ENTERTAINS WOMAN'S LITERARY CLUB MRS. CHERRYMAN

GIVES SEVERAL READINGS AT MEETING OF THAT ORGANIZATION TUESDAY

Mrs. Myrtle Koon Cherryman of Grand Rapids furnished a very enjoyable afternoon for the members of the Woman's Literary club, when she gave a number of interpretative readings at the meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon. Her selections were taken from the works of well-known American writers, and for the greater part held a suggestion of the Thanksgiving season now at hand.

Mrs. Cherryman was especially entertaining, when in closing she gave two selections of her own composition, in one of which she was assisted by Miss Ethelyn Metz.

The music for the afternoon consisted of two vocal solos by Mrs. J. E. Telling, accompanied by Mrs. G.

W. Van Verst, and two piano solos by Mrs. Robbins.

Mrs. G. E. Kollen, chairman of the charity committee, called attention to the fund the committee wishes to collect to make up a box of delicacies for the inmates of the county infirmary for Thanksgiving day, and a collection for this was taken.

Mrs. S. C. Nettinga and Miss Florence C. Cotton were received as associate members.

Finding the doors of the house bolted, the barn unopened, the cattle unfed and unable to locate him about the premises, Miss Jennie Ruscher peeked thru the window in her father's home near the noon hour and saw the night lamp burning. Neighbors broke into the house and found him lying dead upon his bed. H. Ruscher was a pioneer of Allegan county and he had lived in Fillmore township practically all his life. Since the death of his wife a few years ago he had lived alone. Ruscher was about 75 years of age and death was due to heart disease. The funeral was held Wednesday.

CON DE FREE WRITES ABOUT SAN TOX PLANS

BUILDING OF LARGEST MODERN PHARMACEUTICAL PLANT IN UNITED STATES STARTS IN SPRING.

Was a De Free Dream Come True; C. L. King Property on Bay to be Site.

The De Free Chemical Co. of Holland publishes semi-occasionally a small magazine called San-Talks. The editor of this publication is Con De Free, manager of the company and many interesting contributions are found in this little booklet.

The company has just issued the November number which shows that it is now publishing volume 1, number 11. The issue contains some very interesting facts that are of vital concern to Holland and its citizens.

The dominant feature is the one portrayed by Mr. De Free telling in an article of the extensive building plans contemplated next spring.

Another interesting feature is the picture of Major Willis Diekema, who writes a story entitled: "Back to the desk after two years of flying." Mr. Diekema dwells only very modestly on aviation and his services rendered to his country in France but lays special stress upon the fact that he is glad to be at his desk again and is overwhelmed with the showing of growth made by the San Tox Company during his absence of two years.

The publication also contains two cuts of the San Tox float that was a first prize winner in Holland's Fourth of July parade recently held and is now being used in other cities as an advertising medium.

It also shows the picture of a large car filled with San Tox remedies starting out from the Holland plant for the "Day Drug Co." of Akron, Ohio, and containing $10,000 worth of San Tox. A large banner is stretched the full length of the car.

"Con" is also contributing a story that relates to his duck hunting experience at Aberdeen, South Dakota, where he says the mallards flew at the rate of 100 miles an hour. As the "back shot" was only going at the rate of 50 miles the inevitable result is apparent. A cartoon of "Con" hiding in the weeds, is also picture only we are in doubt whether it is a smoking gun he is holding in his hands, or the proverbial smoldering cigar, hanging downward at an angle of 40 degree. A San Tox druggist at Des Moines writes about a visit received from President Wilson's personal physician, admiral T. Carry Grayson, who called at the store when the presidents train stopped at the Iowa town. This was at the time when Mr. Wilson swung thru the West on his noted Peace Treaty tour.

The admiral admired the San Tox Toilet goods display on one of the show cases and made a personal inspection of the various San Tox articles in stock, finally purchasing a package of tooth paste and a bottle of hair tonic. It was not known whether the San Tox remedies were intended for the presidents personal use or for the use of his private physician.

The most interesting feature in "San Talks" however is the plans set forth by Con DeFree as it relates to the building of the finest, largest and most modern equipped pharmaceutical plant in the country—the building of which will begin next spring.

Here is Editor Con De Prees' resume of the growth of San Tox from its inception until the present time together with a portrayal of its future possibilities and anticipations:

A New Home For San-Tox.

By Con De Free.

News of progress is always good news. Almost everyone rejoices when he is able to bring glad tidings. It is therefore in a spirit of gladness and optimism that I tell you of one of the biggest moves that The De Free Chemical Co. has ever made.

To make the story clear I must go back to the beginning, back to 1912 when The De Free Chemical Co. was a small concern making Formaldehyde Fumigators, and San-Tox was a dream, an air castle, with its foundation principally in the minds of two or three men.

San-Tox made its first appearance on the market in 1913 and its progress was not so fast that year; the ground was not so easily broken, the trade was skeptical. Then in 1914 the war broke out, and what seemed difficult before, was made far more difficult. But true optimism will not die, true determination and honesty of purpose cannot be beaten, and so in view of all this extra and added effort was put forth on San-Tox.

Beginning in the fall of 1914 a publicity plan was inaugurated, the sales force was enlarged, and the sun began to shine a little more brightly. Agency contracts became easier to get; orders were larger and more frequent, and this necessitated the building of an addition to the laboratory building that had originally been built to take care of the manufacture of San-Tox preparations. This condition continued through 1915 and 1916 and on through 1918, necessitating the building of five laboratory buildings in all, larger and more commodious, and perfectly equipped.

This brought us to the close of the war, the signing of the Armistice in the fall of 1918. We were totally unable to fill our orders, to take care of our business which had grown so

NEIGHBORS ARE SORE AT JUNK DEALERS ON 8TH STREET

MAKE THEIR PLACES OF BUSINESS AND YARDS VERY UNSIGHTLY

Alderman Blue had blood in his eye last evening when he made a complaint to the other members of the Common Council stating that Louis Padnos was moving his junk from River avenue to a building he had recently purchased from Sam Miller on East Eighth street and that he was filling the yard with old plows, old stoves and other junk that reached to the walk. He said that his home was next door and he did not propose to have such an unsightly condition in his immediate neighborhood. The common council thought the same and instantly voted all junk shops on Eight St. a nuisance.

Bob Kuite, Louis Goldman and Louis Padnos are requested to meet the ways and means committee before they can continue to do business in the way they are now doing. It was suggested that the junk be placed in the rear of the lot and that some suitable enclosure be built in front of the junk piles. Any way the city fathers must be met and satisfied before these men may continue to do business.

CITY DOES NOT WANT A DAMAGE SUIT

A light was requested placed on Michigan Ave. and Twentieth St. thus lighting a culvert and bridge spanning it. Mr. Van Lente living nearby there fell into the culvert a short time ago and others have had narrow escapes.

City Attorney McBride stated to the council last evening that if the city wished to avoid a possible damage suit, not alone a light should be placed at that point but a railing also should be placed on the sides of the bridge. The request will be followed out.

rapidly during that period. And so two more buildings were built and are now just completed and being occupied, and still we find ourselves in the same condition, unable to give to our dealers the prompt and satisfactory service that we have always told you is our aim.

Our first building was erected on a vacant lot, surrounded by vacant lots, and it seemed as though never could a business big enough be built up to occupy all the amount of space which was available. But finally these vacant lots were purchased one by one, added to our holdings, and covered with buildings, until now our ground is exhausted and no more is available where our plant is located. Thus was born from necessity the idea of a real big move.

Holland, Michigan, is a beautiful little city, although it is a manufacturing city. It lies six miles from the heart of the greatest resort country in Michigan, where Macatawa Bay connects with Lake Michigan. Macatawa Bay is a beautiful body of water three miles wide and six miles long. Its shores are dotted with summer homes of the more fortunate of God's creatures. At the head of this bay, right in the City of Holland, lies a beautiful tract of land, ten acres, with a railroad running through one end of it, and 2,000 feet of shore line. The whole piece constitutes a point jutting out into this bay within a stone's throw of where the great palatial steamers of the Graham & Morton line go by on their daily trips from Chicago to Holland.

In my dreams I have always seen this piece of property as belonging to us some day, and built upon it a great plant of a size to take care of our expanded needs. In this moment of necessity the dream would not down, so we have purchased this property. Beginning next spring we expect to build the largest and most completely equipped pharmaceutical plant in the country. We have here the ground room and the natural beauty to enable us to make it the show spot of Western Michigan, so far as manufacturing plants are concerned, which it is our plan to do.

The new plant will be large, and in every way as perfect as can be devised. It will be built in units, constructed in such proportions that the rapidly growing business can be easily handled. The first building will be a central steam and heating plant, commensurate to all future needs. This will be followed by warehouses, stock and shipping rooms, a remedial goods plant, toilet goods plant, and other buildings suitable for printing, the manufacture of boxes, cartons, etc., so that housed on its own property The De Free Chemical Co. will be completely equipped to do all its own work.

The grounds surrounding the plant are to be converted into a veritable park.

A large administration and office building will be built and the general offices will be moved from Chicago to Holland in order that the offices may be in closer touch with the manufacturing plant and all its departments, and that better service may be given to the dealers who are in so large a part responsible for the success of San-Tox.

This reconstruction period will cover a period of from three to four years; but all the time the work of building and beautifying of grounds will be going on, until finally this industrial dream will be realized and San-Tox will have a new home.

HOLLAND TO HAVE BOULEVARD LIGHTING SYSTEM

MAYOR MAKES REQUEST TO HAVE EIGHTH STREET BETTER LIGHTED

Will Start In a Small Way; To Have Four Poles at Every Street Intersection

Mayor Bosch sprung a surprise last evening when he requested the common council to place more lights on the business streets claiming that these were the darkest thoroughfares in the city.

The city fathers fell right in with the movement and a start is going to be made on a boulevard system which will be added to when the cost of things electrical come down to a sane price level.

Holland has the nucleus for an up-to-date boulevard lighting system. Some time ago the Board of Public Works ordered several beautiful standards and lights for the purpose of putting them around Centennial park. The war came and the government ordered lights out and they were never put up.

There are some twelve or fourteen of these standards and it is proposed to place four at each street intersection. It is thought that there are enough poles to provide River and Eighth street, Central and Eighth, College and Eighth, and Columbia and Eighth and possibly some provision will be made for the depot corner. River avenue should also be provided with lights the same as Eighth street and the common council is going to confer with the Board of Public Works in order to work out some plan that will bring some relief along these lines, until such a time as an up-to-date system can be installed along the lines proposed some eight years ago.

This plan for the present will be far superior to lighting conditions that now exist. Holland's principal streets are about the darkest thoroughfares to be found anywhere and this fact is especially commented upon by strangers who come here. Business men should help this project along in every way. When the proposition comes up before $5000 was raised quickly by the merchants. Possibly if some added means could be secured the city might be prevailed upon to add still more lights to those proposed.

THREE DEATHS OCCUR IN BONUS COMMITTEE RANKS

Within the last two years deaths have entered the ranks of the bonus committee of the city of Holland three times. C. Verschure, George E. Kollen and Henry Pelgrim, Jr., have passed away and the Common Council have appointed Otto Kramer and Hon. Gerrit J. Diekema to fill the places of two of the committee and requests that the present Bonus committee fill in the third member.

GOVERNMENT ASKS CITY TO PUT IN FOOD STORE

CITY COUNCIL DUBIOUS BUT WILL TRY A SALL CONSIGNMENT OF FOOD

A request from Washington was sent in to the common council asking the city of Holland to buy government food and thus reduce the high cost of living. The officials pointed out that nearly all cities are putting in government stores with much success and to the relief of the citizens.

The mayor and common council members were dubious about the success of such a venture. Some relating instances of long waits for government food ordered at the local postoffice.

One alderman said, "I ordered bacon from the government at 38c and when it arrived the markets were selling it for 35c."

The common council is going to order a small consignment, however, and if it takes well they will order more.

It was the consensus of opinion, however that they must be shown if a government store works out satisfactorily or not. The mayor and aldermen are "from Missouri", on government food, for that reason the first order will be small. The goods will be sold from one of the rooms in the city hall.

The flag on the city hall was at half mast today in honor of service men Joe Brieve and Tiemen Schepel, who paid the supreme sacrifice in Russia.

Today will mark the forty-fifth anniversary of the dedication of our church building. The men who took part in the service were Revs. H. Utterwick, A. C. Van Raaite, R. Pieters, A. T. Stewart, and Philip Phelps, then president of Hope College.

The Ladies Aid society and the Willing Workers of the 4th Reformed church will conduct a sale Thursday afternoon and evening, in the basement of the church. Refreshments will be for sale. All are invited.

The Jas. A. Brouwer Furniture store has an important announcement to make this week. What it is, is summed up in a complete page ad. found on page 5 of this issue.

STATE LAW KILLS THE DOG CATCHER'S JOB

PETER VER WEY AGAIN RETURNS TO HOLLAND; WANTS TO BE POUNDMASTER

Finds That the State Has Stolen His Job and That the Sheriff Must Kill Dogs

About a month ago Peter Ver Wey, the best dog catcher in the state, resigned his job, sold his home and moved to New Richmond to go on a farm.

Everything looked rosy in the country for a time but after a stay of thirty days, the call of the dogs brought Peter back to the city. He held an audience with the different city fathers and the mayor asking that he be reinstated. The city officials were only too glad to have the efficient poundmaster again take up the work where he left off.

There had been no applicants for the position and the job was still open.

The mayor and the aldermen and Peter had not figured on the new state law, however, instituted largely for the protection of sheep, and already mentioned at length in this paper last week.

The new law does away with the poundmaster and puts the guarding of the canines in the hands of the county officials.

The law goes into effect the first of December, and the city clerk is instructed to get his dog tags from the county clerk.

The city supervisor or assessor, Chris Nibbelink is instructed to keep a record of all dogs in the city, and of all the licenses he has issued.

The law does not specifically state whether Chris has to look under the bed to see whether the dog is temporarily hidden, nevertheless it is his duty to keep track and be the custodian of Holland's dog population.

After January 10, he will turn over his records to Sheriff Dornbos where a comparison will be made, and the records gone over thoroughly and woe to the man who is found with a dog not having the proper tag.

The funds thus derived will not go to the city as heretofore. They will be paid to the county treasurer as a library fund to be distributed proportionately through the county for the benefit of public libraries wherever these may be located within the county.

Before this Holland received its own dog tax money, and from it the necessary expenses for tags and for the salary of the dog warden were paid, and the balance went for Holland's library located in the city hall.

City Clerk Richard Overweg states that there is in the neighborhood of a thousand dollars in the dog fund today, and that he intends to turn this over to the library board as soon as the new law goes into effect.

The new law provides that every owner of a dog in the state, except Detroit, must obtain a license from the Live Stock Commission through county treasurers. The cost will be $3 for a male dog and $4 for a female, and $2 for each unsexed dog. Every dog, between sunset and sunrise, must be confined, unless under control of some person. Supervisors and all other assessing officers shall annually list all dogs in their districts and furnish a list to the county treasurer. All officers, including the State Constabulary, will be expected to kill unlicensed dogs found running at large outside a municipality and any farmer finding such a dog in his fields may kill it without liability for such killing.

This same rule that applies in Holland also applies in the townships. The same duties befall the clerk and the supervisors and the same returns must be made to the county sheriff after January 10, when the drastic part of the law really becomes operative.

In the meantime Peter Ver Wey hasn't got a city job "any more than a rabbit."

Public Auctions
Will be held Wednesday, Nov. 26, 10 a. m. at farm of Albert Medendorp 1 1/2 miles east of Holland on the Zeeland road.

On Saturday, November 22 at 10 a. m. at farm known as The Ohio Farm Lot, 1/2 mile north of Pine Creek school house.

MORE SCHOOLS WANT CITY NURSE TO HAVE A "FLIVVER"

COUNCIL WANTS TO HEAR FROM OTHERS AND ALSO FROM BOARD OF EDUCATION

Some two weeks ago the Lincoln School Parents Teachers Club requested the common council to buy a Ford for the city nurse thus enabling her to go about the city more quickly and cover more ground with less exertion, thus saving her energies for the strenuous work at hand. Last evening Froeber and Washington school came in with a similar request and it is said that the parents-teachers clubs of other schools will follow suit.

The members of the Common Council will wait until these requests are all in thereby showing the sentiment of the entire city and then they will act accordingly. They also would like to hear from the Board of Education on the matter.

Tuesday the meeting was named "How?" and Rev. J. Dykstra of Grand Rapids spoke on "Conditions of Successful Prayer." Wednesday, with the general theme of "Victory Over Sin" the meeting was in charge of Mr. A. Westmaas and Miss Geegh, with the subject, "An Armored Warrior." Van Peursem of Kalamazoo, who will speak on the subject, "The Overcoming Faith."

POLICE CHIEF GETS NEW AUTO LICENSES

Holland auto owners will have to pay more for their 1919 license plates. Like everything else, these plates have gone up in price. Apparently the state of Michigan needs the money and the auto drivers are being asked to produce.

Chief Van Ry Tuesday received the licenses for 1920 and auto owners can obtain them at the police headquarters. Last year the rate for pleasure cars was 25 cents per horse power and 15 cents per hundred weight. This year the price will be 25 cents per horse power and 35 per hundred weight. Last year for trucks the price was 15 and 15 for the two items; this year it is 25 and 35 cents.

Those who buy automobiles now cannot drive them, Chief Van Ry announces, unless they take out a 1919 license. They will not be allowed to drive on a city permit temporarily and then take out a 1920 license. The 1919 licenses are now half price. The 1920 licenses can be bought by drivers who have 1919 license.

The strike may have cut the coal supplies, but the fires of religion will be unquenchable in the village of Whitehall near Muskegon. Members of the Congregational and the Methodist churches, to assist in saving winter fuel and lights, have agreed to hold alternate joint services. Last Sunday the Methodists went to hear the Congregational minister. This week the Congregationalists will get their sermon on a Methodist dose.

A $20,000.00 FRUIT STORE FOR HOLLAND

Patsy Fabiano is to have the most modern fruit store in Western Michigan and the contract has been let to Abel Postma who will begin the building at once. The Holland Salvage Co. has the contract to wreck the old building on West Eighth St. and will begin operations at once. The building is to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000, when completed and will be fire-proof and built without a stick of wood in it. The joists and beams will be of steel and will be filled with concrete.

The first floor will be tile and marble. The second floor will have the most modern offices in the front and Patsy will occupy the rooms in the rear and these will be fixed up splendidly and in the most modern and approved style. Steam heat, fine lighting fixtures and up-to-date ventilation will be installed in the structure.

The building will be 95 feet long two stories high with a Bedford stone front. Big plate glass windows with prism glass effect will be one of the features. The building will be completed in 90 days. Mr. Fabiano is temporarily doing business in the Slagh block on East 8th street.

Pat will have his bunches of bananas hanging in front of the most up-to-date fruit store in Western Michigan within three months.

PRESENT-DAY PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Present-day problems were not only clearly stated but also analyzed with a view of suggesting their solution by W. J. Westveer Friday night in a paper on "The Readjustment Period" read before the Social Progress Club when that organization met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Winter. Mr. Westveer enumerated many of the big economic and social disturbances that are engaging the attention of the public today.

The paper was a comprehensive one and covered the whole field of present-day activities. Mr. Westveer made a strong plea for intelligent leadership on the part of government in solving the various problems, declaring that partisanship must be forgotten and that all must join in a united effort to attack our national problems on their merits.

Henry Boelens who for the last eight months drove an auto truck between Zeeland and Grand Rapids sold his business to Paul and Gerrit Scholten of Zeeland. Mr. Boelens had worked up a very strong trade during the summer and had won the confidence of the business people.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND STOCK IN ROBINSON TWP.

Fire at one o'clock Saturday morning completely destroyed barns and buildings except the dwelling house on the Summers' farm in Robinson township. The fire started during the night and the family was aroused by the neighbors at about one o'clock Saturday morning. The buildings were then completely enveloped by the flames. Besides a quantity of hay and straw and other grains, two horses, one cow, a heifer and a new Ford automobile were lost in the fire. The damage was only partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FARMERS FACE CHARGE OF CHURCH ARSON

About a year and a half ago there was an epidemic of church burning in the Dutch settlements of Iowa. Feeling had been stirred up against all foreigners in Iowa and the people of some communities were down on all who held church services in the Dutch language.

Reports from Iowa reaching here tell of the arrest of the alleged criminals. The Rev. Edward Hui-bregtse mentioned in the dispatch is a graduate of Hope College and the local seminary. The dispatch from Iowa follows:

New Sharon, Nov. 17.—Six men were arrested on a charge of arson and conspiracy Saturday night at New Sharon, by Attorney General H. M. Haver and State Agent Oscar Rock, as a result of several months probe of the cause of fires among the Dutch communities surrounding here.

The men are:

John Gerard, 50 years old, a wealthy farmer.

Charles Gosnell, 50 years old, another farmer, charged with conspiracy and arson and compelled to furnish $6500 bonds.

Roy Steen, a middle aged farmer, charged with conspiracy and compelled to furnish $1500 bonds.

Luther Howell, a farmer acting as agent for the men charged with arson and conspiracy and compelled to furnish $6500 bonds.

Thomas Davis, 23 years old, son of Fred Davis charged with arson and conspiracy and implicated in the burning of the Gels Voss barn, asked for $6500 bonds.

Roy Efin, 20 years old, just out of the navy with three charges of arson and one of conspiracy lodged against him and asked for $50,000 in bonds.

A little over one year ago, mysterious fires in Dutch communities began to occur at regular intervals.

The Dutch Reform church at New Sharon was burned to the ground, the Voss barn near there was fired with oil and burned. Dynamite was found under the home of the Dutch Reform pastor, Rev. Edward Hui-bregtse, last spring, the McVeigh Elevator company was burned and the church at Peoria, Ia., was burned to the ground.

The evidence was turned over to the state attorney general's office and state agents have been working for months on the available clues. The indications pointed to a systematic campaign to oust the Holland Dutch out of the community near Sully and other Dutch localities near New Sharon.

Evidence revealed by the state agents showed that the farmers thru their alleged organizer Luther Howell offered $100 for every church and school burned and $50 for every barn and dwelling burned.

Signed confessions from practically all of these arrested have been secured it is claimed. More arrests are expected to follow immediately. All except Efin are out on bond. He is the son of a widow and has just returned from service in the navy. His brother is said to have "preached" on his connections with the organization.

The attitude of the Dutch communities toward the war is said to have played a large part in the successful organization for the fires.

CROSBY LINE BUYS BOAT FROM U. S. FOR LAKE RUN.

The steamer City of South Haven is now on its way back to Lake Michigan from New York, having been purchased by the Crosby Transportation company. The South Haven, one of the finest excursion steamers on Lake Michigan, formerly belonged to the Chicago & South Haven Steamship company, but during the war was purchased by the government for service on the coast.

In order to fit it for the naval service its cabin and upper works were removed, but will be replaced. The craft is just short enough to get through the Welland canal without cutting.

PLEDGES MADE AT VOLUNTEER MEETING

Between $8,000 and $9,000 was pledged at the Hope church Volunteer Meeting Sunday afternoon in the parlors of the church. The meeting was held for the purpose of securing pledges for a combined budget for the local church's needs and for the Progress campaign of the Reformed church. About 85 were present at the gathering, eight of them being children under 12 years of age.

The highest subscription exceeded $600 and the average was about $100. So far there are seven pledges of more than $500, and several more of this figure are expected. It is expected that during the week the church will reach its quota.

WOULD TRAIN RIVER INTO A NEW CHANNEL

E. B. Scott of the North Side has a brand new suggestion for building the so-called "Grand Haven" bridge. Mr. Scott wants the bridge built, not on the present site but farther to the south. Of course, there is no river too the south on River avenue, but the North side man suggests this little difficulty be overcome by making a river there. And after the river has been dug there through the road he would build a bridge over it.

Sounds a trifle fantastic at first sight, but Mr. Scott goes on to explain that it is not as fantastic as it looks. The present channel of the river, he declares, is not where it should be. As everyone knows who is familiar with Black river at this point it makes a big curve, running along River avenue for a quarter of a mile or so and then flowing under the bridge. On the other side of the street is a swamp, the river making a gradual sweep back southward.

Mr. Scott asserts that if a new channel were dug through River avenue immediately north of the spot where the last house stands on that street, going through what is now a vegetable garden, a much swifter current would be provided and a much shorter bridge would serve the purpose. The current would then be in a straight line from river to lake, instead of making a wash against the abutments of the bridge, as is the case now. In that way, he declared, the river could be used to a much better advantage, and he believes that it will be used as time goes on for hauling gravel and for other purposes.

Mr. Scott asserts that there was a narrow channel through the road at this point at one time, showing that the water would go this way. His plan would cut out a bend of a half a mile. The old channel would then be filled in and a shorter bridge would be built over the new channel.

Whether the plan is a practical one or not, perhaps only an engineer could determine. At present the state engineer is making plans for a ridge over the present channel.

ANOTHER WANTS NEW CHANNEL FOR BRIDGE

The plan outlined in Thursday's issue by E. B. Scott of the North Side to dig a channel thru River avenue immediately north of the last house on that street and then build a bridge over it, filling in the channel of the river through which it flows at present, received endorsement from Jacob Fliehman, an old timer in matters pertaining to river and lake. Mr. Fliehman has hunted and trapped on the river for sixty years and knows its moods and characteristics thoroughly, and he declares the plan is entirely practical, in his opinion.

In fact, according to Mr. Fliehman there was at one time a channel through the road at this point or a trifle farther north, which was wide enough so that loaded scows could pass through it. The water was higher in those days, he declares and the channel was used for hauling loads on scows that came from as far as Scholten's bridge.

Mr. Fliehman recalls the fact that at the time the present Grand Haven bridge was built there was considerable of a controversy between the township and the city, the township wishing the bridge built over the channel which Mr. Scott now wants to revive and the city wishing to place it where it now stands, thus compelling the township to pay half of the bill, whereas over the other channel the city would have been compelled to pay it all. Mr. Fliehman declares that the controversy finally resulted in a lawsuit.

Mr. Fliehman declared that over a channel at that point the bridge would need to be only about two-thirds as long and the wash against the north abutments that now weakens them would be avoided. The current would be much swifter, he declares, and this would help to carry out the sewage that is now being dumped into the river.

Though you esteem him and his ability, he is unfamiliar with your affairs, and you would not like to place your resources at the mercy of his mistakes.

$5,000 Investment to Yield $320.50

Here is a practical suggestion for a diversified investment of $5,000 among five securities, on the principle of not putting all the eggs in one basket.

From the list of issues we now hold, might be selected a railroad bond, a public utility note, two foreign government securities, and a utility bond.

Interest would range from 5½ to 7 per cent, to net $320.50 yearly. The investment would run from two year notes to 40 year bonds. All of the securities would be purchased below par value, with likelihood of increase in their market value before maturity.

Larger or smaller funds may be invested according to the same principles. Can we be of service to you?

AGED HUNTER HAS SHOT HIS LAST WILD DEER

Holland's veteran hunter, Jacob Flieman, has killed his last deer on the north woods, according to his own statement. Mr. Flieman is not going to the woods this fall to hunt deer and he declared that he never expects to go again. He has killed as many deer as the best of them in his day, but he reckons that his day for hunting in the north woods is over.

And that is not chiefly because he is going on 83 years of age. As far as his health and strength go, he could take his part with men 25 years younger. In fact he frequently endures hardships in hunting locally that many a young man would balk at.

But Mr. Flieman declares that he became disgusted with deer hunting in the north woods two years ago when he went for the last time. That was one of the few years when he did not get a deer, and he found conditions such that there was no longer any pleasure in going north. There were so many hunters, he declares, that they literally scared the deer away from that region and so that a real hunter never got a real chance to show what he could do. During that trip the veteran hunter did not even see a deer, to say nothing of having a shot at one. He made up his mind then to quit and leave the woods to the crowds of amateur hunters.

Before that Mr. Flieman had been going to the north woods for 14 years in succession, and he seldom came home without his full share of deer. Mr. Flieman is rather proud of the fact that he never bought a deer. Whatever he has come home with he has shot himself, killing them when he was already in his late seventies. Many deer that are brought home by amateur hunters, he says are "dollar deer," that were dead and dressed when the hunters got their first sight of them.

Mr. Flieman is still prouder of the fact that he has never hunted on Sunday. It was an invariable rule with him on his trips and he has never broken it. He shot his last deer three years ago.

SUITCASE MAN FOUND GUILTY IN CIRCUIT COURT SATURDAY

Nick Malone, charged with the larceny of a suit case from a Grand Haven hotel, was convicted of the charge in circuit court by the jury. Malone in his own defense claimed that he had not taken the suit case and had no knowledge of how he got connected up with the theft. The baggage was located and identified soon after the theft and identified by the owner. The theft was then traced to Malone, whose ticket number corresponded to that of the check on the baggage.

Malone is alleged to have taken the grip which belonged to a traveling salesman, at the Riverview hotel, Grand Haven and checked it at the Grand Trunk station. The owner missed the baggage within a few minutes and made complaint to the police department. Malone was spotted on the early morning train leaving for the east, and when the identification was established, the Grand Rapids officers were notified and the arrest was made in that city. Sheriff Dornbos got him there.

From the time of his arrest Malone has stoutly protested his innocence. He retained Leo G. Lillie to defend him, but as Mr. Lillie is away attending the convention of the American Legion, the case was handled in court by Hugh E. Lillie. Several witnesses were introduced by the people, and the case went to the jury before noon.

Malone has been in jail here for several weeks, unable to secure bonds for his release.

Shortly after his arrest, the Grand Haven police received notice that their man was also wanted at Cleveland, but it was decided to try him on the charge placed against him in Ottawa County first.

In circuit court Dr. C. T. Mixer of Muskegon, lost his appeal from the findings in justice court. The case against the doctor was based on the charge of alleged reckless driving last summer on the Muskegon road when the doctor's car collided with a machine, which was stopped by the side of the road. Later he struck another machine further down the highway. This is the third time the case was tried, first in justice court where he was convicted. The case was carried up to circuit court and the jury disagreed. The third time the doctor was convicted.

There were a number of witnesses called by both sides and the case was continued after the regular five o'clock closing time until last evening.

Mrs. Guy B. Fleming has returned from Iowa where she was called because of the death of her mother. Mrs. Fleming's father returned with her.

TWO HOLLAND SOLDIERS BURIED HERE

Two Holland soldiers who gave up their lives in Russia about a year and a half ago were laid to rest in Pigrims Home Cemetery Thursday afternoon. The men for whom a double funeral was held with military honors are Joseph Brieve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brieve, and Tieman Scheepel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scheepel. The bodies of both of these men arrived in Holland from Detroit Tuesday evening at about six o'clock. They were accompanied by a military guard detailed on this service by the United States government.

The men died in Russia, falling victims to pneumonia. They were buried in the military cemetery at Archangel and after resting there about a year and a half were brought to this country to find their last resting place in the local cemetery.

It was a double funeral and was held at the Central Avenue Chr. Ref. church at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Elmink, pastor of the church, officiating.

The Willard G. Leenhouts Post, American Legion was in charge of the military part of the funeral. The pall bearers were selected from the members of the 339th, known as the "Polar Bears," and those of that company who do not serve as pall bearers, will form the immediate escort for the bodies of the dead soldiers.

All the service men of the local Post were requested by Commander A. Leenhouts to attend the funeral in a body. They were asked to meet at the city hall at 1:30 o'clock, coming in uniform. From there the company marched to the church and later they escorted the bodies to Pigrims Home Cemetery, where taps were sounded and the military salute fired.

These are the first men from Holland whose bodies have been brought back home from European soil. They were given all the honors that would have been theirs had they been prot back home and laid to rest at the time of death.

LIFE SAVERS ALSO WANT THE BIG MONEY

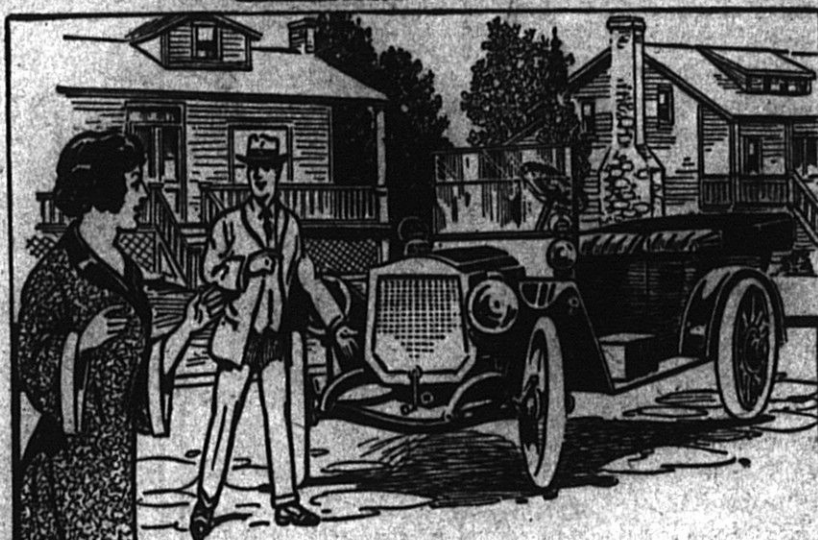

High wages in other lines of work than the government service are decimating the ranks of the United States Coast Guard at Macatawa. Just at present half of the regular crew has quit the service to take positions in other fields where they can make more money and where they consequently have a better chance to keep the wolf from the door. For that reason the crew at Macatawa is half made up of new material at a period of the year when storms are the worst.

The men who have taken other positions are George G. Brink, Andrew Anderson and Tony Vander Bie. Francis Deto, another member of the crew expects to leave the service next week to take a better paying position elsewhere.

The four regular men have been replaced by four others, James H. Faasen, formerly a substitute, has now been taken on as a regular. William Roe has been transferred by the government from the station at South Haven to the station at Macatawa, and one other person, R. L. Sullivan, has been appointed to take place temporarily of one of the men who has quit.

This makes a full crew again and it is expected that there will be little or no difficulty in completing the season in good shape. One good feature about this epidemic of quitting is that the transportation season is over and for that reason there is much less chance of serious trouble on the lake. With transportation at an end and with the resort season long a thing of the past, there is not as much call for vigilance on the part of the crew as at other times of the year.

Captain Van Weelden has not as yet received notice from the department headquarters as to when the season will close, but it is expected that it will be about the first of December, as was the custom before this during peace times.

HOLLAND MAN IS INJURED ON HOLLAND G. HAVEN ROAD

While driving along the West Michigan pike in the vicinity of Agnew Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Ott were thrown out of their rig, when their vehicle was struck by a motor car, owned by the S. A. Wilson Ice Cream company. The rig was badly smashed and the man and woman were thrown violently to the ground.

The injured couple were brought to Grand Haven and their wounds were attended to. Mr. Ott was slightly bruised about the body, and Mrs. Ott suffered serious cuts about the head and face. Today, however, it was believed that both would recover unless complications set in.

The news of the accident spread rapidly Sunday and during the forenoon a number of people drove to the scene of the wreck.

Immediately after the collision, the machine which was driven by S. A. Wilson, turned over and Lou W. Wilson of Holland, who was riding in the car was caught in the wreckage, suffering a fracture of his collarbone. He was also brought to Grand Haven for medical attention.

The horse attached to Mr. Ott's rig broke loose and escaped without injury.

LOUIS PADNOS MARRIES GRAND RAPIDS GIRL

After resisting the charms of the gentle maidens of Holland for a dozen years, Louis Padnos has cut off all further chance for them by wedding a daughter of Israel. Mr. Padnos is very well known to most of the people of Holland as a junk dealer of unusual ability and he has made his way from nothing to the head of a thriving business.

Mr. Padnos was married last Sunday at the Jewish Synagogue in Grand Rapids. The bride is Miss Helen Kantors, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kantors of that city. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Kantors.

Mr. Padnos has bought the building at 190 East 8th street, formerly occupied by the Joe Brown Iron & Metal Co. and later owned by Sam Miller. Here he will conduct his junk business in the future, occupying the rooms upstairs as a home. The newly married couple will be at home to their friends there after December 1.

EIGHT SWEAR ALLEGIANCE TO UNCLE SAM

Eight new citizens renounced their former princes and potentates in circuit court Tuesday morning, and after satisfying the naturalization examiner, swore allegiance forever to the United States of America. There were eleven in the class of applicants, but three of them failed to show the qualifications, which are necessary and their petitions were denied upon recommendation of the government officer who was present. In the group of eight who assumed citizenship today, three came from the Netherlands, two from Italy, one from Sweden, Germany and England. In the case of the natives of Germany sworn, the oath no longer requires former German citizens to renounce allegiance to Wilhelm II, emperor of Germany, but to the present form of German government, whatever it may be.

Among those who were accepted for citizens today were two Italians, Frank Roy Fabiano and Frank Fabiano, both of Holland city. These two young men served Uncle Sam in the army during the war, and had applied for full citizenship under the provisions governing men who had been in the military service. They were both speedily accepted for citizenship. In cases of this sort the government feels, and rightfully so, that aliens who have worn the uniform of the United States forces have demonstrated their loyalty to the Stars and Stripes. The naturalization session was held in the supervisors' room at the court house Tuesday morning, while another session of the Ottawa circuit court was going on in the court room. To save time two sessions of the same court were held at the same time. County Clerk Orrie J. Sluiter presided at the naturalization court, and Judge Cross came in to pass upon the recommendations of the naturalization examiner, and to be present when the applicants were sworn to citizenship Tuesday morning and thus became Americans under the law: Lucas Van Wezel, Netherlands; Frank Roy Fabiano, Italy; Holland; Frank Fabiano, Italy; Holland; Wm. Gahsman, Germany, Grand Haven; Carl Johnson, Sweden, Grand Haven; Fred Rigg, England, Grand Haven; Edmund Aldenburg, Netherlands; Spring Lake; Henry Ganke, Netherlands, Grand Haven.

EXPRESS COMPANY EMPLOYEE TAKES MORE MONEY

Richard Bennett, whose case was pending, charging him with stealing money from an envelope at the American Railway Express office at the Pere Marquette depot in this city, admitted the theft, and his attorneys were trying to have him placed upon probation, which it is said was looked upon with favor by the authorities.

Awaiting this action Bennett secured a good job in Ionia, but the inspectors of the Express Company have been delving still deeper into the Bennett case, and claim to have found, after several days of going over the books, that erasure appears here and there, and in some instances leaves were torn out of the records.

The officials claim that not less than $600.00 and possibly considerable more has been taken.

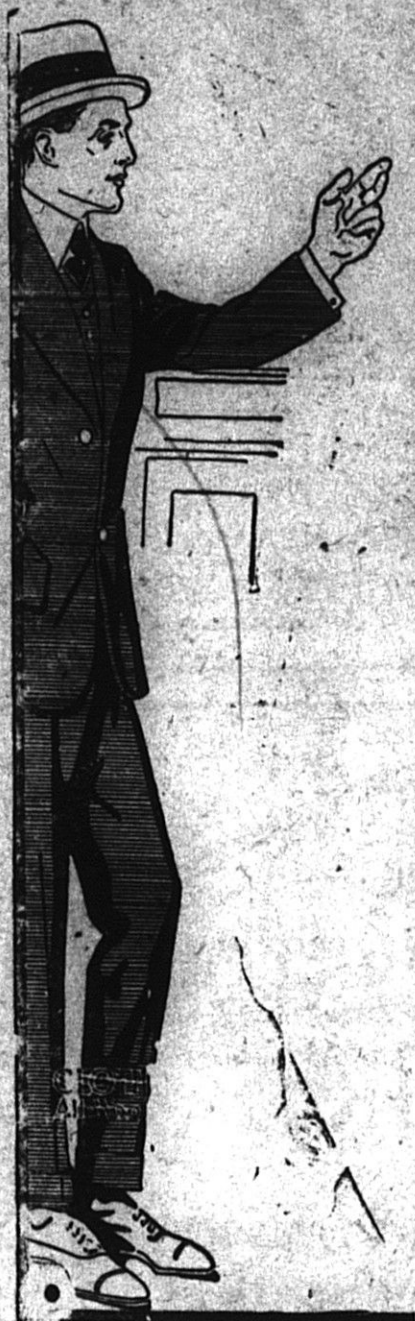

Officers went to Ionia and arrested Bennett and he is bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

Bennett practically admits the second charge and his attorneys refuse to have anything more to do with this case, as far as securing a parole is concerned.

Bennett was night man at the American Ry Express company's office located at the depot, and his defalcations have covered a period of thirty days.

Bennett admitted to Chief Van Ry that he had tried to spend the money as quickly as possible, buying there for "flashy" clothes, a fine phonograph, and a lot of records, and besides he gave a Holland taxi driver $16.00 to drive him to Ionia.

He still had some money left in an Ionia bank, amounting to $125.00 which he has turned back to the express company.

SERVICE FLAG DEMobilized SUNDAY NIGHT

Third Reformed church was crowded Sunday evening when services were held for the demobilization of the service flag of this church. The boys of the congregation who went to camp and to France to fight for America have now returned, and Sunday evening the flag with their stars on was furled and placed in the archives of the church.

Dr. J. E. Kuizenga delivered an eloquent address, and Rev. M. Flipse, pastor of the church, who was in charge of the demobilization, also feelingly spoke of the war and its history of tragedy and joy. The choir sang: "America Triumphant," and Miss Henrietta Bloemendaal sang "Christ in Flanders." Following are the names of those whose stars appeared on the flag:

THIRD CHURCH RAISES QUOTA

Third Reformed church has gone over the top in its drive for benevolences. The quota assigned this church was $9,600, including 20 per cent for education and the goal was crossed Friday evening at 6 o'clock. When all the pledges are returned the total figures will be close to $10,000, which will be more than double the amount raised during the current year.

The campaign for benevolences began Sunday afternoon with a volunteer drive held in the parlors of the church. Pledges totalling $6,217 were received from 100 members within three hours. The drive was renewed this week with a house to house canvass and was pushed to completion Friday evening. The pledges are for one year beginning Dec. 1 and the money will be divided according to the budget plan adopted by the general synod.

The Holland Y. M. C. A. held its first meeting Monday evening in the High school Gymnasium. A large number were present and a short speech was given by the president and the rest of the night was taken up with basket ball and indoor baseball. The Y is planning on a big year and also on a crack first and second team. Ernest Brooks is now coaching both teams and under his direction 2 good teams are assured. All those wishing to join can do so by seeing the treasurer, Raymond Knooihuizen at the First State Bank or on Mondays at the Gym. The dues are $1.50 and all those wishing to get on the floor must have a membership card.

GRAND HAVEN TRIBUNE PRINTS
ENTHUSIASTIC REVIEW OF LOCAL MAN'S BOOK.

Is Published By Famous Boston
Firm; Favorably Reviewed By Several Papers.

"Arnold Mulder's new novel about the Hollanders of Western Michigan just off the presses of the Houghton Mifflin Company of Boston, has been placed on sale in this city. The book has been reviewed in a number of publications. The Grand Haven Tribune a few days ago printed the following about Mr. Mulder's new book:

"The clash of temperament inherent in the son of a Polish actress, set down in a Western Michigan Dutch settlement; the strong unswerving faith of Dutch foster parents which battled continually with the love for the boy growing in their hearts, and the insincerity of the men who permitted the cowardice of his soul to squeeze him into narrowness in the fear that it might lose him his position as the member of the faculty of Christian college, are the points which Arnold Mulder chooses to carry through his problem in his latest book. 'The Outbound Road' is Mr. Mulder's latest offering, just off the presses of the Houghton, Mifflin Company, and it will interest and delight not only the people of western Michigan but the whole reading public. It is a story in which the back-ground is much more than mere locale. The very scene of the story is surrounded by an atmosphere, which is known to exist.

ARNOLD MULDER.

As in his other two books the author finds in the Dutch people of this neighborhood, a most interesting study. Their deeply religious tendencies are not held up to criticism or to scorn. On the other hand the author writes with a deep sympathy born of a perfect knowledge of his characters. Of course, he does not agree with their narrowness in many cases, and he finds the insincerity, where it exists. He does not hesitate to bring to light the misconception of the ideals of Christianity, it is true, and although he may be attacked for it by biased critics, there is so much truth in his book that it will have its desired effect upon the reading public.

The reader will not soon forget Teunis Spijkhoven, the little Dutch boy, who was not Dutch, but who on the other hand, inherited from his dead mother, all of the talent and all of the artistry which bade fair to make her a great actress, had not her career been cut short by death, when her child was born. With the love of art and beauty in him, crying out for expression, his boyish heart was all but squeezed dry under the stern religion, which mounted to a fanaticism to Foppe Spijkhoven, his foster father. Yet Foppe loved the boy, dearly, and only the firm, strong man he was, refusing to listen to the love in his heart as against the sincere belief in his brand of religious faith, prevented him from yielding. It was not surprising that Teunis should make a mess of it, then, when the time came. Yet perhaps it was not such a mess after all, but merely the inevitable, which must come to human tendencies as to a stream of water dammed up and compelled to find a new outlet. What the inheritance of the Polish actress mother and the strict training of the so-called, "Christian" household, did to Teunis makes interesting reading to say nothing of the study.

It is Tante Sarah who brings the charm into the story. Tante Sarah Spijkhoven, who lives childless with her husband Foppe in the Dutch settlement of East Nausau, just over the sand dunes from Lake Michigan, and who hungers for the child which God has never seen fit in his judgement to give her. When one has memories of youth of dear women like Tante Sarah Spijkhoven, it is easy to understand, why she was always "Mother" to Teunis, and how through his sorrow and his mistakes and his madness, she held the firm mother-grip upon his heart. He loved her as she loved him, with all passion of the race blood which his own mother had given him with her life. There are so many Tante Sarahs in the hearts of men and women who have lived among the Dutch people, that it is not surprising that the "tender cord is touched here. The author could not have done her better.

As for Professor Bakkerzeel, who aimed for the presidency of Christian college, he will stand as the analysis of many men, who strive for position, only half in sympathy with the faith they proclaim, and ready to sacrifice humanness for the favor of those who subscribe to a certain belief. Yet this man, drawn by the author, was not a hypocrite. He was a good man, a man of largeess, made small by that soul-cowardness which prevented him from following the course which true Christianity would have pointed out to him. It was this false attitude, which kept him standing weakly, afraid to come forward, while Teunis seemed to be going speedily to the devil. One cannot spurn him, because there is more or less of this failing in us all.

The love theme runs through, "The Outbound Road," because love was the one thing necessary to Teunis Spijkhoven, with the artistry of romantic people in him. It must have been Esther, too, because Esther had brains and balance which were needed. She proves a clean steady minded girl, her girlhood shaded by a cruel past, which only served to strengthen her. It was Esther, after all, who had as much to do with Professor Bakkerzeel's final finding of himself, as did Teunis.

The book is full of queer little Dutch expressions, so familiar to readers of the locality in which the story is set down. The whole story of this staid and stable race, runs cleverly through the lines. The short comings of the Dutch are exposed of course, but not brutally. More in the attitude of one who loves them deeply, does the Holland author hold the mirror up to the people among whom he lives, not to chide them, not to hurt them, not to rebuke them, but just to let them see how far away from the true reason for Christ's mission to earth, they have permitted themselves to stray.

HOLLAND HIGH WINS FROM GRAND HAVEN

Last Saturday at Grand Haven, Holland High defeated the football team from the county seat in one of the nappiest and scrappiest games of the season by the score of 7 to 6. Realizing they were under a severe handicap due to the absence from the lineup of three veterans, the boys fought and displayed that pep and enthusiasm for which the local school is noted. Every man played hard and proved himself a star. Never during the whole season was such "pep" shown in the conception of the coach. The line was a stonewall and continually pushed back the plunging attacks of the Grand Haven backs. Only on two occasions did the county seat lads gain their downs. Holland played a wonderful defensive game. The backfield also did marvelous work, considering the fact that D. Boyd, half back, who has been out of the game since the South battle had only a few days to get back into condition. Repeatedly did Boyd break up the G. H. plays. Vanden Brink, right half played his first full game and proved himself a real comer. Great credit must be given Lordahl for his playing as fullback, taken from the Reserves he was forced to learn all the new plays and signals of the first team.

During the first quarter Holland advanced the ball by straight football from midfield to G. H. 20 yd. line where a forward pass to De Pree scored Holland's only touchdown. Van Duren kicked goal. Grand Haven scored their touchdown in the third quarter by blocking of Van Duren's punts on the 10 yard line. G. H. failed to kick goal. At this time Halley's punting was missed, in fact throughout the entire game. During the final quarter the ball was in G. H. territory for the greater part of the period. Thruout the game Van Duren at quarter showed marked generalship. The lineup—

The Holland High Reserves defeated Grand Haven's Reserves in a hard fought game 6 to 0, the boys showing the same fighting spirit as the first team. Stegerda scored Holland's first touchdown. Coach Horne is very much elated over the splendid showing of both teams and has bright prospects for next year.

The local team plays Benton Harbor Saturday and the strongest lineup of the season will be representing Holland in that game.

A great pep meeting was held Monday morning in high school in form of a celebration and jollification due to Holland's victory Saturday. Yells and cheers were given for the team, faculty, Horne and "Jock." All the boys who played Saturday were given the platform for a short speech. Several of the H. S. girls who witnessed the game Saturday also responded. Majorie McBride, Clara Thornton, Mary Donnelly, and Buena Speers. All the students feel happy and elated over the victory and went about their work Monday all smiles.

Frank Hoppe, a brother of Willie Hoppe, champion billiard player of the world is playing an engagement at Grand Haven.

SPINE OF MAN

To Seekers of Health

Dr. Alfred Walton, M.D. of Philadelphia, late professor of medicine at Harvard University, who after studying the question of the spinal column in relation to disease made the following statement publicly:

"Untold millions of human beings have suffered all their lives and died in pain, the cause of which has never been understood. There are at present other millions seeking relief which can only be met by removing the pressure on the nerves responsible for this trouble and this the Chiropractors are constantly doing.

Let us explain the principles of this science to you more fully. Or, better still, let us give you the benefit of our nine years experience at removing the pressure of the nerves on the spine. Health will be yours.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

MISS GERTRUDE KEPPEL BECOMES THE BRIDE OF MR. JOHN VANDER BROEK

Wednesday evening, Nov. 12, Mr. Bastian Keppel gave his daughter, Gertrude, in marriage to Mr. John Vander Broek, at Hope Church. The nuptial service was read by Rev. P. P. Cheff.

Appropriate music was furnished during the service. Miss Evelyn Keppel sang, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from "Samson and Delilah." Miss Helene Van Raalte sang "A Song of Thanksgiving" (Frances Alliston), and "O Perfect Love" (Wood). Mr. Harris Meyer played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

The church decorations, which were in charge of Mrs. Mayo Hadden, lent solemnity as well as beauty to the occasion. The platform, banked with palms and ferns, held baskets of orchid, yellow, and white chrysanthemums. Cathedral candles burned on window ledge and platform.

Miss Keppel was attended by her sister, Mrs. Arthur A. Vischer, matron of honor, Miss Evelyn De Vries, maid of honor, and four bridesmaids, the Misses Margarete Vander Broek, Gertrude Stokette, Christine Van Raalte, and Anne Vischer. Helene Anne Vischer, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl. Mr. Vander Broek was attended by his brother, Mr. Henry Vander Broek of Grand Rapids, Messrs. John Riemersma, Bernard Hakken, John Dalenburgh and William Ten Haken served as ushers. Mr. Arthur A. Vischer was master of ceremonies.

After the service Mr. and Mrs. Keppel gave a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Vander Broek at the home of Mrs. Jacob G. Van Putten, 18 E. 12th St. Yellow, lavender and white chrysanthemums were in profusion about the house. Bride's roses, smilax and candelabras adorned the bridal table.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin, beaded in silver, and draped with silk tulle. A coronet of Brussels and rose point lace held in place the veil of silk tulle. The bride carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and swanson, tied with chiffon and ribbons, and wore a necklace of Oriental pearls, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Vander Broek's traveling suit was of dark brown duvetyne, seal trimmed.

Mrs. Arthur Vischer, matron of honor, was charming in her gown of orchid taffeta, embroidered in silver. In her hair she wore a silver band and orchid ostrich tips. Miss Evelyn De Vries wore a becoming gown of yellow satin, and a gold band with yellow ostrich tips in her hair. The bride's maids were attractively dressed in yellow taffeta, and wore bands of gold ribbon around their hair. All carried Colonial bouquets of sunburst roses and Governor Herk vicia tied with orchid chiffon.

Helene Anne Vischer wore a dress of white organdie, and a white satin ribbon around her hair. She carried a small Colonial bouquet of yellow button chrysanthemums and white and lavender sweet peas.

Mrs. Keppel, mother of the bride, wore a gown of white headed georgette. Mrs. Vander Broek, the groom's mother, was dressed in wistaria-colored satin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vander Broek are very popular among the younger set of Holland, the bride being especially well known in musical circles. Both are graduates of Hope College of the class of '17. The young couple have left on a short wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends after January 1 at 33 E. 13th St.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. George Vander Broek Sr. and family, Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. George Vander Broek, Jr., Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. D. Vander Broek, Grand Rapids; Mrs. J. C. Holcomb, Grand Rapids; Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Kleinheisel, Muskegon; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rademaker, South Bend, Ind.

COMMON COUNCIL

(Official.)
Holland, Mich., Nov. 5, 1919.

The Common Council met in regular session and was called to order by the Mayor.

The Mayor called Ald. Wiersma to the chair to preside over the meeting. Present—Mayor Bosch, Ald. Blum, Prins, Brieve, Vander Brink, De Vries, Kammeraad, Lawrence, Dobben, Dystra, Wiersma and Vander Last, and the Clerk. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Mayor presented the following message:

"As you know the Michigan Public Utilities Commission has announced a new temporary rate for gas for Holland at $1.40 per hour. As you also know, I have expressed myself on the subject informally through the City newspapers but I wish to repeat officially here what I said there in an unofficial capacity.

Regardless of what the people's sentiments may be on the question, I believe it is well that those sentiments should be crystallized into something a little more definite than is the case at present. We do not know what the permanent rate will be fixed by the Utilities Commission will be. But whatever it will be, there should be some expression of the sentiment of the people of Holland with regard to it. If it should not be satisfactory to the people, this dissatisfaction should be expressed in a tangible way. And the rate might not be satisfactory even though it is based entirely on the just needs of the situation. It is conceivable, for instance, that the people of Holland would be willing to pay a higher rate for gas manufactured by themselves than for gas manufactured by a private concern.

Be that as it may, I recommend an expression of popular opinion on the subject at a date before the permanent rate is accepted. I ask that the people think the matter over carefully, no matter which side of the question they favor, and that they be ready to register their opinions at the ballot box if the rate fixed by the Commission does not meet with satisfaction. Such a vote, if taken at all, should not be postponed long. The whole thing should be settled and cleared out of the way during a time when there is no political City campaign on, so that the question may be decided on its merits and may not be vitiated by political considerations.

Personally favor such a popular expression of opinion and I recommend that the Common Council prepare plans and specifications and take the necessary steps to have a referendum on the City government shall be ready to act if the people demand action.

I am not saying by this that I recommend the creation of a municipal gas plant at this time, as it is conceivable that the cause of municipal ownership might be discredited by building at the wrong time under abnormal conditions. But I am saying that it will clear the atmosphere, in my judgment, and will be for the best interest of all concerned to have a popular expression of opinion on the subject as soon as practicable.

Respectfully submitted,
NICODEMUS BOSCH,
Mayor.

On motion of Ald. Kammeraad, the message was accepted and ordered placed on file.

The Battery Shop has moved from the Peoples Garage to the corner of Central Ave. and Ninth St. Ben Lievens asked the council for the privilege of placing a small steel sign at that corner reading the "Battery Service Station." The request was granted subject to the ordinance.

Wm. Blom has converted the old sample rooms on River avenue and the building next door formerly used by a barber shop into one large room. Pool and billiard tables occupy one side of the building and the soft drink establishment is found on the other side. It is a very commodious establishment and is now completed ready for business.

A raid will be made on all signs by the city fathers. It was brought about because C. DeKeyser, the real estate man had one nailed on a telephone pole on the corner of River Avenue and 16th street, which is claimed to be against the sign ordinance. Now this one and others will be ordered down wherever they do not comply with the regulations laid down in the city ordinance.

The Parents-Teachers club of the Froebel school held a committee meeting at the home of Thomas Olinger last evening to complete arrangements for the big auction sale that is to be held in the school Tuesday, December 9. HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS TO GIVE A PLAY

"Joint Owners in Spain," to be presented by the Kappa Delta society, portrays the trials of two ill-matched room mates in an Old Ladies' Home. The overbearing, irascible Mrs. Blake and the whiny, lachrymose Miss Dyer are an odd pair, and one would think that they never could make a go of it, together. In a novel manner, however, they manage to exist within the same four walls; and when they finally come to—but attend the play on Thursday evening at the high school and you will learn the outcome.

The bossy Mrs. Blake is played by Katherine Keppel, while Angelina Poppen is poor Miss Dyer, "who aint a well woman and aint been for twenty years." Mrs. Fullerton, another inmate of the home, is Lucile Osborne and Mrs. Mitchell, the director of the home, is played by Viola Beery.

The Dnalloh High Literary society will present "Music Hath Charms" on November 20th and 21st. It is a college comedy in one act and furnishes one good laugh after another. The following will appear in the cast: Stanley Cheff, Roscoe Davis, Harvey Dillebeck, Raymond Whelan, Julius Belt, Gerrit Weersing, George Damsen, Walter Steketee, Hans Knutson, Russel Huntley, Ronald Fell, Herman Vande Water.

Attention High School Alumni
All High school alumni are requested to meet at Carnegie Gym. at 6:30 Thursday evening to prepare for the big Thanksgiving game to be staged annually between the High school team and the Alumni.

JAMESTOWN TO INSTALL ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

LOCAL FIRM PUTS IN PLANT FOR ILLUMINATING THAT VILLAGE.

Town Is Progressive And Has Been Booming For Some Time.

The village of Jamestown has made a move that will give its citizens some of the advantages that are enjoyed by people living in cities. The village has decided to install an electric light plant by which the homes and the streets of the village can be lighted and it will be large enough and well enough equipped so that light will be available at all hours of the night and day.

The plant was sold to the village by the Henry Kraker Company of this city through Ben Van Raalte, and the wiring contract has been let to the Steketee Bros. Electric Company. The plant will be installed soon, and before very long the people of that place will be able to do away with their kerosene lamps.

The plant will have a capacity of 500 lights, together with four or five street lamps. It will be a twin-unit plant that can be run both on a peak load or on a light load. In case all the lights are in use, or most of them, the peak can be turned on, while if only a few are used the light load can be used. Both systems will be controlled from a single switchboard.

The plant will have a large storage battery so that light will be available at all times, during the day and the night.

Jamestown has been booming during recent years. This is so much the case that real estate in the village is going at high prices. A business lot has sold for as high as fifteen hundred dollars, and home lots bring as much as from $600 to $1000. Business institutions have been growing fast in the village and the town's savings bank has been making rapid progress during its short history.

A short time ago the Kraker Company also installed an electric light plant in the village of Ganges in Allegan County, and the wiring in that case was also done by the Steketee Bros. Company. The installation of these small electric light plants is likely to revolutionize lighting in the villages in this section of the state.

ALPNEA ROAD IS NOW COMPLETED

Oosting and Hofsteen Friday evening completed the road toward Lake Wood farm which adds a little more than a mile to the West of the concrete highway already laid from Holland on the Alpnea road.

It will take some time before the road will be open, as the contractors wish it to be thoroughly hardened before autos or teams are allowed on it.

A watchman has been placed upon this stretch of road, deputized and instructed to arrest any trespasser who puts down the bars and rides on the new cement drive.

Next year another mile will be added to this road which will bring it to Lake Michigan, and will complete the stretch.

A road will also be laid from Ottawa Beech to Port Sheldon Lake, running North and South, and skirting all the resort property between those two points.

This is being taken care of under the Covert act and the necessary legal steps have already been taken.

The Holland Contractors, Oosting and Hofsteen, have also secured the contract to lay the concrete between Zeeland and Vriesland on the Grand Rapids-Holland road.

There is some dispute relative to the building of the concrete on the large Vriesland hill. This hill has been cut away considerable, and lengthened, down into the Vriesland swamp. New bridges are being put in, but a dispute has arisen between the contractors and the State men relative to the putting in of a sand bottom to overcome the clay, and the laying of a six inch instead of a three inch drain.

The contractors claim that a three inch drain cannot begin to take care of the water from the hill in rainy weather, and in this case it would be very detrimental to the cement, and as they are responsible and must guarantee the road they are not going ahead until these matters are definitely settled.

No doubt after the matter is thoroughly threshed out, an amicable conclusion will be reached.

Mrs. W. J. Olive, 90 West Eleventh street, Friday evening and with the assistance of men from other churches put the class in such shape that from now on this body of men will receive its religious instruction from Prof. E. D. Dimment, president of Hope College.

The speakers of the evening were Rev. Paul P. Cheff, Henry Geerlings, A. H. Landwehr, Charles McBride, President Dimment and Prof. J. E. Kuizenga, who gave very able discourses during the evening.

The meeting started off with community singing led by Prof. J. B. Nykerk assisted by Harris Meyer.

Mr. Martin Dykema sang a solo after which the election of officers was held.

The officers are as follows: President, W. J. Olive; vice president, Dr. G. W. Van Verst; secretary, George Lage; treasurer, Dr. W. M. Tappan; the different committees appointed are as follows: social, Sears M. McLean, Abe Cappon, Ernest Brooks, H. Winter, H. G. Post and Dr. A. Leenhouts; membership, A. H. Landwehr, Adrian Van Putten, J. Bosman, Chester Beach, E. P. Davis, B. D. Keppel, G. Van Schelven, Nick Hofsteen and A. Westveer.

Program committee: Harris Meyer, Clarence Lokker, August Heurer, and Otto Kahn.

After the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. W. J. Olive assisted by Mrs. W. H. Thornton, Mrs. C. H. McBride, Mrs. P. P. Cheff, Mrs. John Bosman and Mrs. Hoyt G. Post.

HIGH SCHOOL COUNCIL TO GIVE PLAYS

Thursday and Friday evenings, November 20 and 21, the Council of the High School thru the medium of the three literary societies, will stage two one-half hour plays and a short operetta. The Dnalloh High will produce "Music Hath Charms" under the direction of Miss Mulder; Kappa Delta, "Joint Owners in Spain," under the direction of Miss Kolyn; and the Sigma Chi, an operetta, "Bargain Hunters," under the direction of Miss Bosch. These are the first plays that have been staged for the public this year. This is distinctly a high school benefit.

The high school is making a drive for $500 to be gained thru these plays for more gymnasium apparatus and stage properties and to pay up donations which the school wishes to make for philanthropic purposes. It was first planned to have only one performance but the demand for the tickets makes it necessary to repeat the entertainment.

will be held on Saturday, November 22, 1919, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m. sharp at the home of Mrs. J. K. Prins, No. 134 East 18th St. Holland city, of the following property: 1 Jewel Range, 1 Peninsular heater, 1 New Home Sewing machine, 2

WHAT HOLLAND'S TAX RATE WILL BE

Figures compiled by City Assessor C. W. Nibbelink show that the tax rate which the people of Holland will have to pay this fall on the December tax roll is $9.10 per $1000 valuation, as compared with $7.05 a year ago. The increase is due almost entirely to a raise in the rate of state taxes. This was a "legislative year," and the session of the legislature always costs a lot of money which the people of Michigan must settle for in December.

The taxes in December are divided as follows: State tax, $48,627.80; County, $34,030.91; county roads, $31,196.54; total, $113,855.25; rate state, $3.89; county, $2.72; county road, $2.49; total, $9.10.

In July the tax paid was as follows: City taxes, $98,341.99; school, $83,000.00; Rate—city, $7.86; school, $6.83; total, $14.69.

This makes the total tax rate for all Holland's taxes for the year 1919 up to $23.59 per $1000 valuation. While this is some higher than last year, because of the fact that this is a legislative year and because of the further fact that the cost of taxes naturally goes up with the cost of living, yet a comparison with other cities in this part of the state shows that Holland is more fortunate than many places in the size of its tax bill. In order to show this City Assessor Nibbelink took the trouble to learn the tax rates for four other cities, Grand Rapids was the only one of the four that had a lower tax rate during the year, the rate there being $22.88 per $1000 valuation, or seventy-one cents lower than Holland. In Zeeland the rate is $27.52; in Grand Haven $30.27, and in Muskegon $35.75.

From which it appears that Holland is on the whole rather fortunate in its tax figures. There is at least a little consolation in that fact when the tax payer goes to settle up with the city to remember that if he lived in Muskegon he would have to dig up a good deal more.

In addition to the regular tax, the paying, sprinkling and sewer taxes will be added to the bill in December.

Taxes are to be paid during the month of December at the office of city treasurer Appeldorn.

PLANS FOR COMMUNITY BUILDING DRAWN

Some progress is being made by recently appointed committee at the Victory Club, whose duty it was to draw plans and specifications incidental to proposed community hall that will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

These plans have been gotten out and are now on the walls of Father

Wyckoff's community hall in the Sentinel building where the Victory club meets.

The plans call for a large auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,800 with sloping floor and up-to-date stage and fixtures.

A bowling alley with four alleys a pool room with six tables, a small gymnasium on the first floor, and a large gymnasium on the second floor that will accommodate factory indoor baseball leagues, basket ball games, etc., are features of the plans.

A swimming pool 20x60 feet will also be one of the innovations in the proposed building.

While the building itself will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 the maintenance figure is placed between $12,000 and $15,000 annually. This would include the salaries of a secretary, physical director, janitor and the expenses of upkeep in all the departments.

Naturally reading rooms, smoking rooms, a ladies parlor and other conveniences incidental to a building of this kind are also included in the plans.

These plans are all pictured in detail, and anyone interested can find them on the walls of the miniature community hall in the Sentinel building.
