Wooden Lake Boat Set For Regular Run Here

Home Accidents Kill More Hunters Than Field Trips

New York, N.Y., Nov. 10 — About twice as many persons are killed by firearm accidents at home than in the acceptedly hazardous sport of hunting, according to a study by statisticians of one insurance company during 1946 and 1947.

Two fifths of the victims of home firearm accidents were children under 15 years, and more than half of the child deaths were caused by children playing with guns.

"The study underscores the caution that it is doubly important to keep firearms locked up if there are children about," the statisticians comment.

Handling, exhibiting, or examining guns in the home by adults or children caused 32 deaths and the cleaning of guns was responsible for an additional 19 deaths. Playfully pointing "unloaded" guns and scuffling for guns added to the toll. Other persons were killed when they brushed against or moved loaded guns which had been stored behind doors of closets, behind beds, or elsewhere in the house.

Hunting accounted for 64 deaths and of this number somewhat less than one third accidentally shot themselves and more than two thirds were fatally wounded by others—some when they were mistaken for game, or when they crossed into the line of fire, and others when the guns of their companions were accidentally discharged.

"Incredibly, five lives were lost by individuals playing or demonstrating 'Russian roulette,' in which the cylinder of a revolver containing but one cartridge is spun around, and the participant points the gun at his own head and pulls the trigger on the gamble that the firing pin will strike an empty chamber," the statisticians report.

"It is clearly indicated that firearms are a serious hazard, both indoors and out," conclude the statisticians, "and that the annual toll of 2,500 lives in the general population of the United States from firearm accidents can be greatly reduced."

Lions Hear About Holland Station

Willard C. Wichers and Millard Westrate, members of the board of the local radio station, addressed members of the Lions club at the regular noon meeting Tuesday in the Warm Friend Tavern. They reviewed the history of the station and the difficulties which had to be surmounted before a station suitable to this vicinity could be established.

Recordings of several members of the club were played.

President, Russell Vander Poel presided. The program was in charge of Dr. J. A. Lubbers. Announcement was made of the International President's banquet to be held Wednesday night at Saugatuck.

Car, Truck Burn, Livestock Loosed In Weird Accident

Telephone Lines Burn North of City Limits After Freak Crash

One man was slightly injured. A car was gutted by fire and a semi trailer was partially burned. Telephone communications north from Holland were put out of order. Twelve head of cattle and two hogs are still roaming loose north of Holland.

This weird chain of events was set off at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday on US-31 two miles north of the city limits. A truck, loaded with livestock, driven by Leo H. Smith of Aurora, Ill., came upon a car driven by James B. Crews of Muskegon. According to sheriff's officers, the car was going 25 miles per hour and the truck an estimated 45 miles per hour.

The truck started to pass the car and hooked onto the left rear end of the car. The two vehicles became entangled and the truck dragged the car for an estimated 15 to 100 feet. Just before the car snapped loose, it burst into flames. The driver and two passengers, all riding in the front seat, scrambled out the right front door of the flaming car.

The flaming car caught the front end of the truck and the trailer tipped over across the highway. The 13 head of cattle and two hogs escaped to the nearby fields.

Flames, directly under the main telephone lines going north, melted cables and the entire system went out of order.

Driver of the Holland township fire engine which was called to the fires discovered his brakes were faulty and he had to crash into the overturned semi to stop, according to sheriff's officers. Firemen then put out both fires.

L. C. Welch of Muskegon, who was riding in the front seat of the car, was taken to Holland hospital and released after treatment for a broken blood vessel in his left leg. The other passenger in the car, C. L. Bramlett of Muskegon, was uninjured. Smith's wife, Carolyn, was riding in the semi.

Traffic on the blocked highway was held up for two hours by the accident. Officers said while they were directing traffic with flares, a car driven by Benjamin Slater of Grand Haven came along the route and disregarded the officer's signals to stop until he was a few feet from the overturned truck. He was arrested for drunk driving. Officers said they had to jump out of the path of the car which was coming at a high rate of speed.

Slater was arrested on a drunk driving charge and was arraigned in municipal court this morning. He pleaded guilty and was assessed $100 fine and $3.90 costs or must serve 30 days in the county jail.

Deputies Edward Brouwer and Tony Steinfert worked at the scene. One cow which was injured when the semi tipped over and was later found laying in a ditch, had to be killed.

Smith was given a ticket for improper passing.

Crews told officers he had $90 cash in the pocket of a jacket which was burned in the car.

Schubert Club Will Sing Here

The Schubert club of Grand Rapids will present its third concert of the season Friday night at 8:15 p.m. in Hope Memorial chapel. The musicale is being sponsored by Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church Young Men's society.

The chorus of 85 voices will present a varied program including sacred and secular music. Two groups of solos will be sung by Andrew E. Hansson and Richard Haan. Conductor is Frank Goodwin and accompanist is Carl Senema.

The program will include "Serenade" by Schubert, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," a Netherlands folk song, by Kremser, "Laudamus" by Owen-Protheroe and "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte-Dies. The second group will be "Prayer" by Kountz-Holler, "To Thee We Sing" by Tkach, "Thanks Be to Thee by Handel-Lefebvre and "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Howe-Steffe.

The chorus also will sing a Negro spiritual, "Roll Chariot by Cain, a Spanish air, "Juanita" by Ringwald, and two Italian folk songs. The last group will be "To Arms," Maunder, "O Peaceful Calm," Schubert-Goodwin; "Dry Bones," arranged by Gearhart, and "Onward Christian Soldiers," Barling-Gould-Sullivan.

A highlight of the informal breakfast was the presentation of a pair of engraved wooden shoes to Dr. Briggs. Such presentations are traditional when celebrities visit Holland.

Dr. Briggs, who considered today's informal breakfast as something of a "rest" since he was not required to make a speech, said his talks before Lions clubs are always in keeping with the Lions motto, "Liberty, Intelligence—Our Nation's Safety."

In Saugatuck Wednesday night, he said the only way to world peace is to create and foster a spirit of generous consideration among the peoples of the world and study the problems of international relationship.

"If a man and wife cannot live together and love each other enough to get along, and if neighbor bickers with neighbor, how can we expect nations to get along? But if we're imbued with the spirit of generous consideration it becomes contagious and others catch the spirit. This is the only answer to today's No. 1 problem," he said.

To accomplish better understanding, Dr. Briggs suggested forums for full and free discussion of all matters of public interest, with partisan policies and sectarian religious alone excepted.

"There must be no prejudice in such free discussions," he said.

Dr. Briggs said Phillips university is supported by the Christian church, also known as Disciples of Christ. It has a limited enrollment of 1,000 students. He has been president there since February, 1938. Dr. Briggs holds degrees from Central college, Fayette, Mo., University of Missouri, and Columbia university.

Bell Telephone Seeks to Reduce Park Area Rates

Extension of Holland Area and Establishment Of New Rate Requested

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. proposes to offer better types of service at attractive rates to areas, formerly rural in character but now grown into substantial residential developments, in more than 100 of its exchanges, including Holland.

Andrew G. Sall, manager for the company, said the Michigan Bell will file a petition with the Michigan Public Service commission Dec. 15 which proposes:

1. Extension of the Holland base rate area to include the Macatawa park locality area and other territory.

2. Establishment of a new "Lake Michigan Shores" locality rate area here.

The base rate area would be extended to include the following territory in which there are 1,403 telephone users.

Areas of 18 square miles which adjoin the present base rate area boundaries on all sides. These areas are both residential and industrial, having developed with the steady expansion of the Holland community. They now contain several large factories, among which are the Chris-Craft Corp., Holland Furnace Co., Plant 5, Hart and Cooley Manufacturing Co., the Holland Color and Chemical Co., and the Smith Agricultural Chemical Co.

In the territory to be added, the company proposes to eliminate rural service when facilities become available, Sall said. Instead, users would be offered urban-type services. The changes would not increase rates for rural-residence users but would involve somewhat higher charges for business users.

Users of urban-type services in the area would no longer pay exchange-line mileage charges.

There are 225 telephone users in the proposed new locality area which comprises 475 square miles adjoining the proposed base rate area additions on the west and extending north and south along Lake Michigan. There are concentrated developments of well-built cottages and year-round homes occur at several locations along the beach.

In that area, exchange-line mileage charges would be eliminated on urban-types of service, resulting in savings of $3 a month on the average, Sall said. Rural line service would not be affected.

De Koster Asks Better Financial School Support

Expansion Program Necessary, President Of School Board Says

By C. J. De Koster

Webster defines the word adequate as "equal to or sufficient for some (specific) requirement." Considering this subject in the light of the general theme, "Strengthening the Foundations of Freedom" during National Education Week, I would say the Holland public schools are not receiving adequate financial support.

Funds from state aid and local taxes have made it possible to conduct the affairs of our school system and increase salaries of all teachers and employees. Advancement has been made but there is still room for improvement.

The Board of Education faces an expansion program which under present conditions is impossible of accomplishment, though definitely necessary, as state aid and local school taxes cannot be used for building or enlarging buildings to any great extent.

The heavy enrollment at the Longfellow and Van Raalte schools makes it necessary to enlarge both of these buildings soon.

The problem of providing adequate finances is, with us; the needs of the school system are present—what shall we do about it? The boys and girls of Holland look to you, the citizens of our city, to provide them with the best schools and the best training that it is possible to give them.

The only possible source of adequate finances is through taxation. No matter whether it is by additional state aid or local taxation it is the taxpayer who pays.

Strengthen the foundations of our public school system by giving serious thought to providing adequate finances.

Book Review Is Heard by Club

An artistic and dramatic presentation of the new book, "Cry the Beloved Country" by Alan Paton, was given before the Woman's Literary club Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Bastian Kruthof, recording secretary. Mrs. Kruthof's original and effective method of presentation made real the social problem on which the novel is based.

Mrs. Kruthof stated she believes it to be one of the most significant novels on the race problem to appear in 1948. It is an indictment of a system against a background of South Africa. The reviewer brought out the beauty as well as the sadness of the story, closing with an appeal for tolerance, love, charity and brotherhood.

Mrs. John K. Winter presided, emphasizing the significance of National Education week.

Announcement was made of next week's program which will be a dessert tea honoring new members followed by an "Operetta in Miniature" by Olive O'Neill. The philanthropy committee will receive donations.

Holland Lions Meet International Chief

Dr. Eugene F. Briggs of Enid, Okla., president of Lions International, met with local Lion leaders at breakfast this morning in the Warm Friend Tavern in a hastily planned event sandwiched between an appearance last night before the Saugatuck-Douglas Lions club and before the Muskegon club this noon. Tonight he will speak in Traverse City.

Dr. Briggs, president of Phillips university at Edin, was granted a year's leave of absence to tour the country to appear before most of the 7,000 Lions clubs representing 365,000 members.

In his Michigan appearances, he is accompanied by K. J. Folkertsma, district governor, and Karl Sorrick of Jackson, past international president. Heading the local Lions delegation this morning was Russell Vander Poel, local president.

A highlight of the informal breakfast was the presentation of a pair of engraved wooden shoes to Dr. Briggs. Such presentations are traditional when celebrities visit Holland.

Dr. Briggs, who considered today's informal breakfast as something of a "rest" since he was not required to make a speech, said his talks before Lions clubs are always in keeping with the Lions motto, "Liberty, Intelligence—Our Nation's Safety."

This is how the northern approach to Holland used to look. This picture of the old Grand Haven bridge was taken about 50 years ago by Henry Steketee, amateur photographer. He said it was the second built since Holland was founded. It was torn down some 20 years ago to make way for the present modern bridge which spans Black river at that point.

City Remembers On Armistice Day

Holland joined the rest of America in a moment of silent tribute at 11 a.m. today commemorating the close of World War I, 30 years ago.

But for many, the shadows of a more recent war, World War II, evoked a greater challenge to individual responsibility in achieving world peace.

In Washington, D.C., America again honored the unknown soldier, the man who symbolizes World War I's 130,000 dead, an unknown soldier, who was laid to rest in Arlington National cemetery 27 years ago. Washington now awaits selection of unknown hero No. 2 who will symbolize the 310,000 dead of World War II. (See story on page 8.)

Indicative of Armistice Day observance in Holland was the public program in Holland high school this morning attended by patriotic organizations of the city. In the main address, the Rev. J. Kenneth Hoffmaster of First Methodist church said the new world must possess four fundamental characteristics.

"There must be sufficient bread for all, there must be great beliefs, there must be beauty, and the new world must be a brotherhood," he said.

He pointed to a recent UN report which said the major problem that faces the world is food, so that the children of this generation can grow up. "But men do not live by bread alone. There is a great hungering in the human heart for beauty—the abiding beauty that comes from within, the beauty of holiness."

He said it makes a great deal of difference what a man believes and pointed to the negative philosophies of Nazism which glorified such things as youth dueling associations. "Let us really believe in democracy with all our heart, and mind and soul. Let's have the mind of Christ in all our doings."

He added the new world must be a brotherhood. "Mankind cannot exist in hatred and distrust. God has lifted this nation to a place of unparalleled leadership. May we not grow weary with well-doing, and not only pray, but work for the day of Peace."

At an assembly program in Christian high school, Atty. Gerald J. Van Wyke reviewed the work of the World War I peace council which failed and discussed UN plans now in progress, but said the real solution lies in the decision of individual Christian citizens who must decide in the end what is right and what is wrong. He concluded with a plea for young people to demonstrate these important decisions by starting in their own communities.

Gerrit Keuning served as chairman. Dr. Bert P. Bog read from Jeremiah 14 and spoke briefly. Howard Slenk sang "Recession" by de Koven. Patriotic songs were sung and the flag salute was given. The assembly was sponsored by the Assembly Program committee of the high school faculty.

Judge Cross Explains Property Restrictions

Orien S. Cross traced origins of the "restrictive" clauses in real estate transfers, in a paper presented before the Social Progress club Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Vischer.

Cross explained that courts in Michigan as early as 1885 found that restrictions on the use of real property were a valid part of the contract covering the sale of such property. He said that many deeds to Holland property carry the stipulation that selling of intoxicating liquor from the property will be forever void. Other property bans dancing, and some deeds bar "hazards."

The courts have found that such restrictions are permissible so long as they are "reasonable, not illegal and not against public policy," Cross said. He then traced a case in which a Negro family was barred from occupying property they had purchased in Detroit because of a "restrictive" clause in deeds to the property. The Michigan supreme court held that the clause was valid, but the United States Supreme Court reversed the decision on grounds such clauses violate the Constitution.

Irwin J. Lubbers was master critic. Richard C. Oudersluys, president, conducted the session, and announced the next paper would be presented by J. Harvey Kleinhekel on Nov. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kromann. Bruce Van Leuwen was a guest.

Mrs. Vischer, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Riemersma served apple pie, cheese and coffee.

Local Business Leaders to Visit Schools on Dec. 1

Board of Education, Chamber of Commerce Co-operate in Venture

Initial plans for representatives of business and industry in Holland to visit public schools Dec. 1 were announced by Supt. Carroll C. Crawford at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education Monday night.

Present plans call for business and industrial representatives to visit the schools in the afternoon with roundtable discussions from 4 to 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner in the school cafeteria and more round table discussions.

The Chamber of Commerce is co-operating in the venture and will send invitations to the places which teachers visited in 1947. About 50 representatives from business and industry are expected. About 20 teachers will join the businessmen at dinner, and participate in the discussions.

The board voted to table until next month possibilities that the school might present programs on Holland's new radio station. The preliminary study was made by Ruby Calvert, speech teacher, and her committee.

The board acknowledged the presentation of a new 1948 car from Maycroft and McEachron for use during the coming year in the drivers' training course. The arrangement was made in co-operation with the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The board also acknowledged the Sentinel advertisement of the Holland Association of Real Estate agents which advocated the passage of proposal 5, the same stand promoted by the educators. It was pointed out this stand was in opposition to that of the state real estate association.

An opinion received from the State Department of Public Instruction regarding funds from the sales tax and state aid was referred to the Ways and Means committee. The opinion said specifically that "it is legal to transfer all of the sales tax diversion monies and up to 17 per cent of the state aid monies to a building and site sinking fund. The Board of Education of a third class city has a legal right to transfer these monies without the consenting vote of the electorate."

Supt. Crawford also called attention to rigid standards set forth by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of which Holland high school has been a member for 40 years. Membership means Holland high graduates may attend member colleges without entrance examinations and means they will be accepted with the school's recommendation.

Crawford also reported that certain changes are being made in installing French windows at fire escapes at Longfellow, Van Raalte and Holland high schools along with panic bars at the installations. He also said the coal room at Froebel is required to be plastered. He added that fluorescent light fixtures are being installed at Longfellow school.

The board granted permission to the Gideons to distribute Testaments to fifth and sixth graders in elementary schools who desire them. The request came from Fred Beewicks.

Claims and accounts totaled $54,971.26 of which $29,890.15 went for teachers' salaries.

All trustees were present with the exception of Harry Wieskamp. President C. J. De Koster presided and Trustee Vernon D. Ten Cate gave the invocation.

Brothers Held in Jail After Store Break-in Grand Haven, Nov. 11 (Special)—Jerry John Olsen, 27, Aurora, Ill., and his brother, Ray Olsen, 37, route 2, Spring Lake, were arraigned in Justice George V. Hoffert's court Monday afternoon on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time.

Jerry waived examination and was bound over to the Circuit Court to appear Nov. 15 at 10 a.m.

Raymond demanded examination, which was set for Nov. 16.

Neither was able to furnish $2,000 bond and they are being held in the Ottawa county jail.

The pair is alleged to have entered the Van Tol Hardware store on North Seventh St. about 11:30 p.m. Friday and taken a number of shotguns, which were still packed in cartons.

City police apprehended both Friday night, one in an alley back of the store, and the other in a near-by tavern.

Slippery Field, Extra Point Boot Beat Holland High

Ron Appledorn Kicks 97-Yard Punt in Game At Benton Harbor

Benton Harbor slipped past Holland 7-6 Friday night at slippery, muddy Filstrup field in Benton Harbor. The Dutch offense, always late in getting started, was stopped in the second half, not by Benton Harbor, but by a deluge of rain which swamped the already soggy field.

Holland, after a dismal first period, came to life and looked like the team that swamped Creston, Central and outplayed Catholic earlier this season. The local offense "clicked" in the second period to stab over a touchdown while the defense stopped the high-geared Benton Harbor Tiger offense cold.

The Tigers scored after Martorano intercepted Kemper's pass on Holland's 25 and ran the ball down to the local's 14 before he was hauled down. Martorano crashed center and went to the four-yard line as the first quarter ended. On the first play of the second quarter three men handled the ball on a buck lateral and Butgereit skirted his right end to score standing up. The all-important extra point boot split the up-rights.

Midway in the same period, Ron Appledorn took a Tiger punt on his own 20 and ran the ball back to his 27-yard line. The Dutch passed and ran the ball to their own 46-yard line.

Kemper faded and flipped a flat pass to Appledorn who tucked the ball under his arm on the Tiger's 47 and dogged his way through the entire Benton Harbor team to score standing up. It was the fleet-footed Appledorn's skipping pace that pulled him away from would-be tacklers along the route. He side-stepped his way without benefit of blockers.

The locals had two chances at the extra point after Benton Harbor was caught offside on the first try. A flat pass from Kemper to Appledorn fell incomplete for the first try and on the second, Appledorn attempted to smash off right tackle but was stopped by the entire left side of the Tiger line.

The half ended a few plays later with the score 7-6.

On the third play of the fourth quarter, Benton Harbor scored on a pass play from Fox to Mucia but the ball was called back when the officials said the Tiger's backfield was in motion. Two more tries at the score and the ball went over to Holland on its own 12-yard line.

Then came the most spectacular play of the game. Along with the play came a blinding, blowing rain which swamped both spectators and players.

Appledorn went back to his own end zone in punt formation. The ball was snapped and with the rain pelting at his back along with a strong wind, the local back booted the ball. The soggy pigskin soared high and far and landed on the Tiger's 48-yard line before it started to roll. It finally stopped dead on the Harborters' three-yard line for a 97-yard kick.

The remainder of the game was played in a driving rain with neither team able to pierce the other's defense for much yardage.

Holland pulled a remarkable play in the final period, considering the rain and slippery pigskin. The locals lined up on their own 46. Kemper faded and tossed a perfect strike to Tom Hildebrand who was undetected on the sidelines. Hildebrand caught the sleeper pass and went all the way to the Tiger's 23 before he was downed.

The game ended after Mucia intercepted Appledorn's pass on the Tiger's 14.

10-Point Deer Killed After Leap In Path of Car

It cost Don Lindenmuth, president of Holland Printing Co., several bucks to get one buck.

A 10-point buck leaped out of some bushes alongside M-40, six miles south of Hamilton Saturday night, and landed on the highway in front of Lindenmuth's car.

Unable to stop, he crashed into the deer. The impact knocked the deer beneath the car and he was later killed after receiving four broken legs. The car was demolished in the front end, including grill, hood, bumper and one fender. It was towed to Holland.

No one was injured. Lindenmuth was returning to Holland with a group of five Boy Scouts from troop eight, who had been campers at the Michigan-Navy game in Ann Arbor.

Riding in the car were: Jerry Victor, Ron Green, Duane LaCombe, Paul Rogers and Eddie Bredeberg.

In another accident Saturday, two persons were injured when two cars collided on Seventh St. between Central and College Aves.

The cars were driven by Russell Girard of 740 Butternut Dr., and Henry Lee Bonzeleer of route 6, Frank Girard, 21, of 740 Butternut Dr., who was riding in the first car, received head injuries and Marvin Ryzenka, 40, of Lincoln Ave., who was riding in the other car, received back injuries.

Girard told police he was looking for a parking place and looking behind. He applied the brakes but too late. Bonzeleer said he stopped for the car ahead and then the other car hit him.

Girard was given a summons for not having his operator's license on his person and another for driving without due caution.

Sheriff's officers report four cars were involved in an accident one-fourth mile east of Holland on M-21 Sunday at 8 p.m. A car driven by Alvin Van Iwaarden of 204 West 24th St., stopped partially on the highway to pick up some hitch-hikers. Cars driven by Asher Moss and Arend Kremer, both of Grand Rapids stopped behind Van Iwaarden.

A car driven by Henry Glenn Kragt of route 2, crashed into the rear of Kremer's car and knocked it into Moss' car.

No one was injured and all the cars were able to drive away despite the damage. Kragt was given a ticket for following too close.

Hope Loses 9-7; Canes Tie Stars

Loss Dashes Hopes Of Share in MIAA Title for Dutchmen

To clear up any doubt, the Hope-Alma game this week will be played Saturday afternoon at Riverview park. Kick-off is at 2 p.m.

Kalamazoo college's perennial jinx over the Hope college Dutch once again cast its spell Saturday night at the Hornets' Angell field. This time it was Coach Al Vanderbush's football squad that felt its effects. Playing its best contest of the season, the Hornets eleven managed to eke out a 9-7 victory to dash all Dutch hopes of sharing in the MIAA championship.

Only a fourth quarter Kazoo safety stood between the locals and a tie or possible victory Saturday night. With the score knotted at 7-7 after a first quarter scoring flurry, a hard charging Kazoo forward broke through and trapped Jim Pfingst in his own end zone for the two points.

The play was set up after Ernie Piechocki, Kazoo's freshman sensation, punted out of bounds on the Hope two yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, deep in the "coffin corner," Pfingst attempted to skirt his own right end. But Kalamazoo's stubborn line thought otherwise, and completely smothered the Hope back, for two points and the margin of victory.

It looked like a Hope runaway in the first quarter, with the Hollanders completely dominating the play in the early stages of the ball game. After an exchange of punts in the first five minutes of the tilt, speedy Ted Barrett, executed his own version of a touchdown run when he raced 79 yards down the sidelines for a score. Beautiful downfield blocking paved the way for the sophomore flash on his first running attempt. Barrett was trapped several times behind the line of scrimmage, before breaking out into the clear. Holwerda's kick from placement was good, making the count 7-0. Hope was on the march.

Kalamazoo didn't give up that easy. Less than three minutes after taking the Dutch kickoff following the score, the Hornets exploded with a TD. After moving the ball from their own 17 to the 47, crippled Gene Flowers dropped back and passed to Ed Poth, who was standing on the Hope 43. Poth then displaced some beautiful running, and sidestepped his way into "pay dirt." Con Hin's kick was good, tying up the tussle at 7-7.

Both lines played valiantly in the second quarter, with each sparking a touchdown drive. Hope, sparked by Pfingst's 27 yard sprint moved to the Kazoo nine before it was stalled. The Hornets late in the period, registered several first downs to take the ball to the Hope two yard stripe, before the Dutch line held.

Piechocki's sensational kicking constantly kept the Hollanders in trouble. Hope gambled twice on fourth down in Kazoo territory, but lost on both occasions. The contest ended with the ball in Hope's possession on their own 45 yard stripe.

Irony of the defeat as far as Hope was concerned was the fact that Flowers, who has been sidelined with an injury all season, threw his only long pass of the year for a score. Claus Holtrop and Barrett stood out in the Dutch backfield, in spite of the fact the Hope line was being out-charged.

Alma Scots Assured of Share In MIAA Conference Standings

Alma college was certain today of at least a tie for first place in the MIAA conference and Western Michigan's hopes of a Mid-American title still glimmered faintly as the majority of Michigan's colleges headed for their last week-end of football.

Only twice-defeated Hope stood in Alma's way as the Scots stayed on the undefeated list with a 25-7 win over Adrian.

Hope's 9-7 loss to Kalamazoo put the Hornets in undisputed second place and sent Hope into a 2-2 tie with Hillsdale a notch lower.

The State's two big-time teams, Michigan and Michigan State, won easily. The Wolverines stopped Navy, 35 to 0, and the Spartans beat Marquette, 47 to 0.

Western Michigan lightened its hold on third place in the Mid-American loop by defeating Butler, 20 to 7, and looked to its remaining games with Washington and Ohio university for a possible league title.

Brilliant Local Line Stops All-Star Backs; Marv Van Eck Scores

The Holland Hurricanes toppled the Grand Rapids All-Stars out of first place in the MIFL race Saturday night at Riverview park by battling them to a 6-6 deadlock.

The Canes, although lacking in offensive punch, rose brilliantly on defense to repeatedly stall the highly-touted Grand Rapids offense. The Canes were unable to cash in on several scoring opportunities.

On the other hand, Grand Rapids had an acute case of fumbling, losing the ball 11 times. Holland players pounced on seven of the 11 bobbles.

The first half was a fight between the two defensive lines as neither team was able to punch to pay dirt. However, Grand Rapids fumbled twice, in the opening period and Holland players recovered. The Canes offense on one occasion was able to strike to the All-Star's 12-yard line but had to give the ball up after three passes were incomplete.

Early in the second quarter, Grand Rapids pushed from its own 45-yard stripe to Holland's six-yard line where it was first down and goal to go. The Canes defense stiffened and pushed the All-Stars back to the 14, where Holland took over the ball after four downs.

The half ended with no score. A poor Grand Rapids punt and a 15-yard penalty set up the lone Holland score in the last of the third quarter. A Grand Rapids punt against the strong wind went just nine yards and out of bounds on the All-Star's 39-yard line. Bob Lintzer smashed through a hole in the Grand Rapids line and went to the All-Star's 28. Officials called a 15-yard penalty against Grand Rapids for roughing, which advanced the ball to the All-Star's 11. On the next play, Marvin Van Eck took the ball on an end-around play and skirted the right end to score standing up. Not a Grand Rapids player touched Van Eck.

Vern Vande Water's conversion kick was high and wide of the up-rights.

Early in the fourth period, a Grand Rapids player recovered Colgrove's fumble on Holland's 46-yard line. It was the only Canes fumble during the entire game.

On the first play, Joe Klocko, speedy Grand Rapids back, shot through a hole in the center of the Holland line and zig-zagged his way through the secondary to score standing up. Klocko had taken the ball on a handoff from Chuck Boggiano.

Grand Rapids took too much time planning how it was going to make the extra point and the official paced off five yards and set the ball down on Holland's seven-yard line. Lou Paul tried to go around end but was smeared for a sizeable loss.

The score was deadlocked at 6-6 with six and one-half minutes left in the game. The game ended with both teams battling around the midfield stripe.

Holland's line play was brilliant in stopping the speedy Grand Rapids backs who were considered the best in the league. The Grand Rapids All-Stars made 225 yards rushing while Holland made 122 yards on the ground.

Out-of-staters dumped Detroit's two major schools. Detroit university was upset by Denver, 30 to 27, and Toledo topped Wayne, 27 to 14.

Adrian and Albion had non-conference games left on their schedules, but they ended up their MIAA play at the bottom of the heap. Adrian's loss to Alma gave them a two-and-three season record in the league while Albion lost its fifth straight loop game to Hillsdale, 14 to 7.

Holland Seconds Lose to Tigers

The Benton Harbor Tigers reserve team clawed the Holland high seconds 25-6 Friday afternoon at Filstrup field.

Playing in a steady drizzle, the Harborters scored in the first quarter when they blocked a Holland punt and fell on the pigskin after it rolled over the goal.

In the second period, Benton Harbor scored on a series of plays from Holland's 40-yard line. The Tigers took the ball on the Dutch 40 after a pass interception. Benton Harbor scored on a sustained drive late in the third quarter to make the score 18-0.

The little Dutch rallied early in the third quarter after they blocked a Tiger punt on their own 38. Ron Bekius passed to Bob Armstrong and along with several running plays advanced the ball deep into Tiger territory. Roger Wiersema nabbed a pass and was downed on the Tiger's one-foot line. Ronald Dalman plunged over for the score.

Benton Harbor scored in the final half-minute of play and made the conversion good to win the game 25-6.

Woman Killed in Crash Involving Four Vehicles

National Guard Truck Sideswipes Tanker and Two Cars in the Rain

A Grand Rapids woman was fatally injured in a crash at 7 p.m. Friday on US-31 two miles south of Holland involving a state-owned National Guard truck, a heavy oil tanker and two passenger cars.

Victim was Mrs. Mattie E. Carpenter, 49-year-old wife of James E. Carpenter, of 1042 Northlawn St., Grand Rapids. She died en route to Holland hospital of a broken neck and chest injuries, according to Coroner Gilbert Vande Water.

The accident occurred during the rain when a northbound National Guard truck, driven by C. E. Tullis of Greenville, sideswiped an oil tanker, the Carpenter car and one driven by Yvonne Freehouse, route 6, Holland, all traveling south.

South Haven state police said the truck hit the rear trailer of the tanker, lost control and then crashed into the other two cars. The impact with the tanker was so slight the tanker driver could not have known it and did not stop.

Maynard Carpenter, 24, driving the Carpenter car, told South Haven state police the National Guard truck was about two feet over the center line on the second impact.

Mrs. Minnie Freehouse, route 6, passenger in the last car, was injured slightly. She was released from Holland hospital after treatment.

The National Guard truck and the two cars were badly damaged. Mrs. Carpenter and her husband were riding in the back seat of a car driven by their son, Maynard. Others in the front seat were a daughter, Gladys, and Ernest Hepp of Grand Rapids, a friend of the family. The group was en route to Chicago to spend the week-end with Mrs. Carpenter's sister, Mrs. Esther Adams.

A 14-ton weapons truck, also a state-owned vehicle, was following the National Guard truck. Its driver, Sgt. Anticoff of Greenville, was the only witness listed by investigating officers. South Haven state police were assisted by Deputy Sheriff Ray Priest of Allegan and Coroner Vande Water.

The body was first taken to Dykstra funeral home here and then removed to the Van Strien-Alman mortuary in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Carpenter is survived by the husband; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Roundhaug of Wayne, Mich., and Gladys at home; two sons, James A. Jr., of Grand Rapids and Maynard at home; her mother, Mrs. Bertha Schoolcraft of Petoskey; two sisters, Mrs. Adams of Chicago and Mrs. Ruth Alexander of St. Louis, Mo., and two brothers, Zeno Schoolcraft of Rochester, Mich., and Ernest of California.

World Peace Hinges On Moral Reawakening

Moral reawakening is the only course left to man in his eternal search for world peace, Rep.-Elect Jerry Ford told the annual meeting of the Ottawa county chapter of the American Red Cross Monday night in St. John's Episcopal guild hall in Grand Haven.

"There has been too great a reliance on the city of man and too little on the city of God," Ford said. "Acceptance of the ideals of the Godly state is the only sure and safe way to achieve peace on earth. Since the Red Cross has humanitarian ideals that cut across national boundaries to bind the wounds of men of all races, color and creed, the Red Cross is moving in the direction of world peace."

"It is with regret that I find too few young people in the Red Cross movement, because the veterans of World War II were recipients of the services of the Red Cross," Ford said.

W. A. Butler of Holland, publisher of The Sentinel, was named drive chairman for the 1949 campaign. He is expected to name a chairman for the north part of the county and to select other assistants soon.

Alma Eleven Comes to Holland With Unbeaten Season Record

Hope college plays Alma Saturday afternoon at Riverview park. The game gets underway at 2 p.m. The Dutchmen, although out of the MIAA title picture after the 9-7 drubbing at Kalamazoo last Saturday night, could salvage some gridiron glory for the season by knocking the Scots off their unbeaten record for the season.

This is the final game for both teams. Alma has racked up 78 points against 32 for its opponents so far this season and ranks second best in the league on defense.

Key to the Scots' winning record seems to be a product of Grand Rapids Union-Rex Roseman. He tapered off last week against Adrian by scoring two of the Scot tallies. Roseman was voted the most valuable player at Alma last season and from indications up until this game, he has the tie clinched for the second straight year.

Another back the Dutch will have to contend with is Chuck Saxton who does most of the passing for the Scots. Saxton has con-day evening with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Miedema in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Gerrit F. Berens entered St. Mary's hospital in Grand Rapids Friday afternoon, and submitted to surgery on Saturday morning.

On Sunday, "The Hour of Praise" broadcast will be held in the Beaverdam Reformed church.

The Girls League and the Missionary society are thankful for the excellent gifts and clothing received at their meetings last week. The donations enable the two organizations to pack six boxes to be sent to domestic fields.

The Ladies Aid expects to meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Cy Huyser and Mrs. Jake Hop as hostesses.

The Beaverdam quartet favored the Reformed congregation with special music Sunday evening.

The Adult Bible class held its annual business and social meeting Thursday evening at the chapel. The election of officers resulted as follows: Gerrit F. Berens, president; Cy Huyser, vice president; Mrs. Bob Formosa, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. John Posma, assistant secretary and treasurer. The following program was then presented: the pastor, Rev. H. Rozendal opened with prayer after the singing of hymns; two selections by the Huyser quartet; a reading by Mrs. Henry Van Dam; a women's quartet, Mrs. J. Posma, Mrs. M. T. Bergen, Mrs. Joe Huizenga and Mrs. Peter Klynstra, sang in the Holland language. Miss Barbara Bohl favored the group with two accordion solos, accompanied at the piano by Gerald Huyser, and Dr. H. De Pree of Holland, former missionary to China, gave an inspiring and interesting talk on his work while in China. Gerrit Huyser closed with prayer. A committee served refreshments after the program.

George Hyde of Grand Rapids spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. George Ohlman. Several pupils of the Huyser school spent Friday in Chicago visiting Swifts Packing Co. and the Brookfield zoo. Their chaperones were Mrs. Herbert Schout, Mrs. Chris De Jonge and Mrs. John Kloosterman. At the annual meeting of the congregational church, officers for the board of trustees were chosen as follows: Thomas Gifford, DuMueve, George Hay, Gordon Durham, Henry Jager and J. W. Prentice. The deacons chosen are Robert Waddell, Wallace Williams, Andrew Jager and Wayne Peeks. Jack Tyler is church clerk and Mrs. Roy Van Dragt, treasurer.

Van Putten, second vice president. Retaining their offices for the coming year are Mrs. C. De Vries, secretary; Mrs. B. Kole, treasurer, and Mrs. M. Rypstra, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Machine Shop Is Outgrowth of War Program

The Holland high school machine shop is the outgrowth of the war training program, it was pointed out today by Francis Drake, director of the machine tool department of the school.

The equipment was given to the school by the government after it was determined schools would use such equipment for educational purposes.

Equipment consists of such metal working machines as lathes, shapers, milling machines, drill presses, grinders, welding (both electric arc and oxyacetylene) and the necessary hand tools to supplement the machines.

The shop occupies the first floor of the new annex building on 16th St., with the shop in front and a classroom at the rear. The class room is equipped with a 16mm. sound projector and strip film projector. Because of the modern machinery and a new building, Holland has one of the best equipped machine shops in the state.

The shop is open during the day for high school students above 15 who meet three hours a day, five days a week for 20 weeks. Purpose of this course is to teach the students the principles and techniques of the various operations which can be performed on the different machines. It also acquaints the students with modern methods of machine operation and gives them basic information in metal trades.

In addition to high school classes, there is a class one night a week for GI auto mechanics. Each year the shop is open one night a week for 12 weeks for an adult class.

CALLING ON GOD

When the last election alibi had been polished up for the twentieth time, an Eighth Street philosopher achieved a footnote to the political postmortem that was at least fresh and different.

"Did you notice during the entire campaign," he queried, "that nearly all the candidates used what became almost a conventional pattern for ending their speeches? They were usually not content to tell their audiences that they, and they alone, could save the country. Nor were they content to shoot at their listeners' ears the arguments that had been thought up by their ghost writers. Almost always, in the last paragraph, preferably in the last sentence, they said something like this: 'With God's help we shall go forward on the road to victory.' Or sometimes it was 'God helping me' or 'under God' (which latter was by the way Dewey's favorite phrase) or some other word combination that dragged God in to give a feeling of dignity and seriousness at the close."

Noting a look of mystification on the faces of the little group warming the restaurant chairs, the Eighth Street philosopher continued:

"Don't get me wrong. I'm not saying anything against serious language or against religion. But you will pardon me if I express a doubt that those hard-boiled politicians, in the heat of the campaign, always really felt the dependence on Deity that their words conveyed. In the first place, those phrases were put into their speeches by ghost writers days or perhaps weeks before the words were spoken. Their effect on the simple American voters was carefully calculated in advance. Humility is a political asset, and you can bet your last nickel that the ghost writers and the candidates are aware of this fact."

The Eighth Street philosopher paused for air before the last trimming on his idea. "This political invocation to God came from candidates on all levels, from the very highest to the lowest. At least that is the impression carried out of the campaign. And it was non-partisan; Democrats and Republicans and Progressives and the others were about equally given to it. In some cases you just knew that the candidate had been nominated by a corrupt political machine and was depending on the same machine to elect him. That made no difference; he called on God with uncouthness and solemnity. To me it often sounded like taking the name of God in vain, much more so than in the case of out-and-out swearing."

He took a last sip of coffee. "Maybe you think I'm a nut. O. K., then I'm a nut. I just wanted to get this off my chest."

Sunday School Lesson

Prophecy in the Bible
Amos 5:21-6:6; 7:10-17
By Henry Geering

Judah and Israel maintained their separate national life, with their two capital cities, Jerusalem and Samaria. Neither nation was true to Jehovah. Both yielded to idolatry. Judah was truer to God and fared better, lasting longer before captivity than Israel. God's prophets faithfully visited them and told God's will, denouncing their sins and offering them restoration in case of true repentance. Amos and Hosea were two of these prophets sent particularly to Israel. Amos came from the land of Judah, Hosea from the land of Israel.

Amos was a country lad. He was a son of the soil. He lived close to nature. Though he prophesied in the northern kingdom he lived south of Jerusalem. He made his living chiefly as a shepherd. He was a real thinker. And he had much time for thinking while he was doing his daily tasks. The materials for his convictions were gathered on his journeys to the markets of Samaria and probably Damascus.

While he was a countryman, he kept his keen and busy eyes open when he got to town. Then when he came home and was out in the quiet of the fields he thought up on what he saw. He meditated on the weaknesses and wickedness, the daring follies and the reckless abandon of men and women in the limelight of Israel. He saw behind all this wild and fast life of those in high places of certain processes of national disintegration. This honest and earnest and serious man of the desert cared nothing for the shams of the fast and furious life of the city. He wanted only the simple life that is inspired by high ideals and that keeps close to God.

He saw that they who live only for the gratification of the senses are building highways that lead ultimately to terrible doom. He had his eye on tomorrow and the next day. The men whose measure his serious eyes had taken were thinking only of today. Tomorrow could take care of itself. The shepherd prophet was trembling for the coming tragedies of the avenging future. The city people cared only that they might eat and drink and be merry today. This philosopher-seeer apied the dancing ghosts across the wrecks and the ruined hopes of Israel.

So with his soul burning with righteous indignation and his mind horrified at the utter recklessness of those who should be leading Israel to righteousness and to places of national security and prosperity, this countryman comes to town and lets loose his invectives and fiery denunciations. He spares nobody. He is afraid of nobody. Social prestige and political power and vulgar wealth cannot awe or silence him. With terrible swiftness he calls down woes upon the heads of the mighty. He rebukes them for their sinful and luxurious ease. And he tells them that he is surely coming upon them the nearer they bring the seat of violence. It is strange how we build around about us walls of supposed security, but we see very clearly that others are in imminent danger.

Amos' presence must have been like a bomb in a garden party. We can with ease imagine how the proud social leaders and political chiefs hated this country prophet. They must have asked him why he did not stay at home and mind his own business. Plain preachers who denounce unsparingly the sins of society are never welcome in any age. I imagine that the social set of Samaria never forgave Amos for calling them such unblushing sinners. But one equipment of a prophet was his fearlessness. Another was his consciousness of his being a messenger of God. And so, oblivious of consequences he went to his task.

There is another prophet who was none the less plain and none the less sparing respecting their fast and furious living. Hosea takes these sinners to task also. At times his language is more pitiless and more terrifying. His figure of speech sets forth the sin of Israel in a blazing light. It carries with it tragic implications. In his own suffering heart he felt the suffering of the heart of God over the faithlessness of his people. The ugliness of Israel's infidelity is set forth by this prophet in such a way that every sinner felt the terror of his words.

Volleyballs From Ambush

IT WAS a mite cool at the Hurricane game Saturday night—November weather when one prefers a cup of hot coffee to a coke. And everybody smiled at the incongruous picture one youthful salesman presented as he walked briskly through the stands wearing earmuffs and shouting, "Ice Cold Soft Drinks! Ice Cold Soft Drinks!"

Once the game started, football fans didn't bother much about the weather. Response in cheering the home team was greater than at any previous game, many fans said. Even with a scoreless tie at the end of the half, the attitude was so enthusiastic that all fans agreed they were getting more than their money's worth.

The final 6-6 tie wasn't too much of a disappointment, too, though the Hollanders wished the Hurricane had made the extra point, and the Grand Rapids fans wished their team had converted the extra point.

In the last half when Grand Rapids started going places, one tricky running back gave Holland a lot of anxious moments. He ran in the opposite direction when tacklers got too close. The Holland boys were pretty tired by the time they regained possession of the ball.

The Sentinel news room chooses this pun as the snappiest combination of pure corn and restrained subtlety:

"Did anyone ever die of fallen arches?"
"Sampson."

The intersection of Pine Ave. and 10th St. has been the scene of several accidents throughout the years, but the one that occurred there last Thursday was perhaps the funniest. It happened when a little Crosby ran into the side of a city bus. One witness on the scene said, "They pulled the little ole Crosby out from under the bus and carried it lovingly to the curb." Then he admitted he was exaggerating, but not much.

Now that G. Mennen Williams has been elected governor of Michigan, maybe he'll disclose publicly what the "G" stands for. When he was in Holland a few weeks ago speaking at a luncheon of Democratic leaders, he admitted to his Dutch listeners that the "G" stood for Gerhard. He also said it took a lot of courage to admit he won a Phi Beta Kappa key while at Princeton.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ryzenga, 740 Lincoln Ave., went to the polls last week in a horse and buggy, but this touch had nothing to do with politics since Nelson says he's still wearing his Dewey mustache which he started four years ago on suggestion of a fellow employee at General Motors.

When the Ryzengas neared the polls, they saw a long line, so they decided to return home. They returned later in a car and cast their ballot.

Nelson saw nothing significant in taking his horse to the polls. "I own a horse and it was hitched up, so we went in the buggy," he said.

Inflation has been catching up with Michigan public utilities, and the pocket reached the consumer's pocketbook last week when the telephone bill came in the mail.

The increase was okayed by the Michigan Public Service commission, consisting of three men who serve as referees in behalf of the people to see that consumer and investor alike get a fair deal. This commission has jurisdiction over five general classes of utilities: Electric power, telephone, gas distribution, railroad and motor transportation, such as busses and trucks.

What the commission does is highly important to the people of Michigan. These utilities touch the lives and reach into the pocketbooks of every citizen. Invested capital of Michigan utilities amounts to more than $2,000,000,000. The people pay more than $600,000,000 each year in fees—just about twice what the state of Michigan collects in all forms of taxes.

The Ambusher was among the scores of drivers who visited Ottawa park Sunday to watch the lake rolling ahead of a stiff breeze. There is something satisfying about watching the restless energy of Old Lake Mich.

The time was, an hour or so before dusk and far out on the lake there was flight after flight of ducks headed for winter quarters in warmer climes. Crowning thrill, though, was a ragged V of Canada geese headed southward. The geese were maintaining a true course by flying almost sidwise into the wind.

And accompanying the flock of geese, was a flight of ducks. Faster flying, they cut through, around and wavered in their course, which caused the Mrs. Ambusher to remark that the ducks appeared to be wasting their energy.

The Ambusher never calls attention to the beauties of nature these days without recalling an incident that occurred when newsman interviewed Senator Glen Taylor at Grand Rapids.

He was telling reporters he had a high regard for the gentlemen of the press, although he sometimes could not understand them. One of his friends writes a column he calls "Buzz of the Burg," something on the order of this one. The writer is Nick Ifft, a genial gentleman of considerable journalistic tastes.

"One day Nick discusses the beauties of a sunset and makes you feel good all over. And then the next day he writes a column about 'that idiot, Glen Taylor,' the Senator said, chuckling."

Christian School Plans Open House

In observance of the 28th annual "American Education Week," Holland Christian schools will hold open houses Thursday night, Sept. 10, and Friday night, Sept. 11. The open house will apply to all grades, Bos said.

"In our schools, the observance of this week will be used to increase the interest of the parents in the schools they are maintaining because of a sincere desire to make definite provision for the Christian education of their children, Bos said today.

Parents of high school pupils are invited to visit from 8 to 10 p.m., while parents of grade school students are asked to attend between 7 and 9 p.m., Bos reported. All high school pupils will report in the gym at 8 p.m. before they take their sons' and daughters' places in the individual classrooms. Each teacher will give a short resume of the subject he or she teaches, while the parents will assume the "student" role. A question period also will be held in each classroom. Bos said. A film, "How to Study," will be shown in the gymnasium at specified periods.

In the grade schools, parents are invited to the individual classrooms where they can inspect pupils' desks, neatness and other items.

Following the conferences with the teachers, refreshments will be served in the gymnasium.

Guidance Setup Is Great Asset To HHS Students

Student Retains Same Adviser for Entire Time Spent in School

"Individual Guidance" is the objective of the Holland high school guidance program this year which is under the direction of Malcolm Mackay and his committee members, Maibelle Geiger, Janet Mulder and Rex Chapman. Upon entering the high school, each student is assigned to a teacher who acts as adviser or counselor during the entire time the student spends in high school. The program is arranged so that each student may have an individual conference with his adviser on selections for subjects, as well as advice on other matters.

This year each guidance group meets every Wednesday morning, during which time the students work on their school plans or participate in a panel discussion. At the beginning of the school year, each group picked five topics which they would like to have discussed. The chairman of each group brought these to separate meetings of the 10th, 11th, and 12th grade chairmen and the four most popular ones were picked for use this semester in the discussions.

Two of the topics selected by the tenth grade are: "What majors and minors are necessary for college?" and "Should we have more recreation and a Saturday Night Club?" The juniors wanted to talk about: "The advantages and disadvantages of our present marking system," "How much social life should our school sponsor?" and "How can we make better use of our leisure time?" Senior topics are: "New courses that should be added to the high school curriculum," "What city improvements should we work for?" "Should study periods be compulsory?" and "Should we have dancing in our high school gym?" The secretary of each group is to keep minutes of each discussion and later all of these are to be edited.

An effort is made to have each student feel that he may talk over his problems with his counselor or if special problems, with the dean of girls, or boys' dean. The Holland high school library, under the direction of Mrs. Edward Donovan, is continually working with the guidance department in presenting displays and in making occupational information available.

Last year the student council and the guidance department sponsored "Career and College Day." This year it is planned to enlarge this program and make it a full day's event on April 21.

Hospitalized Vets' Names Requested

The Holland Evening Sentinel still is looking for names of every hospitalized war veteran from the Holland area. A plan has been worked out whereby every veteran will receive news letters regularly, and an occasional gift. So far, only two names have been received.

Once the names of the hospitalized veterans have been obtained together with the addresses, individuals and groups will be enlisted and they will be assigned veterans. They will see that letters are written regularly, news letters from the home town and the veterans remembered in other ways.

The Veterans' administration does not keep a list of hospitalized veterans by counties and so an appeal to relatives and friends is the only way to obtain them. If you have a relative or friend in a veterans' hospital, please send full name and address and age to the Holland Evening Sentinel, attention Veterans' Editor.

Employment Drops In Holland Area, But So Do Claims

Employment dropped about 100 in this area in September, but claims for unemployment compensation benefits also showed an appreciable drop, a survey by Jacob Barendse, branch manager of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission, revealed today.

Reduction in employment was accounted by the reopening of schools and the end of the resort season. Total employment Sept. 15 was approximately 12,300 (3,550 women). Manufacturing, trade and service industries lost 375 workers, while construction increased 50 and the return of teachers accounted for an additional 225 workers.

Withdrawal of students and some women seasonal workers from the labor force caused a reduction of 200 (100 women) in unemployment.

Approximately 500 persons (300 women) were unemployed in mid-September. In the week ending Sept. 18, a total of 258 claims (58 for servicemen's readjustment allowances) were filed compared with 372 (86 SRA, in the week of Aug. 21).

Labor requirements, as estimated by employers in the area, call for 175 (40 women) more workers by Nov. 15. About two-thirds of the anticipated labor needs are in manufacturing. Furniture factories and fabricated metal plants need most of the additional workers.

A total of 111 jobs opening (28 for women) were listed by employers in the MUCC branch office at the end of September. Of these, 59 were in factories, 27 in trade outlets, 20 in construction and three in service industries. Approximately 216 workers (70 women) were seeking jobs through the local office in September. Upon completion of seasonal canning, agricultural and construction work, the number of workers will probably be reduced considerably.

During September 1,350 persons visited the Holland MUCC branch office, seeing various commission services. Of 355 persons referred to job openings, 274 were hired (180 in agriculture).

Chest Campaign $1,500 Over Top

Holland's 1948 Community Chest drive has gone over the top by more than $1,500. Campaign Chairman Peter Kromann announced Saturday.

Final tallies in the annual charity campaign which promotes a "single asking once a year" list a total of $28,073.22 or $1,523.22 over the assigned quota of $26,550.

In winding up a drive which was extended a few days past the original limit, Kromann expressed his heartfelt appreciation for the hard work done by hundreds of civic-minded volunteers. He also spoke for the Community Chest board of directors in thanking the thousands of donors.

"It is most gratifying to know there are so many people in Holland who understand the needs of other people and contribute out of generous hearts," he said.

He emphasized again the aim of the Community Chest in which people do not give to the Chest but "through" the Chest to other people.

This year's seal features a small blond-haired boy in red flannel pajamas, sitting on the floor, hands clasped around his knees and gazing into a blazing fireplace over which hang three empty stockings.

Barry Bart of South Kent, Conn., well known American artist and illustrator, painted the picture after he had watched his young nephew hurry silently downstairs one Christmas Eve and set up his vigil near the fireplace.

"Every Michigan citizen helps in the effort to lower this toll of needless death through the purchase of Christmas Seals and thereby improves his own protection," Werle said.

Zeeland, Nov. 11—Five-year-old Catherine Rademaker is the happiest little girl in Zeeland.

Last February for her birthday, she received a big doll in Dutch costume from her grandparents in the Netherlands.

And now she has not only the doll but a Dutch costume of her own and a new grandfather and grandmother who brought the costume all the way from the Netherlands.

Catherine treasures her doll and her new costume and thinks her grandparents are just about the best in the world. And they think she's pretty nice too.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hendrick Rademaker, arrived here last week from their home in Hansevelt, Zeeland, the Netherlands, to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rademaker 134 East Washington St.

Because of technicalities in the law, the Hendrick Rademakers could not bring their 17-year-old son, Johan, with them. The couple was allowed to come to this country on invitation of their son, Henry, but they must be established before they may send for the other son. This establishment was accomplished quickly and already proper papers are in Washington to admit Johan to this country. He is expected in January, or before.

The Rademakers have only the two sons, but Mrs. Rademaker has a sister, Mrs. Martin Boersma of Holland, and two brothers, Leonard Ribbens of Holland and Herbert Ribbens of West Olive, whom she had not seen for 25 years.

The couple's arrival here marked the first time they had seen their son, Henry, in nine years. Likewise it was the first time they saw their grandchildren, Cathy, 5; Henry, 2, and Gloria, 18 months. The couple was met in Grand Rapids last Thursday by their son and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Boersma. That night a family party was held with the Ribbens families joining.

Rademaker, a former tug boat agent who arranged for tugs to pull vessels off sand bars, found shopping in America particularly interesting. Like all newcomers, he was amazed at the stocks and supplies and particularly impressed by the fact a person could enter a store and not buy something. Entering a store without making a purchase is considered a breach of etiquette in the Netherlands.

For their first meal in Zeeland, the Rademakers had ham—the first ham they had tasted in years. Cake also was a delicacy since rigid rationing in the Netherlands did not allow butter and sugar for such a purpose.

Congress Probing Hit by Attorney

Julius H. Amberg, former special assistant to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, spoke about congressional investigations before a large group of Kiwanians from Grand Haven and Holland in the Tulip Room of the Warm Friend Tavern Monday night.

Amberg, who represented the Army in congressional inquiries, deplored the abuse of power of Congress in attempting to convict American citizens with proof no court would accept. He asserted "the purpose of these committees, with few exceptions, is to get publicity, equipping hearing rooms with facilities for newscasters, movies and other publicity."

Touching upon recent investigation into high government circles, Amberg said, "Decent men are going to refuse to take jobs with the government if their reputations are going to be blackened."

To correct the abuse of committee investigations he pointed out the need to elect congressmen who are opposed to unfair methods.

Amberg, who is a Grand Rapids attorney, was introduced by Program Chairman Dan Vander Werf.

The Grand Haven delegation of nearly 35 members was headed by President Harvey L. Scholten. Tony Last, president of the Holland club, presided at the interclub meeting. Group singing was led by Gene Chadcock, accompanied by Franklin Van Ry.

Holland Hurricanes Will Travel To Ann Arbor for Saturday Game

The Holland Hurricanes travel to Ann Arbor Saturday where they tangle with the hapless Ann Arbor Bulldogs Saturday night under the arcs.

According to present plans, the Canes will leave Holland via chartered bus Saturday morning at 9 and arrive in Ann Arbor in time to attend the Michigan-Indiana game that afternoon. After the game the team will eat and then get ready for its own game.

Coaches Curley Wiegink and Jay Van Hoven said today that they were highly elated by the Canes' showing against the strong Grand Rapids All-Stars last Saturday night.

The Canes held the All-Stars to a 6-6 deadlock and in so doing, toppled the Furniture City team from their first place tie with Jackson. Meanwhile, Holland, by virtue of the tie, crept closer to second place in the MIFL standings.

Holland isn't expecting any "breeze" against the Bulldogs. The Ann Arbor eleven was plenty tough for the Hurricanes when they met the first time this season at Riverview park.

In that game, the Canes had to fight an uphill battle and came from behind in the final three minutes to eke out a 13-6 victory. A blocked punt set up the winning touchdown.

The game should be an evenly matched affair considering the Bulldogs will be playing on their home field.

Local coaches expect the team to be at full strength despite several leftover bumps and bruises from the Grand Rapids tilt.

Especially strong in last week's game was the stellar line play of the Canes on defense. Jason DeVries, Stan Mc Clure and others repeatedly broke through and spilled the speedy All-Star backs before they could get started.

Wiegink said today he plans to bolster the local passing offensive and running attack again this week. The Canes were stopped deep in Grand Rapids territory on several occasions in the Grand Rapids game because their running attack failed.

Lloyd (Dutch) Heneveld Named Lineman of Week by Student Daily

Lloyd (Dutch) Heneveld, currently playing first string left guard on the Michigan Wolverines, was selected lineman of the week after his performance against the fighting Illini.

The choice was made by the student daily newspaper, "The Michigan Daily," the week after the game which the Wolverines won by a 28-20 score.

His award came for the most outstanding play of the game in the first period on a fake field goal attempt with the score deadlocked. Dutch broke through to smother Tom Gallagher as he was trying to pass for the Illini on the fake.

The tall blond local man was nicknamed "Dutch" in 1946 by another famous Michigan Dutchman, Benny Osterbaan.

He is the son of Mrs. George Heneveld of Virginia Park and played both football and basketball at Holland high. He spent two years in the Army Air Force and was discharged in 1945.

After returning from the service, he went to Hope college for one semester and transferred to Michigan in Feb. 1946.

He played in two Wolverine games in 1946 before injuries forced him to the bench for the rest of the season. At that time, things looked bad for Heneveld's football future. However, a successful operation in the spring of 1947 removed knee cartilage and he was able to report for practice the following fall.

CHALK TALK SESSION Iowa City, Ia. (UP)—A light drill and chalk talk was scheduled for the Iowa Hawkeyes today. Dr. Eddie Anderson repeated his plan for no contact work before the Minnesota game. He said he wanted to avoid any injuries.

Last season, Heneveld was Joe Sobolewski's replacement at defensive guard and moved to the first team early this year after Sobolewski was switched to tackle.

He considers this year's Northwestern game the greatest of his career and asked who he considered the greatest guard he has faced this season he unhesitatingly answers, "Normini of Minnesota. He knocked me for a loop several times and I really felt it."

Dutch has no interest in professional football or coaching. He plans to enter law school in the field of patent law.

Officials Study Fish Markings

Lansing, Nov. 11—Fishes in Sugarloaf lake in Washtenaw county are being netted and marked to learn results of special fishing regulations over a three-year period which allow year-around fishing for bluegills and sunfish.

Six trap-nets placed in the lake will be operated until today, allowing conservation department research crews to mark and release fish, thus determining populations by species.

Meanwhile, creel censuses on other special regulation lakes have been discontinued until about Dec. 15 when ice fishing starts.

The department's institute for fisheries research also will enlarge its lake mapping program when ice forms, putting four or five crews in the field, one in the upper peninsula. The crews obtain information concerning lake depths, bottom soils, and vegetation present.

State Breeders Seek New Chick With More Meat

Three-Year, Nationwide Plan Being Launched For Flock Improvement

Poultrymen in Michigan will have an opportunity to win cash awards while working toward improvement of their flocks by competing in a new three-year, nationwide program launched at a recent meeting of leaders of the nation's three-billion dollar poultry industry at Lexington, Ky.

The new Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest, announced by H. L. Shrader, senior extension poultryman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is designed to bring superior meat-type chickens to American dinner tables by encouraging the breeding and development of plumper, meatier birds which can be more economically produced.

"The initial three-year Chicken-of-Tomorrow program which concluded last June in Delaware, proved conclusively that definite improvements in meat-type characteristics can be achieved," said Shrader, who is chairman of the contest committee. "Much valuable breeding information has been distributed to the growers, while the scientific data compiled by committee officials has proven of the utmost importance to the entire poultry industry."

"Inspired by the success of the initial contest, the nationwide interest created in the development of superior meat-type chickens, the educational value of the dressed bird shows, and the opportunity to further improve the product, the national committee agreed unanimously that a new three-year program is imperative," Shrader added.

Current plans call for a series of state and regional contests in 1949, additional state and regional trials in 1950, and a national championship final in 1951.

Michigan activities in the Chicken-of-Tomorrow program have been under the supervision of an active state committee headed by J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at State college, East Lansing. The excellent calibre of state competition is indicated by the fact that two Michigan breeders, Charles Delamater of East Lansing and Lloyd Tice of Barryton were among the 40 top contestants selected to compete in the national finals last June in Delaware.

Large Crowd Witnesses Mary Reed Leper Film

A large audience attended the showing of the color film, "Mary Reed, Great Heart of the Himalayas" at Hope chapel Friday evening.

Miss Reed, who in her youth felt the call to become a missionary in India, gave up her position of school teacher when her application for foreign missionary service was accepted; went to India, where, shortly after she had begun her work, she contracted leprosy. After much prayer, she interpreted this affliction as a definite call to devote her life to these outcasts similarly afflicted.

C. J. Ulrich, promotional director of the central area of American Mission to Lepers, gave a brief survey of leprosy in the United States. He stated there are 400 patients at Carville, La., hospital at the present time.

Mrs. Edith Walvoord, president of the Federation of Women's Societies, under whose sponsorship the program was presented, presided at the meeting. Lee Snodien assisted at the organ console. Mrs. P. E. Hinkamp, past president of the Federation, in the devotional period, presented a picture of the leper camp in Inhambane, East Africa, in which the Federation is directly interested, and the work of Dr. C. J. Stauffacher, in charge of that colony.

New Tools Not Only Relief for Tired Wives

Is it necessary for you to be as tired as you are at the end of a day filled with homemaking tasks?

It probably isn't necessary according to the conclusion of Irma H. Gross, head of the department of home management and child development at Michigan State college.

She and her staff members have studied a great many housewives doing their daily work and have tried to help them streamline their activities to use the least amount of energy.

Try to avoid tiredness is not the only way to be less tired. One of the simplest ways is to use your body more effectively. This isn't always easy but at least it doesn't involve new tools or equipment. It does require forming new habits.

For example, bending your back in a full arch to work close to the floor is a common mistake. To avoid fatigue, the better way is to stoop, holding the back straight. If picking up something, grasp the object and then rise. Lifting a baby is an example.

Moving heavy objects such as furniture is another way to tire yourself more than necessary. If you can't wait for your husband to come to your rescue and feel that you must move that chest of drawers—push at the center. Extend your arms and push in the middle rather than at the top or bottom of the piece of furniture.

Remember, too, that you'll save a lot of energy by sitting at some of those jobs instead of standing at all of them.

Cattle Situation To Be Discussed

The Michigan Beef Cattle Feeders association has set Tuesday as the day they will convene at Michigan State college for a meeting to consider the beef cattle situation in Michigan.

President Lester Allen of Ithaca will preside over the meeting and the program will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the MSC livestock judging pavilion.

Feature spots on the program will be filled by Art Mauch, MSC agricultural economist, who will discuss the beef outlook for 1949; Bliss R. Bowman, market reporter for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Detroit, who will tell of the various kinds of cattle sold on the Detroit market and also give his views on the recent Canadian cattle import agreement and how it affects Michigan; and George Brown, head of the MSC animal husbandry department, who will give a summary of the Michigan beef cattle business.

A panel of beef cattle feeders will discuss their feeding problems which they consider of interest to other beef raisers.

Winding up the session will be a trip to the barns of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment station on the campus where George Branaman, MSC research animal husbandryman, will discuss experimental work being done with feeder cattle.

FIGHT WITH DRY ICE

Let's hope you never see smoke coming from your silo caused by spontaneous combustion. But if it should happen, take a tip from the Kansas farmer who conferred hastily with extension agents and then called a chemical company to bring a number of cakes of dry ice. The ice was dropped in from the top of the silo and the fire went out. The dry ice or carbon dioxide method has also been used to fight fires in hay mows.

Clipping Dairy Cow Is Sanitary Measure

With cold weather approaching and pastures gone, dairy cows are spending more and more of the time in the barns. Michigan State college dairy specialists say that when cows are stabled, a useful step in clean milk production is to clip the animals where dirt, chaff, and manure collect.

Regular clipping of the udder and hind quarters will prevent the accumulation of foreign material above the milk pail or teat cups. The clipping makes these parts easier to clean and will result in less sediment in milk.

Service Stresses Forage Crops

The extension service and the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district will stress forage crops again during 1949 winter meetings. L. R. Arnold, agricultural agent, says this crop has been emphasized in this county by both groups during the past three years. Two films were made to help in discussion of this important farm crop.

The efficient production of forage crops is a problem that needs more study by both farmers and specialists. Recent "Grass Days" held in Michigan prove that production of grass is receiving much attention. The livestock grower knows that feed cost is the most important of all his costs. In dairy production, over half the cost of milk is tied up in feed. This figure runs to 75 per cent in production of eggs. When it comes to lamb, beef and pork the figure is still higher 80 to 85 per cent.

Grass and hay are natural feeds for cattle. More efficiency in producing these products will have great effect on net returns. Many farmers realize that forage crops can compete successfully with row crops on good land from the standpoint of income per acre.

A good pasture program will allow several months of pasturing by the herd. This cuts down greatly on both labor and feed costs so much so that it is now conceded that lowest production costs are attained through turning to a good forage program.

Arnold points out also that a good forage program will stop erosion—in fact, it builds up the tilth and fertility of the soil. The district and extension will urge greater use of grass because of its great importance in saving soil, also because it will put more money in the farmers' pocket.

Auxiliary Stages District School

Approximately 125 women of the fourth and fifth districts of the American Legion Auxiliary gathered in the Memorial club rooms Thursday night for a school of instruction conducted by the president, secretary and Americanism chairman of the Department of Michigan.

Mrs. Nan Shepherd, department president, Miss Bertha Proestel, secretary, and Mrs. Agnes Brown, Americanism chairman, all of Detroit, were introduced by the local unit president, Mrs. L. B. Dalman.

Interesting highlights included the statement of aims of the Auxiliary which lists one million members in 12,000 units. It is important to "know America" and what American citizenship means, the officers pointed out.

Announcement was made of the mid-winter conference in Lansing on Dec. 11 and 12.

Mrs. Edna Melnnis, retiring president of the district, gave highlights of the national convention in Miami, Fla., in October. Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Kobes and her committee.

High School to Have 'Football Festival'

Nominations were being made today at Holland high school for a "queen" to reign over a "football festival" planned for next week-end when Holland will meet Grand Haven in the annual classic. Choice of the queen will be made the first of the week.

Plans for the festival include a huge bonfire and pep rally at the 21st St. and Pine Ave. field, followed by the coronation by Principal J. J. Riemersma in the High school auditorium.
