Don't forget the K. of P. Minstrels Wednesday and Friday evening, Nov. 30 and Dec. 2. Price's Opera House

..WE GIVE THANKS..

We are thankful to Almighty God for health and strength, so that we have been able to attend to our daily work and duties.

We are thankful that we have been spared from any and all calamities, such as fire, storms, or anything which might have resulted in great financial loss.

We are thankful that we are citizens of a nation that acknowledges the same of its blessings, and set aside a day to give expressions of its gratefulness.

We are thankful to the people of Holland and vicinity for their good will and liberal patronage to such an extent that we can truly say: This has been a good year.

For all these blessings, and many more, which we can not enumerate.

WE ARE SINCERELY THANKFULL

Make a Real Effort

If you have tried all kinds of doctors and all the different appliances that treat effects. You have received very little or no benefit. You have become discouraged with those methods and given up the fight. I want to tell you that I have cured cases as bad as yours by adjusting the spinal column. Make a real effort and get well by removing the cause, which is impinged nerves.

The pressure on the nerves checks the life-giving force and disease is sure to follow, release the nerve, health and happiness is the result.

Local News

The Holland Daily Sentinel plant has been moved on River street to more commodious quarters.

John and William Arendsehorst the enterprising rusk men are each erecting new homes on East Ninth street. Boomers and Smeenge are the contractors.

There is on exhibition in the window of The Dutton Flower Shop, a quince measuring 12 1/2 inches in circumference and weighing one pound which was grown on the fruit farm of M. Wheatley, Fennville, Mich.

The United States government has approved a list of 48 second class post offices in the United States, where postal saving banks are to be established, which means one for each state and territory. Houghton gets the one to be established in Michigan.

G. J. Pessink for ten years a rural mail carrier from the Holland office has resigned his position on account of failing health. Mr. Pessink was presented with a gold handled umbrella by his fellow carriers before he left for Chicago, where he will now reside. A farewell reception was held at the home of Carrier Stegenga.

The Western Theological seminary will graduate a class of five next spring, four of whom are graduates of Hope college. The class roll contains the names of John W. Douma of Hamilton; Anthony Haverkamp of Cedar Grove, Wis.; Hubert Kuiper of Orange City, Ia.; John Orie Rogers of Hull, Is.; and William C. Walwood of Oostburg, Wis. Mr. Kuiper has presented himself as a volunteer to the foreign mission field.

Members of the board of trade consisting of President C. Verschure, G. Van Schelven, John J. Cappon, G. J. Van Duren and E. P. Stephan conferred with Major Frederick Brackett last week in regard to the $80,000 post office building Congressmen Diekema secured for Holland. Several sights were looked over and their owners conferred with and a report of the proceeding have been sent to Washington.

Cornie Schaap of Zeeland informs us that his brother, Peter Schaap, has been again elected sheriff of Sioux county, Iowa. He has been in office continually for some 16 years in a strong Republican county, being the only Democrat elected, and each time his majorities have increased. Two years ago he was elected by 706 and the present November vote put him in by 1,457. This is a fine testimony from his people after so many years of service Mr. Schaap has a number of relatives in this community.

Local option elections have been ordered in April in the following counties now dry: Sanilac, Tuscola, Jackson, Allegan, Emmet, Genesee, Ionia and Newaygo. The following wet counties will also submit the local option propositions to a vote: Cheboygan, Alpena, Iosco and Huron. Other counties in which the question may be submitted are: Montmorency, Kalamazoo and Mecosta. Attempts were to be made by the wet forces in Calhoun, Charlevoix and Alcona to secure the submission of the question at January meetings, but the dry supervisors in those counties fooled the wet advocates by adjourning sine die. As the matter cannot be considered except at a regular session of the board, no vote can be had in those counties before 1912.

The papers have much to tell of the decline in price of meats and some other sorts of food, but in most cases the price in prices has not been made by the retailers. It has not yet gotten so far along as that. The reduction is reported from various cities to be from ten to twenty-five per cent, in meat prices. Poultry prices have also declined. Nothing of this is perceptible in the Holland retail markets. Various causes are given—the elections, the big corn crop, the high price of hay (forcing cattle upon the market,) etc. None of these are sufficient in the minds of two experts in such matters—Dr. Wiley and Sec'y Wilson of the department of agriculture. These men do not believe the reported drop in prices will last long. They believe the whole thing is but a new scheme of the beef trust and that it will end in higher prices than ever.

Harry Post is Very Ill

Sheriff Andre last night received a telegram from the U. S. consul general in Mexico, stating that Richard H. Post is very ill and had been moved from the prison at Monterey to the hospital. No further details of the Holland man's illness were contained in the message, but the sheriff was asked to notify his relatives of his condition. It is believed that Harry Post's sickness may have been caused by his long imprisonment under trying conditions in the Mexican prison, where neither the food nor the living conditions are healthful to an American accustomed to other modes of life. The Holland young man has been held by the Mexican authorities for many weeks pending the decision of the Mexican government to turn him over to the American authorities for the sheriff of Ottawa county, who wants him for alleged business irregularities at Holland. Mr. Post has asked repeatedly to be taken back to Ottawa county and Sheriff Andre not long ago made a trip to Mexico in the hope of hurrying up proceedings and bringing back his man. His mission was without avail however, as the Republic of Mexico required that the case pass through the regular channels of diplomacy. It has been passing through ever since, and while the young man waited for the slow wheels of the machinery of the southern republic to grind out his fate, he fell ill.

Sheriff Andre stated upon his return to this city that Post looked ill. He was then being furnished food from outside of the prison by friends but he was compelled, like the other prisoners, to sleep on the concrete floors of his cell. He lost many pounds in weight and under the worry and hardship looked a mere shadow of his former self. Considerable fear is felt by friends over the distressing reports concerning the young man.

Tickets Selling Fast for Great Concert

The Treble Clef musical club consists of sixty-five ladies all excellent vocalists under the direction of J. J. Helder and the concert will be well worth hearing. In fact Grand Haven people anticipate a real treat musical enjoyment next Monday night. The chorus will arrive in a special train at shortly before eight o'clock and will be accompanied by a large party of Holland people, who will take advantage of the excursion rate offered and come to Grand Haven to hear the favorites sing. The Grand Haven concert band will greet the visitors and there is every indication of a great turnout of the local people. Seats are selling rapidly and the management advises every one to attend to their reservations as early as possible in order to avoid the rush at the last minute.—Grand Haven Tribune.

Close Postoffice Sundays

Clerks and carriers all over the county are crying for the Sunday closing of postoffices that they, like other employees in other offices, may have one day in the week all to themselves. The article given below from the Englewood Times of Chicago might hold good for Holland as well as for conditions in that metropolis:—

We can see no really good reason why the postal stations should be opened Sunday. No matter how urgent our business may be in any other branch we do not expect to find city, state or county offices open for business on that day, any more than we do the stores or places of business or private institutions. Calling for the mail Sunday noons is largely a matter of habit, and we can do without it if we only think so. At any rate, should any emergency arise that it is absolutely necessary to get the mail, the clerks at the side alley door, would be glad to accommodate patrons.

It is also a great injustice to the clerks and carriers to break into their one day of rest, and doubtless many are prevented from attending church or devoting their time to something else than work on that day which God and man has decreed "Thou shalt not labor."

Fair Meeting

The Holland Fair association will hold its annual meeting Tuesday, December 6 for the purpose of electing a president, vice-president, secretary and the required number of directors and such other business as will be brought before the meeting. The meeting will be held in the common council rooms and an interesting session is assured.

How King of Birds is Found and Shot Today

"I can tell you that the man who gets a big wild turkey gobbler now-a-days comes very near ranking with the intrepid hunter who bags the dik-dik in 'darkest Africa,'" said a man who has followed tracks for many years.

And he's right. There's some class about this sport. Of all birds the turkey is king, and he is indeed a regal fellow. Largest of his race, he stands absolutely without a peer in size, beauty of plumage, edible qualities, and when fairly hunted, as a test of the craft and resources of his human pursuer.

While it is probable that the wild turkey will before many years become an extinct species, there are still many of them to be found in this country its native home. Especially is this true in the Pennsylvania mountains, Florida, and in the southwest, extending down into Mexico the ancestral home of our tame turkey.

There are several ways of hunting wild turkeys, some of which border too nearly upon "pot-hunting" to be a true sport. One way is the "calling" of a bird to a "blind." Here the hunter after having gotten within earshot of the flock, hides behind an ambush of logs or branches and "calls"—imitates turkey talk.

The veteran hunter takes a section of turkey bone in the hollow of his hand and sucks through it a succession of lugubrious "kad-yook-kad-yook-kad yooks." The object is to persuade some fool of a gobbler that the plumpest and prettiest hen turkey in the whole county "would be delighted to meet him for a general good time."

Will the polygamous old turkey come? Most certainly! Being like not a few men, he gobbles about it puffs out his chest, struts around to see if his tail feathers are sticking out at the proper angle, and keeps edging nearer and nearer to where he supposes his would-be lady love anxiously awaiting him.

He doesn't see the barrel of the gun sticking through the blind, but he is suspicious. His keen ear will detect a cheat. A single false note will put him wise and drive him to cover in a hurry and he will not keep that "date."

He approaches with dropped wings and fanning tail strutting impressively and—bang! That gobbler suddenly loses interest in things terrestrial.

Another method is coursing the turkey with greyhounds. This is a sport of the southwestern plains. The turkey is rushed by hounds and horsemen until he is winded and surrenders.

But the genuine sport with the turkey is tracking in the snow. Here the first thing is to get on the trail of a flock, which is followed steadily patiently, remorselessly over unspeakable stretches of logs getting farther and farther into dense forests, thrusting through acres and acres of close growing underbrush, until one by one the tired hens leave the flock and seek shelter in some cover near by, where they afford the shotgun comparatively easy chances.

It is however the old gobbler, the king of the lot that your true sportsman is after. He takes up the trail again, following until the royal leader is left alone. His big tracks lead through the roughest scrub and over ridge after ridge. He is well aware that he is being followed, and he shows his crafty nature in these last stages of the trail.

At last the pursuer sees a black mass with nodding head and snaky neck as it halts and stands bolt upright. Rifle jumps to the shoulder—a sharp report re-echoes, through the silent woods, and the king of birds has started on his last journey—to decorate the center of the Thanksgiving day table.

Fred Heitje, Frank Eby, Joe Rozenboom and Martin De Weerd have returned from a hunting expedition to the North woods. Of the whole party Fred Heitje is the only one that returns with any deer to his credit, having killed two in Upper Peninsula. There seems to be plenty of deer in the woods, but they are very wary. The hunters that went as far north as the upper Peninsula have been as a rule more successful.

Zeeland.

Several ministers of the Christian Reformed church met at Zeeland Thursday the classis of the Christian Reformed churches convening. The matter of forming a new church in North Blendon was taken up. Though a farming community sparsely settled with already one church of the Reformed denomination to its credit several of the people of North Blendon requested the classis of Zeeland to build a Christian Reformed church as well and to be allowed to be organized into a separate congregation.

After a number of conferences during the summer and after several committees had looked the field over carefully the matter came to a head. A committee was appointed consisting of Rev. William D. Vander Werp of Zeeland, Rev. T. Vander Ark of Drenthe and Rev. J. H. Mokma of Overisel to perfect the organization, and active steps will be taken immediately.

The election of officers in the Aid society of the North street Christian Reformed church has been postponed until December 1st.

Mrs. Rev. Vander Werp have returned from a visit to Grand Haven and Muskegon, she was accompanied by her two children.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Brouwer of Drenthe—a son.

The C. L. King indoor baseball team of Holland came to Zeeland last Thursday night and defeated the Olympic team by a score of 12 to 3. The Olympic is a recently organized nine and during the past few weeks they have been doing some good work.

A wedding took place Thursday afternoon at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wissink, a short distance south of Zeeland when their daughter Agnes was united in marriage to William J. Meeuwse, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meeuwse of Holland.

Many relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony which was performed by Rev. P. P. Cheff, pastor of the Reformed church at Forest Grove. The young couple are well known in social circles and have a large number of friends. They will make their home at the old D. Marling homestead, two miles southeast of Zeeland.

Although the city of Zeeland has remained immune from measles so far the people here are finally in for a seize. One home has been put under quarantine. There are a large number of cases in the rural homes. Several of the schools in the country outside of Holland and Zeeland have been closed and all efforts are being made to stamp out the disease.

While working near Saugatuck one of the hired men of the Comstock farm had the misfortune of falling off a wagon and dislocating his right shoulder. Dr. J. Masselink attended him.

The Borculo Independent Telephone company is growing rapidly. Six months ago they started with eight subscribers and at present 50 have had the telephone put into their residence. Saturday 18 new families were enrolled on the list.

Rev. P. P. Cheff of Forest Grove who has accepted a call to the First Reformed church, will preach his farewell sermon Sunday afternoon.

Word has been received of the marriage of Miss Henrietta Baert, a former Zeeland girl, now making her home at Seattle, Wash., to John Kerr Hanna of Edeson, Wash. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Matthews.

Marie Jansen has returned from Emden, Minn., where she has been visiting her sister Mrs. Beld the past few months.

A kitchen shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schaap at New Groningen in honor of Miss Helen Ten Haven, who will soon be a bride.

East Saugatuck

Dr. Ed. Fredericks of Holland spent Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. G. Derkse, Helen Sipping, Al. Deur, Miss Jennie Bowman, Miss Sadie Kramer, Henry Deters, L. Jaarda were visitors in East Saugatuck the past week.

Miss Effie Slenk is at the switch board in the telephone exchange and she is never "asleep at the switch" either.

Gerrit Tubbergen paid Mrs. H. Vanden Berg $5,100 for 56 acres of land.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Wolters.

May, the three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bordick died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ford on the corner of First avenue and Ninth street in Holland Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Bordick make their home in East Saugatuck but were rooming in Holland at the time of the child's death. The funeral was held from their home in East Saugatuck, Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Brownback conducting the services.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John VerLier died Monday. The funeral was held Thursday.

Mrs. C. P. Zwemmer visited relatives in Holland Wednesday.

Mr. C. P. Zwemmer made a business trip to Allegan Wednesday. Miss Hattie Brinks of Allendale is visiting her sister the Misses Edd and J. Van Lier.

Mr. Mannie Bolles spent a few days in Casco visiting his grandparents.

Next Sunday Rev. R. L. Haan of Central ave. church will preach here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Brink visited the latter's brother Mr. and Mrs. W. Postma and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beckman called on relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Huis of Montello Park were the guest of Mr. R. Brink and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lohman, jr., of Hamilton visited Mr. H. Volkers and family Sunday.

Saugatuck

D. A. Heath has bought the water front property which he has been using for a number of years for headquarters for his boat livery and will improve it considerably, perhaps put up a good sized building to be used as a storehouse for storing boats. Mr. Heath paid H. D. Moore $1,000 for the property.

Mr. James Alber made another sale of pearls on last Monday to some Grand Rapids parties. The pearl market as well as that of furs must be looking up of late, as this is the second or third sale of this kind in the past few weeks.

Capt. Phelps has charge of a piece of work at Mrs. Cook's dock property just north of the Hotel Butler grounds. Brush has been carefully piled along the water front and this has been covered with earth as far back as 85 feet from the shore. The property has been covered with trees and will soon be large enough to be an ornament to the place.

While bringing down a scowload of wood from up the river, Messrs. James G. Wark, J. E. Durham and Thomas Fleming narrowly escaped drowning when their boat sank last Saturday night at Dailey's bayou. All the men were saved, however, and the wood also which was loaded on another scow.

Hamilton

Eli Veach has left for Niles to visit his father.

A. J. Klomparens was in Monterey last Friday on monumetal business for his patrons.

M. B. Knowlton of Douglas was here on business last week.

Hale P. Bartlett of G. and Haven was here several days last week putting up lighting systems.

Mrs. Clara Dutcher who has been cooking in a large hotel in Chicago is now doing the same work in the Hamilton hotel.

Mrs. Jasper of Dunningville was the guest of Mrs. Howard Powers.

Jamestown

While playing with several other children in the barn at the family home two and one-half miles north of here on the Holland interurban line, Herman Kreuze, thirteen years old, shot and instantly killed his sister, Mary, two years old. The tragedy occurred late Saturday afternoon.

The children were playing at hunting sparrows and the boy was loading a rifle. Suddenly, in some manner, the rifle was discharged, the bullet striking Mary in the mouth and lodging in her brain.

The little one fell to the floor with the blood flowing from her mouth. The other children becoming frightened, rushed to tell the mother. When the latter arrived on the scene the little was dead.

Zutphen

A wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Pueter, at Zutphen, when her daughter, Susie, was married to Cornelius Weststrate of Forest Grove the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. Vander Werp, pastor of the Christian Reformed church.

The attendance at the school at Indian Creek is decreasing because

Fillmore

Saturday afternoon occurred the death of Mrs. Jake Helder at her home in Fillmore township, after a lingering illness with cancer. Deceased has been in a hospital in Grand Rapids for some time previous to her death. She was 53 years old and is survived by a husband and one daughter, Mrs. Dick Van Oort of Holland. The funeral took place yesterday from the Christian Reformed church at Neikerk, Rev. Robberts officiating.

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Many Holland Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Holland citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Holland by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. M. Van Houston, 287 W. Thirteenth St., Holland, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for many years. The pains through my back, loins and under my shoulders caused me untold agony and at times I could hardly bend or exert myself in any way. Whenever I caught cold I settled in my kidneys, greatly aggravating my suffering. As a further indication of kidney trouble, the kidney secretions became unnatural. I was restless at night and was unable to sleep well. I finally procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Doesburg's Drug Store and had used them only a short time before I was cured. I gave a statement for publication in 1900, telling the above facts and am very glad to confirm it now. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions since then and they have always brought great benefit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Lion Fondles a Child

In Pittsburg a savage lion fondled the hand that a child thrust into his cage. Danger to a child is sometimes great when least regarded. Often it comes through Colds, Croup, and Whooping Cough. They slay thousands that Dr. King's New Discovery could have saved. "A few doses cured our baby of a very bad case of Croup," writes Mrs. George B. Davis, of Flat Rock, N. C. "We always give it to him when he takes cold. It's a wonderful medicine for babies." Best for Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Asthma, Hemorrhages, Weak Lungs, etc. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by H. R. Doesburg, Walsh Drug Co.

HE IS NOW JUNIOR PARTNER

How Boy First Came, Unconsciously, to Find Favor With His Employer.

"Our junior partner," said a business man, "came to us as a boy. We had two boys at that time, both equally promising, but one of these boys has since risen only to be a junior clerk in our shipping department, while the other has now become our junior partner. How did we come to know which was which? I will tell you.

"When I came down to the store one morning I found one of the boys sweeping the sidewalk and he was sweeping against the wind. Dust and litter blowing back over the space he had swept, and he going back to sweep it up again. Nice boy and meant well, but lacked the kindling spark of quick intelligence. It didn't dawn on him that he was sweeping the wrong way.

"Next day I found the other boy sweeping and he was sweeping the right way, with the wind. No dust and litter blowing back, to be taken up again with loss of time, but everything going with him. He was sweeping the sidewalk cleaner, making a better job of it, and in half the time. Even at that age the boy had good sense and intelligence, a faculty for doing things the right way, and this faculty he developed more and more strongly as he went along."

The Out-of-Door Life.

The man who lives an out-door life—who sleeps with the stars visible above him—who wins his bodily subsistence at first hand from the earth and waters, is a being who defies rain and sun, has a strange sense of elastic strength, may drink if he likes, and may smoke all day long, and feel none the worse for it. Some such return to the earth for the means of life is what gives vigor and developing power to the colonist of an older race cast on a land like ours. A few generations of men living in such fashion store up a capital of vitality which accounts largely for the prodigal activity displayed by their descendants and made possible only by the sturdy contest with nature which their ancestors have waged. That such a life is still led by multitudes of our countrymen serves to keep up our pristine force and energy.—Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

Well Defined.

"The automobile bids fair to change history, even natural history," said W. B. Rogers, motoring expert, at a dinner in New York.

"A school teacher the other day was examining a class about Colonel Roosevelt's African trip, especially about the specimens shot.

"Thinking of the rhinoceros, the teacher said to a dull, sleepy-looking boy:

"George, what did they find in Africa that is very large, that is very dangerous to approach, and that has a horn?"

"An automobile, ma'am," said George promptly."

Classified.

Upon the recent occasion of the dedication of the courthouse in an Indiana town many prominent citizens were called upon for speeches. One of them, more blessed with money and confidence in himself than with education, distinguished himself by the following immortal sentiment, which he delivered with a grand air: "All mankind," said he, his thumb in his buttonhole, and looking around impressively upon his hearers—"all mankind is divided into two classes, one of whom I am which."—Lippincott's.

A Hope College Boy's Experience as a Peddler in the West

By ANTHONY LUIDENS

E TOOK a west-bound train from Chicago on the day after Commencement. The boys from the Hawkeye state were happy because they were going home, and I was heartsick, apprehensive of the loneliness that might come after the party disbanded. Jack and I didn't take a sleeper; it was a long time before we would meet again. We crossed the Mississippi together, and parted. Jack continued his way homeward while I entered my territory, which was mine only if my ability to sell books gave me possession.

Dubuque being filled with carnival-goers there was no room at the inn. I was compelled to take an attic room, but there were compensations. It was warm and contained a lamp filled with a liquid I had never seen before. My first impression of that oil was that it was a good omen, and that verily I had reached a land of corn and wine. That night I slept the sleep of the just.

The next morning we crossed the Mississippi on a "hay train." It actually stopped for a half-hour to let a freight train pass. One not accustomed to the accommodation train might mistake it for a tourists' special, and such a decision would not be unjustified. Those who have travelled along the river above Dubuque know its beauty. The river islands seem to float downstream as you pass by. The bluffs which tower above you are decorated with lichens and vines. Toward the prairies are the pictured rocks striated with more than twenty varieties of limestone. In the words of an Easterner, this section of Iowa is the "New England of the Middle West."

Everyone but an automobilist finds travel slow in these regions. The only substitute for an auto is the accommodation passenger coach, so called because it is the only coach on a freight train which accommodates passengers. At the speed of ten miles an hour we crept around the hills, and finally reached Turkey Rivers, an Alpine town at the end of a stub line, twenty miles from civilization.

The next day being Sunday, I took a stroll down the river, and after scaling a bluff surveyed the Canaan before me. Below lay the county-seat; in another week all the teachers of that county would be coming to the institute held there. Beyond the town were fertile farms. Surely these wealthy farmers would be interested in my work. But this proved to be an illusion. Monday I began my conquest and found that the county-seat had been thoroughly canvassed with my work the year before. That week I made four dollars, the second skimming.

On the Saturday following we reached Gornvillo, the richest town in northeastern Iowa, and the sleepest. People live and die there without seeing a railroad. A stranger has rare privileges; in the hotel he is given an east room containing an organ for twenty-five cents a day, and the best German meals are served at cut prices. If you visit this town Bill Schumacker will entertain you. After playing "Die Lorelei" and "Stille Nacht" he will ask you to drink the "yellow golden wine" which he learned to make on this side of the Alps. He is the proud possessor of a sheepskin passport given him by Blaine which gave him audience to the "Pabst" at Rome. When he tells you of his trip with eyes glistening, you are not sure that he has been in Rome, but are convinced that he is the friend of a certain "Pabst," at least.

The nuns and sisters while not as hospitable as the "paters" are nevertheless good buyers. One of the priests found us down town on Saturday night and invited us to play checkers with him. Long ago he had been a salesman himself and had a fellow feeling for those engaged in the work. We left his home with a picture of his church and an invitation to call as often as we wished. Such is the inimitable hospitality of the West.

The mark of the Fatherland is still on the people; it is seen in their language, dress and architecture. Among the country churches are several worth from fifty to a hundred thousand dollars. Mediaeval in style, the mural paintings and sculpture are exquisite. All the church services are impressive. On a feast day one might well imagine himself in Germany, so faithfully have these country people kept the customs of their ancestors.

The standards by which they judge a stranger are many and varied. To one you are a teacher or professor; to another, a college man coming to enlist students. One farmer who had read that Kermit Roosevelt was coming West, imagined he was an honored host when I presented myself. A woman told her neighbor that we were inmates from a "cracked-nut" factory near by. Again, you are mistaken for a "candidate" and asked to preach a sermonette. At the next place, perhaps, you are taken for a tramp and treated as such. Some forget that a canvasser has the same feelings and emotions that other people have. However, this class is an exception; most men and women like to entertain you if they can do it in their own way. To the old veteran you are another victim to whom he can tell the story of "The March to the Sea." Another old gentleman leads you to the abandoned sugar camp of years ago. Mothers bring you the chicken pies their daughters have made, or let you taste their new bread dipped in three-year-old sorghum which tastes more like the product of rye than of the sugar cane.

Economy is a favorite subject with many a squire. I am including a recipe that is genuine. To make two pounds of butter from one, dice a pound very thin, warm it gently, add a pint of milk, a pinch of salt and a drop of dandelion juice. Beat the whole with an egg-beater for five minutes, and you will have a butter that spreads farther, is more digestible and will save a pound of butter for every pound used.

Did you ever hear of the ice cave? Our professor of physics will probably ascribe this phenomenon to the action of air currents. It is located in the base of a large hill; an opening of ten feet leads within to a cavern where many icicles hang from the roof. The cave is thirty feet deep and in summer is always full of ice. The unusual peculiarity of the cave is that ice formation increases in the proportion that the temperature rises, and in winter the cave is comparatively warm. On the fourth of July we took our freezers into the cave to freeze our cream, but were compelled to leave the entrance because we were getting cold feet.

These are a few of the experiences of a summer salesman which he will not exchange for gold. They are lessons which he will not need to learn in later years at greater risk and expense. How to deal with your fellow men is the great problem of life and meeting people in their work-a-day natures makes you proficient in the art. Kipling says that it is the knowledge of human nature which makes the Oriental a better business man. Canvassing will bring you that knowledge, which coupled with the advantages of travel and a little hard coin are the reward of the salesman.

Are the Rhodes Scholarships a Failure?

Complaint has been made several times in England that the American Rhodes scholars at Oxford are not the sort that were expected by our British cousins, and we have read one or two statements by returned beneficiaries under the great South African statesman's plan, to the effect that they didn't get nearly what they had expected out of their year's stay abroad. From these "knocks" some people may draw the inference that the Rhodes scholarships are a failure. However, it will not do to jump too hurriedly at such a conclusion. Very possibly a proportion of the Rhodes scholars neither give nor take as much as they might. As for the English complaint voiced above, some Americans who have returned from Oxford feel that there is something lacking in our students' attitude toward Oxford and its life. Arch Perrin, a Leeland Stanford graduate who has spent three years at the great English university, says in an article in Sunset:

"If American students only realized what is offered to them by the Rhodes scholarships they would be keener about taking advantage of the opportunity. Any man who wishes to get a real balance and a real insight into the deeper things of life in order to do better thinking and learn to meet pressing problems of present-day life at home can do no better than to obtain an Oxford scholarship. If a man wishes to be merely a successful, sensible, business man, then an American college course or even a business college training may be adequate. If a man wishes to be merely a good lawyer, or a successful financier, or a clever journalist, then he need not come to Oxford. In the case of such a man's coming to this English university, his plain, common sense ideas would probably get a terrible shock. He would be in grave danger of gaining breadth of vision or a habit of profound thinking, and then his whole career might be changed.

"The only way that such a catastrophe could be averted would be for the student to come to Oxford and take the attitude that many of the Rhodes scholars here do take. Instead of sitting at the feet of Oxford wisdom and drinking in ideas, they expect Oxford to kneel before them and listen to stories of how Washington State University and Trinity College in Connecticut solve all life's problems. If they meet ideas that do not agree with the standards of Miami University or Kansas College, they make fun of them. But the American who is ready to use all the powers of his intellect and to make every effort to understand the Oxford system in going to increase enormously his capacity for solving riddles and clearing up his difficulties. He will not lose his American ideals, but rather he will gain a new sense of the value of much that only the American enjoys. His love for his home land will grow, his sympathies increase as he comes into contact with men from the remotest parts of the world all gathered together into one little university town, and his convictions will take definite form and deepen and expand into something worth while."

Of course, we are not to suppose that all American students look at things as do those Mr. Perrin describes. Not all, nor the greater proportion, can be so very provincial. If there were, there would be ample ground for the plaint of the Britons.

The assertion by one or two Yankees that they gained little or nothing by their visit to Oxford is still less convincing. The statement of Mr. Perrin, quoted above, is a strong argument for the benefits of the scholarships. And Lawrence C. Hull, Jr., Michigan 1905, who returned from Oxford at the close of the last university year, makes an equally vigorous declaration that the Rhodes plan is of very high value to the beneficiaries. In an article in The Michigan Alumnus he says:

"I am serious when I say that I know of no greater opportunity for a young American today—nothing could give him a broader view of life than three years abroad. Think of meeting the best young men of England, who will be the leading men of England before long!

Think of meeting and knowing at least three men from every state in the American Union, and many others from the British colonies and Germany. In my own enthusiasm I am utterly unable to understand why the competitors for these advantages are not numbered by thousands instead of hundreds."

Mr. Hull further declares that the "knocks" by Americans do not represent the real feeling of the scholars from this country; that, as a matter of fact, he personally has never met a Rhodes scholar, either in England or here, who did not believe the system worth while.

Perhaps the best proof that it is not all a failure is the fact that an "International Interchange" of students, with purposes quite like those Mr. Rhodes had in mind, is now actually under way, with the support of some of the greatest men in England and America.

Ten English university men whom the "International Interchange" sent on a three-month tour of Canada and the United States for the purpose of "broadening their conceptions and rendering them of greater economic and social value," have just recently ended their trip with a visit to Harvard and the historic spots about Boston and sailed back to England. These are the first group of 40 or more men sent over during the summer. The scheme is financed by private subscriptions, and has the support of such men as Lord Strathcona, chancellor of Aberdeen and McGill Universities, who is president; Sir Charles Eliot, vice-chancellor of the University of Sheffield, who is chairman of the executive committee; and Prof. F. H. Marsh, master of Downing College, Cambridge, who is chairman of the central general purposes committee. Among the vice-presidents are Premier Asquith; Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada; the Earl of Rosebery; the Lord Bishop of London; Arthur J. Balfour, ex-premier; Austen Chamberlain; Sir Oliver Lodge, and Sir Gilbert Parker.

During their excursion in the west the young Englishmen spent three days working in mines and a week as laborers on a wheat farm, one doing so well that he earned two dollars a day, while another only earned two dollars for the entire week. In New York they were addressed by Acting Mayor Mitchell on the government of the city, and by Dr. Allen of the Bureau of Municipal Research; and to get a glimpse of "the other side" they spent two nights in a Mills hotel. It seems very probable that these men go home with a different attitude toward things American from that which is still most common in England.

A similar "interchange" is now being arranged to take Americans abroad. It is backed by such men as Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California; Harry Pratt Judson of Chicago University, President Schurman of Cornell, President Butler of Columbia, President Lowell of Harvard, President Jorden of Leeland Stanford, President Van Hise of Wisconsin, and President Hadley of Yale, Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller and Col. Roosevelt. One interesting difference between the "interchange" method and the usual scholarship or fellowship is that standing in examinations is not the basis of appointment. Scholarship is of course of some value, but the appointee is chosen by the votes of the whole body of students of the college from which he comes. Next year the English Interchange intends to send women students on the same tour.—Detroit Saturday night.

Two Sentenced in Court

Jacob Baker, the jail breaker, who was recaptured in the city of Grand Rapids appeared in circuit court for sentence Friday morning and was sentenced to spend from six months to one year in Lonia with the recommendation that the sentence be eight months imprisonment. Baker had nothing to say after the sentence was passed.

The prisoner tells an interesting story of his escape from the jail in Grand Haven. Baker states that after dropping out of the jail window he waited a few minutes expecting that others would leave also. Apparently nobody else had the nerve to jump. He started off across Central Park and in his hurry to get away, he came near colliding with one of the cannons.

Baker tells a thrilling story as to his leap from the Interurban car when Deputy Salisbury tried to capture him. The car was running at high speed through the night, when the officer encountered the escaping jail breaker and Baker sprang from the platform into the darkness. The officer grabbed him and Baker's coat gave way under the strain. For an instant the refugee was whirled over and over in the darkness, and finally landed. When he recovered from the shock, he picked himself up, and started down the track. He saw the car backing up toward him and he made off with all speed. Baker came out at Ferrysburg and caught the Pere Marquette train, hiding on the baggage car. As the train passed through Grand Haven, Baker, bruised and sore, crouched hatless and coatless on the car, and watched the local officers searching for him. He succeeded in reaching Grand Rapids from where he went north and worked in the woods for several weeks. Upon his return to Grand Rapids he was recaptured. Sick of being a fugitive he asked to be sentenced at once.

Jay Aldrich, another young Holland burglar, who was captured at Elgin, Ill., changed his plea of not guilty to guilty, and appeared in circuit court and after a short talk with the prisoner, Judge Padgham called him up for sentence.

Judge Padgham gave the young man a good stiff talking to and sentenced him to spend from 5 to 15 years in Lonia with the recommendation that the sentence be five years.

The court stated from the bench, that Aldrich had confessed to him that he had been implicated in other burglaries besides that of the Meyer Music store at Holland and he had decided that there must have been a bad gang of boys in Holland during the last year. He gave Aldrich the five year sentence because he wanted to break up the gang and keep them away from one another. In closing his little lecture, Judge Padgham asked Aldrich to think matters over carefully and resolve to live a straight life when he leaves the prison. No one ever succeeded long in making a living by thievery said the court.

Aldrich is about nineteen years of age and to all appearances has been mixed up with a bad set at Holland for several years. He was arrested for the burglary of the Meyer Music store but jumped his bail and was recaptured at Elgin. Several others implicated in Johnny Vos' confessions will probably be brought to justice before long.

The Reason For It

It was more than a suburban trolley line. It was a line that ran past farmers' doors for miles and miles. At one farmhouse a farmer with a basket on his farm got on the car and took a seat beside me, and presently I asked him:

"Are you taking eggs to town to sell?"

"Yep—five dozen."

"How much a dozen?"

"Thirty-five cents."

"Why is it that eggs are so high right here in the country?"

He felt for his plug of tobacco, bit off a chew, returned the plug, and then answered:

"Wall, its because durned fule folks are willing to pay that price, though hens are willing to lay em for a cent apiece and put in seven days a week!"

The Weight of One Dollar Bills

Most persons would be surprised to learn that one dollar bills are worth almost their weight in gold.

A twenty dollar gold piece weighs five hundred and forty grains. Twenty seven crisp, new one dollar bills, fresh from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, weigh the same as the gold piece.

Bills that have been in use have been tested, and it has been found that it took but twenty-six of them to balance the gold piece. It follows, of course, that the used bills gather an accumulation of various matter, in passing from hand to hand, that causes them to take on additional weight equal to about that of one new bill.

Center of Population

One of the points of interest regarding the last census is as to where this will be located. For some decades it has tarried in the Hoosier State, although the central point, geographically, is in Kansas. At the present rate of progress it will take several periods yet for it to get beyond the Indiana boundary.

They Are Brothers

Perhaps no male quartet has visited Holland during the last few years that has given such manifest satisfaction as the Whitney Brothers who appears on the College Lecture course last year. They were determined to leave the platform for good after their season's work in 1910, but the people of the country have clamored so loudly for their music and elocution that the quartet has decided to make another season's run. The management of the course is glad to announce that the company has a new repertoire of songs which are making a hit. The quartet will be in Holland Thursday, Dec. 1st. The best seats for musicals in Carnegie Hall are now on sale at Hardy's. Even at this early time there is a surprising demand for tickets and it will pay you to buy and select seats for the popular lecture immediately.

Lloyd Purchase once more features in justice court Monday morning when he appeared before Justice Miles on the charge of disturbing a religious meeting Sunday evening. Purchase was arrested last evening as well as a lad named T. J. Maxted, by Officer Steketee on the charge of disturbing the meeting Sunday night of the City Mission. Justice Miles refused to take the charge of Purchase under consideration until he should have paid upon another charge. On election night he was arrested and Justice Miles gave him the alternative of paying a fine of $6 or going to jail for ten days. His mother paid the $6 Monday morning and then the boys pleaded not guilty. They were put under $200 bonds and will appear for trial next Friday afternoon at one o'clock. Purchase has been in trouble several times and according to Justice Miles his only trouble is idleness. He has been given suspended sentences until that means has been exhausted and it seems as though the next offence will call for sterner measures.

Costly Articles.

The most costly book in the world is a Hebrew Bible, owned by the German government, which a few years ago refused the Pope's offer of $125,000 for it. The most costly medicine a few years ago was metallic gallium, which sold for $150,000 a pound; but radium is now the priceless gem of the mineral world, selling for more than that price an ounce.

Cattle From the Sahara.

The cattle raised on the fringe of the Sahara are known to be of good quality and are estimated at 2,000,000 head. With a little scientific feeding during the dry season their numbers might rapidly be increased and the Soudan region might become a sort of second Argentina.

It was 50 years ago Monday that Mr. and Mrs. Evert Ellen, 350 College avenue, were united in marriage and practically all the children and grandchildren of the aged couple helped to celebrate the golden wedding yesterday. The home in this city was the scene of one of the best celebrations of the kind ever held here and many of the children had come for hundreds of miles to take part in the glad event. Another feature about the affair is that the old couple were married on Mr. Ellen's birthday anniversary and so the celebration was in commemoration of that as well.

Mr. Ellen is 78 years old and Mrs. Ellen 73. They have seven children all of whom are still living and all of whom were present, except Mrs. A. Shore of Canyon City, Col., who was unable to be here. The other children are Mrs. Jacob Schaap, of Hamilton, Mich.; Mrs. Otto Schaap of East Holland, Jake Ellen of Lemmon, S. D., Mrs. P. G. Rooks of Linton, N. D., and Mrs. Albert Boop of this city.

The funeral of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knop was held Saturday afternoon at the home, 127 West Twenty-Eighth street, Rev. D. R. Drukker officiating.

At the home of her son L. Lanting at 105 East Eighth street, Mrs. S. Wierenga died Thursday night at about 11 o'clock. She was one of the early settlers and is survived by L. Lanting of this city, Mr. M. Dykstra, Mrs. E. Spoelstra and A. Lanting of Grand Rapids. The funeral was held from the Christian Reformed church in Grand Rapids Monday afternoon.

A Bright Child.

Visitor—"I do think your son is so bright." Proud Mother—"Ah, yes, he works so hard at his books I have been afraid he would develop the Bright's disease."—The Widow.

Loose Shoes.

Quite as bad as too tight shoes, against which we are always warned, are too loose ones; they cause corns and bunions and often produce flattening of the arches. The woman with the peculiarly shaped foot who cannot get shoes exactly to fit her except when made to order, should get them a little too long rather than a little too wide; it is the lesser of two evils.

Hawthorne's Distinguished Appearance

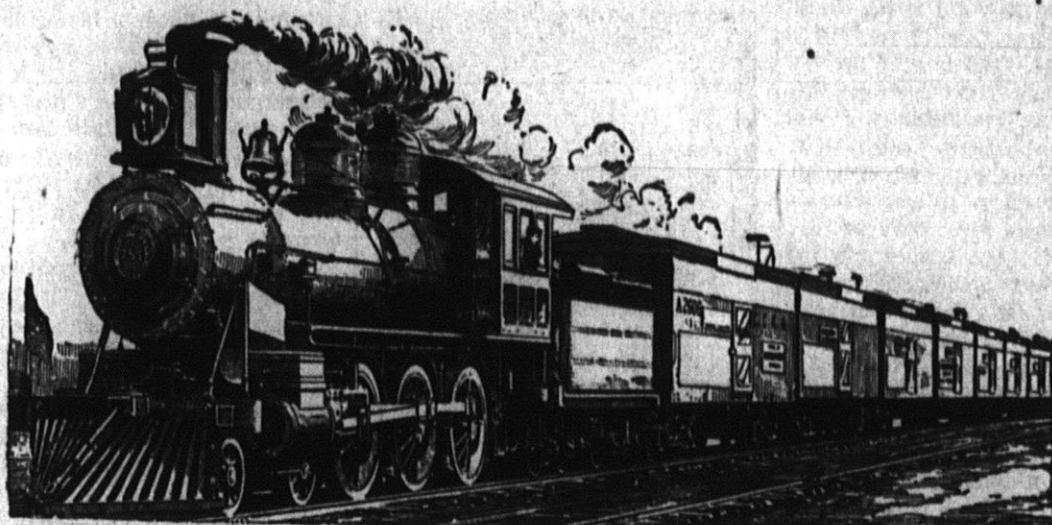

Hawthorne was one of the handsomest men I have ever seen. His broad and noble forehead, his splendidly modeled face, his thick, dark hair, and the burning depths of his dark eyes made up a picture which instantly challenged the attention of anyone who chanced to see him.—From Justin McCarthy's Reminiscences.

Would Be Better.

ARRAIGNED AS A BLASPHEMER
Matthew 26:57-68—November 27
"Who when he was reviled, reviled not again."
1 Peter 2:23.

WE cannot do better at the opening of this study than quote the words of Mr. Chandler. He said: "Many remarkable trials have characterized the judicial history of mankind. The trial of Socrates, before the dicastery of Athens, charged with corrupting the Athenian youth, with blaspheming the Olympic gods and seeking to destroy the constitution of the Athenian Republic, is still a sublime and thrilling chapter in the history of a wonderful people.

"The trial of Alfred Dreyfus is still fresh in the memories of men. The French Republic is still rent by contending factions. His friends say that Dreyfus was a Prometheus who was chained to an ocean-girt rock while the vulture of exile preyed upon his heart. His enemies still assert that he was a Judas who betrayed, not God nor Christ, but France and the Fatherland. But these trials, one and all, were tame and commonplace compared with the trial and crucifixion of the Galilean peasant, Jesus of Nazareth."

In Defense of the Jews
It is not for us to say that the Jews were wholly excusable in their course of injuries toward Jesus in causing his crucifixion by the Romans. On the other hand, it is proper for us to consider everything that could be thought of calculated to mitigate the severity of our judgment regarding the injustices there practised. And it is proper also that we should consider what, from their standpoint, would seem to be extenuating circumstances. This is everywhere recognized as just treatment. The attorney, defending a criminal who has pleaded guilty to the charges against him, is considered to do only his duty by his criminal client when he presents whatever in the circumstances of the case would tend to prove that the culprit had cause, or thought that he had a reason for his misdemeanor.

Viewing the Jewish people of nearly nineteen centuries ago from this standpoint we get a more reasonable view of the situation than is otherwise possible. We hearken first to St. Peter's words respecting the transaction. He said, "I wot that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your rulers." Had they known, they would not have killed the Prince of life (Acts iii. 15-17).

The Jews did not for one moment suppose that the great Messiah, foretold to be their Prophet, Priest and King—like unto Moses, but greater; like unto David and Solomon, but greater; like unto Melchisedek, but greater—would appear as "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." Although those very words were written of him by the Prophet, they were hidden from their eyes of understanding by the glorious things related of him in other prophecies. They saw the glories. They saw not, understandingly, the sufferings. To this day they interpret the sufferings of their nation as being those which will ultimately inure to their advantage. The prophetic descriptions are not concentrated, nor collected, but scattered, "here a little and there a little," so written that they could not be understood at the time; nor were they understood even by the Lord's disciples until after his resurrection from the dead, when he explained them, and, subsequently, by the holy Spirit, enabled them to see more fully to understand that thus it was written in the prophets and thus it behooved the Son of Man to suffer before entering into his glory—before beginning the work of blessing Israel and the world. Yea, today many Christians are as deeply confused on this matter as are the Jews. Many have rejected entirely the thought of Messiah's glorious Kingdom reign for the general blessing and uplifting of Israel and all humanity. From their standpoint, if "the sufferings of Christ" were intended to prepare the way and usher in his Kingdom of glory, then the program must have failed, or else his Kingdom of glory is to be a heavenly one and not, as they believe, in accord with the prayer taught by our Lord, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth." The trouble is that they will not realize that where the sufferings of Christ, the Head, ended, the sufferings of the "Body of Christ" began—the sufferings of "the Church, which is his Body"—filling up the measure of the afflictions of Christ, which are be- hind (Colossians 1:24). As soon as the "Church, the Body of Christ," shall have finished the bearing of the cross, after him, following in his steps to the end of the journey, then the Kingdom glories will be ushered in. Israel's blindness will be turned away and the blessing of the Lord will begin to fill the whole earth.

The Jews, who caused the crucifixion of Jesus, certainly did so in much the same spirit which led St. Paul—then Saul of Tarsus—to cause the stoning of St. Stephen. As Saul was forgiven, so Israel is to be forgiven; as the Scriptures declare, "The Lord will pour upon them the spirit of prayer and supplication," and then they will see, with the eyes of their understanding, "him whom they pierced and they will all mourn for him" (Zechariah xii. 10), and their mourning will be turned into joy; for,

IN THE COURT OF CAIAPHAS WHEN HE WAS REVILED, HE REVILED NOT AGAIN.

CHARGED WITH BLASPHEMY, BECAUSE HE SAID, I AM THE SON OF GOD.

as Joseph forgave his brethren, so will this great antitypical Joseph of the throne of earth freely forgive those who caused his crucifixion.

Politics and Selfishness as Religion
The Jews are not so different from other people now, nor were they then. History indicates that some of their highest offices were held by irreligious men for their political influence; thus the chief-priests, at the first advent of our Lord, was a Sadducee, who wholly disbelieved in the promises of God to Israel, including a disbelief in the resurrection of the dead. Similarly today there are high-priests, both amongst Jews and Christians, who disbelieve, and yet hold high positions. Amongst Christians there are D. D.'s who are unbelievers and many of the most notable rabbis amongst the Jews also declare themselves thorough unbelievers. We are not claiming that such unbelieving Christians and Jewish ministers would lightly espouse and support an unjust procedure against an innocent man. We do not know about this. It has yet to be tested, perhaps. We do know, however, that when faith in a Divine Revelation and in a Divine supervision of human affairs is lost the natural effect is that the losers of the faith become more and more policy-men and consider policy the extreme of human wisdom, particularly in the guidance of affairs of Church and State.

Taking history for it, that the leaders of Judaism at the time of our Lord were Higher Critical unbelievers (Sadducees), we can readily see that their policy was to curry favor with the Roman Emperor and to seek to hold the common people in subjection to themselves. To these, then, it must have seemed almost a calamity that a poor man, although of noble birth, of the family of David and the Tribe of Judah, should gather about him a handful of nondescript fishermen, tax-gatherers, etc.; that he should pronounce himself a king and declare the setting up of his Kingdom to be near, and that by the exercise of some supernatural power for the healing of their diseases he should attract the "common people" to his standard, but not the learned. We can well imagine their reasoning that, if this thing, the popularity of Jesus, continued to increase, it would shortly reach the ears of the Roman Emperor and then all their claims for imperial favors would be discounted and they would be rated as a nation of rebels.

The riding of Jesus into Jerusalem, just before the Passover, on an ass, after the manner of the kings of Israel and surrounded by a multitude shouting, "Hosanna to the Son of David who cometh in the name of the Lord," capped the climax, so to speak, and convinced these unbelieving Jews, politicians, occupying religious offices, that it would be far better that one innocent man should die than that the whole nation should be turned into turmoil and wrecked by the Romans in consequence. How many American preachers, judges, officials, etc., would in this enlightened day be inclined similarly to decide such a matter! And is not this the policy which always prevails in monarchies? Fancy such a commotion in the capital of Germany, Italy, France, Austria, Russia, Great Britain, the United States. Fancy that after such a parade, mimic though it might appear, the adored one should go to the temple and execute a long-neglected law and, in thus exercising his religious rights, suppose that he should drive out the money-changers and merchants from the outer precincts of their chief religious Cathedral! What would be done to such a person today? Do we not know that in the most civilized lands he would be arrested and imprisoned, and in the more savage lands he would be heated or executed? When, therefore, we view the situation from this standpoint we lose any spirit of antagonism which might have been ours; it turns to sympathy—that a religious nation should allow itself to get into the hands of politicians to such an extent.

Brought Before Caiaphas
It was very courageous on the part of St. Peter that, after having smitten off the ear of the High Priest's servant (though the wound was healed by Jesus), he followed his Master into the Court of that high-priest to see what would be done. The arraignment was at night, although it was contrary to Jewish Law to try a prisoner at night for any serious offense. But there was an excuse. This was a special case; haste was necessary, because whatever would be done must be done quickly; the very next day the unbelieving officials perceived that Jesus had great influence with the common people. They believed him to be a brilliant but harmless fraud. He had committed no crime, but he was a disturber of the peace, and they felt fully justified in taking his life. The Feast of Passover was at hand and would last a week and it would be contrary to their Law that any execution should take place during that week. Besides, they feared the amount of influence which Jesus might exercise during the week, when there would be from one to two millions of people in and around Jerusalem from all over Palestine. They had already determined that their action must be short, sharp and decisive. This was decided before the arrest was made. They were ready and waiting at that midnight hour to carry out their murderous designs, for the good of their nation, as they thought.

The examination was merely a preliminary one to get together such evidence as at the morning Tribunal could be rushed through rapidly at a prearranged session.

He Was Charged With Blasphemy
They had difficulty in finding a charge. For what had Jesus ever done except acts of kindness and the uttering of words of wisdom and correction and hope? Blasphemy was a serious charge under the Jewish code. They would charge him with that as being the easiest to prove. He had said, when near the Temple, "Destroy this Temple, and I will rear it up in three days." "But he spake of the temple of his Body." Some of those who heard him understood him to speak of the literal temple. This they charged was blasphemy, because it took years to build the temple, and for Jesus to rebuild it in three days would mean a claim on his part of Divine power. But the charge did not seem sufficiently strong, even for those who had premeditated his murder. They wanted something to give a color of justice, at least, to their findings. So the chief-priest thought to get Jesus to commit himself in their presence and said, I adjure thee by the Living God to tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God. Jesus replied that this was true and that they would yet see him in heavenly glory and power at the right hand of Divine favor. This, the High Priest declared, was sufficient proof of blasphemy. "Behold, now ye have heard his blasphemy. What reply ye?" And the council answered that he was worthy of death. The rabble in the Court, hearing the commotion, felt at liberty to abuse this prisoner, as they had done others. They showed their contempt of him by spitting upon him. They derided him by smiting him and saying, Prophecy, tell who smote thee. "He was reviled, yet reviled not again."

When two weeks ago Jacob Praken passed his 22nd birthday, it was readily to be inferred that he would not live to see another, and he so advised his parents, brothers, sisters and friends. Nevertheless, when on Wednesday morning the hour dawned that transplanted him from from his home here below to that of his Heavenly Father above, the shock was still sudden.

The burying of the C. & W. M. depot at Zeeland on Thursday night was followed up by three burglaries on the succeeding night. The first in the order of time is supposed to have been at the hardware store of W. DePree & Bros., where some tools were stolen. These were used in effecting an entrance in the general store of A. Lahnis. The last victim was Jacob Vanden Bosch, also a general dealer. Here the safe was opened (the night lock was not on) and $10 was abstracted. The amount of goods taken at either of the three stores was not large, as but few articles were found missing.

WAS SIMPLE LITTLE JOB

Man Decides to Take Partner and Briefly Outlines What He Expects of Helper.

"Here's the whole thing in a nutshell," said Brown to me. "I am now twenty-eight years old, have my own business, have brought it to such a state that I have decided to take a partner."

"Take one," answered I.

"There's the rub," he gave back. "My partner must be such an all-around knowing one that I'm afraid I'll have hard work to fill the position."

"My partner must be able to make laws and to enforce them; must be able to carry out complicated chemical work, must be a skilled mechanic, must know something of economics, must be able to buy wares of all kinds with due consideration of my finances, must be able to do tailoring, of a kind, if necessary."

"Hold on, Brown," said I. "Are you dippy, as the vulgarians say?"

"No," replied he. "I want a wife. Look around among your friends and see if any one man among them could do all that a good housewife should be able to do. She must make just laws for the family and enforce them."

"She must understand the complicated processes of cooking. Making, mending, washing, ironing, and otherwise caring for the clothing of a family requires mechanical skill. Bringing up a child properly requires far more knowledge and wisdom than selling dry goods of standard makes and prices year after year."

The social that was to be given by the L. O. T. M. O. T. W. in the Odd Fellows Hall tonight has been postponed to Dec. 14.

News has been received here concerning the death of Mrs. Peter Lepeltak, which occurred at Paonia, Col. Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Lepeltak was well known here having resided in Overisel, where her husband was pastor of the Reformed church. The funeral was held at Paonia yesterday morning.

Officer Steketee rounded up five boys ranging from 10 to 12 years of age on the charge of building a fire in a barn on the corner of 32nd street and Michigan avenue belonging to Luke Lugers. No damage done but a severe reprimand administered to the boys.

The United States has eight telephones to every 100 inhabitants. No other country has half as many. Canada stands second and Sweden third. Germany has as many telephones as the state of New York, and Great Britain as many as Ohio. Chicago has more than London and Boston twice as many as Paris. In proportion to her population, Europe has only one thirteenth as many.

Hope college will close this noon for the annual Thanksgiving vacation and students living within a radius of 50 miles will be permitted to eat their Thanksgiving dinners at home. Such was the decision reached by the faculty and the information imparted to the student body by President Kollen at Chapel exercises Tuesday amidst cheers and applause.

The semi-annual apportionment of primary school money has been made. The rate per capita is 90 cents. The documents shows that Ottawa county has 13,875 children in this apportionment, and will receive $12,487.50. The total apportionment is $680,246 for the 755,820 school children in the state. This will make the total apportionment of primary funds this year amount to $7.40 per capita.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, there were 328,666, 255 passengers carried on boats that were required to report. With a total loss of lives from all causes 379 making only the loss of one life for every 867,193 passengers or crew carried on boats, this is giving the drowning of this crew but not counting them as passengers.

Closed season for white fish and trout began Sunday and continues for six weeks. During that time commercial fishermen are prohibited from taking from the waters of Lake Michigan members of these two branches of the finny tribe. Deep water fishing, however, is permitted and several local fishermen will gather spawn of white fish and trout for the government of the state.

All the stores will be closed tomorrow and services will be held in all the churches in the morning.

The Wagner chorus will give the finest musical program yet rendered December 15 at Carnegie Hall. Special numbers on the program will be rendered by Wm. Vander Haar as reader and Jennie Brouwer will render a solo Obligato.

Last year owing to an epidemic of scarlet fever the usual distribution of Thanksgiving offerings were postponed until Christmas time this will again be the case owing to the prevalent existence of measles in the city.

The Holland sugar factory has established a new record in the line of slicing beets. In one day 503 tons of beets were sliced and all previous records were broken. The beets are of good quality and hundreds of tons daily are being delivered at the factory, both by rail and wagon.

The funeral of Mrs. G. Otto who died Monday at the home of her brother W. Ver Meulen, 131 West 17th street, was held yesterday at 11:30 from the home Rev. H. J. Veldman officiating. The remains were taken today to Chicago for burial accompanied by her son, George Otto of Chicago and Mr. Vermeulen.

The great Sousa's Band will be in Grand Rapids Saturday which no doubt will be well attended by the music lovers of Holland. The world's finest coronetist, Herbert Bell Clark and the eminent German violinist, Nickoline Zebbler as well as Miss Virginia Root, the accomplished pianist will be on the program.

On a complaint made by his wife Roy Newton was arrested by Officer Mesuison on a charge of wife desertion. He appeared before Justice Miles Monday afternoon and was ordered to enter into recognizance with two sureties that he will faithfully support his wife for at least six months. If a similar complaint is brought against him during that time he will have to spend 65 days in Detroit House of Correction.

The Holland Rusk company is planning the erection of a large one-story addition to its factory on East 8th street, which practically will double the capacity of the plant. The present output is about 100,000 rusks daily and the company has been unable to meet the demand for its products. The new addition will be built this winter and will increase the force of employees to about one hundred.

The Third Reformed church has just completed the most prosperous year in its history. According to the annual financial report the congregation has collected $6740.48, of which amount nearly $2,500 was for missions. During the year only one death was reported out of a total membership of 526, representing 220 families. The year closes with a snug balance of nearly $1,200 and the property free from incumbrance. Rev. E. J. Bleekink, pastor of the church for five years, was given a raise of $300 in salary.

Rev. H. Gnikema, pastor of the Christian Reformed church of South Olive has been extended a call from a similar church in Grand Haven. Rev. Wm. H. Vander Werp of the Zeeland church announces he has received a call from the congregation of East Saugatuck. Rev. J. Diephus of Haderwyk has been called by the Sullivan church and Rev. C. Vriesman of East Aris by the Eastmanville church. At present all the vacant churches of the Christian Reformed denomination in Michigan have called Michigan pastors except the Ninth street church of Holland which called Rev. W. Stuart of Roseland, Ill.

The Holland Interurban has put a new schedule into effect which calls for cars every two hours for Macatawa park. The hourly service remains in effect for Grand Rapids with the limited in the afternoon taken off. This afternoon and all day on Thanksgiving Day, half hourly service will be run. Saturday afternoons there will be extra service until after the holidays. Daily service on the Graham and Morton line between Holland and Chicago will continue until Dec. 1 and longer if favorable weather conditions prevail. The steamer Puritan is the only boat on the line making round trips daily, leaving Holland at 9:30 p. m. and Chicago at 9 a. m., Sundays excepted. Freight traffic continues good and the passenger list is unusually large for this season of the year.

Won't Let Us Hold Court

The Grand Rapids Press, contained a picture of the new Holland city hall last Monday night. Included in the write-up was a statement that the hall contained a court room which would be used for the purpose of holding court cases. Every effort will apparently be made by Holland to secure a division of the circuit court calendar and the trial of Holland cases at Holland. This is a situation which Grand Haven will use every means to nip in the bud.—Grand Haven Tribune.
