An owner has been found for the telescope full of ladies clothing by Deputy Sheriff Overweg at the fair grounds last week. It is the property of one of the ladies that was with the palace of wonders at the fair last fall, and will be sent by the Pere Marquette company to Detroit where a claim for it has been filed, with the railway company.

Peter Weckler, father-in-law of Capt. Chas. Morton, of Grand Haven, superintendent of the 12th U. S. life saving district, met a violent death last Saturday at St. Joseph by accidentally falling down a cellar stairway. Mr. Weckler was one of the oldest residents of St. Joseph having lived there 62 years. His age was 81 years. He is the father of Capt. Adam Weckler, keeper of the Ludington life saving station.

Cornelius VanZantewick, a former Grand Haven resident, was murdered in Harvey, Ill., late last week Thursday night, by George S. Freeman, a saloon keeper, to whose divorced wife he had given employment in his laundry. The police of Harvey, believe however, that there is a deeper motive than the apparent anger of the murderer at the aid given his former spouse. The murdered man was about 45 years of age and was born and reared in Grand Haven where he was well known. He has two sons in that city, Dick and Tony.

J. C. Holmes is having hard luck with the Hamilton Echo. He has worked hard for the paper and has made of it a bright sheet, considering the limit placed upon the news field by the size of the town. Now with a hard winter coming on notice to move has been served upon him by his landlord and he must cease the publication of the paper until he finds another location. He closes an article explaining the situation with the following words: "With this issue we will stop the issuance of the Hamilton Echo, until such time as we can procure suitable building or put up one, which very likely will occupy a small space on the north side of Rabbit river—the coming business portion of Hamilton village. It will be quite a loss to us for possibly several weeks, and a disappointment to many of the Echo subscribers and advertisers. It is not our fault that this is thus, there is not a cent in debt on the Echo, neither is it for sale. With kind regards to all, even to our recent landlords, we bid you a few weeks delay with the Echo."

The new organ in the Fourth Reformed church was dedicated last Sunday.

The hunting season has been unusually short in northern Michigan this year. Snow has come early and deep and most campers will pull stakes this week. The average number of deer killed will be about one to each hunter. This estimate is based on a count of 50.

Judge Williams, of the probate court, and attorneys, Chas. Thew, and I. C. Montague of Allegan and Van Duren, of Holland, were in Saugatuck Wednesday. Their business here was to determine the heirs of Chas. and George Shashagany. The Judge has not given his decision yet.—Saugatuck Commercial Record.

During the month of October, 8 deaths occurred in this city. The total number of deaths in the county for the month was 45, the death rate 13.3 per thousand population. Grand Haven reported 5 deaths, 2 from tuberculosis of the lungs. Of the deaths in Holland 1 was from tuberculosis, and the remainder from various causes. Two persons were under 1 year and three over 65 years of age.

There is a newspaper in Kansas whose motto is: "Lie, steal, drink and swear." The editor explains it thus: "When you lie, let it be down to pleasant dreams; when you steal, let it be away from immoral associates; when you drink let it be pure water; when you swear, let it be that you will patronize your home paper, pay your subscription promptly and not send your job work away from home."

R. M. Filmore, secretary of the state board of examiners of barbers, is calling the attention of barbers throughout the state to the law requiring them to annually renew their licenses. The impression seems to prevail among the barbers generally that a failure to renew license will not subject them to prosecution, and the board of examiners is determined to strictly enforce compliance with this provision.

Still they are after Zeeland's alleged liquor law violators. Egbert K. Hesselman, custodian of the "Zeeland Social Club" appeared before Justice Pagelson last week charged with violation of the liquor law. The village council of Saugatuck has ordered a special election for December 7, to submit the question of bonding the town for $10,000 for a water works system.

Henry Fris, who has been in Cadillac the last four weeks establishing a new news agency for the Grand Rapids Press, is in the city to spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fris. He will leave Monday for a trip through the eastern and southern part of the state for the Press.

The press throughout the country is loud in praise of this orchestra and the number will be one of the strongest of the course.

The G. R. H. & L. M. Interurban railway offers excellent facilities to those from Holland who wish to attend the Grand Rapids theatres. No time need be lost in Grand Rapids as the cars reach there just before the shows and leave there after the shows are over. To make it more convenient for theatre goers the interurban company through its local office reserves seats at all the theatres. These seats are held at the box offices until after the arrival of the 6:40 car from Holland. In another column the attractions at the different theatres are advertised each week.

Thanksgiving has passed into history and now comes Christmas, the time of good cheer and gift giving. You are going to give. If you are not, the milk of human kindness must be minus in your make up. But you are not going to let this day of gladness pass without contributing to the happiness of those near and dear to you. It being admitted then that you will purchase gifts the next question to determine is where shall the purchases be made. Past experience will surely teach you that Jas. A. Brouwer's is a good place. There you will find a complete line of furniture, draperies, rugs and other Christmas novelties, and there is where your purchases should be made.

Saugatuck was visited Sunday night by a fire that did damage to the amount of 10,000, destroying the hardware store and residence of John Koning and the stock and out buildings of D. L. Barber & Co. The fire broke out in the roof of the Barber store, presumably from a spark from the chimney, and it would have created greater havoc if it were not for the energetic efforts of the fire companies of Douglas and Saugatuck. Mr. Koning saved some of his hardware stock, but very little of the Barber stock was saved. The loss of both was partly covered by insurance. Mr. Koning is a son of James A. Koning of this city and has a large number of his friends here who will be very sorry to learn of his misfortune. But they will be pleased to learn that his heavy loss does not daunt him and that he will rebuild immediately and resume business.

Nature's Restorative
MALTA PURA GIVES MARVELOUS RE-SULTS IN EVERY CASE, THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED
NOTE WHAT THEY SAY.

It is impossible to publish in the columns of this paper testimonials which will give even the faintest conception of the popular favor which is bestowed on Malta Pura everywhere. Not only do the people who try it speak its praises, but physicians, not a few but in every city welcome it and prescribe it as nature's tonic and a valuable adjunct to the practice of medicine. One lady writes from Los Angeles, California: "I was discouraged. My energy seemed entirely gone. When I awakened in the morning I felt tired, and I had no ambition to work or take any interest in life. My husband heard of Malta Pura, purchased a bottle and this year I am so ambitious I keep everybody on the stir. I certainly feel like a new person."

Another testimonial comes from a young man who had lung trouble in St. Johns, New Brunswick. "Physicians had given me no encouragement except possible relief by change of climate. My brother who was in Boston, heard of Malta Pura and bought a bottle. I felt better almost from the first dose. I have taken fifteen bottles within the past year, but I have gained 30 pounds in weight and am as healthy as a horse. My lungs seem to be all right." Another comes from a working girl in Providence, Rhode Island. "Overwork broke my nervous system and I was a wreck. I gave up and was ready to die. I began taking Malta Pura and today I am well and strong." A physician in Battle Creek says: "I have prescribed Malta Pura in numerous cases of pulmonary trouble, nervous debility, and when a general tonic is required and the results are extremely satisfactory." We never publish names but keep the original letters on file in our office. We will furnish names of those endorsing Malta Pura to any person writing us. Malta Pura is for sale by all leading druggists at a special price of $1.00 per bottle. Manufactured by Battle Creek Health Beverage Co. Lt.—Battle Creek, Mich.

BATTLE LASTED FOR FIVE DAYS

American Troops Deal a Crushing Blow to Two Thousand Moros on Jolo Island.

More Than Three Hundred Are Killed in the Severe Fight—United States Forces Have Six Wounded, But Not a Life Is Lost—Were Led Into an Ambuscade by Moro Chief.

Manila, Nov. 23.—Three hundred Moros are known to have been killed and many others were carried off dead or wounded as a result of five days' severe fighting in Jolo between the American troops under Gen. Leonard Wood and the insurgents. Maj. H. L. Scott, of the Fourteenth cavalry, and five American privates were wounded. Gen. Wood landed near Slet Lake in Jolo November 12. The Moros were soon located and fighting began immediately and continued until November 17.

Led Into an Ambuscade.
Maj. Scott was taking Panglima Hassen, the Moro leader, who had been taken prisoner, to Jolo. While en route Hassen asked to be allowed to see his family. His appeal was granted.

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

The "Man From the West" Seems to Have Successfully Grafted On the Much Coveted Ear.

ed and he thereupon led Maj. Scott into an ambuscade, where the American detachment was fired upon. Maj. Scott was shot in both hands. Hassen succeeded in escaping during this unexpected attack, but is supposed to have been killed the following day.

The fighting took place in a country covered with swamps and rocks. The Moros were driven across the country from Slet Lake to the town which Hassen had made his headquarters, and where it was reported the Moros were 2,000 strong.

More Force Destroyed.
The rebel position was attacked in the flank by the American troops who occupied the town and inflicted a loss of 50 killed on the Moros. Hassen with a small party surrendered. The rest of the Moros went into the swamps, out of which they were driven on November 16, leaving 76 dead behind them. On November 17 the American forces renewed the attack on the remaining Moros, of whom 40 more were killed. The rebel forces have been literally destroyed by these operations by Gen. Wood, who says the indications are that there will be no extension of the uprising, which was handled without difficulty.

Decapitated.
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 21.—A special from Florence, Wis., says: While blasting rock in Loggins road at J. W. Molloy's camp a woodsman named Johnson was killed and two others were badly injured and their recovery is doubtful. Three others were hurt, but not badly. They were charging a rock bluff with powder and Johnson tamped the powder with an iron bar and an explosion followed, killing Johnson instantly. His head was blown off and found 20 feet away.

Gas Exploded.
Columbus, Ind., Nov. 23.—August Doller, a brother of Frederick Doller, of the Reeves Manufacturing company, was burned to death, and his mother, aged 80, was fatally burned by a gas explosion at their home. The house was totally wrecked, a part of it being blown into a neighbor's yard.

Horses Die in Fire.
Danville, Ky., Nov. 23.—Fire laid waste a half block of the principal business portion of the city. The loss will reach $50,000. The fire started in the big livery stable of Rice, Benge & Co., and 26 fine horses perished in the flames.

Indicted for Peonage.
Savannah, Ga., Nov. 24.—Charged with having held negroes in a condition of peonage, 26 indictments have been returned by the federal grand jury against seven citizens of southern Georgia.

ON A RAMPAGE.

Carrie Nation Creates a Scene at the White House and Officers Have to Remove Her.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Carrie A. Nation appeared in the principal role of a sensational scene at the white house yesterday. Her request to see the president being refused, she became violent and had to be taken from the executive offices by two police officers. As she was being escorted from the building she shouted at the top of her voice, gesticulating violently: "I am going to pray for a prohibition president, and we will have one—one who will represent the people, and not the distillers and brewers. You may put me out of the building, but if a brewer or liquor dealer were here, he would have been admitted at once."

Officers Dalrymple and Kemp were obliged to use some force to induce her to leave the executive offices, and finally conducted her outside of the white house grounds. All the while she continued to declaim her principles and to rail at the president for not receiving her. Of course, until some time afterward, the president knew nothing of her presence at the white house.

PERISH IN A MINE.

Explosion in a Shaft Near McConnellsville, Pa., Wrecks Interior and Entombs Nineteen Men.

Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 23.—Ten miners were killed by an explosion in the Ferguson mine of the Dunbar Furnace company at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Nine others succeeding in reaching the mouth of the pit alive and were rescued. It is believed by mining experts that the fire which had been raging in the Hill Farm mine since the disaster of 1890 broke through the walls erected between the Hill Farm mine and Ferguson mine and caused the explosion.

Dunbar, Pa., Nov. 24.—Another of the victim of Saturday's explosion at the Ferguson mine died Monday, making the total dead 12. Three others are in a critical condition, and will probably die. Exploring parties again entered the mine to search for the man who is still missing. The coroner will not begin his investigation until the injured are able to appear at the inquest.

Two Hundred Drowned.
London, Nov. 24.—A telegram has been received at the Indian office from the viceroy of India, Lord Curzon, saying that, according to reports received at Madras, a flood in the Palar river November 12 destroyed half of the town of Vanizambadi, in the Salem district. Two hundred persons were drowned. The floods, the telegram says, have now subsided.

Blown to Pieces.
Emporium, Pa., Nov. 24.—C. C. Cruikshank and Martin Morris, both married men, were blown to pieces Monday in an explosion of nitroglycerin in a building owned by the Keystone Powder company. George Nicholson, who was outside the building, had a leg amputated by a piece of lead which struck him.

Bodies Washed Ashore.
San Francisco, Nov. 24.—The French bark Francois Coppee struck on the rocks on the eastern side of Tomales bay and was wrecked Friday night. Four of the survivors floated ashore on drift wood, and are now safe at a ranch near Marshall. It is reported that two bodies have been washed ashore.

Legally Shot.
Salt Lake City, Nov. 21.—Peter Mortensen was shot to death in the yard of the state prison for the murder of James R. Hay on the night of December 16, 1901. The choice of death by shooting or hanging is given condemned prisoners in Utah, and Mortensen chose to meet his death by the bullet of the prison guards.

Confirmed.
Washington, Nov. 24.—The senate in executive session confirmed the following nominations: George R. Carter, Honolulu, Hawaii, to be governor of Hawaii; Sanford B. Dore, Hawaii, district judge of the territory of Hawaii.

APPEALS TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

President Marroquin Says "National Conscience" Should Prevent Our Aiding Panama.

Says Proceedings of Marines and Minister on Isthmus in Open Violation of Treaty, Which Binds United States to Respect Sovereignty of Colombia.

Bogota, Colombia, Nov. 23.—President Marroquin, of Colombia, has made the following appeal to the American people:

"The Colombian nation has just been the victim of unexpected aggression and is in danger of losing the best part of its territory. A military movement, not popular sentiment, was the origin of the proclamation of the independence of Panama.

"The American government, which always had been held by Colombia to be its best friend and ally, prevented with marines loyal militia from subjugating the traitors and checking the origin of the insubordination.

Says Treaty Was Violated.

"The solemn treaty between Colombia and the United States, alluded to until the last moment by the American government, binds the United States not only to respect the sovereignty and ownership of the Panama isthmus by Colombia, but to help the latter maintain them. The proceeding of the United States marines on the isthmus and of the American minister here are in open violation of that treaty.

"The traditions of that great nation, the United States, as a mighty defender of rights and bearer of the standard of civilization before the world, always have been opposed to the secession of territories and the dismembering of nations. Nonrecognition of the Confederate states during the civil war confirms emphatically the application of this doctrine decisively at critical moments.

Appeals to American People.

"The American people will not permit, I am sure, a violation of public treaties, thus denying their glorious traditions, in order to obtain by force what Colombia is ready to concede through pacific and equitable ways. Colombia heartily wishes to strengthen the ties of friendship and commerce with the United States and give vigorous impulse to the common interests and to the greater power and glory of her older sister republic.

"The Colombian people, tranquil in the strength of right and being sure of the sentiment of justice and equity of the American people, appeal to the national conscience of the United States, which conscience constitutes a force superior by far to that of an army and navy, in order to save the honor and integrity of our navy.

"MARROQUIN."

To Recognize Panama.
Berlin, Nov. 24.—Emperor William has directed the German authorities to officially recognize the Republic of Panama.

GOMPERS CHOSEN.

Again Elected President of the American Federation of Labor by a Large Majority.

Boston, Nov. 23.—Samuel Gompers was chosen president of the American Federation of Labor for the twenty-first consecutive time. The socialists put up a candidate for the office, Ernst Kraft, of Philadelphia, but were overwhelmed when the vote was taken, the result being 12,524 to 1,134. The other officers chosen are: First vice president, James Duncan, Boston; second, John Mitchell, Indianapolis; third, James O'Connell, Washington; fourth, Max Morris, Denver; fifth, Thomas I. Kidd, Chicago; sixth, Dennis A. Hayes, Pittsburg; seventh, Daniel J. Keefe, Chicago; eighth, William J. Spencer, Chicago; secretary, Frank Morrison, Washington; treasurer, John R. Lennon, Washington.

Boston, Nov. 24.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor adjourned finally yesterday. A resolution was adopted asking all working people to purchase goods bearing the union label. The committee on boycott recommended the greatest caution in establishing boycotts.

Mines Resume Work.

Pittsburg, Nov. 24.—Following the heavy shipment of coal to the south last week there was a general resumption Monday of all the river mines in the fourth pool of the Monongahela river, giving employment to 5,000 miners. The men have been idle on account of the scarcity of empty coal barges.

Burned by Gasoline.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 23.—D. M. Flanagan and wife were fatally burned and their six-months-old child Ruth was burned so that she will be disfigured for life as the result of a gasoline explosion.

Will Press Her Claim.

Aged Woman Dead.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Phoebe Gifford, the oldest minister in the Society of Friends in the world, is dead here, aged 100 years and five months.

Death of an Editor.

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 24.—Walter Johnson, aged 68 years, publisher and editor of the Rock Island Daily Union, died Monday.

Years Presidential Term.

More and more as the years go by the people of the United States dread the presidential campaign year. Workingmen dread it because it means a decreased market for their only marketable commodity—their labor. Business men dread it because it means decreased activity in business. All dread it because it is a time of unrest. And it is this unrest, this feverish uncertainty that causes all the trouble. Men with dollars only to invest as well as men with millions of dollars to invest tighten up their purse strings. They know a change in administration would mean a change in policy and ignorance of the policy to be pursued and what effect this policy would have the four years following the election is what causes the trouble.

Making the presidential term of office six years instead of four years is one way of lengthening the period of bad times between the campaign and hard times. Then make a law prohibiting a man from holding the office of president for terms in succession and we have another hard time preventative.

Wanted—Girls.

Holland wants a girl. It wants several of them. And it wants them to be like the little band of girls at St. Joseph, Mich., who have boycotted the St. Joe boys who persist in despoiling the air with the fumes from the deadly cigarette. Eminent hygienists long ago came to the conclusion that boys or men whose lungs are befogged from excessive indulgence in cigarettes are not good associates for self-respecting girls, and young ladies of Benton Harbor could be commended for having dissent enough to arrive at the same conclusion.

Their crusade against the cigarette may not be the magnificent victory that is expected in the height of enthusiasm by the girls, for the novelty of the idea wears off and they are likely to drift back to the old way and extend welcome to friends of the coffin-nails.

But it will have one good effect at least. It will call the attention of the scientific world to the idea that if cigarettes are good for anything besides keeping moths off the curtains, but has not been discovered.

Gen. Wood on the Rack

No matter what the outcome of the political crusade against General Leonard Wood may be, his services to the country will not soon be forgotten. Gen. Wood is essentially a man who does things well. When decisive actions were necessary in the preliminary stages of the war with Spain, he did not waste time in hesitation or argument, but while others were hesitating and arguing he joined hands with Theodore Roosevelt and was the prime mover in organizing one of the best fighting machines ever seen on any battle field—the Rough Riders. Then he fought gallantly with these picked men and before long Santiago fell and the war ended.

Reconciliation or argument had no part in his course when the war ended. He set about the work of bringing order out of chaos and before the world knew that the work was begun, Havana was made an orderly city and Cuba was made an orderly country.

Grafters then tried to loot the Cuban treasury, but Gen. Wood was there and before long the grafters were eligible candidates for convict stripes.

His work done in Cuba, the energetic General was sent to the Philippines and is now giving the Filipinos a taste of the tonic he administered to tottering Cuba.

General Wood is a man who has always done things well. Such men necessarily make enemies. Especially do they make enemies when they expose grafts and punish grafters. This Gen. Wood has done, and now men high in public life are trying to make it unpleasant for him. They have put him on the rack.

The hope of the mass of the people is that they who are bounding him will find no weak spot in his armor. Their hope is that in the end he will be vindicated, for they realize that there is still a great deal of work for him to do.

Memorial Services for J. C. Post.

Greater tribute was never paid to the memory of a former resident of Holland than was paid to the memory of the late Attorney John C. Post, whose tragic death occurred last Friday.

The funeral services, which were private, were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home and were conducted by Dr. J. W. Beardslee and Rev. J. T. Bergen. The active pall bearers were: Geo. P. Hummer, G. J. Diekema, C. M. McLean, A. Visscher, W. H. Beach and W. H. Wing. Honorary pall bearers: I. Maris, Dr. G. J. Kollen, James H. Purdy, C. Ver Schure, P. H. McBride, Prof. H. Boers, H. H. Pope of Alleghen and Judge J. C. Everett, of Chicago. Mrs. G. J. Diekema sang two solos, "Jerusalem, the Golden" and "My Ain Country," favorite songs of Mr. Post.

It was at Hope church Monday afternoon that the greatest tribute was paid. Memorial services were held there and friends from all points and from all walks in life gathered in respect to the memory of the departed. All of the factories were closed and many of the employes were there. The business places were closed from four to six o'clock and the business men met at Hotel Holland and attended in a body. In the front row was the family and the immediate relatives of Mr. Post and behind them were the men associated with Mr. Post in different business enterprises. It was a gathering representative of the city and was a remarkable testimony of the opinion the community entertained regarding its leading citizen.

Mayor DeRoo was in charge of the services and first introduced Dr. G. J. Kollen, president of Hope college, who led in prayer. Then Mr. DeRoo made an address, eulogistic of the departed and introduced Judge Philip Padgham of Alleghen who spoke for Mr. Post's standing as a lawyer.

Mr. DeRoo said in part: "Our deceased leader was not only a leader of this community, but a leader of men, and it is our privilege to meet here in common and express our sorrow and our pain at parting with him. Let us think of him at his best—how he energetically threw his strength into every project, religious, educational, social and industrial. He was gifted with a bright mind, and was quick in reaching conclusions. His opinion was often requested and was never refused."

In his tribute Judge Padgham laid particular emphasis upon Mr. Post's desire to save his clients the expense and worry of litigation, saying that whenever a compromise was possible it was his custom to compromise and settle without a suit. "Protection of his clients interests was ever his motto and he devoted all of his time to the law he would have become one of the most profound jurists in the state."

Hon. G. J. Diekema followed with an eloquent address touching particularly upon Mr. Post's work as a citizen. In part he said: "Who can penetrate the mysteries of the human body—the mystery of the heart's circulation? One cold or one fever upsets all and the physical structure fails. Who can solve the mysteries of the human mind, the brain or the intellect? A fever or a cold dethrones them all and responsibility is gone. Oh! the mysteries of the human body! Oh! the mysteries of the human mind! I am glad to state that after a careful investigation of the financial condition of the departed friend I found that his troubles were a delusion and that his reason must have been dethroned. This will comfort us inasmuch that we have the assurance that he was not himself when he left us. As a citizen his leading characteristic was his enterprise. It knew no bounds. He was determined to contribute his share to the development of Holland and he generously carried the responsibility of others with his own. The pretty summer resorts here, every factory whistle, every revolving wheel and shaft join together in one great chorus and speak of his enterprise. He was public spirited and unselfish. Rich and poor alike received from him. Though dead he must live. He must live in our hearts, in our acts, in our lives. Let him live in our enterprise and all unite in carrying the load that rested upon our friend. Let us vow that his enterprise shall be our enterprise and that his generosity shall be exemplified in our lives."

Hon. Geo. P. Hummer in his remarks gave an explanation of the tragic death saying: "I do not believe that he left us to escape business cares. I cannot think that his great mind, which never showed any disturbance from business cause, broke down under the weight of business cares. I feel that some invidious disease was preying upon him and is responsible for his loss to us. It is gratifying to know that no stain rests upon his business career. It is a great shock but we have the loving memory of his beautiful character and life ever with us."

Rev. J. T. Bergen was the last speaker. In a brief address he referred as follows to Mr. Post's characteristics: "He was a child of the covenant, a child of grace, a confessor of Jesus. I knew him well. We hunted together, we fished together and I saw him amid surroundings that bring out the real character of a man. His communion with nature was happy and joyous. His purity of thought was beautiful. He had a fine moral discrimination and if a choice had to be made you knew where he stood. He was always foremost in moral movements, being an enthusiastic supporter of the work of Graham Taylor, giving of his money and his labor for like causes. He was a practical Christian."

A letter of condolence from Prof. F. D. Haddock was read and the services closed with prayer by Dr. E. Winter.

Miss Amy Yates at the organ and Prof. J. B. Nykerk, Gus Kraus, Martin Dykema and Ike Slioter furnished music.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral and the memorial exercises were Charles H. Post, Charles Post and Margaret Post, of South Bend, Ind., Probate Judge Frank Williams, County Clerk Channcey Barnes, Prosecuting Attorney Orrin Cross and Attorneys Horace Pope, Fidos Fish, Charles Wilkes, and Pearle Fouch of Alleghen; Ex-Mayor Joseph W. O'Brien, Bernath Sherwood, K. T. Van den Bosch, Dr. and Mrs. Van der Veen, Miss Maude Squier and Mrs. Robert W. Duncan, of Grand Haven.

At a special meeting of the common council held Wednesday evening resolutions were passed extolling the services of Mr. Post to the city and paying eloquent tribute to his standing as a man and a citizen.

Inquires for Missing Brother

John B. Steketee received a letter Monday addressed to the local Y. M. C. A. asking for information concerning the whereabouts of Brower Tripp. The letter is dated Copper Queen Hotel, Bisbee, Arizona, and is written by Rena Tripp, sister of the missing boy. It follows:

"Have not heard from my brother for quite a while and think he belongs to the Y. M. C. A. and possibly you may know where he is. If so kindly inform me on return mail. My brother is Brower Tripp and the last I heard he was ill and am worried. Hoping to hear I am."

General Items

A farmer who raised sugar beets for the Menominee factory announces that he has found a new and valuable use for them. He asserts that Canadian thistle can be readily exterminated by planting the ground to beets, as he tried it on several different tracts of land this year and found it successful.

Fifteen traveling men who were waiting for a Pere Marquette train in Benton Harbor were told by the hotel clerk that the train was half an hour late, the clerk getting his information it is said, from the railway officials. The party missed the train by fifteen minutes and after agitating the matter with the hotel people started out to clean up on the Pere Marquette railway system.

"Overstudy" is the bugaboo of the weak-willed and the lazy. It never frightens the youth of real talent. It has no terrors for the boy who is sitting up late to learn thoroughly the task set him and to absorb the little more than the required stint of knowledge in which lies success. The men who build bridges and make subways an engineering reality at which the world marvels, great architects, great sculptors; the lawyer who is equipping himself to win a case of national importance, the famous captain of finance—these know that the brain will respond to any strain put upon it. They know that when subjected to the severest strain it yields its best returns of ideas that bring fame and fortune.—New York world.

Liberal Thanksgiving Collections In Reformed Churches

Probably in no city in Michigan do the churches pay more attention to Thanksgiving day than is paid to it by the Reformed and Christian Reformed churches of Holland. And this attention is of the most substantial nature taking the form of large collections for worthy objects. The Thanksgiving day just passed was no exception to the rule as the following account of the collections will show: Central Avenue Christian Reformed church, $220.72, for poor, $121.02, for church purposes, total $349.74; Ninth street Christian Reformed, $169.00, for poor, $169.00 for Grand Rapids Theological Seminary, total, $338.00; First Reformed church, $196.10; Fourteenth street Christian Reformed $170.00, for parsonage; Third Reformed church, $166.00, for foreign and domestic missions; Hope, $58.00.

Though Hope was not strong on the base ball diamond last spring now she is the more victorious on the gridiron. Last Saturday the Grand Rapids Independents were over for a tussle with Hope's team. They went away a sadder but a wiser team. Score; Independents 0, Hope 51. During the game no accident happened save that Joseph Zidzo sprained his ankle.

Slayton Woman's Symphony Orchestra is the next number of the lecture course. It will entertain on Dec. 2 and is the only musicale on the list.

The delegates of the Seminary to the convention at Rochester, N. Y., returned Monday.

Mrs. C. VanRaalte Gilmore, Lady Principal, who has made an extensive journey through the Western States in behalf of Missions, returned Monday.

The students who live in neighboring towns are spending Thanksgiving vacation at home.

Practice by the various basket ball teams has begun and is kept up vigorously. If this is continued Hope's basket ball team will be equally victorious as her foot ball team.

Majestic Appreciated by Holland Theater-goers.

As there is no opera house in Holland, the people of this city are interested in Grand Rapids opera houses. Particularly are they interested in the new Majestic which has just been completed and which was opened to the public for the first time last Monday evening. They are interested in the Majestic because it gives them a chance to see high grade plays for popular prices any day in the week. This idea of giving high class plays for popular prices was started by Manager Stair to meet the demands of the theatre-goers who wish to go often to good plays, but who feel that they should not be forced to pay all times pay extravagant prices. By building the Majestic he has made this possible. The house is as large as any in the state and thus by being able to accommodate large audiences, Manager Stair is able to place the scale of prices on a reasonable basis. Attractions, that heretofore cost 50 cents, 74 cents, $1.00 and $1.50 can now be seen for 15 cents, 25 cents and 50 cents. An example of the attractions was furnished by the first performance Monday night when David Higgins appeared in "The Last Dollar." Heretofore David Higgins could not be seen for popular prices but under the new Majestic regime not only David Higgins but all high class actors can be seen for rates that should bring throngs to the theater.

CLIMBING.

I stand at the bottom and upward I gaze;
The fruit that I see I should think would be sweet.
I mean to have some of it one of these days.
The climbing, however, must be quite a feat.
The footholds are slight and at best insecure—
Some ladder rungs rotten I plainly can see.
That it's worth all the risk I'm not perfectly sure.
But I'd like to get up to the top of the tree.
To get to the top I must make up my mind
To care nothing for rubs and my hands
I must soil;
I must tread on the heads of those struggling behind,
As I'm trod on by those who above me
still toil.
It is not a nice thing, just between me and
you,
As I look from the ground it seems cruel
to me,
But of course I'll be given a much broader view
When once I look down from the top of the tree.
Some climb pretty swiftly and others are slow,
But few of the climbers are stopping to rest.
All breathless and struggling still upward
they go
To where, high above, is the fruit of the best,
And the ones who climb hardest are those
at the top,
Which is really as strange as a thing may well be.
There is not the least chance that they ever will stop,
For there's not any top to this wonderful
tree.

THE BITTER PROBLEM

By
NELLIE CRAVEY GILLMORE

(Copyright, 1905, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

ONE by one, Mrs. Presley's guests had deserted the breakfast-room and separated to their respective pursuits.
For several minutes she sat staring across the table at her husband. Her lips betrayed an intangible sneer; she was wondering how in the world she ever came to marry the man. Certainly, he was not good to look at, nor interesting —not rich. And she? Well, there were always men, any number of them, ready to swear allegiance.
"Come out for a walk, won't you?
There's a fine breeze wafting itself in the sycamores."
Treviston's voice made a sudden break in her reflections. Mrs. Presley glanced up, half-startled, then cast a furtive look at her husband, but his face was passive, almost stolid, revealing nothing.
She rose, after the instant's hesitation, and joined Treviston on the veranda.
"You aren't cold, are you?"
"Oh, no." She laughed off the little shiver of nervousness as they left the house and walked on rapidly down the wide shell path.
"What's the matter?" Treviston asked presently, observing for the first time

TWICE HE KISSED HER.

how wretchedly pale the woman looked,
and the effort she was making to keep up.
Mrs. Presley did not answer at once;
her eyes were fixed in a dreamy stare on the restless tree-tops beyond.
After a moment, he reached down and took her hand in his, holding it tightly clasped between both his own. "What is it?" he insisted, trying to catch a glimpse of her averted face.
In a little while, she turned her eyes, misty and half-strained, up to his.
"Oh, Dick," she sobbed, "I don't know
—I can't tell; I only feel that this can't go on. The earth seems slipping from under my feet—it is all so terrible!"
He bent down to her suddenly; the perfume of her hair swept through him like a stimulant; twice he kissed her,
three times, on the lips.
"It will have to end, somehow," she went on, sighing. "He suspects—I'm confident of that."
Treviston remained silent.
"We can't keep on being together," she resumed, evenly, adding, after a pause, "and perhaps that's best; God knows how it might all end—the other way."
They walked on, silence between them,
down the twisting, sun-dappled lane.
"You don't love him," said Treviston, finally.
"N—no."
"And you do love—me."
"Heaven help me!"
"And you are going with me—away
from here—away from everything—away from him!"
He looked down at her, flushing, the veins in his neck throbbing.
The woman drew a quick breath; the muscles of her face twitched spasmodically. "That I cannot," she said, in a changed voice.
The other frowned unobserved, a look of determination setting his face.
"Katherine!" he said, sharply, "you must!" In a moment, he continued, in a gentler tone; "Be fair to yourself—honest with me. I've never cared for any other woman; I never shall care for any other. And you—you have confessed the same for me; do you think you have any right to ruin your—our happiness?"

She leaned toward him, resting her cheek against his coat-sleeve.
"I've thought it all over," she replied, after a long silence. "I've calculated every inch of the cost. If you had me with you, we would neither be any better off. Oh, don't think I have not tried to imagine—to make it otherwise! The whole thing is trite, Dick;
we both know perfectly well what the result would be," she finished, dully.
"Trite; that's just it. You lack the courage, you women, the courage of your honest inclinations." He spoke almost fiercely, but presently softened and went on in a low tone: "You are sure, Kate, are you not, that we would be happy—
together?"
"For a time, perhaps."
He bent to look into her face, forcing the appeal of his eyes upon her. "And for a little time—just a little year—or a week—or hour in the calendar of love—
what would all eternity matter?"
The woman began to tremble as she listened. "Don't!" she said, chokingly, thrusting out a hand, as though to ward off a physical blow.
They moved on in silence for several minutes. Treviston was the first to speak.
"I shall go, then," he said, slowly, "and knowing that you do not love me, in spite of all your protestations; or knowing that your love, so boasted, so supreme"—his voice was keen with irony
—"is nothing more than—weak tears!"
She burst into passionate tears, clinging to him in an agony of falling strength.
"I can't give you up," she said, after awhile, calmly.
"To-morrow, then," he explained, hurriedly, "at ten o'clock—at this spot. The team will be waiting; there's a steamer at three; we'll have just time to catch it."
Mrs. Presley whitened to the temples;
once she opened her lips as though to speak, then closed them again and her head dropped.

When Mrs. Presley entered the room, Treviston was standing before an open window, looking out into the dusk. He turned at the sound of her step, and came forward with outstretched hands.
"Only a year," he said, "but it has seemed like a century!"
She motioned him to a chair, and took the one opposite. "A lifetime, Dick," she returned, with a faint smile, "and, oh, how I have missed you; how I have wanted you!"
"I've been away—very far away," he explained, "since that day—the day you were taken ill—the day we were to have commenced a new life—together. But now—" He broke off and the light came to his eyes, deeply.

"Now," she took up his words quickly,
"now we are back again to the old bitter problem. In spite of time's perspective, these things seldom change." In her voice was a little tremor of joy, despite the assumption of regret. She regarded him, tentatively.

Treviston leaned close to the woman,
and again took her hands in his, pressing them softly between his cold fingers.
"There is no bitter problem, Kate; only life and hope and love—always."
For a long time Mrs. Presley did not speak; words seemed out of place to her now. At last she glanced up, two glowing points of color in her cheeks producing an almost unnatural contrast to the rest of the face, grown, in the past year, transparently pale.

For the first time, Treviston noticed that she was wearing all black, and a sudden, inexplicable uneasiness swept over him.

"Why do you wear those clothes?" he asked, abruptly.

Mrs. Presley winced, as though under a probe, and a flash of tears for a moment made her eyes misty. Her glance fell away from his in the pause that followed.

"Surely," she faltered, "you know—you have heard—that my husband—"
She broke off, struggling for self-mastery.

Treviston went white, white as the shirt he wore. No, he said, he had not heard. As a matter of fact, his steamer had just arrived; he had seen no one that he knew. He stared at her stupidly, as he made the announcement.
Mrs. Presley was regarding him with darkened eyes. Her lids contracted as the lids of one in sudden pain.

Treviston shifted in his chair, holding his glance stubbornly averted, but his consciousness did not escape the verdict of her eyes.

He rose mechanically and moved over to the mantel. For a second he stood staring oddly at the face of a tiny Delft clock.

A silence, charged with fierce mental struggle, fell between them. At last Mrs. Presley left her seat and crossed the room to his side. The lines about her eyes and mouth had deepened for a lifetime.

"Good-by," she said, with a sort of strange calm, "good-by for all time. I might have known this, Dick; surely I might have known!" The lips that framed the words were as bloodless as the white rose at her throat.

The sweat broke out on Treviston's face. When he had collected himself, he put out his hand, blindly. "Katherine!"
he cried.

She turned and looked at him curiously, and a certain hardness came into her face.

A moment later, the door closed noiselessly behind her.

Slayton Woman's Symphony Orchestra Wednesday Evening

Slayton's Woman's Symphony orchestra will undoubtedly be greeted by a large audience at Winants chapel next Wednesday evening, when it appears as the third number of the Hope college lecture course. All of the qualifications necessary to the making of a good orchestra are found in this company of twenty ladies. Four soloists as good as the best are with the company, and all are under the baton of the king of musical directors Joseph Hecker. These artists are selected from the best musical talent of the century, and are brought together with a certainty of pleasing every audience. The company not only plays but sings, and their chorus work with stringed accompaniments is a new and most delightfully popular feature of an orchestral concert program. The Kalamazoo Gazette has the following regarding the orchestra:
"The Slayton Women's Symphony Orchestra which appeared at the Academy of Music Monday evening fulfilled all expectations and furnished a rich treat to lovers of orchestra music. The program, while classical to a degree was still diversified with simpler airs and tuneful numbers within the range of all. It is under the leadership of Joseph Hecker, one of the most successful band and orchestra leaders in the United States."

It Is a Mistaken Idea

To give too much time to the selection of a Piano; this time could better be spent in selecting a dealer. It should not be hard to size him up by the very appearance of things; for instance, if he be disposed to depreciate his competitor, its pretty strong evidence he hasn't much to offer for himself. One may well have reason to be suspicious of a dealer who promises very much more than is promised by other dealers in a like business. Select the dealer right and the good piano follows. Look up our re-

Miles' Heart Cure
Cured Entirely.

"It hadn't been for Dr. Miles' Remedies
I would not be here to write this letter. Two years ago last June I lost the use of my left arm, could not eat and could only move it in the help of my right hand. My heart was so weak I could not sleep nights for collecting spells. I was out of sorts all over I could eat nothing. I grew so weak that I could not walk without staggering like a drunken man, and my home doctor said he could do nothing for me. I was in so much pain I was almost wild. I could not take any more of the medicine he gave me. I got to thinking about Dr. Miles' Heart and Nerve and the more I thought of it the more I wanted to try them. I went to the Dr. Miles Medical Co. for advice which I followed to the letter. I can today that I am glad I did as I am a well man now, can work and can walk two or three miles and not mind it. I can also use my arm again as well as ever. You do not know how thankful I am for those grand cures Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and Nerve. I think Dr. Miles' Remedies are the best in the world, and if I should get sick again I should take the same course.
Remedies also helped my daughter Vida convalesce that I should have written before to thank you, but I wanted to be that the cure was permanent, which I know to be the case."—Mrs. Frank

TO INTERCEPT RUSSIAN SHIPS

Japanese Fleet Ordered to Prevent Czar's Vessels from Reaching Port Arthur.

STARTLING NEWS OF WAR MOVE
OF THE MIKADO FROM TOKIO

No Confirmation of the News at Washington—Belief Said to Be Gaining Ground in Moscow That Hostilities Between Japan and Russia Have Already Begun.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 24.—A semi-official Russian agency has received from Tokio a report to the effect that Japanese warships have been dispatched to prevent the Russian war vessels Tsarevitch and Balan reaching Port Arthur to join the Russian squadron there.

No News at Washington.
Washington, Nov. 24.—Dispatches
from Tokio received at the Japanese legation here as late as Tuesday make no mention of Japanese warships being dispatched to prevent Russian war vessels reaching Port Arthur. On the contrary, the advices are to the effect that there is a favorable outlook regarding a settlement of the questions at issue between Japan and Russia.

Nothing is known here regarding the reported occupation of Wiju by Japan and the officials say they would not be surprised to have the report confirmed in view of the fact that this is the port which United States Minister Miller has just gone to Chemulpo to endeavor to have opened to the world's trade. If the report is true, officials say, there can be but one conclusion drawn from the fact, namely, that the move is a war measure on Japan's part, and is made in full recognition of the fact that it is no longer possible to avoid a hostile clash with Russia.

War May Have Begun.
London Nov. 24.—A series of disquieting rumors in reference to the far east are published from various sources this morning. These reports seem to gather certain significance from the absence of any reliable authoritative statement concerning the actual situation.

In addition to the St. Petersburg rumor that Japanese warships have been sent to intercept the two Russian battleships bound for Port Arthur there is one report from Moscow which says the belief is growing there that hostilities between Russia and Japan in some form or another have actually begun.

Far East Is Silent.
Little information from the far east
can be obtained from Russian sources.
The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Mail represents the position in an unsatisfactory light, and says it is reported that Baron de Rosen, the Russian minister, received on Sunday a long and urgent telegram from St. Petersburg, whereupon he sent for Baron Komura, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs.

Points to Confirmation.
It is possible that the report of the sailing of the Japanese fleet is connected with the statement of the Japanese journal, the Nagasaki Shimpo, to the effect that a Japanese squadron of 12 vessels had left Jasebo for an unknown destination.

The Russian newspaper Svet a few days ago expressed the belief that communication between Port Arthur and Japan had been already interrupted.

A Threat by Russia.

London, Nov. 24.—The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent says that the Russian minister at Seoul has addressed another note to the Korean government declaring that if Korea should ignore all warnings and persist in opening Yonampoh to foreign trade Russia will take active steps to deal with the situation. The Korean government has replied, strongly objecting to Russia's interference as a violation of Korea's sovereign rights.

No Reply from Russia.

Yokohama, Nov. 24.—No reply has been received from St. Petersburg on the subject of the Japanese overtures and there are many indications that the delay in the negotiations is embarrassing Japanese foreign trade and raising impatience in Japanese popular circles,
as shown by public meetings at Tokio, Yokohama and Osaka, protesting against the ministerial inactivity.

Hearing Resumed.

New York, Nov. 24.—After a series of postponements consuming 19 days, which gave rise to rumors that a settlement was being arranged, the hearing in the proceedings to make permanent the receivership of the United States Ship Building company was resumed here Tuesday. The attendance was scarcely half as large as at previous hearings. Before the hearing it was arranged that the adjournment Tuesday night should be for two weeks, on account of engagements of Mr. Nixon and W. D. Guthrie, counsel for the company.

Steamer Wrecked.

Stavanger, Norway, Nov. 24.—The Norwegian steamer Victoria was stranded during Monday night's storm off this port. No attempts to rescue the crew were possible. Five bodies have been washed ashore and some persons were still clinging to the masts of the vessel.

Sir Maple Dead.

London, Nov. 24.—Sir John Blundell Maple, Bart., M. P., is dead. He was born in 1845.

TRAGEDY SUSPECTED.

Aged Couple Found Dead in Burned Home—Thought to Be Case of Double Murder.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 24.—Mr.
and Mrs. George Smith, 60 years of age, were burned to death early Tuesday in a fire which entirely consumed their home. The couple lived alone outside of the city limits. The fire was discovered by neighbors, but before any help could be rendered the old people, the building collapsed.

There is a strong suspicion that the fire in the Smith house was preceded by a murder and suicide. The Smiths have not lived happily together, and only last Saturday Mrs. Smith told a neighbor that she was afraid of her husband;
that he had threatened her, saying: "If it was not for the law, I'd murder you." Smith had also told this neighbor that he intended to get rid of his wife.

Firemen Injured.

New York, Nov. 24.—Four firemen were seriously injured Tuesday morning by the fall of the wall of a tenement house adjoining a livery stable on West Fifty-third street. The occupants of the tenement became panic-stricken when the fire spread from the livery stable and men, women and children fled from their beds to the street. Twenty-one horses were burned.

AFRAID TO TAKE CHANCES.

Kindly Employer Thought Better of Raising Young Man's Salary and Spirits.

"Yes," said the gray-haired, kindly looking old man, thoughtfully, relates the Brooklyn Eagle, "I thought of promoting James and increasing his salary. He has been here a long time and has been exceedingly faithful. But I'm afraid I can't do it. Poor boy!
His family physician says that he has some heart trouble and that any surprise or undue excitement would kill him."

"Is it as bad as that?" asked the cashier.

"Indeed it is," responded the gray-haired old man with a sigh. "I'm sorry for the poor lad, but I don't see what I can do."

"Well, if he's doomed to an early grave," said the cashier, slowly, "the least we can do is to see that he dies happy."

"Yes, that's all there is left," acquiesced the proprietor.

"And from what I know of James,"
continued the cashier, "he couldn't die a happier death than one caused by promotion and an increase of salary."

"Do you really think so?" asked the kindly old man, interestedly. "I'd like to do a nice thing for James."

"O, I'm sure of it. If it killed him, he'd die with a smile on his lips, perfectly happy and at peace with the world."

The old man roused himself after a moment's thought, slowly shook his head and said:
"No; I'd like to do the proper thing
for James, but I haven't much confidence in that doctor. I'm afraid he doesn't know his business. We'll let it go for the present."

House on the Rocks.

Once upon a time there was an ambitious man who desired to found a great and prosperous house, so he worked and worked, and then worked more, and after that continued to work.

While he worked and accumulated wealth to his desire, he saved and reinvested and reinvested over and over again, while a large family was growing up under his roof.

Finally he and his children found themselves firmly grounded in the Four Hundred, and had no fear of any social winds or floods that might beat against their house.

Moral: A house to stand must be founded on "rocks."—N. Y. Herald.

Not a Student.

"Do you know anything about Milton Paradise Lost?" inquired the philanthropist, who was thinking of donating a library to the benighted town.
"No, sir," replied the freckled native.
"Is there a reward for its return?"—Chicago Daily News.

MAY DESERT LONELY ISLAND.

Inhabitants of St. Kilda, of Hebrides Group, Said to Be Planning Migration to South Africa.

That lonely island, St. Kilda, one of the loneliest of the Hebrides, is likely to be left lonelier still in the near future. Its inhabitants, it is reported, propose deserting the island and emigrating to South Africa. This is not much to be wondered at, for St. Kilda is one of the most inaccessible islands in the world
—only four times a year, once a month
in June, July, August and September, does a steamer call from Glasgow. For the rest of the year the inhabitants are entirely cut off from the outer world.
Their special mail is in a tin box, into which they put letters, toss it into the sea and trust to Providence and favorable winds to carry it to the shores of the outer Hebrides. The population of the island has gradually dwindled to 75.
The last time there was a great exodus was when 36 islanders left in a search for gold in Australia.

Maria Was Not Attractive.

"At the club to-day Margaret read a paper on 'Why Are Men Averse to Marriage.' I felt so sorry for her."

"Why so?"

"Because you only had to look at her to get an answer to the question."— Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It All Depends.

"I trust, my friend," said the minister, "that your lines are cast in pleasant places."

"Well," answered the long-haired poet, "that depends on whether you call waste baskets pleasant places or not."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Recommends Vinol as Being the Best Cod Liver Oil Preparation.

There has been of late a good deal discussion in Lexington regarding the merits of cod liver oil preparations, and whether or not cod liver oil and emulsions that upset the stomach have any medicinal virtues. Therefore the following letter will be read with interest:

M. A. CASSIDY.

"I am pleased to state that after using different cod liver oil preparations on the market, I find Vinol to be the best of them all. It is pleasant and palatable to the taste; in fact,
the only taste of the cod liver oil is disguised or done away with entirely,
and its strengthening properties are truly remarkable.

"It has built up my system, strengthened my nerves, in fact, it has made a new man of me, enabling me to take up my work with renewed energy and vigor, and I heartily endorse Vinol as the most efficacious and agreeable cod liver oil preparation on the market."—M. A. Cassidy.

Knowing that Con DePree of this city guarantees this preparation in the strongest manner possible, he was called upon for information. Said Mr.
DePree: "Vinol I firmly believe is the world's greatest preparation of cod liver oil, for it contains in a highly concentrated form every one of the fifty odd medicinal curative elements found in cod liver oil, yet is entirely free from oil or grease.

Vinol is delicious to taste and acceptable to the weakest stomach. It contains no drugs or poisonous ingredients and there is no necessity for people to load their stomachs with drugs, nauseating oil or emulsions to obtain the curative power of cod liver oil, for it is all obtained in Vinol.
Vinol is the greatest strength creator and health restorer known to medicine today. I could quote innumerable instances where it has fortified and built up the system, strengthened the nerves, cured indigestion, chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and incipient consumption, given strength and vigor to the aged, replaced weakness with strength and made the sick well.

"It is for this reason that I offer to give back the money every time if it fails to give satisfaction." Con De Pree, druggist.

Not a Sick Day Since

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver and Kidney troubles and General Debility." This is what B. F. Bass, of Fremont, N. C. writes. Only 50c. at Heber Walsh, Druggist.

MANY LABORERS BURNED TO DEATH

Twenty-Eight Italian Workmen Are Victims of Fire in a Shanty Near Lilly, Pa.

Score or More Others Seriously Injured—Flames Break Out While Men Are Asleep—Awful Struggle for Life Takes Place—Over-Heated Stove Supposed to Be Cause.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 23.—While 125 Italian railroad laborers were asleep in a shanty near Lilly, Pa., on the Pennsylvania, early Saturday, the building caught fire and 28 were burned to death. Thirty-two men were injured and several cannot recover.

The men were employed by McMenamin & Sims, on the Pennsylvania railroad improvements between Lilly and Portage. There were 500 on the job, all Italians.

The shanty was about 100 feet long, one story in height, and built on the usual style of such quarters. The eastern end was devoted to the cooking and eating, while the men slept in bunks, like sardines in a can, in the western end. There was only one door at each end and the windows were few and small.

Fire Catches from Stove. The fire is supposed to have started from an overheated stove in the eastern end. The building burned like tinder and the flames were upon the men before any of them were aroused.

Then began a struggle for the outside and life. They fought and scrambled for the doors, and the weaker were crushed. Others were roasted to death.

Those who strove for the door were in the wildest sort of panic. They fought and kicked, and among those who escaped there are many who bear the marks of the fierce strife which took place in this battle for life. A few got out of the small windows, minus clothes and with their bodies cut from broken glass.

Die Saving Treasure. Many of those who did manage to get out had their savings in their trunks, which they left behind them. Remembering this fact as soon as they got outside, they fought just as fiercely to get back. A few succeeded, but for the sake of their hoarded treasure they gave up their lives. One eye witness says he does not believe a single man of those who returned succeeded in getting out again.

In the ruins some of the corpses were close beside the hooped bands of their trunks, and melted gold and silver which had been kept in those receptacles indicated that they had fallen and died with their treasure in their arms.

The bodies were practically burned to pieces. An Italian who looked at them and knew every man in the shanty was unable to identify a single one.

DEATH OF GEN. DRAKE.

Ex-Gov. of Iowa Dies at His Home in Centerville—Leaves an Estate Valued at Millions.

Centerville, Ia., Nov. 21.—Gen. F. M. Drake, ex-governor of Iowa, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Goss, in this city, at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The estate of Gen. Drake, consisting of bank and railroad stocks and farm land, is estimated to be worth between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. It is said Drake university in Des Moines, which institution the ex-governor has already given sums totaling $200,000, will receive a share of the estate. Gen. Francis Marion Drake was born in Rushville, Schuyler county, Illinois, December 30, 1830. He was elected to the governorship of Iowa in 1895. He served throughout the civil war with distinction.

Centerville, Ia., Nov. 24.—The funeral of ex-Gov. F. M. Drake was held here Monday. The services were conducted from the Central Church of Christ, under the auspices of the St. John's commandery, Knights of Templar. The body lay in state for three hours in the church, which was inadequate to accommodate the crowd. Interment took place at Oakwood cemetery, beside the body of Mrs. Drake.

Bullets Fly in Strike Riot.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—With the first operation of cable trains in State street yesterday since the City railway strike began a serious riot took place at State and Forty-first streets and 40 shots or more were fired by the police. One man, who was not captured, is believed to have been hit by the police. The State street cars encountered obstacles all along the line.

Not Guilty. Cincinnati, Nov. 23.—Daniel Voorhees Miller, of Terre Haute, and Joseph M. Johns, of Rockport, Ind., were acquitted on the charge of conspiracy to extort a bribe from John J. Ryan, made by the post office department.

EXTRA SESSION WORK.

Senate Thus Far Transacts Very Little Business—House Passes Cuban Reciprocity Measure.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Up to date no business of importance has been transacted in the senate. Several petitions have been received against Senator Smoot, of Utah, retaining his seat, and bills of various character have been introduced, but no action has been taken. In the house, after three days' debate, the Cuban reciprocity bill was passed by a vote of 335 to 21. The dissenting votes were about equally divided between republicans and democrats.

In the senate yesterday Senator Newlands, author of the resolution annexing Hawaii, introduced a joint resolution inviting Cuba to become a state of the United States upon terms of equality with the states of the union.

Washington, Nov. 24.—Panama and Cuba engaged the attention of the senate yesterday to the exclusion of all other questions. Senator Morgan discussed the canal question. It was agreed that a vote on the Cuban bill should be taken December 16. This defers action until the regular session of congress. The house was not in session.

TWENTY-ONE MEN KILLED.

And Many More Are Injured in a Collision of Trains on a Curve Near Tremont, Ill.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 20.—Twenty-one men were killed and 14 more injured in a head-on collision between a west-bound freight and a work train on the Big Four railroad between Mackinaw and Tremont at 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. So far 12 only have been identified, the remaining being unrecognizable even by those who knew them and are aware of the fact that they are among the dead. All the dead and most of the injured were members of the work train, the crews of both engines jumping in time to save their lives.

The collision occurred in a deep cut at the beginning of a sharp curve neither train being visible to the crew of the other until they were within 50 feet. The engineers set the brakes sounded the whistles and then leaped from their cabs, the two trains striking with such force that the sound was heard for miles around. A second after the collision the boiler of the work train exploded with terrific force, throwing heavy iron bars and splinters of wood to a distance of 200 feet.

THE INDIAN BUREAU.

Commissioner Jones, in His Annual Report, Gives Statistics and Makes Recommendations.

Washington, Nov. 24.—The annual report of Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones advocates the education of the Indian in the rudiments of the English language and that he be taught that he must work or starve. There were 257 Indian schools in operation during the year, 91 being reservation boarding schools, 26 non-reservation, and 140 day schools. The enrollment of pupils was 24,357, and employees numbered 2,282. Mr. Jones strongly denounced the "sun" and other "religious" dances of the Indians, and says that sworn reports of eye witnesses of these performances show they are revolting in the extreme. A total of $757,173 has been paid to the Indians for their inherited lands under the act of May 27, 1902.

BARE BRIBE PLOT.

Warrants Issued for the Arrest of Seventeen Former City Officials of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 23.—Warrants were issued Saturday for 17 former city officials, charging them with accepting a bribe in connection with the famous Garman-Cameron scheme for supplying the city with water from Lake Michigan. All of the warrants are the result of the confession made by Lant K. Salsbury, former city attorney, on his return last week from serving a two-years' term in the Detroit house of correction for breaking the federal banking law in connection with the scheme.

Death of Noted Song Writer.

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—A silent organ in the lodgings occupied by Hart P. Danks, the musical composer, led to the discovery that he was dead. He was 79 years of age and had a national reputation as a singer and song writer. He was the author of many old-time popular songs, including "Don't Be Angry With Me, Darling," and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." He was at various times director or basso soloist with prominent churches in New York, Brooklyn, Chicago and Cleveland.

A Helping Hand

IS GLADLY EXTENDED BY A HOLLAND CITIZEN

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Holland prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence, and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

John Kloosterman, two miles of Zeeland says: "Forten or twelve years I looked in vain for some medicine to free me from distressing kidney complaint. I suffered at intervals during that period with aching pains through the loins, twinges up and down the muscles of my back, irregular and unnatural condition of the kidney secretions and frequent attacks of dizziness. My son, John Kloosterman, a tailor, 133 East Eighth St., Holland, noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the Holland papers and highly recommended by people who had used them. Thinking they might help me he procured a supply at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and sent them out to me. I noticed shortly after I commenced the treatment that it was doing me good and as I continued my condition improved. In my estimation Doan's Kidney Pills are by far the best remedy on the market.

In accordance with plans formed at the recent meetings held under the auspices of the anti-saloon league a meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Methodist church and further details for the anti-saloon crusade were made. A resolution was passed favoring the proposition that the churches of this county join under the leadership of the state Anti-Saloon league in an effort to awaken, organize and lead the sentiment in opposition to the saloon until the county adopts prohibition under the state law, and the matter of presenting this proposition to the churches of the county was referred to a committee.

The annual financial statement of the Third Reformed shows that the church is free from debt, the pastor's salary paid up to date and that a balance remains in the treasury. This is indeed a gratifying condition of affairs especially when it is taken into consideration that numerous improvements have been made the past year. The total sum received by the church including contributions by different societies was for, congregational purposes, $2978.24; for benevolent purposes 1177.40; a total of $4155.65. At the congregational meeting held Monday evening Peter Gunst and E. Vander Veen were elected deacons and J. Kerkhof, H. VanArk and John Pessink, elders.

Grand Rapids is still reaping the whirlwind of the recent municipal scandal in connection with the scheme to pipe water from Port Sheldon to Grand Rapids. Seventeen warrants for arrests have been issued by the Kent county prosecuting office for those implicated by Lant K. Salsbury in the Grand Rapids water steal. Malachi Kinney, Ex-Ald. John T. Donovan, Ald. Jacob Mol, Ex-Ald. Abraham Ghysels, Ex-Ald. Charles Johnson, Ex-Ald. Ryner Stonehouse, Ex-Ald. Daniel Lozler, Ex-Ald. John McLachlan, Ex-Ald. Alderman Schriver confessed his guilt when arraigned in police court and was bound over to the superior court for sentence December 12. There are rumors of other confessions.

Fred Zalsman, local agent of the Graham & Morton line, announces the close of navigation for the season for that line, the last trip being made by the Argo last Wednesday. It was expected that the close would not come until two weeks later but the condition of the harbor made it necessary to call a halt this week. The company regrets to close so soon, as business was exceptionally good, better in fact than it has been any previous fall.

Mrs. Susan J. Conner was born in Ionia, Mich. Jan. 16, 1848. She was left fatherless at the age of four years. At the age of twenty-two she was married to Enoch L. Rhoades, a veteran of the civil war. An only child, a daughter, was given them to care and comfort for them in their declining years and protracted sickness. Her respected husband, after years of suffering from exposure in the army, was released from his sufferings in March 1902. Since his decease his widow has declined in health until the end came Nov. 4th at 2 a. m. She had previously given directions about her funeral; and left her children comforting assurance of her readiness to depart and be with Christ.

Her "corruptible body" was laid beside her husband's in the cemetery near Ottawa Station where they had resided twenty seven or twenty eight years.

Her daughter and her husband and three grand children together with a brother and two sisters are left to mourn their loss.
