.

Hosts of people followed Jesus who were not his followers. They joined themselves loosely to him with the idea of benefiting materially from that association. It was only natural that they would not understand him and his views of matters generally. There was the note of authority about his words which gave people the impression that it was only necessary for him to speak in order to be obeyed.

Two brothers had a disagreement about the division of an estate. One of them thought he was being wronged. The other took a different position. The first believed his brother would not be willing to face the displeasure of Jesus which might follow disobedience. The word bid here has the force of command.
The oldest brother in the family was entitled to double the portion falling to any other brother.
There was a realm in which Jesus had authority and claimed to speak with authority; but that was in the realm of the spiritual and not of material things. What the brother requested Jesus to do here was demanded by the bench
of three of the local synagogues.

He had not become incarnate to adjudicate questions that had to do with the distribution of property, but to make men's hearts right, so that justice might be done.

Boat Building Is Offered Youths Of Holland High

School to Pay Part of Instructor's Salary At Vocational Class

Holland high school boys will be offered opportunity to receive training in boat building at the vocational training school in the Junior high school building by action taken Monday night by the board of education.

School trustees adopted a motion of Trustee A. E. Lampen, seconded by Trustee John Oler, in which the school will bear about 35 per cent of the cost of paying an instructor. The remaining 65 per cent will be reimbursed to the school by the state board of control for vocational education, sponsors of the school for training war workers.

Supt. E. E. Fell, in making the recommendation to the school board, pointed out that the boat building class has not enjoyed a large enrollment since its inception. Students transferring from advanced manual training classes to boat building will receive three consecutive hours of class work from 1 to 4 p.m., five days a week, Dr. Fell said.

A minimum of 10 students will be needed to organize a class. He said that High School Principal J. J. Riemersma approves the project although it may necessitate the changing of school schedules for those enrolling in the class to permit them to receive their three consecutive hours.

For the present time, only the boat building class will be made available to high school students. Dr. Fell also expressed a hope that sufficient trainees may be obtained to organize two supplementary courses in boat building for which the school will be reimbursed 100 per cent by the state for expense incurred in this training.

He called attention to last Friday night's meeting of local manufacturers to consider the future of vocational training school and expressed belief that they obtained a better understanding of the purpose of the school while he was not definite as to how long the school could expect machinery to be kept here, he felt that this depended largely on ability to keep them in complete operation as much as possible.

In other reports to the school board, Dr. Fell reviewed the Americanization classes being held for alien citizens, stating that 17 or 18 persons are enrolled in the current class. He said the school census of last May revealed about 80 aliens in Holland. He also said he was in receipt of a report from the immigration department which revealed 1,046 non-citizens in Ottawa county of which 689 live in the rural areas and 357 in the urban areas.

Dr. Fell called attention to American Education week being observed this week in the schools. He also reported having received a report from the state for listing of available typewriters. He said he felt the schools had two typewriters which could be turned over to the government for war use.

On motion of Trustee Albert Van Zoeren, the board authorized its building and grounds committee to sign a "rider" to its insurance policies with the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection Co., releasing the company from any damages incurred by the war.

Claims amounting to $32,173.39 were approved for payment. President Fred Beeuwkes reported having received a questionnaire from the state liquor control commission on whether high school students are sold alcoholic beverages in local taverns if they visit taverns to drink or dance and whether they drink at athletic contests.

Illinois' first state legislature met in Springfield in 1839.

Concrete Blocks Used for Repair

The Van Voorst brothers, manufacturers of concrete building blocks, have been in business for more than 30 years. Their yard and plant is located on the corner of Columbia Ave. and 19th St. When the business was first started, the blocks were all made by hand. Shortly afterward, however, new machinery was installed and now the plant is completely modern.

Since practically all construction has been curtailed because of the war, most of their business at this time is repair work. Concrete blocks are especially useful in the repairing of basement and porches. Water and frost do not damage them, and once placed they will last indefinitely.

No Change at Hope in Thanksgiving Vacation

Hope college officials today dispelled doubts of students, who feared upsets of their vacation plans because of rumors concerning elimination of holiday recesses by government request, by announcing that the usual Thanksgiving day vacation will be granted. The vacation will begin at noon Wednesday, Nov. 25, and school will resume Monday morning at 8 a.m.

Relative to the Christmas recess Dr. Wynand Wichers, college president, reported no definite decision had been reached by the faculty at a meeting Friday afternoon. Pending future developments, the usual two weeks' vacation, is scheduled at present.

Spring vacation will again be omitted in accordance with the accelerated program begun last year. Commencement is scheduled for June 2 and the summer session will begin June 14, closing Aug. 13.

Rites Are Held for Allendale Pioneer

Allendale, Nov. 9—Funeral services were held Saturday from the Wolbrink funeral home here and at 2:30 p.m. from the Allendale Methodist church for Mrs. Catherine Thurkettle, 99, Allendale pioneer, who died Wednesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Pike, of Marne. Burial was in Allendale cemetery.

Had Mrs. Thurkettle lived until next Jan. 16, she would have celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary.

Born in Wayne county on the site of the River Rouge plant, she came to Allendale, while young and at 16 was married to John Thurkettle and began the life of a pioneer wife.

During her later years she delighted in telling of those early days when Indians were her neighbors and she could cross the Grand river on the logs which filled it from bank to bank.

The Thurkettle family lived in Allendale township until 1902, then moved to Lamont where Mr. Thurkettle died in 1914.

Surviving Mrs. Thurkettle are seven of her 11 sons and daughters, 45 grandchildren, 90 great-grandchildren and 31 great-great-grandchildren.

Besides Mrs. Pike in whose home she died, her daughters are Mrs. Peter Van Singer of Lamont and Mrs. John Hartman of Fort Wayne, Ind. Her surviving sons are Henry of Middleville, Spencer of Ravenna, John T. of Allendale and Arthur of Grand Rapids.

500 Tons of Scrap Sought In Final Drive in Ottawa

Ottawa county farm implement dealers Monday launched a county-wide campaign scrap drive which likely will be the final one before snow falls.

John Van Dam, chairman of the county salvage for victory committee, expressed a hope today that at least 500 tons will be uncovered in this final campaign. He requests the full cooperation of the farmers in turning in their scrap.

Each township has been assigned an implement dealer who plans to visit every farm throughout the week. A meeting of implement dealers was held Saturday morning at the city hall to make final arrangements for this week's campaign, since scrap materials are vitally needed to aid the nation's war efforts.

All rural homes were visited last week by county war workers. Tin cans are not wanted in this drive as they will be collected at a later date.

In this week's scrap collection, dealers will purchase and then haul it to collection center. Dealers will pick up scrap, good or bad.

Farmers are requested to sacrifice one day if necessary in canvassing their farms, buildings, etc., in their search for scrap. The committee also requests citizens to report locations of metal which might ordinarily not be located. Efforts will be made to get to any scrap no matter how inaccessible.

Committee members feel nothing is of greater importance right now than collection of this necessary material.

Districts assigned to the implement dealers follow: Chester, E. F. Dinkel of Conklin; Wright, E. F. Dinkel of Conklin and Barker's hardware of Marne; Crookery, William Pickett of Nunica; Spring Lake and Grand Haven, Charles Miller; Grand Haven Coop., Blenden, Bussis Bros. of Zeeland; Olive, De Vries and B. Yadnom Club Hears Of Canadian Music

Miss Gertrude Wickes presented to the members of the Yadnom club Monday evening an informative account of Canadian music. The meeting was held in the home of Miss Anna Boot. Miss Wickes described the two national anthems, "O Canada" being a stirring tune first sung in French, while "The Maple Leaf Forever" is distinctly English both in words and music.

Western Canada with its Slavic immigrants, since 1900 has had annual music festivals similar to the British plan. Manitoba had the largest festival within the empire the speaker explained. In Eastern Canada, Toronto has become a great musical center with its organ music, concert and military bands.

However, the most distinctive Canadian music is of French origin and much interest is taken today in studying the history of ballads and lyrics from Normandy, Picardy or Breton, she said. Interesting examples are "The Butterfly and the Cradle," "The Swallow," "The Raftsmen," and "Allonette," a gay tune popular in Quebec.

As a special feature of the program, Mrs. Stuart A. Ludlow, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Beernink, sang de Koven's "O Promise Me."

During the business meeting the club voted a gift to Miss Bernice K. Jansen of Neighborhood house in Oranville, Mich.

Speaker's History Of Interest Here

Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, distinguished Chinese author, statesman, economist and raconteur who will make several appearances in Holland the week of Nov. 15, became interested in the China Centenary fund of the Reformed church and has been one of its most ardent supporters through an incident which occurred many years ago and affects those well known in Holland missionary circles.

Sustaining a broken collar bone when he was shipwrecked off Amoy in 1901, Dr. Hsieh, then a student, was treated by Dr. J. A. Otte, pioneer medical missionary of the Amoy Mission of the Reformed Church in America. Several years ago Adrianna Otte Scholten (Mrs. George B. Scholten) of Neshanic, N. J., heard a brilliant Chinese lecturer and author, Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, speak from a Chautauqua platform. When they conversed later, she found he was the boy who had been shipwrecked near her home in China and that through the years he had treasured the recollection of Dr. Otte's kindness to him.

Dr. Hsieh became interested in the China Centenary through his friendship with the Scholten family and has sent a steady stream of checks toward the fund representing fees for lectures and proceeds of sales of his books, amounting to nearly $1,000.

In a recent letter to Mrs. John A. Otte of Holland, whose late husband treated him so many years ago, Dr. Hsieh recalled his youthful experience and told about his subsequent adventures when he was sought by the China Imperial government as a "reformer," being one of the first of the students returned from foreign study to have their queues cut off. Dr. Hsieh worked steadily for the republic in China after the Boxer rebellion.

With a brilliant command of the English language, Dr. Hsieh speaks authoritatively on the many problems that confront the Chinese today. To his rich heritage of ancient culture and philosophy have been added the best of American and European education.

His appearances in Holland will include Hope church, Sunday evening, Nov. 15, Hope college chapel exercises Monday morning, Nov. 16, Holland Teachers' club Monday afternoon, and Century club on Monday night.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

THE homemaker who may think she is not making her contribution to the war effort can take stock of the problems imposed by the steadily decreasing varieties of food. If she meets these problems cheerfully and intelligently and manages to give her family appetizing and nutritionally balanced meals then she definitely is making a contribution to the victory program.

This week the largest of the food chains announced that real is the most plentiful of the meats and while lamb is scarcer than it has been there still is a fair supply. Poultry is still quite plentiful.

Vegetables are somewhat scarcer this week, the better buys being cabbage, cauliflower, greens, mushrooms, onions, potatoes, spinach and rutabagas. Apples are, of course, one of the most economical of the fruits and grapes and cranberries are also abundant.

Planned by Vivian Whaley, director of the Kitchen, the following menus may help you with your Sunday dinner:

SEND A LITTLE REMEMBRANCE TO MR. HITLER

And don't leave out his pals, Tojo and Mussolini. They've been dishing it out for 3 years now. It's about time they were learning what it's like.

Learning what it's like to crawl into the underground in London . . . what it's like to cringe in terror in Chungking.

And they're going to learn. Mister, how they're going to learn!

You may not be there to give it to them. You may not be there in person. But you can be very really there . . .

You can be there with the bombs you helped buy . . . the planes you helped build . . . the ships you helped put together—through your purchase of War Bonds. Get used to the sound—WAR Bonds.

The big question is, how often will you be there? One bond lets you participate in one raid . . . but it's going to take more than just one encounter with those boys to silence them for keeps and to sweep their gangsters and their gangster methods onto the ash heap of history.

It's going to take one bond regularly from all of us . . . 10 percent of our salary and wages, pledged to the downfall of these three fiends and all they stand for.

And the sooner you start, the sooner they'll stop. And the sooner we'll all be back to normal again.

It's really not so hard. All it needs is a little making up of the mind to do it now. Because, actually, you're not giving a thing. You're lending the money—putting it away for yourself at interest!

Ten years from now you'll get back 4 bucks for every 3 you put into War Bonds today. $300 now will bring you $400 then.

So start putting aside at least 10 percent of your income in War Bonds today—and do it every pay day.

It's worth it!

BUY WAR BONDS—at least 10% every pay day
