Milk Men Explain Problems at Meet Of Health Board

City Attorney Says There Is No Malice In Recent Charges

A group of milk dealers of Holland and the health board gathered in the council chambers of the city hall Thursday afternoon to discuss milk shortage problems confronting ten dairymen recently charged with selling uninspected milk.

Health Officer Chester Van Apple-dorn presided at the meeting which was called at the request of Ben Speet, president of the Holland Milk Dealers' association.

Mr. Speet, acting as spokesman for the group, called the board's attention to the war conditions as they affect the milk dealers. He said farmers were not anxious to sell to the dealers, that shortage of help had caused him personally to lose several farmers who had been good producers and their help had been inducted into the service, and that the quality of feed farmers are able to buy results in lessened production due to the decreased oil content of the feed.

Speet also said other markets (Muskegon and Grand Rapids) were cutting in on the local supply. He explained further that the problem is not so serious in the winter months but that in the summer months the milk production drops substantially due to drought conditions and that it is difficult to adjust the seasonal fluctuation. He added that this problem is further complicated during the summer because of demands by resorters. He stated that the reason the dealers had not contacted authorities before obtaining milk was because the demand is usually sudden and the inspector is not always available.

Dr. Van Apple-dorn pointed out that the charges that have been filed against the milk dealers did not have to do with the general operation of the dairies in this city, but the charge was brought because certain dealers faced with emergencies had not contacted the proper authorities which could lead to serious abuse if permitted.

City Inspector Ben Wiersma and Dr. Ralph Ten Have, county health officer, joined in the discussion, both recognizing that the dealers have problems to meet, both offered suggestions and cooperation.

City Attorney Vernon D. Ten Cate stated that no official nor health board member held any malice in the action that was taken, but pointed out that some of the dealers had been flagrantly violating the ordinance, while others had been guilty of but minor infractions. He suggested that the dealers' organization attempt to get those members in line with requirements of the ordinance for the dealers' own good. He pointed out that the ordinance was passed chiefly through the efforts of the dealers themselves and that it is a model ordinance for milk control, and that the board of health is intent upon enforcing the ordinance as it is written until some change is made if council sees fit to make any change.

He pointed out that the enforcement of the ordinance is a trust in the board for the protection of the citizens of this city and that if milk which meets the conditions of the ordinance is not available that some system of voluntary rationing might have to be worked out, rather than have the requirements of the ordinance violated or circumvented.

Albert Speet called attention to the OPA rulings with reference to changing sources of supply.

Besides the Speets, milk dealers present were Edward Romeyn, Donald Romeyn, Preston Mulder, Peter Mulder, John Bareman, John H. Scholten, Henry Boeve, Albert Slenk, Harold Bussies and Albert Klomprens.

Other health board members present were Otto P. Kramer and County Sanitarian John Wyma.

Two Hunters Get Bucks On First Day of Season

At least one Holland man and one Zeeland man were successful on the first day of big game hunting in Michigan Monday, according to reports received here.

Ray Hilbink, 220 West 13th St., shot a buck about 8:15 a.m. Monday near Reed City. He was hunting with Walt Wyrick of Olive Center, formerly of Holland, and the pair was visiting Wyrick's parents in that locality. They plan to return here Wednesday night.

John Bosch, 227 Harrison, Zeeland, shot a four-point buck near Gladwin within an hour of the season's opening Monday. He is with a party of five or six others of Zeeland.

Chaplain Ottipoby Tells Experiences

"A chaplain of the United States armed forces carries his G.I. Bibles, his literature and the Cross, and that's all he needs," Chaplain James C. Ottipoby, this country's only Indian chaplain who is spending a ten-day leave with his relatives in Holland, said Sunday in Sixth Reformed church which he considers his home church.

Citing his experiences in two addresses in the church Sunday, Chaplain Ottipoby, a first lieutenant stationed at Hobbs army air field in New Mexico, said it is the work of the chaplain to be of service to the men in any way possible. "The chaplain is under orders only to his commanding officer," he explained, "and although the chaplain is a commissioned officer he cannot give commands. He only makes suggestions and they are usually followed," he said.

He explained that there are three general divisions for religions in the service, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, although provisions also are made for Mormon and Christian Science. In addressing a joint meeting of Christian Endeavor societies in the evening, he explained that in celebrating Holy Communion, every attempt is made to serve the worshippers as they are in their home churches, whether they meet at the altar where the elements are spread, or whether they are served in their seats, served standing, or any other way. He said about 600 attend services on Sunday in the camp chapels, and that the camp has a good choir of 26 men and 11 women. He added that there are two squadrons of Negroes at Hobbs field, and that an exceptionally good Negro quartet has been organized.

He advised the young men soon to enter service to try to become chaplain orderlies, as that is a job in which they can boss the chaplain. He explained that he is very dependent upon his orderly to keep his schedules straight and usually finds when the orderly points sternly to certain appointments.

When he spoke at the morning service of the church, he said that the work of the chaplain is very much worth while that he wished he had joined two or three years ago, both for his own good and for the good of others. As the main solution to the problems that confront the chaplain in individual cases, his advice is "Prayerfully do your best and the other troubles will take care of themselves." As one of the points for his "own good," he humorously said the work and activity keeps his weight down.

"If ever Christianity has a chance in modern times, it is now," Chaplain Ottipoby said. In spite of the fact that the conflict is thousands of miles away, we do not feel safe. He said that a good basic instruction of the Bible in the formative years is the best basis for the young men who face danger in the future.

Chaplain Ottipoby, a full blooded Comanche Indian, was born around the turn of the century in Oklahoma. He attended school at Sioux Center and Pella, Ia., before coming to Hope college where he was a star athlete, playing football, basketball and baseball. Later he attended Western Theological seminary. While here, his nickname was "Chief."

After his ordination he engaged in missionary work among the Indians in Oklahoma and Nebraska. He was serving as pastor of the Christian Indian mission in Albuquerque, N.M., when he received his commission as a first lieutenant in the chaplain's corps May 3, 1943.

He received his chaplain's training at Harvard university and spent a week at Santa Ana, Calif., before being assigned to Hobbs army air field.

His wife, the former Lucile Vandewater, and their son, Col. Lins, a junior in Holland high school, are staying with the former's mother, Mrs. B. Vandewater, 246 East 17th St.

The chaplain arrived here last Wednesday night and plans to leave again Friday.

Local Man Hurt Seriously in Fall While Aiding Car

Thomas Sanger Lands On His Head; Taken to Hospital Unconscious

Holland hospital attaches said this afternoon that the condition of Thomas J. Sanger, 35, who suffered severe head injuries in a fall near the Falmir Bearing Co. early Wednesday morning, was "slightly improved." Sanger rallied at different times this morning and was in a semi-conscious state. Taking of X-rays has been delayed so he will not be disturbed.

Sanger had completed work on the 4 p.m. to midnight shift at Falmir and was assisting in getting a car started when he fell or was thrown from the car, landing on his head on the highway near the main entrance to the factory offices. Injuries are confined to the back of his head. Up to this afternoon no X-rays had been taken.

The accident occurred when Sanger and others were assisting on getting the car of Alma Naber, route 5, started. Her coupe had been parked on the lot near the car of J. M. Timmerman, 116 East 34th St. The riders of the Timmerman car pushed the Naber car to the highway and were preparing to push it. Since the rear bumper of the Naber car was too high for the other car, Sanger and Andrew Vliet, 601 Highland Ave., another Falmir employee, stood on the running board of Naber car leaning over the "turtle" so that their weight might bring the bumpers in line.

Vander Vliet shifted his position so that he had one foot on each bumper of the slowly moving cars and Sanger was making the same change when the Naber car started suddenly and Sanger fell to the pavement. The Timmerman car stopped so suddenly that a rider in the rear seat was thrown to the floor. The Timmerman car did not strike Sanger, according to sheriff's officers who investigated. Timmerman was commended by the officers for his prompt action.

Sanger, unconscious, was taken to the hospital in a local ambulance.

Riders in the Timmerman car who were assisting included Herman Rummelt, 378 Central Ave., William Kuhlman, 595 Central Ave., and Chester Lokker, 135 East 39th St.

The Mary Jane restaurant at which Sanger is proprietor has been closed until further notice.

Two Bound Over To Circuit Court

Youthful Auto Thieves Waive Examination in Arraignment Here

Two 16-year-old youths of Holland, Norman George Taylor, 71 East Eighth St., and Keren to East Molegraaff, 178 East Fifth St., waived examination when they appeared before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith Friday on a charge of larceny of an auto and were bound over to circuit court to appear Nov. 22.

Juvenile court waived prosecution in the case of the two youths who together with Albert Lokker, 18, 110 East 17th St., who has since entered armed service, allegedly took the car of Henry Kraker, Oct. 11 and were apprehended by local police following a chase and search in the Prospect park locality.

Anna Chandler, 39, 28 West Eighth St., was found guilty in Municipal court Friday afternoon of making an improper turn after she had previously pleaded not guilty to the charge. She was assessed fine and costs of $10.15. The charge is the result of an accident early Oct. 16 in which a Tulip City cab driven by Mrs. Chandler collided with a car at Eighth St. and Central Ave., resulting in injuries to David Mos, 34, 69 East Ninth St., who was treated in Holland hospital.

Other cases disposed of in Municipal court Friday included: Mart Poelman, 51, route 1, who paid fine and costs of $5 on a faulty brakes charge.

Andy Klinge, 21, 198 East 24th St., who paid fine and costs of $5 on a speeding charge. He was charged with traveling 42 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Gerrit Klomp, route 1, Hamilton, who paid fine and costs of $3 for running a stop street.

Willis Sloothaak, 19, 751 Michigan Ave., who paid fine and costs of $5 on a faulty brakes charge.

Two Medals for Lieut. Terkeurst

Word was received here this morning in a special dispatch from general headquarters in the southwest Pacific area that First Lieut. James A. Terkeurst, 495 Central Ave., has been awarded the air medal for "meritorious achievement" while participating in 25 operational flight missions in the southwest Pacific area while serving with a troop carrier squadron.

Lieut. Terkeurst received the Distinguished Flying Cross recently, according to a special dispatch received here Monday. This award was for "extraordinary achievement" while participating in 50 operational flight missions. Citations for the two awards read much the same, dropping supplies and transporting troops to advanced positions at low altitudes over mountainous terrain under adverse weather conditions in a transport plane often necessitating landing within a few miles of enemy bases.

The awards were made by Lieut. General George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied air forces in the southwest Pacific.

Of interest to local residents is the fact that Gen. Kenney is closely associated with Wilks A. Diekema of Holland in World War I. Diekema, who came out of the war a major in the air forces, and Kenney were both members of the 91st aero squadron and served together several months overseas. Gen. Kenney at that time was a lieutenant, and Diekema was a captain.

In a recent feature article in a Chicago paper, the then Capt. Diekema was shown in pictures of Gen. Kenney's World War I experiences.

Somewhere in New Guinea, Nov. 18 (Special) A Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to First Lieut. James A. Terkeurst, 495 Central Ave., Holland, Mich., for "extraordinary achievement" while participating in 50 operational flight missions in the southwest Pacific area during which he made contact with a troop carrier squadron with the fifth air force.

The award was made recently by Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces in the southwest Pacific.

Those operations consisted of dropping supplies and transporting troops to advanced positions in flights which involved flying at low altitudes over mountainous terrain under adverse weather conditions in a transport plane, and often necessitated landing within a few miles of enemy bases. Throughout these flights, Lieut. Terkeurst demonstrated outstanding ability and devotion to duty.

Receives Year's Mail All in One Delivery

Herman Rusticus, woman first class, has received a year's supply of mail in one delivery, according to a letter received Saturday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Rusticus, West Ninth St.

On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Rusticus received a letter from Herman Rusticus dated Sept. 8, 1943, in which he stated he had not received any mail from the time he left for overseas duty, September, 1942. A letter dated Sept. 10, 1943, however, was received Saturday in which he told of receiving all the mail which had accumulated since his departure.

A brother, Pfc. Marvin Rusticus is serving with the army in California.

Lieut. James A. Terkeurst
ing ability and devotion to duty

Lieut. Terkeurst, son of Naval Chaplain and Mrs. H. D. Terkeurst, entered service two years ago this month after enlisting with the air corps. He received his wings at Lubbock, Tex., in May, 1942, and then specialized in transport flying. He served in many different centers and was sent overseas about five months ago.

His mother who has been spending about six weeks in Holland said today she had not been informed of the award. The last letter she received from her son was dated Oct. 20 in which he mentioned he was engaged in active duty. She plans to leave Holland today for Providence, R. I., to join her husband, Lieut. (sgt) Terkeurst who is stationed with the naval construction training center at Camp Endicott, Davisville, R.I., about 15 miles from Providence.

Mrs. Terkeurst had been in Holland to be near her other son, John, who has been in training with the coast guard at Grand Haven. He was transferred to Atlantic City, N. J., about three weeks ago to study radio and electronics, leading up to Radar. Mrs. Terkeurst is now closing the home here for an indefinite absence.

Young Terkeurst, the army lieutenant, is a graduate of Holland high school and attended Hope college and Marquette university a year each before accepting a position with the Holland Furnace Co. in Flint. He was employed there about a year before entering service.

Mrs. Terkeurst on Tuesday received a notification that the name of her husband, Chaplain Terkeurst, is to be included in a 1944 compilation of "Who's Important in Religion," a record of religious leaders, educators and church officials.

Major Henry Geertings reported to the youth guidance committee in Grand Haven last week and pointed out that the comparison between the north and south parts of the county favored the south.

ASTP Officers at Hope Rate First in Campaign

Officers of the local ASTP unit at Hope college have been notified that they hold rating No. 1 in district No. 1 in the "Think to Win" campaign now being conducted in the army. Under the plan officers turn in ideas, suggestions on new training ideas. End of the drive will be Nov. 22.

Graafschap Man Taken in Canada

Albert Ten, 86, of Graafschap, died at 1 a.m. Monday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leonard Trap of Chatham, Ontario, Canada. He had been ill for 10 days. He was a resident of Graafschap for the past 20 years.

Since the death of Mrs. Ten in September, 1942, Mr. Ten had been dividing his time between his two daughters in Grand Haven, Holland and Ontario. He had been with Mrs. Trap since Sept. 8.

Mr. Ten was born in Graafschap, Germany, and came to this country at the age of 21. He married Theda Stauden of Graafschap, Mich., 60 years ago. They lived for a time in Jamestown and at Prosper, moving to Graafschap in 1924. Mr. Ten was an apothecary. He was active in church and community affairs and in Sunday school work for a number of years. In his younger days he was well known as a leader and director of rural singing schools.

Surviving are the four daughters, Mrs. Trap of Canada, Mrs. Henrietta Vander Laan and Mrs. John Mulder of Grand Haven, and Mrs. Peter Slenk of Holland, also 10 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Junior League Holds Meeting

Mrs. Vernon Ten Cate presided at the meeting of Junior Welfare league held Tuesday night in the Woman's club building. Dage for the holiday benefit bridge was set for Dec. 6. An invitation to visit the Netherlands museum in the near future was received by the league. Mrs. Neal Mills, who has returned to Holland to live after a stay in California, was welcomed back into the league. There will be no meeting of the organization next Tuesday.

Announce Changes in Post Office Positions

Postmaster Harry Kramer today announced a few changes in positions at the Holland post office.

Gerrit Ray, who has been transferred to a route after resigning as superintendent of mails today began deliveries in place of Arnold Hofmeyer, carrier for many years, who is now working inside the office. The postmaster said that Mr. Ray requested the change and that no one has been appointed officially to succeed him.

William De Motz will be transferred to the stamp window when George Schudling who has accepted a position to serve as lay pastor in the Detroit area leaves.

Elect Officers for Social Agencies

Two persons were reelected and two were elected to serve on the executive committee of the Holland Council of Social Agencies at its annual meeting in the council chambers of the city hall Tuesday night.

Harry Kramer was reelected for another three-year term and C. Neal Steketeer who was elected for a one-year term last year, was reelected to a three-year term. Mrs. J. H. Den Herder was elected to fill out the term of George Schudling, who is leaving Holland, and William Slater was elected to a full term. In the absence of Mr. Schudling, Prof. Paul E. Hinkamp presided and Mrs. O. Hallquist served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. R. F. Kler.

Mrs. Mayo Hadden, head of the bureau of social aid, in giving her report on the status of delinquency in Holland, said conditions here are not alarming but there is work to be done and "we must bear in mind that we had juvenile delinquency before the war."

"The war has made it worse, but we will still have problems after the war," she said. "Children are not born bad but are born with out morals and these should be developed by the parents. Our police department is using a method of counseling with the child which has brought good results."

Mayor Henry Geertings reported to the youth guidance committee in Grand Haven last week and pointed out that the comparison between the north and south parts of the county favored the south.

Miss Beth Marcus, executive secretary of the Red Cross, reported on the work of the Red Cross in Holland. Thirty-five were present.

Flieeman Injured Slightly in Crash

John Flieeman, Jr., 32, route 1, Holland, who returned to Holland several weeks ago after being wounded in action in New Guinea last December, was treated in Holland hospital early Sunday morning for an injury to upper lip suffered in an automobile accident on Eighth St. between Central and College Aves. He was released following treatment.

The accident occurred at 2:40 a.m. when Flieeman's car crashed into the rear of one driven by Mrs. Rufa Osewade, 34, 409 Columbia Ave., who said she was slowing down to let a passenger out. Flieeman told police the Osewade car stopped suddenly and he did not have time to stop. The rear end of the Osewade car and the front end of the Flieeman car were damaged.

Others injured were Anna Zonen, 124 East 17th St., an occupant of the Osewade car, who suffered an injured knee and was taken to her home and Twila Deuteh, 23, East 10th St., who was treated in Holland hospital for head injuries. She was released later Sunday.

Witnesses listed by police were William J. Kross, Grand Rapids, Anna Zonen, 124 East 17th St., and Ed Klomprens, 77 East 18th St.

Sgt. Flieeman who has a record of 13 years in the national guard and army was awarded the Purple Heart some months ago.

Wounded West Olive Soldier Returns Home

Corp. William Prelesnik, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Prelesnik of West Olive, who was injured in a bomb explosion more than seven months ago in New Guinea, arrived home Wednesday to spend a 30-day furlough. His wounds confined him to a hospital in New Guinea and then he was transferred to Texas for about seven months.

He entered the army three years ago and went overseas in April, 1941. He has two brothers in service, Pvt. Walter Prelesnik who has just arrived in Italy, and Leo who is in Australia with the aeronautical department of the U. S. government. Leo has written home announcing his marriage to an Australian girl, Joyce Heffernan, last month.

Holland Soldier Badly Wounded In Italian Battle

Pfc. Alvin Jay Bos, in Service Just a Year; Overseas Since April

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bos, 80 East 19th St., were informed Sunday afternoon by telegram from Adjutant General Ulio in Washington that their son, Pfc. Alvin Jay Bos, 21, had been seriously wounded in action in Italy Oct. 22. The parents were assured that they will be advised as future reports of his condition are received.

Pfc. Alvin Bos (right) with buddies

Mr. and Mrs. Bos received a second letter from Jay Monday afternoon dated Oct. 31 in which he wrote he had been shot in the leg and was confined in a hospital in Italy.

He did not advance any further information aside from verifying the date of the injury. In a letter received here Monday morning dated Oct. 27, he wrote he was in Italy and was feeling fine, but did not mention his injuries.

Pfc. Bos who will be 22 years old on Dec. 13 entered service Nov. 16, 1942, at Fort Custer, and was assigned to the infantry. He received his basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif., and the latter part of February was sent to Camp Shavano replacement center in Greenville, Pa., where he stayed four weeks. From there he was transferred to Camp Kilmer, N.J., for two weeks and left in April for overseas, going directly to North Africa.

During his training, Pfc. Bos was not able to come home on furlough, but in March his parents and others visited him at Camp Shavano, Pa.

Pfc. Bos was educated in local public schools and also attended Holland high school. He worked at the Holland Hitch Co. before being inducted. He has one brother, Hyso of Holland, and eight sisters, Mrs. J. H. Deters of Eagle Rock, Calif., and Mrs. Melvin Hertz, Mrs. Jack Loyer, Mrs. Ned Bontekoe, Mrs. Harold Bontekoe, Mrs. George Vandenberg and Hilda and Ruth Bos, all of Holland.

Fined and Placed on Probation for Theft

Grand Haven, Nov. 18 (Special) Eual Vern Drake, 17, route 1, Summa, who pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Sept. 13 to a charge of larceny from a building, was placed on probation for three years Monday, required to pay $3 a month costs, make restitution of $50 within three months, and pay $50 fine within six months. Beginning six months from Monday, after the time and restitution have been paid, he is required to buy a $25 defense bond every two weeks. He is also to leave intoxicating liquors alone.

Drake was arrested by state police for taking cash from the garage of Nelson Radus in Crookier township. Drake told the court he had been in this garage on five different occasions and each time took some money.

Others injured were Anna Zonen, 124 East 17th St., an occupant of the Osewade car, who suffered an injured knee and was taken to her home and Twila Deuteh, 23, East 10th St., who was treated in Holland hospital for head injuries. She was released later Sunday.

Witnesses listed by police were William J. Kross, Grand Rapids, Anna Zonen, 124 East 17th St., and Ed Klomprens, 77 East 18th St.

Sgt. Flieeman who has a record of 13 years in the national guard and army was awarded the Purple Heart some months ago.

Boy Goes to Police for Car as Climax to Chase

Local police in investigating a complaint of a reckless driver in the Christian high school section shortly before noon Tuesday, located the car owned by two 16-year-old boys who led the officers in a short chase over town before abandoning the car near the Christian junior high school on West 15th St., one boy running south and the other north.

Police took the car to the station and within an hour one of the boys inquired at the station for his car. Police held the youth for questioning since there were some articles in the car thought to be stolen. The youth also had some questionable gasoline coupons on his person. He left the station Tuesday night with his parents.

"This car chase was definitely lacking in the drama which highlighted two recent chases by local police involving youths ranging in age from 13 to 18. The cases of two 16-year-olds and an 18-year-old are pending in circuit court.

Staff Sgt. Willard Van Eyck of Pecos army air field in Texas arrived in Holland this week to spend a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Eyck, route 3. He has been in the service nearly three years.

Many Attend Novel PTA Program at Longfellow

About 225 were present at a potluck supper and meeting in a "know-your-teacher" program Tuesday night in Longfellow school, sponsored by the PTA. Devotions were conducted by Prof. Albert Timmer of Hope college. Dinner arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Harold Schaap, social chairman for the year, and her committee.

Tables were decorated in keeping with Thanksgiving with bouquets of autumn flowers and lighted tapers. President Lester Kuyper spoke briefly and introduced Mrs. Albert Timmer who read the message entitled "A Piece of Mother's Pie" written by Mrs. Kennedy, president of the Michigan PTA. Group singing was led by Eugene F. Heeter, accompanied by Miss Margaret Van Vyven.

Miss Dora Strowenans introduced all the teachers of the Longfellow school, including the two new teachers this year, Misses Marjorie Brouwer and Eleanor Smith. Special teachers introduced were Mrs. Dena Schutmaat and Miss Beulah Pepper who are in charge of the mentally retarded room; Miss Caroline Hawes, elementary supervisor; Miss Van Vyven, elementary school music; Miss Elinor Ryan, art; Joe Moran, physical education; Miss Martha Bird, open window room; Mrs. Anita Wendt, speech correction; Mrs. Dorothy Kenyon, oral deaf room; Miss Eileen Granskog and Miss Mary Bell, orthopedic department; Miss Arlene Phillips, in charge of the new department this year of sight conservation. Each teacher presented a brief explanation of his or her work. Dr. Frances Howell, physiotherapist, was unable to be present but her message was read by Miss Granskog.

Dr. Kuyper called on Harrel B. Gladish who presented the "A. B. C." of PTA and explained that the prime objective is to bring a closer relationship between the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the welfare of the child.

Officers are president, Dr. Kuyper; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Jones; secretary, Mrs. Jacob Van Voorst; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Meyer.

Novel Party Is Given Mrs. Louis Brondyke

Mrs. Louis Brondyke, who with her husband, Sgt. Brondyke, is spending a furlough in Holland, was feted at a novel party Tuesday evening given in the home of Mrs. John Van Eerden, 36 East 13th St. Hostesses were Mrs. Van Eerden, Mrs. Cornie Garvelink and Mrs. Ray Brondyke.

The various holidays were featured in the decorations and the birthday and wedding anniversaries of the guest of honor were celebrated. A large wedding cake flanked with six red, white and blue tapers, centered the dining room table. Mrs. Brondyke was presented with a gardenia corsage.

The final feature of the evening was the opening of "Christmas presents" which proved to be favors of tiny hats, serpentine and whistles. Christmas and New Year songs were sung with Miss Lois Van Zomeren at the piano. A two-course lunch was served by the hostesses.

Invited guests were Mesdames Harvey Gebben, Peter Sikkel, Arthur Peeks, A. Berghorst, Gordon Buter, Bill Brondyke, Harold Brondyke, O. E. Dark Water First Alarmed Pioneers

(This extract from the report to the board of domestic missions, Reformed Church in America, by Dr. Isaac N. Wyckoff after his visit to the colony in 1849 was prepared by Dr. Albertus Pieters.)

A most cheering fact encourages the people. It was anticipated from the dark color of the water in the river and lake, indicating that it drained a soil filled with vegetable matter, or flowing with muck swamps of great depth, that the location would be unhealthy.

In the first year that dark anticipation seemed considerably to be realized, for not a few sickened and some died.

But just as soon as the people became properly housed, this fear entirely subsided, for directly the colonists enjoyed an unusual average of health. During my whole visit I did not see or hear of a sick person, and this fact is the more conclusive, as this spring has been uncommonly wet, and all the lower grounds have more or less surface water upon them.

The early sickness was evidently owing, not to badness of climate and air, but to exposure to the inclemency of the elements, and want of nourishing food.

I ought, perhaps, to mention in this connection, that the colony has uncommon natural advantages.

There is water power on the Black river driving two saw-mills, to which a grist-mill will soon be added, and at other points shingle and lath factories, and whatever else requires water power, may be added. And there is scarcely on the face of the earth a more beautiful harbor for all manner of vessels than the Black lake. It is about five miles long, and varies from a quarter to a mile and a half broad, and has a depth varying from seven feet within 20 feet of the city strand to 25, 30, 50 and even 80 feet. Like all the rivers on the eastern shore, its outlet is obstructed by the sand-bars of Lake Michigan, but let a channel and a haven once be formed and it is the general opinion of all disinterested persons, it will be the most desirable harbor and wintering place on all the western side of the peninsula.

For $1,000 a pier and plank road of 560 yards can be constructed, which will immediately increase the trade ten or one hundred fold. A corps of engineers of the general government is now on the lake, making an exact topographical survey of the lake and waters of the Michigan at its mouth. Colonel Bowes, the experienced and gentlemanly leader of the corps, spoke in the highest terms of the beauty and facilities of the lake and harbor.

An enterprising gentleman has just finished and set in operation a steam saw-mill, that draws up logs out of the lake, and is doing a good business. A company has constructed a wind saw-mill, which operates well, and is capable with an ordinary wind, of driving six saws. A tannery is in process of erection, which will find inexhaustible quantities of querciton and hemlock bark in the neighborhood, and within the limits of the city is a ship-yard, which will be prepared to build all kinds of craft, and the live oak for bulks and for plank, and the magnificent pines for masts and spars, are in sight on the shores of the lake.

Fifth Birthday Is Celebrated at Party

Must Make Nation Worthy of Sacrifice, Vets Are Told

"When Johnny comes marching home again, he shall not have to beg for bread as so many of our boys did following World War I," Dr. Paul F. Voelker, president of the University of Grand Rapids, told more than 300 members of the Willard G. Leenhouts post of the American Legion, auxiliary and guests at their 25th annual Armistice day banquet Thursday night in the Women's Literary club.

"He shall not have to beg for bread because this time we will win the peace as well as the war," he said. "Johnny went away a boy, he will come back a man. He will have grown up and will expect us to have grown up with him. He will expect the post-war world to be economically sound, free of prejudice and race hatred, and it is our job to make this world for him."

"Only when we love our neighbors, the Poles, the Russians, the French, the Germans, the Arabs, the Japanese, the Jews, all the ignorant, filthy, hateful and dynamic peoples of the world, only when we put God first, humanity second and self last will we be able to have the kind of world our boys have a right to come back to."

"We, the Americans," he stated, "are children of accident, we have been favored by the Almighty, we have a superior position in the world but we are not a superior race. We must not draw our skirts about us and ignore the rest of the world. We do not, we can not, we will not forget the lesson we learned following the last war, the lesson that selfishness, not selflessness, is the keynote to a stronger, cleaner and bigger government."

"Only when we have learned to be truly democratic, to live together so everyone may have a chance, will we have the kind of world to which Johnny wants to come marching home."

The speaker was introduced by Dr. A. Leenhouts who traced his career as an educator and told of his work in the University of Grand Rapids.

Ex-Post Commander John Rozeboom served as toastmaster, and Chaplain Harry Kramer pronounced the invocation. Proceeding dinner were the large and the flag salute, moment of silent tribute and taps, which were played by John Perkowsky, who also played two trumpet selections. His accompanist was Mrs. Harold Beckman.

Vocal numbers were sung by Miss Margaret Van Veen, accompanied by Miss Marie Kool, and group singing was led by Arthur Prigge, accompanied by Miss J. Knoll.

Auxiliary greetings were given by President Mrs. J. Remick, who also introduced the auxiliary officers. Presentation of legion officers and remarks were made by Commander Charles Van Dillen.

Corsages were presented to 200 star mothers Mrs. J. W. Ed. Mrs. H. Potts, Mrs. A. Leenhouts and Mrs. B. James, whose sons died in the last war, and Mrs. Welch, whose son was killed in a plane crash in the present war.

Decorations, which were of a patriotic nature, featured the red, white and blue candles, American flag motifs, autumn flowers and ivy. The dinner was served by women of Sixth Reformed church.

As guest speaker at the annual Armistice day banquet of the Henry Walters post and auxiliary, No. 2144, Thursday night in the Warm Friend tavern, Frank M. Sparks, editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, expressed his gratification that unlike many other cities, Holland was celebrating Armistice day.

"True," he said, "the purposes of the Armistice have been lost and again we are at war, but the sacrifices made by the men of 1917-18 must not be forgotten. It was not their fault that the job they were doing 25 years ago was not completed and Armistice day should be celebrated if for no other reason than to recognize the futility of it and to warn us

Prof. Schrier Talks to Holland Century Club

Serving Under the Stars and Stripes

Prof. William Schrier of the Hope college speech department gave members of Century club at their meeting in the Warm Friend tavern Monday night, a "bird's-eye view" of his doctor's thesis on "G. J. Diekema," upon which he is working, and enlisted their support in his search for human interest material regarding the late distinguished local citizen.

Mr. Diekema was an outstanding American, but was also significant as a Holland American, Prof. Schrier said, adding that he has found it easy to respect the man whose life he is studying. He named as one of his purposes that of making him better known throughout the country and especially with speech teachers.

Prof. Schrier commented briefly on each chapter which forms the tentative arrangement of his thesis. Listed as the six topical heads were the life, the character, speeches, political and social views, the audiences of Mr. Diekema, and G. J. Diekema as an American and a Holland American.

Prof. Schrier, who is working on his doctorate at the University of Michigan, plans to continue his research into the life of Mr. Diekema through the winter months.

Music for the evening consisted of violin solos by Jeffrey Wiersum, student at Hope college, who played the "Meditation" from "Thais" by Massenet; "Valse Triste," Sibelius; and "Liebesfreud," Kreisler. He was accompanied by Miss Anna Ruth Poppen.

Museum Forms Setting For AAUW Program

Members of Holland branch, American Association of University Women, heard an interesting review of the new book, "Nusantara," by Dr. Bernard Vlekke, which was presented by Mrs. J. J. Brower in connection with their meeting in the Netherlands museum Thursday night. The book, a history of the East Indian archipelago, was of special significance due to the current exhibit of East Indian curios and photographs now on display at the museum.

Going back to the days of Kubla Khan who coveted the Indonesian archipelago, Mrs. Brower told the saga of the Netherlands East Indies, the history of the settlement and development of the lands, their exploitation, and the final establishment of a democratic colonial government which has now been brought under Japanese domination. The review was of dominant interest at this time when need for many East Indian products is keenly felt in the war effort.

An informal talk explaining the features of the exhibit was given by Willard C. Wichers, who also presented three short reels of moving pictures on the East Indies. Many of the pictures on display are the work of Philip Hanson Hiss, outstanding American authority on Bali, who will be in the city for lectures in the near future.

Mrs. John D. White presided at a business meeting in which Mrs. W. S. Merriam asked for assistance in planning a Christmas celebration for men at the local coast guard station. On the committee with Mrs. Merriam are Miss Evelyn Steketee and Miss Beatrice Hagen.

Mrs. Sara Zwemer and Mrs. R. H. Fehring were introduced as new members of the branch by Mrs. Titus Van Hattuma, membership chairman.

Mrs. Andes Steketee, fellowship chairman urged the distribution of service men's record books in the interest of the fellowship fund.

Following the meeting refreshments were served in the Dutch kitchen by Mrs. R. D. Eash, Miss Iva Stanton and Miss Linnea Nelson.

One commercial application amounting to $4,000 accounted for nearly all of the total of $4,285 representing four applications for building permits filed last week in the city clerk's office. Although there were only four applications, the total is still double the previous week's total of $2,124 which represented 13 applications.

The Vogelzang Variety store on Washington Ave. has filed an application to repair and remodel the store and make two apartments upstairs. This store was badly damaged in a large fire May 4 which caused the deaths of two persons and minor injuries to 17 others. W. De Leeuw is the contractor.

Other applications include: Donald Mokma, 338 West 21st St., addition to garage, 14 by 18 feet, chicken coop, $60, self, contractor.

Carroll Meusen, 39 East 16th St., addition to garage to be used as coal bin, 10 by 20 feet, $75.

John Timmer, 544 College Ave., remodel basement adding furnace room and coal bin, $150; Henry Beelen, contractor.

The Christian Endeavor society of the R-formed church met Monday evening. "Foundations of Enduring Peace" was the subject of Wallace Folkert, leader.

The congregational prayer service of the Reformed church was held Thursday, Nov. 4, in charge of Rev. B. Hoffman. "The Church at Prayer" was the subject.

Rev. Herald Hoffman, chaplain in the U. S. army, is enjoying a 15-day furlough visiting relatives and friends. He spoke briefly in the Reformed church Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kleinhekel and Mrs. Niel Baldwin and children of Holland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wolters Friday afternoon, Nov. 5.

A son, Gary Robert, was born at the Holland hospital last week Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peel.

Mrs. Gerald Kleinhekel, Mrs. Ben Kooner, Mrs. Ed Dange, and Mrs. Donald Voorhorst were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Voorhorst Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Jean Rigterink, formerly of this place, died in Saginaw last week. Funeral services were held there Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brink and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rigterink left last week Friday to attend the services.

Mrs. Alfred Lampen returned Tuesday from Chicago where she spent a few days. She also attended the funeral of a relative there.

Word was received here by relatives that a son, Lynn Allen, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Folkert of Middletown on Tuesday Nov. 9.

Many Servicemen at Junior League Party

Approximately 100 young men of the local A. S. T. P. unit stationed at Hope college, and an equal number of invited young women of the city enjoyed the dancing party which was held in the Warm Friend tavern Saturday night. Arrangements for the affair were made by the Junior League, with the Western Machine Tool works serving as sponsor. The event was the first in a series of parties being arranged by the Junior League.

Members of the league who attended remarked on the enthusiasm for the party expressed by the young servicemen, and their appreciation for the entertainment which had been provided. Refreshments were served.

League members serving as chaperones included Mrs. Mayo Hadden, Jr., Mrs. James Boler, Mrs. Adrian Van Putten, and Misses Phyllis Tiesenga and Peggy Hadden.

Cemetery Plot Dedicated Here

Armistice Address Given by Hanson at Outdoor Ceremonies

In giving an Armistice day Memorial address at the dedication of a cemetery plot for use of veterans of the present war in the Pilgrim Home cemetery Wednesday, E. D. Hanson, instructor of Holland high school, reviewed events leading up to the 25th anniversary of the armistice.

"When the guns fell silent at the 11th hour, on the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918, many understood it as the 11th hour, not the 12th hour of completion. They called it Armistice day, not peace, but armistice, an armed truce.

At Pearl harbor, this truce was broken. Today, the 25th anniversary, brings memories to the soldiers of the Legion who came back to their families and friends gathered throughout the world. On this historic spot, the gallant people of Holland's little colony built their homes here they lived, toiled and worshipped. From these heroes' plots today fly battle flags of Lincoln's men from Gettysburg and Chickamauga, Teddy Roosevelt's men from San Juan, Santiago and Manila, of Woodrow Wilson's men from Chateau-Thierry, the Argonne and Belleau Woods.

"New battle flags fly today over Holland's first boys returned from the global war. Capt. Herbert Chapman and Lieut. John Wise. Twelve others have fallen and they rest on the cold Isle of Atoll, in the hot jungle of the Pacific, in the desert sands of Africa and the rugged rocks of Italy. Here in the future, 124 of Holland's soldiers will sleep with other heroes.

"Holland's citizens of tomorrow as today will ever feel the surge of their devotion and the love of the cause for which they gave that last full measure for liberty, for freedom, for home, for country, for us, and for God," Hanson said.

George Pelgrim presided at the ceremonies which were held on the new plot on the northwest corner of the new Pilgrim Home cemetery. The Holland high school band under the direction of Eugene Heeter played. A. E. Van Lente, chairman for the Legion committee in charge of arrangements, formally dedicated the plot and Gilbert Vande Water, chairman of the park and cemetery board, handed the deed to the plot to Mayor Henry Geerlings, who accepted on behalf of the city.

Three Boy scouts, Ray and Jack Hertz and Dale Newhouse, served as color guard and ran the flag up the new flagpole as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." Snow was removed from the entire lot for the dedication ceremonies.

The new group to leave includes: Allegan—Robert F. Grothwal, Forest S. Goutier, William N. H. H., Clarence Vande Vere, Donald Ater, Sheldon England, John J. Smith, Basil W. Teed, Nathan F. Wiley, John S. Kerr, Dean W. Townsend, Basil D. Ellis, Kenneth Staba, Robert Leonardson and Robert I. Price.

Fennville—James R. Mills, Donald R. Hall and Orval G. Collins.

Saugatuck—Arthur M. Woltman.

East Saugatuck—Zigmund Grzbowski.

Holland—Harry Bakker, Hamilton Elmer L. Berens and Donald Johnson.

Vande Bunte to Head Youth Guidance Plan

Grand Haven, Nov. 18 (Special)—Ottawa County School Commissioner Dick H. Vande Bunte was named permanent chairman of a group to promote a youth guidance program in the county at a meeting in the court house Friday night called by Probate Judge Cora Vande Water at the request of Gov. Kelly.

Stephen Meade, principal of Grand Haven high school, was chosen vice chairman and Judge Vande Water secretary. The group went on record as favoring the closing of taverns and liquor places in Grand Haven at midnight during the week and on Sundays and holidays. County Health Officer Ralph Ten Have felt that the delinquency problem lies mostly with delinquent parents rather than delinquent children. Sub committees will be organized Tuesday.

Party Compliments

Mrs. A. Sterenberg

Mrs. C. Kimball, 24 West 16th St., entertained Friday night in honor of Mrs. A. J. Sterenberg who is here with her husband, Pvt. Sterenberg on furlough from Camp Swift, Tex. Friends attending were the Misses Theresa Heerspink, Harriet De Vree, Bernice Vandenberg, Mabel Japiga, and Shirley Kimball.

Some people succeed by making friends out of their fears.

Cites Challenges Facing Education

The regular noon meeting of the Holland Rotary club Thursday in the Warm Friend Tavern featured a special observance of Armistice day.

The speaker was Dr. Paul Voelker, president of the University of Grand Rapids, who discussed "Education at the Crossroads." Education has come to this turning point because the present conflict has necessitated radical changes in methods of teaching, he said.

He stated the old Prussian concept of education as "the creation of God-fearing, country-loving, self-supporting, loyal subjects" of its government. He described how the needs of democracy have changed these concepts in many ways.

Quoting from the Northwest ordinance of 1787, Dr. Voelker emphasized that religion, morality and knowledge must be taught much more intensely today to insure development of the individual as a whole. Schools, he said, must build fine men and women and prepare stable personalities that will fit into the rapid pace of modern American life.

He warned against neglect of the physical training that is necessary to retain the health of the young people, and urged that the program of education be aimed toward the training of the senses of youth.

Dr. Voelker closed by urging the complete education of the attitudes of young men and women before any attempt is made to place knowledge at their disposal.

The speaker was presented by Dr. E. E. Fell who gave a brief history of Dr. Voelker's accomplishments in the field of education and paid tribute to his intense interest in the subject.

Immediately after the talk, the club sang "God Bless America" and observed a 30-second period of silent tribute to those who have given their lives in two wars. The silence was terminated by the soft echo of "taps."

Rotarians had as their guests, Dick De Velder of Orange City, Richard Lipman and Bert Klein of Los Angeles, and George Manting and Charles McCormick of Holland.

The program was in charge of Rotarian Harry Kramer and President Duncan Weaver presided.

Friends are always the last to blame and the first to forgive, the last to doubt and the first to believe, the last to close the door and the first to open it.

Boulevard Landscaping Ruined by Vandals Here

Park Supt. Dick Smullenburg and police officers here were seeking a driver or drivers who rode roughshod over the shrubbery and tulip beds in the boulevards on West 12th St. during the night.

The park department had just completed planting tulip beds, placing new shrubbery and putting the well known beauty spots in order for the winter. Special low fences had been installed for protection.

Tracks show that a car or cars broke down shrubbery, ruined the grass and broke off sprinkler heads.

Police officers requested residents in the section to report any vandalism.

To the People of the Holland District

WE SALUTE you because of the splendid spirit displayed by the community during the 1943 cucumber-pickle harvest. Nowhere has America's co-operative effort to win the war been demonstrated more wholeheartedly.

Unfavorable weather conditions and labor shortages in field and factory confronted the farmer and canner with problems that would have been insurmountable but for the unselfish assistance of volunteer workers and our regular employees.

Ministers, school teachers, business and professional men, housewives, club women and even school children, were among the volunteers. And the United States Employment Service rendered extensive and highly effective aid.

Every cucumber that reached our factory has been processed or is in course of processing. A large part will go to the Armed Forces.

We thank all who assisted us in our efforts to produce as many pickles as possible during one of the most trying seasons in the history of our Holland Factory, and we appreciate to the fullest extent the community's fine spirit—the spirit that will help win the war.

COMPARISONS ARE ODIUS

The old adage, "Comparisons are odious," is acquiring a new meaning as a result of the various absurdly "patriotic" parallels that are being drawn by various advocates of various "hands across the sea" movements. Recently Vice President Wallace delivered himself of the idea that we and the Chinese are as alike as two identical twins. And now another "patriotic," not so well known, has come through with the assertion that there is no more difference between us and the Russians than between two soybeans that come out of the same pod. Such comparisons are odious not for the reason suggested by the adage but because they are so unintelligent that they smelt in other words, they "stink" in the expressively slang sense of that word.

All honor to the Russians for their magnificent battle against the Nazis. All honor to them, also, for many qualities that we Americans do not possess, many even that we do not so much as understand. Anyone who has read the novels of Dostoevsky and the plays of Chekhov knows that many things are going on in the souls of Russians that are alien to the understanding of the Americans. This is so true that it took the greater part of half a century for the great Russian books to find their way into the consciousness of the Americans. And even today the so-called man in the street in America does not comprehend what the great Russians are talking about.

Only about three years ago those very same people who are now telling us we and the Russians are like twin brothers were shouting just as loudly that Russia's deal with Germany, and a little later Russia's attack on Finland, might have been expected because the Russian people were after all predominantly Slavs, and the Slavic mind is not to be comprehended by the Anglo-Saxon peoples.

But of course that was different. At the time we were, at least emotionally if not actually in a political sense, on the other side of the fence from Russia. So of course any likenesses between us and those unspeakable semi-orientals were thought of as being purely coincidental. But now any likenesses are so regarded and the similarities are emphasized and exalted until you would think that we average Americans are about ready to subject ourselves to a Stalin and adopt communism.

What is said here is not at all in depreciation of Russia or the Russians, merely in refutation of the absurd comparisons that have no better basis than that of a temporary political association of the two peoples. Such parallels are not only meaningless, they are an insult to the most elementary intelligence.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

The purpose of a Christian is that he shall know the plan and means of his salvation in order that he may intelligently transmit them to others by a process of witnessing. Such witnessing may be by diverse means, but there can be no diversity in what is witnessed. There will be diversity of experiences, but not of Christian truth. The introduction of diversities in the subject matter of salvation leads to confusion and impotence; ultimately, few know what is real salvation. In such confusion, essential Christianity dies out, leaving only a pale ethic, like dried-up fruit on a dead tree.

Sunday School Lesson

November 21, 1943
Honesty In All Things
Exodus 20:15; Leviticus 19:11,13;
Luke 19:1-10, 45,46.

By Henry Geerlings

There are those who say that this commandment is more generally violated or broken than any other in the entire decalogue. Perhaps it is because there is more opportunity to break it than any other. Business relations are so extensive they involve every one of us, and they cover the seven days of the week, so that if the people desire to do so they can be dishonest at almost every step they take. More than that it is doubtful if any other desire may so completely control life as the desire to have, to get, and to possess. So then in thinking of this commandment we shall find it carrying us into every avenue of life and of relationship.

What is dishonesty? They that take from others anything without giving them a just equivalent for it, break the seventh commandment. Employers break it when they do not pay just wages. Employees break it when they do not give honest and equivalent work for the wages paid. The seller who overcharges for goods, breaks it. The buyer, who beats down the seller, breaks it. He who advertises falsely, who adulterates food, who uses false weights and measures, breaks it. The gamblers in cards, stocks and real estate, lotteries, even if under the name of the church and for charity, break it.

Dishonesty in small things is the beginning. If people become dishonest it is in almost every case by starting with small dishonesties. The average person would be utterly ashamed to start a career of crookedness in colossal proportions. He takes a little thing to begin with. What he at first withholds is hardly noticeable. But the story does not end where it started. He gradually becomes hardened by the practice, and in the course of time his conscience does not rebel against flagrant dishonesty. The fact is, he is scarcely disturbed unless there is danger of his practices being discovered.

Christ rebuked those who devoured widows' houses. Honesty is not only the best policy, but it is also the best religion. While there are many wealthy people who amassed their fortune dishonestly, there are others who have remained poor because they would not depart from the golden rule policy. An individual's right to his skill, strength, labor and wage is a law as old as the race. The opposite of it is social anarchy and chaos. A powerful incentive to crooked methods in business is provided by the desire to live like someone else, with as fine clothing, automobile, and costly home. It should be no disgrace to live in humble surroundings provided we owe the world nothing.

It is one thing to listen with wide-open mouths to the stories of Lincoln's unimpeachable honesty, but it is quite another thing to practice that ideal ourselves. We are quite certain that the stories of honest people are not all concealed between the covers of the books in our libraries, or associated with others who have gone on to their reward. There are honest people in the world today, but we could wish there were more of them.

It is not easy to rid society of dishonest men and women. They are here and they will always be here. But we do not wish it possible to so reconstruct society that there would not be those sore spots in our civilization? There has been created in the world of business a condition, a low standard, that makes it very difficult for the person who wants to be honest.

If you speak to men of affairs many of them will say that the reason they are taking advantage of others in their business relationships is because they must do so in order to get a share of the trade and to make a living. On the other hand what calling is there today in which men find it easy to be honest and to do the things that their consciences approve? The same problems, only under different forms, face all of us, and what we must do is to carry the principles of our religion into the various walks of life. That is the greatest thing we have to fight for, and to surrender it is to lose the most precious possessions there are in the whole world.

The rights and possessions of others must be respected and honored by us as Christians. In a Christian community, a man is quite secure in his possessions. We must not only be strictly honest ourselves, but also seek to develop a community attitude of love and respect for our neighbors. The grasping habit does not seem right and is not right either in the sight of God or in the opinion of God-fearing people. A wave of honest practices ought to sweep over this land.

Bishop Administers Rite of Confirmation

The largest congregation to greet the bishop of the diocese at an Episcopal visitation in many years at Grace Episcopal church gathered Sunday morning when the Rt. Rev. Lewis Bliss Whittemore, D. D., bishop of Western Michigan, administered the apostolic rite of confirmation to a large group.

Those receiving the rite were Henry Orton Brown, Rosemary Callan, Michael Bond Crouch, Mildred Morrison Campbell, Marion Harold Hall, Edgar Parker Hiller, Oda Clark Hiller, Jean Vanderberg Himes, William Lowry, Sr., Francis Peter Laskie, Helen Bell Merriam, Virginia Ruth Parkes and Richard Clark Sligh.

Holland In 1913

Prof. John E. Kuizenga has been elected president of the Century club for next year began a story in the Wednesday, April 9, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1913. The club held its last meeting of the year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. Kolyn. Other officers elected are vice-president, Supt. E. E. Feli; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. L. M. Thurber; members of the executive committee, Mrs. G. W. Van Verst and Dr. A. Leenhouts.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Huizenga will tomorrow commemorate the 54th anniversary of their marriage which was solemnized in 1859 in the first log church erected in the forests in Zeeland, by the Rev. Cornelius Vander Meulen, leader of the only colonization party which sailed from Europe as an organized congregation. Mr. and Mrs. Huizenga came to the Holland settlement in 1847 and located in this city 30 years ago.

Detroit—As scattering reports come in from over the state it becomes more and more evident that the hopes of the suffragists are blasted. The majority against the equal rights measure may go as high as 50,000.

Word has been received here that the Evanston Life Saving crew, of which two Holland boys, James Deto and James Whelan, are members, is at present stationed in Cairo, Ill., aiding in the rescue work.

Clarence Blekkink has returned to his studies with the Junior class of Hope college. Last term he attended the Moody Bible Institute at Chicago.

The Adelphi Y. M. C. A. of the Western seminary were entertained last night at the home of T. Oldenburger at New Groningen. Devotional exercises were in charge of James Verborg of the Senior class. Dirk Dykstra of the Junior class read a paper, "Take Heed to Thyself."

Adrian Knight was elected supervisor of Robinson township Monday and the entire No. 1 ticket was victorious including Fred Krumpeck, clerk; Nels Sorensen, treasurer; W. Darbee, highway commissioner; T. Lessien, board of review; Helen Tripp, justice of the peace.

Joseph White left today for Wichita, Kans., to spend a few weeks there.

Instead of being merely a formal meeting to which no one except the aldermen themselves pay attention, the meeting of the council tonight will be perhaps the most interesting that has been held in Holland for many a month, according to a story in the Thursday, April 10, issue. Usually the canvass of the vote is merely a formality and it takes but a few minutes for the committee to report. But this evening the aldermen are to listen to the petition of the liquor dealers asking for a recount of the vote on the saloon question.

For the third time this spring the chemistry department of Hope college scored in the form of a scholarship for one of the pupils in that department. Yesterday Gebhard Stegeman, a member of the senior class, received a letter from Dr. William E. Henderson, head of the department of chemistry of the Ohio State university at Columbus, O., that he had been granted a graduate-assistantship in the department of chemistry. The position carries with it a cash stipend of $300, free tuition and no charge for laboratory breakage. A few weeks ago Harry C. Kramers and Edward Wichers, both also members of the senior class, received the appointments to graduate-assistantships in the department of chemistry at the University of Illinois and last year G. John Van Zoeren was appointed to a similar position by the University of Illinois.

The members of the Woman's Bible class of Trinity Reformed church surprised their teacher, Peter Huyser, last evening at his home on South Lincoln Ave. Following a program Mr. Huyser was presented with a rocker, the presentation speech being made by Mrs. D. Damstra, president of the class.

The recount of the vote on saloons or no saloons, made by a committee of the council last evening, resulted in the change of only two votes, began a story in the Friday, April 11, issue. The recount showed that the anti-saloon forces had won the election by 21 votes instead of 23 as the first count showed. The vote as given by the election officials on election night was 1,090 for saloons and 1,113 against saloons. The recount showed that the actual vote for saloons was 1,093 and against saloons 1,114.

A large representation of the Federation of Parent-Teachers clubs listened to the lecture given last night by Charles Howard Mills, supervisor of Municipal Recreation of the city of Grand Rapids.

"Babe" Woldring who has resigned his position with the Holland Furniture Co. to join the St. Joseph, Mo., team as pitcher in the Western league entertained a number of friends last evening. Those present were Henry Mouw, Luke Woldring, J. Japinga, Ben Ross, Tony Boven, Gerrit Klomparsen, Herman Van Tongeren, W. Hacklander, F. Serier, W. M. Vande Water and L. Ganzel.

Frank Dykhuys and John De Maat of Holland walked to Grand Haven Wednesday and visited Sheriff Dykhuys in this city. They left home at 8 in the morning and arrived here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.—Grand Haven Tribune.

Conrad Jongewaarde and Nicholas Sichterman left this morning for Ann Arbor to attend the state conference of college Y. M. C. A. presidents convening from Friday to Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs

C. Vander Meulen Talks To Local DAR Chapter

In a discussion of "The Problems of Lasting Peace," at an Armistice day meeting of Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon, Cornelius Vander Meulen suggested that the subject is closely associated with the ideals of the D.A.R. organization.

All will agree on the principles of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but it is not easy to apply them in the confused present and project them into the uncertain future he said.

After the last war the public was not in on post-war plans, Mr. Vander Meulen said in commending discussion of this subject in various circles. The Atlantic charter, while general in nature, forms a good background for future discussions of a post-war program, said the speaker, who went on to mention several prominent personalities who have promoted various plans.

In suggesting the dynamic forces that must be reckoned with at the peace conference, Mr. Vander Meulen stressed the ideology of freedom, the background inherent in the English speaking peoples of the world which is different from many nations, making it difficult to find unifying principles upon which to base post-war plans.

Other difficulties will lie in the militarism which is a tradition in certain nations; in imperialism; and in the complex of fear, hate and revenge present in all parts of the world, though not as deeply felt in America, the speaker explained.

The League of Nations, while accomplishing some good in humanitarian fields, failed where sanctions were imposed, and one of the great dangers for future peace planners is that they will try to do too much, Mr. Vander Meulen said in stressing the importance of a positive program for the development of "good will and good manners" in the field of international affairs.

Miss Lida Rogers presided at the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. Randall C. Bosch. A brief business meeting preceded the program which opened with a medley of patriotic airs played by Miss Frieda. Grote of Hope college. Miss Laura Boyd conducted the devotional period, and the flag salute was followed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Mrs. J. J. Mikula reported on the successful benefit dance held in the Woman's Literary club last Saturday and which resulted in a substantial increase to the blood plasma fund.

Mrs. Harry Welter of the museum committee asked for additional articles for the chapter exhibit, and Mrs. F. E. De Weese told of the possibility of obtaining a traveling exhibit in the spring. It was also reported that plans to keep the public library open on Sunday afternoons are being developed, Mrs. O. S. Cross of the chapter has been placed on the service center committee, and Miss Rogers is a member of the post-war planning commission.

Refreshments were served by Miss Laura Boyd, Mrs. A. T. Godfrey and Mrs. C. J. Hand.

800 Are Present At Youth Rally

Approximately 800 persons representing 22 societies in the Holland-Zeeland YM and YW societies of the Christian Reformed church, gathered in Central Avenue Christian Reformed church Thursday night for a national youth rally.

A group of piano-organ numbers including "Land of Hope and Glory," "America the Beautiful," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Onward Christian Soldiers," were played by Miss Hazel Anne Oelen, organist, and Clarence Dykema, pianist. The opening prayer was given by the Rev. C. Witt, and a song service was conducted by the Rev. Lawrence Veltkamp. Miss Dena Kuiper was in charge of the devotional period.

Rev. Witt also introduced the speaker, Rev. Nelson Veltman, who addressed the group on "Christ for Today and Tomorrow." Rev. Veltman brought out in his talk that "Christ is changeless, is ever new, is 'up to the minute,' is adaptable to 1943." He also stated that "today youth is pro-ing Christ and finding Him genuine, adequate, and that He satisfies." Rev. Veltman's final point was "Christ for tomorrow will be the same Christ that He is for today. There is nothing new for Christ. No situation is too great for Him."

Messages were read by Mrs. C. Witt (on Miss Johanna Timmer, president of A. F. R. Y. W. S., and by Prof. Clarence De Graaf, from Richard Postma, president of the A. F. R. Y. M. S. A letter was read by Miss Martha Bruinooze from Ensign Bernice Bouwens.

An impressive feature of the program was the "salute to the flag" during which a spotlight played on the waving American flag while Miss Marjorie Brouwer sang "God Bless America."

The closing prayer was given by Rev. Peter Jonker, Jr., and the closing hymn was the "Convey Hymn."

Couple Is Married In Ceremony Here

In a quiet ceremony performed Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Hope church parsonage, Miss Louise Mann, 81 East 16th St., and Edward M. Brolin, 28 West 12th St., were united in marriage by the Rev. Marion de Velder. Attendants were Miss Julia Wiarda of Grand Rapids and J. W. Parson of Holland. The couple will be at home after Nov. 15 at 81 East 16th St.

The bride, whose home is in Oklahoma, attended the La Salle Stenotype university in New York city. She is private secretary to E. P. Landwehr of the Holland Furnace company. Mr. Brolin, who came to Holland from Rockford, Ill., is a graduate of Beloit college, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He studied in art schools of Europe for two years. He is now assistant designer and supervisor at Baker Furniture, Inc.

Yule Trees Will Be Scarce, High

Holland residents probably will have to be satisfied with local varieties of evergreen for their Christmas trees with the announcement that Christmas trees will be a luxury this year, scarce and high in price.

Many local dealers have been getting trees from the upper peninsula for several years, but cannot obtain gasoline this year to make the trips, nor can the tradesmen in the upper peninsula obtain gasoline to bring the trees here. Transportation of trees by rail is discouraged somewhat, since the government does not regard Christmas trees as essential.

Local varieties may be found in the West Olive district, also near South Haven. It is expected that some trees will come from the Cadillac-Baldwin district, although there again transportation will be a problem.

As it seems now, the desired balsam and spruce trees normally received from across the straits just won't be available.

Canada, which with Montana supplies 63 per cent of the United States' Christmas trees, will ship hardly any this year. The Canadian government will not release manpower for cutting the trees, and the wartime burden on railroads precludes the shipment of non-essential commodities.

Officials of the ministry of lands and forests in Quebec province said the number of trees shipped to the United States from the province this year will be barely one third of last year's shipment, when 950,000 trees were exported.

In Minnesota, Montana, Wisconsin, Maine and Vermont, the labor shortage will cut production.

Montana, the source of Christmas trees for the west and middle west, will reduce its shipments by about 30 per cent. The U.S. forest service estimated that 1,500,000 Douglas fir trees would be transported from western Montana forests, compared with last year's shipment of 2,138,000. Manufacturers of electrical appliances reported that no Christmas tree lights have been produced since 1942, and the only ones available this year will be from stock carried over.

Speaker Advises WCTU On Problems of Mothers

Dr. William F. Kendrick, an honorary member of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, addressed members of the local unit in their meeting in Trinity church parlors Friday afternoon on "Modern Mothers' Problems." He stated that "the young mother of this day needs our sympathy. Some of her problems are the age old problems of all mothers of all times the world over, and now are added the special problems of our day and age."

It has always been an expensive thing to be a mother, he said. Many homes in America are childless today because people do not care to pay the price it costs to be parents—a great deal of sacrifice, a loss of time and comfort.

Each child is a problem in itself, and it must be taken into account that it is his first trip in life and he has not traveled the road before. The parent must teach the child to take responsibility, to stand alone. Parents must supply his needs, physically, mentally and spiritually.

Drawing a contrast between his own boyhood days and the present with the changes brought by the automobile, the speaker deplored the fact that the present liquor control system has done nothing to safeguard the youth of the country.

The problems of the mother are to refrain from the seven cardinal sins committed so frequently in the raising of children: lack of understanding the budding curiosity of the growing child; neglect of study of the individualism of each child; robbing the child of imagination; neglect of watching the different stages of development; nagging; exploitation of the child; and lying.

"To be a mother, a parent, is a sacred trust given of God. We must be willing to pay the price in making home a pleasant place, to teach children that the things they have received are from God, to set a good example against the sins of the day, to build religion, to honor the Sabbath as God's day. The children of such a home will grow to strong Christian manhood and womanhood," Dr. Kendrick declared.

Mrs. Carl Dressel presided at the meeting and Mrs. Ellen Ruisard was devotional leader, using the theme, "A Prayer of Thanksgiving for Home and Country."

Mrs. C. M. Beethuis sang "The Refiner's Gold," and "Jesus Whispers Peace," accompanied by Mrs. Dick Van Der Meer.

Mrs. Carl Dressel was hostess assisted by Mrs. F. Dyke, Mrs. N. Wassenaar, and Mrs. M. De Boer.

Mrs. Carrie Bassett fell Sunday afternoon and both bones of her left forearm were broken near the wrist. She had been sitting on the davenport and when she rose she tripped over a rug. She has been in bed and appears to be recovering from the shock. Miss Esther Palm is caring for her in the home.

Mrs. Bertha Howland has returned to her home from Community hospital in Douglas where she recently submitted to an operation. She is convalescing nicely and is up and about the house a part of the time.

Miss Marjorie Kluck a cadet nurse at Butterworth hospital was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kluck, last Sunday. She is a member of a freshman class of about 30 which she says is the largest in several years.

At the meeting of the WSCS Thursday, Nov. 4, at the home of Mrs. C. L. Hukill, it was voted to hold only one meeting a month. This year's plans had been completed for two each month. A shower of canned fruits, vegetables, jams, jellies and juices was brought as a gift for the Rev. and Mrs. O. W. Carr. Mrs. Carr having been taken ill in July, she has been unable to do anything since. There were a number of packages in addition to the beautiful.

Serving Under the Stars and Stripes

Tech. Corp. Richard Groenewoud was inducted into the armed forces Nov. 4, 1942, at Camp Custer. He was transferred to Fort Benning, Ga., and then to Fort Knox, Ky., for six weeks training. He is now stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga. He was home on a two week furlough the first part of October.

Dr. Margaret W. Koenig of Omaha, Neb., who has traveled extensively, taking pictures of the interesting persons and places she has seen, presented her lecture on "Shrines," and showed her beautiful kodachrome slides before members of the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon.

Among the slides were many pictures of Indian churches in Arizona and New Mexico and the colorful Indian "passion play" at Easter time, characteristic of the intense religious devotion of the Indians of the southwest United States. Other shrines pictured were in Alaska, California, Utah, Idaho and the middle west.

Mrs. John Dethmers presided at the meeting, and Mrs. William Winter extended an invitation to the annual Red Cross banquet to be held Monday night in Hope church.

Next week the club will hear Philip Hanson Hiss on "When Peace Comes to the East Indies," a program arranged in conjunction with the Netherlands Museum committee.

Mission Board Officer Addresses Local Group

A group of 55 women, representing the leadership of missionary societies of the Reformed churches and the missionary union of the classis of Holland, gathered at the home of Mrs. G. E. Kollen, 90 East 13th St., Friday afternoon to hear from Miss Helen Brickman, general secretary of the Women's Board of Domestic Missions, about the latest developments in the religious life of America.

Miss Brickman posited that the home mission program is a present day imperative, since all people are looking to America to bring to the world ideals of Christian living and democracy. She stated that the peace of the world is being written here and now in the attitude being taken to the minority groups within United States borders.

The secretary, who has her finger on the pulse of events because of her position in the Reformed church and her membership on many inter-denominational committees, said that there were 15 projects being worked out by her board. Of these she elaborated on six; namely, the importance of spiritual life; the emergence of American Indians from wardship of the government; the big program for the mountaineers of the south, whose industries have been found 75 per cent unfit because of malnutrition and illiteracy; the Negro groups demanding equal rights; the 30,000,000 people having migrated to congested defense work areas; the Nisei and other Orientals needing sympathetic understanding in their relocation centers.

The appeal made by the speaker for more prayer and interest in these problems was coupled with a warning that the white race can no longer be called dominant in influence in the world community.

Of 63,000,000 babies born each year, only one in four is white, and the other races are waking to rights and privileges never before experienced, said Miss Brickman in closing.

Problems connected with administration of mission organizations were discussed in the informal period following the address. Miss Laura Boyd introduced the speaker and presided at the discussion period. Mrs. John R. Mulder and Mrs. Wynand Wichers were seated at the tea table. Assisting Mrs. Kollen in arrangements for the meeting were Miss Hanna G. Hoekje, Mrs. Henry Hospers, Mrs. G. H. Dubbink and Mrs. Wichers.

Book Review Given At Harrington PTA

At the November meeting of the Harrington school P. T. A. Friday afternoon which was in the form of a Mother's tea, Mrs. Harrington presented a review of the book "George Washington Carver."

The background of the story was laid in Missouri in the middle of the nineteenth century. Mrs. Harrington put special emphasis on Carver's early life and in a very interesting manner brought out the influence of the experiences of these formative years on his great achievements. As a colored orphan, George Carver suffered greatly and upon his realization of existing conditions was determined to help the Negro of the south to use his land to its best advantage.

Mrs. Harrington also told of Carver's many cultural accomplishments in music and art.

Music for the afternoon was several Negro spirituals sung by a girl's quartet consisting of Judy Krenemeyer, Mary Van Raalte, Isla Mae Teusink and Dorothy Ten Brink, accompanied by Mary Milowski.

During the social hour refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed table. The committee in charge included Mrs. John Van Putten, Mrs. Fred Weiss, Mrs. James Cook and Mrs. Martin Ten Brink.

There are an estimated 1,584,000 miles of surfaced streets and highways in the U. S.

Decker Chevrolet Local VSL Agent

The Decker Chevrolet Co., 221 River Ave., is the local agent for the Victory Service League, recently organized by William E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor division, as a means of preventing a general bog down of America's motor vehicular transportation system.

The purpose of the league is to keep the wheels that transport civilians to their war jobs and the wheels that carry goods to their "war jobs" rolling. Many prominent citizens all over America have joined the V. S. L., and in so doing, have promised to do their part in "conserving and helping to conserve."

Jack Decker, manager of the Decker Chevrolet, as a General Motors dealer, is authorized to take applications for enrollment in the league. He presents applicants with an enrollment card outlining the purpose and principles of the league. After signing this, the new member is presented with a windshield insignia and a member's handbook which is the "know how to do it" for every person helping to keep America's automotive system mobile on the home front.

"Since no new cars and trucks are being made," Mr. Decker stated, "it is of the utmost importance to keep the cars, the trucks, the ambulances, the police cars and the fire trucks we now have in running condition, and it is for this purpose, to better understand what motor vehicular transportation means to our war effort and to our domestic economy, that I urge every Holland citizen interested in car conservation to join the league."

Muskegon Heights upset the Muskegon apple cart Saturday afternoon when it turned in the biggest upset in the Southwestern conference for the 1943 season by a 6-0 win over the Muskegon Reds, who were highly favored to win the game and put the conference into a two-way tie for the championship.

But as it is now, Benton Harbor is left in sole possession of the throne by virtue of the Heights win and Muskegon must be content with a second place berth with only a half-game advantage over Kalamazoo Central.

May Destroy Ration Books

The rationing board announced today that persons may destroy ration books 1 and 2 if they are through with them. Stamp 18 for shoes is still good in book 1 and blue stamps X, Y and Z will be good in book 2 through Saturday, but most persons have used these stamps. Stamps 19 and 20 in book 1 for coffee have no value, rationing officials said.

According to a new regulation, finders of lost ration books may drop the books into the mail box without prepaid postage and without enclosing them in an envelope. On payment of a five-cent due charge, the post office will return the lost books to the person whose name appears on the cover.

All gasoline ration coupons must be endorsed on the face as soon as ration books are received, the OPA points out, adding that it is a violation of rationing regulations to have unendorsed gasoline coupons in possession. The license number and state of registration must be written on the face of each coupon.

The OPA also called attention to the fact that retail grocers may not extend credit for points as there is no such thing as a "point charge account." If the person orders by telephone, the delivery boy must collect the points at the time of the delivery.

Ration book holders also were advised to write down serial numbers of war ration books and keep them in a safe place as a precaution in case the books are lost.

News of California Wedding is Received

Local relatives have been informed of the marriage of Miss Virginia Fern Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bell, Covina, Calif., and Cadet Thaddeus Sterling Hadden, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Hadden, also of California. The ceremony took place Sept. 18 in Covina.

The bride is a graduate of Covina High school and of the University of Missouri, where she received her degree in journalism. She is a member of Kappa Gamma sorority and Gamma Alpha Chi, national fraternity for advertising women.

The groom, who is stationed at Santa Ana air base, received his bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Missouri. His fraternity is Pi Kappa Alpha and he holds the Blue Key.

Cadet Hadden, Jr., is a grandson of Mrs. John Jekel, 74 West Ninth St., and Mrs. Harriet Hadden, 300 West 11th St. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Jekel, 177 East 10th St.

George S. Brown, 84, 18 East Ninth St., died early on Tuesday in Holland hospital where he had been confined for the past two weeks. He had been ill since last August.

He was born Jan. 9, 1857, in Crofton, England, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Brown. He was retired but was associated with the Alfred J. Brown Seed Co., in Grand Rapids, and was a member of Park Congregational church, Grand Rapids. He is survived by the widow.

Mrs. Poppen Will Meet Husband in New York

Mrs. Henry A. Poppen of Holland said today she plans to leave Dec. 1 to meet her husband in New York the following day. Dr. Poppen together with the Rev. H. M. Veenschoten of Detroit, formerly of Holland, Miss Jeanette Veltman of Grand Rapids and two women of New York state constitute the Reformed church mission group traveling on the exchange liner Gripsholm. Mrs. Poppen will be accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Herman Beuker of Marshall and Mrs. Van Syckle of Grandville, the latter a sister of Miss Veltman. Mrs. Veenschoten will join the group in Detroit.

The state department has announced that relatives and friends of the 1,300 repatriated Americans will be barred from the pier when the Swedish Liner Gripsholm docks with them on the Jersey side of the Hudson Dec. 2.

The department explained that for security reasons, only representatives of appropriate agencies such as the American Red Cross, will be permitted on the dock.

Michigan Hotels Stress Service

The hotel men of Michigan are going ahead and even under the most difficult conditions affecting help and material supplies are endeavoring to maintain the service for which Michigan hotels are noted, according to C. S. Walz, Jr., member of the public relations committee of the Michigan Hotel association and manager of the Warm Friend tavern.

"In the matter of food rationing," he said, "our chef has developed and is continuing to develop new ways to cooperate in the use of rationed foods. Even more important, he is concentrating on ways and means of making non-rationed foods tastier and is finding a variety of new ways in which they may be served."

"In a purely voluntary move, members of our association have agreed to have a meatless day, every Tuesday, including meals we eat ourselves. We are following the same principle in restricted use of coffee and sugar and every other scarce commodity."

"One of the chief problems faced by hotels, apart from food and material needs, is the change in our personnel. But we are going after this with vigor by training women and older men. 'Of course there are some employees who cannot be replaced except by others who have special skill or years of experience. But, wherever we are able to, we have replaced young, able-bodied men with women or men untrained for service or war production.'

"Without intending to pat our industry on the back too much, I think I can safely say that the hotel industry, despite its own difficulties, continues to play a large part in all community war drives."
